'CONNIE' APPROACHING COAST

Beaches Girding For High Gales

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Carolina beaches, which felt the full fury of Hurricane Hazel last October, girded today for possible high winds and rough seas as Hurricane Connie hovered off the coast.

First reports of mounting waves came from Atlantic Beach, near Morehead City and Beaufort and some 50 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras.

At noon waves 10 to 15 feet high were battering the beach between Surf City and Southport in North Carolina. There was some street flooding at Carolina Beach where waves beat over man-made sand dunes, built as part of the Hurricane Hazel rehabilitation program last year.

Wrightsville Beach police abandoned a search for two children reported to have been drifting on a surf raft. Police said the report apparently was a rumor since no official report of missing children was made.

The highway linking Oregon Inlet to Hatteras was under water at several points and impassable except for some trucks. The highway extends about 40 miles and was under 15 or more inches of water.

At Myrtle Beach the tide was about two feet higher than normal. The water close to shore was not unusually rough, however, and many vacationers were out in the breakers.

Red Cross disaster specialists moved into the coastal area.

Two Civil Air Patrol groups were flown into Myrtle Beach and the resort city's civil defense organization was on a standby alert.

The North Carolina Civil Air Patrol was alerted on a standby basis.

Small boats in the Wilmington area were moving into rivers and inlets, and other usual precautions were taken. The Coast Guard at Wilmington readied its rescue equipment.

Red Cross disaster specialists Clifford Fligg and Russell Jones were sent from Savannah, Ga., to Wilmington. Frank Hollowell, a special Red Cross representative, joined them there.

Charles Vogelsanger and Elizabeth Spencer were stationed at Cherry Point.

Other specialists were sent to Durham, Southern Pines and Elizabeth City, where they could be shifted as needed.

Planes of the North Carolina Air National Guard were back at their home base in Charlotte after withdrawing from Travis Field near Savannah, Ga. where they were in use in summer training.

Red Cross officials attending a disaster training conference at Durham, N.C., were alerted by headquarters in Atlanta to go on a standby basis.

Governor Proposes Continued School Segregation On Voluntary Basis

'Avoid Tragic Choice'...Hodges

RALEIGH (AP)—A program which would, in effect, continue segregation on a voluntary basis to avoid a choice between integration or abandonment of public schools was urged by Gov. Hodges last night. In a direct appeal to Negro citizens of the state, the governor urged them to "take pride in your race by attending your own schools."

He contended that citizens or organizations which attempt to force the state into a decision between integration or abandonment of schools will "have done North Carolina the greatest disservice in the 180 years of its existence as a state."

Hodges coupled his plea for voluntary continuation of separate schools with strong criticism of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in a 36-minute address broadcast statewide by television and radio stations.

A Negro spokesman commented that Gov. Hodges speech on segregation showed no evidence of a plan or program acceptable to the freedom-loving Negroes of North Carolina, to de-segregate public schools.

Kelly Alexander, of Charlotte, head of the North Carolina chapter of the NAACP, said Hodges' speech was "an appeal to the Negroes of North Carolina to compromise on their fundamental constitutional rights."

He said it is "contrary to the law of the land" and an act without faith "for a high state official to encourage the continuation of public schools" on a segregated basis.

Hodges pictured North Carolina as being "at the crossroads" in meeting the decision by the U.S. Supreme Court that racial segregation in schools is unconstitutional.

The course the state follows, he said, will involve "the future of our children—and our children's children."

He called on white and Negro Tar Heels to cooperate and "through good will and pride in the integrity of our respective racial cultures and way of life, continue our separate schools voluntarily."

The governor urged Negro citizens not to "allow any militant and selfish organization to stampede you into refusal to go along" with the voluntary segregation program.

At the same time, he urged white people to attempt to convince Negroes that separate schools are best for both races.

"The program must be achieved in a friendly and cooperative spirit" without coercion since "if there is coercion then there can be no voluntary program," he explained.

In raising the possibility that the state might abandon public schools if "all other remedies" fail, Hodges said he did not "seek to frighten anyone."

"I simply state that facts and circumstances logically lead to that possibility," he added. "In this crucial hour I am greatly concerned for the future of our public school system and for the welfare and happiness of approximately a million school children," he declared.

Speaking to Negro citizens, Hodges described the NAACP as a "selfish and militant organization" which he said "would destroy your identity as a race."

He said North Carolina employs as many Negro teachers as seven other states where schools are not segregated combined. He suggested that out-of-state leaders of the NAACP "might better spend their time correcting discriminations against Negro teachers by some of their own states."

Hodges assured Negro Tar Heels that "any stigma you may have felt because of laws requiring segregation in our public schools has now been removed by the courts."

While "no right thinking man resents" the Negro's desire for equality under law, none "would advise you to destroy the hopes of your race and the white race by superficial and 'show-off' actions to demonstrate this equality," he asserted.

Hodges said white citizens "perhaps have the greatest responsibility of all" in determining the success or failure of "this voluntary program to save our public schools."

He suggested that white persons use "every proper means to convince our Negro friends that we are sincere when we say that our way of life, as compared with that in states mixing races in the schools, is to the advantage of the Negro race as well as it is to the white race."

Hodges said he will suggest to the state's Advisory Committee on Education, which is studying school segregation problems, that a program of encouraging voluntary choice of separate schools be promoted in every school district.

He said the advisory committee is available for organizations as well as local school boards. "They will make every effort to furnish you with the kind of material you need and with suggested programs as to how you can carry out this campaign," he said.

Hodges said he is convinced that separate schools are best for both races. "I pledge to you that I will exert every effort to maintain such a system" he asserted.

Hurricane Flags Are Raised Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane warnings were hoisted from Cape Lookout, N.C. to Norfolk, Va., today as Connie, first big tropical storm of the year, moved toward that mainland area.

Northeast storm warnings were raised on the Virginia Capes, and between Cape Lookout and Wilmington, N.C.

South Carolina and Georgia appeared in the clear as Connie moved north-northwestward at a forward speed of 10 to 11 miles an hour whirling 135-mile winds in a circle around its center.

The great storm was expected to continue on the same course and at that speed for another 24 hours, perhaps veering slightly more to the north.

"This course would bring the center near or a short distance east of Cape Hatteras Wednesday morning," said a Weather Bureau advisory at 11 a.m. EST.

"All precautions should be rushed to completion immediately for the protection of life and property against dangerous winds and abnormally high tides in the area of hurricane and storm warning display," said the advisory.

The hurricane and a high pressure system allowing its progress toward the north will cause progressively rougher and abnormally higher seas from Massachusetts southward along the North Carolina coast, especially in the area from the Carolina Capes to Cape Cod as Connie moved northward.

At 11 a.m. the storm was centered near latitude 30.3 north, longitude 74.0 west, or 340 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras and 450 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla.

Forecasters pointed out that hurricane force winds extend 120 miles to the southwest of the center and an additional 180 miles, so that gale force winds at noon EST were less than 100 miles off shore in the Cape Hatteras area.

Hurricane force winds extend 50 miles to the southwest of the center and an additional 100 miles.

Gordon Dunn chief forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said Connie "missed connections" with a low pressure trough which could have taken it 135-mile winds out to sea.

Falling to tie in with the trough, the great Atlantic storm slowed its forward pace from about 12 miles an hour to 8 or 10 miles an hour and its course from northward to east-northeast.

The center at 8 a.m. was about 450 miles east of St. Augustine, Fla.

All these circumstances, said Dunn, made the situation somewhat critical for the Georgia and Carolina coasts.

There is one good remaining hope that the storm will be steered away from the coast. Another low pressure trough is approaching rapidly from the west, and if Connie ties into its southern half it could be carried out to sea by its full force winds rake land.

Dunn said the bureau here would begin immediately to issue advisories and special bulletins on the storm at three-hour intervals instead of the six-hour intervals used while the great tropical disturbance was farther at sea.

"Connie is blocked by the high pressure system now squarely in its path to the north," said Dunn. "There will probably be further slowing of its forward movement."

"Forecasters are fully on the alert and the public will be quickly advised of any changes which could mean either a lessening of the danger, or an increase in the storm's threat."

Connie has traveled a greater distance but now is following the approximate path of three hurricanes which took heavy tolls of life and property in Northeastern states last year.

Last year's Hurricane Carol formed Aug. 26 about 300 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Aug. 31 smashed across Long Island and New England with catastrophic effect. Sixty-eight persons died, and property damage was estimated at 465 million dollars.

This year's Connie is about in the spot where Carol began her northward sweep.

Hurricane Edna formed Sept. 6 about 60 miles northeast of Turks Island, an area passed by Connie Sunday night. Edna struck Cape Cod Sept. 11, then moved over eastern Maine, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Twelve died and damage reached 50 million dollars.

Hazel, top killer of last year's hurricanes, formed Oct. 5 in the Caribbean Sea near the Windward Islands chain, cut across the western tip of Haiti and, reaching Connie's present path, raged inland over the North and South Carolina coasts Oct. 15, swept most Eastern states north of there and rampaged into Canada. The death toll was 145, with 70 of them in the U.S.

Property losses, never fully tallied, exceeded 246 million dollars.

Connie is a big, fully-developed hurricane.

Hurricane winds extended outward from the center 120 miles to the north and east and 80 miles to the southwest. Gale winds extended outward 350 miles to the north and east and 150 miles to the southwest.

Small craft warnings flew along the coast from Cape Hatteras, N.C. to Block Island, R.I. Tides two to three feet above normal were predicted for the Carolina coast, with abnormal tides as far south as Daytona Beach Fla.

A Navy flier who piloted a plane into Connie's "eye" called it "the biggest storm I've ever seen."

Lt. R. T. Pittman, Covington, Ga., said the eye was 38 miles across.

Twelve Hundred Red-Hating Koreans Join Siege Of UN Truce Supervisors

SEOUL (AP)—Twelve hundred Red-hating Korean railway workers reached Inchon from Seoul today to reinforce some 300 demonstrators besieging the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission building in Wolmi.

About 700 U.S. soldiers are guarding the island scene of Gen. MacArthur's famed Inchon landing of 1950.

Earlier today, seven U.S. soldiers were injured when the demonstrators broke through a barricade on the causeway leading to the island. That brought to 22 the number of American servicemen injured since the riots began.

Some of the enraged demonstrators threw a U.S. guard box at one causeway into the sea. Others tried to storm the island from the sea. They too were repulsed.

Nine Koreans were reported injured in the Wolmi clash, three seriously. An ROK army spokesman said one had received a bayonet wound, another had been cut on the head with a rifle butt and the third had been shot in the leg.

There was no confirmation from U.S. sources.

In Pusan, scene of the most violent clash, an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 demonstrators yesterday made several attempts to break into the NNSC compound. They were repulsed with tear gas bombs. Fifteen American soldiers and 23 Korean demonstrators were injured.

Demonstrators, ranging from a handful to several hundreds, continued their sit-down protest in Kunsan, Taegu and Kangnung on the east coast.

A U.S. 8th Army spokesman said "Everything is quiet elsewhere."

The demonstrations stem from an ultimatum handed by the ROK government to the NNSC Sunday demanding the group's withdrawal from Korea "within a week."

The Republic of Korea has been opposed to the half-Communist NNSC since its creation under the Korean armistice. Supposedly neutral and created to police the truce, the NNSC is composed of Swiss, Swedish, Czech and Polish members.

The U.N. Command has denounced the Reds in the NNSC for improper activities and for blocking inspections in North Korea.

But, until the commission is abolished, the U.N. Command is bound by the armistice to protect it, including the Communist members.

Navy Secretary Will Personally Decide On Landy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Thomas personally will review the record and make the decision on Eugene Landy, denied a Naval Reserve commission because his mother was once a Communist.

Thomas said yesterday a special board of officers has been formed to review the case and Landy will be given a chance to appear before the board. No timetable was given.

Landy 21, of Bradley Beach, N.J., sailed Sunday on a 30-day trip as a deckhand aboard the supertanker Western Sun from Marcus Hook, Pa. to Beaumont, Tex.

He was graduated with honors from the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y. last Friday but stood silently, hands at his side, while fellow graduates were sworn in as ensigns in the Navy Reserve.

Thomas said that, according to regular procedure, Landy applied for a Navy commission toward the end of his senior year. And still according to procedure, Thomas said, his qualifications were considered by a regular naval board.

The board unanimously decided against his suitability, the Navy secretary said.

Thomas said Landy then was interviewed by representatives of the Navy Department and the entire case was again reviewed by the regular screening board, which again "unanimously recommended that Mr. Landy should not be granted a commission."

Thomas said the Bureau of Naval Personnel has received a request from Landy to reconsider his application and that this consideration will be given as it would be to any other applicant.

Landy's mother, Mrs. Deborah Landy, has acknowledged membership in the Communist party during World War II days. She said she gave it up at the insistence of her son.

FIVE-DAY WEATHER FORECAST FOR N. C. Temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees below normal, somewhat warmer Thursday, followed by moderately warm thereafter. Rainfall moderate in west, heavy east averaging half inch west to one and a half in extreme east. Rain east tonight and Wednesday and scattered thundershowers over state about Friday.

Blizzard

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Wintery gales swept New South Wales and Victoria today as Southeast Australia recorded its worst blizzard of the year.

The storm struck yesterday, leaving huge snowdrifts in its path in the southern Australian Alps. Winds were abating in the mountains today, but still roared through lower regions.

A party of skiers last night fought through a 70-mile wind to rescue a man trapped in a snowbound car. The rescue party and the motorist were near collapse when they reached safety after a seven-hour ordeal.

Harvey Palfrey, manager of a skiing chalet, said in a telephone interview last night: "Outside it's frozen hell. The thermometer is down to zero..."

Local Emergency Crews Prepared

If Hurricane Connie strikes this area, as Weather Bureau officials say is a possibility at present, local emergency agency officials will be prepared.

With the experience of last fall's Hurricane Hazel to their credit local officials are already making plans for coping with the big blow if it strikes in Pitt County.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs said this morning that he has placed his men on a standby basis and they are being notified today that they are on call until the hurricane danger has passed.

A Civil Defense meeting will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in City Hall to make plans for coping with Hurricane Connie. County Director June H. Rose announced early this afternoon.

A second meeting will be held tonight also.

All local officers will be summoned for duty if "Connie" strikes. Hazel struck in October last year and police stood by at a number of local stores when plate glass windows were blown out by the big wind. Short wave radio contact was maintained by the use of an emergency generator after electrical power failed.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs asked today that local citizens stay off the streets unless it is absolutely necessary to be out if the hurricane should strike.

Last year police, street department workers and others were badly hampered after the storm subsided by the large number of autos on the streets. Traffic lights were out and it meant that officers had to be stationed at busy intersections to keep traffic moving.

The fire department will also be ready for the storm, according to Chief George Gardner.

As last year, all 16 full time firemen will be on duty at the city's two stations. In addition many of the volunteer firemen will stand by at the stations to answer fire calls and emergency calls with the city's rescue ambulance.

During Hazel, firemen were not called to a single large fire. However, they were called out a number of times to burning utilities poles, set afire by the high winds whipping the power lines. The rescue ambulance was not called out during the storm.

Hurricane "Connie" can be far more disastrous for this farming section than last year's "Hazel."

That storm did heavy damage to farm buildings, overturning and burning tobacco barns and damaging other buildings. Last year, however, farmers had completed curing their tobacco and practically all crops were safely housed.

This year there is still much tobacco and other crops left in the fields. In addition, a large percentage of the county's tobacco barns will be filled with the weed.

Last year such a meeting was held the afternoon before the hurricane struck and plans for coping with the storm damages were mapped out in advance. Civil Defense headquarters was maintained in the local City Hall during the storm last October.

Weather Bureau bulletins still gave no definite indication that the storm would hit this area at noon today, however. The Weather Bureau report said that the Carolinas coastal area is under "mild" hurricane alert.

