Committee Okays Cuts In Manpower

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved the administration's planned military manpower cuts and voted $31,488,200,000 in new defense funds. It promised additional funds in a hurry "in the event of drastically worsened world conditions." The recommended new money, coupled with unobligated funds from previous appropriations, would give the Defense Department $43,081,000,000 to spend during next July 1 if the House and Senate go along. That budget, the committee said in a formal report written by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.), emphasizes "continental air defense and our increasing potential for massive retaliation in the event of enemy attack." Subject to House action next week, the bill approved by the 50-man committee provides $144,600,000 less new money than President Eisenhower requested but much of the cut was more technical than real. The committee's approval of the President's plan to cut Army strength about 75,000 during the

Austrian Treaty Hopes Brighten

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Chances for quick signing of the Austrian independence treaty looked still better today as the Russians dropped their controversial demands on refugees and eased insistence on armament restrictions. But the Soviets and the West must still agree on the tough issues of prewar foreign oil investments and a declaration guaranteeing Austrian neutrality before the pact will be ready for signing by the Big Four foreign ministers. Diplomats attending yesterday's meeting of the four powers' ambassadors and Austria's foreign minister said the picture brightened considerably when Soviet envoy Ivan I. Ilyichin accepted a Western-backed, Austrian proposal to drop the treaty article on repatriation and to raise limits on Austrian rearmament. The disputed Article 16 would have allowed Austria to accept repatriation terms to enter Austria—once it had won independence—to quit refugees from communism. Western diplomats had feared this would enable the Reds to spread propaganda inside Austria while the nation was supposed to be neutral.

Scientists Close Friendly Meet

SOCCORRO, N. M. (AP)—Scientists from 18 nations last night closed a meeting with a pledge of an international attack through research and cooperation on the problems of the world's dry areas. Delegates at the International Arid Lands Conference approved a resolution which "envisioned the time when scientific research can be used for peaceful purposes." Tone of the meetings, which started April 26 in Albuquerque, was friendly throughout with no major disagreements between nations.

Foreign Trade Bill Vote Assures Tariff Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 73-13 Senate victory for President Eisenhower's foreign trade bill today assured him of the first new tariff-cutting powers granted a chief executive in 10 years. The bill, passed by the Senate last night, now goes to conference with the House to resolve differences. But the two versions both contain the key provisions sought by the President. Thus he is assured of a three-year extension of the Reciprocity Trade Act to June 30, 1958, plus new authority to reduce tariffs in 1 per cent stages in each year of the extension. These reductions are to be in return for trade concessions from other free world nations. The Senate ran for 12 hours yesterday and last night to push the

West Germany Becomes Sovereign State

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Republic became a sovereign nation in alliance with the free world today. The 10-year allied occupation ended at noon. Two short ceremonies wiped out the supreme powers wielded by the United States, Britain and France over the 50 million West Germans since 1945. In the first, the Allied High Commission repealed all its laws and abolished itself by proclamation. Then the British and French high commissioners completed the formality of depositing the sovereignty treaty at Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's office. The United States and West Germany did this April 20. The French and West German governments simultaneously put into effect their agreement to Europeanize the Saar. "The occupation statute is revoked and the Allied High Commission and the offices of land (state) commissioners in the Federal Republic are abolished," the high commissioners' proclamation said. Sixty Allied laws and 130 ordinances were repealed by the declaration, which was signed by Dr. James B. Conant of the United States, Sir Frederick Hoyer, Military Secretary of the British, and Andre Francois-Poncet of France. They now become their nations' ambassadors to the Bonn Republic. "Federal Germany has entered into the circle of free nations," said Francois-Poncet, chairman of the High Commission's first meeting Sept. 21, 1949, and of its 109th and final session today. "We wish to believe... that the free nations will find Germany a loyal and efficient partner, engaged in the memory of her past ordeals. We wish her good luck on the road she will follow, mistress from now on of her own destiny." Conant said: "All of us are gladly giving up our responsibilities and our authority, and we rejoice in the fact that the Federal Republic of Germany is being welcomed into the family of sovereign nations." In the final ceremony, Hoyer

Miller and Francois-Poncet call on President Theodore House tonight to present their fresh credentials as ambassadors to the newly sovereign republic. Conant, whose appointment as ambassador has not yet been confirmed by the U. S. Senate, will go along to deliver a message of congratulations from President Eisenhower. With these formalities out of the way, Adenauer goes to Paris tomorrow for West Germany's admission to the seven-nation Western European Union. In another ceremony in the French capital next week, the Bonn government will become the 15th member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Within five years, West Germany is expected to field an army, navy and air force totaling 500,000 men—the largest Western armed force on the iron curtain's frontier. Twelve divisions numbering 400,000 men trained in atomic warfare, a jet air force of 80,000 men and 1,300 planes and a coastal navy of 20,000 men will be added to the Atlantic Alliance. Such a force would outnumber the Soviet Union's present armed strength in Red-ruled East Germany. Allied strategists claim it could tip the balance in favor of the West should World War III erupt. Under the occupation, diplomatic relations with the Soviet bloc were banned. Now Bonn can establish relations with any country, East or West. The sovereignty treaty stipulates that West Germany "shall have the full authority of a sovereign state over its internal and external affairs." But in actuality, the Western Big Three will continue to wield a strong influence here. U. S., British and French troops will stay on as defense forces under a special treaty agreement. Russian-ruled West Berlin remains under Allied occupation. The Western Big Three also retain the right to negotiate with the Soviets on German reunification and a peace treaty for a reunited Germany. The end of the occupation means

Atomic Fury Strikes Survival City; Result Hidden By Radioactive Dust

By BILL BECKER SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—Atomic fury at least one and a half times as powerful as the blast that leveled Hiroshima struck at this tiny test town on the desert today. It knocked out the 260-watt radio station located less than a mile from the heart of the great nuclear explosion, and probably caused extensive damage to the four homes along Doodson Drive only 4,700 feet from the blast tower. The huge device packed a fireball lasting 25 seconds and a power of between 30 to 35 kilotons. The bombs that hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki contained 20 kilotons of power, the equal of 20,000 tons of TNT. The full extent of the damage will be determined in a tour of battered Survival City tomorrow. The test organization announced that the 14th and final shot of the 1955 series—also from a 500-foot tower on Yucca Flat—might be detonated before dawn tomorrow. A weather evaluation meeting was set for today. The tower for the final shot is located about seven miles east of today's blast and is not expected to have any effect on the test town. The shot, if it comes off, will be in advance of the Survival City tour. The great white flash from the explosion was seen throughout the west at Klamath Falls, Ore. It also lighted the sky across the Mexican border from San Diego, Calif., and was sighted in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Utah, and Phoenix, Ariz. Although the illuminated Los Vegas, Nev., 75 miles away, brighter than the sun for an instant, no concussion was felt there. However, the burst jarred Henderson, near Las Vegas. The scattered little test city here—might be a suburb in any part of the United States—lay completely enveloped in dust, some of it radioactive, a few minutes after the detonation. An hour later Atomville still was completely obscured from the view of observers on News Nob, eight miles back. The shock wave, a jolting wall of unqualified by any previous public test, hit observers in trenches at 2,600 and 3,500 yards and GI's in tanks at a distance of only 3,100 yards. It was felt as a sharp earthquake by observers on the Nob. The dust pall filled all of Yucca Flat—20 miles long and 10 miles wide—within an hour and a quarter after the 5:10 a.m. blast. Army tanks started to roll forward skirting the area some four minutes after the detonation. The 500-foot tower which had held the explosive was completely vaporized. Six women in a Civil Defense trench and two others in an Army trench, both at 3,500 yards, witnessed the blast. It was the first time women had been in trenches. Director Val Peterson of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, who viewed the test from a six-mile spot, lauded the demonstration as "a very profitable experience for all civilian defense people." He also took occasion to applaud some who had been complaining about delays. Peterson criticized "amateurs who try to advise men who have set off more than 40 of these shots." Today's televised detonation was the 13th of the 1955 series and the sixth in the continental U. S. It was the largest of the three open shots held here. The others were in 1952 and 1953. Dust prevented observers from seeing whether there were any fires burning except the usual scattered flames in Joshua trees. Spectators and participants had dwindled from an original crowd of 5,900 to a little over 2,000 because of the many postponements of the Operation Cue shot. Those who remained felt the stay was well worth it. Four of 11 male volunteers in trenches only 2,600 yards from ground zero reported they got "an awful shake" and "a terrific flash." The atomic cloud rose to more than 40,000 feet and moved slowly northeast toward the Nev., 130 miles away. Dr. Alvin C. Graves, test chief, said it posed no radiation fallout hazard to any populated areas. Thus Operation Cue came off successfully after nine days of delay and three previous false starts. The participants and observers were awed by the major test. More than 100 aircraft, took part in the test. They made experimental and training flights and a squadron of 25 from nearby Indian Springs Air Force Base pursued the huge atomic cloud as it lengthened under the shearing effects of the winds and headed generally to the north. The huge cloud was tinted orange, pink and brown largely from nitrogen oxides and partly from the rays of the sun. It was impossible for reporters who were in tanks and trenches to determine the full extent of damage to Survival City. There was little doubt, however, that some of it had come through the holocaust safely. At least one communications tower was standing, although the little station, KOZKDM, apparently was silenced forever.

Dust Controls On Roads Discussed

Dust control on secondary county roads throughout the second highway division was one of the principal problems discussed here yesterday in a day-long meeting between Highway Commissioner Maynard Hicks and district engineers and department heads of the second division. "We are trying to meet this problem of dust from secondary county roads in the thickly populated sections throughout the division," Hicks said. He asserted the highway commission does not have sufficient funds to hard surface all the dirt roads, but positive steps will be taken during the next few months to eliminate much of the dust from dirt roads throughout the division. Water various types of oils and other liquids will be used by the highway department to cope with the situation, Hicks stated. In addition to Hicks and Division Engineer R. Markham, others participating in the day-long conference were district engineers C.Y. Griffith of New Bern, third district engineer, Heber Gray of Kinston,

Women Watch Blast

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE A. P. Science Reporter IN TRENCH AT SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—The sight and feel and smell of an A-bomb came flashing, thundering and rocking at six women braving war's new test weapon in a trench only two miles from the blast center today. They were awed, excited and, yes, a few a bit frightened. "Oh that burst!" "Gee, what a beautiful thing!" These were typical reactions of typical American women who took the blow of an A-bomb at the closest range U.S. women have ever experienced. They did it to demonstrate to other women that civilians can survive an atomic blast, if they take proper precautions. Helmeted and goggled they knelt in this dusty trench gorged with excitement, tinged with a bit of quite normal fear. Then a hundred thousand suns burst in the blue dawn. The earth shook as though rocked by a giant's tread. There was a tinge of warmth from the atomic heat, but only a tinge, not as much as a blast. And in startlingly quick seconds came the roaring boom of the burst and the blast hurling dirt and stones and sand and dust and bringing landslides of dirt spilling into the trench. Everywhere there was dust, with the taste and smell of the bomb. In those seconds, a steel tower had vaporized. What might have been an A-bomb detonated in war had reached out with blast and fire and radiation to scorch and rip at typical homes only a mile ahead, at the food and furnishings and mannequins who were the make-believe people in those homes.

