AYDEN—Members of the sheriff's department, Ayden firemen and neighbors conducted a frantic search through the ashes of the destroyed farm home of Jack Banks, Negro, this morning before the missing man was found, alive and well, at his sister's house.

Officers had feared that Banks died in the burning dwelling. The search through the ashes of the leveled home, located on the old Snow Hill road, was conducted for more than an hour before others who were inquiring in the area finally located the man.

No Negotiations At Gun-Point

Dulles told a news conference that the Chinese Reds would clear the way for extensive negotiations on major problems between them and other countries, including the United States.

Last-Minute Fights In Congress; 'Must' Bills Tagged Special Session Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration started talking special session today as a dwindling band of lawmakers waded into last minute fights in an effort to wind up the present session of Congress tonight. At the same time the Republican leadership polished up the "urgent" labels on some legislation that is in trouble.

Sen. Knowland (Calif.), Senate Republican leader, said the President reiterated a strong belief an atomic exhibit ship should be passed before adjournment lest a wait until next January give Soviet Russia a "leg on" the development. Martin said the House could easily pass the atomic ship bill approved by the Joint Atomic Energy Committee "but the Democratic leadership won't call it up."

Harold C. Patterson to be a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission and Newell Brown to head the wage and hour division of the Labor Department. Knowland said he still is hopeful that Congress can adjourn tonight "but we may have to go another day."

GOP leaders intimated he might veto it and call a special session of Congress.

Inquests Into 2 Deaths Planned

Inquests into the deaths of two persons killed in Pitt County auto accidents last month have been set for Thursday and Friday of this week, Coroner Griffin Rouse said yesterday. Thursday's inquest, to be held at 8 p. m. at the Court House here, concerns the death of Albert Allgood, 60, of Chocowinity, who died as the result of injuries suffered in a Sunday morning wreck July 3. Allgood was a passenger in a vehicle operated by David Bazemore, 38, of Route 2, Winterville, when it was involved with one operated by Charles Worthington, 28, of Route 1, Winterville.

Arriving Thursday After Over 2 Years As Red Hostages Hong Kong Prepares For Airmen

HONG KONG (AP)—American and British officials made preparations today to receive 11 American airmen due to reach Hong Kong Thursday after more than two years imprisonment in Communist China. The U. S. Air Force ordered two C-54 transports to Hong Kong today, presumably to bring home the airmen. The big four-engine planes were scheduled to arrive tonight.

Red China And U.S. Trade Views On 40 Civilians 48-Hour Recess At Geneva Meeting

GENEVA (AP)—The United States and Red China recessed their diplomatic talks for 48 hours today after exchanging views on the repatriation of 40 American civilians held by the Peiping regime and Chinese students in America. There was no communique at the end of today's 55-minute talk between U. S. Ambassador James A. Van Fleet and Wang Ping-nan of Red China. But a Chinese spokesman confirmed that the problem of the civilians was discussed and that the next meeting would be held Thursday morning.

Although the Chinese source declined to say whether any concrete proposals were made by either side, it was assumed that the recess was taken to permit consultations with Washington and Peiping on the preliminary exchange of views. A spokesman for the U. S. delegation indicated this might be the regular pattern for the talks — frequent recesses to permit consultations with the home governments. Neither the U. S. nor the Chinese spokesmen would give any details of the discussions.

Just before this morning's meeting, roving Indian envoy V. K. Krishna Menon conferred with Johnson for 45 minutes, but neither Menon nor Johnson would comment on their conversation. Menon said, however, that he felt the problem of civilian repatriation could be settled without serious difficulties. The Indian diplomat had served as a go-between in getting the U. S.-Chinese talks arranged. The Peiping regime launched the secret U.S.-Chinese talks here yesterday by announcing the release of 11 American fliers held since 1953 as spies. Wang said they would reach Hong Kong Thursday.

Wang, Peiping's ambassador to Poland, and Johnson, U. S. envoy in Czechoslovakia, then agreed to give priority in their discussions to the issue of civilian repatriation. They relegated to second place on their agenda "other practical matters at issue." The United States is seeking the release of some 40 American civilians, mostly missionaries or businessmen, held in Chinese jails, under house arrest or unable to get exit permits from Red China.

Air Secretary Resigning; Eisenhower Approves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Talbott will step out as secretary of the Air Force a week from Saturday lest his profits from an outside business interest "embarrass" the Eisenhower administration. President Eisenhower, promptly accepting Talbott's resignation late yesterday, told Talbott, "Your decision was the right one." There was widespread agreement.

Some said Talbott had done a good job as secretary. Even one Democrat said that. But no one in Washington said publicly that Talbott shouldn't have quit. Eisenhower in an exchange of letters made public by the White House praised Talbott's official services as "effectively and loyally performed."

I would not in any circumstances wish to be a source of embarrassment to you or your splendid administration." He sent word to Talbott that he would have no comment on his letter. Pentagon sources said they believed the President would take his time deciding on a successor.

"right away" with his fellow subcommittee members the matter of writing their report to the Senate "which I trust in view of these developments will be brief and unanimous." The subcommittee had looking into Talbott's conduct in seeking business for the New York business engineering firm of Paul B. Mulligan and Co., in which he held a partnership. Some of the firm's clients hold government contracts.

Lodge Pledges $1,000 Toward Mental Hygiene Clinic Project

The local Moose Lodge has pledged $1,000 for the operation of the Mental Hygiene Clinic which has been proposed for this city. County Health Officer Walter C. Humbert announced today. In making the announcement Humbert said that Moose officials have pledged further cooperation both morally and financially in future years also. He explained that the lodge under its bylaws could not commit itself for a period longer than one year.

The lodge will pay $500 of the amount on January 1, 1956 and the remaining $500 on June 30, 1956. "This is a wonderful gesture on their part," Dr. Humbert said of the Moose Lodge contribution. "I think, without a doubt, this shows the Moose of Greenville, who say they are a civic club, really are putting into practice what they preach."

The health officer, himself a Moose, said he realized the lodge has a heavy financial burden at present, since they are in the process of paying for a new building. That he indicated, made the contribution even more notable. Dr. Humbert stated that the contribution by the Moose lodge along with the $10,000 contribution over a six-year period by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. and the city and county appropriations for the Mental Hygiene Clinic will give about 75 per cent of the $33,000 needed to operate the clinic for the first year.

Smith went on to say that although the lodge could not make a firm commitment for future years, "you may rest assured that you will have our further cooperation, both morally and financially."

Miss Jean Tetterton, whose marriage to Dan Hinton of Rocky Mount will take place on August 13, was honored at tea on Thursday afternoon from 4 until 5 o'clock by Mrs. Milo Smith and Mrs. William Corbett Jr. at the Smith home on East Fifth Street.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL FAVORITE—Light jumper, dark shirt is new look for school belles. This is black and white print corduroy with black shirt, easy to make.

Juniors Love Jumpers; They'll Be Top Choice Again This Fall

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Fall forecasts show the popular jumper will again be top choice for back-to-school wardrobes from junior high to college.

This fall, however, campus style dictators have reversed the color scheme, preferring the look of a dark blouse with a lighter-toned jumper. This combination is a practical one, for nowadays there are washable woolsens and corduroys that may be tossed right in the washing machine.

Even a beginner seamstress can make a smart jumper in jig time. Local sewing center experts point out that the jumper, which can double as a party dress without the blouse, is made from only two major pattern pieces. There is no waistline seam in the one they selected, and a simple elastic casing controls skirt fullness.

Since the fit of a dress such as this depends almost entirely on having the waistline in exactly the right place, young sewing fans will appreciate the convenience of directions printed right on the pattern pieces, indicating the correct spot for waistline adjustments.

The pattern for a French-cuffed blouse with little-boy collar is packaged with the jumper pattern. Black cotton makes good contrast with a black and white printed corduroy jumper, or you might choose a dark brown blouse with a beige jumper of washable wool.

Since the pattern is so easy, you might make a couple of jumpers at once, cutting out both at the same time, making simultaneous pattern adjustments. Make one in a sturdy fabric for school, another in a pastel—such as pale pink with an American Beauty shirt—for party wear.

Sen. Jones Addresses Historical Meet

At a dinner meeting Thursday night, July 28, Dr. Paul E. Jones, Senator from Pitt, was introduced by Dr. Howard B. Clay and brought to the Pitt County Historical Society by an informative summary of the helpful legislative activities along historical lines by the 1955 General Assembly.

Senator Jones prefaced his talk with praise for a fellow Pitt Countyan, Mr. D. L. Corbett, with the Department of Archives and History. He told of the work he is doing and mentioned especially that he had read the letters of the Governors of North Carolina. He praised the calibre of the men who have served in the governorship and said that "North Carolina can be justly proud of their record of clean government and that some of the finest public servants had come from Pitt County and the eastern part of the State."

Dr. Jones recalled that Mr. J. L. Jackson, founder of the society, along with Mr. Corbett, had visited him when he first joined the legislative body. He spoke of the importance of societies that preserve for posterity a record, written and in relics, of outstanding events and characters; that stimulates interest and enthusiasm for history, both contemporary and of the past.

Dr. Jones stated that 1955 legislation placed the responsibility with the Department of Archives and History of developing a state program of historic site preservation in North Carolina and preliminary plans are now being worked out.

