State Dept. Awaiting Official Moscow Reply

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is awaiting an official note from Moscow before deciding what is Russia's real approach to arranging a top-level Big Four conference.

Secretary Roswell Perkins appeared before the committee for her and read her statement. President Eisenhower last week asked for an appropriation of 28 million dollars which he said would be used to supply vaccine to those unable to pay for it.

Just before the deputies got off the path and onto the highway they had to remove a strand of barbed wire strung across their route.

The nature of the problems themselves is becoming plainer and hope of quick progress is weighing somewhat. The Soviets, for example, have attacked Dulles and Eisenhower for broaching the idea of discussing the Soviet satellite states in Eastern Europe.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Lillie Watson - Charles Harrell

Miss Lillie Faye Watson and Mr. Charles Hopkins Harrell were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on May 22 at 4:00 o'clock in the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church. The vows were heard by the Rev. S. A. Smith, former superintendent of the Free Will Baptist Orphanage at Middlesex and the Rev. R. B. Crawford, pastor of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church.

The church was decorated with a background of salal, plumosus fern and palms and seven branch wrought iron candelabra with candles. White floor standards of white gladioli, pom-pom chrysanthemums and white stock were used. Pews were marked with white satin bows and plumosus fern.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Bonnie Farmer, organist, and Mr. Gerald Murphy, soloist. Mr. Murphy sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told" prior to the entrance of the bride and groom. The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Burkett Raper, a close friend of the bride and bridegroom, wore a gown of bridal satin and chintilly lace fashioned with a high Victorian neckline. Her long-sleeved bodice was trimmed with a row of tiny satin buttons and a pointed yoke of chintilly lace. The skirt extended into a chapel train. Her finger tip veil of nylon illusion fell from a coronet of chintilly lace. She carried a white prayer book topped with a pure white orchid, carnation petals and satin ribbon.

Miss Betty Jean Watson, sister of the bride, attended her as maid of honor. Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Ann Simonds of New Bern and Mrs. Katherine Raper of

Headlines Are Born: Not Made

Newspapers do not make headlines any more than they make news although newspapers individually and collectively are often accused of both.

One of the latest such accusations has been leveled at state newspapers by Sen. Lunsford Crew of Halifax who told the Senate in connection with the Eleanor Rush case "... newspapers thought they could make headlines out of this thing and that's what they did."

The Senator from Halifax should be corrected. The newspapers didn't make the Eleanor Rush case a headline story. It was a headline story when it happened at Women's Prison in Raleigh. The newspapers merely place the story in its proper place when reporting it to the people.

From our observation of the way the Eleanor Rush case was handled by newspapers throughout North Carolina, the story was accurate and fair, reporting to the people the facts which are necessary when a happening of such import occurs. Had the newspapers done less, they would not have been executing their obligation to the people to report the news.

From time to time almost every newspaper finds it has either under-played or over-played a particular news story. When this does occur, it is because of an error in news judgment rather than an attempt to "slant" or emphasize a story which does not merit such emphasis.

No, Sen. Crew, the newspapers do not make the headlines and they don't make the news stories. The headlines and the news are both made by the happenings of the day.

New Law Is Not Without Pitfalls

Six state-supported colleges now have a new avenue through which they may be able to alleviate the dire shortage of dormitory space which has plagued institutions for the past decade.

If the colleges use the new law wisely, it can mean a great deal to the educational institutions of North Carolina. If college officials and others charged with the responsibility of exercising the power delegated under the new law use the new avenue without the necessary caution and foresight, they can place the state's educational institutions in severe financial circumstances.

The law authorizes six colleges—including East Carolina College—to issue revenue bonds with which to construct new dormitories. The law provides that the revenue which is received from dormitory rents (which colleges have been authorized to increase) will be used to retire the bonds.

Since the close of World War II state-supported schools have been unable to provide dormitory space for students who wished to attend the institutions. East Carolina, for example, has had to turn away hundreds of students during the period because it lacked housing facilities. It would have had to turn away hundreds more had not rooms for students been available in private homes in Greenville.

Because of the financial press this year, the legislature cut permanent improvements of state institutions to the bone. It was out of the question for the General Assembly to provide a state bond issue for the colleges as it did during the 1953 session. The outgrowth of that situation, coupled with the pressing need for dormitory space, resulted in the new revenue bond law for state-supported schools.

The new law opens the way for schools to provide for themselves dormitories the state could not otherwise provide. With proper administration and discrete use, the new law can prove a boon to East Carolina as well as the other five state-supported colleges it covers.

Adverse Results Nearer Home

While the Department of Health, Education and Welfare wallows in the valley of indecision over the Salk polio vaccine, there are arising new indications in Eastern North Carolina that even in this area parents are getting cold feet over allowing their children to receive their second vaccine shots.

In Nash County this week parents of eight school children sent notes to school saying they did not want their children to receive the second in the series of shots. Such actions are a direct result of the confusing situation the government has created over the Salk vaccine with its off-again-on-again policy toward the serum.

The mess the Department of Health, Welfare and Education has made and is making over the Salk vaccine is indeed excusable.

SWEET WATER
A man was showing pictures sometime ago that were taken in that great empty space in Arabia which is now intriguing the interest of explorers. The lecturer had been one of a few men to penetrate this forbidding region. Here and there at water holes were a few families.

He told of coming upon one of these families and finding them very friendly. After some conversation with the head of the Mohammedan household, the lecturer asked that he might take a picture of his host's closely veiled wives. The host agreed and asked what he would receive in return. "A drum of sweet water," said the lecturer; and the joy of the household was unbounded.

They were constantly compelled to drink the brackish, acid-filled water which came from a little spring near their tents. "Sweet water," with no bad taste to it was to them the very nectar of the gods. All over the world people are drinking brackish, acid-filled, bad-tasting water. They are trying to assuage their thirst on bitterness, busy avarice, resentment, and self-pity. Jesus said, "The water that I shall give him shall become in him a well of water, springing up unto eternal life."

Gov't To Keep One Business

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Although President Eisenhower and the Hoover Commission want to get the Federal Government out of all business and industry, the Administration will probably continue to operate a tin smelter at Texas City, Tex., that loses $15,000,000 annually and refines metal which we already have in great supply.

