America's happiest birthday!

This July Fourth, America celebrates its 179th birthday. Independence Day, we call it, because on this day, in 1776, the thirteen colonies declared themselves a free nation of free men.

But should Americans single out any one particular day as Independence Day?

In this great land of liberty, isn't every day Independence Day?

Every day we are free to speak our mind.

Every day we are free to read what we want to read.

Every day we are free to worship as we want to worship.

Every day we live in a land of peace and good will—a land that respects the God-given dignity of each human being.

For all our freedoms, for all our blessings, we believe that Americans should be devoutly grateful—not only on America's birthday, but 365 days a year.

Copeland-Vernelson Vows Spoken

Miss Miriam Eleanor Copeland and Mr. James Hilton Vernelson pledged their marriage vows at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 25, in Parker's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church near Greenville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight M. Copeland of near Greenville. The groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. John D. Vernelson of Washington, N. C. Rev. Vernelson officiated in a double ring ceremony at his son's wedding, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Willis of Kinston, pastor of the bride.

Prior to the ceremony nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Roscoe Barnhill, pianist, of near Greenville, and Mr. Lawrence Tyson, soloist, of Greenville. Mr. Tyson's selections included "Through the Years" by Vincent Youmans, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" by R. M. Stults and "The Lord's Prayer" by Albert Hay Malotte.

The vows were spoken beneath a decorated white wedding arch flanked by huge pedestals holding urns of lilies and stocks. The bride and groom knelt on a white wrought iron tufted cushioned kneeling bench which was placed at the base of the arch. Pews were used in the background and on either side of the altar, with artistic grouping of seven branch candelabra holding cathedral candles interspersed with baskets of white gladioli, stocks and stasias. Double candelabras with lighted cathedral candles and tied with satin ribbons with stasias marked the pews leading to the altar.

The bride, entering the church with her father by whom she was given in marriage, wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta designed with a scalloped neckline edged in lace and a fitted V-shaped bodice with long pointed lace sleeves. The full bouffant skirt which extended into a train featured inserts of lace tiers. Her finger tip veil of nylon tulle was attached to a tiara of taffeta embroidered with seed pearls. She carried an imported lace fan centered with hybrid orchids with cascades of fleur de amour.

Mrs. Dan Wynne of near Greenville was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of petal pink lace over taffeta with a square neckline and a long bodice ending with a taffeta sash and bustle bow in the back. Her crownless picture hat was of matching taffeta and edged with ruffled lace. She carried a butterfly bouquet of pink rubrum lilies and bridelid roses with blue streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Vernelson of Washington, N. C., sister of the groom, and Miss Angeline Higdon of near Greenville. They wore dresses of blue and matching hats similar to the honor attendant's and carried similar bouquets with petal pink satin streamers.

Miss Stella Diane Stocks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stocks of Greenville, was flower girl. She wore an ice blue dress with matching picture hat styled identical to the honor attendants' dresses and carried a pink satin basket filled with rose petals which she scattered as she went down the aisle. Wayne Vernelson, brother of the groom, was ring bearer.

Mr. Carroll Baker of Wilson attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were John Vernelson, brother of the groom, Dan Wynne, brother-in-law of the bride, Orman Whichard, cousin of the bride, and Lindsey Briley.

Mrs. Copeland was attired in a street length dress of ice blue lace and Mrs. Vernelson in navy lace. Both mothers wore white accessories and corsages of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride table was covered with a hand-made Early American cloth and centered with a crystal compote of pale pink carnations flanked by crystal candelabra holding pink tapers. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom was placed at one end of the table. After the bridal couple had cut the first slice Mrs. Elizabeth McClain, aunt of the groom, served cake. Mrs. Billy Wynne served lime punch from a crystal bowl at the far end of the table. Also served were nuts, mints, and bridal sweets. On the buffet was a tiered arrangement of pastel daisies topped with Cupid guiding streamers of pink bridal ribbon to the holders of pink candles on either side. The mantel held a miniature bride and groom beneath a white wedding arch. Arrangements of white stocks, mums and roses were used in the living room and gift room.

The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Barnhill and presented to the receiving line which was composed of the parents and members of the bridal party. After being served they were invited to the gift room. Before leaving they were asked by Mrs. Jimmy Whichard to register in the bride's book. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Simmons.

For a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, the bride wore a costume suit of beige silk faille with matching accessories and the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Vernelson is a graduate of Stokes-Pactolus school, attended East Carolina College and graduated from Hardbarge Secretarial School in Kinston.

Mr. Vernelson graduated from Stokes-Pactolus School and has served two years with the U. S. Coast Guard. He is now stationed at Ocracoke, N. C.

Following the rehearsal Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wynne entertained the Copeland-Vernelson wedding party and close friends at their home near Greenville. The refreshment table was covered with an imported lace cloth, a tiered centerpiece of orchid and pink daisies with garlands of ribbon extending to holders of pink candles. Mrs. John D. Vernelson, mother of the groom, poured punch and the guests helped themselves to assorted sandwiches, nuts, mints and bridal cakes. A miniature bride and groom embedded in a giant wine glass was used on the mantel with mixed summer flowers predominating.

Mrs. Roscoe Barnhill was hostess at a tea at her home Wednesday afternoon, June 22, honoring Miss Eleanor Copeland, bride-elect. The honoree was presented a corsage of pink frenched carnations and a gift of silver. Miss Copeland, had recently celebrated her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and was remembered with a corsage and a gift of silver.

'Books and Stuff'

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
Culture is rampant in North Carolina, especially in the summer, with historical outdoor dramas running full blast at Cherokee and Manteo, and various festivals going on all the time. . . Something we didn't know about, though, is the American Moravian Music Festival at Winston-Salem which has been going on this week, and gained national recognition in last Sunday's New York Times music section, with critic Olin Downes writing a wonderful account of one of the festival concerts. . . He also told about Bernard J. Fohl, now almost 90 years old, who directed the famed Salem Band for more than half a century, and who still plays in it. . . Somewhere else to go in North Carolina—and something else to see. . .

Fireside Theatre
We've just received a copy of the Fireside Theatre's June selection, "Quadrille," by Noel Coward, who currently is wowing 'em in Las Vegas, doing a nightclub stint there for a reputed $40,000 a week. . . Anybody who makes that much could be worth studying, so we read "Quadrille," and found it witty and scintillating and typically Noel Coward stuff, but not anything like "Blithe Spirit," which he hasn't come up to yet. . .

A vehicle last year for Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, "Quadrille" ran for a respectable number of performances on Broadway. Without Lunt and Fontanne, though, we doubt if it would have been much. Once in a while the wife becomes really brilliant, and there are occasional bon-mots that remind you of Oscar Wilde—such as Huber's definition of middle-age, "a tedious interval between the scenes when men and women of sensibility chatter in a vacuum, aware that what has happened so far is not enough, that there is more to come, that the curtain will rise again. . ."

The play reads smoothly, like a Noel Coward piano solo, and certainly is the product of a clever and highly-sophisticated mind. For summer reading it's fine, and in fact we recommend the whole idea of the Fireside Theatre, which will send you one Broadway hit a month at a very reasonable cost—the address is Garden City, N. Y., and those who like plays it's a good outfit to join.

Today's Review
We can't think of anyone who is better fitted to write about "Heroines of Dixie" than Mrs. Emma Basnight, who is a descendant of some of the heroines, and to us a typical Southern lady whom it is a pleasure and privilege to know. . . HEROINES OF DIXIE, by Katherine M. Jones, Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill Co., 1955, $5.00

Confederate women tell their story of the War in this recent publication of their family letters and private diaries. As they have now crossed over the river with Stonewall Jackson, "to rest under the shade of the trees," we are privileged to sit over the dead embers of that drama of literal fire and recreate the tragedy as played by the living actors on the scenes.

It is difficult to brief a book when every page holds the interest and so much is told the reader that never was told before. For these family diaries are like safety valves—to release the pent-up feelings that could not be put in letters to the men at the front. Their lack of things, as the Union blockade tightened was accepted lightly among these ladies. As one wrote to another, "We soon won't have a stitch to wear—and a new bonnet is not to be had in Richmond." They fashioned bonnets out of straw and shoes from cornshucks, and smuggled under their hoopskirts contraband cloth for the army and food and medicine and whiskey for the hospitals, filled with the sick and wounded of both armies. They made small Confederate flags from colorful scraps to defy their enemies when the Union flag replaced the Stars and Bars on the state government houses in occupied cities.

I recall no mention of the word "slave." The colored people were referred to as "your" or "our" people, or as servants. The suggestion of ownership is found in a Louisiana wife's letter to her husband at the front, who had urged her to flee with her household and "people" ahead of the invaders, for a safe refuge in Texas. She wrote "I smile as I listen to your Negroes talk. We were delayed when John's Martha got sick. You now have one more Negro. I've provided for their comfort—named the new refugee "Tribulation"—and renewed our progress. But something is always breaking or coming loose." In fact the entire fabric of Confederacy was "breaking and coming loose," but not the fabric woven by fervent patriotism and loyalty to country, and welded with the steel of determination and endurance.

