High Tribunal To Rule On Schools Before Recessing

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Warren indicated today the Supreme Court will rule before recessing for the summer on how and when to end segregation of white and Negro pupils in the public schools.
Warren said in an address prepared for the American Law Institute that despite an increase this year in the volume of Supreme Court work, the court has been keeping abreast of it, and he added:
'This means that our work is on a current basis and, as has been the practice for many years, action in all argued cases is expected to be announced prior to adjournment.'
The court completed hearing arguments a month ago on the form of a decree to carry out its unanimous decision of May 17, 1954, holding that racial segregation in the public schools violates the Constitution.
There had been some informal speculation that a final decision might be postponed until fall. The court has tentatively fixed May 31 as its final opinion before its summer recess, but in past years it frequently has not met its adjournment target.
Warren reviewed the work status of the various federal courts and said the major problem at present is a congestion of cases in 'too large a number of the U. S. district courts,' particularly in populous areas.

'We cannot be content until these backlogs... are brought down to reasonable numbers because we know that until that is done litigants cannot have justice in the true sense of the word,' he said.
Urging better pay for federal probation officers, the chief justice said the importance of the probation system is too often lost sight of.
'There is nothing sensational about accomplishing the rehabilitation of delinquents by painstaking supervision and friendly guidance,' he said, 'but when 2 or 3 out of 10 fall by the wayside and revert to delinquency or crime, not only is it in each case a cause celebre but the agency that received them only after their moral fiber had badly deteriorated is charged with the failures of the home and the community.'
The chief justice commented that his experience had led him to the conclusion 'that the safety of society cannot be assured by putting all our trusts in maximum security prisons.'
'We must increasingly place more and more emphasis on preventing our youth from gravitating toward a life of crime and upon the salvaging of a vast proportion of our delinquents through humane institutions and enlightened systems of probation and parole,' he said.

Eisenhower Calms Appeasement Fears

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he just can't believe the American people think he will fall into any appeasement trap at international conferences.
He also said he feels some good might come if at the proposed Big Four conference of Eisenhower and the prime ministers of Britain, France and Russia, he could sit down and talk with Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister and a long-time friend.
Eisenhower's remarks to his news conference were a follow-up to last night's nationwide television broadcast in which Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles made clear that they are preparing for the Big Four session in the hope that it may prove a 'new dawn' of peace is breaking.
Eisenhower was asked about the contention of some members of Congress that any top-level conference which includes a Russian representative is likely to end in appeasement.

The President took note that an idea seems to be developing of a neutralized belt of countries in Eastern Europe between Russia and the West. He did not slam the door on the possibility of such an arrangement.
Instead, Eisenhower emphasized that under its new independence treaty Austria will be a neutral state but not a military blank. Like Switzerland, Austria will be armed, Eisenhower said, and that is a far different neutrality from one which creates a military vacuum.
On other Big Four questions Eisenhower said:
1. The United States needs a flexible attitude toward trade with Communist countries. Trade, he said, is the greatest weapon of the diplomat and American and free world policies must be determined by deciding when trade most benefits this country and its friends—so long as it does not help Communist warmaking power that he thought the American people have 'greater maturity' about foreign affairs he meant they have more knowledge or understanding than formerly. He added today he does not think they expect too much from a Big Four meeting.

3. Among the problems which might be brought up at the top-level conference are those of the satellite states and the penetration of so many countries by international communism. Dulles emphasized these points last night. Eisenhower's reference to them today indicated that the United States may go into a meeting with the idea of trying to roll back the Iron Curtain.
Dulles predicted dramatic results from this pledge throughout Eastern Europe. Communist satellite countries like Czechoslovakia and Hungary will also want freedom, he said, adding that the joy of the Austrians over their freedom will be 'contagious.'
Dulles said that the acceptance of West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has dealt the Soviet Union its 'greatest diplomatic defeat' since World War II. The explanation of Russia's changed behavior, he said, may lie in a Kremlin decision to stop trying to block such developments and 'conform to some of the rules and practices of a civilized world community.'

But whatever the explanation from Russia's side, he said the important point is that a 'policy of strength and firmness and the standard of moral principle' is beginning to pay off for the West. If the West sticks to that policy, he said, 'we can face the future with confidence.'
He cautioned both against relaxation of armed strength and against the great danger, as he called it, of expecting too much from the prospective Big Four talks between Eisenhower and the Prime Ministers of Russia, Britain and France.
'Excessive hope now, he said, might result in disillusionment, dismay and even a war psychology later on.

Eisenhower, who, interrupted, Dulles' report to the nation from time to time with comments of his own, broke in to say he thought 'the American people are pretty well aware of what is going on' and that they show 'greater maturity' about negotiating with Russia than was expectable several years ago.
Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee later said he thought Dulles was 'overcautious' and showed signs of 'timidity' about the Big Four meeting.
'We will stay strong and we will stay vigilant,' Eisenhower said, 'but we are not to extinguish the hope that a new dawn may be coming even if the sun rises very, very slowly.'
Dulles himself sounded a similar hopeful note at the outset of his half-hour broadcast with the

Unanimous

RALEIGH (AP)—The Senate Committee on Propositions and Grievances today unanimously approved a House-passed bill to ban the sale of comic books portraying acts of mayhem, sex or use of narcotics.
A bill legalizing prize fights in North Carolina was killed at the request of its introducer, Sen. James Foyner of Wake. Foyner said a number of counties already had local legislation authorizing prize fights, and he planned to introduce a bill setting up a local boxing commission and permitting fights in Wake County.
After the committee approved the comic book bill, it unanimously went on record as commending the work of the Comics Magazine Assn. of America in setting up a comic code authority for self-censorship.

Tax Issues Handed Joint Committee

RALEIGH (AP)—The task of resolving House and Senate differences in the tax bill for the next biennium was handed to a conference committee today when the House refused to accept Senate amendments to the measure.
Speaker Larry Moore named Rep. W. B. Rodman of Beaufort, House finance chairman, to head a group of five House members to serve on the conference committee. Senate President Luther Barnhardt was expected to name Senate members later.
House members on the conference committee included: Reps. Tom White of Lenoir, B. T. Falls of Cleveland, Tom Turner of Guilford, and A. C. Edwards of Green.
The House adopted by a unanimous voice vote Rodman's motion that it not concur in the Senate changes in the tax bill. The House had voted in an unofficial ballot yesterday not to accept the amendments.
There was talk in the legislative halls of a compromise agreement which would increase the tax on beer to 1 cent a bottle, instead of 2 cents, and eliminate the beer amendment, and eliminate the beer price fixing provision in the Senate amendment.

Under the Senate's proposal, counties and cities would receive one-half of the 2-cent beer tax. Under the reported compromise, all of the revenue from the 1 cent tax would go to the state. This tax would amount to $1,760,000 a year.
The Senate passed the $9,768,000 per year finance bill on third reading yesterday by a 44-0 vote. As approved by the House, the bill called for a 25 per cent increase in the privilege license fees, a 3 per cent tax on newspaper circulation, and a $2,000 income tax exemption for wives who were the principal wage earners for their families. The Senate, on first reading, proceeded to strike out these proposals and substituted the beer tax.
The Senate shouted down two attempts yesterday to amend the bill. One amendment would have put boats and self-propelled road machinery under a 1 per cent sales tax along with motor vehicles, instead of the 3 per cent sales tax. The other amendment would have exempted products of the forest and mines, when purchased from the producer in their first marketable state, from the proposed 1 per cent sales tax on building materials.

City Council To Review Property Transfer Action

Transferring of city property at the corner of Fourteenth and Elm Streets to the School Board of Trustees is to be considered at a special meeting of the City Council next Monday night at 8 o'clock.
The Council and members of the School Board viewed the tract of land yesterday afternoon. Earlier a bill had been passed by the State Legislature giving the city permission to transfer all or part of the land to the School Board of Trustees.
The city is considering holding a portion at the north end of the tract on which the Kiwanis train has been installed.
City fathers have also questioned the transfer of the proposed site of a swimming pool located on the northern end of the property.
The School Board has called for bids on the new high school and the bids will be received May 31.
Also studied by the two groups during the afternoon was the proposed site of a pedestrian underpass which would allow students at the new elementary school nearing completion just off Fourteenth Street to pass under the railroad and the street.
Members of both the School Board and the City Council took a dim view of the project and they expressed the opinion that there are other crossings in town just as dangerous. It was pointed out that drainage for the pedestrian underpass would run the cost of the project up considerably.
The two boards discussed the construction of a sidewalk from Charles

Bank Is Held Up In Western N. C.

HOT SPRINGS, N. C. (AP)—Two gunmen today robbed the Hot Springs branch of the Citizens Bank of Marshall between 11:30 and 1:30 p.m. after forcing the manager to open the safe.
Joe Tilson, manager and only employe of the bank in this small Western North Carolina town near the Tennessee border, said the robber, which one of the gunmen pointed at him 'looked as big as a sewer pipe.'
The other robber held a gun on the only customer, Bob Davis, operator of an auto supply store here.
The robbers forced Tilson and Davis into the vault and made Tilson open the safe.
Tilson and Davis were not harmed and were able to get out of the vault about five minutes after the robbers left.
Authorities said that the bandit's getaway car, a 1952 Oldsmobile stolen in Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday was found a mile from the bank.
Tilson said the unmasked robbers were 'rough looking customers,' and the one who forced him into the vault wore a lumber-jacket.
He estimated the loss at between $19,500 and $20,000. He said it was all the money in the bank except for about $200 in mutilated bills he kept hidden.
He said the robbers scooped up the money in his cage plus the cash in the safe.
The Tennessee Highway Patrol established roadblocks to the west from the state line.
Officers said they were looking for two men in their 30s and probably driving a grey Ford.
They said the men were believed to have used the Oldsmobile as their getaway car, switched to a Pontiac, and then to the Ford.

The suspects were described by officers as follows:
No. 1 — Between 30 and 40; 180 pounds; about 5 feet 10; ruddy complexion; wearing a T-shirt and cap.
No. 2 — about 35; 140 to 150 pounds; about 5 feet 7; ruddy complexion; wearing a black sweater and railroad-type cap.
It was North Carolina's third bank robbery of the year.
A pink-gloved gunman held up the New River branch of the First National Bank of Jacksonville April 14. He escaped with $28,872.
Two armed men got $8,968 April 28 at the Waxhaw Banking and Trust Co.

Public Hearing Set For Re-Zoning Plea June 9

Re-zoning of the site of a service station on East Fifth Street will come up for public hearing before the City Council next June 9.
Owners of the station, located on the east corner of Fifth and Harding Streets, are asking that the building can be torn down and a new, modern service station constructed on the same site.
The building, an Esso Service Station, cannot be re-built under the city's present zoning ordinances since it is in a residential section of the city.
Under the zoning ordinances no building can be constructed for any purpose other than is permitted in the district in which the building is located.
If the proposals of the company are approved only the corner on which the station is located will be re-zoned. The remainder of the area will continue to be residential.
Representatives of the company who have appeared before the City Council have contended that the station is needed in the area.
Several attempts in the past have been made by company representatives to obtain a variance for the re-construction of the building and to have the corner re-zoned.
Several persons objected to the plan when it was first proposed. However, the company contends that several persons in the area who originally objected have withdrawn their objections to the re-building of the service station.

Heavily Infested By Army Worms

SHELBY, N. C. (AP)—The worst infestation of army worms in many years is attacking small grain in scattered sections of Cleveland County. County Agent Howard Clapp said today.
He also said that he had heard other North Carolina counties have similar infestations.
He said the worms had been discovered in early stages, and farmers probably could get rid of them if they start using recommended insecticides immediately.
There was no monetary estimate of damage so far.