Several reasons account for this strange situation, political, economic and military. The Texas City smelter is the only tin refinery in the western hemisphere. It was built hurriedly after Japanese submarines cut off supplies from Southeast Asia. In view of the current explosive conditions in that area, defense experts say that we must maintain these smelting facilities. In the event of another global conflict the United States might again have to supply most of the free world. The only other smelters available to the Allies are in England.

REASONS FOR MAINTAINING SMELTER—Another important reason for continued operation is the fact that two Texas Democrats can make or break the Eisenhower Administration on Capitol Hill. Insisting upon retention of the mill are Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, two influential leaders of the still loyal opposition. About 800 men are employed at the plant, which means several thousand votes.

Call Of The Wild

Somebody Told Me

Sometimes It Isn't Worth It

There comes a time when the little woman needs an escape from the kitchen. "Let's go out to supper," I say to Wife Rachel now and then. She always agrees and the routine that follows makes you wonder if it's worth it.

6:15: Drag in from a hard day at the office. Or even if it's an easy day how good can you feel at 6:15?

6:20: Start pulling the children out of the tub. W. R. is cramped from bending over it for the previous 20 minutes. She has to snap out of the cramped position to help me with the chase. Soon as they get dry we have two naked children with two irate parents in hot pursuit all four burning the rugs up.

6:25: The wrestling match. When dressing gets too rough I put 'em in between my legs and hold them like a vise. 6:40: At this point I sit down and breathe deeply a few times to fight off sheer exhaustion. Being of stronger physical capacities, W. R. begins to whip up supper for the children.

7:00: The shoveling of food begins. It's hard enough when we have plenty of time, but trying to make a supper engagement makes it rough. And the more you try to rush 'em, the more of a mess they try to make.

7:20: Got to pick up the sitter at 7:45. Keep calm now. Read to 'em. Get 'em sleepy. "Now, children, this is no time to fight over which story I'm going to read."

7:40: Oh, well. We've never been on time anyway. And a bath? We've got plenty of Mum. And suppose we don't have the children in bed? What are we paying the sitter for? Suppose we should increase the rate per hour with both of them so wide awake? 8:05: Surprise! Both of 'em in bed and not a peep in five minutes. Better call the sitter or see if she's given us up. And by working in shifts, we're both dressed. What's a little B. O. among friends. Maybe the Mum covered it up.

8:45: What do you mean you're too tired to eat? And you've been hungry so long that you're not anymore. What all you, woman? Don't you appreciate an evening out now and then?

9:30: Just was able to take the sitter back home. Two exhausted people flop in front of the TV set, daring anybody to mention eating out for a month.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

STATE TAX BILL MEETS NEED WITH EQUITY

(Kinston Free Press)
The new revenue bill which has passed the House in the General Assembly and appears destined to gain speedy approval of the State Senate this week, seems to meet the State's revenue needs with equity. It is aimed more at taxation of beer, wine and liquor and other non-essentials than it is at the State's basic commodities or industries. The revenue measure will not please all groups. We have never seen a tax bill that did and we don't expect to live long enough to see such a phenomenon, unless it be a general tax reduction for all taxpayers, and that is not in the offing for the immediate future, at least. Efforts to tax soft drinks, newspapers and other industries in an effort to raise the bulk of the additional revenue needed from one or two major sources, were defeated. The tobacco tax also was defeated, even though it had the backing of Governor Hodges and others. Chances are it would have been approved, too, if it had not been possible to reduce the estimates of additional revenue needed as a result of property and income under existing tax laws. The legislators had a difficult task. It was achieved after much discussion and much soul-searching in an effort to avoid all new taxes. Its delays proved to be fruitful, because if the original suggestions had been followed early in January or February, the State would have had a tax measure today designed to create a surplus rather than to meet the basic needs. That would not have pleased anyone. The tax measure will not provide for many services that are deemed important to the growth and development of the schools and other state agencies. It is a measure designed to "get by" the next biennium and to afford the time to study problems and necessities. But it has three aspects which will meet the yardstick of equity by which we measure it: 1. It follows the normal tax pattern, long accepted by the people; 2. It avoids taxation of basic necessities such as would have been imposed in a sales tax increase; 3. It steers clear of sine industries and avoids pricing which is most wholesome. A complete review of the tax laws might have been better but we believe the present law will be an acceptable substitute for such a review.

Lengthy Session Expected Before Assembly Convened

By LYNN NISBET

LEGISLATURE — Before the 1955 General Assembly convened it was conceded that it would be a long session and that three major problems would confront the members. In order of importance these problems were listed as (1) balancing the State budget in face of declining revenue and increasing demands for government services; (2) dealing with the matter of desegregating public schools; and (3) reorganization of the State governmental structure. Another item not particularly the responsibility of the members of the Legislature but important to the people of the State, was the prediction that the record made by Governor Luther Hodges during the session would largely determine his political future, and indirectly the political complexion of North Carolina for years to come. That forecast was by no means a prediction of the Governor's position of being the chief executive during a session of the General Assembly with imminent prospect that he might be elected for a full term and become the first Governor in 150 years to serve during three regular legislative sessions.

REVIEW — In this and succeeding articles we shall attempt to review and evaluate developments in light of these pre-session predictions. For most part the records show the forecasts were very accurate. It is probably true that budget-balancing occupied more time than had been tentatively assigned it in early predictions, and governmental reorganization was given less attention than forecast. The segregation issue held its own and the shadow of that problem was cast over almost everything done by the General Assembly on major state problems of finance and government administration. REVENUE — When the General Assembly convened in January it was faced with budget appropriations bills calling for expenditure of $425 million general fund money during the 1955-57 biennium. About $2 million from the agriculture fund and $210 million highway fund brought the total budget to $637 million. The highway item posed no special problem because for many years it has been policy to keep highway and general fund accounts separate, with highways spending the revenue collected from specified taxes and no more. The agriculture fund likewise largely supports activities of the Department with only small amount from general fund sources. The real problem occurred in the general fund account. Original budget estimates were that existing tax schedules would yield only $373 million, thus requiring about $264 million additional from new revenue sources, or $26 million a year. To provide this additional money the advisory budget commission and the Governor recommended a tax on tobacco products based on 2 cents a package of cigarettes and other items in like ratio; a tax on soft drinks based on 3/4 of one cent on a 5 cent drink elimination of the 15 cent maximum sales tax charge on single item purchases, and numerous smaller levies.

