Too Many People Following Fogging Machine

A number of directives were issued to local citizens today by Pitt County Health Director Dr. Walter C. Humbert, following last night's test run of the city's new insect control fogging machine.

He also warns youngsters to stay away from the fog. "I saw too many boys on bicycles last night making a game of the fog. This is a dangerous game."

The health director advises pedestrians caught in a block being fogged to cross over to the side of the street opposite to the direction of the fog.

He is going to take several sprays in each neighborhood before excellent results can be noted.

He advised that local citizens cooperate in the operation by cutting down high grass and weeds on their home and vacant lots, since "it is difficult for even fog to penetrate this dense growth where insects will be hiding."

All insecticides used for the control of insecticides here are chemicals approved by the U. S. Public Health Service, the state chemist for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, and the Pitt County Health Department.

The new policy is a deductible form offering coverage at a base rate of 76 cents per $100 of insurance. The base rate is subject to reductions, or may be increased, according to fire safety or danger factors.

By NADEANE WALKER

AP Newsfeatures PARIS—Good-looking ready-to-wear is the newest wrinkle in French fashion.

How to be chic though not rich is no longer an insoluble problem for the fastidious Frenchwoman. For the first time, she finds it possible to buy well-designed, well-made clothes off the rack.

If this is a wonderful break for the shop girl and housewife, it is no less a historic break with French tradition. For the country famous for setting world styles until recently had nothing to boast of in its own ready-made line.

To put it bluntly, French ready-to-wear was a horror, avoided by all who could afford it with the aid of an indispensable "little dressmaker." But little dressmakers have been getting harder to find and more expensive, while haute couture prices soared right out of range for all but the really wealthy.

The revolution has been a gradual one. It probably started in 1942 when a few of the best wholesale manufacturers banded together to form the trademark of "Three Swallows" and set out to raise the quality of readymades.

There are now 32 houses in the Three Swallows group, of some 800 clothing manufacturers in France. They export about 20 per cent of their output to Scandinavia, the Netherlands, Germany, England, Italy, Switzerland, Egypt, South and North Africa and America.

In France, the better-class readymades are handled by only some 600 stores and shops most of them small boutiques.

Average for a suit coat or winter dress is about 18,000 to 36,000 francs ($51 to $103). Summer dresses are a little less. But for the top figure, a coat may be trimmed with real fur, and a cocktail dress could hold its own with the creations of the big-name haute couture houses, whose average prices would be about 150,000 francs ($428) per garment.

Five members of the Three Swallows opened a New York office this spring, and their first American exhibition of French ready-mades is running through July.

"Of course we don't expect to compete with American mass-production methods," said one manufacturer here. But even with customs and transportation costs, they can still sell in the United States at about the same price as the best American readymades. And the French suits and dresses are likely to have more hand-finishing.

By one popular estimate about 10,000 women out of a French female population of some 21 million can afford to be haute couture clients. The high-class readymades at present supply about 10 per cent of the rest with clothes.

Some of the high-fashion houses are getting on the ready-made bandwagon. Jacques Fath, now under the direction of his widow, Genevieve, has a readymade branch called Fath-Universite. Part of the Griffe house has been taken over by wholesaler Robert Lempereur. Most other big houses have a boutique on the premises to sell semi-readymades, but the prices are still above the Three Swallows level.

Tea In Jamaica, Dope In America

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Norris McPherson and Gustavus Miller have learned that what's tea in their native Jamaica is dope in Salisbury.

Their innocence saved them from a two-year jail sentence yesterday on a charge of growing marijuana in their garden.

Circuit Judge Rex A. Taylor suspended the sentence after their lawyers told him McPherson and Miller didn't know there was a law against cultivating the dope weed.

The two farm workers brought seeds of marijuana with them when they came from Jamaica 10 years ago. There, said McPherson's lawyer, it is brewed like tea and used for "all sorts of aches and ailments."

The two have been using marijuana since they were 20. McPherson now is 35 and Miller 37. "They're not addicted," said their lawyer.

Hamilton P. Fox state's attorney, also had an extenuating word for the defendants. He said he had no evidence they gave or sold the dope to anybody else.

Judge Taylor gave McPherson and Miller a tip before letting them go. "If you need some stuff to boil there are plenty of American wild roots," he advised.

Says President Probably To Give Geneva Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today he "fully expects" President Eisenhower to make a report to the people when he returns from the Geneva Big Four conference.

Wiley, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added that as far as he knows no arrangements yet have been made for the President to report by television and radio on his meeting with the Prime Ministers of Britain, France and Russia.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), meanwhile, termed "very discouraging" the Big Four decision to shunt the problems of German unification and European security to future lower-level conferences.

"The unification of Germany is the heart and core of the problem of European security," Humphrey said in a separate interview. "There can be no effective work at the second level unless there is agreement at the top on the desirability of having a united Germany."

Wiley, however, said he saw "nothing discouraging" in the decision to have the foreign ministers work out arrangements for future conferences on the issues, and he added:

"I have felt all along that the Big Four meetings could be only exploratory, that they would be only the beginning of future consultations on these problems."

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) told the Senate yesterday there had been a "dismal failure" on the part of the American delegation at Geneva to focus the world's attention "on the real cause of international tension—namely Communist imperialism."

McCarthy said that in this way "we implicitly conceded that the subversive activities of international communism and conditions in the satellite nations are not an important cause of world tensions."

Sergeant Sought By Police; He Lost His Money

STROUDSBURG Pa. (AP)—Sgt. Andrew Nels Hegdhal of Little Fork Minn., stopped at a service station on Route 611 near this Pocono Mountain resort town three days ago.

He told the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon, he was hitchhiking to Ft. Carson, Colorado Springs, Colo., and asked permission to change into civilian clothes. They agreed and even gave him a meal.

But yesterday they asked the state police to be on the watch for him.

After Hegdhal left the station, they found his wallet with $60 in travelers checks and $10 in cash plus the soldier's identification.

"He probably didn't have another penny with him," Mrs. Gordon said. "We don't know how he's managing to eat. If he'd just contact us we'd be glad to send his billfold wherever he is."

Prison Doors Clang Shut On Dr. Sheppard; Wait Begins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The dark gray walls of Ohio Penitentiary held a new prisoner today.

He wasn't anybody special as far as prison authorities were concerned, just another number—98-860—with gray prison pants, blue and white striped shirt and a cap.

But there was something about this prisoner—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard—something that attracted a horde of newsmen and a score of other persons when he arrived at the penitentiary yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Sam, as newspapers had headlined his name across the country, was convicted last Dec. 21 of the murder of his pregnant wife Marilyn, 31. Her battered body was found early July 1, 1954, in the bedroom of their Bay Village home, a Cleveland suburb.

The 31-year-old osteopath denied his guilt throughout the long trial. He said his wife was killed by a

Hint Queen May Forbid Cousin To Drive Auto

LONDON (AP)—London newspapers said today Queen Elizabeth II may ban her speedy cousin, the 20-year-old Duke of Kent, from driving an automobile.

The duke, seventh in the line of succession to the throne, now is in a hospital recuperating from his third auto smashup in 13 months. He has been driving three years.

His third mishap occurred a week ago but the news only leaked out Tuesday.

The newspapers said today the Queen may tell the duke either to stop driving altogether, or at least not to take the wheel without an experienced driver in the car.

Her decision—which by royal custom must be obeyed without question—would likely depend on the outcome of a family conference.

"bushy-haired" intruder who also had attacked him and knocked him unconscious. Tuesday an appellate court in Cleveland had turned down his second appeal for a new trial.

Now comes the waiting—at least 10 years—before Sheppard will be eligible for parole on his second degree murder conviction. He will spend the first 10 days at the penitentiary in a quarantine ward where he will be given tests to determine what work he is best suited for.

There is speculation that because of his medical background he might be placed in the prison doctor's office. He wouldn't be able to practice medicine, of course, but he could help out as an assistant.

Meanwhile, his attorneys are preparing to take his case to the Ohio Supreme Court. Sheppard already owes $4,562.43 in criminal and appellate court costs for the trial and subsequent appeals, a court clerk noted. And his attorney bill must be paid "within a reasonable time," the clerk added, or a lien will be taken against his real or personal property.

Sheppard spent almost a year in Cuyahoga County Jail awaiting the outcome of his case, a year that will not count toward his prison term.

Sheppard was taken here by car, handcuffed to another prisoner, Michael Jacko, 47, a Cleveland robber. With them were two Cuyahoga County deputy sheriffs Mike Uccello and Dave Yetira.

Uccello stepped out of the police cruiser first, followed by Sheppard and Jacko. Flashbulbs popped as Sheppard clasping a book of poetry and a large picture of his son Chip, walked about 30 yards to the prison entrance.

A newsmen asked Sheppard if he had anything to say. Sheppard did not answer.

"He seemed to enjoy the ride after being cooped up in the county jail so long," said Uccello. "He was a good prisoner."

Gangs Raid Two Montreal Clubs

MONTREAL (AP)—Unidentified gangs raided and wrecked two downtown night clubs early today in what some police officials believe is a war to gain control of Montreal's bustling cabaret circuit.

Gunfire punctuated the attacks on the All-American Bar and Grill and the Montmartre Cafe. There were no reports of anyone injured, however.

Gangs carried out similar raids early yesterday on two other clubs, the El Morocco and the Downbeat.

College President Carlyle Campbell announced yesterday the first structure would be a $385,000 liberal arts classroom building. It will be erected on the west side of the dormitory quadrangle and it should be ready for use for the 1956-57 term.

Dr. Valentiner Named Director Of Art Museum

RALEIGH (AP)—Dr. William R. Valentiner, 75, of Los Angeles, Calif., was named director of the North Carolina Museum of Art yesterday.

Dr. Valentiner, who is in Rome completing certain manuscripts for publication, will assume his new duties here early in the fall. His salary will be $10,000 per year.

Dr. Valentiner, a native of Germany, succeeded Miss Lucy Crisp Cherry, who resigned to take the position of educational director of the museum's activities.

The board of directors of the State Art Society also elected Edgar P. Thorne of Halifax County as associate director of the museum.

The museum is scheduled to open Nov. 23-30 in the old Highway Building which has been undergoing renovation for more than a year. It will house works of art valued at well over two million dollars.

Dr. Valentiner is the author of more than 30 volumes on art plus several hundred articles on art appreciation and art criticism. He earned his doctorate at Heidelberg in Germany, served as curator of decorative arts for New York City's metropolitan Museum of Art for six years and for 22 years was director of the Detroit Institute of Art.

By Degrees, Gov't Is Backing Out

But a trend has been established by the current administration which might well be carried on by succeeding ones, particularly if the public underscores, repeats and reiterates that it does not want, cannot afford and will not tolerate competition by government in the field of private business.

As long as a person earns his income through self-employment or by working for another private citizen, his voting decisions are based upon what he thinks best for the country or the community, and they do not have a direct relationship to his means of livelihood as when he depends on government employment for work.

To keep our political liberty and our representative form of government, the people must maintain their right to make a living without regard to political consideration. That means curtailment of government in business.

