Hiring Full-Time City Engineer Is Hughes' Hope In Budget Request

Recommendations To Council Include Sum For Engineer And Office Needs

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor. (Last of a series analyzing the proposed 1955-56 city budget.) A full-time engineer would be added to the city's growing force of specialists...

If the city fathers approve the hiring of a city engineer it will mean the creation of a new position in the municipal government.

An appropriation of $1,500 was set up in the present budget for engineering services during the current fiscal year.

The city manager last year requested the addition of a full-time engineer but the item was finally disapproved by the Council.

Under administrative and general government, Hughes recommended $5,000 for the salaries of councilmen, the mayor and other expenses.

Hughes requested no increase in his own salary of $7,500. He presumably is leaving that item for the city fathers to decide.

Hughes recommended $2,835 for his secretary compared with $2,700 in the present budget.

Under general expense he recommended a salary of $3,125 for the building maintenance superintendent compared with the present years salary of $2,975 for that position.

The Planning Board would receive an appropriation of $2,500 in the budget. The funds provide for retaining a city planning engineer to make an overall master street plan for future planning of the city's streets.

Recommended for the Zoning Commission is an appropriation of $200 and for the Board of Adjustments, a $150 appropriation.

Among special appropriations Sheppard Memorial Library would receive $15,850, a slight rise from the present allotment of $15,260; Carver Library would receive $4,025 compared to $3,640 during the present year; $2,000 would go for advertising; $500 for the airport and $600 to the local National Guard unit.

The total appropriation for administration and general government would be $84,410 if the proposed budget is approved. Requested by department heads was $86,260. Last year's budget called for $76,563 for administration and general government and it is estimated that $73,710 of that amount will be spent.

City Clerk's Office. For clerical help in the city clerk's office, Hughes is recommending that $6,300 be appropriated in the upcoming budget. Last year $6,186 was budgeted for that item.

City Clerk H. H. Duncan requested that the treasurer's salary be raised from the present $900 to $945 but Hughes recommended that the salary remain the same. The tax collector's salary would be raised from $3,500 to $3,780.

Funds for the purchase of automobile license tags would jump from the estimated $843 spent for that purpose this year to $1,100. The increase is due to a new type tag which was adopted recently by the City Council.

Hughes is recommending that Duncan's salary be increased from $4,800 to $5,100 annually.

The clerk's office would receive a total appropriation of $22,180 next year. During the present year the office received an appropriation of $20,836 and it is estimated that $18,972 of that amount will be spent.

Under capital outlay the clerk's office is asking for a typist desk to cost $160 and a typewriter costing $540. Requested office equipment for the city manager's office would cost $175.

Debt Service. For serial bonds due next year $42,000 is being requested and for bond interest an allotment of $5,832 is required. For commission on bonds and interest $132 is asked in the proposed budget.

Among The First In Pitt To Barn Tobacco

Local Firm Pledges Sum To Mental Health Work $10,000 Offer For Clinic

Peppi-Cola Bottling Co., of Greenville, announced today that it would give $2,000 per year for the next five years toward the establishment of a Mental Health Clinic here to serve area residents plus those of Eastern North Carolina.

Jack Minges, a spokesman for the company, said today that "we are very anxious to see it get underway" and added that the money would be available whenever the newly-formed Mental Health Association sees fit to start its clinic.

The Association, at a meeting Friday night, set January 1 as a tentative date for the beginning of a clinic.

Meanwhile, Pitt County Health Officer Dr. Walter C. Humbert called on the contribution by Peppi-Cola "one of the finest demonstrations on the part of an organization to do something about our mental hygiene problem."

Neither the president of the organization, Charles Cobb, or the vice-president, Mrs. Hugh Winslow, could be reached for comment this morning.

Other members of the Association were enthusiastic however. Ed Parkinson, of the Association's Liaison Committee, said the "citizens of Greenville and Pitt County should be most grateful for the contribution."

An attempt was made to contact Mayor W. L. Whedbee for comment but he could not be reached.

The establishment of a clinic to serve as many persons from this area and Eastern North Carolina as possible is not the only goal of the Association. Work with juvenile delinquency, retarded children and other similar problems could be carried on in addition to establishing the clinic for mental hygiene problems.

Estimates released at an organizational meeting several weeks ago showed that an "ideal" clinic setup here would cost in the neighborhood of $40,000.

A smaller establishment however, offering the same expert diagnostic service and counseling but on a more limited scale, could be had for about $26,000. Eighteen thousand of this total could come from state funds with $8,000 being raised locally.

The clinic, at full operational capacity would probably need six to eight rooms. A smaller version however, might be housed temporarily in the new Health Department building scheduled to open here in September.

Last night Dr. Humbert and Dr. Fred Irons appeared before the County Commissioners to inform them of the gift to the local Mental Health clinic. They requested the commissioners to provide $2,000 for the operation of the clinic for six months during the 1955-56 fiscal year. Humbert said he would appear before the Greenville City Council tonight to request $900 from that source for the operation of the clinic during six months of the new fiscal year.

The County Commissioners took no action on the request.

Russia And West In Virtual Agreement Near Accord On July Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia and the Western Powers were reported to have reached virtual agreement early today on arrangements for the top-level talks in Geneva next month.

Informed quarters said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Western diplomats at the end of a four-hour meeting that at first sight he saw no reason to object to a series of proposals they had agreed on in New York last week.

He was understood to have told them he would study the proposals more carefully and give his reply in a day or two. The Western foreign ministers apparently were so certain of his acceptance that no further meeting was arranged.

Diplomats at the meeting said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay had proposed that:

1. The purpose of the "summit" meeting should be to ease world tension and not to negotiate the settlement of specific problems.

2. The meetings should last from two to six days.

3. President Eisenhower should be the first presiding officer, to be followed by French Premier Edgar Faure, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

4. The meetings should be held in the Palais des Nations, U.N. headquarters in Geneva, and that the U.N. should be requested to service the sessions.

5. No council of foreign ministers should be held before the chiefs of government meet.

The four foreign ministers will have dinner together tonight with Pinay as host, but no serious discussions were planned.

These developments came as the U.N.'s 10th anniversary meeting got down to its long program of speeches on the world outlook.

Macmillan was scheduled to deliver a policy declaration for Britain—the first major foreign policy pronouncement since last month's British elections.

President Eisenhower's opening address was praised by other delegates as excellent and inspirational.

The President, speaking yesterday afternoon, pledged that he would uphold the principles of the U.N. Charter at the Geneva conference. He declared this is a "season of high hopes" for world peace.

"The United States will leave no stone unturned to work for peace," he said. "We shall reject no method, however novel, that holds out any hope however faint."

Although he promised that the United States would do its best to make the Geneva talks a success, he declined to make any predictions. He said:

"Whether or not we shall then reach the initial decisions that will start dismantling the terrible apparatus of fear and distrust and weapons erected since the end of World War II, I do not know."

Macmillan said the President's speech "gave a very fine start to the conference." Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak called the speech inspirational.

There was no comment from Molotov, who later met the President at a reception and exchanged pleasantries.

Eisenhower left for Washington in his private plane last night, approximately 24 hours after his arrival.

Recreation Commission Tours City Facilities

By BOB HILLDRUP, Reflector Staff Writer

Both the good and the bad came to light yesterday afternoon as Greenville's Recreation Commission took a tour of city playgrounds and recreational facilities.

The tour, conducted as part of the Commission's regular monthly meeting, was guided by Recreation Director Warren Carroll.

Beginning at Elm Street Park, Carroll pointed out continued erosion of top soil at points on the grounds and commented on the need for immediate terracing. The Commission also was shown the new lights installed at Elm Street Park to allow ping pong to be played on concrete outdoor tables at night.

Next stop was South Greenville, largest Negro recreational area and equipped with two tennis courts, fireplace and shelter, concrete ping pong tables and horseshoes.

John Bizzell, Negro member of the Commission, pointed out, however, that the shelter site where picnics could be held offered a serious drawback in the lack of drinking water and toilet facilities.

Mosquitoes, too, Bizzell said, plagued the area at times. He said that drinking water and toilet facilities are "badly needed" and the absence of them is causing a lack of interest in the area's other facilities.

Also at South Greenville, the Commission viewed the lighted ball field where a Little League baseball game was in progress. A sudden thundershower prevented a close inspection of the field and the badly watered dugouts used by the players.

From South Greenville, the group journeyed to Hillsdale to examine playground equipment and from there went to Guy Smith Stadium to inspect baseball, softball and PONY league diamonds. At the Stadium, Carroll pointed out the progress that had been made in turning the PONY league field into an "excellent diamond."

At Epbes, the second Negro recreational area, the Commission viewed the somewhat crowded room which is being used by the Negro playground there on rainy days. A ping pong table, snack bar, records and checkers were among the items available.

Commission members passed by Third Street recreational area and then crossed the river to the Mead-

First Barns Of Tobacco Put In On 2 Pitt Farms

Two Pitt County farmers today became the first to report the "putting in" of first barns of tobacco for the 1955 growing season.

Reporting the first tobacco breaking in the county were Tyree Stocks who operates the Billy Branch farm on Winterville Route 2 and W. E. Meeks on the B. D. Moore farms near Stokes.

Stock's tobacco is more than head high. He said he planned to begin breaking the weed yesterday but wet weather forced him to postpone it until this morning.

The Winterville section farmer said his crop is good this year in spite of the fact that most of the general rains the county had seen had bypassed him until a few days ago.

He expects to get 360 sticks of lugs from the 1.3 acres which he is harvesting today. Stocks has a 123 tobacco allotment.

Dixie Bright 101 was used for the entire tobacco allotment and Stocks said he has plowed his tobacco a number of times. The tobacco has suffered little damage from tobacco worms and other pests due to consistent spraying.

Stocks noted that he transplanted his tobacco on April 16.

Meeks who was reported to have begun harvesting tobacco today transplanted during the first week of April.

Nehru Announces Bulganin Invited To Visit India

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru announced today he has invited Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to visit India and Bulganin has accepted.

The Indian leader said no date has been set for the visit, but that it is usual for foreigners to visit India in the winter. The implication was that Bulganin would not make the trip this summer.

Nehru made the announcement at a news conference in the Spiridonovka Palace immediately after talking with Bulganin in the Kremlin.

He went from the news conference to talk at a mass rally in the Dynamo Stadium, where more than 100,000 Soviet citizens heard the first public address made in Moscow by a non-Communist statesman since the 1917 revolution.

Believe Bill Preserves U.S. Lead In Air Might Senate Votes Defense Sum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Byrd (D-Va.) and Symington (D-Mo.) said today a $31,882,000 defense money bill will help keep America ahead of Russia in long-range aerial striking power.

The Senate passed the bill 80-0 yesterday and sent it back to the House, where a somewhat different version was approved some time ago.

One of the major differences was a Senate amendment designed to block a proposed 22,000-man reduction in the Marine Corps. This amendment was adopted 40-39. It was President Eisenhower's first reversal on a major military recommendation since he entered the White House.

