Drought Area Of Southwest Gets Too Much Rain; Rivers Flooding

Thirty-Hour Rain Still Pouring; Families Evacuated From Homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. The Purgatoire River today spread over Trinidad Colo. as cries of "too much rain" came from widespread drought areas of the Southwest where dust storms raged only a fortnight ago.

Both business and residential sections were inundated by the flooding river which bisects the railroad center just to the north of Raton Pass, N.M. This is in an area from which some of the worst dust storms of the year have blown across the Southwest.

Rain continued after more than 30 hours at Trinidad. The river, which runs east-west through the city flooded the mainline tracks of the Santa Fe Railroad, knocked out phone lines and threatened water mains on the city's west edge.

Some 75 National Guardsmen evacuated families from the threatened area. Schools were closed. Water was two feet deep in the railroad station. The Trinidad Junior College gymnasium and a Catholic community center were turned into assembling areas for the victims.

Highways were closed to the west and south of Trinidad and near Heehne, a farming community to the east.

Meanwhile, flood threats around three Texas cities subsided almost as quickly as the sudden cloud-bursts that caused them. Police minimized the danger to the Texas communities, although residents were evacuated from low areas, highways and railroads washed out, and many areas flooded.

At Ballinger, Brazos in Eastland Tex., they said "It looks like we've got it whipped. It looks now as if we'll make it." It was still raining at Eastland where more than 11 inches of rain fell in 12 hours.

Sharp Increase In New Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp increase in new cases of polio was reported today by the U.S. Public Health Service. For the week ended May 14, new cases totaled 206—up 30 per cent over the previous week.

The number compares with 151 in the second week of May last year and an average of 116 for the last five years.

However, for the first time since the antipolio vaccination program ran into difficulty the number of polio cases among inoculated persons remained unchanged at 77 confirmed cases.

City Parking Lot Work Sees Progress

Work on the new municipal parking lot being constructed at the corner of Fifth and Washington Streets is currently underway. City work crews have graded the area, installed curbing around the outer edges and placed meter posts in a concrete sidewalk along the back side of the lot. A concrete walkway is to be poured in the center of the lot with meter posts set in a sewer line area being extended to the rear of the lot for future installation of rest room facilities. Above is pictured an overall view of the new parking area. When the preliminary work is completed the entire lot will be black topped. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor.)

House And Senate Conferes Set On Compromise Revenue Bill Is Agreed On

RALEIGH (AP)—Senate and House conferees today agreed on a revenue measure to raise about $9,768,000 a year in new revenues.

The conferees—five senators and five House members—agreed to recommend to the two houses approval of the tax bill as passed by the Senate with one major change.

The conferees agreed on a compromise calling for a one-cent-per-bottle increase in the tax on beer instead of a two-cent increase as voted by the Senate.

Search Pushed For Gunmen Who Held Up Bank

HOT SPRINGS, N.C. (AP)—The search continued today for two nervous car-switching gunmen who held up the Hot Springs branch of the Citizens Bank of Marshall and escaped with $19,500 yesterday morning.

It was North Carolina's third bank holdup of the year. Authorities said the pair escaped in a 1951 Oldsmobile stolen in Knoxville, Tenn. The car was found abandoned about a mile and a half along with a pair of gloves near the vehicle.

Police believe the men got away in the Oldsmobile, switched to a Pontiac and then a Ford.

Bank Manager Joe Tilson described the men as "rough looking customers," one of whom pointed a gun at him that "looked as big as a sewer pipe."

Tilson and a customer were forced into a walk-in vault. They emerged unharmed about five minutes after the bandits had fled this small Madison County town near the Tennessee border.

Both the armed men were described as being in their 30s.

Earlier this year a pink-gloved gunman held up the New River branch of the First National Bank of Jacksonville of $28,872. Later the same month, April, two armed men made off with $8,996 at the Waxhaw Banking & Trust Co. No arrests have been made in the robberies.

ence report will have to be adopted on three readings in each house on separate days. Under this House could complete work on it Saturday and the Senate could wind up its consideration on the measure on Wednesday.

The House planned to meet at 12:05 a.m. Saturday to give the conference report its final House reading.

The House conferees agreed to recommend that the House approve other amendments made by the Senate in the tax bill.

These included the Senate's action in: (1) eliminating a 25 per cent increase in business license taxes, (2) eliminating a 3 per cent levy on newspaper sales, (3) eliminating a $2,000 head of household income tax deduction for married women who are breadwinners for their families and (4) striking out a tax increase for nonprofit hospitalization insurance organizations.

The conferees held their first meeting yesterday afternoon and quickly reached agreement on the beer tax compromise. The House conferees agreed to concur in the other Senate changes in the tax measure at a meeting they held this morning after being closeted with Gov. Hodges.

At their first meetings yesterday the House conferees indicated they felt the newspaper levy and the head of household exemptions should be retained.

Sen. Robert Morgan of Cleveland said that in his opinion the Senate would not pass a circulation tax. The proposed levy would bring in $800,000 per year.

Rep. B. T. Falls of Cleveland, Tom Turner of Lenoir, Tom Turner of Guilford and A. C. Edwards of Greene said they were in favor of retaining the tax on newspaper circulation.

Falls said a pending bill would eliminate income tax discriminations against corporations chartered in North Carolina as compared with firms chartered in other states. Enactment of the bill would result in a reduction of revenue, Falls said, adding: "That would be the only reason I'd want to see a newspaper tax go back in."

Rodman agreed that the difference in income taxes between domestic and foreign corporations is "an gross an injustice as exists in the state."

House Committee Sharply Trims Requests Subsidies Heavily Slashed

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST (D-Ga.), the committee called for "more careful verification" of claims for airline subsidies and "close scrutiny" of employment practices and costs of subsidized ship lines. It said this should result in "substantial reduction" in future subsidy payments.

For subsidy payments to air carriers, the committee recommended a 40 million dollar cut. This is $8,900,000 less than was appropriated this year and 23 million less than the Civil Aeronautics Board had asked.

The administration's request for 115 million dollars for subsidies to ship lines to enable them to compete with foreign shipping was trimmed to 90 million, a cut of 25 million below this year's appropriation.

The Bureau of Public Roads was allotted 600 million of the 680 million it sought for the federal-aid highway program. The committee said the reduced sum would finance all commitments without slowing down the program.

This action came at a time when the Eisenhower administration is urging a big stepup in highway aid.

Forest highway program funds were cut from the 25 million requested to 18 1/2 million.

For the Inter-American Highway, a joint United States-Latin American project, the committee recommended eight million, a cut of $6,000,000 from budget requests which contemplate completion of the highway in three years. The committee said it lacked basic legislative authority to provide the larger amount. It said it favors completion of the road "within a reasonable time."

For federal grants for local airport construction, the committee added nine million dollars to the administration's request for 11 million. It said there is need for "more adequate airports throughout the country." It recommended that the formula for distribution of the money be revised to give consideration to smaller airports.

Local communities have pledged more than 100 million dollars which have not yet been matched by the government, the committee said. Many cities are paying interest on airport bonds issued several years ago.

Two barometers of opinion favor Conservatives

LONDON (AP)—Two barometers of political popularity—public opinion polls and the stock market—indicated today that many Britons believe Prime Minister Eden's Conservative party will win the May 26 general elections.

Opposition Laborites remained unconvinced. The Socialist candidates and party workers pointed out that "elections are won in the ballot boxes and not by the black type of Conservative newspapers."

The public opinion polls—often remarkably accurate in the past—showed a mounting Tory tide. The poll takers predicted such a trend, if it continued and was realized on election day, would boost the Conservative margin in the House of Commons to anywhere from 30 to 100 seats.

The stock exchange reacted to the Conservative prospects with an upward surge yesterday, particularly in the industrial list.

Another Fire At Atlantic Beach

ATLANTIC BEACH, N.C. (AP)—A woman was burned to death in a fire that destroyed two cottages and damaged two others in this resort community early today.

Mayor Alfred Cooper identified the woman as Miss Elisabeth Cooper, 61, of Wilson.

Cooper said the blaze, estimated by him to have done $25,000 damage, began in Miss Suggs' cottage where she apparently was staying alone. It was believed to have originated in an electric blanket.

The fire started about 2 a.m. and brought under control in less than an hour.

Firefighting units from Morehead City, Beaufort and Newport along with those of the Coast Guard answered the alarm.

Miss Suggs' cottage and another reportedly owned by Mrs. Bruce Hadley of Greenville were destroyed. Fire last March 31 destroyed the newly remodeled Ocean King Hotel and several business establishments here, doing damage estimated at more than a half million dollars.

East Germans Said Fearing New Revolt

BONN, Germany (AP)—Communist leaders fear a new anti-Red revolt—similar to the June 17, 1953, uprising—may flare in East Germany, according to West German Intelligence authorities.

The East German Communist regime has ordered strict new security measures in an effort to keep public discontent under control. These sources said today.

Worsening economic conditions, the forthcoming Big Four conference to discuss German unity and signing of the independence treaty to free Austria from foreign occupation have increased unrest among East Germany's 18 million people, they said.

Russia's willingness to pull out of Austria and the projected summer meeting of the Big Four chiefs of state were reported to have created a near-panic among the East German Reds.

They fear Moscow may be preparing to sacrifice them as they feel it sacrificed the Austrian Communists by signing the Vienna treaty these informants said.

Reports compiled by intelligence officials here tell of an increase in strikes and sabotage in East Germany. Among these accounts: Workers at the big pottery factory in Rheinsberg have struck twice over food shortages. The first strike ended when the police turned over five truckloads of bread and margarine to the workers. The second was broken by force.

At the University of Griefswald, 280 students were arrested when they demonstrated against an order converting the medical school into a military medical school. Only students who agree to enter the East German army as physicians are now admitted.

To counteract the unrest, East German leaders have taken these steps: 1. Armed Communist workers brigades. 2. Stepped up a drive to enlist trusted Communists in the East German army. 3. Strengthened the special security police. 4. Started closer checks on the movements of East Germans and of communists.

Girls Sewing Own Graduation Dresses

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor With more than five million young girls caught up in the home sewing boom, top honors this spring will go to the girl who makes her own graduation dress.

TOP HONORS... Long torso graduation dress in white eyelet, easy to make.

Smart girls will pick a simple pattern for this all-important dress which may do duty all summer for parties and dates. Local sewing center experts suggest a pattern with a minimum number of major pattern pieces. One of the simplest is a standard pattern with only four major pieces.

The little cap sleeves of this graduation dress are cut in one with the bodice; the neckline is a straight-across bateau softened by little shoulder bows. The gathered skirt starts at the hipline, translating the Parisian long-torso look into youthful terms.

Correct waistline fit is important in a dress with a long fitted bodice, and for this purpose a pattern with rulers printed on the pattern pieces is helpful. Long darts fore and aft are easily adjusted to achieve a smooth, slender line from hip to bust.

The zipper foot attachment on your sewing machine will simplify sewing in the long side zipper. White eyelet embroidered batiste is a good fabric choice for a graduation dress, and it may be varied for later party wear.

BETHEL—The Junior Class of Bethel High School were hosts at a banquet and prom at the Moose Lodge in Greenville on Friday night, May 13th.

The large recreation hall was made festive for the occasion with decorated balloons colorful spring flowers and favors suggestive of the night club motif.

Toastmaster for the night was William Taylor and after dinner speaker was Mr. John Wilkinson of Washington, N. C. A delightful revue typical of a Night Club Revue was rendered by Mrs. Ned Kinsaul of Greenville and by Miss Grace Miller, Miss Pat Hodges, Miss Phyllis Corbett and Mrs. John Shackford of Farmville and Miss Caroline Wright of Bethel.

At the end of a delicious turkey dinner, Mr. Walter Latham, principal of Bethel School, introduced the special guests.

Guests, other than the Juniors and Seniors and their escorts and the faculty, were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Conley of Greenville, Mr. Harry Biggs of Williamston, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Rev. and Mrs. Carlos Womack, Rev. and Mrs. Tom Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Briley, and Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Garrenton of Bethel.

Following the banquet, dancing was enjoyed. An intermission party was held at 11:00 for everyone attending the dance.

Education Committee Introduced Supt. J. H. Rose who spoke on "Financing Schools."

Each year 31,000 additional children are enrolled in North Carolina. In Greenville there is a large increase in enrollment in negro schools. The cost of operating local schools is $606,000 a year. Of that amount the state provides over $500,000. The remainder is from county and local funds. North Carolina is average in the per capita out put of $180. Mr. Rose spoke of the impossible task of providing building for future enrollment. There followed a discussion period.

A.A.U.W. adjourned until September.

Bridge Clubs In Bethel Meet

BETHEL—The Sallie Tucker Book Club met one day last week at the Hilda Country Club with Mrs. W. R. Hunnicutt as hostess. The hall was very beautifully decorated for the occasion with pastel shades of mixed early summer flowers.

