THE DAILY REFLECTOR
June 29, 1925

The home of Mrs. C. J. Forbes, on Evans Street, was the scene of a beautiful reception on Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. White delightfully entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. White, who were recently married. The porch was attractively decorated with potted plants, summer flowers and myriads of lights. The home was a scene of loveliness with its decorations of daisies, gladioli and southern smilax, carrying out most effectively the color scheme of pink and white. The dining room was especially attractive with its beautifully decorated table. An ice course carrying out the color scheme of pink and white was served. The local orchestra furnished delightful music throughout the evening.

Miss Sue Flanagan attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a dress of blue crystalite and tulle with a matching bandeau and carried a blue satin and lace fan covered with carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jean Davis of Elizabethtown, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Clara Belle Flanagan.

Big Smash-Up, But One Is Hurt

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—A collision on a Mississippi River bridge approach yesterday involved two trucks and a locomotive—but only one person was slightly hurt.

Police said it happened this way: A truck stalled on the approach which has railroad tracks in the center. Two buses then collided, one hitting the truck and the other going through a guard rail and partly into the track area. A diesel engine hit the protruding bus and hurled it back into the other bus.

Signed Statement From Criminals

GREENFIELD, Ohio—When A. B. Collins, owner of a food market here, went to work at his store yesterday he discovered a stolen money bag containing $15.95 and a note at the front door. The bag, containing $25, had been taken Sunday night.

The note said the bag contained $17.33—a discrepancy no one could figure out—and promised to return the remainder later.

"We are sorry," it added. The note was signed "A. L. and L. C."

Soviet Minister Leaves America After Two Weeks

NEW YORK—Russia's Vyacheslav M. Molotov leaves the United States today after a 13-day visit.

The Soviet foreign minister, wearing the smile of the affable, new Molotov, arrived in New York yesterday after attending the United Nations' 10th anniversary celebration at San Francisco.

He immediately plunged into a busy schedule which included a luncheon with financier Bernard Baruch, a visit to a museum (the third on his present trip) and a three-dimensional movie.

At the luncheon at Baruch's Long Island mansion he was offered a vodka-tomato juice cocktail called "Bloody Mary." He said he liked it and even drank half of it.

The 65-year-old Soviet diplomat was the one who suggested the meeting with Baruch, a author of the first plan for international control of atomic energy. The plan was never accepted by the United Nations because of Soviet objections.

The luncheon meeting was private. It was learned, however, that Molotov renewed his previous invitation to Baruch to visit the Soviet Union. He reportedly got no commitment from the 84-year-old old elder statesman and former presidential adviser.

Earlier in the day, Molotov made a tour of the American Museum of Natural History, where he expressed particular interest in dinosaurs, cacti and an exhibit showing rotation of farm crops in Dutchess County, N.Y.

Not Much Choice In The Matter

In spite of the fact bids opened yesterday on the new Greenville High School building were somewhat higher than local officials had anticipated, The Reflector hopes the bids were near enough in line with funds available so beginning of construction will not have to be unduly delayed.

Now that bids on the project have been opened, school officials are faced with two major problems. First there is the pressing need for the additional facilities the new high school will offer. Secondly there is the ever-present problem of seeking to obtain the greatest possible value, in terms of both quality and quantity, for each dollar spent in the schools' capital outlay program.

Obviously Greenville cannot delay another year or two years in beginning construction of the new high school unless we

Correct, We Don't Want To Lose A Reader

Take it easy this Fourth of July. There's a long holiday weekend in store, and such occasions seem to inevitably invite an extra rash of traffic fatalities. Last year's Glorious Fourth saw 348 people die in automobile accidents . . . not a very propitious manner in which to mark a holiday. Yet, in the eyes of many, holidays are occasions for looking at the casualty figures. You'd think it was a war.

We wouldn't even attempt to guess how many of the 59 million motor vehicles in the country will be on the roads on the weekend of the Fourth; but you can bet that most of their owners will try to get out for a little while. That makes almost fifty-nine million reasons for caution by each motorist.

And while traffic accidents always lead in the number of July 4 deaths, drownings are high on the list. Last year 189 drowned while "celebrating."

So much has been said, so much has been written, about taking extra precautions on our deadly holidays that most people are fed up to the ears with good advice.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
FULL REQUIREMENT
"No justice in the world!" cries Thomas Carlyle in one of his essays. "There is nothing but justice." Carlyle was an extremist. He was fond of scolding his contemporaries and boxing their ears on all occasions. It is not true that there is nothing in the world but justice. In addition to justice there is love. But Carlyle was right in emphasizing the inevitability of reward or of retribution.

We live in a world where we reap as we sow. Or, to change the figure, the scales of justice come into balance finally; and if we have erred we must pay the price. Christian faith tempers the hurt of all this with love, but it seldom changes the process. If we do wrong, we have to pay.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—David Sarnoff's outline of an intensive, comprehensive and continuing campaign of economic, political and psychological pressure against Moscow has frightened the Bulgarian-Khrushchev regime more thoroughly than anything since the creation of NATO and the proposed rearming of Germany.

Central Intelligence agents, operating within and on the perimeter of the Red Empire, have reported on the Communist reaction to the vice-like trap which the board chairman of the Radio Corporation of America recently placed before President Eisenhower. It has, to use a nondiplomatic phrase, "scared the Russians stiff." Here is why:

The Soviet is in desperate straits, industrially, agriculturally and psychologically, according to authentic reports from numerous sources. The concentration on military output keeps the people unfed, unshowered and uncleaned by halfway decent standards. They are restless, suspicious, apathetic and critical according to articles in such official newspapers as Pravda and Izvestia.

SARNOFF SCHEME—Georgi Malenkov's promise of a shift from war to peacetime production gave them brief hope, but the vision of a richer life was dashed out when he was toppled by Khrushchev and Bulganin. It is against this background of dreams deferred that the Sarnoff stratagem must be considered.

are willing to send large numbers of students to classes in makeshift quarters. On the other hand the local school district can ill afford to spend its limited amount of funds without making sure it has made the best possible arrangements.

Under these circumstances, there seems little to be gained in the long run by postponing the high school project in the hope of receiving appreciably lower bids on the building six months or a year from now.

The matter now rests in the hands of local school officials to determine what to do. The Reflector is confident these officials will choose the course which is in the best interest of the city and the youngsters of the city school system.

Change Of Policy On Reds' Part

We hardly know how to evaluate Russia's expression of "regret" over the shooting down of an American plane over international waters of the Bering Strait. In previous instances the Russians have vigorously protested that U. S. craft violated Red territory. This time they made a similar charge, but admitted a possibility of error and offered to pay the United States for half the damages.

For the Kremlin, it is an abrupt about face in policy. Whether it reflects a change in attitude, we cannot say.

Perhaps Russian leaders are more anxious for the Big Four conference at the summit than we realized, and are anxious to smooth over the shooting incident without its having an adverse affect upon the Geneva meeting.

Of course the U. S. will be compromising if it eventually accepts the Russian offer for half payment. Yet, even this offer is much more than the Reds have offered before, and doubtlessly the U. S. will accept it after another request for full payment.

Why the change of policy on the part of the Reds? We don't know. We can only guess.

Pitt Woods Need Replanting

Pitt County could profit greatly from more emphasis on the planting of pine seedlings on hundreds of acres of marginal and waste land which is now lying idle.

Timber is becoming an increasingly important farm crop throughout the state. In spite of the development of other materials to replace lumber in building, timber will become even more important in the next few decades.

Some counties in North Carolina have undertaken notable projects of pine seedling plants in recent years. Literally thousands of acres of otherwise useless land has been put to work growing trees for the future. While Pitt has not neglected its tree-planting altogether, it has not made nearly the strides it should have in this respect. Pitt County could well afford in the next several years to plant two or three pine seedlings for every tree cut in the county.

BLOCKADE OF MARKETS—Before and during World War II, the United States spent billions on what became known as "preclusive buying." Although we did not need strategic war materials offered to Hitler by neutral or pro-Axis countries (Spain), we bought them at top prices in order to keep them out of Der Fuehrer's hands.

Although there are equally important phases of the Sarnoff program, it is the blockade of markets—for sale or for purchase—which will paralyze both the Russian and Chinese Reds. Economically and industrially, the Communist empire is neither self-sufficient nor self-sustaining.

