Bulgarian Turns Down Plan For Mutual Air Inspection

By STANLEY JOHNSON MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Bulganin today turned down a "unrealistic" President Eisenhower's plan for a swap of military blueprints and mutual air inspection of each other's territories.

Deputies to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) assembled in the Great Kremlin hall burst into laughter when Bulganin said the real effect of the President's proposal would not be considerable because "both countries have limitless territories on which one could hide anything."

He said all four powers displayed a desire at Geneva to end the cold war. Referring to Eisenhower's plan as a step toward disarmament, Bulganin said: "We must pay tribute to his efforts for a settlement of this question, but the real effect could not be considerable and we said in our official talk (at Geneva) that both countries have limitless territories on which one could hide anything."

Freed Fliers Reach Manila On Way To U. S. Reunions

MANILA (AP)—The 11 American airmen freed by Red China tonight arrived at Clark Air Force Base from Hong Kong, where they earlier had crossed happily over the border to freedom.

North Korea. All crewmen bailed out and were captured in North Korea, he said in his first chance directly to deny Communist China's assertion the plane intruded into China.

They were met by Brig. Gen. William L. Lee, commander of the U. S. 13th Air Force and by U. S. Ambassador Homer Ferguson.

They will fly tomorrow to Tokyo before they fly to Korea on rotation in 1952. They were in Hong Kong only a few hours and it was there they gave the few remarks permitted so far.

Planning Board Is Asking Suggestion For Street Name

Planning Board members are looking for a street name. They are asking any interested local citizens or clubs to suggest names for the new U. S. 264 bypass which passes southeast of Greenville.

The city planners last night placed their final stamp of approval on the Harrington-Williams subdivision located behind the present Colonial Heights and to the east of College Court.

Wanted

The sheriff's department yesterday released the above photo of Henry Lee Darden, Craven County Negro farm worker, who is being hunted in connection with the shotgun slaying of his mother-in-law, Georgiane Williams, at her home in the Griffin area on July 24. The above picture was taken from a snapshot of Darden which the sheriff's department only recently obtained.

High Percentage Of Leaf Goes To Stabilization Corp. Border Belt Has $52.57 Opening Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS With a high percentage of the leaf going to the Stabilization Corp. under government loan, North Carolina Border Belt tobacco market sold a total of 4,931,382 pounds of tobacco at their opening sales yesterday.

Farmers were increasingly concerned over the amount of leaf going to the Stabilization Corp. which administers terms when the price bid by buyers fails to exceed the government loan figure.

W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, said he felt the situation was going to clear up in a day or two. He said the weak demand was due to tobacco companies making "sure of the quality and type of this year's crop" before making heavy purchases.

Some auction bid averages on the South Carolina and border North Carolina belt yesterday: Leaf—Good lemon 67, low lemon 55. Cutters—Fair lemon 67, low lemon 63. Lugs—Fine lemon 66, good lemon 64, good orange 64, fair lemon 67, fair orange 58.

Birthday Party Fetes Ann Allen

On Friday evening the Woman's Club was the scene of a lovely birthday affair. Miss Ann Marshall Allen was feted by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Allen, in honor of her fifteenth birthday. Around sixty of her friends joined in to help make this an entertaining and memorable occasion.

During the evening, games and dancing were enjoyed and attractive favors were given. Also the guests gathered about to see the honoree open her many beautiful gifts.

The main room was attractively decorated throughout, the mantel being banked with greenery and burning white tapers. Gaily decorated of pink and green streamers and balloons centered the dance floor. The refreshment table was laid with a centerpiece of white gladioli and ivy intermingled with burning white tapers. Lime ice punch, dainty sandwiches, nuts, mints and the traditional birthday cake of tiers all in pink, green and white color scheme made up the refreshments enjoyed by all.

Party Honors Mrs. O. E. Dowd

On Wednesday afternoon from four to six o'clock Mrs. W. O. Norman and Mrs. Dorothy N. Trotman entertained at a Coca-Cola party at the home of Mrs. Trotman on East Ninth Street in honor of their sister, Mrs. O. E. Dowd, a recent bride.

The house was decorated with arrangements of cut flowers. The dining room table was covered with a lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of cut flowers in an antique compote.

Refreshments of sandwiches, bridal cakes, cheese straws and nuts were served along with Coca-Colas. During the course of the party a gift in her chosen pattern of crystal was presented to the bride. Approximately 30 guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Trotman.

Father Of Bride Officiates At Majette-Dawson Wedding

FORTSMOUTH, Va.—The father of the bride, Dr. Lewis Harper Dawson, officiated at the marriage of his daughter, Miss Ruth Houtt Dawson, to Paul DeVilla Majette.

The ceremony took place Saturday, June 23, in the Deep Creek Baptist Church. Mrs. Florence Forehand, organist, accompanied Mrs. E. T. Berry Jr., sister of the bride, who sang "The Song of Ruth," "Through the Years" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Fern, palms and baskets of white gladioli illuminated by cathedral candles formed a lovely setting for the wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, A. D. Wilder of Kingston. She wore a white organdy over bridal taffeta. The tight fitted bodice of imported eyelet organdy had a deep "V" neckline edged with a tiny permanently pleated ruffle. The ballerina bouffant skirt of embroidered organdy had a front panel of layers of pleated organdy. The brides elbow length veil of hand-rolled French illusion was attached to a scalloped crown edged with tiny seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a white wicker basket of rainbow asters.

Mrs. J. R. Fortune was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a ballerina gown of white organdy over pink taffeta and carried an arm basket of rainbow asters. Other attendants were Mrs. D. B. Williams of Southport, N. C. Each wore a ballerina dress of white organdy over blue taffeta and carried an arm basket of rainbow asters.

Paul Weston Majette of Grimesland was his son's best man. The groomsmen were Robert Lewis Wilson and Josh Ham, both of Grimesland. The mother of the bride wore a dress of beige lace over taffeta, white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of beige lace over lavender, lavender accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Deep Creek Community Hall for traveling the bride wore a navy dress trimmed in white, white accessories and a white orchid from her Bible.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina College. The bridegroom served three years in the U. S. Coast Guard and is now employed by Du Pont Plant. The couple will reside in La Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weston Majette entertained at a floating reception on Saturday night honoring their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Majette.

The guests were introduced to the couple who were recently married. Mrs. E. B. Comer registered the guests and invited them into the dining room. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a bowl of white asters, feverfew and snapdragons. Candles cast a soft glow over the table. Mrs. R. B. Wilson poured punch and guests served themselves to bridal cakes, almond puffs, chicken salad, rosettes and nuts. Mrs. Neal Seegars assisted in serving. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis Wilson.

Mrs. R. T. Berry Jr. and Mrs. J. R. Fortune entertained the Dawson-Majette wedding party and out-of-town guests at a party following the rehearsal. Guests were greeted by Mrs. L. H. Dawson and invited to the dining room. Punch was poured by Mrs. J. R. Fortune and guests served themselves to wedding cakes. The bridal attendants were presented gifts from the bride and groom.

Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Dawson entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Majette immediately following their wedding. The Deep Creek Community Hall was beautifully decorated with palms ferns and gladioli. A lovely three tiered cake was placed on a table covered with a white embroidered cloth. After the couple cut the first slice, the cake was served to the guests by Mrs. Ruby Butler of Herford, N. C. She was

Elm Street Park To Hold 'Circus' Event Tomorrow

A playground circus will be held tomorrow at Elm Street Park, with children from all of the city playgrounds taking part. They include Guy Smith, Third Street, Woodlawn, Hilldale, Meadowbrook, and Elm Street.

Preceding the circus there will be a parade downtown beginning at the 8th Street Parking Lot at 2 p. m. and ending at the Evans Street Parking Lot. Children taking part in the parade will meet at their playgrounds and go with their director to the parking lot. The parade will be led by the High School Cheerleaders and a Pep Band composed of High School band members. Each playground will have clowns, floats, and wild animals in the parade.

After the parade disbands at Evans Street the children will go to Elm Street Park where the side shows and prize winning games will be open until 4:30. These side shows include the Siamese twins, Tall Man, Fat Lady, Fat Man, Bearded Lady, Wild Man, and Midgets. Games on the midway include: Throwing Darts at Balloons, Knocking Over Bottles with Balls, Ring Toss at Drink Bottles, Basketball Throw, Bingo, Pitching Bottle Caps at Floating Saucers, Rides on the Wonder Bread Merry Go Round, and Rides on the Kiwanis Train. The children will be given tickets as they enter the circus gate to permit them to take part in these events.

At 4:30 performances under the Big Top will begin with Charles Boyd acting as ringmaster. Acts consist of Dancing Dolls, Can-Can Girls, Mock Prize Fight, Clown Stunts, Strong Man, and Wild Animal Performances directed by Animal Trainer Joe Reeves. The final event will be Billy Kinnion, magician, from Blounts Creek.

Police Hold Couple For Extortion Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — FBI agents say that an unemployed musician and his blonde wife sought to extort $100,000 from a millionaire contractor whose daughter was murdered last month.

Edgar Leon Williams, 22, and his wife, waitress Veronica Williams, 24, are in jail, named in a complaint accusing them of violating the federal extortion law.

They were arrested yesterday by FBI agents, who said the couple had mailed a letter to John Thompson, threatening death to his grand-

Local Reservist Unit Passed In Tests At Camp

Records just compiled from the recent summer encampment of the 3015th Reception Station, of Greenville, shows that the entire unit which took part in the Army's proficiency test at Fort Jackson, passed.

Announcement of the testing results was made today by Captain Gordon B. Berry, commanding officer of the Greenville Unit.

With a total of 70 points possible, all of the men and officers passed the testing which dealt with weapons, tactics, and general subjects.

Highest scoring officer was Lt. Jimmie Moore, with a score of 68, while honors in the enlisted man's group went to SFC James C. Paige, with a total of 66 points.

The Greenville unit of the 3015th Reception Station, which is made up of Reservists from Eastern Carolina, trains each year at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Last year the 3015th was one of the first reserve units in the nation to receive the testing and was the first unit to be so tested this year at Fort Jackson.

The tests, made up by the department of the Army, are designed to test personnel's knowledge on general subjects, tactics, and weapons. The testing is carried out in the field requiring a full day to cover the 36 stations.

Five men of the Greenville unit of the 3015th Reception Station with headquarters at 104 Ficklen Street made expert on record firing while attending summer field training this summer at Fort Jackson S. C.

The men who made over 150 points firing the carbine on the 200 yard range were: M-Sgt. Ernest S. Spain, Sgt. Lawrence E. Pollard, Sgt. Walter Watson, Cpl. Cleveland M. Burton, Jr., and Cpl. Wilbur E. Edwards.

Captain Gordon B. Berry, commanding officer of the local unit said that he was well pleased with the record his men made while attending summer training this summer.

The unit fired this year in a driving rain storm and in spite of this handicap, all of the men in the local unit, with the exception of one, qualified.

Both officers and enlisted men fired this year for record, Berry said.

Lions See Films On Foreign Lands

Captain J. M. Crane, of the East Carolina College ROTC faculty, presented an illustrated lecture on his travels in foreign lands at the weekly meeting of the Greenville Lions Club.

Along with his talk on Greece, North Africa, Italy, Germany, Holland, and others, Captain Crane showed colored slides which he made in the various countries in which he has traveled.

Captain Crane was introduced by Clarke Stokes, who was in charge of the program.

Lion Larry Averette announced that the Rev. Percy B. Upchurch has been unanimously accepted and transferred to the Greenville Club.

President Ben Rouse told the club that August 8 has been set as the date for the first family picnic to be held by the Lions at Elm Street Park at 6:00 p.m. The idea, proposed by the Kiwanis Club, was adopted at a recent meeting. The Kiwanis train will be in use for the benefit of the children.

Guests of the club this week were: Robert L. Cardwell of New Bern and Henry Swayne of Kinston.

Girl Fails To Swim Forbidding 32-Mile Straits

TORONTO (AP) — Shirley Campbell, a 19-year-old typist, failed today in her try to become the second person to swim the forbidding 32-mile expanse of Lake Ontario between Youngstown, N.Y., and Toronto.

Shirley's bid to place her name alongside Toronto's Marilyn Bell, who swam the distance last year, ended when she was pulled from the water at 1:15 a.m. with less than two miles to go.

Automobile lights on the Toronto waterfront twinkled at her as 50,000 waited to give her a boisterous welcome. Searchlights lit the way to the finish line, but she was forced to give up after 21 hours, 2 minutes in the water.

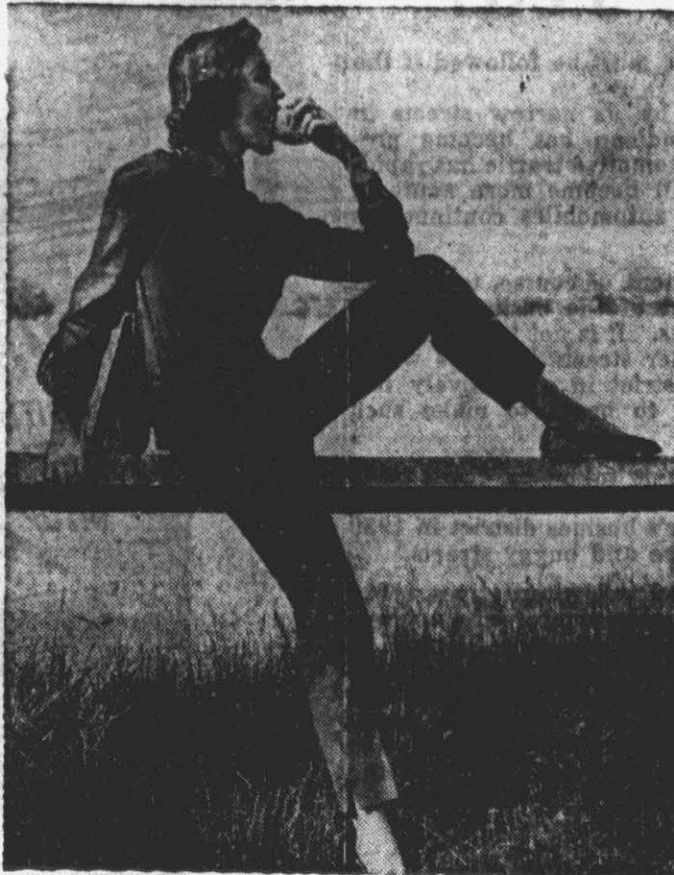

She was exhausted and almost unconscious when pulled out. She was taken to the Toronto harbor police headquarters and then whisked in an ambulance to a hideaway on the outskirts of Toronto.