Military Reserve Bill Is Expected To Pass Intact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration program to build up the military reserves was expected to pass the House intact today despite efforts to soften or kill it.
Rep. Brooks (D-La) predicted it would pass without major amendments, but only after a fight. Brooks leads House forces backing the legislation, which already falls somewhat short of original Pentagon requests.
President Eisenhower is behind the measure to give the military limited authority to enforce reserve obligations and to provide a plan for training up to one million teen-age volunteers in four years.
In one key provision, the measure would authorize the Pentagon to recall for 45 days' active duty reservists who fail to maintain a minimum of 84 weekly drills and 15 days' summer training a year, or the equivalent. Involved are

Four Thunderjets Flash From Tokyo To Australia, Non-Stop

NEW CASTLE, Australia (AP)—Four U. S. Thunderjets landed here today, completing a record nonstop Tokyo-to-Australia flight in 12 hours 2 minutes.
The speedy single-engine fighters each capable of carrying an atomic bomb, refueled in the air three times during their 4,840-mile hop — over Guam, Manus Island and Townsville, Australia.
The flight, part of a U. S. Air Force good-will mission to Australia, extended the nonstop over-water record for single-engine jets by 355 miles. Col. David Shilling set the previous mark of 4,485 miles in 1953 on a flight from Turner Air Force Base, Ga., to North Africa.
The FBAs set down at the Royal Australian Air Force's huge Williamstown Air Force Base here at 5:32 p.m. Australian time. Newcastle is 60 miles north of Sydney, on Australia's southwest coast.
The flight had left Yokota air base, near Tokyo, in balmy spring weather, but landed here in the Southern Hemisphere's May autumn.
The flight was led by Col. Harold M. McClelland, Avon Park, Fla. He was the first man to land.
The other three pilots, in order of landing, were 1st Lt. Gerald J. Robinson, Carbondale, Pa.; Lt. Col. Virgil K. Moroney, Pine Bluff, Ark.; and 1st Lt. William E. Miller, Columbus Ohio.
Lt. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the 5th U. S. Air Force in Japan, said the flight 'shows the U. S. Air Force's capability to make its jet fighters both for concentration and attack.'
There were originally six planes including two alternates in case of trouble, when the flight left Yokota. One, piloted by 1st Lt. Wilford R. Ladd, Georgetown, Ky., put back after it developed fuel trouble about 100 miles out.
Ladd parachuted safely from his plane before it crashed near Nagoya, Japan. Japan's Kyodo news service said he was hospitalized by Japanese authorities al-

Honor Society Invites Twelve

Twelve students at East Carolina College, who have superior scholastic records, have accepted invitations to become members of the national honor society Kappa Delta Pi. New members were honor guests during the weekend at a dinner given by the college chapter of the organization at the Greenville Country Club.

Dean Leo W. Jenkins of the college, a faculty sponsor of the East Carolina chapter, was principal speaker at the social event. Addressing the student members as prospective teachers, he stressed the idea that the aim of education in this country is the training of young people for their responsibilities in a democratic society.

Lou May of Greenville, president of the chapter, presided at the dinner and welcomed approximately thirty members and guests. Other officers who assisted in planning the dinner were Betty Jo Carroll, vice president, and Mrs. Evelyn Tyler, secretary-treasurer, both of Greenville, and Sadie Francis of Conway, reporter.

Raising 10 Kids: 'Duck Soup'

AP Newfeatures
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Raising 10 children is bound to create perplexing problems for a mother.

But Mrs. St. John Park says the most exasperating job is matching up socks. The rest of it, she and her husband say, is practically duck soup. They say they have more spare time with 10 children than parents with only one.

The little Parks, six boys and four girls, range in age from 2 to 15. Seven of them are in school and that's one place where system takes over.

Sending seven youngsters off to school requires a bunch of lunches. So the parents take one large loaf of sandwich bread and line the slices up piece by piece. Mrs. Park spreads the dressing and Park follows right behind adding the filler. Then they work from each end to top and wrap the sandwiches.

So far, Park says, medical and dental bills have been fairly light. There have been no injuries and the only illness, the father says, were the four tonsillectomies and the "usual amount of runny noses."

But how to entertain such a crowd? That's easy, Park says. Dump them in Lake Chickamauga in the summer, and, oh yes, the drive-in movies are a real bargain. "We can get in with the car loaded with children for 50 cents."

Baby sitting is no problem, says Mrs. Park.

Mrs. Park, 36. The family has its own professional sitters' organization.

She says the four oldest take care of the four youngest, and the ones in the middle take care of themselves.

The father, who is associated with an investment firm, keeps them in a 7 1/2-room house, but he says, "We need to add on right away."

"That's right, he says, another little one is on its way. "We are planning to have just as many as arrive," the 30-year-old Park adds, "and we'll just take them as they come. . . both male or female; there's work to be done."

Course In Manners Is Open To Coeds

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Mrs. John P. Harris Jr., dean of women at Mary Washington College, says informality as symbolized by supper in the living room around the TV set, is making many young girls insecure in a formal situation.

Seeing to do something about it she started a voluntary course in formal manners to teach freshmen to be at ease. Of the 700 enrolled 320 showed up for the first class and 250 attended the second and third.

Bethel HD Club Names Chairman

BETHEL — A committee to be in charge of the Bethel Home Demonstration Club's part in the Pitt County Progress program was named when that group met at the home of Mrs. C.A. Manning this week.

Several reports were given at the meeting. Mrs. Russell James gave a garden report; Mrs. F.C. James gave a home beautification report; and Mrs. Edmondson gave a book report.

The demonstration on using dried milk in main dishes was presented by Mrs. Lillie Little, Pitt Home agent. Mrs. Little prepared two dishes, cheese strata and meat loaf, using dried milk.

Mrs. W.T. Williamson was recognized as a new member of the club, and Mrs. R.G. Mullins was a guest for the meeting.

Baptist Convention Is Opened In Miami Today

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — About 15,000 messengers (delegates) from 30 states opened the Southern Baptist Convention here today. They were ready to hear a report of rapid growth of Baptist mission work around the world despite restrictions allegedly imposed by Catholics and Jewish pressure in certain areas, and to nominate and possibly elect a successor to Dr. J. W. Storer of Tulsa, Okla., as president of the convention. Two strong candidates to succeed Dr. Storer are Dr. C. C. Warren of Charlotte, N.C., president of the convention's executive committee, and Dr. Ramsey Polard of Knoxville Tenn., chairman of the pastors conference. Dr. Storer has served two years and is ineligible for reelection. The missions report, to be read tonight, will be given by Dr. Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary of the denomination's foreign missions board. His report will show that 22,125 persons made professions of faith in Baptist missions in 1964; that Baptists now have 2,268 mission churches with 209,346 members in foreign lands served by 120 missionary pastors and 1,408 national ministers.

Eden And Cabinet Set New Precedent

CONFERENCE LONDON (AP) — Without fanfare and within the limits of an election campaign, the Cabinet of Prime Minister Eden made history last night. For the first time in this tradition-bound island, a Prime Minister and four new top Cabinet members held a news conference. The occasion was a television program on the only network in Britain the British Broadcasting Corp. Ten editors of newspapers throughout the United Kingdom faced Eden, Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, Minister of Labor Sir Walter Monckton and Health Minister Iain Macleod. So far as Western newsmen can recall, no Prime Minister and Cabinet members ever had given an on-the-record news conference — let alone on television with 12 million viewers. During Prime Minister Churchill's day, the idea of an on-the-record interview was out of the question. There was speculation that Eden may be preparing for regular news conferences if the Conservatives win the May 26 election. The half-hour program was called a success by most English viewers. By American standards, however, it was slow moving with a marked politeness by the questioners and little follow up of subjects—even when a Cabinet member had evaded the issue. The questions dealt generally with domestic and regional issues in the election campaign.

Presentation of the senior class gift, an athletic trophy case, will be made by Carroll Allen, class president. Special music for the evening will be rendered by the high school girls' chorus and the band. The chorus will sing "Awake—Tis Spring" by Elliott, and "Calm As The Night" by Behm. "Pilgrim Chorus" by Wagner will be rendered by the band. Invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. E. W. Holmes, minister of the Farmville Baptist Church.

Dutch Visitor Is Rotary Speaker

AYDEN — At a meeting of the Ayden Rotary Club last Friday, Miss Ann Van Andel of Buseum, Holland, an exchange student at East Carolina College, Greenville, described some of the customs of her homeland. Miss Van Andel, who is from the middle of Holland, said the people in the north are usually talkative and well-to-do, those in the south are poor and inclined to be talkative. "All Dutch people have great faith in God and that God will protect them from the sea," she declared. She told of "Liberation Day" when the Germans were forced to leave Holland and about the great value of the Marshall Plan in restoring prosperity to the people of her country. Guests of the Rotary Club were Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Ayden, Alton Johnson and Bob Wilfong of Greenville and Jimmy Hakney of Washington. Wilbur Ormond won the "fellowship" prize. President Roy Turner presided.

It's The Voters' Choice, Actually

Most people agree there is a great deal of waste in government operations. From the top officials to the voters in the by-laws, hardly a day goes by that someone does not speak out against the so-called waste in taxpayers money by government bureaus and agencies.

Yet, by now most have come to realize that real economy in government is one thing to be desired; quite another to be obtained. Before there can be any real economy in government the people, from whom the government gains its authority, and for whom its services are rendered, must make up their minds they want economy measures carried out solely on the basis of their respective merits.

Some people in other sections of the nation consider the federal farm program a "waste" of taxpayers' money. Yet we here in Eastern Carolina know, as do the citizens of other agricultural regions, that the farm program dollars are well spent to uphold an important segment of the nation's economy.

Most people feel the government has entirely too many people on its payroll to produce the amount of work necessary in carrying out the multitude of government programs. Yet, when it comes down to cases, the man whose job might be eliminated by an economy measure keenly feels that his job is necessary to the operation of government, and should be retained at all cost.

Death Begins At 55; Not 60

Anyone who takes the time to glance at North Carolina's daily Bloodshed Boxscore of traffic fatalities should be convinced traffic is moving plenty fast on the state's highways under existing laws.

Why then increase the daytime speed limit and kill more motorists?

Speed is the greatest single cause of highway fatalities today. Recognizing this fact, North Carolina has aimed major emphasis in its safety program at slowing down traffic on the highways. Whammies,

Strength for the Day

In the discussion of moral problems, one often hears the statement that we should approach the solution of such problems only from the positive standpoint, not from the negative. We are warned against saying that anything is wrong. Instead we are urged to point out the advantages which accrue to goodness of life. We are urged to emphasize the goodness of goodness rather than the evil of evil.

There is a great deal of truth in such a viewpoint. People who are always harking on the evil of evil tend to tire their listeners, especially their young listeners. But because this is true is no reason why we should not point to certain things as being definitely wrong.

The approach to the consideration of moral problems has to be from both the negative and the positive standpoints. Evil needs to be denominated as evil in no uncertain terms, and good denominated as good. A continually negative approach ends in legalism, but a continually positive approach ends in sentimentality. The best approach to the consideration of moral problems involves both the positive and the negative.

Sound morality involves both law and love.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower counts on more enthusiastic Anglo-French support for his Far Eastern policy, including a possible clash with Red China over Formosa, because of the belated political push he has given to the Eden and Faure Ministries.

Although the White House denies that there was any connection between Ike's reluctant consent to talks with Russia and Britain's May 26th election, the disclaimer does not sound too convincing to American or overseas observers. The demurrer is a necessary bit of stage play because too obvious American interference in British politics would react against Sir Anthony Eden.

EDEN'S NEED—Eden, however, needs a pre-election promise of a Big Four peace conference as much as Eisenhower felt the need of a promise to visit Korea on the eve of the 1952 balloting. Like the American people then, the British populace craves the termination of tensions in this atomic age, as do the French and Germans.

Moreover had Ike held out against pressure for the proposed parity, he would have given substance to Labor orators' repeated charges that the Tories are too subservient to American influence. A Churchill could and did snuff at such an indictment, but Eden lacks the veteran's stature.

TORY VICTORY IN WASHINGTON'S INTEREST—Eisenhower cannot express any open preference, of course but an Eden victory will be in Washington's interest. The Attila-Morrison Labor forces are running on two issues distasteful to the Administration—namely, virtual appeasement of Russia and China, and nationalization of key industries.

From the standpoint of practical American politics, Labor's return to power would be detrimental to the GOP's chances in the 1956 election. It would be interpreted as evidence of a rebound of liberal or radical sentiment, as Churchill's 1945 defeat and Labor's postwar resurgence pointed to Truman's unexpected 1949 triumph over Dewey.

IKE'S BRITISH FRIENDS—Despite personal differences between Secretary Dulles and Prime Min-

Look at our experience during the past few years. It was a relatively short time ago that the first Hoover Commission reports on streamlining government operations and eliminating waste were made to Congress and to the people. Almost without exception every cutback in every government agency was fought not only by those connected with that agency, but by interested citizens from all parts of the nation. To be sure, a portion of the recommendations were adopted in part; but practically all the "economy" measures were watered down appreciably before being adopted.

Why was this so? It cannot be blamed on government officials or government employes altogether. Had not a sufficient number of people in the nation been in accord with keeping the status quo on the various federal operations, more far reaching economy could and would have been adopted by Congress.

