Disputes Snarl Plans To Adjourn

Lawmakers Hope Can Quit Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress adjournment plans were snarled today by disputes over public housing and pay raises for its own employees.

Leaders in both branches fixed tonight as their new goal for quitting. The House kept working Saturday night until 7:38 p. m. and the Senate until 10:45 p. m.

Three key measures tied up in Senate-House conferences make up the bulk of the remaining work load although lawmakers interested in numerous other bills will make last-ditch efforts to get them through.

1. The housing bill, on which Senate-House conferees met until almost midnight Saturday and then broke up in a sharp disagreement on public housing.

2. The Defense Production Act, to extend several powers requested by President Eisenhower in the mobilization program.

3. The 92-million-dollar legislative appropriations bill that would measure the deficit. Conferees failed to reach agreement on this Friday did not meet Saturday.

The housing bill, vital to continuation of boom conditions in the nation's home-building industry, may well be the biggest hurdle to adjournment tonight.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman said he would attempt to get the conference together today.

Eisenhower asked for 35,000 new public housing units in each of the next two years. The Senate upper this figure steeply to 135,000 units a year for the next four years, but the House eliminated all public housing from the measure.

In the haggling Saturday night, Senate Democratic conferees offered to compromise on 50,000 units for one year.

The White House issued a statement by the President less than an hour after Peiping radio broadcast word that the imprisoned fliers had been ordered freed.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the government had received advance word early this morning from the British military attaché at Peiping that the announcement might be forthcoming.

Eisenhower's statement said: "The entire country will feel a sense of relief and hail with joy the announcement that the 11 United States airmen held in Communist China since 1953 are at last to be released."

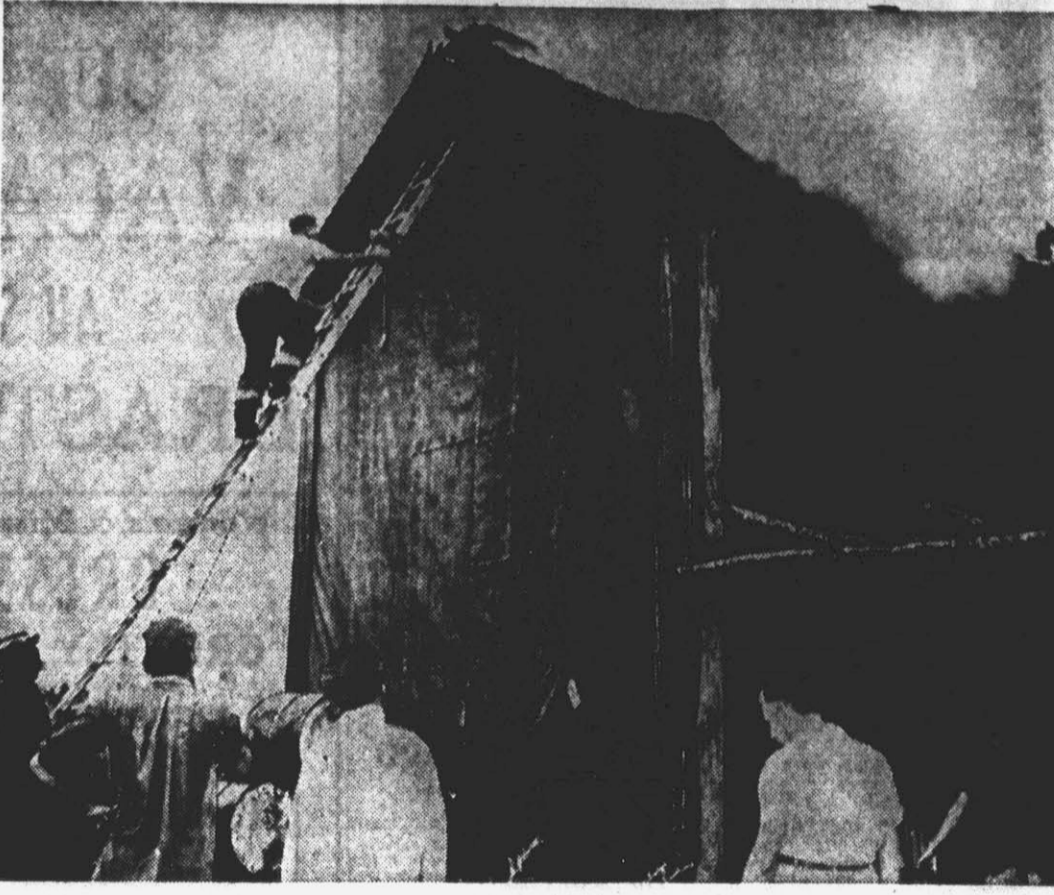

"Our first thoughts go to the men and their families who have been separated for so long. The government will use every appropriate facility to insure the speedy reunion of these families."

The United States extends thanks to all who have contributed to the humanitarian result, particularly to the United Nations and its secretary general, who actively sought this result on behalf of the United Nations Command in which these 11 fliers served."

Washington (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Republicans will bare their teeth in the 1956 presidential campaign if they face the voters with a balanced budget when they would be cutting taxes.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and Sen. Byrd (W. Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, issued the view in separate interviews that the budget won't be balanced if there are any tax reductions.

This is one tobacco barn that firemen saved. It is located on the Key Brown farm on East Fourth Street and local firefighters said the barn was blazing when they arrived.

Greenville firemen were called to three more tobacco barns during the weekend and they managed to save one of the burning buildings. The firemen saved a barn on the Key Brown farm on E. Fourth St. yesterday morning.

Lenoir ABC Enforcers Protest Assistance Checks On Pitt ABC Help

By BOB HILLDRUP, Reflector Staff Writer. Pitt County's ABC officers will no longer go to Craven and Lenoir Counties to assist in the destruction of stills unless requested to do so by the ABC boards of those counties.

J. W. Joyner, of the local ABC board, reported this morning that letters of protest had been received after local ABC officers destroyed a Lenoir County still while working there at the request of federal ATU agents.

The complaint apparently came about when local officers J. M. Ward, H. B. Lilley and Walter Taylor, at the request of the ATU, assisted in destroying a large still in Lenoir County.

Joyner also told the Commissioners that he understood that ATU agents and ABC officers of Craven and Lenoir Counties did not work together.

Since these counties adjoin Pitt, local ABC officers have gone at times to them, as well as Martin, Beaufort and Edgecombe, at the request of officers there, to help destroy stills or apprehend violators.

Illegal whiskey often is transported from the county where it is made across into another county for sale and Pitt's officers are legally within their rights to go to another county to assist at the request of either ATU agents or other ABC officers.

Of course," he said, "the sound way to balance the budget is to cut expenditures 4 per cent. That way we would not be depending on an increase in income that could evaporate at any time."

He said that far from being opposed to tax reductions, he would be strongly in favor of them "so long as they are not made out of borrowed money."

"It is perfectly absurd in an era of great prosperity, to borrow money to cut taxes," he said. "We would have a balanced budget now if Congress hadn't already reduced taxes."

The administration supported most of the tax cuts aggregating some seven billion dollars annually which took effect last year. Byrd said he thinks savings in expenditures can be made in sev-

Peiping's Radio Announces Action Solving One Issue

TOKYO (AP)—Red China announced tonight it was releasing 11 U. S. airmen whose conviction for "spying" was one major cause of friction with the United States.

A Peiping radio announcement that they had been ordered released came as representatives of the United States and Red China met at Geneva, primarily to discuss release of Americans in China.

The broadcast did not say when or where the 11, who were shot down in the Korean War, would be released. But the probable exit is the British colony of Hong Kong.

If the Communists act as promptly as they did in releasing four other airmen, then it may walk free tomorrow.

Last May 30 Peiping announced that Capt. Harold E. Fischer Jr., Svea City, Iowa, a double jet ace of the Korean War, and three others were being released. They reached Hong Kong the next day. They were accused of violating the air over Red China during the war.

In Washington President Eisenhower said that "the entire country will feel a sense of relief and hail with joy the announcement that the 11 United States airmen held in Communist China since 1953 are at last to be released."

Eisenhower praised United Nations Secretary Dag Hammarskjold, who flew to Red China early this year to seek their release and who has been negotiating through diplomatic channels since.

The 11 were in a B29 which was shot down Jan. 12, 1953, on what the Far East Air Force called "a routine lead-in, dropping mission over North Korea."

Red China charged they flew over Manchuria on a mission for the U. S. secret intelligence service. A Chinese military court last November sentenced them on espionage charges. The Red radio commented: "During the period in which these 11 criminals served their sentences they observed discipline and behaved themselves as fairly well."

The authorities in charge as reported to the military tribunal of the Supreme People's Court and asked leniency for them.

"The tribunal decided on July 31 according to law to release these 11 criminals before the completion of their terms and notified the authorities in charge to carry out immediately the release procedure and to send them out of China."

Peiping's announcement was carried as a routine item in its English-language broadcast. It gave no other details.

Arnold, 41, is the husband of Mrs. Mary I. Arnold of 78 National St., Montgomery, Ala. Married in 1937, they have four children.

Peiping radio said on Nov. 26, 1954, that Arnold testified his wife was "attached to the secret U. S. intelligence service."

The United States has repeatedly and emphatically denied that the airmen were spying or were on a secret mission.

The Chinese Reds alleged Arnold was "wandering on a hill" in Manchuria—north of the Yalu—when captured.

Baumer, 32, was second in command of the B29. He is a son of Mrs. Mary E. Baumer, 124 S. Anthony St., Lewisburg. She said last November she had received a letter from him saying he expected to be home soon.

Vaadi, 31, is the husband of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Vaadi of Clayton, N.Y., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Vaadi, RFD 1, La Fargeville, N.Y. The airmen and his wife have two young daughters.

Vaadi was captured by the Germans in World War II when he was a B17 pilot. He was shot down near Berlin in 1945, three months before the end of the war in Europe. He joined the Air Force in 1945.

Two From Pitt Drown At Beach

Two Pitt County teenagers drowned yesterday morning at Fort Macon State Park beach near Morehead City.

They were identified as Jessie Lee Kennedy, 18, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Sam R. Kennedy, of Greenville, and Carlton Stanley, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Stanley, of Route 1, Winterville.

Two others, Barbara Griffin, 17, of Ayden, and Walter Smith, 20, of Chocod, barely escaped after the four had stepped into a hole while wading.

Lifeguards said the four were bathing outside the area marked for swimming. Smith, who almost lost his life when trying to rescue Stanley and Miss Kennedy, said they realized this and were trying to get back to shore but the current kept pulling them farther down the beach.

The group suddenly stepped into a hole and Smith, the only one who could swim, grabbed the two girls and tried to pull them to shore. He swam until almost exhausted and until both grabbed him around the neck and he was forced to break free.

Barbara managed to stay afloat until lifeguards reached her. She retained her hold on the Kennedy girl's hand until rescued but the latter was under water.

A human chain of bathers located Stanley's body 500 feet west of the swimming area a short time later.

Talks Open In Geneva On Far East Tensions

GENEVA (AP)—The United States and Red China open diplomatic talks today on steps to ease tension in the Far East.

Both sides agree their No. 1 subject is the fate of 40 American civilians detained by the Peiping government.

The Chinese Communist representative hinted that a settlement of this troublesome problem might be near.

Wang Ping-nan, Red China's ambassador to Warsaw said yesterday that if both sides approached the talks in a spirit of sincerity it should be possible "to reach, first of all, a reasonable settlement on the question of the repatriation of civilians."

The U. S. representative, U. Alexis Johnson, ambassador to Czechoslovakia, had little to say on his arrival yesterday except that his mission was outlined fully in the State Department's July 26 statement announcing arrangements for the negotiations.