The appointed table was centered with an original bouquet of red roses. The luncheon, which was served buffet style, was a three-course broiled chicken one and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Wadie Ward presented a most informative and entertaining program on the fabulous Fifth Avenue in New York City.

The members who attended were Mesdames Ward, Eugene Carson, Irvin Taylor, Ralph Carson, Alton Carson, X. E. Manning, Joe Butterworth, Linwood Gurganus and Clifton Everett.

Mrs. Leighton Blount Jr. was a gracious hostess to her bridge club and invited guests when she entertained at her cottage at Broad Creek.

The group arrived before lunch and enjoyed hot coffee and two tables were placed for bridge. After two progressions of play, Mrs. Curtis Martin received high score. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Tom Andrews Jr., served a delicious lunch buffet style. The menu consisted of deviled crab with tartar sauce, baked Idaho potatoes, spinach casserole, tomato aspic salad, hot poppy seed rolls and iced tea. Lemon tarts were passed for dessert.

Those who attended were Mesdames Andrews, C. B. Rowlette Jr., W. A. Moody, Van Taylor Jr., W. C. Whitehurst Jr., Dave Speir, Robert Weeks, Bob Michaels and P. Curtis Martin.

Mrs. Ralph Carson was hostess to her bridge club at her home on Thursday night. Lovely arrangements of mixed flowers were used in the entrance hall and living room.

After several progressions of play, Mrs. Van Taylor Jr. was the winner of the high score prize.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames Taylor, James Crandell, F. F. Pollard, William Andrews, Alton Whitehurst, Frank Whitehurst and Dennis Hardy.

Mrs. Frank Copeland Presents Program At Breakfast Club Meet

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club met Saturday morning, May 14, at the Old Towne Inn in regular session. The president, Mrs. Thomas Coghill, presided.

Following the business session, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Frank Copeland, educational chairwoman, who very ably taught two lessons from the Educational Manual. The lesson was in a form of discussion from members. Each member gave ways in which their firms employed promotional sales ideas, and how they work successfully to increase business. Also, some of the members brought out the fact that in their work they had used credit ideas promoted by the Breakfast Club to increase the efficiency of their respective departments. A great many ideas and helpful hints were presented in Mrs. Copeland's lesson.

Mrs. Coghill reminded members of the State Convention to convene in Asheville May 22, 23 and 24. This will be a joint convention of the Breakfast Clubs of North Carolina and the Merchants Association. Members from the local club planning to attend are Mrs. Frank Copeland and Mrs. Cora Powell.

Tests Prove Foam Cleans Rugs Brighter

Naturally you want your carpeting and upholstery to look bright after you have worked to clean it.

Make this test: clean the carpeting in one room with the new triple strength Fina Foam and another room with any other type of rug cleaner. Let the results of this test be your guide. Nothing cleans rugs like foam and no foam like the new Fina Foam. Now easily applied with a long handle brush—no more getting down on hands and knees.

AAUW Holds Last Yearly Meeting

The American Association of University Women met May 16 in the Mammie E. Jenkins Alumni House for the final meeting of the year. A social hour with Mrs. Estelle Streph, Mrs. Clyde Hollowell and Dr. Vera McKay as hostesses, preceded the business session which was presided over by the president, Mrs. D. S. Spain.

There was a discussion of representation at the national A.A.U.W. meeting in Los Angeles in the summer. Since one person cannot represent two organizations Miss Inez Schulte, who will be in California, may represent the college on the local branch. It was voted to write Dr. Messick that if the college could find no other representative we would be glad to have Miss Schulte represent the college.

Mrs. George Perry reported two hundred dollars was added to the Scholarship Fund by the proceeds of the Faculty play.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church celebrated their thirteenth anniversary Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. S. Harden on East Ninth Street. After a brief business meeting, presided over by Mrs. N. O. Warren, the program was turned over to Mrs. C. L. Porter, secretary of literature. The subject for the afternoon was Brazil. After the program the guests were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in green and white. In the center of the table was a large birthday cake with thirteen candles. Ice tea and sandwiches were served after which the birthday cake was cut by Mrs. J. F. Brinkley Sr. whose birthday was a few days previous.

Bridge Luncheon Honors Bride-Elect

Mrs. Jasper Tripp honored Miss Cora Pauline Moore on Tuesday at a beautifully appointed bridge luncheon at her lovely new home on Long Meadow Road.

The home was artistically decorated in spring flowers. Red roses, purple and white larkspur predominated in the living room. The tables were centered with bud vases of red roses and fern.

The honoree was presented a corsage of red roses.

Upon arrival the guests were served iced drinks from the dining table which had an attractive arrangement of white stock and delphinium as a centerpiece.

A delicious three course luncheon was served, after which three spirited progressions of bridge followed. Coca Cola's were served during play.

Mrs. F. W. A. Mills was given a miniature crystal tumbler for high score. Mrs. Ledyard Ross received lovely earrings for low.

Miss Moore was presented crystal in her chosen pattern.

Those present were Miss Moore, Mesdames Herbert Lee, Bill Corbett, George Garrett, Julian White, Ledyard Ross, F. W. A. Mills and Sybil Bassart of Greenville, Mesdames Bill Stroud, E. Joe Whitaker, W. W. Salisbury, Thelbert Worthington, Joe Whitaker, Sr., and R. L. Moore of Ayden.

Now It Is A Give-And-Take Affair

Although the end of the long 1955 General Assembly is in sight, adjournment will be postponed a few more days now that the House has refused to accept the Senate amendments to the all-important finance bill.

The measure, which sets forth new taxes for the state, has now gone to a conference committee where a 10-man committee will have to compromise the differences between the House and Senate versions of new taxes. How long it will take for the compromise to be reached is anyone's guess. Maybe a few hours; maybe several days.

Ready And Waiting For Your Enjoyment

Warmer days and bright summer sun brings to the surface one's natural desire to enjoy the out-of-doors.

For some it means painting the boat that's been neglected for months, and searching the hall closet for the fishing tackle which was abandoned last fall. For others it means manuring the front lawn, planting flowers and putting around in the yard.

We have entered the season of picnics, tennis, baseball, and spending more of our day out of doors.

For Greenville citizens, the city parks offer a wide variety of recreation activities. Although the organized recreation program of the city emphasizes activities for youngsters, the city's playgrounds and parks offer entertainment and enjoyment for adults as well. Those of us who can't make the age limit for Little League baseball can certainly enjoy the sport as spectators. The picnic facilities at Elm Street Park and Green Springs Park offer the family an ideal location for the old standby of hotdogs and hamburgers over an open fire, with a few scorched marshmallows for dessert.

The great deal of time and effort which have gone into the development of recreation areas and parks in the city reach fruition only if those facilities are enjoyed by the people of Greenville. The facilities are ready and waiting. Enjoy them this summer.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
WHEELS
"He's a big wheel!"
The current slang is apt, meaning an important person, a leading executive. And the ambition to become a big wheel is just as prevalent under that name as under the thousand and one other expressions man has found to describe those in exalted places. Look around you at the people who are reviving fast and furious in their efforts to deserve the title.

But if you want to be a really important big wheel, you ought to study machinery. For one thing, the big wheels are not likely to be turning fast; they move slowly, and let the little wheels gear to them do the rapid flying. The big ones move deliberately and powerfully.

And the big wheels are the strong ones, made of heavy metal to withstand heavy strains. They are the solid, dependable wheels that keep turning and do not crack when the load gets heavy.

In some machinery the big wheel is the flywheel—the wheel whose weight and momentum keeps the machinery going. As long as the flywheel revolves, the whole machine will function; without a flywheel, it would stop after a revolution or two.

So if you are on your way to becoming a big wheel, don't overlook your real purpose. Concentrate on the qualities that make the big wheel really valuable to the rest of the machine.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's chain-of-command system of operating the Federal Government has been subjected to serious and solemn criticism because it contributed to botching the handling of two of the most important problems of the day—manufacture and distribution of the Salk vaccine, and the application of atomic energy to peacetime use at home and abroad.

The Federal failure with respect to the anti-polio vaccine could have been prevented, it is now admitted, if the Administration had assumed control over this medical discovery as soon as Dr. Jonas Salk and his associates concluded on the basis of last year's tests that they had virtually perfected their product. This was the program adopted in Canada, with none of the delays and difficulties experienced in this country.

THEATRICAL BUILD-UP—Instead, Washington stood supinely aside and permitted a theatrical build-up and ballyhoo which raised hopes that the original Francis-Salk report did not justify. Because of the spectacular publicity for which both public and private authorities were responsible, the American people did not read the "fine print" of the scientists' conclusions.

RESULTS OF POLICY—Washington's deliberate policy of aloofness had these results:
(1) There was no assurance that there would be a sufficient supply for the most needy, who are the children in the first and second grades of school.

(2) There was no guarantee that the vaccine had been so thoroughly tested that it would be foolproof, save for the 30 or 40 nonprotective percentage conceded by the scientists.

(3) As the delays and setbacks prove, public and private authorities had not successfully bridged the gap between laboratory experiments and mass production by the drug companies.

EXPLANATION FOR OFFICIAL INDIFFERENCE—The off-the-record explanation for the Administration's official indifference is Washington's

At any rate, the failure of the House to accept the Senate amendments probably obviated the possibility of legislative adjournment by Sunday which state officials last week had hoped for. Already having attained the distinction of being the second longest legislative session in modern times, the 1955 session may set a new record by drawing out longer than even the 1931 session.

Even with the legislators anxious to wind up this year's business, it was obvious from the House action in voting down Senate amendments to the tax bill that the House is determined to get a bill as nearly as possible to its liking before approving it. This factor could make compromise difficult in the joint committee. Senators already have shown they did not care for several new tax measures approved by the House.

In our estimation the Senate version of new taxes is most palatable of the two proposals. We trust members of the conference committee are able to iron out the differences without the Senate members having to do all the "giving" in what has now become a give and take proposition.

A Crop Doesn't Grow By Itself

Any farmer will tell you good soil alone is not enough to produce a good crop. In addition to the good land (the natural resource) it takes a great deal of time and sweat and also money for operating expenses to produce a good crop.

Whether the desired result is a crop of tobacco or a new crop of industries which mean more jobs, the three basic items—natural resources, sweat and money—are essential to produce it.

Just as Pitt farmers are producing fine agricultural crops, the people of the county can produce a good crop of industry if they set their minds to it. The county need not depend entirely upon enticing industry from other areas to locate in our midst. Pitt has a great deal of potential for producing more home-grown industry. The county has not one but several progressive towns which are carrying on an active industrial promotion program. The county, relying on a predominately agricultural economy, should offer a number of opportunities for the development of processing plants and other industries related to agriculture.

Those factors, coupled with the large manpower pool Pitt has, should furnish the "natural resources" necessary for more home grown industry. We believe the capital necessary for financing sound local ventures can be found within the borders of Pitt. That leaves one basic item needed: the work and sweat necessary to grow a crop of new industry.

From the growing interest which is being shown throughout the county in increased industrial development, The Reflector believes efforts on the part of individual citizens will be forthcoming if a sound plan is presented.

preference for private enterprise versus Federal interference, for private versus Federal controls, and the fear of creating a Governmental bureaucracy in the medical field.

Canada, however, handled the problem from a Federal level without encountering any of these dangers. The nonprofit vaccine was bought up by Ottawa, with the provinces sharing half of the cost. Parents obtained it at a minimum price, whereas American manufacturing firms count on $20,000,000 in profits.

Last fall, the Canadian Government arranged for production of the vaccine by two nonprofit university laboratories. It set up an effective system of distribution and control, in co-operation with provincial authorities and the Canadian Medical Association, although adhering to a "voluntary basis."

Not a single Canadian child inoculated with Canadian-made vaccine has contracted polio.

ATOMS FOR PEACE AGREEMENTS—Washington has announced the signing of an agreement with Turkey for export of atoms for peace, and is negotiating similar arrangements with six other countries. Ike has also proposed a world-wide cruise of an atomic peace ship. Both moves are directed against the Russians.

But they are only gestures. The loan of enriched uranium will simply permit foreign countries to begin experiments and research in application of radioactive isotopes to medicine, agriculture and industry. It will not meet their main requirement, which was described by Eisenhower in his atoms-for-peace address before the United Nations as "abundant electrical energy in power-starved areas of the world."

That is 20 years off at least.

Detailed study reveals that the atomic peace ship cannot begin its cruise for at least three or four years. It will be far more costly than estimated originally. It may stir envy, not friendship, and it is doubtful if Congress will appropriate the millions needed for the venture.

Somebody Told Me

The Honest Have To Look Out

Tuesday I mentioned the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce ladies' night, at which about $600 worth of prizes will be given away, plus a $50 used car. In order to be eligible for the drawing, the member's dues must be paid up.

Yesterday I asked Treasurer Bill Hudson if there had been any response "Are you kidding?" he said, "About 40 members in good standing called me to be sure they were paid up and about $200 in delinquent dues has come in."

Yesterday in a Greenville store I saw a man come in and ask for a 60-cent item. When it came to picking the item from a selection it didn't seem to matter which one. Then he said, "Give me a check on the West End Branch." The clerk aligned the check out for the customer. "How much should I make it for?"