Sec. Dulles Encouraged By Over-All Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today professed "a certain sense of encouragement" about the general world situation. He said it is based on "a series of small but perhaps significant signs." Dulles was before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to discuss the administration's $1.3-billion-dollar foreign aid program. He told the committee in a statement: "A series of small but perhaps significant signs suggest that the time may be nearing when those who have been seeking the conquest of freedom will in fact put their foreign relations on a more tolerable basis." Dulles said "developments in relation to Austria"—a reference to negotiations now in progress in Vienna on a new Austrian peace treaty—seem "indicative of a change of mood which may extend to other areas." He cautioned: "I do not want to imply that I think we have achieved our goals. There are still

Revised Revenue Estimates Cut New Tax Needs: Hodges

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges told the General Assembly today that revised revenue estimates have lowered to 19 1/2 to 20 million dollars the amount of new tax money needed to balance the state's budget during the next two fiscal years. However, the governor gave the legislators no advice on specific taxes to be levied to raise the new tax money. Speaking at a special joint House and Senate session, Hodges told the lawmakers, "It is your job to levy the specific taxes which are best in your judgment for these times." He said there have been suggestions that the Legislature adjourn without raising new money to balance the budget. This would be "unthinkable," he added. Hodges said the improved tax outlook resulted from individual income tax returns and a promise by Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw to increase sales and income tax collections by seven million dollars during the next two years if he is given an additional appropriation of $640,000 for new personnel. The House and Senate adopted resolutions yesterday inviting the governor to address a joint session on the state's fiscal situation. Meanwhile, the House Finance Committee yesterday voted to eliminate the controversial tobacco tax proposal from further consideration as a source of state revenue. Rep. W. B. Rodman, committee chairman, told the group that in estimates he could see no necessity of increasing the sales or income tax rate or of putting a tax on soft drinks or an additional levy on motor vehicles. A Joint Finance subcommittee, on noncontroversial tax proposals which would bring in between 4 1/2 and five million dollars per year. Shortly after the Finance Committee met it adopted a motion by Rep. Tom White of Lenoir that the proposed tobacco tax be removed from further consideration. The vote was 33-22. The committee defeated a motion by Rep. Ed O'Herron that four other tax proposals also be removed from further consideration. These were an increase in the income tax rate, an increase in the sales tax, a soft drink tax and an additional motor vehicles tax. Before O'Herron's motion was defeated the committee engaged in

U.S. Occupation Forces To Stay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Restoration of West German sovereignty does not mean that American occupation forces are coming home—they simply become guest defenders under treaties with the Germans. The same is true of British and French occupation troops. American strength, which will remain unchanged, includes about 300,000 Army officers and men and 70,000 Air Force people. Barring sharp changes in the international situation, such a force is likely to be maintained at least until the West Germans can take over their own defense with the 12 divisions they are allowed by treaty. Estimates on that time range from three years upward. The American ground forces are organized in the Seventh Army which includes five combat divisions and supporting units, including six battalions equipped with the 280 mm. cannon which can fire atomic shells. Air Force strength in West Germany is primarily assigned to tactical duties and includes at least two squadrons of Matador medium range pilotless bombers.

Mayor Elected, But Rejects Job

BOONEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—When nobody ran for mayor here Tuesday, voters solved the problem by writing in the name of a former mayor, Carl Boverend, who was declared the winner. But Boverend, a paraplegic World War II veteran, created the problem all over again. He doesn't want the job and says he will not take the oath. Nobody in this Yadkin County town is sure just how, when or who the mayor will be.

Appropriations Bill Sent Senate

RALEIGH (AP)—The state's 640-million-dollar appropriations bill for the next two fiscal years was a step nearer enactment today as it reached the Senate. The bill which sets up appropriations to operate state agencies and institutions, accounts for smooth sailing yesterday as it passed the House. It took just two hours for the House to pass the measure. The only change the House made was a clarifying amendment by Rep. J. K. Doughton of Alleghany, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. The representatives shouted down three amendments from the floor. Two of them called for slight increases in the appropriations for North Carolina College in Durham and A&T College in Greensboro. The other amendment, offered by Rep. Roger Kiser of Scotland, called for elimination of the $23,610 appropriations for the University of North Carolina's educational TV station. Rep. B. T. Falls Jr. of Cleveland moved that the amendments for increased appropriations at the two colleges be tabled, asserting that if the "package (the bill) is opened up there's no telling where it might spill over to." Rep. Carl Venters of Onslow moved that Kiser's amendment be tabled. Gov. Hodges and the Advisory Budget Commission had recommended a budget of $377 million. An Appropriations subcommittee pared the general fund by $1,115,391 and approved increased highway fund expenditures by $3,848,334 and agricultural funds by $34,210. The increases are covered by sources of revenue.

Angus, and she has three other British officers and a crew of 33 Asians.

Alumni Association Votes New Officers

Mrs. R. W. Fennell of Greenville was re-elected president of the Greenville-Pitt Chapter of the East Carolina College Alumni Association to serve during 1935-36, at the chapter's last meeting of the current year.

Chapter members met in the Alumni-Faculty building of the East Carolina College campus and elected officers following a business meeting which included the completion of plans for the alumni tea, one of the social features of Alumni Day to be held May 21 as a part of the 46th annual college commencement.

In the election of officers, Mrs. Lily Rouse Carr was re-elected vice president and Mrs. H. M. Hux was elected secretary-treasurer succeeding Mrs. Dorothy Johnson who has served in this office for the past two years.

The chapter voted to continue its annual tuition scholarship award and will make announcement later of the recipient for 1935-36. Alumni Secretary James Butler discussed furnishings for the alumni-faculty building, and noted that lamps, pictures and furniture are needed to complete the women's and men's lounges.

Donations of these items will be accepted and he can be contacted at the college. The chapter has included contributions of some items, including bedspreads for guest rooms and a table cloth for the dining room. Mrs. Fennell voiced appreciation for the cooperation given in making this one of the successful years in the life of the chapter.

The members of the chapter noted that alumni of Greenville and Pitt County are urged to join in the events and features of Alumni Day, especially the luncheon and the tea. Reservations for the luncheon are being handled in the Alumni Office.

Who Is Going To Decide?

Now that the House has passed the third reading of a proposed constitutional amendment which would require annual sessions of the General Assembly, it is up to the Senate to say whether or not the people of the state shall have the right to vote on the matter.

If the Senate gives the necessary approval by a three-fifths majority, North

An Inexcusable Action That Needs Correction

Confusion over a change in the speed limit on North Greene Street within the Greenville city limits is an inexcusable situation brought about by hasty action on the part of the Highway Department.

The Highway Department had the right to change the speed limit on that portion of highway 11 within the city limits. Nevertheless, for the department to do so without consulting city officials about the matter—or even informing local officials of the action after the new signs had been erected—is certainly presumptuous behavior.

After all, city police and city officials have the primary responsibility for enforcing traffic regulations and safety within the corporate limits. The Highway Patrol likewise shares the responsibility. Why then, were none of these consulted by the Highway Department when the change was contemplated or when it was actually made?

The police department and the highway patrol headquarters here are in a better position to judge whether the 35 mile or 45 mile speed limit is most advisable from a safety standpoint on that particular stretch of highway. We trust the Highway Department will give consideration to the request from these law enforcement agencies and from the city that the 35 mile speed limit be reinstated on North Greene Street.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

RELIGION AND THE STATE

The form of government which we designate as democracy had its origin in religion. Democratic political institutions are the result of the application of certain fundamental religious principles in the field of politics. The doctrine of the sovereignty of God cracked down hard on the divine right of kings and finally forced it into the discard. The doctrine of the spiritual freedom of man and his dignity before God lies at the basis of the modern concept of citizenship. The Hebrews were the first people to have a constitutional monarchy, for King David made a league with his people in Hebron before he was crowned (II Sam. 5:3). The church guided the state through the chaotic period of the Middle Ages. In modern times the influence of religious truth on political institutions has been profound and decisive. Free government can really be said to be the child of true religion. The political freedom we have grows out of our spiritual freedom.

We should impress upon our minds, therefore, the very solemn fact that we cannot continue to have democracy without religion. Do away with religion tomorrow and the following day would see the termination of free governments everywhere. Since religion brought political freedom into being, religion must remain to give political freedom its purpose and power.

Neutrality In Wooing 'Blocs'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The Republican high command's political dabblers in racial relations and balloting admit to considerable concern over President Eisenhower's attitude toward this problem. In view of the ballot-box strength of the so-called "nationalities bloc" in metropolitan areas. Even as they secretly admire his refusal to play partisan politics in this delicate domain, they warn that it may lose votes for him and the GOP generally.

His utter neutrality, and his insistence that the nation's welfare precludes deliberate courtship of certain relatively cohesive groups, contrasts sharply with Roosevelt-Truman strategy. They frequently shaped or reshaped domestic and foreign policies so as to woo the colored, Italian, Jewish and Catholic elements of the electorate.

So successful were they that they transformed millions of historically voting Republicans into still unwavering Democrats.

IKES' VIEWPOINT—Eleanor Roosevelt's partiality toward the colored people, which F.D.R. privately did not share, was notorious. But it was an Eisenhower appointee, Chief Justice Earl Warren, who read what the Negroes regard as an emancipation proclamation second only to Lincoln's—namely, the decision against segregation in public schools.

Despite urging from hard-pressed politicians, Eisenhower has never referred to that ruling as a partisan achievement, or based a plea for support because of it. He is leaving disposition of the matter to the courts.

He has never said anything like Truman did with respect to certain Democratic policies beneficial to two classes of voters, that "any farmer or workman who votes for the Republicans ought to have his head examined!"

CORSI CASE—Republican politicos have protested to Eisenhower and National Chairman Leonard W. Hall against Secretary Dulles' treatment of Edward J. Corsi. They have warned that it will alienate the so-called "immigrant bloc," especially that of the Italians. Since F. H. La Guardia's death, Corsi has been the most eminent member of that group in public life.

He has refused to criticize Dulles or to reinstate Corsi. He insists that Administrative and Refugee Carolina's voters will decide in the 1956 general election whether to have annual sessions of the legislature.

The Reflector feels the Senate should give the necessary approval to the measure in order that it may be presented to the voters of the state.

In the past several years, it has become increasingly apparent that legislators have great difficulty in ironing out state problems with sessions only every two years. Many advantages of the annual session arrangement have been pointed out, and the proposal has gained considerable support throughout North Carolina. This is true in spite of the fact the people of the state know it will cost more to hold annual sessions of the General Assembly than it now costs to hold the biennial sessions.

Although the measure barely squeaked by the House with the necessary three-fifths majority, it is apparent that the great majority of the members of the House feel the voters of the state should have an opportunity to voice their sentiments on the matter at the polls.

We trust a sufficient number of Senators will feel the same way so the constitutional amendment can be presented to the voters of the state for final action.

New Women's Group Can Fill Big Need

There is a new organization on the political scene in Greenville which can—and we hope will—have an appreciable influence upon local interest in politics.

Greenville now has a League of Women Voters which was organized last week. A non-partisan organization, its purpose, as we understand it, is to promote interest in politics particularly among women, and through that medium promote better government.

There is now, and for years has been, a definite need for more interest in politics among the people of Greenville and Pitt County. We have our share of hot elections for local offices and plenty of campaigning locally when state offices are at stake. But when it comes to getting the voters to the polls, Pitt, although it compares favorably with other counties in the percentage of registered voters who cast ballots, does not vote near the number of people it should.

