Mock Atomic Attack To Strike Washington Today

Government Officials Prepared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sirens screaming warning of impending atomic attack sent President Eisenhower and 15,000 other officials scurrying today for hideouts scattered in a 300-mile arc about the capital.

The expectation is that the test will show how efficient is the emergency setup already planned, and perhaps indicate ways it can be improved.

Dozens of government information officials left early to get set up for the task of channeling out a flood of orders, proclamations and pronouncements from the government-in-emergency.

Arriving and regrouping at the emergency sites this afternoon and tonight, a dispersed government will deal on paper with the awesome task of reorganizing a stricken nation while waging a retaliatory atomic war.

Neither has Congress voted—nor the administration asked—any standby war powers legislation under which a government scattered to the hills could mobilize the country, control panic buying and profiteering, ration food and clothing to homeless evacuees, or take emergency action to restore transport, communication and credit.

New Officers Elected

New officers of the Pitt Home Demonstration County Council were elected yesterday. The new officers are pictured here, seated. Left to right, they are Mrs. John Whichard, treasurer; Mrs. R. A. Bell, secretary; Mrs. J. Russell Britt, president; Mrs. Wilbur Worthington, vice president; Mrs. David Starling, director. Standing are Mrs. James Allen, president; Mrs. Tyree Stokes, treasurer; and Mrs. Edwin Worthington, director. Mrs. Britt was this year's vice president. One more new director is still to be named. One Of Six District Winners For Second Year In Row Pitt Wins Rural Progress Award for this district. Originally the campaign was begun by the "Progressive Farmer" and other sponsors have joined in.

Pitt County has been announced as one of six district winners in the County and Community Rural Progress Campaign for the second year in a row.

1954, Pitt County will receive the award for the second year in a row. The Challenge group, composed of all public agricultural offices in the county and their workers, was presented a check for $500 last year by Frank Daniels. That money has not been spent as yet and the award this year will give the Challenge group $1,000 for use in furthering the progress of farming in the county.

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—Herbert D. Brauff, editor and publisher of the Wilson Daily Times, died today at a Richmond, Va., hospital of a heart ailment.

Elected Yesterday At County Building Mrs. Britt To Head Council

By EDWINA HAYMES Reflector Staff Writer Mrs. J. Russell Britt of Seven Pines was elected president of the Pitt Home Demonstration County Council when that group held its regular quarterly session yesterday in the auditorium of the county agricultural building.

Committees in charge of booths at the State Fair this year were announced. In charge of Pitt's fair booth will be Mrs. James Allen, chairman; Mrs. Norman Savage, Mrs. Norman Stanley, Mrs. J. T. Dupree and Mrs. Marion Nobles.

Reports from a number of clubs on their participation in the Pitt County Progress program indicated that activities are well underway. All but two of the 22 home demonstration clubs in the county are taking part in the program.

American Officials Reassured Adenauer Leaves Capital

By EDMUND LE BRETON WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington officials say goodbye today to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, apparently reassured that Soviet blandishments have had no measurable effect on him.

Adenauer was asked at a press-radio-television reception yesterday whether he will accept a Soviet invitation to go to Moscow for talks about improving diplomatic and trade relations.

Four meetings at the summit obviously will not give Adenauer the amount of time necessary for preparation before that date.

Commission Says Debt Is $1,289

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor Greenville Utilities Commission's monthly report showed the water department to be $1,289.93 in the hole at the end of May with still another month to go in the fiscal year and commission members wanted to know why.

Commission Says Debt Is $1,289

He pointed out that $8,503.19 had been overspent for maintenance of the water department's distribution system. Over $6,000 of that amount went for scaling and repainting the interiors of three of the city's four water tanks, Bloxam said.

Nancy Elks And James Cutchin Wed In Jarvis Methodist Church

In a ceremony of beauty and dignity, the marriage of Miss Nancy Elks and James M. Cutchin IV was solemnized Sunday afternoon, June 12, at 4:00 o'clock at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church in Greenville, N. C.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of the church. The church with its background of bridal greenery, large standards of white gladioli and gypsophylla illuminated by the soft glow of many candles made a lovely setting for the impressive ring ceremony.

As the guests assembled Mrs. Paul Toil, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music. To the soft accompaniment of the organ, Mrs. Karl Barbee of Whitakers, sister of the groom, as soloist sang "Because" by De Hardelet and "Through the Years" by Vincent Youmans. As the couple knelt for prayer, "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallotte was sung.

Acting as ushers were Lt. Jack Goldstein of Charleston, S. C., Cadet Tom Looney of Rocky Mount, N. C., Lt. W. C. Mans of Texas and Lt. S. R. Sydenham of Arlington, Va.

The bride chose as her honor attendant Mrs. Robert Russ Jr. of Greenville. She wore a waist length dress of pink dotted marquisette over taffeta, with large picture hat of horsehair braid and carried aqua carnations tied with aqua ribbon. Mrs. Fred Steppe of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Lillah MacGregor and Miss Norma Gwynn Basnight of Greenville and Miss Yvonne Thompson of Whiteville, N. C. were bridesmaids. They wore dresses like that of the matron of honor in aqua marquisette and carried yellow carnations tied with yellow satin ribbon.

The bride entered the church with her father, Mr. J. Alston Elks, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Lawrence Cutchin of Whitakers who served as best man.

The bride's wedding gown was of exquisite white Chantilly lace fashioned with portrait neckline embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The full skirt had a ruffle of tulle forming a chapel train. Her veil of imported illusion was caught by a halo of matching lace. She carried a formal bouquet of white carnations and bridal lace centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Elks, mother of the bride, was becomingly dressed in light blue lace with matching accessories and small flowered hat. She wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Cutchin, mother of the groom, was gowned in a Paradise blue silk organza with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Cutchin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alston Elks of Greenville. She received her education in the Greenville City Schools, East Carolina College and King's Business School in Raleigh. At the time of her marriage she was employed by the Carolina Telephone Co. in Greenville.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cutchin III of Whitakers. He is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point where he received a B. S. Degree and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force.

After a wedding trip to Pennsylvania, Lt. and Mrs. Cutchin will be at Mission Field, Edinborough, Texas. Lt. Cutchin will enter training. For traveling, Mrs. Cutchin chose a silk shantung trimmed with aqua flowers. With this she wore a small aqua hat with natural gloves and shoes and the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. W. E. Basnight, Mrs. Ed Sawyer and Mrs. M. D. Lanier were joint hostesses at the Woman's Club on Saturday evening at a cake cutting for the Cutchin-Elks wedding party and friends. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Basnight and Mrs. Sawyer. The club was decorated with summer flowers and magnolia blossoms and leaves. The bridal table was laid with a lace cloth over green A block of ice with roses frozen into it formed the punch bowl which was filled with green punch and placed at one end of the table while the other end held a wedding cake. Adorning the table as decorations were candelabra holding white tapers and tied with wedding bells. Small nosegays were placed around the candelabra.

After the bride and groom had cut the first slice of cake Mrs. Robert Wilson served the guests while Mrs. J. T. Bell served punch. Mrs. Floyd Tucker and Mrs. C. T. Day assisted in serving green and white mints, olives, cheese straws and nuts.

Guests were greeted at the door

Mom, Sis In Matching Wear

AP Newfeatures
For marketing trips and picnic jaunts this summer, mother and daughter can make a charming picture in matching shirt-and-skirt outfits easy to make at home.

Local sewing center experts chose an easy-to-use new pattern with inch rulers printed directly on the pattern pieces for accurate fit and adjustment.

Pink plaid gingham was used for the skirts and plain pink chambray with plaid collar and sleeve trim for the shirts. The gathered skirt can be made into a pinafore with the simple addition of a square bib and suspender straps attached to a buttoned front felt. The side zipper of the skirt is easily inserted with aid of the zipper foot attachment on your sewing machine. For growing youngsters, be sure to make the skirt hem deep enough to let down next year.

The shirt may be made with either short or long sleeves, the plaid being used for collar and sleeve bands. The buttonhole attachment on your machine will make short work of the buttonholes.

Budget-minded homemakers will see the value of such an ensemble during the season when the family washing machine really has a workout, and may want to make several outfits in different colors.

The mixable-matchable duos may be teamed with other separates to make more costume changes for Mom and Sis.

Shower Given Friday Honors Miss Roberson

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Tommy Roberson of Ithaca, N. Y. was complimented Friday night, June 3rd, at a floating miscellaneous shower given by her cousin, Miss Nettie Ferrell Beach.

For this social event, the home of Mrs. Ernest Beach had lovely arrangements of mixed flowers and a color scheme of pink, blue, yellow and green in pastel shades.

The guests were greeted at the door by hostess and the honoree who directed them to the gift room to see the large display of useful gifts. From there they were invited to the dining room. The table, covered with a pretty cloth, was centered with an attractive bouquet flanked by candelabra holding lighted pink tapers.

Fancy cup cakes, lime sherbet, mints and salted nuts were served to the sixty friends who called during the evening.

The honoree is the former Miss Jean Roberson of Robersonville.

Homemakers Club Holds Regular Meet

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. George Ross was hostess to the Homemakers Club Thursday evening. The president, Mrs. J. P. House, called the meeting to order at 8:15 and she presided over the short business session. The trip to Florida, sponsored by the Tarboro Home Demonstration Club, was discussed briefly.

During the social hour, the hostess entertained with a contest. Salted peanuts, angel cake and fruited jello topped with whipped cream was served to a large group.

The meeting adjourned at 10:30. The members are urged to be at the home of Mrs. Harvey Roberson promptly at 8 o'clock on June 16th.

Out Of Doors Breakfast Compliments Two Brides-Elect

One of the loveliest parties to honor Miss Lytle Batchelor and Miss Barbara White, brides-elect, was a breakfast given Monday morning at 10 o'clock by Mrs. J. B. Kittrell and Mrs. J. Knott Proctor Jr.

The breakfast was given at the Kittrell home on East Fifth Street. Various arrangements of white and yellow glads and magnolia leaves were used in decoration of the home.

Mrs. Kittrell welcomed guests upon their arrival. Mrs. J. Knott Proctor Jr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Jr. received in the sunroom and invited the guests to the patio where the brides-elect, their mothers, Mrs. Ed Batchelor, Mrs. Charles A. White and Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, received.

Breakfast was served on the back lawn. The menu consisted of tomato juice, sausage, melon balls in iced watermelon halves, grits, hot homemade doughnuts and coffee.