So long as the people of the country want and demand greater services of their government—and these services include a great market for labor, a great buying power of practically every kind of commodity grown or produced in the country—we must expect the cost of government to remain high. Only when the people honestly want and demand tight-fisted efficiency and economy in government will we have it. We seriously doubt if that day will ever come.

unmarked patrol cars, speed traps and other devices have been employed to encourage (and badger) the heavy-footed driver into easing up on the accelerator.

Within the next few days, the Motor Vehicles Department will launch a 101 day Slow Down and Live campaign which will be the greatest safety promotion campaign ever undertaken by a state agency. And within a few days the General Assembly may raise the speed limit on the state's highways to 60 miles per hour.

A bill now before the House would raise the speed limit to 60 during the day (five miles above the present limit), and lower the speed limit to 45 at night. The only results we can see from such legislation is a net increase in traffic fatalities and general confusion over the speed limit.

Although it may be wise to lower the speed limit to 45 after dark, it is certainly unwise to raise the speed limit to 60 during daylight hours.

Right off we can't think of a more incompatible situation than will exist if the General Assembly passes this unwise legislation. The safety officials will be making their biggest campaign to encourage drivers to slow down and save lives. The lawmakers—by a favorable vote on the 60 mile speed limit—will be encouraging the driver to put his foot a little deeper into the carburetor. There can be little question which action will have the greatest influence upon motorists.

Indirect Help For Eden, Faure

As commander of our European forces during World War II, he had daily and intimate contact with Eden and minor figures of the Churchill regime. Ike got to know them personally, and to understand their viewpoint on world problems. Harold Macmillan, the new Foreign Secretary, was Eisenhower's British aide and adviser during the North African campaign. Macmillan's mother was an American.

LONDON SUPPORT INVALUABLE—Eden's support will be invaluable, if the question of hostilities with China arises in the General Assembly of the United Nations. In view of Russia's veto power in the Security Council, it will be the larger body which would be asked to endorse our military defense of Formosa, should such a crisis explode.

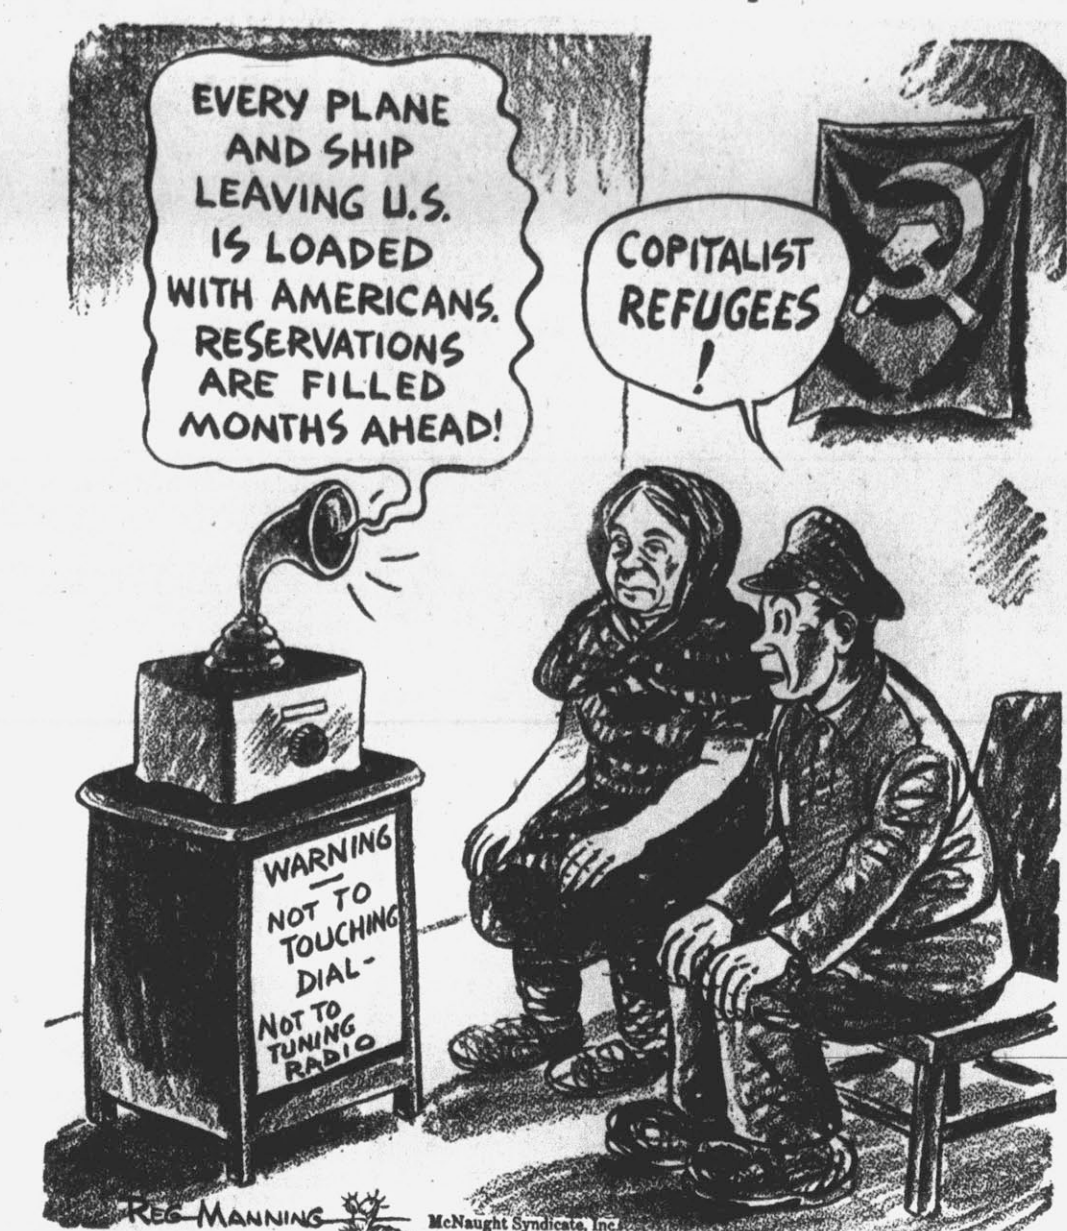

Britain can usually command the vote of 10 or 12 nations in the Assembly, counting most of the Dominions, the Low Countries and the Scandinavian bloc. The United States can rely on about 25, including the South American republics and our Pacific Allies. This total adds up to a majority, providing a grave moral condemnation of Russo-Chinese aggression in the Far East.

STRENGTHENING REGIMES—Eisenhower also sought to strengthen the regimes of Premier Edgar Faure in France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Germany. The Communists and Socialist extremists in those areas insist that only an "aggressive and imperialistic" United States blocks the road to world peace.

Washington realizes that the North Atlantic Alliance must be preserved on the political basis as well as on the military level. Should the "appeasers" overthrow existing regimes in Britain, France or Germany the United States would be virtually friendless against the growing Red menace.

Despite the ancient platitude that politics stops at the ocean's edge, domestic and international politics are now woven together inextricably.

REG MANNING

Somebody Told Me

"A Man Called Peter," now showing at the Pitt, is an inspiring movie which I recommend to all, but particularly to preachers.

Last week Mother was cleaning out the house and ran across a 1943 diary of mine. This has prompted me to write a letter of advice to anyone who keeps a diary.

And the advise is not to burn the diary or keep it locked. Instead, it's this: If you're going to all of the trouble to keep a diary, at least put something interesting in it. Mine is full of details that mean nothing. The main thing you're interested in when you go back and read an old diary is impressions. What did you think of what you were doing at the time? What you did is important only in relationship to what you thought of it.

This diary was kept around the time I was drafted into the army and the latter part of the fall quarter of 1942 at East Carolina.

What an opportunity to write something worth remembering! The ratio of girls to boys at the time at ECC was 10 to one, with most of the men already gone to war. Not only was I too dumb to write, but too dumb to do anything to write about! As a result of finding this diary I'm going to write at least one girl a letter: Lib Darden, she used to be, from Hertford. She has at least two children and lives in Raleigh. But I should think she would find the comments from the diary about her very interesting. How would you like to know what has been put in a diary clerical staff and providing an annual pension of $10,000 to widows of former Presidents. We hope the House will approve this measure. To relieve the former President of the concern over personal finances is the least the American public can do to help him uphold the dignity of his position and to ease the way for him to undertake the various public and semi-public functions for which he may properly be called upon in his post-Presidential career. As Senator Pastore of Rhode Island, author of the bill, pointed out, the earning power of a former President is increased by virtue of his having held the highest office in the nation, but at the same time "the field in

What Other Editors Are Thinking

PENSIONS FOR PRESIDENTS (New York Times) It has taken Congress nearly three-quarters of a century to get around to it, but better late than never. Ever since the financial disaster that overtook former President Ulysses S. Grant in the early Eighties—when he went into bankruptcy after having used swords and souvenirs as security for a loan—it has been apparent that some permanent monetary provision ought to be made to insure a reasonable degree of comfort for the Chief Executive when he steps down from office.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET COMPENSATION—The matter of adequate and equitable compensation for the people who work for the State of North Carolina is a continuing problem. Opinion prevails that the top level officials and the lowest level employee classifications are pretty well paid. Some inequities based on real value of contributions made to State service are conceded, but there are almost insuperable obstacles blocking merit valuation of services rendered by the top and bottom levels of person on the State payroll.

Admittedly the hardest question involves what might be called the middle level, the officials and employees who come within the salary range of $5,000 to $8,000 a year. Most of these salaries are bracketed or classified or "frozen" by personnel regulations.

The highest paid "employee" of the State of North Carolina is, appropriately enough, the Governor. He gets $20,000 a year salary plus a rather liberal, but perhaps inadequate, expense allowance. Next in line is the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court at $16,500, followed by the associate justices at $16,000 each.

The chairman of the Highway and Public Works Commission gets $15,000 a year. The Director of Conservation and Development and the Assistant Director of the Budget are on the list for $13,398 each, and the Commissioner of Revenue is on for $13,200.

Judges of the Superior Court draw $11,000 salary, and $2,500 for expense allowance, and they are listed in the budget book as getting $13,500 a year. That is somewhat misleading because all other State officials have salaries and expense accounts listed separately, and all except the Governor and Judges have expense accounts subject to detail item by item audit.

There is increasing sentiment for reevaluating all the elective and appointive offices and fixing compensation commensurate with the responsibilities attached to the offices. Opinion grows that it doesn't make sense to let the Governor and the advisory budget commission authorize salaries for the appointed highway chairman, C&D director, budget and revenue officials far above the level prescribed by statute and proscribed by constitutional limitations for elective officers such as the attorney general, the superintendent of public instruction, the commissioner of agriculture and others who comprise the Council of State.

It doesn't make sense either that just because a man has been elected to an office that entitle him to vote on the Council of State he should get the same salary as every other member of the Council, regardless of the duties and responsibilities of his particular office. The pending proposal to pay the Superintendent

Lessons From An Old Diary

I hope to write a family history. Just something to pass along about who was who in the old days. Without too much effort the average person could trace his family back 100 years. Then he could record the present family tree and pass it on. Usually it would be kept up after the initial trouble to gather in info.

Diaries are usually a fad that wears fast. In fact, I've never heard of anyone who has kept one up for any sustained period of time. If anyone did, no doubt it would bring many laughs in later years. The trouble is the laughs will probably be at the silly things we do. At the time they are serious, but later seem foolish.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

CANDY INDUSTRY OWES DEBT TO DR. SALK The Salk anti-polio vaccine is expected to make a quarter of a billion dollars in sales for pharmaceutical companies and drug-gists this year. Some stocks in this field have shown unusual strength.

Another beneficiary is the candy industry. It seems that it has become an established custom to give a lollipop at inoculation, and lollipop sales are soaring.

BUYERS CAN GO IN DEBT ELECTRONICALLY, NOW

A new way to speed credit granting has been put into use by a Dallas bank. It places Western Union facsimile machines in auto dealers' offices. When a customer applies for credit the application is reproduced in the bank in seconds, and the application can often be granted before the customer leaves the salesroom.

Who Owns Crockett?

By ELMER ROESSNER Millions of dollars depend upon the answer to the question of who, if anybody, owns the name of Davy Crockett.

Morey and Hannah Schwartz, of Baltimore, trademarked "Davy Crockett Frontiersman" in 1947 long before the Walt Disney films made the name a catalyst in sales of $10,000,000 worth of caps, clothing and other articles each month. The Schwartzes, as Davy Crockett Enterprises, Inc., have licensed several manufacturers to use their trademark.