This statement stressed that the Premier American aim would be release of the 40 civilians either in prison, under house arrest or denied exit permits. It said the U. S. government hopes agreement on this problem will "facilitate further discussions and settlement of other practical matters now in issue."

Among those, the statement specifically cited the 11 U. S. airmen imprisoned by the Reds as spies, a charge the United States has denied emphatically.

U. S. officials in Washington have said that Red China's attitude on the Americans detained—including 11 imprisoned fliers—would determine the scope of the Geneva talks.

The scene of the meetings is the Palace of Nations, European headquarters of the U. N., where the Big Four summit talks were held. U. S. officials estimated that talks might last at least two weeks.

Both sides have indicated that if the negotiations achieve positive results, they may be followed by a meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

Abandoned Tots Are Identified

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two children mysteriously abandoned here and in Wilmington, Del., have been identified, but complete details of their background have been withheld at the request of New York police.

Mrs. Mary Lawler of New York City—an aunt of the forsaken children—identified them yesterday as Veronica Connolly, 3, and her 2-year-old brother, George.

Veronica was found here last Wednesday in a downtown 5-and-10-cent store. Several hours later George was found in the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John in Wilmington, 70 miles northeast of here.

Mrs. Lawler saw the picture of Veronica in a New York newspaper. Accompanied by her husband and New York detectives, she came here yesterday to make the identification.

Authorities here and in Wilmington said they were withholding information on Veronica and George at the request of New York police who are conducting a criminal investigation which indirectly involves the two children. Police would not elaborate.

Georgia-Florida Mart Reducing Sales Time

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—Starting tomorrow, Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco markets will reduce sales time to 3 1/2 hours a day.

The two-hour cut in selling time is necessary to allow proper handling of the "unusually large percentage of marketings" going to government loan under the price support program, Fred S. Royster, of Henderson, N.C., president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. explained.

Royster said Saturday that the cut will remain in effect until further notice.

General Manager L. T. Weeks of the Stabilization Corp. said in Raleigh, N. C., that the reduction was requested because the corporation needed relief to keep tobacco moving through redrying plants from the floor. It must be redried for storage, he said.

Weeks said the corporation has taken twice as much tobacco already this year as it did all last season. The loan took 17,025,000 pounds of tobacco in the first seven days of sales.

F. S. Stubbs, president of the Douglas Tobacco Board of Trade, said farmers in the area were "very unhappy" at the reduction in selling time.

"The farmers will suffer materially from damaged tobacco due to wet weather and continued daily rains," he said in a statement.

"There should be some plans made for shipment of tobacco now on the floors of the Georgia markets before the cutback to 3 1/2 hours. We suggest full sales Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, then a complete holiday Thursday and Friday," he continued.

Says GOP Will Do Better If Budget Balanced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Republicans will bare their teeth in the 1956 presidential campaign if they face the voters with a balanced budget when they would be cutting taxes.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and Sen. Byrd (W. Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, issued the view in separate interviews that the budget won't be balanced if there are any tax reductions.

"As far as I am concerned," Bridges said, "I believe we will be much better off in the campaign if we balance the budget than if we try to cut taxes. We can't do both."

Byrd, who didn't support Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952, said that if President Eisenhower wants to match federal income and outgo he will have to oppose tax reductions.

Eisenhower has said it may be possible to cut taxes as soon as budget balancing is in sight. Democrats, who sponsored an unsuccessful effort to whittle individual income taxes in the expiring congressional session, already are working on plans to bring a tax reduction program before Congress early next year.

Byrd estimated that budget balancing would be possible with a 2 per cent reduction in this year's government outlays—budgeted at 62 billion dollars—if revenues continue to exceed estimates.

Because of the business boom, he said, revenues are running about 2 per cent ahead of the estimated 60-billion-dollar income.

"Of course," he said, "the sound way to balance the budget is to cut expenditures 4 per cent. That way we would not be depending on an increase in income that could evaporate at any time."

He said that far from being opposed to tax reductions, he would be strongly in favor of them "so long as they are not made out of borrowed money."

"It is perfectly absurd in an era of great prosperity, to borrow money to cut taxes," he said. "We would have a balanced budget now if Congress hadn't already reduced taxes."

The administration supported most of the tax cuts aggregating some seven billion dollars annually which took effect last year.

Byrd said he thinks savings in expenditures can be made in several fields, particularly in foreign aid. Budgets said he thinks savings can be made "all down the line."

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said yesterday he expects the GOP to regain control of Congress in next year's elections, with more House seats than they had in 1952.

Interviewed by Rep. Keating (R-NY) on a filmed television program, Hall reiterated the assumes Eisenhower will be a candidate for re-election and he added:

"In my opinion, the President is more popular than ever today and the program that he espouses and sponsors is a program the people want and they will elect the party to control in both houses.

Byrd said he thinks savings in expenditures can be made in sev-

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

The Evangelical Radio Station in San Jose, Costa Rica, has initiated a Bible Correspondence Course in Spanish, which during ten months has reached people in more than twenty countries, including Spain. As a result of this radio course, tens of thousands of people are studying the Gospel of John. In Mexico there are nearly 300 pupils. Miss Mary E. Ewing, Presbyterian missionary in San Jose, corresponds with every enrolled member of the course correcting lessons and answering questions. She urges each pupil to relate himself to a church.

Three young American women, each of whom has graduated from college in 1955 classes, have been named as teachers for three years in Turkey by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions (Congregational, Boston). Miss Jean Ellen Boniface, of Chatham, N. J., graduate of Earlham College, has been named as a teacher of English in the American Academy for Girls in the City of Scutari, a suburb of Istanbul. Miss Vinal Overing, of Raleigh, North Carolina University of North Carolina graduate, will be a counselor to girls and a teacher in the same school; and Miss Marjorie Jane Kirkpatrick, of Oakland, Minn., will also be assigned to the American Academy as a teacher in home economics.

Eighty women, representing the two-million-member Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, will meet in Kansas City, Mo., August 2 to 11. The seminar, to be held at the National College for Christian Workers, will deal with questions such as desegregation, the United Nations and the ecumenical movement—the trend toward increasing cooperation among churches around the world. The theme will be "A Christian Woman Understanding Her World." Sponsored by the Department of Christian Social Relations and Local Church Activities of the Woman's Society, the meeting will include speeches, panel discussions and work sessions of small groups. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Dorothy Dolbey, vice-mayor of Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. James D. Wyker, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, president of the United Church Women, a department of the National Council of Churches, and Bishop Gerald F. Masley of Des Moines, Iowa, episcopal area of the Methodist Church.

Children Need To Eat Despite Hot Weather

Appetites do lag during a prolonged hot spell. So, often, does mother's ambition to stand over a hot stove.

However, growing bodies need the same kind of nourishment in hot weather as in cold. Children need milk, meat, vegetables, fruits, cereal in summer as well as in winter.

If you're wise, smart and modern you'll plan meals that contain all these things healthy little bodies need and still not spend much time over the hot stove. Use frozen foods, ready mixes and pre-cooked foods.

From the nutritional point of view, it makes little difference whether the food is hot or cold. Cold soup, jellied chicken, tuna fish salad, all carry the same body building elements as the same foods served hot.

But don't call a moratorium on hot food in hot weather. Children, and the rest of the family, too, get tired of a diet of salads. Select your hot foods for their quick cooking qualities; meats that can be broiled or fried rather than baked, soups or cans rather than home made.

Many summertime meals are picnics and food out of doors. If you have a backyard grill you probably have learned lots of tricks for easy good hot meals and meals where Dad and the kids do the cooking and call it fun.

Summertime picnics have their hazards too. In hot weather food spoils easily. Germs grow quickly in unrefrigerated food. If food is roughly cooked just before it is eaten germs will be killed and the food do you no harm. But if a food like a potato salad, or ground meat for sandwiches is prepared in the morning, then carried several hours in a hot car it may contain so many germs that the whole family will have acute stomach upsets the next day.

Picnics are wonderful, but guard your family's health with a few rules such as these:

Never more than half an hour between refrigerator and table.

If the trip is longer than this time, arrange for some refrigeration en route or else carry the food in unopened cans.

Cook-outs are perhaps best of all. Meat that is broiled over an open fire not only tastes wonderful but is much safer than in cold sandwiches.

Children need milk whether at home or on a picnic. Fresh milk is difficult to carry and hard to keep cool. Try using canned milk. Take the unopened cans, dilute with water at mealtime. Carry your own water if you're not sure of the supply at the picnic spot. If the children do not care for the taste of evaporated milk, add a little chocolate syrup, or a mashed banana, or a can of baby pureed prunes or apricots to the evaporated milk make delightful drinks that add a special party flavor to the picnic.

If your small fry are scornful of canned milk don't let them see you open the can. The strong flavor you add to the milk completely masks the canned taste of the milk and they'll drink the finished product with gusto if they don't know it's canned milk.

usual prints, when it also is made in wide-wale waves for jackets and coats.

For the high school and college set, corduroy jackets, jumpers, dresses, shirts, slacks, skirts and shorts are slated to rate high in popularity. Shirts in printed plaids are tops with the boys, girls like date dresses in the new high colors such as shocking pink.

Even in its new high-style versions, cotton corduroy retains its old-fashioned virtues—wears like iron and goes happily into the family wash.

School boys and girls for generations have been partial to corduroy, because it's husky, comfortable and washable. Corduroys of old were rather stiff and heavy and likely to produce a whistling sound when schoolboys wore their cord slacks or knickers.

All that is changed today, when corduroy is made in fine-wale, lightweight versions for party dresses, when it comes in every color of the rainbow plus many unusual prints.

There will be four showings, at 9:30, 10:00, 10:30 and 11:00 a.m. Employers have been urged to arrange schedules to allow all employees to attend.

Following a private preview of the picture, Merchants Association president F. Badger Johnson Jr. remarked, "I believe this film can prove very effective in training store employees to guard against and to recognize shoplifting."

According to Dan Saieed, chairman of the Association's Trade Promotion Committee, "Unknown dollars are lost every year by retail stores from shoplifting. This movie is a must for your employees to help you save money by making them aware of shoplifting practices."

The film is designed to stimulate employee cooperation in the campaign against shoplifting and demonstrates what should be done if shoplifting is suspected. Attention is focused upon various types of shoplifters, such as coat lifter, stock room intruders, teen-agers, "under the coat" or "in pocket" lifters. It points out that shoplifters "can be anybody" and to safeguard merchandise, employee should be better informed on tactics used and what to do in case shoplifting is suspected.

Competing In State Contest

Ellen Bender of Jones County and Mrs. Mildred Dail of Lenoir County were selected Friday to represent Unit 2 of the N. C. State Highway Employees Association in a state-wide contest to pick Miss and Mrs. Highway Association of 1955. This contest will be held in Winston-Salem in October. Pictured here are the seven contestants in the Unit 2 competition. They are, left to right: Mrs. Sybil Smith of Craven County; Clara Barnette, Craven; Barbara Leffers, Carteret; Ellen Bender, Miss Unit 2; Louella Tripp, Pitt; Mrs. Inez Wilson, Pitt; and Mrs. Mildred Dail, Mrs. Unit 2.

Ellen Bender of Jones County and Mrs. Mildred Dail of Lenoir will represent Unit 2 of the N. C. State Highway Employees Association in the state-wide contest to be held in Winston-Salem in October to select Miss and Mrs. Highway Association of 1955.

The two were picked from a group of seven contestants at a unit-wide meeting held at Respos Brothers Barbecue House here Friday.

Other contestants included Barbara Leffers, Carteret County; Clara Barnette, Craven; Louella Tripp of Pitt; Mrs. Sybil Smith of Craven; and Mrs. Inez Wilson of Pitt.