It has been slow in becoming apparent, but the federal government is making progress in its moves to get out of competition with private businesses. This has been one facet of mushrooming governmental functions which received the most criticism, been the most needlessly expensive burden to the taxpayer and hazardous to the whole system of free enterprise which to date has been able to support government in the manner to which it has become accustomed.

Plans Are Needed For Those Idle Farm Acres

Pitt farmers, like others in tobacco belts, need to give careful study to a program to develop other money crops to replace acreage removed from the production of tobacco.

It is already clear the bumper crop of tobacco this year will have a direct effect upon the number of acres of tobacco produced next year; and with the record surplus of tobacco in storage we may well be entering a period in which tobacco acreage will gradually be reduced year by year.

Tobacco allotments for the 1955 crop were cut five per cent below the acreage of last year. It already has been announced that acreage allotments will be 12 per cent below this year. That means a 17 per cent cut in tobacco acreage in two years. Will the surplus of leaf precipitate further acreage cuts after next year?

Tobacco farmers in recent years have learned to produce greater quantities of tobacco on fewer acres of land. It was not too long ago that 1,000 to 1,200 pounds of tobacco per acre was something to talk about. Now a ton of tobacco per acre is not a rarity. Perhaps in a few years per acre production will go even higher.

This higher yield per acre will gradually release more and more land from tobacco to be used for the production of other crops to increase farm income. Pitt, while it will continue to lead in tobacco production, should give careful study to the development of other crops to utilize the acres removed from tobacco production. Climatic conditions in this area are favorable to many crops other than the tobacco, corn, and cotton Pitt so strongly leans to.

It would be a boon to the county for farm leaders to give consideration to the development of new crops and at the same time the development of new markets in this section for the processing of our harvest.

Extremists Will Pour Oil Into The Embers

The Reflector agrees with Gov. Hodges' statement that North Carolina is not yet ready to give up its public school system in the face of integration being pushed by federal courts and the NAACP. But neither is North Carolina ready to acquiesce to demands that complete integration of white and Negro races be carried out immediately.

There is a long, hard road ahead for North Carolina in working out this greatest problem to face public school education in more than half a century. The problem arose almost overnight with the action by the U. S. Supreme Court. It cannot, nevertheless, be settled overnight.

Most of the people in North Carolina—both white and Negro—would prefer to see the state's educational system continue on its present segregated basis with equal and adequate facilities for children of both races. Yet, it has long been obvious we will not be allowed to work out the difficult situation without outside influences.

The NAACP, which in our opinion represents only a very small portion of the Negro population of the state, already is threatening numerous court actions to bring about integration. There can be no doubt the threat will be carried out in part. But the filing of such suits will merely give vent to greater difficulties. It will be like pouring gasoline on smoldering embers.

Like state officials, most local school officials throughout North Carolina have begun a diligent and earnest study of the problems involved. What more can be expected at this stage? Given adequate time, they will come up with reasonable solutions to the problems. Continued agitation by extremists for the impossible will be one of the greatest hindrances to finding a workable solution.

How far has Washington gone toward ridding itself of commercial enterprises?

Well, not so long ago 24 synthetic rubber factories were turned over to private industry at a net profit to the government of $35 millions. The defense department has shut down 24 scrap metal operations, 7 bakeries, 9 laundries, a chain factory, a caustic soda plant, 4 cement mixing plants, a tire retreading plant, 2 garden nurseries and 4 ice plants. Additionally, a bill has been introduced which would get the federal government out of the city-running business at Oakridge, Tenn., and Richland, Washington, and save the taxpayers $1.5 million annually.

All this is heartening; especially when one remembers that not so long ago the federal government had some $40 billions invested in over 100 different types of tax-exempt businesses.

We'll agree that progress to date in this matter of getting government back in its proper functions is relatively small in comparison with the distance it has strayed. A $40 billions investment is not peanuts.

Question Proposals To 'Dump' Cotton

By LYNN NISBET
COTTON — L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, and M. G. Mann, president of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association, are both concerned about news stories emanating from Washington indicating the purpose of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson to put all the cotton now held by the Federal government on the world market at world prices. Both men admit the fallacy of continuing the pile up of stocks of cotton in government warehouses, but both question the wisdom of dumping present stocks on the world market without stricter controls over future production.

Ballentine says the American farmer has no moral right to use up resources, human and material, to produce food and fiber in excess of world needs. He doubts production has exceeded total need, but concedes there has been very poor distribution of the produce. The cotton now on hand, unlike some other products, will keep indefinitely and can be fed to the market over a period of years in orderly fashion. To dump the accumulated surplus, which has accrued because of price support and production control were not balanced, on the world market at less than cost of growing will accentuate rather than relieve the total problem.

Mann, who is recognized as one of the nation's chief authorities on cotton, says in his opinion it would be little less than a crime to dump the American surplus on the market right at the beginning of the 1955 selling season. One almost certain effect would be that every bale of the current crop would go into government loan accounts, with net result that the government would have as much cotton at January 1 as it has now, with perhaps more capital investment because some of the present surplus was obtained at lower than prevailing support prices. Who, then, would profit by the transaction? The answer seems obvious to both Ballentine and Mann.

SPECULATORS — It would be a speculators' heyday. Since the world market could not absorb the approximate 10 million bales of government cotton and the dumped stocks would naturally fall into the hands of speculators, who would buy it at the lower world market price (while the U. S. government was lending to current producers on basis of domestic price) and then later sell it back to American manufacturers at the going domestic rate. If the same conditions applied in this transaction as have been widely publicized in some other deals of the Eisenhower administration, the cotton in many instances would never be moved from the present storage warehouses until sold by the speculators to the manufacturers. A profit of one cent a pound, or about $5 a bale, on 10 million bales would mean a pick-up for the speculators of $50 million. Meantime, if the 1955 crop all goes into the government loan pool the stage will be set for another hand-out to the speculators next year, because the situation will be about the same as now.

Several years ago Dr. Stewart Willis, superintendent of the TB sanatoria, predicted that if the trend then apparent continued for 25 years tuberculosis would be relegated to the status of diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever as a public health menace. In line with that thinking the recent Legislature transferred back to the general fund the sum of half a million dollars previously appropriated for additional beds in the Negro section of the Eastern Sanatorium at Wilsons, and took steps for the gradual integration of county TB hospitals into the State system. At the same time, State aid for county institutions still operating was increased.

The nearly $5 million a year of State money being spent for the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis, in addition to county and municipal appropriations and private contributions, is paying dividends.

The boom will wear off as soon as the novelty is gone, we are told. ABC stores have been selling corn whiskey all along, but it was aged and supposedly more mellow. The new white lightning product (in fact that's the name) is raw liquor, unaged and clear as water and according to ABC officials it smells like a mixture of kerosene and rubbing alcohol. They say it also tastes that way.

"I don't know if it's as good as the bootleg stuff or not," one ABC official stated. "I wouldn't touch it on a bet. I'm looking for it to slow down, soon as they get a taste of the stuff. It's really raw, you know. Hasn't been aged a bit."

The ABC authorities are not to be condemned for getting into the white lightning business. In fact they're smart to compete with the bootleggers, anyone having a fancy for this "rotgut" can now obtain it legally without risking blindness and death from lye and other ingredients used by moonshiners.

It's hard to imagine why anyone would pay good money for the stuff to either the ABC stores or the bootleggers.

Error By 'Grandma Kreitzer'

The $64,000 question over WNCN continues to be a topic of discussion around town. But here's a newflash: Mrs. Kreitzer made an error! You will recall that she said when she came on the show that she was confident that she could answer the $8,000 question, also the $16,000 and the $32,000 ones. "And I am a little confident that I can answer the $64,000."

"But," she continued, "I am balancing that confidence with a quotation for Ephesians, 'Let your moderation be known unto all men.' So I'm going to let my moderation be known and accept the $32,000."

The error was that that quotation came from Philippians rather than Ephesians. But Grandma-of-nine Kreitzer answered correctly when it counted. She also said that she and her husband have no intention of spending her winnings at the same rate that she won them. "I guess we'll probably put it away for our rainy days."

Louis G. Cowan, 45, the man behind the show, was asked how long it will run. He answered with a smile, "As long as enough people keep looking at it." Unfortunately, the release made no mention of the amount of money it costs Revlon.

Another news release prompted by the fact that my Saturday column was on auto safety belts: Governor William Stratton of Illinois has signed a law requiring new cars, after next July 1, be equipped with frame hoes so that seat belts may be fastened to the frame. Ford and Chrysler are making seat belts available to dealers as optional equipment for all post-1951 models at $11.95 each.

Yesterday a Cub Scout troop from Bethel came to Greenville. The attraction was a Little League practice session at Elm St. Park.

Looking back on the days before Elm Street Park makes you wonder how we got by without it. It was a struggle to get the park as many remember. After the generous donation of the land many, many man hours had to be spent by citizens to shape up the program. Although we have much to be desired, I can think of no department that has made more progress than the city's recreation department. And with proper financing, backing, the progress could even increase.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

Items From Week's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Items from the mailbag: Everyone knows what the American wife of today is like. But what about the wife of tomorrow? Well, chances are she will be better groomed than her mother, and know more about the technique of understanding a husband than the technique of running a stove.

A test of some 180,000 senior high school girls by General Mills disclosed that—83 per cent were well informed on the art of keeping themselves looking neat and pretty, 71 per cent had studied up on how to keep a husband happy, 64 per cent had a good knowledge of the mechanics of housekeeping but only 52 per cent had acquired real cooking skills.

One surprising result of the survey, only 45 per cent could answer correctly questions on child care. This seems odd in view of the trend toward earlier marriage.

It seems like everything a person does now—from sneezing to buying a greeting card—reflects his deep, hidden personality. For example do you always send your mother-in-law an expensive, highly sentimental greeting card on her birthday; do you hesitate to send her one in a humorous vein? Well, it might be because you secretly are nursing a grudge against the old girl.

Anyway, this is one of the conclusions reached by a Chicago greeting card firm after a survey of several hundred thousand customers. Do you ever pick a greeting card featuring a sea scene or a lake view? It may be a sign that privately you wish the water would send the card to.

Personally, I'd like to send a card like that to the psychiatrist. Just how complicated do we want to make life? "I have lifted the bosom, and (Continued on page sixteen)

Crockett Fades On Toy Scene

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Davy Crockett excitement will last through Christmas and the do-it-yourself movement will go on and on, judging from the Toy Guidance Council's 1955 selections.

Each year the Council invites manufacturers to submit outstanding toys, then asks a panel of wholesalers, retailers and consumers to select the safest and most suitable. The choices are then reviewed by child guidance experts. This year the experts okayed a cap-firing machine gun, which shows how our children are being guided.

Among the other 599 playthings approved, there is only a sprinkling of Crockett items. Council spokesmen said this indicates that Davy's popularity is continuing, but at a diminished degree. The Crockett fad also resulted in the approval of some Indian apparel and a couple of guitars. Guitars seem to be replacing the ukulele in popularity.

Do-it-yourself toys are dominant. Almost every kind of adult do-it-yourself activity is reflected in a toy. There are new carpenter sets, cooking kits, battery-power vacuum cleaners, the child airplane pilot, sewing kits a device for applying rhinestones to dolls' dresses and a toy to teach youngsters how to park autos. The experts say the demand for toys that teach children how to do things for themselves will never end.

