Poor Leaf Demand

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP)—An estimated general average of $54-$57 was reported for several representative markets in the first hour of sales today as auction sales began on South Carolina's flue-cured tobacco markets.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported that volume of sales was heavy but demand was very poor. Quality of offerings was considerably better than on opening day last year.

Sales were comprised mostly of fair and good lemon lugs, fair and low lemon cutters, and fair and good lemon primings. The handling condition of the offerings was reported good.

Approximate ranges on several predominating grades per hundred pounds were as follows: Leaf, good lemon, $60-$65; cutters, fair lemon, $38-$42; low lemon, $28-$32; lugs, fine lemon, $60-$70; good lemon, $55-$65; primings, good lemon, $55-$58; fair lemon, $51-$57; fair orange, $13-$17; low orange, $4-$5; nondescript, best thin, 13-20.

An opening day average of $54 was predicted for the 11 South Carolina markets.

Last year the South Carolina markets sold 3,798,000 pounds on opening day, Aug. 2, for an average of $51.24.

expects the quality will be offset somewhat by the volume. Some drop in sales is expected next week, he said, "but not too much."

The second largest crop on record is in prospect on what is the smallest acreage since 1950.

Markets which held their first 1955 auctions today were Conway, Darlington, Dillon, Hemingway, Kingstree, Lake City, Lamar, Loris, Mullins, Pamplico and Timmons-ville.

Big Bus Stolen By Mechanic

BORDENTOWN, N. J. (AP)—A mechanic from Newark, N. Y. was arrested on the New Jersey Turnpike today as he drove a 42-passenger Greyhound bus which police said was stolen from New York City.

State Trooper Francis J. Wilhelm said he spotted the bus meeting without a license and weaving from side to side along the superhighway at 1:15 a.m.

The trooper pulled ahead of the bus, which then stopped. The driver identified himself as Frank Lamar, 33, of the Bronx, and said he was a mechanic employed by the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines who was taking the bus to Virginia.

However, Wilhelm said Lamar actually stole the bus from the Greyhound Terminal at 11th Avenue and 45th Street in New York City.

The theft of the bus was not discovered in New York until after Lamar was arrested.

All Persons Aboard Airliner Killed; Plane Off Course

Bulgaria Admits Shooting

By NATE POLOWITZKY, Reflecter City Editor. LONDON (AP)—Bulgaria admitted today its anti-aircraft guns shot down an Israeli airliner, killing all 58 persons aboard. It said the plane was off course for 100 miles over Communist territory.

Bulgaria expressed regret for the tragedy and appointed a government commission to inquire into the disaster in which 13 Americans perished.

Breaking a 24-hour silence, the Bulgarian Telegraph Agency in a broadcast communique, said the El Al Constellation left its course over Yugoslavia yesterday entered Bulgarian airspace "without warning" over Trzin. The town is about 25 miles northwest of Sofia.

The plane, by Bulgarian account, was flying from London via Vienna and Istanbul to Sofia. The airliner was flying from London via Vienna and Istanbul to Sofia.

Aboard the plane were 51 passengers and a crew of seven. The Bulgarian government said anti-aircraft defense was "unable to identify the plane, and after a few warnings, fired."

A storm of protest arose in the British House of Commons when R. H. Turton, foreign undersecretary, informed members that Bulgaria admitted shooting down the plane.

Herbert Morrison, former Laborite foreign minister called it a "brutal business" and "a terrible thing to do."

The plane crashed into the side of Mt Orvilo, less than five miles north of the Greek border and about 18 miles east of the Yugoslav frontier. A Greek military source in Salonika said yesterday the pilot, Briton, apparently had followed the Struma Valley just inside Bulgaria instead of his regular route along Yugoslavia's Vardar Valley, 60 miles west of the frontier.

A communique from the El Al Israeli Airliner today indicated the four-engine Constellation exploded while trying to make a forced landing on Greek territory after being hit by the Bulgarian shells.

The communique, quoted a report from the Israeli legation in Athens, said Greek frontier policemen who witnessed the crash gave this account:

"The policemen heard four gun shots and afterwards saw smoke and a small plane preparing for forced landing over Greek territory near the Greek village of Patricia. Suddenly an explosion was heard on the aircraft came down in flames over Bulgarian territory, about 10 kilometers (6 miles) from the border."

"Twenty minutes after the accident, cars were seen moving towards the place of the crash in Bulgarian territory. The Bulgarian Foreign Ministry informed the Israeli mission in Sofia that they had sent medical teams to the place of accident."

An Israeli air force Dakota took off early today for Sofia via Greece taking six officials of the airline to investigate the crash.

Division in Macedonia, said today that Bulgarian gunners shot down the plane. But later the Greek 3rd Army Corps headquarters released an eyewitness account of a soldier who said he could not be sure whether an explosion he heard before the plane went down was from an anti-aircraft cannon or came from within the plane.

A joint communique last night in Tel Aviv by the Israeli Communications Ministry and the airline said the plane had been "fired on by Bulgarian soldiers at a place near the Greek-Yugoslav border."

The communique based its claim on the Athens report, however.

The airline reported that these American passengers were aboard the plane: Mrs. Bella Avram, Mrs. O. Cohen, a Mr. Hameiry, Mrs. A. Hahn or Hann, Mr. A. Mann, Mrs. Shafer or Schaefer, R. Sacks, Mrs. A. Sacks, Mrs. D. Sacks, Mrs. M. Katz and her small daughter and Mrs. Zahava Sheinbaum. No addresses were given.

Mrs. Sheinbaum, 37, was secretary general of Histradut Yrivi, an organization for the preservation of the Hebrew language, in New York.

Senators Note Value Of Russian-U.S. Exchange

Suggest Top Soviet Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators (R-Vt) and Sparkman (D-Ala) suggested today that top Soviet leaders be invited to the United States and that Vice President Nixon be sent on a reciprocal visit to Russia.

The two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee made those proposals after President Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday that exchange visits "throughout the whole echelon of government" had been discussed informally at the Geneva Big Four conference.

Alken noted that Prime Minister Eden had announced in London that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev will visit Britain next spring.

"If they want to come over here I know no reason why they shouldn't," he said. "I don't think we should ask them for an invitation, but if they want some high American officials to visit Russia I think Vice President Nixon could do some good on such a mission."

Sparkman said in a separate interview he would "look with favor on any decision our government might make about sending either Vice President Nixon or Secretary of State Dulles to Russia."

"I think it was a great mistake that President Truman didn't send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow in 1948 as he had intended to do before the Republicans raised objections to the plan," Sparkman said. "I think Vinson might have accomplished a great deal of good."

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee declined comment on exchange visits at a high official level. But he said he favors "individual visiting back and forth" between American and Russian citizens, as two groups of farm specialists are now doing.

It was learned at the State Department, meanwhile, that officials have begun to work on plans for an expanded exchange of Russian-American visitors.

However, officials working on the problem have bumped into what they consider to be a major barrier: the provision of the McCarran-Walter immigration law which specifies that all nonofficial visitors must be fingerprinted.

Russia has denounced this requirement in the past. Moscow canceled a proposed U.S. visit by a group of student editors, rather than allow them to be fingerprinted.

Contempt Case Verdict Is Set Aside By Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today set aside the contempt verdict against Clyde L. Powell, a key figure in congressional and grand jury investigations of housing scandals last year.

Powell, former assistant commissioner for rental housing in the Federal Housing Administration, was sentenced to a year in jail.

The sentence grew out of various appearances by Powell before a federal grand jury. He was accused of failing to answer certain questions.

The grand jury aside the sentence of U. S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts, the appellate court said: "The government faces a dilemma. Either Powell, when he appeared before the grand jury for the third time, had not answered the questions and so had the privilege of refusing to incriminate himself when he was asked them, or he had answered the questions and the government was guilty of an outrageous misrepresentation to the grand jury."

"If the former be the case, Powell cannot be convicted for exercising the privilege. If the latter be the case, certainly no appellate court will conscientiously permit an injustice thus unwittingly committed by a trial court to stand."

The appellate court sent the case back to district court with instructions to enter a judgment of acquittal.

Judge E. Barrett Prettyman wrote the appellate court's decision. Judges George T. Washington and John A. Danaher concurred.

The questioning revolved around whether Powell, as No. 2 man in the FHA, kept official diaries and when he took them with him when he left his office.

Powell said he kept no official diary and when Max H. Goldschtein asked him about diaries for certain years Powell said he had already answered the question.

The grand jury accused Powell of giving "obstructive and untruthful" answers to its questions.

The appellate court found that Powell answered the questions which Judge Letts ruled he must answer.

Under these circumstances, the appellate court said, there is a serious question whether Powell was subject to subpoena as a government witness. It noted the Fifth Amendment's guarantee that a person cannot be compelled "to be a witness against himself."

The court said, however, that in the view it took of the case, it was not necessary to reach this constitutional question.

PRICE DEFERMENT. MADERA, Calif. (AP)—Barbers here have voted to raise prices on "crazy" haircuts from $1.25 to $1.50, "not for the money," one barber said. "But to discourage the horrible things." Affected hair styles include ducktails, flat tops, boogies, Davy crewcuts, Cherokees and Mohawks.

Hughes Reports $45,571 Gain Over Expectations

City Tax Collections Top Estimates

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflecter City Editor. Tax collections were $45,571 above estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, according to figures recently released by City Manager James S. Hughes.

Revenue at the beginning of the year had been estimated at $643,860 and final figures showed that $689,431 was collected from all revenue sources.

Bringing in more money than was expected were: personal property tax, prior years' taxes and penalties, intangibles taxes, ABC Board turnover, parking meters, building permits, rents, N.C. franchise tax, cemetery lot sales, Bond Bill funds, and miscellaneous sources.

Falling below estimates were: poll taxes, beer tax, privilege licenses, court costs, and the Pitt County fingerprint service.

Seek Final Vote On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—House and Senate leaders called for speedy final approval today of a compromise $2,708,341,750 foreign aid bill carrying some 563 millions less in new funds than President Eisenhower asked.

Congressional advocates of less foreign aid were elected by the compromise worked out late yesterday, much quicker than had been expected, between Senate and House versions.

Eisenhower originally asked $3,266,641,750 in new funds for the fiscal year which starts July 1. The House originally voted $2,638,741,750. Under administration urging, the Senate raised the figure to $3,205,841,750. The compromise is thus much closer to the House bill.

Complicating the picture is some eight billion dollars voted for military and economic aid in previous years but not yet spent. Conferees said this money made the cut less drastic than the figures would indicate.

The compromise figure was less than 250 million dollars, but the amount Congress voted last year.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), who had battled in vain on the Senate floor for the lower House figures, said the compromise agreement "made me feel good."

He said 420 millions which the Senate had added for worldwide military assistance was knocked out because conferees discovered 300 millions "voted for the Air Force" in 1950-51 that had been forgotten.

Ellender said military aid officials in Europe said they had another 66 millions of similar unused funds and that the conference restored authority to use another 34 millions of prior funds voted by the House but denied by the Senate.

$6,888 remained constant.

Property taxes, which were expected to bring in $268,597 actually brought in $275,485, according to the auditor's office. Prior year's taxes brought in $6,845 compared with estimates at the beginning of the year of $6,000. Intangibles were to bring in $11,000 and actually $13,463 was collected. Turnover from the ABC Board was estimated at $6,728 and actual revenue was $6,810 while parking meters, expected to bring in $20,000 actually ran $1,500 higher.

Collected for building permits was $380, $150 above the $230 estimate. Rents, set in the 1954-55 budget at $1,630, paid in the treasury $2,070.

N.C. franchise taxes were estimated at $1,500 and $1,985 was collected. Sales of cemetery lots, estimated at $6,600 actually brought in $7,200.

From Powell Bill funds the city received $60,520 compared with the estimate of $57,000 and from miscellaneous sources $18,882 was collected while $2,500 was estimated as receipts from such sources.

Poll tax collections were estimated at $2,500 somewhat short of the $2,423 actually collected. For beer taxes $14,000 was estimated in the budget and only $13,129 was collected. Privilege licenses collections fell $600 below the $23,000 estimated in the budget and court costs collections were only $13,778 compared with estimates of $15,000.

It was estimated that $1,500 would be obtained from the Pitt County reprint service and only $1,233 was collected.

Cash on hand made up the remaining amount of money which was spent in the last fiscal year. From the city debt service $3,000 was carried over from the preceding year, 1953-54. School debt service carried over $1,400 and general fund surplus carried over amounted to $38,250. Powell Bill carryover for the year was $23,181.

Urges Congress Reconsider Roads Legislation

President Is 'Disappointed'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today expressed deep disappointment over House rejection of new highway legislation, and urged that Congress reconsider the matter before ending its session.

In a statement the President said differences over financing methods should not be permitted to "deny our people these critically needed roads."

The House in a series of votes yesterday killed all new national highway legislation.

It rejected 224-193 President Eisenhower's plan for a multibillion-dollar program of construction to be financed by a long-term bond issue.

Then it defeated 292-123 a Democratic pay-as-you-go substitute plan calling for increases in gasoline and some other automotive taxes to raise $1,423,000,000 over the next 16 years.

"I am deeply disappointed," Eisenhower's statement said, "by the rejection by the House of Representatives of legislation to authorize a nationwide system of highways."

"The nation badly needs new highways. The good of our people, of our economy, and of our defense, requires that construction of these highways be undertaken at once. There is a difference of conviction. I realize, over means of financing this construction. I have proposed one plan of financing which I consider to be sound."

"Others have proposed other methods. Adequate financing there must be, but contention over the method should not be permitted to deny our people these critically needed roads."

White House press secretary James H. Hagerty was asked whether the President meant that Congress should extend its session to enact road legislation. Hagerty said he had no comment on that.

He also refused to say whether the White House is doing any personal contacting of lawmakers in an effort to get the legislation through.

After yesterday's votes, the consensus of House leaders appeared to be that highway legislation was dead for this year, and perhaps also for next year.

Suspected Killer's Car Found Hidden In Woods

Henry Lee Darden's abandoned automobile has been found parked in a wooded area in the Meadow Plain Church area, the Sheriff's Department announced today.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said that the 1946 model automobile was found parked in the woods behind Darden's brother's home. The brother told officers that he was unaware that the vehicle was in the area.

Law enforcement officers have been searching for the car since Sunday night. It was that afternoon that Darden was alleged to have shot his mother-in-law in the head with a .12 gauge shotgun after sending several blasts through windows and walls of her home in the Griffin area.

