Senate Committee Straw Vote Provides Clue To Future Tobacco Tax Favored, 2-1

RALEIGH (AP)—A straw vote taken among 22 members of the Finance Committee last night gave an indication of what may be in store for the General Assembly on the tax front.

go over the proposal to change administrative rulings relating to the sales tax. If exemptions set up by the administrative rulings were abolished, the state would get an additional three million annually, according to some estimates.

On changing administrative rulings relating to the sales tax—10 for, 3 against, 6 for modification. On 10 per cent luxury tax—10 for, 6 against.

B. Rodman of Beaufort asked the members to list whether they were for or against the proposals or wished to modify any of them.

Vamp Of Silent Screen, Theda Bara, Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The first great female fatale of the movies, Theda Bara, died in a Los Angeles hospital last night of cancer. She was 65.

Although she was born Theodosia Goodman in Cincinnati, film publicists created an exotic background for her to match the sultry, temptuous screen roles assigned to her by producer William Fox.

Her name was magic at the box office. She was the original "vamp" of silent films, an irresistible lure to her screen lovers, with her heavily mascaraed lids and deep eye shadow, her heaving bosom, Fox's movie empire was founded on her appeal.

In private life Miss Bara was the wife of film director Charles J. Brabin. She retired from the movies in 1921 and lived in seclusion. She had undergone surgery for abdominal cancer several times in the last 18 months and had been in a coma since March 26.

Miss Bara came to the movies from the musical comedy stage in 1914, and after a few minor roles Fox selected her to star in "A Fool There Was." It was one of the big box office smashes of the generation.

She followed with dozens of films in which she portrayed the seductive heartbreaker—"The Vixen," "The Tiger Woman," "The Sex-Devil," "The Serpent of the Nile," "The Siren's Song," "When a Woman Sins," "Ose of Blood."

Although Miss Bara was a prolific worker in films her career was over, for all practical purposes, five years after she played her first role. She had made 40 pictures; she was "played out."

But she went to New York and starred in a musical comedy, "The Blue Flame." It was an instant hit and when it was finished there she toured the country with it with big success. She was mobbed in many cities by admiring crowds.

The actress made another film, "Kathleen Mavourneen," directed by Brabin, in 1921, and she came out of retirement in 1925 to make "Unchastened Woman."

Her illness ended her last chance to return to movie work, in the role of technical adviser on a motion picture that was to be the story of her life.

Dynamite Still In Beaufort County
Pitt County ABC officers, assisting Beaufort officers along with an ATU agent, yesterday dynamited a 50-gallon copper still and 300 gallons of mash in Beaufort County.

Frustration

POCOMOKE CITY, Md. (AP)—An attempted holdup that turned into a race had an even more ignominious sequel here yesterday.

Three men who were frustrated in an attempt to rob a jewelry store were given long prison terms just for trying.

Circuit Judge E. McMaster Duer gave Davis McLamy, 32, a 10-year term in the State Penitentiary and Charles Swift, 19, and Samuel Bynum, 22, five years each. All three are Negroes from Norfolk, Va.

The state chose not to press charges against a fourth, Augustus White, 26. The other three pleaded guilty to attempted armed robbery.

Police said McLamy and Swift entered the jewelry store operated by Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Thompson here, drew pistols, herded the Thompsons into a back room and tied them up.

At that point, however, a succession of customers entered the store, and each time the would-be robbers had to release Mrs. Thompson and tell her to get rid of the customer. The customers kept coming, and finally the hold-up men gave up in disgust. They didn't get a thing.

They were captured later at Little Creek, Va. Swift and Bynum won't start serving their Maryland terms until they've completed 10 year sentences in the Virginia Penitentiary.

Eden Announces Cabinet Changes

LONDON (AP)—Britain has a slightly younger Cabinet today. Prime Minister Eden's first government shakeup shifted Defense Minister Harold Macmillan to the Foreign Ministry and elevated Selwyn Lloyd to supply minister to the defense job.

The new appointments were announced last night after Eden's first cabinet meeting since he took over Wednesday from Sir Winston Churchill. They cut the average age of 15 ministers from 58 1/2 years to 55 1/2 years, Eden himself is 57.

The reshuffle involved nine other government posts, including one Cabinet job, two non-Cabinet ministries and six lower level appointments.

The comparatively small number of changes—generally considered about the fewest Eden could make without retaining the Foreign Ministry—increased still more the speculation that he may be planning to call a general election soon, possibly May 26.

Macmillan's appointment to the Foreign Ministry the post Eden formerly held, had been widely predicted. Like Churchill, he is half American. His mother is the former Helen Tarleton Beales, of Spence, Ind.

A diplomatic trouble shooter during World War II, the handsome, 60-year-old Macmillan was named housing and local government minister when the Conservatives came to power in 1951. His success at that job led to his appointment to the Defense Ministry last October.

Like both Eden and Churchill, he is a staunch friend of the United States and a believer in step-by-step diplomacy.

Lloyd is a genial, bustling lawyer who made his mark as one of Eden's two ministers of state at the Foreign Office. Before taking over the Supply Ministry six months ago, he was Britain's chief delegate at the United Nations. There he gained renown for his agility in debates with Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

The other Cabinet change involved the secretaryship for commonwealth relations. Viscount Swinton, 70, retired from the post and was replaced by the Earl of Home, Swinton was awarded an earldom, a step up in the peerage for his work in Churchill's administration.

These were the two non-Cabinet ministry replacements. Reginald Maundling, 40, former economic secretary to the Treasury was given Lloyd's old Supply Ministry. Dr. Charles Hill, 51, a popular radio personality and former junior official in the Health Ministry, was named postmaster general, succeeding Earl de la Warr, who resigned.

'Dark Area' On Mars Expanding

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—There's an expanding dark area on the planet Mars and Dr. E. C. Sipher of the Lowell Observatory here thinks it may be vegetation.

His photographs of the area in 1907 from here and again in 1939, when it had enlarged considerably. The latest photograph made in South Africa, was released yesterday and showed an area covering 300,000 square miles.

Dr. Sipher plans another look from Africa next year.

400-Room Hotel Seen For Coast

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP)—Options have been obtained at six possible sites here and one at nearby Atlantic Beach for the construction of a 400-room hotel at an approximate cost of 4 1/2 million dollars, according to a spokesman for the sponsoring group.

The spokesman, who asked to remain unidentified, said yesterday the Morehead City Hotels Inc. will finance the project and plans to obtain a charter.

He said the loss by fire recently of the Ocean King Hotel at Atlantic Beach may cause the group to build there. The new hotel will have a large convention hall, swimming pool, stores and other additions. When in operation, it would have a staff of 350 persons, the spokesman said.

Telephone Crews Begin Project Of Expansion

Construction crews of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company are scheduled to begin work within the next few days on a $4,400 project to provide additional telephone service in the local exchange.

The current project is the furnishing of several scheduled for the coming months.

The most practical measure to aid in expansion of agricultural markets abroad, he declared, is passage of the reciprocal trade legislation now pending in the Senate.

Benson replied to a group of House members who recently urged him to dispose of surplus U.S. cotton abroad at competitive world prices.

The secretary said his department is studying the entire situation with a view of developing a program.

"In doing this," Benson wrote the congressmen, "it is necessary to consider not only the time and manner in which it will take to dispose of the cotton but also to provide adequate assurances that the producers and the government will be adequately protected."

He added he hopes to announce the cotton sales policy for the coming marketing year in the near future.

Benson said, because of their dollar shortages, other countries importing cotton have attempted to meet their needs through purchases from nondollar areas.

"Cotton production has thereby been stimulated in other parts of the world directly in competition with the U.S.," he said.

Enactment of the reciprocal trade act would aid in expansion of agricultural markets abroad, Benson said, adding:

"In the case of cotton, it will be necessary to increase exports to nearly 40 per cent of the U.S. annual production in order to achieve our goal of six million bales. This can be done only if other countries are permitted to earn the dollars with which to increase their purchase in this country."

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—Robert Wilson Madry, 57, veteran director of the University of North Carolina News Bureau, died today at North Carolina Memorial Hospital here.

Bob Madry, known to thousands of peeween and athletes, had been ill about 10 weeks of hypertension, a kidney ailment and complications. He returned from the hospital to his home recently, but suffered a fall March 28 which arrested his convalescence.

Prison Breaker Is Declared 'Outlaw'

Van R. Page, Negro prison breaker, wanted in Pitt, Chowan, Martin and Edgecombe counties was declared an outlaw today in a proclamation signed by Judge Clifton L. Moore at a Chowan term of Superior Court.

The proclamation stated that Page had been "charged with the commission of the felony of armed robbery."

"... The said Van R. Page at the time of the commission of said armed robbery, was an escapee from the North Carolina State Penitentiary, having been committed therein for the commission of the felony of storebreaking," the proclamation continued.

"... The said Van R. Page flees from justice, and conceals himself and evades arrest and service of the usual processes of law, and the said Van R. Page is a fugitive from justice, and is allegedly masquerading as a woman, being heavily armed, and having threatened to take the life of any officer attempting to take him into custody."

The paper states that Page is "herby declared an outlaw."

It states that if Page does not surrender himself, "any officer or citizen of the State may capture, arrest and bring him to justice, and in case of flight or resistance by him after being called on and warned to surrender, may slay, without accusation or impeachment of any crime."

Calls For Troops To Halt Violence

ATLANTA (AP)—Sheriff Holy McDowell asked Gov. James E. Folsom for state troops to aid in maintaining order in the telephone strikes in the Birmingham, Ala., area today.

This step followed recurring violence there in the 28-day-old walk-out of Southern Bell Telephone Co. workers.

There was no immediate indication as to whether Folsom would assign National Guard units to duty.

A shot was fired into a Southern Bell building last night during a demonstration of strikers and sympathizers.

Birmingham Police Chief G. L. Patten reported a 22 caliber bullet shattered a fourth floor window of a Birmingham telephone exchange while a jeering crowd of about 500 persons milled about the structure.

Twenty policemen and two companies of firemen rushed to the scene and the crowd gradually left. Eggs were hurled at the officers but no arrests were reported.

Fifty-seven Jefferson County sheriff's deputies and policemen guarded a Southern Bell warehouse at Bessemer, Ala., after a threat of a strike by the Alabama Violence Development after court crackdowns on several officials of the Communications Workers of America (CWA), the firing of five more striking workers and shooting incidents in the nine-state area.

In Atlanta, Sloan G. Springfield, acting regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, reported he talked separately again with both union and company representatives and that there was "no change in the situation."

The strike began March 14 over terms of a new contract. The company contends a no-strike clause very few exceptions, to be painted silver and black.

Assist. Budget Director D. S. Coltrane appeared before the committee to oppose the Uzzell bill. He said the Budget Bureau had found it could operate state cars for 4 to 5 cents per mile while the state pays 7 cents per mile to employees who use their own cars for official business. He said the Uzzell bill would probably encourage use of private cars.