The Irish Mail of fifty years ago is back but in a modern design. There is also a modern tricycle with a step plate on back on which two more children can hitch rides.

Among the more unusual items is a television leopard skin. It is a cloth imitation with a cushion head. A youngster can throw the skin in front of a TV set, lay on his tummy, rest his chin on the leopard's head and watch the show. The skin is constructed like a sleeping bag and on cold days the child can crawl in. It's $29.95.

SO THAT EVEN MALES MAY UNDERSTAND—Because many shoppers are confused about "denier" and "gauge," du Point is suggesting that the nylon hosiery industry use the terms "walking sheers," "dress sheers" and "evening sheers."

The company will urge the adoption of these terms in advertisements in the trade and consumer press this fall. In addition, it has prepared a sales training film and a promotional kit for stores.

A National Retail Dry Goods Association committee is urging retailers to adopt the duPont suggestion and take advantage of its promotional value.

MORE REAL ESTATE PRICES SEE FIRM FARM PRICES

Farm values are sound, according to a survey of 217 real estate boards by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. In reports on part-time farms, 68 per cent of the boards said they expect present prices to continue and 18 per cent said they expected increase. On full-time farms, 57 per cent said they expected present prices to continue, 13 per cent expect increases and 23 per cent expect price drops.

Demand for land for new housing development and industrial plants is keeping up the price of acreage. Clearing, sales training film and a promotional kit for stores.

Newspapers made the greatest gains in advertising in May according to the Printers' Ink index. Newspaper advertising was 6 per cent above April, outdoor 5 per cent, television 3 per cent and magazines 2 per cent. Network radio held constant.

Compared with May, 1954, television was up 28 per cent, newspapers 17 per cent, magazines 11 per cent and outdoor 7 per cent. Network radio was down 17 per cent.

SUPERMARKET SALES UP 18 PER CENT IN FIRST HALF

Supermarkets increased their sales volume an average of 13 per cent during the first six months of this year, a check by Supermarket News correspondents shows. While chains showed larger gains than independents, the principal reason is that they increased their number of markets.

Because of rises in operating expenses, profits were only slightly ahead of the first half of last year.

Word On Carolina's Specialty

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
In the matter of stimulants, human inventiveness never lagged.

People have somehow managed to make intoxicating beverages out of nearly everything that grows. Every section of the world boasts its own particular brand of poison.

The Mexicans have their tequila; the Russians their vodka; the Japanese their sake; the Scandinavians their schnapps; the French their champagne; the Germans their lager. But North Carolinians, as any authority on the subject will tell you, have them all beat with "moonshine madness,"—the raw corn liquor.

Until last week white lightning could be purchased only from illegal moonshiners. Now the ABC board is making it available legally in a competitive move designed to put the bootleggers out of business.

The taste of many North Carolinians for corn liquor has never been a secret. Even so, no one was quite prepared for the sudden rush to buy the safer ABC brand of white lightning. In Greensboro and other places over the state, the ABC stores sold out of the stuff in short order, and the demand still exceeds the supply.

Memphis Had Reason To Sever TVA Ties

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — A generally unknown factor behind the decision of the City of Memphis officials to sever their association with the Tennessee Valley Authority and to build their own utility system is that the Mississippi River port and cotton center will save $1,500,000 annually in the process. And it was the Dixon-Yates proposal which made possible this severance and saving.

Like every other municipal and co-operative customer of TVA, Memphis rates for use and distribution of Federally generated power are fixed by the TVA Board. Under the original contract, however, Memphis was allowed to impose a 15 per cent surcharge on the more important customers. The annual revenue amounted to $1,500,000.

Many other cities and electric co-ops in TVA territory collect a 10 per cent surcharge which pays their local expenses in handling TVA power. In view of the fact that TVA is subsidized by Uncle Sam, and pays no taxes, the rate to consumers was not increased too heavily by addition of the surcharge.

STURGEON ELIMINATION ORDERED TVA authorities recently ordered Memphis to eliminate the surcharge which would mean a serious loss of revenue to a rapidly expanding city of 400,000. In the midst of this controversy, came the Administration proposal that Dixon-Yates interests supply Memphis with power now furnished by TVA, in lieu of energy which TVA must turn over to atomic plants.

Refusing to accept Dixon-Yates electricity, Memphis decided to build its own utility plant. When Mayor Frank Tobey gave a firm promise to that purpose on his recent visit to the White House, President Eisenhower canceled the contract with Dixon-Yates. GLAD TO BRFAK WITH TVA Mayor Tobey's demeanor and remarks on his visit to Washington suggest that he was only too happy to break off connections with TVA. The issue of municipal finances and taxes will figure heavily in his forthcoming reelection campaign, especially as many business interests in Memphis and West Memphis, Ark., favored the Dixon-Yates deal.

It is also probable that many other "captive cities" within the TVA empire may follow Tobey's example. Under their contracts with TVA, the Federal agency may cancel or reduce their surcharges any time it sees fit.

Furthermore, the contract stipulates that any surplus resulting from the surcharge must be applied to a reduction or elimination of the municipal tax. Through these methods, TVA polarizes itself by keeping utility charges at a minimum.

Unfinished Crime

By Helen McCloy

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Sara managed to control her voice.

"Capt. Sanders, there is some mistake. If I were under oath, I should say the same thing. This man is an impostor. I never saw him before in my life. He is not Gerry Hone. Don't you understand? Gerry was taken away last night and now this stranger has been sent to take his place. He never came back at all."

Capt. Sanders looked at Sara as if there were something freakish in her appearance—hair dyed green or a broken nose.

"Miss Dacre, you're overwrought. There is no question of mistaken identity. I came here this morning with a search warrant thinking I might find some clue to Mr. Hone's disappearance among his papers. I was going to get a key from Miss Jenkins. Can you imagine how I felt when I walked into the vestibule and found Mr. Hone himself calmly taking letters out of his mailbox?"

"Honestly, Sara?" The stranger's voice was a shade lighter and higher than the real Gerry's.

"You've made us both ridiculous. The captain says my name's on file at the missing persons bureau. Are you out of your mind? I was only gone a few hours."

"He calls me 'Sara.' Her face set stubbornly. "The real Gerry called me Dacre but an impostor wouldn't know that."

"For Pete's sake!" The young man was a good actor. He turned to Sanders with a kind of humorous despair that was completely in character.

"Ask him where he was last night," said Sara, implacably.

"I've already told them," put in the stranger before Sanders could answer her.

"Yes, he has," confirmed Sanders. "He was staying with a cousin, Mrs. Caleb Harrison, who has a place on Long Island. He told the woman who cleans his apartment that he would leave the keys in an envelope in his mailbox. Fortunately the envelope was still there to prove his story when we got here this morning. I asked him to jot down his cousin's Long Island address. He did, and his handwriting is the same as the handwriting on the envelope. See?"

Sanders pointed to the center table. There were two keys and a crumpled envelope. Sara remembered the envelope she had seen in Gerry's box last night. Now she could read the message scrawled on it. "Keys inside, G.H."

Beside the envelope was a sheet of paper with the notation, "Mrs. Caleb Harrison, Mill House, Willowbrook, Long Island." The handwriting seemed the same as the scrawl on the envelope, but "I never saw Gerry's handwriting," said Sara slowly.

"You've never had a letter from him?" Capt. Sanders' voice sharpened. "You didn't know him very well did you, Miss Dacre? According to your own story, you've seen him only 10 or 12 times. How can you be so sure this isn't Gerry Hone?"

"You forget I last saw him only a few hours ago. One doesn't forget a face—or a voice—that quickly. There was someone in Gerry's apartment last night. Anybody could have seen that envelope labelled 'keys' sticking out of his box used the keys and returned them later."

"Sure," agreed Sanders grudgingly. "And it was a fool thing to do. But people who don't expect trouble do things that seem foolish to policemen all the time. And you can't get by the handwriting. It is the same."

"How do we know the real Gerry wrote the message on this envelope?" returned Sara. "Other people will know about his handwriting—his partner in radio, James Peters, and his landlady, Judith Jenkins."

"Then suppose we ask Miss Jenkins to step up here," Sanders went to the telephone. "Miss Jenkins, I'm in Mr. Hone's apartment. . . . Yes, as soon as you can, please."

The stranger's face was red with fury. "Sara, how can you do this? This is fantastic. What motive could anyone have for impersonating a man like me?"

Sara looked at him thoughtfully. "Because of the ruby. You must be someone who thinks he can get his hands on the ruby by taking Gerry's place."

"The ruby?" He repeated the words as if they had no meaning for him at all.

But Capt. Sanders pounced. "You didn't say anything about a ruby to me last night, Miss Dacre."

"I didn't know about it then. Do you remember my telling you I was buying a piece of junk jewelry when I met Gerry in the 10-cent store?"

"Of course."

"After I left you I went to see my great-aunt Mrs. David Larch. She had two friends with her, Dickson Clive, the art dealer, and Gregory Sallust, a friend of his. I was wearing the pendant I had bought in the 10-cent store. Mr. Clive said that it was a real ruby, a museum piece probably stolen, and that the thief might have hidden it temporarily among the fake jewels in the 10-cent store because police or hijackers were closing in on him. Then I remembered the man who was killed in a street accident just then and there. You had said he was a thief."

"An embezzler."

"When I got home from Aunt Caroline's last night there was a man in my apartment. You remember the East Indian who sat at my table in the Automat? It was he, and he thought I had the ruby. He said it was called the Fire of India, and Moxon had stolen it from a shrine in Mogur during the war, but was never brought to trial for lack of evidence."

Capt. Sanders' face had passed through doubt to amazement. "Why didn't you call me while this Indian was with you?"

"He wouldn't let me go near the telephone."

The note of melodrama brought the captain's doubts back. "When we checked the building earlier yesterday evening every door was locked. How did he get in?"

"Through a skylight on the roof, he said. He came through the building next door."

"His name?"

"He didn't tell me his name." Her voice faltered as she realized that it sounded like the weakest of lies. "He said that he represented the Rajah of Mogur."

"Mogur has no representative in this country," said Sanders. "Not even a consul. The country is too small and too poor. Obviously this Indian wants the ruby for himself. He is a crook, perhaps a killer, who lied to you. What became of him?"

"He went away!"

"He went away?"

"Just like that? And you did nothing?"

"It was late. I was tired. I drank a little sherry and fell asleep in my chair. When I woke he was gone. For a moment I thought it had all been a dream. . . ."

The stranger cut in sharply. "Why don't you ask her to show us this ruby? If there is a ruby or anything like one!"

Sara said, "It disappeared at Aunt Caroline's when I was showing it to her guests Dr. Sallust and Mr. Clive. We were passing it from one to another. Someone—Dr. Sallust, I think—put it down on the card table and then, a moment later, it just wasn't there."

"And you did nothing, of course?" Sanders' irony was blunt enough to bruise. "After all, who cares about a mere ruby worth only 50 grand or some such chickenfeed?"

"Aunt Caroline didn't want a police investigation. She's old, an invalid in a wheel chair."

"So you all went home to bed without bothering to search any-

"Oh, no. We had a personal search. Edna made us."

"Edna?"

