Final Three Of Five-Man Board Enter Race

All Councilmen Now Filed

All five of the present city councilmen were officially in the race for re-election to two-year terms of office today as the three who had not filed completed the necessary steps yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Protem S. Eugene West officially paid his filing fee at the city clerk's office to become the third candidate for the city's governing body. He also filed for Mayor W.L. Wheedbe and Councilman C.W. Harvey, Jr. both of whom are out-of-town and had earlier authorized West to file for them.

S. EUGENE WEST

C. WESLEY HARVEY, JR.

West said that he is interested in the city's "operating on a pay-as-you-go basis which we've been able to do so far."

"I realize that some projects may come up that might necessitate a bond issue but until it is absolutely necessary, a pay-as-you-go plan will give more money value for the dollar spent," he declared.

Commenting on the city manager form of government which has been in effect in Greenville for the past two weeks, West declared: "I was in favor of the city manager form of government for several years before we inaugurated such a plan. During the first two years we have laid the groundwork for this type of government and it should begin to show dividends during the next two years."

Postal Pay Hike Bill Near Vote

Senate Strips Retroactive Clause As Byrd Argues It A 'Bad Precedent'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today stripped a retroactive clause from a bill proposing a 10 per cent pay raise for 500,000 postal workers.

It adopted an amendment offered by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) to make any increase effective when the bill is signed by the President, rather than as of last Jan. 1 as proposed by the Senate Post, Office and Civil Service Committee.

The change was accepted by voice vote with only a handful of senators present. Byrd argued it would be "a very bad precedent" to make the raise retroactive. He said it would set a pattern for other pay legislation for the million classified Civil Service workers and the three million persons in the armed forces. Bills covering them are to follow the postal measure.

Democratic leader Johnson (Texas) and Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) supported Byrd. Chairman Olin B. Johnston (D-SC) of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee opposed the Byrd amendment. He said the last postal pay increase in 1951 was made retroactive for several months.

With action of the Byrd amendment, Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) called up the administration-backed substitute bill for an increase averaging 7.6 per cent. Carlson argued a 10 per cent raise would be excessive. President Eisenhower has indicated he might veto any increase greater than about 7 1/2 per cent.

Carlson said the cost of living has advanced 48.6 per cent since 1945 while the pay of clerks and carriers, who make up the bulk of the postal employees, has jumped 94 per cent in the same period. Eisenhower has indicated he might veto any increase greater than about 7 1/2 per cent.

Democrats generally were lining up in favor of the 10 per cent bill, although some Southerners were expected to support the lower figure. Most Republicans were going along with the administration.

An effort to get agreement on a compromise 8.6 per cent pay boost fell through yesterday. This had been pushed by several Republican senators. The President let it be known he had not altered his views. Also, it was understood leaders of postal employee unions, scenting victory for a 10 per cent bill, rejected any lower figure.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), senior Republican on the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, planned to offer a 7.6 per cent proposal backed by most administration supporters in Congress. This would provide a 6 per cent minimum pay raise for most postal workers. The average Republican would get much larger increases.

House Committee Charges Politics Hurting Farmers

Agriculture Dept. Assailed

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today accused the Agriculture Department of allowing political considerations to darken the future of American farmers.

It blistered the department's management in a report recommending $978,625,391 in cash and 388 million dollars in lending authority to finance the agency for the next fiscal year. This was a cut of only $6,424,524 from budget requests.

The report by the committee bristled with criticism of Secretary Benson and "others about him." The Commodity Credit Corp. and its parent organization, the Commodity Stabilization Service, bore the brunt of the committee's wrath.

Benson is chairman of the Board of Directors of the CCC, which handles the government's farm price support program. Noting a steady drop in farm income and a steady rise in farm costs in recent years, the committee said, "The outlook is for still further declines in net farm income in 1955."

Since 1945, it said, the farmers' share of the consumers' food dollar has dropped from 54 to 48 per cent and "prospects are that this trend will continue."

In the South particularly, it added, the situation is "deplorable" because of government curtailment of cotton acreage. More than 65,000 farm families in the South "have been put off their farms, with no homes and limited employment possibilities," the committee said, and 130,000 farm families with gross income of $1,000 or less annually will suffer further losses of $100 or more this year.

The committee accused the CCC of having "largely overlooked" its responsibility to protect the government's investment in food surpluses. The CCC has invested more than seven billion dollars to support farm prices, the committee said, but up to February of this year nearly $3,700,000 worth of commodities had never been offered for sale abroad at competitive prices.

"There is reason to believe that such products could be sold in world markets through normal channels if an effort were made to do so on a competitive basis," the committee commented.

Many countries are ready and anxious to buy, the committee said, but do not because the CCC makes the American support price substantially the offering price in world markets. The committee said the CCC has authority to sell in world trade "at such price as it might take to move these commodities."

But the agency has no sales policy or sales program "worthy of the name," it added. It directed the CCC to get a sales manager at once and to develop a program under which surplus commodities will be sold for the best price the government can get.

The committee directed the CCC to reduce its storage costs at least 20 per cent during the coming year, eventually holding only one year's security reserve. The surpluses held by the CCC were acquired under price support laws adopted by Congress. Benson has contended that past price support laws were unrealistic and encouraged surplus production.

The committee report continued: "Evidently with the Department of Agriculture, a branch of the executive department political and other considerations predominate to the point of preventing action."

"Proper actions by the corporation are made subservient to a host of other considerations, many of which... are unsound. These actions by the secretary of agriculture and others about him appear to be part of a plan to use CCC costs and losses to support their determined efforts to change the price support program."

The committee said its investigators found "numerous examples of administrative deficiencies, excessive operating costs, lack of personnel training and supervision, and inadequate sales policies," as well as "questionable practices" in the Commodity Stabilization Service. "Evidence was developed," it said, "indicating that the same operating negligence and administrative irresponsibility resulting in the widespread grain scandals revealed... a few years ago are still in existence. Information was also presented indicating that grain bins have been recently purchased from some of the same concerns which delivered poor quality structures under similar contracts on previous occasions."

3. Approved $9,200 per year for additional personnel in the State College library. 4. Increased from $15,000 to $20,000 per year the Woman's College budget for purchase of books. 5. Approved the addition of a $7,200 a year home economics professor to the faculty at the Woman's College. 6. Agreed to appoint a smaller subcommittee to study the question of increasing the tuition at Appalachian State Teachers College. 7. Voted to name a 5-man group to study the question of increasing tuition charges to nonresident students at the university at Chapel Hill.

Swiss Declare Strong Demands Made By FDR

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Two influential Swiss newspapers claimed today there existed a "secret agreement" between the late President Roosevelt and the Swiss government, making demands on Switzerland "not far from Stalin's demands on his allies to force a march through Switzerland."

Both newspapers, the Basler Nachrichten, a liberal Democratic and Die Tat of Zurich, Independent, called on the Swiss government to release the alleged letter in view of American publication of the Yalta record.

"If they already have started in America to bare the sins of the past, there is something to catch up on," the Basler Nachrichten said. "There should be a letter of President Roosevelt to the Federal Council of the summer of 1944 in existence containing remarkable demands, whose essence lay not far from Stalin's demands on his allies to force a march through Switzerland."

The Yalta papers showed that Stalin asked President Roosevelt to march through neutral Switzerland to flank German defense lines. The Basel newspaper said the government often had been asked about this letter but always has remained silent, without denying its existence. Publication of the letter, the paper said, "should fulfill a wholesome purpose."

Die Tat, supporting the request for publication, said: "We do not need to be more papal than the Pope and the Swiss people have a right to know not only the threats and demands of Hitler which were speedily brought to their attention—but also the threats and demands of other great powers and statesmen, whom they have seen falsely in a rosier light longer than is deserved."

A Swiss government spokesman, who asked today about the letter, would neither confirm nor deny its existence. If such a letter existed, he said, the Swiss government probably would not publish it since it was not the practice to do so.

Four Sets Of Twins 'Enough'

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP)—Four sets of twins sat on the steps of the Wayne County Courthouse yesterday, awaiting their regular checkup by the Health Department.

The youngsters, aged 9, 7, 4 and 1, belong to Mrs. Rosie Lee Bell, 33, Barrier, Ky., who has had 11 children in her 11 years of marriage. "And that," she said, "is enough."

She has had five sets of twins, but the firstborn, as well as her only single child, died.

Near Vote Over Paris Treaties

PARIS (AP)—France's powerful Socialist party gave a new endorsement to German rearmament today in the Senate debate on the Paris treaties.

As the ratification debate went into its final day, Socialist Sen. Henri Barre told the upper-house Council of the Republic he would vote for the accords to put West German troops into the Western defense force "without any ifs, buts or hows."

"There is nothing to choose between these treaties and a void," Barre said, adding that he had been authorized to speak for his party.

Despite party threats of expulsion for any disregarding the endorsement, it was expected about 10 of the 56 Socialist senators would oppose them on the ratification vote tomorrow. Observers still believe the 320-member Senate will approve the treaties without amendment, completing France's parliamentary action on them.

Barre said the Socialists "are hostile to any policy of isolation or withdrawal, the consequences of which would be unfavorable for our country and the French Union."

Unwilling Help In 'Limited' War

OTTAWA (AP)—Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson says Canada's readiness to stand by the United States in a major war does not extend to a "limited" conflict over the Nationalist-held Chinese coastal islands.

But he warned the House of Commons yesterday that he fears even "limited intervention" by the United States in the defense of Quemoy and the Matsus "might have a chain reaction" which would bring a world war involving Canada.

Pearson's remarks, opening a foreign policy debate, were largely a restatement and clarification of a speech he made in Toronto March 14 in which he said: "I think it would be unthinkable" for either Canada or the United States to be neutral if the other was fighting "a major war in which its very existence were at stake."

That "certain United States commitments, those far distance covering help to Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa and certain Chinese coastal islands, have not been accepted by us."

That failure to agree with the United States on Formosa and the coastal islands "is not the same thing as saying that they may not involve us. And it is certainly not the same thing as saying that they do not concern us."

The foreign secretary said his Toronto speech had aroused misunderstanding, but that he did not mean "that whenever the United States is engaged in any kind of war, we are at war."

"It certainly does not mean that we must participate in limited or peripheral wars," he told the House.

GANGSTERS' BIBLE CHICAGO (AP)—A University of Chicago exhibit of Bibles includes one known as the "gangsters' Bible," said to have been used by the Capone gang to swear solemn oaths to each other.

Denounce Secrecy 'Leak' At Conference

British Charge Gromyko Broke Rules

LONDON (AP)—Britain angrily accused Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today of a "gross breach of secrecy rules" governing the five-power disarmament conference in session here.

The Foreign Office, in an unusually strong statement, condemned Gromyko for leaking details of the conference to a Tass correspondent in London before leaving yesterday for Stockholm and Moscow. Tass is the Russian news agency.

A spokesman said repeated Soviet leaks from the conference "show clearly that Russia is all out for propaganda and not for talks which might make progress."

Moscow radio carried a Tass interview with Gromyko early today in which he disclosed details of a Soviet plan supposedly aimed at bringing about world disarmament in both nuclear and conventional weapons.

Gromyko, who until yesterday was chief Soviet delegate at the talks, accused the West of attempting to "purge, as before, an armaments race" and block nuclear disarmament.

Russia is meeting with the United States, Britain, France and Canada in a renewal session of the U.N. Disarmament Commission subcommittee. The talks were arranged last October at the U.N. General Assembly. It was agreed the talks should be kept strictly secret in the hope more progress could be achieved that way.

The Foreign Office said the Western delegations protested at yesterday afternoon's conference session against the Russian leaks. The protest was directed mainly at a lengthy article in Pravda on the course of the talks. It appeared in the Thursday edition of the Communist party newspaper and gave rise to some expressions of cautious optimism in the West that progress was being achieved.

Today's was the second protest lodged with the Russians. The West complained the day after the conference opened on Feb. 25 about accounts of the session which were broadcast by Moscow radio and carried in the London Communist Daily Worker.