The recent General Assembly of North Carolina authorized the governing body of any county or municipality to appropriate non-tax revenues for the support of historical associations and for other purposes. Governing bodies are authorized to allot space in local schools, libraries, courthouses, city halls, or other public buildings for the function and activities of local historical associations.

Dr. Jones said $48,868 is available for the 1955-1957 biennium for the historic sites program, as follows: Alamance Battleground, Alamance County; Aycock Birthplace, Wayne County; Town Creek Indian Mound, Montgomery County; Alston House, Moore County; Historic Halifax, Halifax County; Bentonville Battleground, Johnston County; preservation of the covered bridge in Catawba County; the Governor David Stone House ("Hope"), Bertie County; the Penelope Barker House in Edenton, Chowan County; appropriated $25,000 toward the purchase of a tract of land around the grave of Governor Richard Caswell. The Governor Richard Caswell Memorial Commission will develop the 22 acres as a memorial to the State's first governor. Other legislation authorized plans for the 400th anniversary of the first English colonies in America (1655); to celebrate this year the 250th anniversary of the Town of Bath, oldest incorporated town in North Carolina; and to assemble materials on the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. Tryon Palace was included in the program, also.

Miss Jesse Rountree Moye reported that the plaque commemorating the signers of the Pitt Association has been shipped. It was decided to let the dedication of the plaque in late October take the place of the October Pitt County Historical Society meeting and that a luncheon will be held for the special guests and those taking part in the program. Most of the details will be worked out by the committee. Mrs. Ellen Lewis Carrol, Mr. Frank E. Brooks and Mr. Lauris Ellis were appointed to raise funds to underwrite the expenses for the dedication.

Miss Moye said she hoped in the near future the Society could have a portrait painted by a noted artist of William Pitt for whom the county is named; put a historical marker at the sites of the Evans and Simpson homes. Both were men of note. She also gave the history of the person for whom Cotanche Street was named.

Mr. Laurie Ellis had on display an old bull tongue plow fully 75 years old, a compass, horseshoe, an iron article to mark trees from which turpentine was to be drawn and a barrel stave gauge.

This display brought on an open forum discussion as to a suitable, fireproof building in which to keep such valuable relics as these and old deeds, wills and other documents which Mr. J. L. Jackson has collected and preserved for many years. Until a building can be acquired, immediate plans are to secure show cases and put them in the library or other available building, possibly at East Carolina College.

Then the members gave suggestions for making a better and more interesting society: to have place for preserving old papers and relics, to have a talk on the oldest newspaper in Pitt County (The Daily Reflector), interesting talks on local and state history, history of old homes and churches, get schools to interest students in local county history, get different towns to encourage local historical projects, invite member of Historical Commission visit this section to commemorate local units and persons, history of radio and television in Pitt County, history of East Carolina College and industries of the county, the differences in farming then and now an official County Historian to be designated, appointed or elected by the governing board, arouse more interest in the society, increase membership and all save clippings of historical or special news events for permanent records, have some recognition of the bi-centennial of the forming of Pitt County in 1900.

It was announced that Dr. Martha Prugel, a member of the society, has a television program each afternoon.

John B. Lewis Jr. of Farmville was introduced as a new member. Since the meeting Mrs. Bertha Tyson Parker of Greenville has joined.

One-Two-Three Line Style Show

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—A coat — over a tunic — or a skirt makes the "one-two-three" line shown by Jacques Griffe this morning.

A secondary Griffe theme is the shirt with flat bust and slack waist — the silhouette Dior has just scuttled with his new Y-J-a-e. "Intimacy" clothes, or home wear opened the collection, mannequins parading in filmy short nightdresses, silk on the side in Chinese fashion and over tight pajama pants.

Going in for tunics in a big way, Griffe gives them a flouncy flare from hip to hemline just above the knee, with, of course, a tight skirt under.

Capes are nearly as numerous in his show as tunics. Short ones but on up the back and longer ones have silts to free the arms.

"Bumblebee" dance dresses by Griffe have voluminous skirts, also ankle length. There are also tight satin formals. Some co-ktail dresses have the Chinese fastening at one side. Big rhinestone or cut steel buttons sparkle on and a little black dresses, often in double rows. Collars are winter blue brown, Chinese red and an odd beige shade called "frozen earth."

Griffe keeps cutting women in (tree with his tied boucous, on dresses as well as tunic ensembles. There are more bare backs than bars bosoms.

"Five Ways To A Perfect Fit" At Five Points

Today's Palace Set Very Young And Gay

LONDON, (AP)—The "palace set" in Britain these days is young and gay. At times they shock some of the more Victorian citizens but most Britons approve the tempo. After all, the Queen is only 29, and her husband 30.

Queen Elizabeth II when away from her official duties knows how to relax. For example, she joins in the fun at a private house party—as she did the other night squinting on a sofa in an informal candlelit atmosphere while another guest, Marlene Dietrich, entertained with a cabaret act.

The Duke of Edinburgh enjoys his "night out with the boys" and occasional pint—as the English refer to a glass of beer. Among his friends are theatrical folk and athletes. His frequent flights from the Buckingham Palace lawn in a helicopter are among attractions for tourists.

Princess Margaret sets the pace for the royal family in night life. Naturally vivacious, the 24-year-old princess is usually the life of the party—whether dancing the Charleston or sipping pink champagne.

Margaret's vitality caught the attention of London newspapers when she stayed at a party until 4 a.m. She was up at noon to dedicate a YWCA hostel—then set out again that evening at 8 p.m. looking as fresh as ever for a horse show.

Margaret's 18-year-old cousin Princess Alexandra is a rival for glamor girl honors in the royal society set. She's even more of a dance enthusiast—and at the party Margaret left at 4 a.m. she stayed until 4:30 a.m.

Another of the Queen's first cousins, Gerald David Lascelles, 31, is a jazz fan. Lascelles, 12th in line to the throne, has one of the best record libraries of jazz music in Britain.

The gay activity of the royal family in a way symbolizes the carefree attitude of a prosperous Britain after the long war and years of postwar austerity.

Mother Love

MONROE, N. C. (AP)—A 25-year-old mother was recovering here today from injuries received when she threw herself across the body of her three-year-old child as a train bore down on the lot.

Mrs. Dorothy Wilson related yesterday how her daughter was knocked down by a box car as the pair crossed railroad tracks Friday.

"I couldn't snatch her up because it would have cut her in two," Mrs. Wilson said. "My mind told me to jump down on her and I did."

"I was lying there on top of her and the train was moving over me. I remember seeing some of the box cars pass over me. I was scared out of my wits. Then I remember something hit me on the head."

Mrs. Wilson received 16 stitches in her hip and 14 in her head. Dianne escaped with minor bruises.

Three Entertain Rotary In Program Last Night

The dentist with a yen for antique clocks, a football coach with enthusiasm for painting of pictures, and finally Greenville's role in the event of atomic attack—all this was offered on the program at the Rotary Club last night. There was no time for a speech by anyone of the three local Rotarians, but each effused enthusiasm while talking about his pet subject.

The first on the program was Dr. B. McKay Johnson who exhibited samples of his antique clock collection. His hobby is to find a pile of clock, bring it home, and set it to going. He said he had three clocks that operate with a weight and the others have springs. He admitted he cannot get the striking clocks to strike simultaneously—usually one after the other.

The second on the program was Jack Boone, coach of the East Carolina College football team, who exhibited paintings done by himself dating from high school through military service. He said he could not remember when he started painting for he has liked it since he was quite small—but it has been twelve years since he last put pigment to canvas.

The final participant in the program was Willie Pate, County Sanitarian. He said he had just returned from a conference on Emergency Sanitation Practice. There he learned that Greenville's place in the picture of an atomic attack is that of being the area used to bring evacuees from Norfolk, Charleston or other critical target areas. That would mean some sixty thousand such evacuees added to a city of twenty thousand. Sanitarians are thinking about how to provide palatable adequate water, also see to sewage disposal, housing, and garbage disposal.

Water sources, he said, are being located in the rural areas and treated. It is anticipated that getting the water into Greenville would involve the use of all gasoline tank trucks. They see the slit trench as the sewage solution for the two or three days evacuees will stay. Food in cans and refrigerators will be useable but a stock pile of powdered milk and paper plates should be maintained. Sanitarian Pate explained the state has men trained in radiation detection available—they have been trained at the atomic proving grounds in the West.

Visiting Rotarians last night were Mack Carpenter of Rocky Mount and Randolph Eagles of Tarboro. Vice-president Bancroft Moseley presided. The program was presented by Badger Johnson.

The locks at Sault Ste. Marie, key to modern navigation of the Great Lakes, were first opened June 18 1855.

Firemen Foiled Suicide Attempt

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A father of four children, who ignored pleas of police not to jump, was foiled in a suicide attempt last night as he plunged eight floors from a narrow ledge into a firemen's net.

As two firemen slowly began lowering a looped rope from the floor above in an effort to seize Lawrence Yudin, 45, a machine worker, he hurled himself from the ledge. His back was broken as he hit the net.

For 20 minutes, while he clung to the ledge outside the window of his apartment, police tried to talk him out of jumping. Yudin, who police said was despondent, had told his 15-year-old daughter Sophie earlier in the day: "My family doesn't want me any more."