A color scheme of chartreuse, yellow and brown was observed in the table appointments and decorations. The table was laid with a chartreuse linen cloth and had as a centerpiece a unique arrangement of magnolia leaves, lemons and sunflowers, auxiliary tables held smaller but similar arrangements. The tables were set with brown pottery.

Mrs. Ed Batchelor served sausage and Mrs. Charles A. White poured coffee. They were assisted in serving the accompaniments by Miss

U. S. Ladies Not Idea-Conscious

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
Most American women probably don't realize what a vast industry keeps them clothed.

If they could visit a few of the fall fashion openings going on in New York, watch the intent faces of buyers and press, hear the applause that follows a successful showing, see the designers who have gambled a fortune on the placing of a belt or the length of a hemline—then they might realize not all fashion trends are born in Paris.

Detailed reports of advance U.S. fashions usually are released to the nation's newspapers about a month after some 10,000 buyers from stores throughout the country have come, seen and ordered.

However, a growing number of newspapers now are assigning fashion editors to cover openings along with the buyers on the theory the public likes to know far in advance what's coming in style for the next season.

For the last two weeks, I have been dashing from showroom to showroom in the crowded canyons of 7th Avenue, seeing the clothes that will reach the nation's stores next fall. And there's plenty of excitement in the new styles.

The consensus is that American designers have done it again. They have evolved a dazzling array of fall fashions that look new, fresh and handsome, and that will give women that thrill that comes from knowing they are well dressed.

There's a rich lineup of fabrics and trimmings from all over the world in the new fall styles—cashmeres from Scotland, tweeds from Ireland, embroideries from China, lace from Brussels, silks from Italy and France, woolsens from England, saris from India and Pakistan, silks from Japan.

Agricultural Industries Would Help

Pitt County need not leave agriculture in the background as it seeks to provide new jobs through industrial development. Industrial development of the county—a portion of it at least, might well go hand in hand with the fine agricultural economy Pitt already has.

The net result could mean new industrial jobs as well as more agricultural jobs.

For a long time Eastern North Carolina has been looked upon as an area which could profitably produce vegetable and truck crops. In some communities south of Pitt County truck farming is producing an appreciable part of the farm income. Although Pitt produces some vegetable crops for market, most vegetables grown in Pitt are consumed on the farm.

If Pitt could establish one or more processing plants to can, freeze, or otherwise prepare vegetables for market, it would have several beneficial results.

Instantly it would create an important new outlet for crops which could be produced in Pitt, but which are now produced on a very limited scale because of the limited market. An early crop which could be harvested before the big push for housing tobacco would afford farm employment for many local people who depend heavily upon green tobacco and tobacco plant jobs for an income. It would increase the cash income for local farmers during the lean months when tobacco is in the field.

The additional employment on the farms and in the processing plants would mean more income for workers as well as an increase in farm income. These would be reflected in the general economic conditions of the county.

It is well for Pitt County communities to intensify their efforts to secure new industry which will provide year-round payrolls for our people. But in the process of seeking new industry, possibilities of seasonal processing plants, compatible with existing employment patterns in the county, should not be overlooked. Such plants could not only afford employment at times when it is needed most, but likewise afford more cash farm income during a period in which there is relatively little cash income on Pitt farms.

Somebody Told Me Happiness Lies Near Home

For two summers I went to Fort Jackson with the 3015th Reception Center Army Reserve Unit, which is the unit with headquarters in Greenville, but composed of reservists from Greenville, Goldsboro, New Bern and Wilson.

This summer it's a pleasure to receive a letter from the unit instead of being there. However, during my tour in service and the reserves I found out there were an amazing number of advantages to life in the service. Colonel Owen Marshburn labeled me as the only columnist who ever said anything good about the Army.

Sgt. Roy Hardee in his letter reports that there have been changes in personnel and training activity since my days with the unit. Colonel Bland of Wilson is commanding, with Major Jimmy Davenport of Greenville as executive officer. Captain Gordon Berry is commanding the local group. In the past we rode a chartered bus down to Jackson, with the ventilation system attempting to compete with Jimmy Davenport's cigar smoke. Now the boys ride down by private autos, no doubt with Uncle Sam footing the bill.

If the local unit were called to active duty its mission would be to set up a reception center and induct men. Therefore, at Fort Jackson they observe the functions of the center there.

This summer they will go into the field for three or four days to sharpen their use of army weapons. Roy didn't say whether or not the men are enthusiastic about this plan.

Roy says, "Quite a few of the Greenville boys are here. This morning I saw Howard Proctor, who is an instructor in radio school here. Jimmy Ellis, a former Daily Reflector sports editor, is stationed here and is editor of the Personnel Center publication, "The Record." Pretty good little paper; comes out weekly and usually gives a good spread to our unit. I shot some pictures of the boys on the job today for the Friday edition."

With all of the wars over it's easy for the average Greenville citizen to forget about local activity of the National Guard and the Reservists. Every week there is some group meeting, keeping abreast of the latest military trends, training themselves to do a job if it becomes necessary. Actually, those of us who are non-military should tip our hats to the military, not seldom but often.

And I thank Roy. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

THE HIGH COST OF INDIFFERENCE
(Washington Daily News)
Beaufort county lost its Blood Bank several months ago. That loss has hurt us very much. We lost it through indifference, and we have been paying a high cost for that indifference.

Now we have the opportunity to get back the Blood Bank. When the Red Cross drive went over the top, we were given assurance that the next phase of the drive would be directed toward the return of this Blood Bank.

The Bloodmobile comes to Beaufort county for the first time in many months on June 24. From that date until July 1, 1955 the quota for the county is 1,000 pints of blood. To get that amount of blood it will be necessary to have at least 1,300 pledges. It should be remembered that not all people who pledge are physically able to give blood.

Persons between the ages of 21 and 50 ought to pledge one previous pint of blood. Not all pledges will give blood on June 24, but there will be 11 visits to the county within the next year. And when one pledges blood, the pledge might be taken up at any visit during the year.

Blood is often the difference between life and death. When we lost the Blood Bank, we lost more than a health facility. We lost the opportunity to save lives. If we lose it again, as we will if we remain indifferent, then we will again lose that opportunity.

We should realize the value of blood or the tragedy of not having it available until we lose the Blood Bank program. And even when we have lost it once and now have an opportunity to regain it, we still cannot break through the barrier of indifference to the enthusiasm and determination which we need.

The Blood Bank is important to us. Life is ever important. The need to have blood available at all times for emergencies is a project for all of us to take seriously. We can have adequate blood, or we can remain indifferent. That is the choice.

When you give blood, you are giving life to someone else. When you need blood, you need life from someone else.

If we would take this thing seriously, we would have more volunteers than we need. We shouldn't have to whip up enthusiasm and we shouldn't have to make appeals like this one. If we can give blood we should do so.

The challenge is before us as squarely as we know how to put it. Will we accept it, or will we let indifference again be the victor?

Around Capitol Square

DEVELOPMENT—North Carolina cannot attain the full development of its resources until citizens of all parts of the State appreciate the total picture, and realize that a new industry or a better road in any community benefits every community. At the same time, there must be even greater local pride and enthusiasm for promoting each area.

This philosophy has often been voiced by the late Governor Umstead, Governor Hodges and Ben E. Douglas, director of conservation and development. In order to show them the needs and opportunities of the far east, Director Douglas had a group of business friends from Charlotte as his guests at Morehead City, Atlantic, Cedar Island and Ocracoke. The party included Joe Choate, banker; Boyce Choate, textile manufacturer; Robin Kirby, business materials dealer; Bobo Langston, automobile dealer; Tom Bird, insurance executive; Lynn Garibaldi, telephone executive, and C. W. Kirkland, building contractor. Your reporter was privileged to join the party.

It was the first time the up-staters had gotten a close-up look at the State port facilities at Morehead City, the fishing houses and boats at Atlantic, and the circuitous channels through which entry must be made at the small ports. They were agreeably surprised at the excellence of the modern hotels at Sea Level and Cedar Island.

Mrs. Orris (Clayton Jr.) Fulcher has just completed replacing the Cedar Island fishing pier which had been destroyed by Hazel, and has added a modern motel with seven rooms. The pier runs 1300 feet into Pamlico Sound, and is entered from the eastern tip of US 70. The motel is in a building which was cleared with a self-contained freezing and the other connecting so that four persons might be accommodated for lodging and their own cooking. It will play to fishermen in the summer, both fishermen and duck hunters in the winter months. An incident of the trip was dedication of the pier and lodging rooms by Director Douglas at a barbecue dinner.

WATERFRONTS—There has been a lot of progress during the past four or five years in cleaning up the waterfronts, both on the sound and the inland streams and waterways. Hazel-made litter has been pretty well cleared away and reconstruction is well along. There is obvious need for zoning along the beaches and commercial harbors.

Also there is demand for dredging several inlets through the outer banks and for lighted buoys. The buoys are just as important to the boatmen as highway signs to the land motorists; and crooked channels with near-surface sandbars are as hazardous as sharp curves and narrow bridges on the roads.

Douglas told his guests and a dozen or more local people at Ocracoke that it doesn't make sense for the Congress to vote $77 Billion in foreign aid, some of which is used to dredge channels and improve harbors in Europe and Asia, while giving pitifully little attention to the needs of our own coast. He urged the people to get behind their congressmen and insist upon more adequate funds for rivers and harbors. He told them to remember that more business at Atlantic helps to pay for the Cherokee. He pleaded for getting away from the traditional attitude that "if my district or my section don't get the improvements, no other community shall have them." Rivalry rather than full cooperation among congressmen, local politicians and business interests has retarded development in the past.

One who has been familiar with the conditions for many years cannot but be impressed by the change in attitude of the people. There is evident much greater disposition to do things for themselves, less apparent feeling that the State or Federal governments ought to do the whole job. Dredging channels and providing buoys and protected harbors are appropriate and necessary functions of the government, like building roads and airports.

CONSERVATION—The Charlotte business men who flew to Morehead City were impressed as much by the obvious need for conservation as for development. They flew over thousands of acres ravaged by forest fires earlier this year, and other thousands of acres of marsh and swamp land. They did not see, but were told about, several pro-

Business Today Wives In The Chips

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the strongest bulwarks of the current high level of prosperity is the working wife. There are no reliable figures on how many women are supplementing their husbands' incomes by filling jobs. Guesses range from 4,000,000 to 10,000,000. Neither are there any figures on their earnings.

If there are only 4,000,000 of them, and their pay averages no more than $50 a week, the total income is $200,000,000, a week before taxes—or more than $10 billion a year before taxes.

