Sheppard Memorial Librarian Gives Program For Book Club

Mrs. B. B. Sugg entertained the San Souci Book Club Tuesday afternoon at the attractive home of Mrs. Jack Horton with the ladies of St. James Methodist Church catering. Lovely arrangements of spring flowers were used throughout the home.

Mrs. H. S. Regsdale, president, presided over the business session and welcomed as guests Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Mrs. Gertrude Kohler and Mrs. Lottie Butler. She extended an invitation to the Junior Club meeting Wednesday evening when Dr. Humber spoke on the North Carolina Museum of Art, and to open house at the Art Gallery Thursday evening, honoring Mrs. Foubes of Chapel Hill, whose paintings are there on display. The slate of club officers for the coming year was read as follows: Mrs. J. T. Chestnam, president; Mrs. Haywood Dail, 1st vice president; Mrs. C. S. Forbes, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Frank Wooten, secretary; Mrs. George Hadley, treasurer; and Mrs. F. J. Forbes, librarian.

Mrs. Sugg then introduced the guest speaker, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Sheppard Memorial Librarian, who gave a very timely and interesting program on public libraries in general and Sheppard Memorial in particular. She outlined the many and varied functions of a public library and its staff members, stressing the fact that it is not merely a repository for books, but a veritable storehouse of knowledge waiting to be used, free of charge, by all who care to avail themselves of its resources and services. America, she said, had led the entire world in the establishment of free libraries and in this respect they are a true symbol of a democratic society and way of life. She announced the purchase by the county of a new and thoroughly up-to-date bookmobile for serving the rural communities and expressed her hopes for the early addition of a record lending department to the library. The club feels deeply indebted to Miss Copeland for her interesting and informative program.

Mrs. Sugg then invited the club members into the dining room, where from an attractively appointed table Mrs. Judson Blount and Mrs. H. S. Regsdale, assisted by Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Van Fleming and Mrs. Boley Parley, served a delicious salad plate with cake and coffee and other dainties.

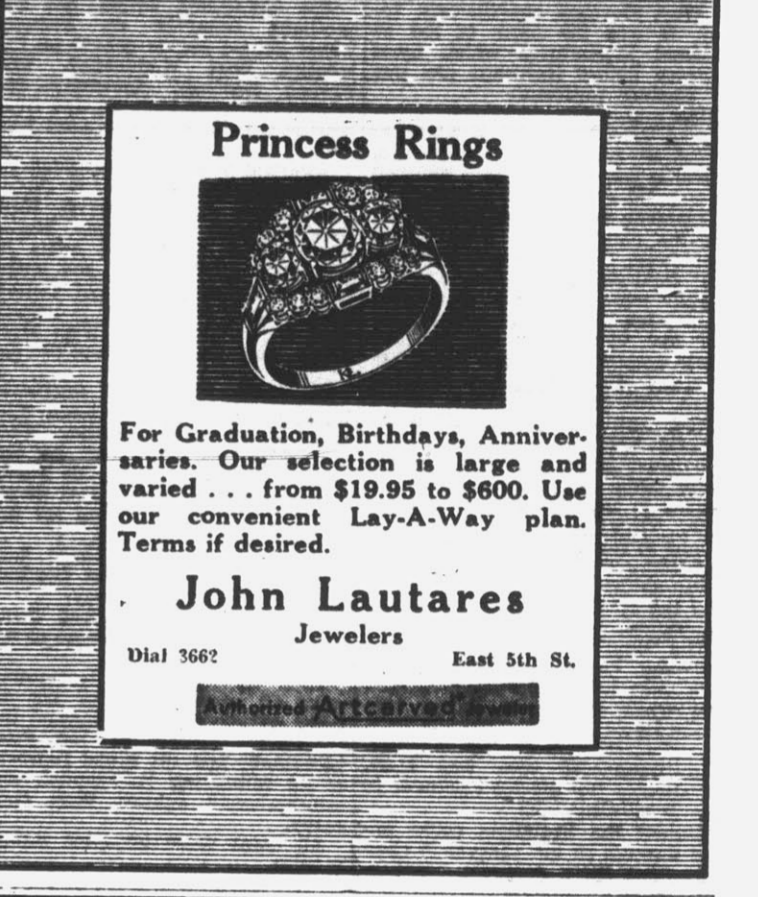

The books were passed and the club adjourned to meet next with Mrs. Louis Gaylord.

Greenville's New Garbage Vans Noted By Publication

Greenville's new method of collecting garbage in Packa-Vans warranted an article in the March edition of a national magazine, "The American City."

Plans were recently announced by City Manager James S. Hughes to eventually convert the city's open-type refuse collection trucks to the enclosed-type vehicles.

The article notes that the city now has three such vehicles in operation and eventually plans to operate with six such units which, with a force of 18 men, "will replace 10 open type trucks that now require 20 men."

"This will provide annual savings in labor costs of over $5,000 and approximately $3,000 in operation and equipment maintenance."

The article says that Director of Public Works, C. K. Beatty had reported that the city has placed its stamp of approval on the new units. "Crews, paid weekly instead of hourly, work on a 'task system,' the write-up continues. "Each crew must complete the collection in its area and clean and garage the truck before going home, regardless of the hour. Household complaints must be answered the same day."

Dr. Utterback Reviews Novel For Aries Club

Dr. Elizabeth Utterback presented the program at the Aries Book Club, which met at the home of Mrs. David Hardee in Brookgreen on Wednesday night, March 16.

The novel, "The Bad Seed," by William March, was reviewed in a most vivid manner by Dr. Utterback. Maxwell Anderson has adapted the book into a play, which is being seen currently on Broadway. The plot concerns an eight-year-old girl who is a murderer, and the terrible plight of her mother, who is the only one who knows the real character of the child. The spine-chilling drama was unfolded in a most gripping performance by Miss Utterback.

During the business session the officers for the coming year were installed in a novel manner, each officer passing on her duties to her successor with an appropriate rhyme. Guests for the evening, in addition to Dr. Utterback, were Mrs. Jesse Moye Jr., Mrs. E. R. Browning, and Mrs. Fred Webb.

Delicious refreshments were served from the dining room, where Mrs. Hardee used a lovely arrangement of Dutch iris and jonquills for the table. Other spring flowers were used throughout the house.

They're Muddying The Waters

The Reflector is convinced the best interest of North Carolina will be served by leaving the matter of stream sanitation regulations and stream classification up to the Stream Sanitation Committee. Trying to handle this important and complicated matter through individual bills applying to individual rivers and streams will only muddy the waters and delay the desired result.

As The Reflector has pointed out previously, municipalities (including Greenville) and industries which are using rivers and streams as dumping grounds cannot intelligently go into a clean-up program until specific regulations are set up by the Stream Sanitation Committee, local stream legislation notwithstanding.

First, the bill sets forth no specific regulations governing the chemical content of fluids or waste which can be placed in the stream. Municipalities and industries must have that specific information before they can plan and execute a clean-up program. Obviously, that information will have to come from the Stream Sanitation Committee after it completes its present study and classification of streams.

Secondly the provision that municipalities must, by January 1, 1960, stop dumping sewage into the stream is obviously impractical. All municipalities now dumping sewage into streams will have to install sewage disposal plants which mean major capital outlays by the municipalities. In most cases the individual towns will have to vote and sell bond issues to build the plants.

Since municipal bond issues have to receive approval of the Local Government Commission, it is not unlikely that the Commission will reject some municipal bond proposals because the respective municipalities already have too heavy a bonded debt in the opinion of the Commission.

A municipality, under such an arrangement, could find itself required on the one hand to install a sewage disposal plant by a specified date, and stymied on the other hand because it could not issue bonds to secure the required funds to build the plant.

For the sake of getting the job of stream sanitation done and done properly as quickly as possible, it will be better for the legislators to lay aside individual bills on individual rivers and streams and let the matter be handled under the authority of the Stream Sanitation Committee already established.

Legalized Gambling Must Not Return

North Carolina's scrap over dog tracks and pari-mutual betting isn't over in spite of the fact that court actions last year closed both the dog tracks which were operating in the state.