The woman, Mrs. Georgiana Williams, later died in a Kingston hospital.

Since that time rumors have circulated in the area that the alleged killer planned to "get" three other members of the family.

However, officers have received no word of the fugitive's whereabouts since the shooting took place.

Officers are now working on the theory that Darden has left the state. If it is shown that he has crossed the state line the FBI will be called on to assist in apprehending the man.

is. Was a proper standard of ethics violated?" he said.

As he was speaking, Talbott was before the subcommittee as its windup witness, swearing that "I have never used my position as secretary to pressure a living soul to give the (Mulligan) company business."

"In retrospect, however," he continued, "I now see that I was mistaken in permitting myself to make phone calls or write letters to the company."

He had acknowledged telephoning from his office and writing on Air Force stationery letters dealing with affairs of the Mulligan company.

Mulligan, Talbott's partner, said he did not know that the firm had ever been formally considered for membership in the Association of Consulting Management Engineers. The Baltimore Sun had said yesterday the association turned the firm down for membership, partly because of Talbott's interest in it.

Atomic Cannon Sent Okinawa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atomic cannons are being added to the weapons of American forces garrisoning the Asiatic island of Okinawa, it was learned today.

The first of the 260mm guns, capable of firing either conventional or atomic shells will be landed on the island within a few days.

Batteries of the huge guns have been in Europe for more than a year. The guns being sent to Okinawa, however, are the first to go to the Far East.

The atomic cannon, using its full size shell of slightly over 11 inches in diameter, has an accurate range of about 20 miles. Using a smaller shell, fired in the 260mm bore, it can range out to about 30 miles.

The atomic cannon, mounted on a base sling between two power tractors, can be transported in large landing craft.

It would be possible for instance, in event of Chinese Communist attack in the Far East, to transport these cannon to beachheads on the mainland for use in support of landing forces and bombardment of tactical targets.

Despite its 80-ton weight, the gun and carriage can move over average roads or across fields.

Fogger Is Fatal To Mosquitoes

After five days of fogging, a report from Pitt Health Director Dr. Walter C. Humbert reveals that the insecticide spray is proving "very satisfactory, killing adult mosquitoes almost instantly upon contact."

Dr. Humbert also reports that one application of the spray is knocking out about 30 per cent of the black gnats, house flies and green flies.

Primary purpose of the fogging is to kill mosquitoes. "We will catch up with the flies and gnats," the health director said.

Two kinds of insecticide solutions have been tested in the machine, and Dr. Humbert said this testing will be continued until the one that gives the best results is found. Presently in use is a one per cent solution of malathion and perthane.

Effect of the insecticide is being tested by controlled experiments with special fly traps. Dr. Humbert revealed that yesterday, in a test for the effect on flies, a 70 per cent kill was obtained in three hours after a five second exposure at 25 feet.

The health director reiterated that the fogging machine "cannot do it all," however, and he again urged that local citizens cooperate in clearing their lots, ditches and ravines of dense growth.

He also noted that the Health Department, with the city Department of Sanitation, will make a house-to-house survey to enforce a city ordinance requiring a covered garbage container.

Improper cans will be marked with red stickers, and a check will be made later to see if these cans have been replaced with the correct type.

Dr. Humbert remarked that the fogging crew "is still observing too many motorists who are impatient to race their cars through the fog."

He again advises, "When meeting the machine, roll up the car windows, pull over to the side of the street, and wait a minute or two until the fog drifts away before going on. Trying to drive through the fog is dangerous, and may cause accidents."

The health director noted that Greenville is not the only community in Pitt County which has started a formal program for insect control.

With the counsel of the Health Department, the town of Fountain is using the same type of fogging machine, on a smaller scale.

Tracks Cleared After Derailing

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—Southern Railway tracks through Gastonia were back in service today after wreckage from the derailment of 12 freight cars was cleared away.

The cars spilled off the south-bound main line as a 121-car freight passed through the center box in the emergency room of the hospital. Thieves pried open the box, the sheriff said.

Slated For FBI 'Wanted' List Monday; Caught

NEW YORK (AP)—A man slated to be listed next Monday among the top 10 fugitives wanted by the FBI was arrested by New York police today.

He was nabbed, officers said, after he and a companion robbed a young student in a taxicab. The man identified himself as Melvin Keller, 31, of Portland, Ore.

However, the FBI said his real name is Michael Krull and that he was being sought on charges of kidnaping, rape on a government reservation and transporting stolen vehicles across state lines.

robbed him at knife point of a $30 wrist watch and $17 in cash.

He said he had met them in a bar and that they robbed him in a taxi after inducing him to accompany them to meet some friends.

The crime of which Krull is accused involved the kidnaping of a middle-aged woman on a downtown street in Chattanooga, Tenn. last April 14, in which four men took part.

The FBI gave this account: Not long after noon on April 14, the Chattanooga woman pulled her car to a curb in the downtown area preparatory to making a U-turn.

Both front doors were flung open and a man entered the car from either side, pushing her into the middle of the seat.

When she began to protest, one of the men, identified by the FBI as Krull, struck her a heavy blow to the jaw and held a knife to her throat, saying that if she cried out she would be killed.

National Park and raped her repeatedly.

The other two men in the gang followed another car and took part in the rape.

After she had been subjected to further indignities until she was at the point of death, a U.S. park ranger happened upon the scene and the four men fled.

Party For Members Of Reading Club Is Set For Wednesday

A party for all members of the Sheppard Memorial Library Vacation Reading Club will be held at the library Wednesday at 10 a. m.

Miss Anne McMullan, assistant librarian who is in charge of the summer reading program, announced the party and said certificates to all who have read 15 or more books will be given out at that time.

Prizes will also be awarded to the boy and the girl who have read the most books during the summer.

There will be games, with prizes awarded the winners, and refreshments will be served.

Miss McMullan stated that all books must be in by Monday night to be counted toward certificates.

Stork Shower Given For Mrs. Wallace

BETHEL—Misses Loretta Bullock, Barbara Ann Whitehurst and Patricia Whitehurst honored Mrs. George Wilson with a stork shower at the home of Miss Bullock on Tuesday night.

The corsage presented to the honoree was a baby rattle, miniature baby tied with pink and blue ribbon. Tiny gold safety pins, pinned to the ribbon, added to the unique corsage.

The dining room table was centered with an arrangement of Queen Ann's lace and snapdragons. The bowl of flowers was placed in a baby basket and were surrounded with pink candles tied with pink tulle.

The guests served themselves to pimiento cheese sandwiches, brownies, date nut bars, potato chips, nuts, pickles and Coca-Colas. The mothers of the hostesses, Mrs. Burley Bullock and Mrs. Robert Whitehurst, assisted in serving.

Mrs. Wilson opened her many nice and attractive gifts and expressed her appreciation to each. There were 32 who attended the shower.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Jay Kroll and Miss Hilda Speight.

SQUIRREL MENACE
WEST HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Squirrels have been climbing limbs around here but not the kind usually found on trees. Door Ward on Frank Crego said four women have reported being bitten on the legs by squirrels.

JUST POWDER, MEN
GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Dense white smoke poured from an upper window of a house yesterday. A passerby called firemen. They rushed up a ladder, then retreated quickly. A woman was powdering her nose.

Demonstration At HD Club

RED OAK—Home agent, Mrs. Lillie Little, presented a demonstration on selecting small electrical appliances at the July meeting of the Red Oak Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Little demonstrated the proper use of the appliances and also prepared and served several varieties of waffles topped with a brown sugar sauce.

Mrs. Amos Evans, chairman of the beautification of homesteads for the Pitt progress program, displayed some pictures she has made of the "sore spots" around her home, and reported that these spots are being improved. She urged each member to start beautifying their own homesteads.

It was decided to hold the August picnic at the Evans' camp. Mrs. B. L. Tyson, Mrs. Jarvis Tripp and Mrs. Evans were appointed to serve on the Nominating Committee.

Mrs. Tripp presided at the meeting and also gave the devotional. After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. B. May, Mrs. H. H. May, Miss Ella V. May, Mrs. H. N. Nobles and Mrs. Milton May.

Gathering Fetes Bridal Couple

BETHEL—Mr. and Mrs. Julian Craft Smith of Bethel and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKensie Jr. of Washington were hosts Friday evening from 8:30 until 10 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith at a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William DuBerry Smith of Chapel Hill and Bethel, who were wed recently in Alexandria, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Everett and Mr. and Mrs. L. N. James greeted the callers on the porch and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wynne Jr. received them at the front door and introduced them to the receiving line.

The entire home was made lovely for the occasion with arrangements of flowers and candles suggestive of the bridal motif. Bridal ices and decorated cakes were served in the dining room by Mrs. J. P. Nowell, aunt of the groom of Ahoskie, and by Mrs. Linwood Briley of Bethel. When the guests progressed to the porch, they were served delicious iced punch from a scooped watermelon by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Carroll of Lumberton and Miss Jeane Cullifer and Frank Hemingway of Bethel. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Speir.

Others who assisted in serving and receiving were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craft, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Taylor Jr., Linwood Briley, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Craft of Ayden, Misses June Cherry, Alice Coburn, Shirley Ann Hardy, Shirley Jean Whitehurst and Carolyn Cooper.

Hips Deleted And Shoulders Broadened By Paris Stylists

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP) — Women are broad-shouldered and hipless in the first fashion showing of the new Paris fall season.

Jean Patou, leading off the style parade this morning, announced tersely: "Hips deleted, shoulders broadened."

For the first time in many a season — almost since the new look revolution in 1946, in fact — shoulders are padded again.

Colors are smoky foggy blacks, browns and greys, with hardly a gleam of light. The exception is in brocade-like Persian printed satins, with the brilliance and color of Eastern enamels.

Patou also proclaimed a slight lengthening of skirts, but you wouldn't notice it. The waist he calls "normal" is never nipped in or marked by a seam. It is lightly fitted by the cut and just about where it belongs, with a tendency to be high, if anything.

Party dresses are bouffant, skirted from the hip, with close-clinging torsos. The slinky, strapless long evening gown is in favor again, at least at Patou.

There is Oriental richness in heavily embroidered bodices for cocktail and evening wear. Fullness is swept to the back, in busty peacock tail skirts.

The newly repadded shoulders are not squared, as they used to be when that fashion went out. They slope, with the padding put in at a low sleeve-line.

Patou often uses a criss-cross cut under the bust to imply a slightly raised waistline. His busting is high and small and lightly draped or marked with buttoned tabs or apron bib effects. Necklines are high and so discreet as to be completely unremarkable.

Mannish Prince Albert coats and tunic length suit jackets are still part of the fashion picture. They look a little like riding habits. Thick tweed dresses have a striped-down look and are trimmed scantily with a few buttons, a pocket here and a pleat there.

Patou goes overboard for a small bowler, often in fur. A big-headed akako of black fox was trimmed with a white rose.

Skirt fullness sometimes came from big box pleats breaking out from under a diamond point fore and aft — or just aft.

Children Gain Confidence In Ability To Read

AP Newfeatures
PAW PAW, Mich. — Children once called dumbbells come alive at Dorothy G. Anderson's Reading Center, a clinic for retarded readers.

The former public school teacher helps children to gain the interest and self-confidence they need in acquiring reading skill. She started her clinic last January as part of her project for a master's degree from Western Michigan College. She has won the degree and plans now to expand her reading classes.

Glamor Goes Into The Purse

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Beauty Editor
 Time was when the average handbag looked like a storage bin, if not a waste basket.

Some would blame this condition on the small pocketbook vogue which entrapped everything that went within it. It was impossible to weed out a crushed cigarette without emptying the contents of a bag, quite a project when one is in a hurry.

Large bags are popular now. More things are carried within them to be sure, but there are pockets and grooves to separate little items from each other. Then too, there are charming fashion accessories that hold everything from pills to pins. No more tobacco dregs and aspirin powder mixed together in the bottom of the purse.

The carryall or carryette is a good little glamor purse to own. It is always waiting with a neat arrangement of lipstick, powder, comb and hankie for evening wear, needing only the addition of mad money to make it complete.

PURSE ACCESSORIES... This selection is in mother-of-pearl and includes carry-all for evening wear, compact for day wear, pillbox cigarette case.

Mrs. Anderson works with retarded readers — not with mentally retarded children. Discussing the inability of some youngsters to make progress in reading, Mrs. Anderson said:

"There's nearly always a frustration angle that arises when, for one reason or another, a child fails to get the proper start."

Most striking, she said, is the personality change that occurs when children find they aren't dumbbells and can learn to read after all.

They may be inhibited and withdrawn at the start, but as their interest and confidence grow, they become responsive and relaxed. As Mrs. Anderson describes them: "They come alive."

The new handbag accessories are as chic as they are practical. Available in matched sets in mother-of-pearl, embossed leather, baby calf, alligator, gold or silver-toned finishes and high coored enamels, they may be added to from time to time and make ideal presents from family and friends.

There are compact, mirrored lipsticks, pill boxes. There are charming carryalls that hold all the glamor aids for the big evening out, and carryettes that hold fascinators for the little evening out. Smart shoppers may even match up eyeglass case, key case and wallet to the other accessories if they've chosen leather.

She makes use of such technical training devices as a reading accelerator, to increase reading speed, and a tachistoscope, which flashes a picture and corresponding word on a screen to increase eye span.

But her big contribution is rapport, or getting in close contact with her pupils.

"It's a matter of finding something the child is interested in, and which he can read with success," she explains. "I just get them started and then it's up to them."

Mrs. Anderson keeps the atmosphere informal and sometimes wears blue jeans to avoid any similarity to formal classroom surroundings.

She believes her reading center is unique in being limited to a small community, although it offers the same facilities on a small scale as the psycho-educational reading center at Western Michigan College.

Mrs. Anderson has achieved her best results with children below the sixth-grade age group. Now she plans to offer reading classes for high school and adult students too who could use her special help.

What About The Rest Of The Road?

At long last the State Highway Commission is at least going to start resurfacing on one of the most miserable stretches of highway in these parts.

A portion of the Greenville-Vanceboro highway is to be resurfaced according to bids received this week by the Highway Commission. With the condition of the highway, every little bit of work which is done will improve the road; but it is unfortunate the Commission did not see fit to resurface the entire length of the road from Greenville to Vanceboro at one time.

Bids let this week are for resurfacing the road from Vanceboro to the intersection of 43 and N. C. 102 which is about 15 miles south of Greenville. The portion of the highway from Greenville to Calico apparently has been left for repair at a later date.