It might be stretching a point to make the generally statement that men; locally, are more interested in politics and voting than women. It is certainly no misstatement to aver that if more women become interested in politics and voting, Greenville and Pitt County will have more men as well as more women going to the polls on election day.

There are ample opportunities for the Greenville League of Women Voters to make important and lasting contributions to local politics and local government.

problems be handled without regard for politics or personalities, even though he concedes the need for minor revisions of the Refugee Law.

The Corsi matter, in fact, emphasizes further Ike's dislike for petty, selfish and narrow racial or religious politics. It is doubtful if 1 per cent of the Italian vote has been cast for a Republican since F.D.R. won the late Mayor La Guardia as a New Deal apostle among his people.

ANOTHER GOP STRATEGISTS' CONCERN — Republican strategists are most deeply concerned over possible defection of the Jewish vote. The Administration's neutral policy toward Palestine is condemned, regularly and roundly, by Jewish spokesmen and organizations. Besides making speeches highly critical of the White House, Ambassador Abba Eban makes weekly protest pilgrimages to Dulles' office.

Here again, Ike has reversed his predecessors' program. On the eve of the 1948 election, Truman extended a midnight recognition to the new State of Israel. In fact, allowing for the difference in time, it is probable that he anticipated the birth of the new nation.

Ike refuses to consider Israel as an "American protectorate," as certain elements would have him do. He will not jeopardize this country's relations with the Arab States in the strategic Middle East for reasons of domestic politics.

JUAN PERON ANGLE—Although less articulate in their complaints, certain Catholic leaders note with concern the Administration's more friendly attitude toward Juan Peron. Largely on the advice of Milton Eisenhower, who recently visited South America as his brother's representative, Washington has abandoned its feud with the Argentine dictator at the very moment that he has stepped up his persecution of Catholic priests, schools, publications and convents.

Eisenhower agrees with those who condemn the detractors of any religion, as he has shown in denunciations of atheistic Moscow. He may try to persuade Peron to abate his prejudices, which he can do more effectively as a friend than as a foe.

However, as with Palestine, the President believes firmly that the nation's broad interests are paramount, not those of any class, color or creed. That's what the Constitution says!

Somebody Told Me

Call It 'Mix-Up Of The Week'

Mix-up of the week: Jimmy Smith, whose cottage on Broad Creek was destroyed by Hazel, had an old boat that wasn't much use to him without the cottage.

So at the Lion's Club meeting Jimmy said to Ernul Willis, "You can have the boat if you go down and get it."

Ernul: wasn't too interested: "I might do that, but I don't think I want it. Thanks anyway."

A few minutes later Jimmy was talking to Frank Brown Jr., told him about the boat. Frank was definitely interested in it, by the next opportunity went to the river, brought back the boat.

Ernul didn't know about this development and didn't bother to ask when he decided that he wanted the boat after all. "Let's see," he said to himself, "where can I borrow a trailer? I know: Frank Brown!"

On the phone seconds later Frank told him, "Sure. Be glad for you to use the trailer. But I have a boat on it right now. Come on around and help me get the boat off and I'll help you hook the trailer up."

"It's a deal. I'll be right there." So Ernul went to Frank's, helped unload the boat he was intending to get from Jimmy's place, departed on the wild goose chase without knowing the score until he returned.

Rumor has it that a certain drug store operator located in the close proximity of the Post Office is supporting a certain Pitt County representative (not Walter Jones) for Lt. Governor. Next time you see this individual ask him about his political interests.

Wish I had seen an advance release of the movie Battle Cry. It was great. Every World War II veteran I've seen compares notes with the movie relative to their experiences compared to the Marines in the show. It seems that the stories about the women are very accurate. Haven't seen anyone who would talk about the combat; everybody wants to talk about the women.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

THE NEW YORK TIMES BREASTS A SURGING TIDE (The Montgomery Advertiser)

The New York Times is commonly accounted the world's greatest newspaper. It doesn't satisfy everybody, but when asked what paper is greater, no body can answer. But despite its preeminence The Times is beset by the same ills that all other newspapers face, and by which is meant, of course, production costs exceeding revenue gains.

It is characteristic of newspapers nowadays that their circulation and advertising increase while the net profits shrink. That is why the trend is to a smaller number of newspapers (about 1,700 now) and why hundreds of papers have died in the past two decades—although there is basis for the hope that the number of newspapers has more or less stabilized. The Times has about 5,000 employees; its payroll is $27,000,000; the yearly cost of the paper it prints on is nearly $22,000,000. Although the number of employees is substantially the same, the weekly payroll has increased $14,260 a week since 1953.

The soaring cost of white paper has been slaughtered. The present $22,000,000 a year expenditure for paper was but $3,800,000 in 1935. Last September The Times on a single day used $58,000 worth of white paper (490 pages).

The Times has never in any year failed to stay in the black, but is frank to say that it must now, at the peak of its circulation and advertising patronage, have a care lest disaster befall. It has raised its Sunday price from 10 cents to 25 cents and it has raised its advertising rates, but there is a peril point here beyond which a newspaper neither wishes nor can afford to go. Of all that The Times' publisher,

Arthur Hays Sulzberger, told stockholders recently:

"Increases in income have been swallowed up, often before we have realized them. We have found that larger circulation and a bigger volume of advertising can nevertheless end in smaller profits."

"Across the country newspapers everywhere, even the largest, are complaining of the impact of higher costs and shrinking profits. Frankly, the present trend spells trouble unless we are eternally vigilant and prudent."

"To continue our job of publishing The Times, we must make a profit and, to guard against lean days that may be ahead, we must build adequate reserves while business is good."

None of which is to say that businesses other than newspapers are not struggling with similar tidal waves. This just happens to be our day to get the floor and tell where we are in the blis.

Teachers And State Employees' Retirement Plan Liked

By LYNN NISBET

RETIREMENT — The General Assembly apparently thinks so much of the Teachers and State Employees Retirement System, it is willing to extend its coverage and increase benefits, and to integrate it into the Federal system if members so vote. But they are reluctant to take anybody out of the system.

Numerous bills have been introduced in this and previous sessions to bring into the system and provide retirement benefits for school teachers and State employees not originally contemplated for coverage. Every time the coverage is extended to the care of border cases, other border cases are included in the fringe of the extended area.

The Senate decided Tuesday that the Attorney General Harry McMullan should not be taken out of the regular retirement system. A bill introduced by Sen. Lunsford Crew of Halifax providing for retirement of the Attorney General on same basis as members of the Supreme and Superior Courts, however, was defeated by a standing vote of 21 to 17.

Senators Crew, John Kerr and Claude Currie spoke for the bill and paid high tribute to the incumbent attorney general, who is serving his fifth term and has never had opposition in the Democratic primary. They pointed out that his salary of $15,000 is not commensurate with the responsibilities of the office or comparable to the income he could earn in private practice of the law. Nobody challenged the accuracy of his appraisal and there was no open opposition to the bill.

Senators Clarence Stone of Rockingham, Cameron Weeks of Edgecombe, Posey Jones of Surry and Joe Eagles of Wilson asked why the retirement provisions were not extended to other elective officials who constitute the Council of State. Senator Crew said he would accept an amendment to include them if it was designed to help pass the bill, but he feared the object was to defeat it. He proved to be justified in that fear.

JUDICIAL — The special provisions of the judges' retirement system is invoked frequently as precedent for extending "coverage" of that plan. Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Superior Court may retire upon conditions of age, tenure and disability at two-thirds the annual salary received at time of retirement. But they are subject to recall for duty as emergency judges when need arises.

A bill offered earlier in the session for retirement of Superior Court district solicitors on same basis as judges was predated upon the close alliance of solicitors with the judiciary. That was the same argument advanced in behalf of the Attorney General retirement bill. It is also being used in connection with a suggested, but not yet introduced bill, to apply the same rules to the members of the Utilities Commission which has a quasi-judicial status.

Elective and appointive State officials, except judges, are eligible for membership in the general retirement system, where they pay for retirement insurance on matching basis with the State. The justices and judges contribute nothing to their retirement fund. There is considerable sentiment in the Legislature —but by no means enough to effectuate the idea—that the judges ought to contribute, too. There is not much disposition to extend the non-contributory retirement benefits to those now on duty, although several of the bills enacted have the effect of granting non-contributory benefits to a substantial number retired school teachers.

One trouble with most of the proposals is that while they are couched in general terms and are made applicable to all cases, they are designed for specific personal benefits. The attorney general plan would have applied only to Harry McMullan. The solicitor retirement would have presently benefited only E.L. Tyler, and the suggested utilities commission extension would apply only to Fred Hunter. Past changes in the judicial system were made to take care of individual cases.

PARTICIPATION — There is growing sentiment for modification of the mandatory provisions of the general retirement system in order to make it more realistic as a cooperative and actually sound insurance plan. Presently the State matches contributions of employees on basis of a maximum of $6,500 salary (the participation level began at $3,000 when the system was inaugurated in 1941 and had been successively upped to the present level and until the member reaches age 60. After that age the employees still pay out of his salary, but the State does not match it.

One of the suggested changes is to permit State matching of member payments of elective officers so long as they continue in office, regardless of age. Another is to continue State match-

Eight Profit Rules

By ELMER ROESSNER
Eight rules by which retailers can increase profits are offered by John Connolly, merchandising consultant and instructor at the New York University School of Retailing in the school's "Journal of Retailing," which is being published today.

Mr. Connolly proposes:
"1. Know customers' needs by recording unit and dollar sales periodically.

"2. Maintain the correct ratio between inventory and sales through planning both on a profitable 'stock turn' basis.

"3. Never buy merchandise equipped with exact volume of units to be procured for each retail price line, the maximum dollars to be spent, and the markup required for each merchandise category. Use previous and projected sales as a basis for buying. Forget last season's purchases as unit-buying guides for subsequent seasons.

"4. Buy merchandise with promotional ideas in view. Avoid wide assortments that stifle sharp, successful promotion.

"5. Maintain control of merchandising policies.

"6. Keep stocks fresh with correct stock turn. Liquidate slow sellers as soon as they appear, even in season. Keep carryovers to an irreducible minimum.

"7. Work with other, non-competing retailers to derive the benefits of ideas and price advantages that co-operation affords.

"8. Make the store a top-selling unit by creating high morale and unity of purpose in the personnel. Each member should be patiently instructed in his work. The sales staff must be given an opportu-unity to know the best characteristics of the merchandise they sell. Ideas for improvement of the business should be solicited from all associated with it and monetary incentives should be used as generously as profit margins permit."

While Mr. Connolly was writing chiefly about men's apparel stores, his rules appear applicable to food, variety, drug and other types of merchandisers.

RECEIPTS FOR DONATIONS INCREASE CHARITY GIFTS
A neighborhood charity has stepped up contributions of throw-aways by offering receipts for income tax purposes, Prentice Hall reports. The value of such gifts for charity are deductible as fully as cash gifts. Churches and other institutions ought to be able to increase donations of both cash and merchandise by issuing receipts.

MORAL: KEEP OUT OF MEAT PACKING
Leading American manufacturing companies made an average profit after taxes of 5.9 per cent of sales last year according to compilation by the National Industrial Conference Board. This compares with 5.3 per cent in 1953.

However, they made less in relation to their total assets than in 1953; the 1954 percentage being 12.4 and the 1953 figure 12.9.

The aircraft and parts manufacturers earned the largest profits in relation to total assets, netting 27.4 per cent. However, they made only 3.8 per cent on sales. The lowest profits earned were by meat packers: 3.3 per cent on assets and .04 per cent on sales.