Accusing the Russians of "grossly distorting" what actually happened at the conference, the spokesman said the delegations were consulting on a possible move to set the public record straight.

"We intend to correct the distorted version of events which have been given in Pravda and by Gromyko," the spokesman declared.

Asked how the Russian leaks might affect prospects of getting agreement at the talks, the spokesman referred newsmen to the recent statement of U.S. Secretary Dulles that the West intended to keep on with the talks as long as useful work was being done.

Spring Blizzard In Three States

DENVER (AP)—The worst spring blizzard in three years lashed three Rocky Mountain states with snow and subzero cold today. One death was reported.

Schools were closed in parts of Montana and Wyoming. Elsewhere temperatures dipped to all-time lows for the month.

Snow and triphammer winds cut off electric power at Evanston, a southern Wyoming town of 3,863. Auxiliary plants were providing power to the town's two hospitals.

A resident termed the inconvenience "discomforting" but "not critical."

Colorado had winds up to 50 miles an hour. Carl Gustave Koch, 38, of Windsor, Colo., died in a two-car accident caused by slick highways.

Even as the storm moved southward, leaving Montana skies clear for the first time in three days, the Weather Bureau reported another would hit state late today, again bringing blizzard conditions.

Ready And Able, But Available

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Eugene D. May, 60, was born ready, able and willing when he applied for federal unemployment compensation. But that wasn't enough. He wasn't available.

That little oversight brought his conviction in federal court yesterday on a charge of falsifying his application for unemployment money. The judge gave him a one-year sentence, suspended.

May said on his application he was available for work.

At the time he was a trusty in the city jail.

John W. Davis Dies In Charleston Of Illness

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The body of John W. Davis, 81, veteran constitutional lawyer and Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, lay in state at a funeral home today.

Davis was born at Clarksville, Va., April 13, 1873. He was graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1892. He taught school for a while, then returned to Washington and Lee's law school, from which he was graduated in 1896.

Organization Completed For Easter Seal Campaign

J.L. Fage has been named chairman of the 1955 Easter Seal sale which begins Monday, E.W. Harvey, Jr., president of the Pitt County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, announced today. Harvey also announced the appointment of Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Pitt County Health Director, as Easter Sunday tag chairman.

Assisting Humbert in the tag sale will be school principals E.E. Dowd, Greenville High School; Everett F. Johnson, Ayden; E.B. Bright, Grifton; Paul T. Clark, Winterville; and Arthur S. Alford, Fountain. Principals W.H. Davenport, Epes High School; John W. Maye, Winterville Negro school; and J.W. Ormond, Ayden Negro school; have also been named as assistants.

The principals will instruct a number of high school senior girls to canvass their sections on tag day, with members of the National Honor Society at Greenville High School assisting here. Local Girl Scout troops under the direction of Mrs. Morris Brody, Mrs. Sherman Parks and Mrs. J.B. Bass will canvass the Greenville residential areas.

The Easter Seal sale, for the benefit of the county and state societies for crippled children and adults, officially begins Monday with the mailing of the seals to residents of the county. On Lily tag day, scheduled for the Saturday immediately preceding Easter Sunday, the high school girls and Girl Scouts will appeal to the public to buy a white lily lapel tag for the support of the societies' work. This year's budget need has been designated as $4,200. President Harvey said most of the money raised will remain in Pitt County to finance the local society's activities. These activities include the support of a monthly orthopedic clinic at the health department by helping defray expenses for the bone specialists, by paying for X-rays, special medicines and appliances.

He also noted that persons who have crippling defects, such as bone, skin, harelip and cleft palate, speech defects, in addition to many others, are helped through this program. Summer camps for crippled children are conducted by the state and national societies, and expenses for the special training of children with speech defects at East Carolina College are shared by the state and county societies.

East Carolina College president, Dr. John D. Messick, serves as president of the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and local society officers, in addition to Harvey, are Frank Strawn, vice president; V. M. Forrest, secretary; and Dr. M.W. Aldridge, treasurer. Members of the Board of Directors of the Pitt County society include Dr. E.B. Aycock, George A. Brown, Frank M. Brown, Tyson Bibbro, W.W. Brown, Clark Stokes, A.H. Vanduyke, Lt. B.T. Lewis and Dr. Humbert.

Janice James Weds Raymond Fuchs

STOKES — Miss Janice Elizabeth James and Raymond Francis Fuchs were united in marriage on Saturday, March 19, 1955 at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon, in St. Jude Catholic Church at Grifton, N. C. by the Rev. Basil Ruane of Vanceboro using the double ring ceremony.

The church altar was decorated with white gladioli, mums and Oregon ferns in floor baskets, and lit candles.
Miss Janet Watson of Greenville organist presented a program of nuptial music prior to the ceremony. Miss Billie Sue Stokes of Stokes sang Ave Maria.

Serving as ushers were Wallace E. Roberson of Stokes, N. C., cousin of the bride and Hassel James of Rocky Mount, N. C., uncle of the bride.
The bride's attendants were Miss Patsy James of Stokes the bride's sister as maid of honor and Mrs. John Doucette of Kirkwood, Mo., sister of the groom as matron of honor. They wore waik-length gowns of pink net over satin, strapless with stole and full ruffled skirt, pink slippers, their headpiece was a matching braided bandeau. They carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers.

John Doucette of Kirkwood, Mo., served as best man.
The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of chantilly lace and tulle portrait neckline, fitted bodice, long sleeves with points over hands, bouffant skirt of tulle and lace over satin cascading into sweep train.
Her double finger tip veil of illusion was attached to the child's cap embroidered with seeded pearls. She carried a bouquet with center white orchid surrounded with clusters of snowdrift chrysanthemums and sprays of hyacinth flowers.

Mrs. Fuchs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie James, Jr., of Stokes, N. C. She is a graduate of Stokes High School and is now a junior at East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C.
Mr. Fuchs, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fuchs of Kirkwood, Mo., is a graduate of Kirkwood High School and Mechanical School in St. Louis, Mo. He has served 2 years in Marine Corps. He is now engaged in nursery and trucking business.

For traveling the bride wore a navy linen suit, navy and white accessories and the orchid lifted from her bouquet.
After a wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga., they will be at home April 1st, Rt. 12, Box 258, Kirkwood 22, Mo.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home in Stokes. Floor baskets of white gladioli, mums, Oregon ferns, and lighted candles in silver holders were used in the decorations.
The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. E. L. Woolard of Charlotte, N. C. and presented to the receiving line composed of members of the wedding party and families of bridal couple.

Serving in the dining room were Mrs. Wiley Waters and Mrs. Cora Page assisted by Mrs. Marvin Barnhill. The refreshment table was covered with a linen cloth centered with a floral arrangement of white mums, gladioli, carnations, and fern, flanked by burning tapers in silver holders.
Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Tyson presided at the bride's register. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Page said good-bye to the guests.

On Thursday afternoon March 10th from 4 till 6 o'clock Mrs. William Francis Tyson and Mrs. J. F. Tyson entertained for Miss Janice James bride-elect, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Tyson. Miss James was remembered with china and silver in her pattern and a corsage. Lincize, bridal cakes, dainty sandwiches, nuts and mints were served from the dining room table was beautifully decorated with a center floral arrangement and lighted candles.

On Saturday morning March 12th Miss Janice James was honored at a Coco-Cola party given by Mrs. Stuart Page at her home on Rotary Avenue. The home was beautifully decorated with mixed spring flowers. Miss James was given china in her chosen pattern, and remembered with corsage. About 25 guests called.

On Saturday afternoon March 12th from 4 till 6 o'clock, Miss Janice James bride-elect was honored at a tea, at the home of Mrs. W. F. Stokes. Mrs. Stokes and Miss Billie Sue Stokes were hostesses for the occasion. Guests were greeted at the front door by Mrs. Harold Watson and Miss James. Mrs. Stokes invited the guests into the dining room where fruit punch, bridal cakes, assorted sandwiches, nuts and mints were served. The table was covered with a beautiful imported cloth. The center arrangement was made of pink gladioli, snapdragons and greenery, pink candles in silver holders were lighted. On the buffet there was a similar arrangement and candles in silver candleabra.

Miss James was remembered with a corsage, silver and china.
On Friday evening, March 18th, Miss Janice James and Mr. Ray Fuchs were honored guests at a party in the home of Mrs. L. H. Roberson immediately following their rehearsal.
Guests were greeted by Mrs. W. F.

Tyson and the bride was presented with a corsage of pink carnations.
Mrs. Roberson then invited everyone into the dining room where a bridal motif of pink and white was carried out. Mrs. Marvin Barnhill and Mrs. Wallace Roberson, co-hostesses, assisted in serving approximately 35 guests.
On Saturday, March 19th, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woolard and Miss Ann Woolard of Charlotte, N. C. and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Andrews, Jr. of Brunswick, Ga. entertained the Fuchs-James wedding party and out-of-town guests at a luncheon at Respass James. A three-course dinner was served to 20 guests. A beautiful floral arrangement was placed on the table and Miss Janice James, bride-elect, was presented a corsage.

Installation Of Fraternity And Initiation Of Members Saturday

Installation of the Beta Iota Chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon, national professional geography fraternity, will take place at East Carolina College Saturday, March 26, in the Flanagan building.
Dr. Sidman P. Poole, geographer and chairman of the department of geography at the University of Virginia, and Dr. Stanley B. Shuman, also of the Virginia faculty, will preside at the installation of the new chapter and the initiation of thirty-one students of geography at East Carolina. Two student officers of the Virginia chapter will also participate in the event.
A luncheon following the ceremonies will be attended by the charter members of the East Carolina chapter, faculty members of the college department of geography, and their guests.
Gamma Theta Upsilon, organized as a national fraternity in 1931, includes twenty-eight chapters in liberal arts colleges and universities in the United States and one in Mexico City College. It has a membership of more than 5600 and carries on an active program.
Officers of the new East Carolina Chapter have been elected as follows: Durwood W. Potter of Jacksonville, president; Billy T. Smith of Zebulon, vice president; Jane E. Riley of Fuquay Springs, secretary; and C. Frances Poe, Varina, treasurer.
In addition to officers, charter members of the fraternity at East Carolina will include the following students: Eugene W. Ayers, Joseph O. Clark, Charles T. Day, Jr., and Joseph H. Goodson, Greenville; Eugene C. Crawford, Jr., James E. Garrett, and Arthur Gregory, Jr., Rockingham; Thomas J. Barnett, Jr., and Dwight A. Eatmon, Raleigh; Philip E. Brown, Jacksonville; Doris M. 'Books and Stuff'

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
The new book that probably will hold most interest for people like us who live in a college community is "Academic Freedom: An Essay in Definition," by Russell Kirk. About a very controversial subject, particularly since the McCarthy hearings of two years ago, Kirk's book treats the problem of academic freedom as something that goes beyond simply what a professor can or cannot say in his classes. And pertaining to East Carolina College's project of Religion in Teacher Education, we quote below what Professor Kirk has to say about the relationship between teaching and religion:
"I do not mean to imply that a perfect religious orthodoxy is necessary to modern learning or modern liberty. . . . But . . . I think that men who will not acknowledge the Author of their being have no sanction for Truth. . . . Amen, and well agree with him on that . . ."

Our Face Is Red
Last week we didn't mean to imply that our energetic new librarian at Sheppard Memorial, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, was not on the ball when we wondered whether the new prize-winning children's books we talked about were on her shelves. She has since assured us in no unclear certain words that the Library does have them, and just for your convenience we'll list them again: "The Wheel of the School," by Meindert LeJong, winner of the Newberry Medal for the best contribution to children's literature; Marcia Brown's edition of "Cinderella," winner of the Caldecott Medal for "the most distinguished illustrations," and two more Children's Book Award winners, "The Ordeal of the Young Hunter" by Jonree Lauritzen, and "High Road Home," by William Corbin. . . . and you can get all of them at your local Library—just ask Miss Copeland.