What Other Editors Are Thinking

TOWARD SANITY IN MEN'S CLOTHES
Richmond Times-Dispatch
One of the best bits of press news was that report of the survey among business executives concerning the attire of office workers. Remembering last year's steaming, sweltering days, men will note with gratification that employers in medium-size and small communities in Virginia give the OK to open-neck, short-sleeved sport shirts. Regrettably, in the larger cities, where it gets just as hot, the bosses were less inclined to look favorably on this type of comfortable dress for suffering males.

The indefensible theory that a member of the stronger sex is not fully dressed without a hat took a blow from the business executives. A majority, though only a small majority, held that an exposed noggin is not offensive, even when its owner is calling on customers.

Textile Executive Reports New Awareness Overseas

By LYNN NISBET
RENAISSANCE — "Southern Europe and the Middle East are coming out of the post-war doldrums, are showing more recognition of responsibility for their own development and more appreciation for American aid in rehabilitation programs."

That is the opinion of J. Everett Jordan, top level textile executive and North Carolina member of the Democratic National Committee, who has just returned from a two months tour of France, Spain, Italy, Turkey, Egypt and other areas in the Mediterranean sector. He covered a good part of the same territory about two years ago. He reports significant changes in conditions and in popular sentiment since his previous visit.

He found less overt manifestation of the "Go home American!" attitude in France, Italy and Spain and more appreciation for military aid from the United States—although some places there was resentment that American aid was limited to military objectives and not enough attention given to industrial and social programs.

He was impressed by the small number of beggars and panhandlers in Asia Minor areas and Egypt. Some full time "beggars" and a lot of "souvenir sellers" still operate in Turkey, Egypt, Israel and other countries with apparent governmental connivance, but he found that in most instances contacts could be made with reputable bankers and tourist agencies to get essential services at rates comparable to those prevailing in the United States. Hotel meals at $8 to $10 a day with meals and automobiles with drivers at $3 to $5 an hour were available as contrasted with rate schedules three or four times that much a few years ago

"Ten dollars," the man said without hesitation.

The clerk made the check out, let the man sign, and reached for the phone. It was an embarrassing thing to do, but he checked with the West End Branch to see if the check was good. Other customers were in the store but the clerk didn't seem to let that bother him.

"No account" was the answer on the other end from the bank. The customer protested. "There must be some mistake. I have $84 in that bank." The bookkeeper at the bar repeated the fact that the man had no account.

"OK," the customer said. "Give me back the check." He handed the clerk back the item he had purchased.

That's when the clerk made a mistake. He should have kept the check and then called the police, issuing a bad check and getting change in return is stealing if anything is. Somehow it doesn't seem to carry the same rap; but it should.

The clerk later learned that this particular man was making a practice of passing bad checks and getting the change. Usually he was getting by with it. As the old expression goes, they should put him under the jail.

Not long ago there was a case of a couple with a baby in a push cart picking up items in local stores, later bringing them back for refunds.

Last night I had a call about the many flowers that are stolen from graves.

Let's face it. The honest have to watch the crooked to keep from being taken.

And I thank you.

a blow from the business executives. A majority, though only a small majority, held that an exposed noggin is not offensive, even when its owner is calling on customers.

Rolled-up sleeves on coatless male workers got the green light from most of the businessmen surveyed. Bermuda walking shorts were nixed, but that's all right, since few men have any desire yet to go to work with their bare knees exposed to the critical eyes of the public.

In some other sections of the nation, it is taken for granted that men will dress in keeping with the weather—within reason, of course. Here in the Old Dominion, the feeling that comfortable attire—particularly sports and even now for those who do not go through proper channels, TIPS — Government officials and private bankers in Egypt are trying to do something about the "evil" of gratuitous tips. American tourists like to throw their weight around, and Everett Jordan is no exception. He tells about one instance when he wanted to give a tip of a pound—approximately $2.80—to an Egyptian guide. A native banker asked him not to do it, because that represented about what the servant had earned in wages. Give him a dollar or a dollar and a half at most, urged the banker. He will be just as appreciative and just as happy and not so badly spoiled.

DOLLARS — It should not be understood, insists Jordan, that this change in attitude means the folks in Southern Europe and the Middle East are not interested in American dollars. A dollar bill is still a good passport in any country in that part of the world. He thinks it means that the government officials and the more intelligent business men there have realized that in the long range view more dollars will come if there is less disposition to "fleece" the travelers and business promoters at the first opportunity. To mix up some metaphors the idea seems to be that feeding the goose that lays the golden eggs is more sensible and profitable than to make a fast buck on first chance at the pocketbook of a visitor.

The United States must continue to help the other countries both in trade and in aid, but observations of Jordan on his recent trip convince him there will be more cooperation in the future, and that many areas may soon move out of the "backward country" designation. He was greatly impressed with

Worth Noting

GOVERNMENT SUFFERS FROM SPLIT PERSONALITY
The United States Government is not getting along with itself.

Since 1949, the Bureau of Customs has approved of the importation of Japanese sewing machine heads as long as they bore a gold colored medallion saying they were made in Japan.

Now the Federal Trade Commission has ruled that these markings are not enough, and has ordered The Standard Sewing Machine Corp. to stop selling machines unless they were more plainly marked.

And even the FTC is not getting along with itself. While three commissioners approved the orders, two dissented sharply and Commissioner Lowell B. Mason said the FTC was barging into the fields of the Customs Bureau, the Patent Office and the Department of Commerce.

Price Spiral Threat

By ELMER ROESSNER
There is a possibility—though not necessarily a probability—that the country will soon see another spiral of price rises.

Steel workers appear determined to gain another round of wage increases. They have indicated a willingness to strike for it. And the steel industry has adopted a policy of passing wage increases on to its customers. This would tend to increase the price of all things made of steel.

Auto workers, too, have indicated their willingness to strike for higher wages and, perhaps, a guaranteed annual wage some time in the future. Higher wages would be reflected in higher prices for cars. In fact, car buyers may have to meet two wage increases: in steel and auto building.

Important labor contracts come up for renewal in June and July in electronics manufacturing, shipping, ship building, brewing, textiles, furniture, farm machinery, aircraft and several other industries.

Wage increases granted in these fields will tend to boost them in others. While it is true that there are labor surpluses in some 26 markets, there are more in others. No matter how much statistical evidence of shortages exist, there are almost no surpluses of engineers, draftsmen, physicists, chemists or stenographers. These shortages, plus rises in other fields, will work to push up scales in other fields where skills are abundant.

In addition, prices have shown considerable strength in oil, cement, furniture and shoes.

On the other hand, the National Association of Purchasing Agents, while conceding the possibilities of a rise in steel prices, says that "It is difficult to see an imminent inflationary break-through." The association notes that, quicksilver, scrap iron, fats and oils and quite a few other commodities have slumped in price recently.

However, prices have fluctuated generally within a narrow range ever since the end of the Korean matter and some observers think a wide swing is overdue. If that is true, it might well be upward.

SAYS BETTER DISTRIBUTION COULD CUT HOUSING COSTS
If effective steps are taken to improve materials and distribution in the building construction field, the cost of houses could be reduced more than half and better homes built, Julius Stulman, president of Lumber Exchange Terminal, Inc., told the City College of New York's Economics Club.

Half of each tree is left in the woods or wasted in the mill, he said, adding "Still more lumber is wasted because of the type of standard cutting procedures in manufacturing the ultimate products."

He predicted that automation would bring a new concept in the lumber industry. "We will begin to look at lumber as a cell structure that can be treated chemically and electronically," he said. "The treated product may be a liquid or a powder. It may be poured into moulds from which will come chairs, tables, bookcases and other products."

TO RESEARCH PLANS
How to take guesswork out of advance planning by research is told in a new government book. It is "The Application of Operations Research to Industry" and is available for $1.75 from the Office of Technical Services, Commerce Dept., Washington 25, D.C.

All Adults Should Watch A Baby

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Every adult in the world ought to spend at least an hour a day baby watching.

Can't think of a better way to learn human nature, seeing a child struggle so desperately to become a grownup, you begin dimly to understand why grownups so often act like desperate children.

Their is no industry, pastime, or hobby—this is what you will— that kindles the spirit most often in baby watching. By nothing else gives you quite such a frightening insight into the passage of time.

Why, it seems only yesterday that "This is the phrase you find yourself using most often in baby watching. You leave a baby for a day or two, and when you come back it seems to have sprung up with the speed of a flower racing the turning sun."

So it has been with Tracy Ann, a small stranger who came into our lives as a month-old mite in a bundle nearly two years ago.

Why it seems only yesterday that I held her to my shoulder to burp her. So soft and frail and helpless she felt then, so utterly dependent, that I was afraid she'd bend and break.

What happens to a baby? Where do they vanish so swiftly? Right while you're watching, right before your eyes, the baby fades and disappears. Suddenly you no longer are watching a baby but a small sturdy human being running on its own legs, pushing your helping hands away impatiently, and trying to seize the whole wide world in its two little hands.

When did it happen? You can't quite remember. All you know is that the baby you loved is gone. A child you love has taken its place.

There is a big difference between a baby and a child. Take reading for example. As a baby, Tracy Ann loved nothing better than to digest newspaper editorials. She did this literally, by tearing out the editorial, stuffing it in her mouth, and gumming it until it had been thoroughly absorbed. Finally had to take newspapers away from her altogether. Afraid she might ruin her eyes.

Now, as a child, she is on a Mother Goose jag. We read these fables together practically every morning. But it may have to halt this, too. It seems to make her melancholy. Her favorite picture shows Little Boy Blue, fast asleep under the haystack. He is barefooted, and this distresses Tracy.

"No shoes," she says sadly, shaking her head. Never mind the sheep in the meadow, the cows in the corn. Isn't that sleepy little boy ever going to get a pair of bright new shoes?

Tracy's wife, Frances, and I believe Tracy must be a genius because, although her second birthday is still a month away, she can count up to five and tell the primary colors.

That is, she can do these things when she isn't in her dotage or trying to tease me. A child's dotage comes just before its nap or bedtime when its wits wander like those of some very old people. At such moments Tracy insists four comes after two and there is no such number as three at all.

But a child loves nothing better than pulling a grownup's leg. Thus it is that on some days, although she knows the grass is green and the sky is blue, Tracy will stoutly argue both are red. In fact, when she is in her scarlet mood, she even upholds the theory her feet are red.

Watching Tracy as a baby was tremendous fun. So is it now to watch her spritlike child's mind unfold. But I have an uneasy feeling now that she is studying me as much as I am studying her.

This is a real crossroads in life for any parent, the time when it is perhaps wise if he went into a closed room, stared at himself in the mirror, and started pondering over what he wants his child to see in him.

Worth Noting

the forest of eastern America 20 years and more ago.

From Hyde and adjacent counties come reports that hundreds of acres of corn have been ruined by salt rising to the surface of land that was covered with salt water by Hurricane Hazel. The land was extremely dry at the time and soaked up the salt. Soil tests then indicated no real menace, the continued dry spring has brought the salt to the top and the corn is dying.

Business Development Corporations Law Enacted: Heart Of Hodges Plan

RALEIGH (AP)—A new law was on the books today authorizing the establishment of business development corporations in North Carolina to provide risk capital loans for new industries.

The law, enacted yesterday, carries out the proposal of Gov. Hodges. It will enable the corporations to extend credit to small industries unable to obtain loans from banks.

Sen. Posey Jones of Surry, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, explained that the purpose of the legislation is to encourage financial institutions to take stock in the corporations.

Sen. A. P. Godwin Jr. of Gates said the proposal is the heart of the governor's program for encouraging new industry in North Carolina. He termed it "the first concrete step taken by North Carolina in my day to build new industry within its borders."

Meanwhile, there were a flock of other developments as the General Assembly moved closer to adjournment. These included:

1. The House killed a bill which would have raised the speed limit for cars and light trucks on primary highways to 60 miles per hour during daylight hours.
2. The House Appropriations Committee approved an appropriation of $641,902 for the Department of Revenue during the next biennium. The money will be used to employ 50 additional deputies and 29 clerks for tighter enforcement of the tax laws.
3. The House Committee on Constitutional Amendments killed a bill which would have permitted North Carolinians to vote on whether to authorize the use of public funds to operate private schools. The measure stemmed from the U.S. Supreme Court's segregation decision. The committee approved a bill which would authorize a vote of the people on whether to change the convening date of the General Assembly to the Wednesday following the first Monday in February. The Legislature now meet the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January.

4. The House passed and sent to the Senate a 150-page bill to revise and codify the state's corporation laws. House Speaker Larry Moore termed it "one of the most important bills of this session."

5. The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing six state-supported colleges to issue revenue bonds for the construction of new dormitories totaling eight million dollars. The bonds would be paid off with money received from room rents in the new dormitories and from increases in room rents in present dormitories.

