Geneva—As the time for the May international convention for control of traffic in arms approaches, there are increasing indications that this meeting may not have clear sailing. Soviet Russia's refusal to participate will complicate matters as the draft of the convention prepared by the leagues of disarmament position provides that it will not be operative until ratified by twelve powers. Among those are Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan and Russia. Russia now not being a member is eliminated from the list and some doubt also appears to exist as to whether the United States should be retained. Those advocating the elimination of America are pointing to the difficulty of having treaties ratified by the American Senate, and the possibility that the proposed new treaty may never receive official American approval.

Luncheon Fetes May Bride-Elect

Yesterday at 1 o'clock at the Greenville Country Club, Mrs. L. W. Gaylord Jr., Mrs. Knott Proctor Jr. and Miss Margaret Johnston entertained at a lovely luncheon to compliment Miss Adelaide Warren, bride-elect of May.

The table was covered with a cut-work cloth over green and centered with a bride's cake, topped with a bride doll. The base was encircled with fern and lilies of the valley with traceries of greenery and white flowers extending the length of the table and terminating in clusters of silver wedding balls. Each place was marked with a 'dainty nosegay. Luncheon was served in three courses.

Annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Dance Plans Go Forward

Plans are now going forward for the annual Junior-Senior banquet and dance at Greenville High School May 6, school officials said today.

It is necessary to have a bid to attend the affair, a spokesman from the high school explains, and the deadline for receiving bid requests is April 25.

Plans call for the banquet to be held at the East Carolina College dining hall, with the dance following in the high school auditorium. Music for the semi-formal dance will be furnished by the Collegians.

Circle K Members Guests At Country Club Supper

Past Kiwanis President John T. Barnhill was host at supper at the Greenville Country Club Tuesday night to members of the Circle K Club.

Circle K Club President Gary Scarborough was master of ceremonies for an hour of "good neighbor" fellowship and presented special guests.

The club was organized among East Carolina College students since World War II and sponsored by the Greenville Kiwanis Club. Dr. John O. Reynolds of the mathematics department at ECC was active in organizing the young collegians and Barnhill has worked with him to make the club a success. The club sends delegates to the annual Kiwanis International Convention and two of its members are guests at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meetings.

Dr. James E. Poindexter of the college faculty last night inducted three more ECC students into Circle K Club membership. They were Billy Shorber of Elizabeth City, Mack Edmondson of Kinston and Bob Penley of Burlington.

Kiwanis President Charles V. Wilkerson recognized a quintet of ECC girls who helped to make the recent Kiwanis minstrel for underprivileged children a success. They were Miss Linda Whitehurst of Greenville, Miss Jeannette Smith of Wilmington, Miss June Quinn of Wallace, Miss Nancy Crouse of Lexington, and Miss Rachael Lang of Greenville. Also recognized was Kiwanian Chester Walsh.

President Scarborough announced that the Circle K members will help the Junior Woman's Club in its annual "bread sale" for the benefit of a hospital fund next month.

The Circle K Club "ladies' night" meeting will be held May 17.

Wins Scholarship

Harriess Northrop, Greenville High School senior, has been awarded a four-year Naval ROTC scholarship valued at $6,000. It was announced here today. As yet, young Northrop does not know the college he will attend. Upon graduation from college he will be commissioned an officer in the Navy.

He is presently serving as business manager of the high school paper, and is a member of the Monogram and Phantom clubs. He also played on the football team. At St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of which he is a member, Northrop is president of the Acolytes Guild, and is a member of the Young People's Service League. Will Another Thousand Die?

Will 1955 bring North Carolina its worst highway accident record in history?

Assertion that the state's highway accident record so far this year points to that conclusion should be a sobering thought to North Carolina motorists. With spring and summer months ahead highway traffic throughout the state will reach its peak as natives and visitors head for countless resort spots throughout the state.

Highway patrolmen are on the job day and night seeking to cut down the accident rate. But they alone cannot do the job. It is going to take the conscientious effort of motorist in the state to bring North Carolina's despicable highway safety record back down to what it should be.

During the past 10 years North Carolina has averaged almost 1,000 highway fatalities a year. During the past decade nearly 10,000 men, women and children have been needlessly slaughtered by careless drivers on North Carolina roads. And Tar Heels cannot blame the out-of-state tourists for the slaughter. Less than 10

A Bit Of Service To America's People

There is a splendid opportunity for an unselfish bit of service to America and Americans awaiting people Thursday evening. A start toward training of ground observers will be undertaken in the court room at City Hall, and help is desperately needed.

Radar, coastal observers and scatterings of watchers near the big industrial centers have been demonstrated inadequate to fulfill the function of standing guard over the nation. To do the job well calls for people who live in the non-priority "target areas" to fill the gap in the screen.