Shakespeare Futures
Shakespeare seems to be one writer that people never get tired of talking about, and two more books on him will be coming out soon, just in time for his birthday in April. . . . "The Mutual Flame," by C. Wilson Knight, will be about Shakespeare's non-dramatic works, and will discuss a long poem called "The Phoenix and the Turtle," one of his least known works, as well as the much disputed "Sonnets. . . . And an account of the performances of his plays at the Old Vic Theatre in London during the 1953-54 season, with photographs and cast lists, will be issued next week. It's called "Shakespeare at the Old Vic," and was written by Roger Wood and Mary Clarke. . . .

The Local Scene
Speaking of futures, the fourth East Carolina Film Club presentation, "Grand Illusion," is scheduled for a week from next Wednesday evening, April 6, at the usual times. And a bonus film will be shown the following Wednesday, April 13, as a compensation for the poor condition of "Pygmalion," on aid favorite—"It Happened One Night," with Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert. And for drama lovers, we hope you take in some of the events at the College this week end, when the Eastern Regional Drama Festival presentations will be staged at the McGinnis Auditorium of Wahl-Coates School on Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings. Performances are free, except for the climactic "Stalag 17," which will be given by the Goldsboro High School Goldmasquers at 8:15 Saturday evening—admission will be 75c, and should be worth it. And in conjunction with the Festival there's a theatrical exhibition on at Sheppard Memorial that's very well worth visiting.

Today's Review
We're particularly interested in our book review today because the author of the book being reviewed is your columnist's only and famous brother. . . . And we're privileged to have as the reviewer Dr. Eva Williamson of the East Carolina Department of Education, an expert on children's literature. . . . We'd like to conclude by reminding you that if you're looking for a book for a boy in the twelve to fourteen age group who is interested in sports, "The Battery for Madison High" is available at your local book stores.

THE BATTERY FOR MADISON HIGH. By Al Hirschberg. Illustrated by Paul Galdone. Little, Brown and Company, $2.75. Boston.
Take the Drake twins and their intense desire to win the City League and have a chance in the State Tournament. Carefully fold in the encouragement of an inspiring coach, counteract with an unscrupulous catcher and the threat of overconfidence and ineptibility, season well with spicy baseball jargon and serve to anyone interested in an absorbing action story and you have "The Battery for Madison High."
By careful selection of incidents, Al Hirschberg has succeeded in creating a fast moving plot that portrays the very essence of one of America's most popular sports—baseball. Vivid description and colorful terminology make the reader feel the excitement of the game, the tension of every deciding pitch. Added are the values of sound information and good sportsmanship.
To use a standard baseball phrase, this book should make a "good solid hit," especially with teen age boys.

Home Nursing Discussed At Semi-Centi Club

The Semi-Centi Book Club met at the home of Mrs. Norman Little Tuesday night, March 22, at 8 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ed Harris and turned over to the hostess who introduced her guest speaker, Mrs. Howard Gradis. Mrs. Gradis gave an interesting and informative talk on Home Nursing with emphasis on child care about the sick child and how to care for them. The child's loss of appetite, fever, irregular breathing are some of the symptoms that could mean a child was sick. Mrs. Gradis stated how to care for wounds, nose bleeds, and burns and during her talk gave illustrations such as how to apply a pressure dressing.
To conclude her program she showed how to make a back rest and a bed table out of cardboard boxes for the sick child confined to bed.

Discussion followed Mrs. Gradis' very interesting program, which was enjoyed very much by all.

Following the program a short business discussion was held and then everyone was invited into the dining room where refreshments were served.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Cecil Harris, Mrs. J. M. Smith, and Mrs. Howard Gradis.
Books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Elected Editor Of College Paper

Miss Ruth Evelyn Topping, who graduated from Greenville High School last year, was elected editor of "The Skirl," the newspaper of Flora Macdonald College, Red Springs, N. C. The honor came as a result of popular vote of the student body on March 15th.

Last year Ruth Evelyn was co-editor of "Green Lights," Greenville High School paper, and contributed a column to "The Daily Reflector."

"Skirl" is a Scotch word meaning the sound of the bagpipe. Most often the editor of the college paper is a junior. Since Ruth Evelyn will be a sophomore next year, the honor is particularly significant.

In a recent letter Miss Topping paid tribute to her training and experience on the staff of the Greenville High School paper. "The training I received as co-editor of 'Green Lights' enabled me to assist the staff of 'The Skirl' in jobs of headline writing and reporting," she stated. "Recently I had the honor of interviewing Dr. E. Stanley Jones, world famous author, minister, missionary, and lecturer, and of writing the lead story."

Miss Topping's name appeared on the Dean's List for the first semester. She is a member of the Zeta Theta Phi Society, member of the Choral Club and College Singers, the Math Honor Society, and president of the Spanish Club. This summer she will work at the Presbyterian Conference Grounds at Montreat, N. C.

Miss Topping is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Leonard W. Topping of Greenville, N. C.

Bridge Clubs Meet In Bethel

BETHEL — Mrs. Walter Clayton Whitehurst was a gracious hostess when she entertained her bridge club on Tuesday afternoon. Lovely arrangements of daffodils and gladioli were used to decorate the home.

Between progressions the ladies enjoyed a conical salad, brownies, pickles and coffee.

When the scores were added, Mrs. Dennis Hardy received high score prize.

Others who played were Mesdames Tom Andrews, Jr., James Womack, Harold Staton, J. C. Wynne, Jr., Bob Michaels, Clayton Carson and the hostess.

The Tuesday night bridge club met with Mrs. Roscoe Everett, Gladioli and other mixed bouquets of spring flowers were used in the home.

Soon after the guests were seated, the hostess served cashew nuts and Coca-Cola. Later she served cherry and lemon cake with coffee.

After three progressions of play, Mrs. Robert Weeks was awarded the high score prize.

Others who attended the club were Mesdames Bob Young, B. F. Manning, Jr., Tom Andrews, Jr., Eugene Carson, James Crandell and Burley Bullock.

No-Scrub Way To Gleaming Floors
Everybody has heard of the housewife who kept her kitchen floor so clean you could eat off it.

We never met her. But we know how she did it. She did it the hard way — on her hands and knees — with a scrubbrush. Today, you can keep your linoleum or asphalt tile immaculate with only a fraction as much effort.

Just apply Glaxo, the wonderful floor coating. Its water-clear finish seals out dirt so well you can clean it in a flash. Glaxo eliminates waxing, and you put it on only about twice a year.

The monthly board meeting will be on Tuesday night at 7:30. The monthly church conference meets on Wednesday night at 7:30.

Mrs. Dewar Guest Speaker At W.S.C.S. Meeting Monday

BETHEL — The regular meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Bethel Methodist Church was held on Monday in the church.

The meeting opened with the business and the president, Mrs. D. T. House, Jr., presided. The secretary, Mrs. Ralph Carson, read the minutes which stood approved. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Clayton House and the circle count taken. Mrs. House stressed that all pledges be paid and that the Treasure Chest were to be taken up at the next circle meeting.

The group voted to send $25 to the Woman's Conference as a love gift which was held in Kingston on Wednesday. Various secretaries made their reports and to conclude the business, an announcement was made that prayer sessions would be held the week of April 4 each morning at 9:30 in the church.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. Sam Dewar. She gave a most interesting discussion on "Young Women Move to the City". She brought out how important it is for the church members to invite the newcomers to the church and give them a hearty welcome.

There were twenty four members present.

Audience Of 3,000 Is Expected For Play Staged For Children

Glass spectacle lenses were first made at the end of the 13th century.

Assistant Librarian Is Guest Speaker At Book Club Meet

The End of the Century Club was entertained in a most delightful manner by Mrs. Ed Batchelor on Tuesday, March 22.

After a short business session conducted by the president, Mrs. J. B. Spilman, Miss Mary Harding introduced the speaker, Miss Anne McMullan of Sheppard Memorial Library.

Miss McMullan chose to describe the educational efforts of leaders of this state to create the literacy that stimulated literary attainments of North Carolinians. She emphasized the growth of our colleges, art museums, libraries and extension courses, book clubs, and study groups, which have given encouragement to the study of literature and arts.

Mrs. Butterworth Hostess To GC Club

BETHEL — Mrs. Joe Butterworth was hostess to the regular meeting of the Greensboro College Club at her home on Wednesday. Lovely mixed vases of spring flowers were used in the living room and entrance hall.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Butterworth after which a luncheon was enjoyed. The dining room table, covered with a green cloth, was centered with an arrangement of yellow jonquils. The color theme of yellow and green were carried out in the china and napkins.

The menu consisted of deviled crab, snap beans, parsley potatoes, squash casserole, congealed vegetable salad on lettuce, bran muffins, lemon pie and coffee.

Tables were then arranged for bridge and the winner of the high score prize was Mrs. Laverne Taylor of Washington and Mrs. Wick Eason of Snow Hill received the consolation prize. Between progressions the ladies enjoyed nuts and Coca-Colas.

Cheers who enjoyed the club were Mesdames Bill Umphlett of Wilson, A. K. Roberson, Jr. of Goldsboro, D. H. Taylor, Don Hinson and John Hewitt of Kinross and Mrs. Butterworth.

Round Table Book Club Elects Officers

BETHEL — Mrs. John Mayo entertained members and invited guests at the Round Table Book Club on Tuesday afternoon. Artistic arrangements of red bud, spirea and jonquils were used throughout the home.

Mrs. Robert Adkins of Robersonville was in charge of the program. Mrs. Mayo assisted by Mrs. Mayo Little, also of Robersonville. Mrs. Adkins gave a most enjoyable and entertaining program on poems. She gave the life of one poet in a most pleasing manner. After reading the poem "Trees," Mrs. Little played it on the piano.

New officers were elected and are as follows: president, Miss Camille Staton, vice-president, Mrs. W. J. Smith, secretary, Mrs. J. C. Smith and treasurer, Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst.

During the social hour, the guests were invited into the dining room. At one end of the table Mrs. C. P. Womack served chicken salad on lettuce and at the other end Mrs. T. N. Cooper served coffee. The ladies served themselves potato chips, pimento cheese sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres and crackers. Lemon tarts were passed.

The guests for the afternoon were Mesdames Cooper, Womack, W. A. Moody, Bessie Moody, J. R. Whichard, W. W. Taylor, E. I. Taylor, Jr., J. I. Taylor, J. P. Hooker, Wade Ward, Adkins and Little.

Although medicines can help relieve symptoms of a cold, none has been found that will cure it.

Finishes Survey Of School Work

ROCKY MOUNT — As a part of a nation-wide study of the effectiveness of work being done by elementary school heads, Richard C. Wilson, principal of the Wilkinson school here, has completed a survey of elementary principals in schools throughout North Carolina.

Dr. Charles Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction, appointed Wilson as North Carolina's elementary principal to conduct the survey in this state.

The study was conducted under joint sponsorship of the Department of Elementary School Principals and the Conference of Professors of Elementary Education at colleges and universities.

Purpose of the nation-wide survey was to check on the status of elementary principals as to their leadership abilities and the effectiveness of their work.

One elementary principal was named in each state to make the survey.

After compiling his findings among selected principals in the state, Wilson sent the results to headquarters of the sponsoring organizations. These were studied for comparison of weaknesses and strengths that might exist in different parts of the country and a booklet was prepared showing the results.

Wilson has been principal of the Wilkinson School here since 1933. He came here from the High Point City Schools. A native of Greenville, he is the son of Mrs. Richard Clay Wilson and the late Mr. Wilson.

School Panel Reviews Problems and Issues For Fountain PTA

FALKLAND — A panel discussion on "Problems and Issues Pertaining to Our School" was featured at a meeting of the local PTA last week.

Also stressed by Principal Ed Warren at the meeting was the importance of the parent coming with the child to the pre-school clinic, which will be held April 15.

Devotional for the evening was given by Mrs. Ruth Watson on "The Development of Desirable Attitudes."

The treasurer's report and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Charlie Tyer.

Mrs. Irene Mayo's first grade won the attendance award for the evening.

Following adjournment of the business session, refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed in the school lunchroom.

Linoleum was invented in England in 1836, but its use was widely extended by development of a new process in 1860.