The most important thing about this assumed total is that except for the tax bite, it is highly expendable for certain types of goods.

In most cases the husband's salary goes for basic necessities—rent, food, clothing—and for other conveniences and luxuries, depending upon the size of his pay check. The wife's income, however, may be her husband's extras. It is a reasonable guess that a large part of that $10 billion goes for payments on television sets, refrigerators, washers, better furniture, more clothing and a fancier auto than would be bought otherwise.

Another large part probably goes for better housing. One of the phenomena of the present housing market is that while building costs have been rapidly and almost ceaselessly rising, the prices that buyers will pay have gone up even faster. Before the war, most families bought just enough in housing—neat, compact buildings without many frills. But now the demand is for two bathrooms—both in chrome and tile—split levels, built-in garages built-in air conditioning, sunken living rooms and extra galores. And when wives hire baby-sitters or housekeepers so they can be free to take store or office jobs, they are creating another round of spending money. The money the part-time mothers earn is also translatable into added spending power.

A few days ago this department discussed the case of a working wife who found she had little left after taxes and expenses. There are perhaps many such situations. But as long as they exist, those heavy expenses continue to nourish business activity.

MORE NEW EMPLOYEES NOW GET VACATIONS
Employers are becoming slightly more generous with vacations, judging from a survey by the New York Board of Trade. It disclosed a marked trend away from the practice of granting vacations only after a year's employment. Now many employers grant a day off for every month worked the first year.

Most all companies were found to give two weeks vacation after a full year's employment, and many give three weeks after 10 years.

EXPORTS OF COTTON FAIL TO GAIN OVER 1954
The United States is selling less cotton abroad.

In the season ending July 31, 1954, a total of 3,760,000 bales were exported. Government experts predicted exports of 4,000,000 to 4,500,000 bales in the current season. But shipments in the current season have lagged and unless there is a pickup in the remaining few weeks, the total for the season may not equal the showing last year.

One authority says foreign buyers are holding off, hoping for lower prices.

Memories Return With Trip Home

By HAL BOYLE
KANSAS CITY (AP)—What does a man find if he comes back years later to his old home town, and tries to dig back into his boyhood?

Well, the surprises he discovers may rather in a small way reconcile him to the guy he has become.

He may find, for example, that dumb and lonely as he felt himself to be then, he wasn't altogether as dumb as he thought he was. He may even be sobered into a thoughtful new responsibility by the realization that a new calendar hasn't made him a new man.

Do people improve with time? Do they work?

It's a great adventure to go back and try to decide. The opportunity to revisit myself when young fell to me during a stop-over here on the way back from the Southwest to New York, where I work.

My mother had just sold the old home that had been the center of our family for 34 years.

The job I had to do was a basement job. It was my own job. Since I was a small child I had early grown the habit of collecting small souvenirs of my adventures on this earth, and now the problem was that the storage place at home was gone.

The old family home was gone, too. What did I want to hold on to? What let go of?

Throwing away the mementoes of your life is rather hard. These old memories have hands in them that grip you from old times.

The first day, when Mama was there and said, "You can't live ahead while you're still trying to live behind you," was stubborn and threw little away.

The next day I came back without her and threw away my youth all alone with both hands. I feel now I threw too much away. But it's a personal handicap. Anything is life. If it is life, I don't like to see go.

As I said before, excavating the souvenirs of youth—only from your own living—is a surprising experience. I don't hesitate to use the word amazing. I am amazed to discover that, at the age of 44, except for the weapon of experience, and this is dull but useful and sometimes a momentarily effective weapon—I face life with no brighter sword than the hope and courage and intelligence I had when I was 19. All you can acquire is the information of caution.

What was there in the basement, showed that. Digging back through the dusty debris of childhood, put away originally neither with no more nor no less self-consciousness than I recall it now, I find small change.

Then after finishing my high school classes and riding a bike for pay for the drug store six days a week at 15 cents an hour from 6 in the evening until 11 o'clock I would go home and draw cartoons, because I wanted to be a cartoonist.

I gave it up because I didn't have what it takes—talent, ability. So I turned to words, and earned this living.

I wrote poems then, but poems in that time of remembrance, were the cake of the spirit and bought no bread for the body.

Digging there all alone in the basement I found the poor sad practice cartoons. They weren't as bad as I thought then. They looked rather good to me, after these years. It isn't the poems. I read them and felt them again. What is a poem but the lyric reach of a heart grasping beyond the imprisoned mind?

Of course, there all alone in the basement, there were many things that needed to be thrown away, and many of them I did and miss already. There were old school pictures, faded photos of girls then pined for and later forgotten, friends dead and reformed, and relatives revived.

But the main discovery in the basement was that, coming back after these many years I was in no real way superior to the dreaming boy who had tried long ago to preserve these souvenirs I was discarding.

I didn't think in my lifetime I later shaved a better man than that boy. It was really a voyage in self-discovery to go back into the basement and see him again. Don't know whether I feel good or bad.

Public Interest Necessary For Developing Of State

DETROIT LAKES, MINN., BECKER CO. RECORDED—"The turmoil of the modern world is obvious evidence that the way of life taught of Christ is not universally accepted."

REPUBLICANS' FURY—The Republicans' excessive anger at Morse has weighty reasons behind it, in addition to their desire to recapture the Senate. He has been a vocal and obstinate opponent of Ike's reclamation power and conservation policies, charging that they favor the "private interests" over bono publico.

Tied up in this contest, as well as in the attempt to defeat Senator Warren Magnuson of Washington, will be such basic issues as the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Dixon-Yates contract, Hell's Canyon, development of the Niagara River, and the whole Eisenhower-McKay theory of private power development versus government ownership and operation.

Thus, the results in the Morse-Magnuson tests may well determine which policy will prevail on Capitol Hill, for they will be regarded as trial runs on this great and unresolved national problem.

ANOTHER GOP TARGET—Senator Goldwater, incidentally, has ascended Chairman Hall that Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York, who sides with Morse and Magnuson on this question (the St. Lawrence and Niagara Rivers), can be icked—again with money and a Dewey-like organization. Mostly, however, with money.

times they were just going somewhere or coming back; this trip was for the purpose of discovering new opportunities for business expansion.

Of course it wasn't all serious, there was a lot of fun. The visitors were enthralled by the yarns spun by Harry Willis jects of reclamation of similar lands in Hyde and Tyrrell counties and they wondered how long before there will be more adequate protection from forest fires and more profitable use of the idle acres. They confessed they had not realized before the potential of eastern North Carolina profit-making conservation and development projects. Other

Hall's prize objective in next year's Congressional campaign is the defeat of Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, whose desertion of the GOP enables the Democrats to organize the Senate. Among politicians like the practical New Yorker, there is more rejoicing over the defeat of one sinner than there is over the return to Washington of all other Senators. Party heresy, unless rebuked, can become contagious and disruptive, as Western Progressives like Norris Borah and Johnson demonstrated during the Coolidge-Hoover era.

Despite his tolerance and amiability, President Eisenhower is extremely anti-Morse.

OPTIMISTIC PARTY REPORT—Senator Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona, who doubles as Chairman of the Republicans' Senatorial Campaign Committee, reported to Hall after a tour of the Northwest that Morse can be defeated through money and improved organization of the state forces. According to Goldwater, Governor Paul Patterson has agreed, finally and reluctantly, to run against Morse.

The Democrats, however, are as anxious to reelect Morse as the Republicans are to defeat him. National Chairman Paul Butler planned a great rally for the defeatist at Portland.

Business Is Examining Automotive Layoffs

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The first shock over businessmen today are reassessing the effects to industry as a whole of the General Motors and Ford layoff plans.

The long-term effects are being sized up this way:
If the layoff pay plan spreads through industry it's going to be tough for the small struggling company. It's going to be harder to start up a new company in a competitive field, if the men you hire become permanent payroll members before you've tested your sales potential.

Companies big and small are going to take a long, hard look at their labor policies. As labor costs go up, the urge to invest in labor-saving machinery—the trend toward the automatic factory—will grow stronger.

Work schedules will be planned more carefully to avoid expensive layoffs. Rather than hire a new man in times of extra business activity—and thus add him permanently to work rolls—corporations will pay present workers more overtime.

Many state laws will have to be changed if the General Motors and Ford layoff pay plans are to work. Present laws in many states don't provide for supplemental pay to state unemployment benefits.

pay until next year.
The plan, however, is expected to be an issue this year in talks between the unions and the farm machinery makers, the electric equipment companies, rubber and meat-packing industries.

Some lines of business are expected to profit by the trend toward pay for laid-off workers.

Machine tool makers see a shot-in-the-arm for the movement toward automation, which means selling more of their products.

The construction industry expects more modern factories to be in greater demand.

Advertising men say that corporations will have to try hard to get customers to shift their buying habits and make them less seasonal.

Makers of office machinery say that lay-off pay will mean much more paper work. Computing the benefits will add headaches to corporate accounting offices—and should enlarge the market for mechanical brains.

Merchants in factory towns see in the new trend a leveling off of the peaks and valleys of buying. Laid-off auto workers will have tidy sums to spend and store sales close down for a time.

Sales won't plummet when factories

Mental Health Unit Sets Meet

Pitt County's newly formed Mental Health Association will hold a second meeting Friday night at 8 p.m. in the City Courtroom. A nominating committee will return its slate of officers at that time and elections are scheduled.

A progress report will be given on efforts to establish a Mental Health Clinic here. This clinic was unanimously endorsed by the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society on Thursday.

Meanwhile, County Medical Officer Dr. Walter C. Humbert has written a letter to the County Commissioners the Mayor and members of the City Council explaining the service such a clinic would perform and emphasizing the need for one in the Coastal Plain area.

Friday's meeting will be open to all interested persons and representatives from rural areas is particularly desired.

County Group To Sponsor Picnic For Pitt Negroes

The Pitt County Farmers and Home-makers Organization is sponsoring again the annual tour of farmers and farm women next Thursday for a county-wide picnic.

Pitt County Farm Agent James M. Goode and Home Demonstration Agent Amelia S. Capehart, in a message to Negro farmers and farm women, said: "This will be an educational tour for the benefit of farmers and farm women in improvements in rural life."

Each stop of the cavalcade of Negro farmers and farm women will show a definite trend toward better living. Members of the touring group will participate in discussion of farming and farm life home methods.

The tour will leave the county agent's office in Greenville Thursday morning at 8:30 and arrive at lake and fishing and a store for the sale of soft drinks will be available. Its final stopping place for dinner at 1:30. This will be near a large

Groundwork Laid For CD System

RALEIGH—Groundwork for three Civil Defense communications projects necessary for adequate control and coordination of disaster operations has been laid, State Civil Defense Director, General Edward F. Griffin, disclosed today.