The bill would provide funds to arm and support a military force scheduled to be trimmed from 2,961,300 men as of June 30 to 2,881,000 a year later.

It carries $56 million dollars more than the House voted to step up production of long-range bombers.

Left intact were House-approved provisions to reduce the Army by 87,000 men to a new level of 1,027,000, to cut the Navy by 8,000 men to 664,000 and to increase the Air Force from 970,000 to 975,000 men.

The Marine Corps would be kept at 215,000 men instead of being reduced to 193,000 as planned by the administration and approved by the House. For this purpose, the Senate adopted an amendment by Symington to give the Marines another 46 million dollars.

Symington and other advocates of a strengthened Air Force emerged with a substantial victory although it did not come about in the form of actual legislation.

Symington said an Air Force letter put into the record by Sen. Chavez (D-NM) and recommending "quantity production" of F101 and F104 supersonic jet fighters fulfilled his demand for a speedup in that field. Chavez told his colleagues more than three billion dollars already was available for this purpose.

Symington—a former air secretary in the Truman administration —told the Senate that Russia has "thousands more" jet fighters and light bombers than the United States.

Byrd said in an interview that, while this might be true, he had learned as a member of the Armed Services Committee that this country has possibly three times as many long-range craft as the Russians have, capable of delivering nuclear bombs.

Despite Symington's contention that the Russians may be outstripping this country in missiles development, Byrd said he believes the United States "certainly is on a basis of equality" in that field.

Before it acted on the bill, the Senate approved unanimously an amendment by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) to put Congress on record as favoring the spending of available aircraft funds "as speedily as possible, consistent with proven technological developments to the end that the United States shall not fall behind any nation in the world in air power."

Six Department Heads Talk Budget Requests At Meet

Pitt Commissioners went through another three-hour round of budget hearings here last night as six department heads appeared to discuss their budget requests with the county board.

It was the second in the series of meetings in which the Commissioners hope to discuss departmental budget requests with heads of each department of county government. The third in the series of budget hearings is slated for Wednesday night at 7:45 in the courthouse.

Superintendent D. H. Conley and School Board Chairman Joseph S. Moye appeared before the Commissioners representing the Pitt County Schools. Although discussion covered instructional and operation budget paid for by the county, principal attention was given to the capital outlay program requested for the 1955-56 fiscal year.

A request for $70,000 capital outlay is included in the request for the county school system and $15,000 capital outlay for the Greenville City system. The $70,000 request compares with $35,000 requested for 1954-55 and an actual expenditure of more than $49,000 during the current fiscal year. The requested capital outlay for Greenville city schools represented an increase of $5,000 over the amount budgeted for this year.

Included in the auxiliary agencies category of the school budget is a $21,320 item for the purchase of eight new school buses for the county.

Conley explained to the Commissioners the Board of Education is seeking to provide as rapidly as possible gymnasiums for several Negro schools in the county which at present do not have these facilities. It is the hope of the board, he said, that county funds will be available for two of these projects during the coming year.

Chairman W. Jasper Smith of the Board of Commissioners raised the question of using a surplus of some $200,000 in the county school fund which has accumulated over a period of years for financing the most pressing of the capital outlay projects. He suggested the possibility of the county replacing the surplus over a period of years, but pointed out that such use of the funds might aid in accelerating the school building program.

Total requests for the school budget for the coming fiscal year amount to $394,412 compared with $334,459 budgeted for schools for the 1954-55 fiscal year which ends June 30.

David T. House, Jr., Clerk of Court, appeared before the Commissioners to discuss the budget request of his department which showed a decline of $195 from the amount budgeted for that department last year. The total department request for the next fiscal year is $20,770.

Henry Andrews, county tax collector, presented his budget request.

Peron Still Keeps Out Of Spotlight

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—With President Juan Peron keeping to the background, Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero continued today to direct the campaign to restore full peace to this nation left tense by revolt.

The balding, square-jawed army minister, holding the top role in the post-revolutionary period, said again in a communique early today that the situation is "steadily normalizing without any inconvenience."

(News dispatches from Argentina have been subject to censorship since last Thursday's revolt by navy fliers and Marines. Argentine refugees in Montevideo, Uruguay, believe negotiations are now under way in Buenos Aires to set up a three-man junta—including Peron—to rule the nation. The other two members reportedly would be Lucero and the Vice Admiral, Alberto Teissaire, the rear president.)

As head of the nation's armed forces, Lucero spread his control over all activities of the country, which is still under a state of siege. Despite the strict army checks, most of Buenos Aires had the appearance of normalcy.

The first American casualty of last week's brief but bloody fighting in the capital was reported last night. He was Graham E. Tune, a Detroit industrial engineer employed by the Kaiser Motor Corp.'s new Argentine subsidiary. Company officials found and identified his body in a city morgue yesterday. They said a bomb apparently had dropped near him.

Despite Lucero's protestations of returning normalcy, his communique for the second successive day warned the public against rumors of continuing conflict. As he had before, he termed these "completely false" but admitted that they had "increased considerably."

The communique reported that 18 planes used by the rebels in bombing government sites had been flown back from Uruguay, where the insurgent pilots fled for refuge. Fourteen junior officers returned with the planes, declaring that they had not taken any voluntary part in the rebellion.

Free Will Baptist Church Scene Of Ostfeld-Sutton Wedding

AYDEN—The Free Will Baptist Church in Ayden was the scene of a wedding which united Miss Frances Carol Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Franklin Sutton, and William Laurence Ostfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ostfeld of St. Petersburg, Fla., on Sunday afternoon, June 18, at 4 o'clock.

The Rev. David Hanaley of Pinelevel, a former pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The chancel of the church was decorated with floor baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons, interspersed with candelabra of burning tapers. The vows were spoken under an iron arch entwined with greenery and white gladioli.

Prior to the ceremony, Dan Sutton, uncle of the bride of Greenville, organist, and Steve Parish, soloist, of Ayden rendered a nuptial music program of "Because," "O Perfect Love" and the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon tulle and rose point lace over satin. The fitted bodice of lace was designed with a high neckline finished with a Peter Pan collar, long sleeves which ended in a point over the wrist, and buttoned in the back with tiny satin buttons. The bouffant ruffled skirt of tulle was accented by a scalloped lace overskirt which extended into a chapel train. Her three tiered fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a heart shaped tiara of lace, encrusted with iridescent sequins and seed pearls, and with pleated ruffles across the pearl outlined front. She carried a white satin prayer book, topped with a purple throated orchid.

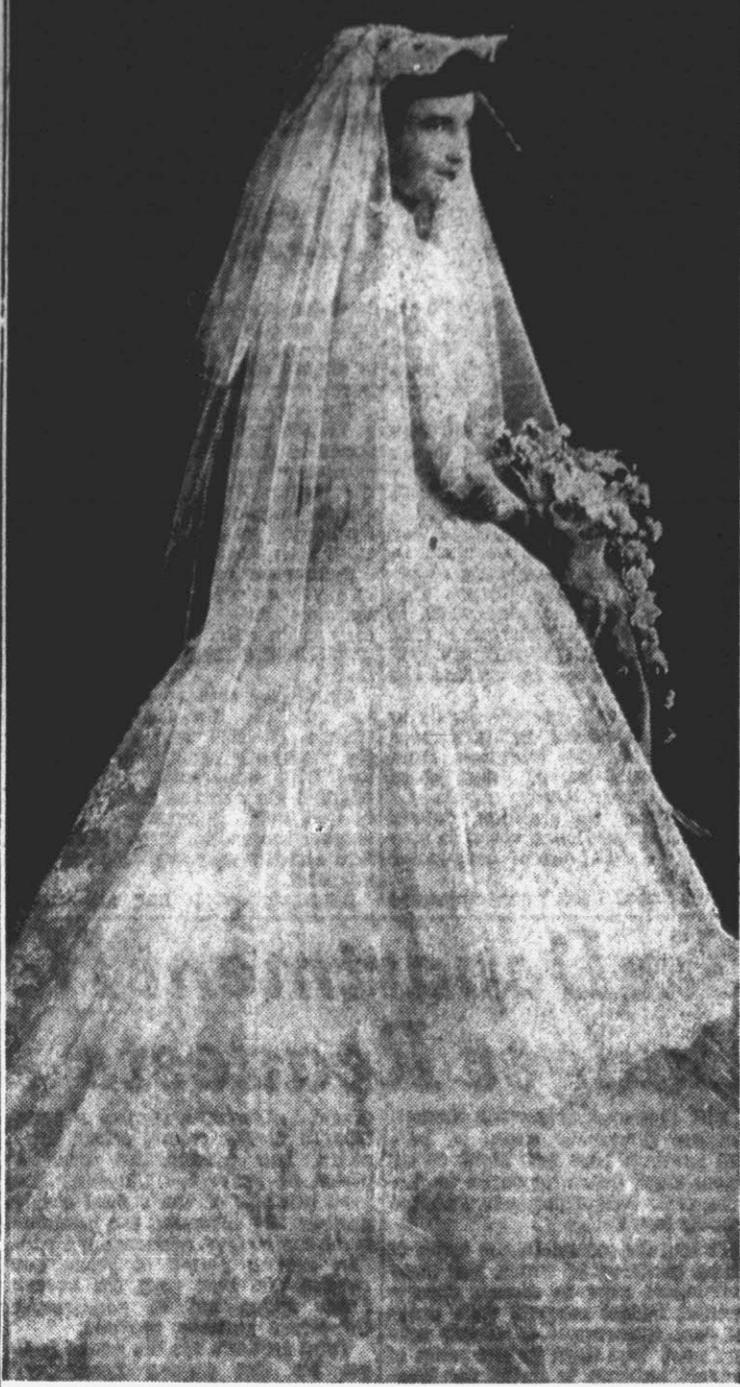

Miss Sue Sutton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of white net and Chantilly lace over taffeta. The long fitted torso of lace, scalloped at the bottom, was attached to a bouffant net skirt which was floor length. The strapless gown was worn with a matching gauntlet. She wore a bandeau fashioned with nylon braided leaves with a circular veil having an embroidered border and carried a colonial bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Veda Ostfeld, sister of the groom of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Barbara Bradshaw of Ayden. They wore dresses similar to the honor attendants with matching headresses and carried bouquets of roses tied with matching ribbon.

The groom was served by his father as best man. The ushers were Jamie Lang Jr., Milton Worthington and Melvin Worthington, all of Ayden, and Jerry Ballard of Bladensburg.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Nettie Hansley of Pinelevel, Miss Alice Faye Moya of Snow Hill, Misses Gwendolyn McLawhorn, Millie Tripp and Faye Jeannette Stocks, all of Ayden. They wore floor length dresses of pastel shades of nylon tulle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sutton wore a blue lace cocktail dress with white accessories and a purple orchid.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a pink crystal silk dress by Marietta. It was made princess style with a full skirt and a matching duster. She wore a white embroidered pique hat with other white accessories and an orchid.

The bride is a graduate of King's Business College in Raleigh and is presently employed at the S & E Motor Service in Ayden.

The groom attended school at the Universities of Illinois and Miami, Fla., and is a Junior Pharmacist in Farmville.