6. Senate Judiciary 2 Committee approved a bill which would submit to the people the question of amending the Constitution so as to pay members of the General Assembly for 120 days. Their pay now ends after 90 legislative days. The bill also would give lawmakers the same travel and subsistence allowance as those for members of state boards and commissions.

7. House Judiciary 1 Committee, with an eye toward adjournment, killed 17 bills, many of which were local measures.

8. The House Committee on Manufacturing and Labor killed a bill last night which would have amended North Carolina's so-called "right to work" law. The measure, introduced by Rep. J. W. Hayes of Richmond, would have allowed union shop contracts between manufacturing and labor unions.

Cost And Value Of New Families In City Figured

By LYNN NISBET

RALEIGH—The American Society of Planning Officials has worked up some figures showing what the moving in of 100 new families into a medium sized city will require in extra services and cost in dollars. It is estimated that 100 families will mean about 450 people of varying ages.

The children will need four additional school classrooms and four more teachers. By amortizing the building cost it is figured this will add about $30,000 a year to the school budget.

The new families will mean more street cleaning, garbage collection, more public parks and playgrounds, more attention to public health. The parks, playground, school buildings and such will require the purchase of at least four acres of land. Additional employees—police-men, firemen and clerical workers—will add some $15,000 a year to the public payroll. In addition to that there must be more hospital beds, expanded library facilities—and even an extra jail cell or two.

What will the 100 new families add to the basic wealth and revenue of the city? On that point the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development has prepared some figures on slightly different base. The department uses for its base point a new industry employing 150 people. The families of these employees will support 12 new mercantile stores, 12 professional offices (doctors, dentists, lawyers, etc.). They will own 200 additional automobiles add $2 million to the taxable valuations and put something more than $2 million a year into the normal channels of trade. The department further figures that every industrial payroll has a five time turnover every year. In order words 150 new employees at about $200 a month means annual business of about $2 million.

The local advalorem and the State indirect taxes on the property, income and business transactions repays several times over the cost of servicing the new families.

Says He Broke In Wrong House

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The strange case of how a man broke into the wrong house was told yesterday in Superior Court.

Anthony R. Volpe 29, related through his attorney that he and a friend borrowed $150 from a finance company.

The friend didn't pay his share so Volpe had to meet the whole debt. To get even, the story continued, Volpe decided to break into what he thought was his friend's house in West Warwick and take out some articles.

Volpe took out a chair and a radio, then went back into the house and woke his "friend."

But it wasn't his friend. It was a stranger. Because he has no previous record Volpe was put on good behavior and deferred sentence.

FALSE ALARM

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Sheriff Bill Decker, a group of 10 armed deputies and a crew of private guards rushed through a rain here last night to face burglars reported at the industrial national bank. A gust of wind, Decker said, had rattled a boiler room door to set off an electric burglar alarm.

Khrushchev Claims 'Pure Heart' Policy

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev says he and other Soviet leaders will stick to a principle of equal rights and mutual noninterference in their forthcoming talks with Yugoslav President Tito.

Asserting that the Soviet delegation would go to Belgrade "with open souls are pure hearts," Khrushchev told a Kremlin conference yesterday:

"All the necessary conditions exist to ensure full normalization of relations between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia.

"We adhere firmly to the point of view that normal relations between states should be based on the principle of equal rights and mutual noninterference in each others' affairs."

On this foundation, he added, firm friendly relations and mutually profitable trade and other economic dealings could be established.

The Soviet government announced last weekend that Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and other top Kremlin officials would confer with Tito in Belgrade late this month. No specific date has been set.

Denying Western contentions that the Soviet Union wants to conquer all Europe, Khrushchev pointed to last Sunday's signing of the Austrian State Treaty, which provides for withdrawal of occupation troops from that country.

"Is there any stronger proof necessary to show that the Soviet Union does not want to seize Europe or carry on any sort of war?" he asked. "Who would evacuate troops if he had a desire to attack?"

He described recent Soviet world disarmament proposals as "a large investment in the cause of peace."

Lottery Tickets Found In Mail

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten thousand envelopes mailed in the British West Indies to Chicago residents have been intercepted by post office inspectors because they said they contain tickets for the Jamaica Sweepstakes.

Inspector Jerome Williamson said yesterday addressees have been notified to appear at the post office and open the envelopes in the presence of inspectors. Any tickets for the sweepstakes he said, will be confiscated because they were mailed into the United States in violation of federal lottery laws. He said envelopes containing legitimate mail will be turned over to the addressee.

UNCONGENIAL BOMBAY, India (AP)—None of 32 Indian workers who went on a visit to Red China have returned because they found the Communist country uncongenial. One member of the group said, "There were definite attempts made to indoctrinate Indian delegates."

Tricks Of Fate Kept Him In U.S.

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Vasil Petroff Svilansky, who came to the United States from Bulgaria in 1939 with a round-trip ticket, will leave Saturday on the long-delayed return journey—unless fate intervenes for the fifth time.

The outbreak of World War II first prevented his return. Then four additional times arrangements were made for the trip back to Communist-dominated Bulgaria. Each time weather or sickness forced cancellation.

Svilansky, 72, says he wants to spend his remaining years with his two sons and daughter in Sofia, Bulgaria.

Stock Market Dip Could Be Due To Variety Of Causes

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market sprang a slow leak three weeks ago.

Watching stock prices going soft, the public took to the sidelines. The professionals, however, had a wide variety of ready explanations and some are looking eagerly for signs of recovery and revival of public interest.

The stock market lost its zip at a time when most of the news continued to be bullish. Good earnings reports, increased dividends, new records in steel production, gains in industrial output generally, and a flood of optimistic predictions of even better times ahead—all of these seemed suddenly to lose their glamor.

But it was the very same kind of news that earlier in the year was the unflinching excuse for bidding stock prices higher.

Why didn't the same good news work in the last three weeks? Brokers point out that stock traders don't buy because of what business has done, but because of what they think it's likely to do.

Six months ago the bulls decided that first-quarter earnings were going to be good. The first of this year they guessed that second-quarter earnings should be good also. They anticipated the stock splits, mergers and increased dividends, and the general prosperity.

So stock prices were bid up high—so high in some cases that yields lost much of their attraction and bonds didn't look so dull.

Those who bought six months ago are now in position to sell and take their profits subject only to long-term capital gain tax rates.

Buying on margin has also been made less attractive. In two stages the Federal Reserve Board has raised margins to 70 per cent.

Brokers say there are other reasons for the market slowdown. Peace talks rose to volume.

Peace talks rose to volume. A brokers note, just about the time the market turned soft. Business men would welcome peace. But it is recognized that one of the first results of any real lessening in world tension which the American people could believe trustworthy would be a demand that defense spending be cut further so that taxes could be lowered.

When defense spending was cut two years ago, it contributed to the slowdown of business in 1953-54. The lost ground has been recovered now. But another cut in defense spending might have the same effect again—in the opinion of many stock traders.

There is the added uncertainty as to what may come out of the labor-management talks in top industries this summer. There are even some who wonder just what business in general will be like in the fall.

None of this uncertainty and wondering, however, means that Wall Street is looking for a major break in stock prices. Most observers call the past three weeks a period of adjustment after the long rise in prices. Some even see it as preparing the ground for a further advance.

Urge Resumption Of Border Talks

JERUSALEM (AP) — The U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission called last night for resumption of Israeli-Egyptian border negotiations. Coincident with the appeal, an Israeli reprisal attack heightened tension along the troubled Gaza Strip frontier.

The commission issued its communique after Israel refused to attend a scheduled border meeting yesterday. Israeli representatives said the boycott protested a land mine explosion Tuesday near Kissufim in which three Israeli soldiers were killed and two injured.

Israeli troops last night attacked an Egyptian position near the site of the explosion, an army spokesman announced. He said the force suffered no casualties, adding that the "Egyptians and those in an adjacent position fled when the Israeli unit approached."

The U. N. commission warned Israel that the border situation is likely to "deteriorate still further" unless both parties resume negotiations soon for "an arrangement aimed at maintaining peaceful conditions in the Gaza area."

Shortages Again Plaguing Industry; Deficit List Up

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Shortages again are plaguing prospering industry today—so soon after the big Korean buildup—government officials are pondering whether to push for a new expansion of basic industries.

Scarcities of aluminum, copper and nickel haven't vanished despite substantial diversions of the metals to industry instead of the national defense stockpile. Some steel products and even cement have joined the deficit list.

Earlier this year officials ascribed the heavy demand to such temporary factors as the spring spurt of auto production fear of midyear strikes and price boosts, inventory rebuilding, and perhaps a little scare buying caused by international stresses.

But by now the order books at the mills are filling up with orders for the July-September quarter. Some officials are wondering whether the nation's industrial capacity is as well bulwarked for war or peace, as they had supposed.

Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming today told an interviewer it now seems doubtful whether autumn will bring a substantial easing of demand.

"We cannot go on diverting materials from the stockpile indefinitely," he said.

"Unless there is improvement in the fall, we will have to consider further expansion of capacity."

Flemming, who recently reopened the government's offer of federal tax benefits to electric power companies which undertake expansion, disclosed he has taken these further steps:

1. Ordered a "basic, comprehensive" study to determine whether to approve the abandoned "third round" of aluminum industry expansion.
2. Asked the Defense and Commerce departments to investigate whether any companies obtaining nickel under military priorities are diverting some of it to civilian uses thus tightening the shortage for other firms.

Meantime, Bethlehem and some other steel producers have announced in formal "allocation" plans intended to assure such customer his historic share of their output. Mills began rationing nickel stainless steel early this year.

The cement shortage, reflecting record building activity, got worried attention from the National Assn. of Home Builders here this week. Some builders forecast tighter supplies if the big highway program now being considered by Congress is approved.

The cement problem developed even though Flemming's Office of Defense Mobilization boosted the official goal for cement plant expansion last year, over protests of much of the industry. That action means that a company which undertakes expansion may write off part of the cost in five years, in depreciation under the federal tax laws. The normal write off period is 20 to 25 years.

The aluminum "third round" was proposed by the Truman administration but abandoned two years ago. Two earlier expansions during the Korean emergency, approximately doubled the nation's aluminum producing capacity.

The industry contends that today's shortage is no temporary affair but a reflection of the growing economy, increased use of the light metal, and development of new aluminum products.

Flemming said he has instructed Edwin Harris, ODM light metals director, to survey prospective demand and supply "to see whether we should take another look at a third round of expansion."

Meantime, 50 million pounds of aluminum on order for the stockpile, have been diverted to industrial users in this quarter.

The nickel shortage has persisted since Korea, because of heavy use in jet planes and guided missiles. Recent consumption of nickel carrying the military priority has far exceeded the official estimate of military needs. This has aroused suspicion that some priority metal may be going into civilian goods.

Copper supplies have not recovered from strikes in this country, Chile and Rhodesia last year and this.

Stevenson Sees United Democrat Party For 1956

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democrats, says Adlai Stevenson, will be a united party in 1956 and he believes "those who have strayed and returned in good faith should be welcomed back to the Democratic fold."

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee told newsmen yesterday that for the last two years he had done "all I could to assure a united Democratic party in 1956."

"I am sure," he said, "that is the wish and intention of all good Democrats and I firmly believe this is what we're going to have."

The former Illinois governor, returning from a month-long business trip to Africa, was interviewed by reporters at Midway Airport. Asked about recent statements of party leaders regarding loyalty to the party's nominee by convention delegates in their home states, he said:

"I believe that those who have strayed and returned in good faith should be welcomed back to the Democratic fold. I am against loyalty oaths but am very much in favor of loyalty and good faith in politics, and I believe a delegate who takes part in any Democratic decision-making process bears a serious obligation to abide by the majority decisions unless his conscience forbids him to do so."

Stephen A. Mitchell, the party's former national chairman, recently said a floor fight would be made in the 1956 convention, if necessary, to prevent seating of any or all three Southern Democratic leaders who, after serving as delegates to the 1952 convention which nominated Stevenson, supported Dwight Eisenhower for president.

Mitchell, advised of Stevenson's statement yesterday, said he still would predict the convention credentials committee will reject Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas, Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, James F. Byrnes, former governor of South Carolina, and other 1952 "apostates."

"They are symbols of disloyalty," Mitchell said. "They are Judas goats who betrayed their own party, and being elected to positions of leadership by that party, I'm not going to let them participate if I can help it."

Asked if he plans to become a presidential candidate in 1956, Stevenson told newsmen all he knows about that "is what you fellows have been writing." He also said there are "several" capable men for the nomination. Among those, he named Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Hold Rehearsal For Atomic Conference

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A group of scientists here is taking an experimental approach to the world's first conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy. They're learning by doing.

Their job is to help the U.N. set up that conference scheduled for Aug. 8-20 in Geneva. They've moved, 19 strong, into 20 rooms high in the 39-floor secretariat building.

They include 17 "scientific secretaries" from 11 countries; the conference secretary general, Walter G. Whitman, of Concord, Mass., and his deputy, Viktor S. Vavilov, of Moscow.