Another dog track, pari-mutual bill is slated to hit legislative hoppers in the near future and the fight over legalized gambling will once more be in the public eye. This time, however, the bill will be a state-wide measure rather than local bills as was the case of the legislation under which pari-mutual betting was legalized in Carteret and Currituck Counties.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
HOMES—ANCIENT AND MODERN
The peoples of the Orient have certain expressions a customs by means of which they graciously pass compliments.

One set of these compliments has to do with thinking a host or hostess for a meal. After dinner it is customary for Arabic-speaking people to turn to a hostess and say "deml," which means "always," or "may it always be thus." And the reply of the hostess is "saintan," which means "double health to you."

Hospitality is the outstanding virtue among Orientals. Under certain circumstances bitter enemies, sworn to slay each other, will nevertheless extend hospitality to each other, declaring a truce during this time. To violate hospitality is, among the Orientals, the most despicable of all vices.

Hospitality was a great virtue also among us in the old frontier days, and when more people lived on farms, what gatherings were held, what Ring visits to relatives. Today that is all changed. We live in little bird cages and shake our food out of paper boxes, or dip it out of a can. Living rooms become boulevards and couches are transformed into beds. There are hundreds of thousands of married couples in this country who live in one room which, when a few buttons are pressed, becomes living room, or bedroom, or dining room, or kitchen.

Progress! Progress! We wonder.

Afraid Of Wall Street Study

WASHINGTON—Senator J. William Fulbright's "friendly" study of Wall Street has been boycotted by fellow-members of the Senate Banking and Currency Subcommittee. The serious-minded Rhodes scholar from Arkansas does not have even a Morgan midget to keep him company in the ornate committee chamber.

The Democrats are admittedly afraid of the politico-economic repercussions from this investigation of the advance of stock market prices to new peaks. They wisecrack that the "professor," as he is called in the clearcoats, "has a bull by the tail." Even Fulbright's counsel, Robert Wallace, concedes ruefully that "We are walking on eggs."

POLITICAL EFFECTS OF STOCK EXCHANGE SURVEYS—With the 1956 elections likely to be determined by economic conditions at that time, Fulbright's colleagues think that his survey may be damaging to the Democrats, if properly propagandized by GOP publicists.

Fulbright himself seems to share this fear with his overemphasis of the friendly and sympathetic nature of his "study" and by disclaiming any desire to expose or smear the "moneyed interests," the wealthy members of the "well-stocked clubs" or the "economic royalists," to recall a few choice Roosevelt-Truman political epithets.

ANALYSIS OF LONE VENTURE—Here is Capitol Hill's private analysis of the possible effect of the Arkansas's single-handed venture, which also explains why his associates permit him to go it alone: If the market falls steeply and abruptly, and experts believe that a decline from current heights is inevitable, the Administration will contend that the Democrats' investigation was responsible for billions of losses to investors, large and small. There may be no economic truth in this allegation, but it will be difficult to prove or disprove it in the heat of the 1956 Presidential campaign.

RESULT OF REPORT—On the other hand, should Fulbright report that current stock market values are

Somebody Told Me Speculations About An Event

By LYNN NISBET
SERVICE—Rep. William B. Rodman of Beaufort digressed a bit from his explanation of one of the reorganization bills sponsored by the commission which he headed to pay high tribute to the Institute of Government of the University at Chapel Hill.

Both attribute the current bull market to the easy-money policies pursued by Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey. But when he switched to a "hard money" program in early 1953 in order to check inflation, they were the first to howl that it was dangerously deflationary, and a squeeze on small borrowers.

They have also charged that the Federal Reserve Board's 1953 anti-inflation requirements to one-third intended to stage a market boom in order for its effect on the 1954 elections. But the Reserve Board was controlled by Democrats, including the chairman during the birth and early growth of the Wall Street bull.

By ELMER ROESSNER
We Americans fume and boil over at mention of controlled economies. We have, by jimmies, a free enterprise system in which competition flourishes. Free competition—that's the answer to those dirty Communist Russians can't go into business for themselves, peddling vodka, Borsch or home-made lace across the globe. They'd be hanged as capitalists. Only in the United States is competition democratic and free.

Nonense!
We may believe in political and religious freedom. But when it comes to enterprise we fool ourselves. We talk about it, but we don't practice it. In general we put business into a strait jacket in which a Communist couldn't scratch his own toes.

We do have laws limiting local merchants. They are democratic, in that they give the little fellows something of an even break in competing with the giants. And then:
We have Green River laws, restricting the door-to-door merchants in their competition with local merchants.

Fair Trade laws, intending to prohibit low-margin retailers from competing with full-mark-up dealers.
Anti-premium laws—such as the one that works in California—that would prohibit a dealer from giving patrons a bonus.

Liquor laws that prevent the house from buying a drink—Anti-stamp laws, prohibiting retailors from, in effect, cutting their prices by means of green, gold and purple stamps.

Anti-loss-leader laws, as in California, requiring every merchant to sock every customer with a certain amount of profit—Marketing acts, in several states, which prohibit outsiders from bringing in products such as milk except under almost prohibitive restrictions.

Anti-trans-shipment laws such as one proposed by the National Automobile Dealers Association, which would prohibit one dealer from selling to another, or which make it a crime to remove serial numbers—Sales limitation acts, such as those that forbid grocers to sell aspirin.

In fact, competition in America is becoming more and more a coin-tossing affair, with everybody offering the same goods and services—under the law—at the same prices. It will, that is, unless we take a new look at the basic philosophy on which the nation was founded.

FRAILTIES TO BLAME FOR MOST ACCIDENTS
Human behavior is responsible for 70 to 80 per cent of industrial accidents, according to a report by the National Safety Council for Safety Education. Studies, it finds, show that engineering, design, disorders and physical working conditions account for only 20 to 30 per cent of accidents and injuries. The rest, it concludes, must be attributed to human behavior.

Not Posture, But Civilization
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—An open letter to Dr. James A. Tobey, Newtown, Conn.:
Dear Doc:

I just want to tell you how much my backache has improved since I took your hint to quit walking upright and start running around on all fours.

It has made such a change in my life you'd hardly recognize me as the same man.

For years my poor aching back had caused me intermittent trouble. But I could never track down the real reason for it. Then, some weeks ago, I came across an article by you in "Today's Health," published by the American Medical Assn. You listed poor posture as among some 58 possible causes of backache.

"Standing erect may help distinguish man from the apes, but it certainly lets him in for a lot of trouble," you wrote. "The human skeleton is not particularly well adapted to this upright position, except possibly during that relatively brief time of youth when man is more or less lean, lithe and buoyant."

"For most of the rest of his life this erect posture has made man prone to pains in the back and other ills which might not occur if he ran on all fours."

Was this the answer to my problem? I decided to go about it all fours for a month to find out.

The month is over. I am happy to report that not only has my backache largely disappeared, but my sinus is cured. My vision has improved so much I have thrown away my glasses. My appetite is fine and I have lost 15 pounds. I feel like a tiger—except at work.

Since most of your readers probably lack the courage to try to remedy a backache by going around on all fours I'd like to give you a case history of what happened to me—and the predicament I now find myself in.

First of all, I asked my wife if she had any objections to my making so drastic a change in my everyday posture. She said she'd have to see how I looked. I promptly got down on all fours. "Why you look much better that way," she said. "It hides your stomach."

The first few days I ran around on all fours only at home, or in my immediate neighborhood.

My only trouble, Doc, is at the office. My boss says that for policy reasons he can't allow me to do my work on all fours, the only way I now feel comfortable. He says that if I don't work sitting up at my desk like everybody else, backache or no backache, I'll be fired.

But, Doc those eight hours at a desk are sheer torture. Once you learn the carefree pleasure of going about on all fours you can never be happy again even in a semiupright position.

Isn't my posture that gives me backaches now, Doc? It's the rule-bound posture of civilization; and it causes most of our headaches as well as backaches. How are we going to cure people of civilization, Doc? Hopefully yours, Hal Boyle.

Mad Hatters Breakfast Party

The Mad Hatters breakfast party given yesterday morning by the Woman's Club was truly what its name implied. Hats ranging from the largest, tackiest, craziest, and cutest could be seen worn by ladies of Greenville.