Coltrane also said the bill would increase the cost per car by $25 to $30, including the cost of the original black and silver paint job, and the additional expense involved in repainting the cars black before the state could resell them after the year-end period.

Uzzell told the committee he conceived of his bill "entirely as a safety measure." He agreed, however, that the bill would also "help eliminate some of the talk" that state vehicles were being used for private purposes.

J. D. Beatty, director of the Probation Department, said the Uzzell bill would seriously hamper the work of his agency.

Scheidt Says Patrol Is Reducing Unmarked Cars; Opposes New Paint Bill

RALEIGH (AP)—Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt today told Sen. J. D. Beatty that the Highway Patrol is cutting down its use of unmarked cars, but he opposed a bill to force the patrol to paint all its cars silver and black.

Scheidt said at the end of this year more than 15 per cent of the patrol cars would be painted in plain colors. He said he greatly preferred marked cars, but considered unmarked cars "a necessary evil."

"If the public knows we are using some plain cars, Scheidt said, "they can never be sure a road is not being actively patrolled even when they don't see any patrol cars. We consider this a valuable tool in promoting highway safety."

The committee voted to send to a subcommittee for further study two measures concerning the painting of state-owned vehicles: (1) a bill by Sen. Cutlar Moore of Robeson to force the Highway Patrol to paint all its vehicles silver and black, and (2) a bill by Rep. George Uzzell of Rowan to require all state-owned cars, with a representative to a League of Municipalities meeting in Raleigh concerning the bill today.

Councilmen left to the city manager and police chief with power to act on a request for a loading zone for Barnes Motor Parts on Evans Street across from the armory.

Taxi licenses for James Oscar Lee and Namon Brewington were approved.

Oppose Tax
The council joined with the County Commissioners in opposing a proposed wine and liquor tax increase on a motion by Collins.

Collins said he opposed the measure "on principle" because he did not think any item should be singled out for a tax increase.

The city fathers also voted to send

An electrical inspection ordinance was approved. Plans for the ordinance had already been approved at a prior meeting.

The council adopted a resolution accepting the release of airport property to be used for the new bypass. The property was released by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Council members voted their support of a bill in the State Legislature to provide "home rule" for municipalities. The plan would require a constitutional amendment and a vote by the people and would be optional for the citizens of each municipality.

At present the city must obtain the permission of the Legislature before certain actions can be taken. The city fathers also voted to send

City Councilmen Call Public Hearings For May 12 On Two Area Annexation Requests

Citizens living in two sections adjacent to the city limits appeared before the City Council last night to petition for annexation and city fathers called for a public hearing May 12.

Representatives of a Negro section west of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad in North Greenville pointed out that their section is surrounded by the city at present and asked to be taken in for services which the municipal government offers.

Speaking for a group of citizens from Colonial Heights and Woodcrest sub-division, who appeared before the Council to ask for annexation, Bill Norwood declared that 61 per cent of the persons living in the area have signed the petition asking to come into the city limits.

He said that the section was also interested in obtaining city services and pointed out that several water pumps went dry last summer and were marked contaminated. He noted that that is not the situation at present but the same thing could happen again during the coming summer months.

Norwood told the Council that water lines are now about 100 yards from the subdivision line.

Councilmen called the public hearing for both areas to be held May 12 along with the regular May Council meet.

Ask Contour Map
A group representing the Woman's Club asked the city's governing body to approve the preparation of a contour map of the Green Springs Park area to be used in landscaping the park.

Councilmen approved the map which is to cost the city between $250 and $300.

Also approved was an engineering fee of $650 for surveying the Green Mill Run from the Tar River to the Ayder Highway. The city is interested in re-working the stream from the river to the New Bern Highway and clearing it out from that point to the Ayder Highway.

City fathers specified that $650 is to be deducted from the six per cent engineering fee for the entire project in the event the stream is cleared.

Final approval was granted for the cemetery purchase fund to begin to operate earlier in the year than approved earlier by the Council and the State Legislature recently granted approval for setting up the fund which will be used for the purchase of additional cemetery property.

Transfer of School Site
Action on the transfer of the new high school property site to the city schools was deferred and plans were made for a special meeting of the Council with school officials next week to discuss the transfer. The State Legislature has granted approval for that transfer.

Also deferred was a request from W. G. Dunn for relief of curb and gutter assessment.

Four of the city fathers voted for a plan to widen one side of Pitt Street from Fourth Street to Dickinson Avenue. Councilman Wesley Harvey voted against the proposal.

Harvey pointed out that several blocks of Evans Street had already been widened and he declared that he objected to the piecemeal method of widening streets.

Cost of the project was estimated at $5,000.

The governing body also deferred action on blanket fire insurance coverage on the city's buildings. The blanket policy would provide $431,400 coverage to cost $847.82 the first year of the five year policy and $739.50 for each of the last four years.

Excluded from that amount would be Guy Smith Stadium which would be covered under a separate policy at a cost of $165 for the first year and $128.70 for each of the last four years. The policy would provide $15,000 coverage for the stadium.

'Books and Stuff'

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
In keeping with the serious thoughts of Holy Week, we want to quote from an excellent article we just read in the April "Atlantic Monthly" about religion in the colleges, called "Conscience and the Undergraduate," by John Sloan Dickey, the President of Dartmouth College. Concerning the function of a college education and its dealing with problems of learning how to do things as well as think morally, President Dickey writes that there really is no cleavage between "competence" and "conscience," and concludes:

"It is the mixture that counts, and among our other blessings, I rate very highly the fact that in the liberal arts college neither competence nor conscience is taken straight. Rather, it is the human interplay between these two poles of purpose that gives liberal education its orientation to the light and brings to a man those liberating and civilizing qualities men never quite define nor ever quite deny." A lot to this, we think, and we hope you get to read the whole article. . . .

Fairy Story
Last Saturday was the 150th anniversary of the birth of Hans Christian Andersen, immortalized by the "Tinder Box," the "Ugly Duckling," and "The Little Mermaid." . . . And there's a wonderful memorial to him in last Sunday's Times Magazine, by Sean O'Faolain, himself an Irish fairy-tale teller of note. His own choice of the most famous of all fairy stories is "The Sleeping Beauty," because it is found all over the world in various forms and has had an infinitely wider and more lasting audience than the most superlatively famous work of art. . . . And we guess he's right—versions of the Sleeping Beauty have been around for a long time, all over the place—from Rip Van Winkle to Snow White and her Seven Dwarfs, and it will be a long time before we get tired of reading about them.

Some New Books
Two new sea yarns have just come out—something we always like, a good sea yarn. . . . C. S. Forester's "The Good Shepherd" is about a naval commander of a group of escort ships caught in the middle of an exciting and dangerous mission in the North Atlantic at the height of World War II. . . . And another new navy book is "Run Silent, Run Deep," by Commander Edward L. Beach. Also written from the point of view of the skipper, it's about the pressures and strains of life aboard a combat submarine on duty in the South Pacific. . . . Both look good, if you like the sea and some real excitement. . . . A TIME TO LIVE AND A TIME TO DIE

By Erich Maria Remarque
New York: Harcourt, Brace & Co., 1934

When "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Road Back" were published shortly after World War I, critics throughout Europe hailed the youthful German author Erich Remarque as one of the coming literary geniuses of the 20th Century. In many ways this novel of a German soldier during the closing days of World War II bears a marked resemblance to both "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Road Back." . . .

The tragic hero of this work, Ernst Graeber, is fighting with the German Army on the Russian front as the book opens. He receives a leave and returns to Germany only to find that his parents are missing, following the destruction of their home in an air raid. Disillusioned and bitter over the defeat being brought to his country by the Nazis, he nevertheless finds solace in the love of Elisabeth Kruse, a childhood acquaintance. . . .

He and Elisabeth are married during his leave and, following a poignant romance amidst the ruins of a shattered Germany, he leaves for the front only to die when a Russian peasant that he has allowed to escape turns and fires at him. . . .

This book is a tragedy mingled with the utmost in tenderness and the hope for a better world. Remarque has lost none of his ability to display the horrors of war but somehow, since his youth, he has managed to incorporate in his work a strain of hope that overshadows the bitterness. . . .

No-Scrub Way To Gleaming Floors

Everybody has heard of the housewife who kept her kitchen floor so clean you could eat off it. . . . We never met her. But we know how she did it. She did it the hard way — on her hands and knees — with a scrubbrush. Today, you can keep your linoleum or asphalt tile immaculate with only a fraction as much effort. . . . This is the only holiday between Christmas and the closing of school. This vacation is looked forward to and enjoyed by most students. . . . School closed with an Easter assembly this morning at 11:30. The Rev. W. M. Howard of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church spoke to the student body, and the Glee Club sang some Easter selections. . . . The Monogram Club talent show last week was a big success. Shirley Stocks, who sang a popular number, won first place. Tommie Saleed and Peaches Larkins tied with Ricky Humbert for second place. Tommie and Peaches really got the place "jumping" with a bop number. Ricky, flashing a bright red coat, sang a popular number accompanied by the "Midnighters." Judges were Bo Farley, basketball coach; Nelson Blount, former G.H.S. student; and several parents of the Monogram members. . . . Although it wasn't a competitive part of the show, the beauty contest was the biggest hit. Several members of the Monogram Club, dressed as beautiful models (?), paraded across the stage. Various costumes including bathing suits, Bermuda shorts, skirts and sweaters, and dresses were modeled. Wade Jordan, modeling a stunning (?) two-piece bathing suit, was selected as the most beautiful model. Other boys appearing were Howard King, Fish Arthur, Billy Sermons, Billy Willis, Mac Churchill, and Holton Kunnicker. . . . Attend Azalea Festival . . . Lanza Blowup Brings Out That Cooperative Spirit

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Mario Lanza blowup this week pointed up an amazing feature about this gold rush town—the cooperation between competing hotel-casinos. . . . The brand new Venus Room of the Hotel New Frontier was in a high state of expectancy Monday night. Until the last moment most of the audience expected Lanza to appear. His name was even announced when the show began. . . . Then word spread through the room that he would not show. Action started immediately. Jimmy Durante, who plays only the Desert Inn here, was in the audience and volunteered to go on. He ad-libbed some routines although he didn't have his troupe with him. Ray Bolger and Mindy Carson, who were opening the following night at the Sahara, were also present and pressed into duty. Bill Miller, show boss at the Sahara, even got up and did an eccentric dance with Bolger. . . . For the second show the Sahara sent over Edgar Bergen and Teresa Brewer. The Desert Inn contributed Frankie Laine. All were performing the same show at their respective night clubs. . . . Such a helping hand is the rule here whenever a hotel suffers a catastrophe such as the Lanza blowout. The hotels also invite their competitors to the social events. . . . One attempt at cooperation has failed, however. The hotels have been unable to reach agreement on the non-raiding of talent. The result is that stars are lured away from other hotels at fantastic prices. At least one observer, Abe Schiller of the Flamingo, claims that the pieces are creating a "Frankenstein monster by jacking salaries."