They sat down the other day with assorted U.N. employees in a conference room for a dry run of a conference session. It took about an hour. The real thing next summer will take considerably longer; more than 50 countries are sure to be represented, and 84 altogether have been invited.

The subject of the rehearsal, chosen somewhat haphazardly, was the abstract of a Canadian paper on "Experiments on Some Characteristics of the NRX Reactor." The NRX is an atomic pile Canada has been operating at Chalk River, Ont., since 1947. Robert A. Charpie, 29, assistant director of research at the national laboratory in Oak Ridge Tenn., presented the abstract. He is one of the scientific secretaries.

The main object was to give U.N. interpreters practice in talking about nuclear physics in English, French, Russian and Spanish. They had already worked up their own glossary, and the scientists had been checking it for accuracy.

Now the American scientist sat at a table with his colleagues in the conference room and presented the Canadian paper in English. His colleagues in turn offered multilingual comments on it.

The interpreters, wearing headphones, caught their remarks by wire in enclosed booths overlooking the chamber and put them simultaneously into the other languages. The interpretations went back to the scientists listening at the table, through little plastic receivers that hung over one ear.

Estimates of the rehearsal's success ranged from fair to good. There will be more.

CATTLE ON LAWN
DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Riggs quietly told her husband Joseph that a herd of cattle had ambled across their lawn during a heavy rainstorm yesterday. Unbelieving, Riggs checked, and sure enough, there went the cattle—all 23 of them. Police and stockyard workers quickly rounded up the animals, which had wandered and wandered away from an Adams County pasture and into a residential area.

PERILOUS RIDER
BRENTWOOD, England (AP)—Paul West 23, was fined a pound ($2.80) yesterday for "riding furiously" on his bicycle. A witness said West crashed into a parked car with such force that his head and shoulders went through the canvas top.

The only consistent hitter in the Yankees' lineup on their first swing around the Western loop was Hank Bauer. The rugged right fielder left the Yankee Stadium with a batting average of .275 and returned to the home base with .345. It took close to a 400 pace on the road to bring him back in such fine shape. The interesting side-light to Hank's batting spree is the fact that the hustling outfielder did most of his damage against right-handed pitching.

Angry Chisox Threaten Retaliate Against Bauer

NEW YORK (AP)—Angry Chicago White Sox players, bitter at New York's Hank Bauer for the use of what they termed "dirty tactics," threatened to retaliate against the bruising Yankee outfielder the next time the teams meet.

Umpire Ed Hurley ruled interference against Bauer for a play during yesterday's game, which the Yankees won 11-6.

New York, leading 7-6 was at bat in the seventh inning. They filled the bases with one out. Andy Carey hit a grounder to second baseman Nellie Fox, who turned to tag Bauer, the base runner from first.

Bauer charged into Fox and sent him sprawling. Fox from a supine position threw to first to double up Carey as Gil McDougald crossed the plate.

When Manager Marty Marion charged out of the White Sox dugout to protest, Hurley ruled interference on Bauer and sent McDougald back to third. Bauer was called out and the bases remained full.

Marion argued for a double play but got nowhere. Mickey Mantle then hit a grand slam homer to put the Yankees beyond reach.

Baseball rule 7.09F seemed to uphold Marion. It states: "If any base runner who had just been retired hinders or impedes any following play being made on a runner, such a runner should be declared out for the interference of his teammate."

Hurley, however, had a different version. Reached in the umpire's dressing room after the game, he said: "Bauer pushed him while Fox was in the act of fielding the ball. He did not have complete control of the ball. That's why I called Bauer out for interference."

"If Fox had full possession, I would have ruled it a double play." Press box observers were unanimous in the opinion that Fox not only had fielded the ball, but was in the act of tagging Bauer when the husky outfielder came barreling into him.

"Maybe he calls it aggressive baseball," Fox said angrily, "but I can't get dirty playing. If he wants to play football instead of baseball I'll get some football pads the next time and we'll go at it."

Bauer told it this way: "Sure he had the ball, but he was standing in my way. I'm entitled to the baseline. So I hit him with my chest."

Marion said an official protest was useless because "it's not a matter of rule interpretation, but one of judgment."

Five Pirates Are Voted 'All Conference'

CECIL HEATH GAITHER CLINE BILL CLINE NICK SMOTHERS TOMMY PRUITT

Elon Leads With Eight Players On Mythical Team

East Carolina's Eastern Division champs placed five players on the 1955 All-North State Conference baseball squad in a poll of the coaches by the Greensboro Daily News.

Pirates winning berths were Cecil Heath, Gaither Cline, Bill Cline, Nick Smothers and Tommy Pruitt. Heath and Smothers are infielders, Gaither Cline is an outfielder, Bill Cline is a catcher and Pruitt is a pitcher.

Because of its preponderance of pitchers—four of them—Elon led the mythical selection with eight players. East Carolina wrapped up the Eastern Division dominance of the All-Loop team with its five places. Eliminating moundmen, the two clubs were even with four players each.

Western Carolina, the Western winner, trailed the Elon-ECC monopoly with two players while Catawba and Lenoir Rhyne placed one man each. Thus, the East represented solely by Elon and East Carolina, gained 13 berths compared to four for the West, being out statements by coaches that the talent this season was concentrated in the East.

For Heath, it was his fourth such honor. The little second sacker has been the big gun in East Carolina's most fruitful diamond campaign. Heath joins an infield consisting of teammates Nick Smothers at first, Nick Thompson at shortstop and Ken Brown at third base. Smothers, the big 230-pound transfer student from Campbell, edged out Western Carolina's Ronnie Swartzel in a close race.

Gaither Cline, big Gastonia senior, won his third All-Conference honor and joins an outer garden consisting of Elon's Bob Greene, Lenoir Rhyne's Virgil Whitely and Western Carolina's Max Rhodes as utility.

Gaither's slugging brother, Bill Cline, won his second All-Conference spot. As a freshman he placed and this season his big bat demanded another seat. Homer Hobgood of Elon was also named to the team as a catcher.

Pruitt, the Sanford freshman, could be tagged the outstanding player of the year. He would have few challengers on the basis of his brilliant pitching. He has lost only two games all season and owns a no-hitter, a one-hitter and four two-hitters. He hasn't allowed a single earned run all spring.

Other chokers making the team were Elon's big four of Sherrill Hall, Luther Cneger, Charlie Switgood and Hank Hamrick. They were named en masse for the second straight year. Hall and Cneger are regarded as two of the best pitching prospects in the state. Switgood is the top southpaw in the loop, who has never lost a college game, and added a no-hitter to his credit this year. Hamrick, another southpaw, like Switgood is making the team for his fourth year, although play was season interrupted.

The other moundman was Western Carolina's Jim Kuykerdall, who pitched every other day for the Catamounts in winning eight and losing three to lead the Catamounts to the Western title.

Consideration for given serious consideration as was Catawba's Fred Duncan who sparked the Tribe to eight straight conference wins after the Tribe lost its first four starts.

CHICAGO (AP)—He isn't another Bob Lemon, but Hal Jeffcoat, the Cubs' relief pitcher, is going great for a converted outfielder.

Jeffcoat picked up his fourth victory without a defeat in yesterday's nightcap against the Philadelphia Phillies. He also snuffed out a Phil's rally in the ninth inning of the opener as Chicago swept both games.

Like Lemon, Jeffcoat switched from the outfield to pitching. Hal made the change last season and finished with a 5-6 record.

Greenies Pound Out 20 Hits Off Two New Bern Pitchers For 9-6 Victory

The Greenville Greenies pounded out 20 hits off two New Bern pitchers here last night to send the visitors reeling by a count of 9 to 6 to remain in first place of the Coastal Plain League.

Manager Junior Yohn's charges hammered everything the New Bern chinkers offered in a regular field day at Guy Smith Stadium. Six Greenies got more than one hit, four which are extra base blows, in the victory.

Leading the barrage was Bob Clark, third baseman, who had a perfect four for four evening at the plate. Among his bingles were a triple and a double and two singles. Next in the hitting parade was stump Hobbie Hobgood with three hits in five at bats. The big right fielder drove in three runs in his best performance of the season.

While the Greenie batters were shelling the New Bern chinkers, quiet James Pollard was going about his way scattering 10 enemy hits. The big right hander was touched for six runs, but four of those were unearned.

Blaney Moyer Greenie centerfielder, had three hits in six tries. Catcher James McLawhorn had three hits in five official trips and Mat Hall had two safeties in four attempts. Tom Boyd also found the range for a couple of hits.

The biggest blow of the game was

At Least 6 Pros Are 'Favorites'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—At least six pros moved into the opening round of the $20,000 Kansas City Open Golf Tournament today labeled favorites.

Among the favorites this year are Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Bo Wininger, Jerry Barber, Jackie Burke Jr., and Bill Maxwell.

Two former winners are entered. They are Frank Stranahan who took the crown in 1946 and Toney Penna who won it in 1938.

Hudson Pitches 4-Hit Win For GHS Phantoms

Left-hander Gene Hudson closed out Greenville's baseball season with a four-hit win in his first pitched start of the year, as he led his mates to a 6-5 win over New Bern.

The win gives the Phantoms a 6-6 mark in the Northeastern Conference race. It was the first win of the season over New Bern, who defeated Greenville 12-11 in the other game.

Hudson, who has been a regular outfielder all season long, used a sharp fast ball and a quick breaking curve to set down the Bears. In the seventh inning Hudson walked five and struck out five.

The Greenies jumped on New Bern's Preacher Parker for three runs in the top of the seventh to win the game. Joe Wingate's double drove across the eventual winning runs.

In the last half of the seventh, the lead off New Bern hitter smacked a double, but Hudson retired the side in order after that.

Ike Riddick led Greenville at the plate with three hits in four trips to the plate. Hudson and Wingate got two hits apiece. Mike Riddick, who has taken over the club leadership in hitting had his eight game hitting streak halted in last night's game.

Minnie Minoso Expected Leave Hospital Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Minnie Minoso, Chicago White Sox outfielder who has the dubious honor of being hit by more pitched balls than any other American League player in the last three seasons, was expected to be released from the hospital today after being hit for the third time this year.

Minoso was hit on the cheek bone by Bob Grim, Yankee pitcher, in the first inning of yesterday's game. He was taken to a hospital where X-rays revealed no broken bones.

Stanky On Top Of World As Cards Win Brooklyn Series

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

When the St. Louis Cardinals are winning, you'll never find a pair of twinkling eyes to match Eddie Stanky's eyes. And the little guy's peepers are flashing blue blazes right now.

The Cardinals have won five straight and six of their last seven. But more important, their 3-2 success last night swept a series from Brooklyn—something the Cards have managed just four other times since Stanky took over as manager in 1952.

Brooklyn is dragging a three-game losing streak as it heads home from a dismal Western trip on which it lost five of nine. But the Dodgers still hold a 7½-game lead in the National League.

Chicago is second with the Cardinals third. The Cubs moved up by being double-header from the falling Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and 7-5. Milwaukee stumbled from the runner-up spot by losing to New York's Giants 4-2. Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-1.

Ward, Cherry To Open Walker Cup Play Friday

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Bill Campbell, captain of America's Walker Cup team took a last look at his players in practice today before announcing his lineup for the opening foursome matches against Great Britain tomorrow.

Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., captain of the American team, and Alec Hill, British nonplaying captain, announced their pairings today for Friday's opening round of the two-day international competition.

The other matches tomorrow: Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N.C., and Richard Yost, Portland, Ore., vs. Gerald Micklen, England, and John Meagan, Wales.

Lient, Joe Conrad, San Antonio, and Dale Morey, Indianapolis, vs. Ian Caldwell, England, and Ernest Millward, England.

Bruce Cudd, Portland, Ore., and David Blair, Scotland, and Robin Catter, Scotland.

Tomorrow's matches will have each player playing one ball, taking alternate strokes.

Patton, the 33-year old Carolinian who almost won the 1953 Masters from San Snead and Ben Hogan, is the big attraction among the Americans. The Scots like the way he keeps up conversational patter between shots.

One Scot asked Billy Joe how he liked the course just after the American had pulled his drive.

Back came Patton: "I like the course very much. It's a real championship test and it requires some brain work to play—maybe a little more than I've got." Then Patton walked away, but turned and added: "I said maybe."

Farmville's entry in the Coastal Plain semi-pro league gained its seventh win of the young season last night with a 5-2 win over Williamston to keep a tie for the league leadership.

Lefty Johnny Hinson went all the way on the mound and gave up seven well-spaced hits to gain the win.

Claude King and Millard Webb led Farmville at the plate with two hits each. King had two doubles and Webb had a double and a triple.

Hardison and Cherry each had two hits for Williamston.

Tobacco Belt League Has Full Slate This Weekend

The Tobacco Belt League gets into its second week of action this weekend with a full slate of games around the circuit. All six teams play games, one on Saturday and the other on Sunday.

In Saturday's action Grimesland is at Falkland in an afternoon game. Gene Ayers or James Dixon will work on the mound for Grimesland with Ken Vandenburg or Dillon Watson going for Falkland. Both teams have 0-2 records so far this year.