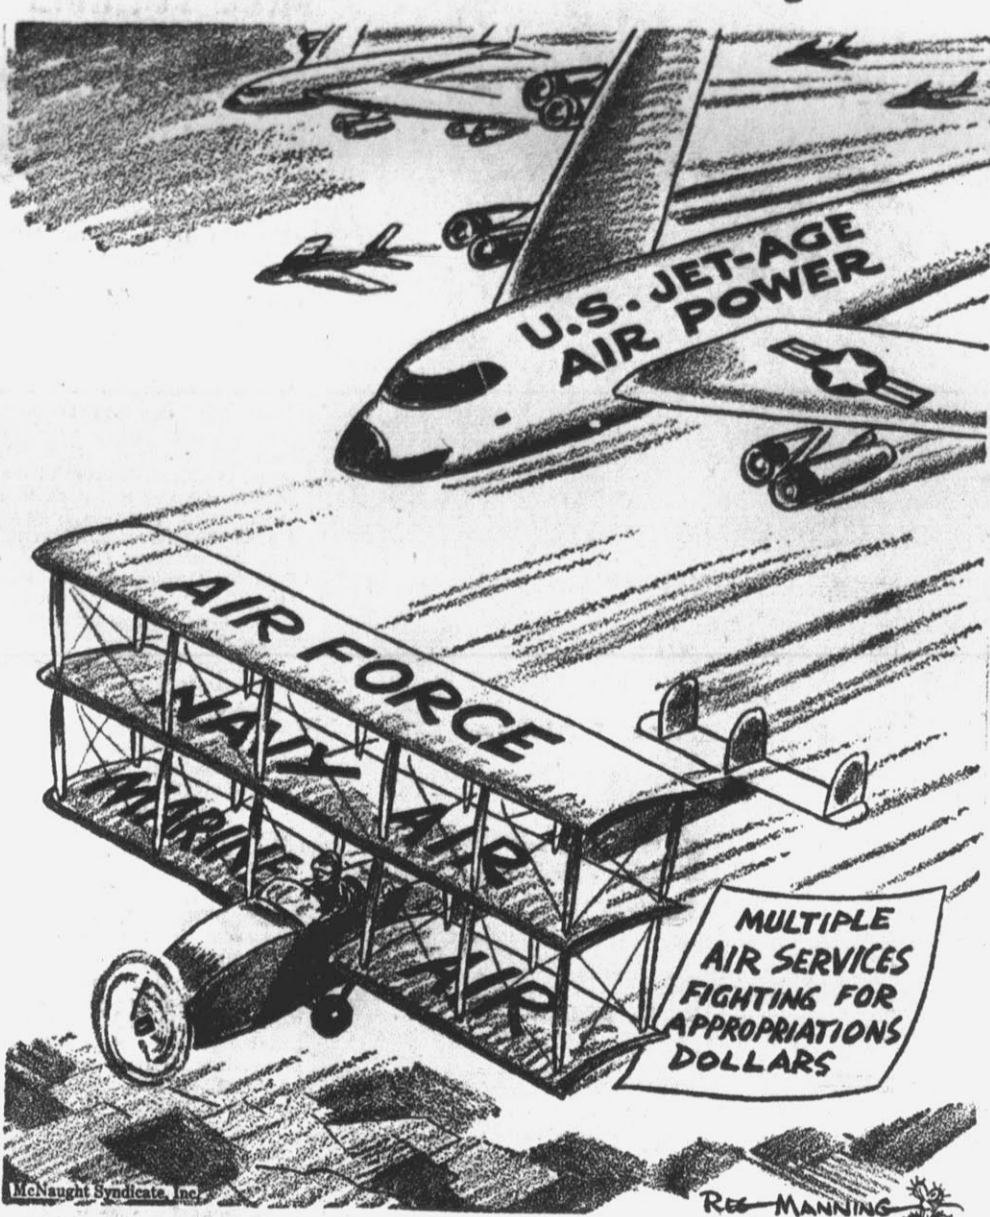

EXPERTS' OPINION—Sarnoff's theory is simple and sound, according to the military and economic experts who analyzed it for President Eisenhower. The cost may run into billions, as did "preclusive" buying during World War II. But the toll in treasure would be far less than the cost of a third World War and without the slaughter.

It is regarded as extremely significant that President Eisenhower accepted and praised the Sarnoff idea, and that resolutions effectuating it were introduced on Capitol Hill, before the San Francisco celebration of the United Nations' 10th anniversary, and also before the Big Four's conference at Geneva.

MIGHT FORCE REDS TO TALK REAL PEACE—Together with our presumed superiority in nuclear weapons, the strengthening of NATO through rearmament of Germany, the alliances we have negotiated in every sensitive world sector, and "construction" of Allied bases on the circumference of the Russo-Chinese empire, the Sarnoff suggestion might force Kremlin negotiators to talk peace—and mean it—at the July 18 conference of the Big Four nations at Geneva.

It begins at last to look as if we had the Reds on the run!

Lead Plane Needs Modernizing

Somebody Told Me

Men's Waists Subject Today

Whenever Billy (American Tobacco Company) Denton is around there's always plenty of laughter. If Billy's jokes flop, there's still laughter, because he laughs at his own.

Yesterday Billy was exploiting the subject of men's waist lines. The point was that back in high school days both he and I were so small that we're fortunate Hazer didn't come then. She would have taken both of us with little effort.

Billy told one of his experiences when he was a life guard at the local swimming pool in 1944. "I tipped the scales at 107," he said.

At the time there were a few hundred Marines stationed in Greenville, plus the fact that we had several hundred more coming in for weekends from Cherry Point and Jacksonville. On the Saturday afternoon in question Billy was on hand, taking up tickets from the swimmers. A Marine stepped out of the dressing room and Billy claims that never before or since has he seen so much man. He was about six feet four, weighed about 220 and was all muscle.

"He looked around for the ticket taker but didn't even see me," Billy recalls. Finally, he had to ask what to do with his ticket. Billy spoke up. After surveying the situation it occurred to the Marine that Billy was also the life guard.

"You," he said to Billy, "you're the life guard?" Billy shrunk a few more inches from the impact of the Marine's laughter. "Tell me, what would you do if I got out there and called for help?"

At this point that old reliable Denton humor came out: "I guess in your case the only thing I could do would be to pull out the stopper!"

Billy was wingback on the Greenville high football team. "Most of the seniors," he recalls, "had graduated early and already gone in service. Never will I forget the look on Coach Farley's face when he weighed me in at 105."

Now Billy's waistline would be conservatively rated at 31. He's probably 28 or 29, and his problem is no longer light weight. It's safe to say that when we begin to push 30, most of us lose that problem.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

VOLUNTARY SEGREGATION (Wilson Daily Times)

More and more people in North Carolina are talking about a system of voluntary segregation in our schools.

Such a system offers much food for thought. A majority of both white and colored people would like to have such a system, we feel. But when we think that such a system will work, we are only fooling ourselves.

There are enough radicals and extremists to make such a system unworkable. When we talk of such a practice in one breath and then read where suits are to be entered in certain places, we can begin immediately to realize that such a proposal is idealistic and that a minority element is going to see that it does not work. Under such a system both races would agree that the present segregation practices in our schools be maintained. We suspect that at least 90 per cent of the population of North Carolina would agree that such a proposal is practical and workable. But that other 10 per cent will kill it before it ever gets started.

There is no way now of telling how many suits will be entered in North Carolina within the next year. But in each case, if we interpret the Supreme Court attitude correctly, then local Boards of Education have the responsibility to showing that they are meeting the decision squarely. How can the decision be met squarely under a program of voluntary segregation? There are some good answers to will suffice for those dedicated to destroying segregation.

Therefore, when the suits are brought, we can't believe that any answer of voluntary segregation will satisfy. The law can force the two races to attend schools together. But the law of the land cannot erase segregation completely. In the schools or out of the schools, segregation will still be practiced. We should realize that fact. An end to segregation will not mean an end to problems as will create more problems than it will settle.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
TAX LAWS—During the recent legislative session there was a lot said about the policy of levying and collecting State taxes—or failing to collect—under directives and interpretations rather than by specific authority of statute. There was strong sentiment in favor of rewriting the income, sales and use tax sections to spell out details instead of leaving them for administrative interpretation. It was decided that the job could not be done in so short a time, and instead a commission was authorized to study and report to the next Legislature.

The need for more specific law was illustrated Monday when a delegation from the Wilmington area protested a directive by Eugene Shaw, commissioner of revenue, making the Schedule B license tax on hotels, tourist camps, tourist homes and boarding houses applicable to houses rented for periods of 90 days or less. The delegation consisted of Addison Hewlett, representative of New Hanover County in the General Assembly; Ray Walton, senator from Brunswick county; E. L. White, President of the Southeastern North Carolina Beach Association; former mayor of Wilmington; Glenn Tucker, major-promoted of Carolina Beach and Richard Meier, alderman of Wrightsville Beach. Rep. Hewlett was the principal spokesman for the group. Commissioner Shaw called in Cliff Pickett, chief of the Schedule B privilege tax division, and L. L. Clayton of the sales tax division.

The hearing, held in the commissioner's office, was very informal. Phrased in judicial language the delegation was in joint capacity of plaintiff and defendant, the commissioner served both as judge and jury. No verdict was rendered, but Commissioner Shaw promised to discuss the issues further with the attorney general's department and advise them and could modify or change his ruling.

While the discussion was limited to a few beaches in the southeast the question affects every part of North Carolina, with special application to resort areas. ARGUMENTS—Admittedly there are valid reasons for the positions of the commissioner and the owners of houses to rent for vacation periods. All parties agreed there can be no controversy over application of the Schedule B license tax or Schedule E sales tax on commercially operated hotels, tourists courts and recognized boarding houses. On the points at issue the arguments ran about like this:

and occasion ill will.

Of necessity beach and mountain resort cottages are subject to short term occupancy. Annual revenue must be obtained in four to six months. Application of additional taxes on them will cost the State much more in other taxes than will be collected out of this special levy. Investments already made, and those contemplated in post-Hazel reconstruction, were planned without any such extra cost in mind, because for many years such property had not been subjected to Schedule B taxes.

COMMISSIONER—Commissioner Shaw's position is that he did not write the law, but is charged with enforcing it. The fact that no interpretation on this particular point has been made before during his six years incumbency under his predecessors, does not relieve him of obligation to issue the directive now. Admitting that collections might be made for five years past under his new ruling, he says the Department has no present intention of collecting back taxes which the operators have no chance of recouping from long gone patrons. He said his recent directive was sent out all over North Carolina in time to warn hotel and other travel accommodation folks that they would be liable for the new taxes as of July 1. He insisted it is no "drive" against resorts and minimized contention that only resort areas would be affected. He emphasized that the policy of the Revenue Department is two-fold: To collect all the taxes due the State of North Carolina, from whatever source; and to make sure that no discrimination is shown between competitive businesses.