Authorities said he left a note on the back of a Mother's Day card in which he told his wife and children: "I was a fool to think I was in love with you. You know I loved you and I was crazy and jealous. I am only sorry I am doing this because of the children. I hope I make my way better in the other world."

Yudin's wife Jennie is recovering from an operation at St. Michael's Hospital.

Charges Actions Not Good Faith

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A Negro spokesman has charged the Wake County Board of Education "is not acting in good faith in proposing the plan" for experimental school integration.

Kelly Alexander, state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said yesterday the plan is an evasion of the U.S. Supreme Court decision against public segregation of the races.

Any pupil, under the Wake County proposal, could apply for transfer from the school to which he is assigned. The plan will not become effective until the 1956-57 school year.

Three Wrecks In City Yesterday

Three auto accidents in the city were reported to police yesterday.

At 6:45 a. m. cars operated by William H. Ward, 70, of 216 Evans Street and David Linwood James, 35, of 201 Summit Street collided at the intersection of Albemarle and Carolina Avenues. Damage was estimated at $500 and no arrests were made by investigating officers W. C. Flake and J. J. Paschano.

Two hours later on South Dickinson Avenue a collision between vehicles operated by Marvin Lee Speight, 64, of 2610 Dickinson Avenue and Joe Van Harper, 60, of Winterville, did an estimated $250 in property damage. No arrests or injuries were reported by officer J. W. Piver.

At 12:20 p. m. an estimated $550 damage was done in an accident at the intersection of Evans and Eighth Streets. Drivers of the cars were listed by investigating officer J. W. Piver as Jimmie M. Spain, 21, of 901 Washington Street and Sigbee B. Dilda, 19, of Fountain. No arrests or injuries were reported.

Three's A Crowd If One Is Snake

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Three's a crowd in an Army jeep, especially when one of the three is a rattlesnake.

Capt. John F. West and Capt. George N. Sanders were bowling along at a 40 m.p.h. clip yesterday when the rattlesnake reared its head between them.

West shouted, "Don't jump." Sanders didn't hear him. He'd already jumped—into a roadside ditch, head first.

West stuck it out a few moments, then jumped too.

The jeep rolled into a ditch and stopped unscratched. The rattlesnake slithered off into the grass. West and Sanders, bruised and dizzy, still wonder how the snake got into their jeep.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of six cases, only two of them involving violations of motor vehicle or traffic laws.

Bennie D. Vines, Negro, Route 6, Greenville, paid costs for speeding along at a 40 m.p.h. clip yesterday when driving a motor vehicle while drunk, requested that his case be transferred to Superior Court for jury trial.

Willie Lee Little, Negro, 207-B Deck St., assault with a knife on Eddie Pearl Taft, Negro, was called and he was not present. An instant capias was issued to bring him into court.

Archie Lee Daniels, Negro woman, 110 Cotanche St., damage to personal property (damaging automobile tires) Case was not pressed with leave.

Charlie Wallace, Negro, 601 Pamlico Ave., assault on a female, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs and he is not to harm or molest his wife.

James Arrington, Negro, 1719-E Pitt St., assault on a female, 30 days suspended on payment of costs and he is not to harm or molest his wife.

Coffee Crop Is Heavily Damaged By Cold Wave

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A cold wave has brought heavy damage to coffee trees in Parana state, one of Brazil's four chief coffee-growing areas.

Temperatures as low as 14 degrees and snowfalls of 20 inches were reported.

No official estimate of the damage has been made but the Meridional News Agency quoted the mayor of one coffee center yesterday as saying half the trees on plantations in northern Parana were destroyed.

The damage will not affect the coffee crop being shipped this year, but will be felt when the new crop begins to move next July.

Coffee futures on the New York market jumped the daily limit of 2 cents a pound yesterday.

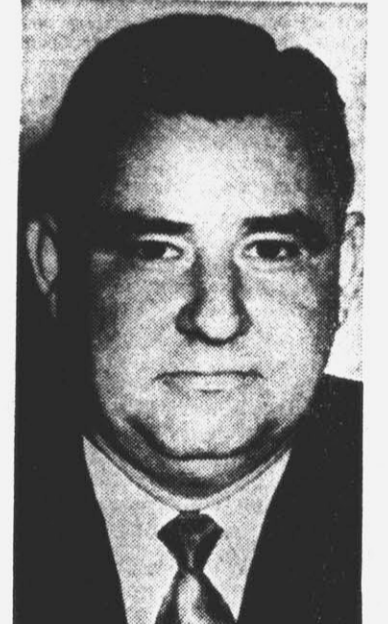

Gets Word From Spouse In Soviet

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Mrs. William E. Reed last night heard from her husband for the first time in more than a week—thanks to Radio Moscow and a Greensboro teen-ager who is a short-wave fan.

Her husband, a professor of agriculture at A&T College here, is touring Russia with a group of other Americans. Taylor Doggett, 19, was listening to his short-wave radio when he picked up Radio Moscow last night.

They were interviewing Dr. Reed Taylor reported. The Greensboro educator said he was impressed with the Russians' hospitality.

Help Needed From Landowners

Greenville's Chamber of Commerce is compiling a list of possible industrial sites in this immediate area. In this undertaking it needs the cooperation of landowners in and around the city.

Industrial development officials have pointed out the advisability of having possible sites in a community to show prospects who may be interested in locating an industry in a particular area. Chamber of Commerce officials must, of course, depend upon landowners making sites available for industrial development in order to have anything to show prospects. Therefore the organization has appealed to property owners to contact the Chamber of Commerce if they have land which they might be willing to dispose of as industrial sites.

This move by the Chamber of Commerce does not mean that industrial concerns are banging on the door seeking sites for industry in Greenville. It is simply another step by the Chamber of Commerce to further industrial development in the community. Like other efforts, its success depends largely upon the cooperation of the people of the community.

If the local Chamber of Commerce has a list of possible industrial sites to show a prospect, it will give the group more concrete information to use when conferring with manufacturing company officials. The availability of plant sites in some instances might mean the difference between getting a new industry and not getting it.

The Chamber of Commerce is constantly trying to improve the industrial development of Greenville, and the listing of possible plant sites is one way in which landowners, particularly, can aid in improving the program.

$1 Minimum Wage Law Will Hike N. C. Earnings

When the new $1 per hour minimum federal wage law becomes effective next March it will have a very real effect upon the economy of North Carolina.

The State Labor Department previously had estimated 169,000 workers in North Carolina would receive pay hikes if the 90 cent minimum proposed by President Eisenhower was adopted. Obviously more than that number will be affected by the $1 minimum which Congress has authorized.

For the workers in North Carolina which are affected by the new federal minimum wage, it will mean more take-home pay after the first two months of next year. For businesses and industries in North Carolina in interstate commerce who have workers now receiving less than the $1 per hour minimum, it will mean an increase in operating costs. That in turn could mean an increase in the cost of goods produced and therefore an increase in selling price.

In this area particularly the largest single group of workers to receive pay hikes probably will be seasonal workers employed in tobacco processing plants.

For whatever else it brings, this new higher minimum federal wage law should result in a higher per capita income for North Carolina as well as other states. If the new law means an average pay increase of only 10 cents per hour for $4 per week for 170,000 workers in North Carolina, it will mean an increase in payrolls in the state of some $680,000 weekly.

Come Into My Parlor Said The 'Red' Spider

Red China's announcement that it is releasing the remaining 11 U. S. airmen held on trumped up spy charges marks off another major point of friction between the two nations.

If the Geneva conference between ambassadors of the United States and Red China brings about the release of some 40 American civilians held in Red China, the tension between the two nations will be eased considerably.

The announcement of the release of the airmen as the Geneva conference began may have been Red China's way of showing the United States it intends to deal in good faith in the meeting on the ambassador level. It may have been an attempt to win from the United States concessions which otherwise would not have been possible at the Geneva meeting.

There can be little doubt now that release of U. S. civilians held behind the bamboo curtain will come at the conference which opened this week. We see in this series of events an attempt by Red China to pave the way for a meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai. At that meeting, of course, there would be matters of more importance for consideration: Formosa, U. S. recognition of the Peiping government, and a seat for Red China in the United Nations.

With its prior commitments to the Nationalist Chinese government, the United States could quickly find itself in an embarrassing position in this Far East chess game. Our country can ill afford to turn down any opportunity without reason which can lead to easing tension in the Far East. Neither can we afford to sell out Nationalist China to the Red warlords of the Asiatic mainland.

Pride Of Ownership Is Part Of American Idea

(Nashville Banner)

Of things that have been told about Americans, their sentiment and sayings as constituents of a government of, by, and for the people—and others that could be told—nothing has expressed better the sense of BEING one than the story related of a U. S. citizen going through the customs line abroad.

"You are a British subject?" The customs official asked a man ahead of him. The Britisher nodded.

Then to the American: "And you, I presume, are a United States subject?"

"H., no," he replies. "I'm one of the proprietors."

Everything Points To Boom For N. C.

By LYNN NISBET

LOOKING UP — Every report, statistical, financial and general indicates things are looking up economically in North Carolina.

The general reports deal with the best crops in several years, unusually good business in the tourist and travel industry, livelier manifestation of interest in the industrialization program.