No-Scrub Way To Gleaming Floors

Everybody has heard of the housewife who kept her kitchen floor so clean you could eat off it.

We never met her. But we know how she did it. She did it the hard way — on her hands and knees — with a scrubbrush. Today, you can keep your linoleum or asphalt tile immaculate with only a fraction as much effort.

Just apply Glaxo, the wonderful floor coating. Its water-clear finish seals out dirt so well you can clean it in a flash. Glaxo eliminates waxing, and you put it on only about twice a year.

An Eye - Opener For Eastern N. C.

Figures cited by Governor Hodges concerning industrial employment and industrial payrolls in North Carolina should open the eyes of many agricultural areas which have not pushed their industrial development.

According to the governor 50.3 per cent of the state's industrial employment and 53.9 per cent of its industrial payroll are concentrated in 10 North Carolina counties. That means the other 90 counties divide the remaining 46.1 per cent of the state's industrial payroll and 49.7 per cent of the state's industrial employment.

While Pitt County is by no means at the bottom of the remaining 90 counties in industry, it does not rank up the scale as it should. In general terms, Pitt County has approximately 2,000 of its 63,000 people employed in industry. The annual industrial payroll in Pitt comes to about two and one-half million dollars, or approximately one-sixteenth the dollar value of the 11 principal agricultural crops produced in the county.

A Wise Move In House Investigations

Prohibiting one-man investigations by House members is one of the most practical measures either house has adopted toward assuring continued public confidence in Congressional investigations.

McCarthy's one-man investigations and hearings left a bad taste in the mouths of many Americans, both pro-McCarthy and anti-McCarthy. Such methods tended to reflect on investigations carried out by other members of Congress and led to a great deal of controversy which could have been avoided had more than one member of a committee conducted the investigations and hearings.

Included in what is known as the "code of fair play" for House investigations, the new rule appears to us a wise step toward protecting not only the witnesses called before such hearings, but also public confidence in Congressional hearings in general.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
TOLERANCE AND CONVICTION

We read in the Book of Revelation that the Holy City which descended out of heaven had twelve gates—three on the East, three on the North, three on the South and three on the West.

Of course these twelve gates represent the twelve tribes of Israel, but they represent also the truth that there are different roads leading to heaven. To say this is not to intimate that one religion is as good as another. The differences between religions are very important. I am quite sure that the door bearing the name of the particular type of religion to which I subscribe is the best door of all, and the pathway leading to it the best doorway. But I expect everyone else to feel the same about his religion. All we should require is that we let one another alone in the exercise of religious choice. Let us believe as confidently as we have a mind to in the complete sufficiency of our own faith, but let us remember that others feel the same way about their faith.

Twelve gates leading to heaven, and twelve pathways! And we all singing "Glory to God in the Highest." And we all worship the same God. Religious tolerance is thrilling provided it is linked to strong religious convictions.

Idealists And Realists Clash

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Fresh flareups between scientists and Washington officials over production and possible use of nuclear weapons in war barely hint at the bitterness which animates professors and politicians on this question, including top personalities in Capitol Hill, at the State Department, the Pentagon and even the White House.

Although President Eisenhower has not been drawn directly into the controversy he sides with advocates of intensive development and testing of A-H bombs. He and Secretary Dulles have declared that tactical atomic missiles would be fired in a Far Eastern clash. Many of the nation's leading scientists take a dismal view of this prospect. They believe that it may mean the end of civilization as we know it.

Prime Minister Churchill has now lined up with Ike in deciding that Britain shall embark on a far-reaching nuclear development as the only "deterrent" to World War III. As Eisenhower defies his array of critical scientists, so the British statesman disregards the jeremiads of the distinguished Arnold Toynbee.

SCIENTISTS' ANGER OFFICIALS—Several specific outbursts by scientific spokesmen, as well as their general opposition to manufacture and utilization of mass-destruction missiles, have angered officials responsible for national and collective security against the Russian colossus.

The scientists still protest against the Atomic Energy Commission's access to classified atomic data. Certain eastern educators criticize FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's security checks and activities, including the use of informers.

ties will show that generally the counties which are heavily industrialized have relatively small agricultural incomes, and those which rank high in agriculture have little industrial income.

Of the 10 counties cited by Gov. Hodges as having 50.3 per cent of the state's industrial employment, only four rank in the first 50 counties in the state in terms of agricultural income. Only one of those 10 counties, Wake, is ranked among the first 10 counties in the state according to agricultural income. All of the 10 counties are located either in the mountain region or the northern or central piedmont regions of the state.

One of the most pressing economic needs of North Carolina has long been the need for raising the rural income. In Eastern North Carolina, where there are sprawling rural areas and a greater portion of rural families, the need is particularly acute. While agricultural advancements are tending to raise the farm income in the eastern section, there is a great need for supplemental industrial income to help raise the level of rural family income.

The situation should prompt even the most wealthy agricultural counties—such as Pitt—to spur their industrial development programs in an effort to raise the income of their people and afford greater stability to their economy.

Some Day, This Futility Must End

Two peace campaigns, one originating in the United States, the other in Russia could lead to another foreign ministers' conference a few months hence.

If we approach the prospect with some misgivings, it is because of past experience. The maneuverings now underway may develop into the cold war battle of the year, or it might, just might, turn into an era of relaxed tensions. In the end, all hinges on the Russian attitude.

The United States' position has been clarified repeatedly: all we ask is some evidence of good faith.

And just as frequently, the masters of the Kremlin have demonstrated they regard such meetings as just tools for propaganda purpose with no "give-and-take" atmosphere involved.

For our part, we must not forget there should be some give-and-take; with a careful eye on who does the giving and taking.

The futility of armaments races and inspiring of enmity and distrust among peoples is self-evident. In truth, one might well question the sanity of the human race if differences cannot be reasonably reconciled.

This must and will be accomplished some day; that we are confident. Let us pray such a millenium does not require a shattered world as a stepping-stone.

MOTIVATION — Conceding that practically all legislation proposed is honestly intended to serve the public good, it is still true that a majority of the bills offered have their origin in specific cases within the knowledge of the introducer. Often the bills designed to cure specific ills would work greater hardship on somebody else if enacted into law.

There has been no question about the complete sincerity of the sponsors of the bill to raise the juvenile court age to 17, and advocates of the bill cited several instances of lives ruined because of court records in connection with youthful indiscretions. When the question was asked what about the 17 year old boy guilty of rape, or fathering a child, is he entitled to "protection" at expense of his victims? The sponsors agreed to an amendment covering those points.

Then there is the bill to allow an additional $2,000 exemption on State income tax returns for taxpayers who are contributing wholly to the support of a permanently totally disabled person. Rep. Arthur Goodman confessed he had in mind a specific case in his neighborhood when he prepared the bill, and was thinking only of totally and permanently disabled children. Questions came about this extra exemption for heads of families which included seniles, he hadn't intended to include them. How about two brothers one contributing 75 per cent the other 25 per cent to support a helpless mother? Opinion was neither could claim any part of the addi-

RESPECTABLES OF U. S. AND ALLIES—Sen. Eisenhower and Churchill, Gruenther and Montgomery, face immediate and terrible responsibilities. As they approach the problem, they figure that there will be no future generations to worry about, unless the United States and its Allies maintain nuclear superiority over the Communist hordes.

Somebody Told Me A Salesman Who Likes Work

Do you wash your feet and change your socks before you go to a shoe store? You don't consider that any of my business? You have a point, but last night I was talking to a shoe salesman who will recommend to you that you wash your feet often and change socks every day if he suspects that you aren't doing it.

Certainly you don't expect me to give you his name, but I will give you this much of a tip: I was talking to him during one of the breaks of the Bob Bale course in personal development. Check the roll for shoe salesman.

As Bale points out in his course, one of the problems in salesmanship is to keep your enthusiasm up. "Give yourself several pep talks a day," he says, "when you need them most."

What Other Editors Are Thinking

EMPHASIS PLACED ON RELIGION (Rocky Mount Telegram) Those who fear for the future of our Western, or perhaps more specific, American civilization should be encouraged over the needs that we are growing, rather than diminishing, in our emphasis on religion in an era which almost disappeared before the dawn of other civilizations and cultures of the world.

press the first real best-seller in America. The author maintained that "God wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin—I merely wrote His dictation!"

However, one need not confine his attention to books to be aware of the religious trends. Billy Graham, attacked before and after he went to England, nevertheless, effected a change in Britons' religious attitude which may be felt advantageously for generations to come.

Around Capitol Square

Legislative Sponsors Often Influenced By Experience

WIDOWS — Rep. Wilson Yarborough of Cumberland had a $2,000 exemption on income taxes for widows so long as they did not remarry. He had in mind one special case where such relief was needed, because the woman was having a hard time meeting expenses. Would his bill apply to millionaires as well as poor widows? He supposed it would. How about the able-bodied and very capable young widow who had a job at which she earned $6,000 to $10,000 a year; would she get the exemption? He supposed so, and admitted his bill might need some amending. What's the "economic difference" between a widow and a spinster when both must earn a living? Does a rich widow deserve preferential treatment over a poor widow with motherless children to care for?

Yarborough also confessed his bill might need further study and amendment before it is written into the law books.

CONFESSION — The conference between chairman of the joint appropriations subcommittee and legislative reporters about procedure in reporting day by day developments failed to clarify the confusion. It did serve to make for better understanding as to motives and purposes.

Business Today 'Golden Leg - Irons'

Fringes tie workers to jobs; they hesitate to seek new positions because of the loss of benefits, as was pointed out here yesterday.

Those with organizations may insist that wage guarantees, pensions and insurance be transferred to other organizations. Then, when a man changed from one job to another, he could take his wage guarantee, his accumulated pension rights and his insurance buildup along with him.

Control Over Statements Made Outside Regular Committee Meetings

control over statements made outside regular committee meetings. Therefore, any comments or quotes picked up by reporters before or after the meeting would not come under the session-ban against using names. Reporters contended they are just as trustworthy and have the good of the State as much at heart as do the members of the committee; but they have an obligation to the people to let them know what is going on.

Point was made that nothing can be kept secret when as many as a dozen people know it, and alert reporters can get the story. It may not be quite as accurate, because second hand rumors usually are exaggerated. That is the calculated risk taken by officials who transact public business with limitations upon the information about that business given to the people.

Pirates Defeat Visitors By 6-4

Coastal Plain Semi-Pros To Begin Season April 23

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

Springfield (Mass.) College was shunned southern hospitality for the second day in a row here yesterday afternoon as East Carolina College baseballers handed them their second consecutive setback, 6-4.

With freshman star Tommy Pruett holding the northern visitors hitless for the first four innings, the Pirates' slickness were able to bunch four hits in the second and third innings for five runs. Another mark was added in the sixth frame as first baseman Nick Smothers' line drive single.

Coach Jim Mallory's charges jumped on Travis Brown, Springfield starting pitcher, in the second. After Gene Turner filed out to deep short, Smothers worked Brown for a base on balls. Rattled, Brown walked the next batter Bob Penley, moving Smothers to second. Bill Cline, Pirate backstop, drove one of Brown's slants over shortstop, driving in Smothers with the first tally. Moments later, shortstop Jerry Stewart squeezed Penley home for the second run.

The fat third frame in which East Carolina pushed three scores across was result of bingles by Bucky Reep, Cecil Heath and Smothers. Reep's knock put him on first. He stole second and reached third on a bad throw by the catcher, Ed Bilek. Heath dropped a hit in between left and centerfield for Reep's ticket home. Gether Cline reached first on an error by second baseman Bud Getchell and Brown made a pitch through for a single which sent Heath and Cline across the plate.

The hard-throwing Pruett had the Springfield bunch handcuffed for four innings. He allowed no hits and no runs but put himself in a bind on a couple occasions by walking men. He issued five free passes to first. Ken Hall, the Pirates' second pitcher, was credited with the win, though, because Pruett didn't throw the required five innings.

Heath, the veteran second sacker, was the Pirates' hitting leader again. He rapped out three singles in four trips and scored one run.