You Can't Blame It On Poverty

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The parents of what is believed to be the nation's largest all-boy family don't see why poverty should cause juvenile delinquency.

Emory and Thelma Harrison, a farm couple who live near Johnson City, Tenn., have 13 sons ranging in stepladder style down from 21-year-old Guy to Ivan, an infant of 3 week.

Money poor all his life Harrison said his children never caused us a speck of trouble," and explained why:

"It's the way we raised them. We raised them to obey us, never to bother anybody, and never to pick up anything that belonged to anybody else.

"If they had a spanking, they get it. But they don't need it often. Each has his chores—one feeds the hogs corn, one feeds them slops, one does the milking. Some dry the dishes some cut wood, some carry it in.

"They all help each other. The big boys are just as crazy about the new baby as my wife and me are.

"There never was a child born but what there was a bite made to fill his mouth with—but there have been five or six hogs, a large dog to trifling to fill a child's mouth.

"When we had one child we just lived. When we had six children we lived. Now we got 13—and we're still living."

Mrs. Harrison was named "Hon. or Mother of the Year" by the Interfaith Movement in recognition of "her exemplary life as wife, mother and neighbor."

The Robert Hall clothing firm paid the expenses of the entire family here so they could see her get the award.

During a four-day stay the boys won a $3,200 jackpot in cash and prizes on a CBS network show, "On Your Account." But the wonders of Manhattan palled quickly and left the whole family homesick.

"It's corn planting time," explained Harrison.

The tall, rawboned farmer, who had to quit school after the fourth grade to go to work is a man of natural dignity with a rich vein of homespun humor.

Having a large family came naturally to the Harrisons. His wife is one of 16 children. His grandfather, a religious man as he tells it, had 27 children, 3 wives, rode a red mule to church every Sunday until he was 85, and chicken triumphed at 93, still praising the Lord for a good life.

"And he raised all 27 children on a 70-acre farm," said Harrison.

"I courted for a year before I got married when I was 23, he added. "I never got that day. I didn't have anything at all — only a woman" — Mrs. Harrison glanced up with a shy smile — "and maybe 75 cents in my pocket. I earned only $2 the first week we were married."

After years of struggling labor during which he sometimes had to go out after his day's work and cut wood to trade it for groceries, Harrison was able with the help of a friend to buy a 72-acre farm last year.

The farm has 2 horses, 3 cows, 2 chickens, 1 pig, a large vegetable garden. The cash crops are wheat, corn and tobacco.

"We don't spend more than $13 to $14 a week for food," Harrison said. "We raise the rest."

"I don't believe our medical bills have been more than $50 all told since we were married, not counting the cost of getting the boys born."

"If they get a cold I just mix up some hog lard, turpentine and kerosene, rub it on their necks—then turn 'em off barefooted. We don't pay no attention to 'em nor wearing shoes."

One Tuesday last October a fire destroyed their home. For the first time in his life Harrison felt completely down at heart. But the next Sunday the congregation of 12 nearby churches pitched in with money, materials and labor and built the family a larger, better home.

"I think I know now what faith and friendship come to," said Harrison. "I've known a right smart of trouble but I've had a happy life."

"But the children—they're the biggest enjoyment we've got in this world. It would be lonesome without anyone of our children. We'd miss him."

Mrs. Harrison nodded quietly.

Jury Acquits Ferrell Of Charge He Murdered Phenix City Foe

By LEROY SIMMS
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Arch prosecutor in a widely publicized case in the days of its lush rackets empire, is free of the charge that he murdered vice foe A. L. Patterson last June 18.

The 38-year-old Ferrell sat tense yesterday as a jury returned the verdict of acquittal after deliberating 13 hours and 11 minutes. The decision came after a 17-day trial.

The young attorney, stripped of his office in the cleanup campaign which followed the Patterson slaying, had nothing to say to newsmen concerning his future plans.

Ferrell was shot down outside his law office 17 days after he had been nominated as Alabama attorney general on a pledge to wipe out Phenix City's multi-million-dollar vice empire.

Ferrell was one of three men charged with the slaying. Albert Fuller, former chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City, was convicted and sentenced to life here March 11. Former Atty. Gen. St. Garrett is in a mental hospital in Galveston, Tex., and has not been tried.

The former prosecutor contended that he was talking with Garrett, who was in Birmingham, on the phone at the instant Patterson was slain. Garrett told the same story to Birmingham reporters the night of the killing. He was not here for the Ferrell trial.

Ferrell sat frozen in his chair after the verdict. His attractive brunette wife was tearful with joy. Counsel for Ferrell had sought to postpone the trial at this time because a jury which acquitted

Ferrell of vote fraud charges in March was criticized by two officials for that action.

The vote fraud in which 600 votes were added here to the total for Patterson's opponent in a vain effort to change the outcome, figured largely in the murder case.

Special prosecutor Cecil Deason told the murder jury Ferrell had tried to buy the attorney general's race with $23,000 from Phenix City gamblers; then tried to steal it by changing votes; and then shot Patterson down to keep the 60-year-old crippled World War I veteran from carrying out his pledge to smash vice.

Ferrell is from a family long prominent in the rural plantation area of Russell County, of which Phenix City is the seat of government.

Military Duty For All Youths

WASHINGTON (AP) — A defense official told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce yesterday that even after planned cuts in the armed services "virtually every physically and mentally fit young man may look forward to a term of military service sometime between the ages of 18 and 26." Robert Anderson, deputy secretary of defense, said national defense will also continue to absorb about a tenth of the nation's hard goods.

Can Keep Secret About Murders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Says Capt. David Kerr, head of the homicide bureau, women can keep secrets—at least about murders.

Giving a talk yesterday on his experiences, the detective said women involved in murder cases will "talk about everything under the sun, from favorite band leaders to movie stars but not about their men suspected of crimes."

Pick up the wife or girl friend of a male suspect he continued, and she'll "flash big blue eyes" and claim she doesn't even know the guy.

Odd thing is, said Kerr, that when you grab a suspect he bitterly blames the girl friend "for talking too much."

GHS Squad Runs Away With Conference Track Meet

Speight, Edwards And Powell Starred

Greenville's all-around strength and versatility proved to be too much for the other Northeastern Conference teams yesterday as the Greensies walked off with the championship in the First Annual Northeastern Athletic Conference Track Meet.

The Phantoms completely outclassed their opponents, scoring 60 1/2 points. Elizabeth City was next in teams scoring with 16, followed by Washington 14, Roanoke Rapids 8, Jacksonville 5 1/2, New Bern 0, and Kinston 0.

Speight, Powell, Edwards Star
James Speight, Larry Powell, and Harold Edwards, all of Greenville, were the big guns in the meet. Speight was the leading individual scoring leader with 12 1-4 points. Speight took first in the broad jump, second in the 100 and 440, and ran on the winning mile relay team. Powell was the only double winner of the day, taking first in the shot put and discus for ten points. Edwards finished with nine points, with fourth in the broad jump, second in the discus, and first in the high jump. In his specialty, the high jump, Edwards cleared the recognized state record by jumping 6 feet, one and three-fourths inches. It was probably the most outstanding feature of the day.

In all the Greenville team took seven first places of the ten events. Only in the dashes were the Phantoms pushed out of the top spot. Fritz Tanner of Washington took first in the 100, Sam Williams of Elizabeth City won the 220, and Leroy Smith of Elizabeth City won the 440. The conference schools were surprisingly strong in the dashes. The time of 10.4 in the hundred can be favorably compared with other times in the state, as can the 54.3 time in the 440.

Greenies Take Distances
In the distance runs the Greenies look first and second in both the mile and the half-mile. Edwin Wilkerson and Jimmy Kelly, the sophomore half-milers, took first and second in that order for Greenville. Wilkerson's winning time of 2:16 was not his best by far.

In the mile senior Wayne Bishop of Greenville swept to an easy victory with a winning time of 4:45. That time is the third best recorded in the state this year for the mile. Bishop's own 4:44 is the second best. Fick Arthur of Greenville came in second with a time right around five minutes.

Speight got the Greenies off to a good start yesterday morning in the broad jump. On his first jump Speight leaped 20' 1 1/2" for the best of the day. Mitchell Johnson took second with 19' 8" and Edwards took fourth for Greenville. In the only other morning finals event, Powell threw the shot five feet farther than any of his rivals in hitting almost 45'.

Afternoon Events
After lunch the other field events were run off. Powell came back to throw the discus 119 feet for first place in that event. Edwards tossed the plate 116 feet for second place and Pete West of Greenville got fourth.

In the high jump the Greenies took three of the four places. Edwards had first and West had fourth. Jerry Drum tied for second. After everyone else had been eliminated from the high jump, Coach Kittrell put the bar up to a supposedly 5'11" and the high-flying junior just cleared the bar. After Edwards had sailed over, Coach Kittrell announced the actual height was 6' 2 3/4". To wind up the day's work the Phantom mile relay team whipped the field in a fair time of 3:47. Speight, Billy Sermons, Kelley, and Johnson ran on the winning team.

After those events the other schools got their chance to shine in the dashes until the distance events started.

Coaches Like Meet
The coaches around the conference were well pleased with the meet and have high hopes for making it a really outstanding meet in future years. The other schools will field regular track teams next year with a regular schedule. This year only Greenville, Washington, Elizabeth City, and Roanoke Rapids had regular teams.

All of the marks set yesterday will go down in the books as records and will be put up against the competition for future years. Coach Kittrell of Greenville said, "This meet was highly successful in its first year and we hope we can make it even bigger and better in years to come."

The summary:
Broad Jump: Speight (G), Johnson (G), J. Edison (J), Edwards (G), 20' 1 1/2".
Shot Put: Powell (G), Dixon (W), McGee (EC), Crist (J), 44' 7".
Discus: Powell (G), Edwards (G),

Greenies Earn Shutout Against Falkland, 6-0

FARMVILLE — James Pollard, handcuffed the Falkland Bloodhounds on four hits here last night to earn a shutout, 6-0, victory for Greenville's Greenies.

The win was personal revenge for Pollard who was beaten by Falkland in an earlier game. The win also moved Greenville's record above the 500 grade. They now have won three and lost two.

Only one Falkland player solved Pollard's slants for more than one hit. Stokes, the Bloodhound first baseman, banded out three safeties, including a ringing triple in the seventh inning.

Pollard struck out seven men and Leftfielder Gaither Cline slammed a long triple in the bottom half of the ninth inning to drive home two runs and East Carolina nipped Atlantic Christian College here yesterday afternoon 4-3.

The blow came with two men aboard and the Buc's trailing the ACC Bulldogs 2-3. Jerry Stewart and Cecil Heath walked ahead of Cline and rode his blast home.

The win was the tenth against one loss for Coach Jim Mallory's charges in the Eastern half of the North State Conference race. They lead the division, several games ahead of defending champion Elon. Yesterday the Buc's were stalling defeat squarely in the face with just the last half of the final inning to play. In the top of the frame, Atlantic Christian broke a 2-2 tie that had lasted since the fourth inning and went ahead by a one-run margin.

Jerry Williams, the Bulldogs' hitting star, made a delayed appearance in the ninth and almost caused the Buc's downfall. He batted for the pitcher Ken Fulghum and immediately lined a double over third base. He later scampered home on second baseman Billy Williams' single to right.