The statistical reports show an increase of more than $140 million in bank resources on June 30 as compared with the previous June; an increase of nearly one million dollars in intangible taxes for last year over the previous period; between two and three million dollars more in general fund tax receipts than had been anticipated, nearly five million more than for 1953-54.

Governor Hodges told newsmen that while the July monthly report would not be available before Tuesday morning "it also looks good."

REVENUE — The advisory budget commission took these figures into consideration at their session Thursday afternoon and were not at all unhappy. The budget group by resolution expressed appreciation for the cooperation of the various departments and agency heads in the saving of money, especially during the last quarter of the past biennium.

While most attention is given to the general fund account the highway fund is not doing so well. There will be approximately five and a half million dollars for allocation to special projects. The prison system has asked for about $900,000 and has been tentatively promised substantial help. The Governor said he did not expect to be in a hurry about allocating the rest of the highway money, but expected to put it as nearly as possible where it would serve state-wide purpose rather than the needs of one section.

SURPLUS — The $15 million general fund "surplus" or carry-over from the 1954-55 biennium will be available for use this year and next and will further ease the financial stress for the State of North Carolina. This balance was accumulated partly by revenue in excess of estimates when the appropriation bills were pending in the 1953 General Assembly. Almost half of it is attributed to the fact the budget bureau was able to save $9,945,538 out of appropriations authorized by the General Assembly.

While most State officials, especially with direct responsibility in financial operations, are happy over the availability of more money, a great many of them are concerned about the process by which it was accumulated. The advisory budget commission visits State institutions to get first hand information as to needs for physical equipment. Then the advisory commission holds public hearings to determine the minimum estimated needs for operating State government agencies, departments and institutions. Later on the committees of the General Assembly hold further public hearings and in committee rooms and open sessions of the House and Senate finally fix the appropriations to meet State needs.

One of the major provisions of the original Executive Budget Act was authority for the Director of the Budget, who is the Governor, to horizontally reduce all appropriations in event revenue is not forthcoming to meet them. That drastic action has been taken only once or twice since the budget system was inaugurated in 1925. In recent years there has been a growing tendency for the Budget Bureau to ignore legislative appropriations and by the exercise of its own discretion curtail or completely deny authorized expenditures in specific instances. Wide publicity is given the legislative appropriations. The selected budget cuts are not subject to public hearings and are seldom publicized, although usually protested by the affected agency.

RESENTFUL — There were numerous rumblings heard in committee rooms during the recent legislative session about the increasing powers of the budget bureau. Some of the officials responsible for operating service and administrative agencies are becoming more openly resentful of the trend. Why should we, they ask, go to such trouble to show to the General Assembly what our needs are, then plan our program to fit the allocations leveled from the taxpayers and arbitrarily cut the appropriation and disrupt our plans?

Elimination of extravagance and waste is highly desirable. Abandonment of essential services when money is not available is unfortunate but necessary. Reduction of services when money has been appropriated and is available simply for the purpose of showing a "surplus" is neither desirable nor wise, contend the victims of budget cuts. Either the money ought not to be collected from the taxpayers, or it ought to be spent as the representatives of the people constituting the General Assembly authorized.

Patrons of the schools which lost some economic classes, persons who need the facilities, health clinics and hundreds of others who have suffered hardship by reason of inadequate funds, will hardly join the budget folks in boasting about the million collected from the taxpayers and retained in surplus accounts instead of put to the authorized purpose of serving the people. Most financiers concede there ought to be a "cushion" and that the $14,990,973 carry-over this year is not excessive in relation to the $25 million biennial general fund budget. The Executive Budget Act requires a balance in income and outgo, and specifically forbids deficit spending. It did not originally contemplate that administrative curtailment of legislative appropriations would be invoked to build a surplus and put the budget out of balance just as much as if there were a deficit.

What Other Editors Small Loan Interest Rates

(Wilson Times)

We know very very little about interest rates. We make no pretense of knowledge in that direction. But we, like so many others, can read figures when we see them.

When Charles Gold, Insurance Commissioner, says that insurance companies are making too much money on health and accident policies when they are sold on more or less a compulsory basis at the time a man gets a small loan, then we think he knows his subject.

It is reasonable to assume that the first place it is reasonable to assume that when a man wants to borrow a little money, he needs that money for some purpose. It is reasonable to assume that when he borrows it, he expects to pay it back.

It is also reasonable to assume that the company has a right to adequate security. That includes the right to require the person getting the loan to be covered with health and accident insurance. But "adequate security" does not mean the right to make exorbitant profits out of any man, particularly a person whose back is already up against the wall to the extent that he finds it necessary to float a small loan.

Recent figures showed that a man receives a loan of $30 when his charges were totaled for the 90 day period, the man actually had to pay back the sum of $62.30. Thus, there was a sum of $32.40 of which $8.25 were health and accident insurance premiums.

Mr. Gold thinks that the amount is too much. Accordingly, he ordered a 25 per cent cut in the rates. The insurance companies entered a protest, and we read here they have been ordered to carry the case into the courts.

The legislature gave Mr. Gold the authority he assumed recently. And the legislature is not in session now. So if we interpret Mr. Gold's order correctly, the insurance companies must either comply or take court action to delay the order.

We are not arguing the case. We feel that if the little fellow who gets small loans can be given a break, he should be given one. At least one should not make excess profits out of him.

Somebody Told Me Long Radio Talk To Germany

Sunday night I was talking to a German telephone operator in the process of tracing down the number of Pfc. Fred Stokes of Grifton, who is stationed near Heirbom.

Hildegard made a classical statement about my Southern accent: "It sounds like Chinese." Her accent is thick, but her English perfect.

It amazed me that she seemed to have all the time in the world to chat on the phone. Of course it was 7:30 here which means it was 1:30 in the morning in Germany. But I have never heard an American operator who seemed to have time to talk about the weather.

As long as radio conditions are favorable, those GIs in Germany will sit up and talk. I was talking to Hildegard through a GI station in Ramstein. One I talked to Sunday reluctantly signed off at 1:45 his time because he had to go on duty at six a.m.

Major H. R. Rogers of Greenville recently returned home after a tour in Germany. He gave an indication of the effect of sovereignty being returned to Germany upon the GIs stationed there. It affects the economy of the American, because expenses that have been born by occupational funds will now have to come out of Uncle Sam's pocket.

As I drove to work this morning it occurred to me that anyone who drives down East Fifth Street several times a day should say an extra prayer of appreciation.

Nash Street in Wilson has been recognized far and wide as one of the most beautiful streets in the country. But the only thing it has on East Fifth is that it's longer. As the trees develop on the East-ermost end of the street, and as additional houses are built, Greenville should push our street for some of the honors that have come to Nash.

It's not too late to kick in a few dollars to help the Greenville Pony League get to Greensboro for the play-offs. There's no recreation money set aside for this trip, so we must answer the call.

Bear in mind that Greenville will have the opportunity to represent one-eighth of the U. S.

Call the Recreation Commission and they will direct your dollars to the right place.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

Rocket - Gunning Kids Did It

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The sky is no longer the limit.

Blast those little kids who've been running around with rocket guns in their arms and plastic bullets over their heads.

Instead of playing cowboy like sensible children they've been talking for years about zooming to other worlds in space ships.

So what has happened? Some grownup scientists listened to their prattle and took their childish game seriously.

And now, just as sure as the Lord made little atoms, by the end of the century tourist agencies will be featuring weekend space ship journeys to the moon.

The decision by the U. S. government to earmark 10 million dollars to throw up a basketball-sized earth satellite is just a starter. It will go up only 200 or 300 miles, whizz around the world every 1 1/2 hours at an 18-000-mile-an-hour clip, then come down after a few days or weeks burning up as it hits the earth's atmosphere.

But this first man-made falling star, naturally will be only the beginning.

The satellites will become larger and larger, go up higher, finally reach a height where they can stay up and buzz around the earth forever. The old definition of gravity—"All that goes up must come down"—will be repealed.

Where will it all end? Who knows but that Texas itself may decide it wants more Lebensraum, and rocket itself into the sky—thus turning the earth itself into a satellite of the Lone Star State?

Already thousands of people at the Hayden Planetarium our local sky study parlor have signed up to become passengers on the first space ship to the moon.

No! No! Not on the first ship, not on the 1,001st.

Why wouldn't you like to set foot on the moon? My adventurous-minded friends ask.

No indeed. I was born in a time when a horse was something you rode on, not bet on. I'd like to see the disappearance of the buggy and the victory of the automobile. I have learned to put up with the airplane. But the idea of space ships separates the men from the boys, and I'm a man. It's the boys who will have to grow up and do their Sunday sky-larking in space ships.

It must all start there, no matter what it may result in later.

Strength for the Day

TRUE UNITY

We hear a great deal today about the necessity for "church unity." This is all to the good if it means more of a spirit of unity among Christians. But it is all to the bad if it means bigger and more complicated ecclesiastical machinery.

Jesus prayed that those who believed on him would be one, even as he and the Father are one. He and the Father are one spiritually. They are one in understanding. The unity we must aim for throughout the Christian world is the unity of men for whom there is indeed one Lord, one faith, one baptism. The ecclesiastical differences between us fade into nothingness when we confront the fact that we and other varieties of Christians follow the same Lord. The differences which seem to separate us make very little difference when we realize that what all Christians have faith in is the Fatherhood of God and the Saviorhood of Jesus Christ and the continuing ministry of the Holy Spirit, and that the final and consummate baptism which the world needs for its healing and growth is a spiritual baptism.