Patch-work widening of the highway from Vanceboro to Greenville several years ago has left narrow outside strips of pavement lower than the original section of the paved road. Those who have driven over the heavily-traveled highway are well aware of the difficulties this patchwork causes motorists. These motorists, as well as highway officials, are well aware of the acute need for resurfacing the entire section of 43 from Greenville to Vanceboro.

It had been The Reflector's hope the entire project would be undertaken at one time in order to put the road in good condition. We are of course pleased that at least a portion of the highway will now be resurfaced. Yet we are somewhat disappointed that motorists traveling on 43 south from Greenville will still have to struggle with the haphazard condition of the road.

We trust officials of the Second Highway Division already are making plans to have the section of 43 from Calico to Greenville resurfaced at an early date.

Trees And Water Given Consideration

By LYNN NISBET
TREES — The importance of trees in North Carolina's present and future economy received major attention by the Board of Conservation and Development at its opening meeting of the summer session at Morehead City. Water ran a close second, including its conservation, proper use and the value of food and industrial products derived from the streams and the ocean.

Industrial development, the primary objective of the incumbent C&D administration, was not overlooked. More emphasis than in recent meetings was placed upon the importance of processing our own natural resources; relatively less on "bringing in" new industries.

Governor Hodges focused attention on those areas which he predicted that during the 25 years one of the chief potential economic assets of North Carolina will be its "wood crop." This idea was further stressed in the presentation by Robert W. Wolcott, president of the National Forestry Association, of the Forestry Council's long range Conservation and development program. This was in effect bringing up to date the original program presented in 1950 at request of the C&D board.

Noted completion of several projects recommended five years ago, pointed to lack of attention to others and inadequate action in several matters—particularly forest fire control. Governor Hodges has expressed alarm at the number of destructive forest fires during the past year, and even more concern over the apparent indifference of the general law enforcement agencies and courts to the seriousness of this problem. Also half of the more than 3,000 forest fires that ravaged the State were proven to be deliberately set, and the average fines imposed in several hundred cases brought to court was $5.34.

LOSS — Fred Claridge, chief of the C&D forestry division, in his formal report and Wolcott in his presentation to the Council, noted that the aggregate loss by reason forest fires ran into the millions of dollars. It was pointed out that when grown trees are burned the loss is not only the market value of the timber or pulpwood, but includes the years of effort and expense to grow the trees from nursery seedling to marketable stage.

"If the same loss had occurred in cotton or tobacco in one year," Wolcott said, "there would have been mass meetings of citizens, requests for special legislation and both State and Federal aid for the farmers who had been victimized." He explored the attitude which accepted the multi-million loss by forest fires as "just one of those things that happen."

CONTROL — Admittedly the State has not done too good a job in forest fire control up to now. But the situation looks better. There is better cooperation between the State and participating counties in the joint projects. Interstate compacts have been authorized and one has been signed with South Carolina, with prospect of early signings by

Georgia and Tennessee to permit fire-fighting forces to cross State lines in emergencies. Virginia has not enacted an interstate compact law.

Large users of woods, particularly the big pulp and paper mills, are spending more per acre for reforestation and fire control than is the State, much of this spending on either cooperative or closely integrated projects. The inter-related phases of the overall problem are amazing.

Everybody knows about the importance of wood to the furniture industry and in the making of paper. It developed at the hearing that one of the nation's biggest suppliers of textile machinery has a plant in North Carolina which depends largely upon wood for its fuel.

For many years North Carolina has produced the raw products of this industry. Also half of the more than 3,000 forest fires that ravaged the State were proven to be deliberately set, and the average fines imposed in several hundred cases brought to court was $5.34.

IMPRESS — The idea is young. Impression still prevails in many quarters that North Carolina can't meet the challenge. The Governor, Umstead, incumbent Governor Hodges, and the C&D board, which they appointed (sometimes facetiously called the millionaire club), thought and still think it can be done — and they have tentatively promised to see that it is done.

A Tobacco Industry Czar May Solve Many Problems

Georgia's action in setting the opening date for its tobacco markets through legislative authority poses a serious threat to the tobacco auction system as it is carried on throughout the flue-cured region.

There are problems peculiar to the auction system which demands a fluid situation and an inter-belt cooperation to make the system operate smoothly. Seasonal conditions from year to year cause considerable fluctuation in the time when tobacco is ready to be marketed in the various belts. Tobacco companies with a limited number of buyers must be able to shift buyers from one belt to another as the season moves north in order not to overload themselves with personnel.

Opening dates in the various belts have to be closely and carefully coordinated to meet the problems of the purchasing companies, and likewise the problems of the warehousemen who sell the tobacco and the farmers who produce it.

Should North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, and Virginia follow the example of Georgia in setting the opening date for tobacco markets by legislative authority the auction sales system would soon be so fouled up it might break down entirely.

Perhaps the tobacco industry needs to look to baseball for the solution to this problem which seemingly becomes more heated and more difficult to solve with each passing year. In baseball there is a commissioner at the head of the overall organization. His word is law and he determines policies and answers the questions. To be sure his decisions cause considerable irritation at times; but nevertheless they stick and organized baseball operates smoothly.

If there were a similar czar appointed jointly by the various phases of the tobacco industry to organize and watch over the sales seasons of various belts, the problem of opening dates would be solved.

There would be many headaches. There would be considerable grumbling from time to time. But such an organization may prove the answer to many problems which crop up in the tobacco auction system from year to year.

Action Is What Is Needed; Not Just An Investigation

It is one thing to investigate a matter. Often it is quite another to take action on the same matter.

There is certainly little need for investigating the presence of mosquitoes in the coastal region of North Carolina this summer. All one has to do is pay a personal visit to the coast or converse with someone who has, and the reality of a bumper crop of mosquitoes in the extreme eastern part of the state can be established.

There is, however, need for positive action in eradicating this unusually large crop of the pesky insects. The state may have to do some planning before it maps the details of the approach to its problem, but there is little use wasting time making an investigation to determine whether the mosquitoes are present.

What Became Of Lady From Twentynine Palms?

Perhaps federal authorities looking into the $678,000 shortage at the Twentynine Palms, Calif., bank better check the record of the "Lady from Twentynine Palms" the nation was singing about a few years ago.

As we recall she had 29 Cadillacs, 29 sables from Saks and a whole host (29 to be exact) of male admirers. Can't recall the ballad saying anything about her owning race horses, but that's a possibility.

Somebody Told Me

Changes Made In Davy's Song

Since Tuesday's water skiing column I have discovered that there are men over 31 who take water skiing in stride, just as I said the teenagers do. A good example is Sam Brooks of National Carbon Company, age unknown but well over 31. Therefore I here by correct the statement that water skiing is for teenagers only, amending it to read water skiing is not for me.

Seven million people have bought Davy Crockett records. But the standard version is losing out fast to the characters who are making up their own. Pancho Lopez has made a record that has sold over 200,000 records. Pancho is the guy with a Mexican accent who got his start on the West coast. His version goes like this:

Born in Chihuahua in 1903, On a scrape out under a tree, He was so fat he could almost not see, He could eat 12 tacos when he was only three Pancho, Pancho Lopez, the pride of old Mexico.

Mickey Katz on a Capitol record has sold more than 200,000 records with his version:
Born in the wilds of Delaney Street, Home of gefilte fish and kosher meat, Handy with a knife, oh herr sach tsai (listen with care), Plucked him a chicken when he was only three! David, David Crockett, King of Delaney Street!

Homer and Jethro have sold 110,000 of this job:
Born in a taxicab in Tennessee, Slowest cab that you ever did see, Warmed up his bottle and took him a nip, He didn't even give the driver a tip! Davy, Davy Crockett, the cat with the coonskin cap.

There seems to be no end to the popularity of this song. And the amazing thing about it is the guy who wrote it admits that he looked upon the job as just another day's work, with no particular significance.
And I thank you.

Notebook On Life

A Girl's Best Friend Is Dusk

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a pavement Plato: A girl's best friend isn't a diamond—it's dusk, the time of day when she begins to sparkle herself. Twilight is for the ladies, their big hour of charm. As a man feels most like a man in the morning (well, on some mornings at least) so a woman feels most like a woman at twilight. It is then she puts her best face forward.

Some women, I know, will snort at my theory that the sexes live by a different interior clock. So let me try to prove it by citing a situation familiar to many married couples:
The tired husband arrives home and is told by his wife that this is their wedding anniversary and they are going out for the evening with another couple. Well, he does not want to. He begs, whines, pleads utter exhaustion, even throws himself down on the floor, pretending he has fainted from weakness. All to no avail.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
TEMPERATION IN LIFE'S GROWTH
In the Lord's Prayer we ask that we be not led into temptation, yet in another part of the New Testament we are told to rejoice when we fall into temptation to exercise our moral powers and strengthen them. Most of us, however, go out and hunt temptations, as if these added temptations that cause trouble. Temptations suited to our powers are good for us. We grow strong through resisting them. But the temptations we flirt with, which God never intended should be in the orbit of our experience—these are ruinous. So in the Lord's Prayer we ask God to temper the burden of temptation to our moral powers and keep us from getting involved in temptations which, because they do not have our names on them as it were, God never intended us to confront. We encounter these temptations because we are weak, indulgent, erring, or morally careless.

The weakening wives plead to be taken home, and get this reply: "Home? Home is for women and children." When the night club closes, the

White House Strategy Endangers Calm

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — White House strategy in current clashes with Congress threatens to destroy or weaken the friendly relations which President Eisenhower has enjoyed with Democrats on Capitol Hill. Several influential opposition figures are boiling over the issue in which they believe that he has let them down.

He left the Arkansas Senators out on a limb. Both were Democrats and it is worth while to string along with the man in the White House.

Majority Leader, dramatized Ike's unfortunate aspersions on the opposition. Ike apparently sensed it, for in actions and words he has since shown solicitude and anxiety over the absent and ailing member.

Furniture Industry Scattered

By ELMER ROESSNER

Few industries are as scattered as the American furniture industry. Every state has a share of factories. Of the 8,369 factories counted in 1954 by the Department of Commerce, 8,120 have fewer than 250 employees and only two had more than 2,500.

A few of these firms are national. But the great majority try to sell only in their own region, state or even metropolitan area. Furniture men often explain that high freight rates keep their industry scattered. This is a factor, although equally high rates have not prevented the auto industry from concentrating. Perhaps the ratio of freight to value is higher in furniture.

Regional preferences play a part, so does the cost of equipment. A man with a few thousand dollars in machinery can start a coffee-table factory in a shed, but who'd attempt to crash the auto industry without $50,000,000 in credit and $50,000,000 more in talent?

There are a sizable number of furniture firms in the national market and there have been recurring efforts of smaller companies to break out of regional boundaries.

Two such efforts are now under way on a co-operative basis. A group of upholstery firms have united to introduce a national line of upholstered furniture and 25 dinette manufacturers are getting together to promote a national line of dinettes.

In each case, distinctive lines will be designed and each member will be licensed to manufacture the line in his territory. The group as a whole will handle national advertising and may also go in for co-operative buying.

The avowed purpose in both cases is to compete with the national companies. Indeed, the local maker and a nationally-versed line in Worcester, for example might give a Chicago manufacturer some serious competition in Massachusetts, especially in view of freight rates from Illinois to New England. MERCHANTS' INTEREST

In another business get-together, 43 merchants and three banks in Rutherford, N.J., organized Lollipop House, a free baby-sitting service for shoppers.

During the city's semiannual three-day sale, the nursery was filled to capacity early each day, and retail sales boomed.

The operation costs participating merchants $400 a month. The house is a two-story home, with two play rooms, a nap room, a bathroom and kitchen. The yard has been converted into a playground. A nurse and two assistants mind the youngsters.

RETAIL SALES RISE WITH CAPITAL INVESTMENT
Retail sales closely follow the investment by business in new plants and equipment, according to studies by T.J. Sielaff, assistant professor, San Jose (Calif.) State College.

This is important news because:
1. Figures on business' intentions to invest in plants and equipment are compiled regularly by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission, enabling retailers to forecast their own sales prospects.

2. The latest reports show expenditures for plants and equipment will rise during the rest of this year.
TAKES A FREE RIDE ON NEWS OF THE DAY
A Cleveland retailer cashed in with good timing. The day Disneyland opened in California, the retailer offered two trips to the fun place as first prize in a contest, benefiting from the wide press, radio and television coverage. To sweeten results, he used two pages of newspaper advertising to promote the contest.
ABOUT HIJACKERS, SAVINGS HANDKERCHIEFS AND LINES
If today is an average day, a total of $355,000 worth of goods will be hijacked from trucks, according to Cargo Protection Bureau figures. Savings and loan associations increased assets by $3 billion during the first six months of this year. It is a new record. It is again stylish for a man to carry a fancy handkerchief, a publicist would have us believe. The State of Rhode Island has devised a $500 machine that paints white lines down the center of highways at a rate of 60 miles a day.

President May Be Inviting Top Russians To Visit U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower wants to let the Russian leaders mingle with the sweat-soaked proletariat in a way they never saw in Moscow, he could invite them over for a Sunday afternoon in August on Coney Island.

If he doesn't invite them to this country, they may beat him to the punch by asking him to Moscow. They already seem fully launched on a public relations job that has the rest of the world startled and guessing.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday that at Geneva last week Western and Russian leaders discussed exchange visits "throughout the whole echelon of government." That means all the way from the top to the bottom.

In disclosing this Eisenhower possibly paved the way—and prepared American thinking if it happens—for an exchange of invitations between himself and Russian Prime Minister Bulganin.

The President said no definite invitations were issued. But a few minutes later British Prime Minister Eden, who was also at Geneva, announced Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev would visit Britain in the spring.

The Russian leaders' plan to go to Britain in 1956 may indicate they intend to maintain the pleasant relations established at Geneva, even though, in the meantime, they make no major concessions to the West in foreign affairs.

If the Russians have an impression that only rich Americans exist, Eisenhower might conduct Bulganin and Khrushchev on a tour through a few huge neighborhood food stores and change their minds.

"They've heard of American prosperity but could hardly believe it unless they saw the millions of automobiles on streets and highways, the furniture and fixtures in the department stores, and even the bus, candy and delicatessen shops.

If they've wondered about American resources and skills and the conditions of workers with their free labor unions, Eisenhower could take them through the farmlands, the factories, and into the mines and universities.

American workers in the middle of the 20th century—in the factories and mines—are called the proletariat but they are not the same proletariat Karl Marx wrote about in the middle of the 19th century.