"Miss Creel, my aunt's companion. I searched Edna and Aunt Caroline—they both insisted. Edna searched me. Stevens, Aunt Caroline's houseman, searched the two men. There was no sign of the ruby."

"Obviously one of the men could have bribed Stevens."

"Oh, don't be absurd!" cried Sara. "Stevens is the dearest old man—as old as Aunt Caroline. Money is nothing to him. Besides, Clive and Sallust were both there in the library together during the search. They can't all three be in it!"

"We'll have to see all of them now, you understand," said Sanders wearily. "Even your Aunt Caroline."

"I hate to have her bothered. I wouldn't have told you if it hadn't been for Gerry's sake. I mean the real Gerry." She turned abruptly to stare at the stranger.

"What have you done with him? Who sent you to take his place? Was it the others?"

"The others?" he echoed blankly.

"That's what the Indian called them—the others."

"She's making it all up!" protested the stranger bitterly.

"If she is she must have quite a morbid imagination," Sanders eyed her narrowly. "Ever have a nervous breakdown or any symptom of emotional instability?"

Greenies Show Sharp Hurling In 4-3 Win Over Leafs

Dunn, Loving Pitch Six-Hit Victory

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

In the best baseball played in Gray Smith Stadium in over a month, the Greenville Greenies thumped Rocky Mount, 4-3, here last night behind the two-hit relief pitching of Bill Loving.

The win was the 18th against 19 losses for the locals and kept alive their chances for a playoff berth in the Coastal Plain League, which closes here on August 17. The loss held Rocky Mount's Leafs in check in their drive for the top spot, currently held by Farmville.

After starter Billy Dunn tired and allowed two runs in the fifth, Loving came in with two men on base. The next man up, Cliff Rose, hit a grounder to second and Al Denison of the Leafs scored on the play. From there on, the Leafs threatened only once and lagged the slender right-hander for only two base hits.

Last threat
In the eighth, Cliff Rose hit a sinking liner to rightfield that rightfielder Bobby Clark chose to play as an out and the ball got under him for a triple. The next man, Bobby Edwards, hit a fly ball to center which Blaney Moye hauled in. Rose tagged up and tried to score on the play but Moye's throw had him by a good yard.

The fifth stanza was the big one for both clubs as the Greenies bounced back to win the game 3-1. After Sal Caruso struck out, Loving beat out an infield hit and went to second when the throw got away from the first baseman. A wild pitch sent him to third and he scored on Tom Boyd's grounder to second. Blaney Moye and Bobby Clark singled and Brownie Tripp, who had both home runs with a booming double to center.

Back-To-Back Triples
The Greenies got their winning run in the following frame. Bobby Fly smashed pitcher Norman Gay's first offering over 400 feet to the right-centerfield fence for a triple. The throw back into the infield was bobbled and Fly trotted on across. Before the few fans on hand could get down, Sal Caruso hit one in almost the identical spot and he scored for three runs. The third, though, when Boyd attempted to squeeze him in and popped up to the pitcher who in turn forced Caruso at third.

Dunn, the first Greenie pitcher, did okay until he tired. He allowed only four hits, although he was responsible for all of the Leafs' runs. Wildness had him in trouble most of the time. In every inning but one that he worked he put two men on base before he retired the side.

Plenty Of Stickers
Leading the hit parade for the locals were Sal Caruso, Brownie Tripp, Blaney Moye, and Bobby Clark, all of whom had two safeties. Boyd had the only RBI for the winners.

Al Denison, strong and veteran shortstop, led the visitors in the field and at the plate. He collected two hits, both singles, and made several nice plays from his short-field position. Cliff Rose had the only extra-base blow for the Leafs, his long triple in the eighth.

Gay Loser
Norman Gay opened on the hill for the Leafs and started for four innings. He was relieved by Denison in the fifth with nobody out and one man on third. Denison allowed only two hits the rest of way. Gay was the loser.

The Greenies are at home this Saturday night against Falkland in a regular Coastal Plain League affair. Game time is 8 p.m.

Pitchers Take Over Majors Yesterday; Sox Beat Yankees

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Every now and then this season the smoke went up by the sluggers, zeroing in on the major league home run records with 1,400 to date, clears away and some brilliant pitching shows through. Yesterday was one of those days.

Boston's George Susce Jr. was the leader giving Kansas City just one hit in a 6-0 victory. It was the fifth one-hit job in the American League this year and eighth in the majors.

The 24-year-old right-hander son of the A's bullpen coach, gave up a leadoff single to Vic Power in the first and that was all. Big Don Newcombe came close to his second one-hitter of the season, but Chicago wound up with two singles off the Brooklyn right-hander as he won his 16th in the first game of a two-night 10-1.

The Cubs snapped a nine-game losing streak in the nightcap 3-3. It was relief pitching that won a fifth straight for Washington, with Pedro Ramos hurling 5 2-3 innings of hitless ball to beat Cleveland 4-4. Ray Narveski, Don Mossi and Mike Garcia, incidentally, tossed no-hit stuff in 6 1-3 innings of relief for the Tribe.

Saúl Rogovin allowed just five hits as Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 6-0 and Curt Simmons followed it up with a four-hitter as the Phils won their ninth straight in the second game of the two-nighter 4-2.

Clutch pitching paid off for the Chicago White Sox, who barely made an 8-0 lead hold up in an 8-6 victory over New York that cut the Yankees' AL lead to two games again. Billy Pierce, third Sox pitcher, ended it with runners on second and first by getting Mickey Mantle to hit into a force-out.

In the other AL game, Baltimore snapped Detroit's four-game streak 6-3. And in the National, Milwaukee fell 13 1/2 games behind Brooklyn with a 4-3 loss at Pittsburgh while St. Louis whipped New York 9-2.

Susce, now 5-3, fanned five and walked three while topping the A's to their ninth straight defeat. Four runs in the second inning on three singles and Billy Goodman's double wrapped it up for the Red Sox.

Newcombe struck out eight and after Clyde McCullough's single in the second inning didn't allow a runner until Dee Fondy singled to smacked five home runs in his support two each by Don Zimmer and Duke Snider, who now has 33.

The subs rallied for three runs in the seventh to salvage the nightcap with Frank Baumholder's pinch hit, including Jim Gilliam's shoe-string try in the left for a two-run triple.

The White Sox rapped loser Bob Turley for four runs in the first and tapped Johnny Kucks for four in the third—then Kucks and Bob Wiesler held them hitless the rest of the way. Dick Donovan won his 13th, although chased in a five-run Yankee seventh.

but had three of the Cards' 15 safeties. Stan Musial leveled his 21st homer with one on.

Ray Moore held Detroit hitless for 6 2-3 innings, then gave way to a 3-2 tiger lead on homers by Tom Pobolsky, who never had beaten the Giants since entering the majors in 1951. He gave 10 hits.

Williams claims that the defensive shift—devised originally against him—has been the foremost contribution to baseball in recent years.

"Baseball has improved since I first came into the league," the Red Sox slugger said before last night's game with Kansas City. "The most important progress is the way the infields shift for batters today."

Williams a 348 lifetime hitter in the majors with a .344 average this season was the subject of the now-famous shift in the second game of a Sunday double-header with Cleveland in 1946.

It was the invention of Lou Boudreau, then Indian shortstop-manager who was Ted's manager at Boston last year and now pilot of the Athletics.

"The big change," Ted continued, "came in five years from 1946 to 1950. For the last four or five years, the infielders have been playing better and tighter defense."

"The pitchers have come up with a couple of new pitches. But the constantly shifting infield has brought about the real difference in play."

Staton To Hurl For PONY Leaguers In Finals Tonight

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Editor

Greenville's PONY League All-Stars meet Rocky Mount's PONY Leaguers tonight in Municipal Stadium at 8 o'clock for the championship of the sub-district tournament. The Greenies gained the finals by whipping two straight opponents, Tarboro and Rocky Mount, in the double elimination tourney. Rocky Mount defeated Tarboro last night 6-3 to knock the Tars out of the tourney.

Tonight the Greenville group also has to win one of the possible two games to claim the championship.

Rocky Mount would have to win two straight games to be determined champ. They already have one loss on their record whereas the Greenies are undefeated.

Staton Will Start
The Greenville team goes into the game at top strength with husky fireballer Charles Staton on the mound. Staton, undoubtedly the fastest pitcher in the tourney, pitched two innings Tuesday night without allowing a single runner to reach base.

Staton was removed at that point so he could pitch the distance tonight. Billy Cox, Walker Allen, and Bobby Edwards will all be available for duty if needed.

Coaches Bill Kittrell and Ford McGowan will probably go with the same line-up they have used throughout the tourney. That would have Dick Evans behind the plate, Ronnie Finch on first, Walker Allen on second, Billy Cox on short, Arthur Andrews on third, Jimmy Churchill in left, Bobby Edwards in center, Merrill Bynum in right, and Staton on the mound.

11 Hits In 2 Games
So far in the two games the Greenies have been out-hit 13-11, but they have outscored their opposition by 16-8. In two games they have used four pitchers. Allen, Edwards, and Evans have two hits each to lead the hitting through the first two games.

Evans and Billy Cox each have a home run to their credit. Both came in the first game of play.

For Rocky Mount, it is expected Lefty John Tullos will work on the mound in the first game tonight. If the game goes to Rocky Mount, Haywood Evans or Haywood Edmondson would work the second game.

Tullos looked real sharp in relief against Greenville Tuesday night. He worked three innings and gave up one run on two hits. He walked one and whiffed five Greenville batters.

Ken Phelps pitched the win for Rocky Mount last night over Tarboro. He hurled a three hitter, walking three and fanning eight. Three free runs for Rocky Mount in the fifth won the game for them. Three runs scored on a wild pitch by the Tarboro pitcher. The Tarboro catcher made two errors on the play.

Game time tonight for the first game is 8 o'clock in Rocky Mount. The winner of the championship play tonight goes to Warwick, Virginia next week for another double elimination tourney. The winner there comes back to Greensboro for the Regional Tourney.

Thumping Theodore Cites Shifting As Best Change

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Boston's Ted Williams claims that the defensive shift—devised originally against him—has been the foremost contribution to baseball in recent years.

"Baseball has improved since I first came into the league," the Red Sox slugger said before last night's game with Kansas City. "The most important progress is the way the infields shift for batters today."

Lions Score 9-3 Win To Gain Loop Championship

Allan MacArthur pitched steady two-hit ball for the Lions Tuesday afternoon and his teammates backed him up with eight solid hits as they won the North State championship over the Kiwanis in two straight games.

In the best two of three playoff series, the Lions won 9-3 and 9-3 against their rivals. The Lions won the second half championship and the Kiwanis won the first half after a playoff with the Lions.

MacArthur walked four and struck out seven in the six inning contest. The Kiwanis could not touch him for any kind of hit through the first four innings, but scored twice in the fifth and once in the sixth.

By then the Lions had the game wrapped up. They scored twice in the first, three times in the third, and four more runs in the fifth. Jack Foley went all the way for the Kiwanis and weathered the storms. Three Kiwanis errors hurt their chances.

Leo Starling was the only player in the game to get more than one safe hit. The hustling first sacker banged out two singles in three times at bat.

The win for the Lions marks the second consecutive year they have won the North State League championship. Last season they won both halves to win the easy way.

