GOP Speakers To Get Special Material

Campaign On Yalta?

By JACK BELL and JOHN W. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today he has taken steps to aid Republican speakers to lambast their political foes.

Bridges said he has instructed the staff of the Senate Republican Policy Committee which he heads, to compile information from the documents for use by GOP speakers.

"Certainly the Republicans are at liberty to discuss the mistakes that were made at Yalta," he said. "We learned about the tragic results only gradually in the months and years after Yalta."

"By studying the mistakes of the past and trying to avoid them in the future we can help our country."

It was at the World War II conference at Yalta that Franklin D. Roosevelt agreed to Far Eastern concessions to Russia in exchange for the Soviets' speedy entry into the war against Japan. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said it is all right with him if the Republicans want to comb the Yalta papers for political material. "I am sure they won't find there any of the dynamite they so confidently hope to explode," he said. "In the past they could make all kinds of charges about Yalta. But I think they are going to be limited now because they will have to cite chapter and verse now that the documents have been made public."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has called for publication of the records of the 1943 Tehran and the 1945 Potsdam conferences. The latter was attended by former President Truman.

Government officials said privately the furor kicked up by last week's publication of the Yalta papers compels Secretary of State Dulles to take a new look at the program for publishing secret documents on other Big Three meetings. Dulles and his aides had anticipated a political uproar in the United States. Some informed officials say, however, they had not expected as much of a kickback as they got from abroad. A few months after the Republican administration came into power in January 1953, Congress appropriated funds for publication of secret wartime conferences. Compilation and editing of the papers is well advanced but not completed.

Associates said Dulles may now find it impossible to finish the publication with whatever funds remain. Since congressional leadership has changed hands, it would not expect to be able to get additional funds from the present Congress.

Or he may decide, apart from the question of funds, that the effect of the releases on U.S. international relations is an overriding consideration.

Resigned To Churchill Step-Down

Few Britons Expect Full Retirement; Political Foes Still Unconvinced

LONDON (AP)—Britons took it for granted today that Winston Churchill is stepping down as prime minister within weeks. But no one expects him to go into retirement by the fireside.

Only the 80-year-old statesman's political enemies seemed to harbor any suspicions the impetuous Churchill might change his mind at the last minute.

The authoritative, independent Times—which seldom deals in political speculation—said today: "It now seems increasing likely that he (Churchill) will resign about Easter" and that Queen Elizabeth II will call on Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to form a new government.

But the anti-Conservative Daily Mirror, which for two years has been calling Churchill too old for the premiership, said people "will not believe he has gone this time until they see the back of him."

Churchill supporters talked of his becoming a sort of "elder statesman of the free world," speaking out on vital issues.

There was talk in parliamentary lobbies that Churchill also would keep his seat in the House of Commons. This would give him a platform and an official status, and would leave him available for any assignment as a special government emissary.

Speculation already was rife on the prospect of an early general election. The guesses for the date ranged between June and October. The Churchill Conservative government has until October 1956 in a municipal election locally. Some 3,334 out of 7,275 registered voters cast their ballots in the 1953 election.

Although no candidates for the City Council have come forth so far, the situation is reminiscent of the 1953 election when a flood of late filers descended on the city clerk's office during the last few days of the filing period.

The 1953 election followed by only a few months the city-wide referendum at which the city manager form of government was voted into being. The new system meant a change from the old aldermanic form under which aldermen represented each ward of the city and the mayor was elected directly by the voters.

Under the present system the wards still remain but the five councilmen are elected at large and they choose the mayor from among their own ranks.

Judge and solicitor of Municipal Court are still elected at large as they were in the past. Both Judge Charles Whedbee and Solicitor Ed Bloom have filed for re-election with their respective offices. The pair filed on March 10 to run in the May 3 city election.

Both Whedbee and Bloom were unopposed in 1953 in their bids for office and so far this year no one has indicated that they will oppose them.

For those who must register to vote in the coming election, books will be open from April 20 to April 30 from 9 a.m. to sunset each day.

City Clerk H. H. Duncan said today that those who were registered for the last city election will be required to re-register this year. The registration is only for those who have not registered and for those who wish to transfer to another ward, Duncan said.

The city clerk noted that Wards 1 and 2 are to register and vote at the Pitt County Court House and vote at the City Hall.

To be able to participate in the election a voter has to be a resident of North Carolina for one year. Duncan estimated that there are approximately 5,000 individuals in the books who are eligible to vote next May 3.

Newton Inquest Set Wednesday An inquest into the death of Linwood Earl Newton, who died last week after a two-month fight for life, will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Pitt County Court House, Coroner Griffin H. Rouse announced today.

Newton received a fatal bullet wound in a fight with Highway Patrolman C. E. Whitfield last January after the officer had arrested him for drunken driving.

The seriously injured man remained at Pitt Memorial Hospital for some time and was later transferred to Duke Hospital where he died last week.

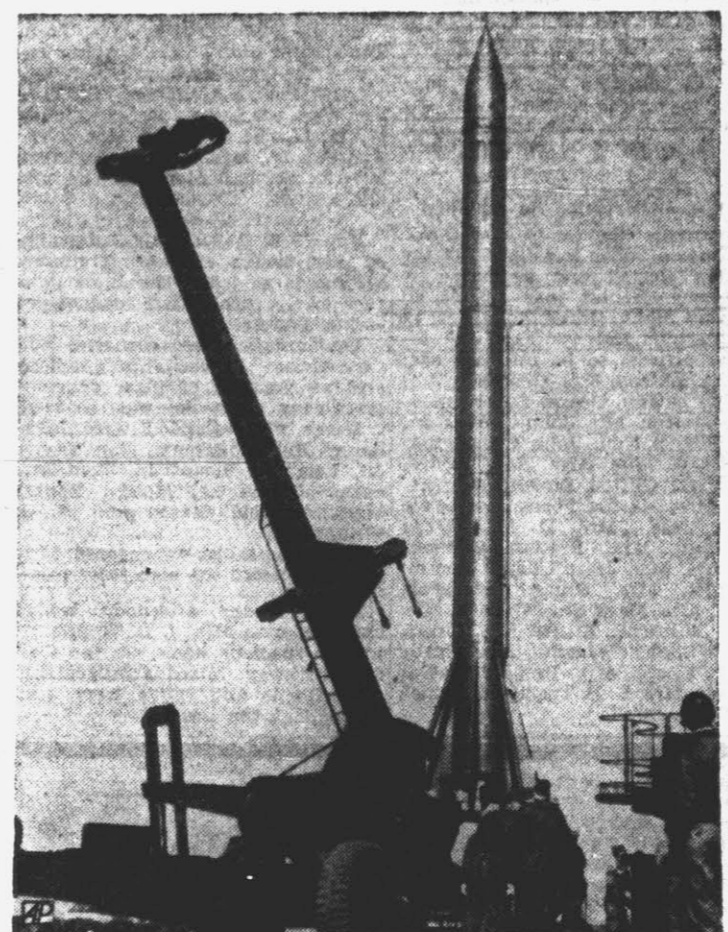

Sen. George (D-Ga.) who fought the tax cut plan, said last night he believes the House will back down rather than run the risk of killing the revenue bill. House members also said during the weekend they thought they would be forced to yield.

House and Senate conferees will meet Wednesday to seek some compromise.

Only 11 more days stand between potential candidates for city office and the April 2 deadline for filing and so far no one has filed as a candidate for City Council.

And of the present council members only one has indicated that he will seek re-election as one of the five city fathers. Councilman J. A. Collins Jr. recently announced that he would seek re-election.

A veteran of a number of terms as alderman and councilman, Collins said, in making the announcement, that he would run for one more term only. However, Collins has not formally filed with the city clerk's office as yet.

Other council members have made no statement concerning their plans for the coming election. The group of five men who have governed the city for nearly 20 years made local history as the city's first City Council and as the city's first governing body under the city manager form of government.

They were elected from a field of 17 late-filing candidates by the heaviest vote ever cast in a municipal election locally. Some 3,334 out of 7,275 registered voters cast their ballots in the 1953 election.

Airline Crash Is Fatal To Twelve

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—An American Airlines plane threading its way through darkness and rain toward a landing field crashed last night, killing 12 persons and injuring 28.

The twin-engine Convair crashed in a pasture about two miles north of the Springfield airport. Wreckage was scattered more than 300 feet.

The plane carried a three-member crew and 32 passengers. All the survivors were injured. Jack Pripish, of Chicago, the pilot, was the only member of the crew to survive. Stewardess Rita Madaj and copilot Glenn Walker, of Chicago and Los Angeles, died.

The airport control tower had given final clearance for the landing. As the craft approached Carl McCrary in the tower saw a flash. Then the plane disappeared and he gave the alarm.

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix one of the first to reach the scene near muddy by an all-day rain, said: "There was no fire. In the darkness I found it hard to find the plane and I lost my shoes in the mud as I crossed the farm field."

Then I heard a woman's call and I found her sitting on the ground. I gave her my coat and then I saw three persons walking around dazed. I finally could see the plane in the darkness. Its wings were sheared off but the fuselage was intact except for the nose.

"The nose was crumpled up like cellophane. Two ambulances came near the scene but got stuck in the mud. We started taking out the injured as other ambulances arrived but it was close to 1 a.m. before we got them all out."

The plane crashed about 10:30 p.m. Robert Browning, 15, of Chappequa, N.Y., an injured passenger, said there was a "terrible vibration" before the crash. Mrs. O. W. Peebles, who lives near the scene, reported hearing an explosion just before the crash.

"I was on a clipper plane last summer and I read some instructions on what to do in case of a crash," Browning related. "They told me to put your head down between your knees. And I did that when I felt the vibration. The next thing I knew I was lying on the ground about 15 feet from the plane."

Young Browning was en route to visit relatives at Harrison, Ark. Bill Bowers, of radio station KTTS said when he reached the plane an elderly man, whose legs appeared to be broken, was lying beside the plane.

"Don't bother about me," the man said. "Get the others out first." Bowers said he didn't know the man's name. B. H. Mays, of Cushing, Okla., another passenger, said he didn't know what happened.

"The first thing I knew I was out on the ground," Mays said. "Then I heard a woman's call and I found her sitting on the ground. I gave her my coat and then I saw three persons walking around dazed. First Witness Takes Stand In Abortion Trial

First witness for the state in the case against Mrs. Helen Cannon of 303 Park Ave., Ayden, charged with abortion, took the stand in Pitt Superior Court at 12:05 this afternoon.

The witness, Mrs. Doris Hepbscher, testified under direct examination that she went to the home of Mrs. Cannon in Ayden on a Saturday night last January and that Mrs. Cannon performed an abortion in the bathroom of her home. On the following day, Mrs. Hepbscher told the court, she was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital where she remained for three days before being released.

Under cross examination Mrs. Hepbscher, chief witness for the state, said in answer to a defense question that in 1951 she was placed on two years probation for prostitution. She also testified under cross examination that she had been confined to a state correctional institution for girls.

The cross examination began at 12:25 after Mrs. Hepbscher had been questioned by the state for approximately 20 minutes. The witness testified that she has been married twice, but that she has not seen her present husband for more than a year. Hepbscher had been under cross examination for approximately 30 minutes when the court recessed for lunch at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

State CD Council OKs Rescue Truck Purchase

Final approval by the State Council of Civil Defense for its share of funds to purchase a rescue truck has been granted, Ben Rouse, co-chairman of a Junior Chamber of Commerce Committee which spearheaded the fund-raising drive, announced today.