The plan for coordination of all the state's radio amateur operators into an organized, state-sponsored network has just been approved by Federal Communications Commission and Federal Civil Defense Administration. The network will serve as back-up to regular communications service.

Funds for a state control center, long considered basic, were approved by the 1955 General Assembly. Auxiliary power generators for the Highway Patrol system, so badly needed during Hurricane Hazel, are to be purchased. Funds for these will be provided by the Highway Patrol, $9,000 matched by a similar amount from Federal Civil Defense funds. This marks the first step in a state-wide generator procurement program. Auxiliary power units are needed throughout all the state's communications systems, Griffin said.

Greenie Club In Farmville Tonight

Farmville Second In Coastal Plain With Double Win

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenie's Greenies, who engage Farmville in a double tonight, continue to pace the Coastal Plain League for the second straight week.

Manager Pete Carraway's nine earned a split last weekend with Williamston, the locals winning on Saturday 10 to 8 and the revamped Braves coming back to win on Sunday 9 to 4.

Bobby Coggins received 17-hit support to register the victory and stop Williamston's winning skid in four games. The young Whiteville chucker scattered eight hits Bobby Clark and Brownie Tripp were the big guns for the locals on Saturday, each getting three hits.

Williamston bounced back to score five runs in the ninth inning of Sunday's game and go on to defeat the league-leaders. Five hits three walks at two errors accounted for the Williamston scoring. Bill Hardison and Bob Rogerson, with three hits apiece, led the winners hitting.

Tripp Homers

Ed Tripp was Greenville's big show with a homer and a double in four trips. Brownie Tripp and Junior Johnson also had two hits. The latter, incidentally, was the losing pitcher.

Farmville moved up in the standings on fine pitching and robust plate power. Saturday night, the surging Farmville club clipped Falkland 2 to 1, winning in the last inning. With one out in the bottom of the ninth and score tied 1-1, Pete Stewart drew a base on balls. Barry Jones singled to send Stewart to third. Streeter Tugwell walked and Sam Stoll drove home Stewart with a sharp single.

Vince Jones pitched the win, allowing nine scattered hits. He struck out seven. Herb Corey started for Falkland and was scratched in the ninth for Sob Lilley.

Simpson Leader

Bill Simpson led the losers hitting with three hits. No Farmville man got more than one hit but the team got six altogether.

On Sunday, Farmville's hitters really tied off. They collected 14 hits and got a run on each one. Pete Stewart and Sam Stoll were again the offensive leaders with three hits apiece.

Mark Stancill started for Falkland and was handed his first loss after winning four straight. Bob Lilley relieved him in the fourth. Bobby Wofford and Joe Dominguez pitched the win for Farmville.

Bill Simpson again led the losers at the plate. The little outfielder had three hits in four at bats for six hits in two games.

Farmville gained on New Bern because one of the New Bern-Rocky Mount games was rained out. The New Bern Bears won the single game, though, by a 1-0 count. The Bears' Doug Gaskins and Ambler Davis of Rocky Mount hooked up in a superb pitching duel. The game went 11 innings, before New Bern pushed a run across.

Al Denson and Bill Mehle led the Leafs' hitting with two singles each. Gaskins and Robert Childs led the winners with a double each.

New Bern will have a chance to strengthen its position against lowly Falkland, tonight. Greenville and Rocky Mount, on the other hand, have tough assignments. Farmville will be keyed for the Greensies and Williamston is still hot in its drive for first division.

Whitley Hurls Pepsis To Shutout Victory

Jack Whitley and Denny Hardee hooked up in one of those old-fashioned pitching duels yesterday afternoon at Little League park with Whitley and his Pepsi-Cola teammates coming out on top of Hardee and the Eks by a 1-0 score.

There were only five hits in the entire game. Three hits were by the Pepsis. The two hits were recorded for the Eks. There was only one error in the game to make it the best played game in Little League this year.

Whitley was in fine form as he swept through the Eks lineup with machine-like precision. Whitley struck out 13 Eks batters. Hardee fanned only five Pepsi batters but had them striking fearfully at the ball when they did hit it.

J. Whitley and Collins; Hardee and Proctor.

Moore Has Troubles Before Olson Match

NEW YORK (AP)—With the light heavyweight championship fight pitting titlist Archie Moore against challenger Carl (Bobo) Olson just a week away, two admissions came to light today:

1. Moore is having a tough time getting down to the 175-pound lightweight limit.

2. Predictions of a $350,000 gate were slightly optimistic. The gate for the New York fight will be closer to $250,000.

Moore, a secretive fellow, has refused to tell anyone his weight. He was listed as weighing 198½ when he licked Nino Valdes in Las Vegas May 2. That means he's having to shed 21½ pounds in seven weeks a mighty tough task.

"I've never had such a rough time taking off weight," he admitted. "The always had more time to take it off. Anyway, I just can't shake the idea that I should be fighting Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight championship and not Olson."

Right now, Moore is reported to weigh in the neighborhood of 180 pounds, which means he has to lose five to go. He also admitted that he certainly wouldn't be as strong at 175 pounds as he usually is.

As to the cash register Jim Norris, International Boxing Club president, sounds a doleful note.

"When we made the match I thought surely it would do $350,000 at least," he said. "Right now I'd say that we won't do more than $250,000. There will have to be some terrific action in the next few days if we're going to get over $250,000. The ringside tickets are going fine, but the lower priced tickets aren't moving."

AAU To Check On Santee's Status

PARIS (AP)—The Wes Santee "excessive expenses" case exploded again today with the announcement from International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage that he had asked the American AAU to investigate the charges.

Brundage offered no opinion on the case. He said he merely had studied the charges by a San Francisco newspaper that Santee had accepted more than the allowed expenses for three meets in California.

"I sent the story and a letter to Dan Ferris (AAU chairman) and suggested the matter be looked into," said Brundage. "I have not yet heard from Ferris."

"No action has been taken against Santee yet and I don't know that any will. However, the charges are certainly too serious to let them stand."

Santee, on duty as a second lieutenant with the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton Calif., reiterated his denial.

"It's simply a newspaper story," he commented. "It's Brundage's duty to check into any charges made against amateur athletes."

Ferris, in New York, said the matter would have to be taken up by the Missouri Valley district of the AAU and that it wasn't in his hands.

Marion Miller Missouri Valley secretary, has taken no action yet because he hasn't seen the itemized expense list which the runner is required to turn in.

"Santee has not yet turned in his travel permits showing the amounts he received for expenses in the meets in question," Miller said. "These are not about two weeks overdue. Until we get these permits signed by the meet managers and check the exact amounts he received, the case is still open."

Stanky Has Reason For Not Holding Grudge With Cards

By ED WILKS

No wonder Eddie Stanky says he doesn't hold a grudge against the St. Louis Cardinals for giving him a boot as manager. Why should he? They've been vindicting him ever since he left.

In three years as manager, Stanky had been accused of over-managing, taking the game home at night, upsetting clubhouse tranquility and other odds and ends in an effort to explain why the Cards looked good on paper but not in the National League standings.

Hoping a change "might make things better," the beer barons who own the club dispensed with Stanky and called in Harry (The Hat) Walker, a nice, easy-going fellow.

So what happens? The Cardinals lose 2 of 17, slip into seventh place and fall 20 games behind front-running Brooklyn.

When Stanky left May 27, the Cards were fifth, 10 games back. Neither Stanky nor Walker can take the rap, apparently. Walker has received just five complete games, losing three of them, from his mound staff in the 17 contests.

That was the story last night, Pittsburgh, only 4½ games behind St. Louis, belted starter Larry Jackson and Brooks Lawrence for eight runs in the fourth and won 10-5.

Dale Long hit a solo homer in the second and drove in three more runs on a double and bases-loaded single as 13 Bucs came to the plate in the big fourth.

The runaway Dodgers, meanwhile, stretched their lead to 11½ games, whipping Cincinnati 9-0 after the runner-up Chicago Cubs had lost to the Giants 5-0. Milwaukee beat Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 4-2.

In the American, the New York Yankees held on to their slim 2½ game lead by beating Detroit 7-6 in 10 innings. Second-place Chicago beat Baltimore 1-0 and third-place Cleveland took two from Washington, 6-4 in 11 innings and 3-1 on rookie Herb Score's two-hitter. Boston belted Kansas City 12-4.

Stanky had been accused of over-managing, taking the game home at night, upsetting clubhouse tranquility and other odds and ends in an effort to explain why the Cards looked good on paper but not in the National League standings.

Johnny Podres won his sixth for Brooklyn, blanking the Redlegs on seven hits. The Dodgers scored six in the second inning, routing loser Johnny Klippstein and Steve Rickzik, as Duke Snider smacked his 20th homer with two on.

At Milwaukee, Eddie Mathews put it away for the Braves with a two-run clout in the eighth. Mathews had three of the seven hits off Roberts. Lew Burdette was the winner.

The Giants verbally spanked by Manager Leo Durocher the day before for their lack-luster play, smeared the Cubs with three runs in the second on homers by rookie Gail Harris and Willie Mays. It was the fourth major league home run for Harris—all in the last five games. Ruben Gomez won his third. Sam Jones lost his eighth.

A four-base throwing error by pitcher Al Aber capped a three-run ninth for the Yanks, with Andy Carey racing all the way around to score the tying run after hitting in front of the plate. Mickey Mantle then won it with a single in the 10th off George Zuverink after a walk and a single.

The Orioles' Saul Rogovin walked home the lone White Sox run in the eighth. Pitcher Jack Harshman made it four straight for Chicago.

Cleveland won its fifth straight in the nightcap at Washington. Score outlasted his wildness. He walked 11 and hit a batter while striking out six. The opener was won on Dale Mitchell's pinch single in the 11th after Ralph Kiner hit a pinch homer to tie it at 4-4 with two out in the ninth.

Norb Zauchin and Ted Williams batted in seven of the Red Sox's runs in the slugfest at Boston. Zauchin homered in an eight-run third. Williams hit his fifth home run and doubled twice, lifting his average to .378.

Wake Forest In Three Team Fight For NCAA Title

OMAHA (AP)—Western Michigan, Wake Forest and Oklahoma A and M. were set today for a dog-fight over the NCAA College World Series pennant.