The game concludes team play in the Little Leagues this year with only the all-star games left to go. The first round in the all-star tournament starts July 27 with games at Guy Smith Stadium and Elm Street Park.

Soviet Visitors Attending Class

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Twelve important Russian Communists start today a two-day course at one of the leading U.S. agricultural schools. Their subject—techniques and technology of capitalist farming. The school—Iowa State College.

The dozen visiting Soviet agricultural dignitaries cut quite a swath across the state of Iowa in their initial three-day journeyings through rich corn country and also stopped to inspect individual farms.

They got a glimpse of Iowans and Iowa farming, and Iowa farmers got a peek at the Russian visitors.

But for today and tomorrow the program is rather different. The Russians are to be given a general picture of the activities of an American agricultural school and more important the chance to indulge their specific curiosity in particular subjects.

Those conducting them on this tour report they are very eager for this opportunity. One of the Americans who is making arrangements for the Russians said, "Deputy Minister V. V. Matskevich (leader of the group) keeps asking me to arrange for him discussions with college officials on the organization and administration of the school."

Matskevich and all the rest of the Russians are going to get their opportunity in some measure today and tomorrow, aside from some general meetings and excursions for all the delegates.

Together there will be individual sessions for them with the college personnel they want to see most.

Mail Train Held Up By 2 Masked Men In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Two masked desperadoes held up an outbound mail-express train last night as it stopped briefly in an open cut below the Manhattan street level near the Hudson River shore.

As in a Wild West movie scenario, they bound and gagged a mail clerk and dumped eight mail sacks on the tracks. Then they disappeared into the night with the bags.

Police said today the bags contained worthless canceled checks, each bag insured at $50. The bandits apparently jumped on the 11-car New York Central train when it stopped for inspection of its air brakes.

An interstate alarm was flashed for two men described as in their 20s and wearing dark suits and hats. Both were armed. The FBI joined in the hunt.

"They were brazen and clever," said Deputy Police Commissioner James Kennedy. "They knew exactly what they were doing."

Police said, however, that the bandits discarded a mail pouch containing $2,700 in small bills and silver.

The train was heading for Albany, Utica, Rochester, Troy and Syracuse, all in upstate New York. Six of the cars carried mail.

Mail clerk Thomas Mason, 60, Buffalo, N.Y., was on duty in the next-to-the last car when he saw two men loom in front of him. Their faces were hidden behind handkerchiefs and both held guns, he said.

Later, he gave police this account: "This is a stickup," one of the men told him. "Where is the money? Don't yell or we'll kill you."

When he refused to tell them, they pulled his arms behind and bound his wrists with a pair of handcuffs they brought with them. They rolled him over and one of the bandits put his foot in the small of his back.

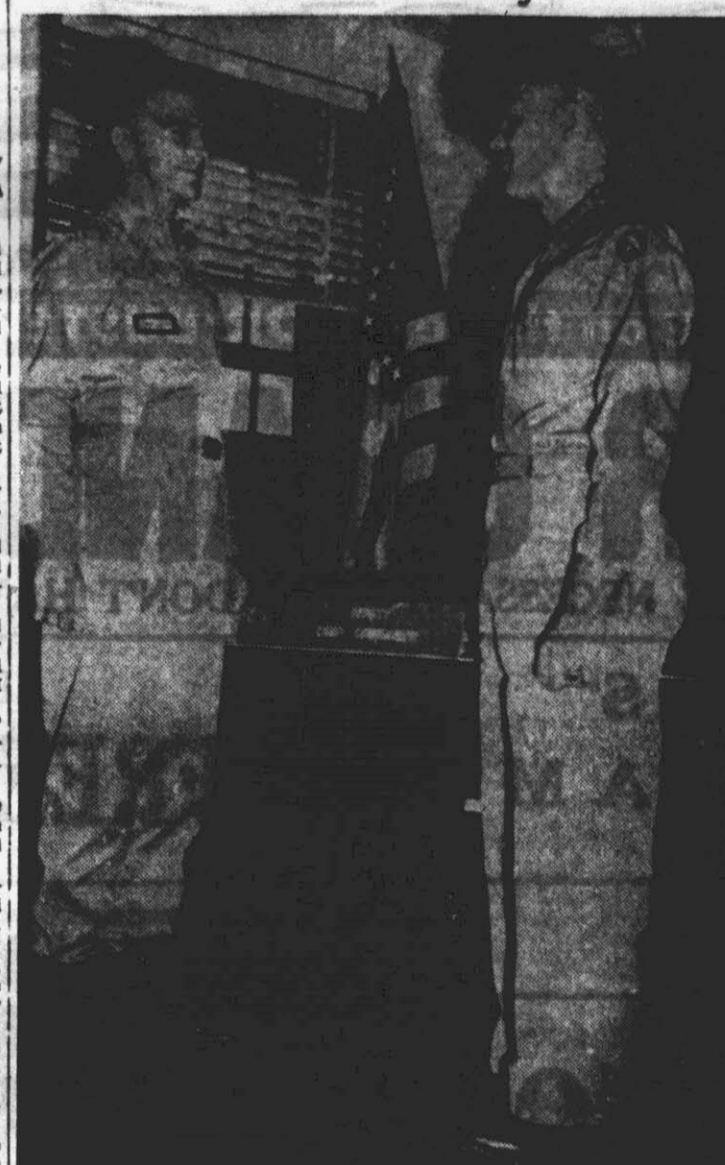

"I wasn't frightened until I got a good look at the guns," Mason recalled. "At first I thought they were fooling—I thought they were a couple of kids, wise kids, until they said: 'If you open your mouth we'll kill you.' Then I saw the handcuffs, and I knew they weren't fooling. I was happy when they got off the train."

He said he told the gunmen the money was in the bags. They discarded some of them—among them the one containing $2,700—and dumped eight outside. The sacks were reportedly en route to the First Trust Bank and Deposit Co. of Syracuse from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The robbers tied Mason's ankles with a cord, stuffed his railroad cap in to his mouth and fled. It was not immediately determined whether the train had started to move when the two jumped off.

Mason said the train was moving when he managed to free his legs and spit out the cap. Then he screamed for help.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—This south Texas city of more than 150,000 will no longer bar a student from any public school because of race.

The 100 per cent compliance with the U. S. Supreme Court ban on segregation in schools was announced last night by the board of the Corpus Christi Independent School District.

Dr. H. Boyd Hall, Texas Conference president of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People called it "the most perfect decision that has been issued in any of the 48 states."

Younger Generation Of Chinese Taste Red Bait

By A. I. MCINTYRE
SINGAPORE (AP) — Thousands of gray-haired and wrinkled Chinese are watching their younger generation today with distress.

Many are descendants of the first pitted coolies who voyaged here in search of fortune in the British colony of Singapore and protectorate of Malaya.

Then the coolie toiled for the white man in the hope he one day would own a tin mine or rubber estate and become a millionaire. Sometimes he succeeded. Singapore and Malaya have about 300 Chinese millionaires (a million dollars is about $330,000 U.S.).

But today such organizations as the Communist People's Anti-British League have given young Chinese a bigger goal—to drive the white man out, by violence if need be.

Discipline generally is lax among the 80,000 boys and girls in the 240 private Chinese schools in this colony of a million people. Communist influence—outside the curriculum—is common. The same influence is noted in trade unions.

In two months, the city has been ridden with a series of strikes, 94 at once, and teen-age Chinese have joined in bloody riots.

The trouble marked the beginning of the administration of a new chief minister, David Marshall. His new Socialist Labor Front party won by a landslide in the April elections, ousting the right-wing Progressive party's government.

Marshall, a genial, pipe-smoking criminal lawyer of 47, swayed the masses with slogans like "Down with colonialism" and "Down with capitalism."

The present constitution provides that, for the time being, three of nine ministers are to be British colonial officials but that Singapore people are to take over the full government gradually.

Campaigning on March 29, Marshall called for self-government now.

In his first address to the Legislative Assembly April 26, he said he would abolish the emergency regulations "police laws," he calls them—brought into force in June 1948 to deal with the Communists. But a month later he had to use them himself to jail eight strike agitators. On the other hand, he had wooed the Chinese by calling them the colony's body politic. He settled a riotous bus dispute by having the company re-employ 300 Chinese workers it had fired for discipline. He canceled an order for the ouster of Chinese student leaders who had taken part in the riot. These actions provoked criticism.

Police Commissioner Nigel Morris has argued that the emergency regulations are necessary so that wily Communists can be held on suspicion. He says there are 2,000 Communists and fellow travelers in Singapore.

There are only 400 hard-core Reds among the Chinese students, say officers of the special political branch. But the number grows yearly.

Meanwhile, Communists have crept into the extreme left-wing People's Action party, which has three men in the Legislative Assembly. And 90 per cent of the population is Chinese. Red students campaigning for that party among these Chinese could be a real threat.

If the Labor Front government fails to cope with this threat, British and colonial troops are deemed certain to take over to protect this key spot in Southeast Asia from going Red. There are 11,000 already here, and others could be brought in quickly.

$58,000 Damages Awarded Dancer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damages of $58,000 have been awarded dancer Zona Fe for auto accident injuries she claims she sustained while a passenger in composer Vic Schoen's car in Las Vegas, Nev. She charged that when she refused to let him kiss her he refused to let her leave the car, which overturned as he drove away at high speed. She alleged that she suffered back and leg injuries that prevented her from dancing again. Schoen denied making any advances.

Income Tax Man Scores Against Red Tape Tangle

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—William A. Shull Jr., an income tax man by trade, has made his mark on the red tape of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service—through channels of course.

He made a suggestion to his bosses in the Nashville office on May 7, 1954, for a change in one of the forms.

Section 2621 (4) of the Internal Revenue Manual requires that the service send Form 21 to delinquent taxpayers.

Every time the forms went out, Shull said back came piles of acid complaints from taxpayers. The trouble lay in one little sentence in the form:

"We have no record of response to previous notice demanding payment of account show above."

Now in many cases this was just not true, Shull said. Often, the government did have a "record of response." Sometimes, the response contained part payment of the tax due and sometimes it simply said, "I ain't got the money right now."

Nevertheless, under the manual's iron-clad rule, the forms had to continue going out until the last dollar was in.

Shull suggested the objectionable phrase be replaced with this one:

"We have no record of your paying the above account in response to a previous notice forwarded to you."

This suggestion went to the local incentive awards committee, thence to the Atlanta office, and thence to Washington.

Yesterday, Shull reaped his reward. The language will be changed in the new Form 21. Shull was presented a certificate of award.

Under the government's incentive plan, Shull also received a check for $60.

But, lo, more than 10 bucks had been lopped off.

For withholding tax!