U. S. Scientist Sees Competition Between Atom And Coal

By FRANK CAREY Associated Press Science Reporter GENEVA (AP)—An American scientist told the atoms-for-peace conference today "there is a good possibility" atomic power will be competing with electricity from coal in the United States within the next 15 or 20 years.

The prediction was made to the 72-nation scientific congress by Dr. James A. Lane of the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn. national laboratory.

"Taking all available economic and technical information at its face value," Lane declared, "it is evident that the outlook for large-scale nuclear power in the United States is very promising."

Reporting at the same conference session, two Russian scientists indicated such an atomic plant as the 5,000-kilowatt station on the Soviet Union now is operating can best be utilized in areas remote from coal supplies or where only low grade coal is available.

Giving the first detailed account of the Russian nuclear plant, D. I. Blokhintsev and N. A. Nikolayev conceded that the electricity it is turning out costs "considerably" more than the output of large coal burning Soviet stations. But they added:

"An atomic power station now is already more profitable than a coal station in regions situated far from coal mines or than coal stations operating on low quality fuel."

Lane told the conference a review of published estimates of the capital cost of nuclear-electric plants, combined with projected operating costs, had led him to conclude "there is a good possibility that nuclear power costs in the range of four to seven mills per kilowatt hour will be realized within the next 15 or 20 years."

"At these power costs," he said, "nuclear plants will compete for an appreciable fraction of all new plants built by 1957, the total cost out promise for remote areas with construction costs of which may amount to between 4 billion and 30 billion dollars."

The present U. S. reactor development program now being carried out in the laboratories of the Atomic Energy Commission and by various industrial concerns throughout the country is aimed at such an objective.

He said the AEC is now building or contemplating five different types of prototype or pilot-plant reactors.

"The building of these prototype power plants will not only provide information leading to reduced costs, but will also permit a more realistic evaluation of the applicability of nuclear energy for larger scale power production," he said.

Present indications, he said, are that the new fuel costs in all the reactors being considered—after taking credit for new fissionable fuel material produced at the same time power is produced—will be low enough to make nuclear powered electricity competitive with coal-produced electricity.

Noting that five American industrial groups are planning a "more venturesome" program than the AEC—that is, by building five full-scale reactors—Lane declared that among experts estimating the economic prospects for such plants "the optimists outweigh the pessimists."

Lane's over-all conclusion for his report was that "Taking all available economic and technical information at its face value, it is evident the outlook for large-scale nuclear power in the United States is very promising."

The Russian scientists besides saying that their small-sized commercial reactor provides a starting point for nuclear power development in the Soviet Union, said Russia's operating experience with it "may be of help also to other countries interested in the wide use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

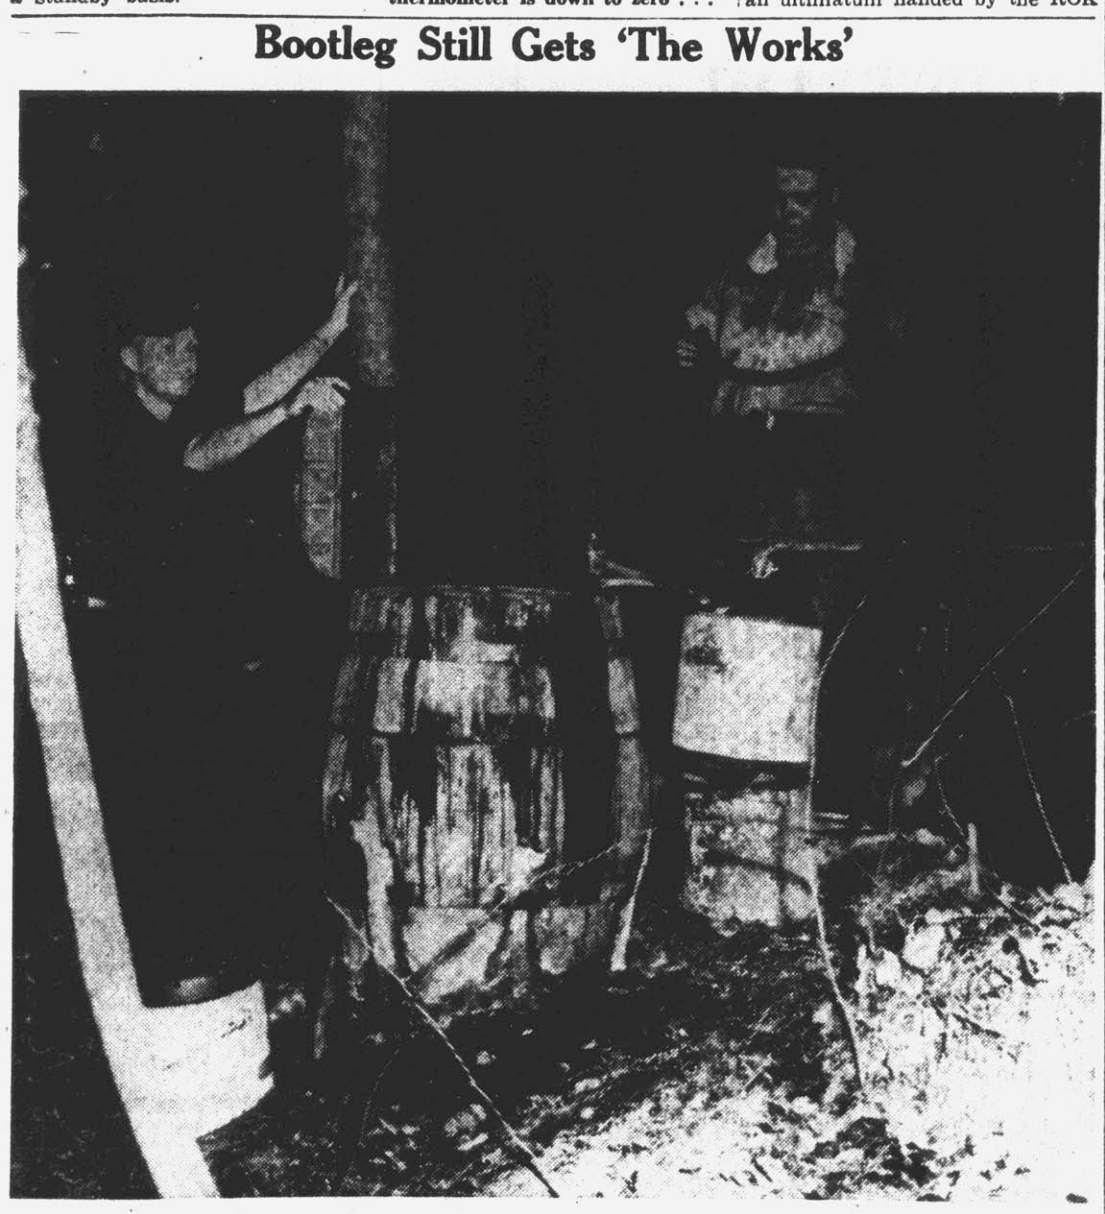

Three U.S. scientists also held paper disclosing development of a new "boiling water" atomic process. They described it as "an important step toward the economical production of nuclear power."

The American experts, from the Argonne Laboratories at Lemont, Ill., said their process involved generation of the steam for the turbines inside the reactor, rather than in an external boiler. The boiling inside the reactor previously had been considered unsafe but the report said this had been disproved.

A 5,000-kilowatt plant using the new principle is due to be in operation at the Argonne Laboratories by the latter part of 1956.

The American report said adoption of the boiling water principle will simplify construction and operation of small atomic power plants and will cut the cost of construction and operation.

Small plants using this process, the U.S. report added, are "suitable for use in remote areas or in conjunction with mining or manufacturing operations."

Appelwhite-Lane Families To Hold Annual Reunion

The 18th annual reunion of the Appelwhite-Lane Family Association will be held on Sunday, August 14, at the Scott-Lane residence, Faro, N. C., in Wayne County.

In past years, as many as 150 family members have attended this affair, highlighted by an old-fashioned basket picnic and barbecue dinner on the spacious lawn of the Lane residence.

A brief devotional ceremony and business meeting is an important part of the day's activity. Interest in the reunion is at an all time high. Family members realize that in one day they can visit all their relatives, some of whom are hardly ever seen except at the reunion.

Members of these two prominent eastern North Carolina families are expected from all parts of the state, Virginia, South Carolina and from as far as New York.

Activities begin at 12 o'clock noon.

Hosts Entertain For Couples Club

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hart were hosts on Thursday night to members of their couple club at an enjoyable party at their home on Main Street. Bowls of large and miniature red and white pizzas were used to decorate the home.

Two tables were placed for the games during which lemonade was served and later in the evening pie a la mode.

Highest scores were held by Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Rasberry. Other players were Mesdames Becky Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart, Mrs. Edward Hart and the hosts.

On Friday night Mrs. Hart entertained again at bridge with three tables in play. High scores were made by Mrs. Clifton Jackson and Mrs. David Parker. The consolation went to Mrs. Walter Murphy.

Mrs. J. M. Hart was recipient of the visitor's high score prize. Other players were Mesdames Becky Worthington, Albert Tyson, Wilbur Murphy, Charlie Gardner, Roger Johnson, Bryan Davis, John Cowart and Miss Ruth E. Smith.

At the refreshment hour time sherbet with ginger ale and lemon cookies were served.

About 20,000 Americans from 15 to 44 years old died of cancer last year.

Messick-Hollowell Nuptial Vows Spoken In Aurora Baptist Church

Miss Lula Gray Hollowell of New Bern and Jesse James Messick of Greenville were united in marriage at the Missionary Baptist Church in Aurora on July 30 at 6:00 o'clock in the evening.

The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and ferns. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. H. Hollowell and the late Mr. Hollowell of New Bern. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Messick of Greenville and Aurora.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. E. Warren and Mrs. Marvin Austin of Aurora.

The bride wore a street length embroidered dress over satin with accessories to match. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Ira Rowe of Aurora. She wore white over pink.

John Messick, twin brother of the groom, was best man.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the parlor of the church.

Mrs. A. W. Baker of Greenville and Mrs. L. J. Baker of Norfolk, aunts of the bride and groom, served bridal cakes and punch.

Miss Virginia Invited As Lost Colony Guest

MANTEO, N.C. (P)—Miss Virginia, Betty Sue Matthews of Norfolk, has been invited to be guest celebrity at Friday night's performance of "The Lost Colony."

If she accepts, Miss Matthews will appear in one of the crowd scenes in the outdoor historical drama depicting Sir Walter Raleigh's attempt to establish the first English-speaking colony in America.

Educators Gather In Four-Day Conference

MARS HILL, N.C. (P)—The annual summer conference of North Carolina school superintendents opened here today.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Claude Love will address the meeting Wednesday on "Questions about the New School Law."

About 450 persons are expected to attend the four-day conference.

Calm, Blissful Names Unsited

RICHMOND, Va. (P)—Looks as if Calm Road and Blissful Avenue in residential Henrico County may not be calm or blissful much longer.

A real estate developer, who's building new homes in the area, asked the county supervisors yesterday to change the name of Calm Road to Rivermont Drive and the name of Blissful Avenue to Academy Road.

"Calm" and "Blissful" really are not suitable names for streets, said he.

The supervisors planned to act on his request today.

New Bern First Baptist Church Scene Of Harris-Sawyer Rites

NEW BERN—Miss Ida Lucille Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Sawyer Sr., of New Bern, and Carl Vernon Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asbury D. Harris of Morristown, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, August 6, at the First Baptist Church in New Bern.

The wedding music was presented by John Peck of Asheville, organist, and Harvey H. Miller Jr. of Salisbury, violinist and vocalist, and included compositions of Bach, Frank, Peeters, Vivaldi and Barnby. During the ceremony the congregation participated in the singing of the "Hymn of Joy" by Beethoven.

Dr. G. McLeod Bryan of Mercer University and Dr. W. R. Cullom of Wake Forest were the officiating ministers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father James R. Hall of Kinston attended the bridegroom, and the ushers were James H. Sawyer Jr. of Oelwein, Iowa, and Dr. C. Glenn Sawyer of Winston-Salem, brothers of the bride, the Rev. Leo Hawkins of Southport and the Rev. Paul Beam of Wilmington.

The bride wore an original wedding gown of frothy white nylon tulle and Chantilly lace over lustrous bridal satin. The long-sleeved basque bodice was fashioned with a scalloped bateau neckline. The billowy skirt of tulle cascaded over a lace handkerchief-type peplum into a demure chapel train. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a bandeau of lace embroidered in seed pearls. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

The mother of the bride wore an ice blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Following the ceremony the bride and groom received in the vestibule of the church.

For travel the bride wore an eggshell linen suit with rose and navy accessories, and the orchid lifted from her Bible.

Housewives Are Good Engineers

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

Today's housewives are the world's best engineers, says Arthur Bregstein an expert on automation.

"All the fantastic automatic devices in today's homes have been suggested in the first place by women," says Bregstein, executive vice president of a company which makes rotsisserie broilers, electric skillets and such electrical robots which do everything but set the table.

"Before we plan a new appliance, we go first to the housewives find out what they would like to make life simpler, what are their chief gripes about the appliances they have, would they like a broiler or a percolator or a skillet to do. Then we get to work and produce it."

Although today's kitchens seem marvels of automation, those of tomorrow will be even more amazing, Bregstein said:

"In another decade, the housewife will cook her meals and wash her dishes by remote control. She won't have to go near the kitchen if she doesn't want to."

Bregstein says next January his company will unveil its newest "secret weapon" against drudgery—a cooking unit that will even think for the housewife.

"It will make it impossible to get the roast too well done or too rare," says he. "It will take all the guesswork out of cooking."

Bregstein believes today's American women are tops in the history of the world. Says he:

"Women can do anything in the business or professional world today—and they are doing it. They are so far ahead of their grandmothers in charm, efficiency and general capability that there's no comparison."

"I have no nostalgia for the so-called good old days."

Casual Look Scores In Furs

SWEATER STYLE . . . This overblouse of black dyed Alaska seal has black wool knit turtleneck and cuffs, like sweater.

SHIRT TALE . . . Black dyed Southwest African Persian lamb makes this casual shirt-style jacket, designed by Revillon.

SLAIN WOMAN AND HUSBAND—This is a recent picture of Mrs. Wilma Allen, 34, pretty housewife whose nude and trussed body was found in a pasture near Kansas City Sunday, and her husband, William R. Allen Jr., wealthy North Kansas City automobile dealer. The photo was made at a party last September in Colorado Springs, Colo., where they attended a convention. Mrs. Allen had been shot twice in the back of her head. Her hands were tied behind her back with her pink scarf. She had been missing since last Thursday. (AP Wirephoto.)

If you can achieve a careless air in an opulent fur you're in step with fashion.

Casual styles in fine furs establish one of the most important trends for fall. Fabulous mutation minks and silky broadtails are handled like sweaters and shirts by some of the top designers.

Revillon, for instance, shows an overblouse of black dyed Alaska seal with wool knit turtleneck collar and rib-knit cuffs, cut somewhat like a sweat shirt. Another style from the same house is a blouse jacket of black dyed Southwest African Persian lamb, made like a man's shirt.

In the past we have seen everything from slacks to swim suits made of fur, but this year the casual look goes to town in fine furs that will be seen on city streets as well as country lanes.

The goal of fashionable women this year, it seems, is never to look consciously dressed up. It's the same idea designer Valentina expressed some years ago when she said, "Mink is for football games."

Continuation of that action two years ago," he said.

Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) said Horne's firing was a "bare-faced violation" of civil service regulations and should be investigated.

There was no comment from the housing agency or the White House.

Adults Can Go; But Boy Acted

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Now take adults: If they don't like a movie they get up and leave. But not this 6-year-old Salt Lake City boy.

Officials of the Utah Theater said he was sitting in the front row of the movie eating a frosted malt.

Then, apparently vexed, the boy pitched the malt right at the $3,000 screen. It hit six feet up and trickled slowly across Henry Fonda and an all-star cast in "Mr. Roberts."

Police arrested the boy, then released him to his parents.