But Disney productions and several other manufacturers are challenging the trademark. They hold that Crockett's name is in the public domain and can't be registered and that, even if it could the Schwartzes' rights have lapsed through failure to use the mark.

The Disney company claims rights to "Walt Disney's Davy Crockett" and has been licensing the use of that name and the use of pictures of Fess Parker, who acted the Crockett role.

A number of manufacturers have assumed nobody owns the Crockett name and have been putting out Crockett products without licenses.

The question of whether a historic name can be incorporated into a valid trademark seems unresolved. The names of Martha Washington, G. Washington, Pontiac and Lincoln are being used in unchallenged trademarks. And Crockett's name was twice used on whiskies before prohibition.

Do Husbands Want A Pedestal?

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP)—Would it help cut the divorce rate in America if every year we had a week dedicated to husband worship?

A hundred Hindu wives in India recently completed a five-day festival of husband worship. In one ceremony during the festival each wife washed her husband's feet, and a Hindu wistress expressed hope this rite "will end divorce."

Well, it was a heart-warming thought. But would it work here? Many foreigners accuse Americans of woman worship. They feel our high divorce rate stems from the fact the ladies have too much power in this country—that a wife loses respect for a husband she can wear like a watchfob or dangle like a marionette.

Himmm. After all, we do celebrate things like National Dill Pickle Month. Why not set aside one measly week a year for husband worship? That would still leave us 51 weeks of wife worship—surely enough to keep any reasonable woman happy.

So, fired up with the heady prospects of launching America's first annual Worship Your Husband Week, I broached the project to a guy I know whom everybody calls "the oldtimer." He is wise in the ways of marriage—a combat veteran scarred but unbroken by a 30-year tour of duty on the same matrimonial battlefield.

Somewhat to my surprise the oldtimer, after listening to my proposal, immediately threw cold water on it.

"Son, I know it sounds like heaven," he said, "but that's why it won't work. Heaven don't work on earth."

"You mean you wouldn't enjoy having your wife worship you for a week out of every year?" I asked.

"Lord a-mighty, no!" he thundered. "I don't know how those Hindu men stood it, having their women folk coming around worshipping 'em and a-washing their feet for five whole days. Father's Day is almost more than I can bear with my wife and kids behaving like simpering idiots seeing me for the first time. You haven't thought this thing through."

"I don't get you," I murmured. "How?"

"Well, for one thing, I bet you think American wives would resent a Husband Worship Week and holler against having to wash the old man's feet, like Hindu ladies."

"Of course, they'd holler."

"That's how little you know about women," said the oldtimer. "Why, they'd go for it like a weasel goes for hen eggs."

"The wives would be fighting to show how much they worshiped their husbands. Every home soon would have a gilded bowl—something like the old shaving mugs—inscribed, 'Dear Daddy—His Toilette Bath.'"

"They'd have all kinds of Precious Papa foot soaps on the market—perfumed naturally. Wives would be trading foot bath recipes, and there'd be national televised contests to pick America's leading foot-washing wife."

"Don't you think that's a bit overdrawn, oldtimer?"

"Not at all," he replied. "A Husband Worship Week would be one long hell. A man couldn't move. He'd be so smothered in feminine adulation he'd be like a fly in a barrel of molasses. And that's the way his wife would like to have him."

"Son, when you worship something it becomes your prisoner. Nothing with any sense really likes being worshipped. That's why women enjoy it. I fought my wife for 20 years before I found out the secret of how to beat her—which was to worship her."

"I quit being her slave the day I told her I worshipped her. I've been telling her that ever since. When you keep telling a woman you worship her, she has to let you have your own way—for fear you'll stop telling her. If there's a slave in the family now, well—it ain't me."

Recreation Commission Approves Its $34,000 Budget

Commission Tops Last Year's Sum By $4,000

By BOB HILLDEP
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville's Recreation Commission Monday night approved its $34,000 budget for fiscal 1955-56 and passed it on to City Council with the hope that Council would see fit to do the same. Last year's budget was approximately $30,000.

Included in the new budget are a salary increase from $4,900 to $5,450 for Recreation Director Warren Carroll. Salaries for playground directors and activities supervisors also received a boost, from $4,520 to $5,450. Twenty-four thousand of the new budget will be spent on operation and 10,000 on maintenance.

Meanwhile, the commission heard a report by City Manager James Hughes concerning buildings for sale at a federal government housing project in Portsmouth, Va. Hughes reported that two buildings which would be used at South Greenville Negro playground here could be purchased for $100 each. Hughes estimated that for $2,000 the buildings could be bought, dismantled, transported, reassembled, erected and improved.

The buildings regularly sell for $2,000 each but in certain circumstances, discounts of up to 95 per cent are allowed to buyers.

Previously, the commission had been considering removal of the old NYA center from Elm Street to serve as the building at South Greenville. Estimates however, concerning satisfactory reestablishment of this building have run as high as $5,000.

The commission, in view of Hughes' report, gave its approval to the purchase of the Portsmouth buildings, each of which is 60 by 17 feet, and forwarded a recommendation for purchase to City Council.

Other reports received showed that a softball fence had been obtained by using old wooden doors from the National Guard Armory here. The doors have been dismantled and when reassembled, will provide an outfield fence.

In addition, the Pony League agreed to allow the Greenville Greens, semi-pro baseball team, to operate from the stadium at Guy Smith Stadium on the nights that the Greens are playing. The commission also granted its approval to a request by a Greenville Negro club that it be allowed to use Guy Smith Stadium for games on the Sundays when it was not being used by the Greens.

Army Unveils Nike Nests In 'Backyards Of Nation'

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, embarked on a billion-dollar program of building Nike sites, is seeking to reassure communities nervous over close-by installation of the deadly antiaircraft missiles. Partly for this purpose, the Army yesterday took newsmen to a new Nike site at Lorton, Va., part of the antiaircraft defenses of the capital, about 16 miles to the north.

Maj. Gen. Gilman C. Mudgett, chief of Army information, told the newsmen the Nike "is being literally installed in the backyards of householders all over the nation."

And Brig. Gen. R. R. Hendrix, commander of the Washington-Baltimore Nike defense area, said this "has touched off some knotty problems."

"As you may know," he said, "Army engineers have met with some strong resistance during the process of acquiring real estate for Nike sites. Some local communities have not been at all in sympathy with our program, particularly in land matters or in the stationing of troops in residential areas."

Hendrix contended a Nike site "is not dangerous, but as safe as a gas station; as important to security and as much a part of the local community as the police and fire departments."

(There was no mention at the news conference of an incident a month ago when a Nike missile at Ft. Meade, Md., was fired accidentally, falling on a usually heavily traveled highway but without injury or damage to passers-by.)

The Nike battery at Lorton is typical of others built or being built at more than 15 cities. Eventually, Hendrix said, the Nike system will be extended to "all our large industrial and population centers."

Army spokesmen said land and construction for a Nike site costs, on an average, about one million dollars. The weapons themselves cost between $20,000 and $25,000 each. Army officials estimate the entire program will take several years to complete and will cost upwards of one billion dollars.

The Lorton site is an underground installation which, when completed, will have 12 launchers and 24-foot-deep concrete caverns to house the missiles.

In a "dry-run" demonstration, newsmen saw the white, pencil-shaped Nikes (each weighs a ton, is 20 feet long and one foot thick) whisked up from underground, shoved onto launching racks and pointed skyward, ready for firing.

The general said the Nike "is capable of outmaneuvering and destroying any type aircraft presently known and foreseeable for the immediate future."

Suicide Halted By Train Smoke

AUBURN, Maine (AP)—A locomotive's belching smokestack thwarted a threatened suicide dive from an Androscoggin River bridge's superstructure, but Fred Cloutier, 55, broke several bones anyway in a jump from a ladder he was descending.

Police Chief Alton E. Savage said today he would seek mental examination for the husky Lewiston millhand, hospitalized with fractures.

Cloutier scampered for two hours yesterday atop the Canadian National Railway's bridge, drumming on girders with his fists and beating off rescuers with wild punches.

The attack drew cries of "Jump, you coward, jump," from spectators. A police boat cruised under the bridge to pick up Cloutier should he try the 70-foot dive.

A Canadian National Railway train made a series of passes under Cloutier, obscuring him in volcano of smoke, steam and cinders. When the smoke cleared away, Cloutier started down a fire department aerial ladder.

Police said Cloutier explained that he planned to jump because "strange voices keep calling me bad names."

Cloutier's brother Phillip said he had been drinking heavily but never before had caused trouble.

Witness Willing, But Didn't Talk

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—An attorney was cross-examining a witness in a lawsuit.

"You say you called at the house of Mrs. Jones. Tell the jury just what she said."

"I object to the question," said the opposing attorney, "it is leading and irrelevant."

After considerable argument, the judge ruled the question could be asked and it was repeated.

Bulgarian Warns Of Lagging Production

LONDON (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin has warned the Soviet Union that it is lagging seriously in the production of such major industrial items as machine tools, oil, metals and chemicals.

The Premier addressed the opening session yesterday of a national conference in the Kremlin on increasing productivity. Moscow radio broadcast his speech today.

The importance of the conference was underlined by the attendance of Bulganin, Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, Deputy Premier Georgi Malenkov and other top leaders.

Bulganin announced that to improve production, planning of the Soviet economy would be split into long-term and short-term aspects. A separate commission would be set up for each phase, he said.

Moscow radio said the Premier declared:

"Because of inadequate output of special equipment, the proportion of highly productive machine tools is falling off in the machine tool pool.

"The production of forging and pressing equipment is lagging behind sharply.

"Processes rendering production automatic are being but slowly incorporated.

"Poor use is made of existing equipment in many engineering works. And we have works which still make machines inferior to those made by some works abroad."

Bulganin said that in the metallurgical field, "not enough is being done to improve the quality of special steels and alloys, especially of heat-resisting types." The latter are vital components of modern jet fighters and bombers.

The Soviet Premier said there also is an over-all lag in the drilling of new oil wells, petroleum refining and coal mining.

He complained that workers in many industrial plants appeared to dawdle during the first two thirds of the month, then put on a burst of speed to meet their monthly quotas. In many such plants, he declared, "nearly one half of the goods are produced during the last third of the month."

Doubts Adlai Is Decided On Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said today "it's too early to tell" whether Adlai E. Stevenson will seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

"I don't think Stevenson is afraid of running against Eisenhower," Monroney said. "But he wants to look around the country to see what the situation is. He wants to be sure that if he runs, he will have the backing of all of the Democrats and not be a sectional candidate."

This was an obvious reference to Stevenson's loss of Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia to President Eisenhower in 1952.

Stevenson said in New York yesterday that "if it were my ambition to seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year, I would welcome the support of Carmine DeSapio and Tammany Hall."

Questioned on his return from a trip to Africa, Stevenson said also he thought New York's Gov. Averell Harriman "would be splendid public official in any position."

DeSapio, Democratic national committeeman from New York as well as head of Tammany Hall, recently said any Democrat who wants the nomination should come out in the open and say so. DeSapio generally is credited with favoring Harriman for the nomination.

As for himself, Stevenson told New York newsmen he hadn't made up his mind about running again, and "I don't know whether I'm needed or wanted."

Private Rites For Ex-Justice

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Private funeral services, to be conducted at the convenience of his family, will be held for former Justice Owen J. Roberts of the U.S. Supreme Court.

The 80-year-old jurist who died yesterday at his farm home was praised later in Washington by Chief Justice Earl Warren, on behalf of the court, "as a skilled and respected jurist and a great American."

Roberts, appointed to the nation's highest court by former President Herbert Hoover in 1930, served 15 years as a justice before retiring in 1945.

He is survived by his wife and a daughter Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton.

CITY police arrested 151 persons last month for violations of them for violations of road and driving laws and drunkenness.

Those arrested included 71 white males, 72 Negro males, three white females and five colored females. In the traffic category, the majority of arrests were for speeding.

Officers operated three cars and two motorcycles a total of 13,683 miles during the month.

Boys Abandoned 500-Pound Bell

DETROIT (AP)—Police found a 500-pound church bell in an alley. The Rev. Richard J. Knudsen, a Lutheran pastor, claimed it. He explained it had been taken from a garage where it was stored to await completion of a new church.

Neighbors told puzzled police they had seen a group of boys struggling mightily with the big bell: 4 feet high; 3 1/2 feet in diameter.