Indirectly he suggests the imposition of an advertising tax, which the Legislature declined to adopt, in that a principal criterion for levying the Schedule B and Schedule E taxes on resort rental property is whether or not the owner "advertised" available accommodations, or solicited business. He was inclined to hold that listing of rental property with a real estate agent constituted "solicitation" sufficient to occasion tax liability.

HASTY—This is just one of numerous incidents likely to arise because of the adoption of a tax bill without members who voted for it having detail knowledge of its provisions. The Legislature spent five months on a general principles as stated by certain leaders, leaving many of its applications to administrative officials.

Repetition Counts

By ELMER ROESSNER

Advance planning and repetition are keys to successful promotion of merchandise at retail. A recent National Retail Dry Goods Association conference was told by Morris Guberman, president of a small but aggressive department store at Colorado Springs, Colo.

His ideas might be applied to many lines outside of the apparel field. His six basic fundamentals are:

1. Plan fashion promotions far enough in advance to be sure they are properly backed.
2. Wrap up promotions with windows, displays, meetings of salespeople, and special stock powerful promotion.
3. Never sell price alone. Fashion at a price makes a more powerful promotion.
4. Repeat hot items. Promote them over and over again as long as they keep on selling.
5. Get manufacturers into the act by using the promotional material they provide.
6. Sell top management on the fashion ideas you want to promote.

To illustrate his fourth point, Mr. Guberman detailed his advertising campaign last year for a well-known brand of sweaters and separates. It went like this:

July 9: Large — space ad; theme: "Autumn arrives in July."

July 16: Same advertisement.

July 22: Large-space ad; theme: "Fall Fashions in review," featuring "College of Fashion Knowledge" and a sweater stylist.

July 23: Large-space ad with same theme.

July 27: Large-space ad featuring new school separates.

August 5: Same advertisement.

August 6: Large-space ad, introducing "college board" of fashions.

August 27: Large-space ad; theme: new team spirit at school.

September 9: Same advertisement.

September 24: Sweaters featured as part of full page ad on wonder fabrics.

October 6: Sweaters featured in anniversary sale.

October 21: Large-space ad; theme, "campus crowd cheer" for brand.

November 30: Large-space advertising sweaters as gifts.

December 2: Same advertisement.

This sustained promotion, Mr. Guberman said, resulted in 28 per cent more sweater sales than in the year before.

FURNITURE HIGHER BUT SALES CONTINUE GOOD

Slightly higher prices are common at the summer furniture market in Chicago. The market opened Monday and will continue into next week.

Most manufacturers report that buying is good, although somewhat cautious. Retailers, they say, are much more interested in lower-priced lines than in luxury pieces. Consumers, the retailers explained, are replacing articles of furniture more frequently, but with less expensive items. Retail sales have been running ahead of 1954 and have a good chance of beating the record set in 1953, buyers at the show say.

Things Hard To Understand

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Some things an average man finds hard to understand:

Why pretty girls wear sunglasses to work on cloudy days? Do they really think anybody will mistake them for visiting movie stars?

People who stud their boring conversations with the expression, "You know what I mean?" It keeps waking you up.

Women who can't stand a dog in the house—then get themselves a pet monkey.

Short stout ladies who wear big floppy summer hats on crowded buses.

Sports fans by hearsay—Guys who know all the statistics in the baseball record books but never take the trouble to go and watch a live game.

Men who root for the Brooklyn Dodgers merely because they think it is a quaint sign of intellectual superiority.

Bermuda shorts. Yes, even in Bermuda.

Wives who keep telling a fat husband he looks slimmer in a single-breasted suit when he knows better.

Girls who wear no stockings in the summer, and girls who wear stockings so thin you can't tell for sure—even after looking twice—whether they are bare-legged.

Girls who paint their toenails a pearl color.

How anyone with a sense of fitness and proportion can eat a hot dog without mustard?

How anyone can eat pig's knuckle at all?

Whatever happened to the wonderful game of marbles? They still have a national tournament, but you rarely see city kids jugging a sack of marbles—now that most playgrounds are paved.

People who think television is a waste of time—but don't mind spending three evenings a week playing gin rummy.

Folks whose ancestors went west in covered wagons but now think life isn't worth living without air conditioning.

How poison try and the common cold manage to survive in a world in which everyone you meet knows 10 sure ways to cure them?

Why since parking spaces have become so valuable in this civilization, they aren't made hereditary so someone could leave you one in his will?

Where can a father sell a second-hand Davy Crockett hat? The cat has taken to sleeping in the one in our house.

Cashiers who, when you hand them a $5 bill, count out change for $1 then pause—hoping you'll walk away and forget the other $4.

Why many movie houses still go on showing double feature programs after all these years? Hasn't science found a better way to solve the problem of insomnia?

How airplane stewardesses manage to stay looking so cool and neat during a long flight, when the passengers always reach their destinations feeling weary and rumpled?

Why there are so many charm schools for women and so few for men? Is the male sex just naturally more charming?

Whether a fortune couldn't be made if someone found a method of making soap in different colors? At present all it goes with is a red necktie.

Arnaz Jumps From Actor To Producer

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Only a few years ago, Desi Arnaz was a featured player at MGM, acting small roles in films.

Today he is a full-fledged partner with MGM as the producer of a movie, "Forever, Darling," starring Mason and his talented wife Lucille Ball.

Desi and Lucy are shooting not Picture Center. That's where they film their TV show I Love Lucy. Incidentally, they own the studio.

Lucille was playing hostess on the set, introducing fellow cast members James Mason and Louis Calhern. They play her guardian angel and father, respectively, in the film.

How does she like the switch from the TV grind to a feature film?

"It's much the same, except that I don't have a headache," she replied. "On the day of the TV show I always have a pain right here (pointing to her left temple). It's because of all those words I have to remember."

There's much less pressure making a film. I have time to sit down and read the paper. I can never do that when we're on the TV kick. I just don't feel that I can spare the time."

But she said she'll get a vacation after "Forever, Darling"—five weeks at Del Mar.

About future plans for I Love Lucy, she was pretty vague. "I just work here," she said. "Ask the boss."

The boss is Desi, no doubt about it.

And he had the answers too. Lucy will resume in September, he reported, but they will have to make only 26 next season, compared to the usual 39. Reruns of old films will take up the slack."

What comes after next year? Will the series end, as has been reported?

"I don't know what we'll do," Desi answered. "The sponsors want us to make more, but that may be enough. At any rate, we'll have to make another picture for MGM next summer."

Sweet Wine Is Losing In Favor

PARIS, France (AP) — Champagne manufacturers say people don't seem to like sweet champagne any more. The more sugar syrup you add to champagne the easier it is to cover the natural acidity of the wine. Really dry champagne has to be better than the sweeter stuff.

Why the change in taste has come is not clear. Experts say it is true of all wines.

Before World War I, there was a market for champagne with as much as 15 per cent sugar syrup. Now it's rare for the French to export anything sweeter than 10 per cent.

The British and Americans have always preferred their champagne as dry as possible.

Tastes differ widely and inexplicably with geography. In Venezuela, Scandinavia and Finland they like it comparatively sweet. The Germans like it somewhat drier. South Africans drier still. The French themselves are taking their drier and drier.

Big Question Remains, Why Have Russians Changed So?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Guessing why the Russians have changed from growl to grin has become a kind of international parlor game which anyone can play, with or without facts. A little wishful thinking helps.

Latest guesser is Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines. At the United Nations' anniversary in San Francisco last week, during a television interview, he said: "The Kremlin leaders are having trouble among themselves and want a breather."

"This was hardly an original contribution. It's a guess that's made whenever there's a major change in Moscow, like the demotion of Georgi Malenkov from the premiership. There has been no evidence to support it, then or later. There's been no breakup.

The Russians themselves have given a more plausible reason, without saying so, for their sudden air of sweet reasonableness. Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov pointed to it again in San Francisco.

The Russians want the West to disarm.

For years in one way or another, mostly a tough way, they have desperately tried to break up the Western Alliance, prevent West Germany's rearmament and discourage the building of American air bases in friendly countries around Russia.

"They failed in all three. The last great hope they had was to keep West Germany disarmed. It was only after the Allies gave Germany the go-ahead—this year—that the Russians changed their attitude. They've been pleasant ever since.

Nothing more could be accomplished by threats or toughness. They couldn't lose by a twist in tactics. Indeed, they might accomplish more with sounds of peace than they ever achieved with belligerency.

Molotov spelled out precisely what the Russians want: the American air bases dismantled, the Western Alliance broken up and the Allies to disarm. Since the West is realistic, the Russian desire bears a price tag.

The Allies, knowing that once their alliance was broken up and they had disarmed they might never again be a match for Russia, would need some iron guarantees that Russia would disarm to the point where it couldn't be a menace.

Molotov talked of Russian willingness to disarm and prohibit the use of atomic weapons. This sounds like a tremendous concession by Russia. The test of its earnestness lies ahead.

The Russians and the West have been dickering for years about disarmament but the Russians haven't yet been willing to agree to the Allies' idea of a disarmament system which would let each side check thoroughly on the other to be sure.

San Francisco Meet Helps All

WHITTIER Calif. (AP) — V. K. Krishna Menon, chief foreign policy adviser to Indian Prime Minister Nehru, says that the U.N. anniversary meeting at San Francisco "represents a change in attitudes of world leaders."

He told the opening of the 21st annual Institute of International Relations at Whittier College last night that "circumstances are such that a reorientation of thinking is necessary."

Menon termed the San Francisco session "a good sendoff" for the four-power conference in Geneva in July.

"We cannot establish peace by methods of war," he said. "We must think in terms of peace."