The volunteer need expect no reward for his or her few hours of self-sacrifice each month; and should the world emerge upon a plateau of stable peace some might go so far as calling that sky watching a wasted effort. But it wouldn't be, not really. Because it is necessary today, as we all agree, and filling the immediate need is not a futile gesture.

Strength for the Day

BY KARL L. DOUGLASS
STAND UP AND BE COUNTED
The secret ballot is one of the chief factors of democratic government. It is one of the privileges of free men to vote their opinions in private and to make their decisions without fear of reprisal.

Yet, important as the secret ballot is politically, the fact remains that amid the crowded circumstances of life men have to stand up at certain times and be counted. The time comes when our fellows want to know on which side of a given line we stand. For a long time we can rub our hands and smile and declare that there are two sides to every question and that pro and con seem to balance each other to a nicety. But if we keep on saying this, men will have us. If in a world full of injustice and pain, we will not at certain times stand up and declare ourselves for something and against something else, then we might just as well crawl under the ground and save the undertaker the trouble of burying us.

We read sometimes of the courage of men who lived centuries ago and who went to the stake and gallows rather than renounce a moral issue.

Today we are not facing—in our own country at least—the necessity for such spectacular heroism. But the necessity of standing up and being counted is as imperative now as it has ever been. Men hate us if we daily in the moment of moral decision.

Courts Return To 'Normalcy'

WASHINGTON—Recent Federal Court decisions in cases affecting labor, business and Communist activities tend to restore Roosevelt-Truman confidence that jurists appointed by them would perpetuate their social and economic reforms.

As the voters did in 1952 by electing President Eisenhower after 20 years of Democratic rule, the nation's judges are emerging from the spell cast by the 1929 depression and World War II. The courts are returning to normalcy.

Contrary to the general opinion—or myth—men do not become completely detached from politics and everyday reality when they put on a black robe and a solemn mien. Every man on the Supreme Court had been a politician when, due to meritorious service to his party, he was rewarded with an appointment to the highest tribunal. This observation applies even more forcefully to judges on lower Federal Courts and State Courts.

PRESSURES OF OTHER TIMES—Like the general public, they suffered from and responded to the sometimes frightening and hysterical pressures of the 1929 crash, F.D.R.'s recovery program and the demands of history's most disastrous conflict. These crises frequently stripped them of the calm and impartial spirit supposed to sanctify the halls of justice.

Another factor in this softening of the judicial temperament was F.D.R.'s nonchalant attitude toward the judiciary. He once asked Congress to pass a bill (the Cuffey Coal Act), even if the Legislators had doubts of its constitutionality. He warned that he could punish a recalcitrant bench with his proposal to "pack" the Supreme Court. That gesture frightened even Charles Evans Hughes.

In short, the judges approved laws and administrative agencies' rulings that were designed to fit emergency rather than normal conditions.

PARTIALITY LESSENED—In several recent cases dealing with labor unions, the courts have shown less partiality toward the labor element. They have done so by invoking certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, which Harry S. Truman vetoed and denounced as a "slave law."

per cent of the fatal accidents have involved out-of-state persons.

How long will it be before North Carolinians realize the necessity for imposing the safety discipline which will eliminate many traffic fatalities? Will we kill another 1,000 or 1,500 people on the highways this year?

Not Responsible? Or Irresponsible?

It continues to amaze and depress us that persistent, deliberate vandalism and sabotage on the nation's strike front has drawn so little condemnation.

The criminality of the deeds, to us, is self-evident; but there follows only a scattering of arrests in some of the more violent episodes and but two men have been reported arrested in the wake of costly vandalism.

Union spokesmen blithely disclaim union responsibility, taking only half-hearted action to find the criminals and no apparent serious effort to discourage continuance of malicious destruction during labor disputes.

From our ivory tower we conceive this point: If the striking union possesses the degree of authority and discipline sufficient to order its members to stage a walk-out, it follows that a degree of authority and discipline is at hand to deter violent deeds among the membership.

Not responsible? Of course the union has a responsibility in upholding law and order! To neglect or refuse to face up to that fact will brand them in the public eye as being irresponsible.

Advocates of law and order cannot accept violence and rank outlaws as necessary adjuncts to labor disputes. It is not a war that is being fought . . . there are no enemies . . . no one really wins.

Hold Your Breath, And Watch Bandung

While applause for the denunciation of Communism at Bandung is heartening for the West, we would err in accepting this as indicative of the tide among delegates attending the Asian-African conference.

Make no mistake about it; the Bandung parley is a history-making affair not only in the light of being the first of its kind, but poses also a potential battleground for the minds of millions upon millions of peoples.