Before the judging of hats a Southern breakfast was served.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Warren Carroll, recreational director. Mrs. J. B. Spilman, Mrs. W. H. Woolard, Dr. H. G. Haney, and Mr. Lester Turnage judged the varied array of hats.

Prizes, donated by local merchants, were awarded to Mrs. M. C. Thompson for the most colorful hat; Mrs. J. L. Winstead, the cutest; Mrs. J. R. Carrington, craziest; Mrs. J. E. Waltz, most ridiculous; Mrs.

Mea Perkins, most original; Mrs. Helen Sermons, tackiest; Mrs. Ernestine Sermons for the largest hat; Mrs. James Evans, oldest; Mrs. J. M. Crane, most outstanding, and to Mrs. Eli Bloom for the smallest hat worn. Prizes were also presented to Mrs. J. B. White and Mrs. H. R. Solfridge. Mrs. David Schwetz and Mrs. William Koehler of Norfolk Va., guests of Mrs. Eli Bloom, were presented prizes for the persons who traveled the greatest distance. A door prize was won by Miss Mary Harding.

Proceeds from the breakfast will go to improve the club house kitchen.

The committee for the project was Mesdames W. M. Reading, chairman, Eha Bloom, Virginia Garrison, Fenner Allen, Ruth Bundy, H. D. Fuller, Rogers, Keel, Sam Brooks, Dink James and Maxwell. (Photos by Margaret Culbreth).

Penn State Dean To Speak On Science, Religion

Science in its relationship to religious beliefs and religious instruction in modern education will be discussed at East Carolina College March 28-29 in a series of talks by Dr. Harold K. Schilling, physicist and dean of the graduate school at Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Schilling is now acting as a consultant for a national project on Teacher Education and Religion sponsored by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and financed by the Danforth Foundation. East Carolina is one of fifteen colleges and universities in the United States chosen as centers for carrying on the project through a five-year study.

Faculty members at East Carolina will hear Dr. Schilling Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. at a meeting in the Flanagan auditorium. His topic will be "Facing Problems of Science vs. Religion in Education."

He will be a guest of the East Carolina Science Club and of the campus chapter of Chi Beta Phi, national honorary science fraternity, Monday night. At a meeting to be held at 7 p.m. in Room 317 of the Flanagan building he will speak on "Proof and Certainty: What Can We Be Sure Of?" Those who are interested in hearing this discussion are invited to be present.

Students specializing in science at East Carolina will have an opportunity of hearing Dr. Schilling Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the Flanagan building. "Potentialities and Limitations of the Scientific Method" will be his topic.

During his visit at East Carolina Dr. Schilling will act as consultant to the East Carolina committee on Teacher Education and Religion, and will hold conferences with a number of faculty members and administrative officers.

Program Leader In Talk On State At Round Table Meet

The Round Table Book Club met with Mrs. W. E. Marshall last Tuesday, at her home on Elm St. The president conducted a short business meeting, during which time new committee appointments were made. A most cordial, hearty welcome was extended to two new members, Mrs. W. W. Howell and Mrs. R. B. Lee.

Mrs. Howard McGinnis, program leader for the afternoon, gave a most interesting and informative paper, having chosen as her topic "Wisconsin and Illinois" by way of introduction. She recalled that the club had really traveled since the first of the year—having been into Texas, Alaska, West Virginia, two North Central States, and today into Wisconsin, her native state, and Illinois, her home state.

As members went with her to Wisconsin, "the Badger State" or "the Copper State," they learned the origin and location of the state, and something of the early settlers. She told of the industries (fur trading, lumbering, paper manufacturing, aluminum, etc.), of the dairying, and of how this state led all others in the production of vegetables for canning.

Wisconsin, beautified by many lakes, has as its capital city, Madison; and one of the best known cities is Milwaukee. It is a state of many educational facilities and varied kinds of training.

Upon leaving this state and going into Illinois, the leader gave much valuable information concerning the location and people, the rivers, the weather, crops and soils, minerals (the two most important bituminous coal and oil), etc. An insight into Chicago revealed many noteworthy and beautiful show places, and brought to attention the West Side Medical Center, the University of Chicago, Northwestern University and many other educational units and special schools.

After returning from the travels, Mrs. Howell told of her hobby. She stated that a hobby is yourself and your interest, and is a personal thing. Her hobby, making chocolate fudge for friends and neighbors, has changed since the first of the year. She now enjoys making French dressing, a sample of which she gave to each member to take home and try.

ECC Professor Guest Speaker For Benjamin May Chapter DAR

FARMVILLE—Misses Helen Huldah and Christine Smith were hostesses to the regular meeting of the Benjamin May Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Saturday afternoon, March 12, at the Chapter House.

Mrs. H. D. Moyer, regent, presided and led members in the D.A.R. Ritual.

Mrs. E. Bruce Beasley, chaplain, gave the devotional, reading scripture from Isaiah 2nd chapter, verses 1-4. The hopes for a peaceful world must be built on ideas rather than guns, bombs and other means of warfare. This is a time to be guided in patience and wisdom. These timely thoughts were closed with members praying in unison the Lord's Prayer.

The assemblage joined in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner." Members were asked to learn all verses of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Moyer, on behalf of the members, expressed appreciation to Mrs. A. C. Monk Sr. for the trees and shrubbery planted on the Chapter House grounds.

Interesting and informative highlights of the State Conference of the D.A.R. in Winston-Salem were given by Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, Mrs. J. O. Pollard and Mrs. H. D. Moyer. Mrs. Nannie P. Hearne attended the conference, but was not present at this meeting. The new officers of N. C. Society of D.A.R. are Mrs. Roy Cagle, regent, Asheville; Mrs. W. D. Holmes Jr., vice regent, Edenton; and Mrs. R. F. Walters, corresponding secretary, Hendersonville.

An announcement was made by Miss DeVisconti that the Bloodmo-ny change, but principals remain the same.

Dr. Murray spoke of the freedom that existed from 1776 and the hundred years following, calling attention to many religious, benevolent and agricultural societies organized, establishment of our colleges, and the formation of the Masonic Order.

At the present time people are involved in many organizations. Dr. Murray urged that time be taken to develop more leadership and discover talents of those who are members of various organizations. He suggested that we be very cautious of our condemnation of those who take leadership. In times like these he stressed the necessity of being informed of international situations, tolerant of others, and creating a better informed opinion.

Characters such as Lincoln, Clay, Vance, Wylie and Gaston are those who exemplify the great ideals upon which our heritage is based.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments of ice cream, decorated cakes, salted nuts, cheese straws and coffee. The Chapter House was lovely for the occasion, with a profusion of spring flowers adding to the beauty of the stately, elegant building.

Farm-fresh to you...

How a remarkable plastic helps bring fresher food to your table

A WONDERFULLY useful plastic called polyethylene* is now giving a new kind of protection to food that is on its way to your kitchen.

WHEN FOOD IS PACKED in thin, strong bags of polyethylene, it is able to "breathe," and yet not dry out. Because polyethylene has this peculiar advantage, apples, carrots, and other fruits and vegetables—as well as poultry and meat products—can reach your table more nearly farm-fresh than ever.

POLYETHYLENE IS ONLY ONE of a number of plastics produced by the people of Union Carbide to help bring foods to you in prime condition. Some of these plastics coat cardboard for milk cartons and frozen food packages, while others line the tins for canned foods and beverages.

SCIENCE "SETS A GOOD TABLE" These and other materials produced by UCC help protect food while growing, in storage, during preparation, when packaged for your use, and when stored in your pantry or refrigerator. This protection helps provide a more healthful diet for all Americans.

