Telephone Strike Damage

P. H. Saeger, plant manager for the strike-bound Southern Bell Telephone Co. at Memphis, Tenn., points to a hole in fender of company car which he says was caused by a bullet fired while he was taking non-striking workers home. Saeger said the shattered side window in striking was caused when someone threw rock in his holding. Saeger and two women passengers reported minor cuts from the fracas. It was the fourth consecutive night violence has flared at the downtown exchange. (AP Wirephoto)

Mediators Turn To Phone Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is likely to step up efforts to settle the South's two-month-old telephone strike now that an agreement has been reached to end Dixie's big rail walkout. Federal mediators expressed hope today that the "psychological effect" of the rail settlement might spur similar efforts toward peace in prolonged phone and bus strikes. Clyde Mills, assistant director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, went to Atlanta to try to pump new life into talks between the striking CIO Communications Workers of America and the Southern Bell Telephone Co. The phone walkout, now in its 80th day, has been marked by frequent violence. This has complicated negotiations efforts. The main issues in the phone strike are management insistence on curbing strikes during the contract and a union demand for arbitrating grievances. Sen. Eastover (D-Tenn.) yesterday sent messages to CWA and telephone company officials urging that the Southern Bell strike be submitted to binding arbitration, as was the L&N dispute. Keefe said the phone strike was "seriously affecting my state and other Southern states." Southern Bell more than once has rejected arbitration. CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said in a statement today that Southern Bell "fears" arbitration because he said this would "bring to light the medieval antiquity of the Bell system's management." Beirne some time ago asked President Eisenhower to propose full public arbitration of the dispute. Beirne referred to a Southern Bell statement terming his proposal "a calculated attempt to gain from an arbiter what the union has not been able to justify through the processes of collective bargaining. . . ." The CWA chief said this comment is "significant of company contempt for collective bargaining based upon the facts." He accused the company of "introducing jungle law into labor-management relations."

Three Variances OK'd By Adjustments Board

The Housing Board of Adjustments granted three variances last night and ruled in a fourth case that no variance was required. J. H. Harrell presented a map of a lot at the corner of Ford and Second Streets on which he proposed to construct a five-family dwelling unit. The board voted to allow him to construct the unit to within 15 feet of the property line on Ford Street and within 15 feet of the property line on Second Street. Herbert L. Ellis requested a variance for a dwelling which he plans to construct at the corner of Pitt and Deck Streets. The board ruled that in view of the fact that the dwelling will complete construction in the block the house could be constructed so that the front yard line will be not less than the front yards of the adjoining buildings on Pitt Street and the side yard line on Deck Street will be not less than 15 1/2 feet from the curb line, since 15 1/2 feet will set the building back further than the existing buildings in the vicinity. J. E. Mebane asked for a variance for the house which he plans to construct at the corner of First and Pitt Streets. The board ruled that Mebane could build his house according to plans presented at the meeting. On an appeal by Mrs. Travis Kooler concerning a house she plans to build at the corner of Maple and Fifth Streets, the board ruled that plans met requirements of city ordinances and no variance was needed.

C-of-C Board Adopts Program For A Planned Industrial Area

Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors adopted last night a report of the Chamber's Industrial Committee outlining a program for a planned industrial area in Greenville. This plan, presented to the directors by Leonard P. Bloxam, chairman of the Industrial Committee, would involve listing industrial sites that the committee may show to industrial prospects, and would include a complete description of the sites, together with firm prices. A subcommittee appointed to make a survey to determine the sites available and to compile all necessary information is composed of J. H. Moore, T. L. Wagner, A. Tyson Billro, A. Hartwell Campbell and Jack Wallace. This group is to report its findings at the June 10 meeting of the Industrial Committee. The Board of Directors went on record as opposing a bill now in the state legislature to repeal the state's right-to-work law. Letters have been mailed to Pitt County representatives and senator informing them of the Chamber's opposition, and asking them to oppose the bill. The Chamber's Legislative Committee reported it is calling to the attention of local retailers a proposal to broaden the coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act by abolishing all retail exemptions. The committee is suggesting that the retailers make known to their congressmen their wishes in regard to this law. The directors voted to cooperate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring the safety check lane to be held here May 23-28. At this time free inspection will be provided all motorists to check their vehicles for any mechanical defects. The plan was presented to the Chamber directors by incoming Jaycee president M. W. Aldridge and Patrolman Jim Boykin.

Bill Introduced To Permit Pupil To Prosecute Claim

A bill has been introduced in the General Assembly by Representative B. O. Worthington to authorize Jesse Mae Grimes, a Negro school pupil here, to file and prosecute a claim under the Tort Claims Act for an injury received "when she stepped into a hole at the Fleming Street School." If passed, the bill will make it possible for the student to sue the state for what she claims was a permanent injury received when she stepped into the hole. The incident occurred during the 1950-51 school year. City School Superintendent J. H. Rose has stated that, according to the report received by him at the time the accident occurred, the girl did not step into a hole, but fell down some steps. Rose said she was hospitalized for a few days, with all medical expenses covered by school insurance. He noted that the girl has been in school ever since, and neither her nor the city school Board of Trustees has received any report of any permanent injury resulting from the accident.

Ike Invites Bulganin To Informal Parley With Eden, Faure On World Problems

MOSCOW (AP)—President Eisenhower today invited Soviet Premier Bulganin to meet him, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Faure for an informal discussion of world problems. Similar invitations were delivered by France and Britain from their heads of government. U. S. Charge d'Affairs Walter W. Walsley delivered the invitation at the Soviet Foreign Ministry. Walsley declined to disclose contents of the note. The time and place suggested are not yet disclosed in Moscow. When the invitation arrived, Premier Bulganin was en route to Warsaw by airplane with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. They will attend the Warsaw conference, which

Sabre Jets Shoot Down 2 MIGs In Clash; No Losses

TOKYO (AP)—American Sabre Jets, jammed by Communist MIGs between North Korea and Red China, shot down two of the Russian-built jets and probably destroyed another this morning, the Air Force announced. The dogfight started over international waters of the Yellow Sea, the Air Force said, when "eight Sabres were attacked by 12 to 16 Communist fighters." All the Sabres, on a patrol mission, returned later to their Korean bases. The flight area was about 50 miles southwest of the mouth of the Yalu River, boundary between North Korea and Red China. Communist China has a large air base at Antung, and North Korea at Sinuiju, on opposite banks of the Yalu. The Air Force gave no clue on the nationality of the MIGs, used by the air forces of North Korea, Communist China and Soviet Russia. An Air Force announcement said the MIGs fired first. It said the Sabres, from the 36th Squadron of the 8th Fighter-Bomber Wing, returned the fire. Two Communist pilots bailed out and "the third plane was last seen diving straight down trailing smoke." American pilots who scored were Capt. R. V. Fulton, Bernardville, N.J.; Lt. B. C. Phythyon, Wadsworth, Ohio, and Lt. J. E. McInerney, Garden City, N.Y., the Air Force announced. It was the third almost identical incident in the same general Yellow Sea area in 16 months. On Jan. 22, 1954, American Sabres escorted an RB45 jet reconnaissance bomber shot down one MIGs when a flight of Red planes attacked off the west coast of North Korea. Feb. 5, Sabres escorted another RB45 jet shot down two more MIGs in a similar battle. The Sabres were flying alone today, Far East Air Forces said. The United Nations Command charged at Pannunjom that the MIGs last February rose from North Korean air bases to make the attack and accused the Communists of an armistice violation. The Korean Communists countered with a protest that the American patrol flight had violated North Korean territory. The United States then demanded that truce inspection teams check its charge that North Korea was building up its MIG strength at North Korean air fields in violation of the truce. Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho rejected the inspection demand, which he called "trickery which cannot be permitted." Today's pattern seemed to be much the same as in the two previous incidents. International law recognizes only a three mile limit off a nation's coast as territorial waters. The Communist nations habitually claim 12 miles or more. Under international law, Allied planes can fly three miles off the North Korean coast up to the northern limit of the Yellow Sea without any legal violation of Communist territory.

'Monkeywrench' In Austrian Talk

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The West went ahead today with plans for signing the Austrian independence treaty this weekend despite a new monkey wrench from the Soviets. In the continuing talks here on the treaty draft, Russian Ambassador I. I. Ilyichev demanded yesterday that economic concessions Moscow promised last month to the Austrians be left out of the pact. Instead, Ilyichev insisted that the original draft treaty's provisions for reparations to Russia remain as written in 1949. He said the reductions Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had agreed to in March should be covered in a separate pact to be signed later only by the Russians and the Austrians. Discussion of the issue was to be renewed today by Ilyichev and the British, French and U.S. ambassadors to Austria, who have been working out a final treaty draft since May 2. The envoys have agreed on most other questions. Despite the hitch over reparations, the optimistic belief prevailed that the Big Four foreign ministers would complete the weekend to sign the treaty ending the 10-year occupation of Austria. In Moscow, Austrian Ambassador Norbert Blieschok said Molotov had told him at a reception last night he is ready to sign the treaty in Vienna next Sunday.

Area Hospitals In Conference Here

Approximately 30 representatives from 13 hospitals in the northeastern section of North Carolina attended a meeting for hospital bookkeepers and accountants conducted by members of the Duke Endowment staff today at Pitt Memorial Hospital. All hospitals represented at the meeting are assisted by the Duke Endowment. Purpose of this meeting, one of five being held throughout the state during this month, was to discuss any problems which may have arisen in connection with a new hospital accounting system, introduced by the Endowment last fall. Members of the Duke Endowment staff who were here to instruct and consult with hospital representatives were George W. Harrell, director of field service; James B. Felts, Jr., H. Carl Rowland, and B. G. McCall, field representatives; and Russell J. Chambers, administrative resident from the North Carolina Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem. Hospitals represented at the meeting included, in addition to Pitt Memorial, Tayloe Hospital, Washington; Carolina General, Wilson; Woodard-Herring, Wilson; Pungo District Hospital, Belhaven; Bertie County Memorial Hospital, Windsor; Martin General, Williamson; Albemarle Hospital, Elizabeth City; Chowan Hospital, Edenton; Edgecombe General, Tarboro; Wayne County Memorial, Goldsboro; St. Luke's, New Bern; and Pender Memorial, Burgaw. Three killed as stalled auto is struck by train. HOPE MILLS, N.C. (AP)—Three persons were killed and six hurt, one critically, here last night when a freight train struck a car which had stalled on a grade crossing. Coroner Joe Pinkston said all the dead and injured were occupants of the car, driven by Leonard Keels, 34, railroad section laborer, who was killed. Also killed was Robert C. Council, month-old baby, and Keels' 8-year-old daughter, Betty Ann. Mrs. Arlene Council, 17, mother of Robert, was in critical condition at the Hope Mills Hospital. Others injured were Keels' wife and three other children and his sister-in-law, Irene Sutton. All are Negroes. Pinkston said W. H. Stephens of Rocky Mount was the engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line freight.

Building Caves In On Workmen

NEW YORK (AP)—Rescue squads dug into tons of rubble today in search for a construction worker missing in the roaring collapse of the New York Coliseum's main exhibition floor. Fifty-one of some 1,000 workers on the job were injured late yesterday when the floor gave way while concrete was being poured into it. Twenty-three were hospitalized. Missing was Joseph Lombardi, 55, a cement worker. More than 100 workers scrambled for their lives as concrete, steel and wood plunged 22 feet to the street-level floor of the project being built at Columbus Circle. "Something started to give," said one worker. "Then there was a terrible noise. It was like an earthquake. I just went down." Another worker said it was like a "terrific explosion—like a big boiler exploding." "I ran and ran like a mad dog trying to get up those boards," said still another. "I thought I'd never get out." The $5-million-dollar project, started a year ago, is half completed. A 22-story office building being built as part of the project was unaffected by the cave-in of the 180-by-180-foot floor section.

