President To Offer New Set Of Disarmament Ideas

New Proposals Will Follow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to confront Russia soon with a new set of proposals for a disarmament inspection system. Soviet Premier Bulganin rejected yesterday Eisenhower's offer to trade military blueprints with the Soviet Union and the allow aerial surveys, but the President said he doesn't understand that the Premier closed the door on negotiation to end the arms race.

Bulganin at the Geneva summit meeting two weeks ago. He spoke more sternly, however, on Red China and possible U. S. recognition of that country. He made clear he is not interested now in any future summit meeting on Far Eastern problems, and he said of recognition: "Several times I have stated that as long as Red China is branded as an aggressor by the United Nations which it still is, due to the fact that its armies are in North Korea we have no choice of our own (about recognition), and I don't see how the United Nations has a choice of its own."

Council Approves Taxi Fare Changes

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor. Taxi operators will be able to charge 60 cents for trips to certain areas of the city under action taken by the City Council last night. Rates in the inner area of the city will remain the same at 50 cents. Taxi drivers had originally asked that their rates for certain long distance hauls within the city limits be raised to 75 cents because, they claimed, they were losing money on the runs.

accepting the city's old motor grader as trade-in, was $10,373. They also approved a bid for the grader to cost an additional $300. Funds for the new piece of machinery were set up in this year's budget. City Engineer Tom Rivers reported to the council that his survey of the Green Mill Run drainage project is complete and that plans are now being drawn. He told the group that the next step is to obtain right-of-way from property owners for making changes in the stream where they are needed. The council is not feasible, however.

Justice Dept. Checking Posts Held By Businessmen

Probe Non-Paying Government Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley N. Barnes says his Antitrust Division has started a new probe into the kind of unpaid government jobs held by businessmen. He said these were the only three cases of the kind found under the Eisenhower administration and "all three were corrected voluntarily when called to the agencies' attention by the Civil Service Commission."

York Dean said he had assured himself Horn had acquired no such knowledge. Young did not name the three men he said were removed from unpaid posts, but said they had worked in the Defense Transport Administration and the Small Business Administration. He indicated the situation has been under long-continued study, saying that "in prior years there have been many violations reported by previous commissioners to the President. The general trend in the number of violations has been sharply downward from the time of the first report in 1951 to the present." Eisenhower took office in January 1953.

Poundage, Prices Drop On Border Belt Marts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Both the poundage and price average were down yesterday from opening day figures as tobacco markets of the North Carolina Border Belt held their second day of sales. The North Carolina and U.S. departments of agriculture reported today that the Border markets sold a total of 3,426,938 pounds yesterday and growers received an average of $51.12 for their leaf. The poundage was down about 1 1/2 million from opening day and the price was off $1.45 from the opening average.

pay both from the government and from the Export Corp. of which he formerly was vice president. Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) has criticized White's status. "It would be idle," the President said, "to employ as a consultant anyone who didn't know something about the petroleum business. He is bound to come from the petroleum industry."

Tax Foundation Asserts Lawmakers' Economies May Be Wiped Out Later

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tax Foundation said today an analysis of congressional action on appropriations in the 1955 session indicates that all savings claimed by the lawmakers may be wiped out later. The foundation, a private research organization financed by businessmen, said in a statement that tables put out by members of Congress "fall far short of telling the whole story."

Honor Grad Is Refused Reserve Commission; Mother Is Ex-Red

KINGS POINT, N.Y. (AP)—An honor graduate of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy—whose mother quit the Communist party at his insistence—has been denied a Naval Reserve commission because of her former activities. Cadet Midshipman Eugene W. Landy, 21, received word of his rejection on the eve of exercises at which his 54-year-old mother yesterday watched him graduate today with three of the academy's highest awards. "I wish they'd punish me instead of him," his mother told reporters while visiting a sister in New Jersey.

These tables, made public at the windup of the session by Appropriations Committee members, showed that Congress this year voted about $1,700,000,000 less than President Eisenhower asked in his final budget estimates. The Tax Foundation said, "Supplemental appropriations in the next session and rising costs of farm price support, which are outside the area of appropriations, may more than wipe out any savings thus far effected in terms of expenditures in fiscal 1956."

Landy will graduate with the second highest ranking in his class. Among the honors he will receive are a medal for excellence in naval architecture and an award from the Daughters of the American Revolution for being the best naval science student. Landy was a star of football and tennis at the academy and was captain of the debating team. He said his father died when he was an infant and related that his mother now living in Bradley Beach, N.J., was highly sympathetic to communism during World War II.

Demos Rap FPC Okay On Project

Private Hydroelectric System In Hell's Canyon Draws Senatorial Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic senators assailed bitterly today the Federal Power Commission's action in approving a privately financed hydroelectric project in the Hell's Canyon area. The Democrats indicated they intend to make a national issue, if possible, of the commission's grant to the Babcock Power Co. of authority to build three power dams. These would flood the site of a proposed federal Hell's Canyon dam on the Snake River border between Idaho and Oregon.

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Bulganin said today his government will continue to study President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military information and mutual aerial inspection.

Bulganin told the Supreme Soviet that Soviet Russia naturally prefers its own disarmament proposal but nevertheless will not refuse to consider other sincere plans. In this connection he said Eisenhower's proposal still is under consideration. The Soviet Union is trying to find ways to get the positions of the two sides closer together and find agreement, the Premier asserted.

Bulganin's remarks came during discussion of his report on the Geneva summit conference. In an address which would have been incredible a few years ago, Nikolai V. Tristin told the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) the Soviet Union has much to learn from foreigners and they should learn from the Russians. He rebuked those who would have expressed belief the Soviet Union knew everything and had "no need to learn anything from abroad."

Hurricane Alert Warning Given For Puerto Rico

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Connie, now a dangerous hurricane with winds of 125 miles an hour whirling around its center, moved toward the Leeward Islands today and brought rich and populous Puerto Rico under a hurricane alert. The Weather Bureau's storm warning service ordered hurricane warnings hoisted in the group of islands at the north end of the Leeward chain, including Barbuda, Saba and Antigua. All interests were advised to make immediate preparations for dangerous winds and tides.

The Virgin Islands, an American-owned group to the east of Puerto Rico and Puerto Rico itself, were told to stand by for the alert for possible hurricane warnings later today. Climbers Fall As Ropes Entangle ALBERTVILLE, France (AP)—Ropes of two climbing parties became entangled on the "Needle of the Alps" in the French Alps yesterday and three persons fell to their deaths. A French priest and two women members of one party were killed. In the other party were another priest and three women. They were injured. Italy's Alpine death toll for the season climbed to 18 when a man tumbled 1,200 feet into a crevice while picking edelweiss near Bressanone.

Wreck Killed 30 Aboard Airliner

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP)—A pilot kept his crippled American Airlines plane aloft for more than 30 miles in a desperate bid for a safe landing yesterday but crashed just short of his goal. All 30 persons aboard were killed. "Just a little more and he would have made it," said an eyewitness, Lt. A. J. Brewster of Ft. Leonard Wood. "The plane came in very low over a housing area, then banked steeply and headed for the post airport."

Numerous eyewitnesses at Leeb-ple live, saw the plane streak overhead in sunny weather at an altitude estimated variously at from 200 to 500 feet. The twin-engine Convair, with 27 passengers and three crewmen, was only half a mile from the post's Forney Airport when it lost its right wing and plummeted into a heavily timbered gully. Hours later the wreckage was still amply dented. Numerous eyewitnesses at Leeb-ple live, saw the plane streak overhead in sunny weather at an altitude estimated variously at from 200 to 500 feet. Drivers Cleared By Coroner's Jury

By BOB HILLDRUP, Reflector Staff Writer. A six-man coroner's jury last night recommended that no criminal action be brought against either driver involved in a two-car wreck near Stokes July 24 that took the life of a pregnant woman returning from her husband's funeral. The jury deliberated only 11 minutes after being charged by Coroner Griffin Rouse at 9:07 p.m. before returning its verdict which, in effect, cleared U. G. Downs, 51, of Norfolk and Hubert Jones Jr., 28, of Rocky Mount.