Immediately following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the Ayden Community House.

The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Elbert L. Davidson and presented to the receiving line, which was composed of the parents and members of the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Worthington invited the guests to the refreshment table, which was covered with a linen cloth, centered with a floral arrangement of white carnations flanked with burning tapers in silver candelabra. Serving were Mesdames Elwood McLawhorn and Warren Moya. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Everett directed the guests to the bridal register where Mr. and Mrs. Wade Long presided, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene McLawhorn heard the goodbyes.

Mrs. Rosa J. Little was the wedding dressmaker.

Following the Ostfeld-Sutton wedding rehearsal on Saturday evening the cake cutting was given in the Ayden Community Building complementing the members of the wedding party, out-of-town guests and other invited guests.

After the couple had cut the first slice, Mrs. Samuel Ostfeld served the cake, with Mrs. Herman Sutton

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
June 21, 1925

Gary, Ind.—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Winslow and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Outland of Greenville, N. C. miraculously escaped death early this morning on the crowded Dunes Highway leading into Chicago when their automobile was struck by a reckless motorist and tossed headlong into the waters of Long Lake, lying along the narrow 20 foot roadway. The car sank nearly out of sight in the marshy waters of the lake with members of the party forced to break out a rear window in Winslow's Hudson coach to get to safety on the roadway. The group have resumed their trip back to Greenville after their day's delay here.

Never Buy Hat For Husbands

By DOROTHY ROE
A Women's Editor

Select his shirts, buy his pajamas, boss his diet and supervise his hobbies but never try to buy your husband a hat, advises Garvan J. Cavanagh, whose family has been making hats since the turn of the century.

"A man is far fussier about selecting a hat than a woman is," says Cavanagh. "The matter of an eighth of an inch difference in the width of a brim can be of grave importance, and rightly so. A man also pays careful attention to fashion when it comes to hats, and often is too much influenced by whether the mode of the moment is for wide or narrow brims, tall or flat crowns. A man is a timid creature, who doesn't want to stand out from the crowd. He's happiest when he is dressed just like every other man."

Garvan's father, John J. Cavanagh, now 90, conceived the dream of a super hat store at 17, when he already was a master hatter. He started buying stock in hat companies at 23, eventually engineering a merger of Dobbs, Dunlap and Knox to form what now is known as the Hat Corp. of America, which makes hats of half a dozen different labels, including Cavanagh, and does a business of more than 16 million dollars a year.

Son Garvan now manages the Cavanagh business as well as being an officer of the hat corporation, and prides himself on preserving the Elizabethan atmosphere of the sacrosanct Cavanagh store on New York's Park Avenue, where the customers range from Bing Crosby and Clark Gable to the Duke of Windsor.

"Whether a hat is right for a man is entirely a matter of proportion," he says. "Exaggerated style is never good. To look his best, a man must have the right height crown and the right width brim for his own face and figure."

"A short man in a wide-brimmed hat looks silly. And so does a great big guy in a narrow-brimmed hat. There is, of course, some slight variation in fashion from year to year, but it is so slight that a man can always be sure that if his hat is the right proportion for his own build and face, he's going to look correct."

The greatest current change in men's hats, says Cavanagh, is a trend toward more formality. More and more men are buying homburgs—even the derby is enjoying a limited comeback—and this summer you'll be seeing the stiff straw skimmers or "boaters" in greater numbers than in the last 20 years.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

Dr. Evelyn A. Adams, physician and surgeon, in charge of Nikol Mvolan Hospital in the interior sleeping sickness area of French Cameroun, makes monthly clinic trips to villages where hundreds of patients gather to wait for her. During one recent month, Dr. Adams and her assistants saw 1,200 patients in five days. Many of these sick people had made the rounds of native medicine men with no avail. After one clinic trip, 30 patients followed the doctor back to the hospital. Some came for operations, such as hernias, goiters, gonorrhea, tumors, or cataracts; others for diagnostic procedures. Dr. Adams often has to use methods not common in America. Her operating room is situated so that relatives, friends, and the curious can see with their own eyes that the doctor is really removing a tumor, and that it wasn't an evil spirit after all that was causing the swelling in the body. The tumors are taken from the operating room, are exclaimed over by the bystanders, and then buried in the forest by a relative—after the crowd has praised the doctor.

"It is difficult for anyone to be objective in such an atmosphere of fear; everybody is divided through fear," says Miss Janet Lacy, of London, Eng., upon her return there from a visit to Kenya, Africa, on behalf of the relief program of the British Council of Churches. "Some Africans see Mau Mau as the only way to achieve national independence; others are strictly loyal but are devoted to their own people. . . . The Kikuyu is a deeply religious person and a large number had moved from paganism to Christianity. Those who abandoned a religious faith for Mau Mau and have now abandoned Mau Mau, feel a terrible vacuum and undoubtedly something must be done to fill that void. Thousands are returning to the Christian religion or seeking for another faith. There were 10 per cent who were martyred whether by death or torture because they refused to take the oaths. These were mainly Christians or thoughtful pagans. If we put ourselves in any one of these categories, we realize at once the emotional strain involved. The Christian Council of Kenya is seeking to provide teams of Africans to help train village elders and to work in community centers in Nairobi."

The Punishment Fits The Crime

Driving drunk is not only a dangerous business, it is also becoming an increasingly costly business in North Carolina as the courts take a more severe view of the offense when passing sentence on guilty parties.

In Wilson County Recorder's Court last week a man who was found guilty of driv-

Small City Rehearsals Are Vital To Civil Defense

Greenville and other cities and towns in this section had little if any participation in the recent mock atomic attack on some 60 major cities in the United States.

If it had been a real attack, however, Greenville, Farmville, Kinston, Washington, Rocky Mount, Wilson, and all the other towns would have faced major problems immediately. By now, a week after the "attack" the populations of most of the communities would have grown by 50 to 100 per cent because of the influx of bombed out refugees from the target areas.

What would we do with such an increase in population almost overnight? How would we cope with the major problems of housing and feeding these people?

We don't know. But we may be assured if such an attack ever becomes a reality, we'll have that problem squarely in our laps.

American civilians don't like the idea of playing war in major Civil Defense operations. The people in Pitt County are no different from the people in other parts of the nation. We don't like it any more than the rest. Yet, for our own welfare and safety, shouldn't we take a more active part in these Civil Defense programs which are planned in order that we may know what and how to do if such a horrible hour arrives?

Communities of this section need not fear being target areas even in a real atomic attack. We should not, however, close our eyes and ears to the fact that small cities will play an extremely important part in handling millions of American refugees if World War III ever erupts. Through some means we should prepare ourselves to do the job we will be called upon to do if there are attacks on the United States. All of us hope that day never comes. But if it should come, we should be prepared.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
MIGHTY BUILDER

Cecil Rhodes was one of the most remarkable men of modern times. He made a fortune in South Africa, returned to England and purchased for himself the best education money could buy. Then he went back to South Africa again and until his death at the age of fifty, he threw the whole of his energy into the clearing of the jungle and the building of an empire. The natives loved him, buried him on a high mountain and called his grave, in their native tongue, "World View."

Think of being almost the richest man in the world and having to die at the age of fifty, with your work only apparently half done. "So much to do," he cried with his last breath, "and so little time in which to do it." But he laid the foundation of a real empire in a part of the world which most men shunned. He found riches where they found nothing. The scholarships he founded have enriched the educational life of even our own country.

Few people realize what an empire the southern part of that great African continent has become. Rhodes was a mighty prophet and builder. He had a world view.

National Whirligig

Where Ike And Eden Disagree

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The main issues in controversy between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden as they prepare for next month's talks with the Kremlin were recently outlined by a British spokesman with extreme frankness. It is surprising that his comment got hardly any attention in the press, although it was judiciously noted by the State Department.

The spokesman was Max Freedman, Washington correspondent of The Manchester Guardian. Although a liberal, influential and highly respected newspaper, The Guardian generally supports the Churchill-Eden program, and favors close co-operation with the United States.

However, together with Alistair Cooke, The Guardian's roving representative in this country and commentator on the Ford Foundation's "Omnibus" television show, Freedman is frequently critical of Eisenhower-Dulles policies. So is Sir Anthony.

Freedman's remarks, which were delivered before the Woman's National Democratic Club here, suggest that Dulles and his British opposites must iron out several differences if they are to present a solid front when they take on the Soviet's wily and formidable Molotov at Geneva on July 18.

BRITISH CORRESPONDENT'S OPINION — "While you have seen right on some things," Freedman told the Democratic ladies, "we were more right than you on Russia. We believe that there is an essential difference between Russia and other dictators. We believe that because Russia did not become a dictatorship in a hurry, it is possible to negotiate with her."

Unfortunately, nobody in the audience thought to ask the speaker to elaborate on this odd remark, or to explain what basic difference it makes whether a country achieves totalitarianism and atheism overnight or over a long period of time.

U. S.-BRITAIN DIFFERENCES—Freedman's

ing drunk was fined $500 by the presiding judge who likewise recommended the man's operator's license be revoked. Too stiff a fine? Not under the circumstances. It was the third driving drunk conviction for the defendant.

Drunken drivers have dealt harshly with citizens of North Carolina in contributing to highway deaths and injuries over a period of several years. It has not been until recently, however, that the courts of the state—and the citizens who make up juries—have begun to deal sufficiently severely with those guilty of driving drunk.

There was a time a few years ago, when it first became law that a drunken driver would lose his driver's license, that it was extremely difficult for the state to obtain a conviction in such a case. At one time in Pitt Superior Court jurors acquitted so many people accused of the crime that the presiding judge sternly lectured jurors on their duty to the court and justice, and then ordered the remainder of driving drunk cases on the term calendar continued to another term of court.

Since then, times have changed; or apparently so. More individuals charged with driving under the influence of intoxicants are being found guilty. More of them are being given stiff sentences and fines by the courts.

Perhaps it is because the people of the state have come to realize the seriousness of the offense. Perhaps we have come to realize more fully the danger it poses to the millions of motorists on the state's highways if drunken drivers are allowed to persist in roaming the roads.

Housing Time For Pitt's Tobacco Crop

Though it seems a little early by the calendar, tobacco harvesting time is upon us and the crops generally in Pitt County are as pretty as they have been in many years.

Scattered reports of farmers putting in their first barns of tobacco are beginning to come in from various parts of the county. From the looks of the crop in the field, harvesting will become general throughout the county in the next couple of weeks.

It will not be long before the scent of tobacco curing will begin blanketing the countryside during the late evenings when the summer breezes die. To some newcomers to Pitt County, the odor of tobacco curing may prove a little distracting. To those who have lived for years in Pitt, it will be the welcome aroma which means another crop being housed and soon to be ready for market.

Selected Shorts

BEDFORD, IND., DAILY TIMES-MAIL: "So long as man is inventive so long as he is able to reap the rewards of his own efforts, just that long will there be no monopoly. . . . The biggest monopoly, the biggest fear in the world today is not business, not labor—but government itself. That is monopoly."