Late in March, after the Legislature had been in session for two and half months, the budget folks increased the estimate of yield from existing sources by $15 million, thus reducing the amount of new money needed to about $237 million, or $13.5 million a year. A month later it was announced that by savings in administration, tighter collections and other devices the new money needs could be further cut to less than $20 million, or about $9.5 million a year. Meantime the "tobacco bloc" was busy working against the cigarette tax, and the soft drink tax was virtually marked off. Numerous substitutes were offered, including increased sales tax rates, increased income rates, increase in cost of automobile tags with the extra money going into the general fund instead of the highway account, taxes on newspaper advertising and circulation. RECAPITULATION — Some of these proposals were admittedly absurd, many of them had conceded merit. All were given some attention by the joint finance committee, various subcommittees and sub-subcommittees, and from time to time substitute "package deals" were proposed and rejected. The House and Senate finance committees split up and each went its separate way. Finally the House committee approved and the full House adopted a bill which left out tobacco, soft drink and auto tag levies and included a 25 per cent increase in Schedule B privilege license taxes. When that bill got to the Senate it was rejected and a substitute adopted which replaced the Schedule B increases with an increase in the taxes on beer designed to yield about the same amount—some $175 million a year. The Senate also deleted the newspaper circulation tax and other small items in the House bill. The Senate bill came back to the House for concurrence and the House refused to go along. A conference committee worked for many hours and agreed upon a bill which retained the beer tax

Business Today Law Spurs Mergers

By ELMER ROESSNER
It's the government that is largely to blame for the growing number of mergers, this department keeps saying. But Congressmen don't pay any attention. They keep on worrying, denouncing and threatening to investigate, but they aren't doing anything about the tax laws that are shotgunning companies into corporate marriages. At the moment, these tax laws are pushing along what seems to be a corporate harem. Texton American, Inc. is offering to take over Brown & Bigelow through an exchange of stock. Royal Little, president of Texton, says the acquisition would be a purchase rather than a merger, but the end results would be pretty much the same. Brown & Bigelow directors will meet on the proposal this week. If the wedding takes place it will unite about as strange a group of corporate bedfellows as ever seen.

Brown & Bigelow is the country's largest manufacturer of calendars, advertising gimmicks, playing and greeting cards, direct mail promotion material and novelties. Texton American was created last February by the merger of Texton, Inc., American Woolen and Robbin's Mills. Texton brought into the merged company the Dalmo Victor Co., one of the country's largest makers of airborne radar antennas, aircraft parts and other electronic equipment; M.B. Manufacturing Co., makers of aircraft engine mounts and engine devices; Burkhart Manufacturing Co., one of the nation's largest producers of furniture and auto upholstery stuffing; Ryan Industries, Inc., manufacturers of various defense products; and the AmWool Finance Corp. Tax benefits are a major reason for the Texton-Brown & Bigelow merger. While both firms are making money now, Texton has an earlier loss of $30,000,000 that can be carried forward as a tax credit. Charles A. Ward, president of Brown & Bigelow, said that this credit "should provide a common ground for making money." IN TROUBLE? CONFERENCE! FTC COMMISSIONER ADVISES

When the hot breath of the Federal Trade Commission is felt on the back of a business's neck, it may be a good idea for the firm to apply for a trade practice conference. Commissioner Lowell B. Mason, addressing the Insurance Federation of Illinois pointed out that new FTC rules provided that when a set of trade-practice rules are issued for an industry, "complaints which have not been adjudicated and in which the charges are adequately covered by such rules... may be made the subject of a motion to suspend..."

GOVERNMENT'S SHARE UP TENFOLD IN 150 YEARS
The cost of the Federal government has grown 10 times faster than the economy, according to a report on "A Century and a Half of Federal Expenditures," by Slade Kendrick, published today by the National Bureau of Economic Research. Dr. Kendrick, Cornell economist, presents the first comprehensive record of Federal expenditures from 1799 on. His figures are adjusted to the purchasing power of the dollar to avoid distortion. They show that in 1799, the United States spent about 1 per cent of its income for government; in recent years it has been spending 10 per cent of a vastly increased income. PAYROLL SAVINGS PLAN ADDS 25 PER CENT BONUS
Du Pont is offering a 25 per cent bonus on employees' regular savings. Under a plan to go into effect September 1, employees are invited to save from $12.50 to $750 a month under a payroll deduction plan. The savings will be invested in U.S. Series E Bonds. Then for every dollar saved, Du Pont will add 25 cents, and this sum will be invested in Du Pont shares. The employees must hold the shares for two years.

Short Jumps To Big Conclusions
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Little broad-jumps to big conclusions—or snap judgements a guy couldn't prove in court. If a man can't be taught by experience, he can't be taught. Some people will swallow anything, digestion is the more difficult art. If animals had pockets like people, they'd have as many worries as you. A fellow who is always borrowing someone else's pocket comb rarely makes lasting friendships. It is better to have two holes showing in your socks than one in your head. Four out of five times it is more expensive to buy a dinner for a small woman than a large one. When a girl cozily murmurs, "I don't really eat, I just peck at food," you can bet on it that the bird she pecks like isn't a wren but a oriole. There are more secret eaters in America than there are secret drinkers. Some of the most religious people I know also regularly read astrology magazines. In heaven's name, why? People often feel sorry for a poor devil; they rarely express sympathy for a rich saint. A cynic is a guy who can criticize food even on an empty stomach. A waiter's observation: "In the most interesting understandings reached at a restaurant table the knees do all the real talking." Any red-haired girl who ends up a spinster simply doesn't like men. You're only old once. Social climbers always remind me of a ractracetrack bum who won't pick up cigarette butts anywhere except at the $50 win-

Joyce Smith Weds Louis Howe

In an impressive ceremony of picturesque loveliness, Miss Joyce Ann Smith and Louis S. Howe were united in marriage at the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville on Sunday at four o'clock in the afternoon with the Rev. H. G. Henny officiating.