Otho Saturday games have Pinetops at Tarboro in a night game (7:45) Rust Waters will pitch for Pinetops and Ray Bottom will hurl for Tarboro.

Belvoir is at Kinston Saturday afternoon. Bobby Pollard is pitching for Belvoir with Frank Grant working on the hill for Kinston.

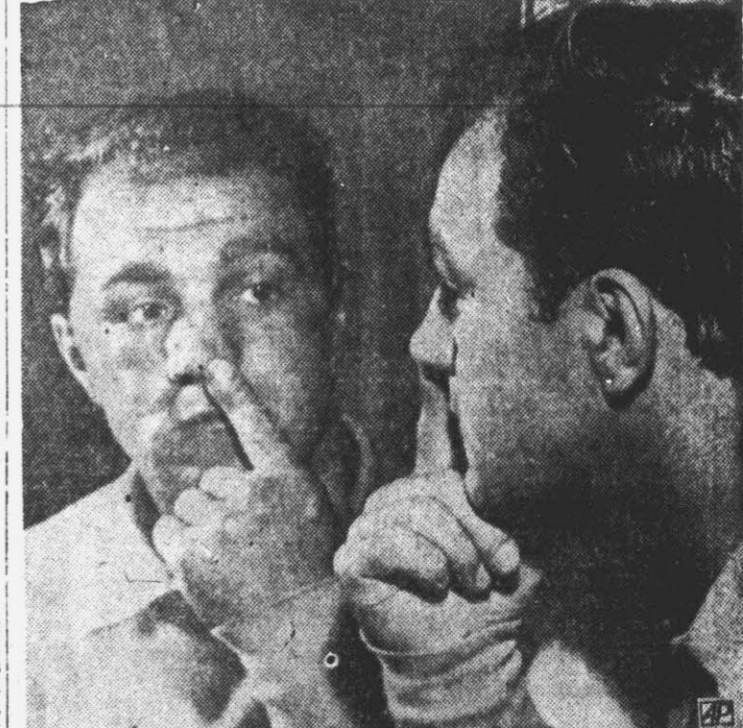

On Sunday, the teams reverse playing fields. Tom Hodges or Pete Tripp will pitch for Grimesland and Dave Dickerson will pitch for Falkland in a game at Grimesland.

Doc Floyd will pitch for Pinetops at Pinetops against Tarboro's Curtis Baker. Gene Bell will get to pitch at home for Belvoir against Kinston's Jimmy Bracy.

So far this year, Pinetops, Tarboro, and Kinston have 2-0 records with Grimesland, Falkland, and Belvoir owning 0-2 marks.

"Take the White Sox," he said. "They have a lot of luck running bases until they get here. I fix the dirt around first base so it's very loose. A player can get a start for second base. You don't see those guys stealing many bases here. We stop that."

"So they complain. I didn't do anything intentionally, and how are they going to prove that I did? So I make a few mistakes and it helps the Indians win some games. So what's wrong with that?"

STILL IN ONE PIECE—Rocky Marciano, still the heavyweight champion, inspects his nose and finds it undamaged from the encounter with Englishman Don Cock in San Francisco, Calif. The break was split wide open by Ezarri earlier in Marciano's last fight before the Cockell encounter and there was some worry among his followers that it might not stand up against Cockell's fists. Marciano reported Cockell hit it several times without effect. (AP Wirephoto)

New College Dormitory Gradually Taking Shape

Shown above is a portion of the new girls' dormitory now being constructed on the East Carolina College campus. The building is being built on the front drive of the college campus at the western end. It is to cost a total of $800,000 and will accommodate 304 students when completed. College officials say they hope the new dorm will be completed in time for the opening of school next fall. However the completion date is as yet uncertain. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor.)

Debate Near End For Argentine Church Action

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Debate was expected to wind up in the Argentine Congress' lower house tonight on the government-backed proposal to end Roman Catholicism's favored position as the state church.

The Catholic faithful, meanwhile, were summoned to masses tonight in the Buenos Aires Cathedral and 70 of the capital's churches. Ostensibly the multiple services were to commemorate the Feast of the Ascension and pray for the success of the 26th International Eucharistic Congress opening July 19 in Rio de Janeiro. But the unusual number of masses made apparent they were scheduled to demonstrate support for the church in its hot controversy with President Juan Peron.

Another Latin-American controversy between church and state loomed in Guatemala. There President Carlos Castillo Armas told newsmen last night he personally opposed demands by Roman Catholic Archbishop Mariano Rosell that the new constitution now being drafted give his church pre-eminence and provide for religious education in the public schools.

The bill to write the church out of the Argentine constitution aroused only one opposing speaker in the opening round yesterday of the Argentine congressional debate. Boos and catcalls drowned out most of his speech.

With the Peronista party controlling 148 of the lower chamber's 186 seats and 34 of the Senate seats, approval of the measure in both houses is certain. The bill calls for a special election, probably in November, to take out of the constitution the provision establishing Catholicism as the state church. It is an outgrowth of Peron's charges last November that some clergymen were trying to undermine his regime.

Ninety per cent of the Argentines are Catholics and the constitution requires that the President be a member of the church.

Second Wife Is Freed From Jail

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Alma Ferguson, 52, who was kept in jail 44 days by her husband's former wife for failure to pay a $25,000 alienation of affections judgment, was freed yesterday.

Circuit Judge John E. Pavlik ordered Mrs. Ferguson released from Cook County Jail after her former attorney testified that she did not know that the alienation trial was in progress last year.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Theresa M. Pritchard, 43, who charged that Mrs. Ferguson maliciously stole the affections of her former husband Roy Ferguson, 49, a distributor for a bread company.

The Circuit Court jury returned a default verdict. It contained a malice count, permitting jailing of Mrs. Ferguson up to six months provided Mrs. Pritchard paid her board bill. Mrs. Pritchard has paid the country $3.50 a week for Mrs. Ferguson's keep since April 6.

Mrs. Ferguson's former attorney testified he was too ill to represent her at the trial. Her present counsel, Sol. R. Friedman described Mrs. Pritchard as a "shylock," and said, "All she wanted was her pound of flesh." He asked the court to set aside the verdict and Judge Pavlik set June 16 for further arguments.

Neither woman testified at yesterday's court session.

Housewives Boom Do-It-Yourself Fad

By EDWARD S. KITCH
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO — Clip the barb off two matching fishing lures. Push large pearls over hooks. Glue rhinestones and sequins here and there. Attach to drop earrings and glue sequins and rhinestones to cup of earwire.

What is it? An eye-catching pair of earrings with an outdoor touch. It's the newest how-to-do-it chore Robert Deutsch has created for thousands of housewives who seem to thrive on such projects.

Women with an eye for something glittery to wear, use, or just have around the house to look at, plus a yen to make it themselves, keep him scratching for original ideas to keep them busy.

For all concerned, it's a case of all that glitters is gold. As the world's largest purveyor of loose beads (some 100 tons a year), rhinestones, fake pearls, sequins and cork, his five-and-dime items are distributed through some 15,000 variety stores.

His staff of 30 women instructors travels fulltime to give on-the-spot demonstrations.

His small factory on Chicago's northwest side fills a million packages a week with fake pearls from Japan, beads from Germany and Italy and rhinestones from Austria. The sequins are made in the United States from motion picture film.

He now operates five companies. Their combined sales last year totaled five million dollars.

Women often suggest unusual materials to use—unusual, Deutsch heard Texas women were covering fishing corks with sequins to make sparkle bobbers to be hung from a belt or wherever the wearer considered them attractive. He ordered four million of them and 20,000 pounds of half-inch straight pins for attaching the sequins to the corks.

Women jewel everything from scrub buckets to plastic handset telephone covers. Tissue dispensers, piggy banks, hammers, hats, neckties, sweaters, corks, furniture—all are like putty in a woman's hands when a tube of cement and an envelope of glittery jewels are handy.

Fire Chief Basil Roberts said Phillips and Kingery were cleaning a gasoline sediment bowl on an old engine used for standby service when the fuel ignited.

A Lot Of Cheese For Any State

TROY Vt. (AP)—The Vermont building at the Eastern States Exposition will exhibit two 3700-pound cheeses this summer — to help focus attention on the Green Mountain state's cheddar.

To make such a cheese, the United Farmers of New England says, requires the milk for one day from about 1300 average dairy cows — about 17,000 quarts. Aging time is 15 months. There is enough cheese for 60,000 sandwiches which would require 6,000 loaves of bread.

If you like butter in your sandwiches, the dairy farmers would have to supply about 1200 pounds — made from 12,000 quarts of milk.

Judith Anderson Is A Secret 'Escapist'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's Medea among the melons and Lady Macbeth in the lettuce patch when Judith Anderson is not doing her high-powdered emoting before audiences.

The Australian-born actress gets away from it all at her 38-acre ranch in Carpinteria, just south of Santa Barbara, Calif. And friends say that she really escapes from her classical roles up yonder. Instead of flowing robes, she sports blue jeans, old shirts and straw hats.

When viewed on the set of "The Ten Commandments," she was in more typical attire. She plays the slave of the Pharaoh's daughter, Nina Foch, and the scene showed them fishing the infant Moses out of the bullrushes. But her mind was on other matters too, such as Paris and avocados.

The Paris matter concerns "Medea," which she is going to do next month as part of the "Salute to France." This is the artistic gesture sponsored by the State Department. Besides "Medea," French art treasures, symphony orchestras and "Okla-

Cotton-Buying By Iron Curtain

CAIRO (AP)—Russia and her satellites have sharply increased cotton purchasing in Egypt. Red China may also absorb heavy tonnage.

To Egyptian cotton men the Communist economic delegates are friends in need—even though trading is on a barter basis. The main thing in Egyptian eyes is that the Red deals take part of Egypt's backlog out of warehouses.

Egypt's newspapers greeted the prospective deals as a new blow against "imperialism." The influential Al Kahira said: "To think of exporting Egyptian cotton in markets other than those fixed by the imperialists was regarded as a crime in the past; now Egypt is at liberty to sell her cotton to any buyer."

By April, the Eastern bloc was taking 23 per cent of all the cotton moved by Egyptian exporters. Egyptian producers decry American export of cotton as a surplus commodity for aid purposes. They are no less bitter about American sales under a law permitting U. S. exporters to sell cotton abroad for local currencies which the U. S. government transforms into dollars.

Under the barter deals, Egyptian crude oil from Russia, Kerenski from Romania, machinery from Poland and Czechoslovakia. It hopes to get newsprint and rolling stock from Red China.

Some aspects of modern Christmas celebrations, including the exchange of gifts and decoration with evergreens were used in the Roman Saturnalia long before the Christian era.

Washington Wonders If Red Plan Is A Belt Of Neutrals

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is one of the latest wonderings in the present Washington guessing game about the Russians: Are they anxious for a belt of neutral nations straight down the middle of Europe? President Eisenhower was asked about it at his news conference yesterday. He didn't add much light. He said: "There seems to be developing the thought that there might be built up a series of neutralized states."

Both are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which makes them allies of the United States, also in NATO. Yugoslavia is not a NATO member. And Tito insists he is neutral between East and West. Last Friday the Russians announced Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev would go to chief Tito to talk with Tito. Why? They say just to establish normal relations. But Washington wondered: Would they try to win back Tito in a slanting north-south line west of the Russian-dominated countries. Two of them—Sweden and Austria—are already neutral. Last week Russia let Austria have her independence with the guarantee she would remain neutral and maneuvering to get Western Germany disarmed and out of NATO. Yugoslavia was linked with Moscow from the end of the war until 1948 when Marshal Tito broke with Stalin. Since Stalin's death his successors have tried to woo Tito with soft talk. Since his split with Stalin, Tito has received many millions of dollars of economic and military aid from the United States. And he put Yugoslavia into a military alliance with Greece and Turkey. Were the Russians going to offer reunification with this price tag: that a unified Germany would agree to remain unarmed and neutral and therefore, not a member of NATO? Maybe. If the Russians could keep Germany neutralized it would be, in case of war the equivalent of a great military victory. The Russians may hope that, with the hope of unification, the Germans will not raise forces for NATO. FOR CONFEDERATES WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jennings (D-Va.) has introduced a bill to pay all future medical expenses of the three surviving Confederate Army veterans. The House passed a similar bill Tuesday for the sole Union Army survivor Albert Woolson, 106, of Duluth, Minn. The kettledrum is a very ancient instrument; which was well known to the ancient Greeks and Romans but probably reached them from the countries to the east of them.

Rubbled Warsaw Rising To A Virtual Showplace

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Warsaw, 10 years ago a mess of rubble, is taking shape as a fine city. Reconstruction is tied to a six-year plan that ends this year. Diplomats, businessmen and other Westerners here say progress has been spectacular. Everywhere builders are at work. They are producing a city of broad, tree-lined avenues and spacious sidewalks with many new buildings.