HILLSBORO, ORE., ARGUS: "Government, whether it be federal, state or county, should stay out of business. . . . Loss by private business is a loss to government because there is no money with which to pay taxes. In many instances it uses taxpayer money with which to compete with private business as for example in printing, thus cutting its nose to spite its face by burining a segment of business and reducing taxable income."

discussion of Eisenhower-Eden differences in the Far East, which generally reflects 10 Downing Street's viewpoint, indicates that the two western nations are still far apart on this question. He said: "We believe that what happened in China was a Chinese revolution; that Chiang Kai-shek excommunicated himself by his mistakes from the confidence of the Chinese people."

That is the prevailing conclusion in popular and official opinion in Britain, although Eden does not explain it quite so brutally as Freedman did.

SOCIAL REFORMS IN U. K.—Although it is no secret that the Eisenhower Administration favored Eden over his Labor opponents in the recent election, The Guardian correspondent demurred against the belief that British Conservatives and American Republicans are peas of the same pod.

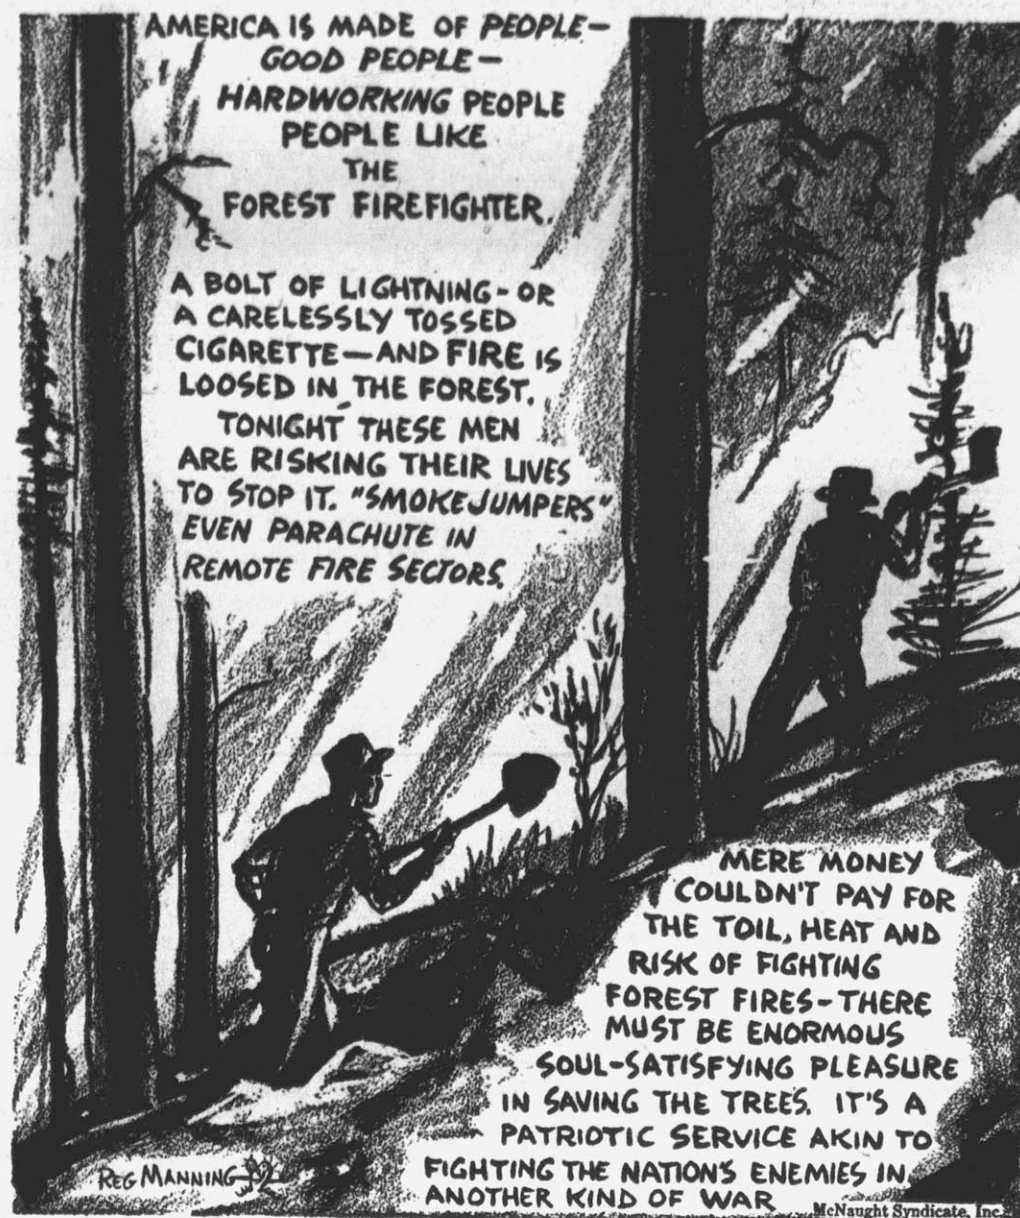

"The Conservative Party (in England) has come to terms with the need for social reform," he said. "In the process, they made a virtue out of necessity and adopted new policies with a generosity and conviction that no longer makes them contemporary with your Republican Party."

What does he think that Eisenhower has done with regard to New Deal reforms? "SOME KIND COMMENTS"—Freedman had a few kind words for the United States, however. Referring to the Marshall Plan and other postwar aid programs he said:

"Instead of looking the other way when Europe faced her hour of need, you ministered to her, and you built her up so that again Europe has become your economic competitor."

Discussing the Supreme Court's anti-segregation ruling he said that it ranked next to the Marshall Plan in commanding respect for us abroad. It was received with rejoicing everywhere, he added, "except in Moscow, where Pravda maintained a peevish silence."

The 'Ordinary' Americans

Somebody Told Me

Waited In Vain For The Sun

This is the story of four adults, supposedly of average intelligence, who spent two days looking for the sun.

Last weekend Martha and Bob Ross, Wife Rachel and I took off for Morehead, full of anticipation of many hours of soaking up sun and surf.

This was one of those rare occasions when you can get a weekend off with friends and both of you can arrange to have the children taken care of. In addition, we were fortunate enough to rent an apartment that was ideal.

Saturday morning: No children to feed. Sleep as long as you like. No strut to get to work! No doubt you have already guessed the answer. None of us could sleep. To me, that's one of the marvels of nature. The opportunity is so rare for sleeping late, and when it comes you aren't sleepy.

Rain! Good for the crops, but not for morale at this point. But the weekend is young. We wanted to play a little bridge anyhow. Of course we would prefer to play at night, but let's have the right spirit. Let's be thankful for the good the rain is doing the crops. Wonder if it's raining anywhere but down here?

It didn't take long for the bridge game to fizzle out. We spent as much time checking the weather as we did playing bridge. At the end of Saturday we still tried to tell ourselves that the weekend was young.

Sunday morning and it's still raining. By this time we had discovered a scorable set and explored the game. Fascinating as it is, we couldn't forget the weather.

There's a die-hard in every crowd. In this case it was W. R. who wouldn't consider the movie Sunday afternoon. 'The sun might come out,' she said. Officially, I don't think you could say it ever came out while we were there. But we went out on the beach. Bob and I went for a swim; it lasted five minutes.

Even with the worst weather there's always a highlight at Morehead: eating Between Tony's and the Rex, you can get plenty of variety with highest quality.

We had a good time. One of the best prayers I have ever heard is: God give us the power to accept that which we cannot change. And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY (Henderson Dispatch)

Unless the movement now under way for a new industry in Henderson succeeds there will be a lot of disappointed individuals around town. It looks for the world as if the second acquisition of 1955 is becoming more real. There are more angles and more developments, according to information, than have been revealed, or than can be told just now.

Probably the most encouraging thing about this latest undertaking is the type and amount of support it is receiving. Certainly those reportedly joining in the movement are abundantly able financially to put it across and appear determined to do so.

One of the things very pleasing about the enterprise is that it is the core locally engineered, and by some of the most substantial interests in the community.

Around Capitol Square

'Variety Vacationland' Slogan Has Basis In Reality

AROUND CAP SQUARE ANNE

By LYNN NISBET
VARIETY — Some years ago the State advertising division adopted the catch-line "Variety Vacationland" to be used on nearly all tourist advertising. The variety designation might be applied with appropriateness to total North Carolina activities. It has been the privilege of your reporter within the past ten days to travel around with folks who are "selling" North Carolina and industrial investors. They are compiling ammunition for the continuing and increasingly competitive battle for State development.

Travel was by automobile, boat and plane, on land and water and through the air. The area covered ranged from Ocracoke on the outer banks—but still nearly 50 miles west of the most easterly point—to Cherokee and Franklin, more than 300 miles west of Raleigh and yet 50 miles east of the State's most westerly corner. There were quickie side trips into South Carolina and Tennessee. On paved highways we traveled at sea level and to the top of Roan mountain, towering well over a mile into the clouds.

We saw peacefully moving, almost sluggish, streams and the quiet sounds where waves gently rocked the boat. We saw muddy rivers indicating soil erosion upstream, and swiftly moving mountain waters that in their haste sometimes leapt for hundreds of feet in white-foamed cascades. We saw square miles of marsh lands smooth as a carpet, the rolling hills of the piedmont, and towering battlements of almost solid rock with precipitous cliffs, and tree-clad mountains with variegated shades of green almost as attractive as the brilliant hues of autumn. MAN-MADE — These inanimate objects along with literally hundreds of varieties of flowers, shrubs and trees and minerals are gifts of Nature to North Carolina. We saw also what man has done—and failed to do—in utilizing these natural resources. There were improved pastures with sleek cattle, and vast areas where no effort had been made to cooperate with nature. There were fields giving testimony to their owner's recognition of the obligations of husbandry and some others where men were careless in discharging responsibility. We saw some dilapidated church and school buildings and homes in the country, ill-tended premises and public streets in the towns, but many more evidences of individual and community pride. Electric light and telephone lines run through sections that a few years ago had no contact with the outside, and radio and television aerials just from mansions and cabins alike. Small sawmills and crosscutting vats, multi-million dollar manufacturing plants, motor trucks on the road and parked by the dozens at terminals evidence the variety of business.

HERITAGE — We attended centennial celebration at Franklin, which 100 years ago was an isolated mountain community and now is headquarters for Nantahala Power Company and other modern facilities. We were at the opening of the minerals museum at Gillespie Gap on the Blue Ridge Parkway near Spruce Pine, a cooperative venture of North Carolina and the National Park Service.

At both these places we heard Governor Luther Hodges say he was proud of the heritage and past accomplishments of North Carolinians, but is more concerned about how they meet the challenge of the future. He voiced confidence in the way they will meet it.

At Franklin we heard Weimar Jones, past president of the N.C. Press Association, declare that the most valuable thing we had inherited from our fathers is a passion for freedom.

MUSEUM — At the museum dedication several speakers traced the history of minerals in North Carolina through 400 years, from the time DeSoto's Spaniards sought gold in the mountains to the current supremacy of this State in production of ceramics materials, mica and tungsten.