India, he said, is often called neutral. "India is not neutral to peace," he said. "India is not neutral to using methods of negotiation."

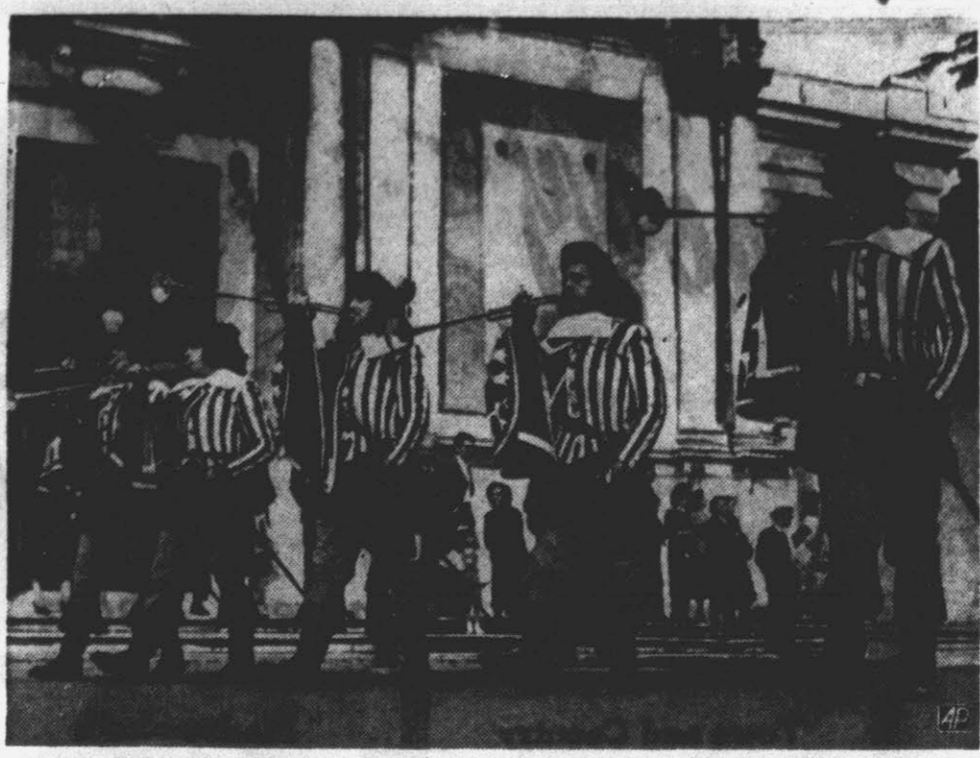

"We should be willing and wise to take the risks for peace as we take the risks of war. The cause of peace through conciliation calls for courage, perseverance, patience and magnanimity."

Mottoes With Modern Touch Draw Attention

AP Newsfeatures
BRIDGTON, Maine — "Why be disagreeable when with a little effort you could be a real stinker?"

Mottoes like that, printed on pieces of board, on plaques, on stools and other wooden items, have built an international business for two brothers.

Curtis, 37, and Albert R. Smith Jr., 42, say the trend is away from seriousness in signs of the times. They turn out thousands of fir plywood plaques each year with 50 to 60 different sayings.

There has been something added to the old familiar, "God Bless Our Home." It has become "God Bless Our Mortgaged Home," to the Smith brothers.

Many of the sayings they print by the silk screen method Curtis learned while still in high school are their own ideas. Others are suggested by brokers who buy their product.

The brothers say they've had considerable success with a little kitchen stool. They aren't sure whether it is the stool itself or the little verse:

"This little stool belongs to me
It makes me happy as can be
I now can reach the things I couldn't
And often times the things I shouldn't."

Eighty per cent of the production is shipped out of New England. They also have customers in Cuba, Canada, Alaska, Puerto Rico, England and South Africa.

"One thing led to another after I learned the silk screen process," said Curtis. He began his business in an alcove at his home. When he was graduated from high school in 1935, he was employing two men in a little shop. His dad, Albert Sr., an insurance man, joined the growing firm shortly afterward.

Pressure Needed To Gain Release

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today President Eisenhower should urge Soviet Russia to "bring pressure" on Communist China for release of all American Peiping holds.

Should that fail, he said in an interview, the United States should be prepared to take the matter up directly with Red China.

He said the United States should press Russian leaders at the July 18 Big Four summit conference to use their influence toward freeing 11 U.S. airmen held in Communist jails and a number of civilians detained in China.

Without mentioning the prisoner issue, Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference yesterday he does not rule out the possibility of direct talks with Red China on some matters.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) chided Dulles for not saying that release of the airmen should be a condition for any talks with Peiping, as Senate Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) has insisted.

Mansfield said in a separate interview:

"I would hope that before any serious consideration is given to direct talks with Red China, we emphasize and reiterate that the 11 airmen and all other Americans being held in China should be given their full release as a condition of the talks."

"If they offered to negotiate that with us, we should refuse on grounds there is nothing to negotiate. China is under legal international obligation to return those American citizens."

Mansfield said Dulles' omission of the prisoner issue "would indicate abroad a softening of the hard attitude this nation has taken on that important question. We must insist on our rights."

But Humphrey, disagreeing with his colleague, said U.S. refusal to meet Red China until the airmen are released would "amount to standing on false pride."

"We have to be willing to talk to Red China," he said. "That might be the best possible approach to getting our people out."

CALIFORNIA EGG RECORD
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Now 71 he retired two years ago, Albert Jr., who had been a grocery store manager, joined the company 10 years ago.

Curtis began as a sign painter. Today the brothers employ a dozen persons.

Farm poultry flocks in California produced 4,577,000 eggs in 1954, a new record. The output was 160 per cent greater than in 1940. The state ranks second in egg production, being surpassed only by Iowa.

The answers to everyday insurance problems*

QUESTION: I note that my Fire insurance policy says 10% of the amount applies to outbuildings. If my house burned down and my garage was undamaged would I get only 90% of the insurance?

ANSWER: No, the policy allows you to apply 10% of the insurance to the outbuildings if you wish. It doesn't arbitrarily assign any of your insurance away from your home.

Production Credit Now In 22nd Year Of Service To Pitt County Farmers

Born in the depression year of 1933 when farmers found their credit sorely restricted, the Greenville Production Credit Association has grown into one of the major financial institutions of Pitt County.

Now in its 22nd year the association is owned by some 1,400 farmers in Pitt and Greene counties who own its capital stock. This year it will make farm loans in the two counties amounting to three million dollars.

A part of the Farm Credit Act passed by Congress 22 years ago this month, a nation-wide system of 498 production credit associations have sprung up as local farmers have purchased the required stock to start their own money-lending corporations to help farmers finance their operations.

At the outset the Greenville Production Credit Association was organized by stockholders and directors J.E. Winslow, J. Van Taylor, J. Paul Davenport, Sr., John R. Carroll, Carl T. Hicks, N.F. Palmer and G.L. Mewborn. During the past 22 years, some 1,400 farmers of the two counties have purchased capital stock in the association.

When the association was organized in 1933, it borrowed $100,000 capital from the federal government with which to begin its operations. During 1934, its first full year of operation, the local association made 408 farm loans in Pitt and Greene Counties amounting to $108,295. Farmer capital in the organization raised by the end of 1934 amounted to $5,835.

The association has shown a steady growth in the number and amount of loans as well as in capital stock purchased by farmers during the past 22 years. During 1954 the number of loans totaled 1,099 with $2,788,835 being loaned to farmers of the two counties. By the end of last year also, farmer capital in the association stood at $258,915. The original federal government loan with which the association was started was repaid in full in 1952 from profits of the association. By the end of 1954 reserves of the association had risen from nothing in 1934 to $246,683, and combined with the capital gives the association a net worth of more than half million dollars.

J.E. Winslow served as first president of the association, but resigned the office after a few months and was succeeded by Dr. Paul Fitzgerald who was president from 1934 until 1937. John R. Carroll of Winterville became president in 1937 and held that office until 1948 when he resigned the post. After having served on the board of directors since 1934, J. Paul Davenport Sr. became president in 1948 and served for one year. He was succeeded by the late D.F. Hardison of Snow Hill who served as president until his death last year. Mack G. Smith served as a director for 13 years.

Alton Gardner has been a director since 1948 and now serves as president of the Greenville Production Credit Association with Arch Flanagan of Farmville as vice president. Other directors of the association are E.W. Fleming of Grifton, Jesse L. Trip of Ayden route one, and W.F. Welfare Jr. of Snow Hill.

Frank Little, who has been secretary-treasurer and chief executive officer of the association since 1945, began working with the local organization in its Snow Hill office in 1942. He remained with the association for three years before coming to Greenville as secretary-treasurer of the Greenville Production Credit Association of Columbia, S.C. which supervises all Production Credit Associations in the third Farm Credit District composed of North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Darr is also president of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank which discounts loans for Production Credit Associations in the four states.

J.C. Galloway became secretary-treasurer of Greenville Production Credit Association when the firm was organized and served in that capacity until his death. He was succeeded by J. R. Jackson who was secretary-treasurer for one year before Darr stepped into that post. Jackson is now field representative for the Production Credit Corporation for North Carolina.

By comparison Greenville Production Credit Association is one of the larger production credit associations in the four states which make up the third farm credit district. It annually lends more money than any other association in the four states with the possible exception of one or two local associations in Florida.

Operations of the Production Credit Association are restricted to making short-term loans to farmers to cover operations, equipment and living expenses. The 498 Production Credit Associations across the nation have a total of 476,989 farmer stockholders, and during 1954 loaned more than $1,273,000,000 to farmers. The third district is composed of 87 associations in the four states which last year had $7,508 farmer stockholders who owned capital stock in excess of $10 million, and made 48,400 loans totaling more than $110 million.