I also find nothing about romance between the Yankees of the occupation and the Confederates who is in the field of fiction. On one occasion a lonesome invader requested a Mississippi lassie to direct him to some "Union people." She replied, "Sir, you won't find one—man, woman or child in the State of Mississippi." And there is an account of how an Alabama girl helped General Nathan B. Forrest gain a victory over the Yankees, by jumping up into his saddle and riding off with him to show him a shortcut so that he and his forces were able to surround and capture an entire Yankee detachment. Later General Forrest wrote her a note of gratitude and asked for a "lock of her hair."

After the War the State of Alabama voted her a 640 acre farm. When the capital of the Confederacy fell to the invaders Mary Lee wrote calmly, "Richmond is not the Confederacy." When her husband surrendered his army at Appomattox, she wrote again, "General Lee is not the Confederacy." None of these women ever wrote, "This is the end." To them it was "Their country," and they and its grey army of defenders made it worthy to endure, and so it does and will through the annals of recorded time.

Plan Summer Projects For Children As Well As Adults

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures
Now that school is out, children need occupation. Of course they will play, but a good summer project will add interest and zest to the long holiday.

If you plan a project that the whole family can take a part in, you not only keep the youngsters busy but bring the family together in an interesting enterprise. The world of out-of-doors offers unending possibilities. Children love to make collections. How about a collection of leaves or grasses or flowers? It may take some work on your part, too, to help identify the plants. But it's work you likely will find very pleasant. Learning with your child, ren is one of the greatest pleasures of parenthood.

You might start very simply. Collect leaves. The first set might be all of the same kind—maple or oak or elm or whatever grows nearby. Even leaves of one kind vary a lot in size and shape. Make a collection of as many different ones as possible. Ferns are another excellent source of collections. A walk into the country will provide a dozen different variety of ferns. You will probably need a book from the library to help you identify the various species. Once you get a book about ferns you'll probably get interested in the spores you find on the back of the fronds, and you and your children can talk and learn how plants that do not have flowers reproduce themselves.

Collections are more fun if there is a way of keeping them. Leaves, ferns, grasses lend themselves to pressing. A press can be simply made with newspapers. Spread the material on the paper on the floor being careful not to have any parts overlapping. Cover the arrangement with more newspapers equal in thickness to the thickest part of the plant being pressed. Then add more leaves or plants and more newspapers until everything collected that day is taken care of. Cover the entire pile with a flat board and rocks or books. For the next four days the plants should be changed to a dry place on the newspaper—or better yet the papers should be changed. Then during the next two weeks the plants should be changed every two or three days.

The collection will have more interest to the child if he makes some permanent arrangement for display around the house. To mount dried plants you need a piece of window glass. Paint the glass with a thin glue diluted with vinegar. Place the dried plant carefully on the damp surface of the glass and then transfer it quickly to a piece of mounting paper. Very attractive arrangements can be made. When framed they are truly beautiful decorations.

As your skill develops you might try mounting your specimens on a lamp shade. Not only will the family enjoy using such a whole but think how tremendously pleased Grandma would be next Christmas with a lamp shade made and designed by her grandchild.

District Clerk Has Color Scheme

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Federal District Clerk V. Bailey Thomas adopted a new color scheme yesterday for filing cards in his office. Red cards are for bankruptcy cases because the person involved is "in the red." Blue cards are for admiralty cases because the sea is blue. Names of applicants for naturalization go on fawn-colored cards. "They're lawners," Thomas said.

July Fourth Weekend

Think Of Vukovich This Week-end

Bill Vukovich, twice winner of the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis, made big headlines on the May holiday week-end. He was killed in an automobile smash-up.

By Monday hundreds of other Americans will be making big headlines in the same way... only it will not be the names which make the news; it will be the numbers.

During this biggest of holiday week-ends millions of motorists will jam the highways all over the nation. From Manteo to Murphy here in North Carolina vacationers will flock to the open road. Most of them will get back home safely. Some of them will not. Time alone will tell who will make up the Tuesday statistics of highway deaths in North Carolina.

Vukovich was not alone when the story of his death came over the Memorial Day week-end. The papers which carried the account of the racing hero's death likewise carried news of 368 other fatal auto crashes.

One might say Vukovich was foolish to take the chance when he stepped into his high powered car at the Indianapolis track. But he knew the odds and he took a calculated risk. How does the risk he took compare with the risk the "pleasure" drivers will be taking on the roads this week-end?

Vukovich was an excellent driver. He had passed severe examinations of his skill and he was in top physical condition. His reflexes and coordination were far above average. He knew he would be driving in one-way traffic with every other driver on the track having passed the same rigorous examinations to which he had been subjected. There would be no intersections, no hills, no blinding lights, no pedestrians.

His automobile operated with the precision of a fine watch. It had been checked and re-checked for mechanical excellence. His tires were new and he would have changed tires twice before the end of the race. What's more his car was equipped with special rollover bars. He was strapped in with a safety belt and wore a crash helmet.

He was killed in a glancing crash into a retaining wall at 120 miles per hour, and fast traveling though it is, the crash did not develop the lethal force equal to the impact of a head-on collision between two cars traveling 60 mph.

When you get under the wheel for this week-end trip think of Vukovich. Not the speed champion, but the expert driver who knew the risks he was taking, and in spite of all preliminary precautions, met death in an automobile. Drivers know that they will be up against in this week-end traffic and should drive accordingly.

Utilities Fight Is No Small Matter

Vanceboro residents seeking to divest themselves of electric service furnished by the Greenville municipal power company have now had their day before the State Utilities Commission.

Soon it will be the turn of officials of the city and Greenville's Utilities Commission to show the State Utilities Commission that electric service to the Vanceboro area has been adequate and that the charges of un-dependable service are not substantiated.

By its refusal to allow the motion to dismiss the charges, it is apparent now that the State Utilities Commission has decided to hear the case and issue a ruling in it. Prior to yesterday's hearing there had been some speculation locally that the action on the part of Vanceboro residents would be dismissed by the Commission. Unless local officials can convince the State Utilities Commission that service in the Vanceboro area has been adequate, the state regulatory body probably will order Carolina Power and Light Co. to move into the area now served by the local electric plant. Such action would not only mean loss of revenue for the local utilities, but also loss of considerable investment in distribution lines and equipment.

Frankly we feel the local utilities will be able to show that its service in the Vanceboro area has been maintained at a satisfactory level, and moreover that its service in that area has constantly improved in the past few years. It remains, nevertheless, a serious situation for the municipally owned electric utility. Local officials should leave no stone unturned in presenting the case to the state body.

If this attempt to hand a portion of Greenville Utilities territory over to Carolina Power and Light is successful, it could well prompt similar attempts in the future in other parts of the territory. Such a result could be crippling to the local electric power operations in the long run.

Strength for the Day

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY BY DEFAULT
Our mounting crime problem, particularly among juveniles, is becoming increasingly serious. We cannot escape the conviction that as our society becomes more literate, sophisticated, comfortable, wealthy, and learned, it is experiencing at the same time a shocking decline in moral standards.

It is often claimed that the reason for juvenile delinquency is the misbehavior of adults. There is a great deal of truth in this statement, but there are other factors which such a statement does not include. Juvenile delinquency seldom takes place in families where parents have thought about moral problems and have some definite convictions regarding them.

In other words, the unthinking, unreflecting, non-religious parents produce a shocking number of juvenile delinquents, not because these parents are evil themselves but because they have no definite convictions regarding right and wrong.

The only cure for such a situation is religion. The great religions all have firm moral codes, and if parents will bring up their children in the admonition of their faith, they will give them the best of all protection against the ravages of moral corruption.

The thoughtless, unreflecting, careless parents often produce juvenile delinquency as the result of what they do not do.

Dulles Set To Make Demand

WASHINGTON—When Secretary John Foster Dulles meets with Bulganin and Khrushchev a few weeks hence at Geneva, he will demand that Moscow break up its operation listed in secret State Department and Central Intelligence files as "exile enticement."

Under this program, Russia and satellite nations invite emigrants and escapees to Europe and the United States to re-embrace communism. The operation is conducted by an organization known as "Movement of Exiles to Return Home"—HEFND for short.

Even while talking peace and coexistence, the Communists are stepping up this campaign against the West, especially the United States. One of Mao Tse-tung's principal indictments against Washington is that we refused to return a few students who had been taking scientific studies in our universities.

FLIGHT FROM RED RULE—Almost every Communist country has declared an amnesty for those refugees in recent weeks. The fact that more than 1,000 a day, despite closely guarded and electrified borders, flee Red territory, constitutes a grave charge against their system of society. It is, of course, bad publicity.

According to data in Government files, the returnees are given the "prodigal son" treatment; if they respond to the letters urging them to return, they are given prized jobs, paid far above the going wages, and provided with perquisites denied to the average Russian.

In return, they give interviews, deliver lectures and write articles for newspapers and magazines, in which they express disillusionment with the "democratic" way of life.

They depict social and economic conditions outside the "Iron Curtain" as "savagery and debasement." These reports, naturally, tend to make the Russian people more content with their poor lot. Misery loves company.

EVIDENCE AGAINST KREMLIN—The State Department and Central Intelligence, as well as vari-

CUERO, TEX. RECORD—"The free expression of criticism and disagreement, by newspapers, political leaders and private citizens is the surest check on those in authority and the greatest safeguard of representative government."