All-or-Nothing Provision A Handicap

If North Carolina is to have any sort of workable stream sanitation program which is so badly needed, the state stream pollution laws must have teeth.

A move is underway now in the General Assembly to put teeth into existing pollution laws; but there is likewise a counter move to keep the bite out of those laws so industries and municipalities can continue their past practices of merrily polluting the state's streams.

In the present stream pollution laws there is a crippling provision that no legal

No More One-Handed Fighting For U. S.

If the United States is again forced by communist aggression to send its men into battle, they should not be sent with one hand tied behind them.

The proposal by Sen. Kerr that the President ban the use of atomic weapons if American forces are called to the defense of off-shore Chinese Nationalist islands is entirely out of the question. If the U. S. sends its men into battle, it should likewise afford its men with the best military equipment and weapons this nation possesses.

We have seen the disaster of sending our military forces into action and withholding the support they needed to do the job for which they were sent to fight. If American forces are called on again to stop communist aggression anywhere on the globe, we should profit by the terrible and costly mistakes which were made in the Korean War.

There is an element of great risk involved in bringing atomic weapons into tactical warfare. Yet there is a great risk involved whether or not atomic weapons are used. The use of tactical atomic weapons by American forces in a "limited" action would not be the deciding factor which would provoke the Reds to retaliatory atomic attacks on the United States. When the Kremlin is ready for an all-out war with the West, it will launch atomic attacks without provocation.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GOOD FRIDAY

We live in a strange, strange world, and nothing is more strange than the fact that a cross stands at the center of its life.

Communism is trying to put the symbol of the hammer and sickle at the center of the world's life. Centuries ago the Mohammedans swept across the world with their crescent flying to the wind, but Charles Martel and his legions turned them back at Tours. The cross still stands at the center of the world's life.

This is Good Friday. What is good about it? It marks the perpetration of the worst murder in history. Yes, but it marks an event the significance of which our minds cannot entirely fathom. This we know—and knowing this what else do we need to know?—that when Jesus Christ died on the cross, the forgiveness of human sin was made possible.

He did not ask others to do what he was not willing to do himself. He bade men take up their cross every day and follow him. He was not overtaken and dragged to the cross. He steadfastly set himself toward Jerusalem that he might suffer and die.

The event is too amazing, too tragic, and at the same time too glorious for the human mind to take in all its implications. But we can take in enough to give our souls peace.

See Danger In Labor Demands

WASHINGTON—The most dangerous threat to continued economic stability is organized labor's forthcoming demands for huge wage raises in several key industries. Although government officials have in mind Walter P. Reuther's insistence on a guaranteed annual income, they point out that the same trend exists in other fields.

These government executives are not anti-labor, believing that the workers are worthy of their hire. As Henry Ford taught years ago, they know that the foundation of America's envied economic supremacy consists of consumers of vast purchasing power, which they derive mainly from fast factory pay envelopes. In private industry, these former heads of great corporations enjoyed excellent relations with union employees and organizations.

MAY PRICE LABOR OUT OF JOBS—But Reuther and like-minded union leaders in their opinion may yet price labor out of markets and jobs. By making production costs so heavy, they will reduce the popular demand for the things they turn out on the assembly line. The inevitable result will be chronic unemployment and a falling wage scale.

According to this belief, Reuther errs when he says that higher wages will maintain mass buying power in the same proportion as today. For some reason, right or wrong—indeed, Reuther voices this same complaint—prices resulting from increased manufacturing costs tend to rise faster than wages.

This vicious circle, it is forecast, will be aggravated by smaller profits, decreased tax revenue to Federal, state and local governments, and a compensating increase in taxes at all levels.

Even now, it is estimated that taxes on a $2,000 automobile amount to 28 per cent, or $560. And there are only a few makes selling as low as $2,000. Erstwhile low-priced cars are becoming semi-luxury products today. Herbert Hoover can blame the lack of "two cars in every garage" on union, not Republican politicians.

THEN AND NOW—John L. Lewis' experience move can be made against any polluters on a segment of a river so long as there is one municipality on that river which cannot comply with regulations governing treatment of waste dumped into the stream.

In other words the inability of one municipality to cease polluting a segment of a river would make it possible for every other municipality or industry in that segment to continue polluting the river without fear of legal action being brought by the state. The bill now before the Senate would eliminate this provision thus making it possible to at least partially clean up a segment of a stream even though it is not entirely cleaned up.

In the interest of a sound stream sanitation program, The Reflector feels the crippling provision should be removed from the existing law by the adoption of this bill.

Under the existing law no move whatsoever could be made to clean up a river unless every municipality involved were able to comply with stream sanitation regulations. As a result, pollution of the river could be continued indefinitely by all the municipalities and industries using the particular segment of the river as a dumping grounds.

The inability of one municipality to build the required sewage treatment plant should not prevent the state from making other municipalities and industries along the river comply with stream sanitation provisions. Stream sanitation even on a piecemeal basis is certainly much more desirable than no stream sanitation at all.

A Criminal Element Inspires Aversion

The mounting wave of vandalism that has accompanied the current telephone strike, coupled with sporadic violence and fears of bloodshed, is nothing less than criminal.

Though these activities be the deeds of individuals, unquestionably they are stirring the public attitude to an extent that sympathy for the union cause is undermined. The crimes against law and order, as committed by a few, are doing more harm than good to the Communications Workers of America (CIO).

Leadership of the union has voiced its disavowal of the vandalism . . . dynamiting, cables shot out, etc.; but picket line violence and direct intimidation of non-strikers is reported.

Our society is based upon the inherent decency and law-abiding instincts of everyday, ordinary people. Without the individual's regard for personal and property rights of his fellow-man we would all be living in a veritable jungle.

While "privately" owned, telephone lines . . . just as are newspapers, transportation systems, radio stations and the like . . . are in a field of public service wherein it is not only the "owners" who suffer losses and inconveniences, but the public they serve are also hurt.

should be a lesson to Reuther, in Washington's opinion. With the blessing of F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman, the president of the United Mine Workers demanded and obtained wages of $ 8 to $20 a day, with overtime in the war years. He had industrialists and politicians under his big thumb then. He was egotized as the outstanding "g-mus" of all labor history.

Today, more than 200,000 of his miners in a score of states are jobless, or working only part-time. They have exhausted their Federal and state relief funds. He has had to cut monthly pension payments—financed out of royalties on each ton of coal—from $190 to $50. The shorter hours, vacations with pay and other "fringe" benefits he gained are only a mockery in the ghost town he has created.

Gas and oil now heat and light and operate more homes and factories than coal does. Railroads have substituted diesels for coal-burning locomotives. The competing fuels have become cheaper because John L. has priced his product out of the market and his men out of jobs.

Gas and oil now heat and light and operate more homes and factories than coal does. Railroads have substituted diesels for coal-burning locomotives. The competing fuels have become cheaper because John L. has priced his product out of the market and his men out of jobs.

E. did not dare ask for an increase when his old contract terminated several months ago.

ANOTHER WARNING—The textile workers of New England and rug makers of New York constitute another warning to the Reutherites. Union demands have forced these mills to move South, where the wage scale and taxes and power—hydro, not steam—are far lower, and where employees are willing to work longer hours.

Migrating manufacturers admit that excessive labor costs were the principal reason for the southward shift. As John L. has had to do, some textile and rug unions have torn up existing contracts and agreed to accept wage reductions rather than go unemployed. Other AFL locals have had to finance a plant with their own funds to keep them from moving or closing down.

In Washington's opinion and dread, Reuther may find with John L. that the wages of excessive demands are unemployment.

Somebody Told Me

How Much Is A Billion Dollars?

Last chance tonight to see the Passion Play. It's a wonderful production! Remember, eight o'clock, Wright Building, East Carolina College.

Yesterday I was checking to see if all my bills are paid when I happened by coincidence to open a letter from E. P. Bass of Farmville about money. It was amusing to me, because I was concerned about petty bills. Note his version of real money:

What is a billion dollars? Yes, that is correct. A billion is a thousand million, or a thousand-thousand-thousand. But what would a billion dollars look like? Recently I weighed 100 of them, measured their thickness, and their length and width. Then I sharpened my pencil and did some tall figuring. The results were astounding! If you were going to transport that amount from one place to another you would need to make over 500 loads with a two-ton truck, or if you used a freight train you would need about 20 cars. Because, you see, a billion one-dollar bills would weigh over 1000 tons!

Now let's figure on storage. We cannot keep them at home because it would take about five ordinary size houses to hold them. So maybe we had better look around for a warehouse. If so, we want one with at least 43,000 cu. ft. capacity. Should we pack them in crates, we would need 1000 measuring three and one-half feet on each side. We could put a million in each one.

Or we could stack them up outside. Better get some tall ladders, brother, because by the time you get the last one on the top of the pile you will be higher than Mt. Everest, or over six and one-half miles high! If that altitude makes your ears ring and your nose bleed, then just put one million to a stack. You would have 1000 piles just 350 feet high.

Suppose the wind comes up and scatters this lovely paper over the country-side? If they spread evenly they would cover 2700 acres, or slightly over four square miles. With plenty of help we might place them end-to-end. This would make a strip nearly 100,000 miles long or four complete times around the earth!

All the above calculations have been for just one billion. Multiply this by the hundreds that make up our budget and our national debt. Not me, I'm getting dizzy.

Someone has recently estimated that on the basis of the cost of our past wars, the next World War would cost four TRILLION. Here is where I quit. I don't even understand what I've done already. Believe I'll go get the scissors and cut out some paper dollies—maybe George Washington.

And I thank Mr. Bass.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

ROAD TO PANAMA

Vice President Nixon, returning from Central America full of enthusiasm for the long projected, long-delayed completion of the Pan-American Highway, has won the President over. On Friday Mr. Eisenhower asked Congress for something like $75,000,000 to complete the highway within the next three years. To this sum there would be added about half as much again, to be put up by the countries through which the route passes. The principal gaps now are in Guatemala, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. Where the road is passable, it is not all ways too good. What the backers of the plan have in mind is a two-lane, all-weather highway. There are all sorts of arguments for such a road—economic, commercial and strategic. But the argument that appeals to most North Americans—and doubtless to those Latin Americans who have automobiles—is the great advantage of being able to hop into a motor car and just keep on driving for many thousands of miles in new directions and through new countries. When the road to Panama is completed it will be possible to drive from Fairbanks, Alaska, to the Canal without a serious interruption. Some day—and this is no wild dream—we shall be able to drive all the way from Point Barrow, Alaska, to the Straits of Magellan.

When this possibility has been realized, the bonds of neighborliness and understanding between ourselves and Latin America will grow stronger every year.