A. G. Ivey Given UNC News Post

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Alfred Guy (Pete) Ivey will become director of the University of North Carolina News Bureau Sept. 1.

Appointment of the widely-known 42-year-old newspaperman was announced last night by University Chancellor Robert B. House. Ivey succeeds the late Robert V. Madry, the bureau's only previous full-time director, who held the position more than 30 years.

Ivey is executive editor of the Shelby Daily Star. He formerly was a member of the editorial board of the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel.

A native of Rocky Mount, Ivey is a 1936 graduate of the university. He was editor of the Carolina Buccaneer, student humor publication, and a staff member of the Daily Tar Heel, campus newspaper. Later he was director of the Graham Memorial Student Union and managing editor of the Alumni Review.

Ivey joined the Journal and Sentinel staff in 1938. He was variously a reporter, feature writer, columnist, promotion manager and editorial writer. He was an Army public relations officer during World War II.

Jake Wade, university sports publicist, has been acting director of the news bureau since Madry died April 8.

Charlotte Man Held For Bigamy

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A 34-year-old dairy worker was held in $5,000 bond today on a bigamy charge.

Police said he admitted maintaining two apartments here and telling both of his wives that his work required him to be away from home part of the time.

He was identified as John William Stogner. Neighbors at both of his residences said they thought he was a traveling salesman.

Police said Stogner married one of the women in 1941 and was the father of her 12-year-old son, and that he married his second wife in 1953.

Action Needed During This Year

Greenville's officials should not let this fiscal year pass without taking positive action toward establishing building set-back lines on property in and adjacent to the business district.

Such action was recommended last year by the City Planning Board, but was postponed until this year in order to secure funds for hiring a specialist to make a survey and aid the city in establishing such set-back lines. When the Council adopted its budget last month, however, the $2,000 requested for the survey was sliced to $500 which means some alternate plan must be followed if the lines are to be established.

Greenville is handicapped by its narrow streets in the business district. The handicap has become pronounced in the past decade as automotive traffic has rapidly increased. The handicap will become more acute in years ahead as the number of automobiles continues to increase at a steady pace.

It is impractical at the moment of course, to attempt to widen streets within the part of the business district which already is lined with stores. It is not too late, however, to make provision for wider streets in areas which will be part of the business district in a relatively few years. Neither is it too early to begin to make such provisions.

Unless some positive action is taken by the city to establish set-back lines and thus provide for widening streets at a later date, Greenville's business district in 1980 will be trying to operate on horse and buggy streets.

As we see it, Greenville has two alternatives. The Council can continue to postpone the matter of establishing set-back lines and allow the city's business district in future years to become a veritable traffic jam . . . if indeed shoppers then will struggle with narrow streets and creeping traffic. On the other hand, the Council can establish set-back lines and thus provide for wider streets when conditions demand to enable the business district of the city to keep pace with advances time is sure to bring.

School Study Group Has Important Obligations

A great deal of responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the 13-member special study committee appointed by the Pitt Board of Education to give consideration to problems which will confront local schools in connection with the Supreme Court segregation order.

The committee, composed of members of both races who have worked closely with public schools in Pitt County, should prove of tremendous benefit to the County Board of Education and to the county as a whole in working out the problems which arise in the months ahead.

While the appointment of the committee in no way relieves the Board of Education of any of its responsibility in the matter of coping with desegregation problems, it does afford the Board of Education the benefit of studies and findings of this auxiliary group. The interest the study group takes in its new assignment, the diligence with which it delves into prospective problems, and the completeness of its reports to the Board of Education will largely determine its value to the public school system in Pitt County. We are confident this study group will devote every possible ounce of energy to carrying out its assignment.

It is encouraging to see the Pitt Board of Education follow the lead of state officials and other boards of education in North Carolina by appointing its own special study group. The efforts of the local study committee will mean a great deal to this county. Their efforts, combined with efforts of similar committees in cities and counties throughout North Carolina, are bound to bear fruit in the best interest of public education throughout the state in the trying times which the Supreme Court decision has brought.

Although schools in Pitt are the primary concern of the study group which the local board of education has appointed, their findings will have a bearing on the overall school situation which develops in North Carolina in the next few years. Through the combined efforts of its Board of Education and its own special study group, Pitt will be contributing to maintaining the high standards of public education not only in this county, but in North Carolina as a whole.

Not Difficult To See Which Contributed Most

Congress has just adjourned, and it will be only a matter of days before partisans begin debating the party contributed most to the nation's welfare during the past seven months. Both Republicans and Democrats are going to take credit for progress which has been made in the legislative program. Each will blame the other for misdeeds.

To be sure, some people may be influenced by the GOP claims; but for those individuals who have followed Congressional activities since last January, there can be no doubt that the Democrats have been responsible for effecting legislation.

Even while the Republicans held control of Congress prior to last January, President Eisenhower had to look to opposition party members in Congress to get his program written into law. While the Democrats have not seen eye-to-eye with the President on the program he presented this year, the Democrats have been responsible for pushing through Congress the program which has been adopted. Had it been left to the Republicans, the various factions would still be fighting each other and the White House and there would be no program.

Mr. Eisenhower will find fault with the Democrat-controlled Congress for not carrying out to the letter the program he outlined. But before he begins to criticize the Democrats, he should give a second thought to what his own party members in Congress would have done to his program had not the Democrats been in the picture.

The way we size it up, President Eisenhower's program was better off with the Democrats in control of Congress than was the case when GOP members held sway in the House and Senate.

Our Diagnostician: Rep. Charles Deane

By LYNN NISBET
DIAGNOSIS — Charles B. Deane, congressman from the eighth district, is not a professional economist and does not claim to have the remedy for economic ills. He has established a reputation as a diagnostician of some problems. One of his speeches on the floor of the House of Representatives two years ago, he criticized with material influence in bringing about abandonment of the "hard money" policy of the Eisenhower administration.

He made another speech last week, mainly about North Carolina. He was disturbed over government statistics which showed that weekly earnings of North Carolina workers in manufacturing plants were the lowest in the United States. He had already been seeking answers to why it afforded greater opportunities in North Carolina was near the bottom.

His remarks were extended and published in the Congressional Record, illustrated by statistical tables. The tables and charts enlivened his message, but without them it is forceful. We are letting Congressman Deane take over as guest writer today, by picking excerpts from his speech which seem to convey the gist of the full text in which he offered some explanations, but no alibi or attempt to shirk responsibility.

Mr. DEANE: My objective in presenting an analysis of the problem is to indicate there is reason to feel the Department of Labor's figures are misleading in some respects. The person who is unwilling to talk about his weaknesses is the man who has no cure for the weaknesses that exist. . . . North Carolina welcomes new industries. . . . North Carolinians and industries will prosper alike as they share their part of the tax load. . . .

North Carolina ranks high in the expenditure per pupil for public education. . . . transports more pupils by bus, and from the extra services that make it ranks 16th among the States in expenditures for higher education. . . . has constructed more public health centers than any other State. . . . Only Texas, New York and Ohio have constructed more general hospital beds than hospitals staffed by splendidly trained personnel. . . .

Over the long pull no industry can expect smooth sailing unless the State of domicile is looking ahead, planning and taking care of the extra services that make for sound and healthy public relationships. . . . The percentage of persons engaged in agriculture is twice as high in North Carolina than in the United States. . . . It is a well established fact that under modern conditions of industrialization the income of a region varies inversely with the percentage of the labor force engaged in agriculture.

While the trend in the rest of the country was toward larger and more efficient farming, North Carolina was the only State where the number of farms increased between 1940 and 1950. . . . Many farmers supplement their income with outside work. . . . while agricultural income of North Carolina farmers was lower than that of the rest of the country, it appears that their supplemental income was also lower.

It is anticipated that feeder cattle and calves for finishing in the east and midwest will come increasingly from the well-watered South and Southeast. . . . There would seem to be considerable opportunity for the increased production and marketing of special fruits and berries. . . . The broiler industry might well be re-examined to see whether it affords greater opportunities. . . . Underlying the forces which depress income in North Carolina is the basic fact that the bulk of the output of the State is produced under highly competitive conditions. All agricultural products, textiles, lumber and apparel are produced by a multitude of relatively small producers, none of whom has any significant control of the market.

A study of factors influencing State per capita income differentials concludes that the Negro as a factor in low Southern per capita income appears to have been exaggerated. . . . Most social security benefits are dependent upon earnings. It is the result of the fact that Government contributions to individuals in terms of social security retirement, unemployment compensation, public assistance, veterans' and similar types of benefits follow the Biblical principle that whoever sows to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance. . . . In 1953 these benefits accounted for $99.5 of average per capita income for the Nation, but only $67.4 in North Carolina. The Federal Government paid $73.6 and $55.7, respectively. . . .

We in North Carolina are conscious of our No. 1 economic problem, namely, the very low annual per capita income. We do not admit the problem, we are resolved to solve it. . . . Most Utopian schemes designed to transform society have failed because among other things they did not take into consideration certain basic facts about human nature. . . . Utopian schemes—and most modern liberal measures for that matter—proceed on the basis that ignorance is the cause of most of the world's troubles and that if man is enlightened, he can be depended upon to do the right thing. This of course is not true. Most of us know what is right, and most of us in the face of that knowledge turn right around and repeatedly do things which we know are perhaps unwise or definitely evil. A. Brommerheim, Expert on Children, Child Study Bureau, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Brommerheim: No doubt you are continually flooded with mail from parents, asking your expert advice on children.

We consider ourselves very fortunate, since we have two children and only one problem. That is, how to get a four-and-one-half-year-old to eat.

We would appreciate your opinion.

July 9, 1955
Dear Mr. Edwards: May I suggest my pamphlet, entitled, "How to Get Children to

July 10, 1955
Dear Mr. Brommerheim: I should have known that you are no different from anybody else in that you must earn a living. Enclosed is the fifty cents.

July 20, 1955
Dear A.: We enjoyed your pamphlet very much and the profound statements like, "Do not let your child eat between meals," and "try to have a balanced diet available for the child."

And that brilliant statement you made was a clincher. "If everything else fails, give the child a tonic to increase his appetite."

We Lead World In Hay Fever

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—America, which leads the world in telephones and automobiles, also has more hay fever victims than any other country.

Why? Prosperity, good old prosperity. This is the theory of Dr. Rudolph Mayer, discoverer of pyribenzamine an antihistamine used in the treatment of hay fever. In Europe, where every available piece of land is tilled or utilized in some way, there is no room for ragweed, which is blamed for 80 per cent of all hay fever.

"Only in the United States can we afford the luxury of unused open fields and lots, where ragweed grows," said Dr. Mayer.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
WHY UTOPIAS NEVER COME TRUE
Most Utopian schemes designed to transform society have failed because among other things they did not take into consideration certain basic facts about human nature.

Utopian schemes—and most modern liberal measures for that matter—proceed on the basis that ignorance is the cause of most of the world's troubles and that if man is enlightened, he can be depended upon to do the right thing. This of course is not true. Most of us know what is right, and most of us in the face of that knowledge turn right around and repeatedly do things which we know are perhaps unwise or definitely evil. A friend of mine, a nationally known heart specialist, has probably told thousands of his patients that they must not under any circumstances, above snow, yet he himself, nearing sixty years of age, went out with a snow shovel one day and got himself a coronary occlusion.

Our folly and evil is the result not so much of a soft head as of a weak will. The reason why schemes for human betterment frequently do not work is because they have such poor material to work with. They have to deal with you and me. Granted we may be lacking in intelligence—their greatest lack is will power and moral purpose. We need something more than a knowledge of the truth; we need power to put this knowledge into operation.

And that is why religion does for us what ethical systems can never do. True religion gives us the power.

Canned Statesmanship Is Their 'Secret'

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's television report to the nation on Geneva impressed his vast audience as frank, forceful and natural because he discarded the "idiot cards" and other useful but artificial and slightly dishonest devices. He spoke from notes, and even his hesitations, his parenthetical remarks and his greater effectiveness.

Along with other innovations he has introduced into American politics like may have taught a lesson to the new type of radio-television orators. The lesson is that they have reduced this kind of politicking to the ridiculous, and the people are beginning to get wise.

It may be okay for an Arthur Godfrey or Milton Berle to polish their script and commercials through the aid of a teleprompter. But the American voters feel that they have a right to ask that their national legislators rise above the standards of entertaining vaudevillians. They should know the answers from study and experience for which they are well paid, not by parroting lines written for them by a press agent.

CANNED STATESMANSHIP It is true that radio and television have helped to banish from politics the 19th-century flowery and breast-beating brand of orator who ducked a discussion of issues by declaiming his beliefs in God, the Stars and Stripes, womanhood and the advantages of being born in a log cabin or sod hut out on the lone prairie.

But it is questionable whether the synthetic statesman of this mechanical age constitutes an improvement on the Robert G. Ingersolls, the William Jennings Bryans, the La Follettes or even Tom-Tom Heflin.

