Sen. Jones Hopeful As To Tobacco Tax Outlook; Two Lawmakers Urge Protests

Committee action last week favoring the tobacco tax is "not indicative of the feeling of the Senate," Sen. Paul E. Jones said this morning.

The senator said that opponents of the tobacco tax in the Senate might have a slight majority. He declared that if the Senate were to vote on the fund-raising measure at present it would probably be voted down.

Rep. Walter Jones of Farmville voiced his stand on the tobacco tax, home rule bill and his proposal for 10 per cent luxury tax while he was at home from Raleigh this week-end.

The freshman representative from Pitt County urged farmers of Pitt and other counties who "realize the danger from the imposition of this tobacco tax" to register their protests at the earliest possible moment.

Rep. S.O. Worthington has called on Pitt County citizens to let the State Legislature know if they are opposed to the proposed tax on tobacco products.

"If we are interested in this section in keeping off the tobacco tax the people ought to let the Legislature know about it right away," the veteran Pitt County representative in the General Assembly said Saturday.

Whitehurst-Helms Vows Spoken

The marriage of Miss Florence Mae Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lander Helms of Portsmouth, Va., to Lt. Bynum James Whitehurst, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Alva Whitehurst of Greenville, N. C., took place Sunday afternoon, April 10, at 3:30 o'clock in the Military Chapel, Lake Charles Air Force Base, Lake Charles, La. Chaplain Billy G. Chapman, of Lake Charles Air Force Base, officiated at the ceremony. The church was decorated with palms, fern, baskets of white mixed flowers, and cathedral candles. Mr. George Walter, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Edward I. Stalmecker, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her sister's wedding gown of slipper satin, fashioned with a panel of Chantilly lace in a Dresden rose pattern which decorated the front of the dress and the train. A fitted bodice with an off-the-shoulder effect and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The bodice was outlined down the back with small covered buttons. The yoke of tulle was appliqued with lace. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was arranged from a Juliet cap of satin and lace. Her only ornaments were a pearl necklace and earrings. She carried a white Bible covered with a white orchid, showered with fern.

Mrs. Arthur K. Leggett and Mrs. Samuel B. Taylor Jr., sisters of the bride, were matrons of honor. They wore floor-length gowns of Dior blue Crystalite styled portrait neckline. Torso by Dодice complemented the full gathered skirt, with headpieces to match. They carried bouquets of Phalaenopsis Orchids.

Frank T. Hines, of Lake Charles, La., was best man for the groom. The groomsmen were Virgil R. Helms of Richmond, Va. and Lt. Robert Baker of Lake Charles Air Force Base. They wore pink carnations with little assortment.

The mother of the bride wore a two piece navy blue street length dress styled with bolero accented with pique. Matching navy and white milan straw hat and a Vandas orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of mauve rose with matching hat and a Vandas orchid corsage.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Officers Club on Lake Charles Air Force Base. Later, Lt. and Mrs. Whitehurst left for a wedding trip along the Gulf of Mexico into Texas. Upon their return, they will reside at 1414 Bilbo Street, Lake Charles, La. The bride traveled in a light blue wool suit with a white Milan straw hat, white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Helms

Colleen Townsend Plays Role In Graham Movie

Colleen Townsend Evans, former Hollywood starlet and wife of a young Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Louis Evans Jr., is seen in the newest Billy Graham movie, "Souls In Conflict," being presented by the Greenville Ministerial Association Thursday and Friday nights at 7:30 in Austin Auditorium.

Miss Townsend who has turned her back on a promising future in Hollywood, was a member of the Billy Graham team during the 1954 London Crusade.

Dr. Graham, now in Glasgow, leading the All-Scotland Evangelistic Crusade, is a native of North Carolina, and the outstanding Christian evangelist of this period.

His meetings in Scotland are officially sponsored by the Church of Scotland (Presbyterian) in cooperation with the various other denominations represented in Scotland. Miss Townsend will be a part of the Graham team during this summer's crusades in Britain and on the European continent.

Thursday's and Friday's showings in Greenville will begin at 7:30 and all seats in the East Carolina College Austin Auditorium are free. An offering will be received to cover costs of the showings and to help meet the bills of "The Hour of Decision" Dr. Graham's weekly radio program, heard every Sunday over local station WGTC and over 800 other stations of the Mutual and ABC radio networks. A brief song service will precede each showing, led by ministers of the local churches.

"Souls in Conflict" is a full-length, color movie, and the third production of Billy Graham Evangelistic Films to be seen locally. "Oil-Town, USA" and "Mr. Texas"—both filmed against the background of Graham's Texas crusades—have already been shown here.

Garrett - Hardy Rites Solemnized

Miss Martha Elizabeth Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Noel Hardy of Hartsville, Tenn., became the bride of 2nd Lt. Corydon Dwight Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Radford Marvin Garrett of Greenville, on Saturday, April 9, at 9:30 a.m. in the Westend Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. James Henley, pastor of Westend Methodist Church, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. C. W. Hunt, pastor of Hartsville Methodist Church.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Louis Nicholas, organist, and Miss Betty Brown, vocalist.

The church was elaborately decorated with groupings of palms and woodwardia fern, the altar being centered with arrangements of Ascension lilies in brass urns. Adorning the choir rail was a band of the lilies with arrangements of woodwardia fern at either end. High in the choir at the base of the windows behind the altar were groupings of palms and fern interspersed with Ascension lilies. Tall groupings of palms were arranged on each side from cathedral candles in single and seven-branched holders. The center aisle of the church was defined with cathedral candles in single holders entwined with garlands of string smilax.

The bride, entering the church with her father by whom she was given in marriage, wore a wedding gown of oyster summer silk satin. The gown was fashioned along princess lines and featured a Florentine neckline distinguished by crystals and wheat pearls giving a sun-burst effect. The long satin sleeves were petal point. A distinguishing feature of the gown was the apron of Brussels lace accented at the waist in front with beads as neckline. The skirt featured a full cathedral length train. The bride chose a Brussels lace cap with scalloped edge and beading to match dress, which was adjusted to a matching cathedral length veil over imported silk illusion. She wore white satin slippers beaded to match her bridal costume which were her "something old," having worn them on the occasion of her debut. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and sprays of white phalaenopsis orchids.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Edwin Norris of Kingsport, Tenn., as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Davidson, White Plains, N. Y., Miss Joan Dunbar, Augusta, Ga., Miss Elizabeth Christian, Lynchburg, Va., Miss Mary Lou Watson, Wilson, N. C., Mrs. Lucy Wright Groves, Hartsville, Tenn., Miss Ann Burnley, Hartsville, Tenn., and Miss Joann McIlwain, Hartsville, Tenn.

The honor attendant wore a frock of chalk white Guipure lace over matching taffeta. The bodice featured a scoop neckline in front and back, and the three-quarter sleeves were crushed. The dress was fashioned in the long torso line finished with the matching taffeta giving a soft draped effect, and drawn to the back in a bow. Streamers of the bow extended to the hemline of the debutante skirt. The other attendants wore identical frocks in contrasting shades of the lace over chartruse taffeta. Matching opera pumps, short white kid gloves, and chalk white earrings completed the ensemble. The attendants carried identical bouquets of varicolored anthurium.

Ralph Garrett Jr. of Greenville attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Leon Moore, Greenville, Bernard Winfield, Little Washington, Louis Clark, Greenville, Noel Hardy brother of the bride, Hartsville, Tenn., Lee Folger, Greenville, Graham Flanagan, Greenville, Ian Campbell, Quantico, Va., and Jimmy Little, Greenville. Ushers were J. E. Covington, Richmond, Va., James Fichten, Greenville, J. W. Winn, Nashville, Tenn., J. W. Warner, Nashville, Tenn., Walter Stokes, Nashville, Tenn., R. G. Vallandigham, Winston-Salem, Sam Fleming, Nashville, Tenn.

The bride's mother wore a lido blue gown of hand clipped French Chantilly lace posed over matching taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a wide V neckline and short cap sleeves edged in scallops of the lace. It terminated in a dropped waistline from which flared the street length skirt. Matching shoes and pearl jewelry completed her costume. She wore a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Garrett, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of navy white imported tweed. The couple will make their home in Melrose Gardens, Quantico, Va. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hardy entertained at a reception at the Bell Meade Country Club. The receiving line formed at the end of the ballroom before the mantel. Groupings of calla lilies adorned the mantel shelf and at either end of the mantel were groupings of palms and woodwardia fern interspersed with candles in floor standards. Clipped huckleberry were arranged in the corners of the room and in the center were tall, clipped huckleberry with Easter lilies and white hydrangeas at the base.

The cake table was in the drawing room and was overlaid with a lace cloth posed over white satin. A tiered wedding cake encircled with string smilax and clusters of white freesias centered the table. Tapers in antique silver candelabra completed the decorations.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Folger, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webb, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Picklen, Mr. and Mrs. James Little, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bos, all of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Faison and Mr. and Mrs. William Hargett of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Hardy and Mr. C. L. Hardy of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Albrighton of Maury; and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clayton, Wilson.

John Karsnak is suffering from minor injuries which he received Saturday night in an automobile accident.

Pitt Needs More Horn-Blowing

Pitt County needs more horn-blowing in its own behalf. No, we don't mean the blowing of automobile horns. We mean that Pitt County and its individual communities need to pay more attention to letting the outside world know what an excellent place this is.

Individually, the communities of the county are interested in their own growth and development. Collectively, all communities are interested in the growth and development of the county as a whole.

For the most part we now look to commercial, agricultural and industrial development for our growth in population and the desired increase in total and per capita income in the county as well as a better balanced economy for the county.

Pitt County has a great deal to offer new business and industries. The county has a great deal to offer in the way of potential for expansion of the industries and businesses already located here. The people of Pitt know about the potential

Maybe We're Too Color-Conscious

The legislature may as well forget about the two bills concerning paint jobs on state-owned automobiles and leave the regulations as they now stand.

After hearing the pros and cons in the lengthy debate over the bills which would (1) require practically all state-owned cars to be painted silver and black; and (2) prohibit use of unmarked cars by the highway patrol; we can't see where the state would profit in any way by departing from its present auto color regulations for either of these bills.

The disadvantage of having almost all state-owned autos painted silver and black seem to outweigh any advantage this scheme would be to the state's highway safety program. At the same time state officials have indicated continued operations under the present system will be less costly from the overall standpoint than if all state-owned vehicles are of the silver and black variety.

The present arrangement seems to be the happy medium. Let's keep it that way.

A man who had spent number of years in Communist Russia told an audience recently of a significant circumstance he had observed one day in Moscow.

It was Easter Sunday. Ten thousand people were gathered in a great square and they were being harangued by enthusiastic atheists who pointed out the absurdity of Easter and all other Christian "superstitions." This indoctrination went on for some time. At last a very insignificant-looking man—not a clergyman at all—rose and stood for a moment until there was complete silence. Then he said very simply, "The Lord is risen." And from ten thousand voices there came the response, "He is risen indeed."