The air is not enough; the sea is not enough. The surface of the land, with changing villages, the plains, the mountains and swamps, the various peoples who are not all of one sort, even though they are all called Latin Americans—all these must be seen and experienced from the ground level. The cost is not great as we count dollars today. Indeed, money spent on this road might be worth at least as much to our defense and our happiness as an extra airplane carrier or two.

Active State C-of-C Suggested By Governor Hodges

By LYNN NISBET
STATE CHAMBER—Governor Hodges told the C&D Board and guests at a multiple civic club luncheon at High Point he believes the time has come for an active North Carolina State chamber of commerce. His idea is that such an organization could co-ordinate efforts of the various local chambers and supplement, rather than supplant, the work of the commerce and industry division of the C&D department. He suggested there were many things that a privately financed and managed organization could do for state development that would not be proper for government or use of tax money. At the same time, he indicated desire to increase and expand governmental efforts toward fuller development.

The Governor noted that C&D could not, and did not want to, claim credit for bringing all the new industries into the State during the past few years. Much of it had been secured by efforts of local chambers of commerce and railroad companies, banks and individuals. He was not much concerned about who got the credit, he was just happy to get the industries.

Emphasizing the need for speeding up efforts he pointed out with all the progress made in this State, we have barely held our own in relation to others. North Carolina has not changed relative position in per capita income in 30 years, he said. In 1929 the per capita income was $309, and North Carolina ranked 44th among the states. In 1953 the income was $1097, but the rank was still 44th.

He insisted upon more attention to developing small industries, and more emphasis placed of machinery and manpower. It is easy to understand, but very difficult to solve, the problem facing the General Assembly. Unless boys and girls are educated and trained, there will be nobody to utilize the stored up capital. If all present resources are devoted to training, there will be none left to provide the tools for the trained workers. The C&D board and the Legislature are valiantly trying to maintain proper balance between these essentials of human and natural resource development.

OPINIONS—In order to get away from the capitol square environment and seek a broader perspective on popular opinion, your reporter "took off" to attend the Azalea Festival at Wilmington Friday afternoon and Saturday, and the C&D Board meeting at High Point Monday night and Tuesday. At both places he talked to a lot of people not primarily concerned about governmental operation, but vitally interested in its effect upon them and their jobs or businesses.

Somewhat surprisingly, the opinions expressed were very similar to those heard on the streets, office buildings and hotel lobbies at Raleigh. There is general recognition and limited appreciation of the problems, but no more positive answers to perplexing questions.

Two-thirds of business firms with five or more salesmen are using some sort of contest to stimulate sales, a survey by the Sales Executives Club of New York shows.

There is apparent belief that the money situation is not much different from what it was two months ago. Lack of progress is attributed mainly to absence of responsible leadership. Occasional criticism was heard of Governor Hodges for exerting more pressure in behalf of the advisory budget commission bills, or joining in support of some of the alternate proposals.

The comment runs about like this: "It is a mighty fine thing in theory to keep the functions of the executive and legislative branches of government entirely separate. But in North Carolina either the Governor runs the Legislature, or the Legislature runs the Governor. It sounds good, too, for committee chairmen to say they are leaving decisions up to the other members. Fact is, unless the presiding officers of the Senate and House and chairmen of committees exercise some positive direction situations can easily get out of hand. With decision on a tax bill apparently no nearer now than in January it could almost be said this situation is not under control."

When you see a salesman, the chances are you are looking at a contestant.

Worth Noting

Business Today

Pocket To Pocket

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the most persistent things in government—and politics—is the process of taking money out of the pockets of one group and putting it into the pockets of another.

This does not refer to graft—nor to income taxes.

It's not new; the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt developed techniques that have been little improved upon since. But it does seem to be more widespread today.

Nor is it always socialist. The earliest actions along these lines in the United States, such as the imposition of excessively high tariffs and the mandatory purchase of silver above the market price, tended to take money out of the pockets of consumers and taxpayers and put it in the accounts of manufacturers and mine owners.

Among other efforts to redistribute wealth we have:

FARM PRICE SUPPORTS—Here money is taken from taxpayers and consumers and given to farmers, a few of whom are already among our wealthiest citizens.

RENT CONTROLS—Where these continue, money that would be the landlord's in a free market is being left in tenants' hands. And some of the tenants are wealthier than some landlords.

TAX FREE HOUSING—These projects, usually intended to provide cheap housing to low-income groups, require other taxpayers to pay for fire, police and other services taxes pay for.

FAIR TRADE LAWS—By maintaining prices above free market levels, these tend to take money from consumers and put it in the registers of retailers, usually to the benefit of manufacturers.

INFLATION—This, by reducing the purchasing power of the income of bond holders, pensioners and those on fixed incomes and by enhancing the position of debtors, transfers wealth from one group to another.

There are many other ways in which the government helps to make one group richer and other groups poorer without helping to make one group richer and other groups poorer without any action on the part of either group, except for lobbying and politicking.

It may be that all of these measures are good for the economy and good for the world. But even if they are, we ought to have a clear understanding of what the government is doing when it enriches one class at the expense of others.

THREE STATES FORBID BAIT AND SWITCH ADS

Three states now have laws designed to prohibit "bait and switch" advertising, according to reports to the Association of Better Business Bureaus. "Bait and switch" ads are those that bait inquiries with offers of goods at amazingly low prices when the advertiser plans to switch interest to expensive items.

Massachusetts enacted an anti-bait law in 1953. Laws in Maine and Tennessee became effective last month. Similar laws are pending in New York, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas and California legislatures and one is being prepared in Illinois.

LIQUID GRAPHITE

BATTLE GETS HOT

Ball-point pen history is being repeated with liquid-lead pencils. The first of the liquid graphite pencils was announced by one company (Parker Pen), but another firm (Scripto) beat it to the market. And by the time the first company's product went on sale, eight other companies were in the field.

The first company had planned to introduce the pencil at about the prices at which ball points were introduced, but its first model was priced at $1.95. Meanwhile, as with ball-points, other companies are working on cheaper models, and one may be less than 25 cents.

Eskimos, Too, Will Mark Easter

By A.I. GOLDBERG

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's 9,000 Eskimos, too, are getting their best furs and gayest colored clothing in order for another Easter far above the Arctic Circle—in Aklavik, Paulatuk, Arctic Bay, Pond Inlet and a score of stations strung across the flowering wastes farther south. Missionaries are thinking about their brief sermons, rehearsing their tiny choirs and arranging for the cookies and candy that are part of every major religious festival in the northern territories.

The old hymns are always a big part of the celebration. The tribes-people sing in their tribal dialect, but the tunes are the familiar standbys.

Both hymns and prayers are written out in a sort of shorthand representing language sounds. It's the Eskimo's only common written language.

And for the little groups of English and French speaking people—doctors, nurses, traders, mounties, weather observers, prospectors—the holiday will renew a sense of community.

Even out in the trapping camps of three or four families, the Eskimos have seen the Roman Catholic priest or the Oblate Fathers or the padres of the Anglican Church riding circuit by dog team, bringing a spiritual message and checking to see whether anyone is sick or injured.

"It is an inspiring sight to see them come into such an ice camp," says Alec Stevenson, a veteran of the north now working in Ottawa.

"They mush in on the sled. The families gather around for a chat. Then with the barest of ritual and adornment, his parka pushed back from his head, his breath frosty on the air the padre reads a short familiar prayer. He says a few words that might be a sermon. A hymn or two is sung. Then he's off to another camp."

More than 7,000 of the Eskimos are concentrated in the eastern sector of the north, around Hudson Bay. Fairly large centers, with schools, medical services and nursing care, are growing up.

In Aklavik, considered a big community, there is a unique painting of the Virgin Mary surrounded by people and animals. The faces of Eskimo and the animals are those the Eskimos know, not the traditional ones. Art translates religion into terms they understand.

Easter has a special renewal theme for the Eskimos. Shortly after, following the long winter, comes the brief, sunny season in which vegetables and fruits grow quickly.

Stevenson, who often gets away from his desk for a trip back said, "Nobody is really isolated in the North."

"Used to be you'd have to wait for the ice to go out enough to allow one boat to make one trip a year to bring in mail, fruit, the extras that count so much," he explained.

"Now up there they can expect four or five trips by planes which fly over the bay ice. If the planes don't come in to land, they at least will make frequent mail and package drops. And folks can get out, too, hitching rides in company or private planes."

Home Workshop Is Topic For Pickwick Club

The Pickwick Book Club held its annual business meeting at the home of Mrs. S. T. White II, on Tuesday March 29 at which time General amendments to the constitution were made. It was voted that (1) new members would be voted into the club at a designated meeting each spring and (2) that the secretary should be the reporter for all meetings held during the year.

Mrs. J. K. Proctor, Jr. was hostess for the regular meeting of the club on Tuesday April 5. Her apartment was decorated with colorful spring flowers and an attractive arrangement meeting the Easter season.

Bing, who spoke to the club members on the topic, "Home Workshop." He gave an interesting account of ways for refinishing old and new furniture and some very good instructions for removing spots made by water, cigarettes, and other harmful materials on furniture. Mr. Bing recommended the book, "Refinishing Furniture" by Hackman as a good source of information for those interested in refinishing. An informal discussion followed.

After the program, Mrs. Proctor served a delicious frozen fruit salad with cheese curls, coffee, and hot ham biscuits. The hostess had placed a small Easter basket on each plate. Mrs. J. K. Proctor, Sr., and Mrs. J. B. Kirtwell, Sr. assisted in serving, and a delightful social hour was enjoyed by all. Books were exchanged and the meeting was adjourned.

That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made. Therefore the only reality of sin, sickness, or death is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. PHS Trims Elizabeth City 21-4

Locals Took 13 Runs In Eighth In Routing Foes

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Exploding for thirteen runs in the eighth, the Greenville High School Phantoms ran over Elizabeth City to the tune of 21-4 at Guy Smith Stadium yesterday afternoon.

Behind righthander Hudson Miller slants the G-men had rolled into an 8-1 advantage going into the bottom half of the eighth inning. Ten hits, two walks, and two errors caused the downfall of the Yellow Jackets at that point. Coach Bo Farley's boys sent fifteen batters to the plate in the big inning.

Second Straight Loop Win

The win was the second consecutive conference win for the Phants. They whipped Washington 11-2 Tuesday afternoon. Miller went all the way in yesterday's game, giving up four runs and just four hits.

The Yellow Jackets picked out a run on one hit in the first and then Miller shut them out on two hits until the ninth. With his big lead Miller relaxed just a little and walked three batters and allowed a single before he retired the final three batters in order.

The hard-blowing wind made Miller a little more wild than usual. The tall sophomore struck out six batters and walked seven during the course of the game.

Riddick, Edwards Get Three

Ike Riddick and Harold Edwards led the hitting with three hits apiece for the Greensies. Riddick had three singles while Edwards had a triple and two singles.

The biggest blow of the day came on Gene Hudson's booming home run down the right field line in the seventh inning. Hudson tied into one of Pete Smoak's curve balls and pulled it away over the first baseman's head and far into the right-field corner. The ball rolled clear onto the track in rightfield and Hudson had crossed the plate before the ball got back into the infield.