Unfortunately the public has no way of knowing how so many members of Congress—not all—are giving them canned rather than honest statesmanship and performance.

Save That Sympathy At Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER

Maybe you've seen the store—or one very much like it. Over the entrance are homemade signs screaming, "Prices slashed—'Dumping!'" In the window is a three-piece carving set in a gaudy box and printed right on the box is the price: $49.95. Next to it is a sign that says: "Must unload—$12.95." There is a bottle of perfume with some French name you never heard before and, inside the cellophane wrapping is a price tag, $35. A hand-lettered sign offers it for $12.95. And over in the corner are men's hosiery in boxes clearly printed $1. A card offers them for 49 cents.

Ah! A shop that undercuts the discount houses! The owner must be desperate for money. His bank must be pressing him, his wife must be dying—or maybe the poor fellow was kicked in the head by a horse!

Save your sympathy. The carving set is of poor metal with cheap plastic handles; it cost the store about $17.50. You can buy the same socks, without the box, in any department store basement for 24 cents. And you wouldn't put the perfume on your horse.

The store is specializing in merchandise fantastically overpriced by the manufacturer. It is, in the language of the trade, engaged in the pretticking racket—an old gyp but one that suddenly seems to be spreading rapidly.

There are a number of manufacturers that make a specialty of providing this merchandise. The goods are shoddy, but the packaging is slick. Sometimes the trade names or the manufacturers' names are so close as to be confused with famous ones. And the prices are printed right on the package. Convincing, eh?

Better Business Bureaus in Chicago, New Orleans and other cities have been conducting investigations into this racket. Several have issued public warnings against "fictitious pretticking." But if the merchant watches his step, there is usually little that can be done about these places. A manufacturer can print any price he wishes on his merchandise, a retailer can make any cut he wants.

As with so many other petty swindles, the best attack is more education. Perhaps grammar schools should have a short course in how to spot fictitious pretticking.

NEW YORK LEADS IN AIR TRAFFIC
More people seem to want to get out of New York in a hurry than out of any other city.

Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association, reports that 3,836,634 persons left New York (including Newark) by air last year. Chicago was second with 3,044,546 and Washington third with 1,509,963.

Other cities in rank were Los Angeles, 1,478,948; an Francisco, 1,131,004; Detroit, 891,863; Miami 886,456; Atlanta, 853,968; Boston, 710,964; Dallas, 688,695; and Cleveland, 688,096.

FOURTEEN STATES WIDEN BITE ON TOURISTS
Fourteen states will collect $187,000,000 more a year in gasoline taxes as a consequence of legislative action this year, the National Highway Users Conference calculates.

States boosting levies are Alabama, Connecticut, Georgia, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Montana, Nevada, New York, North Dakota, Texas, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Alabama, Maine and Montana increased the rate up 7 cents a gallon; others raised it by a moderate amount. In all cases, additional revenues are earmarked for highway purposes.

INTERESTING AND—OR SIGNIFICANT NOTES
One of the things sent by planes is planes. Wisconsin has flown 11 light planes inside cargo planes to Europe this year.

It takes the wool from 35 to 40 cashmere goats to produce one cashmere coat, a bush little press agent for an importer tells us. The California Legislature has specified that no group can have more than one picnic a month at which beer and liquor are sold.

Shipments of folding paper boxes increased 1.8 per cent in the first half of the year, reflecting a rise in consumer purchases, the Folding Paper Box Association reports.

Coin-in-slot air-conditioning units are appearing in an increasing number of motels and apartments in Florida.

Other Editors Are Saying... Atoms Into Plowshares

(N.Y. Times)
When the United Nations Assembly meets in this city on Sept. 20 it will find high on its agenda an item which was forecast in the Charter in 1945, which has been on every Assembly agenda, in some form, since that time and which dovetails with the Geneva proceedings. This item is the problem of disarmament. At one time disarmament, or reduction of armaments, was divided neatly into two parts—conventional and otherwise. Now these have been joined and when we talk of reducing armaments we include the "otherwise"—that is, the atomic weapons.

The discussion of conventional armaments dragged on year after year and got nowhere. The issue came alive when President Eisenhower proposed his atoms-for-peace plan in December, 1953. It was stimulated by the subsequent series of U.N. committee meetings in London early this year, and by the call for the coming Atoms-for-Peace Conference in Geneva. And Mr. Stassen, as we all know, has been doing a very special job of it. But just as President Eisenhower er made the peaceful uses of atomic energy an issue more than a year and a half ago, so at Geneva, he made disarmament in general and atomic disarmament in particular an issue. The plan he actually proposed seemed to some observers impracticable and to others an experiment in propaganda. It had the result, however, of producing a Big Four directive that the foreign ministers of the Four Powers ask the U.N. Disarmament committee to "give priority effect to the study of inspection and reporting."

The Big Four ministers will supposedly pick up the U.N. report in this city at a meeting designated for Aug. 29 and their Governments will be ready to discuss it when it comes up in the Assembly in the fall, either in late September or after the Geneva meeting of the foreign ministers in October. This sequence does not guarantee an early agreement. It does mean that the subject of beating atoms into plowshares will not die—indeed, if humanity is to survive, cannot be allowed to die.

Tito-Soviet Harmony Rests On Uneasy Basis; Satellites Ired

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

President Tito of Yugoslavia says some satellite Communists are still arresting people who favor Soviet-Yugoslav cooperation. This can mean one of three things:

First, that the satellite leaders in question are out of the control of Moscow.

Second, that the satellite leaders are afraid the current regime in Moscow will not last.

Or, that there is a large element of fraud in the recent apologies to Tito by Soviet Communist boss N. S. Khrushchev and Premier Bulgarian.

In a speech last week Tito declared he still has powerful enemies in the Eastern Communist bloc countries, and added:

"But they dare not speak loudly because they learned fear long ago from Stalin. They must not speak loudly, but they are intriguing under cover and refuse to admit what the Soviet men admit"

They are still arresting men who favor friendship and cooperation with Yugoslavia, who express themselves freely, who approve what Khrushchev and the others did."

Tito said such things were going on "especially in Hungary." But the Soviet Union has had enough power in Hungary recently to have the Premier of the country thrown out for not toeing the Moscow economic line. Surely it would not tolerate political defiance from Hungary's rulers. And if, as Tito said, his enemies worked "behind the scenes," how could they jail anybody for Titolsm without the knowledge of the Communist party leaders?

These enemies, said Tito, "still are saying this (normalization of relations) is only a maneuver, because the Soviet Union follows a wise policy and knows how — how shall I say it — to deceive and so forth."

Consider Change In Mica Pricing

ASHEVILLE (AP) — North Carolina legislators and mica miners from the state's western section met here today concerning a proposal to change prices under a mica buying program.

The Tar Heels sought a delay in application of an order changing prices that would revert the "B" buying program to its status prior to Feb. 1, when it was liberalized.

The new maximum prices for rough mica would be $600 per short ton for the Ruby type and $540 for the non-Ruby as compared with a minimum $80 to a maximum $3,000 under the liberalized program.

Jeepney Business Faces Crackdown In Philippines

By DON HUTH
MANILA (AP)—The jeepney business is in peril.

A government campaign to remove faulty cars from the roads is aimed mainly at the jeepney. Thousands of jeeps were brought here in 1945 for the projected invasion of Japan. When the war ended large numbers were "liberated" from Manila streets and military storage areas. They reappeared as small public conveyances, taking the place of buses and streetcars that had been destroyed. They soon earned the name jeepney, a marriage of "jeep" and "jitney."

The jeep body was remodeled and extended. Two seats were installed on either side in the back and a one-step entrance put on the rear. Metal tops were constructed. Gaudily painted in brilliant colors, they could carry a maximum of eight passengers—six in back and two in front with the driver. They have become a menace. Drivers write their own rules, darning in and out of traffic. They stop anywhere to load or discharge passengers. Frequently one will take a corner too fast and tumble its passengers over the road. Breakdowns occur regularly and snarl traffic for blocks.

Ten years of hard wear are beginning to tell on the cars. Parts are needed more frequently. Increased gasoline consumption is cutting into profits. And more passengers are turning to the growing number of buses.

Alejandro Benjamin, a driver, estimates that on good days he can make a $4 or $5 profit. But "there are many days when I lose my passengers, who get off every time it stalls." Passengers pay a 5-cent fare upon arriving at their destination. If they don't get there, they don't pay.

UNWRITTEN TRAGEDY
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A bag of discarded clothing donated to Goodwill Industries contained one unused wedding dress.

It had to happen. The city's Planning Board last night approved a new sub-division which is to be constructed behind the present Colonial Heights.

According to the map of the new area a street running directly through the center of the residential section will be called: Crockett Drive.

Williamston Defeats Invading Greenies By 5-3 Score

2 Homers By Brown Decisive

WILLIAMSTON—The Greenville Greenies put to flight the invading Williamston Braves for eight hits last night but teammate Tom Brown stroked two home runs and Williamston emerged a 5-3 winner in a Coastal Plain League game.

For the first time this season, the Greenies found Perry vincible. Earl Tripp found his offering much to his liking, blasting out a double and triple in three trips. The other half of the Tripp combo, Brownie, also had two hits, although both were singles.

Perry, however, was his old self in the clutches, bearing down to get the side out during several threats. He struck out nine and walked not a single man.

Brown Power

Meanwhile, the Braves, led by the Goliath hitting of Brown, pounded the Greenies for nine singles. Brown's first four-bagger came in the fourth inning off Billy Dunn and was a three-run affair. Frank McRae and Virgil Wobblenton had walked ahead of Brown. The second blast was in the sixth off Bill Lovings who relieved Dunn with no outs in the fifth. Nobody was on when Brown hit his second.

Second baseman Ronald White had three hits for the winners. He poked out singles in the third, the sixth and the seventh, accounting for two runs. McRae had the only other extra-base blow, a two-bagger in the first inning.

Dunn started for the Greenies and gave up three hits in four frames. He also allowed three runs before he was jerked for Lovings. The latter came in with the bases full in the fifth and nobody out. He got the first man to fly to short center, struck out McRae and forced Wobblenton to ground out to retire the side without a score.

But the Braves came back and touched him for two runs on six hits the rest of the way. Brown's homer accounted for one run in the sixth and a walk, an error, a hit, another hit and a fielder's choice resulted in two scores in the seventh.

Late Start

Greenville was just coming back when the game ended. The Greenies scored two runs in the ninth on three hits and appeared a much stronger ball club. Two straight singles by Bobby Clark and Brownie Tripp set the stage for Earl Tripp's two-run triple.

The Greenies had managed only one score previously. In the sixth stanza, Blaney Mays, walked, stole second, moved to third on a ground-er and came on home on a long sacrifice fly.

The loss ran Greenville's Coastal Plain mark to 21 wins against 22 defeats. It was Williamston's 23 victories against 15 losses. The Braves strengthened their second place standing but Greenville further jeopardized its third rung.

Greenie vs. at home Friday night against Rocky Mount. James Earl Pollard or Bobby Fly will get the mound call. Game time is 8 p.m.

Poised For Tam O'Shanter Play

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf's big shots were poised today for a par-wrecking onslaught at the 6,915-yard Tam O'Shanter course, sun-baked by the prolonged broiling weather and regarded by most pros as "ready to be took."

A field of 149 started out of their expected massacre of the 36-72 par in the main section of the All-American Tournament, a $25,000 preview of next week's title, the "World Championship" of the tourney trail take aim.

The "World" guarantees the winner $50,000 in cash and $55,000 for 55 exhibition dates.

Running simultaneously with the men pros section are 72-hole medal play tournaments for men amateurs, women pros and women amateurs.

Typical of the par-bombarding in prospect came in qualifying rounds of 300 lesser known pros gunning for places left open after 76 of their better known colleagues were exempted from the trials.

To make the grade the eventual 72 qualifying berths, par 72 or better was needed.

Leading the qualifiers was 27-year-old Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., who slammed a 6-under-par 65. Bob Gajda of Detroit and veteran Herman Kaiser each had 66. In all, 24 fired 70 or better.

Most of these players who completed their tests yesterday are club pros who do not compete on the PGA circuit. You can see what may happen when the campaigners of the tourney trail take aim.

Mike Souchak, whose 27-under-par 257 set a PGA record in the Texas Open at San Antonio this spring, is among the majority who believe Tam O'Shanter's marks may be rewritten.

The best 72-hole score ever posted at Tam was 289 by Byron Nelson in 1945's All-American. The course record for 18 is 63 by Lloyd Mangrum in 1948.

Anyone breaking that 63 in the next 10 days of competition will receive an additional prize of $10,000, a target posted today by Promoter George S. May.

"If the hot weather holds up and the course plays as fast as it has been, I think Nelson's record may go down the drain," said the long-hitting Souchak. "All the long-par 3 holes have become simple because of the distance we are getting and a lot of the fellows will be putting for eagle 3s on them."

AAA Drops Out Of Racing Field After 2 Tragedies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two automobile racing tragedies this year were given as factors in the decision of the American Automobile Assn. to withdraw its sanction of auto racing in the United States after this year.

Indications came that the National Assn. of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) may try to take the role AAA is leaving.

At Daytona Beach, Fla., Bill France, NASCAR president, said all AAA drivers and car owners are welcome to compete in NASCAR-sanctioned events if they meet qualifications.

The Sports Car Club of America was mentioned as a possibility of taking over sponsorship of the annual Memorial Day race at Indianapolis.

The death of Bill Vukovich, popular racing figure, at the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year was one of the tragedies mentioned in the AAA decision yesterday. The other was that at Lemans, France, where 79 persons were killed and 91 injured in a racing accident that spilled into spectators.

