'DIANE' IS EXPECTED IN MORNING

Coastal Resorts Begin Evacuating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coastal areas of Georgia and the Carolinas today braced for a mighty blow from Hurricane Diane. The season's fourth hurricane carried winds up to 115 miles an hour as it neared beaches and low lying sea islands along the lower Atlantic coast.

Police Chief David A. McCutchen ordered Savannah Beach, near Savannah, Ga., evacuated.

Tides up to 9 feet above normal were predicted for areas in the storm's path. Many of South Carolina's sea islands are 5 feet or less above sea level. Some islands and marshes along Georgia's coast are equally as low.

Hundreds of vacationers were moving inland and merchants were boarding up their stores and taking other precautions on the Georgia coast before joining the evacuation. McCutchen said there was a "strong possibility" that the only highway leading from Tybee Island would be flooded along a five-mile stretch.

Slow and orderly evacuation of beach resorts in the Charleston-Beaufort area continued.

Shipping in the threatened areas fled to safer harbors. The Atlantic Fleet Mine Force, at Charleston, alerted early yesterday, sought hurricane anchorages at the Georgia Ammunition Depot on the upper Cooper River.

At Charleston local and Red Cross officials set up a plan of action to be followed. Gov. George B. Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina said National Guardsmen and state police would be available if needed.

Amateur radio operators in the threatened area established an emergency network to take over communications if normal channels break down. The "ham" net is headquartered at the Charleston

Indian Mob Riots Over Bloodshed

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Inflamed over yesterday's bloodshed in Portuguese India, frenzied mobs of Indians rioted through Bombay today. They hoisted the Indian flag over the Portuguese consulate, forced newspapers, shops and business houses to close, and surrounded government buildings.

However, it appeared some sections of the mob were not as violent as they were in attacks on their own. Demonstrators shouted "Nehru leave Delhi and lead us to Goa!" as they stoned the consulate and smashed its windows. The consulate personnel had been evacuated earlier.

Police opened fire on the mob, wounding three demonstrators. Several bus and streetcar conductors were hurt in attacks on their vehicles as the mob enforced a general strike throughout the city.

Beginning at dawn, more than 150,000 Indians marched past the consulate screaming demands for military action against the three small Portuguese territories north and south of Bombay. Guards there yesterday killed an undetermined number of "nonviolent" Indian marchers demanding the cessation of the areas to India.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Nehru told the Indian Parliament that his government would not be "provoked" by the killings into military action against Portugal. He said he would continue to seek the transfer of Portuguese India, the last foreign territory in the country, by peaceful means.

Shops were also closed throughout New Delhi by a 24-hour protest strike.

Several thousand "nonviolent" Indian nationalist demonstrators marched into the Portuguese colonies of Goa, Damao and Diu yesterday on the eighth anniversary of India's independence from Britain. They sought to arouse popular support for the Indian campaign to take over the areas the last foreign territories in the country.

Reinforced Portuguese border guards opened fire on some of the marchers and drove others back into India with clubs. Many were arrested.

The Indian demonstrators called themselves Satyagrahis, followers of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi's tactic of nonviolence and passive resistance. Organizers of the march finally suspended further infiltration and said they would devise "a new strategy."

Estimates of the number of demonstrators dead ranged as high as 31, with many more reported wounded or missing in the jungles. The Indian government radio said the killing of 12 marchers had been confirmed, while in Nova Goa an official Portuguese spokesman said at least 13 Indians were killed and probably 30 wounded.

Rush Repair Of Protective Dunes Along N. C. Beaches

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Under the menace of approaching Diane and hampered by high tides and rough seas, military and civilian crews today rushed repairs to protective sand dunes eaten away by Hurricane Connie.

During the night a barrier about 1,500 feet long and five to six feet high was raised along the east end of the beach, where erosion was most serious. Approximately 60 percent of this held during the night, Capt. Gillespie said. Efforts to lengthen the temporary dune and increase its height continued today.

Rankin said Gov. Hodges was advised last night that a battalion of Ft. Bragg engineers will not be sent to Kure Beach. Rankin said the governor was informed that not more than a few hours work would be possible at Kure because of high waters, hampering the use of heavy machinery.

The 80th Engineers Battalion at Ft. Bragg remained on standby for emergency call.

Gen. Edward Griffin, state civil defense director, said the Army "felt there was very little they could do with the equipment they had."

Civilian crews at Kure "already are doing all they can," and a task force of Highway Commission equipment and men was scheduled to report there today, Griffin said.

He added work by private forces and Highway Commission personnel also is going on at Carolina Beach, near Wilmington.

In addition to Marine forces at Atlantic Beach, other equipment and force troops were at work at Surf City and on Topsail Island.

Slow Turn Northwest Predicted

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Hurricane Diane, her intensity and forward movement slightly diminished, but still dangerous, drove menacingly toward the Carolina coast today.

With possibilities of a curve northward, the coast north of Wilmington, N. C., to the Virginia Capes was put on hurricane alert. Hurricane warnings were up south of there to Fernandina, Fla.

The Weather Bureau in an 11 a. m. (EST) advisory placed this fourth hurricane of the season 235 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S. C. Her center winds reduced from 115 to 100 miles an hour. Her movement remained west-northwest (more west than north) at 10 miles an hour.

The advisory added:

"Continued movement at about 10 miles per hour toward the west-northwest with a slow turn toward the northwest later today or tonight is expected. This course should bring the center to the upper South Carolina or the North Carolina coast Wednesday morning."

"Winds will increase slowly along the North and South Carolina coast today and should reach gale (39 to 54 miles an hour) force late tonight or early Wednesday. Above 72 miles an hour force late tonight or early Wednesday. Tides are now reported one to four feet above normal and should reach six to eight feet above normal near and for 50 miles east of where the center crosses the coast."

The latest advisory appeared to have relieved Georgia coast points from immediate danger.

The possibility of a curve to the northward placed the North Carolina coast country in acute danger. Only last week it was swept by Hurricane Connie.

Fears Reds May Gain Advantage In Atomic Talks

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today that Russia may glean a military advantage from any international conference on peaceful uses of nuclear energy. He said that "risk" had to be taken by the United States.

Declaring himself in full sympathy with talks now in progress at Geneva, he said nevertheless that that conference will "open an opportunity for discovery and use by Russia of some new destructive potential of atomic energy that they may not have today."

The risk must be taken, he said in an interview, if the United States is to demonstrate to the rest of the world that it really intends to nourish the global hunger for peaceful application of the newest source of energy.

Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif) expressed confidence however that "proper arrangements have been made by the U. S. government to prevent information with a military application from falling into Russian hands."

He said the present Geneva meeting and any subsequent conferences "undermine the warlike intentions of the Communist nations."

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) late yesterday released a 600-page compilation of documents outlining the history of U. S. and U. N. efforts to apply atomic energy to power, medicine and agriculture.

Wiley, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, praised the Geneva meeting and said in a statement:

"There are few if any other phases of current international relations which offer more dramatic promise . . . in free-world cooperation and in East-West liaison than does the peaceful application of nuclear energy."

ARREST VANDALS
LINZ, Austria (AP)—Soviet military police have arrested a group of Russian soldiers who reportedly broke windows, upset statues and defaced the interior of a small church near Urfahr in the Soviet zone Sunday.

Find Weapons Believed Stolen From Army Depot

LONDON (AP)—Police raided an empty shop in London's shabby second hand market area today and seized a large quantity of guns and ammunition believed to have been stolen Saturday from a British army depot by Irish terrorists.

Some of the weapons, including Bren guns and rifles, were packed in boxes apparently ready for transportation, police said.

The weapons were seized in the basement of the empty shop on Caledonian Road in the King Cross Railroad Station area.

Police said they believed the weapons and ammunition were most of the haul made by members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) in their raid on the Aberfeldy Army Depot in Berkshire near Reading Saturday.

Twelve Scotland Yard detectives, all armed, kept a 12 hour watch before raiding the shop.

The fact they were armed illustrated the seriousness with which the police and the army regard the IRA raiders. Usually British policemen are unarmed.

Sir John Nott-Bower, head of Scotland Yard, and other high ranking police and army officers, viewed the seized weapons and ammunition before they were returned to the Berkshire police.

The IRA men, who followed up the Aberfeldy raid with two abortive swoops on depots in Wales and England, had been described as "desperate and dangerous." They made off with 68 guns and about 80,000 rounds of ammunition from Aberfeldy.

Fears grew that the swoops by the outlawed Irish Republican Army, dedicated to uniting Northern and Southern Ireland, by force if necessary—might lead to guerrilla warfare in Ulster the six Northern counties of Ireland still under the British crown.

Police already have found three of the vehicles believed used in the Aberfeldy raid.

One truck loaded with cases of ammunition was found on the day of the coup near Aberfeldy. Another truck and a passenger car used in the raid were found abandoned and empty in London earlier today.

The British War Office meantime clamped a tight guard on its armories and special watch was being kept on all means of exit from England in an effort to prevent smuggling of the arms to Ireland.

The avowed aim of the IRA, based in the Irish Republic as well as the United Kingdom, is to unite the six Ulster counties of Northern Ireland with the 26 counties of the republic. The six Northern counties are part of the U. K. under the British crown.

The Conservative Daily Sketch speculated that the IRA may adopt guerrilla tactics in Northern Ireland, pointing out that a "few thousand terrorists in Malaya have defied the might of the empire far longer than Hitler did."