Communist aspirations and policy will be tested upon the assembled delegates; how well they are received is going to have a profound influence on American attitudes and, in fact, on the position of the Free World in its over-all strategy.

Over half the population of the world is represented at the Indonesia conference. What they do and what they say can shape the course of the rest of the world . . . even to the future of Greenville residents.

Somebody Told Me

Found His Place In Classroom

Yesterday I was in the service department of a Greenville car dealer when Dr. Dick Todd of the East Carolina history department came up to pay his bill.

"How much?" he asked. When the partman told him, he said, "Fine! You know, Jack, they always treat me right here. They're Johnny on the spot and always reasonable."

My, if everybody could have the outlook of Dick Todd! Last night Somebody Told Me, "Dick is this kind of person: If he sees you with a suit on that's been dragged through the mud he'll remark on what a pretty tie you have on."

My comment to Dick was this: "You should be a salesman. You have the talent to remember names, always smile, and every time I've ever seen you there seemed to be no end to your enthusiasm."

Dick laughed. But from there our conversation hit a more serious vein. It was built around this question: Why do you teach? The answer is simple: Dr. Todd realizes the importance of doing what he likes in contrast to making big money. To get his Ph. D. he had to turn to industry during summer vacations for funds. There he received offers of many times what he's making now. But he was not fazed, for the simple reason that he found that his place is in the classroom.

Right now Dick has 151 students. And he knows every one of them by name. He feels that it's his duty as a teacher to give his students the proper outlook on life. While in industry he found that the emphasis becomes more and more on profit instead of the Prophet. People are more interested in financial reward than they are in doing the job well. "If you do the job well, actually the financial reward will take care of itself," he says.

So the answer to this problem lies in the youth and that's Dick's department. "We're not money makers, but man makers."

It's a real inspiration to talk to someone with so much pep. If you ever get the opportunity to meet Dick Todd, please don't miss it. You'll leave him with envy for his enthusiasm, but on the other hand some of it will rub off on you.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

VINDICTIVE LEGISLATURE

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
The Greensboro DAILY NEWS in a very penetrating editorial recently expressed the belief that the legislators unlike Caesar's wife were not above suspicion in "using their high office to enact laws in order to further the personal ends of some members or work off a grudge."

The NEWS cited five good examples of real or apparent vindictiveness on the part of the legislators. They are:

1. A legislator who had been caught by the whammy promoted legislation to put the whammy out of business.

2. A legislator whose property had been padlocked as a public nuisance by a sheriff introduced and got passed legislation to strip that sheriff of his powers in the county.

3. The press in North Carolina was rightfully critical of a certain legislative committee for trying to conduct its operations in secret; the Legislature retaliated by granting secrecy powers to all committees and a threat was added by some legislators to impose special taxes on newspapers.

4. The state banking commissioner was hauled over the coals by a legislator-attorney who had failed to get the commission to approve the chartering of a bank for his clients.

5. A joint legislative committee shoved four of the most able, conscientious, experienced and devoted University trustees—Dr. Clarence Poe, Maj. L.P. McLeod, J.H. Clark and George M. Stephens—off the board of trustees of the University for reasons more connected with personal ambitions and grudges of committee members than the good of the state; thus the prestige of the board has been consistently debased for a number of years by those who sought places on it in the vain hope of acquiring prestige for themselves.

We most heartily agree with our colleague in condemning such vindictiveness as being dangerous and subversive to the confidence which must exist between the people and their elected representatives. Legislators are elected to pass laws for the best interest of the State and its people—not to pamper their own personal whims of ambitions, avarice and vengeance.

People should have the right to expect that when a legislator indulges in wickedness or folly that his colleagues will call him down and defeat the mischief rather than uphold it. This Assembly has passed more wickedness and folly than it has defeated.

The plain truth is that, despite a large number of dedicated men who are doing their best as legislators, this General Assembly has joined the last one in deserving the very low esteem in which the people of this State regretfully hold it.

Divergent Ideas Persist In Writing Finance Measure

By LYNN NISBET

AGREEMENT—The 15-man subcommittee of the House finance committee buckled down early Monday to the arduous task of whipping a revenue bill into shape. A similar committee of the Senate had been working for several days to the same end.

The House group quickly agreed on two or three points. They know they have a difficult job. They recognize wide divergence of ideas among the subcommittee members almost as diverse as those prevailing in the full House membership. They know that when the bill is finally written and enacted it will not be entirely satisfactory to anybody.

That implies the further knowledge that issues must be approached in a spirit of give and take in order to work out an equitable compromise.

POLICY—Although a few relatively small items which had previously obtained preponderant majorities in the straw votes were tentatively approved, the group devoted most of the first day session to adopting procedure and establishing policy.