Downs' daughter, Mrs. Mabel F. French, 23, died of injuries following the 7 p.m. accident. She, Downs, his wife and son, had been returning from Kingston where they had attended the funeral of Mrs. French's husband, Lt. Larry French, who drowned the previous week in a boating accident on Moses Lake, Washington. Jones, who took the stand shortly after the inquest opened at 8 p.m., said that he was traveling with his wife, two small children and mother-in-law west on highway 33 from Pactolus toward Bethel. As he approached the intersection of highway 903, he testified, he reduced his speed "to about 40 an hour." The Downs car then came out of 903 headed from Stokes in the direction of Williamson and collided with left front fender of his car. The impact, according to investigating Highway Patrolman Bill Whitehurst, apparently occurred almost in the center of the intersection. Jones said he first saw the Downs car when it was "four to five" car lengths away. He estimated that Downs was traveling "about 45 to 50" miles per hour but added that "I'm not too good a judge of speeds."

Four People Die In Head-On Crash

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP)—Two cars crashed head-on at a bypass on N.C. Highway 161 near here last night, killing four persons. Police said Mrs. Mary Griggs, about 40, of Rt. 2, Bessemer City, and Paul Kenneth Furr, 19, of Mount Pleasant, driver of one car, were killed outright. Lyman E. Champion, 40, of Rt. 3, Kings Mountain, and Ronnie Blackwell, 21, of Kings Mountain, died at Kings Mountain hospital. Champion, driver of the other automobile, and Mrs. Griggs were together heading northeast when their car was in collision with the car containing Blackwell and Furr, whom officers said were employed by a Charlotte construction company working on the bypass. "I vigorously support the view of the domestic textile industry that if a 'two-price' cotton policy is to be adopted, the domestic industry should be protected against ruinous foreign competition by the imposing of quotas."

Near $4 Billion July Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—Construction activity climbed in July to nearly four billion dollars and raised to $23,100,000,000 the total for the first seven months of the year. The Labor and Commerce departments reporting the figures today, said both are new records. This same view was expressed by New England members of Congress who attended a White House conference on the subject Monday. That meeting with the President was arranged by Sen. George (D-Ga.) on behalf of cotton growers of the cotton textile manufacturers in an attempt to solve the cotton surplus problem without damage to manufacturers. Cotton Import Quota Advocated By Rep. Martin

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin (R-Mass.) said today there must be import quotas on cotton textiles if the government sells surplus cotton in the world market at competitive prices. These would be lower than American manufacturers pay under the price support program. Members of Congress from cotton-growing states this week urged President Eisenhower to approve a plan considered by the Agriculture Department to rid itself of surplus cotton, acquired under the price support program, by selling it abroad at less than domestic prices. Martin, in a letter to President Eisenhower, said that if this happens American textile concerns face a low-cost cotton coming back from Japan as finished goods with which domestic producers will be unable to compete. In his letter, Martin said: "Domestic mills which presently find it difficult to compete with Japanese mills because of wage differentials could not possibly stand the added strain of a differential in the price of raw materials as well. This same view was expressed by New England members of Congress who attended a White House conference on the subject Monday. That meeting with the President was arranged by Sen. George (D-Ga.) on behalf of cotton growers of the cotton textile manufacturers in an attempt to solve the cotton surplus problem without damage to manufacturers. BETHEL—The Hickory Grove Free Will Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage of Geraldine White and William Thomas Briley on Sunday, July 31, at 5:00. Cummings of the Geography Department at the College informed us that his good wife had read our plea, and quick as a flash down from the Cummings attic came a beautiful, simulated-bronze bust of The Bard himself. . . . He promptly appeared on TV on Sunday and will appear constantly before anybody who looks at our "Shakespeare on TV" course that begins a week from Monday, August 15, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, which all and sundry are cordially invited to attend. . . .

Speaking of Shakespeare, somebody gave us an editorial from one of the Reflector's rivals in the daily paper field, called "Who Wrote Shakespeare?" . . . Quoting, "We don't mind playing the game of who wrote the plays, but we always get back to the answer that if it wasn't Shakespeare it must have been another fellow by the same name." And we must say we agree. . . .

The War Club
Filling a long felt need, a group of distinguished historians and others are forming the Civil War Book Club. It is going to offer its members a new book about the War Between the States once every month, because so many new books are coming out about it that people are having trouble picking out the best ones. . . . The Editorial Board consists of Bruce Catton, Stanley Horn, Allan Nevins, Benjamin Thomas and Bell I. Wiley, all outstanding historians or scholars of the Civil War period. . . . The address of the new club, if you want to find out more about it, is 18 East Chestnut, Chicago—a Yankee address, which we hope won't reflect their point of view. . . .

Summer Sports
A glance at the August edition of The Reader's Digest will be all that is required for you to find out that the condensed news for this month is "Fear Strikes Out," by Jim Piersall and—he's our brother, folks—Al Hirschberg. . . . If you didn't read the original in its published form or in the serial version in the Saturday Evening Post last winter, here's your chance. . . . And if you miss it again, you get still another opportunity to find out what it's about. "Climax" on TV will carry it, the good bro. tells us, sometime this month. . . .

Anticipating a little, sportswriters also will be glad to learn that "The Saga of American Football" is coming out August 30. Written by one of the foremost living authorities on football, Colonel Alexander M. Weyand, the book is the first full length history of the game, covering it from the first contest in 1869, between Princeton and Rutgers, to the present. . . .

Local Readers—Young
Whether you've read anything this summer or not, the grammar graders around here certainly have. . . . Sheppard Memorial Library's Big Top Circus Reading Club has just concluded activities for the season, and has produced some impressive statistics. Winners of the Club awards were Carroll Wainwright for the boys, who read and reported on 151 books—think of it—151—and Barbara Whitfield for the girls, who did it with 82 books. There were 123 members in the whole Club, of whom ten read over 50 books and fifty read fifteen or more—ain't you ashamed, though? Congratulations, kids—you're certainly doing a lot more reading than we are, and we hope you keep it up. . . .

Today's Review
Bruce C. Tribble of the College Library writes it, and here it is.

NEL SUIT, by Sloan Wilson. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1955.
"The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit . . . is the story of a fight—a fight in a suburb." With these words quoted from the Literary Guild's magazine, Wings, Sloan Wilson sums up his latest novel. And it is the story of a fight—the never-ending fight for happiness and security in today's troubled world. . . . The central figures in this small segment of that fight are Tom Rath, the man himself, who had not long ago exchanged a military uniform for the gray flannels of a businessman, and his wife, Betsy, who assumes without help the care of a home and three small children. The boundaries of Rath's life are an office in New York, a house in suburban Connecticut, and the commuting train which carries him between the two. Within these boundaries Tom and his family live with the common problems of sickness, an inadequate school for the children, and an income too small to meet their needs. To these stresses are suddenly added those of a new job, an estate which the already strained family budget cannot afford to maintain, and an unwelcome reminder from the past that threatens to ruin the future. Through all these crises, which the author most realistically describes, the couple manages to help each other retain not only balance of mind but integrity of character as well. . . .

If in this brief recounting the basic elements of the plot seems to resemble the ingredients of a magazine or television serial, it is Sloan Wilson's credit that he does not allow his novel to sink to that level. Wilson has the facility for making real and convincing characters and situations which in less skillful hands could easily become trite and unbelievable. He has fashioned an absorbing picture of one facet of contemporary American life in a book that is well-written and interesting, and one that is above the average of those published in recent months. The author may well be on his way to becoming one of America's popular fiction writers.

Christian Science Announcements

The fact that spiritual understanding of God results in practical goodness, health, and power will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit."

Among the passages to be read from Science and Health is the following (99:23): "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-immolation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposition, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man." The Golden Text is from Ephesians 5:9: "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth."

Third Birthday, And Unconscious

PARK RIDGE, Ill.—Debbie Ann Hadfield who has suffered from sleeping sickness for nearly nine months, is 3 today. . . . There are ice cream, birthday cake and party favors at her home in this three-shaded Chicago suburb—and, for the first time in many months, the laughter of small children. . . . Released April 29 from Billings Hospital in Chicago, she lies in a semiconscious state at home. She is cared for by her mother Mrs. Jean Hadfield, 24, and two nurses. . . . Mrs. Hadfield and her husband William planned the party in the hope that the voices of Debbie's friends might reach through the child's coma. . . . "Maybe my child will react to the other children. Maybe God will grant her the power to see the children," Mrs. Hadfield said. . . . Although Debbie's eyes are often open now she does not see. But Mrs. Hadfield thinks the party might awaken a flicker of interest. . . . Mrs. Hadfield vowed that somehow she would get Debbie to taste a bit of the ice cream, but "we can't give her cake because she can't chew." . . . After the story of Debbie's illness was printed, persons as far away as Europe and Asia wrote they were praying for her recovery.