Evil has many characteristics but no characteristic so prominent as its stupidity. Dictators have believed that they could go on enslaving human beings and get away with it. They have tried, on a number of occasions throughout history, to destroy religion. The result has always been the same—the final, complete failure of their cherished plans. It is impossible to deny to human beings things which they crave because they are human beings.

The dictators may set the world afire before they are through, but their fire will never consume religious faith from off the earth.

Each Retreat Weakens U. S.

WASHINGTON—A bitter denunciation of past and present American policies has been voiced by a veteran missionary to China, who says that our retreats before the Reds are losing us the faith and friendship of a billion natives in the vast expanse from Korea to Burma. He voices a viewpoint shared by certain White House advisers, but one which is not sufficiently appreciated in this country.

He is Bishop C. M. O'Gara, who headed the Catholic Chinese Mission Diocese, which covers a fairly large area in Yuanling-Hunan Province. He was imprisoned by the Communists for two years. Although his report on Chinese reaction to our ten-year policies may prove unpopular in certain circles, it accords with statements by other missionaries of other denominations many diplomats, newspaper correspondents and businessmen acquainted with conditions there.

Indeed, certain Pentagon experts share Bishop O'Gara's belief that, regardless of the military importance of the Matsu-Quemoy Island groups, abandonment of them to the Reds would be hailed by their propagandists as further evidence that "the United States is only a paper tiger."

AN ALARMING PANORAMA—It is Bishop O'Gara's analysis of native sentiment, however, which is most significant and possibly fatal. In an interview with "Our Sunday Visitor," a nationally published Catholic weekly, he presents an alarming panorama.

"The Bishop," says the Visitor, "told of the hope and confidence felt in Hunan, his diocese, when the Japanese had been defeated. The Chinese felt secure and certain that the United States would help keep China free.

"But America tossed away the fruits of victory. The Communists were permitted to pour in and take over, Bishop O'Gara reports. The United States was beaten, the Communists claimed, and their first big of their own county and what it has to offer new business and industry. But do people outside Pitt know what the county has to offer?

For the most part, outsiders have not been sufficiently apprised of the benefits which Pitt can offer. They don't know because the people of Pitt haven't spread the good news about their own county to other sections of the state, and outside the state.

The responsibility for spreading the good news about Pitt isn't that of just a few businesses or promotional organizations. All the people of Pitt can and should lend their efforts to spreading the good news about their home county.

N. C.'s Coast Needs A Convention Hotel

The possibility of a 400 room hotel at Morehead City or Atlantic Beach should receive enthusiastic response not only from the people of Carteret County, but the people of the entire North Carolina coastal area.

Although North Carolina has probably the finest stretch of seashore of any Atlantic state, there is not a single big convention hotel on the North Carolina coast. Even North Carolina organizations have had to obtain use of facilities on the South Carolina or Virginia coasts for major conventions. That of course has meant for the state and it's people the loss of a great deal of revenue to neighboring states.

A big convention hotel has long been one of the greatest needs along the North Carolina coast. While it is not yet assured that the contemplated hotel at Morehead City or Atlantic Beach will become a reality, The Reflector would like to see the plans materialize.

Straw Votes Will Be Eye-Openers

Tax matters which have befuddled North Carolina's lawmakers since the beginning of the current legislative session will begin coming to a head this week. By the end of next week, the trend on new taxes and expanded "old" taxes should be fairly well settled.

The straw vote taken in the Senate Finance Committee last week brought many startling surprises which gave the first really clear picture of how the members of that committee felt about proposed taxes to raise the necessary millions to balance the state budget. When results of Tuesday's straw vote on 32 tax-raising measures are available from the Joint Finance Committee there'll probably be more surprises.

Of particular interest to the eastern section of the state is the two-to-one straw vote of the Senate Finance Committee which favored the proposed tobacco tax. A couple of weeks ago it looked as if the tobacco tax was a dead duck. People in the tobacco regions of North Carolina were highly encouraged. Now that the Senate Finance Committee straw vote shows members of that committee heavily in favor of the tobacco tax, the picture has taken another radical change.

He has gained credence. "The United States has been backed down in Korea, in Indo-China, in the Tachans. That lie grows and feeds on each U. S. retreat."

REDS CELEBRATE GAINS—Bishop O'Gara describes how the Chinese Communists in every Asiatic country celebrate and publicize what they advertise as "American defeats."

He says that "Every time the United States retreats and the Communists advance, there are great demonstrations throughout the length and breadth of China. Schools are emptied, victory parades are staged, and floods of lies are spewed forth by expert Communist propagandists."

"Bishop O'Gara," the interview continues, "explained that all of it is designed to make maximum use of the fact that the United States has backed down again, and is nothing but the paper tiger Red propaganda has always pictured her to be.

"The appeal to national and racial prejudice is most effective on young students, the Bishop stressed. The Communists, he says, already have had control of the youth of China for six years. In another decade, the present generation will be irrevocably theirs."

CHINESE ARE BANDITS—Bishop O'Gara cannot understand why certain Western interests and statesmen advocate trade with Mao Tse-tung, or Red China's membership in the United Nations. He says: "To accept Red China in the family of civilized nations is like doing business with a bandit who has kicked you, maimed you, beaten you and robbed you. Would you invite such a bandit to dinner?"

"How Mr. Churchill and Mr. Dulles and other negotiators of lesser stature in the Free World can contemplate dealings with these evil men, who come to the conference table reeking with the blood of our soldiers and missionaries, is beyond comprehension. If Red China is admitted to the U. N., every self-respecting nation should walk out."

Business Today

An Industrial Fetish

By ELMER ROESSNER
"Diversification has become an industrial fetish," the Senate Small Business Committee said in its annual report, which is discussed here again because the 124-page document can't be covered in only two commentaries.

"To insure profits and as a hedge against a slump in their own industry, many corporations have purchased operating concerns whose products or services bear little or no relationship to those of the acquiring company. Such a merger may or may not affect competition in the field of the acquired company... however... in such cases... a substitute unit must be made from the business statistics column headed, 'Small independent businesses.'"

The Committee's arithmetic is unassailable. It's reasoning, however, seems fuzzy. Its interest in numbers is hard to understand. The number of small, independent businesses was probably never greater than in 1933. The only trouble was that most of them consisted of selling apples.

The statement that diversification has become a "fetish" is curious. The word "fetish" was used by the Agriculture Department under both Republican and Democratic Administrations, has been preaching diversification in farming which, after all, is usually a business though not always small. And the importance of diversification in business has been stressed by Commerce Department under both political parties.

Small businesses could with stand big competition if they diversified more, whether by merger or expansion. If there is a company selling only bathing suits, and a company selling only mufflers, they had better merge—or two more companies may drop from that business statistics column. That will make the Committee unhappy.

Companies with year-around sales or with products in civilian and defense markets, or industrial and consumer markets are steady employers and steady buyers. As such, they can cushion the economy in any downturn. Diversification is common sense.

ALCOHOLISM COSTLY, RISING, MENNINGER SAYS
Alcoholism is increasing and its cost to industry is enormous, Dr. William Menninger, general secretary of the Menninger Foundation, told the Young Presidents' Organization.

"An estimated one of every fifty workers is a problem drinker and 89 per cent are in the thirty-five to fifty-five age range, by which time industry has a heavy investment in them," he said. "The loss of such experienced men—often of considerable responsibility—is costly enough, but more costly is the loss that occurs before the alcoholic is recognized and referred for treatment. Errors of judgment, inefficiency and difficulties with co-workers are not easy to translate into statistics."

GAS STATION OWNERS ON 72-HOUR WEEK
If you find life boring, buy or lease a service station. Then you won't have time to worry about life. The average service station owner or lessee, says he works 72 hours a week, according to a du Pont survey.

The survey also disclosed the average station is open 100 hours a week but that most gasoline is sold between four and seven p.m.

Wall Street Accounting Has Own Arithmetical Plan

By ROGER W. BARSON
BABS PARK, Mass.,—Although the Fulbright investigation of the stock market is over—probably to the benefit of all concerned—I continue to have questions from readers. Most of these are in regard to the Dow-Jones Industrial Average.

DO FIGURES LIE?
This is what seems to trouble readers most. First, they note that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average has "gone up" or "gone down" four points—for instance—and yet not one of the 30 stocks included in this "Average" has varied this amount. They say: "Wall Street accounting is worse than Truman accounting."

Another thing bothering stock-minded readers is that from one day to the next this so-called "Average" will move faster and further than what they claim to be the "honest Average." They write me: "No wonder Bernard

N. Baruch is reported to have indicated that readers had better forget following the newspaper accounts of Wall Street, because by the time the market makes the front page all the wise guys have left the premises with the money."

REASONS FOR WALL STREET ARITHMETIC
The day-to-day changes in the Dow Averages are magnified. In the case of the Industrials, if—on a straight mathematical average—the market prices of the stocks were UP 1 point, the net change shown by the Dow Average would be UP by more than 5 points.

The reason for the magnification of changes is that the Dow Averages are no longer arithmetical averages. That is, instead of taking the aggregate value of the 30 stocks in the series and then dividing the sum by 30, they now take the aggregate value and use an adjusted divisor which at the present time is 5.76. Thus, the daily change in the average is actually magnified in a ratio of 30 to 5.76, or about 5.2 to 1.

This method of computing the daily Average is to save time, yet preserve the historical continuity of the Average. Under the old method they adjusted each stock in the series for stock splits before computing the daily Average. Under the present method, no such adjustments are made for the individual stocks,—the adjustments are made in the divisor. In this way, there is no need to make a great many computations to adjust for the various splits that have taken place over the years.

The present method is satisfactory and simple,—the divisor itself is changed from time to time as splits and stock dividends occur. In fact, when this "divisor" idea was first used, the figure was 12.7, whereas the figure now used is 5.76. They first computed the sum of the market prices of the 30 stocks in the series adjusted for splits. The next step was to compute the Average by dividing this adjusted sum of the prices by the number of stocks in the series (i.e., 30). Then the next step was to add together the market prices of the 30 stocks (with no adjustments), and divide this figure by the adjusted Average. The divisor now used to determine the Average at the various times of the day has been computed in this fashion.

MARGIN REQUIREMENTS
Letters have also come to me asking how and when margin requirements have been changed during the past 20 years. Here are the facts regarding these: April 1, 1936, through Oct. 31, 1937, General Rule—55 per cent;

Nov. 1, 1937, through Feb. 4, 1945, General Rule—40 per cent; Feb. 5, 1945, through July 4, 1945, General Rule—50 per cent; July 5, 1945, through Jan. 20, 1946, General Rule—75 per cent; Jan. 21, 1946 through Jan. 31, 1947, General Rule—100 per cent; Feb. 1, 1947, through March 20, 1949, General Rule—75 per cent; March 30, 1949, through Jan. 16, 1951, General Rule—50 per cent; Jan. 17, 1951, through Feb. 20, 1953, General Rule—75 per cent; Feb. 20, 1953, to Jan. 4, 1955, General Rule—50 per cent; Jan. 4, 1955, to date, General Rule—60 per cent.