All three teams have a 3-1 record thus far. Tonight either Wake Forest or the Oklahoma Aggies will bow out when they meet at 9 p.m. (EST) to see who tangles with Western Michigan Thursday night in the title game.

Yesterday the Aggies, top-rated going into the tourney, sent Arizona to the sidelines in a 5-4 thriller that went 12 innings. It was won on a hard infield drive that Arizona second baseman Tom Wright knocked down but could make no play on as Jim Wollard raced home from third with two out.

Then Wake Forest defeated Western Michigan a first defeat, 10-7. The free hitting game saw Wake Forest's Bill Barnes triple with the bases loaded and then steal home, and pinch hitter Fritz Messner hit a bases loaded homer for Western Michigan.

Western Michigan went into the game owning a 3-0 record after having beaten both the Aggies and Wake Forest. Suffering a first loss, the Michigan team got a bye today.

The tourney is a double elimination affair.

The victory of the Aggies over Arizona was the second in extra innings for the Aggies over the same team in consecutive tourneys. Last year Arizona bowed by the same 5-4 score and to the same pitcher—Tom Borland.

Borland is the tourney's hardest worked pitcher, having pitched 24 innings in five days. He won both his starts and saved a third game with his relief work.

Staton Beats Fords, Pitches One - Hitter

Husky Charles Staton came with-in one out of pitching his second no-hitter of the season last night, but all were one Texas league single as the Redmen trounced the Fordomats 11-1 in a PONY League game.

The win puts the Redmen only a half-game behind the league leading Oldsmobiles. The Fords dropped below the 500 mark with the loss, but are still one and one-half games ahead of the last place National Guard.

Staton fired his hopping fast ball past Ford batters all night long. Through the first six innings he had walked only one batter and had struck out 13. In the last inning he fanned Cecil Cherry and Walker Allen, but walked Robin Wilfong. Buster Daniels then stepped up and popped a flooper over behind second base. The shortstop, centerfielder, and second baseman were all in reach of the ball but each thought the other would take it. Billy Cox finally made a desperate attempt for the ball and it glanced off the tip of his glove for a hit. Wilfong went to third on the play and scored seconds later when second baseman Don Melton fumbled Dick Heller's grounder. Staton then bore down and fanned Gene Adams to retire the side.

Ronnie Finch started on the mound for the Fords and pitched perfect ball for three innings. In the next three innings he was greeted with a barrage of hits, giving up all 11 runs. Finch, a left-hander with a good curve ball, walked only one batter and struck out 12. Staton wound up with two walks and 16 strikeouts.

Staton had three hits to lead the Redmen at the plate. Arthur Andrews and Randy Bass each had two hits for the Redmen. Bass had a triple for the longest show of the game.

Thursday night the Oldsmobiles and the National Guard play in a regularly scheduled game. Game time is 7:45.

U. S. Athletes Expect To Answer Russian Claim Of Track Supremacy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—America's answer to any Russian claim of athletic supremacy will be shown in the 34th NCAA track and field championships Friday and Saturday at Memorial Coliseum, site of the 1932 Olympic Games.

Actually, the nation's finest college athletes, 338 strong from 90 schools, will present a preview of America's 1956 Olympic power.

Jim Kelly of Minnesota, chairman of the United States Olympic Track Committee, declared: "Russia isn't going to beat us in track and field at Melbourne."

"I believe we could pick a team from the state of California that could beat Russia in a dual meet in Olympic events."

One highlight of what is being billed as the finest NCAA meet on record is the 100-yard dash. Coach

Dairy Wins For Eighth Straight

Carolina Dairies won their eighth consecutive Recreation Softball League game the easy way last night as the Harris Super Market forfeited their regularly scheduled game to the Dairy.

Carolina Dairy now has an 8-0 record for the season in Softball play. They have a good lead on the Granitiers and Southern Bread, the two second place teams. They both have 4-2 marks.

C Battery 29th is in fourth place with a mark of 5-0, five wins and five losses. Western Auto Store, 0-4, and Harris Super Market, 0-7, are the last place clubs. Softball action starts again Thursday night at Guy Smith Stadium.

Six Teams Accept Charlotte Invite

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The number of schools accepting invitations to take part in a holiday basketball tournament in Charlotte's new Coliseum next December stood at six today with the addition of Colgate and Boston University.

The two top Eastern independents from the state of California that were accepted yesterday, they joined Wake Forest and Clemson of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Tennessee of the Southeastern Conference and Davidson of the Southern Conference, the host club.

CREDIT FOR BOWLING

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Bowling has become a regular part of the men's physical education program at the University of Dayton. The students bowl two periods a week and receive regular credits.

This is a new edition to the men's program but the women have been bowling for credit for several semesters.

United States Feels Diem May Be Man To Save Indochina From Communists

By PRESTON GROVER
 SAIGON (AP)—The United States believes it has found the man to save Indochina from the Communists. He is Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic past 54 who looks like 40, drinks no alcohol, chain-smokes cigarettes, and has never married.

He has chosen a program of "Indochina for the Indochinese—and the French must go."

For at least part of this program he has solid State Department support. Washington is determined to back him in setting up his own government and in carrying out the domestic program he has outlined—a program which is both challenging and, to the French, shocking. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, once fully a supporter of Diem, evidently changed his attitude somewhat, and favored greater consideration of the French position.

The Diem program and his methods have turned the French colony into a community of howling Derivives, for they insist Diem and his policies are exactly the best means of bringing the southern half of Viet Nam into the hands of the Communists, who already control North Viet Nam.

Diem proceeds with his program, doubtless hampered by the dispute between the two big powers. He is reinforcing his position almost daily. One American source says it is quite possible Diem has established himself so solidly that neither the French nor Americans could remove him except by a great show of force—even if they chose. Neither side seems eager to do that certainly not the Americans. The French are not likely to fly in the face of the Americans.

The most determined American backer of Premier Diem here is Col. Edward Lansdale, chief of psychological warfare, a dark-haired athletic type around 40 who finds Diem's policies about 100 per cent right. No wonder, say the French, who insist that he is responsible for some of those policies.

The French hate him with a venom they reserve usually for Germans. Lansdale is aware of it and is not disturbed.

Psychological warfare is a broad term in these parts and Lansdale has intelligence agents planted all over Indochina. He does an incredible amount of getting about himself. He has an uncanny facility for ferreting out French moves to upset the Diem government.

Lansdale believes cooperation here with the French is impossible, that they will keep turning and twisting to keep a foothold in the government, asleep to the fact the Vietnamese do not want them.

Diem has outlined a program which runs directly counter to French ideas. It is:

1. Unify the national army into a single force with a single overall commander. This means five or six private armies, each dominant in its own region, will be dissolved or incorporated into the national army. It would take from the French any power of playing off one force against another.

2. Unify the country. That means taking land control away from the sectarian armies, taking away also their right to collect taxes and run the local government. Such unification is essential, Diem says, to permit among other things the settlement of some of the 800,000 refugees from the North. So far the Hoa Hao has blocked Diem's plans to put some of them in southwest Viet Nam. The Hoa Hao attitude stands in the way of America's land reform program here.
3. Call national elections, probably next month, for the country's first assembly. The sects must be liquidated first, Diem insists, else they will dictate the elections in their areas and perhaps pack the assembly. The idea is to create a state in which prosperity, security and democratic methods will be an appealing answer to the Communist program in North Viet Nam.

The French are urging another course. They insist there is a deep layer of French friendship and respect among the Vietnamese government. They ask that the French and Americans consolidate their policy, make mutual compromises, then jointly support a Vietnamese government that represents factions which Diem now is setting out to destroy in order to build up strength in his central government. There is no time left for a civil war against the sects. That road, say the French, will lead to disaster.

mander, insists Diem does not know how to govern. He says Diem is building up a dictatorship. The Americans agree this latter may be true, but find no ready substitute for it elsewhere.

Who is on the right trail is hard to say. Just how far the State Department agrees with Diem has never been established.

The United States has sent in a new ambassador, a top quality State Department man, Frederick Reinhardt. He may be the answer.

Most marble is very old rock, much of it from the pre-Cambrian eras.

Bees, Boys And Parents Swarm At Boy Scout Camp

Scouters are allowed to visit the canteen at Camp Charles but they cannot purchase eats or drinks until after the evening meal. Shown at the stand above are: Scoutmaster Jack Whitchard, Greenville; Pitt District Commissioner John Behr, Greenville; and Canteen Manager Charles Ward, Bethel. To the right is an unidentified scout camper.

Camp Charles, the East Carolina Council's Original Boy Scout Camp, was a veritable Bee-Hive of Activity Sunday, June 12th. A Wild colony of bees was swarming in the old water oak tree, whose limbs shadowed the campfire of the original Camp Charles over 107 years ago. At the same time, parents and scouts by the hundred were swarming over the 53 acre campsite.

Dad and Mothers of scouts on their first long term camping experience anxiously followed their scout sons through the routine of camp organization. Beginning promptly at 2:30, camp director Carl Knott, District Scout Executive of the Roanoke-Chowan District, and his Camp Program Director and Chaplain, Bobby Savage, of Rocky Mount, were set up for business in the cool shade of the pines in front of the spacious camp Charles Dining Hall. Individual Scouts or troops with their leaders completed their registrations and received assignments to a troop campsite. One of the courteous well trained young men serving on the staff as area leaders and assistants to the unit scoutmasters, escorted their scouts to their campsites, helped them select a tentmate and make a comfortable home in the two man 9'x10' tent stretched over a platform and furnished with cots and mattresses.

"Health through education, and safety, through skill" is the slogan at Scout Camp. Promptly at 3:00 o'clock, those scouts that were checked in for the week were required to put on their bathing the Scout felt he was a competent swimmer knowing the four basic strokes, the breast stroke, the side stroke, the back stroke, and the crawl, he was assigned to waterfront assistant, Floyd Bryan who checked him on these skills. If it was apparent that he had learned the strokes and just needed practice, he was assigned to receive swimming instructions and boating instruction for the week. If the Scout could swim some but had not learned the basic strokes proficiently, he was assigned to Assistant Waterfront Director, Edward Tyndall, to determine his skill and qualified as a beginner to receive swimming instructions and boating instruction. If the scout had not learned to swim, waterfront director, Charles Duffy, gave his personal attention here. He places great emphasis on the proper beginning of aquatic instruction for the scouts and gives this his close personal supervision.

From the waterfront the scouts returned to their campsites to dress in their official uniform for the evening retreat and flag ceremony. Dinner was served promptly at 6:00 o'clock and the first week of Camp Charles was on its way. One hundred and fourteen Scouts were registered for this first week and six volunteer unit leaders in addition to the 11 man Camp Staff plus the cooks and helpers.