This year's graduating class at East Carolina College here has taken as its project the beautification of the fish pond in Wright Circle, class president Charlie Bedford has announced.

A small wire fence has already been erected and plans call for a complete cleaning of the pond, planting of rose bushes and grass, installation of a pump to force water from the pool's fountain higher and a floodlight to illuminate the area after dark.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—E.L. Clements was almost ready to sit down to a free steak dinner. But one rusty nail punctured his hopes.

Clements, safety chairman of the department of public works, has a standing promise from his chief of a steak dinner when he guides the department through an accident-free month. He was doing fine too, up to the last few days of the month. Then fate intervened.

House Committees Begin Wholesale Killing Of Bills In Drive For Closing

RALEIGH (AP)—When legislative committees begin killing 21 bills at one crack, that's a strong indication the lawmakers are getting restless and want to adjourn.

The House Judiciary 2 Committee laid to rest 21 bills yesterday, many of which involved only technical changes in the law. Some of the measures had been introduced back in January.

The House Finance Committee was equally as busy. It killed 21 bills by postponing them indefinitely. The committee delayed action on a bill by Rep. Tom Turner of Guilford which in effect would put domestic corporations on the same tax basis as corporations chartered in other states and doing business in North Carolina.

W. P. Holderness, representing Cone Mills could save at least $100,000 a year by dropping its North Carolina charter and incorporating in Delaware.

Holderness said Cone plans to begin operations of a new plant in Texas within the next two years and wants the issue settled before then.

If the bill were enacted, the state would lose about $750,000 a year, Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw said.

The Finance Committee approved bills which would (1) authorize counties, cities and towns to levy taxes for building armory facilities; (2) levy a privilege tax of $300 on the five motor vehicle auction lots in the state and charge them $3 per car put on the auction block; (3) permit merchandise stores within 10 miles of the Morehead City and Wilmington ports in shipment to or from foreign countries be tax free; (4) increase supervisory fees for credit unions so they would pay all the costs of their own supervision; (5) authorize the motor vehicles commissioner to license auto dealers.

Meanwhile, the House passed and sent to the Senate two bills aimed at abuses in the small loan business. The bills would (1) forbid insurance companies from rebating to loan companies a portion of premiums on policies taken out by borrowers, and (2) limit the amount of insurance loan that firms can require borrowers to purchase. Under the legislation, the state insurance commissioner would have authority to fix maximum rates for credit health and accident policies. He also would have more power to regulate the small loans business.

The Senate Finance Committee deferred action on a House-passed bill which directs the state revenue commissioner to refund all sales taxes, penalties and interest paid under protest by six civilian merchants at Ft. Bragg from Dec. 31, 1950, to June 30, 1954. The amount is $31,733, according to Commissioner Shaw.

Rep. I. H. O'Hanlon of Cumberland, who introduced the tax rebate bill said the merchants did not pay any taxes for several years because the commanding general instructed them not to collect sales taxes from their customers.

U. S. Officials Just Don't Know Russian Aim Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—The American government doesn't know what the Russians are up to. That point stands out clearly in Secretary of State Dulles' talk to the nation.

Lately the Communists have been mild and to a degree cooperative. They let Austria have independence. They have agreed to talks among the Big Four powers—the United States, Britain, France, Russia — at the highest level. Why?

Dulles doesn't know. He frankly expressed puzzlement by their motives in his broadcast last night from President Eisenhower's office. Although Eisenhower said a "new dawn may be coming," he and Dulles cautioned against expecting too much of the talks.

Dulles and Eisenhower, both of whom had been frigid for years to a top-level meeting with the Russians, will now both meet with them. Neither man has shown much enthusiasm for the idea. Britain and France persuaded Dulles to persuade Eisenhower to take part.

Dulles last night was very cautious about the meeting, perhaps because he doesn't know what the Russians have up their sleeve.

Since the Russians have them guessing, Eisenhower and Dulles will have to do their homework if they don't want to come out second best. Homework doesn't mean just remembering to stand pat on every single difference which has existed between Russia and the West for years.

This whole Russian performance may be phony. There's a chance it isn't that they really want peace and are willing to pay a price for it in the form of concessions they never would make before.

If they do back up a bit, the United States will have to be prepared to do the same if, by doing so, American safety and world peace are benefited. American solidarity might continue a cold war until it became hot.

But Dulles knows any American concessions by him or Eisenhower may bring down the wrath of some Republicans. Both men have vivid memories of Republican outcries for the past 10 years over concessions made by President Roosevelt at Yalta.

Yet, if the Russians yield but the United States yields nothing, this country endangers its alliances.

Almost as if giving assurance beforehand that Eisenhower would get mixed up in no deals with the Russians — and therefore warding off criticism ahead of time—Dulles last night said:

Eisenhower and the other heads of government can't solve all the big problems in the three or four days they'll meet; "I think that will be a meeting which can be held safely without bringing in great risks and which may open up a new opportunity."

Dulles privately is reported to believe it will take many months, perhaps years, to work out agreements with the Soviet Union on great world issues.

Church Center Plans Revealed

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Council of Churches' design for its new headquarters here is a 14-million-dollar, 17-story edifice, sufficient to accommodate at least 3,000 staff workers and housing a number of facilities.

Construction plans were announced yesterday by Edmund F. Wagner, president of the church center's Board of Trustees.

The council's offices are now in rented space in eight buildings in downtown Manhattan.

The new headquarters is planned for a block-long site on Riverside Drive between 119th and 120th streets, overlooking the Hudson River and near Columbia University.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. has donated the site and has offered to pay for a modified Gothic limestone exterior for the united church center.

In addition to being headquarters of the council, the building will house offices of a number of the 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations—with 35 1/2 million members — which the council represents.

Nine-tenths of the population of the United States was living in family units in 1950.

Bank Manager Captures Bandit

DETROIT (AP)—The husky manager of a newly opened suburban bank singlehandedly captured a lone gunman who held up the bank and fled with more than $2,000 in cash.

When the gunman drove away from the St. Clair Shores National Bank late yesterday, Manager Bernard St. Germain vaulted over the counter, raced to his own car and gave chase.

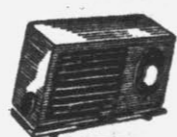

For a mile and a half at speeds up to 70 miles an hour, the two cars flew along busy thoroughfares.

Then a cement truck lumbered into an intersection and the robber's car plowed into it. St. Germain shouted to bystanders: "Grab that man; he just robbed a bank!"

Nobody moved, so St. Germain grabbed him himself. He held the man until police arrived, then picked up the money which had spilled into the street.

"I just couldn't see letting him get away Scot-free like that," St. Germain said.

New Bern Club Invades Greenie Grounds Tonight

New Bern comes to town tonight with the obvious intent of knocking Greenville out of the three-way tie for first place in the Coastal Plain League race.

Manager Junior Yohn's club will doubtless have other plans, those of taking undisputed possession of first place. The three-way tie for the top rung involves Greenville, Rocky Mount and Farmville.

Over last weekend, the local Greenies split a pair of games with New Bern to lose a little ground. They had taken the lead in the race the weekend before and strengthened it with a win over Williamston.

Manager Yohn will send his top right-hander Bobby Frye against the New Berners in tonight's game set for 8:00 in Guy Smith Stadium.

The rest of the Greenville lineup will contain Blaney Moyer in centerfield, Mat Hall at shortstop, Tom Boyd at second base, James McLawhorn behind the plate, Brownie Tripp at first base, B. Clark in leftfield, Bobbie Hobgood in rightfield, and J. T. Mills at third base.

The New Bern nine is comprised of L. Gaskins, second base; Westbrook, shortstop; Carbone, centerfield; Morad, first base; C. Anderson, catcher; Stulley, rightfield; Goodman, leftfield; and Tillman, third base.

Right-hander Bob Woodie is expected to start on the hill against the locals. He was the victor in the 7 to 3 win over the locals last Saturday.

Around the rest of the league, Farmville defeated Williamston last weekend 4-3 and 7-5 to climb in the standings. Rocky Mount was rained out in one game and whipped Falkland 7-6 in another.

Pirates And Western Carolina Open Play-Off For Baseball Title Thursday

East Carolina and Western Carolina will meet in the first game of a two-out-of-three playoff for the North State Conference championship tomorrow night in Guy Smith Stadium here beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The second game will be played on Friday night and if a third game is necessary it will be played most likely Saturday afternoon, according to ECC Head Coach Jim Mallory.

Western Carolina comes into the finals representing the Western Division of the conference. The Catawunks of Cullowhee took their division with a 13-3 season. They defeated Catawba in the last game of the season to nose but Lenoir Rhynes.

East Carolina represents the eastern half of the loop, having won on a technicality. It was learned yesterday that Atlantic Christian College used an ineligible player in whipping the Pirates 4-3 last Thursday. Conference Commissioner C. R. Hinchaw awarded the game to East Carolina on the day the latter was to meet Elion in a one-game playoff to decide a winner.

The championship is the first ever won by an East Carolina nine. Several times the Pirates of past years finished second but never on top. Eventually, the man who edged the locals out year after year at the North State Conference was the man who led them to their initial title, Jim Mallory.

In his first year here, Mallory fashioned a winner. His team went through its conference schedule losing only two games while chalking up 14 victories.

Now with the entire conference championship within his grasp, Mallory is taking no chances on getting behind at the start. He said this morning that he was putting ace right-hander Tommy Pruitt on the mound tomorrow night. He plans to follow Pruitt with Mac Cherry on Friday and have Pruitt ready again if needed on Saturday.

The remainder of the Pirate lineup will remain intact. Jerry Stewart will start at shortstop and lead off. The lithe blond freshman has been the backbone of the club that has held together the freshmen when they threatened to falter. Both are hitting above the grading 300 mark.

Hustling Bill Cline will open behind the plate. The powerfully-constructed miltman will be called on for his big bat and fine throwing arm to keep the Catawunks honest.

Gene Turner, Nick Smothers, Ray Pennington and Bucky Reep round out the Pirate nine. Turner is the home run baby who should find the rolling outfields at Guy Smith Stadium in his liking. Smothers is the late starter who has kept East Carolina in game of late with his timely hitting. Pennington is a converted shortstop who is pretty consistent with the bat and Reep is the quot, valuable little third baseman who can pull the big play when it's needed.

Charles Russell and Bill Loving will be in the bullpen tomorrow night, each anxious for a turn against the visitors.

Western Carolina brings a power-laden bunch supported by terrific pitching. Jim Kuykendall, big right-hander, is the ace of the Catawunk mound staff and is being sought by many major league scouts. He has pitched wins in both ends of doubleheaders this season.

East Carolina has come a long way, but it still has some to go to wrap up its first North State Conference baseball title.

It Seems Hurlers Have Upper Hand

From the looks of the past seven days, this may turn out to be a pitcher's year in the major leagues—their first since 1951.

It's been four years since the pitchers got together and confronted the hitters with as many as 13 guys who won 20 or more. Since then the hurlers' with the whammy have fallen off to six in '52, eight in '53 and six again last season.

Right now 17 pitchers have won four or more (a year ago there were 13) and they've had help from the rest to give the majors a total of 89 shutouts to date.

Of the 10 major league seasons there were only 35 scoreless performances on record at this stage.

Thirty-two pitchers have figured in the whitewashings, and 13 shutouts have come in the past week including Don Newcombe's one-hitter at Chicago and Sad Sam Jones' no-hitter against Pittsburgh.

There were three shutouts last night. Rookie Larry Jackson put the collar on National League-leading Brooklyn at St. Louis in a Cardinal victory. In the American League, Alex Kellner gave the Kansas City Athletics a 1-0 success at Washington while Whitey Ford spun a 1-0 triumph for the New York Yankees against the Chicago White Sox.

Early in the National League game were played, Milwaukee took over second place, eight games behind the Brooks, by beating New York's Giants 9-4. Cincinnati made it six straight defeats for Pittsburgh 9-2. Cold weather held up Philadelphia's game at Chicago.

In the American, Boston knocked off Cleveland 10-3 and Baltimore beat Detroit 3-2.

Jackson's no-run job on Brooklyn gave St. Louis its third white-wash victory in four games. The Brooks tagged the young right-hander for 10 hits, but when the chips were down Jackson went to a curve ball and found the answer.

At Cincinnati, Joe Nuxhall wrapped it up with an eight-hitter and a three-run double in the second inning.

Krepp Cracks 2 Swimming Marks

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Two AAU swimming marks were cracked by Charlie Krepp, University of North Carolina sophomore, in Bowman Gray pool here yesterday.