Margin requirements are set by the Federal Reserve Board, and are therefore an instrument of overall control. Changes are made as part of a broad Federal Reserve Policy.

Around Capitol Square

Legislators See Some Advance On Financial Problems

By LYNN NISBET
ADJOURNMENT—Legislators went home this week end much happier about prospects of pre-emptive adjournment than they were a week before. The straw vote in the Senate finance committee indicated that majority sentiment has switched back to the main features of the advisory budget and administration bills. The Senators voiced approval of the cigarette tax by better than two-to-one margin. Sentiment on that levy has fluctuated from week to week, with odds generally against its acceptance. The straw vote was not official, but more than half the Senators on the finance committee and over one-fourth of the entire membership expressed favor for the tobacco tax in lieu of a sales tax on food, feed and fertilizer.

House members have not voted, even informally. Petitions were circulated Friday and had almost half the House membership committed to the tobacco tax rather than food and feeds. Senate committee test votes showed acceptance of several other administration proposals which have been kicked around a good bit, and also of some items not included in the budget list.

There were signs that the tobacco folks would renew or continue active opposition to the cigarette levy. There was rather general feeling that they cannot go along with the idea of administration pressure and desire to go home. The acceptance of the tobacco tax yielding some nine million dollars, about one fourth of the total needed, suggests agreement can be reached on a number of smaller items sufficient to balance the budget.

The more optimistic members still believe income tax returns due April 15 will justify further decrease in estimates of required new revenue.

Since the adjournment by May 1 is hardly possible, but there now appears good chance for winding up legislative work by May 14. BIRDS—A former legislator visiting his old haunts was talking about chances for a statewide liquor referendum and the whole State going "dry." Some one said that abandonment of ABC stores was certain to have two effects: It would require the raising of some $10 million State revenue, and about $200 million for counties and municipalities from other sources; and, it would just as certainly increase moonshining activities.

"That might not be so bad," said the visitor. "You know the only places there are any quail now are the areas in which illicit stills are operated and the operators keep strangers out. I enjoy bird hunting a lot more than I do liquor drinking, and if a dry State means more birds and better hunting, I'm inclined to go along with the idea." (The man said he wouldn't mind being quoted by name, except it might endanger his hunting privileges in certain areas.)

ALIMONY—Rep. Charlie Falls of Gaston was seeking to amend a small claims court bill so that his county could establish such a court if desired. As originally written the bill applied only to Mecklenburg. He wanted it to apply to counties with over 100,000 population instead of to counties with cities of more than 100,000, and he wanted to reduce the required minimum salary for the judge.

Rep. Arthur Goodman of Mecklenburg told his colleague there was no need to amend the bill to annex Gaston and furnish the judge and his salary.

To which Rep. Falls replied in his soft voice and seriously as a bishop at confirmation services: "No, it took us a hundred years to get loose from Mecklenburg in our Superior Court district, and we want to enjoy the freedom—without alimony."

The new judicial district alignment makes Mecklenburg a district to itself and brackets Gaston with Cleveland and Lincoln. CENTRALIZATION—The idea of concentrating more and more power in the executive has some staunch opponents, but they seem to be in the minority. The House roads committee had under consideration the bill to put construction of buildings, other than roads and bridges, by the Highway and Public Works Commission under the same budgetary control as construction by other departments. Heretofore the highway commission has used its own employees and prison labor to build shops, garages, warehouses and even divisional office buildings. The pending bill would require that all such buildings where the total cost exceeded $15,000 must be let to contract under competitive bids—except when the director of the budget (the Governor) approves force account and prisoner workers. "Just one more step toward giving the Governor complete control over everything," said Rep. Sam Worthington of Pitt, who had the support of Rep. Brantley Womble of Wake and one or two others—but not enough to block favorable report on the bill.

POTPOURRI—Rep. Oscar Barker of Durham was asking for support of a bill to assure maintenance of the tiny park and monument at the Bennett place, marking the site of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston's surrender to General Sherman. "I want it known," he said, "that my interest is in the historic significance of the spot, not because of any enthusiasm for the surrender." Dave Clark of Lincoln was explaining the delay in getting to the committee typed copies of a substitute bill. He said the typists had not completed the job. "Sounds like a WPA project," quipped Rep. Charlie Bryant of Con. Dave grinned, the rest of the group laughed—and consideration of the bill was deferred until next week.

Worth Noting

ONE-FIFTH OF DURABLES PURCHASED ON IMPULSE
If 150 families in Decatur, Ill., are typical of the entire country, then Americans make a fifth the all purchases of durable goods on an impulse. The families have been studied for eight months by the University of Illinois.

The study also showed that three-fifths of all purchases of clothing, furniture, appliances, autos, homes and other durables were made because they could not be postponed.

The study also showed that when families plan a future purchase, the chances are three to two that they will make it. 1954 CANDY SALES DOWN; COCOA PRICE IS BLAMED Sales of candy in the United States decreased from 17.1 pounds per capita in 1953 to 16.3 pounds last year, the Department of Commerce reports.

The government attributes the drop to the high price of cocoa during most of last year. It noted that imports of cocoa were down and the sales of chocolate candies were off. Sales of non-chocolate candies rose some-what, but not enough to offset the chocolate drop (no pun). This suggested that calory counting was not to blame.

Large Crowds Go To Hell, Michigan

Police Prevent Near-Hanging By Drunk In Lockup

By BOB HILLDRUP
Reflector Staff Writer

The two police officers brought the drunk down from the upstairs lockup. It was Saturday night at Greenville Police Headquarters. "We got to him just in time," one said. "He had already made a noose out of his belt and was just lying there on his bunk."

The drunk, a longtime visitor at city and county jails, was taken to the office of Chief S.C. Gibbs. He sat there, a pathetic figure dressed in a dirty white shirt and rumpled blue trousers, while officers attempted to locate relatives to take him home. "Why'd you want to do it?" someone asked. The drunk twisted his head from side to side. "Be better off, better off," he mumbled. His eyes fell on a picture of Christ hanging from the office wall. "That's my Saviour," he said. "That's my good Lord Jesus."

"Then why'd you want to do it?" He wrung his hands in anguish and a tear trickled down his cheek. "Can't help it," he said. "Just can't help it." He paused for a moment, then looked up. "But I was a good man once. Oh, yes, a good man. Used to work hard, on so hard. Give all my money away. Never asked for nothing. Quit my drinking, quit my drinking."

"Why'd you start back?" "Couldn't help it," His voice dropped. "Just couldn't help it." An officer nearby shook his head. "It's gotten to his brain," he said quietly. "But he's in good shape tonight. You ought to see him head against the wall."

The drunk looked up again. "Tell the chief to shoot me," he said softly, "please." "He won't do that," someone answered. "I know," the drunk said. "He's a good man, a good, good man." Another officer came in. "We've got somebody to take him." The drunk rose and wobbled slowly from the office, his metal heel taps clicking tiredly over the floor.

Hell's proprietor currently is Erdly Van Sickle. A 54-year-old real estate man, he inherited most of Hell and its surrounding resort property from his mother two years ago.

Van Sickle likes to think of Hell as the 565 acres he either owns or has sold. It encompasses Hilland Lake and has all the qualities of a summer paradise. This area, including Hell proper, sometimes is known as Hilland Lake.

Hell itself consists of a half acre containing one country store, a connecting gas station and a restaurant. The restaurant is forced to close in the winter because, as Van Sickle puts it, "Hell freezes over."

Van Sickle's wife, Armalee, says "some church people are always after us to change the name of our community. They're awful strict and they raise quite a rumpus, but we'd never take our sign down."

"Hell got its name way back before the Civil War," she said. "I couldn't disrupt history like that."

A nearby Pinckney hotel owner named George Reeves actually founded the site when he built a flour and saw mill there. The

Youth Won Bet On Speed Limit

A youth left police headquarters happy Saturday night. He had apparently won his $5 bet.

It happened this way. The young man entered the police station shortly after night fall. "Can I help you son?" asked the busy desk clerk.

"Yeah," he said. "I'd like to know the speed limit on that last through street that crosses Evans."

"Second Street?" asked the clerk. "Well, it's 35 miles per hour on the hill section since that's in the residential zone. However, there's a section of the law which says that a speed should be maintained that's prudent under existing conditions."

"Why, what's the trouble?" the clerk questioned, expecting the worst.

"No trouble," the boy replied. "I bet my father $5 that the speed limit in that section is 35 miles per hour and I'd sure appreciate it if you would tell that to him. I need the money."

The officer assured the youth that he would inform the father correctly if he would phone him.

Ass'n Invites Joint Meeting

Greenville Appliance Dealers Association members have invited the local Furniture Dealers Association to meet with them tomorrow night at Saleby's in Washington.

James W. Butler, East Carolina College alumni secretary, will speak to the group on distributive education.

Key employes and their wives have been invited to attend the meeting. Those planning to be present are asked to meet at the corner of Evans and Washington Streets at 7 p.m. and from there travel to Washington as a group.

Ed Tipton serves as chairman of the Appliance Dealers Association and Robert Tunnell is chairman of the Furniture Dealers Association.

C-of-C Board Meets Tonight

Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Chamber office.

The Board is expected to take action on the recommendation of the Industrial Committee in connection with an advertising program to attract new industry to Greenville.

Also included on the agenda is a discussion of methods for raising an activities fund for industrial and agricultural projects.

Probe Causes of Fortress' Fall

PARIS (AP)—The French government has launched an investigation into the causes of the fall of the Indochina fortress of Dien Bien Phu almost a year ago.

The government's official gazette said a board of five officers has been set up to determine the responsibilities of all who took part in the battle that resulted in victory for the Communist-led Vietminh last May 7.

The fall of the fortress led to an armistice and loss of North Viet Nam to the Vietminh.

Whisky was sold for a dime a gallon, but the still's proprietors wouldn't sell less than a barrel.

The legend goes that one day a lumberjack asked Reeves what he was going to call his town. Reeves, reportedly bright-eyed from sampling 15 cents worth of white lightning, announced:

"I don't give a damn, call it Hell if you want." They did.

When the war was over, says Mrs. Van Sickle, the government began taxing whisky. Revenue men arrested the still operators because no one would pay more than a dime a gallon for the whisky.

Two Accidents At Intersections

All persons escaped injury this weekend in a pair of local accidents occurring at 10th and Clark and Dickinson Avenue and Greene Street.