'Books and Stuff'

By DR. ED HIRSBERG
Letter From Ingls
Eastern North Carolina's own Ingls Fletcher has written a new novel called "The Scotswoman" that is going to be the Literary Guild's selection for May, and one of all of us want to congratulate her. . . It's about Flora Macdonald—the same one the college was named after—who was a Scottish heroine who played an important part in the American Revolution. About her heroine and her book, Mrs. Fletcher writes:

The original plan was to have Flora Macdonald a minor character, but as time went on I discovered that Flora could never be a minor character in a book, for she was a major character in real life. . . .
Once a character is established,
I try never to allow him to speak or act out of character. If my characters do not live and breathe and have being, (some of them just flop down on a chair and won't do or say anything), I must get rid of them in some way. Sometimes I kill them off if it's not too early in the story. For if they do not live for the writer, they surely will not be alive for the reader. . . . Interesting, hey? We're looking forward to "The Scotswoman"—and we certainly are glad we're not one of Ingls' uninteresting characters, so she can't kill us off. . . . The book, we trust, will be reviewed in these columns at an early date. . . .

Books For Beginners
At a recent conference of the Secondary Education Board in New York a preferred list of ten books for the pre-college reader was compiled for the second successive year.
Among the choices were "But We Were Born Free," by Elmer Davis,
"The Conquest of Everest," by Sir John Hunt, "Of Whales and Men," by R. B. Robertson, and "The Second Tree from the Corner," by E. B. White. Not that we lack confidence in our grade-schoolers, but we think that is a pretty mature group of books—and we sure hope they get to read some of them. . . .

Also selected recently was the winner of the 1954 Newbery Medal for "the most distinguished contribution to children's literature," by the children's librarians of the American Library Association. . . .
Choice was Meinert DeJong's "The Wheel on the School," which we trust is available at the Sheppard Memorial Library, unless Miss Copeland has been caught napping, which she seldom is. . . . Winner of the Caldecott Medal for the children's book with "the most distinguished illustrations" was Marcia Brown, for her edition of "Cinderella," which she illustrated and translated from the French version by Charles Ferrault. . . . And the Children's Book Award of the Child Study Association of America has been given to two books—"The Ordeal of the Young Hunter," by Jon-reed Lauritzen, and "High Road Home," by William Corbin. . . . Also available locally, we hope. . . .

On The Local Scene
The initial meeting of the series of lectures on various religious denominations was a great success.
Dr. Jorgensen, Head of the Physical Education Department at the College, talked about Mormonism last Monday evening in the auditorium of the new J. Y. Joyner Library on the MCC campus. . . . Next Monday at seven o'clock the second in the series will be presented, and the speaker will be Dean Harold K.
Schilling of Penn State College, whose subject will be "Science and Religion." Note the change in time —most of these talks are at eight, but Dean Schilling will be on at seven because of commitments later that evening. . . . Speakers on the following Monday, March 28, will be the Revs. J. M. Owen and W. M.
Howard Jr., who will discuss the question "What is a Methodist?"
. . . . Each week, incidentally, books will be on display at the Sheppard Library on the denominations being treated. . . .

DIGNITY combined with informality distinguishes this unusual treatment of the split-level plan. Garage entrance is eliminated from the facade by placing a two-car garage half-a-flight down from the living room level and under the two rear bedrooms, where it is entered either from the rear or from the side. A large playroom and adjoining lavatory is placed under the front bedroom.
This provides for the popular family room, or second living room now in demand. A full basement for heating plant and storage space can be built under the living room wing of the house if desired. A feature of the plan is the garden patio adjoining both living and dining rooms. This is plan 522AP by Derick B. Kipp, architect, designed for the Architects' Home Plan Bureau, Box 141, Bethlehem, Conn. The house covers 1,795 square feet.

Board Of Education And County Commissioners Talk Program

Pitt County Board of Education presented to the Board of County Commissioners information on school operations and financial positions and indicated some of the future expansion problems of these school units at a dinner meeting at the Silo Restaurant Wednesday night.
The commissioners were guests of the board of education for the supper session, which was held to discuss county school problems and needs.
Other guests present included county auditor Reginald Gray; L.
C. Forlines, director of school transportation for Pitt County; and W.
O. Price, head of school maintenance operations for the county.
Gray had prepared a statement for the commissioners noting the financial position of each school district, explaining their individual debts and valuations.
Forlines gave a report on his bus operations for the first five months of this school term. He explained he has 139 buses in his fleet, and during this time he has recorded a total mileage of 468,324 miles for all the vehicles. A total of 35,342 students have been transported, with a daily average of 7,180. The average daily mileage per bus is 33, and the average number of pupils transported per bus, 52.
He told the commissioners seven new units will be needed next year to equalize the pupil bus loads among the white and Negro schools.

Price reviewed his maintenance operations and explained the scope of his work to the commissioners.
He spoke of his responsibility for maintenance of the buildings and general upkeep of school property.
Price said he needs to inaugurate a system of replacing his trucks for hauling fuel, building material and men, and unloading surplus commodities donated by the government. At present, he operates eight trucks, some of them part-time. He asked the commissioners to consider giving him a new truck chassis each year, beginning this year, until his equipment is in good condition.
An informal discussion was held concerning the population trend in the county. A recent report reveals that the total population has increased from 1,617 to 2,271 during the period from 1943 through 1954.

thus indicating a considerable expansion program to be necessary in the schools within the next five years.
This point was made by Pitt County School Superintendent D. H. Conley, who explained the local school construction program which began in 1947, and which is still in progress.
He noted that during this time total obligations for white school construction has amounted to $870-000 (excluding the Ayden project for which bonds have already been issued), and for Negro school construction, $817,000.
He said this improvement program includes advances in buildings, equipment and transportation.

Hole Appeared In Her Backyard

JERSEY SHORE, Pa. (U.S.—Mrs.
Frank Organta heard a rumble in the backyard. She looked out the window and saw a 15-foot-deep hole where her flower garden had been.
Seeking an explanation, the Or-gantas learned from neighbors there had been a brewery on the property more than 100 years ago.
The cave-in occurred in what apparently had been a beer storage vault covered with timbers and three feet of earth.
The two young Organta sons suggested:
"Let's cement it and fill it with water, then we'll have a swimming pool."

TOOL TIPS

CUTTING an arc in a board with a keyhole saw can be simplified by cutting a series of kerfs to within a half-inch of the scribed arc. The American Builder suggests using an 8-point saw for these cuts.
The scrap wood is knocked out with a hammer and the keyhole saw will not bind because small pieces will break away as you saw.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Bueschew

Scripture--Acts 20:17-35; Romans 6:12-14; Ephesians 5:1-21; Colossians 3:1-11; Thessalonians 4:1-8; Peter 1:13-16; John 2:1-17.

On his last missionary journey Paul went to Miletus and called the church elders from Ephesus to come to him. He talked to them of his manner of life when he was among them and of his preaching. He told them that they would see him no more.

Paul told his friends in Ephesus that he was going to Jerusalem, "not knowing the things that shall befall me there; save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city saying that bonds and afflictions abide me; but none of these things move me."

After telling the elders of the Ephesian church that he had shown them in his own life how to live righteously, Paul knelt with them and prayed. Then they wept and fell on Paul's neck and kissed him, grieving that they would see him no more.

Peter, the apostle of Jesus Christ, wrote to the various scattered churches, telling them to be sober, hope for the grace of Jesus Christ as obedient children, and to be holy in all things, even as Christ is holy.

MEMORY VERSE--I Peter 1:13-16.

Christian Living--Temperance

WE ARE TOLD HOW WE CAN LIVE LIKE CHRIST

Scripture--Acts 20:17-35; Romans 6:12-14; Ephesians 5:1-21; Colossians 3:1-11; Thessalonians 4:1-8; Peter 1:13-16; John 2:1-17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. IF WE WOULD LEARN how to live our lives as Christ would have us, we should carefully study the lesson assigned us today. We are given so many references that we can only mention them briefly but, of course, the teacher will study them all.

Paul was on his third missionary journey. It was to be his last. When he was in Miletus he sent to Ephesus, 20 miles away, and called the elders of the Ephesian church to come to him.

"And when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons. And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there."

"And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more."

"I have shewed you all things, how so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive."

"And when he had thus spoken, he knelt down, and prayed with them all. And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him, sorrowing most of all for the words he spake, that they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship."

MEMORY VERSE

"But as He which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy."--I Peter 1:15-16.

he knelt down, and prayed with them all. And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him, sorrowing most of all for the words he spake, that they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

This parting will remind us all, even small children, of partings from some one beloved, with the possibility of never seeing him or her again. That is one of the deplorable facts about divorce when there are children.