Williams then made his pitching debut against the locals and it was anything but auspicious. Two walks and a triple later and he was the loser. Cline's triple would have actually counted as a home run under any other circumstances or if it had gone over the fence. He rounded the bases but the winning run crossed ahead of him.

The blow came very close being an error. A lefthanded hitter, Cline pulled to ball into leftfield. The ball was sliced and was curving fast when the leftfielder James Davis came in a couple of steps, realized he'd misjudged the ball and retreated too late. The ball was momentarily lost in the grass, a circumstance which allows the runner to advance as many bases as he can.

Charlie Russell, who relieved a tiring Bill Loving in the ninth inning, was the winning pitcher. He came in after Loving had given up a double to Williams and walked Davis. Russell struck out Durwood Vick, walked Ron Percise and got Raeford Fulghum to fly out to G.

Farmville Sinks Rocky Mount By Score Of 15-2

Farmville's Coastal Plain League entry knocked the league leading Rocky Mount club for a loop last night in Rocky Mount, as the Farmville team smashed out a 15-2 win.

Fred Pittman went all the way on the mound for Farmville for his first win of the year. Pittman gave up only two hits for the entire game. Farmville got off to a good start, banking across three runs in the first and three more in the second for their six runs in the first two frames. After that there was no doubt about the outcome.

Pete Stewart and Sam Stell led Farmville at bat. Stewart had three-for-five. Stell, a former professional slugger, also had three-for-five, including a triple and a home run. Farmville now has a 2-3 mark for the season and Rocky Mount has a 4-2 record. Saturday night Falkland plays in Farmville and Sunday Farmville goes over to Falkland.

The box score:
Farmville . . . 330 150 201-15 15 1
Rocky Mount 002 000 000-2 2 1
Pittman and Britt; Brantley, Gay (2), and Laughridge.

Cline in left field. B. Williams binged, however, and the Bulldogs took the lead.

Loving pitched eight innings and scattered six hits. ACC got runs off him in the first and third innings. Two bases on balls and a single by B. Williams accounted for the score in the opening frame. A hit, a sacrifice and a safety by Norman Catlett, the third baseman, resulted in a run in the third.

East Carolina bunched their runs in two's, a pair in the fourth and the winning couple in the ninth. Ray Pennington ignited the fourth inning spurt by doubling to centerfield. Bucky Reep worked Ken Fulghum for a base on balls and pitcher Loving drove both runners home with a pulled double down the rightfield line.

Four ECC hitters collected two hits. Gaither Cline had two for five, Jerry Stewart had two for four, Ray Pennington had two for four and Bill Loving had two for four.

Billy Williams managed three hits to lead the visitors at bat. Norman Catlett had two hits in four official trips. The Bulldogs' only extra-base blow was J. Williams' two-bagger. East Carolina travels to Burlington tonight for a show-down twin-bill tomorrow with Elon.

Wants TV Politicos To Tell If Make-Up Is Used

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) asked Congress today to require political candidates to tell television audiences if they use prompting devices or facial make-up.

His aim, he said, is "to eliminate elements of the theatrical and the synthetic from our national political life."

The Neuberger bill would authorize the Federal Communications Commission to take action against any TV station which failed to comply with its terms.

"We require today that radio listeners be informed when they are hearing a recording or a transcription," Neuberger said. He said he sees no reason why TV viewers should not also be told when a candidate is reading his speech.

Prompting devices, he said, "are intended to deceive the TV viewers or voters into thinking that a candidate is speaking extemporaneously when in fact he is reading from an artificial device like a television prompter or 'idiot board.'"

He said his bill would not prevent use of facial makeup or prompters but added: "A television audience should be told if artificial means are being used to conceal a candidate's jowls or bald spot or beard."

At Least Twelve Persons Killed In Factory Fire

MEXICO CITY (AP)—At least 12 persons, including six bus passengers, perished last night in a blazing shower of chemical solvent from a plastics factory. Authorities feared the death toll would go higher.

Touched off by sparks from an electric circuit breaker the flaming liquid erupted from a 2,500-gallon tank of thinning fluid. Within minutes the fiery shower had:

1. Enveloped a bus stopping at the factory gates, killing six passengers instantly and burning 20 others.
2. Set the factory afire, burning to death five or more persons inside.
3. Indirectly caused the death of a bus passenger who was struck by a falling power line as he fled from the vehicle.

President's Pledge Stills Demands In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's promise that Salk polio vaccine "is going to be distributed equitably" stilled for a time today congressional demands that the government take on full supervision.

But Congress members, like the President, appeared ready to step in with mandatory controls if the voluntary system Eisenhower advocated should fail.

The President told his news conference yesterday that no child would be deprived of the vaccine "for want of ability to pay." A later White House statement went further, saying: "If a situation ever develops in this country where children are deprived of the vaccine because of inability to pay or maldistribution of the supply available, the President would immediately ask . . . authority . . . to buy the entire output of the vaccine. . . ."

Rep. Keating (R-NY) said he would introduce legislation today to give Eisenhower a million-dollar fund to buy vaccine for needy children.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) called for "severe penalties" against any person who violates the voluntary allocation program being set up. But Senators Hill (D-Ala) and H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), chairman and senior Republican on the Senate Labor Committee, said that group will take no action this week. They spoke after hearing from Surgeon General Leonard Scheele, head of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) said the committee had been assured there is "no problem," and that ample supplies will be available by November.

In New York, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said it had authorized total shipments of 7,570,400 cubic centimeters of the vaccine for free use in the school program it is sponsoring. It said that meets most of its needs.

Meantime, West Virginia reported its first case of polio among the 106,840 children given their first shots in that state, and in New Orleans a child died of polio eight days after receiving the vaccine.

These were in addition to 33 post-inoculation cases which the Public Health Service said yesterday had been reported to it.

The health service said 29 of the 33 cases involved use of vaccine manufactured by Cutter Laboratories, of Berkeley, Calif. Supplies of that company's vaccine have been withdrawn for further testing. The four other cases involved supplies furnished by Ell Lilly & Co., of Indianapolis, on which no restriction has been placed.

Two previous deaths had been reported among 10 cases in Idaho. Dr. Carl Ecklund of the Public Health Service laboratory at Hamilton, Mont., said his study of the Idaho cases "points strongly to vaccine as the cause."

LEAVING COUNTRY
NEW YORK (AP)—Communist leader John B. Williamson, 52, boarded ship yesterday for his native England. He chose to leave the country rather than face fresh subversive charges. One of 11 top U.S. Communists convicted under the Smith Act, he had already served a five-year sentence.

No Designation Yet For 'Intermediary'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has decided against designating any nation just now as an intermediary for the United States in efforts to get cease-fire negotiations going with Red China.

Officials cited several reasons:

1. The United States is willing to negotiate now only for a cease-fire. Dulles does not want this position itself to become a subject of bargaining so that wider issues, such as the future of Quemoy and Matsu, become involved.
2. Britain, Pakistan and India are trying on their own initiative to find out Red China's intentions. No American initiative now is essential to keep the situation moving.
3. Dulles does not want to "play favorites" among the nations trying to act as intermediaries. In effect, this attitude puts the next move up to the Chinese Reds, and there is no lack of avenues by which they can make their views known.

Dulles is scheduled to fly to Paris tomorrow for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council. Arrangements have been made for him to discuss Far Eastern problems with French Foreign Minister Edgar Faure and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan.

These will include Viet Nam and Formosa. On the latter, officials said the first aim is to determine whether the Reds are willing to talk about a cease-fire in the way in which Dulles has indicated the United States is willing to negotiate.

Dulles has implied the United States is ready to try to get the Chinese Communists to stop shooting but that it is not willing to pay a price in territory or other substantial concessions.

The present U. S. government view about settlement of broader Formosa issues is that it would come about in stages, probably over a long period.

The first railroad locomotive to be built in the United States, the Peter Cooper, was first operated in 1830.

Plenty Of Candidates In Party Asserts Williams

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said today "the Democratic party has plenty of candidates" qualified for the presidency whether Adlai E. Stevenson seeks the nomination again or not.

Williams, who previously had said Stevenson looked like a shoo-in for the 1956 nomination, said in an interview he didn't want to single out now any of the potential candidates.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said yesterday he still opposes Stevenson. Democratic National Committee Chairman Carmine de Sapio of New York indicated he is lukewarm toward the former Illinois governor, who lost to President Eisenhower in 1952.

The governors yesterday discussed 1956 campaign plans at a closed session which National Chairman Paul M. Butler said produced "no dissent" to the idea that the Democrats would win the White House next year.

Butler said the Democrats plan to attack what he called "the indecisive leadership of the Eisenhower administration."

De Sapio said he told the governors the party ought to "go after Eisenhower rather than the people of second rank" in the administration.

As for his own party, De Sapio said he doesn't think "any Democrat should play coy or have to be drafted to serve as the party's nominee."

Stevenson has been silent about his plans. De Sapio called the nomination race "wide open" at this point, indicating he may seek to hold New York's 94-vote convention delegation for Gov. Averell Harriman. Harriman has said he is for Stevenson.

Enough Evidence That Cats Near

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—There has been no action in the case, but policeman Johnny Peres said he had "enough evidence."

A San Antonio woman complained to police that a neighbor was harboring 36 cats in a one-room house. Peres found all the doors locked when he got to the house, he said but could hear considerable movement inside. He returned to the police station — covered with fleas.

Father Ignored By Runaway Son

DETROIT (AP) — One night in 1924 Thomas E. Josephs had an argument with his 16-year-old son Bernard over the boy's companions and late hours.

The next day Bernard ran away. A police search failed to locate him.

As the years went by, Bernard was all but forgotten by everyone but his father, a widower with no other children than his son.

Yesterday, the police missing persons department called on Josephs, now a building caretaker, to tell him they'd received a letter from a Bernard, age 47.

After discharge from the Army in 1947 he had landed a job with the Military Transport Service in the Pacific and needed papers to prove his citizenship. He asked police to get the papers from his father.

Did his son ask about him? Josephs wanted to know.

No, said police, that's all the letter said.

Proclaim State Of Emergency In Afghanistan

KARUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Afghanistan's government has proclaimed a state of emergency last night and called its minister to neighboring Pakistan home.

Radio Kabul also announced mobilization of the army. It said the country was preparing to face aggression from outside, an obvious reference to Pakistan.

The Afghans and Pakistanis have been disputing for years over the rights of Pathan tribesmen living in frontier areas of Pakistan along the border between the two nations. Afghanistan backs the warrior hill tribesmen's demands for independence in a new state. Anti-Pakistan rioting in which 47 persons were hurt broke out in Kabul in March after the Karachi government consolidated West Pakistan's half-dozen states including the northwest frontier — into a single province of West Pakistan. Pakistan accused the Kabul government of fomenting the violence and ordered its diplomats' families home.

Bomb Threats Keep Manhattan Police On Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Six bomb threats in rapid succession kept Manhattan police hopping yesterday afternoon and last night.

Exhaustive searches were made. No bomb was found. The threats were reported in this chronology: Macy's department store; the Roxy Theater; Webster Hall, on East 11th Street; the Academy of Music movie theater on East 14th Street; a First National City Bank branch at Canal Street and Broadway, and the Radio City Music Hall.

At Macy's, a woman shopper found a note warning that a bomb had been planted. The rest of the bomb scares were telephoned.

A homemade bomb, with death-dealing potentialities and a faulty timing device, was found in the Radio City Music Hall Monday morning. A warning had been telephoned the day before, but searchers failed to discover the contrivance then.