There were 2,580,000 18-year-olds in a U.S. population of 132 million in 1941 but only 2,100,000 in the 1954 population of 162 million.

Adviser To Fight Ouster Notice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Frank S. Horne says he will contest his ouster, after 19 years in government service, as an adviser on minority problems in the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Horne, a Negro, did not attribute his firing to any policy differences. Asked whether he had had a policy disagreement with Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, he replied, "I can't say there has been a parting of the ways for that reason."

"I have a notice effective Aug. 25 and the reason given is budgetary action," he told newsmen. "There ain't no such animal."

His job pays $12,685 yearly. He said he has filed an appeal contending the prospective dismissal is invalid because of his civil service status and his additional employment preference as a veteran.

Horne has been with the housing agency for 17 years. A Democrat, he was ousted from a similar adviser's post two years ago and replaced by Joseph R. Ray Sr., of Louisville, Ky., after the job had been designated as one which could be filled by political appointment. Horne said his present job has civil service protection.

Socialistic Ideas Open To Probe

No sooner than private power interests get an encouraging sign from the Administration, some senators are sure-fire prospects to shout "unfair," and "maybe we'd better probe 'em."

The reason of course is their wholehearted commitment and proclivity toward governmental development and ownership of power sources. Today, no private group of American citizens can consider entry into the electric power field without also due regard to the certain prospects of a propaganda battle with public power advocates; nor, if the operation is to be a big one, can they overlook the probability of a "probe" instigated by personalities to whom public power is the beginning and end of all that is "good" for private citizens.

The Pacific Northwest is the scene of our most recent hot spot and looms as the most promising fight between government ownership and private ownership of power rights. As is to be expected, Senators Kefauver and Morse are the ringleaders of the new struggle for government power development. We can all rest assured that if these two and their followers cannot win their point strictly on the basis of public vs. private power, they will raise other issues to deter development by a corporate group.

In such struggles, misleading expressions and terminology are commonplace as some segments of the population are fully aware. Pertinent facts are wont to be glossed over or distorted as necessary strategy in forming public opinion.

With all this talk of "probe" by public power advocates who seek to cripple or hinder the growth of an important segment of private enterprise, it's surprising their opposites numbers in the private power sponsors have not suggested a sort of counter-probe. To wit: The extent of socialistic philosophies held by proponents of government-in-business, and competing with private enterprise.

Such an investigation would be a four-star attraction in anybody's book, as well as being a real service to Americans who believe in the American way.

In many fields, private business isn't "private" any more. Utilities, insurance firms and financial institutions are all under close surveillance as to rates they can charge their customers. The old fear of monopolies and gouging the public has been laid to rest by legislative action. That, combined with the effects of competition, all makes for better service for everybody.

But with "public" ownership, unrestrained by competitive interests, nobody wins.

Rising Interest In Lt. Governorship

By LYNN NISBET

LIEUTENANT GOVERNORS — The current interest in the office of Lieutenant Governor is accentuated by the fact that for the first time in more than 60 years a Lieutenant Governor succeeded to the Governorship. Younger people and those not especially interested in political history are apt to forget that there was a time when such succession was much more frequent. Fact is that five of the 22 Lieutenant Governors elected since the constitution of 1901 was adopted moved up to the Governorship through constitutional process. Two of them were subsequently elected Governor in their original right, establishing the precedent now being followed by Governor Luther Hodges in seeking election for a full term.

First Lieutenant Governor under the present constitution was Tod R. Caldwell of Burke. He became Governor when W.W. Holden was removed by impeachment in 1870, and was elected for a full term in 1872, taking office in January, 1873. His lieutenant was Curtis H. Brogden of Wayne, who became Governor in 1874 when Governor Caldwell died in office. Thomas J. Jarvis was elected Lieutenant Governor in 1876, succeeded to the top office when Governor Vance went to the Senate in 1879 and was re-elected and served a full term from 1881 to 1885. Thomas M. Holt was elected in 1888 and became Governor in 1891 upon the death of Governor D.G. Fowle.

In less than 21 years, from December 15, 1870, to April 9, 1891, four Lieutenant Governors succeeded to the top office—two by reason of death of Governor, one by reason of impeachment and one because of resignation of the chief executive to take his seat in the U.S. Senate. Then for 63 years and seven months Lieutenant Governors were just that, until the death of Governor William Umstead last November put Lieutenant Governor Luther Hodges in the top office, and awakened the public consciousness of the importance of the No. 2 spot in State government.

EAST—WEST — There has been a lot of talk about east-west rotation of United States Senators, Governors and Lieutenant Governors. It is said now that the governorship "belongs" to the west, the lieutenant governorship to the east. The east-west rule has been pretty well observed in the selection of Senators, fairly well adhered to with respect to Governors and generally ignored as to Lieutenant Governors.

Within the past 50 years the east has had eight Senators: Simmons of Jones, Bailey of Wake, Umstead of Durham, Broughton of Wake, Graham of Orange, Smith of Wake, Lenoir of New Hanover and Scott of Alamance. The west has had five: Overman of Rowan, Morrison of Mecklenburg, Reynolds of Buncombe, Hoey of Cleveland and Ervin of Burke.

Of the 15 Governors who have served since 1901, eight came from the east and seven from the west: The easterners were Aycock of Wayne, Kitchen of Person, Bickett of Franklin, McLean of Robeson, Ehringhaus of Pasquotank, Broughton of Wake, Scott of Alamance and Umstead of Durham. The westerners were: Glenn of Forsyth, Craig of Buncombe, Morrison of Mecklenburg, Gardner of Cleveland, H.P. Owsen of Cherry of Gaston and Hodges of Rockingham.

There have been 14 Lieutenant Governors, nine from the east and five from the west. The easterners were Francis D. Winston of Bertie, E.L. Daughtridge of Edgecombe, W.B. Cooper of New Hanover, Elmer Long of Durham, R.T. Fountain of Edgecombe, A.H. Graham of Orange, W.P. Horton of Chatham, R.L. Harris of Person and L.Y. Balentine of Wake. Out of the west came W.D. Turner of Iredell, W.C. Newland of Caldwell, O. Max Gardner of Cleveland, H.P. Taylor of Anson and Luther H. Hodges of Rockingham.

It is noted that the two latest elected Governors came from the east, the Lieutenant Governors from the west. But the seven men who served in the No. 2 spot from 1901 until 1949 all came from the east. From which it would appear that these offices "belong" neither to the east nor the west, but to North Carolina.

TOLLS — The idea of tolls on highways and bridges is repugnant to North Carolinians. The State and numerous individuals protested the imposition of tolls on the Blue Ridge Parkway. Plans for the construction of toll roads along the coast and for heavy traffic across the Piedmont have not met with much popular favor. There is presently no bridge or stretch of road or ferry on the North Carolina highway system that charges a toll.

There are admitted instances where tolls seem the only answer. One such is the proposed bridge over the Cape Fear at Wilmington. A delegation from New Hanover county, the City of Wilmington and the chamber of commerce called upon Highway Chairman A.H. Graham the other day to urge as much speed as possible in getting the project under way. The Wilmington situation is somewhat like that at Charleston, more comparable to Savannah. In both these cases fixed span high arch bridges were built in order to permit passage of ships without interrupting highway traffic, and in both instances tolls were charged until the bridges had been paid for.

The Wilmington project has not been surveyed to the point of real estimate of costs, but engineering "guesses" on cost of bridge and connecting roads run around $12 million. Neither the State nor the Federal government has that kind of money for one project. There developed at the conference in Chairman Graham's office the idea of the State issuing bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the cost, with tolls to be charged and dedicated to retirement of the bonds. When the investment has been recovered the tolls would be removed. Expansion of the State port and the oil terminals at Wilmington, the huge military installation at Sunny Point and military uses of Fort Fisher and Blue-enthal airport take the need for the Cape Fear bridge out of the local category and make it a major State project.

Other Editors Are Saying... A Statesman... In Sen. George

(The Wilson Times)

It is quite probable today that Senator Walter George of Georgia comes nearer to being a statesman than any man sitting in the United States Senate.

It is also quite probable that the people of the United States appreciate the wisdom and leadership of Senator George far more than do the people of his native state of Georgia.

For many years now the venerable senator has had little or no opposition in his native state. As a result he has failed to keep his political fences mended. He has thought in terms of foreign policy of world wide tensions and conditions and he has steadfastly refused to think purely in terms of what is best for Georgia. He was working for the best interests of America and the world.

In the face of such strong opposition Senator George may not yet be known that he is not interested in the position in the State Department. He has also let it be known that he is not interested in returning. He is interested in only one thing — being reelected senator from Georgia.

Recently he has become very active in behalf of Georgia. He has taken up the fight for higher prices for both tobacco and cotton. He has even called upon the President in person to take a hand in the battle to help the farmers. And it is safe to say that a man of Senator George's standing has little difficulty in getting quick action on any request he makes. He might not get the results he hopes for always, but he does manage to get a hearing quickly.

One Of These Days The Male Will Be Sensible

One of these days men are going to gather their courage in their hands and dress comfortably for hot summer days.

We have come a long way in the past decade in an effort to emancipate ourselves from unreasonably hot clothes. There's still a long way to go before we attain the degree of comfort milady has acquired.

Stiff shirts, high collars, ties and coats have gradually given way to sport shirts... but it's taken a long time. For the last couple of summers Dad has been padding around the house in a pair of sporty walking shorts that Mom bought for him just to see if he would wear them.

Last summer he got up enough nerve to wear them around the house. He got used to the sniggers from the youngsters when he paraded forth with his walking shorts. But he still ran for his longies every time the door bell rang.

This summer, he's bolder. Not only does he wear his shorts in the house, but he's ventured into the yard wearing them as he cuts the grass and trims the shrubs. Admittedly it was tough going to get him out of the backyard and into the front yard in such an attire, but day by day he has steered himself to the watchful eyes of the neighbors.

Sooner or later (it'll probably be later) the man of the house is going to acquire sufficient courage to don his short pants and be off to work appropriately dressed for these hot summer days.

What's wrong men?? Don't we have the courage or is it just don't have the figure?

Knowland Knows He's Right And Preaches It

You have to hand it to Senator William F. Knowland for having a "black-and-white" policy on foreign affairs. He is not one to beat around the bush, and for that reason has undergone considerable criticism for his own criticisms of American attitudes toward avowed enemies.

He's been called "the Senator from Formosa" and a variety of other belittling titles; but Sen. Knowland is just bullheaded enough to believe he's right and won't swerve an iota from his convictions.

To him, it's a case of winning the cold war or losing all; and his feelings on the subject are laudably one-track. Whether the senator is right or wrong in enunciating his policy of settling for nothing less than victory against Communism we don't know. But of one thing we can all be certain: Senator Knowland knows he's right.

Avoid Trouble; Stay In Bed

This is the story of Howard Bodkin's weekend, written to prove that some days it doesn't pay to get up.

Howard says this experience should prove to anyone that it doesn't pay to work on Sunday. He had to deliver an organ to Rocky Mount for the Eddie Martin evangelistic campaign. The first indication of misfortune was that the truck wouldn't start Sunday.

While he was working on the truck one of his men asked to borrow his car for a quick trip home. Howard agreed and stuck his head back under the hood.

But after minor adjustments Howard was on his way again and managed to get to Morehead with no further trouble. It was after he had started home that he had his first flat of the weekend. At 1:30 Sunday morning he was back home.

Howard says this experience should prove to anyone that it doesn't pay to work on Sunday. He had to deliver an organ to Rocky Mount for the Eddie Martin evangelistic campaign. The first indication of misfortune was that the truck wouldn't start Sunday.

While he was working on the truck one of his men asked to borrow his car for a quick trip home. Howard agreed and stuck his head back under the hood.

But after minor adjustments Howard was on his way again and managed to get to Morehead with no further trouble. It was after he had started home that he had his first flat of the weekend. At 1:30 Sunday morning he was back home.

Small-town Market Is Most Vital

By ELMER ROESSNER

A few years ago the advertising business became enamored of the idea that if a manufacturer could sell the 400 largest buying companies, it could sell half the American market. The important 400 included the big chains, the large buying organizations and the giant stores.

This conception, while undoubtedly true, tends to obscure the fact that a manufacturer can sell a huge amount of goods without ever opening a buyer's door at Sears Montgomery Ward or J.C. Penney, Federated, Woolworth's the Army PX or the other big-order enterprises.

Furthermore, it tends to obscure the fact that not only the small city store, but the small-town shop as well, constitute important parts of the American market.

The small-town market is not only important, but its importance is increasing. E.J. Sheppard of Purdue University writes in the current Journal of Marketing. While Professor Sheppard places considerable reliance on the data of the 1948 business census, the trend he charts is pronounced and it appears to have continued strongly into 1955.

He points out that sales of rural retail rose from $7 billion in 1939 to $24 billion in 1948, an increase of 230 per cent. Even if rural merchants only held their own share of national spending, their current sales are in the neighborhood of $13.3 billion a year.

Professor Sheppard's analysis of government figures shows that while total sales of rural establishments rose 230 per cent between 1939 and 1948, sales in the furniture, furnishings and appliance stores rose 584 per cent. Sales of liquor stores went up 429 per cent. Part of this rise may be accounted for by the increase in roadside furniture stores and by the efforts of honest liquor dealers to get away from the city saloons and bars.

Lumber, building and hardware stores in rural areas increase sales by 352 per cent, and the apparel group increased its take by 312 per cent.

Professor Sheppard's conclusion: "The status of rural areas and retailers should not be underestimated." Ah, c'est vrai and si, si!

WHAT NOW HAS A DAY—SHOE PEG CORN!
No matter what you are doing Thursday next week, go out and bury your incisors in shoe peg corn!

Those shoe-peg-corn people have been busier than California hoopers. Shoe peg corn is simply corn with small white kernels that grow zigzag on ears. And the shoe-peg-corn peggers have persuaded Governors George M. Leader of Pennsylvania and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland to proclaim Thursday, August 18 as "Shoe Peg Corn Day."

In the other 46 states, it will just be Thursday, warm and humid with a chance of thunder showers later in the day.

AGRICULTURE RACED, ADMITS MELLORINE SELLS
Whether the dairy industry likes it or not, people are eating more "MELLORINE." That's the name for the stuff that looks like ice-cream, tastes like ice cream and feels like ice cream, but which still isn't ice cream because it contains vegetable oils instead of butterfat. Some states, especially those where dairy farmers have effective political power, prohibit its sale. But in the other production areas, 31,416,000 gallons last year, according to the Department of Agriculture, which is mightily embarrassed by the whole business because it wants to appear opposed to mellowine in dairy states.

FACTORYING, ANYONE?
In a recent poll, people were asked what they thought was among the answers: "A game played with long sticks, like hockey."

"A search for the facts in a police investigation."

"Courting," as practiced by certain suave tributes. He promised that the real answer, of course, is that — ooops! Sorry. No more space.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

ONLY SPIRITUAL MEASURES AVAILABLE
All over the country committees and commissions are working on the juvenile crime problem. The situation has become appalling. We should not assume that there was no juvenile delinquency in the old days; there was plenty of it. But it is taking on fantastic forms today which fill us with immeasurable apprehension.

The standard approach to the problem appears to be better recreational facilities and more policemen. Give the kids plenty of open space in which to play and give the police force throughout our country extra rookies and, we are told, this problem will soon be solved.

But will it be solved? How can you solve a personality disturbance with more playground equipment or with more policemen? Behavior of this sort indicates a disturbance of personality at fundamental levels. These children are intellectually disturbed, but, most significantly, all of them are spiritually disturbed.

Upon the Church rests the greatest responsibility for solving this problem. The juvenile delinquency problem has to be solved by first of all confronting the problems of the home and the relationship of parents to each other and to the whole household to God. This is a spiritual problem and must be handled as such.

Two pigs one of them named Pansy.