The AAA has nothing against automobile racing itself, AAA president Andrew J. Sordani, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., said in announcing the decision.

He added that the AAA felt that racing, with emphasis on speed, contributed little to one of the main objectives of the AAA: promotion of street and highway safety.

The AAA has given its sanction to only about 10 per cent of the auto races in this country, officials said, but these were the major ones, including the Indianapolis classic.

Anton Hulman Jr., owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, said the 40th annual 500-mile race will go on as scheduled next May 30.

Jackson Camp Chanting 'We Told You So' Today

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Hurricane Jackson camp is singing "We told you so" and Ezzard Charles' managers are yelling for a rematch after last night's furious heavyweight scrap at War Memorial Auditorium.

Jackson, the 23-year-old perpetual motion man from Far Rockaway, N.Y., showed why they call him Hurricane in winning a unanimous 10-round decision. After the first three rounds, he poured punches at the former champion, flapped an annoying jab into his face and danced a jig between rounds.

Trim at 191 1/2, Jackson was in the best condition of his 27-bout career. Charles, now 34, weighed 191 1/2.

Judge Dick Fox scored the match a lopsided 8-2 Judge Ted Sheils saw it 6-2 and Referee Ruby Goldstein 6-4.

There were no knockdowns although Jackson balanced precariously face down on the ropes in the second after being rushed by Charles.

Down the stretch a tired Charles tried to concentrate on landing one final bomb that would stop his opponent. Jackson merely shook off the heavy punches and came back for more.

"We told you so," said trainer Freddie Brown in Jackson's dressing room. "He was in his best shape because he listened to people and stayed in the country at training camp. How'd you like that job? He always had it but he wouldn't use it. Now he's grown up."

Charles said he had underrated his opponent. "I heard a lot about him but I figured I'd be able to catch up to him. When I did catch up I couldn't get off. Next time I'll know how to fight a swarm of bees."

There will be a next time, probably in October. Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, agrees with his matchmaker Billy Brown.

may go down the drain," said the long-hitting Souchak. "All the long-par 3 holes have become simple because of the distance we are getting and a lot of the fellows will be putting for eagle 3s on them."

PONY Leaguers Play Hagerstown In Tourney Today

Greenville's PONY Leaguers square off against Hagerstown, Md., this afternoon at 3 p.m. in the opening round of the Region 5 PONY League Baseball Tournament being held in Greensboro.

WGTC Radio will broadcast the Friday's game back. Today's game will not be aired.

Win or lose, the Greenies play again tomorrow afternoon. Two defeats and a team is out of the tournament. Four straight wins are necessary to be the champion, or either five wins and one loss.

The winner of the Region 5 tournament will advance to the PONY World Series at Washington, Pa., August 17-24.

Eight states are represented in the week-long tourney. Others playing in the opening rounds today are Westover, W.Va., vs. Durham this afternoon. Muhlenberg, Ky., vs. Bristol, Tenn.; Easton, Md., vs. Greensboro, the defending champion, tonight.

The Greenville boys are equipped with good hitting and outstanding pitching. Coaches Bill Kittrell and Ford McGowan have five hurlers that they can depend on. Big Charlie Staton is the big gun, with four wins in the five tourney games. He'll most likely pitch the opener today. Other chunkers include Walker Allen, Billy Cox, Bobby Edwards, and Merrill Bynum.

No favorites has been established among the defending champion, Greensboro, is credited with having a powerful outfit. Hagerstown, the Greenies' opponent, is also reputedly strong.

DATES CHANGED

The dates of the playoffs for the championship of the Women's Softball League have been changed to Tuesday and Thursday of next week, August 9 and 11.

May Keep Archie Out Of Flying

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—It looks as though Archie Moore, who will fight Champion Rocky Marciano for the world heavyweight championship Sept. 20, may be "grounded."

Promoters of the big New York fight are unhappy over the oft-mentioned flying lessons Moore has been taking recently.

The light heavyweight champ says he hopes to fly his own plane and spent much of yesterday on road work in nearby Williamstown.

Fay Crocker Chose First Love, Golf, Over Becoming Rancher

By FRANK R. TIFFANY
(AP Features)

WICHITA, Kas.—Play golf or be a rancher?

That choice faced Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, new U. S. Women's Open golf champion, less than two years ago.

Tommy was her love for a game she had played ever since. "I can remember" and her chance to own a cattle ranch in her native land, she recalls her father saying.

"Are you going to stay in Uruguay as a rancher, or are you going back to the states and play golf?"

For Frederick C. Crocker, 65 and 27 times amateur golf champion of Uruguay, his daughter's choice probably seemed clear.

Fay returned to the United States in January, 1954—she was here in 1939 and 1950.

Fay made $3,200 on 1954's tourney and has won $8,000 in 15 tourneys this year. Playing consistently good golf, she has won the Serbin Open at Miami; the Wolverine at Detroit; and the National Women's Open at Wichita.

This actually is her home city in the states—though Crocker, 65 and 27 times amateur golf champion of Uruguay, his daughter's choice probably seemed clear.

Fay's mother was New York-born—Helen Fay Carson—who played tennis before she left the states, but took up golf in self defense. She has won six Uruguayan national ladies golf titles.

Fay is registered out of her father's club—the Club de Golf del Uruguay—in Montevideo.

She's co-chairman with her golfing pal, Marilyn Smith, of the tournament committee of the U. S. Ladies Professional Golfing Assn. Understandably, she has no plans that extend beyond golf.

Evaluates Lessons In Operation Alert

OPERATION ALERT information on casualties is posted during the first night of the June 15-17 exercise by Miss Veras Bergquist, an FCDA secretary. The numbers and letters to the left of the states listed in the foreground are a code indicating how some of the other states on the board fared as a result of the mock attack.

By VAL PETERSON
Administrator, FCDA

Operation Alert, 1955, as an exercise in the civil defense of our people and the ability of our government to function under severely adverse experiences, was crammed full of challenging situations and valuable lessons.

We will be many weeks evaluating the results of this simulated mass nuclear attack on 55 of our major continental and 6 of our territorial cities, and translating those findings into civil defense action.

It is dismaying to think of so much destruction being possible in the short span of 1 hour and 23 minutes, which is what this limitation attack covered. But we purposely made this one tough.

Here are a few of the things we learned:

1. There has been marked improvement in civil defense effectiveness at all levels, compared with a year ago.

2. There is no doubt that mass evacuation can save uncounted lives, both from blast and fire, and from the second menace of radioactive fallout. Careful calculation so far shows that at least half the threatened lives could have been saved, but we could do better than this.

3. It is very likely in the event of a real attack there will be a good many more homeless than we had previously calculated. This means that our people will have to be increasingly aware of the need to be able to take care of themselves for some time after an attack.

4. Our stockpiles of strategic materials appear to be very well situated to escape destruction and to be readily available for help.

Although perhaps more points could be covered, there has been a sharpening of public awareness of the need for exercises such as Operation Alert, and all understanding of the techniques involved in civil defense. This is important, because civil defense depends on volunteers for its strength.

With even greater confidence and with more sharply pointed objectives we are going to go on with both our defense preparations and with our exercises to test those preparations.

President Eisenhower himself has indicated that only through continued exercises can the American people develop the skills and confidence required to build a strong civil defense against the possibility of an attack. That attack may never come if we are successful in building solid defensive strength.

British Vessel Is Attacked Off Red China Port

HONG KONG (AP)—The British freighter Inchwells reported today she was bombed and machine-gunned at the entrance to Foochow harbor on the Red China coast.

The ship's owners, Williamson and Co., of Hong Kong, said the radioed report did not specify the identity of the attackers but presumably they were Chinese Nationalists.

One crewman was injured seriously and another was hurt slightly in the attack yesterday afternoon, the spokesman said.

Last July 9 the Inchwells was bombed and machine-gunned by two Thunderjet aircraft in the Min River near Foochow.

The British have protested repeatedly against Nationalist Chinese interference with Foochow-bound merchant ships.

Aug. 17 is the birthday of the King of the Wild Frontier.

Then the celebration will keep right on going through Aug. 23, including a party for youngsters whose birthdays fall on Aug. 17, displays by the Texas Muzzle Loaders and Rifle Assn., and a "bar grinnin'" contest for the kids.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An investigation of moral conduct among part of Ft. Jackson's WAC detachment has resulted in the discharge of six members.

Authorities said yesterday the action was "for the good of the service. They declined comment on the investigation itself. The discharges, according to the public information office, were "of the undesirable type."

The office said the investigation began two weeks ago as a result of reports "received from certain members of the WAC detachment" containing "allegations of questionable moral conduct on the part of a small group within the detachment."

Authorities also declined comment on a Chicago Tribune story that one of the WACs attempted suicide because of "the solicitations of a group of WACs who had tried repeatedly to induce her to engage in immoral acts."

The WAC detachment here is made up of about 100 members.

This 30-year comparison of the net profits of manufacturing industries shows that the iron and steel industry has been well below the average for "all manufacturing industries" in every year from 1925 to 1954, inclusive, according to Steel Facts, published by American Iron and Steel Institute. On the average, the steel profits have been about 35th from the top each year, during the 30-year interval. Last year 31 industries were above the steel industry.

Spry Sparring Between Dulles And Chou En-Lai

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai may know nothing about prize fighting. Nevertheless, they have been sparring around spryly in the diplomatic ring, exchanging words instead of punches, from their corner on opposite sides of the world. This is what diplomats call propping each other's intentions. They might have done better by exchanging ideas quietly. But himself must have known Dulles could have said nothing else. In this country Chiang's supporters have voiced misgivings about any deals with Red China since they feared Chiang might lose out.

And Dulles raised the question, in a sort of tentative way, whether Chou would be willing to renounce the use of force in trying to get Formosa.

Chou came back with a statement July 30 as if the answer to Dulles' question was to whether Red China really wanted peace. Chou said it did because it had a tough job building up China.

That may be true or it may be propaganda, but then Chou said that if the United States — he was polite enough not to name it but only referred to the "great powers" — wanted peace it must abandon its military bases around China and give up its alliances in Asia.

Chou knew as well as Dulles, that if anything like that happened it would be a long time from now. As for settling problems peacefully instead of by force, Chou said that's exactly what Red China wants.

In the same breath he told the United States to keep its nose out of Red China's efforts to get Formosa.

Dulles replied with another statement on Aug. 2, still demanding the Red Chinese renounce the use of force although how that's to be done is not clear.

And so it has been going. But since both men have been rather polite, in comparison with how they talked at each other in the past, this may be considered a mark of progress. But there's still a long way to go.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina has announced it has rejected Britain's proposal to have the International Court of Justice decide who owns the Falkland Islands and their dependencies.

Against Fires

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Miss Ethel Wheeler, a U.S. Forestry Service lookout, swept her binoculars over Santa Ynez Peak yesterday looking for a fire. Suddenly she froze.

The glasses focused on a young couple dancing in the nude around a camp fire. The man was playing a violin, Miss Wheeler said, and his companion made ballet-like leaps.

Miss Wheeler telephoned Forest Service Patrolman Everett Marshall, who hiked up and cited the couple—for having an open fire in a prohibited area.

Favors Shorts For Work Hours

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—City Health Director James T. Gooze says the time has come when "we should break American tradition."

How? By making it acceptable to wear walking shorts to work. Dr. Gooze said last night, "Many men, including myself, change into shorts upon arrival home from work. But we don't wear them on the job because they aren't acceptable. What it takes is for 30 or 40 men in a town to band together and lead the parade."

Colors Can Cheer A Child

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Color is the most important consideration in decorating a child's room, says Beatrice West, decorator, color and design consultant.

Miss West suggests that parents re-decorating a child's room should keep in mind that bright, clear colors are preferred. Youngsters are less inhibited about color than adults, she says. She explains:

"Parents have helped create the vogue for pink and blue toys for babies. Give a baby the choice of pink or red and he'll choose the red everytime. Primary colors always appeal to children. Tastes change as they grow older due to associations and their personal likes and dislikes."

The 7 or 8-year-old has definite color ideas and smart parents should encourage them. As they approach high school and college age they begin to like more sophisticated color combinations and tones that are grayer than when younger, she says.

Miss West chooses versatile furniture that is interchangeable and not limited to any one room to continue its usefulness as the family grows in size and affluence. Furniture that may be painted to fit in with the color scheme as the child grows is a good investment. Beds that double as sofas are good too.

Be practical in the choice of rugs and fabrics. Fiber rugs or combination cotton and fiber rugs make excellent floor coverings as they are sturdy, easy to clean and reversible.

Do-it-yourself ideas make a child's room reflect his personality. Pictures he can paint himself not only decorate a room but encourage a child's individuality.

A bedroom designed by Miss West recently was planned for two girls about 9. She chose wearable materials and rugs guaranteed to stand up under the youngsters' active lives, all scaled to the long-term needs of growing children.

Color scheme of the room is black, turquoise, white and yellow. Walls were papered in a gingham wall paper of turquoise and white, yellow cabinets on the walls provide space for desk, bookcase and storage. Chairs were painted yellow. Beds were covered in yellow denim, although Miss West used a white, orange and red ruffle which she says all young girls adore.

Original children's paintings in brilliant colors for the walls were done to order as a project in a Louisiana school by children from 8 to 12 years. Miss West has found that this native and primitive art appeals to parents just as much as to the youngsters.

The floor was covered in a soft-textured so-called waltrend fiber rug in a salt and pepper mixture of black and grays, completely soil and weather resistant.

SCHOOL GIRL'S ROOM—Charming and practical, this bedroom is designed by Beatrice West, color consultant and decorator. Gingham wallpaper is turquoise and white, cabinets and spreads are yellow denim. Waite-designed rug is black and gray mixture.