More Telephone Lines Cut In South Carolina

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—A 50-circuit Southern Bell Telephone Co. cable carrying long distance lines to Greer and Hendersonville, N.C., was cut here last night. Company officials blamed "sabotage." This was the third cable cutting here since the strike of Communications Workers of America (CWA) began March 14. In two previous incidents, only local lines were affected. Southern Bell officials said they believed an attempt was made to cut the main Atlanta-Charlotte cable, but the less important line was severed instead. A supervisor said a pole was climbed and linemen's pliers were used to cut 43 wires of the 50-wire cable. Normal service was restored at 6 a.m.

Call Off Talks At Textile Mill After Violence

TUXEDO, N.C. (AP)—A scheduled conference between officials of the strike-bound Green River Mills Co. here and representatives of the CIO Textile Workers Union of America May 12 has been called off, according to George Boys, company president. Boys said yesterday the firm has wired the union calling off the arbitration meeting. The telegram charged the union with recent violence in the strike which began April 6. Boys said dynamite was reported during the weekend, one reportedly destroying a motorboat owned by Boys. Gov. Hodges was asked yesterday to order the State Highway Patrol to deal with the situation. Motor Vehicle Commissioner Edward Scheidt is to investigate the matter and advise Hodges.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he stands ready to "do anything" to meet with anyone, anywhere "in the interest of world peace. In an informal talk to a national conference of Republican women, the President said the only condition for such a meeting would be that the United States could confer and maintain "self-respect."

Under the proposal, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would meet at a meeting "in advance of a day" at the summit of Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure. The heads of government would then confer for a short period of time — perhaps three or four days — to lay down the outlines for a conference of their respective foreign ministers. The heads of government would not be expected to take any decisions on substance nor make any binding agreements. They merely would agree on an agenda and is expected to set up an Eastern NATO of Russia and its East European Communist allies. Consequently, there was no immediate Soviet reaction to the invitation, but it is believed that it will certainly be accepted. Armed with President Eisenhower's consent, American, French and British experts finished up the text of the invitation and quickly obtained the approval of the NATO

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin led a Soviet delegation to Warsaw today for the birth of the Communist version of NATO. The Moscow radio announced the delegation's arrival by plane in the Polish capital. Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov accompanied the Premier for the Soviet bloc security conference, which opens tomorrow. The delegation also included a number of top officials from various Soviet republics. The conference was called to pool the armed forces of the Soviet Union and its seven East European allies under a joint command. The eight nations had pledged in Moscow last Dec. 2 to take "such action" as West Germany were required. A declaration following the Moscow meeting said: "All these measures are in conformity with the inalienable rights of states to self-defense, are in conformity with the United Nations Charter, and with previous agreements or directives against remilitarization of Western Germany."

The Paris treaties, granting sovereignty to the Bonn Republic and enrolling it in the North Atlantic Alliance, went into effect last week. When that was assured, the Communists on May 3 announced their plans for the meeting in the Polish capital. The Soviets will be joined in the unified Eastern command by East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Albania. Red China will be represented at Warsaw by an observer. Western observers in Moscow expected Marshal Ivan Konev, the Soviet deputy minister of defense, to be named the new supreme Communist commander. The meeting also is expected to make provision for an East German army. Western military experts have said that the new Soviet bloc organization will make little change in the military setup behind the Iron Curtain. These officials contend that the satellites' forces have been under Soviet domination for years. It has long been rumored that an Eastern military headquarters already existed at Karlovy Vary (Karlovy) a famous health resort in western Czechoslovakia. Marshal Konev at one time was said to head it.

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—People were plucked from car tops last night after a flash storm flooded a block stretch of this west Texas city. But water drained off swiftly, and damage was slight. No injuries were reported. Rains of 2 to 3 inches which pounded Odessa fell from widespread storms that have soothed drought-hurt west Texas several days. Police said the minor flood here caused more of a spectacle than damage. However, several cars were stranded and occupants rescued from the tops of them by boats. At its highest, the water lay 2 to 3 feet deep on a line along 21 blocks long in the low-lying residential section. Police said water didn't get into any homes or businesses, but Jim Scott, managing editor of the Odessa American, said a little seeped into some homes. Policeman Claude Henry estimated damage at $1,000 and said most of it was to flood damage construction work. He said, "Everybody got very excited," and sightseers gathered around the flooded area "so you couldn't hardly do anything."

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—An official canvass of returns was scheduled for today in yesterday's reelection in which the retention of the alderman form of government was favored by a five-vote margin. Unofficial returns showed 1,775 voters in favor of the alderman form and 1,770 cast ballots for the city council form. The council plan was favored in the May 2 election but yesterday's runoff was made necessary by the plan's failure to receive a majority of votes.

RALEIGH (AP)—The Senate Finance subcommittee worked out a $9,717,000 per year tax package today including an additional 2 cents per bottle beer tax which would raise $1,760,000. The proposed beer tax would substitute for a sweeping revision of license fees proposed by a House Finance subcommittee which would raise $1,450,000 per year. The House subcommittee adopted a package yesterday which will submit to its full committee which would raise $9,751,000. The state will need approximately 10 million a year in new taxes to balance its 640 million dollar budget during the next two fiscal years. There were several differences in the package the Senate subcommittee will recommend to its parent body compared with the House subcommittee package. The Senate group did not go along with the House subcommittee in recommending a tax on newspaper circulation or in putting commercial coal under the 3 per cent sales tax schedule, or adding a tax to Blue Cross hospital companies. Neither did it agree with the House that tax relief should be granted bus companies, or to married women making more than $2,000 who are the principal breadwinners in their families. RALEIGH (AP)—After exempting 23 counties, the Senate last night passed and sent to the House a bill aimed at reforming North Carolina's justice of the peace system. The major proposal in the bill would set up a uniform system of fees in civil actions and would remove profit motive from convictions in criminal cases. An amendment by Sen. D. J. Rose of Wayne was adopted which would require all justices to post $1,000 bonds with their clerks of Superior Court, conditioned upon "faithful performance" of duties. The bill introduced by Sen. E. W. Summers of Onslow, would provide that justices collect a fee of $4.50 in each criminal case in which there is a conviction. The fee would be turned over to the county general fund. The jaypees would receive $3.60 from the county general fund for each case tried, regardless of whether there was a conviction. The bill also would limit the number of jaypees elected and require each to maintain a suitable office. Exempted from the bill were Wake, Martin, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Hyde, Pamlico, Duplin, Rockingham, Columbus, Anson, Robeson, Buncombe, Gaston, Edgecombe, Union, New Hanover, Nash, Pender, Forsyth, Warren, Beaufort and Pitt. Among other legislative developments last night: 1. Following lengthy debate, the House killed legislation aimed at giving cities and counties more "home rule." Rep. Clyde Shreve of Guilford, who introduced the two bills, said the measures would relieve the Legislature of many local bills which it now handles and designate the persons — the foreign ministers — to carry out the job. Then foreign ministers would then take over the stage again for what would probably become a lengthy conference. The invitation to the Kremlin will be couched in general terms. Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay will discuss the details of it with Molotov when they meet him Saturday in Vienna just before signing the Austrian state treaty there Sunday. In Washington, the White House said Dulles had been given full powers to arrange a Big Four meeting of chiefs of state if the secretary thought it "feasible and useful." Previously informants said the Western Allies would propose this kind of conference to the foreign ministers.

(AP)—A scheduled conference between officials of the strike-bound Green River Mills Co. here and representatives of the CIO Textile Workers Union of America May 12 has been called off, according to George Boys, company president. Boys said yesterday the firm has wired the union calling off the arbitration meeting. The telegram charged the union with recent violence in the strike which began April 6. Boys said dynamite was reported during the weekend, one reportedly destroying a motorboat owned by Boys. Gov. Hodges was asked yesterday to order the State Highway Patrol to deal with the situation. Motor Vehicle Commissioner Edward Scheidt is to investigate the matter and advise Hodges.

Flash Flood Hits West Texas City

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—People were plucked from car tops last night after a flash storm flooded a block stretch of this west Texas city. But water drained off swiftly, and damage was slight. No injuries were reported. Rains of 2 to 3 inches which pounded Odessa fell from widespread storms that have soothed drought-hurt west Texas several days. Police said the minor flood here caused more of a spectacle than damage. However, several cars were stranded and occupants rescued from the tops of them by boats. At its highest, the water lay 2 to 3 feet deep on a line along 21 blocks long in the low-lying residential section. Police said water didn't get into any homes or businesses, but Jim Scott, managing editor of the Odessa American, said a little seeped into some homes. Policeman Claude Henry estimated damage at $1,000 and said most of it was to flood damage construction work. He said, "Everybody got very excited," and sightseers gathered around the flooded area "so you couldn't hardly do anything."

Three Killed As Stalled Auto Is Struck By Train

HOPE MILLS, N.C. (AP)—Three persons were killed and six hurt, one critically, here last night when a freight train struck a car which had stalled on a grade crossing. Coroner Joe Pinkston said all the dead and injured were occupants of the car, driven by Leonard Keels, 34, railroad section laborer, who was killed. Also killed was Robert C. Council, month-old baby, and Keels' 8-year-old daughter, Betty Ann. Mrs. Arlene Council, 17, mother of Robert, was in critical condition at the Hope Mills Hospital. Others injured were Keels' wife and three other children and his sister-in-law, Irene Sutton. All are Negroes. Pinkston said W. H. Stephens of Rocky Mount was the engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line freight.

Senate Subcommittee Maps New Tax Package

RALEIGH (AP)—The Senate Finance subcommittee worked out a $9,717,000 per year tax package today including an additional 2 cents per bottle beer tax which would raise $1,760,000. The proposed beer tax would substitute for a sweeping revision of license fees proposed by a House Finance subcommittee which would raise $1,450,000 per year. The House subcommittee adopted a package yesterday which will submit to its full committee which would raise $9,751,000. The state will need approximately 10 million a year in new taxes to balance its 640 million dollar budget during the next two fiscal years. There were several differences in the package the Senate subcommittee will recommend to its parent body compared with the House subcommittee package. The Senate group did not go along with the House subcommittee in recommending a tax on newspaper circulation or in putting commercial coal under the 3 designate the persons — the foreign ministers — to carry out the job. Then foreign ministers would then take over the stage again for what would probably become a lengthy conference. The invitation to the Kremlin will be couched in general terms. Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay will discuss the details of it with Molotov when they meet him Saturday in Vienna just before signing the Austrian state treaty there Sunday. In Washington, the White House said Dulles had been given full powers to arrange a Big Four meeting of chiefs of state if the secretary thought it "feasible and useful." Previously informants said the Western Allies would propose this kind of conference to the foreign ministers.

30 Years Ago Today

May 10, 1925 Berlin-Field Marshal von Hindenburg was inaugurated President of Germany today. "Down with monarchism; long live the Soviet Republic," was the shout raised by Communist deputies as the President-elect entered the Reichstag chamber.

The Woman's Club held a very enthusiastic meeting on Thursday. Mrs. L. H. Bowling, as treasurer, showed very plainly the need of a club house whereby the club might have some place to raise funds to swell the treasury. All standing committees show that the club is taking on new life.

Miss Messick Feted At Dinner Party

A dinner party was given Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Frank and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Browning at the Browning home in Brookgreen in honor of Miss Rose Messick, bride-elect.