Greenville now has a 2-1 record on the year, with the only loss coming to Rocky Mount in the first game of the year. Errors hurt both teams in yesterday's game. The Phantoms committed five miscues but Elizabeth City booted the ball eight times.

Michigan Out-Hit, But Scores 6-1 Victory Over East Carolina Pirates

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

Although out-hit, Michigan's Wolverines' base knocks were more timely and resulted in a 6-1 victory over East Carolina's baseballers yesterday in wind-blown College Park.

The loss was the second for the Bucs of Jim Mallory against four wins. The win was Michigan's second in the state on their southern tour.

The visitors wasted no time in breaking in the scoring column. The first man up in the opening inning, Milby Benedict, greeted starting pitcher Charlie Russell with a hard single over second. Once on he stole second and scored on Ken Tipper's sharp single through the box.

Michigan scored again in the third, twice in the fifth and twice in the ninth frame. Benedict, the Wolverines' dandy shortstop, started things in third also. He got his second base knock, stole a base, moved to third on an error and coasted home on outfielder Bruce Fox's infield sacrifice.

ECC Hitless

East Carolina was held hitless until the fifth inning and scoreless until the seventh. Don Poloskey, the Wolverines' big righthander, was throwing a lot of breaking stuff and completely handcuffed the Bucs. He received much support, though, by the outstanding defensive job of the Michigan club. Poloskey allowed five hits in his seven-inning stint and allowed the Bucs' only tally.

The lone ECC marker was the result of Bill Cline's two-bagger in the seventh. Jerry Stewart, classy shortstop, punched out a single but Cline had to hold up at third. Bill Loving, the Bucs' third pitcher, rolled a little blooper down the third base line for a hit, scoring Cline.

Cherry Wild

Michigan's two runs in the fifth came about as the results of wildness by pitcher Mack Cherry. He walked the first man up, the pitcher Poloskey, issued a free pass to first to Benedict and allowed Fox to reach first on his error to fill the bases. He settled down momentarily and struck out Danny Cline, the rightfielder. He walked Tipper, though, and forced home Poloskey. Benedict trotted home stotly on Thurston's sacrifice fly.

In the ninth, Loving hit Benedict, the first man up. Benedict stole his third base, moved to third on a pitcher's error and scored on Cline's grounder to second. Fox, who had walked, came home on Tipper's single.

Stewart Leader

Stewart was the batting leader for East Carolina. The little blond infielder had two hits in three times at bat. The other ECC hits were collected by Bucky Reep, Galtner Cline, Bill Cline, Gene Turner and Loving. There was only one extra-base hit the entire game for both sides and that was the double by B. Cline in the seventh.

Benedict and Tipper were the offensive stars for the winners. Each had two hits in three official trips to the plate. Benedict also scored four runs. Tipper had two RBI's as did Cline of Michigan.

Russell Loses

The losing pitcher, Russell, gave up five hits in three innings. Cherry gave up no hits in two, but was the victim of three bases on balls and two runs. Loving allowed one hit in four frames.

Marv Wisniewski, the Michigan ace, followed Poloskey on the hill and gave up two singles in two innings.

The Pirates left 10 men stranded on base. Cecil Heath, the heretofore hitting leader, experienced a off day and could collect no safeties. On the other hand, it was Jerry Stewart's finest showing to date.

Both teams were hampered by the strong wind. Hard-hit balls became easy fly-outs against the gush.

East Carolina's next home game will be on April 13 when the Pirates play a doubleheader with Montclair.

East Carolina Golfers Top Elon Squad

LED WIN OVER ELON—East Carolina golfers shown above led the Pirates to an easy win over Elon in a North State Conference match yesterday. They are left to right: Claude King, Pat Hunt and Harry Raney. King and Hunt were co-medalist with low scores of 77.

East Carolina College golfers took the measure of Elon's Christians 12½ to 2½ yesterday afternoon to register their first North State Conference win.

Led by co-medalists Claude King and Pat Hunt, the defending conference champions captured all individual matches and both team events. King, the conference titleholder, shot rounds of 39-38 for a 77. Hunt had a 37 and 40 for a 77.

King was clipping along at pace until disaster struck on the sixth hole. He ran into putting difficulties and took a double-bogie severe. He pared the seventh and ninth holes but had to settle for a bogie five on the eighth.

On the back nine he had seven pars. The sixth green proved a nemesis again and King shot a bogie. He also bogied the 18th hole but finished the back nine in 38 strokes.

Hunt, playing superlative golf, shot a one-over-par 37 going out but buckled under the strain at the 15th, 16th and 18th holes. He birdied the first two holes and collected four pars the rest of the way around the first time. Where he lost a possible 74 or 75 was on the final holes. He had a six on the par four 16, a four on the par three 17 and a five on the par four 18.

King defeated Elon's Bobby Loy, 2½ to 1½. Harry Raney of ECC edged all even with Elon's Jimmy Leighton, 1½ to 1½. Raney won the back side one-up after McLeighton took the front nine one-up.

The best-ball team of King and Raney defeated Loy and McLeighton, 2½ to 1½. Both twosomes finished the front nine all even but King and Raney won the backside two-up.

OLD RIVALS—Sam Snead, left, and Ben Hogan, who tied for first in last year's Masters Golf Tournament with Snead winning the playoff, stroll down a fairway on the National Golf Club course in Augusta, Ga., where once again they are rival in the Masters. Burke Finds New Putter 'Works'

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Jackie Burke is about ready to forgive the trophy collector who stole his putter last year. The handsome Texan tried a new one in the first round of the Masters Golf Tournament yesterday and it worked beautifully.

He finished in a tie for sixth here last year and a little later during an exhibition in Detroit someone walked off with his putter. Since then he has tested four or five in a search for one that suits him. He thinks "the straight piece of steel with a shaft" he is using for the first time in a tournament is the answer.

At 32 a veteran of 11 years as a professional, Burke used his new blade to build up a four-stroke lead going into today's second round over the Augusta National's sprawling, challenging course.

Combining fine iron play and strong putting, he opened the 19th Masters with a 34-33-67. His closest competitors were Mike Souchak, of Durham, N.C., the former Duke football player and fairhaired boy of Mid-Pines, N.C., and Souchak, playing with Burke, carded a 35-36-71, and Boros scored a 37-34-71.

Not another man in the field of 77 which includes most of the nation's top amateurs and professionals managed to better the Augusta National's par of 36-36-72.

Defending champion Sam Snead, who matched Burke's 34 on the front nine, seemed a cinch to do it until he ran afoul a trap on No. 13 and took an 8 on the par-5 hole. He had to settle for par 72.

Ben Hogan, the tourney favorite despite his playoff loss to Snead here last year, took a 73. Billy Joe Patton, the Morganton, N.C., amateur who came within a stroke of joining Snead and Hogan in their playoff a year ago, scored a fat 79.

Bracketed with Snead at 72 were Byron Nelson, Roanoke, Tex.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco; and Cary Middleoff, Klamath Lake, N.Y. Joining Hogan with 73s were Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.; Pete Cooper, Detroit, and Skeel Riegel, Khan, Pa.

Jones Risks His Record Tonight

ST. LOUIS—Ralph (Tiger) Jones tonight risks his record of eight wins, having been knocked down again by the hard-hitting George Johnson, a counterpuncher with a fast pair of hands.

Jones, a New Yorker noted for the way he keeps boring in on his opponents, was rated an 8 to 5 favorite over Johnson, of Trenton, N.J., for the 16-round middleweight bout at the arena.

The fight, sponsored by the International Boxing Club, will be nationally televised (NBC, 9 p.m., CST).

Johnson, of Seminole Indian ancestry, has won 30 of 35 professional fights, 21 of them by knockouts. He has been stopped twice, once on a cut by Baby Day in 1952 and again last year by Holly Mims. He is expected to weigh in at 148 or about two pounds less than Jones.

Jones, a good combination puncher, has scored only eight knockouts in his 46 fights, once by a decision in 1952. He has lost 13 and fought three draws. The only time he ever was stopped was on a cut in a bout with Henry Burroughs in 1951.

Jones, whose bullying style has made him a crowd pleaser, defeated Ray Robinson and then lost a close decision to Middleweight Champ Carl (Bobo) Olson in his last two fights.

Johnson punched out an easy decision over Garth Panter in a recent fight and whipped Ramon Fuentes earlier this year.

Under the Missouri scoring system, 10 points are divided for each round. The winner of a round usually gets 6 points to 4 for his opponent. Even rounds are scored 5-5 and a knockdown generally is scored 7-3.

Trotters Run Up Lop-Sided Lead

KANSAS CITY—The Harlem Globetrotters, as in previous tours with college all-stars, are running up a lopsided victory margin against the collegians in their present swing around the country.

Tonight the two teams meet in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium with the Globetrotters holding a 10-5 edge in games played.

Walter Dukes, former Seton Hall center, dumped in 25 points to lead the Globetrotters to an 84-73 victory before 10,326 spectators at Denver last night. They had a 42-41 advantage at halftime.

The All-Stars' offensive was led by La Salle's All America Tom Gola with 20 points.

Play Falkland

Greenville's semi-pro Greensies square off Sunday afternoon against Falkland in their second exhibition game of the season at Guy Smith Stadium. Last Sunday the Greensies whipped Falkland rather handily.

The game starts at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Business Manager Floyd Nichols announced the team would practice Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All players are requested to be at the practice and bring their uniforms and tickets.

For the Sunday game the Greensies will have Johnny Foell and Manager Junior Yohn on the mound. Foell will start and Yohn will be ready for relief duty.

Greenville High's Track Team Faces Stern Test

Greenville's track Phantoms get a strong test tomorrow at Durham when they enter the big Duke-Durham Relays, annually one of the biggest high school track meets in the South.

Many schools from all over the neighboring states will be invited by host school Durham to attend the meet. The winner of this meet is generally called one of the best high school teams of the South.

The G-men have a 2-1 record for the year in dual meets, whipping Henderson and Fayetteville, but losing to Raleigh. Most of the highly-ranked North Carolina teams will be entered in the meet, so a pretty good picture of the competition in the state meet will be shown at Durham.

Medals are given to the top three places in each event and each member of the winning relay teams are given medals. The team winner gets a large trophy.

Big Question Mark

One of the big question marks about the trip for the G-men will be can they get there? Only last Wednesday the Phants went to Fayetteville and the bus broke down just on the outside of Greenville as the Phants were coming back. The bus has broken down three times in a row now, so the G-men are just hoping they can get there.

Coach Bill Kittrell is not going to the Relays with the team. The popular coach is scheduled to be married today at four o'clock and is leaving the team in the hands of co-captains James Speight and Wayne Bishop. Coach Bo Farley is going with the team to drive the bus and help out any way he can.