His batting average for the two games is .466—six hits in nine at bats. Smothers had two for three. Heath and Smothers were the only players for either team to get more than one hit yesterday. Unlike the homer and triple barrage of Wednesday, all safeties yesterday were one-base knocks.

Several times in the latter innings, Springfield threatened to tie the game up. They finally broke out in their hitless shell in the seventh. It was Ray Jordan pinch-hitting for leftfielder Wayne Wilson who cracked the first hit. The safety came off leftie Dave Harris.

Springfield had picked up a run before they managed a hit. In the fifth inning, Hall, who followed Pruett on the mound for East Carolina, walked the first man to face him, Wilson. After getting the next two batters out, he suddenly went scatter-arm and picked up a run in a row, forcing Wilson in with the visitors' first run.

Springfield pushed another tally across in the seventh and mustered two in the eighth to come within catching distance. These three scores came off Harris, who was relieved in the eighth with nobody out by freshman Herb Corey. Corey retired the side without any runs crossing the plate. In the ninth, he got into trouble right away by allowing a single and walk to the next man. The second baseman represented the tying run. Corey struck out the next batter outlasted Getchell to hit into an unassisted double play to Reep at third. Reep caught the line drive and caught the baserunner off third in almost the same movement.

Besides wildness, the Pirate chieftains did all right. Springfield could collect only four hits whereas the Pirates made nine bingles to send their two-game output to 20. Coach Mallory used 20 players in the victory. He relieved most of his first nine after the sixth inning. Ray Pennington, sophomore letterman, played well at shortstop. He handled two difficult assists and two putouts without a bobble.

Over-all, the Pirates played a much better game defensively than on Wednesday. They were victims of only one error yesterday but committed 11 in the first game. The one error yesterday was in the outfield, the Pirate infield was air-tight.

The Coastal Plain Semi-Pro League, met last night and made final preparations for the coming 1955 baseball season.

The league is composed of six teams—Greenville, Falkland, Farmville, Rocky Mount, Williamston, and New Bern—all of which were present at the meeting last night.

John Farfour, president of the league, was in charge of the meeting. Mr. Farfour passed out copies of the rules to all managers and then the league voted on each rule, correcting some rules and withdrawing other rules. The league will go by the National League rules with just a few exceptions.

Season Begins April 23

The league season opens April 23 with all league teams scheduled to play Rocky Mount opens at Farmville. Williamston will be at New Bern, and Falkland will be at Greenville.

Games will be played on every Sunday, Saturday, and Wednesday for the rest of the season with three Wednesdays open. Those three dates are open so that clubs can play postponed games.

Fifty-Game Schedule

The league adopted a fifty game schedule which has already been completed. Each team plays each of the others five times at home and five times away. Play starts April 23 and lasts through August 21, with the playoffs scheduled after the regular season games.

Games will start at 3:00 p.m. for afternoon games and at 8:00 for night games. Doubleheaders will start an hour earlier in the day games and at 7:30 for night games. Each team will be allowed to carry 20 players on the active roster. No player can play on one of the league teams if his name is on the active list of some professional team at the time he is playing.

The league also has set up other rules to keep players from jumping from team to team.

All of the teams had to pay a seventy-five dollar entrance fee, seventy of which will be refunded if the team completes the schedule. Five dollars are kept for league expenses.

The umpire situation, which is the biggest headache for the league so far, has not been decided as of yet. Several suggestions have been made and the league will make a final decision at the next meeting.

Greenies Sign Contracts

Floyd Nichols, business manager of the Greenville club, announced that all Greenville players should sign their contracts as soon as possible. The players have until April 15 to get their names into the league office. Nichols said, "All Greenville players should sign by the end of the week. Signatures should be turned in to the Greenville club, which is supposed to be one of the stronger members of the loop, have been working out lately and will have another practice at Guy Smith Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Season tickets for all the Greenville games are now on sale from any member of the team. These tickets are selling for ten dollars each, or two-thirds off from the regular price of all games.

Phillies' Pitching Still Needs Curt

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

It was back on Oct. 14 last year that the Philadelphia Phillies picked a guy named Smith out of baseball obscurity and made him manager. They guaranteed him a living wage and the services of Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons.

Now it's just a scant few weeks before the opening of the 1955 season and Manager Mayo Smith looks as if he may have grounds for a breach of contract suit. He has money in his pockets and Roberts—but no Simmons as yet.

The southpaw is in camp, all right, but his left arm has been hanging on a hook. Which wasn't what Smith had in mind last fall when he commented, "Pitching is the biggest strength."

Roberts looks as robust as ever, and the rippling right-hander figures to be a 20-game winner for a sixth consecutive season. But Simmons' his running mate when Philadelphia was the 1950 National League champ, has been bothered by arm trouble since the start of spring training.

Simmons talked encouragingly yesterday, however, as most of the Florida clubs sat out the rain.

He had pitched some the day before and, despite continued pain, was optimistic.

"I was firing pretty good," he said, "and it only bothered me a little. I think my arm will be better when I get out under the sunshine."

Eight Florida exhibition games were rained out yesterday and only the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Athletics managed to get some leeks in. The Orioles won 4-2 as rain ended it at five innings.

The only other action was in Arizona. The Chicago Cubs won their sixth straight, defeating Cleveland 6-2, and the New York Giants disposed of an accumulation of Pacific Coast League stars 10-2.

Baltimore scored four runs in the first, loading the bases on an error and two walks. The runs came in on a second error and singles by Willie Miranda and Gus Triandos.

The Cubs let former Bob Rush go seven innings and finished with Warren Hacker to set down the Tribe on four hits. Hal Rice smacked a pair of homers and rookie Bob Speake lofted one, all off Mike Garcia.

Yankee Aquatic Stars Dominate Pan-Am Program

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Pan-American Games swimming and diving program, final major sport events of the 1955 Western Hemisphere Little Olympics, wound up today with the United States sitting highest on the international totem pole.

The U.S. aquatic talent added four of six possible gold medals and the collection late yesterday, along with two Pan-Am records.

With 15 events held and five to be run off late this afternoon, the unofficial score in the swimming and diving schedule stood:

U.S., 188; Mexico, 56; Argentina, 51; Canada, 45; Brazil, 17, to list the nations which entered the bigger teams.

The scoreboard for the games as a whole, including last week's track and field, showed:

U.S., 1,373½; Argentina, 545½; Mexico, 385; Brazil, 177.

The U.S. came out on top in men's basketball, thanks to a point scoring system which gave her a plus 26, Argentina a minus 3 and Brazil a minus 25.

Argentina won the men's water polo with the U.S. second and Brazil third.

The games come to a formal conclusion tomorrow. The feature of the colorful Olympic-fashioned program will be the classic Prix de Nations, or equestrian obstacle race in University City's enormous stadium.

With practically everything else settled, main interest was centered on the Olympic swimming stadium today. On the agenda were finals in the 200 and 100-meter butterfly for men and women, respectively; and finals in the 400-meter free style for women and 800-meter medley relay for the girls.

The double-crown winners were registered yesterday.

California's world champion, Mrs. Patricia McCormick, added the 100-meter platform title to her 3-meter championship, and Mexico's Joaquin Capilla did the same, repeating exactly his 1951 Pan-American triumph off both boards.

In rapid fashion, the U.C. clicked off victories in the 100-meter free style, with the Olympic sprint king, Clarke Scholes, hitting .577 to break his own meet record of .58.03 set in the preliminaries last week; and the girls' 400-meter relay team cracking another record.

The winsome foursome, Gretchen Klutler, Carolyn Green, Judy Roberts and Wanda Lee Werner registered 4.3, better than the 4:37.1 established in 1951 by another American team.

Herbie Flam And Argentine Star Matched Today

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., faces Enrique Morea, Argentine champion from Buenos Aires, in a quarter-final match of the Good Neighbor Tennis Tournament today in what should be a stern test for both.

Flam just out of uniform, is ranked 11th in the United States. Morea won the French singles title two years ago.

Both were idle yesterday while such seeded stars as Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati advanced to the semifinals.

Australian Paces Tourney Round

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The hard-punching youngsters of the golf trail, paced by Australia's 25-year-old Peter Thomson, were in full command today as the $12,500 Miami Beach Open Tournament moved into the second 18-hole round.

Despite gusty winds and light rain, Thomson posted a 7-under-par 65 over the Bayshore Golf Club course yesterday.

Hot on his trail with 66 were three other youthful campaigners —24-year-old Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif.; Bob Inman, 25, Tulsa, Okla.; and Bob Rosburg, 28, San Francisco.

It was necessary to go down to eighth place to find any of the tournament veterans. In a tie for eighth were such old-timers as John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Shelly Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass.; and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.

Thomson, the British Open champion from Melbourne, scored an eagle on the first hole with a deadly approach shot that stopped just a foot short of the cup. He dropped two birdie putts of 20 and 15 feet but needed only short putts for his other birdies as he carded a 3-32-65.

Bob Baker And Cuban Newcomer In Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—With a title shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano looming on the horizon, Bob Baker, the 28-year-old Pittsburgher, battles Julio Mederos, of Havana, in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Baker rules a solid 7-2 choice over Mederos, who popped into the limelight three weeks ago when he sent Roland La Starza down for the count in Miami. Even Marciano couldn't do that, so the fistic fraternity figured Mederos must have a good punch.

Originally, Baker was to take on Harold Johnson. But Johnson caught a cold, so the International Boxing Club picked Mederos, who has done most of his fighting around Miami.

Wolfpack Ousted In AAU Tourney

DENVER (AP)—The National Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Basketball Tournament moves into its semifinal round here tonight but the pride of the Atlantic Coast Conference—North Carolina State—won't be around.

The San Francisco Olympic Club defeated the Wolfpack, 70-60, last night in a quarter-final game to move into tonight's semifinals. San Francisco will meet the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66ers, Boulder, Colo. (Lockett-Nix) meets the Quantico Va., Marines in the other semifinal tilt.

Five San Francisco players scored in the double figures to knock off the Wolfpack. Jim Lockett of Oregon scored 19 points to lead the winners, though center Ron Shavlik of N.C. State was high for the game with 20.

State led at the half, 30-26, but within two minutes after the second half started, San Francisco had jumped ahead. With 5½ minutes remaining, the Coast team led, 60-55. They made the spread nine points after Ron Tomasic of Stanford and Bob Matheny, former California star, scored four free throws.

State, charged with 25 fouls during the game, attempted to press during the final minutes with poor results. The Wolfpack fouled San Francisco players freely and they in turn scored from the free throw line.

Forward Vic Melodet with 10 points was the second best scoring efforts by a Wolfpack player.

Playing under the colors of Lockett-Nix of Boulder, the University of Colorado senior players, dumped defending champion Peoria, Ill. Cats 70-47; the U.S. Marine Corps champion Quantico dropped Los Angeles Kirby Shoes, 81-72, and Phillips 66ers had no trouble beating a Colorado State College team, 56-44. Bartlesville is champion of the National Industrial Basketball League.

Ice-Choked Niagara On Destructive Rampage

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Local residents, Army engineers and Coast Guardsmen still watched helplessly today as the ice-filled Niagara continued on its home and dock-wrecking rampage.

The grinding mass of glacierlike ice showed no signs of washing out into Lake Ontario. Army engineers said the pressure behind the jam remained about the same.

Summer homes and boat docks along the shoreline below the falls were reduced to rubble as the ice went up over the river banks. Property estimated at nearly a million dollars was threatened.

In some spots, the pileup was as deep as 50 feet. The only open water in the rapids below the falls was a short stretch near the whirlpool.

The shoreline from Lewiston down to Fort Niagara on the U.S. side and from Queenston to Niagara-on-the-Lake on the Canadian side caught the brunt of the damage.

Above the falls, an ice jam has slowed the flow of water over the American falls considerably.

Seven cottages were crushed by the ice at Lewiston.

The Queenston steamboat dock, where Toronto excursion boats dock during the summer, was destroyed yesterday and water was reported to be pouring into the Ontario hydroelectric plants near Queenston.