City Committed To Pay Third Of Costs Says Lee

A bill passed by the Senate yesterday which would relieve cities from paying one-third of the right-of-way costs for highway construction in the city limits under certain conditions would probably have no effect on Greenville's new bridge and by-pass, City Attorney R. B. Lee said this morning.

City fathers recently signed commitments with the Highway Commission to pay one-third of the right-of-way costs for the by-pass which will leave the present N.C. 11 at House Station, pass east of the airport, cross the Tar River by a new bridge and follow Memorial Drive to West End Circle.

Under state law, cities are required to pay the one-third cost when the highways pass through city area.

The bill passed by the Senate yesterday is aimed at a situation in the Town of Canton.

Sen. William Medford, one of the introducers of the bill, told the committee the Highway Commission wants to build an important link in the inter-regional highway system through Canton. No other route can be followed because of Canton's position in a mountain valley.

City Manager James S. Hughes concurred with Lee's opinion on the matter.

"Greenville has already signed and after all the city requested this by-pass," Hughes pointed out.

He said he felt the new law would probably affect only cities which do not ask for the highways to come through the city limits and where no other route can be followed.

"That, the city manager felt would not be the case in Greenville.

The bill must still pass in the House before it becomes law.

Press Meeting To Open Friday

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's development program for new industry will be one of the principal topics of discussion before the Eastern North Carolina Press Assn., which opens its spring meeting here tomorrow.

Hal Tanner, publisher of the host Goldsboro News-Argus, said advance registrations indicate a larger attendance than usual at this meeting.

The association president Henry Dennis of the Henderson Daily Dispatch, will preside over the meeting. The session will end Saturday with a luncheon.

This Family Has Lots Of Harmony

By JOY MILLER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There is always harmony in the Jerome Hines household: Mamma and Papa are opera singers, and little David Jerome is a chirp off the old block.

"He was a year old on Valentine's Day, and already he is singing," says his pretty, petite mother, Lucia Evangelista of New York City Center. "I mean, he follows me with the same pitch."

Hones, young Metropolitan Opera Co. basso, nods. "When he's old enough to sing bass he can have it."

"We don't have a baby-sitting problem like some couples," explains Miss Evangelista, who would rather be called Mrs. Hines. "Both our mothers are at home with us."

"I don't understand all the fuss about mothers-in-law," says her husband. "We all get along fine. And Lucia and I haven't had an argument in our nearly three years of marriage."

"He's too big. I know I'll lose before I start, so why start?" "How could I fight with HER?" Hines, 6 foot 6 1/2, looks like a man asking how you could beat a soft, cuddly kitten. "But seriously, it's a big help having two opera singers in the family. We understand each other better because we have the same problems. And since we can't sing the same roles—nature having made her a soprano and me a basso, thank heavens—there's no jealousy."

"I depend on her professionally too. I come off the stage and ask her how I did. If she wrinkles her nose, I know what she means."

Mrs. Hines laughs and relates how her husband got started singing: It seems he was asked to drop out of glee club in his Hollywood, Calif. junior high school because he couldn't carry a tune. But at 16, because the pretty girl who lived next door was taking voice lessons, he started too.

At 25 he joined the Met, proving something or other about mind over music. Now, at 33, he sings 30 leading basso roles.

The singers pursue their hobbies in concert—especially spear-fishing.

"I'm afraid of sharks and manta rays," volunteers Mrs. Hines. "But Jerry's not."

"Not long ago I tangled with a 6 foot shark," says Hines. "He was hungry and he wanted the fish I had just speared. Well—I was taller than he was, so he swam away."

He turns to his wife. "I bet David will love spearfishing in a few years. And by that time..."

She looks demure. "We want to have one more child—a girl," she says.

"And after the girl, another boy," her husband goes on.

She sputters. "That's easy for you to say."

But in a minute she decides he's hit the right note after all, and she nods. The Hineses are in harmony again.

MOTHER GOOSE ARIAS . . . Opera singers Jerome Hines and his wife, Lucia Evangelista, make it a musical threesome at home with their 1-year-old son, David Jerome.

By FRANCES SARAH MOORE

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO
Tracey was looking at Kay Ireland. I shall love her all my life; but a doctor, who's a doctor 24 hours a day wouldn't have much time left to be a husband. But with an honesty of mind that was characteristic, he knew he was sidestepping the real reason for Kay's refusal to marry him. Kay believed that love was never the same way twice, and he had been unable to persuade her that if she continued giving him a little love and a lot of affection, they could have a happy relationship. They had gone over it lengthily, logically, and all their talk resolved itself into Kay's firm, kind, final no.

Tracey glanced around. Seeing Landon beside Eric his thoughts immediately jumped to Maggie. Not responding satisfactorily to artificial pneumothorax, according to the chief at Breck, Surgery might be indicated to collapse the diseased lung permanently. He must make it clear, very clear to Eric that the mortality rate of thoracic plastic surgery was now practically non-existent. He must make it clear to Landon, too. In the event of an operation, Eric and Landon would be able to help each other through an undoubtedly rugged time of anxiety.

Tracey rubbed his chin thoughtfully. Something in the casual eight-linking of those two startled him. It's that gossip, he thought. Nothing to it of course. It'll be scotched when Maggie gets well and comes home. Then Landon will marry Scott Wylie and everything will be hunky-dorey. That settled. Tracey closed his eyes. After spending three-quarters of the night at the hospital, he figured he had earned a nap.

An usher tapped him on the shoulder. Tracey jumped awake. I don't even have time to get religion! The young doctor held his shoulders very straight as he left the church. It was a good life. The best. In time, when the echoes of what might have been had grown dimmer, he'd forget that it might have been an immeasurably better life with Kay Ireland.

Scott Wylie sat alone in the middle of a row, his eyes full of nothing but Landon—her slender figure in the gray squirrel jacket, her little gray hat and her hair curling up over the rim like a halo. He remembered the first time he had seen her, chesscloth vestments and a water-pistol! Scott's hands clenched together.

He loved Landon so much that she was an ache in his heart. Last night when she had said, "Yes, Scott," and kissed him, he had felt the whole earth turning under his feet. She had said yes. She was wearing his ring. Under her glove, Landon McCrae was wearing his ring. The sermon ended. There was a slight pause, a rustling, and then music filled the church and the soft voices of the choir. Landon took off her gloves. After all why was she wearing Scott's ring if not to let it be seen? Her heart ached, suddenly. She felt strained with emotion, scarcely understanding herself; her strange new self engaged to marry Scott Wylie.

They were driving to Chester-ville. Landon sat beside Scott, listening to the soft hum of the motor, touching her ring now and then as if from it might miraculously spring the courage she needed for the ordeal of meeting Scott's parents. But no genie appeared.

The countryside had never looked so bleak and barren and cold; the bare willow branches, a last year's weeds poking up stiffly through the snow, a narrow twisting frozen stream under a small bridge they crossed rockingly.

Landon turned her face, but at the radiant flash of Scott's smile she looked hurriedly away. A windy gust whirled powdery snow across the flat highway and for a few seconds everything ahead was blotted out.

Landon huddled back. She suddenly knew that she could not go through with this. It was wrong to cheat Scott. This code of integrity you lived by, man, you the person you were, if you broke it, you were never the same person again. You changed inside. And Scott would know. Not today, perhaps, or tomorrow, but some day he would look directly at her, and see her whole secret cheating heart.

Scott smoothed her gloves on her lap and drew a long breath. "Scott," she said. "I have to talk to you."

He slanted a smile at her. "I'm all ears."

She clenched her hands together. "Scott I have to tell you. I am not in love with you. I—I think you'd better pull off the road."

The car rounded a curve, missed the ditch and slowed to a stop. Scott cut the motor. The sudden silence was thick and strangling. She twisted her hands together. "I—I am in love with someone else," she whispered. "I—I thought I could pretend with you, but I find I can't. I can't... Try to forgive me, will you, please?"

He circled her wrist with his hand, hard. "It's Eric," he said. "It's Eric isn't it?" Thick as her misery was, a faint note of wonder penetrated it. "You knew. How did you know?" But of course if others knew, Scott would know. He let her hand go and stared at the mark on her wrist. "I think I have known it almost as long as you have. Only I tried not to believe it. You kissed me last night. You said—" He stopped. Raw hurt

Scott said. "What do we do the tar out of it?"
"Stay engaged—indeinitely, or until Maggie comes home and you can hurry off to New York? or do we get married?"
She said. "When Maggie comes home I—I thought I'd go away. If I couldn't, I—was going to do the best I could to be a good wife."
"Oh, I know it sounds terrible. Scott, I truly am sorry. And now I—I suppose we'd better turn the car around and go back."
"Why?"
She stared at him blankly. "Why?" she echoed. The ring was a little tight but she tugged it off and held it out to him. "What point is there now in—"
"Nothing has changed—except between you and me. Your reasons for being engaged to me still exist."
"But—"
"You wanted an amulet, didn't you? Oh put the ring on... But first I want one thing straight. Eric's stand in this. If he—"
"No! Oh, Scott, no!" She looked shocked. "He is crazy in love with Maggie. He is wonderful to me, but only because I am her sister. He has no inkling that I—He would despise me! And I'll die—"

Safety Belt For Autos May Someday Become Standard

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Scooped at for years as impractical and unwanted, the automobile seat belt may yet become standard equipment. Edward R. Dye of Cornell University testing laboratory says its universal use would cut auto crash fatalities in half.

A 35,000 annual death toll on the nation's highways is making more motorists conscious of safety. National and state legislation is being proposed for the installation of safety belts. However, even proponents of the belts say safety cannot be legislated into motor-cars and motoring. It will have to come, they say, through a prolonged course of education.

Probably nothing suggested for the automobile in the last quarter century or more has stimulated as much argument as the seat belt. The automobile industry's spokesmen say it can be installed in a car with relatively little added cost. But, they add, few persons want the belt until they have been involved in a serious traffic accident.

They add also that the belt alone may not be the complete answer to safer driving. It may have to be supplemented with a shoulder harness. Relatively few persons, they say, want to be strapped into an automobile.

Also proposed are a chest guard over the steering post and padding on the dashboard. The former would save many drivers from chest injuries; the latter would absorb head blows that might be suffered by the occupant of the so-called "suicide" seat—alongside the driver.

All these things have been tested exhaustively by the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, an affiliate of Cornell University. And the safety belts have been unqualifiedly endorsed by a group of surgeons who participated recently in a panel discussion of the car safety problem.

CONTRAST—Drawings based on Cornell University laboratory tests showing how safety belts prevent injuries.

Must Be Solid
Alvin C. Smith, writing in the laboratory's "Research Trends," says that to be really effective the belt "must be attached to the primary structure (frame) of the car;" that the belts should be arranged with one person per belt.

What happens to driver and passengers in an average automobile colliding head-on with another vehicle or crashing into an immovable object? Many of the car companies have joined in the effort to find out.

Generally they are coming up with almost identical answers. Simulating various types of crashes, with driverless cars occupied by dummy figures representing children and adults, they learn:

Heads Bashed
The majority of passenger fatalities are a result of head blows.

In a front-end collision the driver will invariably receive a potentially injurious blow to the torso against the steering wheel; where the rate of deceleration is beyond a certain point the driver, if not impaled on the steering wheel post, will also

Revenue Service Studying Change In Its Tax Forms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Revenue Service is considering a number of plans for new tax forms next year, but it is all in the thinking and planning stage right now.