Youngsters usually love both parents, and suffer when one leaves the home and they may see him or her no more. It is proved that children of such broken homes more often take to crime than those who have a normal home life.

Especially is it true of older persons who have had a beloved pastor who comforted them in sorrow, rejoiced with them in happiness, and helped them spiritually for many years. We all have memories of such a loss to ourselves, our fellow church members and the town or city where he lived. We may weep, too, if such a one leaves us to be seen by us no more.

sanctification and honor. "That no man go beyond and defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified."

We have six different books of the Testament in which we are given references in this lesson, and our space is limited. We close, therefore, with the words of John:

"My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous; and He is the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world."

"And hereby we do know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments. He that saith, I know Him, and keepeth not His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him."

"But whoso keepeth His word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in Him. He that saith, He abideth in him, ought himself also so to walk, even as He walked." I John 2:1-6.

How often do you check your million dollar eyes?

If you had two million dollars invested in some machine, you'd have it checked regularly to make sure everything was always okay.

But folks take their million dollar vision for granted, failing to have it checked for the changes which may occur in eyesight in a few months.

Just as you perhaps see your dentist twice a year for dental check-ups, so should you see your eyesight specialist at least once a year for a vision examination.

Hall Assumes Ike Will Run Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) -- Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman, told party followers here he "assumed" that President Eisenhower would run for re-election in 1956 but declared the road to political success was getting rougher.

"It is getting tougher every two years to elect Republican representatives in the fringe areas of the North," he said at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner attended by about 300 persons last night.

"We are going to look to Florida and other areas of the South to give us additional congressmen so we can give complete assurance to the people that Eisenhower's program will be enacted into law."

"The dinner, billed as 'nonsegregated,' was attended by five Negroes, who sat by themselves at a table in the northeast corner of the Biscayne Terrace Hotel's rooftop banquet hall.

Says Tax Vote Is Election Factor

PORTLAND, Ore. -- Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler says the Senate's defeat earlier this week of a Democratic-sponsored income tax cut will swing the 1956 elections to the Democrats.

"Responsibility for its defeat lies squarely on the shoulders of President Eisenhower and I'm confident he's given us the issue for 1956," he said in an interview.

Barbaras Headline 'North-South' Play

By KEN ALYTA
PINEHURST N.C. — The Battle of the Barbaras, Romack of Sacramento, Calif., the national champion, and McIntire of Toledo, Ohio, headlined today's second round in the 53rd North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.
Miss Romack was defending her North and South title here two years ago when their paths crossed and the Ohio girl eliminated the Californian, 2 up, in the quarter-finals.
Their lower bracket meeting was spotlighted on the day's eight-match program. Other lower bracket pairings sent Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Montpelier, Vt., co-medalist, against Mrs. Harold W. Stone of Ware Shoals, S.C., winner of countless South Carolina state titles; Wiffi Smith, long-hitting 1954 U.S. junior champion from La Canada, Calif., against Mrs. Gene O'Neil McAuliffe of Wellesley, Mass., and Mrs. Maurice Glick, tournament-tested Baltimore veteran, against Jane Thomas of Salisbury.
In the upper half Mary Patton Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., who shared medal honors with Mrs. Jones, met Greta Leone of Chicago, who yesterday whipped Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, former National and North and South champion, 4 and 3. Other upper half matches paired Pat Lesser of Seattle against Mrs. H. S. Semple of Sewickley, Pa., Ann Rutherford of Carlisle, Pa., against Virginia Denney of Lake Forest, Ill. and Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore against Mrs. R. M. Torgerson of Forest Hills, N.Y.

The first round firing saw Miss Romack shoot par golf in her 7 and 5 victory over Mrs. C. F. Eaton Jr. of Wellesley Hill, Mass. That was the sharpest shooting of the day, although Wiffi Smith won plaudits for her 7 and 6 victory over Mrs. Stanley Emerson, Dayton, Ohio, a two handicap player.
Aside from Miss Kirby's defeat the only other eyebrow raiser was turned in by Ann Rutherford, the little Rollins College freshman who surprised with a 1 up decision over Marge Burns of Greensboro.
Miss Rutherford was three over women's par of 74 for her tour of the 6,000-yard No. 2 Pinehurst Country Club course.
Only one of the 16 first round matches went extra holes, Mrs. Stone edging Mrs. Holbrook Platt of Pinehurst, 1-up.

Santee Breaks His Silence Of 24 Hours

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Wes Santee broke an inordinately long silent spell of almost 24 hours today with the announcement that he came to the Pan-American Games "to win."
The 1,500 meters, all but forgotten earlier in the week in the rash of outstanding marks, came to life yesterday when two qualifying heats were staged.
The heats proved nothing in so far as time or position mattered, but propelled into the finals were Santee, a pair of American rivals who would like nothing better than to win over Santee, Fred Dwyer and Bob McMillen, and several Latin-American challengers.
Santee, newly arrived on this high elevation site, ran second in a neck and neck finish with Juan Miranda of Argentina, with McMillen of the U.S. Army, fourth.
The winning time was 4:06.4.

Santee would figure in the finals to beat that, practically with his cowboy boots on his feet.
Dwyer, Wes' stern rival in the indoor races this winter, bided his time and strength in his heat, he ran fifth to Filemon Camacho, Venezuela, who was timed in 4:31.4.
Santee, who once did around 4:13.0 for the mile in mile-high Denver, thinks the 1,500 here will be run in 3:34, give or take a fraction or so.
Meanwhile, the U.S.A. added three more track and field goal medals to its collection yesterday, and boosted her total of titles in all sports to 14 out of 29 championship events staged thus far.
The unofficial points numbered 107½ for the defending champion 345 for the U.S. as compared to Argentine team.

Ice Cup Has Rich History

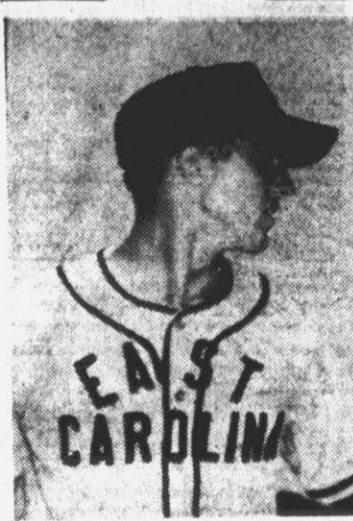

THE MCNAUGHTON CUP, famous amateur hockey trophy, has been won this year by Colorado College. The 31-inch cup gets an admiring glance from Rene (Nonk) Adams, athletic publicity director of Michigan Tech.

AP Newsfeatures
HOUGHTON, Mich. — The McNaughton Cup, an imposing 41-year-old trophy, is now the proud possession of Colorado College, champions of the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League.
This is the first year the historical trophy associated with amateur hockey in the United States since 1914 has been given to the winners of the W.I.H.L. Members include Colorado College, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Denver, Michigan Tech and Michigan State.
The trophy has been donated by a copper mining company in Houghton.
Back in 1913, James McNaughton, president of the National Collegiate Hockey Assn., authorized the president of the American Hockey Assn. to purchase a cup—he said the price didn't matter—and present it to the championship team at the end of the season. The first winner was the Cleveland Athletic Club.

The cup remained in competition in the AHA until 1932. From 1933 to 1950 it was played for by teams in Michigan's copper country. Since 1950 it had a place of honor in the Miscowauk Club in Calumet, Mich.
Now the "old mug" has come out of retirement.
It has been insured for $3,500 and has contained everything from wine and beer to American Beauty roses.
Trabert, Flam Matched Today
PALM BEACH, Fla. — Second-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati plays third-seeded Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., today in the feature singles match of the Evergreen Club Invitational Tennis Tournament.
Trabert gained the semifinals yesterday with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Jerry DeWitt of San Francisco while Flam had advanced earlier.
Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, seeded No. 1, defeated Dr. Jack Geller of Purchase, N.Y., 7-5, 6-0, to gain the semifinals and will play Tom Brown of San Francisco tomorrow. Finals will be held Sunday.