For the service the church was decorated with emerald greens, huckleberry and plumous fern, large standards of gladioli, white snapdragons and lace chrysanthemums and tall cathedral candles.

As guests assembled Mrs. Paul Hickling as organist rendered a program of nuptial music, and Mrs. Joyce Dall as soloist sang "All For You" by Bernard Brown and "O Promise Me" by de Koven. Mrs. Dall sang "O Perfect Love" as a benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Acting as ushers were Milton Foley Ray Smith Jr. and Jack Neilson of Greenville and James Seivers of Raleigh.

The bride chose as her honor attendant Miss Judy Howe, sister of the groom, and the bridesmaids were Misses Barbara Corbett, Annie Laura Taylor, Margie Manning and Jo Anne Timberlake. The junior bridesmaids were Peggy Smith, sister of the bride, and Judy Wilson, niece of the bride.

Little Miss Linda Spain and Jimmy Wilson, nieces of the bride, served as flower girls.

All attendants wore light blue nylon net over taffeta dresses styled with dropped shoulders, fitted bodice and full hooped skirts, and large taffeta picture hats. They carried colonial bouquets of American Beauty mids carnations tied with matching cut work satin ribbon. The flower girls carried baskets of pink rose petals which they scattered down the aisle in front of the bride.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. Roy G. Smith, and was met at the altar by the groom and his father, Mr. Louis S. Howe, who served as best man. Her wedding gown was an off-the-shoulder creation of Magnolia satin, illusion neckline with berth of satin edged with lace. A light fitted bodice with self covered buttons down the back. The exquisite train was edged in the matching lace of the gown. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion fell from a tulle of seed pearls. She carried a formal bouquet of bride's roses, stephanotis and bridal lace, centered with an all-white orchid.

Mrs. Smith, stepmother of the bride, chose for the wedding an antique blue lace and crepe dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Howe, mother of the groom, was becomingly gowned in mauve silk with matching accessories. Both mothers wore natural orchid corsages.

For traveling Mrs. Howe wore a navy blue pure silk with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Howe is the daughter of Mr. Roy G. Smith and the late Mrs. Smith of Greenville. She received her education in the Greenville City Schools and East Carolina College. For the past three years she has been employed by the Refrigeration Discount Corporation.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Howe of Greenville. He received his education in the Greenville City Schools and East Carolina College and State College in Raleigh.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Howe will be at home in Raleigh where Mr. Howe will continue his studies at State College and Mrs. Howe will hold a position with General Electric Credit Corporation.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained at a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Howe Jr. in their home on East Fourth Street.

The entire lower floor of the home was exquisitely decorated with roses, pink and white snapdragons, larkspur and baby's breath and burning white taper.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Spain welcomed the guests and presented them to the receiving line composed of the bride and groom, their parents, and members of the bridal party. Guests passed from the receiving line to the dining room where Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson served them punch, dainty tea pastries, bridal cakes, mints and salted nuts. They were assisted in serving by Misses Frances Sigmon, Connie Vincent of Greenville and Cynthia Bradley of Raleigh, the bride's honorary bridesmaids.

In the dining room the table was spread with a white lace cloth over satin and centered with a lovely arrangement of pink and white snapdragons, pink roses and baby's breath. The base of the punch bowl was encircled with greenery, pink

About 50 men were trapped in the mine of the Caroline Coal Co., eight miles from Raleigh, when an explosion occurred shortly before midnight today.

Good roads in North Carolina proved their worth again yesterday, when they made it possible for the people of two one time distant sections of the state to come together and know each other better. Yesterday at Edenhouse, Bertie County, on Chowan River, the members of the Masonic Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Windsor were hosts to the members of the Bethlehem Commandery of Knights Templar of Greenville at an old fashioned Shad and Rock stew.

Billy Pierce And Curt Simmons Seem Ready To Resume Strikeout Business

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Billy Pierce and Curt Simmons, a pair of southpaws who have known better days, look as if they may be ready to set up shop again. If so, you can bet Managers Marjory Marion and Mayo Smith will be throwing a lot of business their way.

Billy the Kid has been one of the missing links in Marion's plan to bring the Chicago White Sox an American League pennant. The Sox have been able to hang in there, just a stride or two behind the leaders, without Pierce, but if his arm troubles are over, Chicago could really get in on the scrap.

Pierce gave an indication of his importance last night. His three-hitter beat Cleveland 4-1. Chicago home runs ruined rookie Herb Score and pushed the Sox to within half a game of the second-place Indians.

Billy fanned seven while notching his second complete game, flashing some of the stuff that made him the AL's strikeout king in 1952—the year he was 18-12. Simmons looked his best since 1953 as he went 7 1-3 innings before tiring last night. And with some nice help from Jack Meyer, the Philadelphia Phillies were able to snap a six-game winning streak by the New York Giants 6-2.

In five appearances after shoulder trouble in spring training. In the American League Chuck Stobbs and the Washington Senators made a scheduled first-place New York's seven-game string by beating the Yankees 3-2. And Baltimore ended its five-game losing slump 6-1 against Boston while Detroit beat Kansas City 9-6.

In the National, Pittsburgh buried its 11-game losing string by humiliating the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers 15-1. Rain postponed St. Louis at Chicago and Cincinnati at Milwaukee. The White Sox caught up with Score in the seventh, breaking up a no-hit bid with three singles and a run. Then after Ralph Kiner homered to tie it, Chico Carrasquel and Bob Nieman homered to score three runs in the eighth. Score fanned 11.

At Philadelphia, Meyer saved Simmons by getting Dusty Rhodes and Willie Mays on popups with the bases loaded in the eighth. Glen Gorbous sent Jim Hearn to his third defeat again, six successes with two doubles and a pair of singles that scored two tie-breaking runs.

The Pirates hammered loser Johnny Podres and five Brooklyn relievers for 19 hits. Bob Friend shut out the Dodgers in 4 1-3 innings of relief for the decision. The Yanks had three doubles among their five hits off Stobbs, who won his first decision, but paired them only in the eighth. That's when Mickey Mantle got his second two-bagger to tie the score at 2-2. Mickey Vernon's long sacrifice fly brought Stobbs home with the winning run in the ninth. The Yanks held on to their one-game league lead.