Jennifer Jones Has A 'Loveless' Movie

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jennifer Jones is back at work and talking, which is news in itself. The actress, who is one of the less approachable of film stars, was feeling pretty chipper on the opening day of "Good Morning, Miss Dove" and discoursed on love in films and sundry matters. She was made up as a New England schoolteacher of 30 years or more, with severe hairdo and shapeless dress. Complimented on the makeup job, she replied, "Flattery will get you nowhere." In the film she has no love interest whatsoever. That, she sighed, is symptomatic of most films today. "They don't seem to make the love stories they used to," she commented. "Just when we start going back to love, someone comes along and makes a wonderful picture with only men in it. That sets the girls back again. I think we ought to get even and make a movie with no men." Miss Jones added that she enjoyed doing romantic pictures like "Love Letters" — "that's what makes the world go 'round." She said that her last picture at 20th-Fox, "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing" with William Holden, has a strong love theme in it. The Academy Award winner has made amazingly few films since rising to fame with "Song of Bernadette" (1943). Not counting the Westerns she made at Republic as Phyllis Coley, her pictures have totaled only 14. But she hopes to speed up her pace. "This is my second picture this year and I hope to do three," she said. "I'd like to have a full schedule, the way other people do. I've usually made one picture and then laid off for a year." HIT FRONT PAGE

HONG KONG (AP)—For the first time since his election, President Eisenhower's picture has appeared in Chinese Communist newspapers in Hong Kong. He made the Red front pages yesterday along with press reports of the Big Four summit talks in Geneva.

Children Are Wide-Eyed At First Disneyland Park Visit

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Child's-eye view of Disneyland: Now that the adults have turned in their reports on Walt Disney's splendid playground, it might be well to hear the kids' reaction to the place. After all, the joint was built for them. The guinea pigs are Nancy Thomas, 7 this week with curly, taffy-colored hair and a lively interest in bugs, books and boys, in that order; and Janet Thomas, also blonde, sturdily-built and as resolute a three-and-a-half-year-old as you'll find. The two subjects were immersed in the lore of Disneyland via the mass media of TV, newspapers, comic books, etc. Due to the Wednesday night TV show, Walt Disney has become virtually another father to them and one they consider much more attractive, at that. Nancy and Janet stood wide-eyed in the town square of Main Street

U.S.A. and took in the fabulous sights. All around them were the oldtime stores and buildings in 1/4ths scale, which made the place seem more like the girls' kind of world. They were asked if Disneyland looked the way they expected. "No," Nancy replied. "I didn't expect all these people." It was true. All the pre-opening propaganda showed the Disneyland streets empty. There was no reason for her to anticipate the crowd which poured into the place. Janet spotted the ancient horse-drawn fire wagon pulling out of the firehouse. "I wanna ride the horse," she said. On to Adventureland and now the girls' eyes began to grow bigger. They hopped aboard a river boat called the Ganges Gal and peered at the sights that went by. "Look out!" shouted Nancy as a 5-ft.-size (plastic) hippo swam menacingly toward the boat. She was fascinated by the munching graffe yawning crocodiles and chattering monkeys and feared we would all be dunked in the waterfall (the boat swerved at the final moment). In Frontierland, the girls saw someone they recognized — Davy Crockett. "And his pal, Charlie Russell," Janet added. Next came Fantasyland and the girls agreed with Walt that this was the best of all. They wanted to try all the rides, but settled for the Peter Pan fly-thru. "Close your eyes until you round the corner," said the man as the girls settled into the tiny galleon. They clamped their hands over their eyes. When they looked again, they were sailing out the window of the Darling House. They zoomed over London, narrowly missing Big Ben, and headed for the second star to the right. Soon they were over Neverland, peering down on skull rock and almost being snared by Captain Hook. The girls were tireless; not so their parents. Tomorrowland would have to wait until tomorrow.

Judge Trips Up So-Called Doctor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Judge Richard H. Nash knows that the lumbro-sacral area is in the lower part of the back. As a result, he tripped up a self-styled doctor in Police Court last night. James A. Stites, charged with drunkenness, told the judge he was a doctor. "If you're a doctor," Nash said, "tell me where the lumbro-sacral area is." Stites looked puzzled and gestured helplessly. "Ten dollars fine," said the judge.

'Found Religion' A Bit Too Late

HOUSTON (AP)—Carl Jackson, 23, charged with burglary, carried a big Bible as he was escorted into Judge Langston G. King's court. "I've found religion," Jackson announced. The jury gave Jackson 12 years in the penitentiary and he was taken to the court's confinement room. There, courtroom attendants said, he tore the Bible to shreds.

'Easier' Mortgage Payments Cost More In Buying A Home

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The easier the mortgage payments are on your current budget the more money you'll have to put out before you finally get full title to your home.

Lending agencies are starting to stress that paying for a home "just like rent" costs more in interest payments over the years.

On a $10,000 loan a veteran can save himself more than $3,000 by taking out a 20-year mortgage instead of a 30-year one, the North-western National Life Insurance Co. of Minneapolis notes today.

Or, put another way, on each

$1,000 of down payment you can manage to put up, you can save over $800 in interest payments on a 30-year program, or more than $500 in interest payments on a 20-year schedule.

Many families who'd like a home of their own, or a larger house for a growing brood, are discussing today how best to finance it. The problem: they can save interest payments in the long run by taking the 20-year payment plan instead of the 30-year one—but their monthly payments in the meantime will be about $12.50 higher. And they may want to use that $12.50 toward payments on the refrigerator or stove.

Committing themselves to buying a house "just like rent" may be the only way they can afford one on their present income. So they decide to run the risk of their income dropping in the future and thus making payments a burden, or of their moving to another city and leaving behind a house in which their equity may be tiny.

The insurance company notes that under a 20-year payment plan on a $10,000 deal, all borrowed, they would in 10 years have paid off about $3,900 in principal. It says that under a 30-year schedule, their payments on principal in the first 10 years would be about $2,000.

The easy payment plans grow in popularity, however. The Veterans Administration reports that 43 per cent of the GI loans now being made are the no-down-payment type. And the percentage of the longer maturities has doubled in the last two years.

The total of mortgage debt outstanding amounts as the housing boom continues most places unchecked. Since the end of the war the amount has increased four fold and crossed the 75 billion dollar mark as 1955 started.

Hog Wins, Then Loses To Curing

LANDRUM S.C. (AP)—Sawmiller Albert Nodine and four other men were cutting timber when they found the fresh tracks of an unusually large wild hog. Previously warned of the hog's bad temper and size by the landowner, they retired for their guns.

When they cornered the 320-pound porker in dense honeysuckle, Nodine poked it with his gun barrel to rouse it into a better shooting position.

The hog turned and charged racing between Nodine's legs and upsetting him. His gun discharged and the rest of the party converged and fired away. A load of buckshot struck the hog and also Nodine's foot.

Nodine's injuries were more serious than those of the white and black Hampshire. He had to be hospitalized.

Later the party returned to the woods, tracked down the hog and felled it with six direct hits. The ham was cured for Nodine.

New Twist Over Bankrupt Ruling

JACKSONVILLE AP)—Reorganization of the bankrupt Florida East Coast Railway, bounced around by federal courts and the Interstate Commerce Commission since 1931 took one of its strangest twists when Miami asked the federal court for permission to sue the railroad in state court. Miami wanted to file a condemnation suit to open four grade crossings across the railroad tracks.

It was necessary for the city to get Federal Court permission because a judge now dead issued an order years ago saying the FEC couldn't be sued during the reorganization proceedings.

Willing To See Airports Gone

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Patrick B. McGinnis, here for a luncheon with city officials, was told that some of them would be absent because they were engaged in negotiations to enable an industrial concern to take over Brainard Field, former municipal airport.

"It should happen to every airport in the country," quipped McGinnis, railroad president.

Sweet Revenge Against Trucks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police thought there seemed to be an unusual number of tipsters in the case of seven illegally parked trucks.

The mystery didn't last long. The trucks were part of a private fleet hired by the city to tow illegally parked autos off city streets. A ticket was placed on each one.

Gunmen Foiled In Payroll Hold-Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Two gunmen invaded a Bronx workshop for the partially disabled yesterday in a vain bid for a $5,000 payroll. They fled empty-handed after a blazing gun battle with a guard.

One of the gunmen, shot in the left shoulder, was nabbed minutes later by an off-duty policeman.

Also wounded in the shooting were the guard, Gerald Elliot, 40, and a woman clerical employe, Lottie Friedlander, 40. All were reported in good condition.

Some 150 sewing workers, almost all suffering from tuberculosis or heart ailments, hit the floor as gunfire echoed in the halls of Allro Workshops, Inc., run by the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

Thirteen shots were exchanged between the guard and the two stickup men.

About 20 minutes after the payroll was brought in, Ass't. Manager Harold Rogot was supervising two women employes making up pay envelopes.

Elliot noticed the two gunmen as they approached, and yelled out: "Drop your guns."

The gunmen began to fire. Elliot returned the fire until the thugs whirled around and fled the building.

Patrolman James Rozakis, seven times cited for bravery on the police force at the age of 24, saw the two as they were fleeing.

He drew his revolver and chased them, first in his car then on foot, until he cornered one.

Police identified him as Dominick De Gemaro, 40, Schenectady, N.Y., recently released from Clinton State Prison at Dannemora, where he served time for robbery.

Riders on the Madrid subway average 241 rides a year compared with 199 on New York and 223 on the Paris subways.

Bloodhounds Lead Deputies To Grave Of 14-Year-Old Girl; Man Questioned

WEAVERVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Bloodhounds led sheriff's deputies last night to the shallow grave of a 14-year-old girl near Dead Man's Cabin in the wilds of Trinity County.

Sheriff Harold Wilson tentatively identified it as that of Stephanie Bryan, missing since April 28 in Berkeley, where police held a University of California accounting student for investigation of murder.

He is Burton Abbott, a frail 29-year-old still under treatment for tuberculosis. He uses the cabin for weekends and has maintained consistently that he was there on a fishing trip the day the girl disappeared.

Last week, in his basement in Alameda, his wife found a red leather purse which was identified as belonging to Stephanie. Police subsequently unearthed other personal effects of the girl in the un-paved basement.

At Abbott's white stucco home in Alameda, the family conferred late last night with his attorney Stanley Whitney. Abbott's brother Stark told newsmen there: "We still believe he's innocent and we'll stand by him. Aside from that, Mr. Whitney has advised us to make no comment."

Burton Abbott's wife Georgia was not available for comment, but Mark said: "She is bearing a terrible shock for her—for all of us."

Stephanie's father Dr. Charles

Bryan commented: "I do not think the punishment aspect is as of great importance as it is primarily a matter of removing someone from society who might repeat if given another chance. Also, he should be removed as a deterrent for anyone with similar ideas. Those are two reasons why Mr. Abbott should cease to be with us soon."

Mrs. Bryan said: "I have no feelings about the man at all. I am thinking of his son. He has to live."

The Abbotts have a 4-year-old son, Christopher.

The remote cabin near Hayfork on the Trinity River, 50 miles west of Red Bluff on U.S. Highway 101, was just one of the many leads which Abbott's entry into the case opened up for police. Numerous excavations were made around the cabin last week by police and FBI men.

Last night Deputy Sheriff Harold Jackson led a party of searchers and the two bloodhounds from the cabin, which has a grisly history because of a murder committed here in 1948.

The party first scoured the area where the previous murder had taken place, then turned to the side of the creek where the cabin stands.

The two bloodhounds led the party to a shallow grave about a foot deep in a clump of manzanita bushes on a ridge back of the cabin.

The clothing on the body apparently had been torn by animals. The clothes looked like those Stephanie was wearing the day she vanished on the way home from school—a blue-green skirt, brown and white saddle shoes and a maroon upper garment.