There is already on display a wide assortment of the more than 300 varieties of minerals and semi-precious stones found in North Carolina. Others will be added from time to time until the dream is realized of a concentrated display of minerals unsurpassed in the entire country.

After explaining how the museum came to be, re-telling the story of sacrifice and hardships endured by the men who pioneered in the discovery and processing of the minerals, Conrad Wirth, director of the National Park Service, declared it is entirely appropriate that this museum be dedicated as a memorial to them as well as to the further service of the industry.

UNIONS IN BUSINESS
POSE NEW PROBLEMS

The growing practice of investing surplus union funds in business is alarming some Congressmen, especially in view of recent rulings, Prentice-Hall reports.

A trial examiner's ruling recently indicates that a union owning a business can strike and picket a competing business and other recent rulings indicate that a union owning buildings and renting them to businesses can insist that the tenants hire only members of the landlord's union

Gov't In Business

By ELMER ROESSNER
WASHINGTON — The suspicion that Washington is the headquarters of the biggest operation in the country is more than confirmed today by the annual report of Solomon Fabricant, of the National Bureau of Economic Research. The distinguished economist details just how big the business of government is.

Government is a major factor in the economy, it is an important user of the nation's supply of labor and other resources, it is a source of one-sixth of the national income.

Dr. Fabricant reports that last year Federal, state and local governments employed 15 per cent of all workers and paid 17 per cent of the total personal income. These governments made 32 per cent of all expenditures on new construction and equipment. They purchased $46 billion worth of goods and services from business enterprises, in addition to what they paid out to individuals.

These governments owned close to a fifth of the nation's stock of capital goods, including military equipment, in 1953, Dr. Fabricant pointed out. The total investment in government securities in 1949 was 14 per cent of the nation's total assets.

Another large element in governmental expenditures is composed of veterans' benefits, public assistance, unemployment compensation, old age and survivors' insurance. If to these are added such payments as agricultural price supports, shipping subsidies and the like, plus interest on the public debt, the total comprises about a third of nondefense expenditures, the report points out.

Contrary to popular opinion, the great expansion of government during the depression and the last war does not account for its magnitude. "As we look over the past half century, we find signs of growth in government through most of the period," Dr. Fabricant wrote. "In every decade government employment mounted more rapidly than private employment." The same trend appears in capital expenditures and functions. This, he added, is "a trend of long duration."

As to the future? "There is little prospect of any sudden or drastic shrinkage in government economic activity," Dr. Fabricant concluded.

RETREAD STANDARDS APPROVED IN INDUSTRY

Industry-wide standards for auto and truck tire retreads have been approved by the National Association of Independent Tire Dealers. The Standards, intended to protect purchasers from shoddy tires and to eliminate unfair competition among dealers, also have been approved by nine rubber companies and the Rubber Manufacturers Association.

ERITREANS INTERESTED IN HOME FURNISHINGS

Businessmen in Eritrea are interested in seeing American catalogues and price lists for electrical appliances, gasoline or bottled gas appliances, electric lamps, metal kitchen cabinets, plumbing fixtures, garden furniture, fluorescent fixtures, steel and chrome tables and chairs, modular furniture and kitchen cabinets. Manufacturers may send literature to Harvey Coverly, development program advisor, care of American Consulate, APO 843, New York, N.Y.

Are White-Collar Men At Fault?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What really does the most to lower efficiency in the average business office—girl watching or man watching?

Would you get more work done if every white collar man were forced to wear overalls and a halloween mask on the job? I raise these questions only because my earlier campaign to put the American working girl in bloomers has fallen flat.

Why the campaign? Well a survey showed that on an average day American men were wasting 20 million hours of company time doing nothing, but day-dreaming over the charms of their pretty girl coworkers.

My theory was that if all working girls were compelled to wear the same drab uniform they would become so repulsive nobody would waste time looking at 'em. The suggested uniform: Black cotton stockings, old-fashioned black bloomers, and a blue middie or high-necked blouse.

But it looks as if I got off on the wrong blooming foot.

You'd think it would be the office girls who'd raise a howl against being compelled to wear bloomers. Not at all. Many of them were quite attracted to the thought. It was the men who yelled.

Typical complaint from a boss: "Why don't you shut your big mouth, Boyle? It has taken me 20 years to work up to a place where I can have an office of my own and a good-looking secretary. Quit talking like a wife, will you? Let well enough alone."

An office supervisor remarked: "You're putting the cart before the horse, son. There are more women than men in the average office today, and believe me most of them are man-crazy."

"If men are wasting 20 million hours a day girl watching, then the girls themselves must be wasting 30 million working hours staring at the men in their offices. The real problem is how to make the white collar man less attractive." I checked into this and—golly—the supervisor was right. America's white collar men are getting downright irresistible. Every stenographer and secretary I talked to admitted—off the record, of course—that there was at least one man in her office she couldn't keep her mind and eyes from.

"There is a junior executive in our place who has been promoted to a desk with two telephones," said one. "And he's as happy as a baby with a new rattle. Every time I pass his desk it's all I can do to keep from reaching over and pinching his little fat merry cheeks."

What about a standard uniform for men office workers then—overalls or Bermuda shorts, plus blinders or Halloween masks? "In my opinion it wouldn't work," said a middle-aged secretary acidly. "To me most men look like they are wearing Halloween masks anyway, but in this civilization there is nothing you can do to make men repulsive—heels that they are—simply because there aren't enough of them to go around."

The case against putting office girls in bloomers was expressed most forcibly by Don Sauers, president of something called the American Society of Girl Watchers Inc. Sauers says girl watching may reduce office efficiency but boosts office morale.

"I recommend that each American working girl be given a special income tax deduction of $100 per year for cosmetics," he wrote. "And I suggest the hiring of one beautiful girl for every 10 male employees—who has no talent for shorthand and who doesn't know a typewriter key from a piano key. Her sole assignment would be to stroll around the office adjusting venetian blinds and tidying up desk tops. "Is anybody against this whole idea?"

For me. Who am I to fight progress—in any form?

Local Youths Enter Derby

Eight Boys In Kinston Event

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Every summer the lads of Eastern North Carolina become enthused over the annual Soap Box Derby and begin the readying process of building their own cars out of what scrap materials they can find.

These lads spend right much time fixing their cars in hopes they will be the finalist at the big meet in Kinston. There is not a single lad who does not believe deep down inside that he has a good chance to be the winner.

This year on June 26, 109 Eastern North Carolina boys will gather on North Queen Street in Kinston and vie for first place in the colorful event. The winner of the Kinston race is rewarded with an all-expense paid trip to Akron, Ohio. There he will compete for the first place prize, a $5,000 scholarship; and also for the other scholarships given through fifth place.

Eight Greenville youths will enter the event in Kinston. Greenville will enter six boys in the class A division and two boys in the class B division. Class B is for boys 11-12 and class A is for boys 13-15.

The gala event will be attended by several well-known figures. The two judges will be Bryant Aldridge, Duke University first team fullback, and Everett Case of the North Carolina State Wolfpack.

In addition to these two, "Cactus Jim" of Radio and TV fame will be on hand, as will Mrs. Melvin Harper of Snow Hill, Mrs. North Carolina at 1953.

All entrants in the race will present their cars for inspection on Wednesday and Thursday in Kinston. Jaycees will check for compliance with official rules, and the racers will be passed or turned down as the officials see fit.

The Greenville youths entered in the event are: Lanny Berry, Dick Heller, Joey Roberson, William Stancill, John Wesley Hudson, Tommy Bell, George Patrick, and Tommy Henderson. Bell and Roberson are in class B and all of the others are in class A.

These Greenville boys will be just as hopeful as the other 100 boys around the state who are trying for that top spot. But as one Greenville boy said, "Even if I don't win, I had a lot of fun building my car."

Staton Pitches Reds To 7-1 Win Over Olds

Coach Junior Yohn's Redmen pounded out a decisive 7-1 win over the first half winners, the 88 Oldsmobiles, last night in the first game of the second half of play in the PONY League.

Charles Staton fired another sparkling hurling job on the mound to gain his fifth win of the year without a loss. Staton gave up one safe blow, and that was a scratch single by Jimmy Jenkins. He lost his shutout in the third inning and his no-hitter in the fifth.

The Redmen jumped on Ronald Riggs for eleven hits and their seven runs. Two runs in the second were all that Staton needed but he and his mates kept going for more.

Seven different players in the Redmen line-up hit safely with four players getting two hits. Bill Cox, Staton, Aubrey Harrison, and Charles Roberts all had two safe hits for the Redmen.

Staton walked three and struck out eleven in the seven innings. The run off him was unearned.

The first half started the same way. The Redmen won two of their three games with the Olds, but still finished in second place during the half. The Olds did not lose a game except the ones to the Redmen in the first half.

The second game of the half gets underway tonight at 7:45 at Guy Smith Stadium when the Fordomats play the National Guard.

Lions Turn Back Jaycees; Pepsis Upset Exchange

The Lions turned back the Jaycees 7-2 and the Pepsi-Cola upset the Exchange yesterday in two Little League baseball games at Elm Street Park.

The Lions, who tied for first in the first half, snapped back to turn back the Jaycees in the first game. They smashed out nine hits off Sonny Hodges and were aided by seven Jaycee errors. The Jaycees could touch Brock for only four hits and two runs.

Brock went the entire distance on the mound for the Lions and recorded the win. He experienced a little difficulty in the second inning, allowing two runs on one hit, a walk, and two errors. After that he turned the Jaycees back with two hits.

Mack MacKenzie led the Lions at bat with two singles in three times at bat. He was the only Lion player to get more than one hit. Jackie Conway was the whole show for the Jaycees at the plate. He smacked out two singles and a double in four trips to the plate.

Mays, National League Are Both "Confused"

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Manager Leo Durocher may have diagnosed the whole National League pennant race when he explained why he benched Willie Mays, the darling of the New York Giants a year ago.

"Confused," is the way Leo pegged Willie's trouble. And if that doesn't describe the way the National League is behaving, it'll do until something better comes along.

This was supposed to be one of those "dream" races, with everybody getting into the act. Trouble is the Brooklyn Dodgers rocketed away out front and have shown no signs of faltering while the other seven clubs grope around looking for a way out.

It is a pretty dandy race at that, if you exclude the Dodgers—who are 11 games out front with a 46-16 record. The second-place Cubs are just 2 1/2 games up on Milwaukee. The Giants are another two games back and two games ahead of fifth place Cincinnati. Philadelphia and St. Louis are a virtual tie for sixth another game back. Only Pittsburgh, 25 games behind the Dodgers, is solidly in the cellar.

Milwaukee moved up on the Cubs as Gene Conley won his ninth decision last night 2-1 over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati, meanwhile, made it five straight defeats for the Mays-less Giants 5-3, and St. Louis topped Philadelphia 4-1 with Rookie Luis Arroyo winning his eighth.

Brooklyn and the Cubs were idle. So was the entire American league.

with the Pepsis opening up for seven runs in the first two innings off Exchange pitching. The Exchange went through nine games of the first half with only one loss, but the Pepsis turned it on them in yesterday's slugfest.