A green and white color scheme was used throughout the home. The living room mantel was attractively adorned with an arrangement of white gladioli. Centering the cut-work cloth used on the dining room table was a heart entwined with lilies of the valley. Centering the heart was hung a wedding ring. The buffet held a design of white gladioli. Mrs. J. D. Messick, mother of the bride-elect, served a salad from one end of the dining room table.

Miss Messick was presented by the hosts a pink carnation corsage upon her arrival. They also remembered her with gifts of silver.

Brush-Burning Is Being Curtailed

RALEIGH (AP) — Because state woodlands are "dangerously dry," a ban has been placed on the issuance of permits for burning brush or other debris in the 29 counties under the State Forest Service's protection.

State Forester Fred Claridge said yesterday, "We consider the situation dangerous and appeal to all persons to help us protect our woodlands from fire." Reports to Claridge's office indicate there has been little or no rain in most of North Carolina for about 30 days.

Composing the Central Committee are Mrs. Hassell Harris, club president; Mrs. Roscoe Barnhill and Mrs. Cecil Satterthwaite. Other committee chairmen include Mrs. J. Paul Davenport, accidents and fire prevention; Mrs. W. B. Satterthwaite, community drives and campaigns; Mrs. D. M. Coplon, beautification of churches and community buildings; Mrs. W. F. Little, recreation; and Mrs. Harris, rat campaign and better health. Demonstration on use of dried milk in main dishes was given by Mrs. Lillie Little, Home agent. Mrs. W. B. Satterthwaite gave a home management report on control of household pests; Mrs. John J. Langley gave a foods and nutrition report on cheese; and Mrs. C. F. Laughlin reported on Finland as this country was to be presented at the international relations program. Mrs. W. B. Satterthwaite modeled a Finnish costume.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. S. O. Bowers and D. R. House.

ECC Entertainment Committee Begins Work For New Term

James W. Butler, alumni secretary at East Carolina College, has been reappointed by the college Student Government Association as chairman of the Entertainment Committee, which is in charge of presenting each school year six or more outstanding artists in appearances on the campus. Mr. Butler served in the same capacity during this school year.

A group of eight students and faculty members, all appointees of the SGA, will participate in the work of the committee. Dr. James H. Stewart of the social studies department and Herbert L. Carter of the music department will represent the faculty on the committee.

Student members are Laura Credle, New Holland; David A. Evans, Norfolk, Va.; Richard C. Leonard, Erwin; Mary J. Pendergraft, Durham; James E. Phelps, Greenville; and Lillian C. Griffin, Henderson. Bookings for the 1955-1956 series of entertainments are now being made and will be announced at an early date.

Greenville Members Attend Supreme White Shrine In Mo.

The first session of Supreme Shrine Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem was held May 3, 4 and 5 in Kansas City, Mo. This was known as the "Heart of America" session. The session was opened Tuesday morning, May 3, at nine o'clock and a heart was formed by the 2500 Supreme Honorary officers of the United States and Canada. Mrs. Juanita Moss, Kansas City, Mo., Supreme Worthy High Priestess, and Howard Barton, Buffalo, N. Y., Supreme Watchman of Shepherds, presided in the East.

Life of Cicero Discussed At Ex Libris Club

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Otis Woolard entertained the Ex Libris Club when the members had their April meeting. The vice president, Mrs. Glenn Norman, presided due to illness of Mrs. Dennis Roberson. When the roll was called everyone responded with a quotation. After the brief business session, Mrs. John Tyler, program chairman for the evening, gave an interesting account of the life of Cicero whose eloquence and fine speech raised him to the highest office in the Roman republic. Although this student and politician was conceded and self-centered, he changed the course of history. In the latter part of his life, he became a teacher and writer. More of his writings have survived than any other Latin author and his essays are still read by many scholars.

During the social hour the hostess served strawberry shortcake.

Immanuel Baptist Classes To Picnic Elm Street Park

The young people of Immanuel Baptist Church who participated in "Christian Home Week" classes last week will continue their studies at a picnic at Elm Street Park Thursday afternoon at 5:30. Director of Education Miss Velma Trotter will conduct the classes and monitor the discussion.

Attendance at "Christian Home Week" classes at Immanuel Baptist Church last week was gratifying, Miss Trotter stated. There were 163 young people enrolled. Average attendance the four nights of classes was 83, and 56 young people received credits for having attended three consecutive classes.

Aristotle Is Topic Of Program For Book Club Meet

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Charlie Gray welcomed the guests at the door when the Book Club met at her home on Greene Street Tuesday evening. After the routine business, plans were made for the annual outing.

Mrs. Herbert Pope prepared an informative paper on Aristotle which was read by Mrs. H. G. Norman. She emphasized the fact that this pupil of Plato and this teacher of Alexander had great influence on modern thinking.

Hotels Use Foam To Clean Carpets

Good hotels, whose carpets get far more wear than yours, know foam cleaner is the answer. Hotel managers say foam cleaner such as Pina Foam does the job quicker and better than any other kind. Foam is easier to use, leaves nap fluffy and brings the colors back like new.

With the new Pina Foam, you clean your wall-to-wall carpeting standing up, easily with a long handle brush and it's ready for use in a few hours. It's economical, too. A gallon of concentrate for $2.25 makes three gallons of solution, enough for three 9x12 rugs.

READY FOR THEM DALLAS (AP)—County commissioners authorized yesterday the purchase of $200 in insecticide after County Farm Agent A. S. Milliken warned a heavy grasshopper crop is expected around here this year. He wants to spray ditches along roads.

VOWS REMEMBERED

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—William Stacy Moore's will filed here yesterday reads: "My will is as follows: When I married my wife Minnie Lou West I vowed at the altar, and sealed the vow with a ring upon her finger with all my worldly goods I thee endow, and as much as it has always been at the altar I made my will, and much as it is now, to my wife all I have I do bequeath."

Circus Owner Is To Wed Actress

SEATTLE (AP)—Circus owner John Ringling North and actress Dody Heath will wed at Carmel, Calif., this summer, her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Heath said yesterday.

The engagement notice for Miss Heath, 26, and the 51-year-old multimillionaire specified no date for the wedding. It will be the third trip to the altar for North, owner of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, and the first for Miss Heath.

She appeared in the movie "Brigadoon" opposite Van Johnson and in a number of top Broadway plays.

16 Months And 13 New Doctors

Pitt Memorial Hospital is only four years old now, but most county residents have long since ceased to think of the hospital as "brand new," and are taking it for granted.

The people of the county know the hospital is rendering a tremendous service to them. Most people, however, are prone to overlook the "fringe" benefits Pitt Memorial Hospital has brought to the county since its opening.

Although Chambers of Commerce in neighboring counties may be inclined to dispute the fact, Pitt County is rapidly becoming recognized as the medical center of this section of North Carolina. To a great degree this is due to the fact the new and modern hospital, which affords excellent facilities for the care of patients, has attracted many new physicians to Pitt County.

There are 42 physicians now on the medical and surgical staff of Pitt Memorial at the present time in addition to nine members of the dental staff. That in itself is significant when one considers the size of Pitt County. Even more significant is the constant influx of new physicians into the county. During the period from January 1, 1954 to the present—a little more than a year—a total of 13 new physicians have moved into Pitt County and have become members of the medical and surgical staff of the hospital. By no means have all these new doctors located their offices in Greenville. A number have located in other towns in the county.

During 1950, the last year the old Pitt General Hospital was in operation as the only hospital in Pitt, the average daily patient load at the hospital was 44. Last year, 1954, the average daily patient load at Pitt Memorial Hospital had climbed to 79. That in itself is indicative of the fact that more Pitt County people in need of hospital treatment are getting that treatment here at home rather than having to look to other counties for medical facilities.

Pitt Memorial is rendering a great service to the county just as the people knew it would when they approved the bond issue for the hospital. The new hospital has paid the county big dividends in better medical care for its people in the few years since it opened. In the years ahead it will pay even greater dividends to the citizens of the county.

Delays In Planning Will Be Costly

Greenville's promising move toward establishing set-back lines for buildings in and adjacent to the city's business district has been distressingly bogged down for the past couple of months. Apparently it is destined to remain bogged down at least until July 1.

By the time the new fiscal year begins, we trust city officials will have paved the way for this important program to begin where it was shelved a few months back.

Between now and July 1, city officials have time to decide how such a program should be carried out, and they likewise have time to arrange for the program to begin as soon as possible after July 1.

Greenville is in desperate need of such a far-sighted program to make provision for a planned and orderly growth of its business district. As this section of North Carolina continues to develop in the next decade Greenville will continue to grow. As the city's population increases, its business district will expand and spill over into areas now largely downtown residential districts. With more people and more businesses in Greenville, we are likewise going to have more automobiles and a greater traffic problem in the future.

For these reasons and many others, Greenville needs to give attention to plans for future development of its main streets. It must plan for wider streets to take care of more traffic; more on-street and off-street parking facilities to take care of more vehicles.

Only through establishment of set-back lines throughout the business district and adjoining areas can Greenville reasonably plan to cope with the problems which will face officials as the city continues to develop.

The most recent hold-up on the project has been a matter of money with which to pay for an overall survey officials say must be made before set-back can be intelligently established.

In planning the city budget for the new fiscal year, the City Council should include funds for a survey in order that the set-back lines may be established at the earliest possible time.

The longer Greenville waits to take this step, the more difficulty it will encounter dealing with business district problems which are looming in the foreseeable future.

Strength for the Day

THE NATURE OF CRISIS

The Chinese character for the word "crisis" is made up of two more characters which mean "danger" and "opportunity."

We can learn much by studying the derivation of words. Crisis, say the Chinese, is a situation fraught on the one hand with danger and on the other with opportunity. There is never a crisis, no matter how mild it may be, which does not involve a certain jeopardy. No one of us ever faces a crisis in the home, in business matters, or in decisions about health which does not involve some hazard.

But every crisis is also an opportunity. We can come to a crossroads, and while there is danger that we may choose the wrong way, there is in every crisis an opportunity to decide right. Life leads into one crossroads after another. We stand in the midst of what we call a crisis, and what the Chinese call a combination of danger and opportunity, and there we decide whether we shall go.

The only sure answer to such questioning in times of decision comes from God Himself. He has a providential plan for every one of us, and that plan leads right through every crisis of life. If we ask Him to guide us through these crossroads, we can be sure always that He will do so.

Crisis may mean danger, but crisis also means opportunity.

Feuding Within GOP Ranks

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The open feud between Senator William E. Jenner and Governor George N. Craig of Indiana over the Administration's Far East policies discloses what GOP politicians at Washington have secretly dreaded for months. They can no longer conceal the ugly fact that the Republican organization on the state level is shot through with personal and political quarrels in commonwealths that command 156 votes in the electoral college.

When a Governor and a Senator from such a rock-ribbed Republican stronghold as Indiana exchange such epithets as "neurotic" and "monkey," it means that the family is breaking up and headed for a political Reno. It is not a pleasant prospect virtually on the eve of a Presidential election.

These intrastate feudings will be extremely difficult to resolve in the brief period between the time for nominating and electing the next President. For one thing, Ike has no heart for mixing into local and petty politics. Few of these parochial feuds have any connection with high principles or issues. Personal ambition, hatreds and a thirst for power underlie most of the current disputes.

For the same reason, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall cannot intervene. He cannot offer his services as a mediator without appearing to favor one side against the other. He must let the angry state guerrillas fight it out, despite the evil effect on the national organization.

BASIC RUNDOWN—Here is a rundown, brief but basic, on the internal dissensions and difficulties in six states with the impressive and possibly decisive 124 electoral votes:

New York: The departure of Thomas E. Dewey and Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. from Albany has left a leaderless and dispirited organization. Dewey is out to make money, not votes. He and Brownell have gone separate ways, and are not so friendly as they once were. Dewey has no influence at Washington Governor Averell Harriman, as a 1956 possibility, imitates such popular predecessors as F.D.R., Senator Herbert Lehman and Al Smith. He hopes to convert New York into a solid Democratic state, enhancing his 1956 chances.