MEET A PIRATE

It should be "renew acquaintances" instead of "meet" because Cecil Heath, 5-10, 155-pound second baseman for East Carolina needs no introduction to sports followers in this area.

He begins his fourth year of baseball, having been out of the Pirates' standouts during the past three seasons.
He entered East Carolina in 1951. He broke into the starting lineups of the basketball and baseball teams. As a baseballer, he hit well over 300 and fielded flawlessly at second base.

His baseball career hits its epitome in 1952, Cecil's sophomore year. He notched a resounding 300 and was considered the best defensive second sacker in the conference. At the conclusion of the season, he was named to the All-North State Conference team.

Last season, his hitting dropped off several notches but his play at the keystone remained superlative. He made the All-Conference nine again.
Cecil played high school ball at New Hanover High in Wilmington. He played three years of varsity ball there and hit over 300 every season. His team went into the state finals of the AAA tournament twice during his three years as a member. He also played two years of American Legion baseball.
He has had semi-pro experience in Canada, playing with the strong Stellarton team of Nova Scotia. Cecil probably has gained more fame through his basketball exploits. Twice he has been named All-Conference and has been given much consideration for All-State honors on several occasions. This past season, he captained the basketball team.
He is looking for his best year on the diamond this spring. In any event, Cecil's going to draw a lot of attention from the big league scouts.
He is majoring in business and minoring in social studies. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Heath of 15 Wrightsville Avenue, Wilmington, N. C.

Brooklyn Sells Palica To Orioles

VERO BEACH, Fla. — The Dodgers today sold Erv Palica, 27-year-old righthander, to Baltimore for an undisclosed sum of cash and first baseman Frank Kellert. The latter will play for Brooklyn's St. Paul farm club.
Palica has been with the Dodgers since 1945 when he was a 17-year-old phenom from California. Farmed out three times, he has been a Dodger fixture since 1947. His best year was 1950 when he won 13 and lost eight.
The Palica sale closes out the Dodger-Oriole deal of last winter when the Brooks sold Prescher Roe and Billy Cox to Baltimore. Roe later retired and was returned to Brooklyn, which placed him on the voluntary retired list.

Good-Hit, No-Field Ray Jablonski Tries Improve

TAMPA, Fla. — First in hitting and last in fielding among National League third basemen is the story of Ray Jablonski, known far and wide as a "good hit, no field" ball-player.

Keenly aware of his reputation as a "butcher" in the field, Jablonski is working on defense this spring, his first with the Cincinnati Reds. He knows the St. Louis Cardinals traded him last winter because of his poor fielding.

"Everybody knows I'm supposed to be poor in the field," he said at a Cincinnati workout. "All these fellows (Manager Birdie Tebbets and his coaches) know the situation. They're trying to help me."

"The first game I ever played in St. Louis, an exhibition against the Browns, I made an error and nobody ever forgot it. The next day, when we played another exhibition with the Browns, the fans cheered me when I would catch a ball, just warming up on the sidelines. It's always been the same. When I come up to bat they cheer but when I go after a ball they groan."

Jablonski has been trying to bend down a bit lower as he stands at third base, hoping he will be in a better position to field the ball. Many of his 34 errors last season came from wild throws. He claims he used to throw flat footed but now is trying to take time enough to get set before he lets the ball go.

Jablonski, led the league's third basemen with a .296 average and drove in 104 runs last year. Tebbets hasn't decided on his batting order yet but he probably will hit Jabbo No. 6, giving him plenty of chance to bat with men on. Johnny Temple, the No. 6 hitter part of last season, has been moved to leadoff.

Montreal Hockey Fans Riot Over Suspension Of Player

MONTREAL (AP)—Rabid hockey fans rioted last night over the suspension of Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, star of the Montreal Canadiens.

They set off a tear-gas bomb in the Montreal Forum and pelted Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, with tomatoes, eggs and peanuts. Twice he was struck in the face.

Only the quick work of Fire Chief Armand Pare, who ordered the game with Detroit Red Wings halted, averted a panic. Tear-gas fumes billowed up and thousands struggled, choking, coughing and weeping, for the exits.

No serious injuries were reported, although several persons were hit by the flying missiles.

Other thousands, unable to get in to the game, milled outside. There violence erupted anew. Bricks, chunks of ice and bottles were hurled. Store windows were smashed. Missiles were thrown into streets. Trolley wires were pulled down.

Police said they had arrested "about 60 or 65 persons and they're still coming in." Most were expected to be charged with disturbing the peace.

The mob fury was directed primarily at Campbell. He suspended Richard, idol of Montreal hockey fans, Wednesday for attacking a player and an official in a game Sunday in Boston. Since then he had received death threats. Emotion soared at last night's game because first place was at stake.

Hours after the forum was ordered evacuated, thousands still stood in solid ranks on the far side of St. Catherine's Street and in a small park between it and the Montreal General Hospital.

Police cars and patrol cars came and went. Police moved into the ranks here and there, swinging nightsticks and hauling out a prisoner every few minutes.

The crowd set fire to a newsstand and jeered and threw hunks of ice when firemen came speeding up to put it out.

Campbell did not arrive until about 13 minutes after the game had started. When he walked into the forum the crowd broke into roaring waves of boos. He marched to his seat. The crowd stood and kept up the booring.

Then came the missiles. Campbell sat through the barrage. Once he arose and brushed dirt from his sleeves.

Suddenly a cloud of smoke arose from the main entrance to the rinkside.

Who set off the tear gas bomb no one knew, not even ushers who were standing near the entrance at the time.

Richard, leading NHL scorer, was suspended for the rest of the season and also for the Stanley Cup playoffs for hitting Boston's Hal Laycoe and linesman Cliff Thompson in the game at Boston.

This was equivalent to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, in the United States, suspending Willie Mays of the New York Giants in the midst of a crucial pennant-deciding series with the Brooklyn Dodgers and also keeping Mays out of the World Series.

The game, incidentally, was ordered forfeited to Detroit, putting the Red Wings in first place by two points over the Canadiens. The first period scores will count and the final score in the record books will be 4-1, Detroit.

U.S. Defeated

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Argentina is a somewhat hysterical leader of the Pan-American basketball tournament today, victor over a United States team that was supposed to take the championship with comparative ease.

The Gauchos, led by that veteran of Olympic basketball, lean Oscar Furlong, beat the United States 54-53 last night and now appear to have the Pan-American title in the bag.

Furlong led the Argentina scoring with 14 points. Bob Williams got the same for the U. S.

Brazil swamped Venezuela 86-44 in another game in the men's while Mexico beat Canada 58-41 in the women's division.

Dressen Content If Senators End In First Division

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

While some baseball clubs strive toward winning pennants, the Washington Senators would be content to wind up in the first division—which is what Manager Chuck Dressen is pointing for in 1955.

Not since 1946 has Washington finished among the top four clubs in the American League. The Nats were fourth that year. In 1950, '52 and '53 they were fifth. Since they won their last pennant in 1933 the Senators have been in the first division only five times.

Dressen, who led the Brooklyn Dodgers to two straight National League flags in 1952 and 1953, has his Nats riding atop the Grapefruit and Cactus League standings today with a 4-2 won-lost record.

"Our goal is to finish in the first division," Dressen said. "With luck we may even finish as high as third."