At Kansas City, the Tigers lost Harvey Kuenn for 10 days when the leading AL batsman pulled a muscle while running out a first-inning hit. Three runs in the eighth won it for Detroit after Al Kaline and Gus Zernial matched three-run homers in the sixth. Forty players got into the game—including 11 pitchers, seven for Detroit.

Jim McDonald and Ray Moore got the job done for the Orioles 3-for-4 and Gene Woodling's two runs baited in. McDonald, who came to Baltimore with Woodling in the Bob Turley deal, won his first as a starter with Moore blanking the Sox over the last 2 1-3 innings.

At Philadelphia, Meyer saved Simmons by getting Dusty Rhodes and Willie Mays on popups with the bases loaded in the eighth. Glen Gorbous sent Jim Hearn to his third defeat again, six successes with two doubles and a pair of singles that scored two tie-breaking runs.

Lions Win Back Lead Position

The Lions pushed their way back into the top spot of the North State League yesterday afternoon with a 7-3 win over the V. F. W. behind the four-hit pitching of Tadpole Cates.

Little Leo Starling was the sparkplug of the win for the Lions with a perfect 3-for-3 day at the plate. Starling also scored three runs. Leonard Robbins was the big gun in the V. F. W. attack with a home run.

Cates pitched steady ball and experienced only one bad inning. In the fourth the V. F. W. pushed over three runs off the little right-hander.

Especially, after Don had beaten the Cubs with a brilliant one-hitter in his first start since his reinstatement.

The Dodgers' amazing winning streaks were spiced with flare-ups and temperamental outbursts. Newcombe's refusal to pitch in batting practice was just one of the many incidents that kept things jumping in Flatbush. The Dodgers were winning at

Greenies Play Falkland Tonight At Local Park

Greenville's league leading semi-pro Greenies take on the Falkland Bloodhounds tonight in a regularly scheduled Coastal Plain League game at Guy Smith Stadium in Greenville.

So far this year in three games the Greenies have won two and dropped only one against Falkland. On the opening weekend the Greenies snipped out a 13-2 win, only to lose the next day. Later in the season James Earl Pollard shut out the Falkland lads 6-0 on just four hits. That was the Greenies best pitching performance of the year.

Says Armistice Line Is A Reminder To World

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, preparing to leave the Far East to become U.S. Army chief of staff, said today the Korean armistice line should be "a constant reminder to the Communist world and encouragement to the free world that we defeated the Communists on the battlefield."

"We of the free world don't think with the pride about our accomplishments in Korea to the degree the record indicates," said Taylor, 8th Army commander at the time of the truce and Far East commander since April 1.

Without A Clue To Missing Child

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Long hours of searching by nearly a thousand persons left police still without a clue today to the whereabouts of 8-year-old Jeannie Singleton.

Darkness last night interrupted the hunt for the pert, brown-haired, second-grader, but police said they would continue to comb city streets and neighboring woodlands and swamps.

Little Jeannie, her right leg crippled by rheumatic fever, vanished Monday afternoon on her way home from school. Police fear she may have been abducted by a sex deviate.

The four-star general said he will leave June 5 and go via Southwest Asia and Europe to get up to date "on the American mission."

Taylor will become chief of staff June 30. He replaces Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who was displeased with cuts recently voted in the Army budget. Ridgway will retire.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, commander of Far East Army forces and the U.S. 8th Army, will take Taylor's Far East command.

Taylor said, "I don't think we capitalize enough in our military leadership on the fact that almost every American boy likes to do something hard, to face a challenge."

Tickets for the Review are available from any member of the Exchange Club and will be on sale at the door both evenings.

Gas Delivered In Appeal By Radio

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP)—Hugh Munn ran out of gas 40 miles north of here yesterday and got help by way of Sacramento, Calif.

Munn sent an SOS on a short-wave radio he has in his car. An amateur radio operator in Sacramento picked it up but wouldn't believe there was any such place as Truth or Consequences.

Munn finally convinced him. The ham operator called long distance to Truth or Consequences and found a gasoline station, through the phone company, that gave road service.

An attendant delivered 10 gallons of gas to Munn.

Just One Count For Unfortunate

OMAHA (AP)—Edward E. Kopfle, 28, ran his car into a ditch on a country road and started walking for help. He had hooped it a mile when deputy sheriffs seeking the owner of the wrecked car, spotted by them on their rounds, caught up.

They handed Kopfle a ticket including a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident. But Capt. R. H. Walter said that was going too far and scratched the count. He let stand a charge of having no driver's license.

'Fabric Of Falsehoods' Said Clouding Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today a "mystifying fabric of falsehoods" is clouding the record of a Senate search for graft in buying of uniforms for the armed forces.

Noting that two witnesses before the Senate Investigations subcommittee on which he serves have admitted lying under oath, he said conflicts in the testimony of others shows some of them also "are trying to deceive us."

"This is awful," he said. "It's a terrible spectacle." He said any government worker caught trying to deceive the subcommittee "ought to be fired."

One witness was fired late yesterday. The Army announced the immediate dismissal of David Pollack as a contract analyst for the Quartermaster Corps in Philadelphia—a job paying between $5,940 and $6,940 a year.

The announced reason was that Pollack's testimony yesterday "differed from testimony he gave in a previous closed session" of the subcommittee. Pollack had conceded that, but he disputed testimony from another witness that he had taken money from a private firm dealing with the Army.

The other witness who admitted lying under oath was Joseph G. Porreca, of Clifton, N.J., a former chief inspector for the Army. He denied but later admitted receiving gifts from a man associated with the same firm.

The subcommittee called more witnesses today to explore more fully into testimony by a Brooklyn manufacturer, Leon M. Levy, that he provided $6,699.94 to finance cash payoffs and gifts to uniformed and civilian Army personnel with whom he was doing business on government contracts in 1952 and 1953.

Levy, a native of Lebanon, consulted a diary in Arabic script in which he said he kept a record of such disbursements from his firm, Bonita Originals, Inc., of New York.