By the same token Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles might develop a new respect and appreciation for the ultimate resources and power of Russia if they could see personally some of the vastness of the country and the people.

True, the Russians are still far behind the industrial development of the United States but they have made enormous industrial progress since the Revolution of 1917, and their scientific progress has been astonishing.

It has been one of the ironies of history that the heads of government, making policies that affect each other's people, seldom have had a chance to visit across the borders for a first-hand look for themselves.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of six cases, five of them involving violations of motor vehicle and traffic law violations.

Wilbert Lee Edwards, Negro, Rt. 4, Greenville, failure to yield right of way, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs. The judgment also provides that Edwards is not to operate a motor vehicle for three months until he makes restitution for property damage to John W. Mooring, 908 Legion St.

Walter C. Purvis, Bethel, speeding, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs.

Jim C. Evans, 114 West Eighth St., following too close, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs. This cause was ordered retained for further order.

William E. Green, Negro, 1497 Fleming St., no operator's license, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs.

Ray Jones, 205 Grande Ave., drunk fined $25, costs deducted. The court found Kirby Branch, 201 South Dickinson Ave., not guilty of following too closely.

A heavy docket is scheduled for trial Friday morning.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exercising, emotional upset, and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain-relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel draggish, miserable—with restless, sleepless nights—don't wait—try Doan's Pills. Get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

Senator Is Second To Ask Leaf Sale Probe

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia has asked the U. S. Department of Agriculture to investigate buying on the Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco market where prices are still well below last season.

He made the request in Washington yesterday as he forwarded to the Agriculture Department a protest from D. R. Tanner, president of the Coffee County Chamber of Commerce at Douglas, Ga., that buyers are getting together and offering "entirely unsatisfactory" prices.

George's request for a scrutiny of buying practices in the belt followed a threat Saturday of a congressional investigation by Rep. Iris Blitch.

The woman congressman from Homerville, Ga., said yesterday, however, that prices seemed to be straightening out and she would wait a while longer before taking any action.

Tanner in his telegram to George said that nearly a third of the tobacco sold has gone to one company. He said the situation looked like collusion among the buyers or the big companies.

The Agriculture Department's marketing service office in Valdosta reported that prices by grades yesterday were fairly well in line with Tuesday's when the gross belt average was $49.48 a hundred pounds up 4 cents from Monday and $1.98 from Friday.

Gross sales of 11,210,430 pounds Tuesday returned the sellers $5,546,336 or $880,816 more than the

Treasurer Will Address Meeting

GREENSBORO (AP)—Delegates attending the Young Bankers Conference here Aug. 14-15 will hear talks by the treasurer of the United States and the president of the American Bankers Assn.

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. treasurer, and Homer J. Livingston of Chicago, head of the bankers, have accepted invitations to address the conference.

Wives Can Blame Soviet Hospitality

ODESSA, Ukrainian Soviet Republic (AP)—Soviet hospitality will get the blame if the wives of the touring American farm delegation don't like the poundage their spouses are acquiring.

The 12 Americans have experienced an all-out effort in the food and drink department ever since they arrived in the Soviet Union. Sometimes one eating session almost piles up on top of another, and waitlines are showing the effect.

Yesterday, for example, the visitors sat down to a huge lunch during a visit to a collective farm. When they got back to Odessa a short time later, another massive meal awaited them.

Two Americans in the party, Charles Hearst of Cedar Falls and Ralph Olsen of Ellsworth, said any weight complaints from wives would have to be blamed on Russian eagerness to overload the table.

Some quarters believe the Soviet campaign in matters of food stemmed from a desire to outshine banquets and dinners being given a similar Soviet delegation in the United States.

Another member of the U. S. delegation, Herbert Pike of Whiting, Iowa, said some of the Americans were turning up with stomachaches from overeating and too many vodka toasts.

Season sales mounted to a record-smashing 44,811,550 pounds for $21,911,998, a gain of $5,264,587 over last season for the four days.

The new season's average price was $48.90, which was $3.96 under 1954. The day's average was $3.45 below the fourth day of last season.

Auction bid averages per 100 pounds on a limited number of representative U. S. grades were as follows:

Leaf, good lemon $60 fair lemon 57, low lemon 52.
Cutters, fair lemon 63, low lemon 61, low orange 60.
Lugs, good lemon 60, good orange 58, fair lemon 55, fair orange 53, low orange 41.
Primmings, good lemon 50, fair lemon 44, fair orange 43, low lemon 35 low orange 28.

Office Robbed During Night

The office of W. A. Forbes, near Winterville, was entered last night and eight to 10 dollars in currency and silver was taken.

Thieves apparently removed a screen to gain entrance to the building. The money was removed from a cash box.

Sheriff's Department officers are investigating.

The net income of U. S. railroads was $73,600,000 million dollars in 1954, the smallest since 1949.

Communists Are Told 'Be Legal'

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Communist party has been instructed to abandon all underground activities and become totally legal under Japanese law, Kyodo news service said today.

The Japanese news agency said the orders were given to the party's National Council, meeting here, by Shoichi Kasuga, chairman of the party's central directorate.

The Communists have not allowed Japanese or foreign newsmen into the convention, attended by some 100 top party functionaries in Japan.

Kyodo said Kasuga's statement to the convention had been obtained by Japanese law enforcement authorities but did not say how.

In the past the party has operated both above and underground. As a political party it is not outlawed in Japan, has actively campaigned in past elections and now has three members in the Diet (Parliament).

Underground, according to Japanese police, it has maintained military-type organizations, armed with illegal pistols, crude bombs, "Molotov cocktail" fire bombs and grenades.

Texas Racial Laws Are Junked By Court Ruling

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Texas laws upholding racial barriers and segregation in public schools have been junked by a federal judge's ruling.

But Gov. Allan Shivers, noting that some cities in the state already have made moves toward ending segregation in the schools, cautioned against what he termed "too much rush and confusion."

The ruling was by Judge R. Ewing Thomson, former West Texas congressman, who yesterday specifically ordered Texas Western College, a subsidiary of the University of Texas, to lift its ban on Negro students. The action was a result of a suit filed here by Thelma White.

Miss White asked the court to rule on her right to enter the college on the basis of the Supreme Court decision which held school segregation unconstitutional.

Thomson said the ruling still would permit local communities to carry out intent of the Supreme Court's decree as rapidly as local conditions allow. But he added that his decision made it clear that school segregation is outlawed in Texas.

State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd said Texas would appeal if Thomson had ruled all Texas laws on racial segregation invalid. He withheld further comment until he reads Thomson's opinion.

State attorneys filed an exception to Thomson's ruling and said they would appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. Shivers advised local school districts not to "dash headlong" into

After 3 Years He Pays For Stolen Blankets

BRIHAM CITY, Utah (AP)—A man walked into the police station here yesterday and asked officer H. C. Hampton: "How much do I owe you for two blankets I walked away with three years ago?"

The man explained to the surprised officer that one cold night three years ago, "when I was down on my luck," police let him stay in a cell overnight.

In the morning, he said, he decided blankets would come in handy so he pushed them through the bars and picked them up after checking out.

"My conscience has bothered me ever since," said the man, who gave no name and address. "I vowed the first time I got to Brigham City again I'd drop in and pay for them."

Police decided $8 would be a fair price. The man paid and left.

Leaders Swamp Greenies

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

It was a general Comedy of Errors last night at Guy Smith Stadium as Greenville Greenies made 10 miscues to hand Farmville an 11-0 Coastal Plain League game on a silver platter.

The locals just couldn't do anything right and Manager Bill Kennedy's league-leading Farmers were doing everything according to Hoyle. The winners banged out a total of 14 hits—enough to win without the errors—off three pitchers.

Bill Loving started for the locals but fell apart after an error let in the first Farmville run in the second inning. From then on, Farmville collected five hits off Loving, the loser.

Tom Hall moved in from second to pitch an inning and Junior Yohn worked the last three frames. Hall allowed no runs, but Yohn was touched for two.

Dominguez Winner

Meanwhile, Farmville's Joe Dominguez, straggled Cuban right-hander, mowed down the Greenies on seven hits for the shutout. Dominguez, who has done only mediocre pitching in the CPL this summer after an outstanding career at Atlantic Christian College, slipped a hopping fast ball strike past 13 local batters and walked only one man the entire route.

Little Millard Webb, second baseman, punched out three hits to pace the Farmville attack. The sharp second sacker has now recorded 19 hits in the last six games. In the sixth frame, he pulled one of the best defensive plays seen in the local stadium all season. Blaney Moyer hit a high bouncing grounder over the pitching box. Webb came in fast, backhanded the ball and threw off-balance in the same motion.

Four Farmville men had two hits apiece. Sandy Sanderson had two singles, Streeter Tugwell had two singles, driving in three runs. Jim Hill had two doubles, both resulting in scores, and pitcher Dominguez had two one-baggers.

Blaney Moyer and J. T. Mills were the only Greenies who apparently solved the offerings of Dominguez. Moyer had a single and double and Mills had a triple and single. On the triple, Mills over-aid third base and was tagged out.

Tugwell Great

Greenville was robbed of a sure run in the fourth frame when Streeter Tugwell, Farmville's center-fielder, made a catch that would've put Willie Mays to shame. Brownie Tripp caught a pitch flush on the nose and lined it way out in left-center, some 400 feet away. Tugwell, off at the crack of the bat, made a running, falling backhand, over-the-shoulder grab for the out.

Farmville strengthened its lead on the pack with the win. Kennedy's gang now has won 26 and lost 15. Greenville, on the other hand, slipped farther into fourth place with a won-lost tally of 19-21.

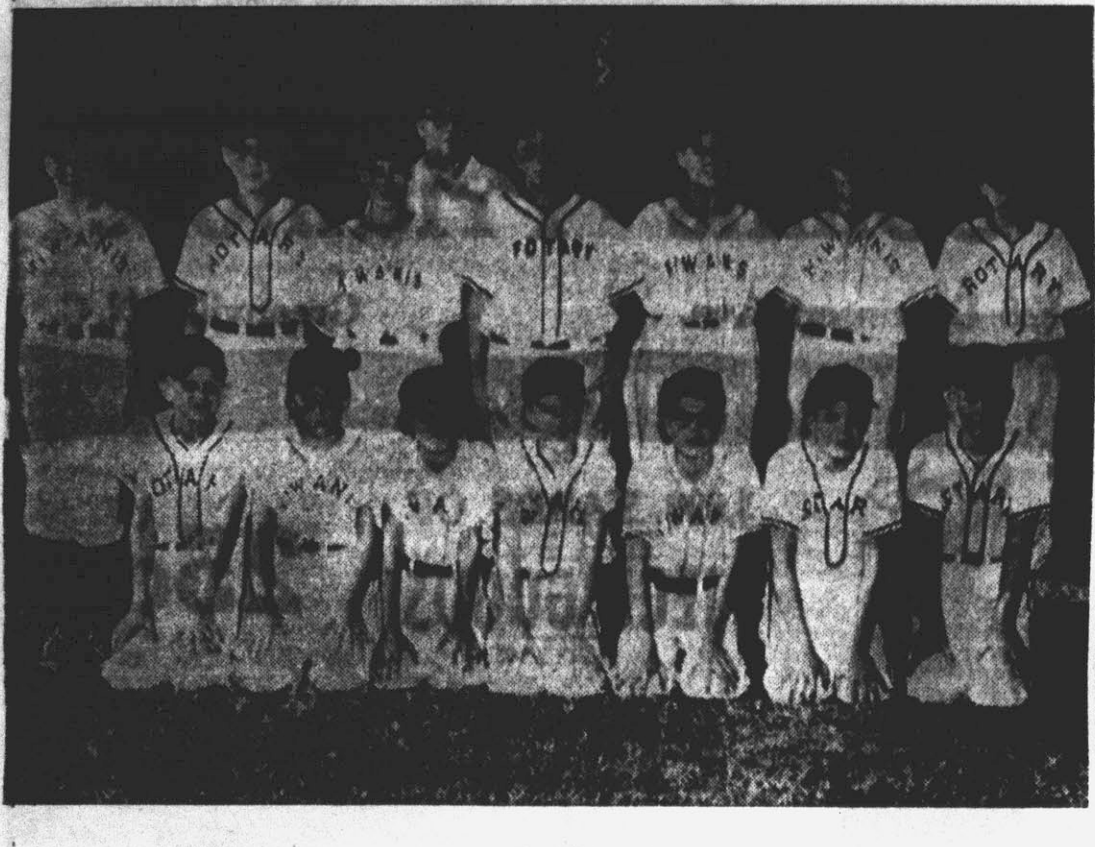

Greenville is at home this Saturday night against Rocky Mount.

Farmville All-Stars

PONY Leaguers Take Unbeaten Mark To Region

Warwick Tourney Notes: Greenville's PONY League All-Stars enter the Region Five Tournament play in Greensboro August fourth with an impressive record for the first two tournaments in their swing toward the National Title.

The Greenville youths have won five consecutive games without a defeat in double elimination tournaments. They enter the Greensboro playoffs with only thirteen runs scored against them in five games, an average of less than three a game. In the same time Coach Bill Kittrell's gang has scored thirty-seven runs, or more than seven per game.

Greenville has out-hit its opponents 37-26 and has made only five errors while the opposition was making 14. The fine defensive play is one of the main factors in the success so far.

Bobby Edwards forged into the lead as the clutch leading tournament batter with five hits in eight trips against the Virginia pitching. The slender swatter now has banged out seven hits in twenty at bats for a .350 mark. Walker Allen has six hits in twenty at bats for an even .300 figure. Dick Evans has the highest percentage among starters with five for fourteen and a .357 average.

Charlie Staton and Walker Allen have figured in all of the decisions in the Greenville games. Staton has a 4-0 mark and Allen has 1-0. Staton has hurled 17 innings, giving up one run, eight hits, five bases on balls, and twenty-five strikeouts. Allen, in 9 1-3 frames, has allowed six runs, ten hits, six walks, and 12 strikeouts.

Merrill Bynum and Bobby Edwards have pitched for Greenville, but neither have figured in the decision. Both boys will be used in the Greensboro tournament along with Staton, Allen, and Billy Cox.

It seems as if the injury jinx is working full force on the Greenville lads. Charles Staton has an infected foot that requires working on twice a day. Bobby Edwards cut his finger on a paper cutting machine. Dick Evans, the catcher, bruised two fingers on his throwing hand when a foul tip glanced from the bat of a Warwick player. The Greenville coaches are hoping these ailments will be history by time the Greensboro tourney comes.