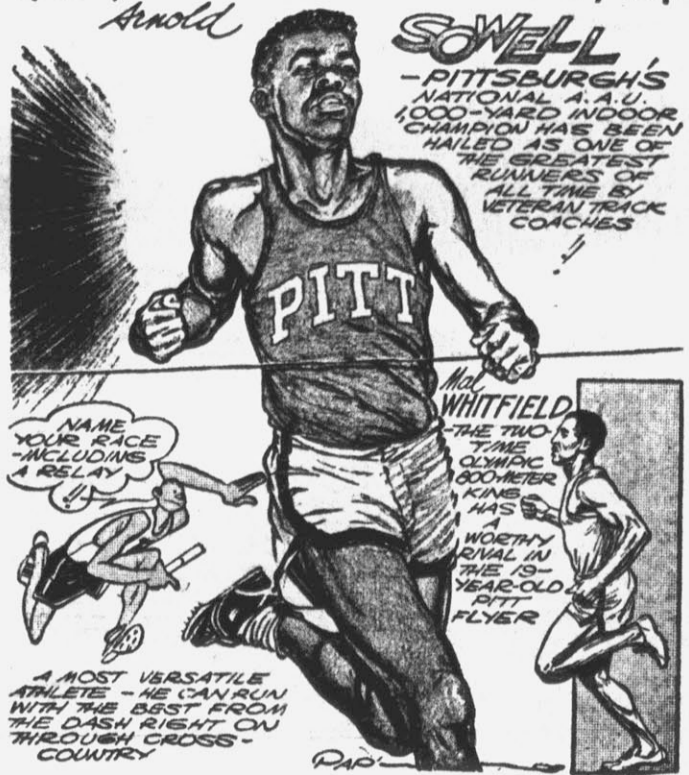

He thinks his club has a chance provided the "big guys don't get hurt." He meant first baseman Mickey Vernon, outfielder Jim Busby and third baseman Eddie Yost. He also regards pitching as the strongest part of his team.

One of the "big guys," Eddie Yost, homered to start the bottom half of the first inning yesterday and the Senators went on to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-4 for their fourth straight victory.

The Boston Red Sox broke a three-game losing streak by whipping the Milwaukee Braves 8-5. Billy Goodman collected three hits and batted in three runs.

Al Kaline scooted home from third base on Jack Phillips' slow infield roller in the ninth inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 triumph over the Philadelphia

Speedy Sowell by Pap'

The extravagant praise heaped upon Arnold Sowell by veteran track coaches only seems to inspire the versatile University of Pittsburgh speedster to run faster than ever.

"The greatest, most fabulous runner that ever lived," said George Eastment, Manhattan College coach, in speaking of Sowell on the eve of the Indoor Intercollegiate championships. Coach Artie O'Connor, of Fordham University, backed up Eastment's evaluation of the skinny youngster's talents by adding, "He's out of this world, and promptly conceded the 1,000-yard title to Sowell by withdrawing his own star, Tom Courtney. Sowell made their nice words stand up by winning the 1,000-yard crown, and then running an amazing 47.6 anchor leg to help Pitt win the mile relay title.

Sowell's most impressive performance on the boards this winter was his triumph in the National A. U. 1,000-yard championship. He AAU 1,000-yard record of 2:08.2 in beating Audun Boysen, Norway's 1,000-meter record holder, by ten yards. So impressed was Boysen

Two Little Leagues Meet, Prepare For Season Play

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's two little leagues met Tuesday night at the Recreation Building to discuss plans for the coming Little League baseball season. A small crowd was on hand for the meeting.

The North State and the Tar Heel leagues both met and began the organization for the 1955 baseball year. Both leagues set up committees to get the ball rolling. The North State league, of which Dr. L. W. Jenkins is president, appointed Mr. Jimmy Robard as chairman of the grounds committee. Mr. Dallas Clark will assist him. Mr. John Hodges is chairman of the concession committee. Mr. Hoover Taft is the chairman of the finance committee.

The Tar Heel league, with T. K. Fountain presiding, appointed Mr. Ray Waters chairman of the grounds committee. Mr. Sam Roberts and Mr. Tom Rowlette will as-ist him. Mrs. Jack Harrington is head of the concession committee and Mr. Joe Moyer is head of the finance committee.

Since the two Greenville Little Leagues use the same ground, concession stand, and finances these two committees will work together during the year.

Managers Lined Up

Other committees in the North State league are the managers committee, with Mr. R. B. Starling chairman, publicity committee, with Mr. Hartwell Campbell chairman, and press box committee, with Mr. Elbert Bennett chairman. The Tar Heelers elected Mr. Erskine Duff to see about getting the managers lined up with the other committees to be announced later.

The small crowd that was on hand was disappointing to the Little League officials. For the number of parents that have children in the Little League program, the turnout was comparably small.

Parents' League

Mr. W. C. (Neely) James, an active little league manager and worker ever since it started commented on the small crowd. "The small crowd was very disappointing, since this is the people's program. This is not a project for the Recreation Department, it is a community project. It is up to the parents to come to the meetings to discuss and plan things that should be worked on."

The Recreation Department does not finance the Little League, it is the parents and the efforts they use to make money for the Little League."

Mr. James pointed out that the support of a few parents was not enough, that it would take a lot of people to get the Little League rolling.

Finances In Good Condition

Mr. James reported that the finances for the coming year were in good condition. He said, "It is not enough to get us through the year by any means, but it is enough to get a good start."

Most of the managers for the coming season have accepted their jobs and the rest should be lined up soon.

Boys Should Sign

Tryouts for the new boys out for Little League will begin April 4. All boys that want to play this year should sign up at the Recreation Building as soon as possible.

This year an improved Minor League will be in effect for the boys not quite good enough to make the regular Little League teams. This Minor League will teach the young boys how to play so they can step up into the Little League action when they are older.

Another meeting of the Greenville Little Leagues will be held soon. That meeting will be announced in this paper.

Newcomers To Garden Will See Action Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of youngsters who never before have been in a Madison Square Garden main event—Joey Lopes and Carmen Costa—go at it in the feature 10 in the Eighth Avenue Arena tonight.

Lopes was a cautious 6-5 choice after the odds had fluctuated back and forth for two days. They have agreed to come in at 132 pounds, so although Lopes is a lightweight and Costa a featherweight, there will be little difference in poundage.

This bout will be telecast and broadcast by NBC, starting at 10 p.m. (EST). The New York scoring system is on a round-by-round basis with the referee and two judges voting. There also is a supplemental point system which is used to avoid draws.

Elkin To Honor Dickie Hemric

ELKIN, N.C. — Dickie Hemric, the Jonesville youngster who rose to the basketball heights during four years of play with Wake Forest College, will be honored here tonight at a banquet.

More than 600 persons from Jonesville, Elkin and Yadkin County are expected. The big news will be the gift of a new automobile to Hemric. The actual presentation of the car will come later.

Hemric, who set a new major collegiate scoring record while at Wake Forest, was named on several A-America teams this season. He also was named the outstanding player in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Tell Her It's MURDER

SYNOPSIS

Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Pelham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the vehicular slaying of Regina's small son, Roger, a 7-year-old boy, though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide, and had served a brief prison term. But free now in New York, and aided by Police Inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that tragic night, leads Andrus to the suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike." Here he is injured and, dazed, he stumbles upon the corpse of "Midnight Mike," himself. Jim hides out in a cheap local hotel that night and when next morning his silver flask is found by the body of the murdered man, Andrus is again wanted by the police. But Jim's loyal friend, Susan Dwight, helps him evade the law. Susan never had believed Andrus guilty of killing little Roger and she is sure that her grieving half-sister, Regina Pelham, still loves this man! Now, sadly, Jim recalls having been somewhere with "Midnight Mike" and a woman the night the lad had died beneath the wheels of his car.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Before 9 o'clock Andrus was safe in the loft of the Pelham barn. He hadn't been challenged on the way, nor had it been difficult to evade the law. Susan never had believed Andrus guilty of killing little Roger and she is sure that her grieving half-sister, Regina Pelham, still loves this man! Now, sadly, Jim recalls having been somewhere with "Midnight Mike" and a woman the night the lad had died beneath the wheels of his car.

They left the barn, their arms linked, mounted the back steps and went inside. Lights flashed on. Susan and Lofting were in the pantry, Susan getting ice out of the refrigerator. They vanished. Edith and Frederick Pelham suddenly appeared before Andrus. The man was bright and he could see them clearly. They had evidently come round the barn; their own house was only a stone's throw away on the hill above. They were talking. Andrus couldn't hear what they said. They turned under the walls, crossed the lawn and went in through a side door. Presently the nurse, Mrs. Casserly, came down the back stairs into the kitchen, put a kettle on the stove and began arranging a tray.

Andrus wanted a cigaret, but Susan had warned him about showing a light and he was still sitting there, too listless to move when a curious little scene took place. Lights sprang up in a room on the second floor. Double exposure—it was a replica of one of those tricky stage sets where you see into two rooms at once. Mrs. Casserly bustled about in the kitchen, tall and angular and busy; it was Edith Pelham who had entered the room on the floor above.