The News Chronicle and Daily Mirror said that the IRA has a definite timetable for an invasion of Ulster. The News Chronicle said part of the plot would be to seize the Dublin broadcasting station and appeal for an Ireland-wide uprising against Britain.

Both Irish governments warned against any such violence.

Inquest Aug. 25 Into Two Deaths

An inquest into the deaths of two travelling salesmen who died last week when their car collided with a freight train in Stokes has been set for August 25, Coroner Griffin Rouse said today.

The two, Essel V. Poole, 34, of Route 2, Conover and Billy V. Carswell, 24, of Morganton died Thursday after their car collided with the engine of a southbound Atlantic Coast Line freight train.

This morning Rouse said the inquest is being held until investigating State Highway Patrolman Cpl. Carl E. Whitfield returns from Chapel Hill. Whitfield currently is acting as driving instructor there for a class of recruit patrolmen.

The engineer of the train was listed by Whitfield as H. G. Barrow, 47, of 1000 Long Street, Rocky Mount.

'Electrified' By Atomic Energy

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
ARCO, Idaho (AP)—Atomic power has the people of Arco feeling higher than a space ship.

"And naturally, they haven't started coming back to earth yet," former Idaho Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen said.

That's because this little east central Idaho ranching center worldwide fame last Friday with the disclosure it was the first town in history known to have been lit by atomic energy.

On the night of July 17 the Utah Power and Light Co. switched off the juice and let electricity flow into Arco's circuits from an Atomic Energy Commission experimental nuclear power plant 20 miles away.

People are more excited about it now than they were on that historic night. Nobody knew what was happening then except town officials and the Power and Light people.

Mayor Ralph M. Ellison even says the wrong date is going down in history. "It happened on July 16—a Saturday night," he said. "I remember for a fact, I don't know where they got that other date—but I know it was Saturday night."

But Clarence W. Byrne, Power and Light manager, who is "quite pleased" with his part in a "bit of history," said the mayor is mistaken. "Yes, it was July 17," he said and chuckled. "No doubt about that."

Before and during the test, those who knew about it were sworn to secrecy. But as soon as the word was over, Ellison said, the word started spreading among Arco's 1,200 residents.

Even then, he said, there wasn't much of a stir. "People got kind of enthused, but some said they didn't think it amounted to much—you know how some of these old-timers are."

"Then the story was released to the world last Friday, and Arco took note of its place in history."

Mrs. Michael Porter, bank cashier and housewife, put it this way: "We feel as if our town and its people have been written right into the history books and naturally we are elated. It was a thrill to learn about it . . . and we found out later that our local movie had been operated by atomic energy for nearly a half hour while we were watching it that night."

Mrs. Porter said "it was almost as big a thrill to be second viewers in the whole wide world" of the Atomic Energy Commission short movie about the Arco experiment. The first showing was just a few hours earlier in Geneva at the atoms-for-peace conference.

"That made us feel kind of important too," she said.

Mrs. Edith Merrill Arco's chief telephone operator, said "We were all a little bit dumfounded, and all excited."

And, said Mayor Ellison, "the old-timers had to admit it amounted to more than they thought. It made 'em think we're more important here than what we ever was."

Paul Cross, publisher of Arco's weekly newspaper, ran off 15 extra copies of last Friday's edition. Tourists snapped up the extra papers. Cross ran off 150 more front pages yesterday, and they were selling fast too.

"So you see," he said, "people are still excited."

"In fact there's quite a move on foot to have a plaque or something like that put up here to commemorate the occasion."

Local Man Held For Break-Ins

A 45-year-old Greenville Negro has been charged with breaking, entering and larceny and attempted safe robbery in connection with a break-in at Bell's Groceries & Oil Co. on Washington Street Friday night.

The Negro, Jesse Bass, surrendered himself to Wilson police yesterday. Wilson notified Greenville police chief S. G. Gibbs and detective R. T. Robertson, patrolman Caesar Corbett were dispatched to bring Bass back to Greenville.

In addition to admitting the attempted safe robbery, Bass, according to Gibbs, has admitted a breaking and larceny at the M. H. Nobles grocery on Wade Street last week. A quantity of merchandise consisting partially of pickled pigs feet and sardines was taken.

At the Bell firm, entrance was gained by prying open an outside door and an attempt to punch the safe was made. A radio, which Bass has admitted taking from Bell's, has been recovered, Gibbs said this morning.

FIVE-DAY WEATHER FORECAST FOR N. C.
Temperatures will average a few degrees below normal Wednesday through Sunday and rainfall will be heavy. Mild with heavy rain tonight and Wednesday, warmer Thursday with generally fair weather. Scattered showers about weekend.

Reds Join In Call For Korean Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Top Red Chinese and Korean leaders chorused a new demand yesterday for a Far East conference to unify Korea.

The proposal got short shrift in South Korea. A government spokesman in Seoul denounced it as "nothing but the usual Communist trick to gain more time for another armed aggression." He added, "We never believe in any talks with the Communists and we refuse to talk to them."

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and Commander in Chief Chu Teh both called for the conference, provided for in the Korean armistice.

North Korea's Premier Marshal Kim Il Sung went further and suggested a mutual North-South undertaking not to use force, and "speedily convening" of a North-South conference to "discuss the question of Korea's unification."

The Peiping radio, heard here, carried all three speeches, made on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan.

Chu Teh, speaking at a rally in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, said Communist China was in "complete agreement" with the "positive proposals" put forward by Kim and that the "Chinese people . . . will do their utmost to support them."

"We consider it highly necessary to hold a Far Eastern conference . . . to discuss the question of unifying Korea by peaceful means," he declared.

Chu scored efforts of President Syngman Rhee of South Korea to get the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission truce teams out of the country and said bluntly:

"No attempt to wreck the commission will be tolerated. . . . Rhee contends the Czech and Polish members on the truce teams are spies. After eight days of violence which injured 44 American soldiers and 100 Koreans, demonstrations tapered off only yesterday in five South Korean cities where the truce teams are stationed."

Chou En-lai, speaking at a reception in Peiping, likewise called for a Far East conference on Korea, upheld the truce teams, especially has an inescapable responsibility" to defend the truce teams against South Korean attack.

Chou revived the standing Red Chinese proposal that all foreign troops leave Korea.

Resigns

RALEIGH (AP)—Dr. I. Beverly Lake today announced he has tendered his resignation, effective Oct. 1, as assistant state attorney general and will join A. J. Fletcher of Raleigh in the practice of law here.

Lake joined the state Jan. 1, 1952. Prior to that he was professor of law at Wake Forest College for 18 years.

Argentine Tense As Peron Death Plot Charged

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Government charges that "Catholic nationalists" and opposition politicians had plotted to shoot President Juan Peron brought Argentina to its greatest state of tension since the June 16 revolt.

Police said more than 50 persons had been arrested. Other sources indicated as many as 200 might have been jailed. Previous announcements of such plots during the nine years of Peron's regime have signaled widespread round-ups of his enemies.

This could be the end of the "pacification" campaign Peron launched after the abortive navy uprising two months ago.

It also could mean a new flare-up in the feud between the President and the Roman Catholic Church—mostly dormant since the revolt—a new crackdown on the opposition parties, which have refused to go along with the pacification campaign unless the government ends its restrictive measures.

Adding to the unrest were new anti-government demonstrations in front of Buenos Aires Metropolitan Cathedral last night and earlier yesterday in the central Argentine city of Cordoba. Police used tear gas and fire hoses to scatter the crowds, arresting about 40 demonstrators in the capital and 15 in Cordoba.

There were no signs of special measures to protect the President. The government announcement said the plotters had planned to shoot him yesterday from an apartment they had rented on the route along which he usually drove between his office and his home.

The announcement charged that the conspirators planned also to kill Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, the army minister who quashed the June revolt, and other top officials and army commanders, and to launch a wave of terror by disrupting power lines, communications, radio stations and public utilities.

The government charged the "Catholic nationalist" plotters were "perfectly organized" in Communist-like cells and had secreted their arms in a Catholic convent. It said some arms caches were seized.

Police refused to reveal the names of those arrested.

The public demonstrations in Buenos Aires and Cordoba protested the government's removal of the Assumption from the list of official holidays.

In the capital, some 400 persons collected in the central Plaza de Mayo, shouting "He must go!" and "Liberty Liberty!" During the police action against them four shots were fired but nobody was reported hurt.

Several persons, including a policeman, were reported injured in Cordoba. There an overflow crowd at a special mass in Santo Domingo Church ignored police orders to disperse and started a demonstration.

Funeral Wednesday For Robert C. May

Funeral services for Mr. Robert C. May, 82, will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock by the Rev. Robert McKenzie, associate pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. R. W. Bradshaw, a former pastor. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Mr. May died at his home, 1007 South Elm Street, early Monday morning following four weeks of illness.

Mr. May, a native of Trenton, N. C., had lived in Greenville since 1941 and was service manager at a local automobile agency. He was a member of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the Carson Memorial Sunday School Class, and the Masonic Lodge at Trenton. He was married to the former Clara May Lowery of Trenton in 1924.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Lt. Robert C. May, Jr., of the United States Air Force, now stationed at Webb Air Force Base, Big Springs, Texas; a daughter, Mrs. W. H. Page of King's Mountain, N. C.; two brothers: Floyd May of Pink Hill, and Dalton May of New Bern; and a sister, Mrs. T. A. Bryan of Norfolk, Va.

The 7,900-acre Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio, has more than 1,000 buildings.