Upon our inspection of camp, we found the kitchen at Camp Charles looking better than ever before. A new arrangement of the large restaurant size gas stove, the huge electric exhaust fan, just above it, and the light and airy arrangement of the food preparation area added to the aroma of the evening meal. Chef Alonza Hodges was busily completing the more than a bushel and a half of golden crisp fried chicken to go along with what appeared to be about 10 gallons of leamed potatoes, string beans and fresh tomatoes for the opening supper. This was topped off with leapple upside down cake and ice cream.

The family style of serving was explained. Each patrol of eight Campers have a table. A host is selected for each meal who serves the individual plate and passes it. A waiter is selected from each table to prepare the table setting and keep adequate food before the scout. At the close of the meal, each scout cleans his own plate of food and wipes it out with a napkin. The waste food is put in one disposal can and given to a neighboring farmer for his pigs. The paper and bones are put in a separate garbage disposal receptacle for prompt delivery to the Bailey City Dump. A table inspection is made and an award given to the table doing the best job of cleanup and some little extra flair they may give the arrangement of their dishes prior to delivering them to the dishwashing area of the kitchen. Here the dishes are washed in dis-

The Camp Charles central camp staff is trained to assist local scoutmasters and unit leaders who come with their groups to the camp. From left to right above are: Carl Knott, camp director, Ralph H. Moze, scout executive. Second row: Robert Wynn, Troop 11, Rocky Mount, nature; Edward Tyndall, Troop 13, New Bern, waterfront; Billy Eason, Troop 25, Farmville, crafts; Lester Dollar, field scout executive, Greenville. Third row: Mike Long, Troop 231, New Bern, first aid; Jimmie Early, Troop 129, Ahoskie, area leader; Charles Duffy, Troop 13, New Bern, waterfront director; Robert O'Neal, Troop 67, New Bern, rifle range and bugler. infectant water rinsed in a second water and then scalded in water above 112 degrees before being stored in a fly proof drying rack. The Camp Canteen which has an excellent stock of candies, soft drinks and ice cream is open only twice a day, following lunch and supper. Craft materials may be purchased from the camp store three periods a day, morning activity period, afternoon activity period and following supper at night for those who want to secure a leathercraft project for something special to take home.

Camp program. The Summer camp program has been developed to serve just as many Scouts and explorers as possible, yet allowing a troop to have as much individual freedom as they choose in their camp participation. Beginning early Monday morning there will be ample opportunity for learning and practicing all of the Camp Scout Skills necessary for a Scout to advance one rank that is, Second Class or First Class, or he can secure sufficient merit badges to qualify for Star Rank, and he would have the opportunity of working on and possibly qualifying for the required merit badges for Life or Eagle. The Scout will return to his own home community and district for a board of Review and Final recognition before a Court of Honor. In addition to the basic Scout skills there is an opportunity to learn marksmanship, archery, swimming, rowing, canoeing, scout craft, camp craft and handicraft. Exceptionally fine nature study opportunities are offered at Camp Charles as one of the few protected wild life refuges in this area. The Staff is provided with the most modern audio and visual aids, including tape recorders, moving picture sound and silent projectors, filmstrip and slide projectors. The indoor work is followed in every instance with an outdoor experience.

Camp Director, Carl Knott, proudly reported that the camp schedule was completely filled for the first and second periods, and there was room for fewer than 20 additional campers in the third and final period. Following the closing of Camp Charles, July 2nd the East Carolina Council will continue their summer camping program at Camp Croatan, for four weeks. This Camp is located 8 miles below New Bern.

Justice Barnhill Believes Court Decree Is Limited

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Chief Justice M. V. Barnhill of the North Carolina Supreme Court feels the U.S. Supreme Court's recent decision on public school segregation does not have the sweeping effect generally believed.

In an interview with the Asheville Citizens yesterday, Justice Barnhill said, "I have read the opinion carefully three times and find nothing that does not apply only to those cases. The court was careful to connect the decision at every point with the defendants' or 'the plaintiffs.'"

Only specific cases are involved, he said, in the high court's decision of May, 1954 and its subsequent compliance ruling. "It is a great pity," he said, "that the Negro leaders of our state do not say, 'The stigma has been removed. Now we will continue with our own teachers and schools.' But that is wishful thinking."

He said the high court's opinion was "not a mandate, in any sense" and has been widely misinterpreted. "The Supreme Court does not vest in any district judge in North Carolina authority to do anything about our schools that he did not have before the opinion was handed down," he said.

He said he considered actions taken so far by North Carolina to be "a beginning toward compliance" with the Supreme Court's decision.

The state has repealed its statute calling for separate schools. However, local authorities were given authority by the 1955 General Assembly to determine the assignment of pupils.

A commission also was authorized by the assembly to look into the matter and report in 1957.

Trip Back Home Decides Woman Not To Return

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—Don-Stirling, an accountant, says he has received word from his wife, who took their 2-year-old son to visit her parents in East Germany last February, that she won't be back.

He has appealed to Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) for help. Ayres has asked the State Department to investigate.

Stirling said he received a letter two weeks ago from his wife, Gisela, 25, from Stendar, East Germany, saying:

"It is not as bad here as we have been told, and I am staying of my own free will. I have become attached to my homeland."

Her husband, who met her in 1945 while he was in the Army, said he believed the letter was written under duress. He said he still loves Gisela, whom he married in 1947.

QUESTION: I was recently involved in an automobile collision. The other driver and I both carry liability insurance only. Shouldn't his company pay for the damage to my car and my company do the same for him?

ANSWER: No, the company insuring whichever driver is at fault will pay for the damage to the other car only. Better carry collision insurance.

THE PHANTOM

American Passport Is Prize Souvenir

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—An American passport that brings memories of 14 years in the United States is among the prized possessions of Lebanese Bishop Paul Maoushi, the Maronite Church's new "Patriarch of Antioch and All the East."

The tall, gray-bearded prelate, 61, spiritual head of an ancient Oriental Catholic community numbering nearly a million around the world, has been a parish priest in New Bedford, Mass., and Los Angeles. He once took out U.S. naturalization papers. But he was called home 21 years ago.

"I have not seen the United States since 1934 and so I have now lost the protection of America," the patriarch explained in an interview. "But I still keep my American passport as a sweet souvenir of my years in your country."

His appointment as patriarch of the Maronites, of whom he estimates there are 100,000 in the United States, came from Pope Pius XII last month.

Although the Maronites pay allegiance to Rome, they retain their separate ritual, government and traditions. Their parish priests may marry, although bishops must be single. In place of Latin, the Maronite ritual is spoken in Syriac, a language used in this area at the time of Christ.

Once considered a heretical group, the Maronites moved into the Roman fold at the time of the Crusades.

Bishop Maoushi has three brothers living in Mexico. He went to the United States in 1920.

"At the time, I expected to stay on two years," he said. "I was on a mission to visit Maronite communities in the United States, most of them emigrants from Lebanon."

The two years stretched into 14 as he became a parish priest first in New Bedford and later in Los Angeles.

"We had just completed our new church building in Los Angeles, and I thought at last I could relax, when I was called back to Lebanon in 1934 to become bishop of Tyre," he said.

In 1948, the Vatican named Bishop Maoushi head of an apostolic committee to act for the ailing Maronite Patriarch Arida. After Arida's death last May 19 at 82, the bishop succeeded him as patriarch.

Steps Are Taken To Halt Return Of Storm Damage

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The old-line hurricane zone will welcome a reluctant newcomer to the hurricane circuit when the storm season officially begins at midnight.

For the first time, New England will be linked into the special communications network known as the "Hurricane Circuit."

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said the increasing incidence of hurricanes in New England since 1938 is the reason for extending the circuit there.

Originally the circuit extended from Brownsville, Texas, along the Gulf Coast to Tampa, then across Florida to Miami and up the Atlantic Coast to Jacksonville.

Last year Washington and New York were hooked in. During the fall three violent storms — Hurricanes Carol, Edna and Hazel — lashed the northeast. They left 279 dead and a billion dollars' property damage in the U.S. and Canada.

And so the hurricane circuit now being set up was extended to New Haven, Bridgeport, Providence, Boston and Portland in New England. Its length from Brownsville will be about 2,500 miles, the longest in its history. It begins operation Wednesday at midnight.

At the same time storm warning centers at New Orleans, Miami and Washington will begin a 24-hour watch of the tropical waters where hurricanes breed. Crews of hurricane hunter planes will start reconnaissance flights, and hundreds of ships and airplanes will begin making special reports of unusual rainfall, dips in barometric pressure, and baffling shifts in wind direction.

The hurricane season officially extends from midnight June 15 to midnight Nov. 15. The peak of the season is reached in September and October. November hurricanes are rare.

BRISTOL, Conn. (AP)—When Frank J. Reynolds appeared in City Court to answer to a charge that he'd slapped a boy's face, Prosecutor Joseph M. Donovan asked that the case be dismissed.

"The boy squirted a water pistol in the defendant's face," Donovan explained.

Still Friendly Despite Beating

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—"I talk too much anyway and I guess this time I had it coming to me," a woman told Butte Police Chief B.J. Riley as she declined to sign a complaint against her husband. Chief Riley said the woman had been beaten by her husband and it required 18 stitches to close cuts around her mouth. Riley said the couple left the station together on "friendly terms" after the husband spent the night in jail.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

A few minutes later she heard the heavy clasp of a door coming up the trail. She knew the tread of Tim Larrabee's old roan. Raising herself on one elbow, she let her eyes run over the chaos of the cabin. It looked as though a violent struggle had been raging there. As the power of thought came back to her, her lips parted in the beginnings of a smile. Maybe she wouldn't have to disappoint Wayne after all. She could still do anything she pleased with Tim. Maybe she could still work out Wayne's scheme the way he wanted it—and pay Kerry Riordan for throwing her off like she was dirt!

She caught the neck of her dress between her hands. A few feverish jerks, and the shoddy cloth was ripped apart halfway to the waist. She snatched the few remaining links from her hair, and turned into confusion. She rubbed unmercifully at her eyes till a swift glance at her cracked mirror assured her she looked as though she'd been crying. The picture, she told herself, was good enough to fool Tim. Then, as she heard the clump of his boots outside the door, she crouched forward, clutching the rags of her dress together with both hands and let her whole body begin to shake with great sobs.