The third district of which the Greenville PCA is a part has the largest number of local associations and the largest number of borrowers of any district in the country.

In addition to Little employees of the local association include Miss Inez Whitman and Mrs. Maude Emma Runquist in the Greenville office and R.B. Bayford and Mrs. Ann Hamm in the Snow Hill office.

New PCA Building Is Most Modern Design

Greenville Production Credit Association today announced the formal opening of its new modern office building at 216 Washington Street.

The new building, which was completed last month, has almost 2,000 square feet of floor space and is completely air conditioned. Equipped with new office furniture throughout, the new offices afford the association more than twice the floor space it had in its former location on Evans Street.

In announcing the formal opening of the new office building, Frank Little secretary-treasurer of the association, issued a general invitation for the public to visit the new home of the Greenville Production Credit Association. No formal open house will be held at the new office building, Little said, but added the public is cordially invited to visit the new offices of the association at any time.

Completion of the new building gave Greenville Production Credit Association one of the most modern offices of any Production Credit Association in the state.

Construction of the new building was begun last September and completed in May.

ROG WITH INTEREST

GILMAN CITY, Mo. (AP)—For a year a razor-back hog rampaged around these parts, eluding dogs and would-be pig hunters. The sow escaped from Virgil Warren as he attempted to unload her after a trip back from Arkansas.

Finally, a dog cornered the grunter out in the woods and she was roped by the farmers at the end of a battle. When captured she had seven husky piglets running 15 pounds apiece.

Burman Minister Arrives Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister U Nu of Burma arrives today to discuss Far East tensions with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

The scholarly Prime Minister, who has offered to help bridge the gulf between Communist China and the United States, arranged to meet with Dulles and Eisenhower shortly after his arrival by air from New York.

He will remain in Washington until Sunday.

Dulles pointedly opened the way for any proposals U Nu may have by saying at his news conference yesterday he looked forward to the Asian leader's visit. He said he expected to discuss problems dealing with relaxation of tensions in the Far East.

The 48-year-old Prime Minister, an active neutralist closely aligned with Prime Minister Nehru of India, visited Peiping last December. He declared afterwards that he might have some contribution to make in settling differences between the United States and Red China.

However, he is not expected to propose a specific formula nor to seek the role of mediator between the two countries.

Wise Vacationers Will Toast, Not Broil In Sun

SKIN SAVER . . . Sis sprays sun and sand cream out of an aerosol container to make Mom sunburn-proof.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

'Tis said that "the burnt child craves the flame" and we don't seem to learn as we grow older. A girl can bask in the sunshine until her skin shrivels, suffer the usual misery from overindulgence as well as remorse from her own stupidity and make all the proper avowals that it will never happen again. But it frequently does.

The trouble is, we don't always learn from experience. We are likely to challenge our luck again and again and again with our habit of taking things in stride.

It is easy to get a painless tan or avoid it altogether if your preference is to maintain a lily-white complexion. Protective skin creams help in either case.

Suntan creams are no longer messy and inconvenient to use. They may be applied easily without staining clothes and leave no unpleasant odor on the picnic lunch. One new vanishing foam for sun and sand is completely invisible on the skin, leaving a moisture of film to avoid dry skin. It is applied easily from an aerosol container.

Youngsters also must be taught to use sun protection on the skin, wear sunglasses and protect the head from the sun's hot rays. A game of application of a sun cream will make it easier to remember. Daughter might spray it on mother, rubbing it on the hard-to-reach areas—back, neck and backs of legs. Then mother should apply it to the youngster.

Impress on a youngster that a little sunshine goes a long way. After a few days of sunbathing, more time may be spent in its warm glow, however. The trick is to get the skin warmed up to it.

A good rule of thumb is that 5 or 10 minutes exposure in the beginning will be sufficient. After a few days more time might be added. Pretty soon with the aid of suntan cream, goggles, headgear and perhaps an outdoor umbrella one may acquire a lovely tan, spending a day outdoors playing hide and seek with the sun.

Fair types will need to be wary of the sun even after a slight tan has been acquired to avoid blisters and skin peeling. But a smooth tan may be acquired and maintained if common sense is used.

Recruit Wanted To Join Young

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Air Force will have a hard time finding a more enthusiastic recruit than Norman Sutherland, 18, a Scot.

Sutherland has wanted to join the U.S. Air Force since he was 10. When he reached 16 he wrote the mayor of Richmond then Dr. E.E. Haddock, about it. He was advised of the requirements and the necessity for a sponsor. Parents prevailed on him to wait until he was 18. He did and he still wanted to join. He wrote Mayor Thomas P. Bryan. Bryan turned the letter over to Maj. William E. Morgan of the recruiting service. Maj. Morgan became sponsor.

Sutherland said he held two jobs and worked 85 hours a week to get the money for his passage from Scotland.

Reports Made At Monday Meet

Progress reports on a number of phases of Scouting marked the June meeting of the Pitt District of the East Carolina Boy Scout Council, held Monday evening in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. District Chairman F. D. Duncan presided.

John H. Behr, district commissioner, was presented a certificate denoting the completion of the Commissioner's Course at the Schiff Scout Reservation in New Jersey following the completion of his report on unit participation in the program of Scouting in this district.

Other reports were made by W. A. Wright, leadership training; James B. Mallory, camping and activities, who noted the largest registration from Pitt county at Camp Charles during the current camping period; Wyatt Brown, advancement and court of honor; Alton Johnston, finance, who announced preliminary plans for the Council campaign to raise $103,000 as the budget for the Council program for 1956; and James W. Butler, Council Public Relations chairman.

Field Executive Lester Dollar announced a cook-out to be held on July 22, date of the next district meeting.

Optimism Is Growing In Clothing Industry

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—Optimism is growing today in both the men's and women's clothing industries. If orders, production and sales are any indication, the American family is going to spruce up its looks this fall.

And so the textile industry is getting ready to take off on its annual vacation period in a cheerful mood.

Women's apparel manufacturers here report that orders by stores are marked heavier than last year. The men's clothing industry ran at 86 per cent of capacity in May, compared with 72 per cent a year ago.

And the makers of men's shirts, pajamas, sportswear (including walking shorts) say good business is indicated into next spring and summer.

Optimism is based primarily on increased ordering by retail outlets. But the textile industry has growing belief that the American consumer is due to make another shift in his buying habits. For some time now it was the maker of durable goods—autos, household appliances and the like—who was getting the gravy from the business boom. But now textile executives think men and women are bent on replenishing their wardrobes and will have more money for that purpose this fall.

So when all the textile and clothing workers get back from vacation next month the production pace is expected to be stepped up. Some makers of women's dresses here report early orders are up by 40 per cent. Orders for sportswear are even heavier.

The Clothing Manufacturers Assn. of the U.S.A. reports that heavier early orders of men's regular weight suits, overcoats and topcoats "means that retailers have low inventories in these categories and that they have full confidence in good fall business."

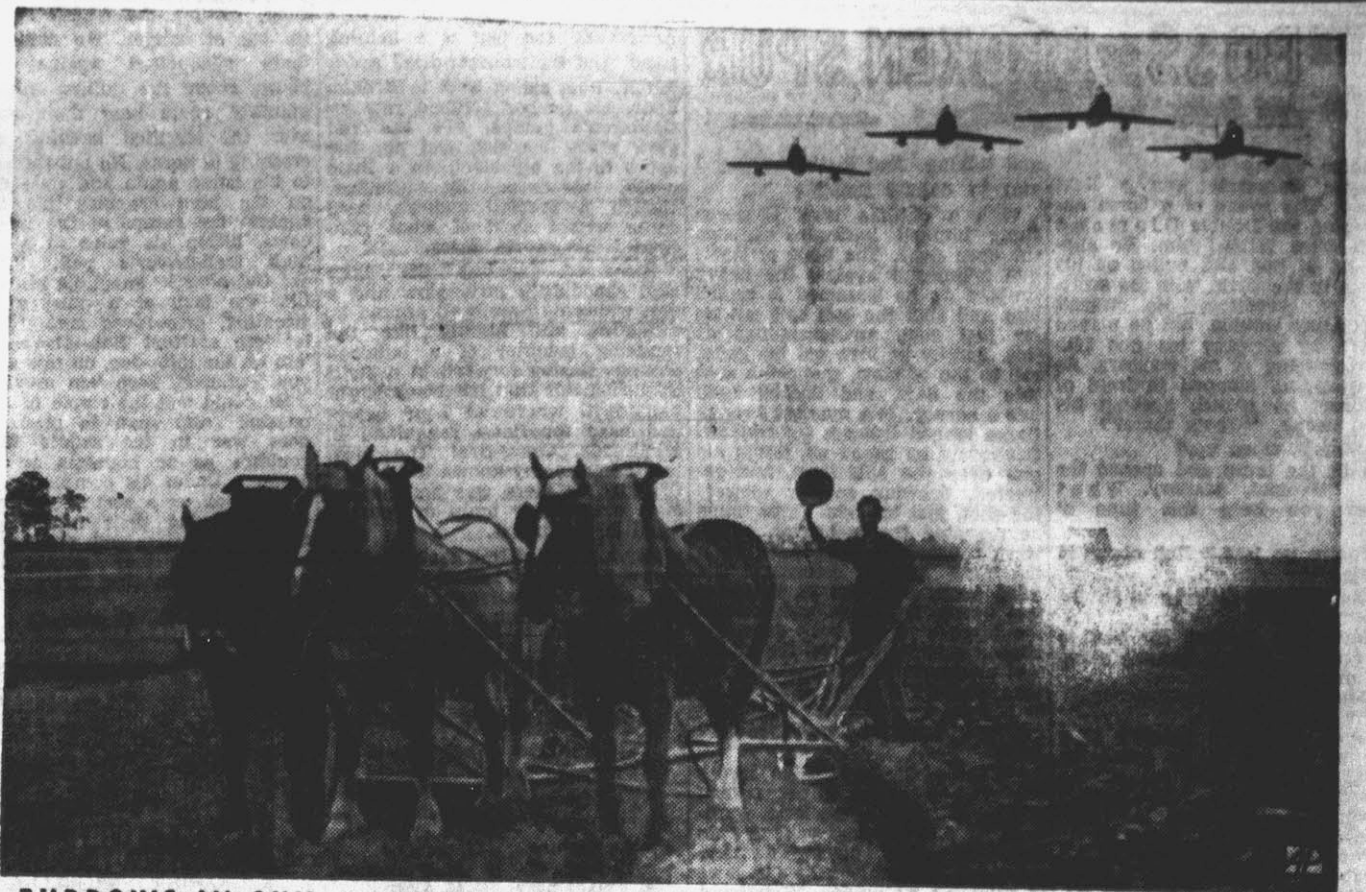

The clothing industry isn't just sitting back and waiting, however. The American Institute of Men's & Boys' Wear, Inc. is launching a drive to make the American male more conscious of his appearance.