Fifteen Children Found Ready To Enter First Grade School

Fifteen children have passed readiness tests to enter the new cooperative first grade school for children not old enough to attend public school.

Parents Committee in charge of plans for the school reports there are still a few more openings, and interested parents should call Mrs. Francis Wahl, principal of Wahl-Costas Laboratory School, and Dr. Melrose Irons, local pediatrician. The tests are being administered to the children by Dr. Woodrow Flanary, Dr. Clinton Frewett and Dr. Hazel Taylor of the East Carolina College Psychology Department. Tentative plans now call for the school to be held in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, with a tuition of $15 a month for each child to be charged. A teacher has not yet been officially named.

Children enrolled in the school for the purpose of completing first grade work will be promoted to second grade in public school next year, if they pass the required work.

The entire program will be under the guidance of East Carolina College personnel, headed by Dean Leo W. Jenkins. Also supervising the school program will be J. H. Rose, city school superintendent; Miss Francis Wahl, principal of Wahl-Costas Laboratory School; and Dr. Melrose Irons, local pediatrician. Mrs. Michael Luskin is serving as chairman of the Parents Committee.

Dr. Irons told parents at a committee meeting last night that "This experience can only benefit the child, regardless of the success of the second grade." The teacher and the parents will have the benefit of consultations during the school year with Dean Jenkins, Rose, Dr. Irons, Dr. Flanary and Dr. Taylor.

Mrs. Luskin commented that it is "unusual for a school of this type to have so much professional help. Of course, prime interest of the school will always be to meet the particular needs of each individual child."

Final meeting of the Parents Committee has been scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. in the office of Dean Jenkins in the Administration Building at the college. All parents who are interested in the first grade school are invited to attend.

Home Agents Honored By Red Banks Club

Red Banks H. D. Club members, their families and friends enjoyed an old fashioned ice cream supper Friday night, August 5th, at the community building. The supper was given in honor of Miss Lois Jones, assistant Home Agent for Pitt County, and Miss Margaret Stevens Home Agent trainee.

The International Friendship program was carried out with tables representing many countries. Souvenirs were sent over from countries represented by friends to club members.

Mrs. R. B. Starling invited the guests to eat with the country of their choice, which included South America, Egypt, Africa, Holland, Hawaii, Canada, Florida and North Carolina.

Miss Stevens took the group on a delightful trip to Japan with beautiful slide pictures she made while she was an exchange student in that country.

Little Carl Wayne Hardee rendered three vocal numbers accompanied by his sister, Lois Jane Hardee.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Little, Dr. Howard Clay, from East Carolina College, Miss Margaret Stevens, Miss Lois Jones, Miss Clauder Mercer from Wilson, and Miss Effrida Busse from Germany.

Mrs. Starling led in a highway cleanup game which was enjoyed very much. Several pictures were made of the tables.

Decorations were by Mrs. L. S. Hardee and Mrs. Magnolia Everette.

Supper Party Fetes Club Members

GRIFTON—On Friday night Miss Hazel Patrick was hostess at a supper party for members of her contract club at her home on Queen Street. As the guests assembled they were shown their places at the card tables and served apple pie a la mode and during the games iced drinks and salted nuts.

Mrs. Walt Hanson and Mrs. A. G. Gallicut were highest scorers and awarded prizes. Other players were Edwina Tom Silk, W. A. Bradley, Edward Meggs, B. C. Bowen, David Parker and R. A. Carnevale.

Corduroy is Favored Fashion for Fall

This Barbetta dress of silken sheen Corduroy is fashioned to the figure with sheathlike smoothness so desired in achieving the lithe lines of the youthful silhouette. The smart simplicity of the dress is enlivened by a Jewel neckline trimmed with white cotton which also occurs on the push-up sleeves. The bodice tapers to a trim waistline and accentuates the multi-colored skirt that flares to a flaring hem. The garment is completely washable and wonderfully wearable and will have a strong appeal to all who seek Fall fashion that is both authentic and impressive. Available in sizes 10 to 18 and in vibrant colors in harmony with the Autumn landscape.

Sweaters Are A 'Must'

AP Newsfeatures
First on a list of every back-to-school shopper is a supply of sweaters. No college girl ever had too many of these casual, versatile garments, it seems. And the same is true of the grade school and high school set.

This year the variety of sweater styles and yarns is almost endless. But the classic cardigan remains a top favorite, and probably the is the orlon sweater. This is the biggest selling item in this category because it has the look and feel of expensive cashmere, yet is budget priced and can be washed as easily as a pair of stockings.

One of the top campus styles of the year is the dyed-to-match sweater and tweed skirt. The sweater half of the combination is available in cashmere, orlon or wool, in slip-on, cardigan or twin sweater sets.

Also important in the 1955 sweater lineup is the bulky ribbed-knit sweater in coat or pullover style, often with wide, loose turtle neck, Italian fashion. These come in dark or vivid hues as well as white, and are particularly beloved for wear with Bermuda shorts.

For dress-up wear, there are many versions of cashmere or orlon sweaters with wide boat necklines, short or long sleeves, with or without jewel, sequin or embroidery trim. Teamed with a dance skirt, these festive little tops will see a girl through many tea dances and after 5 dances.

Probably the most welcome news of sweaters these days is their easy washability. Many of the wool sweaters have been treated to prevent shrinkage, and all the orlon or orlon-and-wool blends may be washed without worry, dried in a short time.

CAMPUS FAVORITE... New orlon cardigan in white or colors, with pennant emblem which may be inscribed with desired school name.

Show Business People Show United Front In Silence Before Probe Body

NEW YORK (AP)—A congressional probe of Red activity in show business brought up a solid line of opening-day witnesses firmly opposed to answering questions.

Altogether, six actors and actresses were called before the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday and each in turn refused to answer when asked about communism. When one declared this refusal contained no implication of guilt, Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) snapped back:

"You can refuse to answer and we can all draw whatever inference we wish."

The probe was denounced as a "star chamber procedure" by actor Polan. Ignoring the committee counsel and Walter's banging gavel, Polan read a statement arguing that the committee lacked authority to conduct the investigation. At the end he announced:

"I refuse to answer any questions that this committee puts before me. His defiance brought applause from the hearing audience, but Walter warned it could bring a citation for contempt.

Most witnesses complained that the committee's questions invaded their privacy and threatened the constitutional right of free association. One of these was Phil Leeds, 39, who played in the recent stage hit "Can Can" and on several TV shows. He declared:

"The committee is intruding upon my privacy as an American citizen. In America you can believe in anything. You can believe in Yogi Berra or that lanolin will save the world."

At the end of the day, Walter commented:

"I am sure that these people have demonstrated that there is something to be concealed in the framework of the (theatrical) unions."

Unions repeatedly mentioned during the hearing were Actors Equity and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

Five witnesses cited the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which protects a citizen from self-incrimination. Two who simply based their refusal on an alleged lack of authority on the part of the committee were Polan and actor George Tyne.

Tyne, who recently appeared in the stage show "Lunatics and Lovers," challenged the committee saying it had "no right to invade my inner beliefs, my conscience and my associations."

Polan, who is now playing the sheriff in the hit play "Bus Stop," called the investigation "a lawless effort to censor the legitimate theater or control the entertainment."

"I think the purpose of this committee is to throw fear into the theater," declared another actor, Martin Waterson, 51, a veteran Broadway performer.

"This is an attack on the theater," said Stanley Prager, 38, a comedian now appearing in the musical hit "The Pajama Game." He continued, "I believe that what I think and say and with whom I associate is not this committee's concern."

However, Prager came the closest of all witnesses to answering a question. When asked if he had ever been a member of the Communist party, he replied:

"I'm a good American. I've never been a member of an organization that I believe seeks the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

Actor John Randolph drew laughs from the spectators when he said of his present acting job:

"Right now—and I mean nothing personal by this—I am in the Frattile Theater (Cambridge, Mass.) playing in 'Much Ado About Nothing.'"

When asked if he were now a Communist, Randolph replied: "I would love to give you that answer. I just don't think you have the right to ask that."

The last witness of the day was Randolph's wife Sarah Cunningham. She invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked about possible Communist associations or her knowledge of Communists in actor unions. She added:

"I don't talk about people I know or people I don't know."

For the remainder of its hearings, scheduled to run until Friday, the committee had 20 or more show people under subpoena.

Fresh Evidence Appears Showing Radio Isn't Dead

By CHAILES MERCEI
NEW YORK (AP)—New evidence that radio is far from being a dead horse comes rolling in from ABC radio.

Beginning next Saturday ABC and Time magazines are pooling their worldwide news-gathering facilities to present a new weekend program called It's Time. Both in substance and format, this one sounds interesting.

John Daly, ABC vice president, in charge of news and public affairs, and Time Publisher James A. Linn described it this way: "There will be 18 five-minute dramatic news programs each weekend — ten on Saturdays and eight on Sundays, with emphasis on daytime hours. There will be no duplication of features, which will number 50 to 60 in those 18 spots. Westbrook Van Voorhis will serve as narrator, with a cast of 40 actors and actresses.

Only rarely will the new program deal with top headline news. Its emphasis will be on the background of major news stories and personalities. Self-contained narratives will try to interpret the tempo and temper of the times.

Today's free multimillion idea is this: Why not turn Ellis Island into a huge television center? The big networks are so crowded for studio space they're splitting at the seams and spilling all the way from Brooklyn to Manhattan lofts. The island, gateway to America for 24 million immigrants, has ceased its immigration functions.