MORE REPUBLICAN FEUDS—New Jersey: Old-line Republicans resent White House patronage and the very small number of Orientals are counted among the non-whites. There are not enough of these races to materially affect the ratio although counting them does slightly decrease the Negroes.

COUNTIES—Legally no distinction is made between races in the allocation of public school and welfare funds, but there is legal recognition of county lines, and perhaps even more attention to per capita figures.

Aggregate local listing for whites amounts to $5,249,518,545—a per capita value of $1,760. Total for non-whites is $214,749,152, a per capita rate of $199. Only 21 counties rank above the average for whites, 79 below. There are 32 counties above the average of $199 for non-white valuations. The highest per capita valuation for whites is Forsyth at $4,917, the highest for non-whites is Durham at $360. The lowest for whites is Ashe, which has no non-white listing, and the lowest for non-white is Swain with four dollars.

The fallacious and completely unsound policy of local valuations as a basis for distribution of State equalization funds is clearly indicated by figures in the comparative News Letter tabulation. That table, for instance, shows Guilford county has almost $90 million more property than Mecklenburg, Forsyth has six million less than Guilford but nearly $85 million more than Mecklenburg.

On per capita basis little Dare county ranks fourth in white valuations (exceeded only by Forsyth, Durham and Guilford), and second in non-white values (exceeded only by Durham). In actual dollar valuation Dare almost doubles Ashe—$16, 338,267 for Dare and $8, 749,644 for Ashe—and in per capita values it is eight times as much.

Somebody Told Me

Reform Didn't Help So Much

Some time ago in the Reader's Digest Judy Garland had a story called "How Not to Love a Woman."

This story made a lasting impression on me, because the whole point of it was: Don't yield your leadership!

Most of the men I know are henpecked to a degree. It's not a matter of yielding leadership; instead it's a matter of putting your foot down to protect the few rights a husband has left!

It comes to a matter of fishing, playing golf, or whatever the husband's pastime might be. In every case I know that's what causes friction in a marriage.

Most husbands seem to get carried away with sports and neglect the wife. Invariably, the wife hollers. So it becomes a matter of how much the husband is going to yield. And I am a firm believer that he shouldn't yield much.

Here's a method that works. I used to be a fisherman. Wife Rachel didn't particularly like it when I spent every spare minute on the river, leaving her with two small children.

"It's not fair," I finally agreed. "I'm going to find a hobby that will keep me at home." Amateur radio was a natural, I thought. Baby sitting and operating will work hand in hand.

Now with earphones on, the outside world is unknown to me. As far as W.R. is concerned, I might as well be down on the river. In fact, I believe she would prefer fishing at this point.

So you husbands might keep that 'n mind. If your wife doesn't like your hobby, pick another one that she might like less. Maybe that'll teach her a lesson.

This thing works both ways. There are wives that run to meetings all of the time, leaving the husband to baby sit. Husbands have to sit down—and hard—on their rights.

Judy Garland might say to the husband, "Don't yield your leadership! But most husbands already have. It's just a matter of stopping at a certain point. Let the wife know she can go only so far in taking your rights away.

The wife should do the same thing. In a marriage I think both parties have to put the brakes on each other now and then.

And I thank you.

News that University of North Carolina officials at long last are going to take steps to regulate student automobiles at Chapel Hill will certainly be welcomed by the village "burghers" if not by the students.

The large number of student cars in recent years has placed every square inch of space in Chapel Hill at a premium. "Un-undation" is the adjective a UNC professor constantly uses to describe the overwhelming presence of student vehicles.

By the University of North Carolina is typical rather than unique in having a student automobile problem. The situation is about the same on every U.S. college campus. The fact that the University is located in a small village only emphasizes its problem.

Only recently UNC students chortled with glee over the revealing statistic that State College students in Raleigh actually had more automobiles than they had anxious for some comfort in their auto problem. UNC students lost no time in pointing out that State College, more than UNC, deserves the reputation of a "country club."

There are no vital auto statistics on Duke students, but Durham people are prepared to testify that they have their share.

The time has almost arrived when most college students look upon a car as a necessity. This is a commentary on the level of American prosperity. It is also a sad commentary on student life and, of course, a major distraction from the business of getting an education. More than that, it is an added menace to the students themselves—an increasing number of whom never graduate because of death or injury from auto wrecks.

In fact, the time is rapidly arriving when even high school student automobiles are presenting a problem. All those shiny new models (along with some old ones, of course) parked outside the Rocky Mount Senior High school these days don't belong to the faculty members.

The increasing dependence on cars by the younger generation causes some to fear that in the evolutionary process, the human race may lose the use of feet and legs even as the fat and lazy ostrich lost the use of wings.

TAXPAYERS—North Carolinians paid local ad valorem taxes in 1953 on approximately five and a half billion dollars worth of real and personal property, exclusive of intangibles such as bank and building loan association shares and a few other items assessed by the State and reported back to local units for tax purposes. There are a few other exceptions noted by Dr. S.H. Hobbs Jr. in his University News Letter tabulation. Chances are that total ad valorem values are in the neighborhood of nine billion dollars.

The News Letter compilation breaks down the assessed values among the 100 counties and between the races, on aggregated and per capita basis. The breakdown is important in view of present trends to turn back to local communities a larger share of public school support and to maintain some sort of equalization of opportunities guaranteed by the State. For this purpose the aggregate valuation is not so important as the per capita, with respect to both county and race brackets. And as basis for equalization efforts the county breakdown is more significant than the racial.

RACES—Negroes comprise approximately 27 percent of the State population but they listed only 3.8 percent of the property locally taxed in 1953, and 19 percent of the polls. Considering the fact that a very small part of the estimated three billion dollars in bank and similar stocks belong to Negroes, it is concluded that the 27 percent of Negro population pays taxes on only about two percent of the taxable property.

On per capita basis the average is $1,760 for each white person, $199 for each non-white. In that comparative rating Indians

Home Repairs Up

By ELMER ROESSNER

More than $5 billion a year is being spent on repair and maintenance of residential buildings, and the total is about to shoot higher.

While the 5,000,000 new housing units erected in the last four years need very little repair and upkeep, the 4,872,200 put up between January 1, 1946 and January 1 1951 are approaching an age at which first major expenditures are necessary. The fact that a large number of those buildings were hastily thrown together with green lumber and all the short cuts that building codes and mortgages would stand for will increase the extent of repairs.

In addition, the 38,000,000 older houses which are in need of varying amounts of repairs and maintenance.

There are two other reasons for expecting an increase in home rehabilitation.

One is the high number of births. Many families now need rooms finished in attics or added in wings. And those children are also responsible for the need of repapering walls and the filling of gashes in the woodwork.

The other is the fact that family incomes have risen so much. Many families buying homes before 1951 found that meeting the monthly payments was a touch-and-go proposition in the early years. But as income rose, these payments required constantly smaller shares of the total.

Now many families have accumulated savings, or are in a position to meet payments on an additional loan.

Regardless of the course of the building boom, there should be a rich and long-lasting market for new screens and storm windows, plumbing repairs and replacements, new wiring, painting, re-

Public Relations Man Supreme

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I suppose that now 10 years after the war, it is fair to start passing out memoir medals.

Lt. Col. Jay Vessels of the U.S. Air Force is my first candidate.

Jay never piloted a plane. But a dozen years or so ago he ruled the skies over Tunisia with his typewriter just as the British navy shortly before had bossed the Mediterranean with a couple of cruisers, a few destroyers and an agile battery of mimeograph machines.

Ordinarily a newspaperman goes into the public relations business for financial reasons, such as the desire to earn enough money to send his sons through college.

Jay was an exception. He left his secure newspaper post in Minneapolis to join the Army because he was a rigger patriot.

He had been an enlisted infantryman in the First World War, and somewhat to his own confusion they made him an officer in the Second World War. He rose to lieutenant, to lieutenant colonel but never lost his fear of sergeants.

I don't know what gave him that sense of rank claustrophobia, but a frightened him more than a guy with three stars.

He was a guerrilla operator and he operated a guerrilla press camp. As a public relations officer, he ran certainly the most unorthodox press camp of the war.

Jay lost his heart at the start to the P40 pilots—guys who fought the better equipped German fighters to a draw with a slower, low-altitude but heavier armored plane.

His heroes at that time were Col. Phil Cochran and Capt. Levi Chase of New York. Both were men of high courage, both were great leaders. Capt. Chase was also a great teacher. It was his

L. M. Buchanan, member of the Greenville Rotary vocational service committee, discussed competitor relations before the club at its meeting last night.

The matter of maintaining competition has been one of the fundamentals of free enterprise, Buchanan told his audience. Competition, he said, is not a curse to business, but a benefit which produces more efficient operations, greater productivity and a greater variety of goods for consumers.

Buchanan likewise discussed the operations of the Federal Trade Commission and cited several cases in which the Commission has ruled against unfair competition by businesses and attempts by businesses to deceive the public through misleading advertising. The job of the Federal Trade Commission, he said, is to protect business and the public.

Guests at last night's meeting included Anne VanAndel, Rotary fellowship student from Holland, Wil-

Bus Drove Baby Boy To Hospital

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A woman passenger on the bus screamed suddenly that her baby was not breathing. Driver Albert P. Mezhr, 30, glanced at the baby, turned off his route and drove several blocks to fire headquarters. The 5-month-old boy was revived with oxygen. A hospital reported later that Addison Reeder, son of Mrs. Hilda Reeder, had suffered a convulsion but was all right now.

Visiting Judges Caught Speeding

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Two judges who came a long way to Richmond for the annual conference of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges got a first-hand look at Virginia law enforcement en route.

They were caught in the state police radar net for trapping speedsters.

Judge Maurice Sapienza came from Hilo, Hawaii, by way of Detroit, where he bought a new car. He got as far as Hanover County before the "whammy" clocked him at 64 miles an hour. He posted bond of $10.25.

Judge Paul A. Martineau of Corpus Christi, Tex., was nabbed in Fluvanna County. Radar caught him "between 70 and 80 miles an hour" and he posted bond of $15.25. Explained the judge: "It was the first stretch of wide open road I'd seen since Texas."