Shortly before midnight Saturday vehicles operated by Millard Petway, 43, of Wilson and Willie Ray House, 20, colored, of Stokes collided at 10th and Clark, damages of $350 resulting. Petway was arrested for operating under the influence while James Earl Ferrell, 35, also of Wilson and the owner of Petway's car, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

The investigation, being conducted by patrolman Jim McGee, is incomplete.

In the second accident, approximately $50 damage was done to vehicles operated by Robert Burdon Greene Jr., 17, of Greenville and Filmore Herring 22, colored, of Norfolk, Va. No arrests were made.

"Five Ways To A Perfect Fit" — At Five Points

Phant Trackers Just Outclassed

Greenville's track Phantoms were simply outclassed Saturday at the Duke-Durham Relays in Durham as Arlington, Virginia and Dreher, South Carolina walked away with the track meet called one of the biggest in the South.

The Phantoms showed up better than most of the North Carolina teams but they were way behind their out-of-state rivals. Washington and Lee High School of Arlington led the other schools with 49 points. Dreher High garnered 33 points. Reynolds High of Winston-Salem and Durham High School were the only North Carolina schools ahead of the Greenville team. The Green Phantoms finished eighth out of 18 teams entered in the big event.

Harold Edwards and Bob Shackelford were the only Phantoms that placed in the regular events. Wayne Bishop got one point for placing fifth in the mile run, the only event that had five places. Edwards wound up second in the high jump behind an Arlington jumper. Edwards on his final attempt. Shackelford cleared 11' in the pole vault and finished second in his specialty. An Arlington boy defeated him also. Bishop, running in a field of 25 miles, was the first North Carolina runner to cross the line. His time of 4:44 was Bishop's best of the year and only two seconds over the Greenville record for the mile.

Other Phantoms entered the events but did not place. Larry Powell just missed fifth place in the shot put. James Speight, Mitchell Johnson, and Edwards missed out in the broad jump, and the mile relay and sprint medley teams failed to score. Pete West and Jerry Drum were each eliminated in the high jump at 5'8".

The next meet for the Phantoms will be in Greenville against Durham on April 19. This will be one of the hardest dual meets of the season for the Phantoms as Durham is defending state champion.

DURHAM (AP)—Seven meet records were bettered and one tied in the eighth annual Duke-Durham Invitational Relays won here Saturday by Washington and Lee High of Arlington, Va.

Washington and Lee scored 49 points in winning six first places. Defending champion Dreher High of Columbia, S.C., finished second with 33 points with Winston-Salem Reynolds third with 18.

Jefferson High of Roanoke, Va., was fourth with 15 points and Durham High fifth with 14 1/2.

Coates of Culpepper, Va., set a new record of 57 feet 4 1/2 inches in the shot put. Hilder of Arlington set a new mark of 5 feet, 11 1/4 inches in the high jump. Roanoke's 440-yard relay team did the distance in :44.7, a new mark; Armstrong of Arlington ran the 120-yard high hurdles in :14.9, a new record. Arlington's 880-yard relay team bettered the mark in that with 1:32.4; and Dempsey of Arlington broad jumped 21 feet, 7 inches for a new mark.

Peterson of Falls Church, Va., tied the meet 100-yard dash mark of :10.0.

Other points scored were by Charlotte Central, 13 1/2; Falls Church, Va., 11; Greenville, N.C., 6; Charlotte Myers Park, 4; Greenville, S.C., Senior High, 3; Craddock High of Portsmouth, Va., and Mooreville High, 2 each.

More than 200 athletes from 17 schools in the Carolinas and Virginia participated.

Middlecoff Wins Masters By Big 7-Stroke Margin

By MERCER BAILEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff won the 1955 Masters Golf Tournament by a record seven-stroke margin and he can give you a one-word explanation of his victory: "putting."

Middlecoff proved again what the experts always have contended—that no one can win the Masters unless his putting is superb.

Ben Hogan, winner here in 1951 and 1953, wasn't putting with his usual accuracy this year and had to settle for second place—his fourth time in the runner-up spot. Ben remarked that he lost his best opportunity to overtake Middlecoff when he took three putts on three greens in the third round.

Middlecoff's 272 total was four strokes higher than the record Hogan set in 1953 but the seven-stroke margin from his rounds of 72, 65, and 72 and 70 was the biggest ever.

The 34-year-old 6-foot-2 Tennesseean, who registers out of Klamath Falls, Ore., has been using since 1949 with special fondness, "I'm gonna marry that putter," he said with a chuckle. "That's the greatest thing since the automatic starter."

He said he put a considerably bigger putter on the handle of his putter for the first time a week ago.

"It seemed if I held it as loosely as I wanted to it would turn on me," he commented. "I like to hold my putter loosely—it works fine now."

Sam Snead, who won the Masters last year in a playoff with Hogan matched Middlecoff's closing 70 and moved into third place with a 287. Two of the younger stars, Mike Souchak, Durham, N. C., and Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, tied with former U. S. Open champion Julius Boros, of Mid-Pine, N. C., for fourth. They each won $1,333.33.

Middlecoff collected $5,000. Hogan $3,125 and Snead $2,125.

Cary, who deserted his dentist's office for the golf circuit in 1947, won the 1949 U. S. Open championship but he called his Masters victory the "biggest thrill I've ever gotten out of golf."

The Augusta National Course, with its 6,950-yard length and its mammoth, undulating greens, is rated one of the greatest tests of golf anywhere. It's par of 36-36-74 is not easily bettered. Only Middlecoff, Snead and Hogan were under par for the four rounds this year. No one was last year.

Baseball Season Is Opened Today

PITCHERS IN OPENING GAMES—These four hurlers and their teams have to go to work a day earlier than the rest of the major leaguers as the 1955 season opens. Scheduled to pitch in the American and National League openers at Cincinnati and Washington, D. C., (April 11) are: Bob Rush, top left, Chicago Cubs; Art Fowler, top right, Cincinnati Redlegs, in NL opener at Cincinnati; Bob Porterfield, bottom left, Washington Nationals; and Lou Kretlow, bottom right, Baltimore Orioles, in AL opener in nation's capital. All are righthanders. (AP Wirephoto).

The nation's millions of baseball fans eagerly awaited President Eisenhower's first "pitch" today, the signal for the official opening of the 1955 major league season.

After the chief executive's ceremonial toss in Washington, the Senators, according to custom, were scheduled to launch the American League campaign. They play the Baltimore Orioles.

The six other clubs will start tomorrow.

The National League's Cincinnati Redlegs also were slated to beat the gun by 24 hours, taking on the

Greenville Owner And His Southeastern Champion

Mr. R. V. Keel and his dog Keel Bragdon swept the all-age field trials at the Southeastern Fox Hunters Association Saturday. Keel Bragdon is the new all-age champion for the trials. With his dog Mr. Keel won the four trophies shown here at the three-day event.

Olson Makes Bid For Light-Heavy Ranks This Week

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Nearly three years ago the big name was Ray Robinson and a fellow named Carl (Bobo) Olson was trying to muscle the slick Sugar Ray out of his middleweight title.

Bobo didn't succeed that night of May 13, 1952, in San Francisco but he came close.

This week in boxing, the headliner is the same Bobo Olson now middleweight champion of the world and trying for bigger stakes—something that eluded Robinson.

An also-ran on the week's card is Ray Robinson, not so slick as in the past and trying to recapture the skill and speed that Father Time has taken away.

On Wednesday night in San Francisco's Cow Palace, the 26-year-old Olson takes on Joey Maxim, the ex-eight heavyweight boss in a non-title 10-rounder that will be telecast (CBS-TV, 10 p.m., EST) coast-to-coast. It's the fight of the week.

Balding Bobo has won 20 straight since Sugar Ray nipped him in their title fight. Over the same span, the 33-year-old Maxim has won five and lost three. All of the defeats were by Archie Moore, the present 175-pound champion. In his last two starts, Cleveland Joey whipped Floyd Patterson and Paul Andrews, two young 175-pound contenders.

Pitching Remains Cards' Problem

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"We could win the pennant or finish sixth. That's the type of club we have."

This is how Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals felt at the end of spring training and the exhibition schedule yesterday. Pitching remains his No. 1 problem.

"Our over-all defense is as good as any other team's in the league," Stanky said, "with a fine infield in (Stan) Musial (Red) Schoendienst, (Alex) Grammas and (Ken) Boyer. And our power should be as good as it was last year."

Cardinal hitters led the league as a team last season in runs, stolen hits, doubles, triples and stolen bases but the club finished sixth as the pitchers gave up a bulging total of 790 runs.

Wally Moon, last year's Rookie of the Year in the National League, will hold down left field with rookie Bill Virdon in center and dependable Rip Repulski in right.

Stanky's pitching trio compares defensively with the Musial-Enos-Slaughter-Terry Moore outfield for the Cards in 1942-46 and said they have the "potential" to rank ahead at the plate.

Musial was switched to first to bolster that spot and Virdon was installed in centerfield with Moon moving to left recently.

Virdon and Boyer failed to hit with consistency during the spring but both flashed occasional power at the plate.

The key to the pitching problem

Olson Makes Bid For Light-Heavy Ranks This Week

rests among rookies mostly untried in the majors.

Stanky's top four hurlers are lefty Harvey Haddix (18-13), and right-handers Brooks Lawrence (15-6), Gordon Jones (4-4) and Tom Poholsky (5-7). And three of these were pounded in the spring.

Haddix counted on as the ace of the staff, worked 20 1-3 innings and turned in an earned run average of 5.75. Lawrence had a bulging 8.14 for 24 1-3 innings, Jones 6.32 for 15 2-3 and Poholsky 2.70 for 20 innings.

Top rookie candidates are right-handers Floyd Woodriddle, Larry Jackson, Bob Tiefenauer and Barney Schultz. Woodriddle and Jackson are candidates for the No. 5 starting berth while Tiefenauer and Schultz will probably work in the bullpen with Frank Smith, Paul La Palme and Tony Jacobs.

Among the rookies, however, only Jacobs and Tiefenauer have had any major league duty.

Stanky, beginning his fourth term as manager, earlier rated the 55 club as "potentially the best team I've had here."

Keel Entry Captures Top Field Trial Honors

Keel Bragdon, 2-year-old Walker hound owned by R. V. Keel of Greenville, is the new all-age champion of the annual field trials staged by the Southeastern Fox Hunters Association.

The three-day trials which ended promised at Washington today, where a sellout crowd of 27,000 was expected to see the Senators' Bob Porterfield oppose Baltimore's Lou Kretlow in a battle of righthanders.

A pair of veteran righthanders, Bob Rush for Chicago and Art Fowler for Cincinnati, were the probable pitching choices at Cincinnati.

Experts have tabbed Cleveland and Milwaukee as the likely World Series antagonists. The Indians were picked to win the American League pennant after a bitter struggle with the Yankees and possibly White Sox.

A more wide-open race was predicted for the better balanced National League, with three clubs—Milwaukee, New York and Brooklyn—serious flag contenders. St. Louis and Cincinnati were regarded as outside choices.