In this city the Poles look at least adequately and sometimes attractively clothed. Nor, so far as one can judge after only a brief stay in Warsaw, is there any shortage of food. Because of the artificial exchange rate, prices look prohibitive to Westerners. But the shops look well stocked and people are buying. Housing is greatly deficient. Another deficiency seems to be transport, a situation apparently to be remedied by the building of a subway in the new plan due to start at the end of this year.

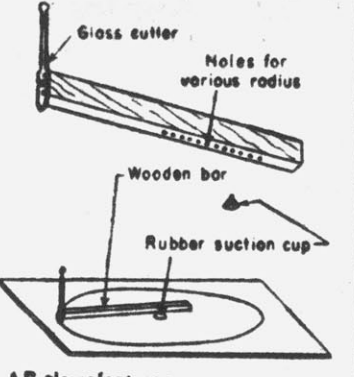

High over the city towers a 740-foot skyscraper, the Stalin Palace of Culture and Science. It is described officially as the gift of the Soviet Union to the people of Warsaw. Designers, engineers and 5,000 workmen came from Russia to build it. Reporters who came to Poland for the meeting last week of the Soviet Union and its European allies were shown around the building.

Work started two years ago and the palace is now almost ready for its opening in July. Its exterior is heavily decorated in the Russian wedding-cake style. To some eyes it clashes with the simple elegance of other new buildings. Inside, the palace is equipped on a lavish scale. At any one time, according to a guide, it will accommodate 23,000 persons in its theaters, movie auditoriums, recital rooms, concert and congress halls, libraries, game rooms, gymnasiums and a marble swimming pool.

DECISIVE RECOUNT — DETROIT (AP)—Bert Merritt, Republican, and Frank B. Landowski, Democrat, tied in the Sumpter Township supervisor election 475-475. They drew lots to decide the winner. Merritt won. Landowski asked a recount. In the recount, one ballot was thrown out because the registration number has not been torn off and Landowski was declared the winner 475-474.

ECC Cited For Share In Study

ONEONTA, N. Y.—East Carolina College was cited here today by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education for its share in a unique nation-wide study to improve the quality of teachers for the nation's schools.

In a letter to President John D. Messick of East Carolina, the Association announced the completion of an intensive four-year project aimed at better teaching and commended the college for the participation of its faculty members in the program. More than 400 educational authorities have served on a nationwide visitation task force to strengthen the service programs of the 285 colleges in AACTE, according to an announcement issued at AACTE national headquarters in Oneonta by Dr. Edward C. Pomeroy, executive secretary of the association. AACTE is a national voluntary association of colleges and universities with members in forty-four states. In his letter to Dr. Messick, Dr. L. D. Haske, Dean of the College of Education of the University of Texas and president of AACTE, said: "As a result of the Intervisitation Project, the college programs for educating teachers are already being improved in dramatic fashion."

Admittance Of Women As Ministers Endorsed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposal that women be admitted to the Presbyterian ministry was endorsed today by the national head of the church. Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, president of Maryville (Tenn.) College and moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., also called for churchwide practice of nonsegregation. His views were contained in a sermon prepared for delivery at today's opening session of the 167th general assembly. The sermon was Dr. Lloyd's last official function as moderator. His successor will be elected later today to serve during the weeklong meetings and through the coming year. Admission of women as ministers and the nonsegregation issue are expected to come before the general assembly for action later in this session. Dr. Lloyd said:

"As one thinks of the tremendous part which women play in the spiritual life and in the ministry of our church around the world, he cannot but hope that the church will possess enough of understanding and of the spirit of the pioneer to open all of the possibilities of service to women. "A quarter of a century ago the eldership was opened to them and more than 3,000 women are serving in that distinctive Presbyterian office. "The life of the church will be enriched further by opening of the office of minister also to women. "On nonsegregation, he said: "Our official pronouncements calling for a nonsegregated society strong and right. But our practice is weaker than our pronouncements. It is time for every congregation to become a true Christian pioneer. There should be no church whose doors and hearts are closed to any sincere seeker after Christ."

Farmhand In Elopement Case Found Already Wed

BILLESDON, England (AP)—The 48-year-old Irish farmhand who ran away with the pretty sister of England's hereditary royal champion turned out today to be a married man with two children. "I have wronged the girl terribly," said James Webb, who slipped away 10 weeks ago with Susan Dymoke, 23-year-old daughter of one of Britain's oldest families. The two told friends they planned to wed. "I have deceived her and her family into thinking I was free to marry her," Webb told newsmen, "but I am not." Mrs. Mary Webb, 46, an Ashford, England, riding instructor, produced a wedding certificate yesterday showing she had married the farmhand Nov. 16, 1937. She said her husband had left her and their two sons more than a year ago. Police said they had "no further interest in the matter at this stage." Webb, who looks younger than his years, said he had "taken Susan away to friends who will look after her. I can tell you she is not going back to her family." He met the girl when he was hired to milk cows on the Dymokes' ancestral estate near Grantham. Susan's 29-year-old brother Capt. John Dymoke holds the title of "Queen's Champion," an honor which has been in his family since medieval days, and carried the royal standard at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953. Susan's mother Mrs. Lionel Dymoke tearfully told reporters: "My daughter's life has been ruined."

Ministers Keep Christian Peace

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—All was peaceful and serene when police arrived at the scene of an accident between a bus and a car here. The officers, baffled at first by the unusual politeness, soon found all the persons involved were ministers. The bus driver, Robert L. Besh, was a part-time Christian minister. The car driver was the Rev. Edward T. Graham and with him were the Revs. James L. McNett and Ryland Reamy. The first witness to the scene was the Rev. W.P. Harmon, who recognized all the others and made introductions around. The police decided no one was to blame. No charges were filed, everyone shook hands around and parted friends.

Red Equipment Breaking Down

TOKYO (AP)—Chinese Communist doctors and nurses don't think much of the medical tools they get from Russia, says a Japanese physician recently returned from Red captivity. "They break down too often," says Dr. Katsuhide Akashi in a magazine article. "Russian syringes, for instance, don't stand boiling disinfection and break down quickly." He says when instruments are broken, all concerned must take part in numerous "self-criticism conferences" and make "self-criticism statements." "Therefore," Akashi adds "even the Chinese doctors and nurses just display the Russian things, but use American or Japanese-made things."

U. S. Schools Need Good Students Asserts Educator

Rates Generation Of Today As Fine As Any To Date

Editor's note: Here's an expert's report on the new problems that education must face because of population increases. Dr. Raymond Walters retires in August after 23 years as president of the University of Cincinnati. He looks at the future in the light of past experience.

By DR. RAYMOND WALTERS
Written for AP Newswriters

CINCINNATI, Ohio — There have been amazing advances in the scientific fields in the past 20 years, especially in the university graduate schools of the United States. It is these graduate schools which have supplied personnel in physics, chemistry, metallurgy, and other scientific areas to the more than 3000 industrial laboratories throughout the nation. From the roster of these university graduates have come many of the creative ideas in pure science and the practical methods in technology which have led to industry's enormous increase in mass production.

From our liberal arts institutions and from our colleges of business administration there have issued in the past 20 years graduates who mental breakdown. Lest I be misunderstood, let me say that, I favor advanced education beyond high school for those who in the future tidal wave of youth, earnestly desire it even though they are not intellectually gifted. These young men and women will become voting citizens; for the wise use of the ballot they should be well informed. Moreover, on the human side, they are fine material. They should receive patient, skillful teaching so that they may value the best leaders, may be good followers and supporters of worthy causes.

Personally I strongly favor the creation of public junior colleges granting the associate of arts degree for two years of study. These should be controlled and financed by the public school boards with possible supplementary appropriations by the states. This mode of meeting the problem is exemplified in the public junior colleges of California, Texas and other states. Whether in the standard four-year college or the junior college, it seems clear that preparation should be afforded youth for the actualities of American life in the approaching industrial era. Mass production of goods will soon afford a great deal of free time for the mass of our people. Will the shorter working week be monopolized by amusements, by trivial entertainments?

My own concern is regarding standards of excellence for America. We must, I think, seek out the boy and girl capable of the scholastic requirements essential for training first-rate scientists, engineers, and leaders in the professions.

Here is the real field, as I see it. America is to advance in competition with the best intellectual products of Great Britain and Europe. We must not fool ourselves about this. Merely raising the average of mediocre performance will not compensate for failure to keep America first rate.

TEAM REPORT—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, joining in an unprecedented television-radio report to the nation from the Chief Executive's White House office, voiced hope of real progress in forthcoming top level talks with the Russians. In the bottom picture, both laugh heartily over some remark the President points with a finger. (AP Wirephoto)

Last Straw In Losing A Wallet

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—It wasn't the $25 that Dr. Nicholas Fournoyrakis minded so much — it was the extra three cents postage.

The doctor, stationed at St. Luke's Hospital, lost his wallet containing cards, licenses and additional important papers plus $25 in cash. A bulky envelope containing the wallet with cards but without money was returned arrived in the mail some time after the loss. It carried 18 cents postage but the doctor had to pay an additional three cents postage due.

Florida Snakes Becoming Fewer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—George P. Vierheller, director of the St. Louis Zoo, is mourning the encroachment of civilization on old snake haunts in Florida. He says he really had to beat the bushes this year for the zoo's snake quota. "Back in 1928 and later," he recalls, "you would build a fire at one end of an Everglades clearing and wait for the snakes to crawl into view."

Heart Attack Fatal To Noted Educator

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, 79, who rose from a plantation background to found Bethune-Cookman College here and become one of the best known Negro women of her time, died last night of a heart attack.

Although in semiretirement and ill health for years, she remained active until the end. She spent her last day at her desk, went home for the evening and collapsed. She headed Bethune-Cookman College from its foundation in 1904 to 1942, when she became president emerita.

She gained new national prominence in 1938 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt made her director of the Division of Negro Affairs in the National Youth Administration and his special adviser on minority affairs. In World War II she was a special assistant to the secretary of war. She held the three posts until 1944. She was one of a family of 17 born in Mayesville, S.C. She worked at menial tasks to go to college and in 1895 was graduated from Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. She planned to become a missionary in Africa but in 1897 began teaching in Florida. With $1.50 in cash she founded the Daytona Normal and Industrial School for Girls in 1899. The school's building went up on a dump heap. Later she purchased the land and in 1904 merged the girls' school with a boys' school, Cookman Institute, to create Bethune-Cookman College.

Under her leadership, the college became an institution of 800 students with a nationwide reputation and alumni throughout the world. A son, Albert Bethune, an instructor at Hines Institute at Augusta, Ga., survives.

Sen. Humphrey Is Concerned About Potential Trap

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today the Russians may be setting a trap in Southeast Asia by spectacular moves to ease tensions in Europe.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that he fears the administration may have a "tendency to let down" in Asia because of its concentration on European affairs.

"I think the Russians may be moving to ease tensions in Europe and at the same time restraining the Chinese Communists from violence in the Formosa area in order to infiltrate the governments in Southeast Asia and cut them off from the free world country by country," he said.

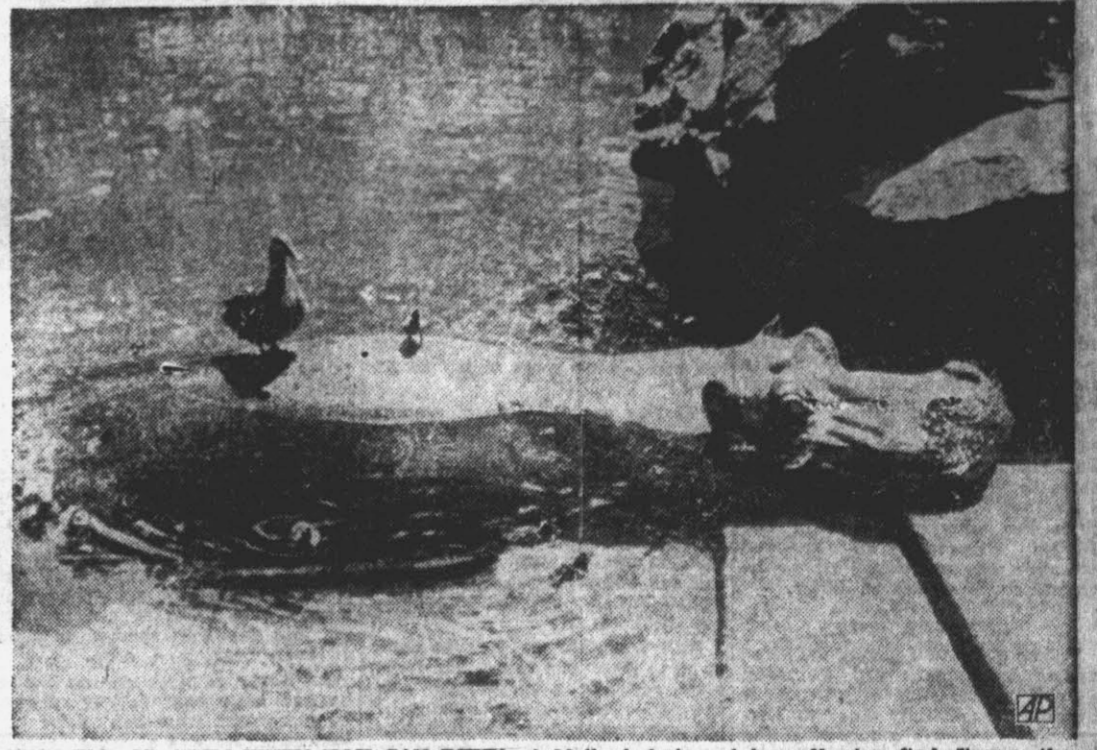

He called for a re-examination of American policies in Asia. He said he does not expect the Communists to make any openly aggressive move in the Far East, but to depend on infiltration tactics.