The room was a bedroom. Regina's sister-in-law stood with her back to the closed door looking around. The furniture consisted of a bed, a high-boy, a dressing table and two chairs. Edith Pelham went quickly to the high-boy and began opening and closing drawers as though she were searching for something. The dressing table next; she was at the dressing table when she raised her head sharply in a listening gesture, closed the drawer, hurried across the floor and disappeared through a door on the far side, a bathroom door, dousing the lights as she did so.

front of the house was still lit up. The man on the bench gazed through the windows of living room and hall, as Andrus himself had gazed into the rooms at the back.

Sweat broke out on Andrus' forehead. Police—the man was a plainclothesman, watching the house. Watching Susan Dwight? The fellow was completely calm, collected, couldn't be anything else but a policeman. Andrus pushed his chair farther back into darkness and stood. As though they were connected by invisible strings the man on the bench got up too and walked away. The lights were going out. Presently the house was black.

Air Force Plans Call Up Cadets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army and Air Force will call for active duty about 24,000 ROTC cadets graduating from college this year. About 10,200 will be Air Force cadets and remainder Army. They will get reserve commissions as second lieutenants.

In addition, the Air Force will order to active training duty about 3,500 ROTC graduates of last year who could not be taken by the Air Force but who accepted Air National Guard commissions as second lieutenants.

FOUND IN A TREE
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Thirty searchers scoured the countryside in suburban Dewitt yesterday for Charlie Vogel, 4, whose parents had reported him missing. Charlie was found two hours later—peched in an apple tree in the front yard.

California has added more than 2.3 million inhabitants to its population since 1950.

Fat Cats Ignore Rats At Asylum

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—An official of the City Sanitation Department blames cats for the presence of rats around the Dexter Asylum, the city's home for the homeless poor.

Dr. Edwin Knights said some asylum patients have pet cats. They feed them too well and the cats leave bits of food around, attracting rats.

The fat cats, he said, are generally fast asleep when you would expect them to be chasing the rats.

The word "Lent" originally meant "spring."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—The stock market was mixed today with a tendency to advance in evidence in the early afternoon.

Most price changes were small. Some extended from around 2 points lower to 4 points higher. These were exceptional.

Trading was quiet after a fast start. Volume was in the vicinity of two million shares for the day. Yesterday's total was 2,200,000 shares when the market was rising.

Steels and aircrafts turned down while coppers and motors were higher. Rails were mixed as were most other sections of the list.

Still under the influence of their proposed merger, Sperry Corp. up 9 points yesterday, dashed ahead around 5 points today and then lost most of that gain, while Remington Rand off 1/2 yesterday, rose today between 2 and 3 points and then settled back under its best.

Deep Rock Oil, on a good profit showing, was up around 4 points at times. Also higher were General Motors, Radio Corp., Western Union, Kennecott Copper, Phelps Dodge, and Seaboard Railroad.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, U.S. Steel, Boeing Douglas Aircraft, International Paper and International Nickel.

Art Museum Discussed By Dr. Humber At Meet

At their Wednesday night program meeting to which the public was invited, the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville presented the noted international lawyer and art authority, Dr. Robert Lee Humber, who spoke on "The North Carolina Museum of Art." After the meeting was called to order Mrs. Dink James led in the pledge to the flag, and Mrs. James Davenport led in prayer, using the Club Collect. The president, Mrs. T. R. Jones, welcomed guests and then dispensed with the business meeting in honor of the speaker, Mrs. R. D. Harrington Jr., program chairman, introduced Dr. Humber who is chairman of the North Carolina State Art Commission and a native of Greenville.

Dr. Humber first stressed the importance of art centers in raising the level of culture and giving enduring contributions to society as Athens did in ancient times, and as museums such as Kansas City's do today.

There are no significant museums in Southern States today and as early as 1932, Dr. Humber proposed that North Carolina assume leadership and recognize the art which are rapidly disappearing into permanent collections in museums.

The late Gov. Broughton appointed a committee to raise the necessary $1,000,000.00 to begin the collection and Dr. Humber secured promise of one million dollars from the Kress Foundation if N. C. would match the sum. After a strenuous political battle, N. C. Legislature became the first government to appropriate money to buy paintings when, under Gov. Cherry, it passed the art bill in 1947.

Four years later this bill had to be revised because the Kress Foundation decided to give one million dollars in art rather than cash.

Under Gov. Scott the State Art Society began its work in collecting 200 paintings, insisting on authenticity, good condition, and reasonable price.

Dr. Humber told of episodes in locating and bargaining on the paintings. The decision was made to give distinction to the museum by selecting in the collection of one artist — Rubens. They now have six treasures by Ruben's own hands.

The collection consists of paintings from the later Italian school, Spanish, French, Flemish and American schools. For the children of North Carolina, characters from American history will be emphasized.

The museum has already received an additional $700,000.00 in gifts including $120,000.00 worth of early Flemish paintings by Doris Duke.

The collection has been valued at three and one-half to four millions, and the editor of "Art News" desires to reproduce 130 paintings out of this collection and, in fact, dedicate a whole issue to the N. C. Museum of Art.

The museum will be located in the former State Highway Building in Raleigh which is at present being renovated. The opening date is, Dr. Humber's words, "As soon as possible!"

At the conclusion of his speech, Dr. Humber was thanked by the president of the Junior Woman's Club for his accomplishment in making the North Carolina Museum of Art a reality.

A social hour, during which punch and cookies were served, was then enjoyed by members and their guests.

ABC Enforcers Make 3 Raids

ABC officers raided three stills recently—two in Beaufort County and one in Pitt, Officer J. M. Ward announced today.

The raiders found a 100-gallon submarine-type still and 100 gallons of mash in Beaufort County. The still was complete but not in operation.

Also in Beaufort County a 200-gallon submarine still was located in the Old Ford. Officers found 800 gallons of mash and 20 gallons of whiskey at the scene. The unit was still hot. Ward stated, but the operators were not found at the scene.

In Pitt County the officers found a 300-gallon submarine type still with a 100-gallon box fermenter. The unit had recently been moved to its new location and no mash was found at the scene. It was located in Pactious township.

Participating in the raids were Pitt County ABC officers, Ward and H. B. Lilly, Beaufort County ABC officers and an ATU agent.

Bill Introduced To Permit Sale

Legislation was introduced in the General Assembly yesterday to give the city power to sell to the School Board of Trustees an Elm Street tract of land on which the new high school will stand.

Under terms of the bill the city will be able to sell to the trustees all or part of a 26-acre tract of land bounded on the east and west by Elm Street and on the north and south by Greene Mill Run and Fourteenth Street.

City Councilmen requested at their last meeting that the bill read "all or part" of the property may be sold to the trustees because of the Kiwanis miniature train which has recently been installed on the northern end of the area. In addition, councilmen raised the question of eventually installing a pool on a portion of the property.

Officials later will discuss whether the northern section of the area will be left out of the proposed transfer.

However, school officials have said that if the entire tract of land is sold to the school board, the operation of the train probably will not interfere with the school.

The bill authorizing the city to transfer the land was introduced by Rep. S. O. Worthington.

Rural Telephone Program Pushed

TARBORO — The annual meeting of the stockholders of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company was held last Friday at the general offices of the Company in Tarboro.

In his annual report to the stockholders, President L. W. Hill cited the major accomplishments of the Company and called attention to the emphasis placed on rural telephone development during 1954 by pointing out that one-third of the 6,900 telephones gained by the Company were rural. Capital expenditures for the Company during the year were $8,750,000.

Long distance usage by Eastern North Carolinians reached an all time high during the past year and the President noted that about 74 per cent of the long distance messages originating in the Carolina Company territory are now handled by operators using mechanized circuits. These circuits enable operators to dial distant telephones from their switchboards without the help of intermediate operators. The increase in this type facilities during the past year was the greatest in the Company's history for a similar period.

Although the Company's gross income for the year was the highest in its history, the net income was about $200,000 less than that of 1953. This was due to increased expenses which included maintenance costs in restoration of hurricane damage.