On the first day of the meet 320 dogs were cast but only 175 remained for Saturday's finals. The association is composed of eight states. Next year's competition is to be held in Winston-Salem the first week in April.

Greenies Wallop Falkland, 17-9

Greenville's semi-pro baseball team romped to its second consecutive win of the young exhibition season yesterday afternoon when it outscored Falkland 17-9.

The Greenies now have won two exhibition games without a defeat at the hands of the Falkland squad. The hitters were certainly on their toes yesterday and pounded out 21 hits for the Greenies. Falkland got 11 hits.

Johnny Foell started on the mound for Greenville and was relieved by Bobby Coggins and Bobby Flye. Coggins was the winning pitcher for Greenville.

The Greenville team opens its 1955 baseball season at home against the same Falkland team on April 23. By that time pitchers from both teams should be in top form.

The Greenies practice again Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Guy Smith Stadium.

Phillies' Hopes Dimmed By Rash Of Hard Luck

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—For the fourth time in as many years a major league ball club has had its pennant hopes dimmed by spring training injuries to key ball players.

This time it's the National League's Philadelphia Phillies.

Misfortune scored with a high, hard one when firstline outfielders Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn collided and were injured while chasing a fly ball Friday in an exhibition encounter with the New York Yankees.

The New York Giants were hurt critically when Monte Irvin fractured his ankle in 1952. And last year the Milwaukee Braves lost the services for almost the entire season of the then newly acquired ballhawk, Bobby Thomson, also victim of an ankle fracture.

Doctor Reports 'Babe' Doing OK

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A doctor says Mrs. Babe Zaharias "is in fine shape."

Mrs. Zaharias, scheduled to play in the annual Babe Zaharias Open Golf Tournament in her home town of Beaumont next week, left here yesterday after undergoing a physical checkup.

Dr. R. N. Moore said, "there is nothing wrong with her. She is in fine shape. She just had some X-rays taken in San Antonio and wanted to have a checkup before going on to Beaumont."

Deacs Triumph In Initial Classic

DURHAM (AP)—The first Dixie Invitational Baseball Classic was water under the bridge today with strong Wake Forest the winner after three convincing victories.

The well rounded Deacons captured the title here Saturday night, dropping North Carolina State, 6-5, in a tight well-played game.

Duke's righthander Tom Blackburn nearly stole the show from the Deacons, however, pitching the Blue Devils to a 10-0 no-hit, no-run victory over Rollins in a game that settled third place.

In the consolation final for fifth and sixth places Yale defeated Notre Dame, 8-3. North Carolina stopped Ohio University, 6-1, to take seventh.

Wake Forest scored three runs in the eighth to break up a 5-5 tie. Both teams scored single runs in the early innings and then four each in the sixth. N.C. State's big blow in the sixth came from Bill Peed who smacked a two-run triple.

Lenwood Holt with four for five and Wake clouted three Wolfpack pitchers for 12 hits. Luke McKeel with three for five, led the Deacons in batting out of his hand.

Blackburn's performance was the tournament stopper. He fanned eight, issuing only three walks as he had Rollins, the pre-tournament favorite, eating out of his hand. Blackburn, who was starting his first game of the season after three relief performances, retired the last 13 men in order.

Duke clouted 14 hits, scoring three runs in the second inning—two on catcher Fred Shepard's two-run triple. In the fourth Duke scored six runs, three on Bernie Blaney's triple. Andy Cockrell blasted three doubles during the game.

WORLD'S LARGEST HOME TREATMENT FIRM TELLS TRUTH ABOUT HAIR AND SCALP

"SOME OLDER METHODS ARE GOOD BUT OURS WILL DO WHAT WE SAY"—OCHS

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Greenville, N. C., Tuesday only, April 12, 1955.

The private individual demonstration will be held at the Proctor Hotel on Tuesday only, April 12, 2 p.m. till 9 p.m.

OKLAHOMA CITY — April 9 — In an internationally famous hair and scalp clinic today, Dr. W. Ochs, internationally famous Hair and Scalp Consultant and director of The House of Winston, said: "There are 23 common hair and scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

DOUBLE GUARANTEE

"The Winston firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offers this guarantee," Ochs said.

Once a person avails themselves to the Winston treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, Winston offers two guarantees. "First, if you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress in the very first 30 days after enrollment your money will be returned. Second, The House of Winston also guarantees complete satisfaction at the end of treatment, regardless of conditions," Ochs emphasized.

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Winston consultants are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this loss category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Winston firm can perform wonders.

Everyone is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Winston firm in Oklahoma City, and a consultant will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Winston firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Ochs emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to me a miracle.

There is one thing Ochs wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Ochs said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment, and offers a lifetime guarantee. It all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Consultant D. R. Plymate at the Proctor Hotel in Greenville, N. C., on Tuesday only, April 12, 2 p.m. till 9 p.m. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

Salk Vaccine Report To Be Disclosed Tomorrow

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The big secret of the Salk polio vaccine is set like a time bomb to go off at 10:20 a. m. tomorrow.

The secret, of course, is how effective the vaccine was in preventing paralytic polio in children tested last year.

One man, the University of Michigan's Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., knows the answer after compiling all results of the test. He will not divulge it until Tuesday morning at a meeting of 400 scientists and doctors.

He hasn't told Dr. Jonas E. Salk, Pittsburgh scientist who developed the vaccine, nor Basil O'Connor, head of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

What will happen afterward?

The question is put by a well-known medical scientist who asked not to be identified. He has no connection with polio but speaks from knowledge of the history of insulin, antibiotics and GG (gamma globulin) for polio.

"Suppose the vaccine is a success. It could become a test of our moral fiber," he said. "Will it start a stampede, like a theater fire, to get vaccine at any cost? Will there be bootlegging, venality?"

"Or will parents demand intelligent self-control of themselves and others to insist the vaccine be used where it will do the most good to reduce polio—among young children and pregnant women?"

"Suppose," he continued, "the vaccine is found ineffective, or less than perfect?"

"How much dismay or loss of confidence may result? A vaccine can be a success without being sure fire. Can it give control like vaccines against yellow fever or smallpox, which are not 100 per cent effective? Fire-proofing buildings does not eliminate all fires, but it does drastically reduce the amount of destruction."

Police said the crowd numbered between 300,000 and 500,000.

As evidence of progress in peaceful use of atomic energy, the pope, without calling it by name, took note of the U. S. Navy's atomic-powered submarine Nautilus. He said:

"Without fear of trepidation we have noted the recent advances which, after some definite progress, have successfully completed the first attempt to propel a ship by means of nuclear energy, at last putting that force to the service and not to the destruction of men."

"We exhort men of science and of good will to persevere bravely and confidently in their theoretical and experimental study of the instruments and the promising materials, so as to attain worthwhile production of easily accessible energy, which may be put to use where it is needed and contribute to the lessening of the pressures of want and misery."

Gradual Disarming Endorsed By Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Giving his annual blessing to one of the biggest throngs in Vatican history, Pope Pius XII yesterday endorsed progressive disarmament and peaceful use of atomic energy.

The 79-year-old pontiff also warned against the still unknown effect on human procreancy of radioactivity from nuclear explosions.

The white-clad head of the Roman Catholic Church spoke from the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica. The vast Easter crowd jammed the square below and stretched far down the Way of the Conciliation leading to it.

Police said the crowd numbered between 300,000 and 500,000.

Greenville Police Had 96 Arrests During March

Greenville police officers made 96 arrests during the month of March, including 38 white males, 48 colored males, five white females and five colored females.

Drunkenness accounted for the highest individual total of arrests with 23 persons being picked up on that charge. Other specific offenses found eight arrests for aggravated assault and seven for larceny.

A total of 218 complaints were made to the Police Department and officers traveled some 16,738 miles on three patrol cars and one motorcycle last month.

Police said the crowd numbered between 300,000 and 500,000.

Sea Elephant Is New Pool Boss

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 2,500-pound bull sea elephant is the new boss of the sea lion pool at the St. Louis Zoo.

The deposed leader is a bull sea lion that weighed in at only 400 pounds. Both are members of the seal family.

The sea elephant, which just arrived by air from California with his mate and a pup, was put in the pool yesterday. Zoo Director George P. "It looks like he's taken over," Vierheller commented.

High Wire Artist 'Born' To Her Career' Of Peril

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

What makes a beautiful girl risk her life twice daily from April to November, teetering perilously on a thin thread of steel 50 feet in the air?

What does she think about when she walks blindfolded across the high wire, rides a bicycle across it, and then walks down a 45-degree-angle wire when the act is over?

"I do it because I was born to do it," says Josephine Beronini, blonde bespangled and 29. "And what I think about is just that stretch of wire 10 feet ahead."

When Josephine, queen of the high wire, staggers slightly on her perilous perch high in the rafters of Madison Square Garden, a gasp of Madison Square Garden, a gasp of Ringling-Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's "greatest show on earth."

Cynics may say, "It's an act. She won't fall."

But in the five generations of Beroninis who have walked the high wire, tragedy has struck four times.

Her uncle and aunt fell to their deaths while the family troupe was still in Europe. Another uncle spent years in a hospital after a fall in Buffalo in 1939.

And in 1950, Josephine stood frozen in horror as her 23-year-old brother Otto fell to his death during a performance in Waco, Tex.

The Beroninis were a family group on the high wire up to then. Otto's death broke up the group, Josephine's father and mother retired to their home in Miami. Otto's fiancée who had joined the troupe, left the high wire for good. So did Josephine—or she thought she did.

But the girl who started her feats of the high wire at the age of 5 could not stay away.

"I felt at first that I never wanted to see the wire again," she says. "I kept telling myself there must be other ways to make a living. But when the family troupe broke up, I knew I had to go on alone."

"It was only two months that I was out of the show. I started practicing my brother's act alone, while my father watched from the ground. He said he ought to be there, at first. It was like after my first fall, when I was only 6, and my father made me go right back on the wire, so I wouldn't let the fear get me."

"This time he didn't make me go. But the feeling that I must go on had been bred in me too long to deny."

"I hope my brother knows, and understands that I did this thing because his spirit pushes me on."

Women In The Church

Kwassui Junior College, Nagasaki, Japan, is celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding. In the years since 1887, when Miss Elizabeth Russell, an American missionary, opened the school with one frightened little Japanese girl on a cold winter morning, the school has grown to its present enrollment of 850 high school girls and 430 college students. In spite of the fact that part of the school was demolished by the atomic bomb, the campus has now been expanded to meet the increased demands. One of the recent new buildings is a dormitory for forty high school girls. The fund for the building was given by the alumni. Kwassui is a college of the Methodist Church.

A Boy's Nosebleed No Reason For Alarm

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Do YOU know what to do for a nosebleed?

Just in case you don't here's what to do.

Have the child lie down with his head tilted over to one side, so that the blood will not trickle down his throat.