Local Civil Defense Director June H. Rose was notified of the approval by R. C. Nicholson, deputy state director. A letter from the deputy director states that the application has been approved and "you may proceed to order your truck and tools."

Rouse said this morning that delivery of the unit is expected in four months. It will be housed in Greenville's main fire station and manned and maintained by local fire fighters. The truck, tools and equipment will cost a total of $9,934.59. Rouse stated and exactly half that amount is to be paid by Civil Defense. The remainder of the money was raised by the Jaycees who sponsored the project. The committee approached various governmental units in the county and individuals for contributions to the drive.

The county commissioners voted to appropriate $1,500 for the truck and the city of Greenville appropriated $1,000. Ayden and Faison, Folkland, Fountain, Bethel, Winterville and Grimesland voted $100 each for the project. In addition the Greenville Fire Department contributed $200 for the truck and individual citizens of Greenville gave $965 to complete the drive.

Co-Chairman of the drive Rouse and Dave Whichard expressed appreciation to those who have contributed to the purchase of the unit and to the individuals who have worked to make the project a success. Rouse signaled out the Stafford Oldsmobile Company which is obtaining the chassis for the unit at factory cost.

When the unit is placed in operation it will give the local fire department one of the most complete rescue outfits in the state of answering emergency calls in the county. Included in the truck will be apparatus for practically any rescue operation which local firemen might be called on to perform. The unit will be operated in conjunction with the present rescue ambulance which the department has had for a number of years.

Jaycee President Frank Dail today expressed his appreciation to Rouse and Whichard and to their committee for the work which they did in completing the project. "We feel that the addition of this unit to the rescue equipment in the county will prove of inestimable value in future years," the Jaycee president declared.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two holdup men locked butchers Irving I. Gronsky and Harold Schott and a customer in a 20-below-zero meat locker after robbing a market of $2,223. Then they telephoned police and told them about it. The victims were in cold storage 20 minutes before officers freed them.

Dulles Points To Price Of Liberty

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says the United States may someday again find it necessary "to forego peace in order to assure the blessings of liberty."

"I do not mean the right to live selfishly. It means that men instead of having to fear other men need fear only God. It means the right freely to pattern one's life in accordance with the dictates of moral law. That is the law which enjoins upon us the golden rule."

Dulles also held a convocation of the United Negro College Fund at the Metropolitan Opera House. "Peace is the product of many wills, and not merely of one alone. In the past it has been necessary to forego peace in order to assure the blessings of liberty. We dare not be blind to the fact that that may happen again."

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 150-million-dollar pay raise for postal workers headed toward a House vote today.

In advance of House action, President Eisenhower said he would view with "gravest apprehension" any further additions to the 7 1/2 per cent average increase provided by the postal pay bill.

He noted that the postal increase will set the pattern for 1,200,000 civil service employees. This bill is still in committee.

The President's views, contained in a letter Saturday to Chairman Murray (D-Tenn) of the House Post Office Committee clearly implied a probable veto of any bigger increase.

They also underscored a statement last week by Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission that the government cannot afford more. It already faces the need of financing government-wide employee benefits totaling more than a billion dollars a year, he said. These are raises and other benefits proposed and pending.

The House pay bill called for a minimum 6 per cent and an average 7 1/2 per cent raise. It also required pay schedules, with higher new pay grades for some 300,000 carriers, clerks and mail truck drivers.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today appointed tobacco farmer Arthur C. Lawrence of Apex, N. C., to the bipartisan National Agricultural Advisory Commission.

House Prepares For Showdown Fight On Anti-Whammy Measure

RALEIGH—As legislators reassemble in Raleigh today to begin their 12th week, the House prepared for a showdown battle tomorrow on the controversial anti-whammy bill.

This week promises to be one of decisions on several important pieces of legislation. The whammy bill may encounter stormy seas when it comes up for House action tomorrow.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Tom White of Lenoir, would require officers using speed-detecting equipment to station themselves in full view of motorists.

The bill was approved by the House Roads Committee 22-17 last Wednesday but some members who voted for a favorable report indicated they would oppose it on the House floor.

Meanwhile, the House and Senate will hold sessions tonight at 8 o'clock. The House is scheduled to take up for third reading a House bill affecting the state's employment security laws. It would extend coverage and reduce the employer's contributions by about five million dollars per year.

The House also has up for final reading tonight a bill to authorize the State Wildlife Resources Commission to fix open seasons on doe deer.

A special Senate study commission is expected to make its report tonight on the senatorial redistricting issue.

A special 25-member subcommittee charged with the task of completing a study of the budget, is scheduled to begin work tomorrow. The subcommittee will be announced tonight or tomorrow, possibly tomorrow, according to Sen. J. C. Eagles Jr. of Wilson, Senate Appropriations chairman.

The subcommittee, which will include 10 senators and 15 representatives, will study the $77-million-dollar biennial budget and make recommendations to the full committee, which will approve or disapprove them.

The length of the 1955 session will depend a great deal on how long it takes the Joint Appropriations and Finance committees to reach agreement on the important issues of spending and taxation.

In past sessions it has speeded up the sessions by turning over the budget work to a subcommittee. Rep. J. K. Doughton of Allegheny said it will be up to the subcommittee to decide whether its meetings will be closed to the public. It was during a similar subcommittee's work two years ago that the press was banned. The Legislature later enacted its secrecy law.

Doughton has said he would prefer a subcommittee operated as it did in 1951. The press was permitted to sit in and report actions but not any comments made.

Wednesday, the State Revenue Department is expected to present to the Joint Finance Committee the latest estimates of state revenue for the next biennium. The committee will use this in deciding how much new taxes to levy. Gov. Hodges and the Advisory Budget Committee are expected to present additional taxes of 25 million each year to balance the $37-million budget.

The House also is scheduled to take action on insurance legislation this week, including a bill by Rep. Clifton Blue of Moore. The Blue bill would place restrictions on the authority of insurance companies to cancel or fail to renew accident and health policies. The bill will be accompanied by a measure by Rep. Walter Jones of Pitt, which in effect makes the same provisions as the Blue bill apply to the state's two Blue Cross companies. A committee recommended that the provisions of Jones' bill not apply except to policies sold after Jan. 1, 1956.

The Senate is slated to act Wednesday on a proposal by Sen. Ralph Scott of Alamance to set a Jan. 1, 1960, deadline to halt pollution of the Haw River.

A Senate Judiciary Committee will hold a hearing Wednesday morning on a bill by Rep. J. A. Spright of Bertie which would penalize a person who knowingly or unknowingly takes timber from another's land.

During the week bills may be introduced on dog racing and a 4 per cent sales tax. Rep. Ed Johnson of Currituck has said he plans to introduce soon a statewide measure which would allow counties to vote on dog racing tracks and pari-mutuel betting in much the same way they vote on ABC liquor stores. Dog race tracks were closed at Moyock last Monday after the State Supreme Court ruled that the local laws authorizing the tracks were unconstitutional.

There has been talk that a bill would be introduced to increase the sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent without changing any of the exemptions in the present sales tax. This would boost state revenues an estimated 17 to 4 million annually.

Kidnaped Infant Is Quickly Found

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—A woman charged with snatching a 20-minute-old infant from its hospital crib "wanted a baby girl worse than anything in the world," her father said. She has three sons.

Officers found the little girl yesterday in the Houston home of Mrs. Pauline Schulze, 30, a former nurse's aide.

The child was sped by police, escorted ambulance 85 miles back to Beaumont and reunited with its mother before she knew it was kidnaped Saturday while she was still in the labor room. The news had been kept from her.

Doctors said the baby was in good condition. Its navel was tied with a shoulder strap from a woman's slip.

Mrs. Schulze was charged with kidnaping and jailed here. Officers said she kept screaming during hours of questioning. "It's my own baby," they said she apparently had an overwhelming desire for a fourth child and claimed the baby was born to her at home.

HARD SLEEPER DENVER (AP)—Alvin Vigil told police today he lay down on a bed at his home to watch television dozed off and woke up to find both the TV set and the bedspread gone. A neighbor, Mrs. Martha Kimble, said she saw three men carrying a suspicious looking box down the street. A bedspread was draped over it, she added.

March 21, 1925 Durham — Complete plans for Duke University's $6,000,000 building program are to be announced before commencement in June. It has been learned here. Owing to the size of the program, architects, engineers and officials are, of necessity, required to draw up the plans with utmost care. It is pointed out. As the program will cover a period of several years, there must be no flaws. While it will take several years to complete the actual construction work in contemplation, the result of this building activity must cover a period of 20 years or more, it is said.

TIMOTHY — A study of Japan was featured at a meeting of the local Home Demonstration club recently at the home of Mrs. W.R. Wall.

Colored slides of that country were shown by Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Lillie Little, and there were also on display articles of clothing from Japan, in addition to a number of novelty items.

A family life report was presented by Mrs. Mac Ross, and Mrs. L.S. Smith gave a health report. Book reports were given by Mrs. Z.O. Whitford and Mrs. Wall. As final business for the session, the club voted to donate five dollars to the Red Cross.

During the social hour, Mrs. Whitford led the group in games, after which refreshments carrying out the St. Patrick's Day motif were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Taylor and Mrs. Ross.

Thirteen members were present for the meeting, and one new member, Mrs. Ivey Wall, was added to the roll.

Mrs. Duffy, portrayed by Phyllis Corbett, was the kind-hearted cook in the Ashley home.

The play was directed by Mrs. Wheeler, assisted by Mr. Stell. Jane Joyner was student director.

County Stands To Gain; Not Lose

At first glance the legislative bill exempting from local taxation tobacco designated for export which is stored in Pitt County may appear to give preferential treatment to tobacco companies.

A more careful analysis of the reasons behind the bill show, however, that such is not the case. The legislative measure is designed not only to benefit Pitt County, but likewise to benefit the state's two deep water ports at Morehead City and Wilmington.

As it is now, Pitt County receives virtually no tax revenue from tobacco which is awaiting export to foreign markets. Because the county has, over a period of years, designed a tax on this tobacco, the tobacco companies have removed from the county before January 1 each year virtually all tobacco which is designated for export. The tobacco has gone into areas which had no such tax—in most cases into the Norfolk area where it has been stored until it was shipped from that port.

By exempting from local property tax tobacco designated for export, the amount of such tobacco stored in Pitt should increase sharply. If it does the result will mean more storage facilities in this county which, of course, will be subject to the property tax.

The alteration of the tax provisions applying to tobacco to be exported likewise should decrease the flow of tobacco from Pitt County into warehouses in the Norfolk area during the closing months of each year. By not having to move the tobacco out of the state to escape taxation, shippers and purchasers may be more inclined to ship the leaf through North Carolina's ports at Morehead City and Wilmington. Increased exports through those ports obviously will be of appreciable benefit to the state's port program.

In our estimation Pitt County has much to gain and nothing to lose by exempting from local taxation stored tobacco designated for export.

New Program Is Far Superior

Sponsorship by Greenville of a county-wide community improvement program to replace the annual Farmers Day activities which have been held here for several years has won almost unanimous acclaim from citizens in rural areas throughout Pitt.

The Reflector already has endorsed the program, but we would like to add emphasis to our previous endorsement. The Farmers Day programs which the city sponsored for several years were good for that type of program. The new undertaking which has been proposed, however, appears to us much superior than the pattern which has been followed in the past.