In Berkeley, Abbott's arrest at his home was the first time he actually had been taken into custody in the case.

He had appeared voluntarily for questioning and taken two lie detector tests.

Very slight variations in the detector record set off a fresh hunt at the cabin yesterday evening.

Stephanie, daughter of a well-known Berkeley radiologist, had vanished without trace. Last week her purse, textbooks, notebooks, a pair of eyeglasses and a brassiere were found in Abbott's basement.

Abbott has shown a cooperative attitude throughout, according to police, and told newspapermen he was an anxious anyone to "get this thing cleared up so I can go back to normal living."

The lonely northern California cabin in 1948 was the scene of a grisly slaying. Lloyd Snyder was convicted of shooting Ray H. Latham and dismembering the body. He is serving a life term in San Quentin.

Before he was sentenced, Snyder transferred title of the cabin to Robert Schorch, of Alturas, Calif., Abbott's brother-in-law.

Seaman Strikes British Admiral

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—A Royal Navy seaman was held today for taking a poke at an admiral for no apparent reason.

The incident occurred yesterday aboard the maintenance ship Berry Head as 52-year-old Vice Adm. John Eaton was inspecting the crew at fire drill.

The admiral staggered back from the unexpected blow and his hat sailed over the side into the sea.

A navy statement said: "A rating (petty officer) assaulted the admiral and has been detained pending medical examination and investigation."

Busy Month For N. C. Highways

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina highway traffic records continued to tumble last month.

The Highway Commission reported yesterday that June's main highway travel was 6 per cent heavier than June, 1954, while secondary roads recorded an 11 per cent increase.

In a short news release, the commission added that since July is invariably the peak traffic month of the year, it is "almost a certainty that traffic is now at the highest level in history."

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BARNHARTER, Real Estate Editor

How ATOMIC home heating and cooling system would work. This design by the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers would provide hot water for heating, washing and driveway snow melting, as well as chilled water for summer cooling. The cooling unit would work on principle of gas refrigerator.

If there is a place in your home for a little invisible, splittable atom there's a better one!

Atomic heating plants with summer cooling systems are just around the corner. They'll cost you just $50 a year to operate, says an expert.

And you'll build your house with plastic, subjected to atomic radiation to make it stronger than steel. Will this replace lumber?

As for that pesky bomb, which wipes out cities when it splits the infinitesimal atom, a Yale university expert says basement bomb shelters will soon become a standard in the design of our houses as bathrooms and kitchens.

All we are waiting for when it comes to economical home heating and cooling is a new discovery of a large source of fissionable material, says Robert E. Ferry, general manager of the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers. Some get out your Geiger counters and go hunting.

Ferry was speaking at the recent 40th anniversary meeting of his industry at Absecon N.J. He said that all of the parts needed for an atomic home heating and cooling plant are now available on the market, except for the small atomic reactor to replace fuel.

This missing unit, hermetically sealed in lead and about twice the size of an automobile battery, should cost about $300, according to Ferry. It would be good for six years and then would be replaced. Net cost: $50 per year; no chimney; no ashes; no waste energy.

The rest of the workings are so well known that you could install such a plant in a house for about $1,500 says Ferry.

The potential strength of plastic has been demonstrated with a new hammer now on the market. It has a brilliant red handle made of plastic reinforced with fiber glass. This handle is stronger than steel, yet it has the resilience and shock absorbing quality of hickory.

With this strength attained by blending plastic and fiber glass, the possibilities of the new alchemy of gamma radiation are fabulous.

Architectural Forum recently explored the prospects of such radiated plastic for the benefit of designers and engineers. It concluded that today's bulky posts and beams, serving as ribs of a building, will be reduced to a mere fold or seam in the skin of the wall.

Douglas Haskell, editor, summed up: "Tomorrow's structure may be typically all skin. Its skin may become its shell and its interior columns. Even its windows may be simply transparent patches of its skin."

Probably a skin game in which you, for a change, will win.

In the meantime the threat of

Children Need Extra Salt In Hot Weather

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

It's not the heat, it's the humidity.

How many times every summer we hear this old gripe. Of course it's true, too. It is the humidity that makes hot weather so uncomfortable.

The children are hot and cranky, mother is damp and irritable, and Dad comes home wilted down and exhausted.

In hot weather we all perspire. The hotter the weather the more sweat pours out on our skin. The sweat evaporates and the process of evaporation cools the body. This is nature's way of keeping the body temperature constant even when the weather is very hot.

If the climate is hot and dry (that is, the humidity is low) the sweat evaporates quickly—so quickly that you may not even feel damp. However, when the humidity is high the air is already so full of moisture that the sweat evaporates slowly. Your skin stays damp and you feel uncomfortable because your body isn't cooled by the evaporation of the sweat.

The hotter it is, the more you sweat. The sweating means you are losing water through your skin. Your body becomes dry on the inside and you have the urge to drink.

But sweat isn't just plain water. Sweat contains a lot of salt.

In hot weather the tired cranky feeling is due to the loss of salt from your body. If the humidity is high, you feel wet and sticky as well as irritable. If the climate is dry, you're not sticky and wet with perspiration, but you get tired and listless just the same.

If you take extra salt, you will feel better.

Just ordinary table salt will do. A teaspoonful of common salt three times a day with a full glass of water will restore to your body both the fluid and salt you lose in perspiration.

It's a bit hard to swallow plain salt. It doesn't taste very good. The salt tablets on the market are made to taste better than plain salt. Also most of the salt tablets contain a mixture of salts more nearly like the body salts you lose in sweat.

How many salt tablets you need depends upon how hot it is.

If you take salt tablets yourself and give them to your children during very hot weather, you'll find you get through the very hot spells with much better family dispositions.

Specialist Makes Bottle Casings

GROTON, Conn. (U)—Alfred von Buehren, a sheet metal worker for the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., is a good nominee for holder of the most unusual occupation in this ship-building town.

He makes lightweight metal casings for champagne bottles used at launchings.

They use the casings so that a car by spectators won't be sprinkled with flying glass when the bottle crashes against the hull of a ship as she slides down the ways.

Recent use of his handwork occurred Thursday when Electric Boat launched the Seawolf, the world's second atomic powered submarine.

Mrs. W. Sterling Cole, wife of U. S. Rep. Cole (R-NY), was named sponsor of the Seawolf and broke the champagne bottle.

Von Buehren does other work too of course, but during World War II, when Electric Boat launched submarines at a rate of two a month, he spent almost all his time making bottle casings.

The job is all hand work and, something launching spectators may not know, each launching requires three bottles—one for the sponsor, one rigged to a device that will smash it against the hull automatically if the sponsor does not swing hard enough, and one on the deck which can be smashed if the first two remain intact.

that atomic bomb and its gargantuan relative, "H", hangs over our houses. Lincoln H. Lippincott, director of safety for Yale University, says "the Yucca Flat tests have emphasized the protection given by basements against atomic bomb blasts and radiation."

Lippincott told a Boston meeting of the New England Building Officials Conference that a basement bomb shelter of proper design should have an added outside exit for rescue.

Well if the atom can rescue us from the cost of building chimneys and from the biggest part of our annual fuel bills maybe we can afford to pay our diplomats enough to rescue us from misuse of the atom.

Nature Garden Is Her Pet Hobby

AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. Ceville Pray's garden is made up of wild plants from seeds she gathered during 22 years within a radius of 20 miles of her home. As a true nature lover, she didn't dig up wild flowers.

She has 34 varieties of native plants from seeds collected from meadows, woods and bogs including trillium bellwort, squirrel corn, foam flower, bishop's cap, columbine and Jack-in-the-pulpit among many others.

Sowing seed on winter snow, she would get adult plants two years later. She has 14 kinds of ferns including one which produces fuzzy used by humming birds in their nests and another which produces delicious, edible "fern bread."

Foreign Ministers Of Big Four Try Salvage Something Out Of Deadlock

By MAX HARBELSON
GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers began trying today to salvage something from the summit conference deadlock on the two issues of German unification and European security.

armament discussions, third of the four items on their agenda. An authoritative Western source said that the United States did not plan to offer any specific disarmament proposals, but that President Eisenhower would restate the long-time American stand that any arms limitation agreement must provide for effective inspection and control to prevent violations. One high Western diplomat said in the office at some later date was a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers on German unification and European security.

This was the major deadlock on the two problems: The West insisted that German reunification must come first, with an all-European security system including a united Germany to be worked out later. The Russians demanded the security system first, with German unification to follow at some future—and probably far distant—date.

Some Western diplomats considered, however, that the Russians might have retreated from their previous bitter opposition to West German rearmament. They drew this inference from provisions of a proposed all-European security pact Soviet Premier Bulganin presented to the conference yesterday.

In the main, the draft followed closely the plan the Soviets proposed—and the West rejected—at the Berlin foreign minister's meeting in February 1954. One difference, however, was a provision for bringing about the pact in two stages. During the first stage, the governments signing the pact would not be relieved of obligations undertaken by them under other treaties. This was interpreted by some Western officials as permitting West Germany to raise the 500,000-man force she pledged to NATO in the Paris agreement.

However, another provision of the Bulganin plan called for abolition of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, as well as the Soviet bloc Warsaw alliance, as soon as the all-European pact went into effect. An authoritative source said the United States would oppose any plan which would destroy NATO. In turning the unification and security problems over to the foreign ministers, their chiefs laid down a specific mission to study four points raised by one or all of the Big Four:

1. The problem of German unification itself, with particular reference to the necessity of assuring the security of all European countries.

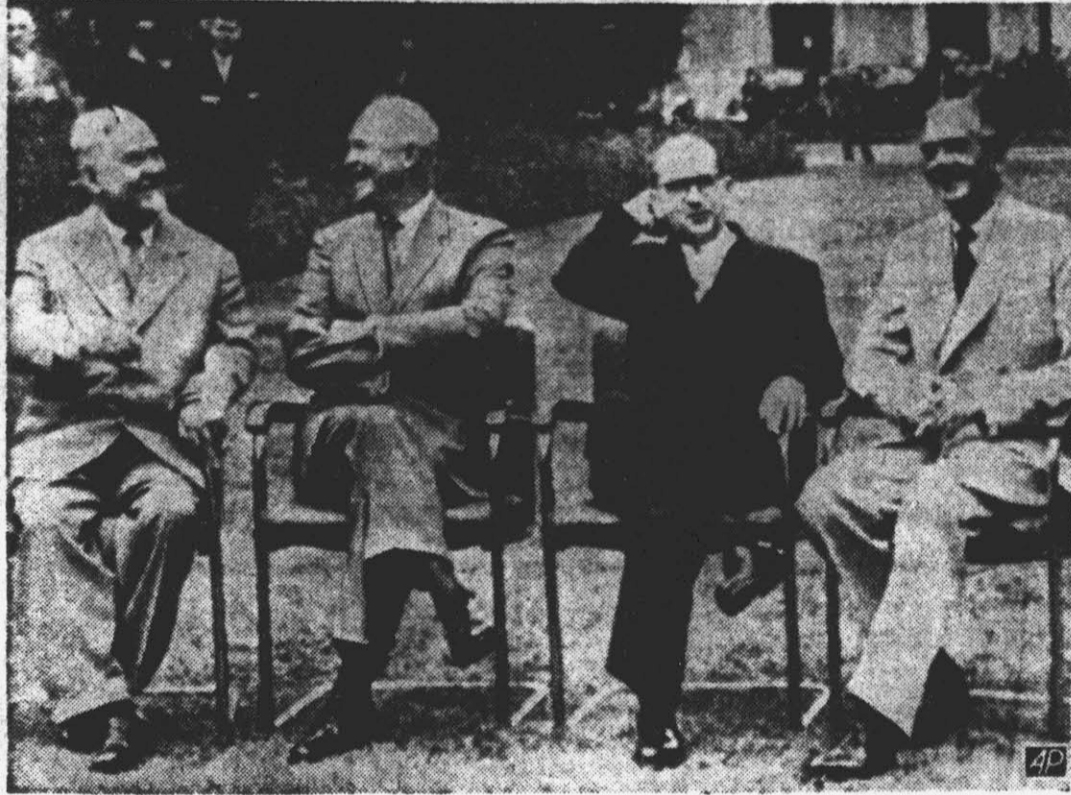

2. A possible security pact covering all or part of Europe.

3. Limitation of armed forces in Germany and neighboring countries and creation of a control and inspection system.

4. A possible demilitarized zone between East and West.

The Western delegations said they were not too discouraged by the deadlock. James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, said that the referral of the two problems to the foreign ministers should be looked on as the first job assigned to the ministers by the conference. Many opined that the primary purpose of the summit meeting was to lay the groundwork for such future negotiations.