J. G. Gibbs, Unit 2 chairman of the NCSHEA, presided over the meeting. Invocation was given by Jasper Phillips.

J. L. McDonald, state president; Ivan Hardesty, second vice president; Otis Banks, executive secretary; and Earl Crump, highway personnel director and one of the founders of the Association were recognized as special guests. All spoke briefly about various achievements since the organization of the Association ten years ago.

Congratulations were bestowed upon Unit 2 for having obtained 100 per cent membership for the coming year, with 526 members. This announcement was made by E. D. Credle, unit secretary.

Two resolutions were submitted and adopted for presentation at the state convention, and nine delegates to the convention were elected: Mark Worthington, Greene County; J. D. Parker and G. A. Taylor Jr. of Pitt; Otis Denby of Beaufort; S. C. Mann of Carteret; O. J. Pugh and Joe Jones of Craven-Pamlico; J. G. Barwick and John Adams of Lenoir-Jones.

New officers elected for 1955-56 were C.D. Bass, chairman; and C.W. Snell Jr. of Washington, vice chairman. E.D. Credle was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

In appreciation for outstanding services rendered J.L. McDonald and J.G. Gibbs were presented gifts from the unit. Otis Banks, executive secretary, presented a gavel designed and made by Gibbs. The gavel was made of 100 pieces of wood from each of the 100 counties in the state, and is inscribed with its history.

A government press note on the change explained the Pakistanis hope to pick up more foreign customers for their increasing production of manufactured goods.

KARACHI, Pakistan, (AP)—Pakistan has cut the value of its currency, the rupee, almost a third. Formerly valued at 30 U.S. cents, it was marked down yesterday to 21 cents.

The change brings the rupee down to par with currencies of most of the other sterling bloc countries. When Britain devalued the pound in September 1949, Pakistan's exports to the dollar area were booming and the Karachi government did not go along with other Commonwealth members.

A government press note on the change explained the Pakistanis hope to pick up more foreign customers for their increasing production of manufactured goods.

Opines Eisenhower Will Have To Fire Talbot

HAW RIVER, N.C. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Kerr Scott says in his opinion President Eisenhower will be forced to fire Secretary of Air Harold E. Talbot as a result of a congressional investigation into Talbot's business affairs.

More than 3,000 Young Democrats, their spirits undampened by intermittent showers, heard Scott blast the administration during a statewide YDC rally at Scott's sprawling farm here Saturday.

Scott said the Senate committee which investigated the Talbot matter uncovered a "sorry mess." He declared as a result of the committee findings President Eisenhower will be forced to fire Talbot. "He has no other choice if he expects to even make a pass at decency in government," Scott said.

Scott charged that under the Republicans the "influence peddlers" deal in thousands and thousands of dollars. "In fact any influence peddler in Washington today who has no more than a 5 per cent fee or a mink coat to offer is nothing but a piker—that's just peanuts."

Of the Dixon-Yates contract, Scott said it was "not only a big deal but a smelly deal of the worse kind." He said in his opinion if it hadn't been for the Democrats in Congress the whole thing "would have gone down as the biggest steal in modern times."

Gov. Luther Hodges, who shared the speaker's platform with Scott, said, "The Republicans are talking about taking their campaign union demands, including a 14-cent increase in the $1.31 to $1.61 hourly wage."

Since the company has hired new drivers and mechanics, it has maintained that the strikers are no longer employees and has refused to negotiate further.

Skindriver Pulled To Sea By Shark

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A six-foot shark, maddened by a skindriver's spear, pulled the fisherman two miles out into the Atlantic yesterday.

The fisherman, James Jones, 24, held on grimly until the spear pulled out of the shark's head and then swam back to his boat and resumed spearfishing. He said he didn't want to turn loose and lose his expensive spear gun.

The long haul and return took two hours. Jones speared the shark in an underwater hole, thinking it was a "small fish." He held it a 10-foot line during the tow through water about 15 feet deep, managing to get to the top often enough to breathe.

The shark made no attempt to attack him, Jones said. The salts of tin are used in weighting or loading silk. The number of married men in the United States gained 470,000 in 1954 compared to a gain of 614,000 in 1951.

Dior Gets Back In Step With 'Y' Silhouette Style Showing

By NADEANE WALKER PARIS (AP)—Christian Dior brought back bosoms today, only a year after abolishing them. His new silhouette is the Y, and here's why:

The bustline blossoms out, tapers to a slim tight waist in its natural place, and continues in a hipless stem-tight skirt.

Out—by order of the master—his own pets, long waists and jackets, loose waists and hats so small as to be nearly invisible.

In their place are a tiny, high waistline, often belted short jackets that are really more like boleros, and big bulky hats that, when done in fur, look like a Davy Crockett coonskin cap, minus the tail.

Camisole or underslip dresses are straight and skinny with shoulder straps on a straight-across decolletage. Caftan garments, based on the Eastern Jewish costume, are slit up to the bustline, hanging in flat, straight panels.

For after dark, Dior upends his Y for huge parachute skirts on slim bodices. The Oriental influences come out in dazzling embroideries, Persian rug prints, Turkish trouser skirts, and Eastern turbans.

The hundreds of Tar Heel Quakers here for the week-long meeting tonight will hear a panel discussion on "The Meaning of Spiritual Unity in the Meeting."

Most of the conference will stress the religious life and ideals of the adult, but young Quakers will participate and will have charge of Thursday night's meeting.

Two major speakers will appear Friday night. They are Hugh Moore of Philadelphia, associated with the Friends Service Committee, and Samuel Marble, president of Wilmington (Ohio) College.

Moore will report on a recent visit he made to Russia that took him to Moscow and other Russian cities. Marble will speak on the role of Quaker men and women in the Five-Year meeting.

Other speakers include Dr. Francis C. Anson of Winston-Salem; Seth B. Hinshaw executive secretary of the yearly meeting; and E. T. Elliott of Richmond, Ind., executive secretary of the Five-Year meeting and editor of the American Friend Magazine.

Kind Of Small Beside A Truck

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Disc jockey Bill Ballance said he was driving to work in his midgelet foreign car when traffic stopped at a signal light and he found himself next to an immense double-trailer truck.

The driver looked down at Ballance and the tiny car. Laughing, he cracked, "And what else did your Daddy give you for your birthday, sonny?"

out of. Skirts are shorter only by a hair-line. For evening they are floor length, or ankle length in front and trailing in a train behind. There are also slinky satin sheaths with boat necklines that bare the shoulder blades.

Turkish or harem skirts on cocktail dresses are gathered under at the hem or draped in a loop from hip to hem. Deep Cleopatra necklaces are of blindingly brilliant stones of the moonstone and agate family. Some evening shoes have diamond heelcaps.

The three-piece suit is a dead letter having given way to severely tailored dresses with their own short jackets.

Black is the predominant color of the collection. Chaldean browns, Persian blues, Syrian yellows and Turkish greens, as well as Dior (ruby) red comes in for cocktail evening.

Dior hats something between a cloche and a toque, have some of the pre-World War I period about them. They give a big-headed silhouette. Naturally enough, Dior decrees "no more boyish haircuts" with these.

All the dressmakers this season have a knock-your-eye-out approach to embroidered formal. The richness of embroideries and laces, all in the Oriental trend, have probably never been equaled.

The sparrow line, giving the girls that bird-breasted look, was introduced last night by Jean Desses

Insecticides May Have Killed Fish

RALEIGH (AP)—Agricultural insecticides washed into the Neuse River by recent rains have been blamed for the death of thousands of fish in the stream.

Game Warden Hal King and W. E. Knight, chemist for the State Stream Sanitation Committee, said yesterday they believed the insecticides were responsible. King said most of the fish, which began dying last week, have now washed downstream.

King said there was no evidence to indicate dynamiting or other criminal action caused the blight. A similar kill about three years ago was held by the Wildlife Resources Commission to have resulted from washed off farm poisons, he said.

Are Our Unsold School Bonds Valid?

If the situation which has developed concerning Wayne County school bonds hasn't sent school officials throughout the state scurrying to check their bond issues, it should have.

Wayne County in 1952 approved the issuance of $2,336,000 worth of school bonds. All but a million dollars worth of these bonds have been sold, but now New York bond attorneys have informed Wayne County the remaining one million dollars worth of bonds are illegal and therefore there will be no market for them. According to the bond attorneys, the Supreme Court anti-segregation ruling renders illegal school bonds that designated the race for which schools are to be constructed. Such is the case with the Wayne County bonds.

Like most other counties, Wayne County already has earmarked the anticipated $1,000,000 for immediate school construction. It appears now that the only alternative for the county is to call a new referendum on a one million dollar school bond issue in order to carry out the construction program already planned.

How many other cases are there in North Carolina where unsold bonds will be invalid for the same reason the Wayne County bond sale has been blocked?

We do not know the answer to the question, but school officials in the individual counties should immediately check the wording of their bond acts and take stock of their individual situations in view of this most recent development. If there are unsold bonds which may be invalid because of the wording of the bond act by which their issuance was originally approved, immediate steps should be taken to rectify the situation.

The school districts of Pitt County have some over one million dollars worth of school bonds already approved which have not been sold. Are those bonds valid? Will there be a market for them when we are ready to sell them to pay for new schools?

In view of the need for school facilities in the individual counties throughout the state; and in view of the efforts which have been made to provide these facilities through local bond issues, this new Wayne County development is most alarming.

Each county in the state should immediately analyze its unsold school bonds to determine exactly how much bond money is available for school construction.

How Unpleasant Can It Be To Serve A Nation?

The hue and cry raised by some elements in the Talbott episode pretty conclusively shows that to a lot of people our traditional "innocent until proven guilty" can be bypassed whenever convenient.

At issue is a purely ethical matter . . . the retention of business interests while serving in a governmental position. A few instances of bitter experience in the past has aroused very strong feelings on the subject, which, when augmented by partisan infighting, can cause a lot of smoke if not fire.

In recent years we have come to observe the requirement to sever business ties in order to be properly eligible to serve the government is a mighty costly proposition. It doesn't seem fair.

The most notable "victim" of this arrangement was Defense Secretary Charles Wilson. To say his serving the country has cost him a million dollars is probably on the conservative side. That is a pretty generous gesture of patriotism on his part. Others have "paid" the same way, though not to the same extent. But proportionately speaking, they too made a considerable financial sacrifice. We wish it were otherwise; that service to America and Americans could be a rewarding experience other than one of real loss and being an easy target for abuse and accusations inspired on frequently unstable grounds.

Generally speaking, the idea seems to be that any man with business ties is just naturally going to connive in such a manner that he and his associates will reap profits at the public's expense. Though no one says so, the would-be government official is presumed guilty of such proclivities even before the deed . . . if deed there be.

At the rate we're going it's going to someday be difficult if not impossible to find able businessmen and organizers of the highest proven quality to assume the burden of serving us where they are most needed, in government.

That Trip To The Moon Is Nearer Than We Think

When scientists begin speaking confidently of man-made satellites in space within the next three years, it makes us realize the Space Era is much nearer at hand than most of us had thought.

Although Americans have talked of space travel, trips to the moon and visits from men from Mars for years, few apparently had realized that now we are on the threshold of the first experiments with man-made objects beyond the earth's atmosphere. On the other hand, our scientists took us from the era of the Wright brothers' flying machine to jet planes and powerful rockets in a half-century. What reason have we to think they cannot advance us from jet planes and rockets to space ships and space travel within the next 50 years?

Railroad Crossings Need Better Signal Systems

Greenville's City Council should again give attention to the matter of some satisfactory signal arrangement at railroad crossings on busy streets within the corporate limits of Greenville.

More than a year ago city officials discussed the matter with representatives of railroads. Measures were to be taken to improve the method of warning motorists of approaching trains at busy traffic intersections. Perhaps the situation has improved in the past year, but it appears to us more positive safety measures still need to be taken in this matter.