Tomorrow's Pioneers Require Skills

Where are the pioneers who will blaze the trails of tomorrow through the atomic and scientific age we have entered?

They are in the classrooms of our elementary schools, high schools and colleges.

These new pioneers will be frontiersmen just as truly as Davy Crockett and Dan'l Boone. Their wilderness will be that of scientific research rather than dense forests and rugged mountains. Their weapons will be test tubes and slide rules rather than muzzle loaders and tomahawks. Their primary weapon, however, just as it was with Davy and Dan'l, will be knowledge and skill to use the instruments at their disposal.

Crockett and Boone began learning the fundamentals of wilderness survival when they were children. Legend tells us Davy got his "bar" when he was three . . . more reliable sources insist he was eight. Be that as it may, he was still a kid.

It is an accepted fact tomorrow's pioneers will be engineers in the ever broadening scientific fields. Their task will be more exacting and no less hazardous than that of Davy and Dan'l. But will their background and training leave them as well suited for the task as were the frontiersmen of yesteryear?

The nation already is pleading for more engineers. The scarcity of engineers at present causes some concern, but a fever greater concern is the prospect of the lack of youngsters in the future with sufficient background for successful pursuit of an engineering career.

Basic mathematics is of course the fundamental in science and engineering. Yet surveys show a steady decline in high school enrollment in the basic math courses. Only about 25 per cent of our high school students now study algebra. Only about 12 per cent of the high school students study geometry. Many small high schools and a few large ones offer no courses in the physical sciences.

To be pioneers in the coming world of science, our youth must be equipped for the task with adequate background in the basic elements. It will be impossible to afford them this background if they have to wait until they reach college age to begin absorbing it.

The nation already is pleading for more engineers. The scarcity of engineers at present causes some concern, but a fever greater concern is the prospect of the lack of youngsters in the future with sufficient background for successful pursuit of an engineering career.

Larger Pensions For Governors' Widows

By LYNN NISBET
WIDOWS — The State of North Carolina will pay at least $15,000, maybe as much as $21,000, this year in pensions to widows of Governors under provisions of a 1955 act.

For some years the State has paid widows of Governors $100 a month, upon written application and upon finding as fact by the Council of State that the recipient was in need of the assistance. Under that provision Mrs. Locke Craig and Mrs. W.W. Kitchen have been receiving pension checks. Until her death a few years ago Mrs. Charles B. Aycock was on the list.

Early in the recent Legislature Sen. Claude Currie of Durham introduced a bill which was passed as amended to increase the amount to $3,000 a year, payable in monthly installments of $250, and deleting the requirement to show need. All that is necessary is for the widow to make written application for the pension. There is further provision that the payments stop upon remarriage of the widow.

Persons to that act Mrs. A.W. McLean applied for the pension and funds have been earmarked for its payment. Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus and Mrs. J.M. Broughton have also applied, and their petitions are expected to be approved as routine at the next meeting of the Council of State, probably next Monday. Mrs. Kitchen and Mrs. Craig will continue to receive their monthly checks in the amount of $250 instead of $100.

Applications have not been received from Mrs. Max Gardner and Mrs. William B. Ure. Instead, the other two surviving widows eligible for the pension under the new law.

North Carolina has two living ex-Governors: Greg Cherry, who is practicing law at Gastonia and Kerr Scott, in the United States Senate.

PATRIOTS — Quiet but energetic effort is being made throughout the State to obtain signatures of at least 100 good men and true upon application for a charter of a corporation to be called something like "Patriots of North Carolina, Inc." Stated purposes of the proposed organization are to preserve the traditional social order and educational system of North Carolina within the framework of the constitution. Maintenance of segregated schools is one of the major objectives.

The plan is said to have originated in Greensboro under sponsorship of John W. Clark, Shaping and others. Early publicity was not desired, but copies of the application have been so widely distributed the movement is generally known. A number of inquiries about it have been received at executive and administrative offices in Raleigh. Inquiries have been advised that the movement has no official recognition or sponsorship, and the top State folks have declined advice as to the wisdom of any individual participating in it. It is made clear that participation is personal and no

State agency should be involved.

Some of those who are seeking signatures explain that the idea is not anything like the old Ku Klux Klan, nor the notorious plan of a Delaware man to form a National Association for the Advancement of White People, nor even like the more active NAACP. Rather it is to promote the welfare of all the people by preserving the policies and principles under which North Carolina has shown great economic, educational and social progress during the past half century. They further concede that popular response has been somewhat disappointing, although a number of people have expressed keen interest in the movement.

The sponsors find themselves in the position of the young physician. Most sick people want an experienced doctor, and the only way he can get experience is for patients to call him. Many of those to whom the proposition has been presented have indicated they will come in later if enough others join to assure success.

ADVISORY — The advisory Commission on Education is moving slowly in setting up an administrative staff. W.W. (Tee) Taylor, the executive secretary, has been out of commission for several days with a sore throat at his home in Warrenton. His top assistant, Tom Ellis of Raleigh, is on the job in temporary offices on the fifth floor of the agriculture building, but as yet he has no secretary or clerical help.

Thomas J. Pearsall, chairman of the Commission, Governor Hodges and Taylor have indicated they think a little time spent in selecting exactly the right kind of personnel and in determining the method of approach and points to be emphasized with respect to the whole problem will result in more effective accomplishments later.

The fact is, nobody right now knows exactly what needs to be done. Transition from centralized State control to the new order of greater local responsibility in operation of the schools poses many administrative problems. Instead of one basic policy there are possibilities of 174 local units which must be coordinated to maintain a uniform State system.

In addition to the 100 county and 74 municipal administrative units, there are many individuals and small private groups coming up with their own ideas which need to be studied for merit in relation to the total problem and overall State policy.

One group has already obtained a charter for a non-stock non-profit corporation to operate private schools. The idea is known to be under consideration. There may be other state-wide projects in the making besides the "Patriots" organization. A number of local school boards are tending toward gradual integration but differing in detail as to timing and method. There is unanimity on only one point: This is the most serious situation which has confronted North Carolina in 75 years.

That Old Political Question

Somebody Told Me

Background Of Shady Street

Greenville's City Planning Board need go no further in search of a name for the highway 264 by-pass: Crockett Drive.

Several days ago I mentioned the beauty of East Fifth Street, declaring that Greenville folks should boost it as a competitor to Nash Street in Wilson, which is recognized far and wide as one of the most beautiful streets in the country.

Of course the same street without the trees would be no competitor for Nash.

Following the comment I had a visit from Mrs. Simon B Tucker of East 9th Street. It was the late Mr. Tucker who planted the trees from the Spilman home all the way to Greenwood Cemetery.

The late J. Key Brown purchased the trees from Mr. Tucker for $2 each! They were taken from the Tucker farm which is located about a mile and a half from Greenville on the New Bern highway. This transplanting was done in 1935 or '36, so you can easily understand why the price of $2 each prevailed.

Most of the actual transplanting was done by the late Isler Moore, who had a pig leg!

If you ride out East Fifth you will notice that the trees are planted in groups of two's. The space between the two of a single row is about 13 feet. Many people think that was done so that if one died there would still be a tree left. However, that was not Mr. Brown's idea at all. Instead, he intended for each house to be framed by a tree. The lines of the lots run through the two trees, so that each lot would have a tree on each corner.

No doubt the trees from the Spilman up to downtown Greenville would make another tree story, for the widow of Henry W. Martin lives here on East 12th. It was her husband who planted those trees!

There's an interesting history behind the city of Greenville. Some day I hope to have time to write it.

And I thank you.

SPIRITUAL SCHEDULES
There are some people who say that we ought never to eat until we really get hungry. The idea of preparing meals at regular times is, according to these people, a great mistake. We should eat when we want to what we want to, and if we want to.

Bible—provided of course that they ever want to. They attend church if it suits their convenience, but they claim it is possible for them to worship God at a picnic table with a can of beer in front of them just as helpfully as if they were in church. At least so they say.

Regular times for prayer, Bible reading, meditation, and worship seem to be as necessary for the full cultivation of the powers of the soul as regular and sensible eating does for the health of the body.