Let us have church unity. Let every movement be supported which will heal division in the body of Christ and bring his lovers closer together. But let us remember that real unity is spiritual unity.

It must all start there, no matter what it may result in later.

Soviet Visitors Bolster Cooley's Plan

By RAY TICKER

WASHINGTON—The Russian farmers' party adventure in their current visit to the corn-wheat belt have quickened Capitol Hill interest in Representative Harold D. Cooley's proposal for fostering better relations between urban consumers and producers of food.

He thinks that millions of non-farming Americans are ignorant of agriculture's problems, and achievements as the Communist tourists.

As Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, the North Carolina member proposes that farmers set up a nationwide public relations bureau operating through the press, magazines, radio, television, schools, business and industry. In his opinion individual farmers' farm organizations and industries selling to farmers should—and he thinks they would—finance the organization.

FILL NATION ON FARMING. Dealing with actual, practical and common-sense political action, he suggests that the press agents sell the nation on the importance of agriculture's contribution to the national economy as producer and purveyor. It was American farmers' heavy ownership of equipment and machinery, with the consequent release of human hands, which most amazed the Russians.

Taking a cue from the Red "experts" trip, Cooley urges that "farmers' newspapers" be taken on periodical visits through the farm states—cotton and tobacco areas of the South, the corn-wheat belt, the fruit and vegetable acres of Florida, Texas and the Far West.

Another Cooley idea is to enroll city school children in farm summer schools on a scholarship basis. More courses on agriculture's problems he thinks should be given in grade and high schools and universities. He also believes that agriculture and related industries should send more money to city magazines and newspapers have little opportunity to see agriculture at work.

Butcher's Service Preferred

By ELMER ROESSNER

Most consumers prefer butcher service to prepackaged meats, if 4,000 families in Flint and Grand Rapids, Mich., are typical.

Harold M. Riley, assistant professor of agricultural economics at Michigan State University, conducted a survey of the families.

The responses in percentages:

	Flint	Grand Rapids
Prefer butcher service	61	68
Prefer Prepackaged meats	34	19
No preference	14	12
No answer	1	1

The results of the survey differed very little from one made in the same two cities in 1951, despite the fact that there has been a great increase in prepackaging since then.

This caused Mr. Riley to conclude "The results raise some serious questions about consumer acceptance of prepackaged meats." However, he said self-service meats will continue to grow in relative importance largely because of operation advantages of this selling method in medium to large food stores.

One curious point developed in the survey: Many of those who do not like prepackaged meats buy them anyway. Reasons included the fact that supermarkets are cheaper, that service methods are too far away and do not provide parking, that self-service provides greater variety and faster shopping, that supermarkets are frequently open at night, and that one-stop shopping is desired.

Even then Mr. Riley believes, self-service markets will have to make improvements to gain wider acceptance of prepackaging.

Among the shoppers' complaints about prepackaged meats are that they were not sure the meat was fresh, that excess bone and fat are sometimes hidden in the package, and that they cannot see both sides of the package. A fourth of them said they liked advice from the butcher and several complained that when they rang for special cuts, the attendants were disgruntled.

Those that prefer prepackaging said they can shop more quickly, see total price and weight, select desired sizes, examine the meat and enjoy a wider selection. And one housewife said she didn't get talked into too much meat.

TYPICAL FOREMAN GETS 6.3 PER CENT RAISE TO $6.74

The typical American production foreman is paid $6.42 a year, according to a survey of 100 companies employing 6,500 foremen. The American Management Association, which made the survey, added that the typical foreman is 45 years old, has been in his present job eight and a half years and supervises 42 workers. He got a 6.3 per cent raise last year.

IRON CURTAIN MONEY LACKS THAT RING

The chances of doing business with countries behind the Iron Curtain are improving, but, Pick's World Currency Report warns, their currency is somewhat wobbly compared with the dollar.

This is shown by the great difference between official and free-market exchange rates. The Chinese yuan the best of the sort, for, at 2.46 to the dollar officially and 4.90 to the dollar in free markets, a premium of 100 per cent. The dollar brings a premium of 413 per cent in buying Soviet rubles and 1,900 per cent in buying Polish zlotys. The currency of other satellite states falls between the yuan and the zloty.

SPECIALTY STORES MAKE LESS, SURVEY INDICATES

Thirty per cent of 213 women accessories and specialty stores surveyed by Dun & Bradstreet lost money last year. And although the average stores sold more goods than in 1949, its net profit was lower.

The typical store in the survey made sales of $44,980, compared with $39,500 five years earlier. Gross margin was 33.7 per cent, compared with 32.4 per cent in 1949. And net profits before Federal and state taxes was 2.2 per cent of net sales, compared with 3.0 per cent in 1949.

UNIVERSITY TRAINING FOR SMALL BUSINESSMEN

Three courses for owners and managers of small businesses will be given evenings this fall by New York University. They will be on managing a small business, business law and selling leading not to a degree but to better profits.

"Thus, they have little appreciation of our problems, and do not personally know anyone to whom they can turn to explain agricultural questions as they arise. For many years, industry has used the group tour method to acquaint people with its personnel and its processes. Agriculture should do the same."

RESPONSE FAVORABLE. Mr. Cooley has delivered this message to numerous industry groups, relying on farmers for their market—tractors, combines, trucks, cars, electrical appliances. He found a generally favorable response in the two systems of Russian and American farmers, and the interest which they have aroused in the two systems of food production, that dramatized his public relations program for agriculture.

He thinks that American agriculture's achievements in the World War II would be as astonishing to millions of Americans as it was to the Russians.

State Begins New Fiscal Year With Tax Boom; Money Is Just Pouring In

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's new fiscal year started with a boom, with every important general fund tax schedule pouring in money last month at a rate well above that of July, 1954.

Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw reported to Gov. Hodges yesterday that the month's total was $12,983,184, a gain of $2,724,318 or 26 1/2 per cent above the same month last year.

Shaw credited "continued improvement of economic conditions" with the major share of the gain. He said it also reflected some new taxes which became effective July 1, and "some improvement in voluntary compliance and payment."

Shaw suggested that an attempt to relate tax returns to revenue estimates provided for the last Legislature be deferred until the end of the first quarter of the fiscal year in September because of "varying due dates" of tax schedules.

The sales tax, regarded as a barometer of current business conditions, accounted for $5,576,167 during July, a gain of $1,150,405 over the same month last year.

The income tax showed a gain of about 57 per cent, with a total of $1,443,078. Collections from individuals accounted for $337,124 of the $524,018 increase.

The total of $1,344,544 collected from beverage taxes was a gain of $299,820. This reflected an increased tax rate on whisky, beer and wine.

Other general fund schedules showed the following percentage gains: inheritance 42.59; privilege 80.02; franchise 10.87; gift 90.53; intangibles 94.04; insurance 58.71.

The Highway fund collections totaled $7,912,626.

McCarthy Claims Eisenhower 'Sold Out' At Geneva Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said today "the American people will rebut" charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that President Eisenhower offered "friendship to tyrants and murderers" at Geneva.

McCarthy denounced in the Senate yesterday what he termed Eisenhower's "profession of faith" in a statement of Russian leaders that they want peace. He said he believes a "sell-out" to the Communists in Asia is in the making and he intends to "take the issue to the American people."

Goldwater, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and says he regards McCarthy as a GOP asset, said in an interview that "I think the American people themselves will rebut Joe."

He said he doesn't believe the people will "buy" McCarthy's contention that the Big Four conference at Geneva constituted a "sell-out" for the free world forces.

"I think the people are pretty well pleased with the outcome of the Geneva conference, even those who have some reservations about it matter," he said. "The people

McCarthy declared "the Eisenhower administration has adopted every important plank of the Democrat party's foreign policy."

Actors Guild To Strike Friday Over TV Issues

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Screen Actors Guild has set Friday for the start of a strike by all actors in filmed television shows.

A spokesman for the guild said that 40 weekly TV series are now shooting in New York and Hollywood. John L. Dales, the group's executive secretary, said that 96.3 per cent of the membership authorized the strike.

"The principal issue," he said yesterday, "is the refusal of the producers of filmed television programs to agree to make any residual payments whatsoever to actors for the second run of a video film."

The three-year contract which expired last week gives actors payment on the third to sixth runs, inclusive, in addition to the original showing.

The walkout will not apply to production of theatrical motion pictures.

and reduced the 1955 Republican platform to "a scrap of paper" in their hearts, I think, are opposed to the President's policies.

"But they have accepted the theory that they cannot return to office in 1956 without Eisenhower at the head of the ticket and they are, I am afraid, prepared to subordinate considerations of sound policy to those of political survival," he said.

He said there is "every reason to believe that concrete measures for appeasement were agreed upon at Geneva," despite Eisenhower's statement that no commitments of any kind were made.

He also attacked Eisenhower's friendship with Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Soviet defense minister and a World War II comrade. He said Eisenhower ought to have a decent regard for the feeling of his countrymen and shun Zhukov.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, replied that he could say flatly from the "highest sources in this government" that no deal was made at Geneva to turn over Nationalist-held offshore islands to Communist China, as contended by McCarthy.