Briefly stated the adopted policy is about this: First, to tentatively adopt the non-controversial items in the budget bills and the joint chairman's substitute "package". Second, to refer to smaller subcommittees items upon which there were closely divided vote when the straws were counted last week, and which involve adjustment or consolidation of alternate proposals for taxing specific source.

In this classification fall different rates proposed for automobiles, for domestic insurance premiums, for removing or raising the one article exemption in the sales tax, equalizing levies on farm and mill machinery and parts.

Third, consideration by the full subcommittee without reference to smaller groups of the big items like the proposed levies on soft drinks and tobacco products and adoption of withholding income taxes.

DISCUSSION—Even these basic policies were not approved without considerable discussion. There may be pressure exerted later, and there were intimations that efforts will be made to get every member of the subcommittee to sign the report and promise to support it before the full joint finance committee and on the floor. At the first meeting both Chairman William Rodman of the full House committee and Chairman E.T. Falls Jr., of the subcommittee insisted that everybody let his hair down and speak freely as to his views.

Motion to firmly adopt some items and other motions to invoke the unit rule and pledge every member to go along with the majority view, were withdrawn before a vote was taken because it was thought they were premature at this time. Consensus of the group was that no item should be firmly approved until all items had been considered in relation to each other; and the time to invoke a binding unit rule would be after majority approval of all items—and there was some feeling it ought not to be imposed even then. Two or three of the fellows felt that the final report might possibly contain some provisions they could not in good conscience support, and they objected to advance positive commitment on a blank et bill.

The discussion included whether or not the advisory budget commission, which made its recommendations last fall when $52 million new money was thought to be needed, should be asked to make another report based on the presently ascertained need for $37 million. Opinion of the group is that the committee is in better position, having heard all the presentations be affected taxpayers, to write an equitable bill than the budget commission—which has not officially heard these presentations and protests. The duty of the advisory budget commission ended when the budget bills were introduced. Thereafter it is the job of the General Assembly.

EQUITY—Some members of the Legislature have pets which they apparently want to relieve of taxes. Others have special cases where there is obvious desire to levy punitive taxes. By and large the combined effort of the committees and the whole Legislature is to distribute as equitably as possible the total tax burden among all segments of the citizenship, individual and corporate, with a view to encouraging economic development in face of competition from other States.

To achieve that desired end, the committee has found that perhaps the same schedules cannot be applied to new car and used car dealers, to bring truck and bus lines and small outfits operating in limited areas, to those providing fire and casualty protection. The small sub-subcommittees have been set up to study these matters and seek equitable adjustment among them.

Business Today

Retail Sales Boom

By ELMER BOESCHNER
Retail sales keep piling up at record rates.

Merchants sold more in short February than they did in Christmas December, 1950. Commerce Department figures put the February total at $12.8 billion—almost $300,000,000 more than in that December.

Preliminary reports indicate March sales were proportionately as high and the spurt early this month, caused by good weather generally and heavy pre-Easter buying, should make April totals high.

Plentiful employment and high rates of income are essential to high rates of sales, but these need a catalyst: public confidence. And judging from the ring of cash registers, Americans are sure of the economic future.

The February sales were 6 per cent higher than in February, 1954, according to Commerce's analysis.

The most important gains were in the automotive field, where dealers in new and used cars sold 22 per cent more than a year ago. The same percentage gain was scored by fuel dealers but their gain is attributed to the weather.

Furniture stores sold 14 per cent more than a year ago and lumber yards 11 per cent. Gains of 10 per cent were made by dry goods and general merchandise stores, furriers and fur shops, floorcovering stores and music stores. Gasoline service stations, radio stores, and office, store machine and equipment dealers were close behind with 9 per cent rises.

There were some minuses. Down 8 per cent were optical goods stores; down 7 were book, bakery goods household appliance stores and heating and plumbing equipment dealers; down 6 per cent were liquor stores, luggage and leather goods stores, feed, farm and garden supply stores, and delicatessen stores. Minor declines were reported in eating and drinking places, men's and boys' clothing and furnishing stores, paint, glass and wallpaper stores and in fruit and vegetable stores.

1954 DEPARTMENT STORE SALES NEAR 1953 MARK

The nation's department and specialty stores did almost as well in 1954 as in 1953, the Controllers' Congress of the National Retail Dry Goods Association reported. Net profits were 2.1 per cent of sales, compared with 2.2 in 1953.

The report, based on figures of 221 stores with aggregate sales over $3 billion showed that average sales check was $4.48, compared with $4.54 in 1953. Total sales, however, were equal to 1953 levels.

EMPTY ENVELOPE SPOTLIGHTS SERVICE
In an ingenious promotion, Zeller Co., a New York firm mailed empty envelopes to its list of prospects.