Jack Whitley held the Exchange hitters down with only three hits. Whitley walked one Exchange batter and struck out ten in going the route on the mound. The Exchange used three pitchers with the starter, David Boyd, charged with the loss.

Loyd Horton and F. Harper each had two hits for the Pepsis. None of the Exchange hitters could get more than one safe blow off Whitley.

Six runs in the second inning decided the game for the Pepsis. They batted around and scored their six runs with the benefit on only one base hit.

Score by innings:

Pepsis-Cola	160	020-9 6 0
Exchange	020	000-2 3 5

J. Whitley and Collins; Boyd, Morris, James and Duff.

The Braves made it four straight behind Conley's four-hitter, although getting just four hits themselves off loser Vern Law and Bob Purkey. Billy Bruton singled and stole second to score on Johnny Logan's double in the fourth inning, then got all the way to third on an error in the sixth to score the other run on Logan's sacrifice fly.

Only one of the runs scored at St. Louis was earned. It came in the first for the Cards, who put away the game with three, tainted tallies in the fourth. Arroyo, beaten only twice, dropped his earned run average to 1.91 and batted in two runs with a single and after becoming the father of a baby boy earlier in the day.

Both clubs had seven hits—the Cards got theirs from loser Murry Dickson and Ron Mrozinski—none went for extra bases.

Cincinnati broke Jim Hearn's hitless spell in a four-run fifth inning. Hearn contributed a run-scoring error as the Redlegs got four singles and a double by Stan Pinales in the frame.

Art Fowler went the route for the first time this season winning his second. Dusty Rhodes and pinch hitter Bill Taylor scored New York's runs with homers.

Kaline Top Vote Getter In Majors

CHICAGO (AP)—Al Kaline, Detroit's sensational 20-year-old outfielder, held his lead today as the all-star poll's top vote getter.

Kaline grabbed the lead from Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella yesterday after Campy had been top man since the beginning of the vote June 10.

Kaline's total soared to 112,848. Campanella leads National League catchers with 111,412.

The voting will determine the starting lineups for the game to be played at Milwaukee, July 12.

Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees was in third place in the individual race with 110,704 and Duke Snider of Brooklyn followed with 109,643.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Luis Arroyo, Cardinals, kept seven singles scattered to win his eighth decision and lowered his earned run average to 1.91 as the only run Philadelphia scored was unearned in a 4-1 St. Louis victory.

HITTING—Johnny Logan, Braves, drove home both Milwaukee runs with a double and sacrifice fly in 2-1 triumph over Pittsburgh.

The Coastal Plain League has a new leader this week. Farmville replaced Greenville over the weekend by winning over Williamston and losing to Rocky Mount. Meanwhile, Greenville dropped its only contest to last place Falkland.

The Rocky Mount-Farmville and Greenville-Falkland games were the only two scheduled that got by the weather. All games were rained out Saturday night and the second New Bern-Williamston game was also postponed Sunday.

Farmville gained a half game on Greenville with their 10-0 victory over Williamston in a replay of a rained-out game Friday night. Manager Bill Kennedy's boys have now come from third place to first in less than two weeks.

Farmville exploded for 12 hits off Williamston's Van Sexton while little Johnny Hinson was holding the Braves to eight scattered knocks. Pete Stewart, Millard Webb and Kennedy led the winners at the plate with two hits each.

R.M. Winner
Rocky Mount, making a staunch bid for the top, knocked off the leaders Sunday 4 to 2. Wake Forest's Ralph Adams held Farmville to five hits to chalk up the victory.

The Leafs guffed up on Vince Jones for seven hefty blows, including a two-run homer by George Davis. The Leafs jumped off to a quick lead when Davis uncorked his roundtripper with two mates aboard in the fourth.

Millard Webb and Norman Catlett had two hits apiece for Farmville. Al Denson had three for Rocky Mount and Davis and Ray Whitley had two safeties respectively.

Greenie Wildness
For the second straight time, a Greenville pitcher walked in the winning run as Falkland handed Greenville a 9 to 8 lacing. Bobby Flye issued free transportation home to Bob Lilley in the ninth inning for the downfall.

Herb Corey, who relieved Mark Stancil in the fifth, received credit for his first win. Flye was the loser.

Bobby Clark, with three hits, led the Greenies. Ed Stokes of Falkland also had three bingles.

Temple Bell Will Return To Japan

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A Japanese Temple bell—hung in the Pasadena City Hall after U. S. sailors "liberated" it in 1945—is going back to its homeland. The 700-pound bell was taken from the 1,120-year-old Gochizan Soji temple in Tokyo by Buddhist priests, who donated it to their nation's war effort. Sailors on the cruiser Pasadena found it in a Japanese shipyard after V-J Day.

Yesterday the Board of City Directors announced that the bell is being shipped back to the temple "in the interests of international good will."

West 5th Street Extension Dial 2561

FARMVILLE—The recently organized local National Guard unit now has 48 of its authorized strength of 127 officers and men, according to Sgt. E. B. Wilson.

The local unit, officially designated Co. H, 119th Infantry Regiment, 30th Division is a heavy weapons support company for an infantry battalion.

In addition to the build-up of its strength since its organization, the unit has found a temporary home in the local boy scout hut near the municipal utilities plant.

That building will be used temporarily by both organizations until an armory is constructed to house the National Guard unit.

To make the present structure usable for National Guard operations, a number of squad rooms, a weapons room and other facilities are to be added to the structure.

Sgt. Wilson says that about half of the equipment for the new unit has arrived and he is expecting weapons and other equipment within the next ten days. The heavily motorized company will make use of such weapons as .105 and .75 millimeter recoilless rifles.

If the unit were on active duty it would be authorized a total of 24 vehicles.

The unit meets each Monday night from 7:30 to 9:30. It will attend summer encampment at Ft. Bragg August 14 to 28.

Commanding officer of the company is Lt. John H. McDavid.

Sgt. Wilson urged all interested young men in and around Farmville to contact him if they wish to join the unit.

He pointed out that there are presently openings for four officers, eight master sergeants, 16 sergeants first class, and 26 sergeants in the company.

Former service men who have been out of the service less than 12 months can enlist at the rank they held at discharge, Wilson declared. Those who have been out 12 to 36 months may enlist one rank lower than that held at discharge.

The sergeant noted that National Guardsmen are paid a full day's pay for each drill night and can retire at the end of 20 years. In addition, he said, all regular army schools are open to members of the unit.

He also noted that the unit can be called to active duty only in case of national emergency and the entire 30th division would have to be called at once.

Sgt. Wilson said that he could be contacted between 8 and 5 o'clock at the scout hut or interested persons may call Farmville 3749.

Hoodlums Upset Interracial Meet

WADLEY, Ala. (AP)—A conference on international relations attended by Negro and white members of the Congregational Christian Church was broken up by hoodlums last night.

Flannery said delegates had just completed a discussion of U. S. foreign policy and were attending a brief worship service in Elder Hall chapel when four white men rushed in.

The president of the white co-educational junior college said the leader of the group shouted: 'We'll give you 30 minutes to get those niggers out of here.'

Flannery said he called the state patrol and that a sheriff's deputy arrived just as the 25 Negro delegates were leaving and saw them safely out.

The Flannery said, the hoodlums returned in a pickup truck followed by three or four motor cars.

The Congregational Christian Church's Convention of the South sent 25 Negro delegates to the conference and the Southeast Convention sent 25 white delegates.

Segregation was not discussed at the conference, said Flannery, 35, a native of Letcher County, Ky.

Dick Haymes Hoping His Luck Is Changed

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This week Dick Haymes begins picking up the pieces of his career.

The past two years he has been largely inactive for reasons well known. Now the Argentine-born crooner has won his battle to avoid deportation.

He opened a three-week singing date at the Dunes in Las Vegas. The salary: $15,000 a week.

"I'm very excited about this engagement," he said between rehearsals. "It's the first time I've felt like singing since the whole trouble began. If I succeed in this, I think other good things will follow. I believe the recording companies and film producers are waiting to see how my voice is. Then we can start making deals."

But he does not intend to return full-time to the crooning business. "I'm not going out to play 39 weeks in night clubs, the way I used to," he emphasized. "I would like to pick three or four top spots and play them every year."

"The rest of the time I'll devote to picture work, both as an actor and a producer. Producing is my great interest. I've been wanting to do it as far back as 1946."

His plans for film production are no idle dream. He and spouse Rita Hayworth have set up their own company to release a series of movies through United Artists. The first one, he said, would feature himself and would be made this summer.

"We've got two important stories we're considering for Rita," he added. "Unfortunately, we can't go ahead with them yet, because she isn't free. But that will only be a matter of time. She's in the right."

Columbia Pictures doesn't see it that way. The studio placed her on suspension for failing to report to "Joseph and His Brothers" and warned that she could work for no other producer. She claimed the studio broke the contract by not starting the picture on the stipulated date. The courts will decide who is right.

Haymes said Rita will accompany him to Las Vegas, but daughters Rebecca and Yasmin will remain at their Malibu home.

"What about his financial shape?" "I'm getting it under control," he declared.

No Prison Term; Shot A Friend

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—James Costa, 27, escaped a prison term because the man he was accused of shooting in the leg during a night club brawl "didn't want to see an old friend go behind bars."

Counsel for Ernest P. Medeiros, 50, told the court yesterday his client would be satisfied if Costa paid the medical expenses. Judge Charles A. Rome gave Costa a suspended 3 to 5 year prison sentence and placed him on probation.

Cotton Blossom

The cotton is blooming in Pitt County.

That was the report brought in this morning by W. B. Crawford, of Route 1 Greenville. Crawford said he noticed the first blooms in his fields last Thursday and believed them to be the first to appear in the county this year.

Cotton, according to County Farm Agent Sam Winchester, normally begins to bloom in this area about the first of July.

Merchant Board Extends Appreciation To Council

Directors of the Merchants Association last night went on record extending their appreciation to the City Council for its cooperation and efforts in obtaining the off-street parking lot at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets.

They also expressed their appreciation to City Manager James S. Hughes for his work in engineering the project.

Various standing committee reports were heard, and Dan Saleed, chairman of the Trade Promotion Committee, announced a meeting of that group for next Tuesday at 10 a. m. in the Association office.

Referred to this committee for its recommendation were trade in-

Greenville advertisement and arrangements for presenting a new training film, "Shrinkage - the Shop-Lifting Problem."

A report on the North Carolina Merchants Association convention in Asheville May 22-24 was given by director L. S. Garris. Among the talks and discussions he noted at the meeting were "How to Increase Your Sales," "How Merchants Can Assist in Establishment of New Industries," and "The New Look in Selling for 1955."

The directors voted to dispense with their July board meeting, and to reconvene again in August.

Some 400 Attend PTA Institute

GREENSBORO (AP)—The 28th annual summer institute for officers of North Carolina parent-teacher associations continued here today with some 400 officers attending sessions that will last through Thursday.