Just one thing has been firmly decided—no more color stripes, like this year's, on mailed tax forms identifying over $10,000 and under $10,000 incomes.

Two other changes, however, are pretty sure to be made: Some shorter basic taxpayer's form will probably emerge, perhaps having just two pages.

The $5,000 ceiling on the use of "Short Form 1040" will probably be lifted to somewhere around $8,000 or $10,000.

This year the Internal Revenue Service had only two months after the revised 1954 tax code was signed by President Eisenhower in mid-August to revised nearly 500 income tax forms, and write instructions for their use.

Printing tax forms and instruction pamphlets each year is the world's single biggest printing job.

The Revenue Service is thinking in terms of getting up a new basic tax form which would serve the needs of the majority of people who do not have the special kinds of income that now complicate the form—retirement pay, dividends, rents, interest, capital gains, and so on.

One presently developed plan contemplates a two-age affair, consisting of about what is now on Pages 1 and 3 of Form 1040. A study of past returns turned up the finding that about 60 per cent of some 47 million taxpayers who use Form 1040 showed virtually no income aside from salaries and wages.

Printing tax forms and instruction pamphlets each year is the world's single biggest printing job.

The Revenue Service is thinking in terms of getting up a new basic tax form which would serve the needs of the majority of people who do not have the special kinds of income that now complicate the form—retirement pay, dividends, rents, interest, capital gains, and so on.

One presently developed plan contemplates a two-age affair, consisting of about what is now on Pages 1 and 3 of Form 1040. A study of past returns turned up the finding that about 60 per cent of some 47 million taxpayers who use Form 1040 showed virtually no income aside from salaries and wages.

Greeting Card Is 'Seditious'

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Burt Ashman, assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania College for Women, took one look at a new greeting card in the campus bookstore and banned it.

The "get well" card, titled "High Noon, Pittsburg, Pa.," showed a half-dozen pair of eyes peering out of a solid black background. A message read "From (Koff) Pittsburg."

"It isn't the least bit amusing," said Ashman. "Furthermore, it's downright seditious. Not only do they malign us but they add insult to injury by spelling Pittsburg wrong. It's high time people stopped thinking of Pittsburg as the Smoky City."

Crooks Seated At Ass'n Meet

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Eyes popped when delegates to a meeting of the Florida Petroleum Marketers Assn. saw two men from Parker, Fla., wearing badges which read: "Two Crooks, Inc."

"It's legal," said Stewart Crooks Sr.

"It's the name of our jobbing firm," said Stewart Crooks Jr.

Ex-TV Beauty Wows Bullfight Fans Of Mexico With Daring

By JACK RUTLEDGE
AP Newsfeatures

MEXICO CITY — In a few short months Bette Ford, a petite Broadway brunette who looks like Elizabeth Taylor has become Mexico's leading woman bull-fighter.

"It wasn't easy," she said after a recent fight in Acapulco. "But I'm going to keep on as long as God loves me."

She had had a close call that afternoon. A particularly vicious bull had tossed her and, as she said, "danced the cha-cha-cha on me" before aides lured it away from her prostrate form.

"I wasn't particularly frightened," she said. "It made me angry. My first reaction was 'how dare you!'"

And she got up from the arena of sand and blood to put on one of her greatest performances—one that won her two ears and a tail about the highest tribute a bull-fighter ever gets.

Since her opening fight July 4, 1954 she has won so many ears and tails that she has one complete wall of her apartment here adorned with them.

Other American girls have been attracted to the bullring. Patricia McCormick of El Paso was a leading fighter until she was gored

But she saw a bull fight in Bogota, Colombia, while on a South American modeling tour, and fell in love with the sport. She turned down a movie picture contract to take up the art of killing bulls.

For two long years she trained. It meant early rising daily practice, long hours in the open—and no night life.

Last July she felt confident she had mastered at least the elementary phases of her chosen profession, and made her debut in Juarez July 4.

Since then she has fought almost every week, expects to appear about 30 times this season. She is usually the highest paid matador on the card, and has been invited to fight in the Plaza Mexico, the world's largest.

"But I'm not quite ready for that," she says. "Next year, maybe."

Her biggest success to date was in Panama early this year. And it led to a new record for women bullfighters—three appearances in eight days.

Her greatest thrill is when the crowd roars "torera—which means in effect 'you're a real bull-fighter.'" One of her most amusing incidents was when she was dancing gracefully away from a bull and fell flat on the seat of her tight gray pants.

"I sat there and looked at the bull with my mouth open and he was so surprised he slid to a stop and looked back at me," she said.

Her beauty, her ballet-like gracefulness, and her shy smile wow the Latins. And what is her ultimate ambition?

"God willing, I'm going back to New York and the theater. But that will be years from now."

BETTE FORD... As TV actress and model before career as bullfighter.

GLAMOR MATADOR... Pretty Bette Ford, Mexico's top feminine bullfighter, prepares to finish off bull with final sword thrust in arena at Acapulco, Mexico.

badly last September. Pat has just resumed fighting.

Julia Burnett of El Paso; Colleen Davis, Phoenix, Ariz.; Ruth Massey, Anaheim, Calif.; Georgiana Knowles, Tucson, are a few who are trying to crash the difficult and dangerous gate to fame in the bullring.

But Bette is the year's greatest success, and packs 'em in from border to border. In Panama she is a top favorite.

Bette was born in McKeesport, Pa., 24 years ago. She went to New York and became a successful model for a bathing suit maker. Later she appeared in radio shows and on television with such stars as Jimmy Durante, and in such shows as Texaco Star Theater, Ford Theater and others. Her future as an actress was bright.

He Counted, And Bank Was Wrong

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Norman Kinzie, 19, closed out his account at the bank and recounting the money at home discovered he had an extra $100.

He notified the bank but was told he must be mistaken.

"Look," said Kinzie, "I can count and I've an extra $100." Soon a bank messenger called at his home to pick up the surplus.

NATURAL AS A MOUNTAIN STREAM

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the water in the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

- * Richest of plant foods, Chilean's many extra values make it one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers.
- * Chilean's nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate. Ideal for top-dressing and side-dressing. Free flowing, spreads evenly and smoothly.
- * Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve—no waiting for rain—fast, effective action.
- * Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone—an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

Sodium supplements potash—when necessary, substitutes for it—reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.

Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth—it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

"Make sure you get the NATCHEL kind!"

Just Following Rules, Asserts Colonel Dilly

FRANKFURT, Germany, (AP)—He has been called a moralist, a publicity seeker and a power-mad Army officer. But Col. John H. Dilly says of himself:

"I'm just trying to carry out orders."

The tall, sandy-haired West Point graduate stirred up a fuss last summer by cracking down on sloppily dressed American Army wives here. He repeated his campaign this spring.

Both times the reaction was violent.

"Who does he think he is, telling us what to wear?" fumed a sergeant's wife. But she, like the others, soon cooled off and complied. Letters of praise and criticism poured into Dilly's office from all over the world.

"I don't get it," Dilly said in an interview. "I'm just trying to carry out orders. Army regulations mention the subject and I only spelled it out."

Nautilus To Take Six-Week Cruise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine, will start on her six-week shakedown cruise in the next few days.

Announcing this today, the Navy in a brief statement also disclosed belatedly that the Nautilus was officially delivered April 22.

The history-making submarine previously had logged more than 4,000 miles on her nuclear power plant, steamed both surfaced and submerged and made more than 80 dives during builder's trials which started Jan. 17.

The Navy said that during the shakedown cruise the Nautilus will carry no passengers other than a few technical observers, will be closed to the public at all ports of call and will return sometime in June to New London, Conn.

The Navy gave only one hint as to where the Nautilus might go on her first long cruise, saying the submarine would be at San Juan, P.R., May 13 or 14.

High officers at the Army's European headquarters in Heidelberg seem pleased with the 44-year-old colonel. There's a rumor Dilly will be assigned to a regiment in July.

"John's okay," said a fellow officer. "He just one of those go-getters. When he thinks he's right, nothing will stop him."

"When he first came to Frankfurt in 1953, he was made billeting officer. At that time officers and enlisted men had to wait 11 or 12 months for quarters. By the time John got through the waiting time was cut to three or four months."

Dilly's latest clothing order was directed at the troops. After 6 p.m., he ruled, there will be no sport shirts; ties and jackets will be worn.

Cave Irrigated To Keep Beauty

STANTON, Mo. (AP)—Now they are irrigating caves.

A $75,000 irrigation system was installed in the Meramec Caverns here by Lester B. Dill, owner.

From lack of rain, some of the picturesque limestone formations and statues were becoming dry. Moisture supplied by an electric pump is keeping them fresh and full of luster and color. It serves the three miles of cave open to the public. Dill says he thinks it's the first irrigation system for a cave.

In 1953, U.S. steel works and rolling mills used 3,108,000,000,000 gallons of water.

Eggs provide more than 1 percent of the sales in the average food market.

'Martyrdom' Of Pins Inspires Ire

LONDON (AP)—"Why must people employed in factories to put pins in new shirts all be left-handers?" asks an exasperated Londoner.

The left-handed approach, C. Gover Robinson complained in a letter to the London Times, means a right-handed purchaser can't find all the pinheads and gets stuck.

And why so many pins anyway? Robinson wanted to know.

The complaint started a rousing discussion, revealing that male Britons are suffering an unsuspected martyrdom. One correspondent related he had found eight obvious pins in one shirt. What irked him were three which weren't obvious. They jabbed him on a bus in the rush hour.

The shirt industry is aware of the irritations. Edward Herbert, managing director of a shirt factory, wrote:

"My company, after many years of trial and error, has devised a method of folding a new shirt securely and neatly without the use of even a single pin. Our efforts have been inspired no less by reasons of production economy than by a desire to spare our friends unnecessary pinpricks."

Pinless shirts, he said, will be on the way to London shops within a few months.

CAP Members To Join Mission

Meanwhile at Tuesday night's weekly meeting held at the local airport, Commandant of Cadets Henry Pike, instructed members in the manual of arms after which the group saw two films on plane instruments.

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

This is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stop-watches wherever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry (that means less piston travel...longer engine life!) And it delivers the highest power per pound of any V8 in the low-priced field. It's so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five... needs less radiator cooling, too. It's the most modern V8 under anybody's hood!

It puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower—or if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe!

Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet is showing its heels to everyone else on the road!

No other low-priced car has any—no high-priced car has all—of these great Chevrolet features!

Body by Fisher—Nine engine-drive choices in any model—12-volt electrical system—Anti-Dive braking—Outrigger rear springs—Ball-Race steering—High-Level ventilation—Double-Arch cowl construction.

Lewis Staying On Sideline As CIO, AFL Talk Unity

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis is the mystery man of American labor today, standing on the sidelines while the AFL and CIO push forward with plans to merge their 15 million members into one giant union. The shaggy-browed chief of the United Mine Workers of America remains uncommitted and enigmatic. He declines to give a hint as to whether he will eventually make peace with the AFL-CIO chiefs and give organized labor virtually a solid front in pushing for expansion and political power. But there are signs aplenty he doesn't intend to at least not right now.

The best hint as to Lewis' thinking comes from his old friend and long-time lieutenant, Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice president, whose statements usually can be taken as an accurate reflection of Lewis' own views.

Kennedy said in reply to a list of questions that organized labor could boost its present membership of 16 million (this includes the AFL, CIO and independents) to more than 26 million members under certain conditions.