God appears to love order in the physical world and He undoubtedly loves it in the spiritual world also. There is a time to pray, and that time is regularly there is a way to pray and that way is sincerely.

Wally Seid is the man in the middle. His task is to see that people who do want liquor don't get something that tastes like

There are maybe only a couple hundred guys in the whole United States who have the chore of simple testing whisky. They, depending on a man's prejudice, is either as satisfying nor repulsive as a fellow might think.

Irony And Hypocrisy In 'Scandal' Issue

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower alone is responsible for the Democrats' attempt to ride back into power on such issues, says Harold E. Talbot's alleged favor-whirling victory because he promised a "businesslike Administration." As Ike might say today:

Where did they think I was going to look for businessmen—along Skid Row or in the smoke-filled back rooms of political clubs?

What the opposition also forgets is that neither F.D.R. nor Truman applied a rigid code to the 200,000 who served under them. It is a new wrinkle in American or Presidential politics.

IN DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION it is true that Roosevelt-Tuman appointees resigned their positions in their various corporations, but they were never required to pull out or to forfeit the profits which their firms may have derived from doing business with the government. Here is a list of Democratic millionaires whose retention of stock holdings was never questioned by the White House or Congress:

Avrell Harriman (railroads) and Wall Street investment house); Edward R. Stettin (steel); War Production Chairman Charles E. Wilson (General Electric); William S. Knudsen (General Motors); Jesse H. Jones (lumber, real estate, etc.); Henry L. Stimson; Louis A. Johnson and Henry Morgenthau. Henry A. Wallace was not asked to abandon his interest in his own ventures, although he formulated farm policies. And of course F.D.R. employed many more 61-a-year men from industry and business than are on the Washington scene today.

OLD STUFF IN OTHER TIMES Eisenhower, through Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes and Sherman Adams, White House major domo is accused of forcing the Federal Power Commission and Securities & Exchange Commission to give Dixon-Yates interest preferred position in TVA power territory. Well, Presidential interference with supposedly independent agencies was "old stuff" during the New Deal.

Roosevelt forced the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance money to the Kaiser interests which Jones then RFC Chairman, considered questionable. F.D.R. wanted to smash the Mellon's alleged aluminum monopoly. Roosevelt forced Jones to buy a tremendous tract near his Hyde Park estate for less than Father Divine. Negro revivalist would become a Roosevelt neighbor.

Roosevelt forced Harold I. Cokes and Harry Hopkins to pour billions of FWA and WPA funds into various ventures, although he was politically helpful. He flooded New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania in order to make them Democratic. He succeeded, at least temporarily. WHEN F.D.R.'S FAMILY BENEVOLENCE never tried to sweep his own family from cleaning up on his prestige. Eleanor and Anna wrote for magazines which have a broad-

Business Better In Summer

By ELMER ROESSNER
Time was when business curled up and played dead when summer temperatures reached their hotbed. Well, in most parts of the country this year summer weather has been hotter and stickier than normal—and business has been acting as if this were perfect shopping weather.

There are a number of reasons for this change and the most important one is that business has been playing it that way.

Retailers, finally acknowledging that only 5 per cent of their prospective customers are away at any one time, have been holding sales and promoting just as if every day were the eighth day before Christmas. And, smart fellows, they have been stressing their air conditioning.

As a consequence one of the ways to dodge the heat—if not the bargains—is to go shopping. The nation's department store sales in the week ended July 9—a sizzler in most parts of the country—were 13 per cent above a year ago. In the week ended July 13 which had a few cool days in it, they were only 10 per cent ahead. In that July 9 week, sales in San Antonio were 35 per cent higher than a year ago; they were up 33 per cent in Knoxville and 29 per cent in Wilmington. On the Pacific Coast, where the weather is always mild (the Chambers of Commerce keep saying), sales were up only a modest 4 per cent.

Meanwhile, sales of soda ice cream, fans and air conditioners have been breaking records regularly. One reason, of course, is that people have more spending money. Total income is at an all-time high. It was at an annual rate of $301 billion in May—busting through the 300 billion level for the first time in history—and indications are that it has been rising since then. But the fact that business has been playing it to win is also important.

Sales of autos, gas and oil (to get away from it all) have been setting new records, demand for steel has shown a "surprising vitality for the season," says Steel Magazine, and consumption of electricity, boosted by fans and air conditioners has—oh, you lucky holders of power stocks!—been setting new records.

Time was when hot weather fried off economic fat. Today it seems to put it on.

MAYBE EASY MORTGAGES WERE UNNECESSARY

It may have been that 30-year mortgages and no, or token, down payments were not necessary to keep the housing market as hot as it has been since the war.

In the last year the mortgage market has tightened, and builders have been finding it difficult to place VA loans with no down payments and maximum maturities. Nevertheless, the United States Savings and Loan League, after polling members reports that they are not planning to agree to shorter maturities and making down payments. Only one of five members said no down-payment financing was important to volume in his community.

POTATO CHIP INSTITUTE GUIDES SPUD GROWERS

Trade associations do a lot of things. Some help members to advertise, some help in conducting some show up publicity, some stage shops and a few go so far that the Federal government cracks down on them for violating anti-trust laws.

The National Potato Chip Institute however, is active in other fields—potato fields to be exact. It has issued a bulletin advising farmers that, if they want to sell to chippers, they will do best to plant Russet Rural, Smooth Rural, Russet Burbank, Irish Gobler, Kennebec, Sebago, Katahdin, Cherokee and when not to be stored. White Rose varieties. It also advises farmers on irrigation, spraying and defoliation.

Monday's Talk By N. C. Governor Is Important

Governor Hodges has an important message for the people of North Carolina Monday night. It will be the most important address to the people of the state since he became chief executive. Indeed, it will be one of the most important addresses a governor has ever delivered to the people of North Carolina.

Most radio and television stations throughout the state will carry the governor's address into the homes of the state's citizens. Newspapers throughout the state will report to the people of North Carolina fully on the governor's message.

The Reflector urges the citizens of Pitt County to give careful attention to this address by Gov. Hodges in which he will discuss the school segregation issue. What Gov. Hodges has to say will be of utmost importance to all the people of the state, white and Negro, young and old. It will spell out in the most complete terms yet what North Carolina's approach to the school segregation problem will be.

North Carolinians will be helping themselves, their state and the public school system to give careful attention to Gov. Hodges' address, and careful thought to what the governor has said after his address is over.

You're Safer At Home; But How Much Safer?

How safe are North Carolinians who stay at home during these vacation months to avoid the risk of being on crowded highways with too many careless drivers?

Normally we consider home about the safest place a person can be. Few people think of home as a place where costly accidents occur. Yet, statistically speaking home is becoming a hazardous place even though it is not as dangerous as the highway.

During the first four months of this year 271 North Carolinians lost their lives in home accidents. Difficult as it is to believe, statistics show that is only about 40 less than the number of people who met death on the state's highways during the same period.

For those individuals who occupy the envious position of still having their vacation ahead of them it is well to remember that home accidents take almost as many lives in North Carolina as highway accidents.

Other Editors Are Saying . . . Gov't Wants Young Talent

(The Charlotte Observer)
Ed Rankin, Governor Hodges' secretary told Mecklenburg Kiwanians a few days ago that something should be done to encourage young people to prepare themselves for state government as a career.

According to the secretary the state government offers numerous opportunities in many fields but the young people are not entering the service of the state's largest employer.

Mr. Rankin seldom hears of a youth preparing himself for a job of wildlife biologist, an accountant or a highway engineer. All three categories require workers with talent.

Why don't our youngsters prepare for employment with the state government?

We don't know all the reasons but one or two have come to our attention.

1. The jobs that the state offers go not as a general rule, pay sufficiently to hold the attention of a youngster who is convinced that he will fare better, pecuniarily and otherwise, in private enterprise.

2. The impression prevails that no one working for the state government (and that applies to city and county governments) enjoys the same assurance of security that is granted his counterpart in private enterprise.

Also, there is always the threat (real or imaginary) that sooner or later a politician will be elected who believes in the spoils system. That is to say, some top echelon director might be forced to take care of some party workers and that could mean the dismissal of regular employees.

Private industry is begging for workers and it is willing to pay well, even for beginners.

There is always a shortage of school teachers. Why? Young women are finding they can command better pay and other considerations from private corporations than they can get in the classroom.