Quite a while back we spent some time there — as a reporter, not a detained immigrant. To the unprofessional eye the facilities within the shadow of the Statue of Liberty are potentially great for television. There is, for example, one central hall vaster than anything Hollywood can brag about in the way of studio space. There are numerous other excellent physical facilities.

Uranium Process Secrets Revealed

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
GENEVA (AP)—The United States told the world in detail today how to make high-purity uranium metal—a basic material for atomic energy production—on a large scale and at low cost.

The operational technique was described at the 72-nation atomic-peace conference by Dr. H. A. Wilhelm of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's contract laboratory at Iowa State College.

He said the description was intended to be detailed enough to allow uranium metal producers in any country of the world to duplicate the process.

The process, he said, involved mixing uranium compound—uranium tetrafluoride — with magnesium metal and placing the mixture in a special furnace to initiate a "reduction" reaction leading to the production of uranium metal itself. Uranium metal, as distinguished from raw uranium ore, is the basic material of atomic energy production for both peaceful and military uses.

Wilhelm hinted that the method he described played the key role in the wartime production of the metal for the atom bomb.

Another American Scientist, Dr. M. Calvin, of the University of California at Berkeley, reported a major advance toward solving and duplicating the process of photosynthesis—nature's method of supplying food to the world.

He said he and his associates had identified all the steps in one of two stages by which green plants under sunlight convert water and carbon dioxide into food-stuffs. He said they had discovered every stage of the process by which carbon dioxide is "reduced" to form carbohydrates—sugars and starches.

Soviet scientists told the conference last week they believe they are on the verge of solving the mystery of photosynthesis.

Calvin said the process remaining to be solved is how solar energy is absorbed by chlorophyll or how the green pigment of plants is used to "split" molecules of water to supply hydrogen needed to "reduce" carbon dioxide.

He said a new theory is that within plants is a kind of "battery" made of layers of chlorophyll between microscopically thin layers of fat and protein, and this absorbs sunlight and use it to split the water.

Artificial duplication of photosynthesis would greatly increase the world's food supply.

President Takes Fishing Trip In Rocky Mountains

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower gets down to real vacationing today with a trip high into the Rocky Mountains for several days of trout fishing.

The President arranged to travel by automobile shortly after noon to Fraser, Colo., about 70 miles northwest of Denver on the western slope of the Continental Divide for a stay at the secluded Byer's Peak Ranch of an old friend, Axel Nielsen.

Tomorrow Eisenhower will be joined there by his 7-year-old grandson David, who stands to get some expert advice from the President on how to catch dry fly trout. The youngest vacationing now at a boys camp at Estes Park, Colo., never has done any fishing.

In advance of departing for Fraser, the President planned a brief stop at his Lowry Air Force Base office, and then a round of golf at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club. The drive to the fishing camp was scheduled after lunch, here at the home of Eisenhower's mother-in-law Mrs. John S. Doud.

Eisenhower arrived here Sunday night from Washington for an extended work-and-play vacation. Yesterday he put in 2½ hours at his tiny office at Lowry and then went out to Cherry Hills for golf with former Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado; William W. Flemken, Denver oil man and the club champion; and Rip Arnold, the club pro. Thornton, Arnold and Flemken—all crack golfers—spotted the President an 18-stroke handicap for 18 holes, but were ready to begin whittling it down at the end of the round.

Eisenhower actually had an 89, eighteen over par, but the other members of the foursome detected a much better presidential game in the immediate offing—when he has had a few days to polish it a bit.

The chief executive carded eights on two holes, which indicated the rest of his round was all right.

The President's grandson may stay at Fraser, with the chief executive, in a brand new prefabricated cabin put up at the ranch there since Eisenhower visited the place a bit more than a year ago.

The President plans to return to Denver late Sunday.

He Could Retire, But Wants Work

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Arthur J. Altmeyer, 65 now and could retire under the Social Security Act he did as much as any man to create—but instead he's thinking about a new job.

Altmeyer, chairman of the Economic Security Technical Board that developed recommendations for the 1955 Social Security Act, is working now on tentative social security plans for the Turkish and Iranian governments. And he may go to the Near East next month.

But the Wisconsin native, who returned to the state two years ago with his wife after nearly 20 years of heading various social security boards and departments, thinks the U.S. act still can be improved.

The act, which he says created the largest insurance company in the world, has one "big gap, in that it does not provide any protection against loss of income and medical expense due to nonindustrial sickness and disability."

"The social security bill already passed by the House of Representatives and now pending in the Senate would provide the same benefits for permanent total disability as for old age retirement. If this bill becomes law when the Congress reconvenes next January it will fill this gap."

Altmeyer made his remarks in an interview in which he discussed the social security program that now begins its 21st year of life.

India Retaining British Influence

By EUGENE LEVIN
NEW DELHI (AP)—The British left India eight years ago today, but their influence still remains evident at almost every street corner and in every bazaar.

Although India is now an independent republic, New Delhi's main business street remains Queensway while the broad boulevard leading to the main government buildings is still Kingsway.

Street signs carry a Hindi designation, but also an English translation. Traffic moves on the left side of the road.

More and more Indian newspapers are appearing in Indian languages. However, the more important newspapers — the ones most diplomats and Indian officials read — are in English.

Hindi is the national language. English, at least until 1965, is the working language of the government.

Dress and food are strongly tailored to the acquired English tastes of the more prosperous Indians. Many men wear European clothes, and the cut is English. Afternoon tea is as much a ritual with many Indians as with Londoners.

New Hurricane Hunter Tested

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Navy hurricane hunters gave their new weather laboratory plane its first chance to shine in an all-night flight over, around and across Hurricane Diane.

The Constellation took off from Jacksonville Naval Air Station early last night and aimed its million dollars worth of electronic equipment at all facets of the hurricane.

This is the weather laboratory that the Navy says it hopes will provide more information on tropical storms and get it a lot easier than equipment used in the past.

While low-level penetrations continued with other planes, the big Constellation and its crew of 15 spent the night at high altitudes, using mostly its radar to plot the position and course of the storm.

Illegal Klan Can Spell Only Trouble

Resurrection of the Ku Klux Klan has no place in the school segregation issue which now confronts citizens of both white and Negro races in the South.

Neither the shadow of the Klan nor its tactics of terrorism, fear or illegal violence has a place in the grave situation which now confronts us. If the Klan does appear in the midst of the mounting problem over public schools, it will only add fat to the fire and prove a disservice to its misguided supporters, public schools and the general public.

Extremists on both sides of the school integration issue will be seeking new tactics and ideas to carry their points. As has previously been pointed out, their actions will complicate rather than alleviate the problem at hand.

Nehru Straddles Fence In Aggression Strategy

India's "nonviolent" invasion of Portuguese territory has ended in at least nine dead and 38 wounded in the first "peaceful" trip of thousands of Indians across the border into Portugal's 1,538 square-mile Portuguese territory. Further "nonviolent" invasions by Prime Minister Nehru's subjects can only bring additional violence and more bloodshed. Eventually the situation could bring another major crisis in the Far East.

Nehru has posed as the great peace-maker in that section of the globe as he has endeavored to bring the free world and Chinese Communists to peaceful sessions to iron out their difficulties. Now, it appears, Nehru is taking a lesson from the Communist book in an effort to gain an additional territory India claims. He has lent at least lukewarm support to the civilians of India who are attempting to take the Portuguese possession peacefully. At the same time he has asserted his citizens cannot expect support from India's military force to accomplish the task. As we see it, Nehru is attempting to play two roles in the explosive situation. He is supporting the "peaceful" invasion of Portuguese territory by his people and at the same time attempting to give the world the impression he will have no part of an act of aggression.

He can't play both roles successfully.

Temporary Action For Green Mill Run Possible

The need for improving Green Mill Run in Greenville's city limits was brought sharply to the attention of local officials last week when torrential rains again sent the stream surging over its banks.

Rains which accompanied hurricane Connie last week were abnormally heavy and sent the small stream to a higher stage than normal. Nevertheless it is not uncommon for the stream to go out of its banks and overflow into adjacent property.

When it was preparing its budget for this fiscal year, the City Council declined to appropriate sufficient funds for the city to participate in a drainage district project planned for the mill run. It is not likely now that the city can scrape together the necessary $31,000 from its tight budget to make such an appropriation. As an alternative, however, perhaps the Council can find some funds which can be spent to clean out the stream to some extent to improve the water flow immediately.

If such a plan is followed, it would be only a temporary measure at best. Sooner or later the city is going to have to provide permanent improvements on the stream to make sure it takes care of the water flow. If the funds cannot be made available this year, city officials should exert every effort to make possible their appropriation in the coming fiscal year.

Lack Of Caution Could Repeat Hazel's Blows

Get out the candles again mom, there's another bad girl headed our way.

Eastern Carolina hasn't finished surveying property damage caused by Hurricane Connie last week and now Connie's big sister is looking down our throats. If Diane strikes the coastal area of the state, it should find residents equally as well prepared as was the case when Connie struck.

In those areas which bore the brunt of Connie's force there can be little doubt that every precaution will be taken in preparing for Diane's visit. In areas such as Pitt County, however, where Connie did not strike in full fury although extensive preparations had been made, there is danger of being unprepared for this next blow. In spite of the fact Connie passed us by, we must, for our own protection, anticipate the worst from Diane just as we received from Hazel.

The hurricane we don't prepare for will be the very one which will smack us right between the eyes just as Hazel did.