Krepp became the first back-stroker to swim the 440-yard and 400-meter events in under five minutes. He swam the 400-meter in 4:57.9, lowering the 5:2.7 set in 1950 by former Tar Heel Jim Thomas.

Krepp slashed another Thomas record in the 440-yard, slashing the distance in 4:59.5 compared with Thomas' 5:40.7.

Krepp and Phil Drake will try for world and American records in the 200-meter and 200-yard event next Monday. An infected ear kept teams it had beaten easily with Henry in the line-up.

Just the other week, the Circle K Club of East Carolina awarded Krepp a trophy as "the outstanding player of the 1954-55 basketball team."

Cecil graduates May 23 with a B.S. degree in Business. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Heath of 15 Wrightsville Avenue, Wilmington. His gain of a degree is East Carolina College's loss of an outstanding student and athlete.

Moose Defeat Elks, 5-3, In Little League Contest

In a Tar Heel Little League game yesterday, Moose defeated Elks 5-3. Moose capitalized on several bad plays on the part of the Elks club to score two runs in the first inning. The winners added another run in the fourth stanza and two in the fifth. Elks bunched all their runs in the fifth.

Wade, Moose third baseman, led the winners' hitting with two hits in three tries. Catcher Proctor had two for three for the losers.

Chances Of Return Match For Rocky, Briton Growing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The chances of a return bout between champion Rocky Marciano and Don Cocker, possibly in London in September, continued to brighten today as the camps of both Monday night fighters gave enthusiastic lip service to the idea.

The Cocker camp, naturally, favors a London site. The Marciano crew agreed that "England is as good a spot as any for a rematch."

The International Boxing Club, which will have the final say, wasn't talking.

Cocker, a small patch of adhesive tape on his cut forehead and a slight scratch under his left eye the only signs of the beating he took, said he'd welcome another chance at the title.

"I'd like to fight him again and I'd prefer London," he said at a news conference. "But I'd meet him in New York or almost any place else, although I don't fancy here at all."

"He is the best fighter I ever faced. Afraid of him? Certainly not. I'm not afraid of any man, but obviously I'd have to alter my tactics in a return match."

Marciano, high in his praise of Cocker's courage before the fight was stopped in the ninth round, said he'd be willing to meet him again "in England or any place else as long as the terms are agreeable."

"I'll fight anybody any time," he said.

His manager Al Weill, who with the IBC will name the next opponent, said that if the terms were right—"and that takes in a lot of territory"—he thought England "was as good a spot as any" for a rematch.

"I'm going to be with Jim Norris (IBC president) in New York and we'll decide which is best—New York or London in September."

Weill said that Jack Solomons, British promoter, had made him "a good proposal for a London match, but that the terms would have to include such items as the selection of officials."

Around the rest of the league, Farmville defeated Williamston last weekend 4-3 and 7-5 to climb in the standings. Rocky Mount was rained out in one game and whipped Falkland 7-6 in another.

Marciano Pictured As 'Dirty Fighter'

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—The one sad feature of an otherwise surprisingly fine heavyweight fight is the fact that Rocky Marciano is being portrayed to British fans as a "dirty fighter" who employed back alley tactics to defeat their game champion Don Cocker.

Did they wish to be completely honest with their public, the dozen war correspondents who accompanied Cocker from London to San Francisco could have called home that the world champion fought a rough fight, as he always does.

To say that the Rock is a dirty fighter is to distort the truth, or to display a vast ignorance of the boxing game.

Over a long period we have known and watched more than a few fighters who were mean, ornery and crafty, both inside and outside the ring. A few of them might have been described as vicious. Marciano is none of these.

"A gentleman of impeccable habits, who wants to win a fight as quickly and decisively as possible.

But for his rushing, crowding, ever-swinging style, Rocky never could have been a champion. With his short arms and lack of height, the boy from Brockton was never cut out to be a fancy first. He had to get in where he could make an opponent ceaselessly and never permit him to rest, an instant and eventually slug him silly.

By the very nature of his headlong attack, the Rock is almost certain to fracture a small rule now and then, as he did against the bulbous Briton. But no one who has been around the modest champ for more than five minutes, and wishes to be entirely fair, is going to accuse him of deliberately cutting the corners to achieve a victory. If the British people come out of this believing their man was done in by foul tactics, they deserve better.

Distinction For Cardinal Hurler

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rookie right-hander Larry Jackson held the distinction today of being the first St. Louis Cardinal's pitcher in almost a year to shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Jackson blanked the Brooks 3-0 on 10 hits last night. The last Cardinal pitcher to whitewash the Dodgers was Harvey Haddix. He did it on June 9, 1954—a three hit job.

The Buc mentor says also that Heath is a real money player, in that he means Heath can get that big hit or make that big play that turns the tide of a ball game.

"He's a great competitor, a real inspirational leader to the other players," Mallory said.

Stewart, the youthful shortstop, recently stated: "You have to play along side of Cecil to really appreciate him. He's great!"

As a Pirate, Heath has gained most of his fame through basketball. He helped East Carolina to its first North State title in 1953-54 and made the All-Loop team.

A playmaking guard, he was the team's third highest scorer this past winter and captained the club. His value was demonstrated when he missed several games near the end of the season because of illness. During this layoff, East Carolina dropped two games, both to teams it had beaten easily with Henry in the line-up.

Just the other week, the Circle K Club of East Carolina awarded Krepp a trophy as "the outstanding player of the 1954-55 basketball team."

Cecil graduates May 23 with a B.S. degree in Business. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Heath of 15 Wrightsville Avenue, Wilmington. His gain of a degree is East Carolina College's loss of an outstanding student and athlete.

Littlest Guy On The Squad Largely Responsible For ECC Title

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina College has won its first Eastern Division baseball championship and the biggest reason is the Littlest Guy on the squad.

The player in mind is Cecil Heath of Wilmington. A small fellow at 5-foot-10, 155-pounds, Heath has more than doubled his size in the role he has played in keeping East Carolina on top in the Eastern Division of the North State Conference race.

The 100-yard sprinter needs a good start to be a winner, so does a baseball club. For the first time in years, the Pirates got off to a good start this spring, principally because of the Guest speaker for the dinner was Captain Violet Bivans of Charlotte, divisional Guard director for North and South Carolina.

'Right-To-Work' Laws Assailed

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — The right-to-work laws came in for a thorough blast here yesterday in the second day of the week-long 43rd annual convention of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers (AFH).

President Alexander McKeown urged President Eisenhower concerning the laws and the Taft-Hartley provision permitting states to put the laws in force.

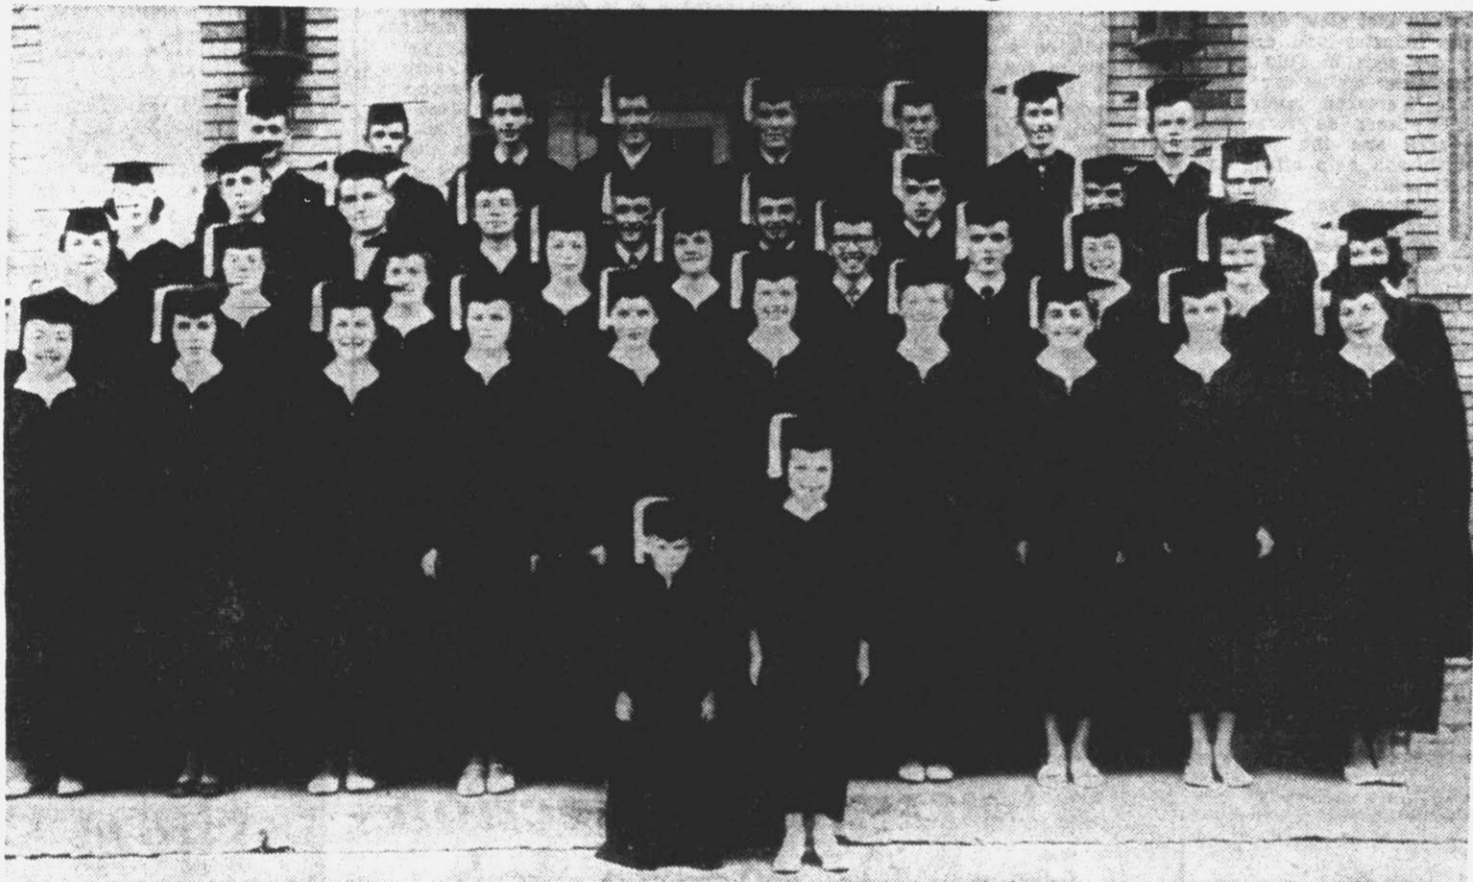

The message asked the President to "clarify your position on the right-to-work law."

The laws got another term from Julian E. Goldberg of Philadelphia, AFH general counsel, who called them "right-to-starve laws" and described their accepted designation as "just a cheap advertising stunt someone dreamed up to make it sound good."

Other resolutions adopted by the 82 delegates included approval of the proposed AFL-CIO merger and asked Congress to pass a law requiring articles shipped in interstate commerce to be marked "union-made" or "non-union."

The right-to-work laws, now in force in North Carolina and 17 other states, have been the main subject of the convention to date.

Investigating officers charged White with failure to yield the right of way. No injuries were reported.

Eighteen Cases Heard In County Court Yesterday

Two persons received six months jail sentences in Pitt County Court yesterday as 18 cases were handled. Azella Clark, Negro, received six months for possession of non-tax paid whiskey for the purpose of sale and Alfred Anderson, 33, Negro, of Winterville, was given a like sentence for driving drunk and driving after license revoked.

In other cases, Henry Worthington, 27, Negro, of 906 Legion Street, paid $10 and costs on a hit and run charge. Ohio Coeds Are Pioneering In Air Force ROTC Course

By NELLIE EVANS
Middletown Journal
OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Girl Air Force cadets are making history at Miami University here.

The Silver Altair Flight, the nation's first ROTC unit for women, has been formally organized and recognized on the campus at Oxford.

It started when an enrolling freshman stopped at the Air Force ROTC registration headquarters and requested permission to take aviation courses. It had been suggested, she said, by her high school advisor, who recommended that she prepare herself as much as possible for the air age in which we live.

"We could find no official regulations prohibiting the admission of women to ROTC classes," the Miami University Air Force ROTC commander, Col. Ernest J. White Jr., explains, "so we decided to give it a try."