The envelope carried the warning that it was empty, and below the warning was the complete sales message. It dramatized the fact that the company compiles mailing lists.

STUDY OF FABRICS TO BE CENTRALIZED

Centralized research into new fibers and their uses in apparel is to be undertaken at a new institution to be opened in New York. The center is being sponsored by the apparel industry and New York State and City educational authorities.

The center will research and classify existing information and direct research into new problems.

NEW TRADE GROUPS IN MASONRY DOLLS

Two new trade associations are now in business.

One is the Allied Masonry Council, with headquarters in Washington, formed by manufacturers contractors and union craftsmen in the masonry industry. The council is concerned about the competition of aluminum and porcelainized paneling in building construction.

The other association is the Affiliated Doll Manufacturers, with headquarters at 1 Wall St., New York 5. It wants to whoop up more excitement for dolls.

The Big Man In Roller Coasters

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—So far the Russians haven't claimed they invented the roller coaster.

They ever do, they're going to have to fight Joe McKee, who has been the acknowledged dean of the roller coaster industry. "The first roller coaster in history was built in Pittsburgh in 1904," Joe recalled. "And I got started in the business as a carpenter the following year."

In the four or five roller coasters have been built throughout the world. Joe figures he has had a hand in designing or building about 300 himself—more than any other man.

"Only 18 men—all carpenters—have ever had anything to do with designing roller coasters," Joe said. "And there are only four now left alive. I'm the oldest. The roller coaster grew out of the old scenic railway. We had nothing to go by, so we operated by rule of thumb."

The four of us have kept a few things about the business to ourselves. The Lord knows we struggled hard enough learning them. There never has been a graduate engineer connected with the roller coaster field.

McKee, a general superintendent of the Palisades N.Y. amusement park, estimates he has ridden some 5,000 miles on roller coasters.

"The roller coaster has been my whole life," said Joe who has shored two thick white hair beneath a thick of thick white hair. "I even met my wife Maggie on a roller coaster. That was back in 1909 in Cincinnati."

The older roller coasters were built on a simple figure eight pattern and cost only about $30,000. Because of the rising value of land the newer coasters now loop about life a pretzel. They average about a half mile in length and cost from $100,000 up. The cars on some coasters reach a peak speed of 50 to 65 miles an hour.

McKee, who often acts as a consultant on thrill rides, gets a bit steamed up whenever the safety of roller coasters is questioned.

"If you just sit down in the seat and stay there," he said, "You're far safer than if you were in an automobile. You can't get off the track, and you can't get hit, from behind by another driver."

There are two roller coasters at the park McKee operates—one regular size the other a smaller one for kiddies. To Joe's great sorrow more and more teenage boys and their girl friends are showing a preference for riding on the kiddie coaster.

"I can't understand this younger generation giving up now," signed Joe. "Why in my day no young fellow would think of taking his best girl on a kiddie ride. He's looking for more thrills. I guess after 50 years in this business I still haven't learned what people want."

The old tunnel of love boat trips have died out in most amusement parks and been replaced by faster rides geared to the tempo of an age that dreams of rocket and space travel.

But McKee sees no immediate demise for the roller coaster, although fewer are now being built each decade.

"As long as there are amusement parks," he said stoutly, "the roller coaster will last. You can't have a park without a merry-go-round and a roller coaster."

In Just A Year He'll Get Word

PEABODY, Mass. (AP)—A young fisherman will know April 19, 1956, if his catch yesterday was a lucrative one.

Donald B. Jolly, 14, was fishing from a bridge near the Peabody-Middleton-Lynnfield town lines when he spotted a pink line attached to the bridge and leading into the Ipswich River.

He pulled the string and up came a bundle of bills — $972 — wrapped with an old tire chain for weight. There were thirteen $10 bills, seventy-nine $5 bills and more than 400 one-dollar bills.

If nobody claims the money in a year, it will be Jolly's. Jolly turned over the money to police.

SCORE ONE FOR GREENBERG-INDIANS HERE

Hero Score, the Cleveland Indians' rookie southpaw, recently struck out nine batters in his first major league start against Detroit. Hank Greenberg of the Indians' front office must be gloating all over himself. It was he who snatched Score out of high school in Lake Worth, Fla., for a $40,000 bonus after he had pitched six no-hit games.

Seldom had there been such unanimity of opinion over the selection of the brightest minor league prospect last season. Pitching for Indianapolis, left the ball parks of the American Association strewn with a fabulous collection of shattered records.

If you want to stick strictly to the southpaw pattern, Score was the most sensational minor league leftie since Lefty Grove moved down 330 batters in the International League 30 years ago. Incidentally, Score set a new Association high with the identical number of strikeouts.