Graham 'Willing' To Visit Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, just back from a European preaching tour says he "would be willing to go to Russia under certain circumstances."

Graham said a group of Russian Baptist minister had discussed the possibility of a Russian crusade with him in London. He gave no further details but added "I probably will make an announcement concerning this invitation next month."

The evangelist, who was in Geneva at the time of the Big Four conference there, said he believed "God was on the side" of President Eisenhower in these talks. The President emerged from the conference as "the great world statesman," Graham said. "He brought back to the people of the world a word they had forgotten—peace."

On his arrival here aboard the liner United States yesterday, Graham said he found a "great spiritual hunger" all over Europe. His 4½-month tour took him to England, Scotland, France, Germany, Holland, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries.

Altogether, he said, he spoke to four million people.

Another Goodbye To Old Smokey By Young Boy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eleven-year-old Rod Wilson has bid a tearful farewell to Smokey, his black mongrel puppy who is en route by air to Southern Pines, N. C., to bring comfort to a grieving mother.

Rod gave the puppy to Calvert Wilson, no relation, in exchange for a promise of a bicycle, but shortly afterward Calvert Wilson and a companion died on the desert from heat after their truck Smokey was found, hungry and forlorn, in the dead man's deserted manufacturing plant in Burbank.

Rod claimed him from the Burbank animal shelter, from which he originally got Smokey. Calvert Wilson's mother Mrs. Frank Wilson, of Southern Pines, wrote Rod's father Roderick Wilson and asked for the dog as the last link with her son. She is critically ill.

So Smokey and Rod said goodbye yesterday perhaps for the last time. Rod was crying as he left the airport.

Brand-New Auto For 20 Minutes

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—J. Paul Jackson, 32, Holdenville, drove his 1955 auto out of a showroom here yesterday.

Twenty minutes later his car and a model 1940 auto collided on U.S. Highway 270, four miles west of here.

The highway patrol said Jackson's car was a total wreck. Damage was estimated at $1,500. Jackson's wife suffered minor injuries.

STABBED BY BEEF
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Cook Peter Pappas, 40, told hospital authorities he was stabbed by a side of beef. He dropped the meat on a table. It hit a knife, which flipped up and struck him, inflicting a painful wound.

APPETITE TROUBLE
GREENSBORO, Pa. (AP)—Police and firemen went all-out in a search for Tommy Long, 8, Robert Pierce, police officer, said the lad was found a short time after the search party was organized. Tommy—oh, he just wasn't hungry so he didn't go home for lunch and dinner.

The first white man to cross Texas was Cabeza de Vaca.

Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee today named Rep. Gathings (D-Ark) to make an inspection of the disposal of surplus U. S. farm products in Europe.

Gathings will leave for Europe Aug. 8 and return Sept. 15, visiting Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Switzerland and the Netherlands.

Cooley said the Agriculture Committee has jurisdiction over legislation authorizing disposal of a billion dollars worth of farm products abroad. He referred to a law authorizing sale of surplus farm crops to other countries for foreign currency.

"It is important," Cooley said, "that our committee learn first hand how this program is operated."

Run-Off Slated In Mississippi

JACKSON Miss. (AP)—Atty. Paul Johnson and J. P. Coleman state's attorney general face each other for the governorship of Mississippi in the Aug. 23 Democratic primary.

Johnson, making his third bid for the post once held by his father, led a field of five candidates in Tuesday's first Democratic primary. Under Mississippi election laws, if no candidate receives a majority the two leaders go into a runoff primary. Nomination in the Mississippi Democratic primaries virtually means election.

Unofficial incomplete returns gave Johnson 110,748 votes in 1,763 of the state's 1,852 precincts; Coleman, 102,567.

Ross Barnett, Jackson attorney, and former Gov. Fielding Wright, founder of the 1948 States Rights party, were running close for third place on the basis of the incomplete returns. Wright had 91,348; Barnett, 90,437.

The only woman candidate, Mrs. Mary Cain, was running last with 20,271 votes, and she conceded her defeat. She is editor of the Summit (Miss.) Sun.

All candidates promised they would keep Negroes out of white schools.

The present governor, Hugh White, is ineligible to succeed himself.

Actors' Strike Almost Certain
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Screen Actors Guild and the producers of television entertainment films have broken off negotiations again and spokesmen say it means a strike is almost certain tomorrow.

Management and labor officials said that talks have failed and that the strike, set for 12:01 a. m. tomorrow seems inevitable.

Local Group Considers Private First Grade School This Fall

Plans are now being formulated for a private first grade school; to be placed in operation in Greenville this year, and which will take care of qualified youngsters who cannot enter school because of the age barrier.

The first meeting of the group of interested citizens and parents was held this week and a second session is slated for Monday night at eight o'clock in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Officials of the group said that it is hoped that a class of 30 students can be ready for the opening of this school year.

Many children each year are prevented from entering the first grade along with their playmates simply because their birthdays happen to occur after October 18th.

Thus, the child has to wait an entire year to enter the first grade when many of the children are ready for school, but cannot attend.

The plan now calls for all potential students to be tested at the College to determine whether or not they meet the requirements of the entrance test.

Interested parents are urged to contact members of the Committee and make plans for their child's testing and entry, as only 30 students can be taken care of in the first class.

A full time teacher will be employed to teach the class, and Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church has donated the space and equipment for the school.

Dr. Woodrow Flannery and Dr. Taylor of the East Carolina College faculty will conduct the testing.

Testing will be carried out within the next two weeks in order that the class will be ready to begin at the regular term of school.

Interested parents should call Mrs. Waltz at 2288; Mrs. Robert Moyer at 2265; Mrs. T. W. Rivers at 4078; Mrs. W. L. Alford at 4950; or Mrs. P. R. Ashby at 3687.

Fined For Radar 'Trap' Warning

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Does a citizen break the law when he warns motorists of a radar speed trap?

That was the question put to City Judge B. R. Boushe. The judge, after finding the defendant guilty, said:

"Someone higher than a poor little city judge should pass on this case." The defendant's lawyers agreed and said they would appeal.

The decision of the higher court would apparently set a precedent for Tennessee.

Last week J. W. Evans, 30, was stopped by radar officers for speeding and fined $11.

A few days later a radar crew became suspicious when all cars passing through its "trap" remained well inside the speed limit.

Up the road a bit they found the answer—Evans holding a piece of cardboard with the word "radar" printed on it.

Evans was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. The charge was amended to interfering with an officer acting in the line of duty.

His lawyers contended there was little difference between "radar enforced" signs installed by police and the cardboard sign waved by Evans.

"It is a prosecution couldn't go along with that at all," he said. "If a police officer were standing at a busy intersection trying to handle police affairs and someone came up and interfered with that duty there would be no question of guilt. It's our contention that the same thing happened here."

Judge Boushe fined Evans $16.

Summer Field Trip For Retailing Study

NEWS BUREAU EAST CAROLINA COLLEGE James Butler, Acting Director

First summer field trip of its kind was made by 35 students of the East Carolina College Business Education Department for an active study of retailing in the Miller and Rhoads store in Richmond, Va., on Tuesday.

Prof. W. W. Howell, teaching retailing in the EOC Business Education department, headed the group. The regular term class in this division of the Business Education Department makes an annual tour of the Miller and Rhoads store, and for Prof. Howell this was his 7th trip, but the first summer tour.

The morning was spent in a visit to principal offices of the store and a study of the firm's advertising department conducted by advertising executives. A fashion show at a luncheon in honor of the East Carolina students, tour of the receiving warehouse and a study of inspection and marking operations, and a discussion of retail buying and personnel problems were included in the day's schedule.

Travel by charter bus was made by the students led by Prof. Howell. Miss Maggie Moran, of the store's training division, was official hostess. Making the tour:

New Apple Orchard Is Growing From Old One

(AP Newsfeatures)
 GRAY, Maine — There's a new apple orchard growing right out of an old one here.
 It's Everett W. Bartlett's sawed-off, stump-grafted orchard.
 Bartlett bought the half-century old property as a hobby in 1947 and several years later began a rejuvenating project.
 He saved off 60 old and weary Ben Davis apple trees at the trunks. Then he grafted scions of Gravenstein, McIntosh and Cortland varieties into the cambium layer of the stumps. The new growth this year averages 15 to 18 feet tall.

 Bartlett explains that by utilizing the massive root systems of the old trees he's getting a crop twice as fast as if he had set out new trees. Last year these stump trees averaged nearly a bushel each. He expects three bushels this fall and 20 bushels within five years.
 No novice at grafting is Bartlett, 61. He was taught the art by his late father, Everett N. Bartlett, a Winterport orchardist. At the age of 16 he earned $10 a day grafting trees for his neighbors.

RENEWED—Everett Bartlett and one of his new-old trees.

New Approach To Atom Smashing Being Attempted

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—They are trying something new in atom smashing at the University of Michigan. Eight midwest universities—Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Purdue, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa State, are sending scientists to work on a model atom smasher combining two old principles which never have been used together.

The model will use a fixed magnetic field through which the atomic particles will move. Then oddly-shaped magnets will be stationed along the way to keep them on the track. They hope to produce more particles and move them faster than in present machines.
 If the small 300-kilowatt machine works they plan to build a machine of 20 billion electron volts. They hope to increase the amount of atomic work done in Midwest universities. Most such work is now done on the East or West Coasts.

Dunked In Tea For Ivory Look

Camera News

FRAMED—A circular wall opening offers a natural frame for this Caribbean vacation scene. The model of the Washington monument is in a children's playground in Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic.

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newfeatures
A foreign vacation is an irresistible magnet for many camera fans. For those who want to cut the expenses, time and red tape involved in making the big hop overseas, there are many foreign lands to visit right here in our own western hemisphere. In today's air age, many of these Old World outposts are only hours away from several American cities.

Camera fans who plan an extended vacation trip of any sort should heed several precautions and remember time tested rules for all-around successful picture results:
Before going away the camera should be examined and cleaned to make sure it's working properly. If the camera is new or borrowed, it should be tested in advance so that you are familiar with its operation.
You should carry an ample film supply . . . and a little more . . . to avoid local shortages. In black-and-white, you should carry one type with which you are familiar from past experience. In color, too, have only one type to avoid confusion. Keep a spare roll in your pocket when you're out with the camera.
With color film especially, a light meter is a wise investment.
En route, the camera should be handy, not tucked safely away in the baggage. Road markers, local signs, landmarks make good titles and easier identification of people and places later.
Picture interest is heightened by variety: 1. Get low and high angles besides the normal eye level view. 2. Use side and back-lighting as well as front lighting. 3. Shoot long, medium distance and close-up.
Look for natural framing devices to aid your composition—archways, columns, branches and leaves at top.
Use people and get personal—yourself or your family—in your pictures. Let them look at the view, read signs, study maps—anything except look at the camera.
Don't put off shooting because "there's lots of time!" Start immediately and tell a story in pictures of where you are, what you do and whom you meet. Sometimes you can improve pictures later with better angles or better lighting.
Names, dates and data about the pictures should be written down as they are taken . . . don't trust to memory. A log in a pocket notebook is safer than scribbling on scattered scraps of paper.
Keep souvenirs, menus, local literature. These can be added to a picture album for variety. This should be tackled immediately after a trip, while enthusiasm is still high.

Buyer Paradise Threatened By Basic Price Hikes

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Rising prices of industrial materials are creeping in today to threaten the buyer's paradise that consumers have been enjoying.

Example: The price of natural rubber went up some time back. Makers of tires in this country fretted but consumers paid little attention. But now tires are going up 60 to 70 cents at the retail level.

Food prices mostly have been steady to lower. As a whole they'll probably stay that way.

But from Brazil comes a report of a freeze and unprecedented snow. Just two years ago a similar report set off the big inflation in green coffee prices that brought roasted coffee to $1.25 a pound retail. Already coffee "futures" are advancing.

Prices of many of the materials used by manufacturers have risen fairly steadily this year.

Steel prices have gone up $7.50 a ton on the average. A hike in the steel freight rate for both rail and motor carriers has just been recommended by an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner. This puts still more pressure on steel prices.

Copper prices at the refinery hold at 36 cents a pound, but so scarce is the metal that some eager consumers are paying premiums up to 15 cents a pound for any they can find. A copper strike last summer started the scarcity, and another this summer is making it acute.

Aluminum this week is advancing one cent a pound. Talk of lead and zinc prices going up again is being revived.

As metal prices go up the makers of countless consumer items weigh their chances of passing the costs along to the ultimate buyer of manufactured products.

Some building materials have inched higher this year, helped along by higher wage rates and by shortages brought on by the building boom on which government officials are now laying a mild curb.
Fall lines of furniture tend to carry higher price tags.

All these price hikes has brought the government's index of wholesale nonfarm commodities almost to the high level set in March 1951 at the peak of the Korean War inflation.

If a new inflation should be in the making it apparently will be in man-made goods, while the things nature provides will lag behind.

Snake Escapes At Sideshow
MERIDEN, Iowa (AP)—A squirming, 27 1/2-foot box constructor nearly turned an ordinary carnival sideshow into a frightening experience for this northwest Iowa town.

The snake escaped from its cage and bit a trainer, B. C. Davenport, on the wrist. Later, when the trainer opened the cage to be photographed with the boa the lights went out. About six feet of the snake slithered onto a platform before it was captured and returned to the cage.

General Leaves Army To Start As A Freshman

(AP Newfeatures)
MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa — D. Millar White, 60, who retired a few months ago with the rank of Army brigadier general after service in three wars, plans to enroll at the University of Florida as a freshman student.
Gen. White started to college almost 40 years ago but his undergraduate work was interrupted when he became a Marine Corps private in World War I.
After World War I, White went into the National Guard and in 1929 became commanding officer of Marshalltown's Company H.