Army engineers reported that Lake Ontario was about 20 feet above the normal level at Rochester.

The engineers said there was no hope of being able to dynamite the jam. The slush under the ice would only act as a cushion, they said. An attempt was made Tuesday to dynamite the ice but it only succeeded in breaking up the surface ice.

Visiting Pastor Will Lead Revival

Rev. Matthew McGowan (above) will lead revival services at West Greenville Presbyterian Church beginning Sunday at 9:45 a.m. and extending through April 1.

Each night, Sunday through Friday, meetings will be conducted in the West Greenville School Auditorium at 8 o'clock. Rev. McGowan will speak each morning at 10:30 on the Morning Meditation program of WNCN.

Mr. McGowan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cox of Pitt County. He graduated from Chicod High School, Davidson College and Columbia Theological Seminary of Decatur.

Currently serving as pastor of the Chestnut Mountain Presbyterian Church in Gainesville, Ga., he and his church hold the distinction of having won first place honors in Georgia, and second place in the South, in excellence of program and services in a contest sponsored for rural churches.

Dog's Lung And Artificial Heart Used In Surgery

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—An Arkansas boy's blood was pumped for 15 crucial minutes during a heart operation through a lung which had been removed from a dog and inflated to about the size of a football.

Some details of the dramatic operation on Calvin Richmond, 13, Pine Bluff, Ark., were revealed last night by doctors at University of Minnesota Hospitals.

The boy was reported in satisfactory condition after three holes were closed in his heart chamber Wednesday.

A short time before the three-hour operation, the dog's lung was removed and suspended in a plastic cylinder six feet from the patient.

When actual repair work on the heart began, the boy's blood flow was diverted by a mechanical pump through plastic tubes into the dog's lungs.

The isolated, sterile lung was ventilated with 100 per cent oxygen to purify the blood. A second pump then carried the blood back into the boy's system, first passing the blood through heated water to warm it.

By diverting the flow of blood from the heart, surgeons were able to work on a "dry field" in closing the three holes. One of the openings between the heart chambers was about the size of a nickel. The other two were somewhat smaller.

Young Calvin had been a "heart cripple" since he was injured in a truck accident last year. The operative technique had been explained to the boy's mother and she gave her approval.

Dr. Gilbert S. Campbell, 31, spoke last night for the surgical team which worked for several months on experiments leading to use of the lung of an animal.

Working with him on more than 100 experimental operations performed in using the lung of one animal while operating on another were Dr. E. B. Brown Jr. and Dr. Norman Crisp, both of the University of Minnesota.

Surgery on the Richmond boy was performed by a medical team headed by Dr. C. Walton Lillehei and Dr. Richard L. Varco.

New Bazooka For Canadian Army

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian army today made public the first details of its new tank killer, the Heller. Officials said it has a longer range and much more accuracy than the Americans' World War II bazookas.

It is a recoilless rocket launcher. Primarily an infantry weapon, it can be carried easily by one soldier and fired from the shoulder while standing, kneeling or sitting. It has none of the bazooka's back blast and has no fire gloves or protective masks necessary.

The army said that "a hit almost anywhere on a tank will ensure its destruction."

The Canadians are particularly proud because it's the first weapon they've designed developed and manufactured completely.

A baby hippopotamus, which weighs about 100 pounds at birth, can swim before it can walk.

Find No Trace Of Missing Child

DETROIT (AP)—A block-by-block search of a six-square-mile area in Detroit's densely populated East Side has failed to turn up a trace of a 7-year-old girl, missing since yesterday morning. Police feared she had been slain.

A 200-man police posse continued the hunt all night. A roundup of known sex deviates was slated for today.

Mrs. Rita Gaca, 29, reported her daughter Barbara missing when she did not return home from school for lunch yesterday. Mrs. Gaca telephoned Assumption Grotto School, where Barbara is a second-grade pupil, but learned the child had not shown up for classes.

Fifty probationary police were called in to join the search after dark. Nearby parks were scoured and police made a door-to-door check of the neighborhood.

By early this morning police said they felt certain the girl had been taken out of their East Side precinct.

Barbara's father Frank, 31, a postal employe, came home from his job to assist police. Many of his fellow workers joined the search.

Mrs. Gaca said Barbara had never run away from home. There are three other young children in the family.

Burglars Bought Savings Bonds

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—Two burglars who put their loot into U.S. Savings Bonds and bank accounts are in Concord Reformatory today, stripped of their wealth.

Before sentencing Robert L. Brown, 21, and Charles K. Kambrick, 21, both of Lynn yesterday, Superior Court Judge Vincent Brogna ordered them to sign over to police the bonds and bank accounts totaling $1,054.

The judge told police to collect the proceeds and give it to insurance companies which made good the loss.

The pair broke into a Lynn shoe factory office and stole $2,000 last January, police testified.

CRASHED THROUGH PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Doris D. Morse was driving with her 3-year-old daughter when one of the child's toy blocks rolled off the seat and lodged under the brake pedal. Unable to remove it, Mrs. Morse turned the car into a driveway and crashed through a wooden fence before the vehicle stopped. Neither she nor the child was injured.

Group Of N. C. Educators Tour New DuPont Research Center

Among the 55 North Carolina educators who visited the DuPont Company's "Dacron" Research Laboratory Wednesday were professors and staff members representing the University of North Carolina, N. C. State College, Duke University, East Carolina College, and Wilmington Junior College. The visitors are shown above together with some of their hosts during their day-long tour of the laboratory and manufacturing plant facilities.

KINSTON, March 24—The serious scarcity of technical people in our country today is one problem that we should be concerned with, as industrial and educational research workers, declared Dr. Edward R. Kane, Director of the DuPont Company's Research Laboratory, here yesterday.

Keynoting the visit to the Laboratory of 55 educators from five North Carolina colleges, Dr. Kane emphasized the importance of industrial and university people working together toward the common goal of inspiring greater interest among today's youth in chemistry and engineering careers.

Dr. Kane said such a get-together of technical people, educational and industrial, should be mutually beneficial and should set the stage for future meetings of these two groups.

"Without such contacts," he stated, "we in industry are apt to become narrow on the practical side, and there's just the possibility that you in education could become introverted on the academic side. A meeting of this type is invigorating for everyone concerned."

Other members of DuPont management who addressed the visiting group on the plant's research program, as well as technical and process endeavors, were Dr. J. E. Watta, Laboratory Research Manager; Dr. R. E. Wilfong, Plant Technical Superintendent; R. W. Lowe, Plant Process Superintendent.

Following a tour of the facilities in the Laboratory and in the manufacturing plant, the educators broke up into small groups for a variety of technical discussions in their specialized fields of chemistry, engineering, and textiles.

Fire Shrank As Winds Prevented Help Approached Parking Tickets

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Columbia firemen dashed out when they had a call reporting a building on fire "in the rear of my house."

En route, they were advised by radio that it was a "garage on fire."

When they arrived, they found a child's playhouse going up in flames. Damage was estimated at $10.

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—A windstorm with gusts up to 80 miles an hour blew out plate glass windows yesterday and knocked down some of the fence at the local baseball park. But it blew good for some people.

Police said very few parking tickets were issued during the day. The reason: the tickets that did get issued were blown away as fast as they could be affixed to windshields.

Jane Wyman Can't Pick Oscar Winners

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Time for a chat with Jane Wyman about Oscar and things.
 The talented lass from St. Joe, Mo., won an Academy Award in 1948 by not saying a word in "Johnny Belinda." This year she's up for another one because of her performance in "Magnificent Obsession." What are her chances?
 "I doubt if I'll win," she commented candidly. "It looks like a race between Judy Garland and Grace Kelly. I don't know which one will win. Judy certainly did a magnificent job in 'A Star Is Born' and a lot of people are pulling for her. On the other hand, Grace was terrific in 'The Country Girl,' and the vote may go to a newcomer."
 "You can't tell. If Kelly and Garland split the ballots, the Oscar might go to me or Audrey Hepburn—'Sabrina' was very popular—or Dorothy Dandridge ('Carmen Jones')."
 "It all boils down to the fact that you can't predict Academy Awards. You never know until you open the envelope and see the winner's name."
 This year all the star nominees will take part in the program, giving out minor awards. This appears to be a scheme to cut down on absenteeism. It turns out it wasn't needed, since such former recalcitrants as Marlon Brando and Bing Crosby have changed their ways and are eager to attend.

Moving Against 'Party Line Hogs'

CHICAGO (AP)—Here's a little cruel for folks along party lines. Gossips who refuse to give up such telephone circuits in an emergency can get into trouble in an increasing number of states.
 They can be fined or jailed for yacking on and on when somebody wants to use the wire to call the police, firemen or a doctor.
 A survey by The Associated Press showed today that statutes of that sort have been put on the law books of six states. Similar proposed laws have been introduced in the legislatures of nine other states.
 A law enacted in New York last year makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a $50 fine or 30 days in jail, or both, to refuse "willfully" to give up a party line when informed it is needed for an emergency call.
 Similar laws were enacted last year in Michigan and this year in Massachusetts, Indiana, Arizona and Tennessee.
 Bills have been offered in legislatures in Colorado, Maryland, New Hampshire, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Vermont, Rhode Island and Ohio.

Good Music Said Answer Of Radio To T V Lures

By WAYNE OLIVER
 NEW YORK (AP)—A radio program that has withstood television competition better than most, the Telephone Hour, begins its 16th year next month with no signs of weakening.
 TV has cut into the audience of the Monday night NBC show as it has for all night network radio. But surveys indicate the Telephone Hour has held a larger share of its audience than any other major radio program.
 What's the answer?
 A growing public demand for good music, says Donald Voorhees, orchestra conductor on the Telephone Hour since its first broadcast in April 1940.
 "As nearly as I can gather from all sources, serious music is gaining very rapidly," says the rugged, white-haired veteran of the music world.
 Voorhees credits radio with stimulating a nationwide growth in the appreciation of good music and thinks it's directly responsible for booming sales of classical phonograph records.
 Development of a new television picture tube said to have three to four times the brightness of those in current sets was reported today to the Institute of Radio Engineers. Engineers for the Rauland Corp. said the new tube had been built in two sizes—19-inch round and 24-inch rectangular.

Blue Mold

Blue mold, a scourge of tobacco crops, has been reported in Pitt County near Venter's Cross Road.
 This disease can be prevented in two ways but treatment must start before the mold is detected. Either Zineb, Dithane Z-78 or Parzate and Ferbam can be used effectively. They can be applied either as a spray or as a dust.
 If used as a dust, the treatment should be made either early in the morning or late in the afternoon. It should be repeated twice a week and after each rain.
 In motion pictures, the eye does not detect flicker or other sense of discontinuity when the pictures are shown at the rate of 20 per second or faster.

Porter and wife, Ruby M. Porter, by Edward L. Martin and wife, Mary Y. Martin, by Deed dated the 11th day of September, 1952, of record in the office of the said Register of Deeds of Pitt County.
 This sale will be made subject to all outstanding taxes and municipal assessments.

Syngman Rhee Regards His Life Only Partial Success

By ROBERT HUNSON and MURRAY FROMSON
SEOUL (AP)—You would think that an 80-year-old man who was head of his country's government on that particular birthday would consider his life a great success.

Not President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea. Rhee, who will be 80 tomorrow, feels he has realized only partial success because North Korea still is occupied by the Communists. "I hope and pray that we may liberate our people in North Korea before it is too late and they are all indoctrinated by the Communists," Rhee told us in an interview.

The white-haired President received us in his study at Kyung Mu Dal, Korea's White House. He seemed completely recovered from a recent prostate gland operation and was in excellent spirits. He

Woman, 104, Is Still Active Red Cross Worker

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Miss Dolly Johnson, who claims she's 104 years old and can thread the eye of a needle and ply stitches with the best seamstresses, may be the oldest active Red Cross worker in the country.

Despite her age, Miss Johnson keeps busy sewing at the Home for Aged & Infirm Colored Women. Each Tuesday she goes to a nearby church where she diligently folds surgical dressings for the Red Cross. On Sundays Miss Johnson journeys by bus and trolley to her church where she arranges the altar before services.