In the interest of traffic safety, The Reflector feels the Council should again attempt to persuade the railroad companies to put some sort of automatic signals at the more hazardous intersections to warn motorists of approaching trains. There is no point in waiting until a serious accident occurs before the matter is pressed.

Quick Briefing For Road Study Group

By LYNN NISBET

ROADS—The legislative study committee assigned the task of investigating operations of the highway commission and recommending changes where needed was given a brief course in elementary phases of their project at the highway commission meeting Thursday. It was explained that there are five types or kinds of public roads, in some instances the purpose designations overlapping.

At the top is the interstate system, made up entirely of primary highways but following routes established by the Federal government across State lines. Next is the primary system, embracing the major routes connecting county seats and larger towns. Then comes the secondary system, composed of county roads, which includes nearly all the rural routes of travel, a large part of which has been paved and for usual motor traffic is as safe and comfortable as the primary highways. Municipal roads or streets, except those forming links in the State system, are not subject to control or maintenance by the State agency, although the State contributes to their maintenance an amount equal to the yield of one-half of one cent on the gasoline gallonage tax. Finally there are "neighborhood roads." These are quiet public routes, recognized by the State and required to be kept open, but which the State does not assume obligation to construct or maintain.

Practically all of the primary roads are designated by identifying route numbers. Some of these are commonly called "Federal roads" because the route numbers are placed on a shield. These numbers are authorized by the National Association of Highway Officials upon recommendations of the State commission. The other primary numbers are on diamond-shaped plates and are authorized solely by the State Highway Commission. County roads are not identified by number, but in many instances they have signs carrying the well known local name of the road.

ADDITIONS—Almost every meeting of the highway commission results in action adding mileage to the secondary system. The procedure for getting a road added to the county map was also explained in detail. The first step is for the citizens desiring to have their road added to petition the county commissioners. The county board either disapproves or approves the proposal. In nearly every instance it is approval, because the local officials do not want to make any of their voters mad.

From the county board the application goes to the district engineer of the State department in whose area the road lies. He makes a personal investigation, measures actual distances and assembles other pertinent data. His report with whatever recommendation he has goes to the division office. There the project is further analyzed in relation to existing roads, proven need, probable cost of maintenance, and similar facts. The division office sends the report on up to the chief engineer at Raleigh, where it is given further study and integrated into a statewide report.

At each meeting of the commission the chief engineer presents his report and recommendations. This report is in minute detail, listing the mileage requested in each county with recommendation for each project. Then the chief engineer summarizes in about these words: "Requested to be added 125.7 miles; recommended to be added 84.9 miles; recommended to be added 40.5 miles; recommended to be added as a neighborhood road 3 miles."

Before the State will accept a road there must be adequate right of way a minimum of 60 feet, and it must be at time of request in fair condition. Each mile of road added costs $100 to $3,000 a year for maintenance. For several years the secondary mileage has been increasing at the rate of around 1,000 miles a year, with consequent heavier burden on the maintenance funds.

EXPENSIVE—Many of the complaints about failure of the State to take over more miles of road, and the growing demand for four-lane highways do not take into consideration the cost of construction and maintenance. Visitors at the recent highway commission meeting expressed surprise at the cost of one section of the interstate highway in Catawba county—between Conover and the river.

Bids were being considered for grading and structures on one of the parallel dual lane portions of the proposed four lane road. The right of way for the whole project, 260 feet wide had been acquired and paid for. Paving contract for the first 24-foot dual traffic lane will be advertised later. On basis of the payments already made for the whole right of way, bids approved last Thursday on the grading and structures for a dual-lane, an estimated cost of paving, amounted to approximately $165,000 a mile. Estimated cost of the completed four-lane road runs around $300,000 per mile. Admittedly the cost of grading and structures on this particular stretch is higher than average, but less than on some projects. Right of way cost was not far from average, considering relatively cheap acquisitions in wholly rural areas, very high cost through towns and cities where expensive buildings must be moved. It must be remembered that a right of way 260 feet wide contains about 32 acres of land for every mile. Prices for this land range from less than $25 an acre in isolated spots to many thousands of dollars where expensive buildings must be removed.

Chasman Sandy Graham remarked in passing that the six-mile super highway between Old Fort and Ridgecrest cost just about three million dollars, around $500,000 a mile, including all the items. Note that three million dollars represents the full tax on fifty million gallons of gasoline.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GRATITUDE A CULTIVATED VIRTUE

Do you worry over the fact that people do not appreciate you? Do you ever recall the magnificent gratitude of those around you—perhaps your own children—and wonder why it is that having received so much they could care so little? The first thing to be said about such a mood is that it is like a morass which, as we plod our way through it, causes us at each step to sink down more deeply. There is nothing that can make us more unhappy than brooding over the idea that we are not appreciated. There may be a certain amount of truth in it, but we are not going to make matters better by brooding, brooding, brooding and sinking, sinking, sinking.

No Unanimous Approval

Violent Deaths Decrease

By ROGER W. BARSON
BARSON PARK, Mass. — It is too bad that the newspapers and broadcasters feel obliged to present so much bad news—about crime, foreign complications, and even auto accidents. Every impartial statistician must be an optimist, to ferret out the facts.

ALWAYS CONSIDER OUR POPULATION GROWTH
It is true that these three unfortunate things are on the increase and churches and schools are getting the blame for it. But when crime and accidents are reduced to a per-capita basis, the figures are not so bad. Our population is growing so fast that in reality there has been a decrease in crime and accidents when adjusted to the population growth.

Just think, since Hoover was in the White House the net population of the United States has increased over 40,000,000! This is almost equivalent to the entire population of Great Britain. In other words, if, say, the total population of Great Britain had been dumped into the United States in 1945, we would not expect to have even more crime and trouble than we have today?

AUTOMOBILE NUISANCE
I admit that parking problems are terrible. Unless our city fathers remedy the parking situation, our merchants will suffer. When they sales decrease, manufacturers cannot sell as many goods and unemployment increases. But—considering the number of automobiles, it is remarkable that we can find any place to park our cars!

Yet, should we blame the automobiles for the ignorance and shortsightedness of our municipal governments? What would any city do today without the automobile business? Close up the dealers, garages, gas stations and repair shops, and what would we have left? A few blacksmiths would be shoeing horses and there would be dealers in hay and oats—but the life of our cities would be gone forever, and should we blame the auto industry and sufficient free parking.

BOUNTIES OF NATURE
We not only have wonderful crops; but we have a billion bushels of grain in storage. In addition, we have eggs, butter, and other products in storage. No country in the world begins to have our blessings. This applies even to the wealth of the sea and the trees of the forests. Each week as I read a large Sunday paper I regret the acres of splendid woodland which were destroyed to give me the newspaper. Yet, I am assured that the new growth exceeds the destruction.

When I learn of the great rivers which have not yet been harnessed, of the supplies of coal and oil which will last for centuries, and of other God-given natural resources, I am both humble and thankful. And we are just now learning about the power of uranium which may be found anywhere and in quantities of which may do the work of 2 1/2 million pounds of coal. It seems wicked for any of us to complain about anything. We perhaps are wasting precious time even bothering to look for a blessing in a situation of our own making. FREEDOM FROM WAR! About investigations. Speaking of "time," this is the only thing of which there is no surplus. Our TIME is the one thing which we cannot replace when it is wasted.

Of all our blessings, perhaps the greatest is our freedom from war—and the possibility that World Wars may be at an end. Upon the highest military authority, I forecast that the hydrogen bomb may be a blessing in disguise. At any rate, we know that the draft calls are being reduced, and the orders for much military equipment are being canceled. I grant that it makes some people pessimistic to read the newspapers, but the very fact that the newspapers publish no more about crime and accidents proves that the bad news is becoming proportionately less. Whenever I get pessimistic, which is very seldom, I read the history of England or of some other country in which the people are getting better fast and that my job is to keep up with it. If you have any difficulty being optimistic, read each day one of the Psalms of David. There are 150 of these, so they will keep you busy for 5 months. They will be the best pills you can take.

Is It Hot Enough For Anybody?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Hot enough, for you?

Millions of Americans, sweltering under heat waves that have gripped most of the nation, have been complaining they felt more like humid beings than people. But it's really your own fault if you're getting temperatures that you don't like.

Why suffer from ready-made weather? Why not build your own climate? Any do-it-yourself fan should find it easy.

Here are a few hints on how anyone can breeze through a heat wave:

1. Quit using the English language. Learn to say "Cool, man, cool."
2. If you are bald and don't wear a hat tie some moistened grape leaves around your head—first being sure, of course, to remove the grapes. If you are afraid people will stare at you, put on some Bermuda shorts. Then they'll stare at your shorts, and never even notice the grape leaves.

3. Think only cool thoughts, such as: "Shouldn't I be buying winter chains for my car?" or, "I wonder what Santa Claus is doing right this very minute—trying to keep warm?"

4. Whatever you do don't fall to brooding about red-haired girls or how many bills you owe. This only heats up the blood.

5. If you must quarrel with your wife, take off your shirt first. Then you can't get hot under the collar.

6. Keep your shoes overnight in the refrigerator, and be sure to take two pairs to work. Ask the nearest restaurant owner to let you put one pair in his icebox. Then, every two hours, you slip down to the restaurant, take off the shoes you're wearing, put on the cool ones, and slip the heated pair into the icebox.

7. If the restaurant owner adopts a snooty attitude toward this reasonable request make up your mind each morning that before nightfall you're going to ask the boss to double your salary. This'll give you real cold feet.

8. Don't merely cut down on your food intake. Quit eating altogether. Soon it will be impossible for you to feel hot. All you'll feel is hunger.

9. An old Boy Scout trick on the march in hot weather is to keep a pebble in the mouth. Why stop with one? Use several. But be sure to cool them periodically.

Cookbook To Include Coupons

By ELMER ROESSNER

An upcoming $2 cookbook that will contain 200 worth of good coupons may have even more effect on publishing and merchandising than on the American diet.

The book will be published next September, according to present plans, and will contain about 1,500 recipes on 256 pages. The book will include 20 coupons, each for a different product. If the reader buys each of the products and sends box tops or receipts to the publisher, she will receive 32. There's a check list in the book which must be sent along with the labels to prevent readers from repeating.

The couponed products, by no coincidence at all, will be named as ingredients in some of the recipes.

The book will be sold through chain stores and will be advertised heavily in newspapers, promoters say. Products mentioned will be displayed in special racks in stores selling the book.

If the idea will be imitated or paralleled, not only in the food field but in many others, a book on how to buy or build a dream home could have coupons good for samples of various materials, or for information, literature, or roofing, wall paper, refrigerators and other products. A book on auto travel might contain coupons good for discounts on gasoline and oil for out priced tickets to commercialized scenic wonders, and for discounts at certain hotels or motels. A book on interior decoration could include coupons good for swatches and literature, or for discounts on various articles and materials which—match—would also be mentioned in the reading matter.

And if the idea proves a real sleeper, all book publishers may include coupons that are good for discounts on other books by the same publisher—or even on books made into a movie. Indeed, the idea could spread so far that when a salesperson in a book store suggests a play by Shakespeare, the prospect will reply, "Year—but what coupons has it got in it?"

UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE'S DEBT TO TELEVISION

Television is helping to enlarge the market for upholstered furniture, according to Delmar L. Kroehler, president of upholstered furniture manufacturing company.

His chief reason is not that upholstered furniture is being plugged on TV but that viewers, quirming in upholstered seats, are simply wearing them out faster.

READY SALES ANSWERS TURN AWAY TERNS-ALWAYS

Charles L. Lapp, University of Washington professor of marketing, who studies salesmen the way other professors study starfish and insects, says one reason some men are crack salesmen is that they have an answer for almost every selling situation.