The subcommittee seeks to establish whether any or all of that sum reached the government people. Levy said he expected would get it from Marvin Rubin, whom he had hired to get business for him.

Pollack swore yesterday he never received $500 of Bonita funds which Levy had just testified he believed Pollack accepted from Rubin at Bonita's plant. Levy said the man who got it was introduced by Rubin as Pollack and looked like the witness.

Pollack confessed he had lied under oath when questioned previously about his associations with Rubin. But he insisted he was telling the truth in saying he had never been at Bonita's office, had never before seen Levy and never received any money from Levy, Ru-

Ford Co. Readies 'Package Offer'

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiations between Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers were adjourned today while Ford reportedly made ready a "package offer" to the union.

Ford is expected to make its comprehensive counterproposal tomorrow to the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage for the company's 140,000 production workers.

UAW negotiators, headed by President Walter Reuther, agreed at noon yesterday to a 1½-day recess, presumably to give Ford representatives time to put their new offer into writing.

Both the company and the union declined to discuss the latest developments.

With the expiration date of the auto workers' five-year contract with Ford only a week away, the tempo of negotiations gradually is gaining momentum.

The union announced last night that 96.6 per cent of the workers in 43 locals have voted in favor of a strike, if necessary to gain contract demands. Seven locals still are unreported.

General Motors held its first day-long meeting with the UAW yesterday and company and union representatives will meet again today. The GM contract, covering 325,000 production workers, expires June 7, a week later than the Ford pact.

Shouldn't Smoke Out Her Husband

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A cocktail waitress who tried to smoke out her estranged husband with burning newspapers got a lecture yesterday on playing with fire—from a judge who spoke from experience.

The waitress, Mrs. Elvina De Grouper, 38, was fined $100 and given 90 days to pay. The lecturing municipal judge, Clayton W. Horn, gestured with bandaged hands. He scorched them trying to light his barbecue pit.

Other cable facilities will be placed in the southwest section of town on the west side of Evans Street to serve subscribers on Eleventh Street, South Greens Street, Clark Street, West Street and other streets in that area.

Manager Harrington noted that this project is part of a program begun some 15 to 18 months ago which have involved a total expenditure of nearly one-half million dollars by the telephone company to provide expanded telephone facilities for Greenville.

Political Fact: No Rocking Of Boat When Times Good

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—One lesson seems clear from recent political campaigns and elections in this country and Britain: when people have food and jobs they are not much in the mood for rocking the boat.

Differences between the politicians tend to narrow because extreme proposals, attractive in crisis or depression, have less appeal in time of prosperity.

This probably accounts for the slight margin by which political parties in the United States and Britain have won victories in recent years.

In Britain's elections Thursday the Conservatives, according to the polls, should win a majority again in the House of Commons and, through that, control of the government for another five years.

They beat the Socialist Laborites in 1951 by a tiny margin. If it's bigger this time, it may be due more to the split in the Labor party itself than to radical differences between Conservatives and Laborites.

That split alone, long obvious, might be enough to make the British voters shy away from the Laborites since they wouldn't know what to expect: a left wing led by Aneurin Bevan or the Socialists of center or right under Clement Attlee.

For 20 years in this country the Republicans condemned the Democrats' New Deal and "Fair Deal" as "leading down the road to socialism." But since their 1952 victory the Republicans have wiped out some of the Democrats' basic social legislation.

The British Conservatives, since winning control of their government in 1951, have repealed only a few pieces of the Socialist program put on the books by the Laborites while they held power from 1945 to 1951.

In the depths of the depression of the 1930s the Democrats, under the banner of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal, which promised sweeping remedies, won by big majorities. After the war, with the country moving into peak prosperity, the voters apparently felt no need for sharp

OCCUPATIONAL TITLE?
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mary Hazel Schoellkopf is a teller at the East End State Bank. Her husband, W. H. Schoellkopf, is in the note department of the National Bank of Commerce. Their young son is named Cash.

The election returns showed how the gap between Democrats and Republicans had narrowed. The Republicans won Congress in 1945. The Democrats won in 1948 and 1950 and lost in 1952. The margins in those elections were not sweeping.

That the country didn't see much to choose between the parties themselves was evident in 1952 when President Eisenhower won overwhelmingly but his Republicans won Congress by only a squeak.

Again, the Democrats barely edged into control of Congress in 1954. In none of the elections since the war has either party offered the voters any radical variety in the way of a program.

The Laborites, with their promise of broad socialization, won control of the British government in 1945. That was a time of stress for Britons; they were broke, on rations, under heavy restrictions, and burdened with taxes.

But by 1951, when the Conservatives won, Britain was getting back on its economic feet. Employment was increasing. And as voters got money in their pockets again they apparently felt less urge for social revolution, even though peaceful.

The Conservatives, however, won control of Commons in 1951 by only 19 seats. There was no basic difference between Conservatives and Laborites then on foreign affairs, nor is there now.

And in this election, in a fairly prosperous Britain, the Laborites' talk of domestic change is milder than in previous years. In foreign affairs the Laborites, who went along with the Conservatives, don't have much of talking point.

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Summer

The Boss of Broken Spur
By Nick Summer

SYNOPSIS
Rob Mallory had hoped his foster-son, Kerry Rordaan, would settle down now, wed their neighboring rancher, Christie Toland, take over the management of Broken Spur, which Mallory had built into a Texas cattle empire. But there was a wild streak in the boy which drove him off on drinking sprees, into the arms of the earthy Lita Dawson. It was because of Lita that Christie had broken with Kerry and had turned her attention to Wayne Cameron, an icy-eyed stranger. Trouble in the area had been threatened, for farmers had begun to nest on the land. Disputes as to rights and boundaries arose, and range war seemed inevitable. At a local dance, physical violence flared sharply, when Tim Larrabee, farmer, and Kerry Rordaan, rancher, fought for the favor of beautiful, earthy Lita.

CHAPTER NINE
Kerry let himself cautiously into the house. Through the window he had seen the lamp burning, and knew Rob was still up, but he hoped against hope that for once he could cheat those Indian-sharp ears.