Kerry pulled up before the slash of ranch-house in a lather, and ran up the steps almost into Christine's arms. Her kiss was long and satisfactory, and made him feel clean again. She leaned back happily in the circle of his arms, and demanded, "What made you so late? I thought you weren't coming," and then, "Kerry what happened to your face?"

"Just had a little accident," he muttered. "Ran against a mesquite limb."

"Silly!" she chuckled. "After all these years, haven't you learned to duck?"

He'd lied almost without thinking, and her ready acceptance made him squirm inwardly. He didn't want lies between them. He'd tell her the truth—later. But he didn't want to talk about Lita yet.

They sat there on the porch, not talking much, not needing to. Her hand was linked through his; he could watch her face, serene in the slanting late afternoon light, its strong lines softened by tenderness as she looked at him. The ugly scene he'd been through seemed like a bad dream. It was like that when they saw the horseman ride up. Christine asked idly, "Who could that be? It's none of our men. It doesn't even look like a cow-pony." And then, as the rider came nearer, "Why, it's Tim Larrabee. What do you suppose he wants here?"

Larrabee reined the big, raw-boned roan horse up in front of the house, with vicious sawing of the reins and thudded to the ground. "Riordan!" he yelled hoarsely. "Come down here!"

His eyes didn't see the girl on the porch. They were mad eyes, such as Kerry remembered seeing once in a steer that another steer had fatally gored.

The only feeling Kerry was conscious of was pity. He came down the steps and spoke gently. "What do you want with me, Tim? I know what you think about your father, but you can't think I had anything to do with it. I wasn't even here—"

"I know who killed Dad," Tim's words came in hard, sobbing gasps, as if he'd been running. "an' he's goin' to burn in hell for it—before I'm through with him. But I'm settlin' with you right now. I told you once before to stay away from Lita."

"Lita? But, Tim, I—" Kerry heard Christine's sharp intake of breath behind him, and it shook him more than the nester's fury. Why had he been such a fool as not to tell her the truth right away? He didn't dare look at her as he stumbled on. "Listen, Tim, I only want to see her today to—"

"You only got about a minute to live, Riordan," Tim cut him off. "Don't waste it tellin' lies. I been there!"

"Well, whatever she told you—"

Kerry's voice dropped away with the hopelessness of trying to convince the crazed man before him. No telling what Lita might have said in the temper he'd left her in. But Tim's next words still came like a blow in the face.

"Try to make out she lied to me, would you? But I saw her. I tell you—her dress tore half off her—"

"You—"

Tim raged. "It's the last time you put your dirty hands on a decent woman. You're carryin' a gun. Reach for it!"

All the Broken Spur outfit had been going heeled since Joe Larrabee's death. Kerry's hand went instinctively to his belt, even as he made one last attempt. "Tim, you're crazy—"

The nester's answer made no sense to him. "You're not gettin' away with that this time. I been practicin'. I know how to use it now."

Tim's gun came clear of its holster. Kerry knew death was looking at him, along that grey steel barrel. His hand moved without any conscious order from his brain—and Rob and Sandy had done their training thoroughly. Two guns spat flame. He was conscious of the searing pain along his side at the same moment that he saw Tim pitch forward.

His gun-hand dropped to his side like a dead thing. He stared down at the big body sprawled in the dirt, face down, arms spread in last futile clutch at air. A spasm of sickness gripped his throat. He'd seen dead men before, but they hadn't been his doing.

Blindly he turned toward the steps. "Christie—I killed him—I didn't want to. He raised his face to hers with the appeal of a hurt child. What he saw there stopped him as if he'd come up against a stone wall.

Christie was looking at him, her face white and cold and hostile. She was only a few feet away from him, but he felt as though a vast distance was stretching between them. He made a desperate effort to cross it. "Christie, listen let me tell you!"

"Don't bother lying, Kerry." Her words icy and tired, seemed like an echo of the dead man's. "You lied to me once today. You expect me to believe you now?"

He stumbled up the step toward her. There was a sound from upstairs, a feeble cry that ended in a choking moan. His ears registered it without giving it any meaning. He reached out his hand to catch her arm. She pushed him off. "Get out of my way. Dad needs me."

She was gone. Kerry stood a moment watching the closed door in numb hopeless misery. Then his eyes fell again on Tim's body. It couldn't be left lying there.

He got into the saddle; the effort sent waves of pain through him, but he gritted his teeth and made it, and headed for town. On the way he passed three men of the Slash T crew. "Tim Larrabee's dead up at the house," he told them. "Take care of him," and rode on, leaving them with question, half-asked on their lips.

An hour later a passing rider found Kerry, slumped unconscious in his saddle, and took him to Broken Spur.

Kerry woke up to a dull, throbbing pain and a fevered, leaden sensation all through his body, and to an aching depression he couldn't remember the reason for at first. Then it came back to him. He'd killed a man, and Christie despised him. She thought he was a faithless liar and he'd never get her to believe different—not with a dead man's last words between them. It would have been better, he reflected miserably, if Tim's bullet had finished him. He'd made a mess of everything, and probably always would. He was that kind of fool.

A short time later another officer grabbed them as they were about to jump in front of a truck. Police took the couple in custody. They said family troubles had led them to seek suicide.

New Word Coined To Fit Weather

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—It isn't the heat but the humidity, Osborn Fort Revenner says he coined the word by taking the nose of humidity and the tail of temperature, blending them to describe what makes you suffer in hot weather. He adds the temperature (in degrees) to the relative humidity (in percentage points) and divides by two. The answer comes out in "humits," the unit for measuring "humidity."

For example if the temperature is 83 and the relative humidity 88 the total is 136 and divided by two the humidity is 68. Hevenner says a 60 to 70 humidity is ideal. Over 70 it is stuffy, hot and uncomfortable. Under 60 it is chilly and likewise uncomfortable.

Couple Sought To Kill Selves

TORTONA, Italy (AP)—Gerardo Grandin, 63, and his wife Guisepina, 61, embraced and stretched out on the railroad tracks to await death.

Villagers tried in vain to pull them aside, then called police. An officer got them off the rails with the false report, "No train today. There's a strike on."

INFORMED ACTION

ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP)—Printer Herbert Wise printed handbills for a missing dog. Then he went home to work in the yard. Son Jimmie, 8, shouted: "There's the dog." The two captured the animal—and the $3 reward the handbills offered.

Wilson Publisher (Continued From Page 1)

Chattanooga: and a half-brother, Raymond S. Fanning of New York City and Danbury, Conn.

Brauff began his daily newspaper career as a reporter for the Chattanooga Times in 1907. He was a reporter for the Indianapolis Star in 1912-13 reporter and copyreader for the Detroit Free - Press and Tribune in 1913-15 with the New York Press and Evening Post in 1915-16, copyreader for the Pittsburgh Gazette - Times in 1916-20, editor of the Johnstown (Pa.) Leader in 1920-21, editorial writer for the Philadelphia Public Ledger in 1921-23, editor of the Reading (Pa.) Tribune in 1923 - 25, manager of the Altoona (Pa.) Tribune in 1925-28, publisher of the Vandergrift News since 1928, editor of the Wilson Daily Times since 1947 and of the Washington Daily News since 1949. He was owner of the Nanticoke (Pa.) News in 1930-33.

During World War I he entered active service as a private first class in the Pennsylvania National Guard and was in four overseas engagements.

He joined The Associated Press in 1922 before moving to the Reading Tribune.

Brauff leased the Wilson Daily Times in 1947 and purchased it in 1952. With Frank W. Denny, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Swindell, and Ashley B. Futrell, he bought the Washington paper in 1949 and started the Havelock paper in 1952.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. in the First Presbyterian Church at Chattanooga.

Burial will be in the family plot at Chattanooga.

Policeman Says Death Surprise To Kluckhohn

RALEIGH (AP)—A policeman testified today that when he arrested Richard Kluckhohn on a charge of slaying a woman shopper here on May 13, the 21-year-old defendant exclaimed, "Oh, my God, I didn't know I had killed anyone."

Graham R. Creel of the Chapel Hill police told of arresting Kluckhohn, Evanston, Ill., youth on trial for second degree murder in the strange slaying of Miss Bernice Seawell.

Kluckhohn, son of noted scholars who are members of the Harvard University faculty, has pleaded innocent.

He contends that the shooting of Miss Seawell, 43 from his hotel window was "an awful, dreadful accident."

Creel said he found Kluckhohn at the home of a friend of the defendant, Dr. Joseph Kahl, of the University of North Carolina faculty.

Creel said Kluckhohn readily admitted his identity, that he had been in the Raleigh hotel and that he owned a gun.

"I asked him if it had fired," Creel testified. "He said 'Yes, it did.'"

"I have some bad news for you," Creel said he added. "That gun killed a lady. He said 'Oh my God.'"

Creel said Kluckhohn explained, "I had taken the gun down and was dry-firing it when the gun went off, but, Oh, my God, I didn't know I had killed anyone."

The gun, a long-barreled German, Ever introduced in evidence by Solicitor (Prosecutor) Lester B. Chalmers over the objection of Defense Lawyer Manning who said it would "serve no purpose but to prejudice the defendant."

A hotel maid testified she had seen the weapon in Kluckhohn's room on both May 12 and May 13.

The state also introduced in evidence a book, "Some Women Won't Wake," a detective story by Earl Stanley Gardner which was found in Kluckhohn's room.

The state hoped to complete its case today.

Kluckhohn, on trial for second degree murder, has pleaded innocent. He is accused of firing from his room in the St. Walter Hotel the pistol shot which killed Miss Seawell on Friday, May 13.

She was shot through the heart while standing in the rain in a parking lot across the street from the hotel.

Yesterday three policemen testified in Wake Superior Court they saw the 21-year-old Kluckhohn peering from a hotel window immediately after the shooting.

Solicitor Lester Chalmers also put on other witnesses through whose testimony he attempted to show that Kluckhohn should have known Miss Seawell was shot.

Horry County Sheriff Vows No Foothold For Klansmen

CONWAY, S.C. (AP)—Horry County—a coastal land that knew the lash of bullwhip floggings and the night-riding of hooded men less than five years ago—will have no more of the Ku Klux Klan if Sheriff John Henry carries out his pledges.

"I will use every legal means at my command to keep the Ku Klux Klan from gaining a foothold in Horry County again," Henry said yesterday.

In recent days, leaflets bearing pictures of hooded figures have been found in widely separated parts of the county. An Atlanta, Ga., post office box number was printed on the leaflets.

Sheriff Henry added: "I don't even want to hear of any meetings in this county. If I do hear that any are planned, I am going to try to see that they are broken up before they get started."