Obviously the new community improvement contest will be much more constructive than the type Farmers Day programs. Greenville has sponsored in the past. It will reach into practically every community in Pitt and will offer an opportunity for participation for a much larger number of county citizens than the regular one-day affair.

This new program deserves the support of the people of Greenville and the participation of communities throughout the county.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
CUT DOWN THE NOISE

The Police Departments of certain large city recently handed out slips to all drivers with these words printed across the top: "Is That Noise Necessary?"

It reminded me, when I saw him hand it to my leastab driver, that there is a lot of unnecessary noise in the world which is not the violation of any Motor Vehicle Code, but nevertheless hard to endure. How we rip out the angry word to some loved one! How we talk out of turn and express a lot of opinions which we later have to rectify or retract! How we weep and wail and go on about our aches and pains when nobody in the world is interested in them—and those distresses would probably die down and disappear if we would only have ourselves and relax.

And in addition to this, most of us talk too much. After many years of committee attendance I have noticed that the person who talks the least is usually the person listened to the most.

So the next time you feel certain impulses rising within you, just ask the question, "Is that noise necessary?" Anger is dust and ashes after the wave of passion has passed. Why does it have to endure. How can we make any? They have significance but only as of millions of other limited, frustrated, and struggling beings.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill can hardly conceal their vexation over the pattern of attack upon the Eisenhower Administration and families that has been fashioned by the liberal spokesmen of the Party, who hold no responsible national office, but sound off with off-key solos at every opportunity.

This difference in political tastes and strategy promises a revival of the intraparty feuds which embittered the 1952 Convention, when the Congressional faction engaged in a head-on clash with the gubernatorial group that forced the nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson, then Governor of Illinois.

OFFENDING OFFICIALS—In addition to the State executives, the other objects of the so-called Federal Democrats' irritation are the radical and vocal officials and orators of the Americans for Democratic Action and the Democratic National Committee. The A.D.A. is generally regarded as a Roosevelt family institution, while the Democratic National Committee is considered to be a pre-Stevenson outfit.

Both of these organizations tend to play up their favorite Governor and Congressional liberals—Harrison M. Levin of New York, Meyer of New Jersey, Williams of Michigan, Lehman of New York, Kefauver of Tennessee, Neuberger and Morse of Oregon—rather than the more conservative "honorable" who sit on the right side of the Senate and House chambers.

FEDERAL VS. STATE WINGS—There have always been traces of jealousy between the Federal and State wings of both major Parties. As men holding responsible national offices, the former feel that they should shape policies and enunciate the dominant philosophy. They resent actions and statements by outsiders which embarrass or commit them on questions still in process of development.

The Capitol Hill crowd also believe that they should be consulted before governors or headline-making Party officials deliver their pronouncements on policies and personalities, especially as many state executives are, in their own minds at least, 1956 Presidential possibilities.

Business Today

Overbuilding Feared

By ELMER ROESSNER
There are divergences of opinion about continuation of the housing boom.

Joseph R. Jones, Los Angeles banker, advised members of the American Bankers Association to be cautious in granting liberal mortgages. "Easy financing, if continued, could lead to overbuilding which affects the entire real estate market, including the value of all existing houses," he declared.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, in its March review, observes that, "New home buying, for example, will have to exceed the year-ago rate by a substantial margin if residential construction is to be maintained at recent high levels."

Maybe buying will exceed year-ago rates.

The Federal Reserve Board's annual survey on consumer buying plans show more people intend buying homes this year than a year ago—and more than intended in any year since 1948.

The survey consisted of interviewing 1,950 persons in 12 large cities and 54 other sampling areas in January and February. Of these, 9.5 per cent said they planned to buy or build non-farmhouses this year. Incidentally, more people said they plan to buy furniture and appliances than a year ago, but only about the same number plan to buy autos than announced such plans early in 1954.

Another optimistic view comes from Henry C. Waltemade, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, who says that there is every reason to expect a continuance of the present high level of home building and buying.

George Cline Smith, F.W. Dodge economist tempered optimism with a realistic appraisal of long-range trends. He said he doubted that the country can sustain current rates indefinitely. New household formation is at an ebb right now, he said, reflecting the low point in births in the depression 22 years ago.

"From here on," he said, "we can expect a gradual rise in household formations for a few years and, beginning in 1961, a tremendous upsurge to heights never before known."

RETAIL SALES WELL ABOVE 1954 LEVELS
Retail sales keep on bubbling. Total sales in February, by Commerce Department estimates, were $12.8 billion, even with January and 6 per cent above a year ago.

Department store sales, by Federal Reserve figures, were 9 per cent above a year ago in January and 10 per cent above on the plus side, being 15 per cent up in the week ending March 6.

Because of the earlier Easter, soft goods sales will probably be higher than a year ago until before the holiday; immediately after, however, sales figures will look poor in comparison because post-Easter totals will be compared with pre-Easter marks of 1954.

BARGAINS ABOUND IN AIR CONDITIONERS
In most cities in the country, sharp shoppers can find good buys in room air conditioners these days.

With 1955 models coming on to the market this month, wholesalers and retailers are eager to clear out remainders of 1954 models. While the situation differs from city to city and store to store there are some burdensome inventories around and many A.C.'s are being offered below cost. ("Less than cost" claims in most fields are usually phony, but in conditioners now they are painfully true.)

In some places, there are a few 1953 coolers. These are even rarer bargains.

Fullbright Committee Members Reveal Own Ignorance

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Certainly, the Fullbright Committee displayed ignorance and inability to intelligently discuss Stock Market procedure by the foolish questions they have asked.

DOW-JONES INDUSTRIALS
They seemed utterly at sea when discussing the "Dow Industrial Average" and comparing same with the highs of 1929. As most readers know, this average is made up of thirty stocks, closing on March 3rd at the following prices:

Allied Chem. & Dye	100
American Can	41 1/4
American Smelt. & Ref.	46 3/4
American Tel. & Te.	185 1/2
American Tobacco	128 3/4
Bethlehem Steel	70 3/4
Chrysler Corp.	87 3/4
Corn Pro. Refin.	173 3/4
duPont de Nemours	73
Eastman Kodak	81 3/4
General Electric	51 3/4
General Foods	77 1/2
General Motors	96 1/2
Goodyear Tire & Rub.	56
International Harv.	38 1/2
International Nickel	65 1/2
John-Manville	89 1/2
Loew's, Inc.	19 3/4
National Distillers	22 1/2
National Steel	65 1/2
Proctor & Gamble	101 1/2
Sears, Roebuck	85 1/2
Standard Oil of Calif.	79 1/2
Standard Oil of N.J.	114 1/2

Simple Illustrations
For instance take a stock such as General Motors which last split two for one. In order to get the new quotation after the split a fair comparison, the new quotation must be adjusted for splits stock dividends, etc. All this would be simple were it not for the fact that some of the 1929 stocks have been dropped from the Average.

Furthermore, there have been mergers which required higher mathematics to make the correct adjustments. These were made in order to be fair. It is very wrong for any member of the Fullbright Committee to suggest juggling. In fact, of the 1929 Dow-Jones List of 30 stocks only 17 remain in the present list of 30 stocks. Incidentally, it is rather interesting that the Wall Street Journal — owned by the United Company — apparently desires to sidestep this entire Average problem.

OTHER AVERAGES
There are other important "Averages" such as the New York Times Averages. Their Industrial Average is made up of 25 stocks; but the comparison may easily be checked. If the New York Times Average goes up, the Dow-Jones Industrial Average usually also goes up, but by a varying amount. Other leading newspapers have separate Averages; but if plotted, they will be nearly parallel in movement.

The Boston Stock Exchange broadcasts the "Babson Averages" each Monday through Friday at noon and after the close of the market. The real value of these Averages is not to compare with 1929; but to compare with "yesterday" or a "week or month ago." Now just a word regarding "Specialists," which seemed to trouble the Committee.

SPECIALISTS DESCRIBED
In fact, the "Specialist" is the protector of the public who buy and sell stocks. He is charged by the New York Stock Exchange with a very specific and extremely responsible duty, namely that of "making a market" in one or more issues. To do this he must often risk his own funds by buying a stock in a falling market at a higher price than the public will pay at any given moment. In a rising market, the specialist is expected to sell stock from his own account at a lower price than the public is willing to sell. This prevents wide gyrations in the market price of any given stock, and protects a hurried seller from being "clipped" by being forced to accept a low price for his stock. Conversely an anxious buyer is protected against paying too high a price at any given time.

About one-quarter of all New York Stock Exchange members act as specialists. One specialist may handle a number of stocks, but, in the case of very active issues there may be a number of specialists handling the same issue. The Exchange has rigid rules governing the market experience and financial standing of specialists. The specialist must assume full responsibility for all orders to buy or sell turned over to him, maintaining a fair and orderly market in the stocks in which he specializes. His personal interests in the market must at all time be subordinated to the best interests of his customers. He cannot trade for his own account until he has executed all public orders held by him at the given price. In a nutshell, the specialist is a very important wheel in the Exchange's machinery—absolutely necessary to its smooth functioning.

And I repeat, he is there to protect the buying and selling public.

THE $64 QUESTION
This is what can be done to help the innocent investor not to get hooked by tips. The simplest protection would probably be to confine the investments of all dispensers of tips—see Financial Supplement of New York Times —to U.S. Government Bonds or bank accounts only. Yet, this would not prevent Winchell from passing out tips, as he now claims that he has no direct or indirect interest in any stock which he recommends.

Forty years serving Stock Exchanges makes me believe that the best protection is education and publicity. Some have suggested that the specialists' books of unfilled orders be made public for a time in advance of execution. This would not, however, be possible in rapidly moving trading such as takes place on the floor of the Exchange. Furthermore, a true picture would be most difficult to obtain as orders on the books can be pulled out any time. Thus, the specialists' books shift with the varying attitudes of the public. Perhaps it might help if investors who buy and sell in small lots were required to put limits on their orders. All in all, however, I conclude that the real question is one of educating the buyers and the sellers of stocks.

Hodges Gives Policy On Matter Of His Appointments

By LYNN NISBET

POLICY — Governor Hodges gave some indication at his latest news conference of his policy and approach in the matter of making appointments. The association was announced of two or three appointments to college boards. The Governor said he understood there had been some concern about what his approach would be, and he wanted to briefly state it.

In the first place it is not his disposition to disturb the tenure of incumbents by whomsoever appointed, so long as in his opinion they are qualified and are doing a good job. He does not like the term sometimes used of pro-Scott or anti-Scott. He wants the appointees to devote adequate time and attention to their respective duties, and if he discovers they are not doing so they will not be continued in their posts. Finally, he does not intend to play politics with these appointments, but is of the opinion that when all other qualifications are equal those persons who have manifested interest in government by taking an active role in the Democratic party should be recognized. The Governor's statement confirmed in minds of newsmen what they had believed, that incumbent Special Judges have the inside track for appointment as regular judges where district judges permit, and for retention as specials where there is no opening on the regular bench.

Governor Hodges also said he is giving "serious thought" to selecting a delegation of the highest caliber to represent North Carolina at the forthcoming Forts and Harbors Congress. He said this State had not received as much consideration as its ports and harbor resources justified, and perhaps that was due to the relative indifference the State itself has shown toward national cooperation. The delegation will be announced within a few days, and the Governor says it will contain the names of some of the State's outstanding business men.