He had cleaned himself up as well as possible, but he knew his face was a mess. There were angry bruises on his cheek and forehead, and his lip was puffed and swollen where Tim's knuckles had split it. A treacherous plank creaked under his boot. Instantly the deep voice, oddly musical even with the angry imperious note in it called, "Kerry!"

"It's me, Rob." His words came thick past the swollen lip. He'll probably think I'm drunk, he reflected hopelessly. "I'm awful tired—want to get to bed."

"You come in here first."

With a resigned shrug, he pushed open the door. "Well, here I am." The room swam in front of his eyes. He just made it to a chair and dropped into it.

A glass was pushed against his lips. The strong taste of whisky was in his mouth, the heat of it running bracingly through him. He raised his head and blinked his eyes to clear them. Rob was standing over him. For a moment it seemed to him that the handsome, saturnine features were softened with concern, but the impression passed so quickly he decided it had been the effect of the liquor.

"What have you been up to this time?"

"Had a fight."

"I didn't figure you bumped into a door," Rob snapped, not unless the door had fists. Who'd you fight with?"

"Tim Larrabee."

Rob exploded. "What are you trying to do—stir up a range war? I told you Broken Spur wasn't figuring on any trouble with that crowd—and if there is any, I'll handle it, like I've been doing for the last twenty years. Did you think you two crazy young roosters were going to settle anything with your fists?"

"I wasn't that kind of trouble."

"A woman?"

"Yeah."

"The Dawson girl?"

"Yeah," Kerry repeated tonelessly.

"I might have guessed that at the start," Rob said bitterly. "For a while a few days ago, I thought you were concerned about Broken Spur. I was glad to see it, even if you were going off half-cocked about nothing. But I should have known that wouldn't last. At least you'll believe me now when I tell you the girl's poison!"

Kerry remembered the look on Lita's face when she knew he and Tim were going to fight; over her, remembered too that she hadn't been anywhere around when it was over. But he insisted stubbornly, "It wasn't her fault Larrabee got drunk and took a crazy notion in his bull-head."

"What kind of a notion?"

Kerry considered lying out of it, but he'd never had much luck lying to Rob, and he didn't have the energy now to try. "She didn't have anything to wear to the dance. I gave her money for a dress, and Larrabee didn't like it. He seemed to figure I wouldn't have given it to her for nothing."

"Did you?"

"Yes! What do you think I am?"

"Even more of a fool than I took you for. No sense, none. Now you listen to me!"

"All right I'm listening."

"To start off with, you're going to quit this confounded drifting and get down to business—start putting some work and sweat into this place that, God help me, is going to be yours some day. In the second place, you're staying away from that little Dawson tramp before she gets you in some real trouble."

"Yes. And another thing. As soon

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

He was never sure afterward whether Rob had really meant to use it, or whether he'd just gripped it blindly in his fury the way he might have gripped anything within his reach. But at the moment he just saw the gesture and stepped forward to say with an ornate quietness, "I'd let that lay, Rob."

"I ought to take it," Rob said between his teeth, "and beat some sense into you. It's been a long time since I licked you, but you're not so big I can't still do it!"

"That's where you're wrong." Swaying on his feet, half-dizzy with weariness every now sending fresh waves of pain through his battered head, Kerry stood and challenged the man who'd been the nearest thing to a father he'd known. "Maybe I'll never be as big as you, but I'm too big for you or any other man to use a whip on me."

After that, it all happened too fast to be clear. He took a step toward Rob—a step that the older man might have interpreted as a threat. The hand with the quirt in it came up, and his own hand shot out to seize the sinewy wrist. Rob was still stronger than he was. He wrenched his arm free, and the quirt rose high, and cracked down across Kerry's shoulders.

For just one minute he saw blood-red, and his fist bunched and drew back without any command from his brain, and Rob, the quirt dropped from his hand, stood quiet and rigid, waiting. Kerry's fingers opened and his muscles relaxed. The night he'd been carried home here, a scared sobbing, bewildered kid, and the years between then and tonight, were there in the room like a presence he could feel, and he knew, with a weary, unquestioning certainty, that he could never raise a hand against Rob.

His shoulders sagged and he moved slowly toward the door.

"Kerry, where you going?" Rob's hoarse voice caught at him and turned him around.

"I don't know. Does it matter? I told you it would be once too often some time. This is the time, Rob."

Sen. Jones Seeks Thursday Adjournment

Plans Resolution Closing Term In Forenoon Hours

RALEIGH — The General Assembly today drove rapidly toward adjournment. It was still uncertain whether the end of the session would come today or tomorrow but indications were it would be tomorrow.

Adjournment tomorrow would make the 195th session the longest in state history.

Sen. Paul Jones of Pitt, president pro tem of the Senate, said he tentatively planned to introduce a resolution fixing the simultaneous final adjournment of the two Houses at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

With today's meetings the legislature had been in session 141 calendar days — which equaled the record sitting of the 1931 depression legislature. A meeting tomorrow will break the record set by the 1931 "long parliament."

The lawmakers have served without pay since April 4, but they hope this will not be true of future legislatures. An amendment to the State Constitution to give them more pay will be submitted to the voters for approval or rejection in the next general election.

The Senate, meanwhile, approved and enacted into law a measure aimed at preventing a black market in Salk polio vaccine.

The measure prohibits sale of the vaccine by anyone except wholesale druggists, physicians, drug stores or the State Board of Health. Violators could receive from four months to 10 years in prison.

The Senate also enacted into law (1) a bill prohibiting insurance companies from making "kickbacks" to loan companies of premiums collected on credit accident and health insurance, (2) a bill appropriating $125,000 in state funds to match federal and local funds in the construction of National Guard armories; (3) a bill to bring state law regarding income tax deductions for depreciation in line with federal law; (4) a bill to allow farmers to deduct in figuring their income taxes money spent for facilities to prevent soil erosion or to conserve water; (5) a bill authorizing cities and counties to appropriate non-tax revenues to establish or support art galleries or museums; and (6) a bill to provide special license plates for antique cars.

WASHINGTON — The House Labor Committee hopes to start hearings tomorrow on administration proposals to increase the federal minimum wage from 75 to 90 cents an hour. Chairman Barden (D-NC) said today.