Sermons Beat Speight

One of the interesting parts of the Fayetteville meet (there were very few interesting parts in all that made was that Billy Sermons upset James Speight of the Phantoms in the 440 yard dash. It was the first time the Phantom sprint star had been beaten in a dual meet in his specialty. Speight is just itching for a dry track to even the score. This friendly rivalry has added spice to the Phantoms' practice all year.

The G-men do not have much of a chance against the schools with male enrollment of 2,000 but they are hoping for a few first place finishes. The next home meet will be with Durham on April 19 at Guy Smith Stadium.

Ailing Wynn Is Flown Home

MILWAUKEE—Cleveland's Indians sent ailing pitcher Early Wynn to Cleveland before flying here today for their last two exhibition games.

Wynn first came down with influenza two weeks ago, but then recovered enough to pitch twice. After that he suffered a relapse and left the team.

"My stomach was so upset and my chest so congested," he said, "I didn't think I was going to live through Wednesday night."

Manager Al Lopez said: "This will probably set him back but he can start working out Monday and he may be ready to pitch five or six days later."

Bowled 300 In Practice Game

MACOMB, Ill. (AP)—Robert Erickson, a shoe store clerk, entered the bowling "Hall of Fame" by rolling a perfect 300 game. He was practicing in competition with his wife. His best previous mark was 289 which he has chalked up four times.

Michigan Negro Baseball Star Sat Out East Carolina Contest

A slugging Negro thirdbaseman fell victim to an interpretation of East Carolina College's charter yesterday and sat on the bench while his team, the Michigan Wolverines, took a 6-1 victory over the local Pirates.

The player, Don Eaddy, a regular who only Wednesday collected two hits against Duke, was kept out of the lineup because of an administrative policy interpretation stemming from Section 806 of the college charter. This section reads: "said college shall be maintained by the state for the purpose of giving young white men and women such education and training as shall fit and qualify them, etc."

President of the college, Dr. John D. Messick, said that it was his opinion that extracurricular activities constituted part of the "education and training" of the college.

"We are subjects of the state," Messick added, "and are supposed to follow their regulations."

Meanwhile, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, Athletic Department head, said Eaddy's playing would be in violation of rules set up by the board of trustees. "As soon as public opinion permits it he (Eaddy) will be playing," Jorgensen added.

East Carolina, Jorgensen said, has at times in the past been forced to cancel home athletic contests when it was discovered that the teams contacted had Negro players on the squad. He pointed out, however, that when the Pirates play away from home against teams with Negro players that nothing is said or done to remove the Negroes from competion.

Head baseball coach Jim Mallory also said that he could have done nothing to have permitted Eaddy to play. It has been a college policy not to play against Negroes here, he said.

Messick also pointed out that until the state general assembly changes the charter of the school, that to permit Negroes to play at the college would be a violation of the charter.

Jorgensen meanwhile, expressed the opinion that "Just a few more years" may see Negroes competing against East Carolina teams.

The college charter apparently does not explicitly prohibit Negroes from competing against East Carolina teams as part of an athletic contest but leaves the interpretation up to administration officials.

Our Assurance of Eternal Life

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 16:1-7; John 11:25-27; John 14:1-3; I Corinthians 15.

When Lazarus died, Jesus told his sister that he would rise again. Martha said, "Yes, in the resurrection," but Jesus answered, "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live."

The night of the last supper, Jesus told His disciples that He was leaving them. "Let not your heart be troubled," He told them; "In My Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you."—John 14:1-2.

Early on Easter morning, two Marys went to Christ's tomb. They found the stone was rolled away, the tomb empty, except for a young man dressed in white, who said, "Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth; He is risen."—Mark 16:5-6.

Paul reminds the Corinthians that many had seen the Risen Lord. "And last of all He was seen of me, also," referring to Christ's appearance to him on the road to Damascus.—I Corinthians 15:8. MEMORY VERSE—John 11:25-26.

Our Assurance of Eternal Life

THE RISEN CHRIST OUR ONLY HOPE OF ETERNAL LIFE

Mark 16:1-7; John 11:25-27; John 14:1-3; I Corinthians 15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. IT IS Easter Day. The trees are in bud, new plants are springing up in the woods and gardens. People who seldom go to church are joining the throngs of the regular church goers, all dressed in their best. In many countries of the world people are greeting one another with the joyful message, "Christ is risen," to be answered by "He is risen indeed!"

sealed the tomb was not only extremely large and heavy, but it was fitted into a groove, which made it all the more difficult to move. "And when they looked, they saw the stone was rolled away. And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted. "And he said unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: He is not here: behold the place where they laid Him."

The Golden Text

Easter morning.

"I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."—John 11:25-26.

MEMORY VERSE

"I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."—John 11:25-26.

Before this, however, we read in John 11:25-26 that, after Lazarus died, Jesus came to Bethany and Martha ran to meet Him. Martha said that if the Master had been there, Lazarus need not have died. Jesus said to her, "Thy brother shall rise again."

makes perfect," you know. Of Paul's great chapter on the subject of the resurrection, we can print only a small portion. "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures; "And that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day according to the Scriptures:

Christians Observe Good Friday Rites

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Christians around the world made pilgrimages to Good Friday services today, commemorating the death of Christ on the cross. In village church and vast cathedral, the faithful gathered for centuries-old ceremonies. Thousands from many lands assembled at St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City to attend the solemn Mass of the Presanctified Host. In the Holy Land, some 5,000 pilgrims, many of whom had to pass through the no man's land dividing warring Israel and Jordan, flocked into Arab Jerusalem. Once again they followed the narrow, twisting cobblestoned Via Dolorosa—the Way of the Cross. Gathered according to nationality, each group bore at its head a massive cross as they halted briefly at each of the 14 stations of the cross.

The procession formed a few hundred yards inside Jerusalem's east wall, where Christ was tried before Pontius Pilate. Its route followed the path which tradition says Christ's burdened steps took to Calvary, the site now of the sprawling Church of the Holy Sepulchre. In the United States, Catholic and Protestant churches from coast to coast threw open their doors for Good Friday services. Many scheduled three-hour sermons commemorating the hours on the cross. A vast throng of Argentines turned out in Buenos Aires for Holy Week observances, although their church and President Peron's government have been at bitter odds for months. Yesterday, an estimated 100,000 marched in the traditional Holy Thursday parade in Peron's capital. It was the first religious procession allowed in Argentina in four months. The procession was orderly, but marchers defied government orders to keep off main streets and paraded directly to Buenos Aires cathedral.

'Mom' Writes To 400 Servicemen

PT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Mom Higdon has added a few more names to her address book. The candy will be along later. Her candy, cards and letters have followed nearly 400 servicemen around the world in two wars. Yesterday, the treat was on the men of the Armored Replacement Training Center. The 55-year-old woman, brought here from Louisville in a military staff car, received a red carpet tour of the post. She also was introduced to 1st Lt. Herbert Condon and M.Sgt. Norman Ellis. Both names were familiar. Mom wrote Condon the first news he got from home after he was taken prisoner by the Korean Reds in 1953. Ellis received his first letter in 1951. In a way, it was a homecoming to Mrs. Blanche Higdon. From 1932 until 1942, she and her husband James lived in a community that since has been swallowed up by the military reservation. Higdon helped construct many of the buildings on the post, including the gold vault, which Mom inspected. After all, 5 of her 10 children are in the service. "He did a good job," she commented.

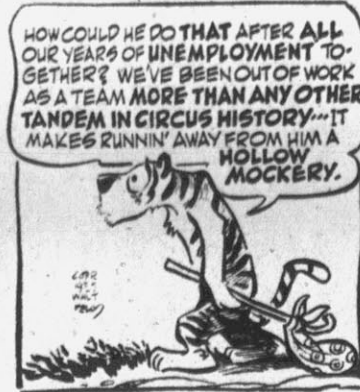

Hope Coordinate Indochina Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)— American and French officials are reported planning to meet April 20 to seek better coordination of their sometimes conflicting policy in Red-threatened Indochina. The sessions probably will be held in Washington, although the French are said to be pressing Paris as the site. Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. will head the American delegation. One of the major aims will be to seek a clearer French-American understanding of moves to be taken to bolster the anti-Communist government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in Southern Viet Nam. Congressional sources said the National Security Council spent much of its session yesterday considering how far the United States should go in strengthening Diem's hand. France is formally pledged to support the American-backed Diem but most American officials believe the French could do far more to insure the success of his policies. Ever since Diem took over control of the government he has been embroiled in numerous arguments with dissident groups having private armies. There has been a brief armed struggle between troops loyal to Diem and forces of one of these groups. Special U.S. Ambassador J. Lawson Collins arranged a truce in the fighting for a week. A major difference between French and American officials has been an effort by France to make some sort of economic deals with the Communists in Red-controlled North Viet Nam.

SPANKINGS CRUEL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Patti Taylor, 29, told Superior Court her trombonist husband Robert E. Fring Jr., 30, would turn her over to his knee and spank her when she protested about his playing records too loudly in the early morning hours. She got a divorce decree on grounds of cruelty. The annual increase in India's population is about five million a year. Although the war is over, Mom still corresponds with some 150 servicemen, writing at night while baby-sitting for the neighbors. During the day she does church work and ministers to the sick, as a volunteer. "Mom missed her calling; she should have been a trained nurse," says her husband. But Mom likes to write letters. After all, 5 of her 10 children are in the service.

Guest Of Honor Dies At Party

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Party guests talked and joked around the dinner table at the University Club. Presents were stacked neatly on the table near the guest of honor. Dinner host was the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The guest of honor last night was Frank R. Coulter, 65, supervisor of the traffic department. At the close of the dinner Coulter—due to retire this month after 35 years' service—suffered a heart attack.

Tentative Peace In Rubber Strike

NEW YORK (AP)— A tentative agreement has been reached between CIO workers and the U.S. Rubber Co. to end a weeklong nationwide strike affecting 19 plants and some 33,000 employees. A company spokesman said the pact probably would be signed today with the CIO United Rubber Workers and a back-to-work movement would start "as soon as possible." A Naugatuck, Conn., plant resumed partial operations last night while a Passaic, N.J., factory geared for early resumption of production. The workers walked out last Thursday, when their old contract expired, in a dispute over working conditions, vacations and holidays. Wages were not an issue. At Akron, Ohio, a union spokesman said the new agreement—reached by negotiators here last night—will run for two years, effective today. He said the union won 28 improvements in the master contract—including liberalized vacations, an additional paid holiday, and no loss of pay when called to jury duty.

Little Woman Saves Big Man

DETROIT (AP)—John Church, 6-foot-4, math teacher, was fished from the bottom of the Durfee Intermediate swimming pool yesterday by 5-foot-2 Ann Braverman, a fellow teacher. Church blacked out and sank while taking a dip with fellow teachers. Miss Braverman, a gym teacher, spotted him hauled him to the surface and lifted him over the pool edge, where he was revived by artificial respiration.