If state, county and city governments expect to get their share of the promising youngsters, they will have to step up the opportunities and remuneration somewhat on a par with the federal government and private enterprise.

In many cases it might be possible to reduce the total number of employees through the replacement of incompetent workers with those more able, and through redistributing the workload. The would absorb some of the costs of a higher-pay program.

Whatever the eventual effect, however, government is faced with a present fact. Youthful talent is demanding, and is in demand. And money still talks the loudest.

The Exiles in Babylon

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalm 137:1-6; Jeremiah 29:1-14; Daniel 2.

When the Jews' captors in Babylon asked them to sing a song of Zion as they sat forlornly by the river, they hung their harps on the trees and wept. How could they sing of Zion in a strange land?

King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon built a great golden image and told all the people to fall down and worship it when they heard the sound of the cornet, the flute, the harp, the dulcimer and the other musical instruments.

Those who did not worship the idol were to be thrown into a fiery furnace, the king ordered. Men told Nebuchadnezzar that three Jews, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, did not bow down and they were dragged before the king.

The three Jews still refused to worship the king's idol, so, furious, Nebuchadnezzar ordered the furnace heated and the men were bound and cast in. They came out unharmed.

MEMORY VERSE—Daniel 3:17-18.

The Exiles in Babylon

WHY WEEP WHEN THEY ARE ASKED TO SING A SACRED SONG IN A STRANGE LAND

Scripture—Psalm 137:1-6; Jeremiah 29:1-14; Daniel 2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. HAVE ANY of your children been away from home and experienced homesickness? Possibly some of the very smallest children in the Sunday school may never have been away without their parents. Many of the older ones, staying at summer camps, visiting friends or relatives, learn what the word nostalgia means when they long for the familiar home surroundings. Older people often have the same unhappy feelings when they are on vacation trips, when they move from one location to a new one, etc. It is a very unhappy experience, so we can imagine when the Jews of Judah found themselves bowed down with we after being dragged against their will from their homes and compelled to stay in the strange land of Babylon.

and from all the places whither I have driven you, saith the Lord. We will have to condense the thrilling story of the three young Jews who rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar for lack of space. The children should have the whole chapter read to them, or the story told to them in dramatic fashion so that they realize how brave these young men were. Nebuchadnezzar had an image of gold made. It probably was not made of solid gold, but covered with gold, and it has been estimated that the image was 90 feet tall and nine feet broad. It may have been Nebuchadnezzar's own image, as kings of that period often erected images of themselves with inscriptions in their own praise, in conquered countries.

New Hampshire Solons To Act On Sweepstakes

CONCORD, N.H., (AP)—Despite opposition from the state's moral, political and financial banks, the New Hampshire Legislature has given preliminary approval to a bill which would establish a two-million-dollar state sweepstakes based on horse races.

The bill comes up for final passage today. Republican Gov. Lane Dwinell has indicated he will sign it.

Sponsors, estimating annual revenue at two million dollars, lacked it onto a $350,000 school construction bill but the Senate killed an amendment to earmark all income for education.

The proposal, defeated in the Legislature for the past three or four years calls for two special horse races a year at Rockingham Park in Salem. The State Racing Commission would control operation of the sweeps.

No plans have been announced to show how the scheme would work, but its sponsor, House Minority Leader Laurence M. Pickett, a Republican from Keene, suggested tickets be priced at $5 and that the top prize be $25,000.

The proposal was passed yesterday by the Senate 12-10. The House approved it Tuesday 168-141.

Opponents called the measure a "damnable bill."

The Rev. H. MacFarlane, of Concord, superintendent of the New Hampshire Christian Civic League, said he opposed further state dependence on gambling revenue and warned it would undo the antigambling forces in the state.

Others opposing it were the head of the State Department of Education, the secretary of the New Hampshire Education Assn. and the State Grange.

For one thing, it isn't as much fun — if you're the happy-go-lucky type — as being married to a girl who owns a liquor store and gives you a gold key to the front door her dorry. It has more responsibility.

Said, a youthful and scholarly looking assistant vice president of "M" Brands, Inc., who also oversees his firm's production of domestic whisky, made one point about whisky testing painfully clear.

"You don't swallow the samples," he said loud and firmly and bossily.

Well, having busted any dreams of idealism an amateur might harbor about the job, let's go on to the serious problems.

"The trend in America today is toward a light-bodied blend that still retains character," said Seid, standing in the middle of a small laboratory crowded with 700 bottles of imprisoned spirits.

"A blend may have from 20 to 30 different whiskies in it and as the product of each distillery may vary with each new batch, each must be checked. The flavor of whisky from the same still will vary depending on whether the barrel has been stored on an upper or lower floor of a warehouse."

"The real old-timers in Kentucky were satisfied with putting a few drops in the palms of their hands rubbing them together and sniffing deeply. The nose can detect more variety than the sense of taste."

"But I think flavor is important, too. I like to test it both ways."

He takes about a tablespoon of whisky in his mouth, swishes it around, then spits it out — and tastes the remnant as it evaporates.

Fortunately, Seid has to put his taste buds to commercial use only a couple of times a week. Other days he enjoys a highball with water.

Sees Return Of Dirigible Trips
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Max Fruss, skipper of the ill-fated seppelin Hindenburg, predicts giant dirigibles will one day return to the Atlantic air lanes with atomic engines as their power plants.

"The atomic age," he said in an interview with an Overseas weekly reporter, "will soon bring back transatlantic seppelin air travel."

"The dirigible will be the first craft to use the atomic engine in the air because it is the only structure capable of carrying the weight."

Plants have unlimited ability to synthesize amino acids, fats, proteins and vitamins which are essential to animal and human life.

U.S. Denies Any Fleet-Watching

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The United States and Britain say that if any warships of "a big foreign power" showed the Argentine fleet on recent maneuvers in the South Atlantic, the albatross weren't theirs.

Cecil Alende, a deputy from the opposition Radical party, asked the Argentine government in a bill presented to Congress yesterday to say whether the fleet was trailed last month. He did not name the "big foreign power" but congressional circles said he meant the United States.

Alende was reported seeking a secret session of the lower house to discuss his bill.

In Washington, the Navy Department said no U. S. capital ships were in the South Atlantic during the Argentine maneuvers. The department added that the last U. S. naval vessel to pass through those waters was the icebreaker Atka, which stopped briefly in Buenos Aires March 7 on its return from a two-month voyage to Antarctica.

A British Embassy spokesman here also said no British naval vessels were in the area during the exercises.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

Clive cut in sharply on Clifford's story. "Just what do you want with the ruby?"

Clifford's face sobered. "Before the war Moxon married my sister. His sons are my nephews. He and I were in the war together. My sister found out about the ruby a few months ago. She told me. He wouldn't give it up and I couldn't turn him over to the police because she had already had all she could take when he was arrested for embezzling. When he jumped his parole, I knew the police would catch up with him sooner or later and he'd be in real trouble if they found the ruby on him. It wasn't just theft. His copilot was killed when he took off from Mogur with that ruby and homicide in the commission of a felony is murder."

He looked at the ruby. "Fire of India... Fire of hell... Janet—my sister—had Moxon's address in New York. I cancelled all my appointments and came here with my sister to make one last appeal to him. I wanted him to send the ruby back to Mogur anonymously and give himself up to the probation officers in California, but he wouldn't do it.

"After that I watched him hoping I could be on the spot when he tried to dispose of the ruby, for I was sure that was his purpose in coming to New York. I had a wild idea that I could step forward and seize the ruby just as Moxon was handing it over. The other man, whoever he was, would probably call the whole thing off when he realized that I could identify him afterward. Then Moxon would listen to reason.

"I'll never forget Moxon's face when he recognized me in the 10-cent store.

"He turned and bolted for the Fifth Ave. door. I didn't follow him and I wasn't there when he died, because I had seen him hide the ruby on the trinket counter. If I could get it and send it back to Mogur anonymously, he would never be charged with theft or homicide. There was no other evidence against him except that one damning thing—his possession of the ruby.

"But Miss Dacre picked up the by. I was giving up all hope, when I heard her voice. 'Why, Gerry, what are you doing here?' And remembered that my old stand-in, Gerry Hones, was now a radio producer at WXYZ in New York...