Regular hours have contributed to her longevity, says Miss Johnson. With a laugh, she declared: "You can't go to night clubs and stay up half the night and keep your health."

looked better physically than in years.

The peppery old President expressed these views:

1. Britain is not anti-Communist. It has changed. "I do not want to be compared to such a great man as Prime Minister Churchill, who is also 80. Churchill may have been a Communist fighter once, but he is different now. I don't understand him any more."

2. The United States "should turn loose Chiang Kai-shek (of Nationalist China) and Syngman Rhee. The sooner the better. I hope Secretary Dulles is considering this."

3. Japan should "make up her mind which side of the street she is going to walk down. We can never be friends with the Japanese so long as they are trying to be friendly with the Communists."

Rhee probably will go down in history as one of the most controversial figures of his time in Asia. Surely he has been stubborn, unpredictable and adamant.

He is one of the most loyal friends the United States ever had. The only thing he ever threatened to do was start the Korean War up again all by himself if the Far East Command would just give him enough gasoline and bullets.

Rhee's pet peeve with Britain is that the British recognize Communist China.

Then there is Japan, which once held Korea. Rhee's gunboats seized Japanese fishermen who crossed the disputed Rhee line, in some places 60 miles from the coast of Korea. All efforts to get the two old neighbors' differences settled have failed.

Rhee was absent from Korea so long, fighting against Japanese control of his country, that he had the experience of becoming a legend in his lifetime in his own land.

In 1897 he was jailed for heading an independence movement. He broke out and was recaptured. In the next 6 1/2 years he was confined and tortured to the point of death.

He left Korea in 1904 when he got out of prison to seek aid and recognition for his country. The next 41 years he returned to Korea only once.

He came back for 17 months after his graduation from Princeton University in 1910. By then Korea had been annexed by Japan after years of rule by a king whom Rhee had considered a puppet.

The next time he appeared in Seoul was in 1945, after United States troops had arrived to occupy the country.

In his old age, having built a distrust for fellow rebels when he was young, Rhee never has surrounded himself with strong men.

The United States wishes that Rhee would select an heir apparent but stubbornly he has refused.

The freedom of Korea is his credo. He believes: "If you find within yourself any single thought of abandoning the welfare of your country, tear it out. Do not wait for others to lead or to do what must be done."

Chores Needed For Children

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An optometrist believes modern children are handicapped in learning because they don't get the opportunity to "do things around the house and outside. There isn't a single top-flight mathematician in this country who is city-born and bred," says Dr. A.M. Skeffington of St. Louis. "You need a proper concept of time and space to be a top mathematician."

Skeffington told Arkansas optometrists that too much emphasis has been placed on 20-20 vision, adding: "A chimpanzee with 20-20 vision isn't the equal of a man."

Clamp Down On Black Markets

MOSCOW (AP)—Black marketing in food is being sharply condemned in the Soviet press, especially in these days when the government is making great efforts to give Russia's millions more to eat.

There is a double market system in the Soviet Union. Prices in the state stores are fixed. Frequently you can't find certain meats, vegetables or other foods in the state stores. So you go to the free market, where peasants can sell their surplus. There you pay up to 200 per cent more for meat, for instance. That explains why some of the collective farmers have so much folding money.

Beyond these legal markets, there is also a black market. Its operators are frequently thieves, and always profiteers.

The newspaper Soviet Laffia, published in Riga, recently told how the women director of a state food department section was caught in "dirty profiteering affairs."

This director lined up a black marketing ring which made off with a ton of sugar, 200 pounds of butter and other foodstuffs from state stores. They peddled the sugar for 10 rubles (officially $2.50) a pound, and other produce at similar prices.

The police caught the profiteers with large stocks of stolen goods and 12,000 rubles (officially $3,000) in cash. They were handed over for prosecution.

Had A System In Picking Berries

OMAHA (AP)—Ellandon Rosebard liked strawberries but didn't enjoy bending over to pick them. He dug trenches in his patch. By walking in the trenches he could pick the berries without stopping. This was one of the facts on the life of Rosebard which came to light when the 74-year-old hermit was found critically ill in the cave where he lived.

DIDN'T KNOW
OMAHA (AP)—Carl A. Gause, Sidney, Neb., schoolteacher, paid a $10 fine in County Court for driving a car with expired license plates. The car was a student driver education vehicle.

American workers have fewer accidents on their jobs than they do out of working hours, a recent study indicates.

CP&L CABLES GO UNDER RIVER—To bring more electricity to Wilmington from its big, new Louis V. Sutton plant, Carolina Power & Light Company is laying submarine cables across the Cape Fear River. Here, two tugs buck the tide to straighten the tubing before it is lowered into a trench dredged in the river bed. Empty oil drums support the weight. Inset shows Bill Crane, frogman who explores the murky depths to inspect the job. The project, unique in North Carolina, is due to be completed next month.

Tell Her It's MURDER

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

The path Roger had taken was short and easy to follow. He had simply opened one of a pair of glass doors, walked out on a terrace and then over grass to the driveway—and death under the wheels of a speeding car.

Todhunter asked about the glass doors in the midst of voices. "Were those glass doors locked?" Mrs. Cassery gave the testimony she had given at the time. "I think so, although I can't remember checking the bolt."

"Yet the boy walked in his sleep."

The nurse shook her head. "Not then. He hadn't done it in two or three years and we'd sort of forgotten it, didn't worry any more."

Todhunter pointed to the connecting door between the two rooms. Mrs. Cassery said it was closed. "I didn't want my light to disturb Roger."

"When did you see him last?"

"As around 10 o'clock. I looked in to make sure he was all right. He was in bed and asleep. I went to bed right after that myself. I was tired with the preparations for the wedding."

Strolling into the room she had occupied, peering at the window, Todhunter reflected that if she had been roused and had got up that night she could have seen the boy well before he reached the tree-shaded drive off on the left.

"You didn't hear anything in the night?"

"Not a single sound."

Her voice was loud, emphatic. Todhunter eyed her. As far as he knew, no one had ever blamed the woman. Why was she all of a tremble under that castiron front? He thanked her, left the house thoughtfully, and went to see Dr. Redgate.

The doctor's sister admitted him to a big white house on the road below. Miss Amy Redgate was a foursquare, plain, cheerful woman in her middle 50s. Her manner was direct. There was the play with the card; Miss Redgate scrutinized it and then Todhunter, and sighed.

"Mrs. Pelham is an old friend—but I darsay you know all about us. I don't think Dave went out—we'll see."

She took Todhunter through a comfortable, shabby living room from the windows of which the Pelham house on the hill above was visible, and across a hall to the office.

Behind a big desk, Dr. Redgate was deep in an article on hypertension. He put the pamphlet aside. Grizzled hair in a brush surmounted a strong face a little on the austere side. His light eyes were cool and observant. According to Dr. Parr he had been doing first-class research when he was more or less forced by circumstances to take over his father's practice. He looked at the card Todhunter extended, brows raised. "A New York angle to this?" he said.

"Mr. Andrus comes from New York, doctor. I understand that Roger Pelham was a delicate boy. What was wrong with him?"

"For one thing, he had a bad heart. Then there was a well-developed osteoporosis—tuberculosis of the bones—and hemolytic anemia, for which I was contemplating a splenectomy. I've got the charts somewhere around. I'll show them to you later if you like. Moreover Roger was a highly imaginative and very sensitive child, with a mind far in advance of his years, which meant a good deal of wear and tear on the nervous system—particularly with his physique."

Todhunter said, "Sometimes these exceptionally bright children—was there any suggestion of mental instability?"

Redgate retreated sharply. "No, no, nothing like that. Certainly not. And I beg of you, if you have to speak of Roger to Mrs. Pelham, not to mention such a thing."

As far as Roger's somnambulism went, Redgate said it had reappeared because he was in a disturbed condition. "His mother's remarriage, perhaps—not knowing what goes on in a child's mind, a child of that age, jealousy uncertainty, fear of change."

Todhunter moved on to the bachelor dinner at the Wolf Hill inn the night the boy died. At the mention of Andrus the doctor's expression changed to one of cold dislike. He could tell Todhunter very little about the evening, it was dim in his mind, perhaps because of what had come after. He had been called away on a case in the middle of the dinner, didn't get back until almost 11 o'clock.

When he arrived Andrus was very drunk. At around half past 11 he fell under the table with a crash and that ended the festivities. "Lifting and I got him to his room and into bed with a great deal of difficulty." Then without any change of tone, "What is it you really want to know, Mr. Todhunter? Why are you interested in a crime that took place 19 months ago?"

Todhunter told Redgate the truth, or some of it, that his boss, Inspector McKee, wasn't completely convinced of Andrus' guilt in any of the three crimes of which he was accused. It was evidently not a new idea to the doctor. Not did he altogether cast it aside. "Perhaps, perhaps," he said curtly. "Susan Dwight appears to think something like that. The only thing I'm interested in is Mrs. Pelham's health, well-being."

Todhunter took his departure five minutes later convinced of two things. Whether Redgate knew it or not, he was emotionally involved with Regina Pelham, and that his sister, Amy Redgate, had been to what went on in the office. When he opened the door in his usual noiseless fashion, Amy Redgate retreated but not quite fast enough.

The Frederick Pelhams next. Opulence, a great sprawling house above and to the right of the old Pelham place, with a swimming pool and extensive landscaped gardens. Edith Pelham admitted him herself. The maids were out. She said vivaciously, handing the identification card back. "Are you first grade, Mr. Todhunter? I'm sure of it."

Before a fire of logs in the living room Edith Pelham spoke rather too openly of her dislike of Andrus, unless she was a clever woman, and Todhunter began to think she was far from stupid, under the frothy babble. She answered his questions with sighs, exclamations, and much rattling of bracelets.

Frederick Pelham stalked into the living room in a heavy satin robe over shirt and trousers.

Todhunter was still there a quarter of an hour later when a call for him came through. He took it, said, "What!" in a slightly louder tone than usual. Mrs. Fern had taken a slight upturn and was conscious. Todhunter left the Frederick Pelhams in a hurry.

"I don't see what harm one peek would do on a small peek."

Sergeant Dupasse's tone was piteous, pleading. He took the stump of the cigar he was chewing out of his mouth, hurled it into a bucket, lit another.

The little office behind the charge room was blue with smoke. District Attorney Horton and Todhunter were both present. The district attorney threw himself back in his chair. "Harm? It would put us in over our heads and you know it, sergeant—or you ought to know."

The phone rang. Horton reached for it. It was Judge Folett. The judge was not only a friend of Horton's, he was an influential man in the county. Folett put his request persuasively, in a mellow voice. "A fine person, very fine. I've known her for years. I don't see how it could possibly do any harm—and after all, they were going to be married when it happened." In short, Regina Pelham wanted to see the prisoner, Andrus.

The judge wasn't a man to be lightly refused; Horton said yes. "When, judge?"

"Now, tonight if it can be arranged."

An hour later Regina Pelham arrived at the precinct, accompanied by her stepister, Miss Dwight, and Barry Lofting. She was pale but perfectly composed. The district attorney was there to receive her. She shook hands with him and said quietly, "This is very kind of you, Mr. Horton." She went in alone to the bare room outside the cell block where Andrus was waiting for her. A guard closed the door behind her and took up his stance in front of it.

TRUCK BUYERS CAUTION!

THIS YEAR marks a revolution in truck engine design. Ultra-modern short-stroke design has jolted the entire industry. BUT you can't get it in all trucks!

The most important truck power advancement of modern times is short-stroke design. The shorter stroke cuts internal friction. Piston ring life is prolonged up to 53%. Gas savings up to one gallon in seven!

LOOK UNDER THE HOOD!

Be alert—check engine specifications before you buy a new truck. It isn't a short-stroke engine unless it has a stroke as short as, or shorter than the bore.

ONLY FORD gives you a modern Short Stroke engine in every truck!