They can only make the situation more explosive and more difficult.

A short time ago there were reports that the attempts were being made in South Carolina to reorganize white-hooded mobs of the Klan. These reports, fortunately, have died out. Now there come reports of similar activities in Texas.

Neither North Carolina nor any of its component parts has need of mob groups such as the Klan to handle its school segregation problem. In individual communities school officials and other citizens have begun evaluating the problems which will arise in the face of the Supreme Court ruling. They likewise have begun to work out solutions to these problems. On the state level similar steps are being taken, and will prove effective.

The KKK in North Carolina is dead, and the law abiding citizens of the state should see that it remains dead.

Developing Of N. C. Tourist Industry

By LYNN NISBET
GROWTH and development of an expanding tourist industry as an important segment of the current industrialization campaign in North Carolina was proposed by Charles J. Parker, director of State advertising, in a talk to the Raleigh Kiwanis Club the other day. Parker tied in his comments with current news events by reminding that the impact of Hurricane Connie on the coastal resort area was bringing a better understanding of the problems of the people whose work enables others to play. He stressed the fact that golf courses, swimming pools, fishing and hunting areas, are important attractions for the location of industry. Higher wages and shorter working hours, affording more money and time for recreation, have changed the habits of millions of American workers during the past few years.

One reason, he said, that North Carolina needs to do more advertising than perhaps any other area is that so many of the cold statistics on income do not present the full picture and must be explained by fine print footnotes. North Carolina, too, does a large part of the total advertising of its attractions at State expense. We have no State chamber of commerce, nor any outstanding big attraction to carry the load; our industry, manufacturing and tourist, is made up largely of hundreds of small operators.

The target of North Carolina's advertising is to raise the standard of living, by bringing in new taxpayers—and tourists are just as much new industry as factory workers. A tourist boom on Hatteras Island or in the Great Smokies is an important ingredient for a Raleigh business man's computation of his State's bill as the Westinghouse plant on the edge of the city. He admitted that many people still found it difficult to think of playgrounds as revenue producing industry.

SPECIFIC — He stressed the need for being more specific in advertising attractions. Such terms as "sunshine and good fellowship" no longer appeal. The vacation-minded traveler wants to know what he can see and what he can do on the trip. The tourist industry is breaking out of old boundaries and exploring new frontiers all the time. Highways are being relocated, travel habits are changing. Tastes and economic standards are not static.

It could be that the new State Art Gallery soon to be opened in Raleigh, and about which more seems to be known everywhere else than in its home city, will develop into the great single dollar producing tourist attraction in this area. This art collection is capable of drawing foreign visitors, wealthy tourists, demanding and willing to pay for the best we can offer. This art gallery and Tryon's gallery being restored at New Bern, may be the "new thing" we have been looking for on our main north-south highways.

Other Editors Are Saying... About 'Location Of Industry'

(Wilson Times)
Industry has been in a process of relocating for several years now. We don't mean to imply that this is the case with all industry, but Southern states in recent years have seen an influx of new industries. Now the American Federation of Labor is protesting the relocation, saying that industries are moving South because of cheap labor and because of the fact that Southern communities are giving tax inducements to business to move this way.

If we face the truth we will admit that labor is cheaper in the South than it is in the North at the same time we ought to admit that living conditions are cheaper in the North. So one actually counterbalances the other.

Our standard of living is not so much lower. It just cost less to live here. There are many reasons for this situation. It is not as cold here, and our fuel bills are less. We are an agricultural area, and we raise much of what we eat thereby saving great amounts of transportation costs. Rents are not as high in the South, and we could go right on showing that while the standards of living are not so much different, it does cost us less to live here in the South.

As to the fact inducements which are charged, we would debate that issue extensively. A reputable industry which is seeking a location for a plant is less

The tourist industry has already grown so big that it must not be allowed to expand or the State's economy will be seriously affected. Opportunities for venture capital in upgrading North Carolina's tourist facilities may be unlimited. Important capital is not interested unless it is assured of markets and markets in this day are neither effectively created nor consistently maintained without aggressive advertising.

North Carolina advertising has been successful in large measure because it is a good product to advertise. No amount of advertising can make an inferior product successful, but with its multiplying advantages to advertise, North Carolina today offers a greater challenge than ever before to those entrusted with advertising. More money is being spent and more effort exerted this year than ever before to bring new dollars into this State.

POTPURRI — The gal named Connie is just about as unpopular with Raleigh merchants as she is with the owners of beach resorts. Members of the Merchants' Bureau had spent many thousands of dollars promoting "Trade in Raleigh" Days for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The fringe Connie's storm dampened enthusiasm that business generally was worse than a normal mid-August weekend when no special effort had been put forth to stimulate trade. Connie certainly would win no medals in a popularity contest hereabouts.

Complaints continue to be heard about some honey bees and a good many processors and packages of honey not being able to distinguish between a sourwood tree and an old field weed. Pure sourwood honey is a delectable food for the gods. It is indigenous to the Southern Appalachians, produced nowhere else in the world as in high quality and flavor as in the mountains of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia. And, of course, the best product comes from North Carolina. Some dealers have been putting a little bit of pure sourwood honey in large batches of honey produced from clover, weeds and other palatable sources, and labeling it "sourwood". Because it is not harmful or poisonous, and the only violation of food laws is involved in mislabeling, authorities have been reluctant to move against processors without more complete information. Loss of damage might be done honest packagers by raising questions of fraudulent labels. But honey-making bees and honey-packaging humans might run into trouble unless they are more careful about the original source of the nectar.

Charlie Parker, State advertising director, says that in the past two years advertising for the State of North Carolina appeared in newspapers and magazines read by more than three hundred million people—twice as many as live in the United States. Of course, some of 'em read the messes, two or three times—but it's still a lot of coverage.

interested in "fat inducements" than it is in other factors. We realize that certain inducement have been made and accepted. But for the most part a large industry is interested in such factors as labor supply, transportation, school facilities, climate, churches, raw materials, natural resources, and available space. Then whatever municipal inducements are offered are merely added incentives. But often times industry does locate in the South without seeking material inducements to any marked degree.

A community which offers a building free, taxation free, and other "free rides" may have little else in community assets to offer. We realize that such is being done, but we doubt that it is being done in wholesale amounts as some charge. We doubt very much that industry is seeking such extra favors in most cases. An industry wants to feel that it is wanted in any community. Sometimes certain requests are made as much to find out the attitude of the people as to realize economic gains. A community which does not want business will not get business. Industry will not locate in a hostile community. North Carolina is seeking industry and rightfully so. The state has much to offer industry. And the industries that are moving South are doing so because of the many advantages to be gained.

Real Bargain For Grid Fans

Last night at the Board of Directors meeting of the Merchants' Association Coach Jack Boone of East Carolina was invited to enlighten us on the football program for the fall.

East Carolina is no different from any other college when it comes to football; the success of the program depends to a large extent on the financial backing of the team. In order to have good players you must have scholarships. Scholarships take money.

But East Carolina has an excellent way to raise this money, because they have a program that gives you more than your money's worth. For $12.50, the gate price of five games at $2.50 each, you may purchase a Pirates Club membership that will give you a reserved seat for these games.

priority on the very limited number of seats in the gym for basketball games and free admission to the baseball games!

In addition, the privilege of renewal of seats is yours! In other words, if you buy a seat this year it will not be sold next year until you refuse it.

Year before last the club had about 800 members and the program was supported without strain. Last year the effort was not put behind the drive to keep membership up and it fell to 400, so naturally the bank account suffered.

Already this year the club has over 500 members! However, in order to rock along with no worries, the goal is 1000. The stadium will hold about 6,500. With the student body now 3,000, you can see that the choice seats are going to be held by Pirates Club members.

Coach Boone is delighted at the response of Greenville people to the club. During the summer he has contacted many alumni groups to let them know about the program. So the natural result is that alumni support is growing.

It's entirely possible that East Carolina will support the North State conference. But in order to do that, the support must increase. Coach Boone says that he can give us the kind of football we want, depending on the support.

Wake Forest is a smaller school than East Carolina, but look at the athletic teams. There's only one answer: scholarships. And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

Notebook On Life

No Privacy For Presidents

By ED CREAGH
WASHINGTON (AP) — The minute a man is elected President of the United States he moves into a gold-fish bowl illuminated by searchlights.

A president has many things — power, prestige, a standard of living few millionaires could afford. But he's denied one thing any Joe Doakes can achieve — privacy.

He's guarded night and day by perhaps the most determined and devoted crew of men in the world, the U.S. Secret Service.

His doings are reported by probably the most curious and observant group anywhere, the White House press corps.

Anything a president says, even the most offhand remark, is noted and analyzed. Interpretation is given. Any tailor qualified to pass judgment on a president's wardrobe. Any house wife feels free to criticize his wife's hair-do.

Herbert Hoover used to say a president can be by himself only on two occasions — when fishing and when praying. Even that isn't quite true any more. President Eisenhower often has a gallery when he fishes, and crowds form to watch him go to church.

So it's no wonder all recent presidents have fled from the White House at every opportunity. Ike's out in Colorado now, looking for a little peace. Harry Truman used to hole up in Key West, where people couldn't stare at him as if — to use his own phrase for it — he were a two-headed calf. Franklin D. Roosevelt spent more time at Hyde Park than in Washington during the later days of his presidency.

It's inevitable that Americans throw such a strong spotlight on their president for the simple reason that a president fills several roles, all of them starring ones.