A common hurdle to salesmen is the line, "See me on my next trip." Lumber salesmen, Dr. Lapp has found, leap over it with such replies as:

"Thank you, I'll be here on my back next week, but I don't want to make a nuisance of myself by calling too often. I can be of service to you now just as well as a week later."

"Right now we can give you delivery which we may not be able to do two months hence."

"I cannot possibly get back before two months and meantime you are taking a gamble on the market going against you."

"Fine but meantime you will be losing the resale profit on those goods, a profit your competitors will be earning. Let me show you how this profit is assured."

FOREIGN DESIGN PIRATES NOW UNDER COPYRIGHT BAN

Textile manufacturers who copyright their designs now have protection against foreign as well as American pirates.

A ruling by the Copyright Office has set up procedure by which owners of copyrights can invoke the law against importers of pirated designs and against those who instigate the piracy abroad, the National Federation of Textiles points out.

Quick Renomination Of Adlai Questioned

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The most serious warning against the certainty of Democratic renomination of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson for President was recently delivered by Representative John W. McCormack, prominent Massachusetts Democrat and Majority Leader. Although his recent outburst carried general notice, he is the most influential party figure to question openly the former Illinois Governor's political priority.

The Bay State's view is regarded as extremely important because of his position on Capitol Hill and in the leadership councils. A gregarious individual, McCormack has an excellent vantage point for discovering sentiment throughout the country.

It is his daily job to know what they are thinking on political as well as legislative questions. He is especially close to Speaker Sam Rayburn, whose large Texas delegation may give more than a complimentary vote to Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, if he regains his health.

WORKING ARRANGEMENT
Moreover, ever since the days of the late Alfred E. Smith, the delegations from New England have frequently had a working arrangement with those from New York—New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as with the Chicago machine in Stevenson's own stamping ground.

If a rival candidate—Governor Averell Harriman of New York, for instance—could round up his bloc of more than 25 votes at the convention with more than 300 votes.

Carmine G. DeSapio, Tammany boss and Harriman's Secretary of State, has indicated that he will try to do for Harriman what James A. Farley did for F.D.R. more than 25 years ago. As soon as Roosevelt was elected Governor in 1928 "Big Jim" began to gun for the 1932 nomination.

STEVENS ON NOT ONLY POSSIBLE
In his generally unreported interview, McCormack did not declare for any specific candidate, although insisting that of excellent men. But he did throw doubt on the prospect of an easy victory for Stevenson.

"I would say off-hand," declared the House Majority Leader, "that, with all due respect for the view of others (National Chairman Paul A. Butler and former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell—Ed. Note), the Democratic convention is not closed by any means. I think it is wide open."

"I respect Mr. Stevenson very much, but I would say that it is not in the bag for him, so to speak, and I look to the next Democratic convention, in connection with the nomination of our candidate for President, to be a very interesting one. And I wouldn't be surprised, if some body other than Governor Stevenson were nominated."

DEMOCRATS SECRET FEARS
In promising a "very interesting convention," McCormack revealed the secret fears of many Democratic politicians. They are concerned lest the expectation of a quick, one-ballot Stevenson selection transform their get-together into a dull and cut-and-dried affair, with a minimum of headline value and public interest.

They realize that staging a grab show could be dangerous, since the late dates chosen for both conventions will necessitate a shorter and snappier campaign than in previous years.

The Republicans say that they are not bothered by this consideration for, assuming that like agents to run again, the appearance of a President always draws a crowd and captures the public imagination. In fact, President Eisenhower can get his campaign off to a running start by making a train trip with frequent stops and back-platform speeches on his way to and from San Francisco.

Iron Horse Beats Pony Express In Feud Race

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP)—Most of the hard feelings were forgotten in the excitement as the pony express anchor man galloped in seven minutes behind a much-maligned night train in a grudge race that caught the nation's fancy.

The contest ended early yesterday morning at this southern Oregon town, 75 miles from the starting point at Eugene. The horsemen blew a head start of nearly half an hour as they raced along the main highway, changing mounts about every mile.

Seven women riders were among the 75 or so who donned Western garb for the modern-day pony express run. Actually, it was an attempt to show up the Southern Pacific Railroad after it had proposed to abandon service on this branch line. The company said the run was losing money.

The railroad, wincing as residents along the line labeled the train "The Nightcrawler," greeted the victory with gleeful modesty.

Vernal S. Quayle, general passenger agent in Portland, put it this way:

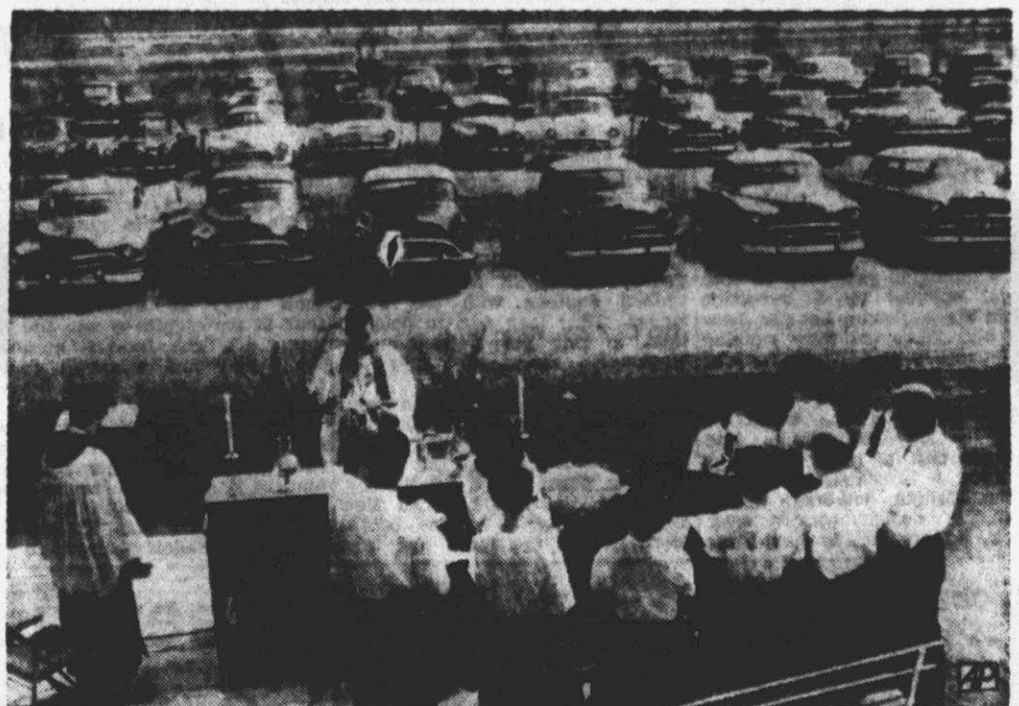

"It was gratifying the way our lowly Nightcrawler fought off the night-mares. We salute the gallant jockey of our iron horse and his valiant crew who delivered the mail so ably."

The Roseburg Chamber of Commerce and other groups who plotted the contest were a little disappointed at the outcome, and there were cries of foul from both sides.

The horsemen complained that the mail-express and passenger train whizzed by at least one regular stop. Train crewmen were dismayed when would-be passengers—some of them in riding boots—demanded to be picked up at tiny whistle stops along the line.

He wouldn't say so, but engineer Claude A. Bridenstine, of Portland, probably had more fun than any of the riders or spectators. The 67-year-old railroader, retiring in a few months after 42 years service, told newsmen beforehand he thought it was a lot of foolishness.

But just the same, he was proud of his train and felt a mite cocky as he stepped from his cab to wait for the last horseman.

Budding Actor Is Killed In Crash

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A flaming crash of a private airplane last night killed three persons, including actor Robert Francis, 25, who starred as Enn. Willie Keith in the movie version of "The Caine Mutiny."

Officers said the body of Francis was found strapped in the pilot's seat. Other victims were Mrs. Audrey Ann Dosch, 24, who had some minor motion picture roles under the name Ann Russell, and George Meyer, 38, a business partner of actor Joe Kirkwood, the "Joe Palooka" of the films.

Francis was considered one of Hollywood's most promising young stars. He graduated from Pasadena (Calif.) City College in 1947 and served two years in the Army before stepping into film parts.

He was a virtual unknown when signed for the leading part of a maturing young naval officer in "The Caine Mutiny." He subsequently had leading parts in "The Long Gray Line," "They Rode West," "I Was a Prisoner in Korea," and "Bamboo Prisoner."

Although the plane belonged to Kirkwood, he was not aboard.

Witnesses said the single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza had landed at Lockheed Air Terminal here and just taken off again when the engine began to sputter. Francis appeared to turn in an attempt to avoid Sunday crowds at a nearby cemetery. The plane spun and crashed into unused parking lot.

Lockheed Air Terminal personnel said the trio apparently had been on a day's aerial outing from nearby Santa Monica.

Mrs. Dosch was the mother of three children and reportedly came here from Denver, Colo. Neighbors said she recently had separated from her husband Lt. Edward Dosch, who is stationed at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

Heiress' Death Termed Suicide

NEW YORK (AP)—Miss Alice Belmont, 44, a granddaughter of socially prominent August Belmont Jr. and one of the heirs of his huge fortune, died in her gas-filled Manhattan apartment yesterday.

Police listed the death as an apparent suicide. They were called by neighbors who smelled gas later found to be pouring from open jets in Miss Belmont's kitchen.

Her body was found in the living room of the tasteful but modest 2 1/2-room apartment at 617 W. 113th St. where she had lived alone for the past two years.

Her grandfather was a banker and one of America's wealthiest men in his day. He was an avid horse breeder and Belmont race track on Long Island was named for him.

While still in her 20s, Miss Belmont shunned the social world into which she was born and devoted herself to a music career. However, her family claimed she was spending too much money to develop a talent she did not have and in 1941 got a sheriff's jury to declare her incompetent to handle her own affairs.

For a time she was confined to

U. S. Meets Red China Today On Freeing 51

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sets into talks with Red China at Geneva today convinced a way must and can be found to free 51 Americans Peiping holds without causing the Communists to lose face.

A key to such an arrangement might lie in the Chinese who the Reds claim—despite U.S. denials—are being held in this country against their will.

On their part, the Chinese Communists are expected to seek some sort of package deal aimed at settling general Far East tension issues. This presumably would require a foreign ministers' meeting with a number of nations taking part.

The No. 1 objective of U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia, who is conducting the hospital in Westchester County, after the dispute with her family, she developed an interest in medicine, studied nursing at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston and was licensed as a registered nurse in 1945.

Because of illness she has not worked for the past year.

She is survived by three sisters and a brother.

Geneva talks with Wang Ping-nan, Peiping's envoy to Poland, is the release of the 51 Americans.

On the eve of the talks Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said "things may get out of hand" in the Far East "unless we act wisely and resolutely." George has called for a meeting with Peiping at the foreign ministers' level, but Secretary of State Dulles has said the time for such talks has not arrived.

George said the situation in the Far East remains "the point of greatest danger for the moment."

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP Senate leader said in a separate interview yesterday that "we have made some progress in exploratory conferences" but it is too early to tell whether Russia's conciliatory attitude will carry through when it comes to working out details.

Knowland, too, saw a possible threat in the Far East. He said the Chinese Reds are building up their military facilities but "whether these are of an offensive or a defensive nature is not clear." He said the Geneva talks should "show whether there is any possibility of carrying on further conversations on issues directly affecting the two countries."

Lawmakers Said Often Failing To Guard Health

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Our nation's lawmakers are so busy taking care of the country they often fail to take care of themselves, says Dr. R.W. Gifford, assistant attending physician to Congress.