Apply ice, first right over his nose, second at the back of his neck. Get the youngster to suck a piece of ice.

Usually this is about all you need to do. In a few minutes the bleeding will stop. The child should remain quiet for an hour or two and not blow his nose during that time.

If the bleeding does not subside soon, put a few drops of hydrogen peroxide into the bleeding nostril. This will usually help to form a clot and stop the bleeding.

If the nose continues to bleed even after these simple measures, it's best to phone your doctor.

However, even the next step is not difficult, and if you cannot reach your doctor you may have to do it yourself.

A nose that continues to bleed may have to be packed, and there are a few simple tricks worth knowing.

Use a long piece of inch-wide gauze bandage. Moisten the bandage in plain vaseline you have melted on the stove. Let the vaseline cool to about body temperature. With a small blunt stick poke an end of the vaseline gauze up the offending nostril. Continue to poke it as long as very gentle pressure puts more gauze into the nostril.

Be sure that all the gauze is in one piece and can all be pulled out together. Never, never, poke wads of cotton up the nose.

Let the pack stay in place for four or five hours, then remove it gently.

After the bleeding has stopped it's necessary for the injured spot to heal without forming a scab, because when a scab is pulled off the bleeding starts up all over again. If the inside of the nose is coated with vaseline the spot will heal without a scab. Use a cotton swab and coat the inside of the nostril with vaseline.

Nurse Saves Girl From Drowning

CELANPORT, N.J. (AP)—A heroic young nurse was credited today with saving the life of an 11-year-old girl who was dumped into the Shrewsbury River along with her father, brother and uncle when their home-made skimmer capsized.

The father and brother were presumed drowned after the 12-foot boat upset yesterday. The uncle was rescued.

Missing and presumed drowned were Barney Fain, 32, and his 9-year-old son, Alan, both of 1308 Virginia Ave., Norfolk, Va.

Fain's daughter, Carol, was going down for the third time when the nurse, 24-year-old Joan Beaton of Cedar Knolls Road, Whippany, N.J., dove from a passing cabin cruiser to pull the child to the surface.

The Fains had been aboard a boat owned by 22-year-old Neil Bry of Oceanport. Bry had kept his niece, Carol, afloat for 10 minutes but then had to let go. Then he managed to swim to the cabin cruiser owned by Breck Hamblen of East Orange.

Carol's first words after Hamblen's wife applied artificial respiration were:

"Where's my daddy? I know he is dead."

A long search of the rough waters by a Coast Guard cutter and a helicopter failed to turn up any sign of Fain or his son. Scene of the tragedy was about a mile from Shallow Point.

Hamblen, an insurance company executive, was cruising along when he spotted a man waving his hand in the water. It was Bry, clutching the overturned boat. Then he noticed Carol sinking in the rapid currents.

Miss Beaton, a nurse at Morris-town Memorial Hospital, leaped over the side, swam to the child and helped her aboard the cruiser.

Bry said his skimmer tipped over when young Alan leaped over the side and the others and himself tried to grab him.

The Fains were visiting the Brys. Fain's wife, Alice remained at home with Mrs. Bry while the others went out in the boat.

Nautilus To Test Battle Worth In Mock Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The atomic submarine Nautilus will head out to sea soon to test her speed and stealth against the best of the Navy's antisubmarine forces on a "shakedown" cruise of thousands of miles.

The big, 3,000-ton nuclear submarine came back into New London, Conn., late last week from a demonstration and test conducted for a Navy survey board which approves new ships for acceptance in the operating fleet.

The Nautilus' crew already has sailed her more than 3,000 miles and dived almost 100 times. But most of this has been to test her mechanical performance for the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., which built her, and for study by Navy technicians.

The purpose of a shakedown cruise for a conventional submarine lasts between two and four weeks, but it was learned that of the Nautilus will extend far longer than that and over much greater distances. There was no indication, however, that this first real sea cruise would be a test of the claimed round-world cruising capability of the first atomic submarine. Such a demonstration may come later.

The probability is that the Nautilus will cruise in the western Atlantic and Caribbean. She will work out against destroyer escorts, planes and blimps equipped with the most modern underwater detection gear.

Tell Her It's MURDER

CHAPTER ONE

The moon was serene and beautiful over the Country Club. Heralding intermission, a suspenseful climb up alone into a top register, broke off and three couples linked arms in a group and stroked off the dance floor to the terrace. Judith Kennedy nuzzled her cheek into her husband's shoulder and drew a deep sighing breath. "Hey!" grinned Bill looking down at her in surprise. "What's that for?"

"I—I was just thinking about Maggie," she said. "And wondering how long before she'll be dancing again on Saturday nights."

Bill's grin faded. "We're all asking ourselves that, I guess."

Laurie Nicholls said her hand into her husband's and looked broodingly up from her cigarette. "I still can't believe it, can you, Steve? I always thought it only ran in families, or happened to people like Chopin, or Robert Louis Stevenson. Not to one of your best friends."

Kay Ireland said, "Oh, now!" indulgently. Kay was a comparatively newcomer to Windermere the only one who hadn't grown up with the others, a girl with a bright flame of beauty and a heavy stone that had been her heart a far-off year ago. She said, "People don't drop dead with T.B. And Maggie's X-rays show only a small shadow. Trace told me."

"Judith looked faintly shocked. "Only a nurse could be so—so dispassionate, Kay. All I can see is Maggie's lovely body in the clutches of a—a tubercule bacillus."

Kay wasn't amused now. "When your life goes to pieces," she said, "you have to try to be brave—like Maggie."

"Oh I know she is putting up a brave front," Judith admitted. "You can't tell me she's not scared stiff, though. I'd be." After a moment's hesitation, she said defensively, "We'll all have to rally round and see Eric through this."

"Landon is coming," said Scott Wylie. Tall, dark, outlined in window-light, "She's coming tomorrow, Maggie's sister," he said to Kay. "Landon McCrae."

"Landon McCrae?"

"Didn't you meet her Kay—at Christmas, when she was home?"

"I was out of town on a case."

"You will like Landon," said Laurie.

"Everybody does. Though isn't she terribly young to take Maggie's place—with their grandmother and Merry-o to look after, too?"

"Twenty-one," said Scott, his dark eyes bright. "She'll be all right."

"A year isn't it, that Maggie's to be at the Sanatorium?"

"Yes."

Judith said "A year isn't really so long."

Kay moved sharply. Her luminous face was pale. "You're wrong. A year is forever."

The orchestra began to play again, and all but Kay and Scott went inside.

It was rough being a widow at 23, Scott thought. Kay's husband, Jarvis Ireland, had been lost a year ago in an air battle in Korea. He'd been the most popular man around. There'd been some dashed hopes among the local girls—even in Scott's own tight-knit little set—by Jarvis's blithe marriage to an outsider. Not only Jarvis but the Ireland name stood for in town had gone to a girl who was not one of them; a girl too beautiful and too brightly intact. They weren't forgiving her easily.

Kay twisted her glass idly on the counter. "I was rude out there," she said with a faint little smile. "Judith didn't mean to be cruel. She was just thoughtful."

"She doesn't like me," Kay said ruefully.

Judith was one of the girls whose hopes had been dashed. Scott wondered if Kay knew, if he should offer her the solace of his belief that Jarvis and Judith had always been very good friends, nothing more. But looking down at her, seeing no chunk in her bright armor, he thought, No. He said abruptly, "You'd have been better off in New York. Why did you come here? I'm not just idly curious, but anyone can see you are not happy here."

"I am." But she turned her face away, biting her lip on the too-vigorous avowal. "Do you find it strange that I should want to know Jarvis' mother, and his friends? Where else do I belong Scott? I've got to find a place for myself. I'm lost."

It was true, in a way. But he doubted if Jarvis' mother was good for her, the way she was taking his death, or more precisely, not taking it. For Mrs. Ireland steadfastly believed that her son was still alive. She went on planning a future for him. She even knitted the argyle socks she had always made for him. True, she'd given the Salvation Army a carton of the socks at Christmas, but her needles were busy again, had been for months, tranquilly clicking an endless gentle emphasis of her undervaluing belief.

Kay lifted her face searing his in tremulous appeal. "I will have fun again, won't I, Scott? I won't always be half living, like this?"

Her grave, heart-shaped face and troubled eyes checked the easy bromide of time being a panacea. Looking down at her, he said on a note of discovery, "You are unusually like Maggie Scarffe d'you know?" Though why he suddenly thought so he couldn't have said. He didn't mean they looked alike.

Her face brightened. "That's a lovely compliment! I like Maggie tremendously. Eric, too. I think they are the most married couple I know. It is going to be a rough year for them, isn't it? For Landon, too. Tell me about her. Is she like Maggie? She lives in New York, doesn't she, and works on a magazine?"

He recalled what Landon had said to him the last time she was home. "What's wrong with me, Scott? Me and all my starry-eyed dreams! . . . All I've done is bang a typewriter in an office with 17 other stenographers. The editorial offices are somewhere upstairs, on the moon!"

He remembered Kay, said absently "Ye-es."

It takes more than talent, more even than ambition, he had said to Landon. "It has to be a drive, a single's of mind. It has to give purpose and direction to everything you do. Nothing's wrong with you! You just won't be at your best until your energies are released in the right direction."

Kay's grave face broke into an indulgent smile. "You like Landon McCrae," she said. "You like her very much."

She said the tips of three fingers on his wrist artery and began counting the rate and rhythm of his pulse with a charming air of professional gravity. Scott felt his ears turning bright pink. After a full minute he said, "Fast and hard, high emotional tension," and when he couldn't find anything to say, she laughed at him. "Let's dance, shall we?"

Later, the softness of Kay's mouth was an invitation, but Scott did not kiss her. Standing with her in the darkness of her doorway, feeling her intensity, he thought, "It's not me. It's Jarvis she wants to kiss." A small, clear part of his mind was saying Landon McCrae's name over and over with a queer clamoring insistence.

Scott was 12 when he first saw Landon, at her dancing school's Christmas ballet. She was a five-year-old, chubby, big-eyed angel in celestial cheesecloth, with a bouncing tinsel halo and a furious intent scowl. It is doubtful if she would have broken through his boredom if he hadn't noticed suddenly, that none of the other angels was carrying a water-pistol.

"Say," he'd jabbed the elbow of the boy next to him, "who's the fat one with the gun?"

"Where? Oh, the McCrae kid. That's her sister Maggie at the piano. Jimmy, it's a gun! D'you suppose it's loaded?"

Scott kept his eyes attentively on that angel—but she didn't squirt the gun. He heard later that one of the angels had gone berserk with a water-gun, off-stage; that she had thoroughly drenched her dancing partner for trying to snatch off her halo. T. McCrae kid, of course. But he had almost forgotten her.

If you want the FACTS about "Legal Control" you will want this book

Broad statements — unsupported claims — emotional propaganda — untruths — these are the causes of ignorance of the true facts regarding "legal control" of the sale of malt beverages in North Carolina.