Coach Kittrell was well pleased with the way the tourney was run off in Warwick. The players stayed in private homes, therefore reducing much of the nurse-maiding from the coaches.

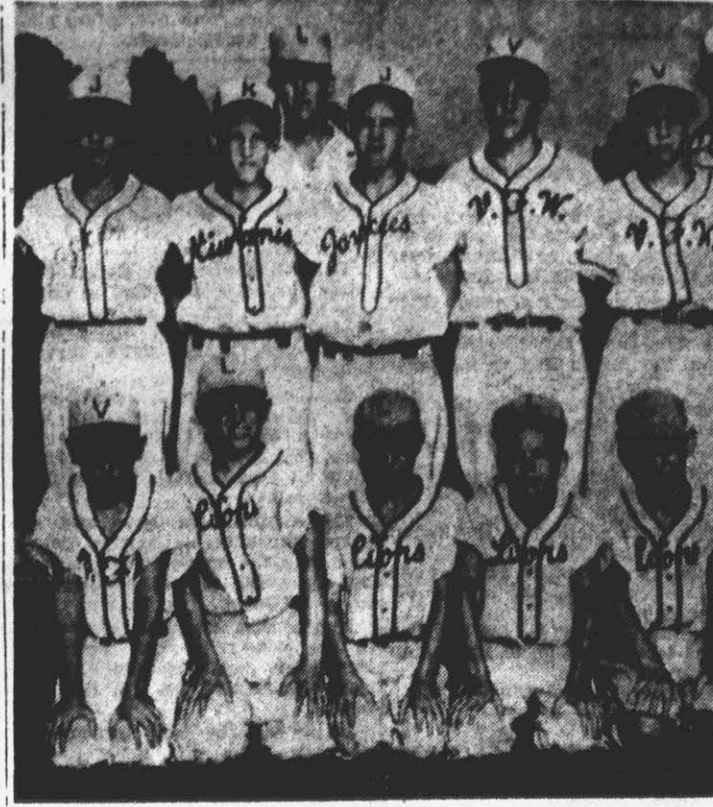

Coach Kittrell also said, "The umpiring in this tourney was the best I've ever seen. Those umpires were really good. I wish we could have them in Greensboro."

In their five games the Greenies have swatted four home runs, all four by different players. Dick Evans and Billy Cox had four baggers in the first game in Rocky Mount. Walker Allen smacked one Monday against Warwick and Bobby Edwards smashed one over the right field barrier Tuesday against Warwick.

Play in some of the other districts has not finished as yet so the pairings for the Greensboro tournament, August 4, and runs through August tenth. The National Finals will be held in Washington, Penn., on August 18.

Local Little Leagues Win

North State League

Tar Heel, North State Meet In Finals At Five

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's two Little League teams, the Tar Heel and the North State, pounded out victories in the Little League Area championships yesterday afternoon and meet in the finals this afternoon at Elm Street Park.

The Tar Heel League swamped the Negro Coastal Plain League 16-0 in their game and the North State edged Farmville 4-2 in a tight duel.

In the Tar Heel League game which started at 8 o'clock at Guy Smith Stadium, Charles Taft pitched a one-hit shutout as his mates racked up the 16-0 win. A single by Woodrow Wilson in the fifth inning robbed Taft of a no-hitter. The big twelve year old fanned seven and walked five in pitching the six inning distance. Only one player got as far as third off Taft as he bore down with runners on base.

Jackie Harrington led the hitting for the game with three base raps in three times at bat. The hustling shortstop also scored three runs. Rick Saue and Jack Whitley each had two hits for the Tar Heelers.

Eleven errors marred the play by the Coastal Plain League. The Tar Heel League played errorless ball. A seven run first inning sewed the game up as loose playing and one hit gave the Tar Heelers their runs.

Score by innings:

Coastal Plain	000	000-0	1
Tar Heel	16	145-16	10

Ward, Tucker (1); Watson (3); and Dixon, Wilson (2); Taft and Duff.

North State League

Sonny Hodges of the North State League and Stan Bailey of Farmville locked up in a sharp hurler's duel in the second game of the tournament played in Elm Street Park at five o'clock.

Hodges and Bailey each allowed seven hits, but Hodges was more effective in the clutches to gain the 4-2 win. The North Staters wrapped the game up with two runs in the fifth after scoring two runs in the third. Farmville got one player on either team got more than one safe bow.

Hodges walked three and fanned three for Greenville while Bailey walked one and fanned four for Farmville. Three errors hurt Farmville considerably.

The two Greenville leagues square off tomorrow afternoon in a single game to determine the championship for the Area. They play at five o'clock at Elm Street Park.

Score by innings:

North State	000	020-4	7
Farmville	002	02x-4	7

White Sox Whip Yankees, Bosox Down Tribe To Scramble Race

The heat was on in more ways than one today with only six games separating the first-place New York Yankees and fifth-place Detroit Tigers in the closest American League pennant scramble in 16 years.

Not since 1940 when Detroit won the flag two days before the season ended has there been such a battle.

The Chicago White Sox defeated the New York Yankees yesterday 7-4, and the Boston Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians 6-2, making the situation all the tighter. Detroit missed a big chance to gain ground, losing the second game of a double-header to Baltimore 8-7 after winning the opener 6-4.

The current leaders, New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and Detroit, are the same five clubs who fought it out for the 1940 pennant. That year the season closed with Cleveland a game behind Detroit, and New York two games back. Boston ran fifth that year, eight games out.

Kansas City grabbed a double win yesterday over the Washington Senators 6-4 and 4-1, the opener going 11 innings.

In the National, the Cincinnati Redlegs ganged up on Brooklyn in the 10th inning for a 4-3 victory, while the Milwaukee Braves handed Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils his first defeat since June 26. The Braves 2-1 victory left them in second place 12 1/2 games behind Brooklyn. The Chicago Cubs flattened the New York Giants twice, 4-2 and 9-8. St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 6-1.

Walter Dropo was the hotshot hitter for the White Sox, who evened their series with the Yankees at one each. Dropo had three hits and drove in three runs as Chicago knocked Eddie Lopat from the mound in the second inning.

Ex-Yankee Harry Byrd held New York to three hits through seven innings, then was drawn to the showers when the Yankees got three runs on four hits. Dixie Howell came on to preserve Byrd's sixth victory.

Boston made it two straight over Cleveland when Jimmy Piersall slammed a homer and single to drive in four runs. Vic Wertz homered for the Indians, who could get only six hits off right-hander Tom Brewer. Piersall's homer came in the fourth with two on off Art Houtteman.

Gus Zernial's three-run homer for Kansas City was the big blow in the first game, but Washington's Tom Umphlett sent it into extra innings with a two-run homer in the ninth. The A's Bill Harrington, third of four pitchers, gained his first big league victory in the second tilt.

Detroit handed Baltimore its eighth straight loss in the opener, and led 7-1 after five innings of the nightcap. Then the Orioles scored three runs in both the fifth and sixth innings to knot the score. Jim Dyck's single scored Cal Abrams with the winning run in the seventh.

Cincinnati loaded the bases in the 10th inning, then rookie Mill Smith singled off loser Clem Labine to bring in the winning run. Don Hoak and Duke Snider homered for Brooklyn. Johnny Klippstein pitched the 10th inning and gained credit for the victory.

Roberts, seeking his 17th victory, hooked up in a hurling duel with Lew Burdette for six innings at Milwaukee. Then in the seventh the Phils scored on three singles, but the Braves bounced back in the bottom half with the winning rally. After two were out, Del Crandall singled. Danny O'Connell was hit by a pitch, and pinch hitter George Crowe drove home one run with a single. Billy Branton's field hit scored the winning run.

Unsung Heroes Lead Bosox In AL Race

BOSTON (AP)—Jim Piersall, Boston's "other outfielder," and the left side of the infield are the unsung men of the Red Sox push to within three games of the American League lead.

The names in the headlines are those of left fielder Ted Williams, who leads the team in batting with a .340 while playing in 43 of the 98 games, right fielder Jackie Jensen, with 76 runs batted in, and first baseman Norm Zauchin, with 20 home runs.

B.T. has taken timely singles to enable the Sox to win 37 of their last 48 games. And the quartet of Piersall, second baseman Billy Goodman, shortstop Billy Klaus and third sacker Grady Hatton have had 'em when they were needed.

Piersall got the hits that beat Cleveland's third-place Indians (two games behind New York) twice in as many days. With the score tied 1-1 Tuesday night, Piersall showed his speed by beating out a high hopper that scored what proved to be the winning run in a 5-1 triumph.

Yesterday his three-run homer put the Sox ahead 3-2 and they went on to a 6-2 victory.

It took injuries to Milt Bolling and Eddie Joost at the start of

Kaline Sours In Baltimore Park

BALTIMORE Md. (AP)—Al Kaline couldn't be blamed today if at the age of 20 he was a bit cynical about the saying, "There's no place like home."

The Detroit Tiger outfielder has had a miserable time the past two nights against the Baltimore Orioles and people in the town where he grew up are hooting at him.

He came home touted as a hitter apt to be the first to take the triple crown of batting—average, home runs and runs batted in—since Ted Williams in 1947.

Not only did his bat go sour, but he just couldn't seem to do anything right at the crucial times in the field either.

The gangling youngster obviously was put out and pressing all the harder as things went wrong.

Kaline came to town Tuesday night leading the league with a batting average of .365, home runs with 22 and one behind in runs batted in with 75.

The fourth time up he got a home, but in the next 13 official times at bat he drew a blank. He poked two straight singles in the second game of last night's double-header. Still he is off 10 points to .355 in the four games since his arrival.

Tuesday night he lost a ball in the lights that should have been the last out in a Detroit victory. Instead it dropped for a triple and enabled Baltimore to tie the score and carry on for three more innings before losing.

The usually undemonstrative and untalkative Kaline gave the fans back a sign of derision when they "rode" him upon returning to the dugout.

In last night's second game, Chuck Diering sliced a fly down the right field line. Kaline reached it, but couldn't hold it and it went for a double that led to three runs and a 7-7 tie. Baltimore won in the next inning 8-7.

The Tigers had an incipient rally going in the seventh when Bill Tuttle singled and Kaline walked. Earl Torgerson hit a grounder between first and second and Kaline ran right into it to be called out and the Tigers were held scoreless.

In the ninth, Tuttle again opened by reaching first on an error. Kaline, with a last chance of atonement, hit into a double play.

He has one more opportunity on this trip today to show the home crowd he is as good as they've been reading.

Willie Pastrano, Proud Poppa, Decisions Speiser

CHICAGO (AP)—Having been in recognition with a recent victory formed just before ring time that he had become the father of a bouncing baby boy, Willie Pastrano was in a dancing mood last night at Chicago Stadium.

He showed off his nimble footwork, one of the best left jabs in the light heavyweight ranks since Pittsburgh Billy Conn, to knock out a unanimous 10-round decision over Chuck Speiser.

Referee Frank Gilmer scored the nationally televised fight 98-94 for the 19-year-old New Orleans boxer who now lives in Miami Beach, Fla. Judge Ed Heintz called it 95-91 and Judge John Bray 97-88.

Speiser, 26, of Detroit, proved a rugged, if not a sw, opponent, for the spring Pastrano and did well considering he has had only five pro scraps since being discharged from the Army last April.

Speiser was regarded a fine prospect after a great collegiate record at Michigan State, during which he was captain of the 1952 U.S. boxing team.

He still has power and should do better if the International Boxing Club wants to match him with someone he can catch.

Pastrano, who gained light heavyweight recognition with a recent victory over Joey Maxim, now has 32 victories, four losses and four draws in four years of campaigning as a pro.

He outweighed Speiser 175 1/2 pounds to 171 1/2.

Ringside attendance was only 1,350 in the sweltering weather and the net gate was $2,029.

Television Blamed For Poor Attendance

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

What about baseball? That's the title of the long awaited three page mimeographed questionnaire sent to sports editors and baseball writers by a public relations firm selected by Commissioner Ford C. Frick.

After a careful study of the questions it appears that baseball is genuinely worried about attendance at major and minor league ball games. No holds are barred in the first poll of its kind.

Five of the 12 questions being asked point the finger at television.

One query says "from the point of view of the spectator, check as many of the following ideas as you think would serve to improve the game and build attendance."

Our answer:

"Shorter games faster paced, better parking facilities, easier ways to get good tickets, more TV coverage of spring training and away games, less TV coverage of home games, more hustle from the umpires and less use of new balls."

Today most of the balls that hit the dirt are tossed out. Each time a new ball comes into play the pitcher's job is tougher because more home runs result and games take longer.

Another question says "Have telecasts tended to increase or decrease interest in baseball?"

Our answer:

"Telecasts have increased interest among nonbaseball fans."

"What effect has television had on attendance at ball parks?" is another query.

Our answer:

"It has decreased it slightly."

"How do you think people in your area would react to pay-as-you-see television of baseball games?" is another question.

Our answer:

"People would give it little support. Nonbaseball fans now watching games would ignore it."

"How do you feel about night games?" is a question.

Our answer:

"Too many games played in bad weather because owners are interested in the good advance sale."

The questionnaire also asks for one specific suggestion.

Our suggestion:

"Bargain price days with tickets purchasable only at the ball parks."

The query also asks for general comments.

Here's ours:

"One thing to remember is the fact that fans of a few years ago now are suburbanites and must drive in heavy traffic to inadequate parking lots to attend a game."

"Our private poll of the fans we know brings this answer."

"It's too much trouble to go to a game. After all we can see them on TV."

Thus the general theme appears to be that baseball cannot expect to attract the fans when it gives its product away.

Trabert, Moylan Top Meadow List

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)—Davis Cup ace Tony Trabert and defending champion Eddie Mowlan face what appears to be easy opposition in the Meadow Club Tennis Tournament today.

Trabert, who opened his tourney play with a 6-2 6-0 victory over Jack Geller of New York yesterday, takes on Cliff Mayne, 20-year old California player. And Moylan, seeded second behind Trabert, matches strokes with John Lesch, the nation's 30th ranked player from Los Angeles.

Mowlan, who defeated Trabert in the semifinals last year, advanced into the third round yesterday at the expense of Dan Walraven of Oklahoma City, winning 6-1, 6-2.

Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, the No. 1 foreign seed, also kept pace with the top-rated U.S. stars by eliminating Bill Cullen of Southport, Conn., 6-2, 8-6.