Dema Kennedy, national field consultant for the Parent-Teacher Assn., told the opening session last night that parents must instill in their children "the desire to want to help make the world a happier, better place in which to live."

Rugged Day For Galveston Police

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—This is the situation in the Police Department here:

Chief of Detectives W. H. Whitburn fell down a dozen steps yesterday as he walked up a flight that leads into the station. He was hospitalized with bruises.

A car driven by officer C. J. Fontenot collided with a city pickup truck yesterday. Fontenot was released after treatment, but his wife and 10-year-old brother-in-law were still hospitalized.

Officer Patrick Doherty Jr. was hospitalized, recovering from injuries received Sunday when his motorcycle cracked up as he chased a speeder.

Otherwise, things are just fine.

Sees Glimmer Of A Third Fortune

HOUSTON (AP)—Oliman Glenn McCarthy, still trying after losing most of two fortunes believes the third is just about in the bag.

Speaking of his Bolivian oil explorations yesterday, he said, "In two years we will have enough production to make up for anything I ever had in the States."

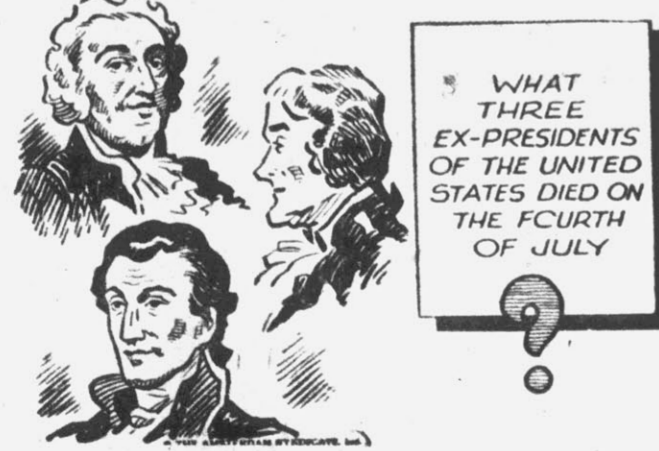

His U. S. production, he said, at one time amounted to 13,000 barrels daily but at present he owns "only several Oklahoma wells."

The old wildcatter made his optimistic predictions yesterday in announcing that a New York and Denver syndicate had invested $4,160,000 in the Bolivian venture.

Senate Demos Defeat Slash Of Marine Corps Strength

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats took a step yesterday toward open attack on President Eisenhower with the 40-39 Senate vote aimed at canceling his cut in Marine Corps strength.

It was the first successful major challenge in Congress of Eisenhower as a military man and demonstrated to some Democrats that on this score the President is not invulnerable.

The result engineered by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, could encourage other assaults on the Eisenhower program.

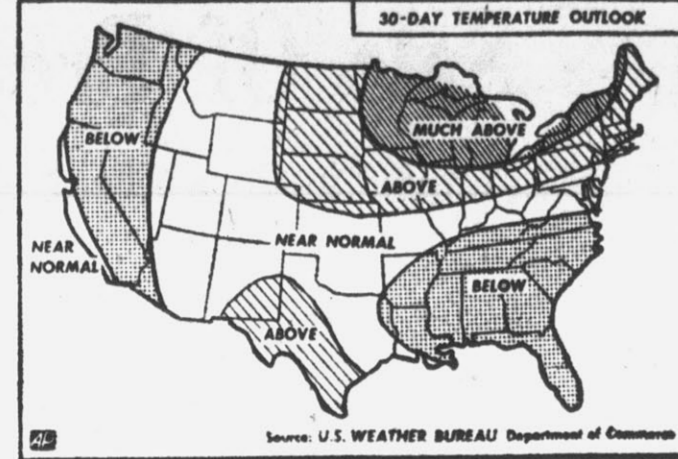

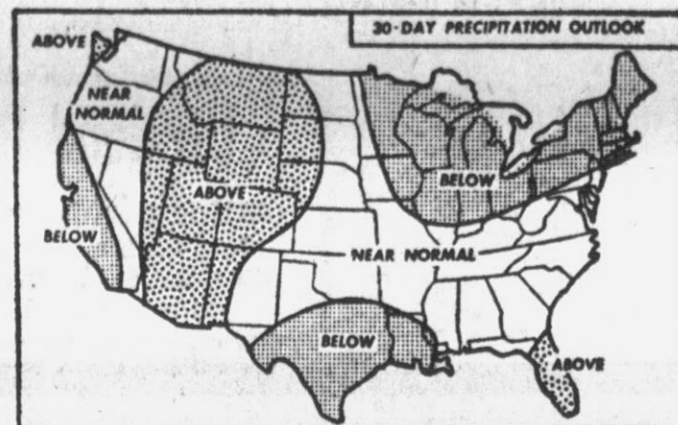

It might signal a shift in strategy, supplanting what has become the general Democratic theme that the President is a man of stature but can't lead a divided Republican party.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) wrote the amendment to give the Marines 46 million dollars more than the President asked and thus multiply the cut of 22,000 men ordered by Eisenhower within the coming year. The Senate action is still subject to a conference with the House.

Symington, who dropped plans aimed at canceling Army cutbacks as well said in an interview: "I don't think the senators who voted to reduce the Marine Corps, which is composed of volunteers, are going to be able to explain that when they are questioned by the parents of men who are drafted for other services."

Symington aimed directly at Eisenhower. He suggested the President wasn't infallible when, as a consultant, he approved a low military budget before the Korean War.

Five Are Killed In Road Collision

SOMERVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Four youths and a girl were killed last night in a head-on truck-car collision. A sixth youth was critically injured.

The victims, returning from a church league softball game, crossed the center line of Route 206 to pass another car and smashed into the trailer truck loaded with 10-inch cement sewer pipe.

The truck jackknifed. Both car and truck rolled into an embankment, the pipes spilling on the road.

State police identified the dead, all of Bradley Gardens, as Ralph Horton, 19, driver of the car; Francis Trout, 26; Stephen Chonko, 17; Robert Lawyer, 15; and Laverda Sereno, 17.

Still in critical condition at Somerset Hospital was James Cordick, 17.

The driver of the truck, Herman Walsh, 30, of Rosedale, N. Y., was treated for knee injury and shock and for a concussion.

An eyewitness, William Daughday, Martinsville insurance man, told police the youths passed him and several other cars minutes before smashing into the truck.

He said he saw the lights of the truck, heard a scream, saw a cloud of dust and pipes flying everywhere.

Sex - Terrorist Chessman Has Date With Death Awaiting Him July 15

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman, sex terrorist, author and self-tutored law student, has two big dates looming just ahead in his enigmatic 34 years of life. July 11 the second book he has written in condemned row comes off the press.

July 15 he has a date with death in San Quentin's gas chamber. Publication of "Trial by Ordeal" is certain, but scheduled execution of the "Red Light Bandit" of lovers lanes around Los Angeles is by no means a certainty.

The wavy-haired convict has avoided it for seven years as occupant of "Cell 2455, Death Row"—title of his first book. (His eighth year in death row begins July 3.)

The lives of 63 men and one woman have been snuffed out by the lethal hydrocyanic gas in the tiny steel chamber while Chessman has lived on in his 11½ by 4½-foot cell on the fourth floor of condemned row.

The time he was 27, he has listened to the radio, written two books, plotted legal maneuvers and done a lot of thinking. He has an intelligence quotient of 178, rating of a genius.

His only time outside the cell has been the daily exercise between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. with others in condemned row, a population which has ranged up to 30. Or to go to the dentist. Or to be visited by his lawyer or his sweetheart, a divorcee.

He had his date for Chessman also lies ahead. That will be the day, as yet undecided, when his attorneys file for a writ of review and a stay of execution with a justice of the United States Supreme Court. If a review is granted, execution will have to be stayed at least until the court convenes for the October term.

Jerome Duffy, of San Rafael, one of his attorneys, said such a move is in the works. Whether it will succeed is open to question, however.

Six times before, Chessman has been turned down by the Supreme Court, whose chief justice, Earl Warren, was governor of California when Chessman entered San Quentin.

Typifying Chessman's bizarre life, his forthcoming book has a baffling angle. How did he get the manuscript out of San Quentin? Or did he get it out?

His first book, in which he argued that society itself was to blame for his situation, attracted considerable attention. It recently was made into a movie.

Chessman made enough in royalties to hire lawyers after having fought his case alone for several years.

Later Richard A. McGee, California director of corrections, clamped a ban on publication of books by condemned men last March 3, San Quentin's warden.

CUB FOR CHURCHILL

CHICAGO (AP)—A 2½-month-old lion cub is being flown from Chicago to London today to be given to former Prime Minister Churchill. It is a gift of the suburban Park Forest Lions Club and will replace Churchill's pet lion Rota, which was destroyed Saturday because of old age.

Japan has 3,780 motion picture theaters.

Harley O. Teets, impounded the manuscript of the second book supposedly the only one in existence.

Yet Chessman's publisher recently literary agent, has insisted the work is Chessman's.

Warden Teets remained skeptical.

"When the book comes out, we're going to compare it carefully with the manuscript we have," Teets commented.

There are wobbly angles to the Chessman case any way you approach it.

Take his crime. He was convicted of attempted rape and kidnapping. The prosecution said he posed as a policeman by flashing a red light into parked cars of petting couples. Then, witnesses said, he forced women to take part in acts of sexual perversion so revolting that one woman had to be placed in a mental institution.

That's the state angle, upheld by the jury verdict of guilty.

Chessman argued otherwise. He said he was in prison for another offense when the "Red Light Bandit" began striking; that the bandit kept on after Chessman was arrested.

His lawyers argued that Chessman wasn't to blame for the young woman committed to the mental institution. They said she went there a year and eight months after the lovers lane experience, and had been suffering mental difficulties for several years before the crime.

The Chessman trial, subject of his forthcoming book, has even more angles. They have been the basis for six plays of execution and legal battles waged all through the state and federal courts.

The core of contention is the trial transcript. The court reporter who took down the testimony used an old style of shorthand. Before he could transcribe it all, he died.

Another man tackled the job. He couldn't make out all the notes. He did the best he could. The courts approved the transcript. It is the one which has been involved in the appeals—and the defense teed off from there.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of four cases, three of them involving defendants charged with being drunk and one involving an assault with a deadly weapon.

Abram Newton, Negro, 822 Fleming street, was found guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon (knife) on H. Nyman Hatem, 102 David street, and given 30 days on the road.

Testimony was that Hatem drove his car to the home of a Negro woman who was to go to work at his home, and that while he was parked, Newton used a knife to threaten Hatem into transporting him to some other part of town. When Newton went around the car, Hatem drove off and had a warrant issued for Newton.

The other three cases tried Monday were for drunkenness. Hubert Jones, 805 Albemarle avenue, called and he failed to answer. A capias was issued for him. William F. Evans, Jacksonville, 30 days in jail or pay $10; Coy Rogerson, paid $10 for being drunk on the street.

Police Court was not in session last Friday.

The trial docket contains between 45 and 50 cases for hearing.