Here, for the first time, are the facts about "legal control" as compiled by an outside agency, The North Carolina Research Institute, and published by North Carolina Distributors of Malt Beverages.

The only alternative offered for "legal control" is prohibition. Because prohibition has proven unenforceable it means in effect — no control. Face the facts.

The Malt Beverage Industry subscribes to and supports a system of self-regulation which in turn is supported by North Carolina "legal control" laws. Who has ever heard of a bootlegger accepting any responsibility to his community, county or state? Let's face the facts.

For the best results, we don't need prohibition, we need "legal control." Look at the facts.

*Legislators, Educators, Editors, Ministers, all public leaders and interested individuals are urged to write the above address for a copy of this book — at no charge for as long as they last.

Greek Children Repatriated By Red Bulgarian Captors Are Indoctrinated

EDITOR'S NOTE: The cold war is the stage of a modern Greek tragedy. Communist nations have been pumping Red propaganda for seven years into a about 28,000 Greek children abducted during the Greek civil war. Now the Reds are suddenly eager to return the hostages. Why? William L. Ryan has sought the answer in a survey of political, economic and military implications on the spot. This is the first of three dispatches.

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
KASTORIA, Greece (AP)—A special train from Communist Bulgaria screeched to a halt on the Greek side of the frontier. A Greek in his early 20s leaped from the train and, falling to his knees, kissed the Greek earth he had not seen for seven years.

The young man wept as he proclaimed his joy at deliverance. He had been one of about 28,000 Greek children abducted by the Communists, along with thousands of adults, during the Greek Civil War of 1947-49.

Two weeks after his repatriation, Greek security police arrested this same young man. He was, they said, a trained Communist spy.

The young man was more than that. He was an example of how communism sets about to capture a generation. He was part of a compounded tragedy which has become a major problem for Greece and a matter of concern for Greece's friends, including the United States.

This area, within sight of the towering wild mountains—which mark the border of Communist Albania, was one of the hardest hit by a crime which shocked the civilized world—the wholesale kidnapping of Greek children.

Now the Communists seem suddenly eager to return thousands of those forced across the border and possibly some of the many who went willingly as the families of Red guerrilla fighters.

Many Greeks are asking—Why? Why, at this moment, after all these years and all the futile pleas of Greece for world opinion? For humane reasons, the Greeks want their people back. But there are misgivings. A sudden flood of repatriates raises serious economic difficulties in the villages. It raises political problems, too, because the children forcibly abducted have reached their late teens and early 20s after seven years of the most rigorous Communist indoctrination, forced estrangement from their parents, isolation from any free world influence.

And Greeks ask: Are the Communists preparing a time-bomb for Greece? Communists of the Soviet satellite nations, through the International Red Cross, agreed last year to return some of the Greeks. Up to now, 3,700 have been repatriated in this way, but:

Of the 3,700 repatriates, 60 per cent are women. About 1,300 are over 60 and an equal number are children, most of them born across the border. Only 1,100 are in the 20-to-60 age group. Those coming back at the moment include many who will be burdens to their communities. Attached to their return is a condition that they must go to the villages or areas of their origin.

Even these few created problems for Greece. The Communists seemed fully aware of that. Poland suddenly offered to repatriate 6,000 in the dead of winter, when it would be most difficult to accommodate them. The number was too great for the Greeks to handle in one batch. They asked that it be scaled down to 2,000 and the time advanced to spring.

There is now a strong rumor that the Communists replied with an offer raising the number to 11,000, to be moved in a single batch at once. It seemed an effort to embarrass the Greeks. So security screening alone is a long and arduous task, taxing Greek facilities to the utmost.

There might not be dangerous elements among the first batches. Repatriates here angrily deny that any of their number has any use for communism. But Greek officials are frankly worried about those to come—the children schooled for seven years in a Communist vacuum.

Interrogation has shown that many of the children, grown to adulthood in isolation from their parents, have undergone the most thorough of indoctrination courses. Many had special treatment in special schools under the guidance of the Greek Communist party, now based largely abroad in the satellite countries. They had better treatment in many cases than did the children of the native Romanians, Poles, Hungarians or Czechs.

In Romania, a big Bucharest building and two big villas were set aside for Greek children. They were kept to themselves under Greek Communist teachers. Village children from birth, in a hard mountain country, they had never seen a large European city. Budapest, Prague and Bucharest were proud old cities long before the Communists came along. Children would be impressed.

Security officials say many who left Greece as children now are indoctrinated Communists who would represent a new and serious nucleus for the outlawed Greek Communist party.

There was an illustration: Furtively, two teen-age boys agreed to slash their fingers.

They smeared the spurting blood on letters they were writing to their parents, still captive in a Communist country. The boys, long separated from their parents, had recently been repatriated from Romania.

On the blood-smeared sheets of paper they wrote: "This will show you how the monarcho-Fascists torture those who return here."

They wrote that they were cruelly beaten in Greece and that the blood showed it.

Since the boys, among the relative few who could be placed in a school for rehabilitation, were under observation at the time, the letter was read and stopped.

This story was told to me by a representative of the Queen's Fund, a charitable organization now devoting much of its considerable energy to the problem of the repatriated children.

Greece is salvaging some of them. But it is a slow and painful process.

EASTER BONNET

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Zoo added an Easter bonnet to its collection yesterday. The bonnet monkey—it gets its name from its curious hairdo—was named appropriately enough, "Easter."

General Motors Keeps Silence On Guaranteed Pay

By NORMAN WALKER
DETROIT (AP)—The giant General Motors Corp. pledged today to work hard toward negotiating a new contract peacefully with the CIO United Auto Workers.

Contract talks were due to resume this afternoon. The union opens negotiations with the Ford Motor Co. tomorrow.

The GM pledge was in newspaper advertisements in major cities. It was the company's first statement on its bargaining. It said nothing about the UAW's requests for the guaranteed annual wage, pay and pension boosts and other concessions.

Instead, GM stressed that the exploring five-year contract with the union has meant prosperity for the company and the workers, in higher pay, steady employment, plant expansion and increased sales.

"Every one of us who is a member of the GM team can be happy that we have a winning combination that benefits all concerned," the ads said.

"There's every indication that this can be the best year of all. It's just plain common sense to keep the ball rolling straight through 1955."

This seemed to mean that GM wants if at all possible to avoid any strike in this year of record production. The present GM-UAW contract expires May 29, the Ford contract running out three days later, on June 1.

"We at GM have taken our place at the bargaining table with an open mind," the company said.

"As in the past, we are determined to work hard in an effort to negotiate a new agreement which will be fair and of mutual benefit to the public, our employees, the union and the company."

GM thus avoided displaying the slightest evidence of fight against the UAW demands, particularly the most controversial one for guaranteed year-around pay which Walter Reuther, president of the UAW and the CIO, has promised he'll win from the auto industry this year.

HOSPITALIZED FAMILY

DEEP RIVER, Conn. (AP)—Mrs. Frank Joy drove to Boston to visit her son, a patient at a hospital there, and herself became a patient in the same hospital. She had head injuries when her car was involved in a collision. Her husband was at home convalescing from an operation.

IN SWEEPSTAKES—An Army ceremonial detachment famed for its drill technique "presents brooms" at start of Spring cleaning at Fort Jay, Governors Island, New York harbor.

Grounds Opened To Egg-Rollers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower threw open the White House grounds today for the traditional Easter Monday egg rolling, an event that draws thousands of children annually.

The President promised to greet his guests personally during the morning. He had a date to open the baseball season at Griffith Stadium in the afternoon.

The rolling, consists simply of rolling left-over Easter eggs down the grassy slopes of the south grounds—or, on occasion, of tossing the eggs at any handy target.

The White House said last week Mrs. Eisenhower would show up at today's festivities, but she switched plans and stayed at their farm home at Gettysburg, Pa. She is recuperating from a recent illness and supervising decoration of the Eisenhower's new home.

The President visited with her for a few hours Saturday afternoon and then drove back to the capital. Yesterday he attended Easter services at the National Presbyterian Church.

served as reinforcements for himself when fire broke out in a residence. He drove a fire truck to the blaze and then ran back to the station house and drove another truck over. It was faster than using radio. The house was right around the corner from the fire station.

Hard To Believe

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Prison officials didn't believe it at first when they heard that a young convict turned down a chance for a parole because he likes to sing on the Kilby Prison quartet.

Orville F. Gray, 27, also surprised Parole Supervisor E. M. Farman when the official came to interview him in regard to parole.

Gray, convicted of robbery in 1948, has served most of his time under a 10-year sentence. He could take a parole in June.

The parole supervisor said Gray asked to be passed over for parole so he could keep on singing in the prison quartet.

Chaplain Fred B. Pearson said the prison singers have been working hard to build up their quartet, which frequently makes outside appearances.

Gray will finish his minimum sentence around the first of next year.

Balloon Wafted Him To Arrest

VIENNA Austria (AP)—The Russians arrested Austrian Trade Minister Udo Illig yesterday after a charity balloon flight wafted him into their zone.

They released him and his companions three hours later with apologies.

Illig, his son and several others set out from Vienna in a Swiss balloon scheduled to land at Salzburg in the American zone. But wind currents carried them over Soviet territory and they landed near Arbesthal, about 25 miles below Vienna.

PROMOTED—N. A. Mikhailov, above, has been appointed Soviet Minister of Culture, succeeding Georgi F. Alexandrov who was fired for failure to "ensure leadership."

FOUR KILLED IN APRIL SNOW STORM:—Four men died when this automobile and truck crashed on a busy six-lane highway near Salt Lake City, Utah—with such force that the auto was cut in two. Severe Jolts To Temperance Men

PARIS (AP)—Backers of a campaign to cut down the average Frenchman's alcohol intake have had some heavy jolts since Premier Pierre Mendes-France was forced to quit.

First thing they knew, the National Assembly repealed one of his pet decrees — raising license fees for bars and earmarking the revenue for a campaign against patronizing them.

The new Cabinet has promised that funds for the campaign will be found somewhere, but as things stand the committee Mendes-France appointed to run the campaign has $22,857 to pay its staff and get to work.

Another lawmaker came in the form of a decision to put a subsidy of about 3 cents a quart on shipment of cheap wine to French overseas territories.

Edgar Faure, the new premier, has promised to carry on the fight against excess drinking, but his methods are more diplomatic than Mendes-France's.

Faure's Cabinet may have to lay it on the line after the National Assembly comes back into session next month.

Mendes-France put several of his proposals into an omnibus bill now before the Public Health Committee. If and when it is reported out, the new government may have to say where it stands on such issues as the sale of hard liquor before 10 a. m., and freedom of advertising for manufacturers of aperitifs.