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—Patrick Hegan, 7, son of the Cleveland Indians' catcher, is being treated for non-paralytic polio at Lynn Hospital.

Dr. John Crowley, director of the polio clinic at the hospital, termed the boy's case nonparalytic last night.

"He has a residual stiff neck and back and was quite ill," Dr. Crowley said. "But his condition is good now. He should be out of the hospital in a week, with no sign of stiffness."

The boy was admitted to the hospital Tuesday. He is spending the summer with his maternal grandfather John F. Kennedy.

Jim Hegan was not permitted to see his son but has spent much of his time in the past two days conferring with doctors.

CRAZY ABOUT CAMERAS—Comedian Jerry Lewis has a little photo fun with his wife, Patti, although photography is actually a serious hobby with him.

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Jerry Lewis of the Martin and Lewis comedy team is really crazy about photography in general and home movies in particular. Here are some serious thoughts from the zany comedian which he gave me when I asked him what advice he'd pass along to photographers:

"All of us could do a much better job of preserving in motion, in color, in sound, in the happy memories of today for the future. It is so important for us to make a record now of the people we love in characteristic action—the way they look, the things they say and do.

Bring Back Past
"It is the only way we can stop time in its tracks and recall past activities, our youngsters' growing-up-phases or bring back the loving presence of some one now gone forever."

In less than 15 years, Jerry has come a long way from his first box camera and the 8mm movie camera which he bought on time because he didn't have money enough to buy it outright. Today, 29 years old, he owns about every type of still camera on the market and has a fabulous amount invested in a complete 16mm sound-on-film system for his home productions.

In his Los Angeles Pacific Palisades' home, Jerry has a photo studio with roll-away backgrounds and a complete darkroom setup for still and movie work. In addition, he has a cutting room, projection room and a library for the millions of feet of movies he has personally shot, edited, titled, scored and carefully catalogued.

Has Serious Side

A weekend at Loch Sheldrake, N.Y. gave me a pleasurable opportunity to observe at first hand the serious photo side of madcap Jerry Lewis. Here, some fifteen years ago when he first became interested in photography, he went to work as a bus boy in Brown's Hotel. Now he had returned as an international celebrity and more than 120 members of the press and film industry had gathered to preview the latest Martin and Lewis laugh-antics for Paramount's "You're Never Too Young." Because of his knowledge of photography, Jerry was co-director of the film.

Jerry proved to be a shutterbug's delight with all the amateur photographers present. He was stopped countless times to pose or hold a youngster and I didn't see anyone turned away. Once when he was caught in an area of deep shade, Jerry asked the fan what film and exposure he was using. It was slow film and just a snapshot camera so Jerry cut a few capers and moved to a spot with better, more open lighting, then posed.

Camera Interest
With professional still and newsreel cameramen shooting him from all angles, it was unusual to see the subject show such interest in their equipment, their exposures and their techniques. Between clownings, Jerry would not merely discuss lens settings but he'd come over to look for himself.

At one point, after setting up floodlights, a veteran newsreel photographer of some 20 years' experience checked his exposure carefully with a light meter. Then he turned to Lewis. "What'll I set it for, Jerry?" he asked.

The crew-cut comic studied the lighting set-up for a second then guessed, "Shoot it around f 4.5." "My meter says its closer to f 5.6," the pro reported.

It was a pretty good guess.

Actress Scalded In Set Accident

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Boiling water from a tea kettle—a prop on a film set—scalded Hollywood actress Jayne Mansfield on the face and arms yesterday.

A doctor who happened to be visiting the set treated her. He said she was seriously hurt and would suffer no disfigurement.

All Road Building Programs Killed In House Yesterday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has killed all proposals for a big new road-building program, for this year at least.

Rejected yesterday were President Eisenhower's plan for highway financing by long-term bonds and a Democratic program for roads financed with new taxes.

"The answer is, everybody wants a road bill and no one wants to pay for it," commented House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts.

Others said opposition came largely from truck owners who would have been hit heaviest by proposed tax increases in the Democratic measure.

The House ditched by a 292-123 vote the Democratic-sponsored bill which would have helped pay for new construction costs with $12,425,000,000 in added automotive taxes over the next 10 years.

Earlier the congressmen had knocked down 223-193 a long party lines a substitute containing President Eisenhower's proposal to raise money through long-term bonds issued by a separate government corporation.

Actually, Eisenhower's proposal did not count up to the 101-billion-dollar program originally announced although it was based on a special commission's report that that expenditure would be needed to give the nation the roads it

Canadian Breeze Cools Hot Belt In United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Refreshing breezes from Canada brought welcome relief to northern sections of the nation's hot belt today but more hot and humid weather was indicated for many other sun-baked areas.

The cooling, weather forecasters indicated, isn't going to stay long in the Midwest. They said the cool front appears too weak to hold back the strong flow of hot, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico that has sent temperatures above 100 degrees this week. It will be hot and humid again tomorrow in most of the Midwest, forecasters said.

But millions of persons had their first comfortable sleep in several nights as the cool air dropped temperatures across the northern edges of the plains region, most of the Great Lakes and the North Atlantic states.

South of the cool front over the eastern half of the country early morning temperatures were in the upper 70s and low 80s, some 20 degrees higher than in the northern areas.

Thunderstorms moved in with the cooler air in many places. At Detroit a storm and cool breezes sent the mercury tumbling from a high of 100 to 73 in one hour. Two persons lost their lives. Property damage was heavy.

Chicago, near the bottom of the cool air mass got a little relief after two days of 100-degree heat. Scattered showers and thunderstorms were reported in the Rocky Mountain region and as far southeastward as western Texas. They also hit areas along the cool front over Lower Michigan eastward to New York and southwest-ern Maine.

Takes An Oath He Isn't Dead

SEATTLE (AP)—Olin Martin Lamb, 40, took an oath yesterday before Asst. U.S. Atty. Frank

She claims she hasn't heard from Lamb since 1940 and thinks he should be presumed dead. She has claimed his $1,000 life insurance, taken out when he was a soldier 23 years ago.

Lamb didn't say when he hasn't written.

Baby's Parents Still Awaited After A Month

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Barbara Jean Burkeheart, 9 weeks old, today was still awaiting her parents who left her with a Durham baby sitter nearly a month ago.

Mrs. W. H. Parrish said the infant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burkeheart of Jackson, left the girl with her on July 4, promising to return in a week.

Monday Mrs. Parrish received a letter from Mrs. Burkeheart. It said they would come for Barbara yesterday.

"I haven't heard from them any more so maybe something else has happened," Mrs. Parrish said last night.

Mrs. Parrish said of the baby, "She's just fine, and has a better color and has picked up and everything. She has black hair and black eyes and is sure sweet."

MORE CALIFORNIA FRUIT
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Production of deciduous fruits—apples, apricots, cherries, grapes, freestone peaches, pears and plums—increased 27 per cent in California in the 1949-1950 period compared with 1934-1938. National production meanwhile increased less than 7 per cent. In the postwar period California has accounted for close to 50 per cent of the nation's total commercial tonnage of these fruits.

Natural Gas Bill Is Before The House; Issue In Doubt

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation came to the House floor today. Neither friends nor foes made any confident predictions.

If it should be passed, it is unlikely that Senate leaders, driving for early adjournment, would call it up for what promises to be a lengthy debate there. It still could be acted upon next year.

The bill would remove the present authority for the Federal Power Commission to fix producers' prices for gas sold to distributors shipping it through interstate pipe lines.

Bakers claim it would not increase prices to consumers. They argue that it would strike federal shackles from the gas industry, encourage production and thus make more gas available at reasonable prices.

Opponents contend ending federal regulation would raise prices and the ultimate consumer would have to pay more.

The issue cuts across party lines. Support is concentrated among legislators from the South and West producing states. Strongest opposition comes from predominantly consuming areas.

In effect, the bill would nullify a Supreme Court decision of June 7, 1954, in a case involving the Phillips Petroleum Co. The court held that Congress intended in an earlier act for the FPC to regulate field prices of gas sold for transportation across state lines.

Prior to that decision, the commission had operated on the theory that it had no such regulatory powers under the 1938 Natural Gas Act. The court said the FPC should exercise such authority.

The pending bill contains provisions which its sponsors claim would protect consumers from runaway prices. One section would direct the FPC not to allow pipeline companies to charge off as operating expenses more than a "reasonable market price" for the gas they buy from producers.

Made High Bid For Lighthouse

BOSTON (AP)—Now, Arthur E. Mari, 36, can go into lighthouse keeping. He was high bidder yesterday with an offer of $2,001 for Disc Head Light Station at Castine, Maine. His bid of $2,001 also was the highest for Nautilus Island in Castine Harbor. He explained he had "always wanted to own a lighthouse and an island so I could be close to the ocean when I retire." The government declared the lighthouse and island surplus.

Crockett Craze Rough On Birds

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The Davy Crockett craze has made it rough on birds around here, the Sarasota Bird Club says. Modern Davys, not having many chances to shoot a bear, are drawing a bead on their feathered friends instead. The bird club is trying to educate parents to supervise their youngsters' activities with BB guns and small rifles, and to limit the shooting to targets, cans and other such objects instead of birds.

Probers Have Reopened Case Of 1946 Slayings

NEW YORK (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee "has quietly reopened" the case of the 1946 ax slayings of three American Army officers in Passau, Germany, the New York Daily News said today.

Former Army Capt. James M. Leech, of Lima, Ohio, was charged with the crime last year in warrants issued by a United States court in Germany.

Leech has denied killing the three officers—Maj. Everett S. Coffran, Washington, D.C.; Capt. Adrian L. Wessler, New Rochelle, N.Y.; and Lt. Stanley M. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.

They were bludgeoned in their beds at a luxurious villa at Passau, and their rooms were set afire. Last May 13, however, a week after West Germany regained its sovereignty, the Bavarian state prosecutor started a new investigation.

While the case still was under U.S. jurisdiction, Rep. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn) had inserted in the Congressional Record a demand that the Army, State Department and then-existent high commissioner for Germany make a complete report.

In a dispatch from Washington, the Daily News said today that Congressional investigators conferred yesterday with William D. Canfield, who probed the case when he was a trial attorney with the U. S. High Commission in Germany.

The News quoted committee sources as saying the meeting with Canfield was a "preliminary inquiry" and "after other inquiries are made the senators will decide whether to air the case in public hearings."

Leech lived in a house adjoining a villa occupied by Coffran, who had Wessler and Rosewater as his guests when the slayings occurred. Leech once was held for four months in Germany for questioning.

Money Managers Think Curb On Credit Is Answer Americans In Morocco Uneasy As To Future

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—How to keep good times going is the problem today for the money managers. They think they have the answer in mild restraints on credit.

Their idea: Not only have you never had it so good, but if you're to avoid hard times in the future, money mustn't be let to get too easy now.

So the cost of short-term borrowing has risen to the highest point in more than a year and a half. And the price of long-term government bonds has fallen—another way of saying that the yield on them has risen to keep pace with higher rates charged on other loans.

This may be hard for some to understand—the fellow, say, who is looking for a comfortable-to-carry mortgage for a new house or a growing family, or the businessman who'd like a bank loan, at last year's cost, to get ready for the fall and Christmas trade.

The policy of mild restraint is based on the belief that price inflation isn't much of a threat in the United States now, but that credit inflation could be. And inflated credit could kill the business boom simply by overstimulating it and bringing on a bust.

With an apparent frown for the near credit terms that have become popular, the comptroller of the currency has told the 4,800 national banks in the land: "Go ahead and do all the consumer loan business you can, but be sure you do it sensibly."

The Federal Reserve Board has sent notice to the 1,900 state banks who are members of the system that it plans to keep an eye on their installment credit activities.

The official worry stems from the chance that all the talk nowadays about higher prices could lead businessmen and consumers to start stocking up on goods and materials to beat any anticipated rise. Borrowing to build up inventories, officials fear, could lead to the same situation that preceded the recessions of 1949 and 1953-54.

Consumer credit is already at an all-time high. During the first half of this year, the Federal Reserve notes, bank loans to business increased by two billion dollars. This is contrary to customary experience. Bank loans usually drop in the first half of the year and increase in the second half to take care of the crops and the fall pickup in trade.

Officials are quick to point out that there is nothing dangerous in the size of the loans, either at the business or consumer levels. National income and production have kept step with, or set the pace for, the debt increase. But the money managers dislike any prospect of an over-optimistic credit inflation being piled on top NOUASSEUR, French Morocco—Join the U.S. Air Force and see picturesque Morocco. Maybe there will be a small bomb under your car some morning to add to the excitement.

This is the hot, dusty meadow some 30 miles south of tumultuous Casablanca where Uncle Sam has built the biggest of his five air bases on the northwest hump of Africa.

The 20,000 Americans living in French Morocco feel some uneasiness about their future amid the bitter strife between Moroccan nationalists and European counterterror.

The overwhelming majority of these Americans are Air Force people—uniformed and civilian—with their wives and children. Some 1,000 or more families live in and around Casablanca, where rioting has caused more than 100 deaths since July 14.

The American families understandably don't care too much for the situation, though no American has been killed or seriously hurt. "They have been standing up to it like good old American pioneer stock," said Gen. James L. Jackson, of Eureka Springs, Ark., the Nouasseur base commander.

But Mrs. Evelyn Allsup, of Fort

Walton Beach, Fla., decided after two bombs were set off on the ground floor of her apartment house that there were other places for her children to live.

"They were outside waiting for the school bus and it was a miracle nothing happened to them," she said.

The family is now one of the few housed on the base itself, waiting for a plane out. So is the family of T. Sgt. Charles V. Starks, Rock Island, Ill., who found his car one day with the engine ripped out by a bomb.

These families say they are not being shipped out because of the situation but because their 30-month tour of duty has ended.

Such cases of bombings are not frequent, though car burning has nearly attained the status of a national sport in Casablanca. Most American cars have distinctive red license plates and some fly American flags, but it is doubtful if many bomb throwers would pay much attention.

Authorities at Nouasseur take what precautions they can on a base that has houses for only 50 families. Newcomers are told the situation is "a bit tense." They are ordered to stay out of crowds in the Arab quarters.

TV Reached A Pinnacle In Staging 'The Fourposter'

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Television attained one of its entertainment pinnacles last Monday night when Producer's Showcase (NBC-TV) presented "The Fourposter," with Jessica Tandy and her husband Hume Cronyn in their original Broadway roles.