Charity-Begins-At-Home Spirit Prevails

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A realistic spirit of "Charity begins at home" animated the Congress which recessed last week after a session described by Democratic and Republican leaders as "extremely spectacular." There were fewer and smaller foreign "giveaways" than at any time since F.D.R. inaugurated the Lend-Lease Program in 1941.

The economizers on Capitol Hill were of themselves, in view of a pre-1956 desire to get themselves right with taxpaying voters. They sought to prevent increases in taxes and the public debt. But they also believed that the time had arrived for our Allies to help themselves, in view of sensational economic recovery financed by American taxpayers.

DOUBT REGARDING RESULTS
Still another factor was the doubt as to whether these huge expenditures are winning and retaining friends.

Marshal Tito, for instance, refuses to permit us to see whether he is spending our money wisely and efficiently and in accordance with the terms of the grant. Prime Minister Nehru refuses to line up with the West in return for American assistance.

France has withdrawn two divisions from NATO and reduced the term of service for her Army. Paris has virtually turned over defense of Vietnam and Southeast Asia to John Foster Dulles' personal creation, SEATO.

Finally, foreign nations rebuilt by our postwar contributions of $0 billion are cutting into markets for farm and finished products from cotton to steel mills and equipment. Britain, Germany and Japan have been the chief competitors in old and new markets throughout the world.

President Eisenhower has not been entirely sympathetic to this trend, although he understands the spirit behind it. His only fear is that Europe will regard it as full-scale economic withdrawal, similar to our political and military isolationism of 1919-1920. But he has realistically gone along with it on the theory that half a loaf is better than no bread at all.

GRAPHIC EXAMPLE The drastic $560,000,000 reduction in foreign military and economic aid was the most graphic illustration of this new policy. The cut was forced through in the face of White House and Pentagon objections.

In fact, the saving would have been larger if Eisenhower had not shunted Harold E. Stassen, regarded as a do-gooder and spender, from his job as Mister Bonifant. The substitution of John B. Hollister, a law partner of the late Senator Robert A. Taft, was interpreted as an attempt to inject some hard common sense into this "giveaway" agency.

In other ways, Congress demanded greater consideration for American taxpayers, consumers, farmers, factory workers, investors, etc. About 190 members stormed the White House to insist on a cotton export policy that would maintain domestic prices, cur surplus and open overseas outlets.

PROGRAM, SHELVED Secretary Benson had formulated such a program. But the State Department shelved it on the ground that "dumping" cotton under a subsidized, low-price scheme would jeopardize "good relations" with other countries. He promised to study the subject at a broader Cabinet level.

It was pointed out that Canada does not suffer from Dulles' qualms. Ottawa is selling butter to "Iron Curtain" countries—Czechoslovakia—for 42½ cents a pound, or 15½ cents less than the Canadian Government pays for it under a farm support system similar to ours. We have been giving it away. We are making beggars instead of buyers across every ocean.

Another powerful bloc has demanded smaller sugar quotas for offshore countries in order to increase the market for domestic producers of cane and beets. It has himself raised tariffs on Swiss watches and he has been accused to erect barriers against a flood of many other "low-cost" goods from abroad. And Congress sharply limited his authority to reduce duties under an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
 In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Wheeler disposed of 18 cases, seven of them involving drunkenness and three possession of moonshine whiskey. The other cases were the result of traffic and motor vehicle law violations.

Orlando Staton, Negro, 407 Deck street, was found not guilty of careless and reckless driving. The court taxed him with costs for driving without an operator's license. For driving to the left of center of the highway, the court gave Staton 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of costs. The judgment also provides that he is not to drive a motor vehicle for a year unless and until he makes adequate restitution for property damage to Charles Saled. Drunk: Howard Smith, Washington street, called and he failed to answer. An instantar capias was issued for him Frank Parker, Rt. 1, Greenville, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $10; Leon Williams, Negro, 102 Side Street, $15; William Jackson, Negro, 1317 South Greene street, 30 days or $10.

James C. White of Norfolk, Va., drunk and disorderly in the Coffee Shop on Dickinson avenue, was given 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is not to enter the Coffee Shop for two years and that he shall remain of good behavior for two years. For resisting arrest, the court gave him 30 days in jail, to be served concurrently with the first sentence.

Allowing a non-licensed operator to drive a motor vehicle: Calvin M. Jones, Columbus Ave., taxed with costs; Howard Bodkin, 113 Library street, taxed with the costs.

Junior Lee Thompson, Negro, 423 West Third street, possession of non tax-paid whiskey for sale and transporting, was found guilty of possession and given 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of costs and he is to remain of good behavior two years. The whiskey was ordered confiscated and destroyed.

William Boston, Negro, Plymouth, and Charlie J. Wilson, Negro, 1504-A Fleming Street, were found guilty of possession of non tax-paid whiskey. They were each given 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of costs and they are to be of good behavior for two years.

Lewis H. Purvis, Baltimore, Negro, driving drunk, 90 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year.

Frank Parker, Negro, Rt. 1, Greenville, 30 days or $15 for being drunk, and Claude Brown, Negro, 932 Fleming street, 30 days or $10.

Irvin W. Thomas, Negro, Baltimore, paid $10 for failure to stop at a red light.

Comics Martin And Lewis Make Up; Team Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Martin and Lewis say they're going to keep on being Martin and Lewis.

After weeks of feuding, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis met yesterday in the office of Paramount boss Y. Frank Freeman. Afterward the studio said that the pair "agreed to continue on as America's highest paid comedy team." There had been talk of a splitup. Some said the two hadn't spoken to one another recently. Yesterday they did. But Martin said later: "Not too much was said. We both agreed to fulfill the contracts we go back to work, and try and make the best of everything."

Lewis wasn't available for comment. It had been reported that one cause of the friction was that Martin thought he was becoming merely a foil for his partner's humor.

FAMILY COLLISION
 ANN ARBOR Mich. (AP)—Frank Blandowski, 67, got more than one jolt when he collided headon with another car last night. The driver of the second vehicle was his son Raymond, 20. Neither was injured seriously.

Lyndon Johnson Planning Return

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) says confidently he will return as Democratic Senate leader next January.

In his first news conference since July 2, when he suffered a heart attack, he showed every sign yesterday of a recovery which his doctor told him should make him "as good as new" by autumn.

He described as a "partisan analysis" what President Eisenhower said of the congressional session just ended.

He said Republicans were far more responsible than Democrats for failure of three of four bills the President said Congress should have acted upon: the highway building program, health legislation, federal school aid and water resources.

Johnson said the Republicans were responsible for the defeat of the highway, school aid and water resources bills. He said Eisenhower's health legislation was decisively defeated in the previous Republican-controlled Congress and should be completely revised.

Still on the four "must" bills, he said:

"I think if those little men who put the lists of bills in the President's pocket would also inform the President what has happened on those bills and why it has happened, I think he would find it futile to make a partisan analysis of what another branch of the government has or has not done."

Johnson said the only "fair comparison" is between the record of the first session of the Republican 83rd Congress and the first session of the Democratic 84th. On any such comparison, he said, the recent session "has demonstrated the wisdom of the voters in voting Democratic in 1954."

Johnson, 6 feet 3, returned to his Washington home from the Bethesda Naval Hospital two days ago with a waist line slimmed from size 42 to size 37.

He will stay in Washington until Aug. 25, then fly to Johnson City, Tex., to celebrate his 47th birthday at home Aug. 27.

His doctor has ordered him to keep his weight down to 185 pounds. Last January he was up around 220 pounds. And he has quit smoking. Instead, he chews on hard candy.

He has been told he must confine his work to normal hours and must lay off at the first signs of physical fatigue. He said he plans to put in a "good average normal day" when the Senate comes back

Custody Suit By Paralyzed Wife

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Polio victim Ann V. Adams of Jacksonville, Fla., has filed suit for $70 weekly alimony and custody of her minor child without divorce against Kenneth V. Adams, charging cruelty.

Mrs. Adams paralyzed from the neck down, charges that when she retired at night to an iron lung Adams "deliberately operated the hoist in such a manner that I was practically thrown into the iron lung...." In her suit filed yesterday, she also charges him with being intoxicated while helping her into the lung once and that she fell, suffering a brain concussion. She said he took away religious books she was studying and burned them.

ORDERS GENERALS
 LOUISVILLE Ky. (AP)—M. Sgt. William Conn, of Madison, Ind., is one soldier who can order generals around and make them like it. He paints the portraits of departing commanding generals of the Ft. Knox armored center and presents them as going-away gifts. It has become a tradition.

Michigan has 52,000 more people moving into it than move out in an average year.

Victory Is Sweet To Chandler, But Steadfastly Refuses To Rest

By TOM DUNCAN
 VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, with a political past and future built on a smiling but indomitable personality, refused to relax today while enjoying his second Democratic nomination for governor.

The energetic former governor, U. S. senator and baseball commissioner—who said "Never have I been so humble and so grateful"—worked to bind up intraparty wounds in an old-fashioned blood-letting primary.

After preliminary plans for the general election will come a vacation, when "all I want to do is sleep," Chandler said.

Three pounds heavier after a grueling political comeback fight to overcome a state administration firmly entrenched for eight years, Chandler, 57, confidently predicted victory in November.

He flashed the smile which has been a trademark since earning him the nickname "Happy" as a boy and said, "I am certain that many thousands of registered Republicans will find our program worthy of their support."

He expressed confidence Democrats will "close ranks" for the election despite his vigorous attacks on the administrations of Gov. Lawrence Wetherby and his predecessor, U. S. Sen. Earle Clements.

They backed Judge Bert T.

Combs for the nomination. Combs also had the support of Sen. Alben Barkley, the former vice president who handed Chandler his only political defeat—in a senatorial primary.

Chandler's victory against such formidable opposition came 20 years after his first stunning political upset, when he won the gubernatorial nomination over administration-backed Thomas Rhea.

It was won with a 10-month, 900-speech campaign in which Chandler took only one day off, exclusive of Sundays.

Looking to a November victory which would make him the third Kentucky governor elected a second time after intervening years, he said, "I am deeply conscious of my obligation to the people of Kentucky who have nominated me."

Well wishers and a steady stream of telephoned congratulations continued to pour into Chandler's white frame home, which began taking on a jubilant victory air early yesterday.

With Chandler and his wife were several political lieutenants and their oldest son Ben, who was 26 yesterday. Their other son, Dan, is in summer military training. They also have two married daughters and five grandchildren.

Chandler's Republican opponent will be former U. S. Dist. Atty. Edwin R. Denney, also nominated in Saturday's primaries.

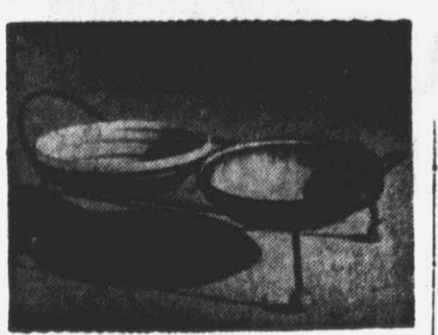

The quiet Denney will be meeting a foe unbeaten in a general election in a career which began by winning a State Senate seat in 1929.

Always a strong personal campaigner, Chandler was elected lieutenant governor in 1931, governor in 1935 and U. S. senator in 1940 and 1942.

He quit the Senate to become baseball commissioner in 1945 and was considered politically dead by many observers on leaving the baseball post four years ago.

Those observers forgot the Chandler determination behind the smile.

Union To Defend Planned Merger

CHICAGO, (AP)—Leaders of an AFL union prepared to go before the AFL Executive Council today to defend their proposed merger with an independent union once accused of being dominated by Communists.

The appearance of the delegation from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union was the major business before the 17-member Executive Council on the second day of its three-day meeting.

The AFL meat cutters want to merge with the independent Fur and Leather Workers Union expelled from the CIO on charges it was Communist led. Some AFL and CIO leaders have opposed the merger, saying it would give "a haven to the Communists in the fur union."

The Executive Council earlier this year notified the meat cutters that they could be expelled from the AFL for taking in the fur union if it still is Communist dominated.

Patrick Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the meat cutters, has said that his union has secured the resignation of Communist elements in the fur union.

Juvenile Delinquency In County Said Decreasing

By WYATT BROWN
 Juvenile delinquency in Pitt County is on the decrease, declared Mrs. David Proctor, a case worker in the Child Welfare Division of the Pitt County Welfare Department, when she addressed the Greenville Rotary Club last night. She noted that only six Pitt County youths are in correctional institutions due to the increased use of boarding or foster homes in handling problem youth.

Mrs. Proctor explained at the outset that her Division's contacts were non-financial but that prior to 1941 before there was the special Child Welfare Division the regular case worker handled children's problems. There are now two Children's Division staff members whose functions comprehend child adoption, school attendance problems (at the request of schools), and Juvenile Court.

She was high in her praise of Clerk of Superior Court D. T. House who serves as Pitt County Juvenile Court Judge. The Judge and the Business Education Committee Formed

A special committee on business education was set up by the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, meeting in regular session last night.

Asked to serve on this committee were J. B. Kittrell, Jr., chairman; A. R. Barrett, O. E. Dowd, Dr. E. R. Browning, W. G. Hennessey, E. E. Rawl, Sr., H. F. Steinbeck, W. H. Watson and T. I. Wagner.

This group will work with other agencies in the community on matters of education. They will also handle programs promoting understanding of business, the professions, and industry.

It was announced that a new North Carolina map now being made will include the new NC 11 bypass. Manager Willard T. Kyzer reported this was possible through the cooperation of the State Highway Department.

B. B. Suggs, Jr., chairman of the Membership Committee, reported that group is raising money for a special industrial and agricultural development fund. This fund will

At Least A Week In California For Stowaway Girl

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Although a 16-year-old Hawaiian girl stowaway is going to be sent back home, she'll have at least a week in California.

Joyce Joan Pilapil is charged with delinquency by "secretly leaving herself and remaining aboard" the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan. The U. S. Commissioner ordered her held in juvenile hall under $500 bail, pending a full hearing next Monday, the U. S. Attorney and the probation service said they will recommend that she be returned to her parents in Hilo.

The girl told the commissioner she would like to get in touch with an uncle in San Francisco and see some of the West Coast, provided, of course, he would go her bail. The hearing was closed and the uncle's name was not disclosed.

Personal 'Loan' At Point Of Gun

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A young man approached the manager of a suburban branch bank last night and inquired about a personal loan.

Charles J. Hauser, manager of the Cheektowaga branch of the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., said he directed the youth to another employe. "Never mind, I'll do it myself," the customer replied.

Ten minutes later the man held up the bank and escaped with $11,000.

Psychological testing is afforded the county now by visits every two months by State Welfare psychologists. This sort of thing though quite valuable in further understanding of the children suffers for lack of follow-up work by specialists. The proposed Mental Hygiene Clinic will be a fine thing, she said, and will fill in this lack of follow-up.

Guests of the club were Walter Jones and Charlie Upshaw of the Farmville Club. Bancroft Moseley, vice-president, presided. The program was presented by Jack Boone, chairman of the Youth Service Committee.

Six Words Start A Movie Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Miss Universe, Sweden's Hillevi Rombin, has started her film career with a six-word speaking part in a film about clarinetist Benny Goodman. Her speech:

"Just one more, please, Mr. Goodman."

She ran through the scene yesterday after only one rehearsal—fewer than average for a beginner. Universal-International cast her in the role of an autograph-hunting American bobby-soxer in "The Benny Goodman Story." She speaks English and four other languages.

Sharing her scene with Steve Allen was Carlene King Johnson, Miss Vermont and later Miss U. S. A. in the beauty pageant won by Miss Rombin last month in nearby Long Beach.

Pleads Innocent In Knife-Slaying

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Geraldine Terry, a 23-year-old blonde charged with the butcher knife slaying of her husband of three weeks, pleaded innocent yesterday.

She was freed on a $10,000 bond after she told the court that her husband Bill Lee Terry, an attorney, was stabbed fatally when he fell on a butcher knife during a struggle with her.