"I will use every legal means at my disposal to keep the Klan from getting started in Horry County. There is no place in a law-abiding community for the illegal operations of such an organization and it is my aim to see that no hall or meeting place is allowed to open, whether it operates under the name of the Ku Klux Klan or whatever, will get the chance to spread here like the old Klan did."

The sheriff's statement came close on the heels of a meeting in a field south of Sumter last Saturday night at which E. L. Edwards of Atlanta called for a re-birth of the KKK in the Carolinas. Edwards, a 46-year-old ex-serviceman, told the group of 500 men, women and children, that he became imperial wizard of the Klan in the United States in 1953.

Edwards told his listeners that his organization is a new one that "does not hate, whip, molest or interfere." He added that it is "a white, Protestant body to stop outsiders from interfering with our business." In commenting on the Supreme Court's anti-segregation decision, Edwards told the crowd: "Those nine buzzards up there all but destroyed the Supreme Court with one ruling."

Chapel Hill Man Lost On River

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The search for a Chapel Hill, N.C., man lost on the Mississippi River continued today.

Sheriff's deputies in airplanes found no trace yesterday of Robert T. Madden, 23, who was presumed drowned when his small boat was discovered drifting down the river. He had planned to enroll at Louisiana State University this fall.

Today's search was concentrated on jetties of the wide stream.

Officers said Madden may have fallen overboard after pulling too hard on his outboard motor's starting cord. The cord was fully extended when the boat was found.

Federal Aid For Flash Flood Area

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Federal aid is on its way to this flood-stricken resort city, Mayor C. D. Baker announced last night.

He said representatives of two federal agencies will reach Las Vegas by this weekend to handle applications for disaster aid from the city, businessmen and home owners.

Estimates of damage caused by Monday night's flash flood run as high as $400,000 to city facilities and a million dollars to stores and homes.

department of the bank from 1941 until 1943 when he entered military service as a naval intelligence officer serving in the navy until June 1945.

Upon his release from active duty with the navy, Marston was assigned to the credit department to handle the bank in analysis and investigation and served in that department until 1948. He was elected assistant cashier of the bank during 1946. From 1948 until 1952 Marston was loan and divisional officer for correspondent banking and commercial accounts.

In 1950 he was elected assistant vice president and was assigned the additional duties of loan officer specializing in metropolitan business in 1952, a position he has held until the present. In 1953 he became secretary to the board of directors, and was elected vice president of the First and Merchants National Bank, a $200 million financial institution, in 1954.

Other affiliations include, Marston is vice president and director of R. L. Christian and Co. He is also affiliated with the Virginia Manufacturers Association Tobacco Association of the United States, Robert Morris Associates and the National Association of Cost Accountants.

He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and active in civic affairs in Richmond, serving currently on the budget and membership committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. He is also active in the Richmond Community Chest and the Richmond chapter of the American Red Cross.

President Sugg termed Marston "a top man in banking circles."

M. K. Blount, vice president of the State Bank, said today, "Banks play a large part in the progress and development of any city and community. It is the purpose of the officers and directors of the State Bank to provide service and facilities to do its full part in this respect. I have known Jack Marston for a number of years and I feel that under his leadership the State Bank will continue to do its part in making Greenville and Pitt County a better place in which to live."

At the close of business at the end of 1954 the capital account of the State Bank and Trust Company stood at $434,000. Directors of the bank in addition to Sugg and Blount include A. R. Barrett, J. Key Brown, Reynolds May, John Mitchell, Dr. K. B. Pace, H. C. Sugg, J. B. Webb Jr. and K. R. Wooten.

Begin Hearing On Movie Violence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Movie sex and violence, already the cause of a serious industry breach with the Legion of Decency, gets a going-over from the Keftover Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, which begins a three-day stand here today.

Today's session will be but a curtain raiser for the big Hollywood show expected to steal headlines tomorrow and Friday. Civic leaders have been invited to testify today.

Tomorrow a dozen movie big-wigs will answer charges that a recent loosening of the motion picture production code has had an unhealthy effect on the minds and morals of teen-agers.

Committee investigators previously have subpoenaed press books of "Son of Sinbad" and "Blackboard Jungle" and two pictures which have come under much fire from censorship bodies. Press books contain the advertising and publicity campaigns of pictures.

Dore Schary, production boss at MGM, the studio that made "Blackboard Jungle," is slated to take the stand tomorrow.

Kefauver said the subcommittee is "as interested as film makers in learning how their product can be improved."

"Officials of the industry," he said, "will assist us in examining their code with an eye toward evaluating the code in the light of the effect of crime and horror motion pictures on juvenile conduct."

Part of the Friday session will be devoted to the so-called "smut mills" which mail out literature and art to teen-agers.

Far-Reaching Case Is Before Circuit Court

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A case that could have far-reaching effect in labor-management relations was scheduled for argument today before the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The issue: Must management let the union examine its books if its refusal to grant a wage demand is based on economic reasons?

The National Labor Relations Board is the plaintiff, or petitioner, in the case against the Truitt Manufacturing Co. of Greensboro, N.C. The union involved is Shopmen's Local 729, International Assn. of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers of America AFL.

The case began in 1953. The union asked a 10-cents-an-hour increase and the company said 2 1/2 cents was all it could afford. The company refused the union request for financial information to back up its position.

An NLRB examiner ruled that the firm refused to bargain in good faith. The company contended that the National Labor Relations Act does not authorize the union to obtain the financial data asked, which included profits and dividends.

Also scheduled for hearing today was a petition for a writ of certiorari to the District Court in Columbia, S.C., by the Southern Railway Co. against Frank J. Madden.

President Sugg termed Marston "a top man in banking circles."

M. K. Blount, vice president of the State Bank, said today, "Banks play a large part in the progress and development of any city and community. It is the purpose of the officers and directors of the State Bank to provide service and facilities to do its full part in this respect. I have known Jack Marston for a number of years and I feel that under his leadership the State Bank will continue to do its part in making Greenville and Pitt County a better place in which to live."

At the close of business at the end of 1954 the capital account of the State Bank and Trust Company stood at $434,000. Directors of the bank in addition to Sugg and Blount include A. R. Barrett, J. Key Brown, Reynolds May, John Mitchell, Dr. K. B. Pace, H. C. Sugg, J. B. Webb Jr. and K. R. Wooten.

Dr. J. D. Rankin To Be College President

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—An aged man who has given most of his mature years to Appalachian State Teachers College will on July 1 take the position of president.

Dr. J. D. Rankin, now nearing 80, yesterday was named to the presidency. Dr. Rankin (he lists his age as "75 plus") accepted the appointment with the understanding that it would be temporary. He explained that he wants to retire.

For 37 years he has served the institution as teacher and dean.

The trustees' meeting was a major milestone for the college. It marked the end of 56 years of work for President B. B. Dougherty who helped found the mountain institution 56 years ago. Dr. Dougherty, now 84, had asked last month that his resignation as president be accepted because of poor health.

Belvoir HD Club Hears Reports On Progress Of Program Competition

BELVOIR—Activity in homestead beautification and the rat campaign in connection with the Pitt County Progress program was reported at a meeting of the Belvoir Home Demonstration Club last week. Mrs. J. T. Dupree was hostess for the meeting.

Members voted to have a weiner roast next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. on the Belvoir school ground. Guests will be their families. Mrs. Ola Forrest, Mrs. Clarence Barnhill, Mrs. Jesse Bullock, Mrs. J. T. Dupree, Mrs. H. L. Lewis and Mrs. Frank Clark volunteered to prepare for the picnic.

A demonstration on "Good Vegetable Dinners" was given by Mrs. Dupree, who cooked several vegetable dishes which she served with other refreshments.

WILSON—At the request of the local bar association, the Board of County Commissioners has called for a special one-week term of Superior Court for June 27. The special term is expected to help to clear a critically heavy criminal docket. According to court records, the docket lists more than 350 cases, chiefly appeals from the two lower courts. Eighty of those cases have been placed on the calendar for hearings, trial or pleas. Of that number 60 are appeals from convictions on liquor law violations growing out of mass arrests during a crackdown on "liquor-running" in Wilson.

WASHINGTON—M. B. Harper of Sanford was resting comfortably at a hospital in Morehead City today after being knocked overboard from a charter fishing boat. He fell into the ocean when a breaker tipped Capt. Jim Harker's boat, Eleanor, as she was crossing the Cape Lookout Shoals. He was taken ashore and revived with a resuscitator by Beaufort firemen.

WILSON—Enrollment at Atlantic Christian College for the 1955-56 fall term is expected to reach an all-time high. According to registrar Mrs. Bethany Rose Joyner, applications for the fall term already number that of the same period last year. "It looks like we are going to have more students than we can house," the registrar added.

ROCKY MOUNT—The 37th annual original Colored June German staged at the Planters Warehouse Monday night, attracted an estimated 10,000 people.

ROCKY MOUNT—Dr. Robert J. Walker, Jr., city health officer, reported yesterday that another Rocky Mount parakeet had been found to have "parrot fever" virus, according to laboratory reports. This makes the third infected bird reported in Rocky Mount this year, he stated.

GOLDSBORO—An appropriation of $7429,000 was approved Monday for Seymour Johnson Air Force Base by the Armed Services Committee. This sum is for continued expansion of the air base here during the coming fiscal year. This brings the total appropriation up to some $21,000,000. Contractors are currently working on 12 major contracts in rehabilitating Seymour Johnson Field. These will result in the expenditure of some $8,143,139, an official stated.

WASHINGTON—Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee voiced hope today that the Senate will approve extension of the draft act this week.

If the administration insists that the Senate try to rescue its reserve manpower program, Russell made it clear that must be handled as a separate bill rather than a rider to the measure to extend Selective Service for four years.

The reserve program, designed to provide a trained force of nearly three million men who could be called up in a hurry to augment the regular armed services of about the same size, bogged down in the House when an amendment was attached to ban racial segregation.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and other top Pentagon officials made a special pilgrimage to Russell's office yesterday, armed with papers aimed at tacking the reserve program onto the draft extension. Sen. Saltonstall (Mass.), top GOP member of Russell's committee, sat in.

Russell said all parties had agreed "it might be dangerous" and jeopardize draft act extension to try to attach the reserve bill to it.

GOLDSBORO—The Board of Trustees of Goldsboro Graded Schools Monday asked the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to reinstate $20,000 for maintenance chopped off their budget for next year. The trustees said this is necessary, even if they have to do so to the extent that it is necessary to increase the Goldsboro charter tax levy not to exceed 24 cents.