No Answer, And Found Out Why

CHICAGO (AP)—William Herzog was in a back office of his interior decorating establishment. When none of his eight employees responded to his telephone call he returned to the front office to see why. He heard a rapping on the office vault door. He opened it and out strode eight employees, plus a customer.

They said two gunmen held them up, took $170 cash, herded them into the safe and slammed the door.

Acquittal Due A Piece Of Glass

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A man who was charged with driving without a safety sticker on his windshield won his case when he showed up with a broken piece of glass and a sticker pasted on it.

"Had a wreck and broke my windshield," he explained. "I kept the pieces."

Movie Industry Is 'Joining' T V

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." That is the new policy of the movie industry toward TV.

The policy is not entirely new. It has been developing for the past three years. But in the last few weeks, the situation has been breaking wide open. Big studios that have been ignoring TV in the past are now getting ready to embrace the new medium.

There are two trailblazers in this field. Without too much fanfare, Columbia Pictures entered the TV film business three years ago. The venture has proved highly profitable. Columbia's subsidiary, Screen Gems, now has five series—Ford Theater, Rin Tin Tin, Damon Runyon Theater, Jungle Jim and Celebrity Theater.

The Ford Theater deal has proved a real moneymaker, since the half-hour dramas are sold to other sponsors for reruns.

Walt Disney took an even bolder step. With his hour-long Disneyland, he created an expensive show, partly based on the valuable films he has in the studio vaults. The producer claims he was not out to make money, though there is no doubt Disneyland will show a profit in the long pull. (And his forthcoming daily hour of the Mickey Mouse Club should do well; it has already attracted eight million dollars from sponsors.)

Disney said he entered the TV field primarily to attract interest for his theatrical ventures. He has succeeded. His "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" is a big hit, and much of the credit is laid to its exploitation on Disneyland.

The Columbia experiment proved to the other companies that studio facilities could be profitably used to make TV films. The Disney venture proved the value of TV to exploit movies for theaters.

No everybody's doing it.

Republic came out with a shocker last week. The company announced that it might give up making theatrical movies entirely and concentrate on making-TV films.

Twentieth Century-Fox, long a holdout against any truck with TV, now is jumping into the field. The studio is converting its veteran Western Avenue lot in Hollywood to TV production.

Paramount plans to enter TV production with a hour show that appears to be similar to Disneyland. It reportedly will fill the Comedy Hour time on NBC Sundays. And Warners has announced that it will start TV production with an air series as first project.

Warners also has a deal in the works for an hour show which would be based on former movie scripts. The company has released some of its old cartoon shorts to TV.

Universal-International entered the TV field three years ago. After producing one series, the studio has limited itself to making commercials for TV. RKO has not entered production, but rents out most of its Pathe lot in Culver City to TV producers.

The latest report is that MGM is mulling a leap into TV possibly renting some of its vast studio space to outside producers.

Explosive Warning

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A shotgun blast awakened Frank Gaines Jr., and he sat up in bed to find his house ablaze. The heat had discharged the gun, possibly saving his life.

Only One Minor Show Mishap

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An automobile show was declared a success with only one minor disturbing incident.

"A lady got stuck under a car," the show manager said, "and we had to use a jack to get her out. We were too surprised to ask how she got there and she was too embarrassed to tell."

Fire Paralyzes Virginia Town

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (AP)—The business life of this northern Virginia town was paralyzed today as the result of a $750,000 fire that proved to be a tragic replay of history.

Only 6 of 26 buildings remained after a four-hour blaze that engulfed the Bowling Green business district on a warm, windy Easter afternoon.

The flames started in a hayloft of a barn behind a row of business houses — and occurred 55 years to the day after a fire that nearly wiped out the community, located some 30 miles north of Richmond.

The outbreak in 1900, centered in the same area of this town of 700.

The toll in yesterday's fire included two restaurants, a 10-cent store, two drug stores, a clothing store, a hardware store, two barber shops, two electrical appliance places, a grocery, two shoe shops and a garage. A Red Cross office and a Masonic hall burned, too.

Eight families who had apartments atop some of the business houses were left homeless. Two persons suffered minor injuries.

Several persons told of seeing two or three small boys run out of the barn moments before the flames were spotted. The 1900 blaze began when someone tripped over a lamp.

Took 126 Men To Right The Plane

AGANA, Guam (AP)—It took 126 men to get a B36 giant bomber off its nose. Failure of the nose wheel to stay put once the bomber was on the ground caused it to tip as the wheel retracted.

Once on its nose, all the usual heavy equipment could not get the bomber upright again. So 14. Col. Albert J. Ray, marshalled maintenance men and spectators and marched them into the plane. When the 126th man stepped into the rear of the plane, up came the nose.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today, but there were several areas of backwardness.

The rise carried prices up around 3 points at the best. Losses went past a point in several instances.

Trading started quite fast and then slowed, but it still maintained a pace around 2 1/2 million shares for the day. That compares with 2,330,000 shares traded Thursday.

Steels were depressed with Bethlehem Steel down between 3 and 4 points at times. The company Thursday after the close announced plans to issue nearly 192 million dollars in convertible debentures. It opened on 2,000 shares off 1 7/8 at 135.

Aircrafts were mostly lower. It was disclosed in Washington that a House committee plans hearings on industry profits from government contracts.

Parke Davis opened on $100 shares up 2 1/4 at 49 1/2 and held its gain well. Merck was in demand as well. Both are suppliers of Balk polio vaccine.

Union Carbide was strong after it was announced that the company was getting into a new type of research on application of atomic energy.

Studebaker-Packard stood out in the motor section, including a block of 2,500 shares up 3/4 at 13, along with reports that its March operations showed the first profits since the company was merged.

Anaconda Copper had a block of 20,000 shares up 1 1/2 at 63, and then it added to its gains.

Asian Leaders in Heavy Schedule

NEW DELHI (AP)—Asian premiers are carrying out a busy schedule of meetings this week in preparation for the African-Asian conference opening in Bandung, Indonesia, a week from today.

Prime Minister Nehru and Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong of Communist North Viet Nam would meet three days of talks on Indochina yesterday.

The biggest preconference gathering is expected later this week, perhaps Wednesday, in Rangoon. Arrangements have been made for Nehru, Nasser and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to join Burmese Prime Minister U Nu there for the trip to Bandung.

Nu has already announced he will sound out Chou on possible ways to ease Chinese-American tension over Formosa.

Nehru and the North Vietnamese foreign minister issued a communique after their talks saying they had "agreed on the importance of free elections (for Viet Nam) and the achievement of the unity of Viet Nam as provided at Geneva."

Contract Talks

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The first contract talks since the middle of March were scheduled here this afternoon as the strike of bus drivers in the 10-state Atlantic Greyhound System went into its fifth day.

The 725 drivers who struck last Wednesday night are members of Division 1493, AFL Motor Coach Employees Union.

The strike of drivers has idled an estimated 1,700 other Atlantic Greyhound employees in the system, which covers all or part of Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and the District of Columbia.

Union Division President Daniel V. Maroney said earlier that his union was calling the strike because the company refused to meet during the week of April 3 and "We don't think there is a reason for further delay."

Dulles Is Kept Jumping By Political Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has a handy supply of fires and frying pans. He keeps hopping from one to another. It's the way he does things that gets him into it.

A month ago, someone in his State Department "leaked" the Yalta papers to a newspaper on the very day Dulles said they could not be released because they involved national security. Then he ordered that they be released generally.

His tactics in that case will be examined next week by a Senate committee.

The Democrats are sore at him for his Yalta performance. Now he's in another uproar for the way he treated Edward J. Corsi.

This time both Democrats and Republicans are on his back. One Democrat, Rep. Celler of New York, intimated he does not think much of Dulles' spine. He said: "I could make a better backbone out of a banana."

The Italian-born Corsi, a specialist on immigration problems, is a Republican who not only ran for mayor in New York City but campaigned for Dulles when the latter unsuccessfully ran for the Senate.

Dulles brought Corsi here three months ago as his special aid on immigration problems. At that time Dulles called Corsi "my old friend" and said he was the "best qualified man" for the job.

Congress has put restrictions on immigration, even on refugees from communism. The Eisenhower administration is committed to loosening up the law. Corsi, soon after coming here, recommended changes.

He was pounced on by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), one of the authors of this country's basic law which puts quotas on immigration.

Walter said Corsi has been a member of Communist fronts. Corsi denied it. Walter kept up his gunfire. Last week Dulles dropped ing taxes now are just about taxed to the limit" and that "we've got to bring others in and we've got to let them contribute to the government."

However, he noted that sentiment for the privilege tax on driver's license is not very strong at present.

Home Rule Bill

Sen. Jones stated that he is "very favorably inclined" toward the home rule legislation which was recently introduced in the General Assembly. Effect of that legislation would be to eliminate the flood of local legislation which hits the Legislature at each session.

The bill calls for a vote in 1956 on a constitutional amendment which would give municipalities and counties the right to accept the home rule by a vote of the people in each governing unit.

The League of Municipalities last week placed its stamp of approval on the legislation with several suggested amendments.

Rep. Jones . . .

"I have heard appreciable opposition to this bill and I will vote against it," Jones declared. He explained that although it is a general statute, only five counties in the state are governed by the law.

One county which was under the law has withdrawn from the jurisdiction of the statute after a trial period under it. Rep. Jones said he has received a resolution from the Pitt County Board of Commissioners opposing Pitt's inclusion under the law, and also has heard opposition to the bill from several merchants of the county, fertilizer companies and lending agencies who are doing business directly with farmers.

Luxury Tax

Commenting on a 10 per cent luxury tax proposal introduced last week Rep. Jones said, "This bill is simply taking 10 per cent of specified items the federal government removed last August and applying the same to the state tax schedule. The bill was drawn exactly as the federal statute and covers the same items: luggage, fur coats, cosmetics and so forth. It is a tax that the merchants and the consumers have had for approximately 10 years. During this period I do not know of any undue hardship the tax has worked on either the customer or the merchant."

Jones explained that his 10 per cent luxury tax proposal was introduced as a replacement or substitute for the proposal to place a sales tax on fertilizers, feeds, seeds and insecticides. He said the proposed sales tax on the above-mentioned farm necessities would yield approximately two million dollars a year while figures from the Department of Internal Revenue in Greensboro showed the 10 per cent luxury tax, if adopted, would yield approximately two and one-fourth million annually.

Farmers' Tax Burden

"I feel the farmers of the state are struggling under as much of the tax burden as they can stand at this time," Rep. Jones said. "So when it became apparent that certain members of the General Assembly were advocating this fertilizer and allied taxes, I felt we should make a thorough search for other sources of revenue to replace the proposed unfair tax on fertilizers, feeds, seeds and insecticides."

Rep. Jones said his proposal is not a straight 10 per cent tax increase on the luxury items affected, "in as much as the items covered by the proposed luxury tax bill will be exempt from the three per cent sales tax." It would make a net tax of seven per cent on the items under the luxury tax bill.