LIBERATION COMMITTEES—"The Liberation Committees for Satellite Progress" which maintain offices at Washington, New York, Chicago and Miami have full evidence bearing on these activities. They seem to give the lie to Bulganin-Khrushchev-Molotov promises that they will bargain in good faith at Geneva.

Luckily, there is up sign that this project of reverse brain-washing is having any great success. The prospective converts usually turn the boxing letters over to Federal agents or to the "Liberation Committees" of their respective countries. For every thousand who quit communism daily, it is estimated that only about ten return.

SENATOR GEORGE'S POOR HEALTH—Senator Walter Franklin George's current illness probably may prevent the anti-Communist chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee from running for re-election next year. He will be a loss to the Senate and to the White House because of his nonpartisan management of foreign policy.

Senator George is regarded as one of the upper chamber's most brilliant members, and an ultra-conservative. In fact, Franklin D. Roosevelt regarded him as a "reactionary" and, despite their personal friendship, tried unsuccessfully to "purge" the Senator in 1938.

Former Governor Herman Talmadge is expected to succeed George. Although George has won his greatest renown at the current session for his unselfish support of the Eisenhower foreign program in Europe and the Far East, it is generally believed that the popular Talmadge could defeat him in the primary, which means election in Democratic Georgia.

AN ANECDOTE—Capitol Hill is chuckling over this anecdote related by a House member from the nearby Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia. Asked to pledge that she had neither received nor given help in a school examination, a little girl wrote:

"I haven't received no help with this paper and Leroy Anon's I couldn't give any."

Somebody Told Me Ways Discussed For Sleeping

Lester David, Coronet Magazine, Chicago, Ill. Dear Mr. David:

Read with interest your article in the July Coronet entitled "12 Ways to Fall Asleep." I am passing this information on, since you refer to it as medically approved.

May I suggest a follow-up story by you, medically approved, on 12 ways to wake up? Being blessed with the ability to go to sleep, our family has trouble getting up on time. I know many people in the same boat, so please do a follow-up.

Cordially,
Jack
David says one way to insure sleep is to go to bed at the same time every night. Impractical? Maybe so, but it might be worth the effort. Dr. Kleitman and associates studied a total of 6,800 nights' sleep by hundred of subjects and concluded that time of retirement was one of the most significant factors affecting repose. He says, "To feel well rested, to go to sleep with ease, follow a definite routine with respect to daytime and evening activity and the time of going to bed."

Dig this method if you will. First, immerse yourself for 20 minutes in a 100 degree bath. To the water, add a tablespoon of dried mustard or small quantity of genuine pine essence. Second, pat—don't rub—yourself dry. Third, walk slowly to bed and crawl slowly in. Prepare the bed in advance, since any extra effort at this time will stimulate and reactivate the lulled body machine.

Wet sheet method: fill a foot bath or basin with hot water and step into it. Wrap your head in a towel dipped in ice water. Soak a bedsheet in 60-degree water. Then this man be serious? and wrap it snugly about your body. Hold it there a few minutes, then pat yourself dry and get into bed.

Abdominal compress: soak several layers of flannel or soft cloth in 50 or 60 degree water, wring them out slightly and spread them over the abdomen. Cover them with a dry cloth. Compresses should be left in the same position for at least an hour, or for the entire night, if you fall asleep.

Reading in bed, an old standby, is out according to this article. There are several other methods suggested in the article, not quite as involved as wrapping yourself in a sheet.

Never have I seen an article that is supposed to be serious that brings so many laughs.

And I thank you.
JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

ANOTHER NORTH-SOUTH U.S. HIGHWAY (Goldboro News-Argus)
For four or five years now Goldboro has been interested in securing a new through North-South U.S. highway for this section.

Reduced to simplest terms, what is sought is the extension of U.S. 13 from Windsor to the South Carolina line by designating a route through this part of the state along U.S. Highway 13.

Wasn't it J.H.B. Hill of Faison who first started up action for continued designation of routes as U.S. 13? He certainly spent much time and interest on the project some years back, traveling many miles to interview key people who might be of help in the matter.

This new effort are near a work climax. Goldboro and a dozen or so other towns in Raleigh tomorrow will petition the State Highway and Public Works Commission to extend the route.

U.S. Highway 13 Association and city and county municipal authorities will plead the case. They propose the extension of the route from Windsor by Robertsonville, Greenville, Farmville, Snow Hill, Goldboro, Mt. Olive, Faison, Clinton, Lumberton, and to the South Carolina line.

Need for a bridge across the Cape Fear river at Tar Heel at one time was an obstacle to the project. Now this is being solved.

Continuation of U.S. 13 across North Carolina would give a route roughly midway between U.S. 301 and U.S. 17. As the flow of traffic North and South grows in volume, the need for an additional route increases. Highway 301 today is probably the busiest highway in North Carolina, or certainly in eastern North Carolina for through traffic.

Travel would not be dis-commoded or interfered with by provision of an alternate route. What threatens to be a bottleneck would be broken.

Enough highway safety are on the side of the boosters for U.S. 13. The facts in the case warrant the provision of another through north-south highway across our part of the state.

McMullan Successor Not To Be Named Before Sunday

BY LYNN NISBET
ATTORNEY GENERAL

Governor Hodges is not expected to name an attorney general to succeed the late Harry McMullan before Sunday. He is known to have conferences scheduled during the weekend at which this appointment is expected to be the main topic.

Opposition in general the office will be filled not later than Monday, since there can be no such thing as "acting" attorney general. That being a constitutional elective office it is not subject to the same rules applicable to appointive positions, where leaves of absence may be granted and acting officials named for the interim.

The Governor has designated Wage Brinson, senior assistant attorney general, as directing head of the department for routine activities and mechanics of administration, but he has no authority to act as attorney general in giving legal opinions or official rulings. This situation makes early appointment of a constitutional attorney general essential to orderly operation of State government.

RUMORS—The bulls and the bees and the gentle breezes from down Camp Bryan was being collected reports of what happened during the weekend party at which Dr. Dave Rose of Wayne was host to some two dozen of his senate colleagues. One version is that the fellows were wholly on pleasure bent, and did not discuss politics. That is discounted for the reason that it is conceivable that the membership of the State Senate would foregather and not talk politics.

Another version is that serious effort was made to form a bloc for participation in the next primary for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. That may be discounted, too, because of the widely variant political thinking and attachments of the guests.

What seems the most likely story is that the senators had a good time, talked a lot of politics but for most part informally that some ideas were perhaps given momentum that may be of use in the future.

But in no sense could the fore-gathering be described as a "Little Yalta."

SABOTAGE—Warnings were voiced by leaders in the tobacco convention in Virginia Beach this week about the damage done to the tobacco program by over-planning on part of farmers, scrapping among warehousemen about opening dates for auction markets, unproven statements about cigarette next spring, and advertising which implied that other brands are unhealthy.

What was going on in tobacco circles there were similar warning signs noted with respect to the State's fast-growing poultry industry. More chicks are being hatched, more broilers and turkeys pitted on the market, and at the time when statistics indicate declining demand for poultry products.

In the total economy tobacco is increasingly being regarded as a luxury item. For the individual farmer, business man and community affected, poultry is just as important. In both instances the line of a "fast back" toward the "long range view" is being recalled. The wise crack of a philosopher, a note naive, has been forgotten, and it is not remembered that he was local or nationally famed. Speaking about inept and unconsidered practices in some line of activity he said "Those folks are just committing unconscious sabotage upon themselves."

There is nothing new in this condition. One of the most delightful poems of Sydney Lanier, written 75 years before legal control and price support plans were in effect, dealt with the soliloquy of a Georgia farmer talking to his mule. There was a movement on foot to curtail cotton acreage in order to increase price. This farmer, addressing to himself and his mule that decreased production made so much sense most people would adopt the idea and people would go up. "Therefore, next year, I will plant all cotton. Moral: Economic and physical conditions change; human nature does not."

MEMORIALS—The congressional hassle over whether or not a memorial to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft should be placed on the Capitol grounds at Washington could have been avoided if the Congress had enacted a law similar to one that has been in force 24 years in North Carolina.

GS 1008, enacted in 1941, reads: "No monument, statue, tablet, painting, or other article or structure of permanent nature intended primarily to commemorate any person or persons shall be purchased from State funds or shall be placed in or upon or allowed to extend over State property within twenty-five years after the death of the person or persons so commemorated."

There follows proviso that this limitation does not apply to gifts of money or articles solely for educational, charitable or health work at State institutions.

Business Today

Cost Going Down

By ELMER ROESSNER
Paradoxically, the current rise in industrial wages is making some machines cheaper. They are the devices that save labor.

Their prices may be higher. But they will cost buyers less, because savings in wages will be greater.

Take a plant where skilled workers have won an increase of from $2 to $2.20 an hour. Suppose a machine is devised to enable one man to do the work of two men. The machine would have saved around $4,000 a year at the $2 rate; now it will save around $4,400. If the machine has a usefulness of 15 years, the increase in savings will be about $66,000. In terms of savings it is that much cheaper to buy today—less, of course, any increase in price of the machine itself.

The manufacture of labor saving devices, especially of automatic "feed back" machines, has been booming in recent years. Now it looks as if there will be boom on top of boom as manufacturers seek relief from high wage rates.

The boom has not been limited to industrial machines. It is going on quite nicely in the office machine field.