LANDS — The purpose sought to be achieved by the bill introduced by Reps. Clifton Blue and Bruce Etheridge, co-chairmen of the House Conservation & Development committee providing for retention of public lands in the hands of the State, is generally approved. The bill (HB-617) Amends the section of the General Statutes dealing with grants of title to unclaimed public lands so as to add a request from the Department of Conservation and Development for withholding grant to the other statutory limitations. The land grant office is a division in the office of the Secretary of State, and the statutes set out processes by which citizens may file claim for "unappropriated" public lands, and if the grant is made the claimant usually pays a nominal fee for the land.

The constitution vests title to all swamp and marsh lands in tracts of 2,000 acres or more in the State Board of Education. Title to "made lands", such as the numerous islands and small tracts thrown up by dredging inlets and the Intercoastal Waterway is also vested in the Board of Education. There is very little unappropriated land in North Carolina because of this blanket title investment. Large areas of the marsh and swamplands are practically worthless, but other areas have valuable timber growth.

The board of Education has leased some of these areas to the Wildlife Resources Commission.

Divided On Anti-Ike Strategy

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill can hardly conceal their vexation over the pattern of attack upon the Eisenhower Administration and families that has been fashioned by the liberal spokesmen of the Party, who hold no responsible national office, but sound off with off-key solos at every opportunity.

This difference in political tastes and strategy promises a revival of the intraparty feuds which embittered the 1952 Convention, when the Congressional faction engaged in a head-on clash with the gubernatorial group that forced the nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson, then Governor of Illinois.

OFFENDING OFFICIALS—In addition to the State executives, the other objects of the so-called Federal Democrats' irritation are the radical and vocal officials and orators of the Americans for Democratic Action and the Democratic National Committee. The A.D.A. is generally regarded as a Roosevelt family institution, while the Democratic National Committee is considered to be a pre-Stevenson outfit.

Both of these organizations tend to play up their favorite Governor and Congressional liberals—Harrison M. Levin of New York, Meyer of New Jersey, Williams of Michigan, Lehman of New York, Kefauver of Tennessee, Neuberger and Morse of Oregon—rather than the more conservative "honorable" who sit on the right side of the Senate and House chambers.

FEDERAL VS. STATE WINGS—There have always been traces of jealousy between the Federal and State wings of both major Parties. As men holding responsible national offices, the former feel that they should shape policies and enunciate the dominant philosophy. They resent actions and statements by outsiders which embarrass or commit them on questions still in process of development.

The Capitol Hill crowd also believe that they should be consulted before governors or headline-making Party officials deliver their pronouncements on policies and personalities, especially as many state executives are, in their own minds at least, 1956 Presidential possibilities.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

BAD PROPOSAL (Washington Daily News)

The proposal to abolish the draw bridge tender at the Pamlico river bridge in Washington is a bad one from many standpoints for us in Beaufort county.

It is true that there is not much traffic passing underneath the bridge. But it is not costing the government much money to maintain the tender either. And some boats do have to pass under the bridge.

In the first place there are desirable business locations west of the bridge, and water access is to be denied, then the business development of this property could be nullified.

Dear Editor,
On behalf of the rural people of Pitt County I wish to extend congratulations to the Farmers Day Inc. Steering Committee for the wonderful Pitt County Progress Program which begins on May 1st and continues over a period of 12 months.

Every community that enters this contest will be a winner! There is no way to lose! For what community that cooperates together to prevent farm accidents, participates in the blood bank, polo drive, Red Cross, heart fund will not be benefited? We cannot sponsor clean-up camaigns, beautify our church and community buildings, maybe our roadsides are more beautiful without being a winner! If we cooperate with better health measures, help to prevent fires and beautify our homesteads, could we ask for any greater reward than knowing we have had a small part in making our little part of the world more beautiful and a better place in which to live!

In order to encourage the farm people to enter into this Farmers Day Program, the Farmers Day, Inc. Steering Committee has set aside $1000 to be given as prizes in different categories! That will be something worth trying for!

We hope that every single Home Demonstration Club, every Ruritan Club, all 4-H clubs, F.F.A. and F.H.A.'s of Pitt County will get behind this program and when May 1st, 1956 comes lets have the cleanest, healthiest and most beautiful county in America!

Thanks again to the sponsor of this program. We think you have "hit the nail on the head" this time!

Respectfully,
Mrs. B. L. Tyson

Girl Bullfighter Acclaimed After Difficult 'Kill'

CUADRA ACUNA, Mexico (AP)—A woman bullfighter from the United States fought hysteria and fatigue yesterday to kill her second bull with such skill she won its ears and tail.

Patricia Hayes, 23, was knocked to the sand six times in fighting two successive bulls. Her second kill was especially unruly, but when the "moment of truth" came she won cheers.

The "moment of truth" is the climax of the bullfight — when matador and bull face each other, then the matador reaches over the enormous horns to kill the bull by plunging a sword between its shoulders.

Patricia shoved and beat off attendants who wanted her to leave the ring. Gasping for breath, she went into mild hysteria as she fought with muleta and sword for the second bull's final rush.

The snorting bull's headlung ran at the slender woman in a lurching end when Miss Hayes steady with cape and sword reached over the horns for the kill. A clamor of bravo rose from the stands in the La Macarena bullring, followed by the rare award of the animal's ears and tail.

The limping girl from San Angelo, Tex., and Pulaski, Tenn., had not fully recovered from a goring and mauling she suffered at Acapulco, Mexico, last Jan. 9. That encounter left her with a brain concussion, several broken ribs and serious leg cuts.

Can't Understand Why All The Fuss

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Two little Oklahoma City girls still can't understand why everyone was so worried.

Betty Briggs, 11, and Vickie Mae Smith, 8 went on a cookie-selling expedition for the Girl Scouts Saturday. After they had been gone more than 12 hours, police found them asleep in an old barn.

They said they hadn't been able to find their way home. In true Girl Scout tradition they had saved one package of cookies to eat, found a mattress in the barn and zone to sleep.

13 Cases Today

Thirteen cases were slated to come up before the Hon. Walter J. Bone this morning on the March criminal calendar of Pitt County Superior Court.

Some 38 cases are slated to be tried this week. Meanwhile, the Pitt Grand Jury will decide whether or not to return true bills of indictment in 16 other cases.

Murder, rape, forgery and abortion were among the cases slated for trial today.

Tomorrow's docket will include six cases with five slated on Wednesday, six on Thursday and four on Friday.

Model Drops Her $100,000 Claim

NEW YORK (AP)—Lyn Jones, a blonde model from Queens, has dropped her $100,000 suit against RKO Pictures, the studio announced yesterday.

The buxom, 21-year-old model had claimed that RKO used without her consent a picture of her body with the head of Jane Russell to promote the film "Underwater."

The studio announcement said no settlement was involved in the withdrawal and that Miss Jones admitted it was "all a mistake."

There was no immediate comment by Miss Jones.

Wife Convicted In Assault Count

CROWLEY, La. (AP)—City Judge Edmund M. Reggie holds a wife has no grounds for a fight when her husband tries to enjoy a good-by kiss and a plug of chewing tobacco at the same time.

He found Mrs. Winston Bertrand guilty of committing simple battery on her husband and gave her a suspended sentence of $15 or 10 days in jail.

Mrs. Bertrand testified she pushed him in the face in a spat after her refusal to kiss him good-by while he was chewing.

Man Arrested On Bootleg Charge

Curtis Griffin, Negro, of Winterville, was arrested at his home Saturday night for possession of bootleg whiskey. He was recognized for the next county court April 5.

Cooperating in the arrest were ABC officers, members of the sheriff's department and Winterville police.

Women In The Church

May Fellowship Day, held traditionally on the first Friday of May, is observed each year by thousands of church women affiliated with some 1900 state and local councils across the nation — these forming United Church Women of the National Council of Churches. Aim of the observance, which is usually marked with day-long programs, is to develop programs of cooperative action by church women of different denominations in meeting common community problems. Special emphases in former years have been on citizenship, housing, race relations and related subjects. A play, "Point of Beginning," written especially for May Fellowship Day, but scheduled for use throughout the year, has been made available by United Church Women for production by religious, social, fraternal and community organizations across the nation. Within a 50-mile radius of New York City, performances will be given by one of several professional casts of the Theater Wing. The theme concerns the "parents' responsibilities in teaching their children constructive attitudes and values" toward people of other races and nationalities. Nora Stirling is the author.

"Our Christian churches have not capitalized on the New Testament gospel of peace in this mid-twentieth century crisis," says Miss Thelma Stevens, social action leader of the Methodist Church's Women's Division of Christian Service. "The churches are so interwoven in the social structure of the nation that in the cultural crisis confronting us they somehow have not been able to see the dangers and sins of society as objects for responsible action, a challenge to fearless leadership. There is a 'peace of mind' school of thought that enables many people to escape from the crisis of today's pressures and think good thoughts, but they fail to interpret their own 'peace of mind' in terms of its practical application to human relations. We cannot escape our personal, group and national responsibility to share in the world's suffering. The gospel of peace is a gospel of justice, freedom and brotherhood, a chance for economic security, and opportunities for educational and cultural development."

None Injured In Airline Mishap

CHICAGO (AP)—Sixty passengers and six crew members all escaped uninjured when a big airliner nosed into the ground on an emergency landing here yesterday. Afterward, entertainer Connie Boswell sang, "We Came in on a Wing and a Prayer."

The passengers got a shaking up—but nothing worse—when the nose wheel of an American Airlines DC7 collapsed on landing at Midway Airport.

The plane was on a nonstop flight from Los Angeles to New York when one engine began sputtering east of Chicago. Capt. R. A. Patterson, of Los Angeles, headed the ship back to Chicago for a landing.

Miss Boswell, who sang from a wheel chair—she is a polio cripple—as one of the Boswell Sisters, and her husband Harry Leedy were on their way to New York to make records.

The passengers continued to New York in a later plane.

New Investigations Pledged By Senate Internal Security Body

WASHINGTON (AP)—New investigations have been pledged by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to expose any Communists who penetrated the government.

"It cannot be said in any sense that we have learned the names of all the secret Communists who infiltrated the government service," the subcommittee said last night. "It cannot even be said that we have learned all about those whose names we have brought to light."

Calling "the exposure of these individuals and their works" one of its continuing projects, the subcommittee made public a 74-page report on the investigations conducted in the last Congress while Sen. Jenner R. Ford was chairman.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), Jenner's successor as chairman, said in a statement the subcommittee has a number of new projects under consideration. He did not elaborate but he said two of them "seem reasonably certain to involve a series of public hearings."

The unanimous report turned in by the subcommittee included these principal findings:

1. That President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Frank Knox, his secretary of the Navy, weakened the Navy's security program in World War II by permitting Communist radio operators on merchant ships.
2. That "Communists and pro-Communists infiltrated into controlling positions in the Army's information and education program during World War II and that the program gave aid and comfort to the cause of world communism."
3. That "in terms of present knowledge," the most important underground Communists who infiltrated the government were Alger Hiss, former State Department aide who recently completed a prison term for perjury, and the late Harry Dexter White, a Treasury Department official. Both denied any subversive activity.

There it ran into stony opposition from the first, mostly from the Democrats. The lawmakers will probably vote to continue the present program but boost the amount of money the government spends on it.