Score, in his second full season of professional ball, led the Association in almost every department last year. He was best in percentage with 22 victories and five defeats, in the earned run averages with 2.62, and in bases on balls, 140, but he was not too wild considering the 251 innings he worked.

Around Cleveland, they're calling him the "left-handed Bob Feller." Sure enough, the Indians may have another like of the Iowa farm boy.

ECC-ELON GAME HERE SATURDAY COULD DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

Something has to give in the big doubleheader Saturday pitting East Carolina and Elon, two undefeated teams in North State Conference activity.

When the two met here last year in a twin-bill, they traded wins with East Carolina winning the second after Coach Doc MacIntire forces took the first game.

Mathis brings almost the same club here that edged the Bucs in the Eastern division of the race and went on to trounce Lenoir Rhyne for the conference title. Heading the Christians are pitchers Luther Conger, Sherrill Hall and Hank Hamrick, three of the best chumpers in college circles anywhere.

Buc Coach Jim Mallory has an improved mound staff over last year and Tommy (no-hit) Pruett, Mack Cherry, Charlie Russell and company should stack up formidably against the Elon throwers. The first two named will probably get the starting calls Saturday.

ECC ATHLETIC HAPPENINGS VARIED THIS WEEK

Head Football Coach Jack Boone issued a call to the backs, ends and centers Monday and the griders are getting in a little off-season drilling. The backs are headed by Dick Cherry, the ends by J. D. Bradford and Bill Helms and the centers by Louis Hallow. The group will work two weeks on passing and pass patterns.

Coach Howard Porter's Buc golfers get back into the thick of things Friday with a return match with Guilford. ECC smashed the Quakers 27-0 in Greensboro last week. Claude King will lead the local linksmen in the No. 1 position with Harry Rainey, Pat Hunt, Johnny Rainey and Paul Gay filling out the rest of the roster. Tommy Gravitt and Harold Beck also may play.

DUSTY RHODES, HITLESS, OTHER SPORTS SHOTS

The Boston Red Sox released one of their hottest rookies, infielder Billy Conzola, yesterday to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League on 24-hour recall basis.

Dusty Rhodes, pinch-hitting star of the 1954 World Series, has been up five times this year with-out a hit. He's hitting at had pitches, letting the good ones go by, he says.

An infected right hand sidelined third baseman Randy Jackson of the Chicago Cubs for three days. He is leading the club at bat with a .450 average.

Tony Trabert, who beat Vic Seixas for the Dallas Country Club tennis title in straight sets, says he won't turn pro before the Davis Cup challenge round.

Top-ranked Don Budge beat Bob Riggis in the finals of the National Pro Clay Courts tennis championship by 6-4, 6-4, 8-6.

By winning the Greensboro Open on Sunday, Sam Snead qualified as the 21st and final player in the $35,000 Tournament of Champions April 28 at Las Vegas, Nev.

The Chicago Cubs sent veteran outfielder Hal Rice and pitcher John Fyche to Los Angeles. Fyche is the basketball player who got so much attention last season playing with Appalachian in the North State Conference.

G-Men Trim Jacksonville By 5-3

Locals Wrapped Up Third Loop Victory In Sixth

The Greenville High Phantoms won their third conference game of the season yesterday in Jacksonville, taking the Cardinals in a well-played game by the score of 5-3.

Hudson Miller, the young sophomore right-hander, pitched the win. "Except for a couple of costly errors," says Coach Farley, "he could possibly have had a shutout."

The Cards opened the scoring in the third when they negotiated two unearned runs. Beachum struck out to begin the inning; Waters then lined a single to left followed by another single by Eason. Both runners advanced when Morris threw Edison out at first; then scored when Ike Riddick overthrew first base when fielding Crawford's roller.

Greenville struck back, scoring a run in the top of the fourth. After Norris fanned, Angus Duff singled and stole second, scoring on Bob Howell's single to left.

Greenville tied up at 2-2 in the fifth on Joe Wingate's single and stolen base, followed by Ike Riddick's one-base knock. The Farleys clinched the victory in their 3-run sixth inning. Duff reached first on being hit by the pitcher, and after stealing second scored on Howell's hit. Mike Riddick singled Howell home after Hudson flew out to center. Joe Wingate then singled Riddick home.

The Phantoms were held to six hits but they came at opportune times. Miller allowed five hits and struck out seven.

Zulueta Has His Chance Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orlando Zulueta, smarting under what he calls three straight bad decisions, goes after lightweight champion Jimmy Carter tonight with a crack at the title hanging in the balance.

Promoter Goldie Ahearn said that if Zulueta wins or turns in a fine performance, he'll get another chance with Carter's title at stake in June at Griffith Stadium.