There's a double reason here. Office salaries—such as those of secretaries, stenographers, accountants, filing clerks—have been steadily rising since the end of the war. And to make matters worse, working force will decline. The total number of births in 1936—and 19 is a lovely age for a new secretary or stenographer—was 2,355,000, a low figure compared with 4,000,000 or so born last year.

So, while business is expanding, the number of recruits for the labor force cannot be increasing. Hence if anybody can invent a machine that will transform what the boss says into a typewritten letter, and sit on his lap with it, they are on their way to a fortune. Especially if the machine can be operated for $2 less a week than an efficient stenographer costs.

NOW THE REPUBLICANS ARE DOING IT TO US
Another dash of inflation is coming.

In the fiscal year ending today, the Treasury will have a deficit of around $4.5 billion.

In the next fiscal year, receipts will be $60 billion and the expenditures $62.4 billion, according to the President's estimate in his January budget message. Congress will trim some items but the chances are it will increase far more than cut.

In the course of two years, the country will be spending about $7 billion more than it takes in. So our money will be inflated by just that much. Things like that lead to demands for higher wages, which boost prices and shrink the buying power of widows, pensioners and others living on fixed incomes.

You Need A Medicine Room

NEW YORK (AP)—Most new houses being built today have a recreation room, but they really need a medicine room.

Every home today is a small drugstore. It overflows with scores of tubes and bottles and jars of medications, lotions and cosmetics which the busy housewife being now feels he needs to keep himself physically fit and socially acceptable.

The American people never have been more healthy—and never have taken more medicine. Some people now get their main exercise simply by the muscular efforts expended in taking the medicines to keep themselves feeling well—or applying the toiletary aids which they hope will make them look less creasy.

A man's social status today is judged as much by the diseases he boasts as by his bank account. You never can be sure how far he really has risen in the world until you get a peek into his bathroom medicine cabinet.

The trouble is that no medicine cabinet is large enough any longer to hold the jumbled drug boards of a civilized family.

I can remember as a boy when the old-fashioned small bathroom medicine cabinet in our home was quite ample. It held a jar of vaseline, a tube of toothpaste, a box of baking soda, a razor, a cake of shaving soap, a bottle of redine, packets of absorbent cotton, a can of talcum, a roll of gauze and some adhesive tape. Oh, yes, and some boric acid solution and a small tin of aspirin tablets.

This small stock served the health needs of a family of seven. It enabled one to bandage a cut or ease a headache.

But in those simple days, when you got your vitamins from groceries instead of from a drugstore, health was taken as a matter of fact. It hadn't become either a hobby or an industry. You didn't worry yourself sick over the question of whether you were healthy.

Today the ordinary home contains enough medical and toiletary supplies to furnish the clinic of a generation ago.

They overflow the bathroom into every room in the house and down into the basement. A modern man never throws away unused medicine after an illness. He simply puts it away somewhere, like a squirrel hiding an acorn, against a future emergency.

The other day I opened my crowded medicine cabinet. A bottle of scalp lotion I bought in London in 1944 tumbled out and bruised my head. The British druggist had assured me it was "good for falling hair" and it was. Evertime I applied it the falling hair fell out faster.

"Where's the liniment?" I called to my wife, rubbing the bump on my forehead.

Well, after a long search, Frances finally found it in the medicine cabinet in HER bathroom, hidden behind a jar of face cream and a bottle of hair cream.

That illustrates another peril of having medicine diffused all over the place. A fellow, stricken by a real emergency, could crawl from room to room, pawing through bottle after bottle, and die without finding the one he needed—particularly if his wife weren't there to help him.

Also modern medicines are changing and the so-called modern home isn't suited to store them. For example suppose you give a boy a bottle of aspirin in a cool dark place. "Where do you put it?" In the refrigerator, naturally.

But what happens when you open the refrigerator to see if the medicine is keeping cool? The light flashes on, and you can almost see everything that is in it. It covers in search of a dark place. The old-fashioned lightless icebox was more practical.

No, in bringing the drugstore into the home we have only gone half way. What we need now is a full-sized room specially built to give everything from throat lozenges to high-density vitamins and true-blue skin hormone creams exactly the right living conditions they should have.

The final step, of course, will be to place the room with a professional pharmacist and intern, and provide living quarters in your house for them, too.

Then a man can reasonably expect to stay healthy at home, independent of either hospital or drugstore.

The Kingdoms of Israel and Judah

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher
Scripture—Jeremiah 22: 36; II Kings 23:1-24:7.

Jeremiah called Baruch, son of Neriah, and told him to write down his words of warning to the king so that he would hear of all the evil the Lord would bring upon him and his people.

Jeremiah then directed Baruch to take the scroll and read it to the people on the "fasting day" and to all Judah, so that they might understand and avoid the evil that would come upon them.

To Jeremiah the prophet came the word of the Lord commanding him to go down to the king of Judah, warning him to turn from his evil ways and he would prosper. Jeremiah did so.

The king ordered the scroll brought before him and his princes. After hearing a part of the words of Jeremiah, the king cut the scroll and cast it into the hearth fire and burned it.
MEMORY VERSE—Jeremiah 22:13.

The Prophet of Judah's Decline

JEREMIAH WAS A PROPHET WHO WOULD NOT BE SILENCED

Scripture—Jeremiah 22: 36; II Kings 23:1; 24:7.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE PROPHET Jeremiah is called the "prophet of doom." He was a courageous man who had been told by the Lord what would happen to his people if they did not turn from their evil ways, and return to God who had blessed them in the past.

In spite of persecution, Jeremiah persisted in warning the king of Judah, Jehoiakim, and all the people of the fall of Judah and desolation that would come if they persisted in their evil ways. Some were frightened, but the king would not be warned, and so Judah was conquered at last by Nebuchadnezzar and Jerusalem destroyed.

It has been suggested that the younger classes be introduced to the lesson by an example from our modern day. If a person parks his automobile next to a fire hydrant or other place that is forbidden by law, he will be given a ticket and must appear in court, and if guilty he is fined. It is no use ignoring the ticket or tearing it up, or the fine will be heavier and must be paid.

The Lord spoke to Jeremiah and told him to go to the king and say: "Hear the word of the Lord, O king of Judah, that sit-by this city, and they shall say every man to his neighbor, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus unto this great city?" "Then shall they answer, Because they have forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and served them."—Jeremiah 22:3-9.

Our space will not allow us to go fully into the history of the other, so we must confine ourselves to Jehoiakim's reign.

Not being allowed to go to the temple, Jeremiah told his faithful Baruch, son of Neriah, to write on a scroll all his warnings so that all might be informed of what would befall them in case they continued in their disobedience to the Lord.

So Jeremiah dictated his words to Baruch and he inscribed them on the scroll, and read them to the people on a fasting day when many people came to Jerusalem.

The princes of the realm told Jeremiah and Baruch to hide so that no man would know where they were, for some of the princes were afraid. Then they told the king about the scroll and what was written thereon, and laid the scroll in the chamber of Eliashama, the scribe.

"So the king sent Jehudi to fetch the rolls and he took it out test upon the throne of David, and thy servants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

"Thus saith the Lord, Execute ye judgment and righteousness, and deliver the spoiled out of the hand of the oppressor, and do no wrong, do no violence to the stranger, the fatherless, nor the widow, neither shed innocent blood in this place.

"For if ye do this thing indeed, then shall there enter in by the gates of this house kings sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, he, and his servants and his people.

"But if ye will not hear these words, I swear by myself, saith the Lord, that this house shall become a desolation, and ye shall say, 'How vain was his attempt to destroy the words of Jehovah! How vain is it for us to disregard the will of God!'

"Only by obeying His laws and living the life of which Christ would have us can we ever be happy upon this earth. Honesty in business and in all our dealings with others, loving our neighbor as ourselves—these bring their own rewards.

"And many nations shall pass by this house, and shall say, 'Why hath the Lord done thus to this land?'

Grace F.W.B. Church Announcements

The Sunday School has outgrown the present building. The church has rented a four room apartment back of the present building to make room for four more classes. The enrollment is now 320 and it is hoped that these extra rooms will make room for at least 400. Mr. Ernest Timlin, the superintendent, is doing a good job directing the work of the school. He has a faithful staff of workers and teachers to help carry on the work. He also has a large number who are faithful to help maintain a good average attendance. Sunday School will be at 9:45 with classes for all ages. The morning worship at 11 o'clock will be a continuation of the youth revival with Rev. Jack Paramore doing the preaching. At 3 p.m. there will be a baptismal service at Parkers Chapel.

Every one is welcome to all services.

Christian Church Announcements

At the Eighth Street Christian Church Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the theme "Jesus and Government" and the solo will be sung by Mrs. Herbert L. Carter, director of the choir and organist. A word of caution is given to all who are to be on the highways over the long weekend of July 2-4. The death toll through road accidents is alarming. North Carolina has an especially bad record in this regard and it behooves us to keep clear of the roads and save many lives. If you must drive, do so with care. If you can, do not drive at all. If you must drive, do so with care. If you can, do not drive at all. If you must drive, do so with care. If you can, do not drive at all.

The states of North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware will meet in Lynchburg, Va., September 25-27.

COASTAL PLAIN LEAGUE FIRST DIVISION SEES CHANGES

The first four positions in the semi-pro Coastal Plain League are becoming more and more kaleidoscopic. That is—if you'll pardon the stereotyped term—the first division is subject to change on the outcome of a single game.