Under that present program a total of 47 billion dollars would be spent on both main and secondary roads in the next 10 years. Ten billions of it would come from the federal government, 37 billions from states and local governments.

A special commission created by Eisenhower to study the nation's roads in the next 10 years. They were some of the complaints about the Clay plan's 101-billion-dollar idea.

It would give the federal government too much say over the states' highway systems; the proposed method of financing it was "sleight-of-hand"; and it would be a happy hunting ground for politicians.

Of the federal government's 31-billion-dollar share under the Clay plan, 21 billion would be financed by selling bonds through a special government corporation. They'd be paid off in 30 years with an interest bill of 11 1/2 billion dollars.

That would make the government's total cost 42 1/2 billion. And the critics argued, selling bonds through a government corporation might look like a way out of adding to the government's general debt but wouldn't be at all.

Gore is for holding on to the present system and the supporters of his idea suggest that the government's contribution of 10 billion dollars over 10 years be perhaps to 15 billion or a little more. That would still be at least 16 billion less than the Clay commission proposed.

Stallion Wins A Movie Award

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (AP)—A black stallion named Gypsy has won an animal kingdom version of the Oscar.

He was awarded the Patsy award—for the picture animal top star of the year—for his part in the film "Gypsy Colt."

The event, sponsored by the American Humane Assn., was held yesterday at Devonshire Downs in this San Fernando Valley community.

Second place went to Francis the mule for "Francis Joins the Wacs" and third to the seal Esmeralda for "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

Idea Of Super Highway Net Back In Mothballs

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's idea of a super-highway system, recently unveiled, seems certain to be veiled again and put in the attic as an idea which got nowhere. It looks dead in Congress.

There it ran into stony opposition from the first, mostly from the Democrats. The lawmakers will probably vote to continue the present program but boost the amount of money the government spends on it.

Under that present program a total of 47 billion dollars would be spent on both main and secondary roads in the next 10 years. Ten billions of it would come from the federal government, 37 billions from states and local governments.

Ex-President Of Hungary Is Dead

VENICE, France (AP)—Count Michael Karolyi, former president of Hungary whose off-and-on feud with the Communists spanned two world wars, died at his home in exile Saturday. He was 80.

A descendant of one of Hungary's richest noble families Karolyi had a stormy political career in which he twice chose exile in preference to communism.

Unpopular in Hungary for his pro-Allied, anti-German sentiments at the outset of World War I, Karolyi made several trips to the United States and endorsed President Wilson's peace proposals.

He was named president of the Hungarian Republic after World War I but quit within a year, turned over the government to Red leader Bela Kun and fled the country. A Hungarian court later found him guilty of treason and confiscated his vast estates.

During World War II he took part in the Hungarian exile movement in London and returned to his country in 1946 after 27 years of exile. He was named ambassador to France in 1947 and held the post two years.

In 1949 he went into exile a second time after a dispute with Hungary's Communist government. Since then he had been living modestly on the French Riviera.

While under the present plan federal money goes into both main and secondary roads, under the Clay plan most of the government money would go into superhighways with the states spending only two billion on them.

The two most vigorous critics of the Clay proposal were Democratic Senators Gore of Tennessee and Byrd of Virginia. The latter, on Eisenhower's side in many money matters, was against him on this.

These were some of the complaints about the Clay plan's 101-billion-dollar idea.

It would give the federal government too much say over the states' highway systems; the proposed method of financing it was "sleight-of-hand"; and it would be a happy hunting ground for politicians.

Of the federal government's 31-billion-dollar share under the Clay plan, 21 billion would be financed by selling bonds through a special government corporation. They'd be paid off in 30 years with an interest bill of 11 1/2 billion dollars.

That would make the government's total cost 42 1/2 billion. And the critics argued, selling bonds through a government corporation might look like a way out of adding to the government's general debt but wouldn't be at all.

Gore is for holding on to the present system and the supporters of his idea suggest that the government's contribution of 10 billion dollars over 10 years be perhaps to 15 billion or a little more. That would still be at least 16 billion less than the Clay commission proposed.

Woman Injured In Auto Mishap

Two city accidents over the weekend brought injury to a Farmville woman plus damage to three vehicles and a telephone pole.

Injured in a Chestnut St. accident Saturday afternoon was Carris Freuler, 45, of Farmville. She was riding in a vehicle operated by her husband, Eckie R. Freuler, 50, also of Farmville. She suffered shock and an injured left knee when the car collided with one operated by Leroy Perkins, 48, Negro, of West 4th Street.

No arrests were made by investigating officers and damage to both vehicles was estimated at $350.

A second accident, occurring early Sunday morning, brought $65 damage to an Eighth Street telephone pole and $100 damage to an automobile operated by Romona Perry, 25, of 207 E. Eighth Street. No arrest was made.

Sewing Program Given Last Week At HD Meeting

RENTON-NOBLES—A demonstration on home sewing was given by Mrs. Norman Savage, home demonstration club clothing leader, at a meeting of that local group last week.

Mrs. Savage gave helpful hints on sewing, including the covering of buttons, belts and buckles.

Club president, Mrs. Obed Castelle, presided and gave the devotional for the afternoon. She also read a "Birthday Prayer" prepared by Mrs. Corrine Grimsley.

A report on the ruler of Iran was given by Mrs. D. T. McLahorn in connection with the club's study of that country.

The group discussed rural health, and in particular the rural health conference held in Greenville last Thursday.

Mrs. Castelle announced the District Home Demonstration Federation meeting will be held April 14 in Saratoga, with the annual fashion show scheduled for the latter part of that month.

Following the business session, a sweet course was served by Mrs. R. H. McLahorn Sr.

Spring Arrives Today With Cold And Soggy Start

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The coming of spring today was cold and soggy between the Rocky Mountains and the Appalachians.

In its favor: It did not have the violent storms that dotted the weather map yesterday.

Equinoctial storms, born of the cold air which had moved as far south as Texas, sprinkled snow over the southwestern and central Great Plains and upper Mississippi Valley. It drizzled in Chicago. The drizzle froze at Oklahoma City.

The rain belt stretched from central Oklahoma a northeastward through the central Mississippi Valley and eastward through the southern and central Great Lakes region, northern Ohio Valley and into the central Appalachians. Thunderstorms were bunched from northern Louisiana to central Kentucky.

Precipitation generally ranged from an inch to an inch and a half, but Tupelo, Miss., got 2.49 inches in six hours. Snowfall to the west of the rain area varied from a trace to 2 inches.

Even so, it represented moderation from the previous day's boisterous exit of winter—3 to 5 inches of snow in Colorado, western Nebraska and Kansas with near-blizzard conditions around Loveland, Colo.; a series of tornadoes along the Missouri-Arkansas border; a windstorm so violent it blew down a circus tent at Uvalde, Tex.; and a 4-inch rain that flooded Piedmont, Mo.

The tornadoes leveled several farm buildings but did not strike heavily populated areas. Only one person was reported injured, although a family of four was reported missing.

The 400 persons watching the circus at Uvalde escaped without serious injury when the big top collapsed. Many of the spectators were children.

Rug, Floor Care Discussions Are Held At Meeting

WINTERVILLE—Care of rugs and floors was discussed by Robert Tunnell and Herbert Wilkerson of Greenville at the last in a series of six adult meetings sponsored by the local home economics department.

Included in Tunnell's talk on care of rugs was a demonstration on how to remove lipstick and shoe polish from a sample of rug material. Wilkerson discussed care of floors and displayed a varied supply of floor waxes, cleaners and varnishes, explaining their uses.

An informal discussion followed these talks, with questions asked by the group.

Refreshments were served by home economics students Janice Beyd, Frances Gold and Barbara Manning.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Lester Branch, Mrs. J. O. Edwards, Mrs. J. L. Rollins, Mrs. Glenn Smart, Mrs. Harold Weaver, Mrs. Cecil Worthington, Mrs. Lloyd Worthington and Mrs. Woodrow Worthington.

Mrs. Lloyd Worthington was presented a cake for perfect attendance at all six meetings.

The lentil was one of the first plants to be brought under cultivation by human beings, students believe.

No Foul Play In Resort Club Fire

MIAMI, Fla. — Nothing to indicate foul play has been uncovered in the investigation of a resort club fire in which a Miami woman died and the husband of former metropolitan opera soprano Irita Petina was seriously burned, sheriff's officers said today.

But they said they have not had a satisfactory account of the incident and that the investigation will continue.

An autopsy yesterday on the dead woman, 34-year-old Emma Jo Selby, indicated she had been alive at the time of the fire, medical officials said. They said the autopsy showed her throat and esophagus were seared by flames she apparently breathed. No bone fractures or foreign objects in her body were found, they reported.

Dr. Fran R. Bussey Jr., a Bay-shore, N. Y. eye specialist, was in a Miami hospital for treatment of burns. His wife, Miss Petina, was in Miami to be near him.

Bussey, who said he "has nothing to hide," refused to discuss the case on instructions of his attorney, he said.

H. R. Harkins, an Asheville, N. C., attorney, accompanied Bussey and Miss Selby to the famed Caribbean Club on Key Largo for a fishing trip. The club was burned early Friday morning. Its owner Bill Krone was also injured by the fire.

Soviet Has Takers For $2 Million Offer Of Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Russia finally has found takers for two million dollars in aid she has offered for the last two years through the U. N. technical assistance program.

Six countries were reported today to have accepted Soviet help this year in improving their economies. They will be sent Russian technicians or equipment, or will send their own experts to Russia for training.

Three of the nations were identified as Burma, India and Indonesia. Two others were understood to be in the Middle East and the third in Latin America.

Some 10 projects were reported involved. They include machine tools and technicians for an electronic calculating machine factory in India, equipment for water development in the same country and a low-cost housing exhibit in Latin America.

Russia gave the technical assistance program four million rubles for 1953 and another four million for 1954—the equivalent, at the official rate, of two million dollars all told.

She first attached strings to the money. Then they were untied, and she waited for somebody to show interest. Now the leftover 1953-54 rubles are going fast, and the Soviet government has pledged another four million for this year.

Half the rubles on hand already have been allocated for projects to be carried out by the Technical Assistance Administration and the Food and Agriculture Organization.

The rest is expected to be used in projects of the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, for which allocations still are pending.

The aid program is run jointly by the U. N. and seven specialized agencies, including FAO and UNESCO. Its allocations are made by the Technical Assistance Board, which gathered here today for a 10-day, private session.

tion for game refuges, and to the C&D Department for forestry projects—but little remains in the school group. Some legislators read into the pending bill, sponsored by C&D folks, probable conflict with the constitutional title held by the Board of Education. Adjustments may have to be made, but the ultimate purpose of preserving these State lands for public use rather than selling them to private owners meets general approval. The Board of Education has adopted a policy of leasing rather than selling its islands and pocosins.

ATTENDANCE SPUR

FLEMINGTON, N. J. (AP)—Judge Henry F. Schenk has cured the chronic absenteeism of a 15-year-old high school sophomore. The boy hasn't skipped a day of school since the judge threatened to fine the lad's parents $5 for every day he stays home.

INCONSISTENCY — Inconsistencies do not greatly disturb members of the General Assembly. Witness their zeal for the constitutional rights of the average citizen on most matters, and complete disregard of the constitutional mandate to provide the right of equitable representation by reapportionment and re-districting for membership in the Legislature.