The spokesman for the French delegation put it this way: "The conference took a turn which permits the expectation that a certain number of common principles will be established before the end of the week, permitting the chiefs of government to give directives to their foreign ministers."

West Keeps Door Open On Germany For Soviet Shift

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP)—Western leaders have decided to keep the door open and hope alive for some important Soviet concession on German reunification right up to the last minute of the summit conference.

Privately, experts see no evidence in the positions so far taken by Soviet Premier Bulganin that the Kremlin intends to yield on any important point.

But in postwar negotiations over the last 10 years, Soviet delegates have occasionally sprung last-minute surprises. There may be a chance this practice will be repeated this time.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are reported fully aware of this possibility, along with other Western authorities here.

The evidence is, however, that Bulganin and his associates have been trying—in one of their own words—to "normalize" relations with the West.

They seem to conceive of this not so much in terms of giving up important interests of their own, as accepting the inevitability of what they cannot change in the West.

Fresh indication that this is the Soviet policy line came last night.

Claims License Slogans Failing

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Secretary of State James M. Hare said today Michigan likely will drop the "Water Wonderland" slogan from auto license plates in 1957.

"The trend is away from license plate advertising and slogans," Hare said.

The question arose when the Kalamazoo County Circuit Court yesterday overruled the conviction of a motorist who had covered the slogan on his license plate. The court held that the motorist was not required to advertise the state.

when French, British and American experts analyzed the proposal Bulganin introduced yesterday for creation of a new European security system.

They decided this proposal tacitly recognized West Germany's right to rearm as a member of the North Atlantic Alliance and Western European Union.

One provision of the Soviet plan specifically recognized obligations of countries under such existing treaties as the North Atlantic Pact. That presumably would include West Germany's promise under the Paris agreements to raise a 500,000-man force for NATO.

This was a surprising turn in Soviet policy. Six months ago Moscow was fighting West German rearmament at every turn.

It is not so surprising, however, when viewed as part of a policy of "normalizing" what they can't change.

Bulganin already has told the Big Four conference he knows it would be unrealistic to expect the Atlantic Alliance and West Germany's links with it to be dissolved very soon.

All he has said in this respect appears to be of a piece with his invitation several weeks ago to

Forgot To Knock Before Entering

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Police officers had the right to use a sledge hammer in pounding open the door of Mrs. Ina J. Williams' home, but because they failed to knock and announce they wanted her on a bookmaking warrant the case was dismissed yesterday.

Superior Judge Paul Nourse cited a statute which said officers are permitted to break in a door only after demanding admittance and stating the purpose of their visit.

Mrs. Williams, who lives in Wilmington, was arrested April 13 and charged with five counts of bookmaking.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit Moscow and establish regular diplomatic and trade contacts.

The issue of German unity, however, raises a different set of interests for the Russians.

Under present conditions they cannot agree to it without giving up their position in East Germany. That in turn might shake their influence over East European satellite states. It would mean pulling back Soviet power from its present forward position in northern Europe.

Bulganin and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov also argue that a united Germany linked to the West would be a future menace.

Raised $5.75 To Combat Polio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A group of youngsters this week staged a backyard circus performance and raised $5.75 for the fight against polio.

Mark Paglione, 8, enacted the part of Bozo the clown. At one point in the show, he disclaimed the advances of one of the dancing girls.

"That's just like him," said his mother Mrs. Ermo J. Paglione. "Sometimes he pushes me away when I'm going to kiss him. He says 'Don't kiss me, I'm not the type.'"

Light Jet Plane For Private Use

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Fairchild Aircraft Division has announced plans to build a light jet plane suitable as an executive transport for industrial companies.

The company said the four-jet plane would carry a crew of two plus seven passengers, and would cruise at 560 miles per hour.

Tire Retreader May Have Left His Mark On Highway Program

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP) — The nation's new highway building program—when and if it comes from Congress—may reflect the thinking of a Michigan tire retreader who hitchhiked to Washington to give the lawmakers a piece of his mind.

The retreader is 29-year-old Paul Hassler, of St. Joseph, who spoke up for "the little guy" before the House Public Works Committee last week. He left his business to three helpers and his pickup truck to his wife.

Although he appeared before a House committee, there was some indication yesterday that the Senate was taking the advice of Hassler and others to "slow up" in formulating the 48½-billion-dollar program and its parallel taxes.

"That's what I told them," Hassler said. "They were trying to do it (pass the bill) in too short a time; going too fast. I don't know what 48½ billion dollars is. But I ask how long they talked about and held hearings on the St. Lawrence Seaway before they did something, and that involved something like a 'mere' 100 millions."

Hassler said he hitchhiked because he couldn't get plane reservations at either end.

And besides, the hitchhiking permitted him to stop off at Salem, N. J., to visit his mother and also to stop at New Castle, Del., where he owns a farm.

"The way that bill was coming up," Hassler said, "it meant bankruptcy for me and 10,000 other little recappers. It would tax us to death."

"I'm not against taxes to pay the bill, but against the way they were going to be levied—making the trucking industry foot the bill. Why not spread 'em around among all the people who benefit?"

"Look at motels. They don't pay a penny for highways that benefit them. Contractors are going to benefit big, so why not slap a little of the tax on bulldozers, for instance? Highways benefit resorts too, so why not a few pennies a head on everyone who walks through their gates?"

Hassler complained particularly to the committee about a provision which would have based a recapping tax on the weight of a tire.

He said it should be on the weight of the material used. The House committee agreed and put it straight on camelback, a rubber compound used in recapping.

"I told 'em 'To hell with big business. I can look out after it—self, you fellows take care of us little guys.'"

"I got excited down there. I don't remember everything I said."

The congressmen didn't either, but they did remember Hassler as an "impressive, interesting and amusing witness" among the many he heard, including many spokesmen for big business and Treasury Secretary Humphrey for the Eisenhower administration.

Nuclear Power Plants Planned

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Edison Co. which now is pioneering a $5 million dollar nuclear power plant says it will build a second and third plants within the next decade.

"And we should be able to produce power at a profit with the second installation," says Robert W. Hartwell, director of the company's nuclear power development.

Edison's first power plant which it is building with a group of associate utilities will be in operation by 1960. Hartwell says the cost of operating the first reactor will be about $450 a kilowatt hour compared to $80 to $90 for conventional fuels. "We'll chalk that one up to research and development," he added.

An average of 234 tin cans for every American was made in 1954. There were 1,364,000 U.S. college students in 1955 compared to 2,475,000 in 1954.

Students Of Old University Are Going 'Modern'

By DAVID HINNAWI

CAIRO (AP)—Students at Al Azhar, oldest religious university in existence, are casting off their kufitans and ummas, traditional robe and headress of the Moslem sheikhs, and donning Western clothes.

The students nearly clashed with police recently when one of the ulemas, or instructors, barred from his lectures those who did not wear the traditional dress. The police posted before the door of the classroom were promptly withdrawn in face of the students' protests.

Today many of the 4,000 students on the campus wear ordinary shirts and trousers instead of the usual flowing robes. Until recently such a thing was unheard of.

This is part of the trend away from narrow tradition in this thousand-year-old seat of Islamic learning.

The most daring step is a proposal to admit women students into Al Azhar. This idea has been knocked about from one committee to another for the past two years with no solution reached. Recently Cairo newspapers said women will be allowed to follow religious studies at Al Azhar. Some university sources are skeptical.

Liberal ulemas want to participate more actively in such modern aspects of education as the sciences, social work and sports. These are at present practiced on a limited scale. They also want to give women a share in social life.

The system of teaching at Al Azhar is unique. Students sit cross-legged on a straw mat on the ground in a semicircle while the ulema squats on a chair in the middle. There are no conditions of admission or fees imposed but applicants must be Moslems and able to recite half the Koran from memory. A student can stay at the university as long as he wishes, until he deems himself fit to attempt the final examination. Some students are 80.

Plans and regulations are under way to modernize the Azhar on that score. Many modern classrooms have been built and a time limit set for students staying at the university. The poorer ones also get a monthly allowance.

Students from all parts of the Moslem world flock to the university. They come from as far as China, Indonesia, Afghanistan and Zanzibar. With branches outside Cairo, the university has 10,000 students.

Radio Is Keeping Its Big Audience; Sales Soaring

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a pretty girl who had a younger sister. The younger girl grew very beautiful and had her picture in newspapers and magazines until nearly everybody romanced her. But the older girl, who seldom had her picture in the paper, continued to be pursued by a host of boy friends every night of the week.

Call the older girl Radio and the younger, Television—and commercially speaking—you have a picture of what's happening in these two industries today. The authority for this is John Karol, vice president in charge of network sales for CBS radio.

Disregard for the moment the quality of radio programming today and look at it simply as an industry, a means of communication. A CBS study finds:

In the pre-TV year of 1946 there were $1,700,000 radio sets in the United States. Today there are $2,400,000 sets. Last year alone 10,500,000 radios were sold. Sales thus far this year are 41 per cent ahead of last.

Why? For one thing the number of auto and portable radios has increased greatly. For another, there is a huge unshakable audience that enjoys doing something else while being entertained by ear.

"Perhaps the most interesting thing we've learned on CBS radio," says Karol, "is that Americans are creatures of habit in their entertainment interests. They like to know that a thing is available at a specific regular time."

As a result of this philosophy of strip programming, the Amos 'n' Andy Music Hall—as an example—today reaches more than five million radio outlets, Karol says. But in the pre-TV year of 1946, says Karol, the average half-hour nighttime radio program reached only 800,000 outlets. Furthermore, he says that in 1948 the sponsor cost for an average half-hour night program was $19,000 with three min-