Her foster father Glenver McConnell former Tulsa city water commissioner, offered 200 shares of U. S. Steel Corp. stock as security for the bond. Judge Lewis G. Johnson accepted it and set Aug. 30 for trial.

Mrs. Terry said her husband left the house "so drunk he could hardly stand," after an argument. She said they continued to quarrel upon his return and he got a butcher knife from the kitchen.

The statement said Terry told her he was going to kill her. She said that in the struggle that followed, she got hold of the handle of the knife and as he lunged at her he lost his balance and fell against the blade.

White Sox Play A's While Other Leaders Go Head-on

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Call 'em critical, crucial or just plain crazy, man, but a pair of three-game series that open tonight could be the beginning of the end for New York, Boston, Cleveland or Detroit in the frenzied American League pennant race.

While first-place Chicago tries to get the suddenly not-so-listless Kansas City Athletics back in perspective, Boston rumbles into New York and Cleveland play host to Detroit.

The Yankees are just three percentage points behind the White Sox. Third-place Cleveland is half a game back. Fourth-place Boston is 1½ behind. Detroit, in fifth, is 8½ short.

The schedule puts on the squeeze and something's got to give.
The Yanks and Red Sox must play each other 12 times yet. The Indians and Tigers have a dozen scraps left too. And in 10 days, while the White Sox play six games with sixth-place Kansas City, half of those 12 dates will be completed.

What's more all four of the clubs chasing the White Sox must face the other contenders in more than half of their remaining games.

Chicago has the best spot—with 48 games to go, but only 23 against the next four clubs. Detroit is the worst off, slated to play 31 of its remaining 48 games against the first division.

After his Yanks lost series to Chicago and Cleveland and split with Detroit on their current home stand, Manager Casey Stengel today tagged the Red Sox as "Maybe the toughest yet."

In yesterday's only game, the Brooklyn Dodgers lost 1-0 to Chicago with the usually unreachable Don Newcombe shut out from what could have been his 19th victory.

It was New's second defeat of the season, and both have been to the Cubs. This time it was a home run by Gene Baker, who had half of Chicago's six hits, that beat the big right-hander.

Sad Sam Jones was the winner on a four-hitter, although he was in hot water with six walks. Jones now 10-15, fanned seven while getting his first victory since July 3.

The decision gave the Cubs a sweep of the three-game series—their first over the Dodgers in Wrigley Field since 1947.

PITCHING—Sam Jones, Cubs, four-hit the Dodgers for a 1-0 decision, his first success since July 3; struck out seven, walked six and left nine stranded.
HITTING—Gene Baker, Cubs, had half of six hits allowed by Dodgers' Don Newcombe and smacked a home run in 1-0 victory.

Torrid Red Sox Meet Yankees In Crucial Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Breathing fire and oozing confidence, the torrid Boston Red Sox storm into the Yankee Stadium tonight for the opener of a three-game series with the reeling New York Yankees.

In the past two months the Sox have won 43 of their last 59 games for a fantastic 729 mark and have fought their way to within a game and a half of first place in the American League.

The Yanks, on the other hand, have won just 12 of their last 34 games for 353 mark.

"Right now our chances are as good as anyone's," chirped rookie manager Pinky Higgins. "What we do will depend a great deal on our 12 remaining games with the Yanks. But the games mean a lot to the Yanks too."

Higgins indicated he would start Willard Nixon against Whitey Ford in the first game. Nixon is a natural, having beaten the Yanks in three of four tries.

Yanks Manager Casey Stengel will pitch Don Larsen tomorrow and Bob Turley Thursday. Higgins has not decided who will oppose them.

Stengel has nothing but worries. He's concerned over the club's offense and went so far as to admit that this is the poorest club, so far as consistent hitting is concerned, that he's had since he took over in 1949.

"Ever since they beat us in that July 4 double-header, those Red Sox have been hot," observed Stengel gloomily. "They're getting pitching hitting and fielding. Well, maybe we can cool them off in the same place."

Farmville Over Braves
Farmville took the measure of Williamston's surging Braves in a win-bill to register its seventh and eighth wins in a row. Saturday night the score was 9-2 and Sunday 9-5.

Junior Stalls and Charlie Cherry led Williamston's hitting in the first game with two hits apiece. Cherry and Forbes had three hits in the second game.

Kaline, Campy Top Bat Races

NEW YORK (AP)—Right-handed batters dominate the American League batting picture today, headed by Detroit's Al Kaline, the leader with a .351 average. The other four positions among the top five hitters also are filled by righties.

A left-handed swinger had won the American League batting title four straight seasons before right-handed hitting Bobby Avila of Cleveland captured the crown last year.

The right-handed batters who follow Kaline in the race are Detroit's Harvey Kuenn, .329, Kansas City's Vic Power, .318, Cleveland's Al Smith, .315 and Chicago's George Kell, .313.

Sam Giammalva Keeps Winning

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Young Sammy Giammalva continued to look like the most impressive newcomer to American tennis circles today as the Newport Invitation Tournament entered the second round.

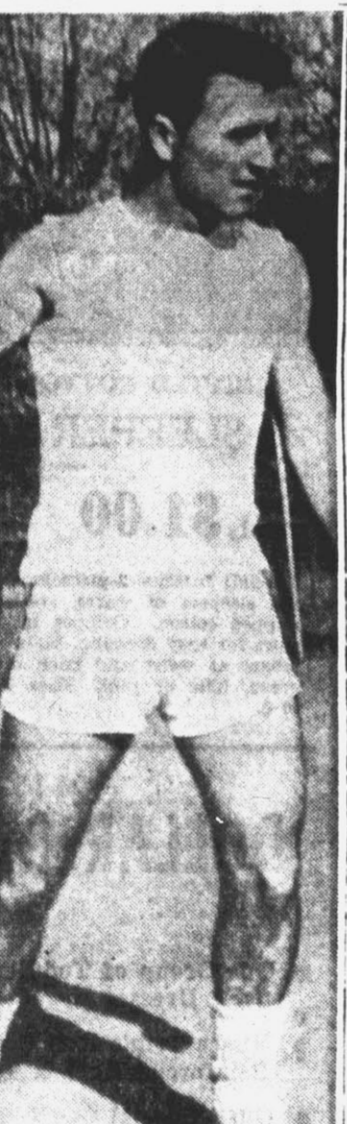

After smashing past Jerry Dalrymple Jr., of New Orleans 6-3, 6-0 yesterday, the 21-year-old Houston lad still ranked with Ham Richardson, the U.S. Davis Cup team member and 1954 champion, and Gil Shea of Los Angeles as the class of the field.

Richardson, from Baton Rouge, La., first seeded, ousted Bill Cullen of Fairfield, Conn., yesterday, 6-3, 6-4. He met Karl Kamrath of Houston today.

Giammalva, ranked behind the second-seeded Shea whom he defeated en route to the Eastern Brass Court title last week, next plays the winner of today's match between Sid Wood of New York and Dick Gaines of Edgartown, Mass.

Kurt Nielsen, the Dane who tops the foreign seeds, England's Roger Becker and Shushi Miyagi and Kosei Kameo, Japanese Davis Cuppers, open their play today.

Everette Takes ECC Tennis Championship Over Lilley

Gene Lilley... runnerup

Maurice Everette, the pre-journey favorite, did just what he was supposed to do in the campus-wide tennis tournament held at East Carolina College last week—he won.

Everette, No. 1 man on the Pirates tennis team, whipped teammate Eugene Lilley in the championship match by 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

The smooth-stroking Everette breezed through the match, being pushed only in the second set. His American-twist service had Lilley baffled throughout and his place shots were perfect.

The Robersonville sophomore rushed through the tourney with comparative ease. He received a first round bye and then proceeded to beat Ben Wolverton 6-0, 7-5 and Bruce Phillips 7-5, 7-5. The latter match was the closest given him throughout the tourney.

Lilley, on the other hand, had to fight harder for his final berth. He stroked past Al Owens 6-2, 6-0 in the opener and then commenced to beat Dave Carson 6-3, 6-0 and Gill Underwood 10-8, 6-2.

The Underwood victory was a mild upset. The latter was seeded along with Everette. The first set was a marathon one in which Lilley wore his opponent down with his fine smashing game. The second set was easily Lilley's.

Some 14 contestants entered the tournament which was sponsored by the Student Government Association.

FAR APART
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A businessman leaving the airport cafe saw a friend and quipped: "I'll bet we don't eat at the same place tonight. I'm headed for Los Angeles."
"You're right," said the friend. "I'm heading for India."

OOPS! SLOW DOWN!
DETROIT (AP)—Detroit has cut the speed limit on trucks of more than 5,000 pounds to 45 miles an hour on its expressways. The City Council overlooked a state law limiting trucks to 45 when it originally set an expressway limit of 55 for all vehicles.

MAILMAN RECOVERS
PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Walter E. Cheely, a mail carrier, lost a wallet containing $150. Public pleas for its return failed to produce it, but Cheely isn't out the money. Patrons on his mail route contributed $150 and gave it to him.

Worst Since '19

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, staggering along with an undependable bullpen and little batting punch, have just 48 games left to prevent what could be the club's worst National League finish since 1919.

Branch Rickey, as field manager that year, brought his club in seventh. Four Cardinal clubs have finished sixth since the World War I days, including Eddie Stanky's 1954 model but none has hit the No. 7 spot.

The Cardinals and Harry (The Hat) Walker now stand with a 46-60 mark, 26 games off the pace and 3½ games behind sixth-place Cincinnati. And they've lost 10 of the last 13 games.

St. Louis, since and including the 1919 finish, has been in the league's second division only nine times against 27 first-division berths.

Walker, who took over from the ousted Stanky during the current season, said today:

"Relief pitching has been the big problem. And it doesn't make any difference who's in there."

The Hat, after throwing seven pitchers into a losing cause against Philadelphia Sunday, held his hurling staff after school for 90 minutes with a closed-door conference.

After the meeting, which he described as "one of the best we ever had," he said the trouble appeared to be an attempt to pitch "too fine." He was hopeful the meeting "may have relaxed them. It might have helped a bit."

With the pitching collapse has come a slump at the plate. Bill Virdon, rookie outfielder, has been the only consistent clutch hitter. He's batted in 9 of the 19 runs scored over the past five games.

Stan Musial, the club's No. 1 slugger, in the last 18 games has brought home only six runs.

DeMarco Meets Vejar Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's popular Tony DeMarco will oppose Chico Vejar at Boston Garden Sept. 14 in his first big-time losing the world welterweight championship to Carmen Basilio several weeks ago.

The scheduled 10-rounder will be televised nationally (ABC) with New England blacked out.

The Callahan AC, which announced the match last night, said each fighter agreed to a 27½ per cent cut of the net gate and a "special deal" was arranged for a share of TV money.

Matchmaker Sam Silverman declined to explain the specific deal. DeMarco and Vejar, from Stamford, Conn., were tentatively matched a year and a half ago before Vejar was forced to lay off for a while after suffering minor injuries in a plane crash.

Andrews Drives In Winning Runs; Staton Pitches Win

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Arthur Andrews came through with a two-run clutch single in the last half of the sixth last night to pave the way for Charlie Staton's three hit performance as Greenville's PONY Leaguers whipped Durham 3-1 at Greensboro in the Region five semifinals.

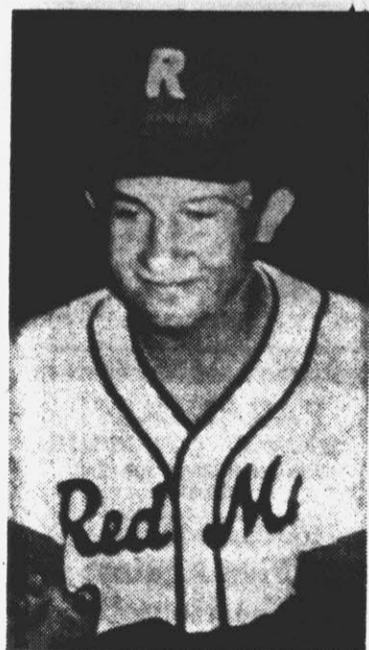

Tonight Greenville goes into play against host Greensboro for the championship. Greensboro, the only undefeated team left in the tournament, must be knocked off twice before the Greenies can win. One loss will eliminate Greenville.

Staton Looks Sharp

Staton was real sharp on the hill last night as the Greenville ace won his first game of the Region tournament. The win brings his playoff record to five wins and no losses.

In the first frame, Smilin' Charlie struck out the first batter, then walked the next three batters. After that he settled down and whiffed the next two Durham sluggers and got the side without a run.

Greenville scored the winning runs in the last half of the sixth. With one out Dick Evans walked.

Arthur Andrews . . . big stickman

Merrill Bynum forced Evans at second for the second out. Billy Cox worked Durham's ace, Mike Bailey, for a base on balls. Bailey slipped and threw a wild pitch sending both runners down a base. Andrews came up next, and the clutch hitting fourteen year old smacked a ringing base blow back through the middle.

Bynum crossed the plate with Cox right on his heels. Bailey stopped the rally but the damage was done.

Draw First Blood

The Greenies scored first in the last half of the third. Durham sent Maxie Matthews on the mound to start the game in an unexpected move. Bailey was saved for the last two innings so he could pitch Tuesday's game if Durham won. With one out Staton worked Matthews for a walk, then stole second. Walker Allen lined a clean single to left-center and Staton scored easily.

Durham came back with a marker in the fourth. That run broke the Greenville pitchers' record of twenty consecutive scoreless innings during this tournament. The string was started when Walker Allen held Westover scoreless for the final three innings Friday. Bynum and Bobby Edwards pitched shutouts Saturday and Staton pitched three innings last night.

Tommy Mangum led off the fourth with a single. Seconds later he was on second when an attempted pickoff play went wild. Mangum went to third on a ground out and scored on Andrews' error. Bobby Wright hit the ball that Andrews' erred. It was a line drive right at him and he made a nice stop, but then dropped the ball.

After that big Charley rocked the ball past the Durham hitters with ease. He did not walk a batter after first inning and finished with eleven strikeouts.

Bynum Will Pitch

Tonight's game is a clutch one for Greenville. Greensboro is planning to go with their ace, Roy Guthrie. Greenville is going with Merrill Bynum, the pitcher who looked like the best the Greenies have in the Greensboro tourney. If Greenville wins, Greensboro will have to come back with a second rate pitcher. Greenville can come back with Allen, Edwards, or Staton—all first line fingers.

Game time is eight o'clock from Greensboro PONY League park. In event Greenville wins, the second game will be played Wednesday night.

College All-Stars Eleven Figured To Beat Browns

CHICAGO (AP)—The College All-Stars should whip the Cleveland Browns at Soldier Field Friday night if past performances mean anything.

The professional champions will be out to hand the Stars their fifth straight defeat, a feat that has yet to be accomplished in the series.

The last time the pros went after their fifth straight was in 1948 when the All-Stars, headed by Otto Graham, Glenn Dobbs, Bob Stuber and Pat Harder, dumped the Washington Redskins 27-7.

Since the game was inaugurated in 1934 when the All-Stars and Chicago Bears battled to a scoreless tie, the pros have won 13, lost 6 and tied 2.

This year the Stars will be bolstered by an all-professional coaching staff headed by Curly Lambeau, pro football pioneer at Green Bay and former Chicago Cardinal and Washington Redskins coach.

Lambeau has made few comments about the game except to say his team has "spirit, size and courage" and in order to beat the Browns, "we'll have to outscore them."

Going over past All-Star victories the fact that sticks out is that outstanding players in each triumph went on to stardom in the pro ranks.

In 1950 such stalwarts as Charley Justice, Fred Morrison, Gordon Soltau and Eddie Labaron led a 17-7 triumph over Philadelphia.

George Ratterman, Buddy Young and Charley Trippi were key men in 1947's 16-0 victory over the Chicago Bears. The previous year Graham, Harder and Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch pounded Los Angeles, 16-0.