Grandpa's Photo Is Back On Wall

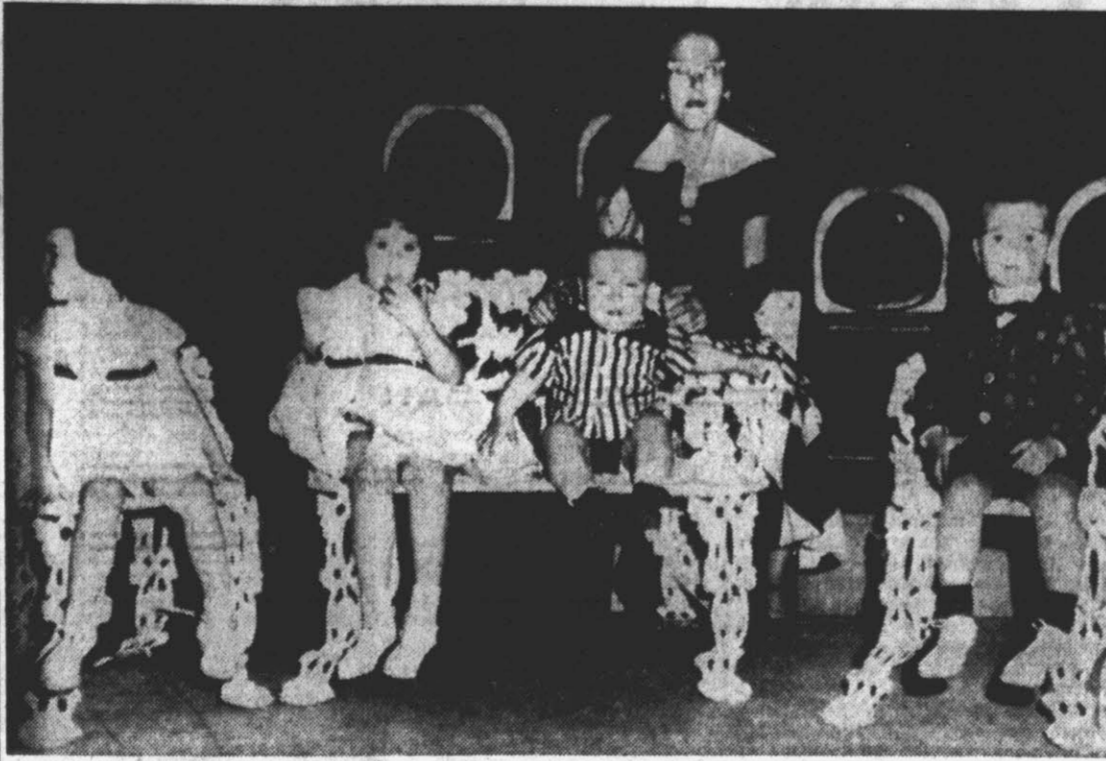

OMAHA (AP)—Hang that old picture of Grandfather back on the wall.

Go ahead and you'll be in style, Frank Pechman well-known Kaukauna, Wis., photographer, said here yesterday in a talk to a Nebraska photographers organization.

He said that about 1915 people began stuffing pictures of relatives into trunks. Now they're going back on the walls in a sudden switch that he said he can't explain.

"I guess the trunks got full," he said.

Little King And Little Queen

Little Queen and Little King of Greenville were crowned yesterday in coronation ceremonies over television. Crowned Little Queen was Laura Bruce Hadley, three and one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hadley. Little King is Julius Brown Kachmer, 19 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kachmer. Runners-up in the contest were Pamela Ann Carter, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Carter, and Thomas Jarvis Tripp, III, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Tripp, II. The King and Queen each received a silver loving cup, and were outfitted with clothing from various local stores. Runners-up each received articles of clothing. The baby contest was sponsored by the American Home Department of the Woman's Club. All proceeds from the event will be used for landscaping Green Springs Park. There were a total of 16 entries in the contest. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haymes.)

Little League Opener Slated On Wednesday

The official 1955 Little League baseball season in Greenville opens tomorrow afternoon with the Elks and Pepsi Cola teams getting it started.

Coaches Tom Rowlette and Arnold Avrette send their defending Tar Heel League champion Elks against coaches Joe Sawyer and Bobby Faye's Pepsi-Cola nine at 4 p.m. following brief opening day ceremonies.

The North State League opens Thursday afternoon, with the Kiwanis and Jaycee teams getting together.

In the first day activities at the Little League Field tomorrow, all teams in the two Little Leagues plus the Minor Leagues will march onto the field and raise the flag in good old American tradition.

T. K. Fountain, president of the Tar Heel League, and Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of the North State League will make brief commentaries.

Warren Carroll, recreation director, has announced that the clubs will set into full-scale schedule at tomorrow's game. There are games scheduled for every day from now throughout the summer, with doubleheaders on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Each team plays two games a week.

Carroll pointed out several new improvements at the Little League Field. A new outfield fence has been built and a new electrical scoreboard installed. Also, there is a skyline retaining fence to keep spectators off the playing area.

Majority of these improvements are to be paid for through a chicken box supper to be served after the ball game tomorrow. Mothers of the players are sponsoring the supper.

This is Greenville's fifth year in Little League baseball. The city has come a long way and is today recognized as one of the most active Little League towns in the country. Greenville's Little League Field is regarded as one of the finest in the South.

The little fellows play the game hard and practice fair play. Carroll and other Little League officials urge your support of the program.

Pirates Venture Out Of Their League Against Wake Forest In Kinston

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina moves out of its league tonight to meet Wake Forest in Kinston. The game will be the second meeting of the two, the Bucs having dropped a 14-5 affair at Wake Forest back on March 29.

Coach Jim Mallory's North Staters are tagging with the college team recognized as the best in the state of North Carolina. The Demon Deacons lead the powerful Atlantic Coast Conference and are the crowned Dixie Classic champs.

The game is billed as an exhibition tilt but much will be at stake. The Pirates are vengeance-bent on erasing some of the humiliation of the 14-5 shelling and, in turn, the Deacons can hardly afford to lose to a club of a so-called weaker conference.

Another angle that makes the game a natural is it pits two league leaders. East Carolina heads the Eastern Division of the North State and the Deacons hold priority over the AOC members.

Plenty of fireworks are expected, although East Carolina can go with its strongest pitching. Coach Mallory is coerced to hold out his top four of Tommy Pruitt, Mac Cherry, Charlie Russell and Bill Lovins for the final kick in the North State race.

East Carolina's 11-2 loop standing is just one rung ahead of Elon. The locals have three conference games remaining. Guilford here Wednesday and a two-light doubleheader Thursday with Atlantic Christian in Wilson. The Guilford tilt wraps up the Pirates home card for 1955.

Coach Mallory wants his team to be in top shape for the conference quarrel. A sweep of the three games will give the Pirates their first Eastern crown in several years. However, should East Carolina drop a game and Elon win its three remaining games the race would be tied.

Coach Mallory hasn't named his starting moundman for Wake Forest but it's expected to be either Herb Corey or John Chapman. Corey, a freshman righthander, has impressed the Buc coaching staff in workouts although he has a tendency to be wild. He's very fast and probably will face the Deacons.

The last time the Pirates and Deacons crossed swords, the former's pitchers took a whipping. The explosive Deacons of Coach Taylor Sanford blasted 15 hits, including two extra-base blows. They chased ECC's top four of Pruitt, Russell, Cherry and Lovins, in that order.

First baseman Tommy Waggoner and catcher Linwood Holt were the big guns for Wake Forest. Waggoner had three hits, including a triple, and Holt walloped a grand slam homer. Ralph Adams pitched the win, allowing only five hits in the five frames he worked.

Little Cecil Heath paced the Bucs in that one, collecting two base knocks, one a resounding threebagger. The other hits were divided one apiece among the starting nine.

Coach Mallory will bank on the new-found power of Gene Turner, Nick Smothers and Ray Pennington to match the Deacons' dynamo. Turner has been nothing short of sensational in games of late with his home run plating. He had four last week in five games. Smothers, the giant first baseman, has found the range and been hitting and Pennington, finally given a chance to play regularly, is one of the Bucs' key hitters.

In the fight, Heath and rookie shortstop Jerry Stewart will form a top-flight krystone combination. Freshman Bucky Reep rounds out the infield.

Gauthier Cline in leftfield and Bill Cline behind the plate completes the line-up. The game tonight is scheduled for 8:00 in Kinston's Legion Park.

Brooklyn's Fast Start Has Overshadowed Loop Rivals

By ED WILKS

The calendar insists that it's just the second week in May, but the other seven clubs in the National League may be finding it's later than they thought.

And it isn't necessarily because of Brooklyn's incredible getaway. The Brooks, of course, are off on a romp, winning 21 of their 23 games. But what's made that record even more threatening is the fact only two other clubs are playing 500 ball or better.

There's the rub. Nobody's in position to catch the Dodgers right now even if somebody gets around to stopping them.

Milwaukee is second, but with a 12-1 record just one game over .500. The New York Giants are right at 500 after 22 games, 91/2 back of the Brooks and a half game behind the Braves.

The Dodgers are at Chicago this afternoon, with New York at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at St. Louis and Pittsburgh at Milwaukee in night games.

In the American League, idle as was the National yesterday, Cleveland's Indians swing into New York's Yankee Stadium with a two-game first-place bulge over the Yanks and the Chicago White Sox, who are at Boston in the long day game. Detroit's at Washington with Kansas City at Baltimore.

It was Brooklyn, incidentally, that was the most successful road team in the NL last season, winning 47 of 77 for a .610 percentage. In the West, the Brooks were .636, taking 28 of 64 from the Cardinals.

Braves Cubs and Redlegs. Vice President Buzzy Bavasi doesn't look for his Dodgers to come out of the West unbeaten. All he's asking is that they come home with a 27-5 record. He's willing to take a 6-3 record on the trip.

Manager Walt Alston, who isn't much for talking, said simply, "You can't expect it to continue—but I'm hoping."

The Brooks presently have a 10-game winning streak going, their second of the season after setting a major league mark by winning the first 10 of the schedule.

Boxer Succumbs To Ring Injuries

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Middleweight Jose Contreras, a 28-year-old ring veteran from Taunton, Mass., today was listed as the nation's second boxing fatality of 1955.

Contreras died at Rhode Island Hospital yesterday from injuries suffered when he was stopped by Bob Bolton in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-rounder in Providence May 2.

The other victim was Bryan Thompson, 23-year-old Philadelphia middleweight, who died April 17. He suffered a head injury when knocked out in the second round of a fight with Jerry Luedes of New Haven, Conn., in Trenton, N.J., March 29.

WRONG HOLE

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Golfer Clyde Burch canned a hole-in-one yesterday — in the wrong hole. Burch drove from the third tee at Bay Meadows Country Club and the ball landed in the second hole, 50 yards away. A strong wind was blowing at the time.

King Leads

GREENSBORO (AP)—Defending champion Claude King of East Carolina college held a one-stroke lead going into the final 18 holes of the 36-hole annual North State Conference Golf Tournament today.

King fired a four-over-par 75 yesterday over the Starmont Country Club course to head John Rainey of ECC, 76, and Bill Greene of Appalachian, 77.

Allen, Harrison To Meet In City Golfing Play-Off

W. L. Allen and Ben Harrison will settle the City Golf Championship this weekend. Both reached the finals Sunday, Harrison by defeating Dr. M. B. Massey and Allen by edging Reynolds May in a "sudden death" three-hole playoff.

The Allen-May match was one of the most exciting of recent city tournaments. The semi-final match was a 36 hole affair which actually went 39 holes before a winner could be determined. At the end of the first 18 holes on Saturday, Allen had May down five strokes. But at the end of the first nine Sunday, both golfers were all even. May put on a magnificent spurt to capture five out of the nine holes.

Going into the final nine, Allen was one up but again May fought back and won the final 36th hole to tie the match up. The deadlock sent the match into a "sudden death" playoff of three holes or as many as it would take to decide the winner.

They halved the first two holes. Then Allen birdied the third cup to win the hole and match and earn a berth in the finals this weekend.

Defending champion Molt Massey wasn't even around for the semi-finals. He was eliminated by Herbert Waldrop in the first round.

One flight winner has been determined. The third flight was won by Troy Dodson, who defeated Fred Suave. Other flight matches will be played this weekend.

The pairings for the flights are as follows: Championship—W. L. Allen vs Ben Harrison.

First flight—Henry Coleman vs Bob Masten.

Second flight—J. B. Boyd vs Simon Meye.

Fourth flight—Captain Cane vs Witcher Dudley.

Divorce Judge Could Return Ted Williams To Bosox Ranks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Florida circuit judge may decide today whether Ted Williams returns to baseball.

Dade County's senior circuit judge, George E. Holt, yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Doris Soule Williams on her plea that she and the Boston Red Sox star "just couldn't get along."

But the Tennessee-born judge postponed until today a ruling on how much money Williams must pay the attractive, dark-haired woman he married 11 years ago. One of Mrs. Williams' attorneys indicated she had agreed to a lump settlement.