Collects

SEATTLE (AP)—A federal court jury last night awarded a former service station operator $240,000 in damages against seven of the nation's largest oil companies.

George F. Moore had charged in the civil action that the companies ruined his business in 1952 by agreeing to refuse to sell him gasoline because he cut his prices.

The suit, filed under federal anti-trust laws which provide for treble damages, had asked damages, totaling $275,000. The jury found Moore had suffered actual damages of $80,000 and gave him three times that amount.

Named in the suit were Standard Oil of California, Tidewater-Associated, Union, General Petroleum, Richfield, Texaco and Shell.

The companies contended throughout the three-month trial that there had never been an illegal agreement among them as Moore charged. An oil company attorney said there will be an appeal.

Says Misleading Charges Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—The controversy, over power from Kerr dam, the multimillion dollar federal project on the Roanoke River, continued here yesterday with William T. Crisp of Raleigh, N.C., telling a Senate appropriations subcommittee "many misleading and incorrect charges" have been made in recent advertisements regarding the issue.

Crisp, executive manager and general counsel of the Tar Heel Electric Membership Assn., said Louis V. Sutton, president of Carolina Power & Light Co. (CP&L) made the following statement:

"Mr. Crisp is simply not telling the truth when he says that our company will not wheel Kerr dam power to North Carolina co-ops served by our company."

Crisp said the statement appeared in later advertisements.

He said, "We have not replied to the company via advertising," contending "our people haven't the means" with which "to compete with the vast resources of this

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Sumner

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

The bright, hot noon was suddenly dark and dark to the old man. Tip and Chuck and Bill Years of work, of fun and grief of memories shared. Sandy lifted the re-loaded Colt in a hand that felt heavy as lead.

Something struck his chest blow that drove the breath from his lungs. He felt himself falling through blackness.

Panic licked like a flame along the Broken Spur line when they saw the old foreman go down. There were nine of them left in the saddle, and of those, two were keeping themselves up by sheer force of will. Outnumbered as they were, Rob or Sandy might still have held them together, but now they were men without a leader, and the heart had gone out of them. They fired one more ragged volley and then reined their horses around and spurred off, the broken remnants of what had been an army.

When they had gone perhaps a hundred yards, they checked and drew together, and the tensely waiting nesters saw one man riding back, his hand raised, palm up.

"We want to gather up our dead." Old Cullen, crouched on the ground with his dead son's head on his knees raised his bearded head. "Let 'em. We got no war with dead men. Let 'em rest in peace."

So it was that Rob, coming back to his kingdom, was met by a somber cavalcade, with six horses bearing dead men lashed across their saddles.

The news of the raid on Broken Spur was brought to Double Diamond that same afternoon, by the usual messenger. Cameron paid him off with his customary pint and sent him away.

"Well, you're a cool one, Wayne!" Calder declared, eyeing his partner with a mixture of admiration and vexation. "I've got to hand it to you—you called the play all right. But, can't you smile when you pull off as big a gamble as this?"

"We haven't raked in the pot yet, Lon." Cameron reminded him. "This is just the first round."

"Well, it went off just like you wanted it to, didn't it?" "Sure—even better'n I hoped for. But I still like to count my chips before I start crowin' over 'em."

"You're jumpy, cooped up in the louse so long."

"You're right—I'm jumpy! Who wouldn't be? This waiting around with nothing to do but play solitaire is enough to send a man off his head. When do I earn my cut and clear out of this hole?"

"Soon, Lon maybe tomorrow night."

"Why not tonight?" Calder demanded impatiently.

"Mallory's in town." Corry had started out too soon to have had word of Rob's return. "It would be risky to try anything there. It might not get blamed on the nesters. Wait till he gets home."

"It's always waiting with you," Calder grumbled. "Wait for the right time—and the right time's always tomorrow or next week."

"My waiting paid off, didn't it?" The gambler took another tack and sent him away.

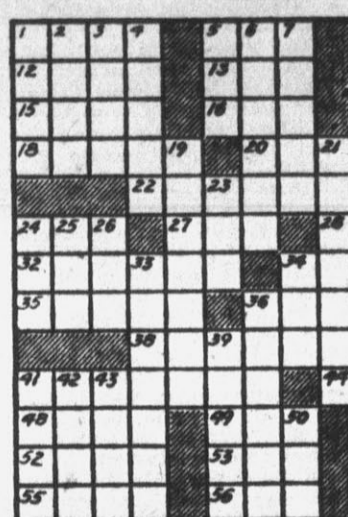

"Well, I'm not waiting in here any longer. Another game of solitaire and I'll start seeing spots in front of my eyes! I'm going in to town to look things over. What are you worried about?" he snapped, as Cameron opened his lips to object.

"I'm just a stranger passing through town. The only two people who'd know me aren't going to give me any trouble locked up in a cell!"

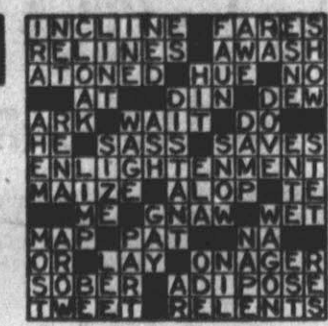

Cameron shrugged. After all, no harm seemed likely to come of Lon's riding in to town and having a few drinks in the saloon, and his caged restlessness might drive him

But Rusty was behind bars now where he couldn't get at him. His mind played briefly with the idea of breaking into the jail, but a vestige of common-sense, and even more, a deep-rooted fear of Wayne Cameron and his cold anger when his plans were crossed, held him back.

So he rode into town and swung off at the Last Chance for a drink. The saloon was crowded with men in blue shirts and overalls with a sprinkling of town-dwellers—the loafers and drifters who were to be found around the saloon during most of their waking hours.

Mellowed by the warmth of his first drink, Calder took the second more leisurely, and began to give an indifferent attention to the scraps of conversation that drifted to him. The nesters, he soon perceived, were divided into two groups—those who had taken part in the attack on Broken Spur and were celebrating their victory and those who'd cautiously stayed out of action, and now it had proved successful, were itching to identify themselves with it. The townsmen were hovering at their elbows, volubly congratulatory in hope of free drinks.

JUNE 24, 1955

At 12:00 o'clock noon—On the premises to do something really foolish if he weren't allowed to work it off.

"All right, Lon," he agreed. "But watch yourself. Don't get in trouble an' don't do anything to make people remember you or ask questions."

"You take me for a fool?" Calder muttered.

Calder entered Sundown in a state of rolled-up emotion that would have made Cameron, could he have seen into his mind, doubtful of the wisdom of letting him go. In that shifting mass of impulses, cravings and resentments that served Lon Calder by way of a soul, two things had remained constant for two years now. One was his frustrated desire for Margie, the other hatred of Rusty Baines. A long time he'd waited his chance at Rusty, with a patience that wasn't any part of his nature. It would have been easy enough to gun him down in an alley somewhere, but that wouldn't have satisfied Calder's twisted hate. A bullet in the heart was the way a man like Rusty would have dealt with an enemy. He had to die in some way that would be a triumph, not just of the gambler's trigger-finger but of his brain. So he'd waited, and at last he'd found his opportunity and his scheme—simple, yet deadly, fool-proof, he'd thought.

He'd sprung his trap—and the red-head had slipped safely out of the jaws. And since then, the bitterness had grown and festered in him, till the simple direct violence he'd despised at first had got to be a craving that haunted his days. He wanted to see Rusty's blood spurt wanted him to know who'd done it.

Governor Cites Nine ECC Faculty Members Go Abroad

RALEIGH — Gov. Hodges told Revenue Department personnel today he is "confident you can do the job" of increasing tax collection efficiency by bringing in an additional seven million dollars during the next two years.

Hodges and Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw spoke to the group of some 50 top department workers gathered for briefings on new tax laws and the program for better collection of taxes.

Hodges reminded the group that Shaw "assumed a terrific responsibility" when he told the Legislature the seven million could be collected if new personnel. The governor said he agreed to help assume the responsibility and the Legislature "called our hand" by providing money for the new workers.

Hodges said he has reviewed with Shaw much of the program to secure better compliance with tax laws and to collect all taxes due the state. The program, he said, "is off to a good start."

which asked for $19,405 for the next fiscal year compared with $18,915 budgeted for 1954-55. Andrews told the board 91.85 per cent of the current tax levy had been collected through May 1, and estimated that 94 per cent of the levy has been collected to date.

An increase of $10,000 in the budget request of the sheriff's department over this year's figure was discussed by Sheriff Ruel Tyson with the Commissioners. The additional funds, Tyson said, is represented principally by the fact the sheriff's department will have the new responsibility of operating the jail during the coming fiscal year.

The sheriff's department request for 1955-56 totaled $41,465 compared with $31,094 for the current fiscal year.

Register of Deeds Mrs. Blair Wheelless presented a request of $19,700 for her department for the next fiscal year, which represents an increase of $910 over this year's budget. Mrs. Wheelless told the Commissioners her department has not purchased any binders for record files in the past three years, but it will need additional binders next year. The major portion of the increase request is represented in the intended purchase of binders, she said.

Also discussed by the Commissioners were requests from the auditor's office and the tax listing department, both headed by County Auditor H. R. Gray. Total requests of the two departments amounted to $43,540, a decrease of $100 from the amount budgeted for the two departments this year. The budget request for the auditor's office is $15,820, up $460 from this year, while the request for the tax listing department stands at $27,720, down $560 from this year.

No action was taken by the commissioners on any requests at last night's meeting with the exception of the authorization for the sheriff to hire a new deputy to provide for manning the jail.

In tomorrow night's sessions, the Commissioners will discuss budget requests from the departments of building and grounds, coroner, elections board, county home and Pitt Memorial Hospital.

At a previous meeting it has discussed requests from the farm and home agents departments, welfare department, health department, and general administrative budgets of the county.

Jail Terms For 9 Communists

PHILADELPHIA — U. S. District Judge J. Cullen Gandy yesterday sentenced nine Philadelphia area Communists to two to three years in jail for violation of the Smith Act. This law makes it a crime to teach or advocate the overthrow of the government.

Judge Gandy, after listening to impassioned pleas by three of the defendants, ordered them jailed immediately, rejecting defense attorneys' pleas that they be freed in bail pending an appeal to a higher court.

Sentenced to three years were Joseph Kuzma, 31; David Dubenski, 46 (also known as Dave Davis); Thomas Nabried, 51, all of Philadelphia, and Sam Gobeloff, 44 (also known as Joseph Roberts) Camden, N.J.

Sherman H. Labovitz, 29; Walter Lowenfels, 55; Irving Katz, 35; Robert Klonsky, 35, and Benjamin Weiss, 39, all of Philadelphia, were given two year sentences.

Nabried and Lowenfels made separate statements to the court before sentencing. But Judge Gandy, who had refused the defendants a new trial last week, dismissed the pleas as a "torrent of words," adding:

"These defendants, being convicted of an extremely serious offense such as this, have the opportunity to be heard as they are here, to deny it forthrightly and earnestly and enthusiastically as they do, is a tribute to the democratic system and the concept of liberty which emerged from it."