He is, first and foremost, head of the executive branch of the government — with duties such as a prime minister performs in most countries.

He likewise is chief of state — in effect, an uncrowned king with all manner of ceremonial duties ranging from the entertainment of visiting foreign dignitaries to buying the year's first Buddy Poppy or launching the Washington Senators on another sad season.

Then, too, the president is head of his political party — and that's a job he must fill adequately if he's going to be an effective leader.

Ike's Luck Casts Shadow On GOP Hope

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — "Ike Eisenhower is one of the luckiest, if not the very luckiest, men ever to sit in the White House."

Although the threat of inflation had disappeared, the country was entering a deflationary spiral that might have developed into a serious recession. Indeed, an Australian economist of considerable repute forecast another 1929 collapse. Moscow was expecting a crack-up of the "capitalistic system."

FACTORS THAT HELPED DEMOCRATS The Republican Party was badly split between Eisenhower "liberals" and resentful Taft "conservatives," between foreign aiders and isolationists, between McCarthy "left hunters" and his detractors.

issues of "peace and prosperity" make it impossible to defeat a renominated Eisenhower.

He stopped the fighting in Korea although the settlement left the Reds in possession of the northern section. The British and French negotiated peace in Indo-China, although it was not altogether satisfactory. Ike dominated the Big Four Conference at Geneva, which may lead to better relations with Russia and China.

There is a de facto cease-fire over Formosa and Geneva talks for liquidating that dispute. Senator McCarthy has been thoroughly deflated by his own colleagues. Anti-Eisenhower grumblers, like Senators Knowland, Bridges and Capewell, as well as Representative George H. Bender of Ohio, a Taft cheer leader at the 1952 convention now wear "We want Ike for 1956" buttons. "LUCK" HOLDS Economically, Ike's luck has held. Employment and working hours are up. Wages are breaking all records. Despite increased savings, purchasing power stays up. Prices have remained stable for more than two years, despite fatter pay envelopes.

There are no threatening strikes on the industrial horizon. Ike's "big business" friends in Detroit, Pittsburgh and elsewhere have given him a lift by granting automobile and steel wage demands. Industry's expansion program reflects confidence that conditions will remain good through 1956.

MIDDLE-DE—ROAD PROGRAM POPULAR Ike's middle-of-the-road program seems to accord with the popular and prevailing mood. The people have had their fill of "crises" and clashes between the White House and Congress, such as those which marked the Roosevelt-Truman era. They appreciate Ike's tolerance and patience. His spirit of good nature and fair play.

U. S. Sets Record In Traveling

By ELMER ROESSNER
When the tourist season ends this year, there will be more French Italians, Swedes, Mexicans, Britons and etc., who never want to see another American.

The people with that attitude will not include innkeepers, travel agents, restaurateurs, vendors of lottery and bullfight tickets, and others who profit by the annual forays of goggle-eyed Americans.

Because this year—right now—we are racking up new highs in the number of Americans traveling in foreign lands and in the amount of those good old American dollars that are being left behind to bank in foreign caches.

An important reason is the high income level in the United States. Even television contestants get trips to Italy. A major reason is the trend toward longer vacations in the U.S.A. A welder who was lucky to get in two weeks at a beach now has time to fly from Fort Wayne to Innsbruck and meet his wife's family.

And a third reason is the fact that the Passport Division of the State Department is expediting passports. Federal Courts have held that passports are a right of citizens, not a privilege. And the retirement of E. Bruce Shipley, former head of the division, and her replacement by Frances Knight seems to have sped up action. In fact, Miss Knight, is becoming a darling of the travel agent. Fewer people are missing their planes because of passport delays, they say. And fewer people are being turned down.

Miss Knight herself told Congress before it adjourned. "As you may know or have suspected, the American public is on a colossal traveling spree. The war scare has subsided; there are more paid vacations; travel facilities are expanding; tourists are very attractive; credit travel is in its infancy. We don't know what it will lead to; more requirements, adequate pensions and Social Security have prolonged the travel life span. By that I mean Americans begin traveling at a tender age and keep on traveling until they are old age."

CROCKETT BELONGS TO ALL MANUFACTURERS CONTENT. Seventy-five manufacturers of boys' wear have formed an organization known as the Davy Crockett is Public Domain Committee.

The organization's objective is to prove that Davy Crockett belongs to all the people and that no one has the right to sequester his name with a trademark, design or patent. It is trying to intervene in legislative actions involving Davy Crockett trademarks.

ANOTHER GABOR GIRL IS IN THE MONEY
Our mothers used to fix everything from sink drains to autos with hairpins. Their daughters fix everything with nail polish. A run in a stocking a crack in a plastic dish or a rip in the wallpaper can be repaired with an application of polish.

But Mrs. Emmie Gabor, of Cleveland, had the jackpot. She works in The Thompson Products Plant in Cleveland. She polishes jet engine blades. She noticed that the belt on her polishing machine had to be replaced up to 60 times a day. She started applying coats of nail polish to the edges.

Now the belts last and last. Her idea saved the company $50,000. She was awarded a bonus of $6,592.

READ FINE PRINT. UNCLE SAM ADVISES
The government, through Brig. Gen. Webster Anderson, commanding the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, has warned contractors that they had better read their contracts.

During the Korea War, he said, the government overlooked minor deviations from specifications. Now that there is peace, he warned, the government will reject goods that do not meet specifications.

NEW YARNS PRODUCE THREE NEW FABRICS
Three new fabrics were put on display last week.

One is O'legro, which resembles fur. It is a blend of Dnyel and Orlon by Princeton Knitting Mills (Waterbury, Conn.), and its coming was reported here some time ago.

The second is Tycora, made from a new continuous filament synthetic fiber (by Textured Yarn Co., 5400 Poplar St., Philadelphia, Pa.). It will compete with wool.

There are no threatening strikes on the industrial horizon. Ike's "big business" friends in Detroit, Pittsburgh and elsewhere have given him a lift by granting automobile and steel wage demands. Industry's expansion program reflects confidence that conditions will remain good through 1956.

MIDDLE-DE—ROAD PROGRAM POPULAR Ike's middle-of-the-road program seems to accord with the popular and prevailing mood. The people have had their fill of "crises" and clashes between the White House and Congress, such as those which marked the Roosevelt-Truman era. They appreciate Ike's tolerance and patience. His spirit of good nature and fair play.

Not even the Democrats, despite recent splits over the Congressional session's record, can get "mad" or stay "mad" at the President. No wonder the GOP demands that he run again.

Greenville Man Directs Space Travel TV Film In Which Novel Effects Are Developed

The object holding the attention of WUNC-TV motion picture unit staff men and Mrs. Marjorie Beshers, Chapel Hill artist, is a reasonable facsimile of the planet Saturn, minus rings. It was used in a color movie to give Morehead Planetarium patrons the illusion they are approaching and departing from vicinity of the planet during the "A Trip To Saturn" space trip show. The crinkled appearance of the planet here makes it appear in the movie as being enveloped by gases. Examining it before photographing are, left to right, Howard Taylor, production coordinator for the WUNC-TV motion picture unit; Mrs. Beshers; Robert Champion, sound engineer and production assistant; William E. Gulley, cinema photographer and director of the unit; and Gaston Longet, production supervisor.

By BILLY ARTHUR
CHAPEL HILL—University of North Carolina technicians have scored again, this time increasing an illusion that one is aboard a nuclear powered space ship hurtling through the outer world at a phenomenal rate of speed.

To achieve it the entire facilities of the WUNC-TV motion picture production unit were employed, and the technical skills of its unit combined with those of the Morehead Planetarium.

The result of the cooperation: as "Nosey Nelly," the space ship, zooms off on "A Trip to Saturn," the excursion audience at the Planetarium views the heavens on the ship's "tele-video-scope." Before their eyes the rotating earth is left behind, and the ship approaches the moon, then Titan and Enceladus which are satellites of Saturn, and then finally Saturn itself. On the return trip, he views the approach to earth and the movement gives the illusion that he is actually aboard a space ship and seeing the heavens in their full, rich color.

How was the illusion made? First, Planetarium Manager A. F. Jenzano, Chapel Hill, and William E. Gulley, a native of Greenville, director of the WUNC-TV motion picture production unit, detailed every desired effect, considered the photographic problems of rotation, focus, parallax and lighting, and weighed them against astronomical exactness and public appeal.

The Planetarium's chief technician, John T. Brittain, built a 14 by 30 foot partial cyclorama of cotton cloth to portray the black of night. Onto that were stuck more than 2,000 white map tacks, straight pins, and thumbtacks of different sizes to simulate the stars. Then Mrs. Marjorie Beshers, a Chapel Hill artist, painted in some galaxies with aluminum paint.

When the lights were turned on, the effect was a night sky with thousands of individual stars and galaxies.

The next problem was to photograph a rotating earth and moving planet's against that backdrop to give the audience the impression it was actually viewing them in the night skies. But the moon, earth, planets and satellites had to be built to scale and into sizes that would not be out of proportion as the camera approached or moved away from them. Too, they had to appear to be in motion. That was achieved by moving the camera and dolly in arcs as it approached and departed from them.

For the planets, Planetarium technicians used seilastic, a material that softens in a solvent so that it can be molded into any desired shape, then permitted to harden. Mrs. Beshers added the color.

When presented on the "televue," the earth and moon and planets are lighted by a man-made sun, without shadows or spotlight distraction.