Cecil Isbell was one of the big guns in the 28-16 triumph over Washington in 1938 and Sammy Baugh's pass to Gaynell Tinsley was all the Stars needed to dump Green Bay in 1937, 6-0.

Again the lineup is studded with name players from throughout the nation.

There are such "can't miss as pros" as old Max boydston of Oklahoma Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin's great full-back, Dick Moegele, Rice's breakaway runner, Notre Dame's Ralph Guglielmi, and Southern Methodist's Frank Eidom, just to name a few.

Figures He's Waited Long Enough!

The long-striding, fast-moving man you see in this picture has made the right decision at the right time!

For the past year or so, he has been thinking about a Cadillac—and he has finally made up his mind.

He is through with compromise and doubt and wonder. This time, he is going after the real thing!

And how lucky he is that he made that decision today! For wonderful news of a special nature is waiting for him.

He'll find, for instance, that Cadillac ownership is far more practical now than ever before. He'll learn, in fact, that the lowest-priced Cadillac can be purchased for little more than he might expect to pay for a goodly number of the so-called medium-price cars.

He'll also find that his dealer—because of a low used-car inventory—is in a position to offer him a very generous allowance on his present car.

And he'll discover that, because of Cadillac's greatly increased production during the current year, he can take title to his new Cadillac after a surprisingly short waiting period.

And all these special inducements, of course, are in addition to the other great Cadillac virtues—such as legendary dependability and long life . . . remarkable economy of upkeep and operation . . . and traditionally higher resale value.

All in all, he's walking in on the motor car opportunity of a lifetime!

And how about you? Have you been postponing your dreams of a Cadillac?

If so, there's no reason to wait any longer. Come on in and see us. Let us put you behind the wheel of a Cadillac . . . and give you the whole, wonderful story of the "car of cars." We think you, too, will decide that you've waited long enough!

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—A selling wave swept through the stock market today and beat prices down severely.

Losses ran to between 1 and 4 points frequently. Gains were small and scattered, although a few areas held out against the fall.

During the worst of the selling, the ticker tape fell as much as two minutes behind in reporting the course of trading on the floor of the Stock Exchange. The pace was quite swift at times and well ahead of yesterday's 1,730,000 shares.

The market started lower and toward the start of the third hour it ran into a selling flurry centered in the motors, Chrysler and General Motors were a focal point of the selling and weakened rapidly.

Other major divisions were drawn into the decline including the steels, railroads, oils, coppers, and rubbers.

Aircrafts, which recently have had their share of selling weren't immediately affected by the fall but later joined the losers.

The market hit a record high level two weeks ago yesterday, and since then it has been headed downward in a reaction. Many traders and others in recent sessions took to the sidelines to wait a sign whether the market intended to sell off sharply or whether it might attempt to go through a quiet consolidation stage without a steep reaction.

Consequently, when prices began to sag today, there was little hesitancy about offering stock for sale.

Brokers cited the gradual tightening of credit as a factor in halting the boom in stocks. Yesterday the banks raised their charge for loans to brokers to 3 1/2 from 3 1/4 per cent, the second hike in two weeks.

Four-Year-Old Is Accident Victim

A four-year-old Greenville boy was reported in "generally good" condition at Pitt Memorial Hospital here today after he apparently ran into the path of a car on W. Fourth Street yesterday about noon and was struck down.

Billy Horne, of 1105 W. Fourth Street, received cuts, abrasions and a severe injury to one leg and ankle, attending physician Dr. Stephen R. Bartlett Jr. reported today.

Young Horne was struck apparently by a car operated by John M. Canwright, 21, of West End Trailer Park.

Canwright was travelling west on Fourth Street when the child apparently ran into the path of his car. No charges had been placed this morning by investigating officers Lt. H. E. Wooten and patrolman Charles D. Doss.

Canwright, a student at East Carolina College, was himself injured in a motor scooter accident at West End Circle several weeks ago, and William H. Horne Jr., the father of the injured child, was killed early this year in an auto accident near Washington.

Three Pitt HD Club Meetings Set This Week

Three Pitt County Home Demonstration club meetings are scheduled for this week, according to Home agent Lillie Little.

Bethel club meetings for luncheon tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. A. Manning. Mrs. Minnie Manning will be co-hostess.

On Thursday at 2:30 p. m. the Fountain club will gather at the home of Mrs. Willie Killbrew.

The Mt. Pleasant club meets Friday at 2:30 at the community building.

Demonstration at the meetings will be on the selection, use and care of all electrical appliances.

ABC Enforcers Destroy A Still Pitt County ABC officers H. B. Lilley and Walter Taylor yesterday destroyed a complete copper still using rye mash near Perkins X Roads.

The still, 30 gallons in capacity had been equipped with an automobile radiator for use as a condenser. It was not in operation when discovered and no arrests were made.

In addition, 100 gallons of mash was found in two 50-gallon drum barrels. The use of rye in the making of bootleg whiskey in this area is a relative rarity, one of the officers said.

Office Closing Until August 13 The Pitt County office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation will be closed until Monday, August 13, according to office manager Mildred Adams.

FCIC workers from throughout the state are currently attending a conference at Nags Head. Information concerning the local office can be obtained from Mrs. Frances Cobb at the County Agents' office.

Funeral Wednesday For John Burton Jr. John Burton Jr., 48, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Saturday night. Funeral services will be held at the Greenville Funeral Home Wednesday at 4 p. m. Rev. John C. Livingston, his pastor, will officiate. Interment will follow in Greenwood Cemetery.

He was born in Mt. Vernon, Ga., son of the late Burnee Collins and John Burton Sr. He was a carpenter and a member of the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church.

Watered Liquor Declared Legal ST. LOUIS (AP)—A bartender can add water to whisky, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled, but can't put more whisky in the bottle.

The 2-1 decision was handed down yesterday on the basis that the federal law forbidding the addition of "any substance" to a partly filled liquor bottle referred to a "substance" on which a tax is due. No tax is due on water.

The ruling was on the government's appeal of eight cases which had been dismissed in St. Paul, Minn.

Money For Mental Health Ass'n EXCHANGE CLUB

Charles D. Cobb, president of the Pitt County Mental Health Association, is shown above as he receives a check from E. O. Parkinson, president of the local Exchange Club. The money will be used by the Mental Health Association to further its work in the county. A principal project of the organization is to obtain a Mental Hygiene clinic for this city. Accepting Applications For New Grade School

Parents Committee for the new cooperative first grade private school is now in the process of accepting applications for the school.

Meeting last night, the group continued with plans for the class, in which children ready for school but ineligible for public school because of age regulations may be enrolled.

The committee has decided that the class be limited to 20 students. A spokesman for the group said it is hoped the children will benefit from a smaller group, "and we want to keep the standards as high as possible."

Interested parents may register their children by calling Mrs. Norman Pierce, 2338, and Mrs. Michael Lusk, 6208.

Administration of three readiness tests for registered children began this afternoon and will continue through Saturday. Only those children who are registered will be scheduled for the tests, conducted by Dr. Woodrow Flanary, Dr. Clinton Prewett and Dr. Hazel Taylor of the East Carolina College faculty.

Two committees were appointed at last night's meeting. One to discuss the cost of the school, to select a teacher and to determine her salary, is composed of Mrs. Joseph E. Waltz, Dr. Malene Irons, ECC Dean Leo W. Jenkins and Dr. Flanary. A tentative figure of $15 a month for the enrollment of each child has already been set by the Parents Committee.

Appointed to work on a charter for the school were W. H. Watson, local attorney; Mrs. Dan Wright, Mrs. Robert Moyer, Mrs. Robert Haynie, Mrs. Raymond Martin, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Lusk.

The Parents Committee will meet again Monday at 8 p. m. in the Radio Room of the ECC library.

City Schools In 'Best Condition' "Our schools will be in better shape for opening this year than ever before," City School Superintendent J. H. Rose declared today.

The buildings are receiving new coats of paint, inside and out, and janitors are now washing windows, waxing and polishing in preparation for the opening day September 1.

The superintendent reported 150 new desks for the C. M. Eppes School and 100 new steel folding chairs for the South Greenville School have just arrived.

New stage curtains for the South Greenville and Elmhurst schools will be installed this week.

Curb and gutters are now being installed at the Elmhurst School, and work on the Fourteenth Street sidewalk has begun.

Rose said he hopes to have his teachers lists ready by the end of the week.

Assists In Pitt Health Survey Amos Biles, from the Insect and Rodent Control Section of the State Board of Health, is here this week making an annual survey of all impounded waters in the county.

Biles is working with sanitarians from the Pitt County Health Department.

In this area, impounded waters include all farm irrigation ponds. Farmers must comply with certain regulations concerning these ponds each year, or their impounding permit can be invoked.

Caught By TV

NEW YORK (AP)—A television panel on the CBS show What's My Line? managed Sunday night to guess that the slim dark-haired young man's occupation was that of an elephant handler.

Nine hundred miles away in Royal Oak, Mich., two viewers thought they also recognized him as something else and they called the FBI in Detroit. Yesterday he was arrested on auto theft charges.

James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, identified the prisoner as James Marshall Showers, 27. He had come from Detroit five weeks ago to handle two elephants in the "Arabian Nights" show at Jones Beach State Park on Long Island.

Showers, who used the name Jimmy Mitchell, had appeared on the television program as a promotion for the Jones Beach show. Associates there said he at first declined to go along with the idea but finally gave in and consented.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The woman defendant in municipal court raised her left hand when City Clerk Duffy Horan started to give her the oath.

"Raise your right hand," said Horan.

"But this is my right hand," she replied. "I'm left-handed. It's the hand I use all the time."

"But it's not the hand you swear by," Horan insisted.

The woman finally relented but said in a hurt tone:

"It still doesn't feel right."

Burl Took To Singing Because He Thought No Work Involved

By W.G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—I was always lazy," says Burl Ives. "When I was a boy I thought singing would keep me out of work."

He lets out one of those tingling, high-pitched laughs that you've heard on his records, in his concert-hall appearances, and on Broadway.

"It's kept me in a regular stew of work all my life."

He doesn't look as though it had worn him down, however. As big as two Santa Clauses, he has a paunch on which he could rest a harp, a guitar and a mandolin, too, all at the same time, though he usually strums only one, the guitar.

At present you know him in Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer-prize-winner, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," in which he's the male lead—not the cat, not the hot tin roof, but rough and tender Big Daddy.

But you knew him first—unless you knew him in Southern Illinois as a boy gospel singer, the work which he thought would keep him out of work—as the folk-song interpreter and also as author of some folk-song books and the autobiography, "Waywising Stranger."

Does being a ballad singer help him when he turns to straight acting?

"Actor and painter and singer and Mr. Sarnoff (David Sarnoff, chairman of the Board, Radio Corporation of America)," he replies, "we're all in the same business, the communications business. I've done some writing and all my life I've dealt in words. This standing up before an audience is a transferable ability or talent. I took up painting recently, and I think I could communicate there, too."

What's happening to the folk songs?

"The field of folk-songs has been pretty well worked over. It doesn't seem likely that, after the researches of such men as Lomax and Cecil Sharp and Vance with his Ozarks collections, there can be much left that hasn't been brought out and presented in recital or printed. I still get ballads given to me while I'm on tour; sometimes written down, sometimes sung to me by some backstage visitor."

"On the other hand," he continues, "they enjoy a respect they did not use to. There was a time when a college student thought it was no credit to him to know 'Barbara Allen' or hillbilly numbers, and that only Beethoven and Brahms counted. Now education is smarter. A lot of young people sing these pieces now, and will teach their children. There's a revival in colleges; record sales get much larger."

themselves, people tend to listen to Godfrey and Ed Sullivan. That's what I call getting music from the outside in. But I believe singing is coming back. More and more people are getting music from the inside out.

"I'm a great inside-out man myself. I'm not much of a listener. We (wife and six-year-old son) very seldom go to pictures, or look at television. I prefer to sit alone with my thoughts, or do something myself."

BURL IVES

He has a mustache, and a beard, and mobile features. He's a big cigar smoker both on and off the stage. He had a ketch, but has no more time to sail it. He's pretty proud that, in his midforties, he has only three fillings and pretty sad that his son has four. He says it's because he had the advantage of being brought up on naturally-grown greens, raw milk, and such like.

Before the "Cat" curtain goes up, he vocalizes for ten minutes, and he does scales before the second act. It keeps his voice in the right place, he says. On recital tour he does about the same, but the play is harder on the vocal muscles, he says.

Says Too Many Prisoners Held

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Garrett Hevins, warden of the Michigan State Reformatory, says a third of the 20,000 inmates in federal and state prisons shouldn't be there.

Hevins told the National Probation and Parole Assn. that this third of current cases should have been handled by probation or other treatment at the community level.

Another third of the inmates, he said, have relatively simple problems that can be taken care of in time. He termed the remaining third "hard core cases" that require long confinement.

Hevins, former president of the American Prison Assn., said that prisons "were not meant to prevent crime, but rather to prevent recurrence of crime."

Hornless Dorset Sheep Developed

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A new breed of hornless Dorset sheep has been developed by Prof. Emanuel Goode, North Carolina Experiment Station scientist.

With his horns, a Dorset is a picturesque animal with great spiraling horns.

The Dorset has great commercial possibilities in the South, Goode says, but never has been popular with Southern sheepmen because its horns make it difficult to manage.

PRODUCING PICASSO—Pablo Picasso and his daughter, Maya, stand behind producer Henri Georges Clouzot during filming of the artist's life story in Nice, France.

Bigger Bombs And Fallout Spur FCDA Classes

What would happen to rural areas if a critical world situation or actual attack should force millions of city dwellers to evacuate into the countryside? This is one of the problems dealt with in the new evacuation course given by the Federal Civil Defense Administration Staff College at FCDA headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich.

The course—first of its kind in the world—is designed to face the problems which have arisen since FCDA began relying more on evacuation than shelters to protect city folks from bombing. Tests with the H-bomb have shown that shelters around ground zero, would be smashed by the much more powerful hydrogen weapon.

If the city were forced to move to the country, residents of small towns and farms would be outnumbered by evacuees an average of three and four to one.

On the densely populated East Coast especially, questions of how evacuees would be fed and sheltered, traffic control, basic sanitation, who would keep order and prevent looting, and even where to park all the city cars would become pressing problems.

Without a functioning civil defense organization to handle these problems, this flood of hungry, displaced persons could create an impossible problem for individual farmers and townspeople. In Operation Alert, for example, which simulated 55 American cities bombed, 25,000,000 were estimated to be without homes.

If they were prepared and organized in a rural civil defense unit, country folks in the first hours during and after an attack could maintain order in their localities, set up temporary reception areas and provide for mass feeding.

Later on, more highly trained CD workers could take charge of such problems as resettlement of bombed-out evacuees and locating of missing persons.

The FCDA Staff College provides ready answers to all these problems. It couldn't, because metropolitan areas vary so widely, and the city CD's main problem of getting people out of town differs so much from the rural civil defense problem of taking care of them when they arrive.

However, using "City Z"—(essentially St. Louis) as an example, the FCDA instructors test the students' capacity for independent emergency thinking by setting up situations they might face, and then evaluating the students' solutions.

The ceiling of 50 students was enrolled for the first evacuation course many months before it began July 18. However, enrollment is still open for two free evacuation courses in the Fall—October 3-7 at Battle Creek, Mich., and November 7-11 at FCDA's Olney, Md., Facility near Washington, D.C.

Information may be obtained by writing the Director, Staff College, FCDA, Battle Creek, Mich.

Dr. land's northernmost airfield is Alert, the Canadian-U.S. weather station on northern Ellesmere Island. It is only 518 miles from the North Pole.

Forged Checks 'Easy To Cash'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Donald Schoof, Detroit postal inspector, says bad check artists are having a field day at the expense of merchants who still think the customer is always right.

Addressing a law enforcement conference at Michigan State University, Schoof said it has become ridiculously easy to cash a forged check.

"Rank novices are swarming in to the racket because merchants are so afraid of offending a customer," said Schoof. He said one Detroit market recently cashed a check on "the Bank of the United States" and that another cashed a photostat of a check.