One such change occurred after Wednesday's card. The faltering Greenville Greenies took it on the chin for the third time in two weeks from Williamston. The losing streak was a new, if dubious, milestone. Heretofore, the Greenies had put together two game losing streaks but now it has run to four and they're drifting farther and farther away from the league lead.

The loss dropped Greenville into a new low—fourth place. The tumble enabled a coming Rocky Mount team to slip into the third spot, half a game ahead of the Greenies.

It's quite obvious now that the Leafs are motoring. They've come from below 500 won-lost and are challenging Farmville for the runner-up rung. In view of the fact that Farmville has dropped its last three games, and the Leafs are just two games behind now, the league may become a New Bern-Rocky Mount duel from here out.

But again, you can't count out Farmville and Greenville. The Greens lost three of their four games while playing minus the services of star hitter Bobby Clark and playing-manager Pete Carraway. Now this two-time is back in the saddle and Greenville hopes are up. Farmville has just been having bad luck. It's last three losses were by one-run margins, and in all but one instance Farmville outdid its opponent.

With little over a third of the season left, Williamston is making its bid. The Braves have been getting rolls around the middle off wins over Greenville. They're still below the 500 mark won-lost but have won eight out of their last 11 games. With throwers like James Ferry the Braves can put anybody's blaze out. However, they need clutch hitting to go with that fine mound work.

FOOTBALL RATINGS HAVE ALREADY HIT THE STANDS

Here we sit sweating in the reeking heat of July and the cold-winter game of football is already being beaten out around the news front.

The Official NCAA Football Guide has made its appearance on the paper-cluttered sports desk. Editor Joe Sherman has really done a great job and the guide is packed with information on every conference and team in the land.

Tom Siler, president of the Football Writers Association, points out in his introduction that the 1955 game features a new rule, a batch of new head coaches, a new TV format—and, for the most part, the same old powerhouses.

Here's how Joe sees them from this early date: Navy and Army in the East; Ohio State, Michigan, Iowa and Notre Dame in the Midwest; Miami, Auburn and Georgia Tech in the Deep South; Duke and Maryland along the Atlantic Seaboard; Southern Methodist and Arkansas in the Southwest; Oklahoma in the Missouri Valley; Utah and Denver in the Rocky Mountains; UCLA and Southern Cal on the Pacific Coast.

There is just one major rules change, a compromise to appease the clique still grumbling over the outlawing of free substitution after the 1952 season. Now, the player who was in the starting lineup when the quarter began may re-enter the game once during the same period.

In 1954, he could enter the game only once a quarter, except for the two four-minute segments at the end of the first and second halves. The 1955 change wiped out the four-minute segments.

FRUIT IN CAROLINA; OTHER NOTES FROM HERE AND THERE
The New York Giants have optioned Tommy Pruitt, former East Carolina College pitcher, to their Danville, Va., club in the Class B Carolina League. Pruitt pitched ECC to its first North State Conference title before he inked a giant pact. The big right-hander was assigned originally to the Atlantic Seaboard Southern Methodist and Arkansas in the Southwest; Oklahoma in the Missouri Valley; Utah and Denver in the Rocky Mountains; UCLA and Southern Cal on the Pacific Coast.

Probably the freakiest pitching record this year is held by Clem Labine of the Dodgers who has a 6-0 record for the season despite the fact he hasn't lasted in any of his 23 starts. . . . Another of the season's curious statistics is boasted by Eddie Robinson of the Yankees, who has 25 hits for the season, 12 of them singles, 13 of them home runs, nothing in between.

Jersey Joe Walcott is already on record as picking Archie Moore to beat Rocky Marciano, and by a knockout. Walcott likes Moore's left hand and points out that he put Rocky down with a left in their first fight. . . . Frankie Hayes, Bob Feller's former batterymate who died last week, not only caught Feller in the memorable no-hitter against the Yankees, but he hit the home run that won the game, 1-0.

Greenies Drop Out Of CPL First Division

Table with 2 columns: Team, Won, Lost. Rows include New Bern, Rocky Mount, Farmville, Greenville, Williamston, Falkland.

Over in Rocky Mount it's an entirely different story. The Leafs have suddenly come to life and are making a strong bid to overtake New Bern. The Leafs have a brilliant winning streak going with revamped personnel.

Sparkling Pitching
Eugene Bone pitched a one-hitter for them against New Bern Wednesday in a 5-0 victory. He fanned 15 batters and walked only three men. Dudley Whitley led the Leafs' hitting with a booming triple and single.

Farmville went down for the third straight time by a one-run margin. Falkland's Sob Leung pitched a brilliant 6-hitter and drove in the winning run in the top of the 11th inning for a 2-1 victory.

Farmville's Jerry Trotter pitched a fine 7-hitter but wildness hurt him. He loaded the bases on walks in the disastrous 11th and set the stage for Lilley's game-winning blow.

Rocky Mount moved into second place on the strength of its win over the league-leaders while the runner-up and third place clubs were biting the dust.

Tonight in Rocky Mount, Manager Pete Carraway's Greenies have a chance to regain some ground or, on the other hand, lose more when they meet the Leafs in a make-up of a rained out game.

The locals lost their third consecutive game to Williamston Wednesday night by a 5-0 count. James Perry, ace righthander of the Braves, slammed three shutouts in the Greenies' face with a masterful 4-hitter. He struck out 16 men in the process.

The Greenies now have descended

Yanks Can Cinch Flag In Ten Days

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

The next 10 days—from now until the All-Star Game break—may decide the American League pennant race. And if looks as if the best thing the four contenders to wind up the New York Yankees can do is pray for rain.

If the Yanks, ahead by 5 1/2 games, don't come out smelling like roses, one of the four contenders, at least figures to wind up a bit groggy. The pressure is on Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Boston.

The schedule tells the story. New York plays 10 games in the 10 days, with two days off. Eight of the games are with Washington and Baltimore, the seventh and eighth-place clubs the Yanks have beaten 17 out of 21 times thus far.

Boston is the only toughie immediately ahead for the Yanks. The Red Sox, whose five-game winning streak was cut by Washington 3-2 yesterday, have lost six of eight to New York but are much stronger now. And Ted Williams probably will be back in service for the Fourth of July double-header at Yankee Stadium.

Second-place Chicago dropping its fifth straight yesterday to Detroit 3-2, plays 11 games in the 10 days, with only one day of rest. Seven are with third-place Cleveland, just 1 1/2 games behind the White Sox.

After a three-game set with the Indians that opens tonight, Chicago splits its other four games between sixth-place Kansas City and persistent Detroit.

In addition to the seven games with Chicago, the Tribe has three scheduled with Kansas City and two with Detroit.

The Tigers play eight of their next 12 games against the A's, whom they've beaten in five of eight meetings. The Red Sox have 11 games on tap—the two at New York and nine against Washington and Baltimore.

Detroit wrapped up a sweep of its three-game set with the White Sox as Ray Boone pumped a two-run homer in the eighth to overhaul a 3-2 Chicago lead. It was victory No. 8 for Steven Gromek, who was tapped for a 430-foot home run by Minnie Minozo with a man on in the sixth.

Washington's Spec Shea fanned Norm Zaunth with the bases loaded in the ninth. Ted Abernathy gained his first major league victory for the Nats although giving way to Camilo Pascual and Shea when Boston scored once in the ninth.

In the National, first-place Brooklyn came from behind three times to beat the New York Giants 6-5 in 11 innings on George Shuba's pinch single. Milwaukee copped second place from Chicago as the Braves scored four unearned runs in the eighth to beat the Cubs 7-4.

Willie Mays hammered home runs No. 20 with a mate on for a 5-3 New York lead in the 10th, but the Dodgers came back to tie with Duke Snider's triple and Jackie Robinson's sacrifice bunt scoring the runs. Ed Roebuck won it in relief of Don Newcombe. Ray Monzant lost it, becoming the sixth Giant pitcher after Manager Leo Durocher sent five pitchers in to face five Brooklyn batters in the 10th.

Randy Jackson's error opened the gates for the Braves, who had a two-run blast by Joe Adcock in the big inning. Ray Crone won in relief, with Hal Jeffcoat the loser.

Big Weekend For Tobacco Belt STANDINGS

Pinetops gets its chance to move up in the Tobacco Belt League this weekend with three games against the Tarboro Tars, who are tied for first place in the league with Kinston.

Pinetops is in third place with a 10-3 mark behind the Tars and Eagles, who sport 10-1 marks. The Pinetops team is called the best hitting team in the league and if it gets the pitching could blast the Tars out of first place.

Kinston has an easy weekend with last place Belvoir while Grimesland and Falkland fight it out for fourth place in the loop standings.

All teams play three games in the weekend series with Kinston-Belvoir and Tarboro-Pinetops playing doubleheaders on Saturday afternoon and a single game on Sunday. Grimesland will play a single game in Falkland Saturday and then meet the same team in Grimesland for a doubleheader Sunday.

The weekend schedule:
Saturday Afternoon
Kinston at Belvoir (2)
Tarboro at Pinetops (2)
Grimesland at Falkland (1)

Sunday Afternoon
Belvoir at Kinston (1)
Pinetops at Tarboro (1)
Falkland at Grimesland (2)

Carolina Dairies pushed over single runs in the first and third innings to edge out the Softball League all-star team last night 2-1 with Leonard Johnson holding the stars for just six hits.