Zulueta, a 26-year-old Cuban, was the No. 1 lightweight contender not long ago but has dropped to No. 9. That drop doesn't fool Carter or his manager, Willie Ketchum.

Neither is inclined to underestimate the Cuban contender.

"Zulueta's no sucker," Ketchum said. "He's a good boxer and five years younger than Jimmy. Carter should beat him but you never can tell in this business."

The Cuban was inclined to ignore his age advantage. "It doesn't mean as much as you think," he said. "If a fellow is in good condition, he can fight pretty good no matter how old he is."

At that, Zulueta says he has every reason to believe he'll win. "Maybe tomorrow my luck will change," he said. "I think I'm ready."

Exhibition

The semi-pro Greenville Greens put on an exhibition game to-night between themselves as they ready themselves for the 1955 Coastal Plain League season which opens Saturday night.

Tonight Manager Junior Yohn will cut the large squad to 20 players. The Greens open play for the home folks on Saturday night at Guy Smith Stadium against Falkland.

One of the reasons for the success of the New York Giants in 1954 was the fact that they did not lose a double header during the entire season.

Brooks Continue To Knock Down Their Opponents

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The Western division clubs better shake a leg and get going on their first swing through the east before the Brooklyn Dodgers get any faster on the likes of Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburgh in the National League race.

This was supposed to be a neck-and-neck pennant race in the NL, but the Brooks have been gobbling up everything in sight—namely the Phils, Giants and Pirates. Those three have provided the Dodgers with eight straight victories as Brooklyn opens a 13-game home stand tonight just one short of tying the modern major league record for consecutive triumphs at the start of the season.

Philadelphia tumbled as victim No. 8 last night, although giving the Brooks a hard time before bowing out 7-6.

That moved the Dodgers 2 1/2 games ahead of Milwaukee, which beat Chicago 3-2 in an afternoon game, and 5 1/2 ahead of the sixty-place Giants, the other prospective pennant chasers, who were idled by cold and rain against Pittsburgh. The NL game went to St. Louis 6-5 in 11 innings over Cincinnati under the lights.

Kansas City took off for five runs in the ninth to beat Cleveland 8-7 in the only American League game. Rain postponed Washington's doubleheader at Boston, the only other action scheduled.

A fast start is not new to the Dodgers. They won nine straight to share the record with the 1918 Giants and 1944 St. Louis Browns back in 1940. Tex Carleton pitched a not-hit, 1-0 beauty over Cincinnati to get No. 9 April 30 1940.

The next day, Cincinnati and Sucky Walters snapped the string. It was Cincinnati, too, that went on to win the pennant and the world series that year. Brooklyn wound up 12 games back in second.

'Off Year' Seen For Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — If Coach Terry Brennan this fall matches the 9-1 record he compiled last year in his debut at Notre Dame, it should be ranked as the best football coaching feat of the season.

Brennan and his staff now have 16 more spring practices remaining to form the framework of a vast rebuilding effort for the 1955 gridiron campaign.

Notre Dame appears headed into an "off year" of growing pains. Graduation will take such linemen as Frank Varichione, Dick Szymanski, Jack Lee, Sam Palumbo, Dan Shamon and Paul Matz, and such backs as All-America Ralph Guglielmi and Joe Heap.

Notre Dame's freshman crop—sophomores next season—numbers only 17. The Irish football players are highly regarded and may make the first team if they can keep up the pace through the more rugged tests they have yet to face in spring drills.

The three are fullback-halfback Dick Wilkins, Duncan, Okla.; guard-linebacker Al Francis, San Jose, Calif.; and end Dick Frensdorff, Chicago's Mt. Carmel High.

Red Sox Have Hustle And New Players Coming

BOSTON (AP)—How come the Boston Red Sox—minus slugger Ted Williams and two other key players—have swept to the top of the American League standings in the opening week of play?

Baseball fans, aware that the experts picked Boston to wind up in fourth place this season, are asking the question.

Guided by the Red Sox rooters will tell you that the Sox lie in a combination of hustle, a potentially strong pitching staff and the continued development of some of the younger players.

The Sox have a team batting average of .330. Young Faye Thayer, in left field, is leading the loop with 12 runs batted in.

Skeptics are quick to point out that the 5-1 Boston record has been compiled, for the most part, against winless Baltimore. The Red Sox have a 4-0 mark against the lowly Orioles.

Track Phantoms Lose To Durham

Durham High School had too much all-around depth and strength for the Greenville track Phantoms yesterday afternoon and ran away with a 58-13 to 36-2-3 win at Guy Smith Stadium.

The Durham lads had too much depth in certain events to pull the win out although the Phantoms had almost as many first places. Greenville won four firsts and one tie for first against six firsts for Durham.