It was believed Williams would await the court's ruling on the size of the settlement before making up his mind whether to return to the game that made him famous and paid him as high as $100,000 a season.

"I'm not sure if I'll play baseball," he said after the 30-minute divorce hearing.

Williams attended the hearing but didn't take the stand and did not contest the action.

"Ted told me he didn't think he wanted to be married any more," Mrs. Williams told the court.

need to keep herself and their 7-year-old daughter Barbara in the style to which she was accustomed.

"I have no idea," she replied. They were married May 4, 1944, in Pensacola, Fla., where she had been a hotel cashier and he was in the Navy. Mrs. Williams filed for separate maintenance Jan. 19, 1954, charging "mental abuse, both private and public."

Attorneys for both sides attempted to bring about an out-of-court settlement, but when these efforts failed she filed for an out-right divorce.

Williams operates a fishing tackle business in Miami with Sam Snead the golf star, but spends most of his time fishing in the Florida Keys.

Underwater Blast Of A-Bomb Set This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seeking new tactics for defense against submarine attack, U.S. military scientists will set off in the Pacific within a few days the second known underwater atomic blast.

A terse announcement yesterday said only that a "small yield nuclear device" will be exploded in a few days in the eastern Pacific "several hundred miles" from the closest land area off the West Coast.

The explosion location will be "completely clear of fishing grounds and shipping lanes," said the announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department. It added there will be no hazard to persons on the mainland or any islands in the eastern Pacific.

The test will be conducted by Task Force 7, a special organization including representatives of the various armed forces and headed by Rear Adm. C. B. Momen, a specialist on submarine warfare.

Nearly nine years ago an atomic bomb of about the same destructiveness as that used against Hiroshima and Nagasaki was exploded underwater in the first series of postwar nuclear tests at Bikini in the west central Pacific. The explosion of that bomb, suspended from a floating platform, sank nine ships, including three submerged submarines within half a mile of the detonation point.

The emphasis then was on finding out what an underwater explosion would do to ships anchored in comparatively shallow water.

Now the Navy, conscious of Russia's growing submarine fleet, seeks to apply the techniques of atomic destruction to combating a submarine threat in another war.

Join Salute To Blue Cross Plan

Pitt Memorial Hospital will join with other members of the North Carolina Hospital Association in celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Blue Cross hospital service idea during North Carolina Hospital Week, May 8-14. C. D. Ward, local hospital administrator, said today.

Some 130 member hospitals of the North Carolina Hospital Association are cooperating in the state-wide celebration, sponsored by the Association's Council on Public Education. The week of May 8-14 has been officially proclaimed Hospital Week in North Carolina by Gov. Luther Hodges.

During this week, Pitt Memorial Hospital and other hospitals in this area will have open house programs, with tours through all departments. Guides will answer visitors' questions concerning Blue Cross, and special Blue Cross literature will be distributed. Counter cards and displays will help to tell the Blue Cross story.

Pitt Memorial Hospital's open house will be held Thursday, the day to be observed as National Hospital Day throughout the nation. During the day members of the Service League will assist the hospital staff in registering visitors and in serving refreshments in the lobby of the hospital. The public is invited to visit the hospital on this occasion.

Public Showing For Stratofort

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—The huge B52 Boeing jet Stratofortress was a star in the latest firepower show by the Air Force's Air Proving Ground Command.

The eight-jet-engine bomber, making its first appearance at a public air show in yesterday's demonstration, flew nonstop to Eglin from Seattle, Wash. It arrived exactly as scheduled at 3:59 p.m. after a 2,200-mile flight. The average speed was not disclosed.

The big swept-wing ship was escorted by two F84F jet fighters as it swooped past bleachers containing 6,000 spectators.

The B52, designed to carry hydrogen bombs to distant targets, will use a six-man crew.

Its wing span is 185 feet and over-all length 156 feet. Speed has been officially announced as more than 600 m.p.h. and range more than 6,000 miles.

The Stratofortress is intended to replace the B36, combination jet and piston-engine heavy bomber.

The Eglin demonstration included rocket firing by an F80C Scorpion and an F84F Thunderstreak. A B27 Canberra light bomber also showed the first use of 600-pound incendiary bombs with parachutes.

A high point of the show was a demonstration of toss bombing, a comparatively new technique for delivery of an atomic bomb. An F84F fighter and a B27 bomber both tossed 1,000-pound bombs in an arc more than two miles long on targets.

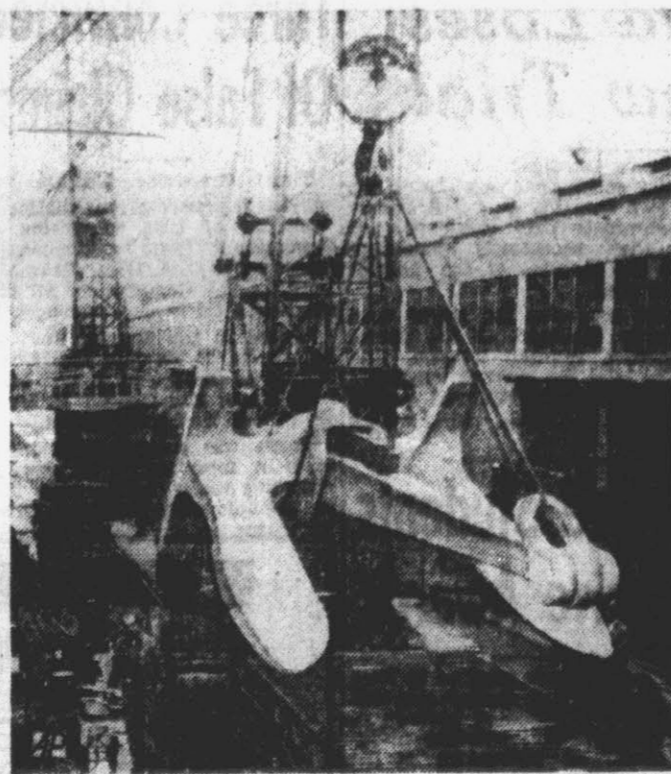

The method allows aircraft delivering atomic bombs to get some distance away before the explosion.

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for a team of American Protestant, Catholic and Jewish religious leaders and educators to make a joint pilgrimage to the Holy Land have been announced. It will be the second interfaith trip sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. John Sutherland, Bonnell, New York Presbyterian pastor says the study tour, from July 4 to Aug. 18, also will include visits in Europe.

About 31 per cent of U.S. farms are classified as technically non-commercial residence or part time operations.

All Children Should Have Tetanus Shots

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D., AP Newsfeatures

Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a nasty disease. It's not very common these days but since almost everyone who gets it dies with it, it's worth quite a bit of trouble to avoid it.

Tetanus is caused by the tetanus germ. This germ is present in street dirt and is especially abundant around barns where there are cows and horses. It is also abundant in manure used to fertilize gardens.

The tetanus germ is different from many other kinds of germs. It has the special ability to form spores. These spores are a form of the germ that can live under conditions that would kill the regular germ. They can withstand drying and sunlight and even boiling.

Tetanus spores can only grow when they get into a dark warm place away from air.

If there happens to be a tetanus spore on some object that gives you a deep puncture wound there is danger you might get tetanus. If you get a wound from which there is danger of tetanus and you have never had tetanus shots, you must have tetanus anti-toxin. It is the only thing that will act quickly enough to prevent tetanus after an injury. We cannot make tetanus anti-toxin in the laboratory. The only way we can get it is to inject horses with the germ and then take blood from the horse.

Horse serum makes some people quite sick.

We can avoid using horse serum if we give shots of a material called tetanus toxoid before a wound occurs. The toxoid is made in the laboratory and has no horse serum in it. It is, however, not powerful enough to use alone after the wound. If we give a person two shots of tetanus toxoid two months apart he will have a good deal of immunity to tetanus in his body. It won't be quite enough to completely protect him from a bad wound, so that at the time of injury we boost his immunity by giving him an additional shot of tetanus toxoid.

It's sensible and intelligent to see that your children, you, and the rest of your family too have tetanus shots regularly every two years.

Physics Section Of N.C. Academy Of Science Elects New Officers

Officers of the newly organized Physics Section of the North Carolina Academy of Science, elected over the weekend at the annual Academy meeting at Davidson College, have been announced.

The first session of the Physics section focused attention on the importance of the role of the physicist in the national life and the pressing demand for trained physicists to meet the economic and defense needs of this country.

Dr. Paul E. Shearin, director of physics at the University of North Carolina, will head the new division of the Academy as president, and R.M. Helms of the East Carolina department of science will serve as secretary.

Members appointed to serve on the program committee are Professors H.E. Fulcher of Davidson College, William A. Parker of Catawba College and Mr. Helms.

The Physics Section of the Academy was discontinued during World War II; and under the leadership of Mr. Helms efforts were begun at the 1954 meeting at East Carolina to reestablish it. Those working with him were Professor Shearin, Professor Parker, Professor A.L. Hook of Elon College, Dean C.J. Pietsen of Davidson.

Represented at the meeting of the Physics Section over the weekend at Davidson were fifteen colleges of the state.

Saigon, Paris Of The East, Is Today A Nightmare Of Misery

By LARRY ALLEN

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP)—This "Paris of the East" wears a new face. It is battered, blackened, deeply lined with fear and uncertainty and bleeding from blows of violence.

To remember bustling Saigon of the gay hectic days of the long war against the Communist-led Vietminh and to see it now is like a shocking nightmare.

Want and misery perch on the sidewalks—once the domain of Vietnamese pushcart operators, vendors of cigarettes, fruit, and daily newspapers and thronged with aperitif-sipping French men and women.

Pupils Take Part In Field Day At Farmville Field

Seventh and eighth grade students from eight Pitt County elementary schools participated in a Field Day program last Friday at the Farmville athletic field.

Participating in the event were students from Falkland, Chicod, Fountain, Grimesland, Winterville, Ayden, Farmville and Bethel.

Winners were Fountain, first place with 44 points; Ayden, second place with 31 points; Winterville, third place with 29 points; and Bethel, fourth place with 17 points.

The program was sponsored by the Fountain School and was under the direction of A. S. Alford, principal of that school.

Four square miles of Saigon and its all-Chinese city of Cho Lon is a charred jungle of smashed bricks, twisted girders and shattered furniture of homes destroyed in a bitter weeklong civil war.

In the city's pockmarked opera house in the heart of Saigon, on the Rue Catinat, are clustered nearly 1,000 men, women and children living on food gifts from American and Vietnamese relief agencies. The only symphony heard there now is of want and hunger.

On the streets a thousand more lie under mosquito netting or on straw matting, sheltering each other from sudden beating tropical rains.

All over the city and on lots adjoining the Saigon airport little colonies have sprung up to house the thousands made homeless by the civil war and the seemingly unending stream of refugees fleeing here from Communist rule in North Indochina.

Not far from the heart of Saigon are the indelible marks of the fight; by the Binh Xuyen to overthrow the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem. Windows and doors have been smashed by exploding mortar shells. Once beautiful villas are pockmarked by heavy machine-gun fire.

Matching the startling physical changes in Saigon are the rising cost of living and the Vietnamese attitude toward the French. Even 10 months ago one could get a dinner of fine local and imported foods from France for less than 100 Indochinese piasters. Now it is a minimum of 300. The official exchange rate still is 35 piasters for the U.S. dollar.

Amazingly, even after the end of the war with the Vietminh, the split-up Viet Nam and the recent street fighting the piaster has remained more or less steady. The black market rate runs around 60 piasters to the dollar.