He told newsmen hearings will begin no later than Tuesday and described as "silly" proposals to finish them in a week or two. Barden said he doesn't know how long they'll last.

The committee voted at a heated session yesterday to wind up hearings on federal school construction bills and take up minimum wage increases.

The committee acted to limit consideration to an increase in the hourly wage figure. It agreed to omit proposals to broaden coverage of the wage law to workers not now covered.

Barden yesterday accused some of his colleagues of "feeding stuff to the newspapers" to the effect that he was "dragging his feet" on school aid legislation.

Notes Challenge Ahead For PCA

COLUMBIA — Production Credit associations face their "greatest opportunity and challenge" in assisting farmers in the immediate years ahead, a University of Georgia professor declared today.

J. W. Fannings, associated director of the university's Center for Continuing Education, said: "Never has agriculture needed more credit than now. Never has agriculture needed in our time someone with whom to counsel on financial management."

Fanning told third district Production Credit Assn. officers and directors at their 21st anniversary conference that it will be their duty to have an "appreciation for the problems which farmers face and a knowledge of what constitutes a progressive agriculture."

He listed as the most serious problems facing the farmer "the large carry-over of many farm commodities," declining agricultural income in connection with personal income, the stepped-up transition to a heavy industrial economy, decreasing farm population and continuing international tension.

Picks Successor To Adm. Carney

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today nominated Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke to be chief of naval operations succeeding Adm. Robert B. Carney. Carney was the center of a recent controversy over the likelihood of a Communist attack in the Formosa area.

The president also nominated: 1. Adm. Arthur W. Radford for a new two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

2. Gen. Nathan F. Twining for a new two-year term as Air Force Chief of Staff.

Earlier this month Eisenhower nominated Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to succeed Gen. Matthew Ridgway as Army Chief of Staff.

Ridgway, who has been critical of administration plans to cut army manpower, is to be replaced by Taylor July 1.

Burke's nomination to succeed Carney will be effective Aug. 16, when Carney's two-year term expires.

The controversy over Carney centered on the question, whether he did or did not tell a group of newsmen a Red attack in the Formosa Strait was likely by mid-April.

Carney discussed the subject at an off-the-record dinner and some of the participants later reported the mid-April date as a time when the administration expected the Reds to hit. Carney subsequently was identified as the speaker.

Later the admiral denied he had spoken of expectations. He said he only discussed capabilities and said the Communists could make an attack by that time if they chose.

Some of the newsmen who took part in the dinner briefing differed among themselves as to just what Carney had said or meant. Some agreed with Carney's version, others with the previously published accounts of the dinner.

Presbyterian Assembly To Vote On Ending Segregation

LOS ANGELES — Presbyterians vote today on a report urging the church to "act now to abolish from its practices all forms of segregation."

Action on a committee plea for a racial "Operation Desegregation" in churches and communities highlights the closing day of the 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

The report of the assembly's Standing Committee on Social Education and Action says also:

1. Churches must be vigilant concerning "crippling restrictions" on schoolteachers, "abuse of loyalty oaths" and "erosion of essential human rights by a narrow definition of patriotism and insistence upon conformity."

2. "Christians should be warned that the greatest danger in politics is idolatry, when we let party loyalties play a larger role in our attitudes and decisions than our loyalty to the living God."

Yesterday the Permanent Judicial Commission and the general assembly upheld the conviction of Claude Williams on charges of heresy, subversion of the faith and violation of presbytery rules. The judgment also sustained his ouster in Michigan as a minister.

Williams, former industrial chaplain in the Detroit presbytery and now a resident of Helena, Ala., had appealed rulings of the Detroit presbytery and a special judicial commission of the Presbyterian synod of Michigan.

"We do not presume to sit in judgment on this man's soul," said the report of the Permanent Judicial Commission. " . . . Before a man can call himself a minister of our church, the church requires complete and unequivocal commitment to the solemn vows of ordination. . . ."

"We wonder that the Rev. Mr. Williams, entertaining the views he does entertain, even desires to be labeled a Presbyterian minister. . . . The appellant must be deposed."

Regarding desegregation the report to be voted on today says of racial and cultural relations:

"The action of the Supreme Court of the United States with reference to racial segregation in public schools points up the failure of the church to achieve true fellowship within its own life. . . ."

Notes progress but adds: "We must continue to work earnestly for desegregation with respect to local churches, presbyteries, synods; boards and agencies of the church, at all levels. . . . local church organizations and activities, sessions, church boards, employed staff and volunteer leadership."

Ayden Rotarians Hear Research Scientist Speak At Weekly Meet

He appeared before the Rotary Club in behalf of the nation's "Chemical Progress Week." Rotarian Gwynn Merritt introduced him.

"America today stands in world leadership because it produces 50 per cent of the world's luxuries, the atom bomb, and conservation and protection of natural resources," Lanika declared. "The United States is rich and has a high standard of living, but America has a shortage of technically trained people." The speaker advised high school students to take plenty of "math" and science courses.

The Ayden Rotary Club presented Bibles to the Ayden High School graduates at commencement.

Storms Blamed For Five Deaths

Damaging storms which struck wide areas in the Midwest and South ended during the night but thunderstorms and rain hit most of the eastern third of the nation.

The stormy weather was blamed for at least five deaths. Two young boys and a man suffered fatal injuries in Augusta, Ga., when a 100-foot section of a concrete wall at the city's baseball park collapsed under heavy winds last night.

A father and son were killed by lightning near Lansing, Mich., during a severe rainstorm.

Tornado winds whipped many areas while the Weather Bureau reported funnel clouds aloft in the southern Great Lakes region and the lower Mississippi Valley. Heavy rainfall yesterday was in the Great Lakes area, with nearly 1 1/2 inches in Milwaukee and Chicago. Many streets in Chicago were flooded.

However, Louisville reported nearly 2 inches of rain as the stormy weather moved eastward.

Showers and thundershowers also continued during the night in the plains across the northern Rockies and into the western plateau region.

Temperatures dropped sharply after the storm struck Midwest areas, as much as 20 degrees in one hour in Chicago, and from a high of 84 yesterday to 48 early today.