GEN. D. MILLAR WHITE

White was a major on Feb. 11, 1941 when he went with the 34th Division to Camp Claiborne, La., and was promoted to lieutenant colonel when fifteen of the 34th became the first American troops to land in Ireland in early 1942.
He was in the North African and Italian campaigns and after World War II remained in the regular Army. In 1950 he became a full colonel as adjutant general of the Fort Sill, Okla. artillery school.
In 1951 Colonel White was sent to Korea where he served as chief of staff of the Prisoner of War Command. He was one of three officers in charge of transfer of sick and wounded prisoners of war in April of 1953. Two months later he was ordered to write a history of the POW Command.
After completion of the history, White was inspector general at First Army Headquarters. In that capacity he toured all Army posts in New England, Newfoundland, Greenland, Iceland and Labrador.
His advancement to general came when he assumed retired status.

Fail To Promote Ten-Cent Drink

ATLANTA (AP)—An effort to obtain public acceptance of the 10-cent soft drink in the Atlanta area has ended.

About four months ago, Dr. Pepper and 7-Up bottlers launched an advertising and selling campaign to put across the 10-cent price. Other bottlers didn't follow suit and the 5-cent price has been re-established generally in the area.

END OF THE LINE
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A car roared around a corner at the edge of downtown Minneapolis, hit a curb, hurtled end over end and then skidded 200 feet on its roof. The three-teen-year occupants stepped out with only minor injuries.

Relying On Bugs To Eat Up Pests

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Agricultural Extension Service says some Texas farmers are depending on bugs to eat the pests that are eating their cotton, and they shouldn't.

It's true, said the experts, that lady bugs will nibble on the bollworm, which nibbles on cotton.

But the lady bug prefers aphids and spider mites and if they aren't around they go where they are rather than eat up all the bollworms.

Hollywood Today Is Jazz Capital City

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Drama makes this town the world's jazz capital this week.

Hollywood's jumping to some of the best swing music heard in 20 years—and no wonder. Two of the greatest bands of the swing era are reunited.

The reunion is only temporary, but while it lasts some great music is being made.

At Universal-International, they are making "The Benny Goodman Story" and most of the original members of that greatest of swing bands are rocking the sound stages. Gene Krupa, Teddy Wilson, Harry James, Lionel Hampton and Goodman, the King of Swing himself, seem to be playing better than ever, if that is possible.

On tonight's Climax show over

CBS-TV, the original Bob Crosby Bobcats will be reunited. This band, one of the greatest of all Dixieland stylists, will perform their old arrangements of "Muskrat Ramble," "Gin Mill Blues," "Little Rock Getaway" and other Dixieland classics.

The play "One Night Stand" will dramatize a true incident in the history of the Bobcats. Playing themselves will be such Dixieland experts as Eddie Miller, Nappy LaMarr, Maty Matlock, Bobby Haggart, Billy Butterfield, Charlie Teagarden and Crosby.

It's hard to believe that the world came close to missing Goodman's music.
Krupa disclosed how Goodman once despaired of ever getting the public to buy his ideas in swing.

one-nighter trip west, often there were more musicians in the ballrooms than paying customers," he said. "Business was so bad that Goodman called a meeting to suggest that perhaps the band had better give up swing and start playing the commercial, Mickey Mouse-type music that was the rage then."
"We talked him out of that fast. We all told him that we could make more money elsewhere but that we were with him because of his ideas—not his commercial appeal."
So the Goodman band stuck with swing and finally—at the old Palomar Ballroom here in Los Angeles—the new type music hit. The rest is history, else U-I would not be making a movie about Benny Goodman.

SNOWBALL SELL-OUT

Dramatist Wm. Shakespeare Can Fill Writing Gap

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Television, hunting omnivorously for new writers, might well take a closer look at a talented English dramatist who's scored some tremendous hits with London theatergoers. His name is William Shakespeare.

A few of his works have been televised from time to time. He presents technical difficulties because he breaks so many theatrical rules. He crowds a stage with characters and action. He seldom bothers to motivate a character's entrance or exit. Basically a poet, he writes in an infectious pentameter, a practice frowned on by our most successful producers.

Noel Coward says no character's speech should be more than two lines, but young Shakespeare's characters sometimes speak a hundred lines. Shunning the modern situation, this Englishman reaches far back into history for his themes.

Studio One (CBS-TV) presented one of his plays last Monday evening—"Julius Caesar." It's a study of political power and the ironic corruption of men who try to make any means justify their goals. Its themes are as timely as today's newspaper.

This department was fortunate in being able to read the original London script before seeing the American television version. The original contained great subtleties of thought and characterization. In cutting a three-hour play to a one-hour television drama, Leo Penn sacrificed most of this subtlety.

But in losing subtlety, he did gain pace. To this viewer it seemed that pace and clarity of meaning were what director Don Petrie was trying to achieve. To one who has read the play or seen it in the longer stage version, the result was flat and broad. The acting, too, was shaped for pace and clarity of meaning.

It's difficult to believe that anyone who saw the Studio One production can now have any question concerning what "Julius Caesar" is about.

This week Buick soars past the 600,000 mark!

Biggest-selling Buick of all time permits us to make the biggest trade-in deals ever possible!

HERE it is, just past July, and what do you think has happened?

Buick popularity has broken every past full-year record!

That's the gospel truth. And Buick, of course, has had many great years before.

At the beginning of this week, Buick production passed 600,000 cars for the 1955 model year. That is over 155,000 more automobiles than the full model year of 1954 — when we captured third place in total national sales.

It is more than 11,000 higher than the full model year of 1950 — when the automobile industry had its greatest year, and Buick established an all-time record that stood unchallenged until now.

It is almost a quarter of a million more automobiles than the full model year of 1941 — which was the greatest prewar record Buick ever set.

In other words, there has never been anything before like 1955 in Buick history — when today Buick is building over three cars every minute to meet the public demand.

Doesn't this tell you something important?

Doesn't this soaring Buick success mean that you owe it to yourself to see and sample the car that's breaking every record in the Buick book?

Doesn't it mean that you ought to try Buick's mighty V8 power—Buick's great room and comfort—Buick's cruiser-steady ride and roadability—Buick's superb visibility and precision handling ease?

And doesn't it mean you certainly ought to try Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—the world's only transmission with the switch-pitch principle of the modern plane's propeller—and the most spectacular performance advance of the year?

Come in and see us—this week, at the latest—and learn for yourself why today's Buick is the biggest-selling Buick of all time—and how big a trade-in deal we can offer you with this tremendous volume to back us up.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Vacation Trip Is Incorporated By Six Couples

OWENSBORO, Ky.—Vacation, yes, but how about an incorporated vacation? That's the brainchild of six Owensboro couples, stockholders in "Kentucky Wonders? Inc." With that legend lettered broadly across their converted school bus they plan to leave for the East Saturday morning for 16 days of "roughing it."

Their itinerary: Sightseeing at Niagara Falls, a lobster feast in Maine, and more sightseeing and possibly radio-television appearances in New York.

The couples are Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Foster Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Shelton Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Glover Cox Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Fulton, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Owen.

The idea was born recently when Foster mentioned a bus-bound vacation. The couples talked it over, then bought a 1948 model bus equipped it, figured out a vacation budget and—for legal protection drew up articles of incorporation, which were issued by the state.

Bird Drama Ends Fishing Interest

WINDY HILL BEACH, S. C. (AP)—Bird watching proved more interesting than fishing when a strange martin tried to start an affair with a female nesting on a fishing pier.

Norman Thomas Says Army Security Program Pins False 'Label' On Many

By ROBERT F. MCHUGH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Norman Thomas charged today that the Army's security program has wrongfully fastened disloyalty labels on many young men and made it impossible for them to get jobs after being discharged.

The Socialist party chief, often a presidential candidate, joined in accusing the Army of "assuming the role of censor over all the nation's young men from approximately the age of 15 to 30 . . ."

He said a report on more than 100 cases affected by the security program would be handed to Asst. Army Secretary Hugh H. Milton II late this morning.

The report was prepared by Rowland Watts, Baltimore and New York attorney and national secretary of the Workers Defense League. Thomas is a director of the league, which describes itself as an anti-Communist organization.

Interested in the defense of civil liberties.

The two men were joined in the presentation by Kenneth M. Birkhead, national executive director of the American Veterans Committee.

Watts said the report was based on interviews with lawyers and their clients from coast to coast.

An Army allegation in one case, described as "still pending," was that the draftee had a father "who is reported to have said that if communism offered anything good he would accept it."

Watts said, however, that was only one of many allegations and the only one the lawyer in question would make available.

He said in many of the cases the soldier gets quasi-clearance through a "general discharge under honorable conditions."

But, he points out, such a discharge has imprinted upon it "SR 600-220-1 applies. This is the regulation pertaining to security, and 'any personnel man knows it,' said Watts. Consequently a youth with such a discharge has little chance of getting employment, he added.

He cited "the fantastic fact of eight jobs in three months" for one draftee separated under the security program.

Fairly typical is Watts' "Case No. 27."

The youth acknowledged on his loyalty certificate that in a period about five years before he was inducted he attended meetings of the American Youth for Democracy and the Jewish Young Fra-ternalists.

The Jewish organization as he named it was not listed on the following active service.

"A man has the right to a discharge based upon the kind of service he gave the Army. If the service was honorable, so should be the discharge," Watts said.

He concluded that the entire military security program, as it stands, should be scrapped and the Army made to "administer its own discipline within the framework of its constitutional and statutory powers."

Visitor Reached Wrong Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Col. Lester H. Kyle retired, thinks this city is the Main Richmond on the map, but he knows there also is a Maine Richmond — in fact, 17 states have Richmonds.

A motorist asked him how to find the address shown on an envelope. The colonel explained that it was Richmond, Maine. The stunned visitor turned around and headed north.

He cited "the fantastic fact of eight jobs in three months" for one draftee separated under the security program.

Hot Primary For Kentucky Voters

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's fiercest political fight in years today found the two major candidates for the Democratic governor's nomination in a hard-driving finish to a furious campaign.

Saturday, Kentucky Democrats will choose between former Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, seeking to be governor again, and former Appellate Judge Bert T. Combs, making his first bid for statewide elective office with state administration backing.

The winner will run in the Nov. 8 general election. Five of the last seven governors have been Democrats.

But the Republicans are counting on factional bitterness among Democrats to put the first GOP governor in office since 1943. The term is for four years.

Running for the Republican nomination in a relatively quiet campaign are former U.S. Dist. Atty. Edwin R. Denny, 51, endorsed by Ambassador to India John Sherman Cooper, former U.S. senator from Kentucky and James L. Clay, 43-year-old attorney.

Outcome of the Combs-Chandler contest will have a bearing on the political future of U.S. Sen. Earle C. Clements acting majority leader, and the makeup of this state's delegation to the 1956 Democratic presidential nominating convention.

Chandler has indicated that if he's elected governor he would have an opponent face Clements in next year's primary. Thus the Chandler-Combs race represents a struggle for power between factions headed by Clements, 1947-50 governor, and Chandler, 1935-39 governor and 1939-45 U.S. senator.

Each side predicted victory.

A third candidate was Jesse N. R. Cecil, several times an unsuccessful aspirant for a major office nomination.

Senators Clements and Alben W. Barkley, former vice president, headed to Kentucky right after Congress adjourned to speak in Combs' behalf.

Gov. Lawrence Wetherby has been heading his administration's fight against Chandler, who is banking on his personal popularity and regard as governor to lead what he calls a "revolt" against the Clements-Wetherby "dictatorship" and "machine." They deny this and say they have provided, and Combs will continue, "progressive leadership."

Everglades Boats Can Skim Over Heavy Dew On Grass

By JIM MARTENHOFF
AP Newsfeatures
COOPERTOWN, Fla. — If you want to travel in the Everglades, it's best to skid.

South Florida's vast wilderness could hold Rhode Island three times, with plenty of room left over for New York City.

It's very wet—for most of the year. It's not a lake, but much of it, except for the comparatively rare high spots, is covered by several inches of water. There are other ways of getting about but the preferred way is to skid in an airboat.

An airboat, lightly built in the general shape of a scow, has an aircraft engine and propeller mounted on the stern. With a roar and a whoosh of water you skid like crazy with the short grass hissing under the hull.

Riding an airboat is a special thrill. Sitting low in the boat, all you see before you is grass and more grass. The pilot will swing his air rudder and the boat will make a graceful, skidding turn, traveling almost sideways for several hundred feet before straightening out on a new course.

Tall grass in patches whips by you at breakneck speed. You close your eyes as you head straight for a deep, dry patch of grass and weeds, anticipating a shuddering crash.

But the boat merely slows slightly, then rides up and over the heavy growth with the gentle motion of a ship hitting a swell at sea.

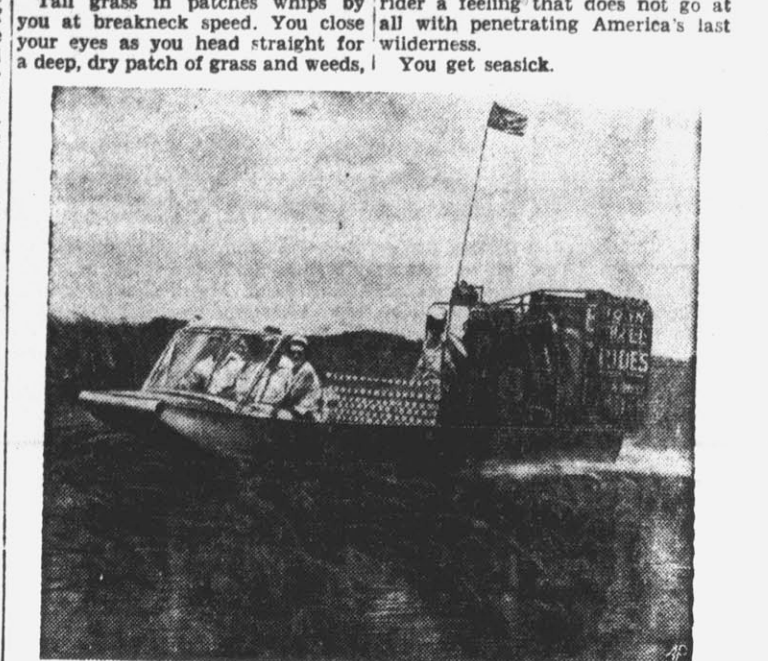

It's this sea-going motion of dipping and swaying, combined with the slowly sliding turns, that produces in the unaccustomed airboat rider a feeling that does not go at all with penetrating America's last wilderness.