The magnificent Cronyns were every husband and wife who last 38 years together. As in the stage production, they brought mature, witty entertainment to the television screen. Director, cameraman and stage designer deserve equal credit with them in causing an hour and a half to pass so enjoyably.

While tossing bouquets to everyone concerned, let's not forget NBC, which had the difficult task of cutting 15 minutes playing time from the stage production. It was done deftly with much of the original salt and savor of the lines retained.

"The Fourposter" appeared just 24 hours after an abysmal television entertainment. The occasion was the Variety Hour (NBC-TV) when viewers were assaulted with one of the longest commercials of the present considerable boom. Their policy appears to be: Enough credit and money to keep the boom going along at its present pace—but not so much as could lead to excesses which would only end, after the film, in hard times.

ever seen on television—almost a solid hour.

Jack Webb spent most of that hour touting his forthcoming musical movie, "Fete Kelly's Blues." It was one long plug for everybody, even including the recording company which will distribute songs from the film. The explanation of how the film was made was hopelessly tedious.

This sort of thing is the monstrous offspring of the marriage of movies and television. It's time Hollywood realized the job of actors and actresses on a TV screen is to entertain—not to plug. Unless somebody gets the point and does something about it, both television and the movies will suffer.

Doctors Open A Complaint Office

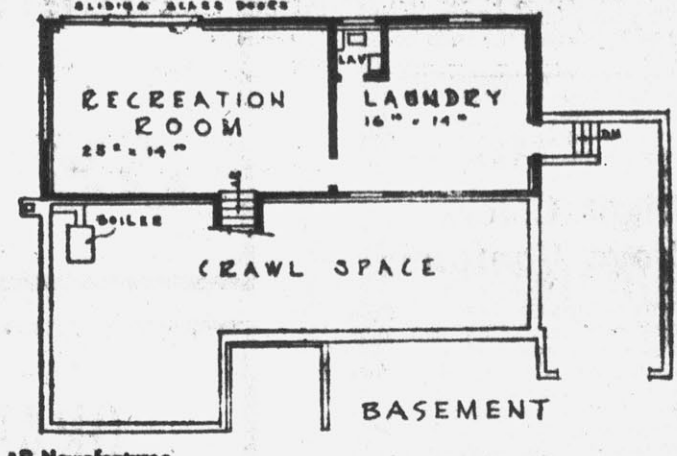

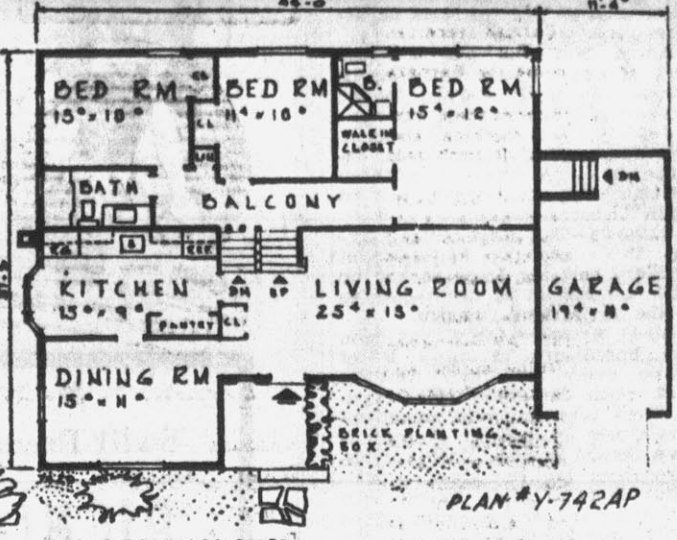

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP)—From now on the doctors in Western Java are going to get an earful.

The Priangan Doctors Assn. has just opened an office where patients can lodge complaints about their medical treatment or their bills.

The idea, the association said, "is to smooth relations between doctors and patients."

The total U.S. mileage of railroad lines in 1954 was 221,000 compared to 250,272 in 1952.

Jury Rules Both Special Reason For Safety Hope

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—The corner's report said that Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Scarce died en route to a hospital after an automobile accident.

Which died first became an important question. They left no children. The estate would go to the nearest relatives of the last to die. A jury pondered and decided they died at the same time.

ST. IGNAZE, Mich. (AP)—Percival (Whitey) Adams, straw boss of crews weaving steel into a 100 million dollar bridge across the Straits of Mackinac, has a special reason for hoping his record of "never having lost a man" holds on this job.

One of Whitey's crewmen is his 19-year-old son, an engineering student, on vacation from college.

Gave Mattress With Her $100

DALLAS, (AP)—Mrs. J.G. Curtiss, 80, asked police to help her find the tramp she gave a meal and an unneeded mattress. She remembered she'd sewed up $100 in the old mattress.

Asked for a description, the only thing she could remember of the man was that he talked "very sweet."

U. S. Allies In Far East Could Put Sizeable Army In Field Right Away

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (AP)—If war starts tomorrow in the Far East, what could America's Asian allies put on the line in their own defense?

In the face of billions of U. S. dollars spent in Far East trouble spots in the two years since the guns went silent in Korea, the answer is interesting.

Roughly, the United States probably could count on upwards of 1,300,000 soldiers and airmen from South Korea, Nationalist China and the Philippines—and this would be only the initial call-up.

This figure, though unofficial, was made available by qualified sources in the three vigorously anti-Communist countries.

An unofficial estimate of Allied power looks like this:

South Korea—21 divisions of 12,000 men each, presently under arms. In addition, supporting these units are corps units, artillery and special weapons battalions which make the South Korean standing force to about 600,000 men.

Nationalist China—25 divisions of 10,000 men each, with supplementary units and special weapons bulging the standing army figure to roughly 800,000. The Nationalists also have three wings of jet fighter-bombers and a group of prop-driven F47 Thunderbolts.

The Philippines—The islands currently have 40,000 men under arms. Reliable informants say the Filipinos could call an additional 100,000 men in an emergency. They are still without a jet air force, but the United States will soon be-

Official Probe Started By Child

HILLSBORO, Ohio, (AP)—An appeal to President Eisenhower from a nine-year-old Ohio girl whose father was killed in a railroad crossing accident has prompted an official investigation into the possibility of installing signals at the crossing.

Pamela Sue Huff of near Hillsboro wrote the President last April after her father, James W. Huff, was killed on his way home from work, Dec. 12, 1954.

Eisenhower forwarded the child's appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The ICC asked the Ohio Public Utilities Commission to investigate. The commission scheduled a hearing on the matter for Sept. 2 to determine whether flasher signals should be installed at the crossing.

The New York Central railroad whose trains use the crossing said it would oppose installation of lights. A railroad spokesman insisted the "crossing was not dangerous and anyone injured there was at fault."

Huff was returning home from work in a factory when his auto was struck.

Pamela wrote the President, "I think the railroad people should have to obey safety rules too. Can you tell them to put lights? Please, I think you are a good president."

And she wrote the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, "If you put a light at the crossing, it will mean an awful lot to me for it will protect other children's daddies on their way home from work."

Pamela gave Eisenhower an alternate suggestion too. "I would like to see either a light," she wrote, "or that railroads and roads do not cross."

SEATO member of the three. Pakistan and Thailand are the other two Asian members of this collective security organization.

Another question often raised is: How good are the troops now available?

The South Koreans are the only soldiers who have seen recent combat on a large scale. They make up a young army, which has been praised as being able to hold its own with any in the world today. It is the fourth largest behind the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States.

The Nationalists have now been out of fighting for nearly six years, and they are growing older. A relatively stale army is always a big question mark.

The Chinese are sensitive about this point.

They argue that they are calling up youngsters all the time and that they have the young soldiers where it counts—Quemoy and Matsu. Unofficially, it is estimated that four of Chiang Kai-shek's toughest divisions are out on these offshore islands.

Air-wise, most Nationalist pilots are well over 30 and many are 40. But the air force, like the army, feels it has the youngsters to do the job.

One observer says the Nationalists appear to suffer from the same shortage the South Koreans displayed in 1950—lack of artillery and knowledge of how to use it.

Through the military defense assistance program, the United States is continuously expanding services of advisory commissions to its Far East allies.

Actually, the United States can call up only three full divisions in Asia today. But that doesn't mean ground troops are being discounted in future military plans as reliance on the Air Force and atomic bombs increases.

One high officer said, "The main object of war is still to seize ground and the people on it. You can't do that with airplanes—only with men carrying rifles. These troops have got to hold the ground once they seize it."

Dispersal and mobility is being emphasized throughout Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Formosa and the Philippines, where American air or ground forces are stationed.

... And that means more ground troops will be necessary, not less," one infantry officer declared.

The present American ground force lineup in the Far East—with most units up to 25 per cent understrength—looks like this:

Korea—24th and 7th divisions and a large number of service troops and men attached to the Korean Military Advisory Group.

Japan—1st Cavalry Division, which is responsible for ground defense of all central and northern Honshu and the newly arrived 508th Airborne Regiment.

Okinawa—75th Regimental Combat Team and two battalions of artillery now are being backed up with the arrival of two regiments of the 3rd Marine Division.

All U. S. units—Army, Navy and Air Force—are in much better shape today than they were in 1950, when the Korean War started. New weapons, new equipment and a new attitude of readiness is evident among U. S. troops throughout the Far East.

But there is some feeling that too much reliance is being placed on the Air Force.

"It took only two bombs to force Japan to surrender," said one air officer.

However, he ignored the fact that thousands of infantrymen and Marines gave their lives to seize islands which were converted into bases for the atom bombers.

Bright Colors Prove Confusing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Those bright new colors on 1955 automobiles are pretty, but at least one Philadelphia woman thinks they are also confusing.

She wanted a taxicab, hailed a brightly-painted car at an intersection and began tugging at the rear door handle.

"Please, lady," said the driver. "This is my car, my own private car. It's not a cab."

The U. S. Bureau of Mines was founded in 1910.

California Now Top Bean State

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Of course you know about the little white beans Boston has made famous. But did you know that California, the nation's top producer of dried beans, also grows nearly a dozen other varieties?

They are large limas, small limas, blackeyes, red kidney, pinto, pink, cranberries, California reds and Garbanzos. In 1954 the state produced 27 per cent of the nation's total dry bean crop.

Newest thing in Room with a View

It's the 4-Door Riviera—
the stunning new hit of America's Hardtops

WHEN Buick introduced America's first hardtop—the Riviera—folks went for it in a big way, and fast.

They liked the Convertible look of this 2-door beauty—long, low and rakish. They liked the added security of the steel roof overhead. And they certainly liked the absence of center posts in the side window areas—which gave a completely unbroken view left and right.

People liked it all so well that, over the past six years, they made the Riviera the biggest-selling hardtop in the world, bar none. And it still is.

Now Buick has come up with another great advance in hardtops—the 4-Door Riviera—and it's a sensational hit.

It has everything the original 2-Door Riviera has—plus separate doors for rear-seat passengers, and a whole of a lot more room for them.

Rock-solid half-pillars on either side are what latch the front doors and hinge the rear ones. So there's no center post above the door line—and a completely open sweep of view to both sides.

And the roominess provided by this gorgeous new hardtop is really something—over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom in the rear.

That way you can also try what else is to be had here—Buick comfort, Buick power, Buick ride and handling and roadability—plus the electrifying action of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Do it this week—tomorrow would be fine—and you'll see what record volume really means in the way of record-high trade-in deals.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick has today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Peron's Opposition Files Ten Demands For 'Reform'

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The head of the opposition Radical party blasted the government last night with a 10-point demand for reforms. It was the first opposition broadcast President Juan Peron has permitted since he took office in 1946.

Two other developments yesterday stemmed from Peron's announcement July 15 that he was quitting active leadership of his Peronista-controlled Chamber of Deputies set a meeting for Friday to hear charges by the Radicals against the federal police, and the Peronista party itself got a new president.

Radical leader Arturo Frondizi stated his party's case to the country over a 14-station network. He demanded "a rebirth of democracy" and outlined this program as essential for the political peace Peron has called for:

1. An end to the state of internal war under which the government has suspended constitutional guarantees for nearly four years.
2. Amnesty for all "who suffer persecution, imprisonment or exile for defending their ideals."
3. A stop to "embezzlement and bribery" to clear the atmosphere of the corruption which envelops the life of the country.
4. Full freedom of thought, religion, assembly, press, and organization.
5. Appointment of judges "without political affiliation."
6. A new electoral system assuring free campaigning.
7. An end to "political propaganda" in the schools.

The Chamber of Deputies debate on the Radical charges against the police was ordered by the House's new president, Alberto Luis Rocamora. In the past Peronista congressmen, who hold 149 of the 166 seats, have refused to allow debate on any such opposition moves.

The Radicals charged the police with responsibility for the burning of an Argentine flag June 11 which touched off widespread anticlerical rioting, for the death after arrest of a Communist party leader in Santa Fe province, for a killing during a mob attack on a Radical party demonstration here July 22, and for the sacking of several Buenos Aires churches during the June 16 revolt.

The new Peronista party head is Alejandro Leloir, 49-year-old congressman, lawyer and wealthy ranch owner. He succeeds Rear Adm. Alberto Teissiera, vice president of the republic, who resigned Monday after Peron demanded that government officials abandon political activity. Leloir is a close friend of army officers now holding the highest military and government posts.

Pastor On Trial Voices Defiance

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A young Lutheran pastor on trial before fellow churchmen on charges of heresy says "my ministry will continue regardless of what happens here."

The Rev. George P. Crist Jr., 31, said he was not "panicky" about the outcome of the trial and was prepared to accept dismissal from the ministry if the Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church imposes such a sentence.

The trial, first in the 60-year history of the synod, is hearing charges that Pastor Crist "adulterated the Word of God" and mixed his own "opinions and surmises" with the Scripture.

The penalty, if a finding of guilty is returned and upheld by the synod convention in 1956, could range from a simple rebuke to defrocking.

The trial, behind closed doors and before a board of seven other ministers, entered its second day today. Neither side planned to call any witnesses.

Rev. Crist, pastor of the Bethlehem Church in the village of Durham in neighboring Waukesha County, is accused of 14 counts of deviation from Lutheran doctrine. He has headed the congregation of 225 members for six years.

Pastor Crist said he will attempt to prove that his beliefs "constitute a permissible point of view within the Lutheran Church."

He said he would deny some of the charges against him as "not representative of my views."

The trial centers around 18 sermons delivered by Pastor Crist earlier in the year. He said the sermons accurately reflected his views and added he would not recant any of his preachings.