Get Charter For Private Schools

RALEIGH (AP)—Three Raleigh men have obtained a charter for a nonstock corporation to operate private schools here.

Incorporators of Raleigh Private Schools, Inc., were silent yesterday on plans for the organization. Its charter filed in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure listed its purpose as the operation of "private educational institutions of all kinds."

The charter was signed by Vaughan S. Winborne, a lawyer; William Noble Starling, an insurance agent; and John H. Anderson, identified as a University of North Carolina student.

Winborne said the group has nothing to say at this time about its plans. He refused to comment when asked if the charter was obtained as a result of a suggestion by Asst. Atty. Gen. I. Beverly Lake that communities charter nonstock corporations to operate private schools to avoid integration of white and Negro pupils.

Chapel Hill Board May Set Policy

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A statement of policy on racial integration in Chapel Hill schools may be made Aug. 15 at a meeting of the school board.

The board met last night and voted to study the matter two more weeks. The Aug. 15 statement would be based on Gov. Hodges report on integration in a statewide broadcast next Monday.

Board Chairman Carl Smith said he believes integration to be "both feasible and possible" but in his opinion "highly undesirable."

Sen. George Claims No Interest In Federal Post

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) has told friends he is not interested in any State Department post and has indicated he will run for the Senate again next year.

George, 77-year-old chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, heads home today for a vacation and an assessment of a Georgia political situation in which he may be challenged for renomination by former Gov. Talmadge.

George has been in the Senate since Nov. 1946. He is not expected to announce formally for re-election, he told reporters "I expect I'll be running again, but I haven't made any final decision." Earlier, in an emotional farewell to his colleagues, George said, "I hope I shall come back."

There are clear indications that Secretary of State Dulles would welcome George as an adviser if the veteran senator decided to retire from office. But some of George's associates said he had told them he was "not interested" in such a position.

Some of his colleagues made it clear that if they had anything to say about it Georgia would send him back for another six-year term.

"There is no question what Georgia should do," Republican Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin told the Senate yesterday. "A man with his background—for heaven's sake—be should be returned."

Friends of Talmadge apparently have been suggesting in Georgia that perhaps George has been paying too much attention to foreign affairs and not enough to Georgia's home problems.

Perhaps significantly, George took for him the unusual course of heading a delegation of 35 senators and about 80 House members to the White House yesterday to discuss a new cotton program and win President Eisenhower's pledge for a Cabinet-level study of it.

Mop 'Business' Draws Sentence

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Harold H. Caldwell began a six-year prison term today after pleading guilty to false pretense in Superior Court on a charge that his mop business wiped up a few households.

Police said Caldwell sold mops to housewives, then returned to retrieve the mops from different members of the families, saying they were broken. He never returned them.

Some scientists believe that lichen, or some similar plant must grow on Mars, says the National Geographic Society.

Jerry Lewis Unwilling To Mend His Recent Split With Martin

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Will Martin and Jerry Lewis end their civil war and resume their fabulously successful union? The issue is now up to Jerry Lewis.

Dean Martin says he's "ready, willing and able" to go back to work as a team. Jerry says, "no comment."

The civil war has now developed into a cold war. It has been two months since Dean and Jerry have spoken a word to each other.

They will have to reach a decision before long. They are scheduled to make a comedy western, "Where Men Are Men," next month. And Paramount has denied Jerry's request to perform separately, Dean reports.

Jerry has maintained a public silence through the whole feud. To all queries, he replies a polite "no comment." The team's agent, Lew Wasserman of M.C.A., offers no information. But Dean is open in discussing his side of the issue.

"I sent my letter to Paramount, Hal Walli and NBC saying that I was ready, willing and able to go back to work under our contracts with them. Jerry did not write his letter. Instead, he asked Lew Wasserman to request that we be let out of our Paramount contract."

"Frank Freeman (Paramount studio head) went east to present the matter to the board of directors. The board said no, that Jerry will have to go to work."

"There is no possible way that we can get out of the contract. After all, Paramount paid X amount of dollars for a share of our company, York Productions. We signed a seven-year contract that still has six years to go."

"I want to go back to work. I don't want to break up the team. It's a damn fine living and I want to hold onto it."

The question naturally arises: What has caused the break between these two performers, once considered the fastest friends in show business?

The answer is not simple. The schism came from a chain of incidents. There have been no hard words between them. Fundamentally, the trouble stems from the difference in their natures.

Jerry, the comic, is nervous, agile, likes the excitement of show business living. Dean, the singer, is easy-going, prefers the comforts of life.

As Dean himself remarked: "I'm 11 years older than Jerry. This business of constantly touring all over the country gets you down."

"I've got a beautiful home, a beautiful wife and two lovely children. I like to spend some time with them. It seems to me that if we do three pictures a year and five TV shows, that should be enough."

Jerry doesn't feel that way. An associate of the team puts it this way:

"Jerry thinks the team should do more than that. He believes they should keep active in clubs, theaters, benefits and public relations work, as well as pictures and TV. He thinks that the other member of the team should participate to the fullest extent or else get out."

"For that reason, he has asked for release from their various contracts. He said he doesn't want to work with Dean gain."

A split is not an easy matter, since Martin and Lewis are a multi-million-dollar industry. They have firm contracts with Paramount, Hal Wallis and NBC, plus commercial tie-ups and other investments. Unraveling their interests would be a monumental job, even if the producers were willing to let them work separately.

(Tomorrow: the chain of events that led to the split.)

No Plans Now For Mart Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Blitch (D-Ga.) said today she has no plans now to ask a congressional investigation of tobacco buying in the Georgia-Florida flue-cured belt.

She threatened last week to seek such an inquiry after she said she had reports that buyers for big companies were deliberately withholding bids to force the tobacco into the government loan program and beat down prices.

Mrs. Blitch told a reporter today she understood conditions had since improved and she will not ask an investigation unless the situation reverses itself.

Telephone Co. To Bring In Network To 'Channel 7'

A twist of a dial will bring a new television station with its NBC network hookup to Eastern North Carolina's television audience in September contingent only on the construction of the television station's transmitting tower and building at Grifton and the installation of the necessary equipment.

This was announced today by an official of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, who added that the telephone company was proceeding according to schedule with its plans to provide network facilities for the new television station.

The video, or picture portion, of network programs will be transmitted from the telephone company's 318 foot micro-wave tower at Castoria, near Snow Hill, for a distance of some 20 miles to the transmitting tower of WITN located at Grifton. The Castoria tower was constructed in 1953 for the provision of network facilities for WNCT at Greenville.

Micro-wave signals from the Castoria tower will strike a reflector mounted some 180 feet up on the WITN transmitting tower and be directed to an eight-foot saucer-shaped dish at the bottom of the tower. Micro-wave signals from this dish will in turn be funneled into the transmitting station to be radiated out through the transmitting tower to the television sets of Eastern North Carolina.

The Castoria tower will receive the micro-wave signals from a series of similar towers beginning at Westover, near Raleigh where contact will be made with national network facilities. These micro-wave towers, located at 20 to 25 mile intervals, act as booster stations and relay the television signals from one tower to the next until they arrive at their destination.

The towers which will transmit the picture (picture) to WITN are located near Westover, Smithfield, Goldsboro and at Castoria.

And while the network pictures will be transmitted by micro-wave, the audio, or sound, will be transmitted over land lines provided by the telephone company. Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company will provide the land line facilities from Goldsboro to Grifton while American Telephone and Telegraph Company will deliver network audio to Goldsboro from the main North-South network facilities.

Existing cable from the exchange at Grifton will be extended by the Carolina Company to carry the last lap of the audio link to the transmitter site located some two miles out of Grifton on the Vanceboro Highway.

WITN studios and offices are at Washington.

U.S. auto wash businesses had 100 million customers in 1954 and took in 120 million dollars says the Automobile Manufacturers Assn.

ASSISTANT RECORDER—Lester H. Gillikin of Goldsboro today was officially appointed assistant recorder of the Sudan Temple. He will assume duties as of September 1. Having more than 22 years of work and association with Masonry and the Shrine, Gillikin was named Shrine Potentate in 1953.

RAILROAD INTERLUDE

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A mother opossum and her youngsters waddled into the railroad diesel shops for a looksee at railroading at the possum eye level. Workers organized a hunt. Mother and her brood were captured and ushered from the shops. Railroad routine was then resumed.

Modern artificial eyes are made to look exactly like natural eyes and some people buy extra eyes which appear to be bloodshot for use when they have hangovers, says the Better Vision Institute.

Heresy Charged Another Pastor

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The liberal interpretations given the doctrine of his church have brought another young suburban Milwaukee minister face to face with a charge of heresy.

The Rev. John Gerberding, 33, must stand a formal church trial on specific counts of doctrinal deviation, an investigating committee of the Northwest Synod, United Lutheran Church, voted unanimously last night.

Pastor Gerberding, whose church is at Menomonee Falls, sat with and tried to aid the losing defense of the Rev. George Crist Jr., of Durham, who was convicted of similar charges at a two-day trial last week.

Pastor Crist's suspension from his pulpit was recommended and Dr. Paul E. Bishop, of Minneapolis, who headed the investigating committee, said official suspension was only a matter of time.

The cases will be reviewed by the synod conference in Milwaukee next May, with penalty to be set at that time. It might range from a rebuke to ouster from the Lutheran ministry.