"I think the Russians are likely to restrain the Chinese Communists from any attack on Formosa or the coastal islands," he said.

"The Communists don't want another Korea. . . . The Communists would rather hulk us to sleep now, I believe."

Humphrey said he agrees that Eisenhower is not likely to fall into any appeasement trap in a top-level meeting with the Premiers of Russia, Britain and France. Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday there is "no appeasement in my heart."

But Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said in a letter to Eisenhower released last night there were "rumors" that the administration plans at the forthcoming Big Four meeting to "purchase" the release of Amer-

McCarthy said the administration should cut off aid to countries which trade with Communist China blockade the China coast or send a task force "under appropriate air cover" to rescue 481 Americans he said were held by the Reds.

If the latter course were adopted he said that as a Marine Reserve lieutenant colonel "I offer to participate in such an operation in whatever capacity my services might prove useful."

Investigating Senators Seek Unravel Tales Of Payoffs And Costly Favors

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators sought to unravel today conflicting testimony about cash payoffs and costly favors in connection with large-scale buying for the armed forces.

Witnesses told yesterday of alleged gifts of a coat to a woman government contract officer, a home freezer and fine lingerie to persons not yet named, and $50 bills to a $60-a-week government inspector who denied they were bribes.

Marvin Rubin, a professional seeker of government contracts for garment makers, was called back as a witness to tell the Senate Investigations subcommittee more about his activities.

"I have never paid a payoff," he testified yesterday.

Rubin had orders from Subcommittee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) to ponder overnight his sworn denial that he was an "influence peddler," and his testimony that the $50 bills were loans to Navy inspector Julius Goldman.

Goldman said he took the money as advance payment on a job he said Rubin had offered him. He testified he accepted it—$50 almost every Friday for three or four months in 1952—while inspecting raincoats manufactured for the Navy by the Ansonia (Conn.) Garment Co., for which Rubin was a business finder.

Rubin himself told of having given a coat to the woman contract officer, Robert F. Kennedy, the subcommittee counsel, said the woman is Mrs. Mella Hort, a contractor, administrator for military procurement at a time when Rubin was representing both the Ansonia company and Bonita Originals Inc. of New York City in negotiations with the government.

Rubin insisted it was an innocent gift.

"I bought a coat for Mrs. Hort as a Christmas gift," he testified. "I did it with her husband's knowledge."

Mrs. Hort was not immediately checked for comment.

Mrs. Ruth Evelove Picoult of Ellenville, N.Y., former bookkeeper for the Bonita, told of having drawn checks to pay for the gift of a home freezer to someone she did not know; $50 or $75 to pay for lingerie gifts by Rubin to others she didn't know; $75 for a payment by Rubin to a government inspector she named as Jerome Schlesinger, and $285 which McClellan said was to pay some government worker's doctor bill.

Schlesinger could not be reached for comment.

Asked about the freezer, Rubin testified the company did pay for one but he added cryptically: "I was instrumental in receiving it as a gift—I never gave any."

Melvin Carlin, a former accountant for the Bonita firm, testified that company also had issued a check for $1,000 to cover spending by Rubin "for the benefit of armed forces purchasing agents."

Goldman was asked whether he considered the money from Rubin a bribe.

"That thought never crossed my mind," he said.

He said he still does "confidential" work for the Navy at Trenton N.J.

Goldman testified that after he had rejected a batch of the Ansonia company's raincoats as defective, Rubin offered him a job as manager of the plant, and thrust into his coat pocket an envelope containing $50.

He said he kept right on getting similar amounts, meanwhile advising Rubin on how to operate the plant better. He swore he considered the money as "advances."

Rubin had a different version. He said he loaned Goldman money, about $200, and tried in vain to collect the debt.

Goldman said he didn't know how much money he got, but did not dispute an estimate by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) that it probably totaled around $800.

Red Signal For Police Escort

ASHLAND Ky. (AP)—Patrolman Calvin Hutchinson tagged a car for overtime parking, then happened to look in the open dashboard compartment. There he saw a stack of old, unpaid traffic tickets.

Each was smugged with red. They had been used to blot a lady's lipstick.

Hutchinson waited for the woman to appear, then escorted her to police headquarters. She forked over $14 for the old tickets, plus 25 cents for the fresh one.

The department charges a maximum $1 for old tickets.

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Summer

SYNOPSIS

A quarrel with his girl, Christie Toland had sent Kerry Ederdan from the Broken Spur ranch into town on a spree that had lasted for days, and brought him back to the ranch minus funds and in debt. To face "the music" with his tough, but generous benefactor, Bob Malory who denounces him roundly as a fool, pointing out to him that the earthy little nester girl, Lita Dawson, with whom he, Kerry, had been consorting, is "poison." To be done with all this, Kerry decides to marry Christie Toland at once, but when she calls on her he finds her with a new beau, one Wayne Cameron, an icy-eyed stranger who will escort her to the community's week-end dance.

CHAPTER FOUR

The conversation among the three drifted into small talk. Cameron showed no intention of leaving. It became increasingly clear to Kerry that he wasn't going to get to see Christie alone, and he felt no desire for any more of the Double Diamond man's company.

He rose. "Well, just dropped in as I was passing. I'd better be getting along." If he'd had any hopes that Christie would urge him to stay, they came to nothing.

Cameron rose and held out his hand, and good manners dragged out of Kerry. "Glad to've made your acquaintance Cameron. Hope we'll meet again sometime."

"I expect we will, before long. You'll be at the dance in Sundown Saturday night, won't you? Christie promised to go with me and help me meet some more of my neighbors."

"As he rode away Kerry was hot with misery and resentment. Somehow, this hit him harder than anything. Never in the last three years had Christie attended a dance with anyone but him. He told himself she was trying to show him he wasn't the only fish in the ocean—but he knew that!

Well, if she thought he was going to go to the dance alone, and moon after her like a motherless calf, she had another guess coming! If she was out to show her independence—well, that was a game two could play! He touched impatient spurs to his horse's sides and reined him in the direction of the Forks.

The Forks was a little cluster of plowed fields, each with its shack—the usual first timid encroachment of the farmer on the edge of the cattlemen's domain. Kerry was cowman enough to have no particular affection for nesters as such, though he didn't favor pushing them off their patches of land by force. There'd been none of that kind of violence in Mesalero county as yet. The smaller ranchers weren't apt to do anything drastic unless Broken Spur or Slash T took the lead, and the Tolands were all for law and order, while Rob wasn't concerned as long as the nesters stayed clear of his range.

The Dawson shack lay at the outskirts of the little settlement, huddling down into the cottonwoods as though it were ashamed of itself, as it had reason to be. Though it had been standing less than a year, the unpainted boards had already begun to warp, and looked as though one good shove would topple them into a heap like so many loosely piled matchsticks. And the ground around it, where it had been half-heartedly scratched with a plow, was cracking and powdering into dust that showed no signs of ever bearing a crop.

As Kerry rode up to the shack, he had an uneasy feeling of eyes watching him from behind the cottonwoods. He was sure he heard a stick crack as he set a foot on the bottom step, but he shrugged his uneasiness aside by telling himself that Lita had probably chased her father, Corry, out of the house when she heard him ride up. She wasn't keen on having the old coot underfoot when she had company.

His rap on the door brought a call of "Come in," in a warm, husky lazy voice, and he stepped from brightness into shadow. The one window of Lita's combined bedroom and living room admitted hardly enough light to show the dirt on the floor and the few sticks of rickety furniture, or to reveal how long it had been since the place had last been swept. But no man would have been apt to notice that, with Lita Dawson right before his eyes.

"Hello, Kerry." She gave him her slow, welcoming smile. "You'll have to excuse the looks of the place. I haven't got round to fixin' it up today."

Kerry laughed and put out an arm to pull her to him. She was a full-bodied girl with curves in all the right places, and flesh that was soft but firm, like a ripe peach. "Glad to see me, sugar?" he smiled down at her.

"Course I am. Though I reckon I hadn't oughta tell you so, the way you been lookin' me lately. I don't think you like me any more." She turned her eyes up to him, brown and liquid, with the special, shining way she had of looking at a man. Lita was all woman, Kerry thought; she took a man the way she found him, no matter how he looked. He was always wanting to make him over into some people. Then, as her lips parted wide in invitation, he abruptly stopped thinking about anyone else.

"Well," he raised his lips from hers, "still think I don't like you?" "I reckon you do, honey lamb. And I reckon I like you—I just can't help it. You sure are a sweet boy Kerry."

"Sweet, yourself." Kerry pressed his face against the loose softness of her brown hair.

"We wonder all the girls are after you. But you like me better'n any other girl?"

If a memory of steel-blue eyes and hair like a silver-gilt crown rose to trouble Kerry's contentment, he shut it out of his mind. (To Be Continued)

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Aircraft headed for a recovery in the stock market today for the second straight session.

In the early afternoon gains ran to between 1 and 3 points in many sections with the greatest concentration of biggest gainers in the aircrafts.

Steels did well along with motors, railroads, coppers, utilities, oils, chemicals, merchandising shares, electronics, radio-televisions, and building materials.

Trading pace continued good and at a rate above yesterday's 2,010,000 shares.

General Dynamics opened on a block of 8,000 shares up 2 and then pushed its gain to between 3 and 4 points at one time. Bath Iron Works started 1,100 shares up 2 1/2 at 53 1/2 and held around that figure.

Among other stocks gaining were Boeing, Douglas United Aircraft, Lockheed, Sperry, U.S. Steel, Distillers Corp., Chrysler, Macy's, RCA, Zenith Radio (up between 4 and 5 points on revived hopes for its pay-as-you-see television system), Illinois Central, New York Central, TXL Oil, Eastern Air Lines, and U.S. Gypsum.

The stock market, yesterday rallied strongly with aircrafts out in front following two days of severe declines. The debate in Washington over whether the United States trailed Russia in air power was considered by many to be the basis for the new interest in aircrafts.

Annuals arrived at Greenville High School Tuesday, and students have been snatching moments ever since to "sign each other's" yearbook. Foreign Mission Growth Cited To Southern Baptists Delegates

MIAMI, Fla. — Substantial growth among foreign missionaries and the Woman's Missionary Union was reported today to nearly 15,000 messengers (delegates) attending the Southern Baptist Convention.

Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary of the Missions Board, said in a prepared report that at the end of 1954 there were 949 foreign missionaries serving in 35 countries and territories.

In addition, the Baptists had 1,016 ordained native workers and 2,566 unordained workers, he added.

Mrs. George R. Martin of Norfolk, Va., head of the Woman's Missionary Union, said in another report that the WMU had 1,302,060 members at the end of last year, an increase of 9.6 per cent over 1953 and the highest in history.

The WMU publishes five magazines for various age groups and they had a combined circulation of 465,000 last year, she reported.

Dr. James L. Sullivan, executive secretary of the Sunday School Board, reported new records in sales of church periodicals and bulletins, printing publications worth $17,747,000.

The Baptist Printing House in Nashville, Tenn., reported 49 new book titles during the year, with more than a million copies, plus two million copies of other books.

Elmo Scoggin, a missionary to Israel, said 50 million of the world's most fanatic Moslems live in the Middle East and urged the convention to concentrate some of its missionary efforts there.

Israel, he said, should receive special attention because "it is the perfect training ground for the Southern Baptist conquest of the Moslem world."

Cauthen said the need for more foreign missionaries is self-evident and added that the number of missionaries now on assignment could be increased 300 per cent.

"Latin America is calling for more than 200; the Orient calls for more than 250; a large number is needed for America, Europe and the Near East," he declared.

Dr. C. C. Warren, of Charlotte, N.C., was elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention on the first ballot yesterday. He succeeds Dr. J. W. Storer of Tulsa, Okla., who had served two years and was ineligible for a new term.

Other candidates for the post were Dr. Ramsey Pollard of Knoxville, Tenn., Judge John McCall of Memphis, Tenn., and Dr. Homer G. Lindsay of Jacksonville, Fla.

James W. Merritt of Atlanta and Joe Burton of Nashville were re-elected secretaries without opposition and Forner of Nashville was chosen unanimously for another term as treasurer.

A record 10-million-dollar budget for the convention's cooperative program was adopted.