The game was a brilliant pitchers' duel between Johnson and Dan Gordon of the all-stars. Gordon gave up only five hits to the Dairy team, but they bunched their hits at important times to get their two runs.

The all-stars scored on Johnson in the third on an unearned run. Bobby Nunn reached first on an error and after two were out Mitchell White doubled to drive the Granite catcher all the way around. After that Johnson kept the doors to home plate barred from the all-stars.

In the first inning after two were out Johnson was hit by a pitched ball. Browne Tripp then doubled and Perry singled to score Johnson. Tripp was thrown out at the plate trying to score on Perry's hit.

In the third frame Tom Boyd reached base on an error and scored on Tripp's second double of the game. That was all the scoring, but it was all that Johnson needed to win his twelfth consecutive game of the year.

Trabert Meets Dane In Finals Of Wimbledon

By TOM OCHILTREE

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Tony Trabert and Kurt Nielsen, two blast-away players of great power, bombard each other on Wimbledon's center court today for the men's singles title in the All-England Tennis Championships.

Either Trabert, the awesome American, or Nielsen, the dangerous Dane, will walk off the court recognized as the unofficial but undoubted world's amateur champion.

For both men this is their biggest day in tennis. For the spectators the battle promises booming serifs, stinging volleys and tactics calling for attack and more attack.

This should not be a contrast in styles. Both believe in pounding the ball hard and taking charge at the net as soon as possible.

In a duel like that the man who cracks first usually loses the whole thing.

Trabert, the pride of Cincinnati and of American amateur tennis, is fit, relaxed and confident. So is Nielsen, a Copenhagen sporting goods importer.

Both are 24. They have met three times previously and Trabert has won each time.

Top-seeded Trabert is the favorite. But Nielsen has become a miracle man of tennis. This is the second time in three years that he has fought his way through to the finals as an unseeded player.

In 1953 he lost the big match to Vic Seixas, of Philadelphia. The all-American grip on the women's singles title became an all-California stranglehold yesterday.

The only non-Californian in the last four—Doris Hart, of Coral Gables, Fla.—was upset by petite Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz 6-3, 6-0.

Mrs. Fleitz will meet Louise Brough, of Beverly Hills, in tomorrow's women's final. Miss Brough defeated Darlene Hard, Long Beach, Calif., 6-3, 8-6 in their semifinal match.

The men's doubles title match tomorrow will be between two Australian teams with Rosewall and Neale Fraser meeting Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig.

Rosewall and Fraser eliminated Trabert and Seixas, the American Davis Cup pair, 6-2, 1-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, yesterday.

Rosburg Defends 12-Stroke Lead

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Bob Rosburg of San Francisco set out today in the third round of the 72-hole British Columbia Open defending scores of 65 and 67 for a 12-under-par halfway total of 132 on the par-72 Shaughnessy layout, a three-stroke edge on the rest of the field.

The only major change following yesterday's round was in second place and that was because Jimmy Clark slept in. Officials disqualified him when he explained why he didn't tee off with Rosburg and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C. Clark had a useful 66, 6-below-par the first day.

A comparative unknown from Bedford Heights, Ohio, took over from Clark. Dow Finsterwald, an up and coming youngster on the golf trail, fashioned a 68 to go with his earlier 67 for 135.

Mike Souliak of Durham, N.C., couldn't find the puts to please the gallery of 500. He was lining up birdies most of the way but snared only four. The 68 was still good enough to take third spot alone with 136.

Sam Sheard turned in the second day's low round of 66 but he still wasn't as happy as he might be with his 137 total.

Five Home Games On ECC 1955 Football Schedule

Redmen Winningest Battery

Charles Staton, left, and Aubrey Harrison have been the winning battery for the Redmen in six PONY League games this year. Staton has yet to lose a game in the current season. Staton also is the leading hitter in the league with a .450 mark.

Staton Leads Reds To Win Over Olds

Redmen won their sixth consecutive win of the year. Staton has not lost a game so far this season.

Staton led the no-hitter going until the top of the sixth inning when Butch Cox and Ronald Riggs bounced singles off the strong right-hander. Staton struck out fourteen Olds batters and walked only one.

Only two of the runs off him were earned. He gave up two hits in all.

The win keeps the Redmen two games in first place with five more games left in the second half. They have only one more game with the Olds, who will be their stiffest competition for first place.

Aubrey Harrison led the hitting in last night's game with two singles in three trips to the plate. He was the only player on either team to get more than one safe hit.

Jack Fleck Used Hogan Clubs To Upset Hogan

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Fleck got two new wedges from Ben Hogan just before he teed the four-time champion for the National Open golf title and then beat him in a dramatic 18-hole playoff.

"I didn't get them from Ben direct," the 32-year-old Daveport, Iowa, professional explained. "I ordered them from Ben's factory before and they came just before the tournament."

Fleck, who played with Hogan-made clubs, credited the new implements with helping him to his Olympic victory at the Olympic Club in San Francisco—one of the most surprising golf upsets in or chip.

"The main weakness of my game always had been my short game and my putting," he said. "At San Francisco, particularly the last two days, everything seemed to jell perfectly."

"I was pitching and chipping below, a professional explained. "I put it in before and I may never put like it again."

Repeatedly, Fleck said, when he missed the green and found himself in what the golfers termed Olympic "cabbage patch," he always recovered with a goo-dblast

Football fans of eastern North Carolina will be treated to the most ambitious home schedule this fall. The East Carolina College Pirates have ever played, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, athletic director at the college, said today.

The season officially opens on September 10 with a powerful foe when the Navy Air squad of Norfolk, Va. comes into College Stadium bent on averaging the 21 to 0 defeat handed them by the Pirates last year.

Coach Jack Boone, head football boss, has induced several of last year's Naval team to enroll at East Carolina, Jorgensen announced, which should add spice to the contest.

On September 24, the ever-dangerous arch-rival Lenoir Rhyne team visits Greenville. The Bruins are expecting over-all improvement over last year, a time when East Carolina had to call on its strength to sneak out a 7-6 winner.

October 8 is set for the homecoming game with Elon providing the opposition. This should be every aspect of the wham-bam affair, according to Jorgensen. He pointed out that last year Elon upset the Pirates in Burlington for the locals' first North State Conference loss of the season. "The boys will be pointing to this one," he said.

Last year's North State champions, the Appalachian Mountaineers will be here on October 29. Most of the Pirate personnel this fall were members of the team that the Apps beat in the cold hills of Boone last winter. Mindful of this the coaching staff and Jorgensen look for a fired-up band of Pirates on the sidelines.

The concluding game on November 5 will have the strong Tamps University team here. The Pirates have bowed to the Trojans by slight margins the past two seasons on the Florida campus and hope for their first victory over their highly-regarded opponents.

To make early arrangements to see these games, Jorgensen asked that fans call the Athletic Office or personally contact either him or Coach Boone.

"We are opening the office the week of July 5 for the express purpose of permitting the public to drop by and choose seats for the coming season."

Auto Industry Winding Up Biggest Six Months Period

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry today winds up the biggest six months in its history. Dozens of new records set since Jan. 1 attest to the hottest competitive effort in production and sales the car makers ever have known.

Final figures will show a January-June output of close to 4 million passenger cars. Retail deliveries are estimated at more than 3 1/2 million. Dealer inventories now are estimated at around 800,000 cars.

Retail sales, of course, include part of the 35,000 cars on hand Jan. 1. Something like 155,000 units of this year's output were shipped to foreign markets.

Besides new records in assembly volume, retail sales and dealer stocks, new high marks were made by most individual car makers both in output and retail deliveries.

Aside from record smashing production, the outstanding single development of this year's first six months obviously was the jobless pay program agreed upon between the CIO United Auto Workers and Ford and General Motors.

The history-making program, expected to be extended within the next month to Chrysler Corp., undoubtedly averted a strike that could have been paralyzing more than were the sit-downs of nearly two decades ago.

Also marking the first half of 1955 were announcement of expansion programs involving additional billions of dollars by General Motors, and substantial progress by Chrysler in its 250-million-dollar comeback program.

For Ford the additional expansion fund brought its total postwar $2,325,000,000. GM's addition brought its postwar total to $2.5 billion. Chrysler which took slightly less than 13 per cent of the 1954 car market has boosted this to an estimated 1 per cent so far in 1955.

Ahead of the industry now lies a virtually certain full year record in production — and probably in sales, too. Fewer than 2 1/2 million more car completions are needed in the next six months to set a new full year record.

Industry collapse can prevent the production of another three million cars this year.

Not quite so easy is the prospect for the industry's 42,000 or more new car retailers. Through the peak of their selling season they had to slash prices to achieve volume; some have sold new cars at only a nominal markup, to used car dealers to ease the pressure of huge inventories; others have given unprecedented allowances on used cars offered as down payment on new ones.

Some sources say that despite indicated increases in wholesale prices the retailers will have to continue high trade-in allowances and price discounting to keep up with factory output during the coming six months.

Maxwell Taylor Takes Over As Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a battlefield veteran of two wars, takes over today as Army chief of staff.