"This is what we have needed in all of our space trip shows and others, too, and it is far superior to any commercial product that we have ever used or I have ever seen," Jenzano commented. "It is admirable that here on the campus we are able to produce such a movie in full color that equals a conceivable Hollywood product."

He was highly complimentary of the cooperation and skills of the motion picture unit: Gulley, who directed and did the camera work; Robert Champion, a native of Kannapolis, who was production assistant; and William E. Warnock, who was the lighting technician.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of 22 cases, 11 of them involving persons drunk in public places. The other cases involved wife beating, possession of non-tax-paid whiskey and assaults with deadly weapons.

Judge Whedbee gave Thurman Hyman, Negro, 106 West First St., six months on the roads for assaulting Carrie Hyman, Negro, with a deadly weapon (brick). The court also gave Hyman six more months on the roads for damaging personal property (door). Sentence will be suspended on payment of $10 to Gladia Grimes and payment of court costs. The judgment also provides that he is not to visit Gladia Grimes for two years.

For assaulting a female (his wife), Judge Whedbee gave Hyman six more months on the roads. The sentence is to be suspended on payment of $7 for medical bill and he is not to harm or molest his wife.

Drunk: Howard Smith, Washington Street, $35, costs deducted; Jack Harris, Rt. 5 Greenville, $10; Ben Frank Hardee, Rt. 4 Greenville; Heber Ross, Winterville, was called and he did not answer. An instant capias was issued for him. Russell J. Whitfield, 531 Greene Street, 30 days or $10; Ray Jones, 205 Grande Ave., $30, costs deducted; Leslie F. Evans, Rt. 3 Greenville, 30 days or $15; Roy German, Negro, 109 Second St.; Rufus Stepp, Greenville Hotel, $20, costs deducted; Jack Stokes, 105-B 11th St., $10; Gray L. Hardee, 30 days on the roads, Rt. 1, Greenville.

Jack Harris, 217 Center St., resisting Policeman J. W. Jenkins and assault last June, prayer for judgment continued to August 19. Disorderly conduct: Elizabeth Webb, Negro, 1207 Pitt St., 60 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of costs and on condition that she remain of good behavior and not visit Clara Kornegay's premises and not molest or harm her for two years. The court placed the woman on probation for two years.

Possession of non-tax-paid whiskey: Rosa Lee Warren, Negro, 1127 Mack St., taxed with court costs; Iocle Jean Yarell, 1127 Mack St., Negro, possession of non-tax-paid whiskey, costs.

Henry Nelson, Negro, Mt. Airy, case not prossed.

John Wilks Jr., Negro, 105 McOlellan St., improper brakes, 30 days, suspended on payment of $10, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without proper brakes. This case was retained for further order. Judge Whedbee ruled. For not having an operator's license, the court gave Wilks 30 days to be served consecutively, sentence to be suspended on payment of $30, costs deducted.

SALUTE TO FAIR—FAIRBANKS, Alaska—Yesterday, the 30th anniversary of the death of humorist Will Rogers and flier Wiley Post, a commercial transport plane dipped low over the two lonely monuments marking the spot where they were killed in a plane crash and dropped a wreath of flowers.

Yankees Regain AL Top Position

Stengel's Boys Blast Out Doubleheader Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

You can't always tell the depth of the well by the length of the handle on the pump.

Which is to say, both Cleveland and New York have won six of their last seven games in the ding-dong American League race, yet the Yankees have pushed the Indians out of first place.

The Yanks, who have played and won one more game than the Tribe, slipped back into the lead by half a game yesterday, walking off with their second doubleheader sweep at Baltimore in two days, 5-4 and 12-6.

Cleveland and third-place Chicago now 1 1/2 games behind, were idle.

In the only other game, fourth-place Boston stayed 3 1/2 games back by smacking Washington 9-4 in way of a warmup for yet another crucial series with the Yankees opening tonight in Boston.

Cleveland gets back to action tonight at Detroit and the White Sox play at home against Kansas City.

Home runs powered the Yanks back into the driver's seat, with Hank Bauer's solo shot in the ninth inning, his third in three games, breaking up a 4-4 tie in the opener.

In the second game, Mickey Mantle unloaded his 28th with two men on to give the Yanks an 8-0 lead in the fourth, then belted No. 29 to make it 10-2 in the sixth inning.

Rookie Johnny Kucks was the first-game winner, relieving Bob Wiesler after the last-place Orioles got four in the fifth. The Yanks then started Rip Coleman, added to the roster Sunday from Denver, and he got his first major league victory with the relief help of Bob Grim, back from the disabled list, in the nightcap.

At Boston, Ted Williams belted a grand-slam homer that made it a 6-0 game in the second inning. Washington chased Mel Parnell with four in the third as Roy Sievers homered with two on but southpaw Leo Kiely shut them off with one hit the rest of the way.

Jim Piersall homered for the Red Sox's other two runs in the seventh.

Williams' homer, his 20th of the year, was a 450-foot wallop off Ted Abernathy. It was his 13th grand-slammer, tying him with Ralph Kiner among active players.

In the long National League game Milwaukee slammed St. Louis 12-1. Willard Schmidt, who one-hit the Braves last week, was the loser, giving way in the fifth as Milwaukee made it 5-0. Eddie Mathews hit his 31st homer with one on in the first for the Braves, who made it a bonafide rout with six runs in the seventh.

Farmville, Rocky Mount To Be Tough In Playoffs

Farmville and Rocky Mount gave notice last weekend that they're going to be tough in the Coastal Plain League playoffs which get underway tomorrow night. Farmville by whipping Greenville, 14-4, and Rocky Mount by bettering Williamston, 9-3.

The same line-up of teams square away in the playoffs, Williamston at Rocky Mount and Greenville at Farmville in the opening games of best-of-five series. The winners of the semi-final matches meet next week for the championship.

Farmville, managed by Bill Kennedy, has had little trouble with Greenville during the regular season. The locals hold only one win over the powerful Farmers. The league-leaders' easy win over the Greensies last week could indicate a speedy series in the playoffs.

Pitchers In Form
Kennedy will have his fine pitching staff rested and ready. In the weekend fray, he pitched his top quartet of Joe Dominguez, Vince Jones, Johnny Hinson and Fred Pittman two innings each as preparatory for the playoffs.

On the other hand, Manager Pete Carraway has had trouble keeping enough pitchers available. Against Farmville, he had to bring in two infielders to toe the rubber. Bobby Flye, one of his better chunkers, is still plagued with a sore shoulder.

Rocky Mount's Leafs figure they're ready to cause somebody a lot of trouble by sweeping past Williamston last weekend. If the Leafs play in the playoffs resembles that of Saturday night, they could very well be one of the finalists.

Norman Gay was the winning pitcher for Rocky Mount, going the full nine innings and working a fine six-hitter Dudley Whitley, sparking shortstop, led Rocky Mount at the plate and turned in a great game defensively. He blasted out two doubles against Williamston pitching and figured in four double plays. Al Denison and Gene Hooks also got two hits as the Leafs unloaded for 14 safeties.

All Games Away
Rocky Mount and Williamston will alternate their game sites. However, Greenville, due to poor attendance at home, will play all its games in Farmville.

Last week, Farmville was recognized as the regular season champion, having concluded the season with a won-lost mark of 31-15. Williamston was declared runner-up with a 23-18 record, Rocky Mount was third with 22-21 and Greenville fourth with 21-23.

Falkland wound up in the cellar and therefore will not be involved in the playoffs. Its final won-lost record is 14-28.

Softball League Starts Playoffs For City Title

Greenville's Recreation Softball League opens its city playoffs tonight at Guy Smith Stadium with the undefeated Carolina Dairies and the second ranked C Battery 295 give eyes in the double elimination tourney.

The play starts tonight at seven o'clock when Western Auto plays Harris Super Market. At 8:30 the Graniters play Southern Bread. Wednesday night, two games are on tap with Carolina Dairy playing at 8:30 against the winner of Tuesday's first game. The Battery plays at seven o'clock Wednesday against the winner of the 8:30 game of Tuesday. Play continues until double defeats have been handed every squad except the championship team.

Carolina Dairies won the regular season play with an undefeated record. The Granites, Southern Bread, and C Battery 295 fought for the other first division berths in the six team league.

Ted Kluszewski Trails Ashburn In Batting Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies held a slim seven-point lead over the crushing Ted Kluszewski in the National League batting race today.

Kluszewski, the Cincinnati slugger, collected 16 hits, including five homers in 23 trips last week. The outburst increased his league-leading home run total to 41 and boosted his batting average to .326.

Ashburn, meanwhile, gained five points to .333 as a result of eight hits in 17 times at bat.

Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, the pace-setter last week, slumped 12 points to .322, still good for third place.

In the American League, Al Kaline of Detroit lost three points to .348, but he's way out in front of runnerup Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers. Kuenn dropped six points to .323. Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .319.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees tops the American League in home runs with 29 while Jackie Jensen of Boston has knocked in the most runs 90.

Thirty-seven Greenville High School athletes were greeted yesterday morning by a three-man coaching staff at Brookgreen Practice Field, as the Phantoms begin their twice a day football practice until school starts September 1.

The Phantoms have over three weeks before their first game of the season in Greenville on September 9. Head Coach Guy Lewis put the Phantom pigskin hopefuls through their drills with the assistance of two coaches, Marshall Tatum and Vaughn Fowler. Coach Lewis said that Tatum probably would work with the backs and Fowler would probably handle the line.

conference nominee. Howard King, Ike Riddick, and Billy Johnson were first team performers in the line last season. King played tackle while Riddick and Johnson were ends. Riddick played safety on defense for the Phantoms.