He terms life in Congress a "process of natural selection" with voters retiring lawmakers who become senile or lose their ability and drive. He says congressmen have hard, tough jobs, physically and mentally.

"Our biggest problem is to get them to take care of themselves," he says. He cites long, tiring sessions of Congress as conducive to heart ailments. Overweight is a major problem; there are too many banquets; they eat on the run, and their habits are irregular.

And, he adds, congressmen generally are reluctant to admit they are under medical care. He says many of them won't even admit they're on a diet.

Dr. Gifford spoke during a visit here.

Farm Loans Rise In 6-County Area

Long-term farm mortgage loans made by the Federal Land Bank of Columbia during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1955, totaled more than $24,000,000 according to information received by J. B. Patrick, president of the Washington National Farm Loan Association, from bank officials. This is the largest volume of loans closed by the Columbia bank in its 38-year history with the exception of 1934 when the bank loaned nearly $30,000,000.

The loans were distributed among the four states comprising the Third Farm Credit District as follows (round figures): Georgia $8,300,000; North Carolina $7,200,000; South Carolina $5,000,000; and Florida $3,700,000.

The average size of loans rose from $4,400 the previous year to $5,200, which is further evidence of the need for increased credit in financing the average farm enterprise.

Secretary W. G. Stancill reported that Land Bank loans through the local Washington NFLA during the past year totaled approximately $500,000,000, which is an increase over the previous year.

The Washington association makes and services loans for the Columbia bank in Beaufort, Martin, Pitt, Washington, Tyrrell, and Hyde counties. Such loans can be had for any purpose related to the farm or farmer and his family.

Survey Effect Of New Pay Scales

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Department of Labor today began a survey to determine the number of Tar Heel workers who would benefit from a federal minimum wage of $1 per hour.

A previous report by the department had estimated that 169,000 workers in the state would have received pay hikes under a 50-cent-an-hour minimum recommended by President Eisenhower.

A bill providing for the $1 figure has been approved by Congress and is awaiting action by the President. If he signs the bill, it will become effective next March 1.

The chief groups which would benefit from the proposal are in construction work, manufacturing plants and several thousand seasonal employes in tobacco processing plants. Only persons engaged in interstate commerce would be affected directly, although the higher federal minimum may have a strong indirect bearing on local labor markets.

Prosperity Note Stressed At Rally Of 'Young GOP'

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C. (AP)—Charles McWhorter, national chairman of the Federation of Young Republicans, says that the nation has achieved the highest prosperity in its history under this Republican administration.

McWhorter, who spoke here Saturday at a statewide Young Republican rally, said that voters of the South supported Eisenhower during the presidential campaign in vast numbers because they believed in his leadership and his philosophy of government.

McWhorter, a New Yorker, said for 20 years the Fair Deal and New Deal Democrats devoted most of their political energies in an effort to convince the American people that a centralized government in Washington had all the answers to the problems affecting our society.

"A Republican administration, under President Eisenhower, has replaced this left-wing philosophy with a broad, middle-of-the-road program which rejects this approach and which has restored local and state government to their historical and constitutional levels," McWhorter declared.

Predicting that voters would support President Eisenhower in even greater numbers in the next election, McWhorter said that the election of any of the Democrats now under consideration would mean the return of what he called "the tax-spend-elect-gang which ran roughshod over any of the Southern Democrats who fought for the historic principles and concepts of the Democratic party."

Marcus Hickman, president of the North Carolina Federation of Y.R.C., was in charge of the meeting. Roy Foster, of Wadley, Ga., national Y.R. treasurer, also spoke.

BERNARD WEST, in the Wilson Daily Times

There're all sorts of "dream teams" and all-star teams in baseball. We're coming up with one we believe is quite unique. It is our "Top Stars in Memory." Memory of this writer, that is. That's why probably no other scribe would pick the same team, because each will remember different stars, for various reasons ranging from age and personal judgment.

Now, this team we are selecting isn't necessarily the team we would pick for an all-time all-star squad. It consists of the players whose exploits on the major league diamonds we can really say we remember. Our clear collections, ones upon which we feel we can rightfully base our selections, go back to the late 1930's. That's after the time of such fellows as Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby, Rabbit Maranville, Bill Terry, Gabby Hartnett, Grob Alexander and the likes.

Our outfielders would be Ted Williams in left, Joe DiMaggio in center and Stan Musial in right. At first base would be Lou Gehrig. Red Schoendienst would be our second baseman. Marty Marion our shortstop and George Kelly would be the third sacker. Behind the plate we'd put Billy Dickey.

Now the pitchers. We've had a six-man staff. Our righthanders would be Dizzy Dean, Bobby Feller and Ted Lyons, while our southpaws would be Hal Newhouser, Lefty Grove and Carl Hubbell.

To make the team complete, and to ease our minds for having to pass up several outstanding fellows, we'd have Duke Snider and Mel Ott as a couple of utility outfielders, Jimmy Fox and Luke Appling as utility infielders and Yogi Berra as catcher.

JOHN MORGAN, in the Washington Daily News

The pennant races in the majors, especially in the American, are getting hotter than these July days—and football is just around the corner. Some of the fans, while keeping a close eye on that American League race, are nevertheless beginning to think about the grid sport and talk it up a little. Coach Chippy Wagner of the local high school must be doing some mighty deep thinking about the grid sport these days. He lost practically all of his starting line from last year's cub, and without a stout forward wall the promising backfield is in a bit of a predicament.

Wagner is getting set to attend the All-Star Coaching Clinic and games to be held in Greensboro on August 8 through 12. Some big names in the sports world will be on hand during that week to instruct in football, basketball, baseball, six-man football, wrestling, track and athletic training. In addition, there will be the annual All-Star football game and basketball game featuring senior talent from last year's high school teams in the state, plus an All-Star baseball game which is being included this year.

JACK LEE, in the Goldensboro News Argus

Reports keep circulating that the Washington Senator AL baseball franchise is about to move elsewhere because of financial reasons. It caused Bob Addie of the Washington Post sports staff to dig into the matter and he finds that the rumor is ridiculous to say the very least. In his investigation, however, Addie came up with some interesting facts. We quote Bob:

"Anyway, let's start with the expenses. It cost the Nats $467,000 a year for the team payroll—players, coaches, managers, trainer and executives. The transportation each year amounts to approximately $63,000. The exact figure is not too far away. On the road, the players get $2 a day for meals. On the Washington squad of 33, that means $264 a day. The hotel bill amounts to $231 a day. Allowing a leeway of $5 a day for miscellaneous items, that brings the total to $500 per day. Multiply that by the 77 road games and you have $38,500.

"The payroll, the transportation and the rooms and meals come to $570,000. The Nats expend $200,000 on their farm clubs every year. That brings the figure to $770,000. From that figure to a million we bridge the gap with maintenance of Griffith Stadium, depreciation, office salaries, baseball uniforms, bats and other items of present-day equipment such as diathermy machines, whirlpools and various other gadgets for the care of pampered athletes.

BOB WILLIAMS, in the Rocky Mount Evening Telegram

Bill Lundy was talking, Elwood Mixon and Howard Strandberg were listening, and Cleet Cleetwood was chipping in helpful hints. Lundy, it seems, was extolling on an idea with a three-fold purpose:

(1) Stir up new interest among the city's fans in Rocky Mount High School football; (2) Pack as many spectators as possible into Municipal Stadium for each home game; (3) Add a little green stuff to the most depleted coffers of the RMHS Athletic Department Treasury.

And when the session was over, things were all settled. The local Jaycees will offer to the public on a giant scale the sale of season tickets for the high school football season. The hope is that the season tickets sale will boost attendance, hike interest and give the Athletic Department a cushion of capital with which to start the school year.

MILAN, Italy — Italy's surprising Davis Cup team files its first New York Wednesday to test its tennis skill in America after mopping up competition in Europe.

The rising young Italians finished their conquest of the European Zone yesterday by beating Sweden 4-1 in the finals. Altogether they batted down Germany, Denmark, England and Sweden, winning 19 of 20 matches.

Stinyo Fausto Gardini and Tiny Giuseppe (Beppe) Merlo, two unorthodox players best known for their retrieving ability, beat everyone they faced. So did the brilliant doubles team of Orlando Sirola, a 6-7 giant, and Nicola Pietrangeli, 21-year-old stylist with a bright future.

The only loss came yesterday when the Italians, with a place in the interzone competition already assured, put Sirola in the singles match against Sweden's top-ranked Sven Davidson. He lost 6-2, 6-6, 6-4.

The Italian team will move against sterner opposition, however, in the United States. It will meet the winner of the Australia-Japan series at Germantown, Pa., Aug. 12-14. And unless there is a great upset, it'll be Australia, which meets Japan at Glen Cove, N.Y., this weekend.

Beverly Hanson Wins Tournament

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., the only player to break par on all three rounds, won the Battle Creek Women's Open Golf Tournament yesterday with a 220 total.

Miss Hanson linked rounds of 14-74 on the 6,520-yard par 75 Battle Creek Country Club course for $1,000 first prize money.

Her 72 yesterday, which included a 35 on the back nine, moved her up from third place and turned back the final threat of Jackie Pung of Honolulu by a single stroke.

Mrs. Pung carded a 74 to go with earlier rounds of 75 and 72. Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan was third with 77-70-75-222.

Rained Out

All games in the Coastal Plain League were rained out over the weekend except the protested Greenville-Rocky Mount game yesterday.

Business Manager Floyd Nichols extolled a protest when Rocky Mount fielded a player whose name was not listed on the final eligibility sheets. Rocky Mount won the game, 4-1.

A's And Orioles Upset Leaders

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

Take it from the Yanks and Indians, you just can't trust those A's and Orioles any more.

While Chicago was squeaking past Washington yesterday in both games, opening up a one-game lead in the American League, New York and Cleveland were running into trouble with Kansas City and Baltimore and had to settle for splits.

As a result of the weekend's furious action, the Yanks and Tribe are tied for second place as they open a three-game series at the first game for a 5-2 victory. Yankee Stadium tomorrow night, Boston, a double winner over Detroit, 8-3 and 8-2, is only three games behind the White Sox, who invade Fenway Park for three games, starting tomorrow.

Chicago had to press hard to take Washington 3-1 in 11 innings when a Senators' relief pitcher, Pedro Ramos, hit one man and walked another with the bases loaded. Then they had to hold on tight to ride out a ninth-inning Washington threat and save the second game 6-5.

The recall of Don Larsen from the Denver farm looked like just what the Yankees needed as he threw a four-hitter at the A's in the first game for a 5-2 victory. Then the A's, who humbled New York Saturday 12-2, rose up to score five in the ninth and take the second game 7-1. Gus Zernial's two-run homer in the eighth gave the A's the lead.

The clubs tied a major league record with nine double plays in that second game.

Cleveland saw a three-run lead melt away as Baltimore scored four in the eighth to win the first game 4-3. The Indians needed a triple play and a six-hit shutout by Art Houtteman for a 6-0 victory to get even for the day.

The heady Red Sox at Fenway Park got a lift from Ted Williams' first grand-slam homer since 1951 and the 12th of his career as Frank Sullivan won his 10th in the 8-3 opener against the Tigers. Jim Piersall's leadoff homer in the ninth gave bonus baby Frank Baumann a relief victory in his first major league game. Billy Hoelt was the loser.

Brooklyn continued to pour it on its National League rivals, opening up a 1 1/2-game edge on Milwaukee by bombing the St. Louis Cardinals with 14 hits, 12-2. Don Newcombe breezed along with a five-hitter, bringing his record to 18-1. Roy Campanella's 200th homer of his career was one of four hits by the Dodger catcher.