He succeeds Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, an outspoken critic of administration plans to cut Army strength. Ridgway is retiring after 38 years of service to become board chairman of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh.

The army said goodbye to Ridgway yesterday in a special review held in his honor at nearby Ft. Myer. The Air Force joined in the tribute.

At 53, Taylor is the youngest officer to hold this high Army post since 1930, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was appointed at the age of 50.

Taylor, a native of Keytesville, Mo., commanded the 101st Airborne Division in Normandy, Holland and the Battle of the Bulge. He assumed command of the 8th Army in Korea in 1951. Last April he was named supreme commander of both the U.S. Far East and United Nations commands.

Investigation Is Scheduled Of Californian

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The U. S. attorney's office has announced an "immediate, intensive investigation" of a witness who told House Un-American Activities subcommittee he believed U. S. forces waged germ warfare in Korea.

The witness, Southern California fruit rancher Hugh Hardyman, refused to answer questions about an alleged trip to Peiping, China, in 1953 which he was accused of making which he was accused of making speeches backing Red germ war charges. But he told the subcommittee yesterday:

"In my opinion there is overwhelming evidence that the armed forces of the United States did participate in germ warfare during the Korean War."

Rep. Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio) said that he would demand that Hardyman, a British-born naturalized citizen, be prosecuted, denaturalized and deported. Hardyman lives in nearby La Crescenta.

Chief Asst. U. S. Atty. Manley J. Bowler said he would ask for a complete transcript of Hardyman's testimony to determine if there is sufficient evidence to permit charges against Hardyman of treason, sedition, perjury, false statements to a government agency in obtaining a passport and illegal use of a passport.

The 52-year-old rancher denied that he had ever been a Communist. He testified that he was partly responsible for the founding of the Ormsby Village for Youth in nearby Topanga Canyon.

Three officials of the camp appeared later and declined to answer questions as to whether they had ever been members of the Communist party.

Camp director Jean Wilkinson said she couldn't answer because of political and religious reasons.

Raphael Konigsberg, executive tions about his employment at the camp and finally said:

"If the Communist party likes fresh air and I like fresh air, that proves nothing."

"It proves something to me," said Rep. Donald Jackson (R-Calif.). "I wouldn't trust you within 50 feet of a child."

Mrs. Sylvia Schonfeld, president of the fund-raising group for the camp, refused to answer questions about financial aspects of the camp.

"shocked by the number of boys, hardly yet men, whom jurists doom."

"Tragically, there are thousands of youngsters following in my footsteps, whose careers will be shocking repetitions of mine. Unless something is done, they will never find themselves."

Matured by his years in the shadow of the gas chamber, the 33-year-old genius has continued to study himself and the men who wait with him. In "Trial by Ordeal" he tells their stories—and examines the fate awaiting all of them.

"You realize now, guilt or innocence aside," he continues, "that this infernal existence has been of your own making."

Chesman says he will continue to fight to prove his innocence. But time has been his biggest opponent, and it appears to be running out.

Nationalists Feud With England

LONDON (AP)—Britain has protested Nationalist Chinese interference with two British ships headed for Foochow and warned that the Royal Navy will protect British vessels lawfully conducting trade with Red China.

Robert Turton, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, announced the protest in the House of Commons last night. He said the ships the Inchura and the Helikon were intercepted by a Nationalist Chinese warship when they attempted to enter Foochow harbor.

The Helikon was fired on and detained seven hours but both ships succeeded in reaching Foochow.

"Her Majesty's ships in the Far East have instructions to afford protection to British ships on their lawful occasions," Turton said.

Yugoslavs To Be At Soviet Show

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Six officers of the Yugoslav air force will join the Russians in observing Soviet air force day next Sunday in Moscow.

Yugopress, the semi-official news agency reported today that the Yugoslav airmen were invited by Soviet Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov. Headed by the air force commander, Gen. Zdenko Ulep, they will leave Belgrade Friday for a 10-day stay in Russia.

Doomed Convict Issues Warning From Death Cell

Caryl Chesman, awaiting execution in San Quentin's gas chamber on July 15, has issued a warning to society: either find a positive method through which to cure crime, or prepare to watch your sons follow him to destruction.

In "Trial by Ordeal," Chesman's new book which Prentice-Hall will publish four days before his death, he offers a new criminological theory—a pre-sentence or pre-commitment clinic to study criminals.

"My goal would not only be to cure him," writes Chesman, "but to learn everything possible of the relationship between crime, the disordered mind and environment."

Chesman says that an adequately and competently staffed clinic of experts could achieve much more through this method than by examining the convicted criminal after he has been sentenced to life-long imprisonment or execution.

The author, who has spent the last seven years in Death Row waiting for execution, reports that he and other doomed prisoners are of a fund-raising group for the camp, refused to answer questions about financial aspects of the camp.

Intensive Study Just Completed By Government

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first intensive study since the constitutional convention of 1787 on relations between the federal government and the states has just been completed.

The job was done by a 25-man group set up under the direction of President Eisenhower and called the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. Appointed in 1953, it has just reported to Eisenhower.

The reason for its creation had its roots in a problem which has plagued this country from the beginning: how to keep a proper division of powers between the federal government and the states.

The problem has become increasingly acute since depression days and the advent of the New Deal, which widened federal control over the citizens while at the same time giving them new benefits and protections.

Some, but not all, of what the federal government has done might have been done by the states if they had either the willingness or the financial resources.

So the special commission tried to examine this whole picture and make recommendations on what the states should do and what the federal government should do so that the latter would not eventually become all-powerful and dominant.

The commission made some specific recommendations. For example: education is the states' job and there should not be any general federal aid to education; the federal government should be in full control of civil defense.

In short, the commission suggested less government from Washington, more government by states and local communities. But at this point the report was at its weakest since the commission could only suggest ideas and can't

Hunt For Stars In Critical Stage

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The star talent situation has reached the critical stage in Hollywood.

Does that sound drastic? Not if you talk to some producers and theater men. They will tell you that the number of stars who really mean something at the box office has dwindled to a dozen or two. Notable among these are John Wayne, Gary Cooper, James Stewart, Alan Ladd, Bing Crosby, Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart and a few others.

You'll note that most of these stars are middle-aged. A few younger players have joined that stellar position — Marilyn Brando, Marilyn Monroe, Martin and Lewis, and possibly a handful of others.

A major reason for the decline is the breakdown of new talent programs at the major studios.

Only one lot still maintains an extensive training for future stars. That is Universal-International. The studio is even expanding its activities under the direction of Jess Kimmel veteran of TV and stage associate of Joe Ferrer.

It is his aim, which has helped produce such names as Tony Curtis, Rock Hudson and Jeff Chandler, has become so well known that outsiders have tried to pay for the program. The studio has declined, limiting the curricula to its own young players.

Where do they come from? Many from little theaters around Hollywood, some from television some merely come to the studio themelves. The majority are brought by agents, and that's how the studio prefers to deal.

The young hopefuls get some basic training in the classics. They learn body movement by dancing, get horsemanship riding lessons and some fencing, although Kimmel feels that it tends to create an attitude of posing.

"I've found that boxing lessons are excellent for actors," he added. "When they get in the ring, they lose their inhibitions and become aggressive."

A large part of the training is the day-in, day-out reading of parts. Kimmel believes in having the players study separately. Then they'll play the scenes over and over again with different students. Annually they produce their own show, "Inside U-I."

Some flunk out, others may start the perilous path to stardom.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW By FAGALY and SHORTEN

wasn't hard, though cautiously exploring fingers convinced him Calder's bullet had only grazed his scalp. It hurt, but that didn't matter if his trick worked. Now came the tough part, the waiting.

Presently, the figure of the gambler emerged from the shadow of the trees. Kerry let him get close before he pushed himself up. Calder's gun started to rise, but never got to complete the motion. Kerry's trigger-finger moved once, and the other man lurched backward and lay still.

BURNING STORE A DEATH TRAP FOR 3 SHOPPERS—An explosion of fireworks on display started this fire which caused the death of three shoppers in a retail store at Springfield, Mo. A woman and two small girls were trapped in a rear room in the rear of the store and suffocated. Fifteen employees and several customers escaped through rear exits. It was not known what touched off the fireworks explosion. The building was destroyed. Damage was estimated at $275,000. (AP Wirephoto.)

building activity could slow seasonally with the approach of winter. Yet total construction expenditures for the year are predicted to hit a record 42 billion dollars, a gain of 11 per cent over 1954. Building costs may inch up a lot, but the price of some older houses may dip.

List prices of 1956 model cars — most of the new models will be on view this October — may go up to reflect higher steel costs and auto labor wages. But the customer's bargaining skill may set what the dealer can get.

VEGETABLE RECORD

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—The super giant among California's agricultural giants in the vegetable industry. So says J.E. Knott, chairman of the Department of Vegetable Crops at the State Agricultural College. He said vegetable shipments in 1954 more than doubled the state's combined volume of grapes, citrus fruits, deciduous fruits, nuts, berries and miscellaneous fruits.

Prosperity Appears To Be Sticking With U. S. Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosperity seems set on sticking around for a while. It may suffer a little from the heat. And serious labor strife could frighten it away for a time. Business, however, enters the second half of the year tomorrow, forecasting but a mild summer slump — and that only in the lines where it always appears — to be chased away in the fall by more good times.