Pastor Gerberding was questioned five hours yesterday on the nature of his beliefs. He told newsmen that he was prepared to discuss with authorities the manner in which Scriptures might be read.

Like Pastor Crist, he denied that "the Bible must be received in a very exact and precise way," and declared that the Lutheran Church has "no cut and dried manner for receiving the Scriptures."

Dr. Bishop said the trial of Pastor Gerberding probably will be held here about the end of August.

Specifications of the general accusation against Pastor Gerberding may be made public with filing of formal charges before his trial.

South Korea Proclaims It Will Reacquire Area

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean government proclaimed its intention today to "restore authority" over a small but strategic area south of the 38th Parallel which the Reds occupied while the armistice was being negotiated.

It did not say how or when it would recover the territory, but said it was necessary for the defense of Seoul and quoted intelligence reports that a "full-scale attack is imminent" from the north.

It charged the attack "was prepared for" by a North Korean build up contrary to armistice terms "while the United States and the United Nations were preoccupied with a peace at any cost movement."

In a bitterly worded statement the ROK government said the Reds have again achieved superiority over ROK forces and "may feel tempted to utilize this opportunity resulting from the relaxation of world tension."

It demanded abolition of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission and charged Secretary of State John Foster Dulles with having promised to "settle this question" within three months after the 1953 armistice.

"... But the United States seems to be unable to settle the question for us and for them selves," complained the ROK statement.

"This government has no other course but to deal with the Communists directly with the hope that the Communists, realizing their violation of the armistice terms, will quietly withdraw from this sacred land of ours," the statement concluded.

The land claimed by the ROKs includes the city of Kaesong, 40 miles northwest of Seoul, the Ongjin Peninsula west of Kaesong, and land along the north bank of the Han River.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

Sara moved to unlock her own door.

Judith following her, sat primly on the settee.

The pseudo-Gerry, lounged in an armchair, glass in hand, looking as much at home as if he had come to stay for a week-end.

Sara looked at her watch. "Thirty minutes."

"What do you mean?" demanded Judith.

"I was in that elevator about 30 minutes. It seemed like a thousand years. Whether you realize it or not, Judith I think you saved my reason. I'd like to say thank you, but I can't find the right words."

"Don't you think you owe Gerry an apology?" said Judith with asperity.

"You really do, Sara." The pseudo-Gerry looked at her reproachfully. "Lord, you dragged everyone I know into it—my partner, my cousin, my cleaning woman, my secretary, my landlady, the police. And you still weren't satisfied."

"Yet everything you did just proved all the more that he was Gerry," put in Judith, fiercely protective. "You will admit it now, won't you?"

Sara drew strength from her knowledge of the real Gerry. How could Judith mistake this weak carbon copy for the real Gerry?

"Just a minute, Judith," Sara was angry. "Gerry did disappear and he's not here now. Have you forgotten the three little moles that make a rough triangle on his right cheek? This man has no moles on either cheek. There's only one explanation—you're in the conspiracy with this impostor who's taking Gerry's place."

"Moles?" For the first time the impostor was startled. His fingertips flew to his right cheek.

A buzzing like the hum of an angry insect cut him short.

"You have visitors?" Judith rose. "Gerry Hone never had a mole in his life, as you very well know."

"Let it ride, Judith," said the young man.

remembered. He was in the crowd when Moxon died, only then he was wearing a broad-rimmed, western hat that shadowed his face, and speaking with a southwestern drawl. He gave a false name and address to the police there.

"He must have been wearing the broad-rimmed hat before the accident occurred. How did he know he would wish to alter his usual appearance, unless he knew Moxon was going to die? How could that be unless he planned to kill Moxon himself? And why didn't he say one word about his seeing Moxon die when Aunt Caroline told him about Moxon's death last evening? How did Sallust happen to be at Aunt Caroline's that evening when I was wearing the ruby? Did he invite himself?"

Clive frowned. "Let me see. He telephoned me just as I was dressing. He said he was at a loose end that evening and asked me to dine with him. I told him I was already engaged for dinner with Mrs. Larch. Then he asked if he might drop in after dinner. I told him I thought Mrs. Larch would be delighted."

"Just as I thought," cried Sara. "He must have known that you and I go to Aunt Caroline's for bridge every Thursday. So when he failed to get the ruby from me on the street he called you and wangled an invitation to Aunt Caroline's, believing I would go there as usual."

"But how did he know you had the ruby? And how did he know you were the Sara Dacre I may have mentioned as Caroline's niece?"

Elbows on table, forehead propped against one hand, Sara concentrated her whole mind on Sallust and just as if she were concentrating the sun's rays with a magnifying glass above a scrap of paper—light came.

"Sallust was at the Automat after the accident. I remember now. A man who stared at me. A man without a hat. Of course he would get rid of that western hat immediately. Mr. Patterson of Berkeley, California, must disappear and Dr. Sallust must take his place because 'Mr. Patterson' was identified with Moxon's death and Dr. Sallust wasn't. I suppose he bought another hat soon afterward, but there wasn't time for that before he reached the Automat. Gerry and the Indian didn't see me take the ruby out of the box and put it on, but Sallust did. My typewriter has a tag that gives my name and address. Sallust could have read it." She rose. "I must go to the police about Sallust. I think he murdered Moxon. Don't you?"

"I think it very likely, but how are you going to prove all this? The police will say, 'Are you sure the man in the western hat was Sallust? Are you sure you saw him twice again before you reached your aunt's house, once in the Automat and once in the street? It took you a long time to remember these things.'"

"You mean they won't believe me?" cried Sara.

He said, "This business about Gerry Hone. Your story of his disappearance was so factual that we all accepted it at first—your aunt, Miss Creel, Sallust and I. Later, when a man appeared in Hone's apartment claiming to be Hone, and you said he was an impostor, we were still on your side. But Clive hesitated. 'My dear child, don't you think it's gone far enough? Mrs. Harrison clinched it. The man is Gerry Hone. And, after all that, the police are not going to believe a word you say against Sallust.'"

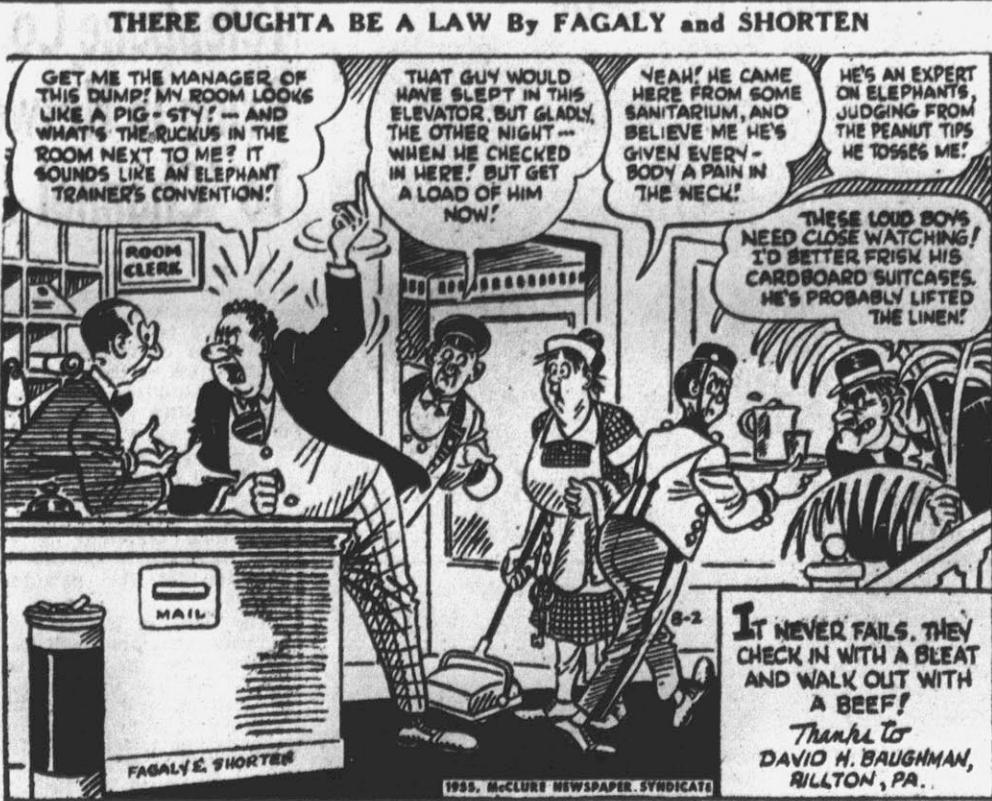

"You say that? You who defended me against Judith just now?"

"I'll defend you against anyone who says you're unbalanced, but was that man with Judith just now Gerry Hone?"

"If he were an impostor, he would have given himself away by this time. That sort of masquerade is like walking on eggs. Even if an impostor is among people who hardly know the man whose place he's taking, he slips sooner or later. Among old friends of Gerry Hone's, as this man has been the last 24 hours, it would be impossible to sustain such a fraud for so long. It's absurd to say that all these people who know Hone so well are mistaken while you are the only one who sees the truth. You've admitted that, even in the six months you knew him, you saw him only half a dozen times, usually in the evening in a dim light. And you a girl who wears glasses?"

"They're new glasses," insisted Sara, stoutly. "I got them only three days ago and I see more clearly with them than ever before."