The New York Giants, 17 1/2 games back and so discouraged that they sold Sal Maglie to Cleveland, broke Milwaukee's six-game winning streak 7-3. The Braves also lost the services of first baseman Joe Adcock for a month. He suffered a fractured right forearm when one of Jim Hearn's pitches struck him. Willie Mays hit home run No. 33.

Chicago swept two from Philadelphia 7-1 and 6-5 with Warren Hacker pitching a five-hitter in the second with a two-run homer, the opener and Dee Fody winning Cincinnati won a pair from Pittsburgh 7-4 and 6-5. Gus Bell had four hits, including two doubles in the opener and Ted Kluszewski won the second with a bases loaded single in the last of the ninth. Kluszewski hit his 35th homer earlier in the game.

Adcock, Hearne Disagree On Aim

MILWAUKEE — Milwaukee's Joe Adcock and New York's Jim Hearne don't agree on where the pitch that broke Adcock's right arm yesterday was aimed, but there's no question about what Hearne's high, hard one did to Jolting Joe.

Adcock's out for the season. Dr. Charles Lacks, Braves team physician, said last night that the physical first sacker will be wearing a cast on the arm for six weeks, and couldn't get back into shape for a couple of weeks after that. The season has only about seven weeks to go.

Sitting on a bed in a Milwaukee hospital last night after the arm was set and cast applied by Dr. A. C. Schmidt, Milwaukee orthopedic surgeon, Adcock said of the pitch that struck him in the second inning of the Braves-Giants game at County Stadium:

"I don't know whether Hearne threw at me, but I know he knocked me down three times the last time he pitched against us here.

"The pitch was behind me, going for my left shoulder. I moved to my left and raised my right arm to block my head and it hit me."

Adcock had a few words with Hearne right after he was hit, but Milwaukee manager Charley Heston said he tried to apologize to Adcock.

"I never throw at anyone, believe me," Big Jim said. "All I wanted to do was try and jam him on the fists. But the pitch got away from me."

The injury is only the latest in a series that have afflicted Adcock, who makes a big target with his 220 pounds draped on a six foot four inch frame and who admits

Trabert Backache Cripples Cup Hope

By WILL GRIMSLEY
SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. — The United States' once-bright Davis Cup hopes darkened today.

The country's top tennis ace, Tony Trabert, was sidelined for at least a week, possibly longer, with a mysterious backache.

There is no certainty the 24-year-old Wimbledon champion from Cincinnati, the one man who might save the cup will be ready for the Challenge Round Aug. 26-28 at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Tony plagued by the back ailment all week, reached his to hit a service in the final match of the Meadow Club Tournament here yesterday and felt, he said, a sharper pain run up his back.

So, after consulting with officials he defaulted the championship match to Eddie Moylan, of Trenton, N.J., who led 1-0 in the fifth set. Trabert had lost the first set 3-6, won the next two 6-2, 8-6, and then dropped the fourth 6-8 when he decided to quit.

Then, in quick order, he conferred with Bill Trabert, Davis Cup captain; pulled out of Eastern Grass Courts Championships opening today at Orange, N.J., and made arrangements for intensive treatments of the disorder this week in New York.

No one knows when he'll be ready to play again.

Trabert the cup team captain, said: "Naturally we aren't going to be too pessimistic until we get the full picture. But anything that might slow up Tony's play is bound to be a disheartening break for our side. This we know — our prime concern is having him ready for the cup matches."

Trabert Backache Cripples Cup Hope

Tony himself said he started feeling the pain in his back earlier in the week but didn't say anything about it because he wasn't being pressed.

"It feels as though it may be a dislocated disc or a pinched nerve in my vertebrae," he said.

A Southampton physician Saturday described the ailment as a "strained muscle and not too serious."

Any sort of mishap which might take away the services of Trabert would throw the United States Davis Cup picture into a complete dither.

Vic Seixas, a cup stalwart for the last four years hasn't won an important match in months. Hamilton Richardson, the No. 3 player, is far from top form.

Budge Patti, the Californian who lives in Paris, flatly refused a bid for his services. Just last week an appeal by Russell B. Kingman, former president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn., to bring Dick Savitt out of Texas retirement met failure.

Unless Trabert can be put back into first-rate shape, America's Davis Cup chances appear hopeless.

SAL MAGLIE

Dealt to the Indians for a reported $25,000 yesterday, Maglie packed his belongings and cleared out of Milwaukee as soon as the Giants finished their double-header with the Braves.

"I'm not disappointed at leaving the Giants," he said, "although it sure is tough breaking my long-time associations with some of my pals."

While he didn't say so, it was generally known that there was no love lost between him and Manager Leo Durocher. Only a month ago, Durocher accused Maglie of loafing on a fielding play.

"The Giants have been my only club," Maglie commented, "but I'm happy to go to Cleveland. I know most of the Indians' players. I shouldn't have any trouble in the American League, the hitters don't have a book on me."

Asked about the condition of his arm—he hasn't pitched a complete game since June 22 and was knocked out in the first inning against the Braves last Saturday—Maglie said:

"My arm is perfectly okay. I don't think I'm following through right. I've experienced trouble like this before and I'm sure I can work it out."

NEW YORK, (AP)—Sal (The Barber) Maglie came back to the big town today. This time, though, he returned as a visitor, starting out all over again at 38 as a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

Maglie, who helped pitch the New York Giants to two National League pennants and one world championship, will be in the uniform of the Tribe tomorrow night when they open an important three game series against the New York Yankees.

The youngest person ever to swim the English Channel, Marilyn stumbled out of the surf yesterday to be greeted by Florence Chadwick, who holds the women's time record for channel crossings.

"I'm very happy," she said. "None the worse for wear she simply seemed tired and was placed under the care of a physician."

Marilyn never was in trouble, although thousands of spectators moaned in unison when she was caught by the tricky current a few miles from Dover.

Her time was 14 hours 36 minutes. Brenda Fisher of England holds the east-west record of 12 hours 43 minutes. Miss Chadwick, who already has swum the difficult stretch of water three times, holds the west-east mark of 14 hours 42 minutes.

Aussie Netters To Meet Japan

MONTREAL, P. — The Australian Davis Cup team today headed for Glen Cove, N.Y., to meet Japan in the semifinal of the interzone competition.

Winners of the American Zone as the result of a 5-0 sweep over Canada over the weekend, Coach Harry Hopman's team will be heavily favored over Japan this weekend.

In the final two singles matches against Canada, Ken Rosewall defeated Henri Rochon, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1, and Lew Hoad whipped Don Fontana 9-7, 7-5, 6-1.

Kidnap-Murder Suspect Says He May Be Target

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The theory that Stephanie Bryan's murder could have been an "intentional act to get rid of me" has been suggested by Burton Abbott, 27-year-old University of California student accused of the still-unexplained crime.

"But then, when I think of that, I come back to the question—Who would want to get rid of me?" he said yesterday in an interview copyrighted by the San Francisco Examiner.

Abbott, indicted on kidnaping and murder charges, told a reporter: "Look at it this way: This whole thing could have started as something else, you know. I don't know what. And then somehow, I was implicated unintentionally."

"Or it could have been started as an intentional act to get rid of me."

Abbott was arrested after a red purse belonging to the 14-year-old junior high school girl was found in his basement by his wife Georgia.

The girl disappeared April 28 while walking home from school in Berkeley. Her body was found July 20 in a shallow grave 88 feet from the Abbott cabin at Wildwood, 270 miles north of Berkeley in mountainous Trinity County.

Abbott told reporters the basement was never locked, that a number of friends as well as his family knew about the cabin.

Repeatedly declaring his innocence, Abbott says he was at the cabin the day Stephanie disappeared. He told yesterday of visiting the cabin again the week of June 27.

Morse Claims Information On Talbott Worth Probing

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Two Republicans say they are content to leave Harold E. Talbott's status to President Eisenhower, but Sen. Morse (D-Ore) has called for a new Senate investigation of the Air Force secretary.

Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee and Rep. Martin (R-Mass), the House minority leader, expressed confidence yesterday that Eisenhower will make the right decision in Talbott's case. In separate radio-TV interviews, both also expressed doubt the matter would have any bearing on the 1956 election.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday he himself would decide whether Talbott had maintained "a proper standard of ethics" in work he did from his Pentagon office for Paul B. Mulligan & Co., of New York.

Talbott has dismissed as "just a rumor" reports from some Republican sources that he has decided to resign, but has said he "will do whatever the President wishes me to do." He said he was giving up his special partnership in the Mulligan company, a management engineering firm.

Morse took the Senate floor Saturday night to report he had new information on Talbott and to suggest that the Senate Investigations subcommittee "determine what validity there is to it."

"Secretary Talbott's record demonstrates quite clearly," Morse said, "that he did not possess the attributes so necessary in a public servant." He said he is concerned with Talbott's "concept of what is right and what is wrong" as a public official.

Hall was asked whether from a political standpoint he considered it essential that the President fire Talbott.

He replied that "up to the present time, politics from our side hasn't entered into that question. . . . If I went over to the President and tried to inject politics into that situation, I think I'd be bounced out of the White House."

Noting that the matter is in the hands of the President, he added: "That is where I think it should be."

Martin said he was confident Eisenhower would take whatever action was necessary to keep his administration "on a high plane," and said he would rest on the President's decision.

Hundreds Fleeing Three Volcanoes

VALDIVIA, Chile (AP)—Three volcanoes continued violent eruptions in southern Chile's lake district today, sending hundreds of weary and terrified persons fleeing from their homes.

Pilots flying over the area 470 miles south of Santiago reported a third volcano, Mt. Chishuenco, had joined Nilahue and Rinihue mountains in spewing ashes, white hot stones and poisonous gases over a wide area.

Two persons have been reported dead since the eruptions began Tuesday. Thirty-four others, previously feared asphyxiated by the poison fumes, were sighted in a forest alongside the Nilahue River. Army rescue patrols set out for them.

Thirty-five persons were believed trapped without food in another area of heavy gas concentration.

More than 400 persons were reported fleeing on foot their exhausted children in their arms, through the mountains. The gases and hail of hot stones and ashes slowed their progress.

Some 400 families already had fled the resort town of Ranco, on the shore of Lake Ranco between

Governor Scares Away A Burglar

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—California's Gov. Goodwin Knight frightened off a burglar he caught prowling in the Miramar Hotel cottage in which he and his wife were sleeping yesterday, police reported.

Knight told reporters the prowler fled through an open door when he shouted, "I'll get you."

Mrs. Knight said she awoke to see a round white face about four feet away. She called police while her husband jumped from the bed.

The Governor said nothing was missing. The only damage was an overturned chair and a drinking glass which was broken by the prowler on his way out.

Riotings Spurred By Moslem Feast

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—The Moslem feast of Aid-el-Kebir brought widespread rioting to French Morocco over the weekend. Thirty nationalist rioters were killed and scores of others, including French troops and Moroccan police, were wounded.

Seven persons were killed yesterday in clashes between police and nationalists defying light military patrolling. On Saturday, 23 died and many others were wounded in riots at Marrakech and Moulay Idris.

Fires set by terrorists in many parts of Marrakech still smoldered.

In Algeria, French Foreign Legionnaires reported they had killed 30 rebels in a gang of 100 they had surrounded in the Nemmencha Mountains. One Legionnaire was killed and several others wounded. Fighting was reported continuing.

The operation was a mopup of rebels believed to have ambushed a Foreign Legion convoy in the mountains last Wednesday and Thursday, when 25 Legionnaires and 70 to 80 rebels were killed.

Gilbert Grandval, new French resident general in Morocco, had an audience yesterday with the aged pro-French Sultan Mohammed Moulay Ben Arafat extending best wishes to the Sultan for his person and empire. It was noted Grandval did not mention the Sultan's continued reign.