Uniform Company Is Blacklisted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy yesterday blacklisted 801 Schlesinger's Ideal Uniform Cap Co., of Freeport, N.Y., because he refused to give senators his records. Schlesinger on June 23 declined to let the Senate Investigations subcommittee see the company's books and records. It had sought them in its search for evidence of graft in the purchase of armed forces uniforms.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The quick settlement of the steel strike sent the stock market higher today in heavy trading.

Steel shares moved to gains of 1 to 2 points minutes after the settlement was reached. The rest of the market soon joined the upswing. The flood of buying orders put the ticker tape behind in reporting transactions.

In early afternoon, Bethlehem Steel was up 2 1/2, U.S. Steel 1/2, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 1/2, Allegheny Ludlum 1/2 and Jones & Laughlin 1.

The strike itself had failed to upset the steel shares much. They were mostly fractionally lower at the opening and a few had managed to edge to the plus side by the time the settlement was announced.

The copper industry was hit by strikes but copper shares advanced. Stronger groups included the aluminum — where gains ran to around 4 points, utilities, textiles, rails, motors and chemicals.

Monsanto and American Viscose scored wide advances. Brokers said there were rumors that the two were talking merger.

Higher stocks included General Motors, Goodrich, Boeing, Radio Corp., Textron, Reynolds Metals, Aluminum, Southern Pacific, Texas Co., General Electric and Olin Mathieson.

Negro Efforts Rebuffed Again On Golf Course

RALEIGH (AP)—Violation of a restrictive clause in a deed donating land for the park in which Charlotte's municipal golf course is located could return the property to its original owner, the State Supreme Court said yesterday.

The decision one of 33 handed down by the court, was another rebuff to efforts of Negroes to gain the use of Bonnie Brae golf course in Charlotte's Revolution Park.

The big group of opinions left seven cases from the court's spring term undecided. Opinions in these cases will come Aug. 26.

Omond L. Barringer gave a tract of land to the city for the park but specified the property would revert to him unless it were used only by members of the white race.

The Supreme Court said the restriction was valid. It rejected contentions of Negro petitioners that it violated their constitutional rights.

"We know of no law that prohibits a white man" from conveying land "upon the limitation that it shall not be used by members of any race except his own," the court said. The same would be true of land donated by a Negro and restricted to use by Negroes, it added.

Thus, if Negroes are permitted to use the golf course, the land given by Barringer would revert, the court said. However, it said land conveyed by Abbott Realty Co. would not revert if Negroes were allowed to use the course.

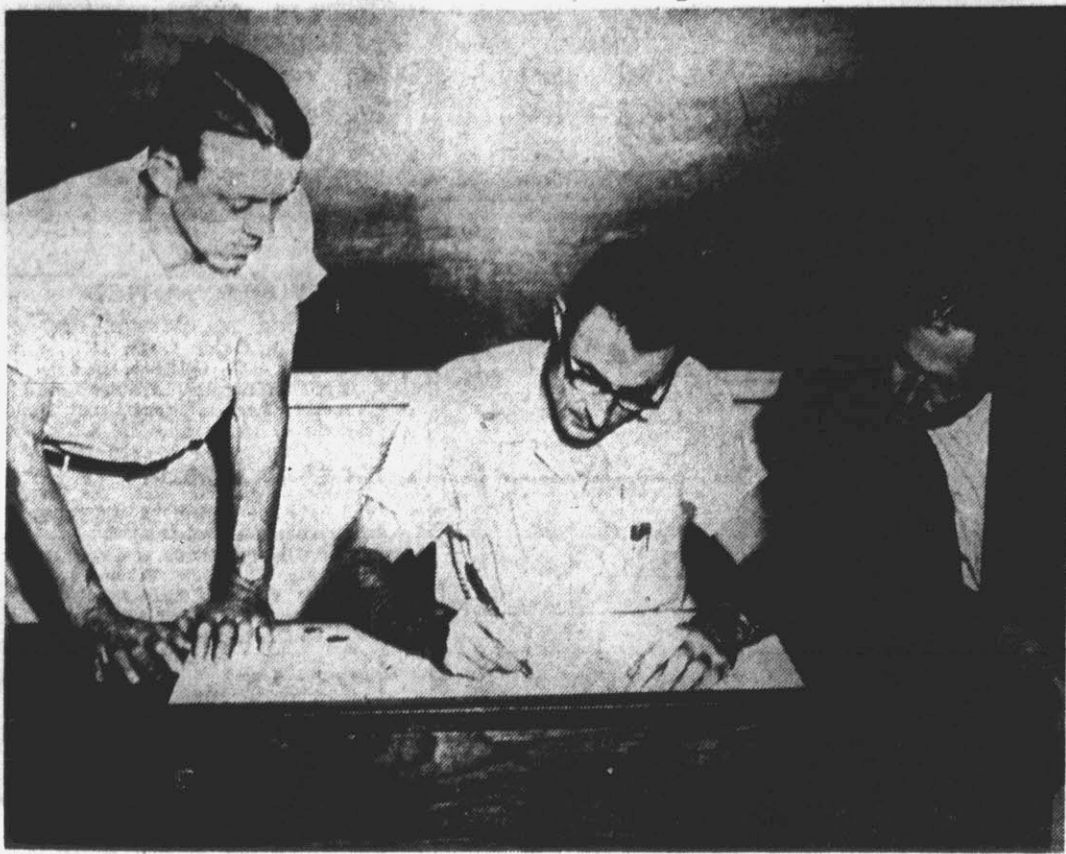

In another opinion, the court said in effect, that a person who entices wild geese to a pond on his land can be held liable if the geese damage a neighbor's grain fields.

It said an action started by T. Curtis Andrews to recover $1,536.30 from T. B. Andrews, apparently no relation, must be returned to Richmond County Superior Court for a jury trial.

T. Curtis Andrews asked the amount for damages he claimed he suffered from wild geese which flocked to a pond built on T. B. Andrews' farm. Lane geese were placed on the pond and bait set out to attract the wild birds the plaintiff claimed.

The court granted a new trial in the case of Thomas Davis and Billy Cathey, convicted in Guilford County of robbery with firearms.

Car Is Found Stripped Of Tires On Route 43

Alert Highway Patrolmen last night spotted an apparently stolen car abandoned on the edge of Highway 43, 10 miles south of Greenville.

Early in the evening, patrolman D. L. Minshew came upon the vehicle parked on the west shoulder of the road in a heavily wooded area. He advised the patrol message center in Williamston immediately.

Minutes later, Cpl. Carl E. Whitfield also discovered the car and sent another call to Williamston advising them of his find.

The car, a 1946 dark green Plymouth had had all four wheels and tires removed and the battery had been taken also.

In addition, the car had been wired up straight to allow it to be started without the aid of an ignition key.

Greenville Agents Serve Wider Area

The scope of the local Internal Revenue office was widened today when it officially took over the area which had been served by the Washington office and a portion of the area served by the Kinston office.

Those two branch offices have been closed.

Agents from Greenville will now serve the counties of Beaufort, Greene, Martin, Pitt, Tyrrell, Washington, Lenoir and Dare and Hyde west of Pamlico Sound.

Prior to the change the Greenville office served Pitt, Greene and a portion of Martin counties.

Under the old set-up Greenville had one internal revenue agent and two collection officers. Now three agents and two collection officers are to be assigned here.

The changes are a part of a statewide shake-up of all Internal Revenue offices which will reduce the number from 46 to 27. It will mean no overall reduction of personnel, however.

Washington citizens objected strenuously when the changes were originally announced. They pointed out that Greenville is located at one end of the new district.

However, revenue officials said that Greenville is located at the population center of the area since the eastern end is sparsely populated.

Local agent, Alton Buck, said an attempt is being made to obtain authorization for more office space to handle the increased staff.

The Greenville branch office will come under the jurisdiction of a district office at Raleigh. State headquarters for the Internal Revenue Service is located in Greensboro.

Nearly 1,000 farmers from Pitt and 18 surrounding counties gathered at the Lower Coastal Plain Tobacco and Test farm on Evans St. Extension yesterday for a tobacco field day.

The farmers attended either of two identical sessions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

They attended demonstrations which included the showing of high analysis fertilizers, old and new tobacco varieties, chemical sucker control, effect of quality of transplant on field performances, handling and damage of tobacco and insect control work.

In addition they saw demonstrations of several tobacco transplanters and humidifying equipment to bring tobacco in order at the barn and packhouse.

Before the demonstrations the group heard Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture John L. Reitzel urge farmers to continue to support research work. He asked farmers to put information and practices recommended by the North Carolina Experiment Station into use.

He pointed to agricultural progress during the past 20 years. "Almost all crop yields have been more than doubled," he said. "Research and our farmers' ability to use the information given them made this progress possible."

Also speaking on the program were Dr. W. E. Colwell, assistant director in charge of tobacco research and R. R. Bennett, extension tobacco specialist at State College. Carroll Bennett, station superintendent, welcomed the group and introduced special guests.

Taking part in the demonstration were: F. A. Todd, extension plant pathologist; Bennett, S. W. Hawkes, H. H. Nau, tobacco specialists; and Eldon Scott, extension entomologist.

The length of the meter was first defined as a ten millionth part of the quadrant of the earth's meridian but was later defined in terms of the wave lengths of red light under specified conditions.