Ford pioneered Short Stroke truck engines over three years ago. Today, Ford has four Short Stroke V-8's and the shortest stroke Six in the business! Why settle for an old-type long-stroke engine? For immediate money-saving benefits, for highest trade-in value later—go modern, go Short Stroke, go FORD!

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market quietly worked lower today under the pressure of gentle profit-taking.

Prices were down fractions for the most part, but there were some losses going past a point. Plus signs weren't very numerous. A few were excellent.

Business was sluggish. It didn't begin to compare with the 3,170,000 shares traded in yesterday's rising market.

The market has been advancing for the past three sessions, and profit-taking at this juncture was not unexpected. Currently it is near its historic high established March 4.

Most major divisions were lower or leaning lower including steels, mail order issues, aircrafts, distillers, coppers, and railroads. Utilities were higher, thanks to Western Union which shot ahead between 4 and 5 points at times. American Telephone in that group added a fraction.

Gulf Oil stood out in the quietest section up between 2 and 3 points. Aluminum Co. of America, up 7 points yesterday on a proposal for a two-for-one split, held an additional gain today.

Combustion Engineering, exceedingly strong in recent days, retreated today with losses that sometimes went to sizable proportions.

Baldwin-Lima Hamilton, yesterday's most active issue up 1/4, started today on 17,000 shares up 1/4 at 17 1/4, still under the favorable influence of news that it is getting into atomic powered locomotives.

Nose-Count Left To Court Suit

MOORE, Neb. (AP)—The District Court will decide whether Red Willow County's population is over 13,000 or under.

The County Board of Commissioners ruled the population to be under 13,000. County Judge Wendell P. Cheney thinks the board was wrong. So he filed suit in District Court asking it to decide.

The 1950 census showed the county population to be 12,977. Cheney said he has figures showing it is now over 13,000 and can prove their accuracy to the court.

If Judge Cheney wins he gets a $900-a-year salary increase under Nebraska law that set such salaries according to county populations.

All Councilmen . . .

daughter. Yesterday's activity on the political front means that voters will find at least one candidate on the ballot for each of the city offices on election day next May 3.

However, no outsiders have come forth so far to challenge present office holders for their positions. Nor has there been any indication that anyone else, other than those who have filed so far, is planning to enter the race.

Deadline for filing is April 3 which means that political aspirants have seven more filing days to place their names on the ballots. Two years ago 17 candidates signed up for the city council race alone and the city recorded the largest municipal election vote in its history.

Earlier this week the city's other two council members J.A. Collins, Sr. and A.C. Ruffin cast their hats into the ring.

Municipal Court Judge Charles H. Wheabee and Solicitor Ell Bloom have also filed for re-election.

Walter Latham Named To State Advisory Group

WALTER LATHAM

Walter C. Latham, principal and coach of Bethel High School, has been elected a member of the State Athletic Advisory Committee to the North Carolina State Board of Education and State Supt. Dr. C. F. Carroll.

Executive Secretary Mildred Moonenham of Chapel Hill notified Latham of his appointment.

Duties of the Athletic Advisory Committee include interpretation of rules and regulations, administration and enforcement of athletic rules and regulations and formulating penalties to be imposed for violations of athletic rules and regulations.

A committee of five school principals nominated Latham for the post and recommended his appointment. E. F. Johnson of Ayden was chairman of the Nominating Committee. Other members were Sam D. Bundy of Farmville, E. Dowd of Greenville High School, Joe Koenig of Washington, Fred Joern of Elizabeth City, and E. P. Blair of Farm Life School at Vanceboro.

The Bethel High School principal won the post over three opponents. F. W. Cooper of Cary, W. L. Hiltwanger of Hamlet and C. R. Joyner of Winston-Salem.

The state-wide professional conference for the Division of Principals will be held in Durham November 1, 2 and 3.

Man Cleared Of Murder Charge

A Pitt County Superior Criminal Court jury yesterday found Booker T. Darden not guilty of the murder of his stepfather here January 28.

Darden said from the witness stand that he had taken a single barrel shotgun from his stepfather in front of their Taylor Street home and was attempting to unload it when the gun went off.

Testimony given showed that Darden twice called the local Police Department following the shooting and was at the scene when officers arrived.

In two other cases yesterday, the court found Ray Hardee guilty of reckless driving and Henry May Lucas guilty of an attempt to break and enter with intent to steal. Lucas had originally been charged with breaking and entering.

In a jury trial this morning, Lee Knight, Negro, was found guilty of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Sentences in the cases were expected this afternoon from the Hon. Walter J. Bone, judge presiding.

Church Finishes Series Tonight

Evangelistic services at First Presbyterian Church this week will be concluded tonight when Dr. E. T. Thompson of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., will preach on "Life Here and Hereafter."

The public is invited. Kenneth Book, member of the middle class at Union Theological Seminary, is assisting Dr. Thompson and Rev. Leonard W. Topping, pastor of the church, in conducting the services.

Several Hundred Presbyterian churches in North Carolina are conducting evangelistic services this week.

District Student Council Congress Meets Here

One hundred twenty delegates from 27 schools were here today attending the Eastern District North Carolina Student Council Congress, for which Greenville High School served as host.

A number of the students will remain tonight to be guests of the high school at its annual Coronation Ball.

Featuring the morning session of the Congress was an address by Roy Armstrong of the University of North Carolina, who spoke on student government.

During the afternoon session, which followed luncheon at the Woman's Club, discussion groups on leadership, finance and service were led by Dr. George Pauli, Miss Gwen Foster and Dr. W. E. Marshall of East Carolina College.

John Brooks of Greenville High School, president of the district Congress, presided at the meeting. Other officers included Marvin Barnes of Rocky Mount, vice president; Mary Frances Bure of Hertford, secretary; and Harry Scott of Greenville, treasurer. New officers were chosen today for 1955-56.

Greenville High School delegates to the Congress included Nancy Harris, Hal Edwards and Wayne Bishop.

The Eastern District is one of three districts of the state student government organization, designed to promote better student government in the rural and urban schools of North Carolina.

Greenville High School, with the assistance of Washington High School, initiated the first Eastern District meeting 15 years ago. "We feel that this is our fifteenth anniversary," Miss Frances Lamb, local Student Council advisor, declared, "and Greenville High School is happy to have been host to the Congress this year."

Each year the Congress meets with the school having the district president. Both sessions of today's gathering were held in the Joyner Library auditorium at East Carolina College.

Among those present for the Eastern District North Carolina Student Council Congress here today were, left to right, Miss Frances Lamb, adviser for the local high school Student Council Association; Roy Armstrong of the University of North Carolina, who spoke to the group on student government; O. E. Dowd, Greenville High School principal, who gave the address of welcome; Mary Frances Bure of Hertford, secretary of the district; Harry Scott of Greenville, treasurer; Marvin Barnes of Rocky Mount, vice president; and John Brooks of Greenville, president. Ladies Night Event Staged By Masons

By CHESTER WALSH

At the Scottish Rite "ladies' night" banquet sponsored by New Bern Consistory No. 3, at the Moose Hall in Greenville last night, Rev. R. H. Lucas of Plymouth, 32-degree Mason and grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina Masons, delivered the principal address.

Bloom, 32-degree Mason, was master of ceremonies. James H. Boykin, 32-degree Mason of Greenville, welcomed the nearly 250 guests. Robert L. Martin of Bethel, 32-degree Mason, said the invocation.

James W. Brewer, 32-degree Mason and chairman of arrangements, introduced special guests and Masonic notables.

After a musical program, W. J. Bundy of Greenville, 33-degree Mason, Past Potentate of the Shrine and Past Grand Master of North Carolina Masons, introduced the speaker.

The grand chaplain of North Carolina Masons, in his after-dinner speech, paid tribute to Masonry, and recited some of the highlights of its history.

"I hope to deepen your appreciation of Masonry and the marvelous fountain of truths I have found in Masonry," the blind chaplain said. He then gave a narrative history of Masonry through the ages and its influence in the American Colonies and in the nation throughout the nearly two centuries of its existence.

"In the sparkling singing brook of Masonry and Scottish Rite is found the great truth of salvation. In Masonry you see yourself in God's plan of life and the building of a temple in this world of the souls of men. You find the light and the way to freedom to worship God in our own way," Grand Chaplain Lucas declared in closing.

Master of Ceremonies Bloom presented a program of music by some of the Kiwanis minstrel talent. Elbert Bennett, with Mrs. Virginia Taylor as accompanist, sang two songs, and Cecil Ellington, former big-time band member played several selections.

At the conclusion of the program, Lt. Tom Brown, Guy V. Langston, and Chairman Brewer, 32-degree Masons, conducted a Bingo game with a dozen home-made cakes as prizes.

Past Grand Master Bundy called for "a moment of silent prayer" in memory of Oscar Kafer of New Bern, one of Masonry's best known members, who died several days ago.

Women of the Greenville White Shrine prepared and served the supper.

A vote of thanks was given Moose Club Manager J. B. Smith for use of the club's facilities.

AYDEN—There will be a program given by the Woman's Home Mission Auxiliary at Zion Chapel F.W.B. Church Sunday, March 27, at 5:30 p.m. Selection for the evening will be a panel discussion. Topic for discussion is "The Woman's Responsibility in the Church." This will be led by the president, Mrs. Nicey Williams. The summary will be given by the president of the General Woman's Home Mission Department, Mrs. J. M. Reeves, principal speaker. This will be followed by a candlelight rally by the Junior Women's Department of the H. M. led by the president, Mrs. Margaret E. Joyner. Everyone is invited.

Candidates Must File By April 26

April 26 has been set as the deadline for filing to enter municipal elections in Ayden. The elections, slated May 2, will choose a mayor, judge of Recorder's Court and Aldermen.

Incumbents in the three wards are Norman Dail, Lyman Baldree and Harry Mumford. Although the community is divided into wards, each voter is eligible to vote for one alderman from each ward.

The registration books will be open at the City Hall from April 9-23. Any person who has resided in North Carolina for one year and the town of Ayden for four months is eligible to register. Voters whose names are already on city election books do not have to register again but if the name is not on the books they will not be eligible to vote.

Officials for the election are Mrs. Laura G. Moore, Registrar, T. R. Allen and R. H. Mason, pollholders.

Cool Weekend Is Forecast Over North Carolina

A five-day weather forecast for North Carolina, as outlined today by the Associated Press, promises temperatures averaging 3 to 5 degrees below normal.

Saturday is predicted as seeing a return of cold weather, and moderate to cool by about Tuesday. Precipitation will be moderate to heavy over the state, averaging one-half to three-quarters of an inch, and occurring tonight through Monday.

Meanwhile, springlike weather prevailed in the Greenville area yesterday and today with a high of 70 degrees yesterday. Low last night was 46, and at 8:00 a.m. today the mercury stood at 54.

A year ago yesterday saw a high of 57, a low of 50.

Maj. Charles H. Speed, director of the Safety Division of the State Department of Motor Vehicle Control, will be the speaker at the Greenville Kiwanis Club tonight at 6:30. Claude D. Ward has charge of the program. President Charles V. Wilkerson will preside.

A committee is scheduled to report on the recent Seventh Kiwanis Division meeting at the Country Club in Washington.

Seeking Second Vehicle In Crash

Greenville police are seeking the second of two vehicles involved in an accident in the 500 block of East Third Street early last night.

The first vehicle, operated by Clyde Thomas Mollison, of 957 B. 14th Street, sustained damage estimated at $350 to the left side. The second vehicle apparently left the scene following the accident.

Three Calls For Fire Department

The fire department yesterday afternoon about 3:30 sent a truck to Roy Williams' store, on Highway 43, at the Norfolk Southern underpass, when a woods fire threatened. No damage at the store. The fire was reported to the Forest Rangers.

Firemen went to W. O. Moore's Texaco office at Atlantic avenue and Allen's Alley about 11:40 yesterday morning when an oil heater set fire to some moulding.

About 7:15 today firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Mittle Fleming, 907 Forbes street, when an oilstove flared up and caused much smoke. Damage was nominal, firemen reported.