"Last night when I failed to recover the ruby, I went back to the hotel where I was staying with my sister. I told her she must leave for California immediately and use a false name on the trip. It would be better if no one knew she had been in New York when Moxon died. I was going with her when suddenly—just as we finished packing—I realized that Miss Dacre might have taken the ruby out of the box herself. If she still believed it was a 20-cent trinket, she might wear it as she was being watched by someone who had killed Moxon to get the ruby, she would be in grave danger. And if I could see her again, I might be able to recover the ruby after all and preserve Moxon's good name by sending it back to Mogur without publicity or anything on air. I'd record. The good name of a father means rather a lot to a mother and son.

"But when I saw Miss Dacre again I gathered—from what she said—that she had given the ruby to Mr. Clive to turn over to the police tomorrow. If I wanted to save Moxon's tattered reputation I must see Mr. Clive tonight. I couldn't find a taxi on Madison. I started down a cross street toward Fifth. The street was dark and empty. Half way down, I was most neatly and efficiently snapped from behind."

"I found him unconscious in the doorway of an empty house," added the rajah. "When he came to, he recognized me as an Indian and we soon discovered we had an identical interest in the ruby—we both wanted it returned to Mogur. For the first time I learned through Clifford that it was at Mrs. Larch's home the ruby had disappeared. When we found that Mr. Clive was not at his home this evening, I suggested we visit Mrs. Larch together. From all I had heard of her friendship with Mr. Clive I thought she might find him for us and induce him to surrender the ruby without troubling the police about it."

"You must have found Clifford only a few blocks from Miss Dacre's apartment," said Clive. "What were you doing in her neighborhood just then?"

"Watching Dr. Sallust. Miss Dacre had misled me. She had told me the ruby was lost at his house. I thought I might recover it if I kept an eye on him. I lost sight of him briefly and then came on Clifford in the doorway, unconscious. I'm sure it was Dr. Sallust who—"

The rajah stopped. Stevens was standing in the doorway. He spoke in his most conventional tone, "Dr. Sallust."

The thin lips were smiling as he started across the bare floor toward Caroline. Once again Sara heard that quick, light, halting step—stop and carry on.

She looked at him. "It was you who locked me in the elevator. The smile died. He stood still, looking down at the bare floor. 'I see. You've trapped me by my limp a souvenir of World War I. It only occurs in damp weather.' He lifted his eyes and saw the ruby in Caroline's lap. Suddenly there was an automatic in his hand. 'Mrs. Larch, may I trouble you for that jewel? Bring it to me while the others stand perfectly still.'

Caroline looked steadily into his eyes. 'Why do you want it Dr. Sallust? You can't sell it.' Sara couldn't bear the sight of the gun levelled at Caroline. 'She can't walk. Have you forgotten? I'll get it for you.'

Sallust's gun wavered toward her, away from the others for a fraction of a second—just long enough for Clifford to break the wrist with one blow and send the gun slithering across the slippery floor.

"Movie training?" asked Sara unpleasantly. "Hardly." His voice was mild as he picked up the gun and held it on Sallust. "I wasn't in Hollywood during the war. Moxon once saved my life with a blow like that."

Caroline took Sara's hand and drew her down beside the wheel chair. "Don't carry righteous indignation too far," she whispered. "That's one road to a lonely old age. This man is worth a hundred Gerry Hones. One case where the imitation is more valuable than the real thing."

"We'll have to call the police now," said the rajah.

"Of course," Caroline's voice had never been more crisp. "Edna, show his highness the way to the telephone. Mr. Clifford, give that gun to Dick, and take a look in Dr. Sallust's pockets. I'd like to know what he meant to do with that ruby. You may find an indication. Clive took the gun awkwardly. 'I prefer to be searched by the police,' said Sallust, coldly. 'You do?' Clifford moved toward him. 'I shall have a great many interesting things to tell the police.' The venom in Sallust's voice held Clifford's attention. 'For one thing—'

As he spoke he lunged at the gun in Clive's hand. The shot took them all unawares. Caroline's hand tightened on Sara's. "Dead?" Clifford had knelt by the body. He rose and looked at Clive. "You shot him through the heart."

"He came at me so fast," Clive dropped the gun as if it had burned his fingers. Sara had never seen him look so old and shrunken and fragile. "I don't know just how it happened. . . I'm sorry. . ."

The rajah shrugged. "I don't suppose it greatly matters how he died." Something in his tone reminded Sara of his philosophic tolerance of Siva, so unusual in a man of Mohammedan birth. . . . (To Be Continued)

Game Called Due Rain After Nine Inning 4-4 Tie

TARBORO—Greenville and Tarboro wound up tied at 4-4 after nine innings here yesterday in the District I State Little League playoffs.

The game was called when rain intervened and it will be resumed today at 4:30 p.m. in the Tarboro Park.

Tarboro took the lead right from the open whistle. The first man up in the first inning walked, stole second and trotted home on center-fielder Bill Bailey's single.

Tarboro added two more runs in third and a singleton in fifth. It was again the first man up who got things started. Ray Brewer singled and was pushed to second by Bailey's single. Bailey was forced at second and the next man popped up to the catcher.

The pitcher, Braddy walked, and catcher Bill Stevenson poked a single through the box, scoring Brewer. Braddy scored a moment later on a fielder's choice.

In the fifth, Braddy walked to lead off the inning and scored on Bobby Henderson's single. That was all Tarboro's scoring.

Traded For Six

Greenville caught the home team in the sixth frame. Ken Joyner singled to open the stanza. He was forced at second, however, when Ray Corbett sent a bouncer to shortstop. Billy Neal James and J. Harrington walked to send Corbett around to third. Jeff Fountain singled Corbett home with the knotting score.

Greenville had scored once in the third and twice in the fourth. Rick Sauter was on by a fielder's choice and scored on Billy Whiteley's hit in the third. Don Joyner and Ken Joyner both singled and scored on infield grounders in the fourth.

Jack Whitley pitched eight innings for Greenville, allowing seven hits. Fountain relieved him in the ninth and held Tarboro hitless. Fountain will be on the mound today.

Tarboro's best pitcher, Buddy Braddy, who worked the full nine innings yesterday, has finished his pitching eligibility. Greenville got 10 hits off Braddy's slants.

Billy Neal James and Ken Joyner led the Greenville batting. Each collected two hits. Bailey was the only Tarboro player getting more than one hit. He had two singles.

Seixas To Face 'Easy' Opponent

SOUTH ORANGE, N.Y. (AP)—The opponents for Hamilton Richardson and Gil Shea in the semifinals of the Eastern Grass Courts championships will be decided today at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club with Vic Seixas and Eddie Moylan favored.

Seixas, U.S. Davis Cup star from Philadelphia, faces what figures to be the easiest opponent. He'll match strokes with Sam Giammalva of Houston, Texas.

Moylan, winner of the Meadow Club title last week when Tony Trabert defaulted, meets Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, runner-up to Trabert at Wimbledon. Moylan, seventh ranked nationally, has been playing brilliant tennis late and has an outside chance of landing a spot on the Davis Cup team.

The winner of the Seixas-Giammalva match will take on Richardson Saturday while either Moylan or Nielsen will meet Shea.

Seixas moved into the round of four yesterday by downing Roger Becker of England 5-7, 6-3, 6-4. Shea also was forced to three sets before eliminating Johann Kupperburger of South Africa 2-6, 9-7, 6-3.

RARE DOGS—E. L. (Davy) Davis prepares to leave Auckland, New Zealand, for his home at Tuscaloosa Ala., with his two rare champion Sydney Silke dogs, Tessa and Tip. Dog fanciers say there are less than 40 Silkes in the United States. Tessa has won five championship awards and Tip one in New Zealand dog shows. Davis has lived in Auckland for about three years as representative of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. He and the dogs will start for Tuscaloosa Aug. 13, traveling via airlines. (AP Photo)

Lopez Satisfied With 98 Wins

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Al Lopez with his Indians closer to first place than any time since May 20 when they occupied the top spot in the American League, will be satisfied if the Tribe wins 98 games. He thinks that will keep the pennant in Cleveland.

"And if you really press me I will admit there's more than a fair chance we can do it with 98," said the Cleveland manager after taking a 6-3 decision from the New York Yankees and moving within two percentage points of the front-running Chicago White Sox.

To reach 98 victories, Lopez's team would need to win 111 of the 194 games left in the season. That's a .572 pace, considerably faster than the .545 that they've been traveling since July 4.

The White Sox, who have a .625 average since Independence Day, would have to win 35 of their remaining 50 to hit 98 triumphs on the head. The Yanks would need 35 wins and the Red Sox 36 in their remaining 48.