It remained for H. F. Seawell Jr. to point out another obvious inconsistency. Seawell, as most folks will recall, was the Republican candidate for Governor of North Carolina in 1952, an original Eisenhower supporter, but denied his ambition to be district attorney for the middle Federal court district, has virtually resigned from the Republican party but not yet affiliated with the Democratic party, and is perhaps the outstanding political independent in North Carolina.

He said the other day he had been surprised that newspaper reporters had not commented upon the fact that some of the legislators who were most zealous and active in contending for secret sessions of legislative committees were also most zealous and active in opposition to the placing of "whammies" and other traffic control devices at points out of plain view of the traveling public. He finds it difficult to reconcile a vote for closed committee sessions with advocacy of full public view of traffic control gadgets. Legislative committees deal with matters affecting everybody while whammies and other traffic control devices catch only those who are violating the traffic laws.

It looks like he said in effect (but not direct quote), that some of these legislators think it is all right for them to operate behind closed doors but the highway patrolmen have no business operating behind pine trees or other obstructions to full public view, or in unmarked cars.

SPORTS SHOTS

PROFILE OF A COACH: SMILING JIM MALLORY

With his coming less than a year ago, came a re-activation of interest in a sport deep in the doldrums of East Carolina's intercollegiate athletics program. Our great national pastime was taking a backseat to the heavily-emphasized football and basketball movements.

Coach Jim Mallory's baseball background alone has stirred a new interest in the sport. His major league stints with the Washington Senators, St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants give him credentials of baseball authority and as a teacher.

COACH MALLORY

He was scheduled to take the reins of the baseball team last spring but was troubled with a kidney disorder that hospitalized him for most of the season. This year Coach Mallory is in fine physical condition and has taken over the directorship of the squad.

If tradition prevails, Coach Mallory will have a winning team here. As diamond mentor at Elon, he produced the school's greatest team. He coached baseball there six years and his teams compiled an astounding record of 86 wins against 19 losses. His Christians won the North State Conference title no less than three times and won the Eastern Division of the league five times. His 1949 aggregation finished second in divisional play.

Besides his professional baseball experience, Coach Mallory was an outstanding college athlete at the University of North Carolina. He was a first-string end for the Tar Heels, playing opposite Paul Severin, two-time All-American. He teamed with George "Snuffy" Stirnweiss to form a keystone combo for the Tar Heel baseballers. Coach Mallory was also a member of the track team at the University. He was graduated from there with AB and MA degrees in 1941.

After his retirement from active baseball in 1945 due to poor health, Coach Mallory settled in coaching duties. Here, possessed with a natural knack for teaching and an understanding of young fellows, he built a big reputation.

One of the biggest reasons he retains winning ball clubs year in and year out is that he never sits idly through off-seasons but is on the prowl for high school talent. Last spring while the coaching duties were handled capably by Earl Smith, Coach Mallory and Athletic Director N. M. Jorgenson mapped out promising prepsters and went about interesting them in East Carolina.

Consequently, Coach Mallory has come up with as fine a bunch of yearlings as to be found on any roster in the conference. He picked up several All-State players such as Sanford's Tommy Pruett, Jimmy Truelove and Jerry Stewart. He solicited Charlie Russell from High Falls and Gene Turner from Morganton. Many others he led the Greenville way.

With the Pirates' 1955 season just two days off, Coach Mallory has high hopes of fielding a good ball club this spring. In any event, the baseball fortunes at East Carolina are on the upgrade and interest in the sport is higher than ever before. Thanks primarily to one man—Smiling Jim Mallory.

ELON AGAIN TO BE TOUGH IN EASTERN DIVISION

With lettermen available for every position except first base and a pitching foursome of no equal in the state, Coach Doc Mathis' Elon Christians again are picked as favorites to win the North State's Eastern Division which is composed of Elon, ECC, ACC, High Point and Guilford. They are the defending conference champs and are expected to repeat here also.

No standout corps in North Carolina can hold a candle to Elon's quartet of Sherill Hill, Luther Conger, Hank Hamrick and Charlie Switgood. All four were All-Conference selections in 1954 and bewildered one opponent after another. Throughout last season professional scouts were breathing down Hill and Conger's necks. Both registered undefeated seasons with their brilliant slants.

Besides pitching, Coach Mathis has three All-Conference players returning at other positions. The Christians have veterans Alton Myers at third base, Nick Thompson at short, Larry Dofflemire at second, Bobby Green, Don Packard and Paul Watts in the outfield, and Homer Hobgood at catcher. With these established stars, Coach Mathis will blend newcomers Don Stringer, Charlie Cassell, Charlie Needham and Hillary Mottsinger.

Elon opens up its regular season with Guilford on April 2. The Christians have exhibition games lined up with Williams College, the Bur-Gra Pirates, Michigan and Yale.

'VINEGAR BEND' WORKS OUT: — Back in a Cardinal uniform, Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell exchanges greetings with former teammate Alpha Brazle, now with the Chicago White Sox. Mizell is spending a 7-day furlough from the Army working out in St. Petersburg, Fla. He's stationed at Ft. McPherson, Ga. Brazle was traded from the Cards this winter. (AP Wirephoto).

Cincinnati Reds And Milwaukee Are Building Up Real Power At The Plate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While everyone is talking about the Cincinnati Reds' murders row, the Milwaukee Braves are quietly going about forming a real muscle machine of their own.

Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock and newcomer Hank Aaron will strike terror into many a pitcher's heart before the season is over. In fact, clubs that meet the Reds and Braves in successive series will have their work cut out for them.

Both the Braves and Redslegals chalked up exhibition conquests yesterday via the sudden-death route in the fashion of the old New York Yankees.

The Braves won their third in a row by edging the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4. Adcock broke it up with a home run over the left field fence in the eighth inning. Before that Aaron slipped one over the same wall with a runner aboard.

The Chicago White Sox got a taste of the raw power generated by the Redslegals. With the score tied in the ninth, the Redslegals came up with four runs to break it wide open. Wally Post hit two home runs for Birdie Tebbetts' club, while Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell delivered run-scoring hits in the big ninth.

The Boston Red Sox continued to get good pitching — This time from big Frank Sullivan, the bellwether of the staff last year as a sophomore. The Sox polished off the Detroit Tigers 10-3, with Sullivan hurling five innings and giving up just one hit. He has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings on the mound this spring.

It was like old times in Los Angeles, where the New York Giants continued their mastery over the Cleveland Indians as Dusty Rhodes poled a pinch home run with one on off Mike Garcia in a five-run seventh inning.

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, who appear to be trying to set a record for overtime exhibitions, played their second extra-inning game in less than 24 hours. The Brooks won this one 9-5 in 10 innings. Rookie Dodger shortstop Chico Fernandez got three hits, including a double in the 10th. He then scored the winning run on a single by Sandy Amoros.

The Pittsburgh Pirates clipped Pedro Ramos, a Cuban right-hander, for two runs in the 13th to outlast the Washington Senators 4-2. Kansas City A's edged Baltimore 3-2.

Annual Run Of Herring, Hickory Shad Is Started

Herring and hickory shad are now running in inland streams and white shad are expected to begin the annual run as soon as the water is a little warmer. Fish and Game Protector J. O. Teel stated Saturday.

The fishing season with nets in inland waters opened January 1 and will end June 1. The law prohibits taking game fish in nets.

Teel said while the water from upstate is muddy in the Tar but water in Contentnea Creek is clear. Fishermen with silver spoons trolling in the creek have made some good catches of rockfish.

There is considerable netting in Tar River and its tributaries, but fishermen are having poor luck with hook and line. Some catches of rockfish on trot line have been reported, but catches of chinquapin perch, bream and bass are scarce, Teel stated.

Young Wiffi And Pat Lesser Play In Crucial Round

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Wiffi Smith, just the tonic the depleted ranks of amateur women's golf needs in view of the banner number of ladies who have turned professional in recent years, and Pat Lesser, a veteran at 21, met today for the North and South Amateur title in an all-Pacific Coast final.

Today's match found Pat, whose home is in Seattle, still seeking her first victory in three starts against Wiffi, who lives in La Canada, Calif.

Smooth-swinging Wiffi, whose given name is Margaret, was sensational in yesterday's semifinals that saw her another National Champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., 6 and 5, while Pat disposed of Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 3 and 1.

Wiffi, who weighs about 155 and powers the ball off the tee with the best of them, also flashed a remarkable short game.

She brushed off Miss Romack with a volley of four successive birdies—she had four threes in the last five holes—to play some of the best golf in 83 years of North and South history.

She was an artist on those last four greens, dropping putts of 8, 15 and 25 feet. Earlier she dropped in one from 25 feet.

Barbara, after losing three in a row to go two down, seemed bent on a comeback when she birdied No. 8 from 20 feet to go only one down, but she quickly lost that advantage by dubbing her tee shot on the short ninth and losing it to a par three to drop two down to a two-over-par 39. Then Wiffi unloaded her birdie barrage and school was out.

Pat Lesser had the steadier putter and that was the difference as she repeated her recent South Atlantic Amateur finals victory over Mary Ann Downey.

Pat lost an early two-hole lead to turn even at 39. But she won three of four holes rounding the turn and was on top the rest of the way, losing only the 13th where she three-putted for the only time.

Pat was two over par, playing the last eight holes even.

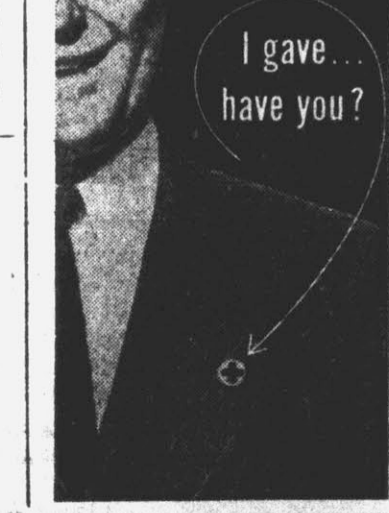

Wiffi has been making the circuit in a trailer with Gloria Armstrong Oakland Calif., golfer who yesterday announced she is turning pro.

Metered Tennis Court Is Net Gain

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Stuart Richer, city recreation head, thinks he has solved the problem of too many tennis players and too few courts.

It's a clock rigged to shut off the lights at the courts at the end of an hour. Players adjust the clock to the number of minutes they wish to play, up to an hour. When time is up and the lights go off, the players must yield the court to the next players.

MEET A G-MAN

Meet Harold Edwards, 6-8, 180 pound junior track star for the Greenville Phantoms.

Edwards, one of Greenville High School's most versatile athletes ever, is beginning his third varsity year on the track team. In Edward's freshman year he was runner-up to the state champion in the annual state meet in Chapel Hill. Last season the high-leaping Phantom, as a sophomore, was second to none in the high jump as he easily topped the state title. This year the Greenville junior will be shooting for the state record in the high jump.

Edwards has been a four-letter man in GHS. He has lettered in varsity football for three seasons now. In basketball he has won three varsity letters and has been named to the all-tournament team for the past two years. He was a regular outfielder for Coach Br Farley's baseball team two years in a row. This year he decided not to go out for baseball in order that he might devote his full time to track. Already it has shown its rewards.