"What of it? You're still a girl who knows Hone slightly while all these others knew him well."

Sara looked at him helplessly. "What would you do if you were I?"

"Accept Gerry Hone for what he is—the real Gerry. Then the police will listen more sympathetically to the story about Sallust."

Sara laughed aloud. "You want me to lie so that people will believe I'm telling the truth?"

His eyes narrowed. "Sara, are you still convinced in your own mind that it would be a lie?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

Sara hesitated. She had promised not to tell anyone but she needed help now and Dickson Clive was almost like a blood relative. Caroline's oldest friend with roots deep in the rich earth of her past.

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined quietly today with a lot of resistance to the fall displayed in the early afternoon.

The decline extended to between 1 and 2 points while gains ran to around a point.

Trading was moderate at a pace of two million shares. Yesterday's falling market accounted for 2,190,000 shares.

Many key stocks fluctuated between the plus and minus sides of the list to give a mixed appearance to proceedings.

At times, buying flurries sent some key stocks up stoutly. Among these were some of the blue chips that yesterday were sharply lower.

Going up were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, and Standard Oil (NJ), and also higher were such issues as Douglas Aircraft, Seaboard Railroad, American Cyanamid and Kennecott Copper.

But there were many prominent losers too. Standing lower were American Telephone, U.S. Steel, Chrysler Goodyear, Du Pont, General Electric, New York Central, and Eastern Air Lines.

The stock market yesterday ran into heavy selling in many blue chip stocks. Losses amounted 1 to 4 points. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1.90, heaviest drop since early July, and closed at $173.60.

RALEIGH (AP-NCDA)—Hog prices 25-50 lower. Tops of 16.25 at Castle Hayne; 16.00 at Beaufort and Siler City; 15.75 at Snow Hill, Farmville, Elizabethtown, Mt. Olive, Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Fayetteville, Clinton and Rich Square; 15.50 at Goldsboro, Rocky, Wilson, Tabor City and Rocky Mount; 15.25 at Jacksonville, Plymouth, Tarboro, Enfield and Washington.

RALEIGH (AP-NCDA)—Central North Carolina poultry markets: Fryers and broilers steady, farm price 26 f.o.b. plant 28; Raleigh eggs steady, a large 50.

Asheville fryers and broilers steady, farm price 26 f.o.b. plant 27 1/2; eggs steady, a large 47-50.

Massachusetts Chalks Up 18th Death Due Polio

BOSTON (AP)—Massachusetts' 18th polio death this year was recorded today as the state's 1955 total of cases pushed above the 500 mark.

In the six New England states, the year's total now is 675, this counts 520 in Massachusetts, 78 in Connecticut, 23 in New Hampshire, 21 in Rhode Island, 17 in Vermont and 14 in Maine.

Boston, which has borne the brunt of the disease in Massachusetts, has had 235 cases—the highest number ever reported in one year. Thirteen were added yesterday.

Among the latest Massachusetts cases was 20-year-old student nurse, Natalie Roberts, who has been attending polio patients at the Children's Medical Center. Miss Roberts has nonparalytic polio.

Gun Battle Erupts On Eve Of Strike Parleys

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A gun battle blazed last night between armed guards employed by the struck Capitol City Transit Co. and unknown assailants attacking from ambush.

The gun fight came on the eve of a projected conference between Gov. Orval Faubus and Little Rock Mayor Pratt Remmel who earlier yesterday said he might ask the governor to assign National Guardsmen to CTC buses, now occupied by nonunion employees.

Lesser violent acts have occurred spasmodically since the AFL Motor Coach Employees Union struck 41 days ago. Union officials have denied any responsibility for the violence which until last night consisted mostly of scattered shots against city buses.

Sam Shinnall, CTC guard at the firm's car barn near downtown Little Rock, said the gun battle was touched off when someone fired from direction of the nearby Arkansas River.

About a dozen shots followed from shotguns and rifles held by the guards and the attackers, but apparently no one was injured.

The only damage was a hole punched in a 14,000-gallon capacity storage tank for diesel fuel and a smashed window in a company building.

No arrests were made. Shinnall told the officers that the first shot apparently was directed at another guard, Louis Godair, who was inside a building. That was the shot that cracked the window, he said.

The next blasts, Shinnall said, were directed at himself. He said the fire seemed to come from at least three or four gunmen. A few minutes later, Shinnall said a man ran from along nearby railroad tracks firing at the diesel fuel storage tanks.

Shinnall said he fired three shotgun blasts at the man, who then fled. Mayor Remmel said that all city police officers would be pressed into duty and that they would work on a 48-hour week. He said the latest incident would add weight to his suggestion that the National Guard be used.

Asked his impression of the proposals made at the Geneva conference, Tito replied: "I must say I was very pleasantly surprised to see that the character of these proposals was such as to guarantee the success of the conference."

Referring to Eisenhower's aerial inspection plan, Tito said: "This is the proposal of an extremely sincere man who profoundly had in mind the desire to prove that neither the American people nor himself had any reservations, that they had no ill intentions, but truly, genuinely desire peace."

But Tito said the Eisenhower plan cannot be realized for the time being. "I do not mean to say that such proposals are not useful, but they cannot be realized for several reasons—namely, neither America nor the Soviet Union can do so until various problems which are of interest to other countries, too, are settled," he said.

Continuation Of Assessment Is Official Today

RALEIGH (AP)—Continuation of a 10-cent-per-acre assessment on flue-cured tobacco grown in North Carolina and South Carolina is now official.

The board of directors of Tobacco Associates, Inc., financed by the assessment, yesterday approved the vote in the July 23 referendum as required by law.

The organization works to promote foreign sales of the leaf. In the referendum, the Tar Heel vote was 125,752 to 4,386 for the assessment, and South Carolina growers supported it, 27,220 to 469. A two-thirds majority was required.

J. B. Hutson, Tobacco Associates president, told the directors he plans to leave Aug. 5 for a two-month trip to Europe to study tobacco market conditions.

Claude Hall of Roxboro, board vice chairman, said the organization "will do everything possible to continue to merit" the confidence of growers as displayed in the referendum.

Firm Discloses Money Missing

A sum of approximately $34.75 has been reported missing from the Puch and Judy Shop on Evans Street.

The missing cash, part of a total of $40, was said to be in its proper place when the shop was closed on Saturday. On Monday, however, the shortage was discovered.

Greenville police, whose investigations are continuing, reported that the building apparently had not been forcibly entered.

Tito Dubious As To Ike's Offer

LONDON (AP)—Belgrade radio said today that Marshal Tito has described President Eisenhower as a sincere man "who profoundly idealizes peace."

The broadcast quoted a July 25 interview in which Tito gave to 30 Americans visiting Yugoslavia under leadership of Huntley Dupre, dean of McAllister College, St. Paul, Minn.

Asked his impression of the proposals made at the Geneva conference, Tito replied: "I must say I was very pleasantly surprised to see that the character of these proposals was such as to guarantee the success of the conference."

Endurance Swim Record To Fall

COLUMBUS, Ky. (AP)—Antonio Abertondo, 37-year-old Argentine swimmer hopes to set a Mississippi River endurance record late today.

Abertondo last was reported at this Kentucky town not far south of Cairo, Ill. yesterday. He had covered some 200 miles.

He left St. Louis at 9:43 a.m. Saturday and planned to complete the swim to Cottonwood Point, Mo., a distance of 300 miles, by late today.

He is trying to beat a record set by John Sigmund, St. Louis butcher who swam 292 miles from St. Louis to Caruthersville, Mo. in 89 hours 59 minutes in 1945.

Low Budget

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—The International Astronomical Congress, discussing space travel that will ultimately cost billions, is what you might call a low budget production.

The sponsoring Danish Interplanetary Society, unable to raise money from outside sources, had to ask each delegate to pay $2. That made a total of $300. Then the sponsors kicked in $50 of their own.

Interest swelled when President Eisenhower told the world Friday the United States might launch an artificial satellite in two years. But the conference funds didn't.

The scientists will do their talking on a budget totaling $350.

Hurricane Gales On Gulf Coast Begin Subside

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A blustering Gulf gale which caused two deaths and sent high tides rolling across Alabama coastal highways subsided today.

The Weather Bureau and Air Force said the offshoot of Gulf disturbance Brenda was accompanied by winds up to 45 miles per hour and more than four inches of rain.

Two persons were killed in traffic accidents when automobiles skidded on rain-slippery roads. Property damage was minor although a number of small boats were reported damaged at Dauphin Island.

The Mobile Causeway was closed by high tides about noon yesterday. This blocked the main transportation link to the east—U.S. Highway 90—as well as U.S. 31 north to Montgomery.

Sgt. Alf M. Brantley, Brookley Air Force Base, drowned when his automobile crashed through a bridge railing and plunged into Four River on the Cedar Point road about 18 miles south of Mobile.

Mrs. Ruby Sims, 52, Lipscomb, Ala., was killed when an automobile driven by her husband, D. R. Sims 54, collided with a truck in a hard rain on U.S. 43 several miles north of Mobile. Sims also was injured.

Brenda had packed winds up to 60 miles an hour near the center with gusts reaching outward 100 miles east of the center when it moved inland yesterday in the Pearl River area about 35 miles east of New Orleans.