Grandval has been reported ready to recommend that the Sultan step down by Aug. 30 in the interest of political peace.

Salk Vaccine For 5-9 Age Group

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Private physicians and public health agencies will start getting Salk polio vaccine this month for inoculation of children 5-9 years of age.

The Public Health Service announced yesterday it has allocated enough for 846,000 shots. That amount will become available as soon as individual states report how much is to go to health agencies and how much to physicians.

More vaccine will be apportioned as it is manufactured and cleared for use.

The distribution is the first under the department's voluntary program for placing the vaccine where it is most needed. Except for limited supplies which moved into commercial channels last April, the vaccine is the first to go to private physicians.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has received almost all the vaccine manufactured to date for use in its free immunization of first and second-grade schoolchildren. It reported Saturday its current needs have been met, although it said three million cubic centimeters more will be necessary to complete its program this fall.

Apportionment to the states was based on the number of children each has in the 5-9 year age group not included in the free vaccination program.

That age group is most susceptible to the disease.

Trapped in the elevator, Sara thought: Who knows about my fear of the elevator? Ballast. And Judith. And Gerry.

What inhuman cunning plotted this way to break me down, by striking one sharp blow at the point where there's already a fault in the structure of my mind? Just like a calculated hammer tap that cleaves a rough diamond along the plane of its flaw.

"Well, Sara, I'm waiting. Are you still conscious? Can you still hear me? I shan't wait much longer."

"Let me out and I'll tell you..."

"Why should you tell me once you're out? I'm not taking any chances. But you must—either way. The last moments won't be nice Sara. When the drowsiness comes with the shortness of breath and you realize that the end of everything is upon you and there is nothing you can do about it. For, by that time, you won't even have breath left to whisper the one thing that might induce me to release you..."

"I'm going to die. Whether I speak or not, I shall not be released. What has the voice to gain by releasing me, once the secret is told? If I survived, there would always be a chance that I might recognize the voice later. Then I would know who had finally got the ruby and I might tell the police. But if I didn't survive, what clue would there be to the ruby's whereabouts or to the identity of the person who pulled the main switch?"

"You're trapped. You can't get out. And I'm leaving now. Goodby."

"No! Don't go!" Her voice was hoarse, her lips pressed to the crack between the doors. "I'll tell you. Wait!"

No answer.

She screamed. "Come back! I'll tell you!"

The chances were 99 to a 100 that she would not be released, but that hundredth chance was the only one she had.

Silence. Then she heard a footstep. It was muffled on the rubber-tiled floor but her straining ears were abnormally acute just then and she could hear the ominous, familiar cadence of a light limp.

"Yes! Better be quick. Stop. Don't use up the last slender ration of oxygen. The ruby—"

Light blazed.

The shock was like being doused with a bucketful of icy water. Speechless, unbelieving, she stared at the four walls of the elevator. She had never expected to see them again.

Her mind moved grittily like a rusty machine. Light. That meant there was someone else in the building. Someone had discovered the lights were off, looked for a blown fuse, seen the main switch out of line and pulled it back into place.

There was a quiver. The elevator resumed its interrupted ascent, as if nothing had happened. She struggled to her feet. She put her thumb on the call button and held it down. The world was full of a wild, shrill jangling as she plunged into blackness.

Cool air caressed her cheeks, stirred her hair. She lifted her eyes slowly, as if they were weighted. She was in the elevator. It was standing still, but the doors were open. A man knelt beside her—dark-browed, unsmiling. For a moment she thought it was Gerry. Then she saw a slight weakness in the jaw line and a cheek without the blemish of three small moles. It was the false Gerry.

Through the open doorway, she saw Judith standing in the hall, amber eyes wide, red lips parted. She gasped. "Did you see him? Was he gone?"

"Who?" demanded the impostor.

"The man who pulled the main switch when I was in the elevator."

"How do you know it was a man?"

"He spoke to me through the door. He threatened to let me die in there. At least I think it was a man. I'm not sure. The voice was almost a whisper, quite sexless."

"We didn't see anyone," said Judith quickly. "I went out to dinner with a client. When I came back, the lights in the hall weren't working. I looked at the fuse box in the hall. The main switch was out of position. I put it back in place and the elevator alarm rang. The hand on the dial above the elevator was moving then from second to third, so I ran up the third floor the elevator was standing still and the doors were open. You were lying in it unconscious. I heard someone downstairs in the lower hall and called out, 'Who's there?' It was Gerry, who had just come in."

"Then the man who trapped me went up the fire stairs," Sara struggled to her feet. "He didn't go downstairs because you didn't meet him on your way up, and he didn't use the elevator because it's still here. He must have gone up to the roof."

"Maybe he's still there." The impostor ran toward the fire stairs.

Sara staggered as she came out of the elevator. Judith put out a steady hand. "Sara, you've almost had a panic attack in the dark locked in and believing something was wrong with the machinery. Couldn't you have imagined a voice whispering? Didn't it sound like that?"

"It did at first, but it wasn't I who sealed the air grilles with Scotch tape."

"Air grilles?" Judith stepped into the elevator and climbed upon the bench inside to get a closer view of its roof. "What are you talking about? There's no Scotch tape here."

"So that was a lie to put psychological pressure on me," Sara thought aloud.

Judith came out of the elevator, frowning. "There's no evidence that someone trapped you in the elevator deliberately."

"Then who pulled the main switch? And why?"

"It might have slipped out of position somehow, a vibration in the street or—or something."

"I don't believe that. I—"

The elevator doors moved and met. Both women stood staring at the hand on the dial above the elevator as it moved slowly over the numeral "4."

Sara ran to the foot of the fire stairs and shouted to the false Gerry. "Are you using the elevator?"

"No. I'm trying to get through the skylight."

"Then come down quick. He's in the elevator and it's going down!"

The impostor came hurtling downstairs. The clatter of his feet died away in the stair well as he went on down. Judith was still watching the hand on the dial. It stopped at "1." She turned on Sara furiously.

"If there is such a man, he may be dangerous. How could you

Radio Has Adult Music Treatment Asserts Miller

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, (AP)—Mitch Miller prefers radio.

Miller is a bearded, literate, articulate, oboe-playing selector of hit records and connoisseur of fine art who recently was tendered the stewardship of CBS radio's Music Hall Sunday evenings. Judging by audience reaction, he is rendering a fine stewardship.

Sit in a quiet restaurant with Miller and he says things like: "As soon as the movies got in trouble they began going adult. The same thing had happened to radio since television got it in trouble. Radio—the best of it—has gone to the solid adult audience because there was nowhere else for it to go."

What does he mean by "adult?"

Take music, says Miller. Do you enjoy music more on the radio or television?

Generally on the radio, you say, but you've never figured out exactly why. Is it because the visual image of an orchestra on the screen distracts?

Monsense, says Miller. The visual image of an orchestra in Carnegie Hall doesn't distract when you attend a concert.

"Music," he says, "is sound. On television today, because of the money involved, nobody pays much attention to sound when an orchestra goes before the camera. In preparing for the orchestra's appearance they're concerned about lighting and cameras. When lights and cameras are right they yell, 'that's all.' They don't want to have to pay for all those high-priced technicians standing around while an orchestra rehearses."

But for a half-hour radio show, says Miller, a good orchestra will prepare with a three to four-hour rehearsal.

"Another element is the TV sets usually are made with small speakers that don't reproduce sound well. The emphasis is all on sharply."

"I don't. This man isn't Gerry."

"Then who is he?"

"He may be a former movie actor named Mark Clifford, but whoever he is, he isn't Gerry."

He could act. There was no start of surprise, no look of alarm, only weariness.

Zooming Steel Industry Expects Pace To Keep Up

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Zooming profits in the steel industry plus assurances that output should continue at a rapid pace the rest of the year have made scarcely a ripple in the stock market.

Healthy, if less spectacular, earnings reports by the oil industry also failed to move traders.

Wall Street appears to have expected the results and to have anticipated earlier in the year. The prices earlier in the year. T Street shows much more interest in rumors about possible stock splits—or in the effect of manned earth satellites on aircraft atomic stocks.

Steel earnings have been impressive. Several of them have been all-time record highs. They may explain how the union was able to get a sizable wage boost with scarcely more than a token strike.

Reports that order backlogs are high and output is continuing at or near capacity rates may explain how the companies were able to raise the price of steel without running into resistance from the cus-

Lisbon Maps Big 6-Year Plan Of Modernization

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—A big population increase, a glut of cars, a housing shortage, insufficient schools—problems plaguing cities around the world—are to be met in Lisbon with a six-year building and modernization plan.

Two new suburbs, complete with schools, hospitals and public buildings, will be built to accommodate 48,000 citizens. One will rise east of the city and the other to the west, on the sloping hills along the Tagus River.

A subway is to be tunneled through the heart of the capital. Streets will be widened, especially the palm-lined main thoroughfare, the Avenida da Liberdade.

Traditionalists are dismayed. They fear the program will destroy what they—and tourists—consider Lisbon's greatest attraction, its centuries-old, picturesque streets that meander under ancient stone arches between tiled-fronted, balconied houses.

But Mayor Salvacao Barreto promises that the new houses will harmonize with Lisbon's historic buildings.

Red Army Speeds Austria Pull-Out

MOBGOV (AP—Soviet) Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov has ordered 44,000 Russian occupation troops to leave Austria by Oct. 1 a month ahead of their deadline.

Marshal Zhukov, wartime friend of President Eisenhower, announced the decision in an order of the day yesterday. He also said Russia's huge armed forces would be reduced by the number pulled out of Austria, in keeping with a Soviet proposal at the summit conference that all four occupation powers cut their forces by the number evacuated from Austria.

The Russian order came just four days after the effective date of the Austrian independence treaty. Under that pact, all four occupying powers—the United States, Britain, France and Russia—are required to remove their troops within 90 days.

When the four powers signed the treaty with Austria May 15, occupation forces totaled 70,000. Of these 10,000 were Americans. Their commander, Lt. Gen. William H. Arnold, said their withdrawal would begin immediately and continue over several months. Most of the remaining 5,000 will move south within 30 days to reinforce Italy's northeastern front under NATO.

Zhukov's order said Russian troops demobilized would "actively join the constructive labor of the Soviet people in building communism in our country."

Concord Jail Is Overtaxed With Arrest Of 41

CONCORD, N. C. (AP)—Facilities at the Cabarrus County jail were overtaxed yesterday after a mobile village of "gypsies" erupted into a family feud.

Sheriff E. M. Logan, assisted by deputies and State Highway Patrolmen, arrested 41 persons in quelling the pistol-packing, club-swinging group.

Robert Harrison, who identified himself as "King of the Gypsies," told police the fight grew out of argument over whether his granddaughter was to remain in a Columbia, S.C. hospital, where she is a patient. She was not further identified.

Sheriff Logan said the men generally were employed as septic tank cleaners, while their wives engaged in fortune telling.

Charges against the 41 men ranged from assault with intent to kill to trespass and damage to property.

Report 'Radical' New Plan Over Disarmament

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant for disarmament, has drafted a radical new plan calling for a halt in the making of atomic weapons.

The Times dispatch from United Nations headquarters said Stassen is trying to overcome objections to his plan by the Pentagon and State Department so he can present it to the five-nation subcommittee of the U. N. Disarmament Commission. The subcommittee resumes sessions at the U. N. Aug. 29, under a directive issued by the Big Four at the summit talks in Geneva.

A complete halt to the production of atomic and hydrogen bombs as well as to further H-bomb tests. Simultaneous establishment of an "early warning system," with international inspectors stationed at the world's leading ports, airfields and other centers.

Reduction of nonatomic forces under a schedule still to be completed by Stassen and his aides. Stassen was said to have drafted his proposals well before the Big Four summit meeting in Geneva last month.