MARRIAGE for THREE

By ELIZABETH STIFFERT

SYNOPSIS The post-war housing shortage in Kemerly, Missouri, had induced the newly wed Lairds, Adam and Ann, to engage in a home building business there. Adam, an experienced carpenter, had served with the Seabees during the war; Ann had been a secretary at the local lumber mill. So, bravely, these Lairds pooled their knowledge, formed a partnership of sorts and set forth to build homes for the people of Kemerly. But they made the mistake of first of all building a home for themselves.

CHAPTER TWO

Ann had become accustomed to Adam's bringing people to see her house, to show them how he'd arranged things in her kitchen, or the built-in storage units. When he brought still another young couple, about to be married, and showed them around she talked pleasantly to the girl, and then went on with some sewing which she had in hand. When the young folk were leaving, the prospective bride came to Ann and told her how much she liked her house! "It's just perfect!" she declared. Ann smiled, and thanked her. But at the end of that same week, Adam's lips white because he was doing something he hated to do, asked her what she'd say if he told her that he'd sold their house. She turned clear about to stare at him, unable to speak at all, unable to believe... Finally she said, "You didn't, you couldn't!" "Well," said Adam, shifting miserably from one foot to the other, "it's in your name too—and you don't have to sign the papers. But I hope you will, Ann. I'm sure you understand why I had to do this."

them. But, for now— He sat down and held his hand out to Ann. "Look, honey. Let me explain about the house. I thought you knew how thin I'd cut things. I had to have some cash, Punkin. I had to— didn't come easily to Adam. He wanted to explain that one could always build another house, but to go into bankruptcy would have finished him as a contractor. And—and—well—it was their whole future—their security—he'd thought she would understand their first quarrel. Only, it ran too deep to be cleared up quickly; and they neglected to heal the hurt with kisses. Instead, there developed a cold state of strain between them, and a skittering away from the issue. Adam began to stay away from the house quite a bit—excusing himself by the knowledge that he was terribly busy. Ann found an apartment for them; it was small—three rooms and one closet—but it would answer their basic needs. The new bride and groom were ready to buy some of their furniture. The move was made, and life went on—that is, they ate and slept in the new place. Ann answered the telephone, kept Adam's books. But there was a difference, too. She had no enthusiasm for her "home" nor for his work; she asked no interested questions, made no effort personally to contribute ideas. She took phone messages, automatically wrote them down. If Adam failed to look at the pad beside the phone, if he failed in various ways to do what he should do, or had promised to do Ann no longer went to great lengths to apologize, to cover up, to restore him to the good graces of the offended and indignant client. "Why didn't you explain to the Goodings that I couldn't bring tile setters here for a job that will take only an hour or two? I have to wait on the Flanders job and do them both at once." "When you agreed to remodel the Gooding fireplace, did you tell her that she would be torn up all summer?" "What's got into you, Ann? You know I hoped to do that job when I worked on the Martin kitchen—but they changed their minds about using glass tile, so—You used to coax this sort of person along for me." "I know I did." "That Gooding job will amount to my commission on a thousand dollars. It's worth doing—and not worth losing." Ann took a deep breath as if ready to say something, then she thought better of it, and picked up the book which she had been reading. Adam rubbed his big bony hands together. "All right, say it!" he demanded. She sat thoughtful for a minute. Then—"I'll say it," she agreed. "I'll say that I will do your work, Adam. Your book work correspondence and so on. But— Her smooth brown head began to swing from side to side. "I won't do your dirty work. I don't like to, I don't want to and I won't. Besides, I am too busy for all that that sort of thing involves." Adam squinted his eyes as if to see her in better perspective. "Busy at what?" he asked. "Don't you think," she asked coolly not looking up, "that a wife has a right to some interests of her own?" "I'm not talking about wives. I'm talking about you! What interests do you have?" Now she looked at him, and the protest in her face made him back water. "Well, I mean, of a kind that keeps you from being decent to my customers." "I am decent to them. I don't need to spend an hour talking to her tell how awful her health is, and how wonderful her children are." "You didn't used to mind doing that." "I don't have time, now," she said. (To be continued)

Artist Lured To Do Sketch For Movies

By JAMES BACON HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—If you find your eyes lingering on the newspaper advertisements for "The Kentuckian," you have good appreciation of art.

The sketch of Burt Lancaster with boy and dog was done by Thomas Hart Benton, one of America's finest and most controversial artists.

How did Hollywood lure Benton? Producer Harold Hecht said he always had admired Benton's work and knew that he was the one artist who wouldn't come up with the conventional in advertising art.

Hecht also remembered Benton's famous statement which got him fixed from his teaching job at the Kansas City Art Institute in 1941. At that time, Benton said:

"I'd rather sell my paintings to bawdy houses and saloons—even to women's clubs—than have them hung in art museums."

Hecht figured that anyone who would make a statement like that might be ripe for a movie offer. The artist was.

Of course, money was good too. Hecht was offered a $500 commission for the picture plus a few thousand more in expenses and any future royalties on prints and lithographs.

But even that fee—more than some of the old masters made in a lifetime—wasn't able to hold Benton at first.

On the first day of sketching, the 66-year-old Benton made an appointment with Lancaster at 7 o'clock one evening. Lancaster, both the star and the director of the movie, was two hours late. As the big actor, dressed in buckskins and still wearing makeup, strode hurriedly into a hotel at Owensboro, Ky., where the picture was made, he found Benton leaving.

The artist had pecked his bags and called a cab for the airport, intending to chuck the whole deal by flying home to Kansas City. Lancaster, who isn't used to pleading with people, jumped in the cab and did a fast-talk job on Benton. By the time the cab reached the airport, the artist was pacified.

But was late for no more appointments with Benton. The two became fast friends.

WILD WEST? LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Police rounded up a gent with the handle of Luther Texan Longhorn, 55, on a cutting and wounding charge. Got him on Corral Street.

Boston Hopeful Worst Is Over

BOSTON (AP)—Health authorities expressed hope today that Boston's polio has passed its peak. Edward J. Dailey, administrator at Haynes Memorial Hospital, said that only 2 of 26 polio cases admitted at Haynes in the last three days are Boston residents. "It looks like it is beginning to shift outside the city," he said. Twelve new cases of polio were reported in Boston, bringing the city's count for the year to 324. Two deaths—an 8-month-old Boston girl and a 39-year-old Wayland wife—raised the city's death list to 24.

Cleanup Cheaper Than New Doors

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—County supervisors wanted to do away with costly cleaning of the county building's ornate brass doors. They asked bids on four new automatic glass doors. When bids were received, supervisors decided brass is just fine. The new doors would cost $6,854. Connecticut has 831 miles of railroad.

Deposits Of Coal Awaiting Indians

By MURRAY SINCLAIR (AP Newsfeatures)
TUCSON, Ariz.—The oldest coal mining district in the United States may soon be put into large-scale production for the first time.
Dr. John Hack of Harvard University reported the ancestral Hopi Indians of northern Arizona heated their shelters with coal in 1200. Now their large deposits may be used to generate electrical power.

The Harvard group decided prehistoric Americans realized the value of coal about the same time as the English. The British used it to bring about the industrial revolution. The Indians discarded it in favor of wood and sheep dung.
Dr. George A. Kiersch of the University of Arizona is heading a group of geologists and technicians making an inventory of the wide variety of mineral resources of the Navajo and Hopi reservations. They are also trying to find commercial uses for the materials.
Original estimates made 40 years ago placed mineable coal on the reservations at eight billion tons. Kiersch said work done the past couple of years has reduced this estimate to something in excess of two billion tons. It is a good, average grade bituminous coal.

Plans for a power plant in the reservation are now on the planning boards.
Coal seams in the land of the Hopi generally range from two to eight feet in thickness. A few beds 12 to 20 feet thick are known. Most coal production in the U. S. comes from seams three to six feet thick. Arizona isn't going to rival the nation's leading coal-producing states. Seams of the eastern U. S. extend for tens of miles. Reservation seams run for thousands of feet only. Then the thickness narrows until they are only a few inches wide.
Hopi coal mines seem to have been abandoned after the Spaniards arrived. The newcomers brought axes. This made it easier to cut wood for fuel than dig coal.

Choice Duty On Malayan Trains

SINGAPORE (AP)—Six pretty Malay girl receptionists with easy smiles and charm are making travel more pleasant on the Malayan Railways. But trouble is brewing.
The railway traffic operating union complains that the management had promised that present employees would have first choice when vacancies came to be filled. Instead, the union charges, the management broke that understanding by appointing the six girl receptionists at stations in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur "whose only connection with the railway was that they had probably travelled once or twice by train."

'Wetback' Cat Is Traffic Victim

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Longshoremen found a cat in a railroad freight car which had been sealed a month earlier far down in Mexico.
They named her Wetback, a term applied to Mexicans who cross the border without benefit of passport. She survived the many dangers of life on the waterfront and produced two litters of kittens.
Then one day after her customary siesta, she wandered onto harbor drive. An American automobile killed her.
ON TARGET
SANDSTON, Va. (AP)—Dick Steinman, 13, was digging in a flower bed and unearthed a thickly rusted Civil War rifle. He figured it was a relic of the Battle of Seven Pines fought here in 1862. Dick's house is at the corner of Confederate and Union Avenues.

SEAWOLF LAUNCHED — The Seawolf, United States' second atom-powered submarine, 3,000 tons and 330 feet long, moves out on Thames River after launching at Groton, Conn.

Observing that he has no personal choice at this time, he said at this point he "wouldn't count anybody out" of the race.

Carmine G. DeSapio Tammany Hall leader and New York national committeeman, who has been running Harriman for the nomination, got some unexpected support here yesterday.

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, Connecticut Democrat, said that as New York's chief executive Harriman has a "wonderful springboard." He added he thinks Harriman is a candidate.

California's Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight told a news conference he thinks Harriman would give Eisenhower the strongest opposition from within the Democratic ranks. He said Stevenson is weakened by being a defeated candidate.

Knight and Gov. William G. Stratton Illinois Republican, professed firm convictions that Eisenhower will run again.

Claimed Blame In Traffic Court

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Mrs. Glen Edward Thomason appeared in police court and told Judge James Demopolos she'd take all the blame for her husband's ticket for speeding. She explained it was her fault because she had disconnected the car's speedometer.

Mrs. Thomason asked that she be allowed to pay the fine. The judge went one better and suspended sentence.

Ride To Airport Is Longest Part

DETROIT (AP)—Some Detroit people have found that the trip to the airport is the longest part of the trip to New York. They say they can take an air taxi from Detroit City Airport, make a 90-mile trip to Cleveland land at the Municipal airport there and catch the New York Plane.

Through airlines make their Detroit stops at the Willow Run Airport. The passenger says the 90-mile trip to Cleveland saves time.

SHAME FOR SMOKERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Careless smokers are getting the "shame" technique along the Henry Hudson Parkway. To cut down on fires which have ruined fencing and grass plots bordering the parkway, red and white signs reading "careless smokers caused this destruction" have been erected at obviously ravaged sections.

Conversation Is Part Of Bargain

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — "A farmer is entitled to a little conversation" when he pays a fee to a veterinarian.

That's what Virginia's commissioner of agriculture, Parke Brinkley, told a meeting of veterinarians here. Don't just pocket the fee and leave, but tell the farmer what's wrong with the animal, Brinkley said. He said it was good public relations.

HE FILES CASE

PIERSON, Mich. (AP)—Blind Alton Petrie, who operates a small hardware store was mystified when small amounts of cash disappeared daily from a leather pouch where he kept receipts. He filed identifying marks on several coins and asked other merchants to watch for them. The trap bagged three boys, who admitted their raids had netted about $25.

Harriman And Stevenson Meet To Talk Politics

CHICAGO (AP)—Two top Democrats meet here tonight for a talk that may have an important bearing on the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination contest.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, arriving today for the 47th annual Governors Conference, dines tonight with former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the 1952 Democratic nominee.

There are indications that Harriman would like to know privately what Stevenson has been unwilling as yet to say publicly—whether he again will be a candidate.

Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman and a close associate of Stevenson, said in an interview that if Harriman wants to know Stevenson's decision "he certainly can find out."

For himself, Mitchell said he has no doubt that "Stevenson will be running against President Eisenhower next year with a lot better chance of winning than he had in 1952."

Harriman has said repeatedly that he is for Stevenson. But he hasn't indicated any certainty that the former Illinois governor will run. And most politicians think he needs to have that information long before an expected announcement by Stevenson next November.

Harriman in a radio interview in New York yesterday, said the people are swinging away from the Republicans and will vote them out next year even if President Eisenhower runs.

He said that Eisenhower is popular, but added this popularity could not stand the test of a campaign.

"There has been an extraordinary swing away from the Republican party, a disillusionment in the last two years," he said.

Asked whether he would try for the Democratic nomination, he repeated that he is for Stevenson.

Gov. John P. Simms, New Mexico Democrat, said he didn't have much luck learning Stevenson's intentions when he talked with him.

"I think he is the strongest man in the party," he said. "But the man who gets the nomination next year will be a man who goes after it. I told him rather plainly that I think he ought to say what he intends to do within a short time." Simms said he has heard "considerable talk" among Democrats about Harriman, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., has awarded the Doctor of Laws degree to Miss Nellie Dyer, Methodist missionary, who twice was a prisoner of the Japanese in Korea during World War II. The citation read: "Her career has attracted widespread interest and it has called for the admiration of the free world by reason of the remarkable fortitude she showed in two harrowing experiences as a prisoner-internee. Amidst all the plaudits and praise she has received, she has humbly stressed the fact that 'we are not our own.'" One of the most fruitful projects fostered in Korea under missionary auspices and through Church World Service has been the organization of "Widow's Sewing Circles." In practically all parts of Korea such circles have been organized by the churches and schools, gathering women widowed by the war into small cooperatives where they are able to make a livelihood or part-time for themselves and for their children. In the city of Seoul, nine such circles have formed the "Korean Women's Exchange" through which are sold most of the articles made by the women. The SKYLINE VIEW — Giraffes arriving from Africa aboard SS. Spreewald need not crane their necks for a view of New York skyline. They're destined for a Cleveland zoo.

Exchange now has two sales outlets and plans to open a third in the city. Other cities are planning similar exchanges. "We have felt that the best way to help the people is to help them help themselves," says Mrs. Ruth Burkholder, Methodist missionary who has been working with the Korean widows. "Go . . . Make disciples of all" is the theme of Christian Education Week to be celebrated across the nation in most Protestant churches from Sept. 25 to Oct. 2. Two major projects, annually sponsored by the National Council of Churches, will look toward "improving the church school" and increasing its enrollment and attendance, and "in reaching the unreached (by the church) in the local community." The period will include the observance of Rally Day for the school and of Worldwide Communion Sunday for the church. "If church school teachers take seriously the command 'Go . . . Make disciples,' they will realize that parents must be their allies in this endeavor and also that children are their allies in the case of unchurched parents," says a statement of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church endorsing the observances.

Double Check On Absentee Pupils

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Absent elementary school pupils will be double checked this fall. Teachers devised the plan following several national reports of kidnapping and molesting of youngsters. School personnel will call the pupil's home the first thing in the morning and right after lunch in cases of unexplained absences.

Raccoon Visited Via Cat's Door

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Fred Marshall heard a scratching in his living room early one morning. When he got out of bed he found a big snarling raccoon. Marshall chased it to the third floor and back down stairs before it escaped through a hole in a screen door which had been made for the cat.