So confident are they of getting a bigger share of the consumer's dollar next fall, that more than 2,000 executives of firms in that industry are celebrating in advance tonight by blowing themselves to a big feed at the Waldorf Astoria.

POSTMEN GET CARTS
 PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—After 35 years as a mail carrier, J. E. Lovvo finally decided there must be an easier way to tote the heavy leather bag. So he bought a two-wheeled caddy cart. Three other carriers also bought carts. And the post office ordered seven more for the rest of the carriers.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The story of how a southern California fruit grower went to Red China in 1953—backing Communist claims of U. S. germ war in speeches he made on the way—was told before a House Un-American Activities subcommittee hearing.

The subcommittee, counsel, Frank Tavenner, outlined the trip in questions he put to Hugh Hardyman, 53, of La Crescenta and Topanga, Calif., when Hardyman appeared before the panel yesterday.

Hardyman refused to answer. He was the last witness of a series that included actress Angela Clarke and a Korean-born Los Angeles resident, Diamond Kim.

Miss Clarke and Kim cited the First and Fifth amendments in refusing to answer questions about Communist activities. Hardyman cited these and, in addition, the Fourth, Ninth and Tenth amendments.

Tavenner said that Hardyman went to Peking by way of Paris, Czechoslovakia and Russia in 1952. He was a delegate to a Communist peace conference. He said that Hardyman made talks in China, Czechoslovakia and Poland which backed Red claims that the United States waged germ warfare in Korea.

Hardyman, English-born, was naturalized in 1927. Rep. Clyde Doyle (D-Calif.), subcommittee chairman, termed the alleged speeches, "a shameful attack on the country that gave you citizenship." He told the witness: "I am ashamed of you."

Tavenner said Hardyman made the trip to Peking on a passport he obtained ostensibly for a trip to Australia.

"It is obvious a fraud was perpetrated on the state department," said Rep. Scherer (R-Ohio). "I think it should be referred to the Justice Department for denaturalization proceedings—and I so move."

Miss Clarke, who has a prominent role in the current Bob Hope film "The Seven Little Foys," testified that she had been a member of the Communist party from 1942 to 1949. On grounds of the First and Fourth amendments she refused to discuss the party's activities or other members.

Kim, also known as Kim Sang and Kim Kang, refused to say whether he was the editor of a Los Angeles paper, the Korean Independence, which Tavenner said published alleged germ warfare confessions of U. S. servicemen.

The Megatherium, a fossil ground sloth, was as big as an elephant.

Meeting Slated To Ease Tension

GAZA, Egyptian-held Palestine (AP)—Israeli and Egyptian representatives scheduled a second meeting today to discuss proposals aimed at easing tension in the Gaza Strip.

A brief communique was issued last night after a first four-hour meeting under the chairmanship of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian chief of the U. N. Palestine truce group.

The meeting was held in a corrugated tin shed on the demarcation line just outside Gaza city. The communique said the conferees—Col. Salah Gohar, head of the Egyptian War Ministry's Palestine Department, and Joseph Tekoah, the Israeli Foreign Ministry's director of armistice affairs—spent the time "in preliminary discussion in regard to proposals which have been put forward."

Among these proposals are plans put forward by Burns and by Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser. Nasser has suggested a demilitarized zone 1-4 miles wide along the boundary.

The Burns plan would limit troops in the Gaza Strip area to regulars, require their withdrawal to a line about half a mile from each side of the boundary, permit local commanders on each side to confer and set up joint Israeli-Egyptian patrols.

LAKE BUTLER, Fla. (AP)—Hard, dangerous George A. Heroux Jr., 25, has been sentenced to spend the rest of his life in Florida State Prison where he killed the assistant superintendent in an attempted break.

A 12-man jury convicted him of first-degree murder yesterday but recommended mercy. The state had sought his death for the killing of J. C. Godwin, 56, last April.

Three witnesses, including one of two guards wounded by Heroux in the shooting, testified that Heroux ran down Godwin and killed him.

Heroux, under 50 years sentence for two Kansas bank robberies and for kidnaping two Miami policemen, had been placed in solitary confinement by Godwin two weeks earlier.

Heroux's gun, a .26-caliber pistol, had been smuggled in to him by his former wife Ruth and her husband Raymond Staffa. They are awaiting sentence upon their pleas of guilty to aiding and abetting an attempted escape.

Night Visitor Playing Games?

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—Sim Edmons, about 50, climbed out of bed last night to answer a knock at the door and was promptly slugged on the head with a rock.

The assailant then took a closer look at Edmons and the house and offered an immediate apology. "I not only got the wrong man, I even got the wrong house," he said.

He offered to take his victim to the hospital but Edmons declined. He returned to bed, refusing to identify the man or obtain a warrant against him.

New Delay Might Occur Before W. Germans Arm

By BRACK CURRY
BONN, West Germany (AP)—A new delay in putting the first West Germans into uniform was seen today as the lower house of Parliament sent a bill to call up the first volunteers to committees for re-writing.

Although still approving rearmament in principle, many of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's own supporters complained that the measure contained no guarantees of civilian control over the military and could lead to a resurgence of German militarism.

The sharp blow to Adenauer's plans came last night after a heated debate in the Bundestag (lower house). Government sources said new proposals would be readied but there was considerable doubt that the legislators could prepare and pass another bill before the end of the session.

The decision to return to committee was taken on a show of hands without a recorded vote. Despite a personal appeal by their 70-year-old leader, many of Adenauer's chief lieutenants deserted him in the debate. The government said full controls would be provided in the later, permanent legislation.

Four In Reverse And One Forward

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Paddy Sherman, Vancouver Province reporter, has resigned from the "Do-it-yourself" cult. He was told by an automobile mechanic he needed a new differential in his English car. He bought the parts and installed them himself. But he got them in wrong, he says. Now he has four speeds in reverse and one forward.

Lasso Captures Fla. Escapee

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (AP)—Lonnie Patterson, 25, serving seven years at Glades State Prison Farm for breaking and entering, was at work in a field yesterday when he decided to make a run for it. Pete Lee, a cowboy on the ranch of Walter Schleicher happened along on his horse, saw the escaping prisoner and gave chase. After half a mile, he planted his lasso around the prisoner and brought him down.

Argentine Official May Quit Position

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A second top aide of Argentine President Juan D. Peron reportedly has decided to step out in the aftermath of the June 16 revolt. He is Angel Gabriel Borlenghi, who as interior minister played a major role in the government's anticommunist campaign.

Reliable sources said last night that Borlenghi, 49, has decided to retire from public life "because of ill health." The informants said he told visitors yesterday he would soon make a trip abroad.

The reports of Borlenghi's retirement came a day after Eduardo Vuletich, secretary general of the powerful General Confederation of Labor, was said to have stepped down in favor of his assistant, Hector Hugo de Pietro. Vuletich also was active in the fight against the Roman Catholic Church.

Peron conferred with both Vuletich and De Pietro at his residence yesterday and later received the CGT council and secretariat. The labor organization, which claims six million members, is the backbone of the Peronista movement.

In separate conferences, Peron also talked with Foreign Minister Jeronimo Remorino and the army minister, Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, who was given control of all Argentine forces following the recent uprising by navy and Marine units.

Post office inspectors resumed direct censorship of news dispatches in communication company offices here yesterday. The inspectors had been withdrawn Monday for the first time since the revolt. There was no explanation for their return.

Sullivan Defies Sophomore Jinx Giants Lack Desire

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Frank Sullivan looks like one of those who's making a bum out of the sophomore jinx, developing into the ace of the Boston Red Sox mound staff almost overnight.

A year ago, the 26-year-old right-hander was just a newcomer pulled out of the bullpen and pushed into a starting job to fill the gap left when Mel Parnell suffered a broken wrist. Now he's one of only three American League pitchers to have won 10 games this year and has a string of 23 scoreless innings working his holding the No. 1 spot for the Sox.

That's where Sullivan, 6-6 1/2 and weighing 215, left off in 1954. He wound up his first full major league season with a 15-12 record.

And while other freshman standouts of 1954 such as Wally Moon, Bob Grim and Art Fowler — have fallen, Sullivan's still in there pitching — effectively. He's been beaten six times.