You get seasick.

Travels 'Heavy' On Plane Rides

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Antonio Gall, a merchant from Sao Paulo, Brazil, doesn't travel light.

When he checked into the Miami airport for a flight to Buenos Aires, he had 13 pieces of luggage weighing 862 pounds. The excess baggage charge was $2,240, more than fancy, perhaps, but they beat the old one-squaw-power dugout canoe.

It is not particularly unusual to spot an Indian put-putting along in an antiquated and sputtering airboat with a load of speared garfish.

Testing engineers have learned that the total number of typing operations performed by the average typist each year is 14,745,000.

Administration Embarks On Policy Curtailing Credit

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration reportedly is embarking on a policy of cutting back credit to keep prices, fairly stable for two years, from climbing.

"The business boom is getting pretty exuberant," said one high official who asked that he not be named. "It's the consensus of the economic and financial side of the administration that the government should exert some effort to keep it orderly."

The latest in a series of credit curbs was announced last yesterday. Effective today 4 of the 12 federal reserve banks raised the rate they charge member banks which borrow from them.

The Chicago, Boston and Atlanta banks raised the charge — called the discount rate — from 1 1/2 to 2 per cent. Cleveland jumped from 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 per cent. Highest in 21 years. Not since 1948 had a federal reserve bank increased its discount rate by half a percentage point in one step.

Increases by the other reserve banks are expected to follow soon. This move, designed as a curb on inflation, followed closely the tightening of down payment and mortgage terms on government-insured housing loans last Saturday.

Also, the Federal Reserve Board and the comptroller of the currency have dispatched letters to banks cautioning against over-liberal terms on auto purchases and other installment credit. The government also has tightened up on credit buying of stocks.

The discount rate has been 1 1/2 per cent since last April and May, when the reserve banks raised it from 1 1/4. Another boost was generally expected, but not until later — and not by differing amounts in the federal reserve cities. That hasn't occurred since World War II. Variations are based on a bank's appraisal of the money supply in its area.

A bank increases its legal reserves by borrowing from its regional reserve bank. Since the borrowing bank is required to keep $20 in reserve against every $100 loaned out, the money it receives from the reserve bank means that it can lend five times that amount to businessmen.

Each loan made to a businessman also has a multiplying effect, because the ordinary borrower usually writes a check which is deposited in a second bank. The second bank's reserves are thus increased, and also its lending power. This may continue through a long series of loans and deposits, each representing an expansion of credit.

Member banks recently have been borrowing as much as 600 million dollars a week from the reserve institutions, although the level dropped to 395 million dollars in the week ended July 27.

By making it more costly to borrow, the reserve banks hope to discourage what one official called "cesses" of borrowing — sometimes for speculative purposes — without unduly tightening up credit for legitimate business needs such as building up stocks for Christmas business.

Officials have been concerned over the rapid rise in bank credit extended to consumers. The total expanded by about one billion dollars in the first half of this year, mostly in the form of installment credit on auto purchases. Total consumer credit outstanding is at a new high and auto easy-payment credit has gone to new peaks for the last six months in a row.

Armored Car Hold-Up Results In 2 Robbers Captured After Gun Fight

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Three armed men ambushed a Brink's armored car, shot a guard and made off with $160,000 in race-track receipts last night. Two were captured after a gun battle. The loot was recovered.

The bandits, clad in silk-stocking masks and armed with a sub-machinegun, broke into the Brink's, Inc. garage and vault before the car arrived with almost $498,000 in receipts from the Fort Erie race track just across the Niagara River in Canada. Three Brink's employees were on the truck.

Two of the holdup men were captured a half hour later after an 11-block running gun battle.

"I thought I was a dead man," said Eugene Clohessy, 27, the wounded guard.

"Saw 'em and pulled my .38 but before I could fire a shot the guy with the tommy gun got me in the shoulder."

Clohessy was reported in good condition at Emergency Hospital today with a chest wound.

The bandits were identified by police as Anthony Pettinato, 39, Baltimore, and Sylvester Mazella, the Bronx.

They were held without charge. An alarm was sent out for James Sheridan, alias Jim Salemerio, of New York City.

Pettinato and Mazella were captured in private homes. The third man, believed to have been wounded, fled around a corner, staggered into a house and told the occupant he had suffered a heart attack. A half hour later he called a taxi and escaped. Police said all three had records.

Police gave this account of the robbery:

Guards Stanley J. Klodzinski, 32, Kenneth A. Kemp, 31, and Clohessy drove up to the garage and vault with the Fort Erie receipts in six strong boxes. They were met at the driveway by guard Edward J. Thompson.

Clohessy entered through a side door. He passed through four security-lock doors to a turret from which the main garage door is controlled.

Kemp drove into the garage. As Clohessy locked the heavy garage door, the others began to unload the locked boxes.

The three bandits leaped from behind a parked armored truck. They covered the guards with a sub-machinegun, a carbine and a pistol.

"All right, line up against the wall," one ordered. "We mean business. We'll blow your brains out."

Clohessy opened the security turret door and was sent reeling back by a machine-gun slug.

He slammed the bulletproof door and sounded a telegraph alarm that summoned police and private police agencies.

The bandits shoved two money boxes out of a window, disarmed the captive guards and leaped out.

Clohessy opened the security turret and handed Thompson his gun. Kemp ripped a pistol from an arms locker and Klodzinski retrieved his gun from the truck. They found one of the money boxes on the sidewalk and the second one a block away.

The bandits commandeered a car but it wouldn't start. Then they turned to an automobile driven by Edward Craven, 42. He was riding with his wife Ruth, 41, and daughter Eileen, 10.

One of the bandits told Mrs. Craven: "Don't worry, lady, we won't hurt you. We need a car and we'll have it back to you in a little while."

The pursuing guards turned in to the street at this moment and opened fire. They pursued the car and exhausted their ammunition. Then a police car joined the chase.

Pettinato ran into a back yard and asked Mrs. Angelo Alba to hide him. She refused and fled. He went into her cellar. He surrendered meekly to police, who pursued him.

"Don't shoot," Pettinato cried from the basement. "It's me, Tony."

Mazella dashed into a basement on the opposite side of the street. He was flushed out with tear gas. Sheridan fled down the street and around a corner.

Another Brink's holdup, at Boston, Jan. 17, 1950, was the largest cash haul in the nation's history. Bandits escaped with $1,210,000 in cash and none of it was recovered. No convictions were obtained.

Just A Joke

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—John W. Doll, 13, and his friend Anthony Maggio, 16, were walking past the Brink's, Inc. garage last night when they saw a man climbing out of a window.

Doll said they thought he was a guard.

"I asked him what he was doing," the boy said. "I thought he was fixing a window."

"He said, 'Why, we're robbing Brink's, sonny,'" Doll said. "The kind of laugh when he told me he was robbing the place, and I thought it was a joke."

"When I saw the other two men come out with guns . . . I knew he hadn't been joking . . ."

"Tony and I ducked behind a parked jeep and stayed down until the shooting was over."

Lawmaker Says Sec. Dulles Is Under Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richards (D-SC) said today the Communist peace offensive has put Secretary of State Dulles under growing pressure "to compromise or be destroyed."

Richards, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he has "never been more disturbed" last Red peace talk dispute "our patience, our will and our determination to resist."

"I think Secretary Dulles understands the Communists and properly evaluates the issues," he said in an interview.

"I don't believe that the pressures that will be exerted on him in the name of peace will weaken his resolve to stand firm no matter what winds blow."

"But the pressures will grow and grow to make concessions to the Communists, to recognize Red China, to abandon our commitments to weaker allies, to enfold in our arms the Communists' promises of peace."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said meanwhile, Eisenhower administration foreign policies of the past six months have been "extraordinarily successful." But he declared the democratic party will "get a lot of credit from the voters" for support he said it has given the President.

Mansfield, a Foreign Relations committee member, particularly praised President Eisenhower's "courage" in seeking from Congress last January special authority to use U. S. armed power in defense of Nationalist-held Formosa and related areas near Communist China.

"In retrospect," he said in a separate interview, "we must give Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles a lot of credit for that resolution. The results could have been catastrophic and they knew it."

The effect of overwhelming congressional approval, he said, showed solid support for the administration's Formosa policy and "reversed an unhappy trend of repeated backing down by the administration the previous year."

Political Truce Refused By New Peronista Boss

Buenos Aires, Argentina, (AP)—The Peronista party's new chief last night rejected terms for a political truce laid down by President Peron's foes. Peronista leader Alejandro Leloir termed the opposition demands "insolent and unacceptable."

Leloir's nationwide broadcast, first since he was elected party head last month, replied to a broadcast last week by Radical Party President Arturo Frondizi.

The latter had answered Peron's previous plea for an end to political warfare by demanding sweeping government reforms and restoration of constitutional guarantees suspended for nearly four years under a "state of internal war."

Leloir referred to a speech Peron had made earlier last night in which the President said he did not "want to disappear from this world without having given the republic an ironclad people's organization." Peron also attacked economic inequality in Argentina.

Leloir declared that "neither the comprehension of some nor the bad will of many will veer us from the aims enunciated by the President. He accused the Radicals of being unwilling "to sacrifice their hatred in behalf of the common interests of the nation."

Despite government assurances that all political parties were free to express their views, Radical spokesmen still were having difficulty getting on the air.

The government canceled two broadcasts by Radical leaders this week saying they had not submitted their texts 48 hours in advance.

The opposition opened up in the Chamber of Deputies, however, with a move to spike Peron's campaign against privileges of the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina. Radical Deputy Oscar Alende introduced a bill yesterday to repeal the law authorizing a constitutional convention to end Catholicism's status as the state church.

Since the abortive June 16 revolt, the government and the Peronista press have curtailed sharply their attacks on the church. There has been no indication, however, that Peron doesn't want the constitutional convention to meet.

Nab Suspect In St. Louis Slaying

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Police last night arrested one of two men sought for the car-trunk killing of a former St. Louis taxi driver.

George (Stormy) Harvill was picked up by police in front of his East St. Louis home and brought to the Madison County Jail here. Still sought is Louis D. Shoulders.

Murder warrants for their arrest were issued yesterday. Shoulders is the son of Louis Shoulders, former St. Louis policeman now serving a federal prison sentence for perjury in connection with the 1953 Greenleaf kidnapping case.

Police said the younger Shoulders was a bartender employed at a tavern near Fairmount Park race track which was operated by Harvill.

State's Atty. Fred P. Schuman said the charges were filed after a thorough search of the tavern. He said a large stain found on the floor may have been made by blood and that it appeared attempts had been made to wash it off.

The body of the cab driver, Robert Carr, 24, was found in the trunk of his car July 21 near Livingston, Ill. He had been shot and stabbed.

Both Harvill and Shoulders had been questioned previously about the slaying. Bobby Davis Martin, 27-year-old St. Louis cab driver, already was under a murder charge in the Carr case. Martin, who denied any connection with the case, is held in the Madison County Jail without bond.

Officers said Carr and Martin reportedly had quarreled over Carr's estranged wife Bernice.

U. S. freight car loadings in 1954 were 11.6 per cent lower than those of 1953.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

"Now I want you to think carefully, Sara. Could Clifford's voice be the voice of the man who trapped you in the elevator and tried to break you down with psychological torture? Clifford admits he wants the ruby and he was in this neighborhood just before you were trapped."

"I—I don't know." Sara's defenses were crumbling. Her sense of disillusionment was devastating. Clive smiled a little sadly at Sara. "You liked the fake Gerry much better than the real Gerry, didn't you?"

"That was why she had so feared and hated Sara when Sara denied the real Gerry's identity."

"That was another factor," said Clive. "You liked the false Gerry so much better than the real one that you wanted to believe the real one was the impostor."

"I suppose I did." Sara's voice was pallid. She looked at her hands as if she were remembering the touch of the false Gerry. "I still like him."

"We can't be sure of that yet."

"Perhaps the man who trapped you in the elevator?"

"Don't!" Sara covered her face with her hands. "Even now, I don't believe he did that."

"You're afraid of the limping man, are you? I'm afraid of him, too. I think he's dangerous to anyone who has the ruby. Have you any idea at all who got hold of it last night? We've got to find out now for our own protection. You didn't manage to get hold of it yourself, did you?"

"No."

"Why didn't you want either Sallust or me to get it valued for you?"

"I was afraid that the ruby was stolen and that Gerry was mixed up in it somehow. I mean the false Gerry, the one I liked. I didn't want jewelers or police or anybody to know about the ruby until I found out just how deeply he was involved."

"And you didn't hide the ruby from us to protect him?"

"No, I didn't." The "I" was faintly stressed.

"Then someone else did?"

"I suppose there's no harm in telling you now," said Sara with dull indifference. "It was Aunt Caroline herself."

"Caroline!" His stare was incredulous.

"She saw I wanted to protect Gerry and she wanted to help me. She put it in the safe with her sapphires. It's there now."