Col. White confesses he was not decidedly enthusiastic when the "noble experiment" began, but now he is wholeheartedly in favor of the idea. Sharing his enthusiasm is F. Glenn Macomber, dean of Miami's School of Education, whose daughter, Jo, is administrative officer of Silver Altair Flight.

C. White and his staff queried freshmen girls as they registered, and six attractive girls dressed in Air Force blue are the result of the questioning. Air Force permission was not needed at the time because the girls were not in sufficient number to increase the work load of the instructors. Now, however, headquarters is kept informed of the girls' progress—and it heartily approves.

Girls in an otherwise male class have proved to be a morale booster, says Sgt. James B. Gilmer III, one of the instructors. The men have to be on their toes to keep up with the women, who have shown a marked inclination to hit the books and learn rapidly. And on the drill field, the sergeant remarks proudly, the girls really shine.

"In my opinion," he says, "the girls are as good as our drill team, and the team is better than average!"

The girls' ROTC subjects are the same as the men's. Unlike the men, they are not required to join the Air Force after graduation. Their uniforms are not furnished by the government and the university receives no governmental stipend for their training, as it does for men.

As for the uniforms—the girls selected a pattern and made their own. They're of AF blue linen, and are styled with trimly tailored skirts and Eisenhower jackets. A pale blue silk scarf is worn at the throat, and the cap is an adaptation of the overseas model. Navy shoes with flat heels complete their attire. ROTC insignia is placed on either side of the collar, and the blouse is fastened with Air Force buttons.

Unprepared For Higher Learning

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A law school dean and a widely known physician have criticized educational preparation given law and medical students.

Dean E. Elythe Stason, of the University of Michigan law school, and Dr. Ernest Irons, Chicago physician and former president of the American Medical Assn., spoke at Michigan State College's centennial year symposium on general education.

"With few shining exceptions, students come to law school unprepared," Dean Stason said. "They are tragically often unable to think; many cannot write well; many cannot spell common words, and many are uninformed about facts of general knowledge. The reading of classical literature has almost disappeared from students' equipment."

Dr. Irons said the increasing flow of new scientific knowledge has weighted medical education in favor of science and has reduced the emphasis on cultural subjects such as history, philosophy, languages and literature.

"This," Dr. Irons said, "does not prepare the medical student to know his future patient as men and women. It inclines him to treat disease as purely a technical problem."

Sorry, But The Bonds No Good

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — E. L. Neully, France, came a letter addressed to Monsieur le Gouverneur Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia. After "respectful greetings" it requested payment of a $100 bond and 20 coupons issued by the Confederate States of America in 1863.

In the absence of the governor's Treasurer Jess Dillon wrote that (1) Virginia could not be responsible for bonds of the whole Confederacy and (2) that even if the state had issued them Federal and State Constitutions prohibit of any issued in 1863.

Advance Orders Are Tip-Off On Summer Slump

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen are watching their advance order books today for a clue as to how much of a summer slump to expect.

Some in the steel industry, for example, are looking for a July and August drop in production of about 10 per cent from the present near capacity rate. If so, this would still leave that basic industry in a very prosperous condition.

Order books of many industries are already well enough filled to assure high production schedules through this month and next. And some manufacturers are so optimistic that they look for little or no slowing down for the rest of the year.

But a seasonal slump during the hot months is so traditional that the Federal Reserve Board makes allowance for it in weighing the factors in its industrial output index.

One reason is the growing trend for factories to close up shop for one to three weeks in the summer for mass vacations. Not only does the output of the factory fall off, but its need for raw materials and supplies also is deferred.

This summer there may be a marked drop in auto production for a while. The companies are expected to change over to their new models a month or two earlier this year than they did last. Work on 1955 models will halt.

This will show up first on the order books of the steel mills. Some mills report there are signs already that steel deliveries to the auto industry will drop by 10 to 15 per cent in July and August. The steel mills say that orders have increased lately from such other users as farm machinery makers and the oil companies, which will help offset any slump in Detroit.

All concerned, however, are watching closely the sales trends of the auto dealers and the production charts of the construction industry. Any marked change in either could foreshadow a shift in business prospects for the last half of the year.

Needs A Place To Hide His Car

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Denzell Proffitt parked his car in front of his home. The next morning he found a hit-run driver had smashed the left front door and front fender.

That night Proffitt parked the car on the other side of the street. Along came another hit-run driver, smashing the back door and back fender. Now, Proffitt is looking for a place to hide his car.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures
Starting about one month from now, camera fans will begin to find on their local camera store shelves the equipment and accessories that were unveiled for the first time at the national photo trade show that was held in Atlantic City recently.

From the million dollar display of photo products by 200 exhibitors, several trends in coming photo fashions were discernible. There will be a continued boom in the 35mm and miniature camera field with increased selectivity of new cameras in the medium price range. This is directly coupled with the introduction of new faster and better-balanced color films, and a sharp increase in color processing at home and on a local level.

Electronic speedlights are becoming smaller, cheaper and more adaptable to the needs of the average camera fan. Several units will soon be available in which the battery power is furnished by ordinary flashlight cells. Great activity and the number of new outfits in this field show a distinct swing to greater use of speedlights by amateur photographers.

After a noticeable lull, interest in home three-dimensional photography is likely to perk up with the introduction of three new stereo cameras, new hand viewing devices and a new, cheaper stereo projector.

The home movie field will expand and fans will have a wider choice in new cameras, projectors and accessories. In the latter group, one item in particular should fill a long-felt want judging by the interest it evoked and the number longer tank life. Clayton P-20 is a highly concentrated universal developer for films, plates and paper. One quart makes up to five gallons of working solution. The bottle cap and label have a distinctive, matching color; the directions and a measurement graduate are permanently imprinted so they can't wash off. For fine grain work, there is a P-60 formula.

A new dichroic prism range-finder for press cameras is remarkable because it adds visual color to the job of determining correct focus. In operation, you see two images in different colors while you are focusing. When you reach the point of exact focus, the two images blend into one and the natural color image. The abrupt color change when you get "in focus" looks like a bit of visual magic.

Old Auto Collection Part Of Movie Job

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If you think you have troubles getting your jalopy started in the morning, consider Jim Ruman's chore. He has 150 ancient autos in his care, ranging back to an 1898 horseless carriage.

Jim is the transportation head at 20th Century-Fox. That means he must supply movies with cars, both antiquated and brand new.

The new cars are a cinch. Like several other studios, 20th has a fleet with a major auto firm, which provides news cars for virtually nothing. The car company figures that having its produce seen in big pictures is well worth the expense.

Old cars are easy for 20th too because the studio owns one of the biggest collections of antique autos in the world.

Says Jim: "It all started about 11 years ago when I took over the department. I like antiques and I thought we ought to start a collection of old autos."

"It turned out to be a good idea from the start. When I was in the Midwest, a woman in Ohio called me and said she had a 1902 Columbus which she had owned for 40 years. It still had the original top and paint on it. I bought it and had it shipped to

Says Revival Drive Is On Poor Footing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—“The so-called revival sweeping America isn't genuine or permanent,” Presbyterians were told last night. “Most people seem to want God as you want a hot water bottle in the night—to get you over a temporary discomfort.”

Dr. Charles B. Templeton, of New York, secretary of the Division of Evangelism in the U.S.A., said at a rally preceding the church's 16th general assembly: “Membership in the churches is increasing more rapidly than the nation's population and is at an all-time high. However, there is also an increase in the national debt, national taxes and national assembly itself opens tomorrow and continues through next Wednesday.

“The signs of an increase of religious interest are evident,” Dr. Templeton said, “but concern for religion is not commitment.”

“There are approximately 35 million people in church on Sunday. This means that on any given day 125 million Americans do not trouble themselves corporately to worship God.

“There are approximately 85 million people on the rolls of the church, but this means that some 75 million have no formal relationship with the church.”

Dr. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at York, Pa., said in an address on “The Signs at Pentecost,” prepared for delivery today: “Evangelism is nothing more than the practice of speaking the truth in love to those who have not yet received it.”

“The unready church is the most formidable barrier to evangelism that we have—the church that has lost faith in the power of the Gospel to transform life and reshape society . . .”

Party-Line Hog Is Found Guilty

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—A hot-tempered housewife has been found guilty of refusing to yield a country telephone party line when a volunteer fireman tried to report a fire.

Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 43, of Rhinebeck, N.Y., could get a maximum of a year in jail a $500 fine or both under a new state statute covering use of party line telephones in an emergency.

Mrs. Kayes, mother of four, sobbed when the verdict was announced in Dutchess County Court last night.

“Let me alone don't bother me,” she shouted at newsmen.

Judge John R. Schwartz set May 24 for sentencing and continued Mrs. Kayes in $500 bail.

According to testimony in the two-day trial, Mrs. Kayes said, “Let the damn thing burn and get off the line,” when fire dispatcher Donald Townsend, asked her to give up the line to report a brush fire last Jan. 21. Townsend and Mrs. Kayes share the line with five other users.

Townsend testified he had to drive nearly a mile to another telephone to make the call.

A fire official told the court the fire got out of control because of the delay and destroyed a nearby barn.

Mrs. Kayes claimed she didn't believe there really was a fire, because “you hear the darndest things on a party line.”

Truman Speaks In Behalf Of UN

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Harry S. Truman says withdrawal of this country from the United Nations would mean preparation for a third world war and “the destruction of the world.”

The former President also said yesterday the United States should try to keep Russia in the U.N., adding: “When we have the Russians before the world, we are in a better position to make them perform for peace.”

He told a joint session of the Missouri State Legislature world peace or world destruction are the only two alternatives we have.

Teeth Tossed In Waste Basket

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Mrs. Loretto Bonner, a teacher at Taft Junior High School, noticed one of her students struggling with a piece of candy he was chewing.

“Either swallow the candy or toss it in the wastepaper basket,” she advised the youth.

“Can't,” said the lad. “The candy is stuck between my teeth.” Jokingly, Mrs. Bonner told the youngster: “Well, toss your teeth in the basket with the candy.”

The boy took out his teeth and threw them into the basket. He had a complete upper plate.

Frost Threatens Northern Areas

It was a little on the cool side for mid-May today with frost threatened for many northern areas from New England westward across New York state and the Great Lakes.

Temperatures in the cool belt were in the 30s over wide areas and below freezing in some sections. Generally fair weather prevailed and some warning was in prospect.

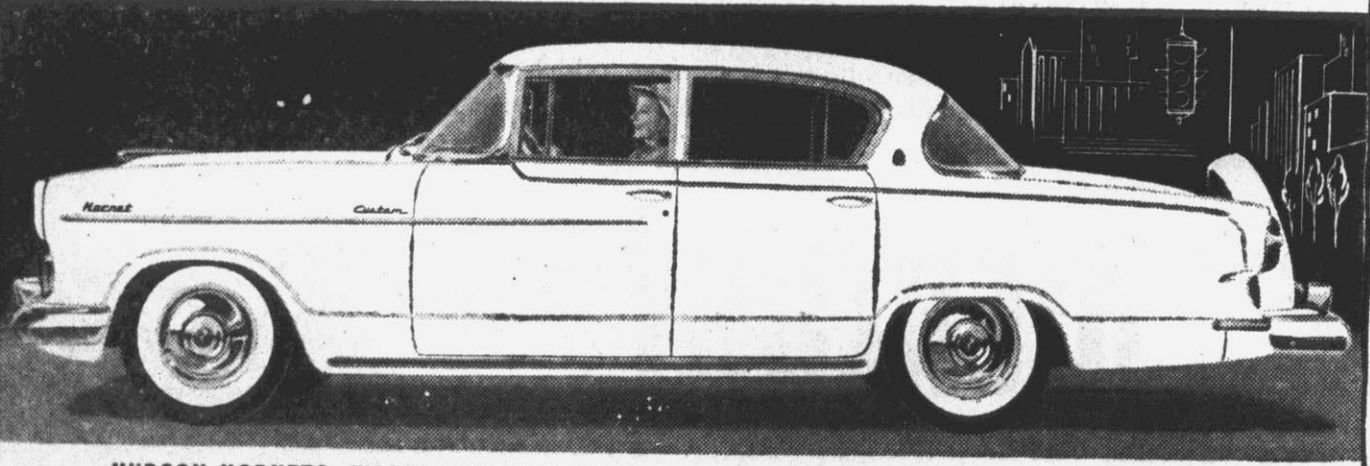

Wet weather continued during the night over the Great Plains from Texas north to Nebraska. Heaviest rain fell in Nebraska and western Kansas, with more than 1 1/2 inches at Dodge City, Kan. A heavy downpour struck 30 miles north of Lubbock, Tex., and dumped an unofficial 6 inches of rain.