The specific counts against him declare Pastor Crist denied the virgin birth of Christ, the physical resurrection of Jesus, the occurrence of some miracles and the certain effects of prayer.

The trial prosecutor, the Rev. Charles Burmeister, 41, of Marinette, Wis., appointed to the task by the church, said the trial is a "significant event in Lutheran history. The synod is declaring itself on the doctrine of deviation. It will not tolerate teachings in conflict with the faith that it officially professes."

Dr. Paul Bishop of Minneapolis, synod president who is attending the trial as an administrative official said "there is nothing final about this trial. The majority of the committee must bring in its verdict and recommend a penalty, but it's all subject to review by the synod convention."

The convention meets here May 15, 1956. Rev. Crist acted as his own defense counsel.

In the year 800 A.D. the emperor Charlemagne issued an edict which outlawed the pressing of wine with bare feet because it was unsanitary.

Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw is expected to report that the state's financial receipts for the 1954-55 fiscal year ran 1 1/2 million dollars beyond the last estimates of the Legislature.

When the General Assembly adjourned, it was estimated the state would have a credit balance of $12,328,000 at the end of the past fiscal year. Indications now are that it will stand closer to 15 million.

Rosy Picture Of State Finances

RALEIGH (AP)—A rosy picture of the state's financial situation is expected to be presented to the Advisory Budget Commission this afternoon.

Reports will be made to the commission by the Budget Bureau and the Revenue Department in a meeting in Gov. Hodges office. Budget Bureau Director David Coltrane is expected to report savings of around seven million dollars instead of the $5,685,000 the bureau was obligated to save under the budget adopted by the 1955 Legislature.

Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw is expected to report that the state's financial receipts for the 1954-55 fiscal year ran 1 1/2 million dollars beyond the last estimates of the Legislature.

When the General Assembly adjourned, it was estimated the state would have a credit balance of $12,328,000 at the end of the past fiscal year. Indications now are that it will stand closer to 15 million.

Man In River Apparently Killed

CLINTON, N. C. (AP)—Sheriff W. D. Hall said O. B. Autry, 52, whose body was discovered by children in South River yesterday, apparently was murdered.

Autry's skull was cracked and he had a hole in his head, evidently caused by a blunt instrument. Sheriff Hall called on the SBI for help in solving the case.

Autry was last seen leaving his home Sunday. He was barefooted as he walked along the highway. Officers said he was thought to be carrying $5 in his pocket.

Nearly every member of the Chaikmas tribe of southeastern East Pakistan smokes tobacco. The native leaf is used by children as young as four years.

Meet To Award Highway Bids

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Highway Commission met today to review and award low bids amounting to $4,016,992 for 21 road projects.

The commission also was expected to receive a report from a committee looking into the advisability of posting U. S. 1A markers in a line from Henderson, Oxford, Durham and Sanford. It is expected to turn the matter down on the proposal advanced by Durham interests.

West Indians Look To Jobs In Britain

By PHIL MANGELSDORF
KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—For many workers in the West Indies the promised land lies eastward. Reversing a trend of three centuries, a steady migration from the new world to the old is helping with two problems—a labor demand in England and a surplus of laborers in Jamaica.

More than 12,000 Jamaicans have in two years left their tropical island to seek jobs in Britain. Only about one in a hundred has returned.

Shipping lines offer cheap passage. Employers in England's industrial Midlands are advertising for West Indian workers.

Many Jamaicans went to England during the war. Some remained and found good jobs in postwar prosperity. They sent word back to the Caribbean. Last year more than 8,000 made the trip. But this number made only a dent in the estimated 100,000 who are unemployed during the island's agriculture off-season. The government calls unemployment its most pressing problem.

Practically all who have emigrated are either Negro or have Negro blood.

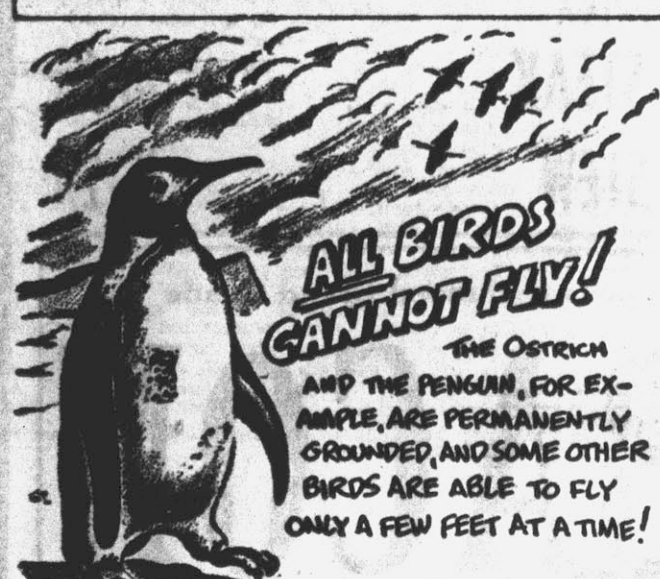

Wills Isaacs, minister for trade and industry in Jamaica, says he was in England recently "and found not the slightest discrimination." Others in Jamaica do not take such a satisfied view of the situation. They prefer to refer to the problem not as one of "racial discrimination" but of "racial sensitivity."

William Alexander Bustamante, controversial favorite of a large portion of Jamaica's workmen says: "West Indians should flow freely to England 'but we should not encourage them to go to England just to get rid of them here.'"

"Any man in England who's earning less than 10 pounds ($28) a week would be better off here earning 30 shillings ($4.20)," said former Prime Minister of Jamaica last week.

A weekly wage of 30 shillings in Jamaica is not unusual.

Fined Himself For Violation

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—Justice of the Peace A. E. (Son) Warren paid himself a $11.50 fine yesterday for driving on the wrong side of the highway.

He entered a shaky plea of guilty, admitting he drove down the wrong side of the busy Temple-Belton U.S. 81 expressway before a policeman flagged him down.

His mind was on a fishing trip, he said, and he figured the motorists who blew their horns and waved as they passed "were just friendly folks"—so he waved back at them.

A DOG'S LIFE

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Harris County Commissioners were told it costs 25 cents a day to feed prisoners in the city jail, but costs 60 cents a day to keep a pooch in the dog pound.

Fifty Japanese School Girls Swept To Sea

TSU, Japan (AP)— Fifty high school girls in a beach swimming party were swept to sea today by treacherous ocean currents and pounding surf.

Conflicting reports placed the death toll as high as 41.

It was Japan's worst swimming beach disaster.

The newspaper Asahi said 36 girls picked up by fishing boats had not been revived four hours later.

Police lifeguards and 25 doctors and nurses worked feverishly over the them but one doctor said, "It seems hopeless."

The newspaper Mainichi said all 36 were believed dead. Kyodo news service said five bodies had been pulled from the water and several still were missing. Many had been battered against the rocks.

Some 270 high school students, supervised by teachers, were at the beach party. About 50 swam away from the main group. They floundered in the rough water and then were carried out by the current.

Hysterical and weeping parents arrived at the beach, crowding around the teams trying to restore life.

Dr. Jiro Higuchi said that when he arrived, "Most seemed to have some but very slight heart palpitations. But when three hours artificial respiration failed to revive them, we considered our efforts hopeless."

Dr. Susumi Nagai said, "We were called too late. Many picked up were laid on the beach and remained there for at least 15 minutes before artificial respiration was begun."

About 60 per cent of all raw furs produced in the United States in 1954 were mink.

CAUGHT IN "MISTAKE" KILLING—Shirtless, sun-tanned and handcuffed, Bernard Davis, 39, is taken from a police car after his arrest at Huntington, W. Va., for the slaying of a roomer by mistake in the home of his former wife at Orlando, Fla. He is in custody of Detective Melvin D. Grobe. Officers said Davis slipped into the house of his ex-wife, Rosa Marie Finley, 26, and shot Joel Cohen, 38. Cohen was asleep in the bedroom formerly shared by Davis and his wife. Police said Davis invaded the house to kill his former wife and shot Cohen by mistake. (AP Wirephoto)

Red China's Negotiator At Geneva Announced

TOKYO (AP)—Wang Ping-nan, Red China's choice as negotiator in the Geneva talks with the United States, holds high rank in Chinese Communist councils and is a close associate of Chou En-lai, premier and foreign minister.

Peiping radio announced Wang's selection yesterday soon after President Eisenhower told a press conference the Geneva session starting Monday could lead eventually to face-to-face negotiations between Chou and Secretary of State Dulles.

In Geneva, Wang, now ambassador to Poland, will negotiate with U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia and a State Department Far East expert.

Wang was secretary general of Communist China's delegation to the 1954 Geneva conference which drafted the Indochina truce. Chou headed the delegation.

In 1946 Wang was Chou's liaison man with the foreign press at Chungking during the last fruitless direct negotiations between Communists and Nationalists. In 1953 he was one of Red China's representatives attending Josef Stalin's funeral.

Johnson, the U. S. negotiator, was a background figure during Korean truce negotiations with the Chinese Communists. He then was deputy assistant secretary of state for the Far East.

In Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist headquarters at Taipei President Eisenhower's press conference statement that talks between Dulles and Chou might be necessary came as a new, jarring jolt.

The President declared, however, that the United States first must find out at Geneva what the Chinese Communists want to talk about.

The Foreign Office in Taipei declared Nationalist China firmly opposed any Formosa cease-fire.

Dulles, saying Johnson's chief aim at Geneva would be to seek release of 51 Americans held in Red China, declared Tuesday that Johnson also would sound out the Chinese Communists' attitude on a Formosa cease-fire.

Peiping radio, launching a fresh attack on "U.S. imperialism," made clear that Red China would renew demands for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Formosa.

No 'Hot' Days In Weather Report

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry F. Wahlgren, the government weather man here, has made many references in his forecasts to the "warm" weather this summer but not once has he mentioned that ugly word "hot."

A reporter, perspiring in 96-degree heat, asked why not.

"There is no point in saying it is continued hot and humid, at least not when it stays under 100 degrees," Wahlgren explained.

"They'll be hotter than ever if we do that."

Plants are the only form of life which can make sugars from which all other foods are made.

HOME FROM THE SEA—Boat Per Thorvaldson, 31, an accounting clerk, ties up his 28-foot ketch in Los Angeles harbor after a 14-month voyage to Tahiti and back. He ran into trouble on the return trip and took more than four months to make the crossing. He had been given up for lost. (AP Wirephoto)

Expensive Way To Catch Fish

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP)—Dr. M. J. Noel found a new way to catch fish but it was expensive. He parked his 1955 model car near a river and the machine rolled down a steep shore into the water. When a wrecker retrieved the car, two fish were found inside.

of checking fingerprints in the apartment. "They did," she laughed. "Let me see your thumbs." He held out his hands, palms up. "There is a little scar on the left thumb. Yours were the prints they couldn't identify. There were lots of his and, of course, Lucy's. I suppose it was his resemblance to you that gave him the idea of taking your place. But why? What does he want? The ruby?" Gerry's eyes were no longer musing—they were sharp and alert. "So you found out it was real?" "I wore it at Aunt Caroline's. Two friends of hers were there, Mr. Clive and Dr. Sallust. They told me. At first I couldn't believe it. But later that night I had a visitor—an East Indian from Mogor. He was looking for the ruby and that convinced me. Do you know him? A man with a cat tattooed on his wrist?" "No." "Did you know from the very beginning that this pendant was a real ruby called the Fire of India?" "Yes."

Unfinished Crime

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

Caroline was grimly impassive, shrunk back into the recesses of her wheel chair like an old tortoise retracted into its shell. Clive was openly distressed; Edna, quite bewildered under her surface calm. Captain Sanders looked resigned and cynical. Only Gerry showed strong feeling. "What is this anyway, Sara? Was it planned?" "Yes," Her chin lifted defiantly. "I had to know the truth."

ment from Judith's... She tolled up the next flight, panting, and came out into the hall on her own floor. A lamp burned high in the wall beside the elevator. Beyond in shadow, stood a tall, broad-shouldered figure, back toward her, and hand raised as if to knock on her door. So Gerry hadn't gone on to his own apartment. He had stopped to make his peace with her. He turned at the sound of her step. His face was quite clear in the light from the lamp—warm brown eyes under heavy brows; sudden smile, friendly, quizzical. This was the way she remembered him, not at all like the sulky, self-important young man at Aunt Caroline's this afternoon. How could he be so different in different moods?

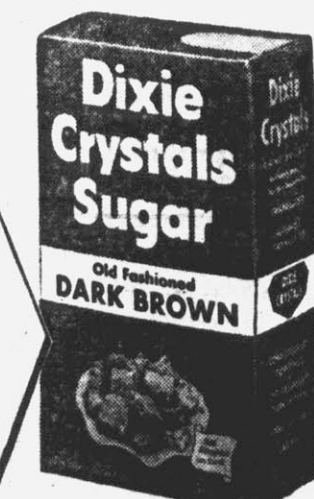

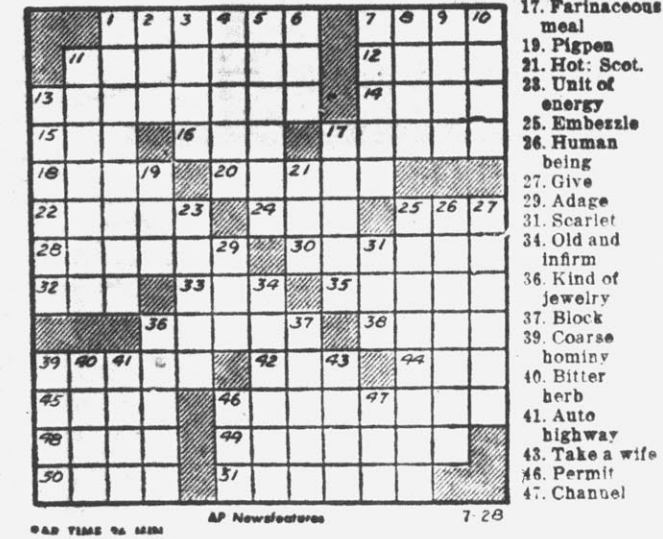

"We can't stay in the hall, Dacre. Let's go inside." "Of course," Her laughter was shaky threaded with tears. She fumbled in her bag for the key. He took it from her numb fingers and turned it in the lock. Her hand found the wall switch. "Wait." He was too late. Already the table lamps were glowing. Swiftly he crossed the room and drew the venetian blinds. She closed the door and stood with her back against it. "You're not a fugitive, are you?" "In a sense, that's just what I am."