He kept the still-hot Red Sox sizzling last night with his second straight shutout, a three-hitter on Washington for a 4-0 victory in the first game of a two-nighter. His last time out, he blanked Detroit on just two hits. He got the runs he needed on last night homers by Jackie Jensen and Fay Thayer, still mulling for the ailing Ted Williams.

In the nightcap, the Sox were held scoreless by Bob Porterfield for eight innings, then broke out for eight runs — touched off by Norm Zauchin's two-run homer — to sweep the Senators 8-2.

The two victories moved Boston within a half game of the fourth-place Detroit Tigers who whacked the Chicago White Sox 5-4 in 10 innings. Cleveland, meanwhile, moved to within two games of Chicago by defeating Kansas City 7-5.

New York and Baltimore were 1-1.

On the National, first-place Brooklyn pushed the New York Giants into fifth place 6-5 while the second-place Chicago Cubs beat the threatening Milwaukee Braves 7-3. Cincinnati replaced the Giants in fourth place by rapping St. Louis 9-1. And Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 7-5 in 10 innings after the Phils nailed the wrapup of a suspended April 24 game 3-0.

The White Sox, now 3 1/2 behind the Yanks, battled back from a 4-0 deficit against the Tigers only to lose it as Frank House singled the winning run across with two out in the 10th. Frank Lary won it in relief while Millard Howell took the defeat.

Cleveland smacked the A's for six runs in the second inning, three of them coming on a homer by Larry Doby, as Mike Garcia won his fourth.

Duke Snider whacked a homer, good for Brooklyn's deciding run in the eighth, and took the major league home run lead with 24. Sam Maglie, who had won eight straight, was again Karl Spooner won his second with relief help from Ed Roebuck.

The Cubs went on a homer binge as Ernie Banks and Jim King each hit a pair behind Sam Jones' seven-hit pitching. Banks hit his first with two on in the opening frame; lost Warren.

Johnny Temple and Joe Nuxhall carried the Redlegs. Temple drove in five runs with four hits and Nuxhall extended his scoreless inning string to 24 before giving up to the Card run in the seventh.

Four singles were good for three 10th-inning runs for the Pirates and were enough to cover Philadelphia's single marker in the bottom half of the frame in the regularly scheduled game. The Phils added a run to their 2-0 lead in final inning of the suspended game.

Mulloy Picks Rosewall To Win At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Tony Trabert meets Budget Patty in the highlight All-American match of today's Wimbledon singles semifinal with veteran Gardner Mulloy warning:

"The match could take the edge off Trabert's game."

Ken Rosewall, Australia's 20-year-old star tackles Kurt Nielsen, a seeded Dane who was Wimbledon runnerup in 1953, in the other semifinal.

Trabert and Rosewall now are joint betting favorites.

"I think Trabert will defeat Patty," said Mulloy who is here for his ninth Wimbledon tournament.

"But it probably will be a tough match and a hard one could tire Trabert for the final."

"I fancy Rosewall to win the title," the 40-year-old Miami Beach, Fla., attorney added. "He is sharp and as quick as a cat. He should not have much trouble defeating Nielsen. Patty may give Trabert a lot of trouble. Patty will press Trabert and may tire him before the final."

Mulloy is something of an elder statesman among lawn tennis fans at Wimbledon. He got the nickname "the veteran" after playing here nine times, reaching the semifinals twice and the doubles four times.

The semifinals will be a contrast in styles. Trabert has a big serve and powerful overhead game. Rosewall is a court tactician, has a strong ground strokes but a soft serve.

Nielsen places his faith mainly in a booming serve, while Patty is a powerful server and brilliant net player.

Redmen Stomp National Guard In PONY Play

Pounding out twelve hits off three National Guard pitchers, the league leading Redmen had little trouble with the tallend Guard last night in winning a 19-4 game in PONY League play.

Arthur Andrews and Billy Cox combined to pitch the win for the Redmen with Andrews, the starter, getting credit for the decision. Cox relieved after two and two-thirds innings and pitched shut-out ball for the rest of the game.

The Redmen scored six runs in the first inning and seven in the fourth to wrap up the game. Coach Junior Yahn's gang batted around in those two innings as they had a least off the Guard pitching.

The Guardians could muster only three hits off Andrews and one hit off Cox during the abbreviated six inning game. Six Redmen errors should have helped the Guard score, but they could not put together enough hits.

The National Guard pitchers walked one Redman and put three on by hitting them with pitched balls. Dick Evans, who started and finished the game, but was relieved for five innings during the middle, was the losing pitcher. Burton Jenkins and William Stancill had about as much success as Evans did.

Charles Staton and Aubrey Harrison had three hits each to lead the Redmen at the plate. Andrews had two hits. No Guard player was able to get more than one hit.

Lollar, Nellie Fox Keep Chisox Going

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox are still riding in second place despite three straight losses but Manager Marv Marion hates to think where they'd be without silent one, catcher Sherm Lollar.

Lollar, a quiet fellow from Arkansas, bounced around with Cleveland, New York and St. Louis before he found himself under Marion and the White Sox.

Sherm, who led the league in batting Sunday with 10 home runs and 34 runs batted in, is called "half of our offense" by Marion. The other half is Nellie Fox, the Sox' only other 300 hitter.

When Marion took over the White Sox as manager he told Lollar, "You're my regular catcher and you'll play out there until you drop."

Marion today says "Honestly, I don't know what we'd do without the guy. He and Fox were all of our offense on the recent road trip. You're my regular catcher and you'll play out there until you drop."

"He's like another manager out on the field and his work behind the plate is something you seldom see."

Lollar, whose best previous year was with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1950 when he slugged 13 home runs and drove in 65 runs with a .280 average, believes playing regularly is the main reason for his surge.

The second half of play in the Recreation Softball League got off with a bang this week, with the Carolina Dairy keeping up its undefeated pace and Southern Bread moving ahead of the Granites in their usual fight for second.

The Dairies whipped Western Auto Monday night 7-5 as they smacked out nine hits and held the Auto to four safe singles. Brownie Tripp had two singles for the Dairy to lead the hitting.

In other action the Granites whipped C Battery 295th 11-6 in a wild and wooly game. Bobby Conway had three hits for the Granites and staved a triple play, the first in the league this year.

In last night's action the Southern Bread moved into a first place tie with Carolina Dairy by whipping the Granites 7-3. Charlie Yates spaced ten hits well for the Bread in holding down the Granites. A last inning rally gave the Granites three runs, but not enough to catch up.

Billy McRoy had four for four to lead the night's hitting.

Ken Joyner Twirls Moose To 4-2 Win Over Pepsis

Little Kenny Joyner twirled a neat four-hitter yesterday afternoon and pitched his Moose teammates to a 4-2 win over the Pepsis in a Tar Heel game at Elm Street Park.

Joyner walked five and struck out eight in going the full distance against the Pepsis. Only in the fifth inning were the Pepsis able to score off his lefthanded deliveries.

The Pepsis started with last year old Bev Whitley, but his older brother Jack took over in the second frame. Jack pitched shutout ball after he relieved in the second until the last inning.

The two Whitleys held the Moose to two hits, but four walks and three errors helped the Moose score their runs.

Bev Whitley had two hits in three times at bat to lead the hitting for both teams. He was the

Carter Meets Smith In Lightweight Bout

BOSTON (AP)—Adaptable Jimmy Carter pits his varied styles against hard-hitting Wallace (Bud) Smith tonight in defense of his world lightweight boxing championship at Boston Garden.

The scheduled 15-rounder is the 11th title fight for Carter—the only man in history to hold the same crown three times.

Carter, who carries a wallop himself and can be very elusive, is a 4-1 favorite.

The bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (ABC) with New England blacked out on the video.

The fight is slated to start at 9 p.m. EST.

Ringside observers, conceding Smith is a sound fighter generally agree he'll be after an early knockout if possible. He's got a particularly sharp left hook. But Smith, getting a title shot at Carter after losing a 10-round decision

Pastrano Looks For High Rank

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Young Willie Pastrano, the latest of New Orleans' contributions to boxing, awaited higher rank among light heavyweight contenders today at a convincing victory over champion Joey Maxim.

The 19-year-old Pastrano, a product of the French Quarter which gave one-time bantamweight king Pete Herman, the Docusen brothers—Bernie and Maxie—and top-ranked lightweight Ralph Dupes to the ring, scored a unanimous decision over the one-time heavy from Cleveland last night before 6,500 fans.

Pastrano is unrated among challengers for Archie Moore's title. But Nat Fleischer, editor of The Ring magazine, was a spectator and said he is convinced the New Orleans stylist belongs in the division's top ten. Fleischer said Pastrano would be ranked in the first division in the next edition of The Ring.

Pastrano weighed in at a surprisingly heavy 176 to offset Maxim's 182. Pastrano paced himself well through the early rounds and piled up a substantial margin, proving a tough target for the former titleholder.

The three officials were in accord on the decision. Judges Lucien Jaubert and Francis Kercheval both tabbed it 5-4-1 for Pastrano while Referee Eddie (Kid) Wolfe gave Pastrano six rounds, Maxim three and called one even. The AP card also had Pastrano the winner 6-3-1.

Correction

In yesterday's story in the Daily Reflector about Allan MacArthur's no-hitter, mention was made that MacArthur's perfect game was the first in Greenville Little League play. Since then the sports department has been informed that Walker Lee Allen pitched a perfect game in 1953 against the Elks. Therefore MacArthur's perfect game is the second in Little League history.

MacArthur pitched his against the Jaycees Monday afternoon while Allen pitched his brilliant performance against the Elks on June 23, 1953. Allen, a Jaycees all-star, won his game 3-0 and allowed no runners to reach first base. He struck out 12 of the 18 possible batters.