Nixon, Family Begin Vacation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his family relaxed here today at the start of what he said he hoped would be "about a 10-day vacation." The vice president Mrs. Nixon and their two children Tricia, 9, and Julie, 7, arrived last night for a visit with C. G. Rebozo, a close friend. Nixon denied rumors that he is feuding with Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the minority leader. "Any feuding that's going on is in the press and not between ourselves," he told newsmen.

Steam Engines On Final Trip

DUPOUI, Ill. (AP)—The final trip of the last 11 steam locomotives in service on the Missouri Pacific Railroad ended last night in a humbling manner. They were unable to make it under their own power. The funeral journey started at Bush, Ill., 112 miles to the south, with two of the old locomotives pulling the other nine. Their speed was cut to three to five miles an hour when one of the double-header locomotives exhausted its water supply. The coal supply too was almost gone. A call was sent out for help, and a sleek diesel locomotive came to the rescue. It pulled the 11 weary steamers the final few miles to a junkyard here where they will be cut up for scrap. RECOVER TREASURE BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—An insurance company expedition has recovered a 1 1/2-million-dollar gold and platinum shipment from the wreckage of an airliner which crashed in the jungle March 8.

After Carney Debacle, The Top Brass May Stay Home

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The admirals and generals and high government officials will probably eat at home for a while.

Adm. Robert B. Carney certainly must wish he hadn't gone to an out-of-the-record dinner with newsmen March 24. There's been indication in Washington ever since President Eisenhower disagreed with what Carney is reported to have said. Carney denies he said what some reporters wrote that he said. And newsmen who were there can't agree among themselves on what he said.

As a result of this all-around fiasco, out-of-the-record dinners may cease for a while. Probably not for long though. Newsmen and high government officials have been getting together at them for years. The officials are the invited guests of the reporters. This is the purpose.

To get inside information which can be used in spot news stories or as background or preparation for events that unfold later. There is almost always one understanding: The official talking off the record is not to be quoted by name or identified as the source of the information. This doesn't always work. If the news he gives out is sensational enough, his name eventually may leak out.

But if the individual doing the talking can't be identified in a story, how then can reporters get out to the public the information he provided? They did it in various ways.

And just because they do it in various ways, it is clear they do not have a fixed agreement among themselves on how the information is to be handled.

Some attribute their information to "authoritative sources" or "persons high in the administration." Some undertake to say on their own that what they heard, or thought they heard, is a fact, as they did in Carney's case.

Carney, although not named at first, was reported by some news men as saying the Red Chinese were expected to start an attack on the Matsui and Quemoy islands by mid-April. Others said he believed the Reds would simply be "capable" of such an attack by then or later. Carney's name soon leaked out.

While the country was still shocked by these stories indicating a nearness of war, another administration figure told newsmen at a similar dinner a few nights later the administration had no information on an impending attack.

According to the agreement, this source was not quoted as saying that in the stories which followed. Some of them said flatly Eisenhower had no such information. Some newspaper readers might have gotten the impression Eisenhower himself said that. Other newsmen wrote that "administration sources" said no attack was expected.

Several newspapers later said these stories stemmed from James C. Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary.

Then Eisenhower had a public news conference. He appeared displeased with Carney. He said he had no information of an impending attack.

This week Carney denied to a Senate committee he had predicted an attack by mid-April. Some reporters who were at dinner with him then said he did make the prediction. Others said he didn't.

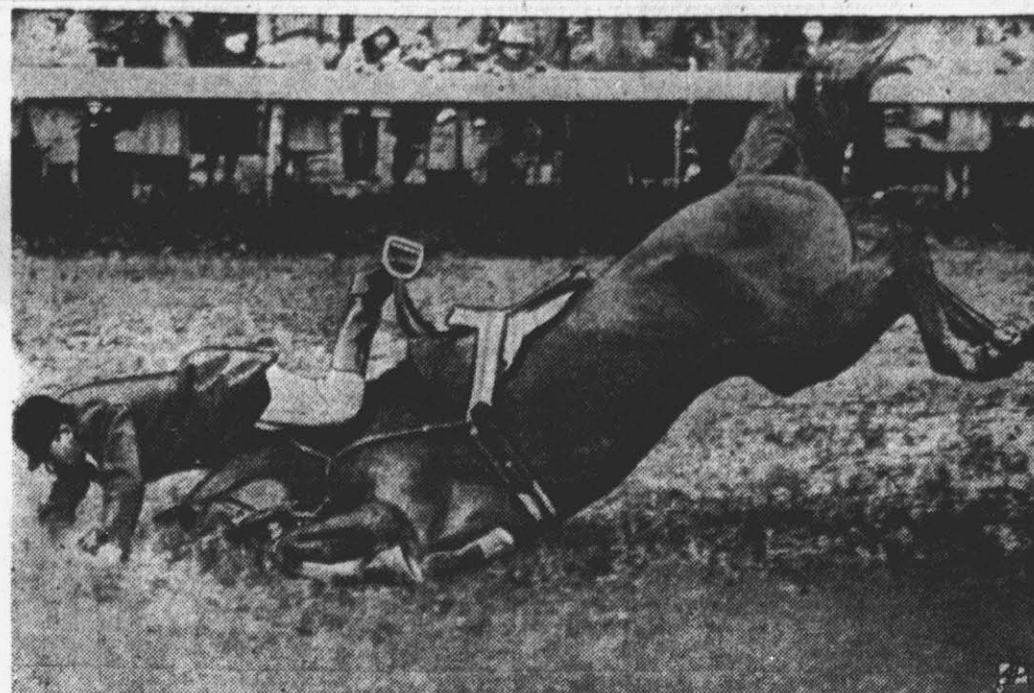

Pulled Switch To See Firemen

ARCATA, Calif. (AP)—"What happens if you pull that handle?" the little boy asked the electrician making a routine check of fire alarm boxes yesterday.

"Why, all the fire trucks would come rushing right out here," answered Bill Donahue.

Ten minutes later they did. The little boy, not yet 3, was just barely able to reach that handle by standing on his shiny new red wagon.

Red Oak News

Between sixty and seventy members and friends of the Martha Polly class attended a supper and party at the Red Oak Community building last Saturday evening. The supper was given by the losing side in a recent contest held between members of the class.

After a delicious meal of baked ham and accessories a hilarious hour of home-spun fun made everybody happy. "Find the Bottle," "Blind-Catch," "What Would You Do If," "King and Queen of April Fool's Day," "Grab Bag Fashion Show" and singing of old time favorites were engaged in by all present.

The annual Easter Sunrise Service will be held at the church on Easter Sunday, April 10th at 5:30 o'clock.

This will be a simple service presented by members of the Chi Rho Fellowship and the Christian Youth Fellowship under the direction of Mrs. Travis Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker. The Adult Choir will assist in the singing.

If you are not having a Sunrise Service in your church, you are cordially invited to join with us in this worship.

The last meeting of Circle No. 1 was held with Mrs. James Allen with almost 100 percent present. Plans were made and have since been carried out to remember our adopted son at the Southern Christian Home in Atlanta with presents of wearing apparel and toys. It was also decided to join with the other circles to send a contribution to the Home Mission Christian Church recently completed at Jacksonville.

We also joined with all other circles in sending white or light colored shirts to India to be used in the hospitals there.

Mrs. Joe Allen gave a most inspiring devotional and many sick visits were reported. Our treasurer paid our quarterly dues.

Mrs. Allen served refreshing drinks and hot doughnuts. Mr. Ivan Adams will be the visiting minister at Red Oak during the revival which begins at 7:45 o'clock next Sunday night, April 10th. The revival will continue all the week through Saturday night. It is hoped that all members of the church will feel it their duty to attend each of these services. We cordially invite all friends and neighbors to join with us in this revival.

On Monday evening a trio composed of Misses Nancy Harris, Bettie Sugg and Grayson Waldrop of Greenville will render special music.

This Spring Has Seen Weather Go In Reverse

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mother nature may be breaking all records this spring for breaking all records.

Spring traditionally comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb. So far this year, things have been in reverse order.

In the first weeks of March, most of the nation was lulled by a record warm sun. St. Louis baked at 86 degrees March 10; Dallas sweltered at 94 one day later; it was 61 as far north as Muskegon, Mich.

Heat records for the season were topped again in many areas a few days later. Fruit trees blossomed and flowers burst into beauty for spring festivals.

But all this was cruel deceit. There followed probably the worst series of spring cold waves ever recorded. Billions of paralyzed parts of the North, and continued even through this first week of April. Record-breaking freezes spread across the South, crippling crops, fruit trees and flowers.

There were also a rash of tornadoes, duststorms, gales, and some severe floods along the Ohio. In the fourth week of March alone, the U. S. Weather Bureau here attributed 65 deaths and millions of dollars damage to the furies of the weather.

The unprecedented outbreaks piled 24 inches of snow on Sheridan, Wyo., in 24 hours this week, breaking all records. Southern New England in April is digging out of a 20-inch snow, heaviest of the year.

On March 27, one week after the formal beginning of spring, New Orleans at 30 degrees shivered under the coldest temperature in four years. The same city broke a heat record for the season only 10 days earlier, with 87 degrees.

What sent nature on such a rampage? Weather Bureau forecaster Jerome Namias today blamed those mysterious "jet streams" which circle the globe up to 40,000 feet high. This is his explanation: A slight change in the west-to-east pattern of the jet streams moved a huge, frigid air mass over Canada.

But instead of letting it break out in waves across this country, as it usually does, the jet streams changed their pattern. They kicked up tremendous speeds of over 200 m.p.h. Their north-south waves flattened out. The jet streams, in effect, formed a barrier to further southward movement of this cold air.

Meanwhile, warm air from the Gulf spread farther north. An extreme contrast developed.

Then, like a delayed action bomb, the jet streams lost their fierce eastward momentum. The north-south waves developed into big peaks and troughs, which began moving eastward. The pent-up air in Canada, long held in a deep freeze, was loosed on the United States in a series of paralyzing blasts.

What will the jet streams do next? Namias expects the waves to continue sliding eastward. That should bring more cool air to the extreme Northeast and to the Southeast as far around as Texas. Warmer-than-usual air should settle over the Northern Plains.

This contrast—warmer air in most of the North and cooler air in the South—might continue to act as a storm maker. But weather officials hardly expect an extended repeat performance.

Tell Her It's MURDER!

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE
Andrus came back slowly, his eyes searching Susan's face. He had almost reached her when he stood still. Susan turned.

Barry was there in the doorway, where Jim had been an instant ago.

"There was a gun in Barry's hand."

Susan looked at it, looked at Barry's face—and gripped the back of the chair in front of her.

Barry said, "You two think you're going to get away with this? Don't kid yourselves."

Only his eyes betrayed him, their cold emptiness, and the pallor around his mouth.

Jim said, "Lofing, don't play the fool. Put that gun down. What's the matter with you? Are you crazy?"