In other seasons on the track team, Edwards was too busy with baseball to do anything but high jump. This year he is trying other events and has shown a great deal of improvement already. Coach Bill Kittrell has worked Edwards at the broad jump, discus, and the two hurdle events besides the high jump. Edwards shows definite progress in the broad jump and may push the Greenies' number one man, James Speight, in that event. Edwards also has improved rapidly as a sprinter and Coach Kittrell may use him some there.

Much depends on Edwards' versatility if the Greenies bring back the coveted state title with them in May.

Pan-Am Basketball Going In Triple Tie

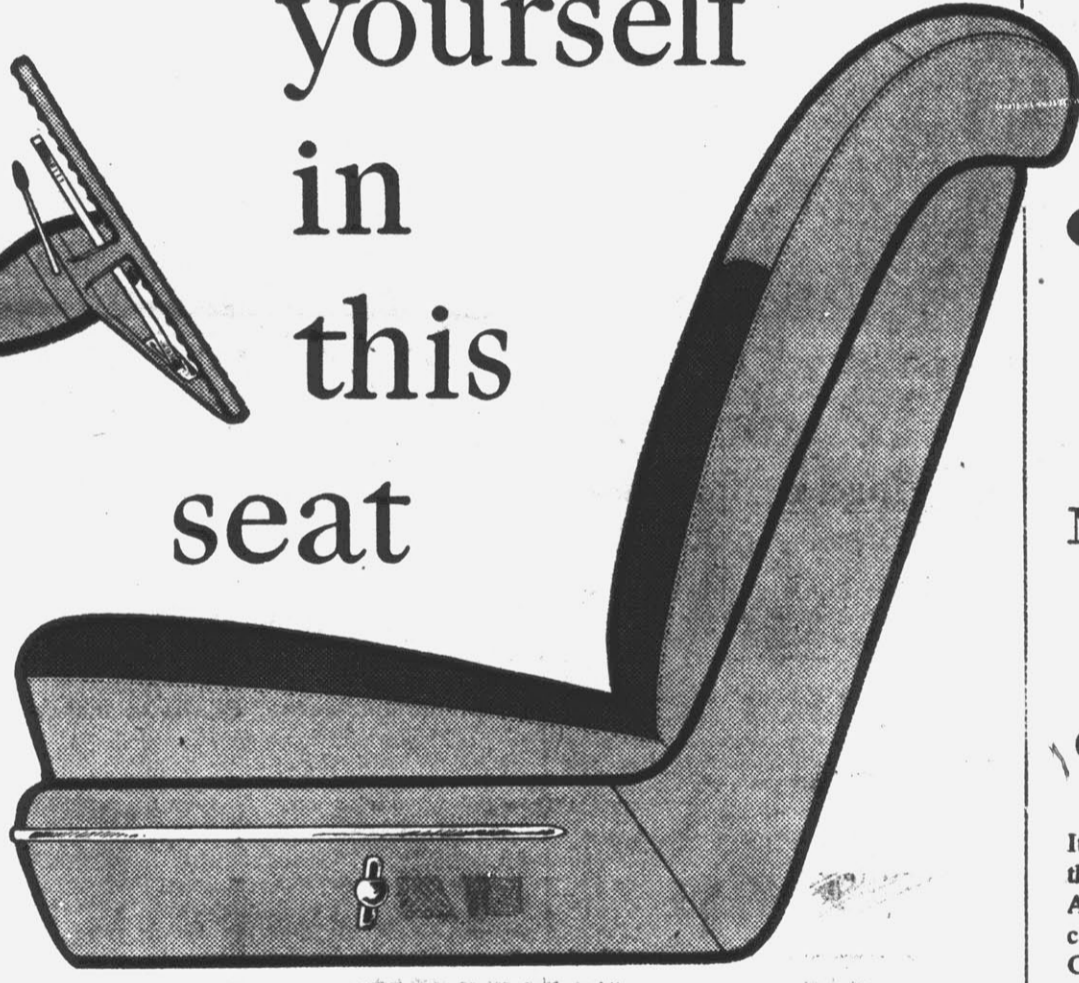

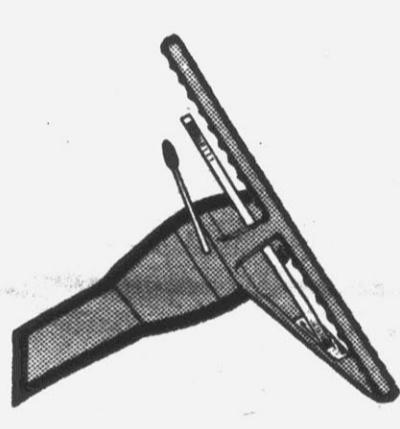

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Pan-American basketball tournament moved toward a triple tie and a playoff today all because a frenzied Brazil team arose from premature obscurity for a shocking upset of Argentina.

The United States, which had been marked off as a championship contender following its defeat by Argentina, was back in the thick of the race. The Americans can gain at least a share of the title by winning their remaining two games.

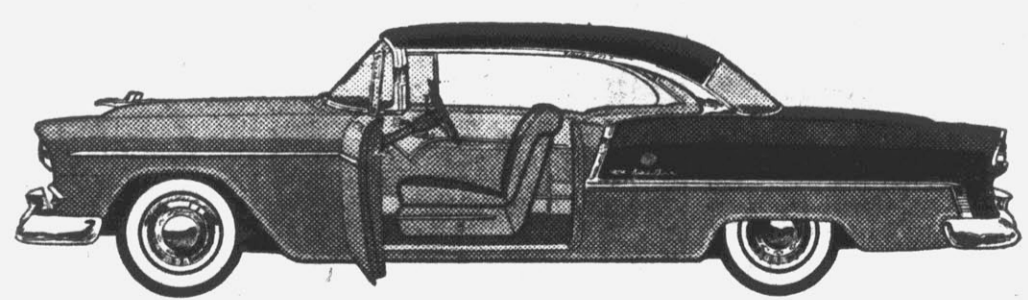

Brazil, a team that had lost by 20 points to the United States, beat Argentina 61-57 last night in a startling reversal of form.

Today Argentina and Brazil are tied for the lead in the tournament with the United States a half-game back only because the U.S. has played one fewer game. The United States has Cuba and Venezuela

U. S. Swimmers Have Early Lead In Pan-Am Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Pan-American Games swung into the home stretch today with the United States in front in the swimming and diving program.

On the swimming scene, slender Jimmy McLane of the United States handed Oscar Kramer of Argentina, the favorite, a decisive whipping in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

The time was a creditable 20:04 for this high altitude, and the outcome was mostly a matter of 25-year-old Jimmy, two-time Olympic swimmer, outsmarting Kramer and coming through with a winning kick in the final 100 meters.

In tennis, Art Larsen of the United States scored his first major victory in nine years of play in Mexico when he outmaneuvered 6-foot-4 Enrique Mora of the Argentine for the Pan-Am singles championship 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Mora boasts a big game but he was a frustrated young man against the nimble North American.

On the basis of unofficial returns yesterday, the United States increased its over-all games total to 762½ points. Argentina, with its 817, and Mexico 221½ were the next in line. The United States scored 201½ points yesterday, largest single day total of the games.

In swimming and diving, Uncle Sam added two more gold medals. One went to ex-Yale star McLane, the other to a water sprite of 14, Wanda Lee Werner, of Bethesda, Md.

Wanda dusted off the opposition in the 200-meter freestyle in 2:32.8. Her immediate runners-up were Lilian Gonzales of Argentina and Gilda Aranda of Mexico, with Susan Douglas Gray, of Washington, D.C., fourth.

Joaquin Capilla of Mexico won the three-meter diving championship.

Hector Dominguez Nimo of Argentina bettered his own Pan-Am record in the 200-meter breaststroke with a winning time of 2:46.9.

Wolfpack Has Uphill Battle In National AAU Tourney

DENVER (AP)—North Carolina State's Wolfpack, one of the nation's top-ranked college basketball powers, faces an uphill battle in the National AAU Tournament opening here tonight.

However, the Southerners, sporting a 28-4 season record which includes a victory over NCAA runner-up LaSalle, are the first collegiate outfit in more than a decade to be rated a serious threat to such traditional AAU kingpins as Phillips 66, the Peoria, Ill. Cats and Denver's Central Bankers. The four teams are top-seeded in the 25-team field.

The Wolfpack was ineligible for the NCAA because of recruiting violations. A conference rule kept them from playing in the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

Peoria will be seeking its fourth straight AAU championship, a feat never accomplished in the 48-year history of the tournament.

North Carolina State, Phillips 66 and Denver drew first-round byes along with the Ada Oilers of Houston, Tex., the San Francisco Olympic Club and Milwaukee's Allen Bradley. Except for the Wolfpack and the Olympic Club, the seeded teams all are members of the strong National Industrial Basketball League. Phillips won the league championship during the regular season. It boasts such former college stars as Chuck Darling of Iowa and Arnold Short of Oklahoma City.

Listed among the possible powerhouses entries are Luckett-Nix features members of the Colorado University team which won third place in the NCAA tourney last weekend. The Quantico outfit, also loaded with college standouts, is the Marine Corps champion.

The seeded teams won't swing into action until Wednesday. Meanwhile, nine games tonight and Tuesday will reduce the field to 16. Opening night action matches

Four Heavyweight Bouts Coming Up During Week

Betha has fought only eight times as a pro. He's won 6, lost 1 and tied 1. He halted an 11-victory skein of Harold Carter's last December with a seventh-round knockout. Rowan is a hard puncher who has scored 13 knockouts in 24 victories, including a one-round job on Bert Whitehurst earlier in the month.

At St. Nicholas Arena, which shows on DuMont, Rafael Merentino of Argentina and Jackie Labba of New York, will tangle in a 10 tonight. Merentino is a 4-1 choice on his record of 53 triumphs (47 by knockouts) in 62 fights. Labba is a good boxer, while the invader is a miter.

Willie Pastrano of New Orleans will substitute for Joey Giardello against Al Andrews of St. Paul, in the national TV (CBS) middleweight 10 from Chicago Stadium Wednesday. Giardello was convicted of assault last week in a fracas in Philadelphia. Pastrano, a youngster, is the favorite.

The fourth heavyweight fight of the week sends Murray Burnett of Chicago against Pat McMurry of Tacoma, Wash., in an 8 in Spokane.

By ED CORRIGAN
 The Associated Press

Four heavyweight scraps—headed by the Bob Baker-Julio Mederos battle in Madison Square Garden Friday—are on tap this week and you can bet the quartet of winners will sing in unison:

"I want Rocky Marciano."

Baker, No. 3 man on the list of heavies, stands the best chance of getting a title shot and that is in the distant future, if ever.

Mederos, a big Cuban, knocked out Roland LaStarza in five rounds on March 2, and that night's work earned him a date with Baker. The bout will be telecast and broadcast by NBC.

Bob Satterfield, who flattened Mederos once, goes to the post tomorrow in Miami Beach against Marty Marshall of Detroit in a 10. Former Featherweight Champion Willie Pep has a 10-round date tomorrow in Holyoke, Mass., with Charlie Tione of Brooklyn.

A couple of young heavies—Wayne Betha of New York and Irish Joe Rowan of Philadelphia—meet in the top 10 over ABC-TV tonight at Eastern Parkway.

Learned New Way To Lose A Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jockey Kenny Church has found a new way to lose a horse race.