One thing that made Lopez a little more confident today after beating the Yanks two out of three and heading for Washington is the hitting of Al Rosen.

Before yesterday's game Lopez admitted he didn't have the answer for why such players as Rosen, Larry Doby and Bobby Avila are not hitting.

The Indians left 11 on the sacks but Lopez felt a little better—Rosen and Avila started hitting.

Avila, batting .282 compared to his league-leading .341 last year, connected with a double. Rosen, who lit an even 300 in 1954, lifted his average six percentage points to .254 as he came through with four singles in as many times at bat.

Massachusetts Suspends Sugar

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Boxing Commission has suspended Sugar Ray Robinson and three of his managers until they reimburse the Callahan AC for expense money in a March 5 canceled bout, scheduled for Boston Garden.

The commission took action yesterday. The expenses totaled $2,600 when Robinson made a last-minute withdrawal from a match with George Small of Brooklyn. The managers include George Gainford, Ernie Bracca and Vic Mazzarini.

Though Robinson said he was ill when he canceled the commission doctor said he found no evidence of sickness or injury.

Moore Starting Ring Workouts

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—Archie Moore was scheduled to climb through the ropes at his training camp today in the next step of his preparations for his Sept. 30 title fight with Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano.

Moore, the light heavy king, has been doing roadwork but until today did not have the equipment to begin working out in the ring.

Cleveland Drives For Top Position

By RIF WATSON
The Associated Press
The surging Cleveland Indians, battling to retain their American League title were only two percentage points back of the pace-setting Chicago White Sox today.

It was the Indians' highest rating since they held the lead May 20. They got there by giving the backsliding New York Yankees another shove yesterday, 6-3.

The Yankees have a sickly 11-18 record since July 4 when they held a 6½-game lead.

The only one of the top five clubs that is not piling up victories, they are now trailing the leaders by a game.

Another booming outfit, the Boston Red Sox pulled up yesterday to within one game behind the third-place Yankees by beating the White Sox 7-3. Since Boston started the Yanks' slide July 4 with a double-header victory, they have compiled a 20-9 record.

Jackie Jensen, discarded by the Yankees in 1952, drove in four runs for the Red Sox with a triple, single and sacrifice fly.

Since July 4, Chicago has a 20-12 record, Cleveland 20-11 and fifth-place Detroit 21-13. The Tigers dropped a 9-6 verdict to Washington yesterday.

Adding to Manager Casey Stengel's cup of woe, ex-Yankee Ed Lopat of the Baltimore Orioles whipped Kansas City 8-1 yesterday in his first start since leaving the Yankees.

Most of the noise in the National League came from the bat of Chicago shortstop Ernie Banks, who walloped three home runs in the C. bs' 11-10 victory over Pittsburgh. He batted in seven runs and tied Duke Snider of Brooklyn for the home run lead with 36.

Catcher Roy Campanella relieved Snider of the home-run-hitting burden as he walloped a three-

Goes 9 Rounds On Broken Ankle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The boxing career of Art Aragon, once known as California's "Golden Boy," dipped to a new low last night as he was pummeled about the ring and lost the unanimous decision in a 10-round fight with Joe Miceli of New York. Aragon weighed 149, Miceli 149½.

Aragon suffered a broken ankle. Referee Frankie Van said Aragon told him he slipped and fell in the fourth round. "I think my ankle is broken," Aragon's handlers said they believed he suffered a fracture of his right ankle in the first round, when he was floored for a count of eight by a left-hand uppercut. After the fight a doctor said Aragon had a fracture of an ankle bone.

That blow seemed to take the zip out of the cocky Aragon. He never was able to solve Miceli's stance and style and although he managed to survive the 10 rounds, he finished up with one eye about closed, the other cut, and bruises and contusions galore.

Miceli's left hand seemed always to be stabbing Art somewhere. The Los Angeles fighter had to hang on at various times, and although he entered the ring at the Olympic 2-1 favorite, he wasn't in the running at all. The ankle injury undoubtedly took its toll.

Referee Van scored it 61-48½ and Judge Charlie Randolph and Maj. Jimmy Wilson voted it 60-50. It was Aragon's sixth fight this year and his first setback of 1955. The Bill drew 9,536 and the gross was $29,438.

Boxing Ban Will Be Continued

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader yesterday announced he would continue his 90-day ban on professional boxing in Pennsylvania until a new athletic code has been written into law.

The governor's action could extend the ban, originally scheduled to end Monday, until Aug. 29.

The measure has been approved by the House and is expected to be approved by the Senate late tonight. However, the House is in recess until Aug. 29 and the measure before going to the governor for his signature must first be signed by the House speaker.

ASPIRIN KILLED
MANCHESTER, England (AP)—An overdose of aspirin killed Richard J. Banner, 32. The coroner said yesterday Banner took the pills because of intense pain from sunburn suffered on a seaside holiday.

Boxing Ban Will Be Continued

LARRY STOOD ON HIS HEAD—The sequence camera shows how Larry Doby, Cleveland Indians' center fielder, made a tumbling, shoestring catch of a short fly hit by New York Yankee catcher Yogi Berra in a game at the Yankee Stadium. Doby starts to fall as ball settles in his glove. Umpire John Rice hustles out to be sure the catch is legal. Al Smith, Cleveland right fielder, backs up Larry as he starts to do a complete somersault which winds up with Doby on the ground clutching the ball. The Yankees won, 2-1. (AP Wirephoto)

Decisive Games This Weekend In Tobacco League

The Greenville Greentees and Rocky Mount Leafs are expected to settle the row over third place in the Coastal Plain League standings here tonight.

Manager Frank Johnson brings his Leafs into Guy Smith Stadium bent on taking No. 3 in a row here from the Greentees. On the other hand, Manager Pete Carraway hopes to break his club's losing skid against the visitors.

Rocky Mount has clipped the locals three straight times and in the latter's home park. Only a few percentage points separate the two clubs in the Coastal Plain race.

Greenville has won 21 and lost 22 games whereas Rocky Mount has 18 wins against 18 losses.

Flye Starter
Carraway has tassel Bobby Flye with the pitching assignment. Whether the little righthander will be ready or not is not definite. He has been filling in at several positions in games of late and has a stiff shoulder. He was scheduled to throw against Williamston Wednesday night but was unable.

If Flye isn't okay by game time, Bill Loving or Tommy Beamon will get the call. Loving has been pitch-

Attack Demands Of Little League Play

DES MOINES (AP)—Little League baseball makes demands on boys 8 to 12 years old for which they are not equipped, says the Journal of the Iowa State Medical Society.

In an editorial in its August issue, the publication says that the Little League system is of dubious value as a means of preventing juvenile delinquency.

It continued: "Little boys are put under considerable pressure to work—rather than play—several hours a day at learning and exhibiting skills for which, in most cases, their stage of development does not equip them."

"But Papa—and often Mama too—have made it crystal clear to him that he must 'make the team' or 'stay on the team' . . . on penalty of losing their affection and esteem."

The editorial states that due to the time when games are played junior frequently doesn't get to eat a well-balanced meal with the rest of the family but instead "eats peanut-butter sandwiches by himself at 8 o'clock each night."

"Who, if anyone, will benefit," the editorial asks, "other than the type of man who buys his son a catcher's mitt and mask before his life has been released from the maternity ward at the hospital?"

By WAYNE BISHOP
GREENSBORO—Greenville's PONY League All-Stars banged out seven hits, but fell before a Hagerstown, Maryland, team 5-4 yesterday afternoon when the Maryland gang swatted across five runs in a wild sixth inning.

The Greentees led 4-0 until the top of the sixth, behind the no-hit hurling of big Charley Staton. Staton weakened in the sixth giving up three walks and a double for two runs. Merrill Bynum took over on the mound at that point and gave up a three-run homer to Dennis Dwyer to send Hagerstown into a 5-4 lead. They never lost that lead.

Faded Rally
Greenville came back in the last of the seventh as leadoff man Bobby Edwards walked and worked his way around to third base. The next three Greentees hitters fanned and Edwards was stranded.

Greenville scored three runs in the last half of the fourth inning to go into an early lead. Staton and Dick Evans singled, Merrill Bynum and Arthur Andrews followed with rinding doubles to drive across the three markers.