Barry said "No, I'm not crazy. I'm going to kill you both as I killed those others, Brodsky and Trout, and tried to kill the Fenn woman, because they got in my way. Now it's your turn."

"You're going to kill us with Redgate in jail? You must be out of your mind."

Barry shook his head. "Wrong again, Andrus. The police have Redgate. Maybe they'll be satisfied with him, maybe they won't. If not, maybe they'll pick you. This is your gun that you very obligingly left over at the inn. Your prints, if it'll take prints will be found on it. It doesn't matter. It will look like a suicide pact, or murder and suicide, you will have shot Susan and then yourself."

The back of the chair cut into Susan's hands. The kitchen whirled. Jim kept on trying reason.

"Regina and Amy Redgate are upstairs. They'll hear the shots—"

"Of course they'll hear the shots and they'll come running and find your bodies, and I'll be right behind them."

Barry raised the gun. A bullet roared... Susan fell.

It was Andrus' elbow driven into Susan's side that had hurled her to the floor, an instant before Barry Lofting screamed and crumpled, the gun shot out of his hand by Todhunter from the dining room beyond.

Lofting's wrist was smashed. Two Yonkers men joined Todhunter and McKee, and Lofting was removed.

Susan had fainted. She was carried upstairs. McKee saw Horton, and talked to Redgate and to Amy Redgate and to Regina. It wasn't until almost 4 o'clock that afternoon that he entered Susan's room.

Susan was up then a ghost in a white penit standing at the window in the dusk. The snow had stopped but the skies were gray. She said, "I've been trying to think things out. It was Barry all the time, wasn't it? Barry did everything David said he did—"

"Yes, Miss Dwight." They both sat down.

McKee said that Barry Lofting was what he'd call a prudent murderer, slow to move, planning everything in advance—until his hand was forced. His real business in life, and he devoted a lot of time, thought and mental energy to it, was making a living without having to work for it. He found the way to make a very comfortable living when he found out about Regina, and what she was concealing.

McKee said that as far as the money was concerned there were plenty of ways. Frederick and Edith had known about the money in some way, but there their knowledge ended. Barry had taken it further. He had known the Davises and Tobe Davies' background and Regina's, and had known just when Regina left Henry Trout, and that the child couldn't be Trout's, and had put two and two together. Once on the trail, it wasn't hard to follow.

With the discovery of Regina's $800,000 he hit the jackpot. It meant $15,000 a year to him. It was Barry who had blackmailed Regina by letter, collecting $30,000 in two years. "It also meant reversion, half of the reversion, if and when he married you, Miss Dwight, and Mrs. Pelham died. He discounted the boy from the beginning, was convinced he wasn't going to live. That was the situation when Regina returned from the

City Fathers Decide Fees For Use Of Parking Lots

Parkers using the city's new off-street parking lot located at the corner of Fifth and Washington Streets will pay a nickel for one hour's parking and 25 cents for all day.

Council members decided on those rates last night after a long, near-midnight discussion of the type meters to be placed on the property.

The city recently leased the lots for a five-year period after several months of negotiations with the property owners. Workmen are now disassembling two houses which stand on the property. Cost of that work is being borne by the owners. Grading, paving and metering the lot is to be paid for by the city.

The final rates agreed upon by the city fathers was a compromise of two proposals before the group. Councilman J. A. Collins, Sr. had recommended that parkers receive an hour and a half for five cents and all-day parking for 25 cents.

Mayor Pro-tem Eugene West called for a straight charge of five cents per hour which would mean all-day parking would cost 45 cents for the nine-hour period that the meters are in operation.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee, in polling the lawmakers, found that West and A. C. Ruffin favored the five cents per hour plan and Collins and Wesley Harvey were in favor of an hour and a half for a nickel. That would have meant the mayor's vote would break the deadlock.

At that time however, Collins proposed that parking be at the rate of five cents per hour with a charge of 25 cents for all-day parking on the lot.

That motion was passed unanimously by the council. The group specified that automatic meters be used. With that type meter insertion of the coin automatically operates the time indicator and it is not necessary to turn a crank on the device.

Metering of the present swimming pool lot and the lot at Evans and Second Streets also came in for discussion as did the purchase of a change machine for the Fifth and Washington Streets lot but action was deferred on those matters.

Role In Developing City Urged On Junior Chamber

Bancroft F. Moseley, president of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, told local Jaycees last night the future "belongs to those who are seeking an opportunity," and urged the Junior Chamber of Commerce to take an active part in the development of Greenville.

"Some communities have been oversold," Moseley declared. "Greenville has been undersold." Citing the increase in the nation's population, increasing value of the national productivity and national income, and per capita income, the speaker asserted "anything invested today is bound to pay dividends in the future."

"Everywhere I go outside Eastern North Carolina," the speaker said, "people are talking about the growth of this section. We in Greenville can do something now to promote our growth, or we can do nothing."

Moseley said Pitt County has more medical facilities than any other county in this section, and the commerce should take advantage of these facilities in promoting its development. The facilities of East Carolina College as well as other organizations in the city, plus the fact that the number of hotel and motel rooms in Greenville have more than doubled in the past three years, makes Greenville a logical convention city for this section of the state. Its geographical location and its housing facilities also make the city the logical place for traveling men in this section to make their headquarters.

"You Jaycees are the group to come forward with ideas" for promoting the growth and development, the Chamber of Commerce president declared. "Young men do not have rivalry between themselves nor are they suspicious of each other's motives. Young men likewise will live to see the benefits of their efforts to develop their community."

Prior to Moseley's address, Jake Hadley of the local Ground Observer Corps explained the operation of the organization to the Jaycees and asked for volunteers to help in manning the local post when it is activated. The first training course for local members of the Ground Observer Corps will be held on April 21.

City Councilmen

The group also formally expressed its opposition to the removal of the bridge tenders from the draw spans at Grumeland and Washington.

The mayor reported that the Norfolk Southern Railroad had concurred with a plan for the construction of a street over the tracks near Fourteenth Street. The new street would lead to the elementary school now under construction in that area.

Recommend Resurfacing

By a vote of three to two the council recommended to the Utilities Commission that streets be resurfaced in the Brookgreen area where they have been torn up for the installation of water and sewer lines.

Collins, Whedbee and Ruffin voted for the move while Harvey and West voted against it.

The action was taken after Collins told the group that he had been approached by citizens in the area concerning the matter.

City Manager Hughes pointed out that already the Utilities Commission plans to re-surface on curves where lines cross the street twice close together.

It was pointed out that cost of re-surfacing in the area would be approximately $5,000. Patching costs will run around $3,600. However, Hughes pointed out, the patching will have to be done regardless of whether the streets are resurfaced or not.

At the request of Collins, Mayor Whedbee agreed to write to Ber Douglas of the State Department of Conservation and Development concerning the location of industry in this city.

Ruffin reported to the council that the city schools had offered a building at the Brookgreen schools which could be transferred to South Greenville Park for use as a community center. No action was taken until the council members inspect the building.

Also heard by the city fathers was a representative from the Hillsdale area who inquired about the paving of streets in that section. He said curb and gutter had already been installed.

He was informed that plans for paving are being considered in next fiscal year's budget.

Near-Million In Budget Extras

RALEIGH (AP)—Its budget work nearly completed, the Joint Appropriations subcommittee has approved a net increase so far of $91,513 in the proposed 637-million-dollar state budget for the next biennium.

Except for one or two items which it may reconsider on motion of its members, the subcommittee is actually through with its line-by-line budget study.

On Tuesday, the group will hear reports from smaller subcommittees appointed to study: (1) tuition of non-resident students at travel items, (3) all printing and binding items, and (4) veterans administration.

The subcommittee likely will make its recommendations to the full Appropriations Committee sometime next week. At yesterday's session, the subcommittee approved budget increases totaling $88,200.

The biggest item, $60,000, went to increase the Welfare Department's aid to dependent children program to $260,000 for the biennium. This was approved on recommendation of a smaller subcommittee appointed by the budget study group. The Welfare Department had originally asked for $300,000 for the program. The Advisory Budget Commission had recommended $200,000.

The subcommittee also approved increases of $27,000 for the state judicial system to cover the salary and expenses of a new Superior Court judge and $1,200 for the State Bureau of Investigation.

String Of Four Traffic Accidents On Thursday

Four city accidents late yesterday afternoon kept police on the run. The most serious occurred about 4 p.m. at the intersection of Third and Greene Streets when trucks operated by James Lonnie Hillard, 60, of the County Home and John Huske Williams, Jr., also 60, of Erwin, collided. A passenger in Hillard's truck, W. B. Witherspoon, also of the county home, received a fractured knee and was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by members of the Sheriff's Department.

Detonation Of Big A-Bomb Is Put Off Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Detonation of perhaps the most powerful atomic device of the 1955 series— a 400-foot tower shot—was postponed today after a weather conference.

Conditions were not acceptable for the explosion, the Atomic Energy Commission said. Another conference will be held tonight to determine if weather conditions improve.

The 400-foot tower blast is designed to test nuclear age logistics, which means the transportation of materials and men for battle.

As was the case today, the AEC will have a choice tomorrow between the logistics test and another from a 300-foot tower. The latter, of lesser power, would be held at Yucca Flat at 4:30 a.m. and involve Air Force and Navy planes on indoctrination missions.

In case there is another postponement tomorrow it will be until sometime next week. There will be no testing on Easter Sunday, the AEC said.

Lost 12 Tons Of Shrimp In Poker

HOUSTON (U.S. FBI) agents sought today a truck driver they said lost 12 tons of frozen shrimp in a poker game.

Robert W. Brewer, Sikeston, Mo., was charged with unlawfully converting merchandise in interstate commerce for his own use.

George Burton, FBI agent-in-charge, said Brewer, 29, left the Brownsville Shrimp Exchange April 1 with the shrimp aboard a truck and trailer owned by the Querner Truck Lines, San Antonio, Tex. Brewer's destination was Detroit, Mich.

Burton said Brewer got into a poker game in Houston with four men and apparently lost the entire shipment of shrimp.

Winners of the cargo, Burton said, attempted to market a portion of their winnings to cafes in Houston and Beaumont but the FBI recovered $4,900 of the sales money.

Four men were charged with receiving the 24,235 pounds of shrimp, valued at $12,873, and concealing stolen merchandise. They were James I. Causey Jr., 39, tobacco salesman; Erwin Leo Key, 34, produce man; John Allen Garrett, 42, tavern operator, and T. P. Whitehead, 35, night club owner.

The four were released under bonds of $5,000 each.

More than 600 planes arrive from or depart to foreign countries at U.S. airports each day.

LAST TIME? — Mrs. Blondella Wert, 55, of Wichita, Kas., says, "I hope this will be the last," as she lies in a hospital recovering from her 38th operation in 22 years. She said she has undergone surgery in 5 cities, 14 hospitals over the last two decades—but she says she expects to live another 50 years. She said she believes this operation will have to be her last, because, "I don't know what else they could take." (AP Wire-photo).