Behind them the door creaked. Had Judith and Gerry left it ajar? Sara whirled. Clive ran to the threshold. They both saw him through the half-open door—a dark figure running toward the fire stairs. The stair door slammed and he was gone.

"Sallust," stated Clive.

Sara nodded. "How long was he there?"

"Long enough to hear you say that the ruby was in your Aunt Caroline's safe. We must get there before he does—if we can."

In the car, Clive said, "I've been driving in New York traffic all my life. It will take Sallust twice as long whether he's in a taxi or driving himself."

Stevens opened the door. "Miss Sara... Mr. Clive... They're in the drawing room Your hat, sir?" Clive brushed past him, following Sara.

Again a fire burned pungently on the hearth and lamplight illuminated a small group at the center of the long shadowy room, like actors spotlighted on a vast, dim stage. But there was one noticeable change in the room. The great Islamic rug had been removed. The parquet floor was bare from wall to wall.

Caroline sat in her wheeled chair. The Greville sapphires and their surrounding brilliant twinkled against deep blue velvet, high-necked, long-sleeved and flowing. Edna was on the sofa again, her plain face bright with curiosity.

Sara gasped as she recognized the Indian's tawny skin and dark eyes, liquid as a stag's.

"Miss Dacre!" He had heard her gasp. "Don't be alarmed. I had to see your aunt once I learned from Mr. Clifford that it was here the ruby disappeared and not at Dr. Sallust's as you told me. I haven't much time left if I would keep peace in Mogur."

"How can one man keep peace anywhere?"

He smiled. "Perhaps I should tell you what I have just told your aunt. I am the Rajah of Mogur. This mission is so delicate that I undertook it myself. After all, I am the only person in Mogur who could afford a European education and therefore the only person whose English is equal to such a task."

Another voice spoke from the shadows. "It's true. I checked." Sara turned and saw a rugged face softened by a warm, quizzical smile. Her own eyes dropped coldly, without response.

"Come in, Sara," said Caroline impatiently. "And Dick, you're just in time to hear the whole story. More chairs, Edna."

"I'll get the chairs," Clifford's step rang clear and hard on the bare floor. A quick step, but smooth and even.

Caroline answered the question in Sara's eyes. "I had the rug removed when your friends telephoned and asked if they might call this evening. I wanted to hear their footsteps."

"Aunt Caroline, Gregory Sallust is on his way here. He knows you have the ruby. I—" Her voice faltered as she saw the great ruby in Caroline's lap, burning red as a live coal from the grate and far more dangerous.

Clifford glanced at the Rajah. "I think we can take care of Dr. Sallust, don't you?"

"Aunt Caroline." Sara's voice was small and tense. "No doubt this other man has told you he is the real Gerry Hone. He isn't. He is an impostor whom I mistook for Gerry in the 10-cent store that evening because he wanted the ruby. He's really a former movie actor named Mark Clifford and Gerry Hone was his stand-in long ago."

"One moment. I was Mark Clifford on the screen. My real name is James Clifford Smith and I'm a producer now. But I can still act a little, can't I?" He grinned. "Especially when somebody gives me a cue and feeds me lines the way you did."

"You think this is funny?" For a moment Sara's voice sounded like Caroline's. "Someone killed Peter Moxon to get that ruby. Did you? You admit you want it and you were there when Moxon died?"

"I'm sorry... Dacre." His voice was humble. "You must hate me now and I don't suppose there's anything I can do about it. It was a shabby trick I played on you. Of course, I couldn't foresee that you would accuse the real Gerry Hone of being an impostor afterward."

War Of Nerves Involving Americans In S. Viet Nam

By JOHN BRODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Americans living in South Viet Nam have become the victims of a new and stealthy war of nerves. American Embassy officials have received threats against their lives. Private automobiles of U. S. diplomats have been burned or blown up. Grenades have been tossed against an apartment building which houses embassy families.

No one is quite sure who is behind the campaign of terrorism. The Americans apparently are being attacked because they represent a government which supports anti-Communist nationalist Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Though street fighting in this capital of two million has stopped, the bitterness lingers on. A number of groups hate Diem and the Americans who back him.

The Binh Xuyen society, a band of onetime river pirates who controlled Saigon's vice industry, brought the country close to civil war in April. After 48 hours of bloody battling they were driven out of the city. They still control a small section of the meandering Saigon River.

Another implacable Diem enemy is Gen. Le Quang Vinh, better known as Bacut, head of the rebellious Hoa Hao Religious army which has spread terror in Viet Nam's Far West for years. His strength has been broken but he still is a source of trouble.

The forces opposing the Premier are swelled too by the underground of the Communist Vietminh. Officially the Reds have been quiet since the Geneva armistice gave them North Viet Nam last year, but they still have a well-organized and efficient clandestine network throughout South Viet Nam.

Many Frenchmen also are not friendly to Diem.

The pail standard weight measure for tin in Malaya, is by ancient definition the load a man can carry. In Malaya it is 133 1-3rd pounds.

Nothing GOES like a Chevrolet V8!

It's the new winner in stock car competition... and it's winning new, young-minded friends faster than you can say America's hottest V8. Because of its liveliness, its looks, and because it holds the road like it loves it—which it does. Come try it, won't you, if only for the fun of it!

Nothing (not even the high-priced cars) HAS GOT SO MUCH TO GO WITH!

The most up-to-date V8

So advanced in design and so efficient in operation that it needs only 4 quarts of oil instead of the usual 5. Shortest stroke of any V8 in the industry. Delivers more horsepower per pound than any engine in Chevrolet's field. Take your choice of the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire," optional at extra cost.

Two Sizzling 6's

They're the most powerful 6's in Chevrolet's field—And like the V8's, they give you the extra punch, performance and reserve power of the only 12-volt electrical system in Chevrolet's field.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was pressed down sharply today following new moves to tighten credit as an anti-inflation measure.

There were no surges of selling, one at the opening and the other in the second hour.

Prices were pushed down 1 to around 5 points with the bulk of the worst part of the fall in the range of 1 to around 3 points.

Despite the two surges, the total volume of trading was moderate and around yesterday's 21,190,000 shares.

The market yesterday was slightly higher.

After the close yesterday, the Federal Reserve Board announced a hike in the discount rate, the charge the reserve banks make for loans to their member banks.

At the same time, New York commercial banks increased their charges on loans to business.

At the start today, a flurry of trading took prices down sharply, but the selling never got out of hand.

There was a recovery from the lows before end of the first hour, but selling began again in the second hour only to fade out in the third hour.

Standard Oil (N.J.) came under sharp selling pressures after directors declared a dividend of $1.25, the same as paid in two previous quarters.

No mention was made by the company of a stock split, a development that Wall Street observers had hoped would take place at this meeting of directors.

Within a matter of minutes after announcement of the dividend action Jersey lost around 6 points.

Weeks Blames Tobacco Surplus For Troubles

RALEIGH (AP)—A surplus of flue-cured tobacco is the prime cause of the present troubles on the tobacco marketing front, says the general manager of the Flue-Cured Stabilization Corp.

"The condition existing on flue-cured tobacco markets is principally a supply and demand situation," L. T. Weeks declared last night.

Speaking to News and Observer farm editor Bill Humphries from Statesboro, Ga., Weeks asserted: "When the markets opened this year the supply of flue-cured tobacco was 270 million pounds greater than a 2-1-3 year disappearance based upon the present rate of usage."

"With this crop estimated at substantially more than 1,412,000,000 pounds, and with the current annual rate of consumption at about 1,200,000,000 pounds, at least 200 million pounds more than that will be consumed in a year's time will be produced from the 1955 crop."

Weeks said, "When this is added to the 270 million pounds, it means that there will be about 500 million pounds more tobacco than is being presently consumed during a 2-1-3 year period."

"When the situation is honestly analyzed and a reasonable interpretation is made, it shows that there is too much tobacco."

Since sales began on South Carolina flue-cured markets last week, the Stabilization Corp. has been buying better than 40 per cent of those offerings from warehouse floors. It bought close to 46 per cent during yesterday's first day sales on North Carolina's Border Belt.

The corporation, which borrows money from the Commodity Credit Corp. at 4 per cent, buys wheat which isn't bought at the market at the support price. It sells its holdings between marketing seasons.

Weeks said, "There need be no fear by tobacco growers with reference to whether Stabilization Corp. can handle such quantities of tobacco as do not sell for as much as, or more than, the 90 per cent of parity price level. It is in a position to amply take care of such tobacco as may be received from the 1955 crop, and it will do so."

Governor Calm Over Situation On Leaf Marts

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges said today he is "not too greatly disturbed" about the situation on flue-cured tobacco markets where a high percentage of leaf is going under government price support loans.

Hodges told his news conference he visited markets in Lumberton and Fairmont yesterday as first sales were held on the North Carolina Border Belt.

The governor expressed the opinion that first day sales "are never too good an indication" of how marketing will go. It is "a little early" to make predictions, he told the reporters.

Hodges said he was assured by officials of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp., which administers the price support program, it will "take every pound" of tobacco necessary.

"If it had not been for Stabilization we would have had a bad day yesterday," Hodges declared. He said he observed baskets of tobacco going to Stabilization on which the bids by buyers were $1 to $16 below the price support levels.

The governor urged farmers not to market their leaf too fast, to use care in grading and to make sure the leaf reaches market in good condition.

North Carolina has "one of the largest and best crops in history," he observed, and the law of supply and demand does influence prices.

The Stabilization Corp. "has been taking a larger percentage than is healthy," he said.

'Human' Traits In Mixed-Up Dog

WOOD RIVER, Ill. —Buster is all mixed up—he goes around acting like a human instead of the dog that he is.

His owners, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, who actually appear uncomfortable lounging around the house without his robe and slippers.

Mrs. Jones attributes Buster's confusion to the fact he "never has associated with other dogs."

The Jones' say that if one of them turns up, his nose at food on their table Buster "makes a gagging noise and refuses to eat it."

Buster, a toy collie, eats exactly that his owners eat, including carrots, sauerkraut and beans. He has his own bath mat, own towels, his own robe and an assortment of dog scents. He sleeps just like a human, on a mattress and between sheets and with covers.

Buster has grown tolerant of cats. "People don't chase cats," says Jones. "So how can Buster bring himself to do it."

Magsaysay Cuts Tourist Dollars

MANILA (AP)—It is going to get harder for Filipinos to see the world.

President Ramon Magsaysay has ordered drastic cuts in dollar allocations for importers and tourists to stem the drain on foreign exchange reserves.

The reserve has dropped 18 million dollars since last May.

Sold Stock For Scout Outing

RED OAK, Iowa (AP)—John Hamilton, a 14-year-old Eagle Scout, wanted to go to the Boy Scout Jamboree, but he had no funds for the trip.

So John, with the assistance of Atty. John F. Boyce, incorporated himself and sold 30 shares of stock in the "John Hamilton Corp." at $10 each, making a total of $300.

John expects to have all the stock "bought up" either through work or cash, in three years.

Kept 'House' In Church Belfry

DAYTON Ky. (AP)—Police and church officials investigated a house that a man had set up keeping in the belfry of St. John's Episcopal Church. They found: A bed made of linens taken from the altar, with kneeling pads from the pews serving as pillows; eight candles, also from the altar, stuck in niches in the stone wall, and tea, cheese and paper cups stolen from the kitchen in the basement of the church.

But the quarry had flown.

Lightning Lucky For One Man

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—It'll be all right with E.J. Whittington if lightning strikes twice in the same place.

A lightning bolt shattered his water meter box. He's still getting water in the house but it's free because it can't be measured until the city puts in a new meter.

Clock-Watching Has Good Side

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A former man Orin Benson found that watching the clock was just what his new boss wanted.

He hired out to work with a motion picture cast, filming scenes of a movie called "Battle Stations" aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Princeton. His job was to make sure that sequences and times matched in scenes showing clocks.

Tribes near Africa's Lake Kyoga just north of the Equator eat roasted locusts. Termites are another favorite food.

Hospital Ready For Fractures

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—When Freddie Bourque, 12, checked into a hospital, the staff was all ready for a bone-setting job.

Freddie had been in the hospital 10 times with fractures of arms, ankles, wrists and fingers.

This time he fooled everybody. He had his appendix removed.

Taken—Or Taking In Saratoga Springs

AP)—Elder statesman Bernard Baruch is taking in—or being taken by—the Saratoga races for at least his 60th year. Maybe it's the 65th says the 85-year-old Baruch.

Picture Routine Has Its Pay-Off

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Photographer Charlie Pence was going about the routine of taking pictures and getting names at an engagement cocktail at the home of a physician.

While he was finishing the assignment, the doctor walked up, put his hand on Pence's shoulder and said:

"You've been so nice to us I want to do something for you. So I'm giving you a due-bill for an appendectomy."

Left Mower In Place Of Tackle

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—It must be the weather, police said, after hearing a theft report from Mrs. W.G. Ferrell.

She said a small boy slipped into her garage and took a $12 fishing rod and reel. In its place he left a lawn mower.

Rehabilitated Bela Lugosi To Resume Acting

NORWALK, Calif. —Rehabilitated, Bela Lugosi will leave the Metropolitan State Hospital tomorrow and start work on a new movie in two weeks. He was treated for three months for drug addiction.

Portrayer of scores of horror roles in motion pictures, Lugosi is best known for his difficult characterization of Count Dracula.

The 66-year-old actor said he had been studying the script for his part in "The Ghoul Goes West" during his rehabilitation.

His step firm, his voice firm, and his eyes as piercing as ever, Lugosi has come a long way back from the emaciated addict who could barely walk when he was committed to the hospital at his request.

His desire to act again, plus the countless letters of encouragement helped him over the rough spots, Lugosi confided to a newsman.

"I just couldn't have done this alone," he said.