Riding Doctor Heitz recently at Hialeah Park, Church felt the saddle slip during the race. He said he tried to drop out but his horse was pocketed and he had to stay in. Doctor Heitz came in second but he had lost the lead pad which made up part of his assigned weight. Stewards then disqualified him for losing part of his impost.

Lou Careful To Take No Chances

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City Athletics was taking no chances of being fined for supervising a workout before spring training officially opened at Connie Mack Field.

"We're not doing anything wrong," was Boudreau's greeting to traveling sports writers. "These are only 12 rookies I brought along; fellows who showed up well during a school we had at Sanford."

Grimesland Baseballers To Open Against Grifton

GRIMESLAND—The Grimesland High School baseball team with two weeks of practice is beginning to whip into shape for its first game with the Grifton Bulldogs on March 24.

Six lettermen return to bolster the 1955 aggregation. Last season Grimesland with a team composed principally of freshmen and sophomores registered two wins against seven losses. Coach Bob Williams and Assistant Paul Jones hope to better that mark this spring and the practices have given every indication of an improved nine.

First base and centerfield will find two freshmen on the frontline. Stoney Evans and Tal Neal will cover these territories. Neal has looked very good in pre-game practice and should develop into a standout for the team.

The new keystone combination of Frankie Singleton and Earl Hardee is also a tough man to get out as he is a peppy-pot on the infield. Singleton is fine govtoman and hits the long ball.

Third base is no problem. "Happy" Elks has the hot corner all his own. The jubilant sophomore is also a tough man with the bat.

As for the other outfield positions, there seems to be little doubt as to who will start. Coach Williams has stated that since pitchers Tripp and Mills are so handy with the bat that they will probably alternate between the mound and the outfield.

Over-all the team should be better than last year. In any case the team will try to better its record of last year.

The complete roster with players and classes:

Repeats Promise On First Day

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—George Fresse, a slugging sensation with the Pittsburgh Pirates in last year's spring training camp, started off the same way on the first day of spring training this year.

Fresse hit a home run on his second trip to the plate. A candidate for a third base job with the Pirates, Fresse spent the 1954 season with New Orleans of the Southern Assn. where he hit .324 and had 23 homers.

Water Pistols Are 'Verboten'

POWELL, Wyo. (AP)—Police Chief Don Toay was well prepared for the Big Horn district high school basketball tournament.

He sent word to all participating schools that one of Powell's ordinances would be strictly enforced during the tourney.

It bans water pistols.

Two days after Duquesne lost a 67-56 decision to Dayton University Moore said he had received nearly a score of letters. All were from TV viewers who suggested various ways of stopping DU, Dayton's high scoring center who led his team to victory over the Dukes.

TOTAL TAX PAYMENTS TO STATE GENERAL FUND 1951-52

66 COUNTIES	84% OF THE TAXES
34 COUNTIES	16% OF THE TAXES

Who Pays The Taxes?

84% of North Carolina taxes come from 66 of our 100 counties. Why 66? These counties have "legal control" of the sale of malt beverages. These counties with only 76% of the State's population pay 84% of the State's taxes because they are more progressive, more wealthy, which would seem to explode the theory that "legal control" has any retarding influence on the social and economic progress of a community, city or county.

What State Services Can $19,000,000.00 Support?

19 million dollars will pay the expenditures of all State supported higher educational institutions in North Carolina including agricultural, extension and medical. (This does not include public schools.)

It will pay the expenditures of all legislative, judicial and administrative departments of North Carolina State Government and have 5 or 6 million dollars left over.

Tell Her It's MURDER

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Susan averted her own eyes indifferently, turned from the grave and walked toward the gates, thinking hard. The house in which Jim Andrus had drunk wine on the night Roger was killed with Michael Brodsky and a woman was within reasonable walking of Brodsky's cabin—and that was four miles to the south. There was no car around. If the woman she had just left was the right one, how had she got here? She must have come by bus, would go back the same way.

Barry put down the paper he was reading and opened the door for her with an indulgent smile. "Satisfied, Susan?"

She drove slowly back the way they had come. Nothing in the rear view mirror except rain. At the intersection she pulled into the curb and got to pick up a couple of things and I might as well do it here."

There was a bus drawn up across the street. It was a starting point. People were climbing into the bus. The driver was in a doorway, talking to a couple of men. Susan went into the store. She bought ham and cheese and fruit and milk and was getting change when the cemetery woman came into view, hurrying and clambering into the bus as it was getting ready to take off. Susan was back in the car when the bus started. She followed in its wake.

Barry picked his car up at the garage and went back with her to the house. As she approached it she had trouble with her breathing. But there was no excitement, everything was peaceful. Andrus was still safe. When they went inside, making a dash for it through the downpour. Edith was there. She surveyed them her black eyes snapping. "Where on earth—"

Barry's presence made concealment impossible. "You went to that man Brodsky's funeral! Really, Susan, really!" Edith's narrow smile said that Susan had always been peculiar, but that there were limits. She said, laughing, "I only hope you won't get into the papers."

Regina sat on the couch turning the pages of a magazine listlessly. She merely observed in a quiet voice, "You'd better get out of those wet things." Her thoughts were obviously elsewhere. She was probably wondering about Andrus, where he was, what was happening to him. To tell her that he was concealed in the loft of the barn within a hundred yards of them wouldn't be any help, Susan decided.

It was a good thing she hadn't tried to hide her trip to the cemetery. The doctor knew about it. He dropped in ostensibly for a cup of tea between calls, but really to have a look at Regina. Dave Redgate's eyes took in everything there was to see. He braced Susan in the hall on his way out.

"Susan, what were you doing at that cemetery on Malden street, a little while ago? I saw you, a patient of mine lives near there."

Susan shrugged. "I had my reasons."

"It's Andrus, isn't it? Susan what's your interest in that man?" She said "I just happened not to believe he killed Michael Brodsky."

Dave's gray-green eyes were slate. "I don't know, Susan—and I don't care. It's Regina I'm thinking of. She was getting over Roger's death, was beginning to and the river and the palisades. The drop beyond it was precipitous. The escalator that had served the Hill in the early 1900s had been dismantled. There was a path of sorts down the steep northwest face with steps set into it at intervals. Andrus found the opening to the path and started down. Five minutes later, assisted by gravity, sodden to the skin and considerably the worse for wear from vines and whipping branches, he reached the flat top of the old railroad embankment 1,000 feet below. He found the final pair of steps, descended them carefully, and was on a small side street running into one of the main roads. Andrus looked around his eyes half shut—they had grown accustomed to the darkness—and saw it—the white house with a white picket fence enclosing a front yard. It was just as he remembered it. There was a vacant lot on one side, on the other the embankment. Between the embankment and the picket fence the path, edged with white stones, led to a side door. He had wanted one of the white stones as a souvenir, and Midnight Mike had objected.

Now he knew what to do, what to look for. The Wolf Hill inn as a beginning, the white house as the end. He unbound blankets, threw them off and got stiffly to his feet.

It was pitch dark out. Icy rain was changing to straight sleet. Lighted windows glistened faintly here and there behind veils of sleet. The sidewalks were empty. An occasional car went past. Andrus went toward the Wolf Hill inn and past the gates in the direction of the flattened-out curve at the summit of the hill. Once there

He and Regina and Roger had explored the tunnel on the last week-end they had had together. Roger had gone on ahead and Regina had been nervous. "Don't go in so far, darling. There might be snakes or something." Roger and he had made common cause against her, smiling at each other. There was nothing there now but a little park overlooking the city

Reports were given on both the morning and afternoon meetings of the recent County Council, which included a sewing demonstration by Mrs. Jane Scott, representative of the Simplicity Patterns Company.

A family life report was given by Mrs. Margaret Terterton, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Eric Whitchard. Mrs. John Whitchard revealed sufficient funds have been received by the club to pay all bills up to date. These bills included the cost of awnings recently installed at the club building.

New 1955 GULF NO-NOX

This lamp test shows what a difference Gulf super-refining makes. Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery—to bring you now, clean-burning Gulf NO-NOX.

This spark plug is from one of the original equipment plugs used in Gulf test fleet cars. Normally, plugs need cleaning or replacement after 5,000 to 10,000 miles. This plug and its mates did not need cleaning or replacement after 15,000 miles with new NO-NOX.

what's more... No gasoline—no, not a single one—has higher octane than...

This is GULF'S PLEDGE to the motoring public

- We at Gulf make this promise to America's motorists. We will not permit a single competitor—no, not a single one—to offer a gasoline superior to our own superb No-Nox.
- It is our sincere belief that No-Nox is the finest gasoline on the market today, and no matter what others do or say we will keep it the finest—in power, in performance, in engine protection.
- This is not a boast, not a claim. It is a pledge to you, the motoring public—a pledge backed by the resources—and the integrity—of the Gulf Oil Corporation.

Fill up now with new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX and feel the difference in power that really works for you mile after mile. Right from the start, you'll get these lasting benefits:

- More complete engine protection than with so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines.
- Extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.
- Stall-proof smoothness... instant starts... fast, fuel-saving warm-up.
- No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines.

It's super-refined... to burn clean!

GHS Musicians Win Honors At Weekend Event

Greenville High School's music groups won top honors in the Eastern District Music Contest at East Carolina College Friday and Saturday. It was announced by school officials today.

The boys glee club, girls glee club and the mixed chorus were all rated superior by contest judges.

These were the only local high school music groups participating in the contest, which included piano soloists, bands and choral groups. The Greenville High School band did not participate, as it was rated superior at the Greensboro contest last year, being the only band from eastern North Carolina which achieved that rating. Local high school soloists and ensembles competed in Durham a week ago, with a number coming out with superior ratings there.

Now the band and approximately 30 of the glee club singers will go to Greensboro for a festival in eastern North Carolina which will include a band contest, April 20 and the singers, April 28. More than 2,000 public school students took part in the contest event, which is sponsored by the North Carolina Music Educators Association.

Edmund Durham of the East Carolina music department was in charge of the choral contest, and judges were Joel Carter, Chapel Hill; Mrs. Peggy Barkdale, Wilmington; and Mrs. Alice Wood, Raleigh.

Circus Audience Frightened, But Unhurt In Storm

UVALDE, Tex. (U)—Mothers screamed, frightened children cried but no one was seriously hurt when a windstorm yesterday collapsed a circus tent on 400 persons.

Boggy and heavy from lashing rains which accompanied the storm, the big Hagen Bros. Circus tent fell just before the lion and tiger act began—and just after other circus animals paraded around the arena.

Had the thunderstorm-spawned wind struck a moment earlier or later, the animals might have been freed among the spectators.

"I might have been scared if I had had time," said J. W. Stewart, Uvalde grocer who brought his two sons and a neighbor's two girls to the Jaycee-sponsored show on Uvalde's northern outskirts.

The children, among several hundred youngsters in the tent, were Jimmie, 12, and Deborah, 4, and Gail, 4, daughters of Robert Hicks.

"I told Jimmie to get Ronnie," Stewart said. "Then I picked up Deborah and Gail, one under each arm. Just after we got down from the bleachers, they collapsed. Something hit me. Jimmie told me afterward it was a tent pole. I'm sore all over."

Jimmie credited his Boy Scout training for an act which may have saved Deborah's life.

"The (Boy Scout) manual says you should always keep your head when there's a bad fire or something," the slight, brown-haired boy said. "Well, when that tent started coming down I saw one of the big poles was falling. It was going to hit Deborah. I pulled her out of the way fast."