Every essential commodity is up 100 or more per cent and still rising. American cigarettes cost 70 U.S. cents per package, soft drinks the same per bottle.

The change in public attitude is as remarkable.

The French face another Dien Bien Phu in Saigon. It looks as if it will be as decisive as that a year ago when the Vietminh crushed them in their big fortress in northwestern Indochina.

During the war the Vietnamese—even though most of them sympathized with Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh—tolerated and made an effort at cooperating with the French. Today tolerance has been replaced by undisguised hatred.

For the first time the people in South Viet Nam seem on the way to unity and are determined that the French military, political and economic grip upon this country shall be broken forever.

Odd Civil War Battle To Be Re-Enacted Soon

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP)—They're going to re-enact the Civil War—on at least one of its strangest conflicts—this week in a campaign to restore a historical battle site.

Thousands of spectators will line Missouri River bluffs to watch the Blue and the Gray clash on the site of the original Lexington engagement.

In that 1861 battle, Maj. Gen. Sterling Price's Confederate troops defeated Col. James A. Mulligan's Union forces after a siege of several days.

The battle produced two oddities:

1. The Union troops' own horses helped drink them into surrender.
2. The Southerners introduced bales of hemp as a movable breastwork.

About 700 Wentworth Military Academy cadets, National Guardsmen and various ROTC units will take part in Thursday's re-enactment.

It will be the 75th anniversary of Wentworth Military Academy and the beginning of a campaign to restore the battle site.

Here's the historical background:

Lexington, about 30 miles north-east of Kansas City, was Southern in sympathy and a key Missouri River port at the time. Mulligan and his 2,780 Union troops were supposed to hold the town, keeping a river barrier between Price and his supporters north of the river.

On hearing Price's army was advancing toward Lexington, Mulligan's men wired for reinforcements and dug extensive entrenchments on bluffs commanding the river. They kept their 700 cavalry horses within the trenchworks.

When Price's 12,000 Missouri state guardsmen arrived, they settled down for a siege. For six days, there was little fighting. Price's snipers guarded water wells and springs outside the entrenchments.

Then on Sept. 18, 1861, Price began firing on the entrenchments.

There were artillery exchanges and skirmishes on the second day, but the main event occurred behind Mulligan's lines: because of the heavy drain on cisterns by the 700 cavalry horses, they ran dry—and men and horses were without water.

On Sept. 20, Price came up with his secret weapon—bales of hemp, a tough fiber plant.

Price's men constructed a movable breastwork of the hemp bales. They rolled them up the hill to face the entrenchments and advanced their artillery under this cover.

"All our efforts could not retard the advance of these bales," Mulligan reported. "Round shot and bullets were poured against them but they would only rock a little, and then settle back."

Mulligan surrendered.

Two Kill Selves After Probing

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned.

Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelmann was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russell Morse Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morse also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

The fire commissioner's brother Dr. Joseph L. De Stephan, a dentist, said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury probe began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

Dr. Sheppard Loses Plea For New Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—Twice loser in moves to win a new trial from the judge who sentenced him, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard today based his hope of freedom from life in prison on an appeals court hearing scheduled for May 23.

Judge Edward S. Blythin, in whose court a jury convicted Sheppard last Dec. 21 of clubbing his wife to death, rejected late yesterday a motion for a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence.

Weeks ago Judge Blythin denied a new trial motion citing numerous alleged errors in the 31-year-old osteopath's 10-week trial. That earlier denial was carried to the Appellate Court and Sheppard's chief counsel William J. Corrigan said he would "with dispatch" supplement it with an appeal from yesterday's decision.

Sheppard remained in county jail, where he was taken last July 30, charged with bludgeoning his pregnant wife Marilyn in her bedroom at their Bay Village home July 4. He had no comment on Judge Blythin's ruling.

The new evidence in the defense case boiled down mainly to a 50-page affidavit by Dr. Paul L. Kirk, University of California professor of criminalistics. Hired by Corrigan, Kirk came here in January for several days of investigation.

The key part of Kirk's affidavit was that he found a blood spot on a wardrobe door in the murder bedroom and his tests, he said, showed it was not blood from Sheppard or the murder victim. Kirk said the spot dripped from a sex-slayer's hand, bitten by Marilyn Sheppard when he tried to stifle her screams.

The state had countered with an expert's affidavit discounting the accuracy of methods Kirk used to test the blood spot on the wardrobe door.

Judge Blythin's 16-page opinion, bristling in spots, had this to say of Kirk's findings: "His conclusions are based on his own theories, do not necessarily eliminate Sam Sheppard, nor are they necessarily consistent with the theories of the defense at the trial."

(Kirk suggested the slayer used a heavy flashlight as the never-discovered murder weapon, and at the trial the defense suggested a multipronged instrument gashed the victim's skull, the judge noted.)

Three Convicted Of False Claims

Three Greenville Negroes were convicted yesterday on charges of violations of laws concerning the Employment Security Commission, according to C. A. Dees, Claims Deputy for the Commission. All drew suspended thirty day sentences.

Named in the charges were Gus Hardy Jr., 23, of 1210 Mill Street; Robert L. Cherry, 35, of 521 Shepherd Street and Charity B. Hardy, 29, of 901 B. Center Street.

Hardy was charged with having made a false report on April 21 regarding wages earned while filing for unemployment insurance. Cherry was convicted on a similar charge concerning a report made April 1 and Hardy was sentenced for having given false information on April 5, regarding her last employment and on a charge of making a false report concerning wage earned. She drew 30 day sentences on both counts and was ordered to refund $45.50 to the Commission. All three paid court costs.

The three appeared before Judge F. E. Brooks.

'Harvey' Offered Here Under AAUW Auspices

Elwood P. Dowd, a delightful if somewhat eccentric gentleman, and his imaginary friend Harvey, a six-foot rabbit, have been favorites with theater-goers since Mary Chase's comedy "Harvey" became a hit on Broadway.
Frank Faye and James Stewart played the role of Elwood in New York. Dr. Joseph A. Withey of the East Carolina English department will have the part in the presentation of the comedy here this week.
"Harvey" will be presented Thursday and Friday nights at 8 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium under the auspices of the Greenville Branch of the American Association of University Women. Performances will benefit the scholarship fund of the AAUW, established to enable an East Carolina student to study abroad.
Dr. Withey will make his first local bow as an actor when he appears as Elwood Thursday in the opening performance. Faculty advisor of the East Carolina Playhouse, college dramatic club, and director of the Greenville Passion Play for the past two years, he has already won the approval of audiences here for his work in the theater.
Dr. Withey's experience and training in speech and drama have been extensive. He studied at Shrivenham and Biarritz American Universities abroad in 1955 and later won the master's and the doctor's degrees at Cornell. He has taught speech and drama in colleges in Kansas and New York and has directed numerous plays. His original one-act drama "The Lost Ideal" was recently presented here by the East Carolina Playhouse.
An all-faculty cast from East Carolina College will appear in the AAUW production of "Harvey." George E. Perry of the department of music is director. The play is the third in a series presented by the local organization. Beatrice Chauncey, who built up a local reputation as an expert comedienne in the AAUW-sponsored plays "The Silver Whistle" in 1952 and "The Curious Savage" in 1953, will play the part of Elwood's sister. Others who have previously appeared in the series are Ruth Lambie, director of the Nursery School; Mrs. Agnes Barrett, secretary to the college president; and Wendell W. Smiley, librarian.
The cast of "Harvey" also includes Dr. Vera MacKaye and Dr. Keith Holmes of the education department; Cynthia Mendenhall, director of recreation at the Student Union; Cathmar Shaw of the Health and physical education department; Dr. Edgar Hirschberg of the English department; Paul Hickfang of the music department, and Dr. George Pasti of the social studies department.
The comedy has been in production for several weeks. Scenery, designed by Dr. James D. Allison of the English department, has been built. A large number of faculty members at the college and of members of the Greenville AAUW are lending their efforts to make the play a success.

Business Expansion Plans Could Cut Big Dividends

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Plans of business firms to step up their spending for new plants and equipment could dash the hopes of some stockholders for more liberal dividend payments.
Prospects for much better corporate profits this year than last have raised these hopes high.
But now a number of companies are saying that the big postwar expansion program may not have been enough after all to meet the growing consumer demand for their products. And new mills and factories are being planned. Keen competition is also speeding plans for buying new equipment.
And so the debate of recent years over how much of the earnings should be plowed back into the business and how much handed out to the corporation's owners in dividends may be revived.
This comes at a time when most companies have completed their original postwar expansion programs and stockholders' mouths were watering in anticipation of more dividend gravy.
Stockholders may have grumbled in the last 10 years because so many companies plowed back such a large percentage of the earnings. But the New York Stock Exchange points out today in the May issue of its magazine, "The Exchange," that judged by stock price performance, the "plowers" seem to have been more popular with stock buyers than were the "payers."

The Exchange notes, however, that other factors beyond "plowing" vs. "paying" undoubtedly affected stock price movements.
American corporations in general retained many billions of dollars since World War II to help them in financing new plants, buying new equipment, fostering research. Management explained to the shareholders that such expenditures would improve profits in the future.
Some of that fruit is being harvested now. Better plants and facilities are cutting costs, winning competitive battles, raising profits.
Management has also passed out many billions of dollars in dividends. Last year, the Commerce Department reports, corporate cash dividends rose to $9,198,200,000 and so far this year, cash dividends top the same period of 1954 by 6 per cent. Prospects are bright for setting a new record in total payments this year.
Into this paradise for stockholders creeps the growing feeling that still more plant and equipment must be added.
Directors who have been more generous with dividends in recent months might revert to the postwar policy of retaining a large share of earnings for expansion. And the new plants they may build in the immediate future will be more costly than those that went up just after the war.

Take my PLACE

By FRANCES SARAH MOORE

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX
 Kay took his hand and held it. "You are coming in with me, aren't you?"

"If you want me to," she said. "That's Trace's car out front."

"He probably heard it on the radio too—and came along with a sedative for Mrs. Ireland."

"She won't need a sedative. She has known this all along, without questioning how she knew," Kay's smile broke through waveringly. "And to think I was guilty of disparaging a sixth sense!"

She fumbled in her bag for a door key, then thrust the bag at Eric. "You find it."

And then the door opened. Mrs. Ireland was standing before them on the threshold. She said, "Kay," and reached for her tremblingly drawing her in. "Kay . . ."

Eric's throat was tight as he followed them in.

Trace Fellowes grabbed him and swung him around. "I heard it on my car radio!" he said.

"Yes, me too."

"It rocked me. I stalled the car. Right at Five Corners. Isn't it fine?"

They thumped shoulders joyfully incoherent.

Eric thought: Poor guy. This bliss to his hopes of marrying Kay. Trace thought: This settles it. I'll dig into medicine and let the idea of matrimony go.

Behind them the telephone was ringing and ringing. A uniformed maid answered it, hung up, answered it again.

"Yes, it's true! Oh, she's fine. Yes, young Mrs. Ireland just came in. Yes, on the radio. Isn't it super? They went finally to the living room."

"They are taking him to Japan," said Mrs. Ireland.

"Yes, I nodded Trace. "Military hospital."

"It'll be weeks before he gets home," said Eric. "Weeks, anyway."

Mrs. Ireland's hands were rigidly clasped. "As long as that, you think?"

Kay spoke from the chesterfield where she was sitting alone. "I am going to Japan," she said, as casually as if she'd said she was going to the hairdresser's.

"It will take a while to get shots and clearance papers," said Eric.

"I am starting today," she said. "I'll fly to New York. There is a plane this afternoon from the Creighton airport. I'll check on the time—" She started for the telephone.

"Two-fifteen," said Trace. He shook his head dubiously. "You will be stuck in New York waiting for a passport."