Then he added: "These conditions would include, first, a unified labor movement with a militant leadership that is capable of standing up for labor's rights and with the ability to see beyond the end of a Stillson wrench."

The implication is inescapable that Kennedy doesn't think that kind of leadership will be present in George Meany, AFL president who will head the merger and with whom Lewis has been at odds for years.

Kennedy had "no comment" when asked if he could foresee a time when the miners would join the merger and under what conditions such a move might be made.

Kennedy indicated that Lewis and the UMW believe the AFL and CIO are moving too deeply into politics before consolidating their strength by or organizing drive.

On this score, Kennedy said: "The American labor movement is now, and always has been essentially an economic movement in contrast to the European labor movement, which has been basically a political movement."

"It stands to reason that political action is not the No. 1 job of organized labor but is secondary to the basic job of organizing the unorganized. Voters are what count in political action, and unless labor is able to convince the politicians that it can deliver the votes, the politicians are not going to pay much attention to the leadership of labor when that leadership proposes legislation of a favorable nature."

Kennedy thinks labor's greatest achievement in the past 20 years was the organization of the basic mass production industries such as steel, automobiles, electric manufacturing, etc.—and Lewis' success in winning the first industry-wide welfare and retirement fund for his miners.

What, then, has been labor's greatest failure? Kennedy said: "The greatest failure has been the failure to spread organization into unorganized fields, particularly in the southern states. This has been partly due to the lack of unity in the labor movement and partly due to restrictive legislation."

Where will John L. Lewis go? No man can say except Lewis, whose shaggy eyebrows are growing gray with age. But at 71, he remains a labor power and there never can be a truly united labor front without him.

After 18 Years, Crosby And O'Connor Together

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Last week Paramount saluted the reunion of Donald O'Connor and Bing Crosby after 18 years of going their separate ways.

The studio ran off the "Small Fry" number from their 1938 musical, "Sing You Sinners," plus "You Gotta Give the People Hoke" from the 1955 "Anything Goes."

In the earlier film, Donald was 12, with an Irish face and a soprano singing voice. In "Anything Goes," he is nearing 30, handsome and a baritone. In both numbers, he seems to be an accomplished, highly talented performer with complete sureness.

Donald doesn't give that impression in person. His conversation is tentative, his manner offhanded. He hasn't adopted the false modesty of some stars. Although he has been a performer for most of his years, he is still amazed and modest about the honors that fall his way.

Seeing the old movie caused him to reminisce about his days as a child actor. He recalled playing with his family at the Irish Village of the Chicago World's Fair in 1933. He was 8.

"I can remember there was a midget show next door," he said. "I used to go over and play with the midgets between shows."

He remembers "Sing You Sinners" vividly. He also remembers his salary: $350 a week. He's now earning $200,000 for "Anything Goes."

"I did a lot of pictures at Paramount," he said. "I was Cary Cooper as a boy in 'Beau Geste' and Fred Macmurray as a boy in 'Men With Wings.' But 'Sing You Sinners' was the only musical I ever did in those days."

"I think that was probably good for my career. People don't remember me as a child star. That's pretty hard for some kids to overcome when they grow up."

Janitor Didn't See The Humor

SAN DIEGO Calif. (AP)—A discussion of humor was underway when Mrs. Frances Lea discovered unidentified insects invading her high school classroom.

She sent a note to the janitor reading "I have bugs" and asked the class to speculate on his reply. One boy suggested: "You're lucky. Most teachers have students." Instead the janitor sent back word: "Be right over." He was.

Talk Of Overexpanded Industry Fading Away

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—All that talk about American industry being overexpanded—is it outdated already?

Some top industrialists are saying so and calling for further increases in the capacity of mills and factories to keep in step with the increased consumer demand they foresee.

Just one year ago it was fashionable in some circles to say that the great postwar spurt of building new plants and buying new equipment had given the United States a production capacity well in excess of current civilian consumer demand.

It would be quite some time, they said, before civilian demand—unaided by an additional huge defense production—would catch up.

But now plans for future expansion are being announced by the corporate leaders in many industries. The basic industry steel is a good example.

Between 1950 and 1954 it increased its capacity by one fourth. Last year industry leaders were saying that present capacity of 124,300,000 tons a year should be enough for at least five years more.

This week the nation's steel mills are set to turn out 2,328,000 tons, according to the American Iron & Steel Institute. This would top the record set in March 1953.

And today at least five of the top men in the industry are on record as saying another round of building more mills and upgrading old equipment must be started.

The reason: the steady increase in the nation's population and—more importantly—the increase in the standard of living. Steelmen believe Americans will be buying more cars, more appliances, building more offices, stores and homes, more bridges, schools and highways.

Benjamin F. Fairless, in his swan song as he steps down from the chairmanship of the board of U.S. Steel, says his company to keep in step must add more than one million tons of new capacity each year.

Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, says his company should add eight million tons of capacity in the next 10 years.

E. T. Weir, chairman of National Steel, says the industry is using all of its first-class equipment today and now faces the problem of further development.

W. W. Sebald, president of Armco Steel, and Avery C. Adams, president of Pittsburgh Steel, join in the call for another round of expansion.

This expansion of basic steel production capacity will be accompanied by upgrading facilities for making finished products.

Fight Trend Of Medicine Addicts

VIENNA (AP)—Top doctors, psychiatrists and social workers are trying to halt a growing addiction to medicines in Austria.

Health insurance statistics published recently show that Austria's seven million population consumed more than 320 million pills during 1954. The number of prescriptions for medicines climbed from 5,600,000 in 1950 to nine million last year.

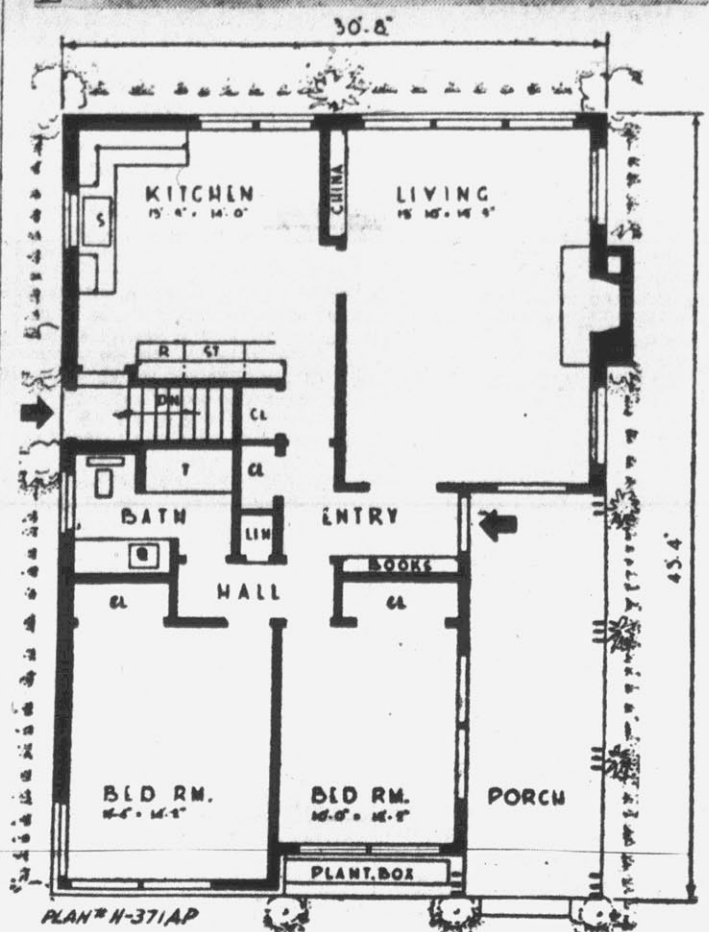

A publicity campaign pointing to too much medicine as an evil is to be started soon.

Dr. Hans Hoff, head of the city's psychiatric clinic, says:

"Millions of city dwellers are becoming medicine addicts and are worse off than those taking narcotics. A narcotic addict is quite normal when he has taken his drug, but the health of a medicine addict is soon completely undermined and he becomes incapable of leading a normal life. "On feeling a slight headache, mild indigestion, or sleeplessness, more and more people reach to the medicine cabinet for quick relief."

"They try to cure themselves by following the advice of advertisements, instead of consulting a doctor. That is nearly always a grave mistake, for although the pain disappears, its cause—maladjustment—remains and after some time the symptoms return. This causes people to take more medicine and, in time, they become medicine addicts."

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures
 FOR A NARROW lot and a small family, this house with only two bedrooms is planned for economical construction. Living room is at the rear, yet the house could be turned so the right side of this plan faced the street, if preferred. This is Plan H-371AP by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,137 square feet and contains 23,051 cubic feet, with basement.

Going All Out To Maintain Record
 ELLINWOOD, Kan. (AP)—This town of 3,000 has gone five months without a fire alarm and the volunteer firemen are trying to stretch the streak.

Harry Gaughan, motor car dealer and fireman, displayed the right spirit the other day.

He traded for an old car, which began to smoke as he drove it toward his shop. Instead of heading for the fire station he aimed for the city limits, hoping to get the car out of town before it burst into flames.

Then he learned the motor was just overheated.

TWENTY-ONE REASONS
 GASTONIA, N. C. (AP)—A dog was stolen from the city dog pound and a 7-year-old boy has 21 reasons for wanting it returned. The dog is suspected of being rabid. And the boy, bitten last week by the dog, will have to take the 21-shot Pasteur treatment for rabies, just to be safe.

In the United States about 300 pounds of steel is processed into fish hooks on an average day.

Mother Of Year Suggests Love

NEW YORK (AP)—A bit of advice to parents everywhere from the American Mother of the Year: "Love your children with all your hearts; love them enough to discipline them before it is too late."

Also, says 75-year-old Mrs. Lavina Christensen Fugal: "A child should know discipline by the age of 3. Forget little things that are not important. Praise them for important things, even if you have to stretch them a bit."

Mrs. Fugal, a hard-working farm widow from Pleasant Grove, Utah, was interviewed yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel during a series of activities for her that will last through Friday.

Close to tears, she said of her family life:

"I've had more blessings than it seems to me one person can stand. And for this I am indebted to Our Heavenly Father. We've had trials, financial difficulties, disasters—our one resource has always been Our Heavenly Father."

Mrs. Fugal, a deeply religious Mormon, is the mother of four sons and four daughters and grandmother of 34.

She will receive her award as American Mother of the Year from the American Mothers Committee at a luncheon Friday.

AEC Target Of $75,000 Action

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A $75,000 suit on file today charges that the Atomic Energy Commission's 1953 atomic tests subjected Mrs. Martha Sheahan to radioactivity which caused a cancer to grow on her face.

Mrs. Sheahan and her husband Daniel previously filed a suit seeking $450,000 from the government and charging that their home at the Groom mine, 25 miles from Yucca Flat, had been made uninhabitable by radiation and Air Force bombs.

The Groom mine is located at the borders of the Nevada Air Force gunnery range. Since the 1953 AEC tests the Sheahans have moved to Las Vegas.

The electrolytic process of making aluminum was discovered in 1886.

SAFETY PAYS

AP Newsfeatures
 BE JUST as careful when working on a 4-foot step ladder as you would be on a 30-foot extension ladder. The Institute for Safer Living says more falls occur from ladders of less than 10 feet than from above 10 feet.