Bum Star Says Leo's Given Up

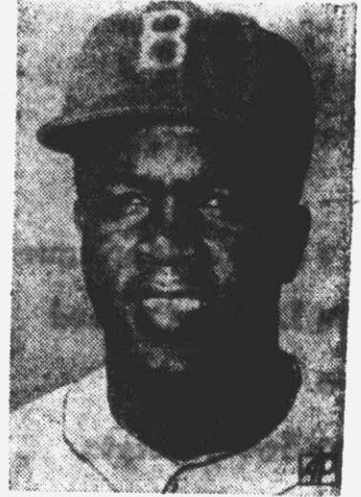

BROOKLYN (AP)—Jackie Robinson, long regarded as one of baseball's fiercest competitors, thinks he knows what ails the New York Giants. It's lack of desire.

The Brooklyn third baseman still a top flight player despite his 36 years, emphasized he was basing his opinion strictly on what he observed in last night's 4-5 Dodger victory over the Giants which showed the fading defending champions into the second division.

"It seems to me the club as a whole, from the players right down to the manager, is showing no desire," Robinson said. "All the hustle and fighting spirit that typified the Giants last year, is gone. The difference is so glaring, a blind man could see it.

"Leo Durocher also seems to have lost all desire. He doesn't act like the same manager. That's too bad. I hate to see this happen to him. He's a great manager and whether you like him or not you've got to admit he knows how to inspire his men and key them up for any given game.

"What amazed me tonight was the way he sat in a corner of the dugout hardly opening his mouth. That's not the Durocher I know.

Pastrano is unrated among challengers for Archie Moore's title. But Nat Fleischer, editor of The Ring magazine, was a spectator and said he is convinced the New Orleans stylist belongs in the division's top ten. Fleischer said Pastrano would be ranked in the first division in the next edition of The Ring.

Pastrano weighed in at a surprisingly heavy 176 to offset Maxim's 182. Pastrano paced himself well through the early rounds and piled up a substantial margin, proving a tough target for the former titleholder.

The three officials were in accord on the decision. Judges Lucien Jaubert and Francis Kercheval both tabbed it 5-4-1 for Pastrano while Referee Eddie (Kid) Wolfe gave Pastrano six rounds, Maxim three and called one even. The AP card also had Pastrano the winner 6-3-1.

Russian Women Train Anytime

MOSCOW (AP)—As an example of the hardihood of Soviet women, a Russian sports newspaper announced that a champion athlete is back in training only five weeks after giving birth to a daughter.

She is Nadezhda Dvalishvili-Hnikina. She was a member of the Soviet relay team which set a world record Aug. 9, 1953 in the 800 meters at Bucharest.

The 22-year-old Mrs. Dvalishvili-Hnikina wants to get in shape for the USSR competitions this fall, for the Russian National Olympics and for the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne.

Killing Brings Death Sentence

WACO, Tex. — A Negro soldier chewed gum without a flicker of expression as a jury ruled before dawn today he must die in the electric chair for the "lover's lane" pistol slaying of an airman.

The all-white, all-male jury convicted M. Sgt. Marion Washington, of Ft. Hood, of murder in the death of A. I. C. Henry Poole, 23, of Spartanburg, S. C. Poole was shot the night of April 2 while reportedly defending his fiancée from a stranger who loomed out in the shadows and vowed to rape her.

Poole and the girl were parked on the "lover's lane" road.

The verdict at 12:30 a. m. came after 1 hour and 20 minutes of deliberation. Defense attorney Fred Finch, of Dallas, indicated he would file an appeal.

Washington went on trial Monday morning. Miss Dorothy Papendey, Waco secretary for Eisenhower, a finger at Washington as the man who shot Poole, was not present when the verdict came.

Washington told cross-examiners he "never pointed a gun at anyone in my life." Asked whether he shot Poole, he replied "No." He said he was in the Dallas-Fort Worth area when the slaying occurred.

Miss Papendey, 20, said that as she and Poole were parked a stranger appeared pulled a gun and demanded Poole hand over his money. Then she said, he ordered them into the woods and told her to undress.

Art Instructor Speaks To Group

Developing the creative ability of young people and encouraging them toward originality and initiative are major aims of art instruction in the public schools, Dr. Paul Running of East Carolina College told a group of approximately forty public school teachers at a conference at the college Tuesday.

Dr. Running, director of East Carolina's department of art, and Francis Lee Neel of the art faculty presented a program based on both artistic and practical aspects of instruction of children in the lower grades.

The easily available and the inexpensive in supplies and equipment were stressed. Slides, film strips, exhibits of student work, and demonstrations of procedures brought to participants in the conference helpful suggestions for making their art classes more appealing and significant to children.

Hodges Concerned Over Forest Fires

RALEIGH — Gov. Hodges and representatives of the North Carolina Forest Industries Commission say they are concerned over the large number of forest fires that are deliberately set.

They also expressed concern at a meeting yesterday over the light punishment usually given to incendiaries in local courts.

Hodges assured the group that "You can count on the state helping you" in a program to reduce forest fires. He said help will come even to the extent of finding additional funds for forest fire control.

Representatives of the Forest Industries Commission met with the governor; Ben Douglas, director of the State Department of Conservation and Development; State Forester Fred Claridge, and State Parks Director Tom Morse. A program drafted by the commission was presented by Dr. C. C. Harford of the Riegel Paper Co. at Acme.

Claridge said the average conviction for setting a forest fire draws a fine and court costs total $11.92.

The governor was told by one of the forest group that "everyone in the vicinity of Lake Phelps" knows who started the fire there several months ago which burned some 200,000 acres in one of the worst forest fires in North Carolina history.

Hodges also was told that the Sheriff of Tyrrell County and the Conservation Department had requested the help of the State Bureau of Investigation in probing the fire, but the SBI had reported it couldn't spare an agent.

The program of the Forest Industries Commission calls for educational programs to impress on citizens the seriousness of incendiarism and cooperation among the industry and state agencies to make quicker reports of forest fires.

The committee plans to seek to obtain larger appropriations from the Legislature for forest fire control, and to study state laws on forest fire control and make recommendations to the 1957 General Assembly.

Committee May Be Established To Keep Check

By JOHN SCALI
WASHINGTON — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) today cited the Hoover Commission's criticism of the government's secret intelligence network as support for his plan to set up a special congressional committee to keep watch on such activities.

The 12-man commission, in a report based on a special study made by a group headed by retired Gen. Mark W. Clark, said that this country is not getting "adequate data from behind the Iron Curtain."

It called for "greater boldness at the policy level" and said that in the Central Intelligence Agency the Clark group found "certain administrative flaws" calling for "an internal reorganization." It did not spell out details.

Mansfield for some time has been plugging for creation of a congressional committee, somewhat like the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, to keep a continuing watch on CIA's operations.

He said in an interview he intends to "press for action," citing the Hoover Commission suggestion that some such group should be created "as a matter of future insurance" against any intelligence failure.

CIA Director Allen W. Dulles declined to comment on the Hoover group's report. He termed Dulles "industrious, objective, selfless, enthusiastic and imaginative," but said that "in his enthusiasm he has taken upon himself too many burdensome duties."

The 48-page report said it has no support for accusations by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis)—disputed by Dulles—that Communists or Red sympathizers have penetrated CIA. The report noted, however, that some cases are still under investigation. It suggested periodic checks.

Warehousesmen Preparing Vote On Market Opening

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. — The Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. prepared to vote here today on opening dates for tobacco markets in five states.

The 15-man Tobacco Advisory Committee of the Assn. recommended the dates yesterday and they were approved by the association's board of governors. The dates:

Georgia-Florida Belt — July 21; South Carolina and Border North Carolina Belt—Aug. 3; Eastern North Carolina Middle Belt—Sept. 6; and Virginia and North Carolina Old Belt—Sept. 19.

Opening dates for the belts last year, respectively, were July 16, Aug. 2, Aug. 16, Aug. 31 and Sept. 13.

There were two exceptions noted to the recommended dates.

The advisory committee and the Board of Governors recommended the board be authorized to meet Sept. 2 and canvass the situation in the Old Belt to determine whether tobacco companies buying representations would justify an opening date earlier than Sept. 19.

In the case of the Aug. 3 opening date for the South Carolina and border North Carolina belt, the market at Mullins, S. C. The South Carolina Warehouse Assn. already had selected July 28 as the opening date for all markets in that state except Mullins.

Moral: Don't Go To Sleep Near A Bulldozer

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Being buried alive was all in a night's sleep for Bill Tinsley, a 55-year-old "repeater" in City Police Court.

At least, that's what the Charleston resident told police yesterday when he was pulled from beneath a dump heap on the bank of Elk River.

A bulldozer operator could hardly believe his eyes when he saw a pair of feet protruding from a pile of dirt and debris showed to one side. His call brought two patrolmen, who began digging frantically in the dirt.

Tinsley was found near the bottom, loudly protesting the sudden interruption in his sleep. He will be arraigned today on a drunk charge.

Art Instructor Speaks To Group

Developing the creative ability of young people and encouraging them toward originality and initiative are major aims of art instruction in the public schools, Dr. Paul Running of East Carolina College told a group of approximately forty public school teachers at a conference at the college Tuesday.

Dr. Running, director of East Carolina's department of art, and Francis Lee Neel of the art faculty presented a program based on both artistic and practical aspects of instruction of children in the lower grades.

The easily available and the inexpensive in supplies and equipment were stressed. Slides, film strips, exhibits of student work, and demonstrations of procedures brought to participants in the conference helpful suggestions for making their art classes more appealing and significant to children.