"No, I won't." She turned around in the doorway, slim and straight. "I know someone in the State department who can rush it through for me . . . Oh, don't you see, any of you, that I have to go?" she appealed to them. "He may be seriously ill . . . Trace," she said to him, "will you drive me to the airport?"

He met her eyes squarely. "I have a 2 o'clock nephrectomy, Kay."

"I'll drive you," offered Eric.

"But you have the convocation—"

An hour to the airport, an hour back. Plenty of time. And what if he didn't make it? He would miss the ceremony of Presenting the Book; he'd lose the free publicity and the prestige of his picture in the paper with Dr. Kimberly Lawrence. So?

"Go pack your bag," he said to Kay.

"A tooth brush and a pair of pajamas!" she said. She whirled away, up the stairs. Halfway up, she leaned over the banister. "Five minutes Eric!"

Mrs. Ireland murmured wistfully, "I wish I could go with her."

"Can't you?" Trace asked.

She smiled. "I am too old to start off for the other side of the world with a toothbrush." She bent down beside her chair and picked up her knitting.

Trace stood up. "I'll get over to the hospital." A fist came up into his throat. "Say good-by and luck to Kay—will you?"

Mrs. Ireland looked up and smiled at him. "Now do you believe in the earnestness of faith?"

"I am a doctor." He bent and kissed her lightly. "Sometimes there is nothing left but faith." He picked up his hat, left the house.

Eric was on the telephone. "Is Landon there, Merry-o?"

"No," said Merry-o. "Just me and Dora. Landon took Gran to the dentist."

"Will you give Landon a message when she comes in?"

"Certainly," said his daughter lunch."

"Oh?" Landon dropped an inquiring glance at his unused place at the table. "Why, I wonder? Did he phone?"

"Yes, he did. He has gone to the airport at Creighton with Mrs. Ireland."

"Gone—gone to—?" A frown creased Landon's forehead. "You did say the airport, didn't you?"

"I did," said the Boss.

"But—how odd. To go today, I mean. Which Mrs. Ireland—?" casually—"did he say?"

"Ask Merry-o," said the Boss. "She took the message."

Landon said, "I'll phone and find out."

A busy signal beat in her ear. She cradled the receiver. What if it was Kay he was with? Landon's heart felt numb. I haven't even the right to be jealous. That right, dubious and never-used belonged to Maggie. To Maggie and to no one else.

Landon did not try the Ireland's number again.

"No, Daddy."

She waited for Eric to come, finally watching the clock anxiously.

Merry-o came from school. "Did Dora give you daddy's message, Landon?"

"Yes, darling."

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW By FAGALY and SHORTEN

"Isn't he home yet? I thought he had to go to conservation."

"Convocation . . . Merry-o, what time did daddy say he would be home?"

"Three-thirty."

It was after 4. "Just what did he say on the telephone, Merry-o?"

"Dora told you, didn't she? Mommy says Dora is very dependable with messages."

"Yes," patiently. "She didn't know though, which Mrs. Ireland—"

"Oh, are there two? The nurse, daddy said. You know, the one who looked after Gran."

Landon nodded absently. There had been time, since noon, for Eric to drive to the airport and back. Twice.

Woman Robber Was No Lady

CHICAGO (AP)—The woman who robbed cab driver Joseph Rizzo yesterday was no lady.

Crusing detectives shortly after the robbery came upon what appeared to be a woman removing her clothes in an alley. Beneath a wig and pert straw bonnet they found Joseph Ross, 42.

Rizzo said Ross was the "woman" who robbed him of $19. Ross denied it, but was held for questioning.

MAN WITH A GUN

CARL N.M. (AP)—An alert service station officer phoned ahead to state police that two men, one of them armed, were heading their way. A roadblock was set up, and the car stopped. Cautiously, officers moved upon it. There sat Detective Chief Frank Stephenson of Albuquerque his pistol at hand. He was taking a prisoner back to Albuquerque.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined today following a mixed start.

Prices in the early afternoon ranged from around 3 points lower to a point higher with some more volatile stocks dropping sharply.

Trading was subdued. It hit a pace around the two million mark. Yesterday's total was 2,060,000 shares.

Almost all major divisions were depressed. However, some coppers and chemicals resisted the decline and held tenaciously to moderate gains.

Zenith Radio, which has been quite strong in recent sessions, was down between 9 and 10 points at one time. U. S. Gypsum up 10 points yesterday, fell back 20 points today.

Among lower stocks were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Goodrich, Bell Aircraft, RCA, American Telephone, Western Union, Westinghouse Electric, American Tobacco, Climax Molybdenum, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Royal Dutch Petroleum, and Paramount Pictures.

There was a block of 10,000 shares of Columbia Gas off 1/4 at 18 1/2. American Telephone opened on 2,900 shares off 1 1/2 at 18 1/2. Montgomery Ward, yesterday's most active issue up 1/2, started today on 5,000 shares up 1/2 at 80 3/4 and then fell back.

Worthington Is Said Contender For Commission

Pitt County Representative S. O. Worthington may be headed for a second appointment to the State Utilities Commission.

The Raleigh News and Observer's Under the Dome indicated recently that Worthington, a former member of the commission, is one of the leading contenders for a position on the Utilities Commission.

Worthington resigned from his post last fall to return to the State Legislature.

The Under the Dome item stated: "Mark down Sam O. Worthington for a new and full six-year appointment to the State Utilities Commission. It's not in the bag but it's possible."

"When Governor Hodges gets around to filling the Commission's two vacant seats, Worthington, the outspoken representative from Pitt, will be well represented in the stacks of endorsements. Worthington served as a utilities commissioner between the 1953 and 1955 sessions and, some reports have it, would not mind serving again."

Worthington locked horns with Gov. Hodges early in the present legislative session. The representative wanted to call for a vote on allowing the State Legislature to abolish the State school system if necessary to maintain segregation. That was contrary to the governor's thinking on the issue and he said so publicly.

Worthington backed down on the segregation issue after a private conference with the governor.

Two Accidents In City Yesterday; No One Injured

Two city accidents yesterday resulted in one arrest and considerable property damage but no injury to drivers or passengers.

A collision about 8:30 a. m. at the intersection of Fifth and Washington Streets resulted in $275 damage to cars operated by Dr. W. M. B. Brown, 52, of 619 Dickinson Avenue, and Maye B. Culbreth, 27, of 205-B E. 10th Street. No arrests were made.

The second accident, shortly before 11 a. m., resulted in $650 damage to vehicles operated by Frances May Dupree, 25, of Bethel and William Martin Eubanks, 23, of Wilmington. Eubanks was cited for failure to yield the right of way following the accident which allegedly resulted while he was operating his car in the wrong direction on a one-way street.

Pepper In Eyes And Money Gone

DETROIT (AP)—Charles Rappaport, 58, cried yesterday when two men robbed him of $5,000.

He couldn't help it. The robbers threw pepper into his eyes. They grabbed from under his arm a box containing the money. Then they jumped into a car and fled.

Pictured above are prize winners at yesterday's Mother's Day party held at the Pitt Theatre. From left to right are Mrs. J. S. Moore, youngest mother present; Mrs. Mary V. Purser, oldest mother; and Mrs. L. B. Smith, second oldest mother. Not pictured is Mrs. Carl Heath who had the youngest child of any mother present. (Reflector Staff Photo.)

Approximately 125 mothers over 55 years of age attended the Mothers Day party at the Pitt Theatre yesterday afternoon.

The party was sponsored jointly by the Daily Reflector and the Pitt Theatre.

The mothers saw a movie and afterward prizes were presented. Corsages were given to the ladies when they arrived at the theatre and after the movie they were served ice cream.

Winning a cake as the oldest mother present yesterday was Mrs. Mary V. Purser of Ayden Route 2.

She is 90 years old. A box of candy was presented to Mrs. L. B. Smith of Greenville who, at 89, was the second oldest mother present.

Mrs. Smith won a second box of candy as the mother with the greatest combined number of grandchildren and great grand children. She has 14 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren for a total of 41.

Winning a box of candy as the youngest mother present was Mrs. J. S. Moore who had just reached her 55th birthday, the minimum age for attending the party.

A box of candy was awarded to Mrs. Carl Heath who had the youngest child of any mother present. Her child is 18 years old. The prizes were presented by Gordon Sturm, Pitt Theatre manager and D. J. Whitchard, Jr., Reflector publisher.

Free transportation to and from the theatre for mothers desiring it was furnished by AA Taxi Company.

The cake for the oldest mother was furnished by Mrs. Morton's Bakery; corsages were given by Greenville Floral Company; and ice cream was given by Carolina Dairies.

Ben Rouse Elected President Of Lions

Ben Rouse was elected president of the Lions Club last night. Rouse had been nominated earlier for the position and had no opposition for the position.

No Inquest Into Drowning Death Being Planned

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse has indicated that no inquest will be held in the death of Mack Erwin of Farmville who drowned in the Tar River near Grimesland Sunday.

Erwin's body was found by searchers yesterday morning.

The body was located about 350 feet from the bank near the channel of the river approximately 300 yards upstream from the mouth of Grindle Creek.

Those in the boat which found him were Leon Lovette of Farmville, Jimmy Smith of Greenville and Coroner Rouse.

At the height of the search about 35 boats were dragging the river in search of the body.

Diamond-Strike In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Riches have come to diamond diggers working a new field at Bellsbank, in remote bush country northwest of Kimberley, South Africa's fabulous diamond center.

Professional diggers, unemployed and businessmen have staked 25-yard-square claims in the newly proclaimed field. Some are earning $2,000 a week.

Thousands of milky white diamonds have been found. They sell at an average $36 a carat. The biggest find so far was a 4 1/2-carat diamond which sold for $14,952.

No Police Court Held On Monday

The Monday morning session of Police Court was not held because of the illness of Judge Charles H. Wheabee, who is at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The next session of Police Court will be held when the judge is able to resume hearings, a court official stated.

Banded Duck Was Killed In Russia

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A duck banded on the Arkansas Pass wildlife refuge near here in 1951 was reported killed at Kresta Bay in Russia last spring.

Refuge Manager Julian Howard said yesterday he learned of the duck's flight in a report from the Washington office of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. A Russian official relayed the news to Washington from Moscow.

Kresta Bay is just south of the Arctic Circle.

Hundreds of ducks are tagged each year on the refuge and data on their migration is compiled by federal and state game officials.

Tot Survives 24 Hours In Woods

MCMINNVILLE, Ore. (AP)—A 2-year-old boy, lost 24 hours in the woods near here, was found alive and well yesterday.

Jess Davis told hospital attendants that he was hungry and wanted a banana. The boy, though covered with briar scratches and exhausted, was expected to recover quickly.

Jess, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Davis, of Dallas, Ore., wandered away from the home of his grandparents at nearby Gopher Valley Sunday. The family had gone there for a Mother's Day visit.

More than 100 persons had joined the search before the boy was found by two loggers. He had apparently walked five or six miles away.

the New PACKARD with Torsion-Level Ride

A truly distinctive fine car—the new Packard. Distinctive in having exclusive Torsion-Level suspension . . . providing a ride so smooth, so level, so comfortable on any road it has created a higher concept of motoring pleasure! Distinctive in its quiet magnificence, with color harmonies both refreshing and sophisticated and interiors designed for your personal luxury.

Torsion-Level Ride—Packard's newest achievement in creative engineering leadership—eliminates conventional coil and leaf springs. In other cars, twisting forces due to wheel shock are transmitted to the frame with resulting pitch and bounce of passengers and wracking of car body and frame. With the new Packard these same twisting forces are transmitted along the new torsion bar system and absorbed before they can reach frame or passengers.