Bigger Snake On Her Doorstep

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—"Keep your eyes open, there may be another one around," the state road worker told Mrs. Arto Sweepenheiser after he killed a 35-inch rattlesnake in her back yard with a shovel. Still a little nervous, the woman started out her back door only to find a bigger rattler coiled on the steps. Carl Hunsinger, a neighbor, shot it. It measured 40 inches.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures
A WALLED-IN GARDEN with pool, adjoining a secluded covered porch joined to the living room by sliding glass doors, merges the outdoors with the indoors in this plan. Another covered dining porch facing the rear garden and a covered entrance porch in front are among other features of this house. An outside basement entrance opens this valuable cellar area for the storage of garden implements. This is plan M466-AP by Rudolph A. Matem, architect, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N.Y. The house covers 1,604 square feet without garage and porches.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

If you ever stepped on a rake in the dark and saw that flash that occurs when the handle hits you between the eyes, you can probably see why so many people are going in for outdoor lighting around their homes.

A friend of ours recently floodlighted his entire grounds after he stepped on a roller skate in his driveway. And floodlighting becoming quite the thing to discourage prowlers. Only point is that the bulbs should be shielded as much as possible from direct view. Placing the lights under the eaves at four corners of the house is good practice.

Floodlights, or any other kind of outdoor lighting, should not be directed at a neighbor's house any more than toward your own house. About the height of bad suburban manners is to plant a private street light in your front yard in such a way that it will spill your neighbor's relaxation on his own porch or in his own yard.

Accent lighting of gardens and landscaping is another comparatively new wrinkle. In fact, the ladies at their garden clubs have discovered that electric lights used at night over flower beds or vegetable gardens stimulate plant growth. They say their flowers grow faster.

Well, garden decorative lighting is a matter of personal taste. The best idea is to use a few lights, rather widely spaced. This creates points of interest rather than a monotonous washed-out look of floodlighting. Such lights can be directed up into trees and shrubs as well as down from above.

As for bugs—you'll have to find out about them by experimenting. One thing you can count on is that yellow bug-lights do not actually keep insects away. They simply do not attract as many bugs as white lights do.

Outdoor living is probably responsible for the big spread in the use of electric power in the yard. Porches, patios and terraces are now commonly illuminated. And the increasing popularity of electric lawn mowers, hedge clippers, power-operated barbecue spits, hot-bed heating cables and what not, means a big need for outdoor power outlets.

The main problem in the use of electric wiring outdoors is to keep it dry. It used to be that expensive lead-sealed conduits were needed for all outdoor purposes. Plastic has simplified all of this. You can now get wiring known as Type-UF cable which can be laid in a trench in the ground without any further protection than the insulation it carries.

This type of cable has tough hide that will defy moisture, oil, acid, alkali and organic decay. It's tough enough to withstand any normal impact or abrasion. The depth of the trench you can lay it in depends on location. If you merely want to run it across the lawn, a couple of inches of depth—directly under the sod—is good enough. But if there is any chance that you may be digging in the area, make the trench 12 to 18 inches deep for safety.

An electrical conduit is still needed for the point where you bring this cable out of the ground. This will insure rigidity. Keep the conduit from wobbling by strapping it to a tree or by embedding it in concrete in the ground.

Permanent wiring is always best, indoors or outdoors. It presents no hazards and will last much longer than troublesome extension cords. We asked the electrical engineers of Anaconda Wire & Cable for some tips on outdoor wiring. Here are their suggestions:

1. Lights and outlets mounted on the house should be connected with the indoor wiring system.
2. For lights and outlets in the yard, provide a separate 115-volt circuit. If you expect to use many lights at the same time, several circuits may be needed.
3. Switches for the outside lights should be installed indoors or at some other spot permanently protected from the weather.
4. If temporary lights are used, they should be equipped with heavy-duty rubber-neoprene cords with weatherproof plugs, receptacles and sockets. Never use lamp cord or telephone cable. They are just too dangerous.
5. Always use weatherproof electrical boxes, outlets and fixtures.

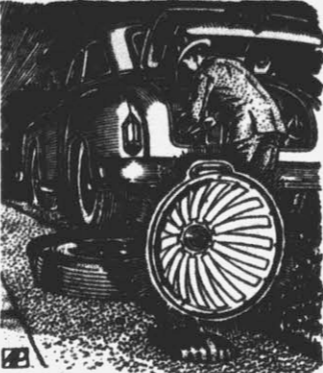

U.S. Gives Up Big Spy Network

BONN, Germany (AP) — The United States has quietly turned over Western Europe's largest spy network to the West German government.

Senior German officials disclosed today the powerful espionage service headed by Reinhard Gehlen, a former Wehrmacht lieutenant general has been placed under the direct control of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

For the last eight years the United States has financed the "Gehlen organization," paying six million dollars a year. The transfer follows the emergence of West Germany as a sovereign partner in the Western defense lineup.

A BRILLIANT safety signal to reflect headlights when nighttime roadside repairs are necessary can be made from a discarded electric heater cone. Strips of reflector tape or luminous paint can line the concave surface. Popular Science magazine suggests removing old heating element and wiring.

Never Too Late To Learn To Swim

TAKES PLUNGE AT 73 . . . Mrs. Eve Bergemeyer takes swimming lesson from pool manager Jack Spragins.

AP Newsfeatures
COLTON, Calif.—The only time until a year ago that Mrs. Eve Bergemeyer had ever donned a swimming suit was when she stuck her toes into Clear Lake, Iowa, a few years ago.

But this summer, at the spry and happy age of 73, the retired stenographer decided she wanted to be a swimmer, after starting her beginner's course, and returned for more training in order to complete the course.

While the bronzed lifeguards at the municipal pool urged her onward and the young fry whistled and yelled, "Where's Your Bikini, Marilyn?" Red Cross officials ran to their record books to see if she hadn't set a record of some sort.

"In the 30 years I've been with the Red cross here and in the Midwest," said Roger C. Plasted, water safety director for the Red Cross in Los Angeles, "the oldest I've ever had any one signing up for swim lessons was 65 year. I think Mrs. Bergemeyer, as a rank beginner, must hold some claim to fame for swimming the 60-foot width of the Colton pool at the age of 73."

Colton plunge manager Jack Spragins said Mrs. Bergemeyer was born in McGregor, Iowa, April 11, 1882, and came to California with her husband, Joseph, a retired railway worker, in 1945.

Mrs. Bergemeyer's doctor says the swimming "agrees with her 100 per cent.

Prophecy In Jest Was Too True

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Porter Antony Byros, 28, was carrying a heavy oak coffin down the street. A neighbor asked him whom it was for. "For me," he quipped. A few minutes later he slipped, fell and was crushed by the weight of the coffin.

SUPERIOR BEAUTY—Here's one advantage you can spot as far as you can see! Pontiac's smart combination of Twin-Streaked hood and Vogue Two-Toning is generally acknowledged to be the major style advance of the year.

SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE—The Strato-Streak V-8, too, sets this car apart from any other. It is the industry's most modern engine—filled with "firsts" that pay off in 200-horsepower* action and the greatest thrift in Pontiac history.

SUPERIOR SIZE—There's 124 or 122 inches of road-leveling wheelbase under Pontiac's spacious Body by Fisher. And that means a solid sense of security not surpassed by any car.

SUPERIOR HANDLING EASE—There's extra security, too, in the lightning response of Pontiac's brakes, steering and acceleration. Even parking is a pleasure with action like this.

SUPERIOR COMFORT—What's your idea on this score? Big, soft seats? Ample shoulder and leg room? A cushioned ride? Regal luxury? That's Pontiac comfort and it won't be topped by anything on the road.

Yet a Pontiac fits any new-car budget! Find out how little it takes to join the swing to Pontiac.

Organ Grinders Scorn Monkeys

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—There are only three organ grinders left here, and one of them is said about it.

"Think of it!" says Pasqualino Magliano. "Only three organ grinders in Naples. Doesn't seem possible, does it?"

Even at that, Pasqualino's hand-cranked mechanical piano doesn't turn out the old songs like "Funicoli, Funicola." His collection leans strongly to American folk music and cowboy laments.

"Once in a while, just for old time's sake," he says, "I put in the wire for one of the old songs, maybe 'O Sole Mio.' Mostly the people in the sidewalk cafes and on the balconies seem to like to hear these new tunes.

"Can you still make a living out of it?" he was asked.

Pasqualino made the sign of the cross, joined his expressive hands in a symbol of prayer.

"Just barely. Yes, just barely enough for daily bread. Of course in summer, with the tourists here, it's a little better."

Pasqualino was surprised to learn that Americans associate a monkey on a chain with the organ grinder.

"That is an old Sicilian trick," he said. "We never used them here. Who'd trust a monkey?"

Thank-You Note By Ex-Prisoner

GAINESVILLE Fla. (AP)—Alachua County jailers accustomed to abuse from prisoners were surprised to receive a postcard from Ernie Thomas, mailed in Jacksonville 60 miles away after he was released from serving a sentence for being drunk.

It said "I got here o.k. Thanks to everybody for being so nice to me."

Two-Story Fall Is Normal Affair

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—One mother here has a reputation for taking almost anything in her stride. When her son fell from a second story window a neighbor rushed in.

"How is he? How is he?" she wanted to know.

"Isn't hurt a bit," the mother said, "and neither is the assle bush."

Has Photo Of Mustached Horse

RED BUD, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. O. W. Godbey has proof that horses do have mustaches. Her father once had a plow horse named "Old Dick." It sported a six-inch handlebar which flourished in the winter when the horse ate in the barn. But during summer, the grazing horse wore his facial hair down to a mere stubble.

A photograph of "Old Dick" with his mustache in full bloom has been mailed to Mrs. Bessie Myers, a London housewife, who appealed to a newspaper for help in proving that some horses have mustaches.

Dope Addicts On Way To Trouble

TAIPEI Formosa (AP)—If official figures are correct a lot of people on Formosa are going to prison for narcotic addiction.

Authorities estimate there are more than 10,000 addicts on Formosa. But when a deadline passed for addicts to register or face prison, only 295 had showed up.

The oldest to register was a 76-year-old woman. The youngest was an 18-year-old.

Some Lessons For Survival In H-Bomb Age Apparent

Editor's Note — It's 10 years since the first atomic bombs killed hundreds of thousands of Japanese. Much has been learned since Hiroshima, and evacuation is not the only defense. This is the first of four articles on how to survive an H-bomb.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Some simple lessons for surviving H-bombs are becoming clear. They could mean the difference between life and death for you and your family. But they often are overlooked in the paralyzing belief nothing can be done. Some people think one H-bomb will kill everyone within a great circle 40 to 60 miles across. Some see no escape from radioactive fall-out. And many expect, curiously, to be right under the center of an H-bomb, so why think about defense or protection? Whether they live might depend upon knowing the lessons learned in A-bomb tests in Nevada, and from experience with H-bomb fall-out last year in the Pacific.

Look, first, at the homes in Survival City, Nevada, rocked last May by an A-bomb nearly twice as powerful as the A-bombs that shattered Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II.

A two-story brick house, standing 4,700 feet—less than a mile—from the center of the blast was destroyed. It was obvious no one could have survived on either the upper floor or ground floor.

But—the basement was intact, almost free of rubble. Anyone in shelters in that basement probably would have come through unscathed, says Harold L. Goodwin, atomic test director for the Federal Civil Defense Administration. A little warning, a little shelter, and life instead of death.

But suppose it had been an H-bomb nearly a thousand times more potent?

Then scratch off that two-story house so close to the blast, probably including anyone in the basement shelter.

But—similar houses a few miles distant even from the H-bomb could give the same story of survival, with shelter. Shelters below big city buildings could give the same kind of protection.

A bomb 1,000 times more powerful does not reach out 1,000 times as far. Its radius of heaviest blast effect is only 10 times greater.

The lesson: shelter and protection enormously increase your chance of survival, even within the ring of heaviest blast effect.

You may be giving an enemy bombardier too much credit for pin-point accuracy in hitting your home, factory or office—of hitting, say, Times Square and not a point five miles away, like La Guardia Airport. You share an equal risk with many others of being directly under the fireball and worst blast, and an equal chance of not being there.

That risk of being only near, and not directly under, a bomb makes knowledge of the survival lessons worthwhile.

Tomorrow — Bathroom shelter.

Another Crack In Dike Of Privacy, Freedom

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Another crack has appeared in the dike of privacy and individual freedom. This time the culprit is television.

It has begun innocuously enough in the sweet name of efficiency, but let's point it out immediately before the whole dam busts. The scene is the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn, where they plan to install a closed circuit TV setup for the teller serving a remote window which faces on the street and handles the baby-carriage trade.

It seems that this teller often has to stroll off to various parts of the bank to get balance cards for customers. Now a TV receiving screen will be placed in the teller's cage and when he wants a customer's record, he calls for it on an intercom system and the record is flashed on the screen. It sounds real efficient. But has it occurred to you that the teller in that cage may WANT to go wandering off? Suppose he wants a drink of water. Suppose there's a beautiful blonde handling the records with whom he's madly in love.

It's the inalienable right of a working man to wander off to get a drink of water or exchange a few words with a blonde in the course of his working day. He returns refreshed in spirit and ready for the old grind.

This television installation in a bank is trivial, you say. Not at all, say I. This is that small cloud on the horizon.

Have you considered what a closed circuit TV set could do to shop and office? Supposing Jones, the boss, gets the idea of having cameras trained on the working force and a screen placed on his desk three floors away.

At 9 a.m. Jones is in his office, set tuned in and fingers nervously tapping his desk. The working force scuttles in. Jones scans each desk on the screen. Ah, ha! Where's Smith? At 9:10 a.m. Smith sprints in and flings himself in his chair, sobbing for breath.

Jones snaps on his squawk box and snarls: "Late again, Smith! What's your excuse this time?" A microphone is lowered to Smith's face and he babbles his weak excuse.

Jones barks on the squawk box: "Feeble, Smith, feeble. This is your last warning."

This depressing drama could continue throughout the day, with the invisible Jones seeing everything: Who stole the paper clips. Who lingered at the water cooler. Who made a hideous face behind the straw boss.

The implications are limitless. Closed circuit television could be trained on human freedoms everywhere.

Going Anyplace For His Business

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Airport attendants say this really happened: A man rushed up to the window and asked for a ticket.

"Where to sir?" he was asked. "Anywhere, son," he said. "Anywhere. I've got business all over."

Soldiers Abroad Win High Praise

ORLEANS, France (AP)—American soldiers stationed in France are behaving better than they would at home, says Maj. Gen. Philip E. Gallagher, who commands the European communications zone. He has men stationed in towns and villages throughout France.

Such results don't come without work. The General pores over statistics from his command every day. Incidents—now largely confined to traffic mishaps—get a quick checkup.

"There is a growing tendency in the areas where our people are located to accept us," Gallagher says, "and most of our soldiers recognize their responsibility."

The District of Columbia has 34 miles of railroad.

Better Chances For Hitting 100

MINNEAPOLIS — Chances of living to age 100 are twice as good now as they were only half-a-century ago, says the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company. Of the nearly 20,000,000 babies born in the past five years, 80,000 should live to be 100 years old. Out of an equal number born in the early 1900's, however, only about 40,000 would be expected to reach the 100-mark.

Of the total white American population living today, approximately 500,000 will live to be 100, the insurance statisticians calculate on the basis of present trends. Out of each 100,000 babies born in the year 2,000. But of each 100,000 born in 1950 approximately 400 should live until 2,000 A.D.

Car Too Risky; Rides Motorcycle

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—O.W. Wilkinson is 80 and wants no part of automobiles.

"I don't feel safe," he says. When he wants to get out, he rides his motorcycle—just as he has been doing for 58 years. The only accident he's had was when he was 77. A car hit him but he turned his wheel so he was only "knocked across the street."

"Only trouble was," he explains, "another car was coming the other way and knocked me against a fence, broke my nose, cracked three ribs and split my head open. But I got right back on my motor when I got out of the hospital."

Hard Luck All His 28 Years

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Railroads, cars and boats were hard luck for John R. Hampton, 28. War wasn't so kind to him either. Hampton twice was shot during merchant marine service in World War II. Six years ago he suffered a broken back while working for the railroad. Four years later, a car he was driving upset and caught fire. He was badly burned. This month a motor boat in which he was riding exploded near Port Clinton. Death finally came in a collision while he was driving.