Coach Bill Kittrell's crew came back in the next inning for one more marker when Charley Staton singled across Walker Allen.

Staton Shary
Staton started and went five innings without allowing a hit. In all the big righthander worked five and one-third frames. He walked eight and struck out ten. Bynum finished up and fanned four of five possible outs. The home run was off Bynum, making him the loser.

Staton had two hits in four trips to lead Greenville at bat. No one else got more than one hit. This afternoon at one o'clock the locals play Westover, West Virginia. The loser of that game is eliminated from the double-elimination tournament.

Two North Carolina teams are among the semifinalists.

Durham and Greensboro advanced yesterday with victories over Westover, W.Va., and Easton, Md., respectively.

Mike Bailey pitched a brilliant no-hitter to lead Durham to a 5-0 win over the West Virginians, while Greensboro blasted six home runs in its 26-10 rout of Easton.

Durham meets Hagerstown, Md., and Greensboro takes on Bristol, Tenn.-Va., tonight in semifinal contests.

Other games yesterday saw Bristol shut out Mulesburg County, Ky., 7-0.

Highschool Grid And Cage Stars Begin Workouts

GREENSBORO (AP)—High school basketball and football stars from all parts of North Carolina took over Greensboro today to begin preparations for all-star games next week.

Both East and West basketball and football squads checked in and started workouts. They were greeted by cage coaches Leon Brogren of the East and Floyd Woody of the West. West football coaches George Wingfield and Pressnell Mull also greeted their charges as did Elmer Barbour and George Heckman, East grid mentors.

The all-star baseball teams are not scheduled to arrive until next Tuesday.

The basketballers start the ball rolling when they meet in Senior High School gymnasium Tuesday night. The baseball teams meet the following night in Memorial Stadium. The football game in Memorial Stadium next Friday night will wind up the week's activities.

A week-long coaching clinic beginning Monday will be held in conjunction with the all-star contests.

Unable To Cast Vote For Father

LEXINGTON Ky. (AP)—Pfc. Robert L. Clay would like to vote for his father in tomorrow's Republican primary, but he can't.

Stationed in Korea, Clay wrote home for an absentee ballot and got one—a Democratic ballot.

Clay sent it home. Yesterday, deputy clerk Hugh Buckley, a Democrat, explained it was all "a clerical mistake."

The elder Clay, who seeks the GOP gubernatorial nomination, said his son became 21 after entering service and wasn't registered by party affiliation.

Lightning Bolt Changed Prisoner's Mind

Gorham Dropped Appeal Plans As Bolt Struck Jail

A bolt of lightning yesterday afternoon presumably ended Frank Gorham's desire to appeal from a six month sentence on the roads imposed by City Judge Charles H. Whedbee after the Negro farm hand was convicted of destroying public property.

The bolt struck the county jail late yesterday during the rain storm. The terrific noise brought three prolonged yells from Gorham which in turn brought Jailer Lloyd Manning running to his cell.

Gorham told Manning to "call the judge." He said he was ready to withdraw his appeal from a bench serving his sentence. This morning Gorham still had not changed his mind and law enforcement officers hustled him off to the Maury Prison Camp in Greene County after he indicated to Judge Whedbee that he wished to withdraw his appeal.

Gorham was unable to leave the court room before he was tried on another charge, however. Greenville City Policeman Caesar Corbit testified that Gorham had been caught last Friday night operating a vehicle with no driver's license. Judge Whedbee found Gorham guilty on that charge and sentenced him to 30 days, the sentence to run concurrent with the six months sentence.

The convicted man has been, to say the least, a problem to the sheriff's department since he was placed in jail.

First, Gorham pulled a steel bunk off the wall of his cell and destroyed a commode. Then while plumbers were repairing the fixture he managed to open the door of his individual cell and slip through two other doors which had been left open for the plumbers.

Manning caught him as he jumped into a taxi after that escape and returned him to the cell. Later, he broke a lock which was placed on the cell door but was unable to leave the main cell block.

In addition to those escapades, Gorham is said to have ripped off a strait jacket which was placed on him, ripped his own clothes off and thrown food at jail inmates when they brought him his meals.

Gorham originally landed in jail after an episode in Winterville during which he was allegedly shot in the foot by Winterville police when he attempted to escape.

He was charged with parking an auto on the highway and refusing to move it, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

He was released under bond on those charges and landed right back in jail after he was said to have caused a disturbance at a relative's home in Seven Pines.

As a result of that he was charged with using profane language and "threatening to do bodily harm to all persons" and with destroying personal property belonging to Horace Corbit and Blanche Tripp.

In the meantime he picked up the no driver's license charge in Greenville. Gorham must be returned to Greenville at a later date to be tried on the additional charges. He will face County Court Judge Dink James at that time.

People Asked To OK Expansion

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government today issued an unusual statement asking the people's cooperation in expanding five U. S. air bases "because the plan is not for making them atomic weapons bases."

The plan is largely to extend runways for use by jets. The project has been held up many months because of fierce opposition by Japanese living in the areas.

Legislation have linked the plan to atomic weapons, trying to stir up nationwide opposition.

PAINT SHOP ALARM
Firemen were called to Birley's Paint Shop on N. Greene St. this morning when a cutting torch caught fire.

The call came at 9:22 a. m. and damage was minor.

Barkley Fights Chandler Bid For Governorship

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sen. Alben W. Barkley, making a belated appearance in the Democratic primary fight has accused A. B. (Happy) Chandler of deserting him when Barkley sought the presidential nomination.

Barkley also challenged Chandler's fitness to run for governor on the party's ticket, claiming he frequently deserted the Democrats to support other candidates and other causes.

Returning to his home state from Washington last night, Barkley spoke in behalf of Bert T. Combs, who is battling Chandler for the gubernatorial nomination.

Kentucky holds its primary election tomorrow. Barkley told a television audience he withdrew as a candidate for the presidential nomination during the party's 1952 national convention when some labor leaders refused to back him.

But, the former vice president said, Chandler was opposing him long before that.

"Chandler was occupying his time in the lobbies of hotels (at Chicago) urging delegates to vote against me and to vote for Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia."

Garbage Receptacles Are Surveyed By Sanitarians

A survey of garbage containers in the city was begun today by city and Health Department sanitarians. All unapproved receptacles will be condemned and marked with a red sticker.

Householders will be given 10 days in which to provide a proper receptacle. If property owners fail to comply with the garbage can ordinance legal steps will then be taken to enforce the law.

This was the word from the Health Department today. This office is cooperating with the city in the program to eradicate insects, and a spokesman reported the survey of garbage containers is one more phase of that program.

The health ordinance provides that each household have a standard metal galvanized garbage can with tight fitting lid. It is also recommended that the can be placed on a rack above ground. The law further states, "If one can is not sufficient to hold the quantity of garbage or refuse accumulated between collections, a sufficient number of similar receptacles" must be provided.

Boston Denies Polio Epidemic

BOSTON (AP)—Health officials today advised parents not to bring children to Boston now but dispensed a federal government report that the city's polio outbreak has "reached epidemic proportions."

"There is no epidemic," said Joseph Reardon, epidemiologist of the Massachusetts Public Health Department, "and the situation will not be declared an epidemic."

Dr. Reardon's statement came after Dr. C. C. Dauer, who compiled the Public Health Service's weekly polio summary, said in Washington yesterday that the Massachusetts situation "could be described as having reached epidemic proportions."

"The situation is not too alarming," Dr. Reardon said. "We are running many more cases than usual this year but the ratio of paralytic to nonparalytic cases is about normal."

Nevertheless, Dr. John H. Cawley, Boston city health commissioner, said, "It is undoubtedly advisable to delay visits of children to Boston from other sections of the state and country until incidence of polio subsides."

Up to today, 271 cases of polio had been reported in Boston this year, most of them affecting children and teen-agers.

The count by states in New England as of yesterday, with the comend of 1954: Maine, 16 and 6; New Hampshire, 37 and 14; Vermont, 18 and 6; Massachusetts, 684 and 80; Rhode Island, 32 and 11; Connecticut, 103 and 87; total for the six states, 890 and 204.

Nearly Quarter Inch Of Rainfall
The local U. S. Weather Station reported today that yesterday's highest temperature in the Greenville area was 92 degrees and nearly a quarter of an inch of rain fell.

Lowest temperature here last night was 76, and at 8 a. m. today it was 11. The sky was overcast during today's forenoon.