In the weight events Durham took 17 of the 18 possible points to provide the difference in the meet. The Bulldogs also took all but one place in each the 440 and the broad jump.

Spight Scores Eight
Senior sprinter James Spight was the high scorer for the meet with eight points. Spight finished first in the 100 yard dash, third in the 440, and tied for second in the broad jump. Spight's broad jump of 20'4" was the best he has ever recorded in a meet before. He did 21' in practice last week.

Pete West was the only other Phantom to place in more than one event. West got first in the 220, tied for second in the pole vault, and tied for third in the high jump.

Other first place winners for Greenville were Bob Shackelford, who pole vaulted 10'10", and Wayne Bishop in the mile. Bishop's Durham opponent cut in on him too soon on the last lap tripping the Phantom to place in more than one event. West got first in the 220, tied for second in the pole vault, and tied for third in the high jump.

Dallas Troubled By Salty Water

DALLAS, Tex. (U-P)—City officials and army engineers have worked out a plan they said today, to keep as low as possible the salt content in Dallas' water supply.

The salt reached undesirable proportions this week when the city turned Red River water into its supply after agreeing to supply nearby Garland, Tex., with a half million gallons daily.

City Manager Elgin Crull said Army engineers had agreed to release water from two reservoirs into Lake Dallas to dilute the salty water coming from the river.

TOBACCO CURERS

Farmers, if you want Dixie Air Curers, oil or gas, call Greenville Curring Co. Travis will give them to you or any curer you prefer. He will advise you to put Cameron Ventilator on your barn to control your air to save oil going or coming and keep tobacco in good humor. New farmers are partial to Cameron ventilators. We lost one Cameron on Highway No. 43, before we could pick it up a truck with high sides came by. The Cameron got on top and went away. If you will give report on your neighbor who has it, we will satisfy you for your trouble and also if he will see us, we will install the ventilator for him. He don't just want Cameron, his barn needs it.

Utilities . . .

The Vancoboro petition, filed on March 16 with the State Utilities Commission, was dated more than a year ago. It has been learned that Vancoboro made a 20-year contract with Greenville Utilities in 1941 for the purchase of power. The local Utilities at that time took over the area from the Washington, N. C. Utilities.

Two New Bern attorneys will represent the Vancoboro area in upcoming hearings before the State Utilities Commission. D. L. Ward, one of the attorneys, is a former State senator and J. E. Tucker, the second of the legal team, is a former assistant attorney general.

One of the Greenville attorneys at the hearings will be familiar with the proceedings of the State Utilities Commission. Rep. S. O. Worthington was appointed to the commission by the late Gov. William B. Umstead and served until he returned to the Legislature when it convened for the present session.

Now 2 Million Feet Of Tile Laid In Pitt Drainage Work

Julius Parker, who supervises the work of two drainage tile laying machines, is shown above as he holds the two millionth tile to be laid in Pitt County. Looking on is Jack Lewis on whose farm the tile was laid. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor).

A milestone was reached last week when the two millionth foot of tile to be installed in Pitt County was laid behind a big trenching machine on the farm of Jack Lewis near Farmville.

It was some years ago that twenty Pitt and Greene County farmers invested money for the purchase of a tile laying machine for use in the two counties under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service. Since that time the machine has paid for itself and a second tile-laying machine has been purchased for use in the two counties.

The two machines have been steadily in demand by farmers of the two counties during the tile-laying season and last week workmen dropped the two millionth tile behind one of the machines.

"We are mighty proud of this record," W. Connor Eagles of the Soil Conservation Service declared. "In fact, so far as we know Pitt is the only county in North Carolina to reach the phenomenal two million foot mark."

"We are happy that this could happen on Jack Lewis' farm because from the organization of the Soil Conservation District, he has been a faithful and enthusiastic co-operator in the District Soil Conservation program."

Eagles noted that Lewis is one of the twenty farmers who put up the money to purchase the two trenching machines.

"The machines have been of inestimable value in the district program," he declared. "In fact, without them the tile program would be lagging."

Eagles paid tribute to Julius Parker, who supervised the operation of the machine and Elmer Bland and Steward Joyner of the Soil Conservation office for making the record possible. He also gave credit to the Soil Conservation District supervisors and the other agricultural agencies in the county.

"We think this fine record came about because of the recognition of the need by our county agricultural leaders and our farmers and the fine spirit of cooperation that has existed during the past years."

The big tile machines lay drainage lines across low areas of farm fields following paths previously surveyed by Soil Conservation personnel. A big wheel on the device is equipped with scoops which dig down into the earth. Workmen lay the tile end-to-end as they follow behind the machine. Finally a tractor equipped with a blade pushes the dirt back into the trenches to cover the exposed tile.