Hail and tornado winds hit areas in Texas and Kansas yesterday but no injuries were reported. Damage was light.

Only other wet spots early today were in the Southeast, which reported scattered showers, and in the Central Plateau region, where light rain fell.

Churchill Invades Unfriendly Area

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill goes electioneering tomorrow in a district that holds bitter memories for him. He will speak for the Conservative party in Industrial East Walthamstow. Twice in previous years the people in that Labor party stronghold booed him into silence. Clement Attlee, former labor prime minister represents West Walthamstow in Parliament. Laborite Harry Wallace represents the eastern district. Churchill went to Walthamstow in the 1945 general election, when his international prestige had never been higher. The crowd howled him down. It was pretty much the same story back in 1923. Then a Liberal, Churchill went to Walthamstow to speak in support of another Liberal candidate. He was mobbed. Said the Walthamstow Guardian: "Not only was there a wild rush at the distinguished statesman, but the air was rent with blasphemy, oaths and groans. Mr. Churchill was hustled into his car by police, who formed a protecting cordon around him." The paper said police discovered 500 forget tickets, printed by a pressure group who hoped to break up Churchill's meeting. Now at 80, Churchill ventures into Walthamstow again. He will speak in support of a Conservative John Harvey.

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Summer

SYNOPSIS
A quarrel with his girl, Christie Toland, had sent Kerry Riordan from the Broken Spur ranch into town on a spree that had lasted for days and brought him back to the ranch minus funds and in debt. To face "the music" with his tough, but generous benefactor, Rob Mallory, who denounces him roundly as a fool, pointing out to him that the earthy little hester girl, Ella Dawson, with whom he, Kerry, had been consorting, is "poison."

CHAPTER THREE
Kerry and Christie had quarreled often and stormily. More than once he'd ridden away from Broken Spur swearing in his own mind that he'd never come back. There'd always been plenty of women, who either for the sake of his blue eyes and reckless grin or because he'd some day be the boss of Broken Spur, had been ready to help him forget Christie. Only it couldn't be done. The feel of her eyes was always deep inside him, taking the taste out of other women's kisses. Sooner or later he'd always been the one to give in. Never once had she put out the first hand to help him.

This time, though, the quarrel had gone deeper. He'd been urging her to marry him and she'd demanded that he prove he could amount to something first. His cheeks burned as he remembered the things she'd said about him. Some of them might have been justified, but they hadn't out any the less for that. And the ranking hurt to his man's pride had made him resolve savagely that, this time she'd be the one to climb down.

As he rode toward her, he kept asking himself if he shouldn't have waited for some other definite sign from her. But the nearer he came to her, the more surely he felt that he wanted her.

He came in sight of the ranch-house. Yes, there was Christie in the hammock. His eyes caught the gleam of the sunlight on her hair. And she wasn't in her working clothes. She had on a blue dress, the color of the one she'd worn to the dance that night.

The eagerness that had put spurs to his horse met sudden check as he saw that she wasn't alone. There was a man with her, a stranger.

He slowed his horse to a walk. When he reached the steps and lighted the came forward to meet him.

"Hello, Kerry. Come up and sit down." Her voice was welcoming—as it would have been for any visitor. But he felt her eyes taking in the good clothes he'd put on to come visiting in, and the look in them made him wish he were wearing Levis and a flannel shirt.

"Wayne, I'd like you to meet another one of your neighbors, Kerry Riordan. Kerry, this is Wayne Cameron. He's just bought Double Diamond."

Kerry looked at the stranger with surprise and quick curiosity. Double Diamond was a scrubby little patch of range that was more rocks than grass. An eccentric old coddger named Lute Marble had run a few bony cows there, making just enough to keep him in grub and whiskey. When the old man had died without heirs a year or so ago, it had been taken for granted his place would be left to the gophers and coyotes. Kerry hadn't heard anything of his being sold and he wondered what sort of greenhorn had been bamboozled into laying out money for the worthless spread. As he looked at the new owner, he wondered still more.

Wayne Cameron didn't look like a greenhorn, or like a man who'd be apt to buy a lame horse. He might be about thirty, tall and spare, with saddle-muscles on his rawboned frame, and a horseman's stance. He had sandy hair and fair skin burned red over his high cheekbones. He was good-looking, in a lean angular fashion, and his smile as he shook Kerry's offered hand was pleasant, except that it didn't seem to touch his eyes. Those eyes were a light grey, like skim-ice on a pond in winter, and they were, it struck Kerry suddenly, the hardest, coldest eyes he'd ever seen.

They all sat down and Cameron asked easily, "What's your outfit, Riordan?"

"Broken Spur," Kerry answered, and saw a flame of interest kindle in the ice-grey eyes.

"You work for Mallory?"

"Not exactly," Kerry replied with a wry grin. At Cameron's inquiring lift of eyebrows, he explained. "My folks both died on the way to California when I was just a little kid—my mother not far from here. We'd got separated from the wagon-train we were with. Rob happened to be the first one who came by and found me. He brought me home with him till he could send me back where I belonged. Only I didn't have anybody for him to send me back to, so I'm still here."

"I've been hearin' about Rob Mallory most of my life," Cameron observed. "He must be quite a man."

"He is," Kerry agreed. You could say that with more meanings than one; anyway, his feelings about Rob were no business of this cold-eyed stranger.

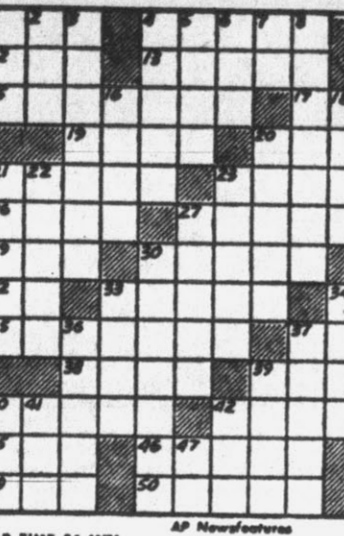

"I'd like to meet him."

"You're likely to, if you stick around."

"I intend to stick around," Cam-

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—The stock market advanced smartly today with all-arcrafts showing some vigor. In the early afternoon prices were up 1 to 3 points in many departments. Losses were small.

Despite the rise in prices, business was maintained at a modest pace of around two million shares for the day. That compares with 1,900,000 shares traded in yesterday's slightly lower market.

The market was down sharply Monday and was off slightly yesterday when a mid-session recovery movement faded away. Today at the start, prices were higher, especially in all-arcrafts. All major divisions, however, did well including steels, motors, rubbers, chemicals, railroads, and oils.

Seven-Year-Old Loses Hand; Is Said Doing Well

ROBERSONVILLE—A seven-year-old local child is said to be doing well in a Rocky Mount hospital after having a hand amputated last week.

The child, Bill Ferrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ferrell, was severely burned last April 27 when he crawled under a wire fence surrounding the power station and touched a high tension wire.

The youngster was thrown to the ground in an unconscious condition.

Eidon Burgess, who was working in his garden nearby, ran to the boy and applied artificial respiration. When the youngster began breathing he was rushed to Ward Clinic for first aid and then taken by ambulance to Rocky Mount where he remains in Park View Hospital.

Young Ferrell received a burned scalp and other injuries. Hospital authorities said this morning that the child's right hand was amputated last Saturday. They said he is doing well now and is able to have visitors.

I GIVE UP—Guinn Leachman, an escapee from the Dayton State Hospital, sits on the roof of his house at Dayton with hands up after being driven out by tear gas. He escaped from the hospital and returned to his home to try to find his wife. Leachman held as prisoners for an hour James Wilburn, 22, his wife, Vivian, 30, and their infant daughter who live in an upstairs apartment. Police said he had eight guns with him. (AP Wirephoto)

President, saying: "I think now one can say that what happened (with respect to Germany and Austria) may really mark a turning point in the tide of history." While the broadcast was aimed primarily at the American people, it was carried to all parts of the world, in many translations, by the government's Voice of America radio network.

The broadcast was the first television program from the President's oval office. Eisenhower sat behind his desk. Dulles sat on his right. On his left was a group of high government officials. Aides said Dulles and the President were no makeup.

The occasion was Dulles' return from Paris and Vienna. In a historic 10-day period he had participated in bringing West Germany into the North Atlantic Alliance, in signing an Austrian treaty, in working out a better understanding with France on support of an independent government in Viet Nam and in receiving from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Russia's acceptance of a bid from the Western Powers for a top-level Big Four meeting.

One of the great moments of the week, he said, came when he saw representatives of France and Germany sitting side by side as Allies at the NATO table in Paris. "You felt a new page had been opened on European history," he told the President, "and the vision which so many people had for so many years of a unified Europe had actually started to come to pass."

MORE
In the same vein of acclaiming a triumph for the West, Dulles spoke of the Austrian Treaty signing. He said that when the treaty provisions are carried out it will be "the first time that a segment of the Red army will have turned around and started to go back." Dulles said the Western world could not be quite sure why the treaty "except we can be quite sure Russians agreed to pull out of Austria that the policies of strength and firmness which we are adopting with other free countries in Europe, are beginning to pay off."

But when he came to talk about the prospective Big Four meeting, Dulles spoke of the perils of too great expectation. He said he was speaking, not so much to the American people as to peoples in other lands.

Sen. George commented that Dulles seemed "a bit overcautious" and gave "an indication of timidity" not entirely warranted. Dulles, he said, "might well have disclosed more determination to approach these problems in a spirit of faith."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said, on the other hand, he was glad the secretary "emphasized that the top-level conference will not be one to resolve problems but to identify the problems that exist and the procedure to be taken in trying to solve them."

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said Dulles' talk "shows the need for the United States to have a much more specific program for meeting the shift in Russian strategy in Europe." Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), said he hopes the administration is not approaching Big Four talks in an attitude of fear.

Says Integration Should Be Slow

BILOXI, Miss.—A Mississippi editor who has criticized the state's efforts to retain segregation predicted last night that integration would "have to come on a very gradual basis."

Hodding Carter, Pulitzer prize-winning editor of the Greenville Daily Democrat-Times, told the Mississippi Bankers Assn. that there would be only "taken integration in the South in the foreseeable future."

Carter was voted a "liar" by the state House of Representatives after he wrote a magazine article recently criticizing citizens councils formed to help retain segregation. Carter told those who voted against him: "Go to hell."

Carter said he has never welcomed integration, which he said must come, particularly in heavy Negro areas, by degrees.

He said if the nation can adjust to living with the H-bomb, the South "certainly can adjust to the decision" by the U.S. Supreme Court banning public school segregation.

Robinson Union Graduates Hear Rev. Faulkner

WINTERVILLE—The Rev. R. F. Faulkner, presiding elder of the Washington District of the North Carolina Conference, A. M. E. Zion Church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon Sunday to Robinson Union High School graduates.

Faulkner's subject was "Building a Greater Life." He challenged the seniors to be concerned about others, and to discard selfishness and greed. He noted that "Earthly wisdom is not enough to face life with," and "A God-possessed soul is a satisfied soul."

Frank Wilson, Jr., instructor at Eppes High School in Greenville, introduced the minister. Scripture and invocation were given by the Rev. H. B. Evans. Special music was rendered by the high school choral club.

City Council ...

Street along the north side of Fourteenth Street.

A marked crossing would be set up in front of the new elementary school where pupils could cross the road.

Also discussed was the opening of a new street along the side of the school to give access to the area from Fourteenth Street.

Cost of that project is estimated at $2,000 and the city will bear the cost.

Permission for the street to cross the Norfolk Southern railroad has been obtained and an opening has been left in the recently installed curbing on Fourteenth Street for the new thoroughfare to enter that street.

Political Crisis Strikes Holland

THE HAGUE, Netherlands—The first Dutch government crisis in nearly three years sent Queen Juliana searching today for a political leader to form a new cabinet.

Premier Willem Drees submitted his coalition Cabinet's resignation last night after losing a vote of confidence in Parliament's lower chamber 50-48. The vote came on a government bill to raise rent ceilings 10 per cent on about one third of Holland's rented homes.

Because the rent issue is a major point of controversy between the country's two major parties, the Catholics and Drees' Laborites, political circles predicted a long crisis. Each party has 30 of the 100 seats in the second chamber.

The Laborites deserted Drees to vote solidly against the rent bill. They said they would agree to it only if wages were raised simultaneously.