Other returning letterman line men include James Hudson, Kelly Barnhill, Wade Jordan, Jimmy Kelley, Fred Nobles, and Charles Hollingsworth.

Twenty-two more boys reported for Monday's meeting. They included non-lettermen returnees from last season, Jayvee boys out for varsity for the first time and boys out for football for the first time.

NBA Asks Congress To Help Clear Ring

DETROIT (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. will ask Congress to help it clean up professional boxing. The job, it says, is too big for the association.

The group took the action yesterday after it learned the FBI for the past 2 1/2 months has been investigating the big-time ring game, long linked with underworld figures.

At the same time, taking a cue from Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, Anthony Petronella, NBA president, promised to name a seven-man committee to develop nationwide uniform boxing laws.

Each state now has its own laws which vary from state to state.

George A. Barton, former NBA president and for 13 years chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, told the 150 representatives of the state boxing commissions from 47 states, Canada and Latin America countries that the Department of Justice entered the investigation in June through its antitrust division.

Barton said he had been approached by the agent and gave him "what I knew about the operation of the International Boxing Club and the International Boxing Managers' Guild."

Barton said he expects to be promised to testify before the Senate before a Senate investigating committee as a result of the probe.

He added that Julius Helfand, crusading chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, also has promised to testify before the Senate investigators. New York is the only state not represented in the NBA.

"You can't merely point an accusing finger at an alleged mobster suspected of being an under-cover manager and order him to divorce himself from all connections with boxing," Barton said. "You must have evidence."

"Obtaining evidence," he said, "is about as simple as picking up a gob of quicksilver with a baseball catcher's glove."

It was after learning of the FBI probe that convention delegates passed unanimously a resolution "urgently requesting a committee of Congress to inaugurate at the earliest possible moment a complete investigation of boxing in the United States." The idea, the resolution states, is to determine whether there exists such undesirable interests as has been publicly charged.

The resolution was prepared by Abe Green, long-time member of the New Jersey Boxing Commission, and Albert Klein, a member of Gov. Leader's newly appointed Pennsylvania Boxing Commission.

J. C. Caroline Ineligible For 1955 Football

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois' hopes of emerging from the Big Ten cellar and back into national football prominence were dealt a shattering blow yesterday when J. C. Caroline, one of the most exciting backs in Illinois history, was declared ineligible.

The No. 1 man in Illinois grid plans, Caroline was declared scholastically ineligible to play football after failing a summer school course in psychology.

J. C. dropped out of school "in good standing" last spring because of the death of a grandfather and the serious illness of his mother.

At the time, Illinois officials announced he would return to make up his work in summer school to regain eligibility this fall.

Football Coach Ray Elliot shook his head sadly after hearing the news.

"It was my No. 1 offensive man, No. 1 defensive man, No. 1 punter and we planned to use him on kickoffs and extra points. There's not much to say except this is a serious blow to Illinois."

"Right now, I guess we'll have to move Harry Jefferson in Caroline's spot with Abe Woodson at the other half. From there on we'll just have to fill the gaps. Looking over the situation, we'll probably have to start four or five sophomores."

Caroline virtually came from nowhere in 1953 when he led Illinois to a share of the Big Ten title. The fleet-footed Negro from Columbia, S.C., led the nation in rushing offense with 1,256 yards in 104 carries.

Browns Need Otto Graham In Uniform

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns had only one quarterback today—a situation everyone admits can't prevail for long.

The one is George Ratterman, for the past three years the seldom-used understudy for Otto Graham, who last winter announced his retirement.

The question now is how long that retirement will last.

Bobby Freeman the Auburn rookie who was to have been No. 2 T quarterback, was taken out by a legal block yesterday.

Federal Judge Paul Jones, who once played football for Michigan, ruled Freeman and his Auburn teammate, Jack Locklear, a line-backer, may not practice or play with the Browns this season.

Judge Jones granted a temporary injunction to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian League. Winnipeg had signed Freeman and Locklear to contracts a month before the Auburn gridders signed last Feb. 8 with the Browns. Judge Jones simply held the earlier Canadian League contract was a valid obligation.

Graham, who has nine seasons pass-mastering the Browns and who will be 34 on Dec. 6, was unenthusiastic about a return. He said yesterday:

"If the Browns still have only one quarterback when the season rolls around, I certainly would give serious consideration to a request to join the team."

Gastonia Reaches Finals Of Region

ROME, Ga. (AP)—Gastonia, N.C., will play Auburn, Ala., Wednesday in a semifinal game in the Region 5 Little League playoffs.

Gastonia defeated North Miami, Fla., 4-2, yesterday in the opening game.

Auburn drew a first round bye. Husky right-hander Jimmy Garington was largely responsible for Gastonia's win over North Miami. He struck out 12, walked 1, using curves and fast balls effectively. His homer in the fifth with Robert Denton on base clinched the contest.

Wightman Cup Will Stay In United States Again

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—The Wightman Cup, emblem of tennis supremacy between Britain and American women, will remain in the United States for at least another year, just as it has since 1931.

The U.S. feminine stars wrapped up their 19th straight win in the international series yesterday by sweeping four matches for a 6-1 decision in the two-day competition. The last time the British won was in 1930 and that was one of their four victories since play started in 1923.

Louise Brough, Wimbledon champion from Beverly Hills, Calif., ran her string of cup victories to nine straight by downing Angela Mortimer, Britain's No. 1 player, 6-0, 6-2.

U. S. titleholder Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., whose string of cup triumphs was snapped at 12 on Sunday by Miss Mortimer, started another by beating 21-year-old Shirley Bloomer, 7-5, 6-3.

Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of New York, only newcomer on the American team, checked Angela Buxton 6-3, 6-3. The world's ranking doubles team of Miss Hart and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, was extended by Miss Mortimer and Miss Buxton but won 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Big League Games Getting Longer

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball fans who've been griping about the increasing length of major league games have plenty of cause for complaint.

That's because big league ball games this season are running more than 30 minutes longer than they did 25 years ago and more than 20 minutes longer than they did 15 years ago.

Arizona has 2,152 miles of railroad. Although skunks sometimes destroy birds, they are regarded as valuable for destruction of crop pests.

Aussies Reach Davis Cup Final

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harry (Happy) Hopman, Australia's Davis Cup captain, was safely back in the challenge round today and the wolves back home, who have been howling for his scalp for two years, will have to hold off until the results of the big one pitting the Aussies against the United States.

Two final singles matches are scheduled against Italy at the Germantown Cricket Club today, but they are meaningless. The Aussies gained the challenge round when their doubles team of Rex Hartwig and Lew Hoad whipped Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli, 7-5, 13-11, 7-5 yesterday. That gave them a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five series.

The last two singles sent Pietrangeli against Hoad and Sirola against Ken Rosewall.

Schmidt Decides Divorce Is Only Decision For Him

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The Korean War B29 gunner whose wife said she wed another man in the belief he was dead has decided he'll unravel the marital tangle by seeking a divorce.

But Airman Daniel Schmidt, 22, still hasn't made up his mind whether he will seek custody of his 2½-year-old son, whom he saw for the first time after emerging from 32 months imprisonment in Red China.

Schmidt returned last week with 10 other airmen who were with him in the B29 when it was shot down.

His divorce decision was announced yesterday by his attorney.

It followed a face-to-face meeting at which auburn-haired Una Schmidt-Fine, 21, refused to leave Alford Fine, 21, a logger.

"Dan wants whatever is best for the welfare of the boy," his attorney Howard Welch said, "and hasn't decided yet whether that would mean leaving him with the boy's mother or seeking custody."

Welch said Schmidt would probably seek a divorce decree on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

"Just the fact that she's not living with Schmidt is enough grounds for extreme cruelty," he said.

If Schmidt asks the court for the custody of Danny Jr. and Una, the youngster would live with Schmidt's mother, Mrs. Nellie Peters, of Portland, Ore., Welch said.

Una's attorney Harold Berliner, of Nevada City, would not comment on the possibility of a divorce or a child custody fight.

Thomas J. Murray, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been in contact with Schmidt's attorney and the airman knows of the VFW's offer to finance a divorce.

"Welch told me he had been retained by Schmidt as his counsel," said Murray, "and I assured him he will receive the full cooperation of the VFW—including associate counsel—if he needs it."

"If this turns out to be a child custody case it could be a winging and Daniel may need all the help he can get," Murray commented.

Seeking A Consumer For Adam-Eve Film

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For the first time in Hollywood memory, a producer is conducting a worldwide search for a costume designer.

And what's really strange about the search is that the job requires costumes for the original Adam and Eve, but no nudists need apply.

Somewhere, Vanessa Brown and her producer-husband, Robert Alan Franklyn, are convinced, there's a genius who can figure out a way to costume their forthcoming "Mark Twain's Adam and Eve."

The script is derived from Twain's "Excerpts From Adam's Diary" and "Eve's Diary." This is believed to be the first Adam and Eve script ever given the green light by the Motion Picture Code Administration.

Franklyn wants to make the picture—and costumes—completely acceptable to the code. The movie censors, in giving the script a go ahead, warned that final approval would have a lot to do with costuming.

Shapely Vanessa will play Eve. She's the one who created the part of the sex-on-wheels girls in the Broadway version of "The Seven Year Itch."

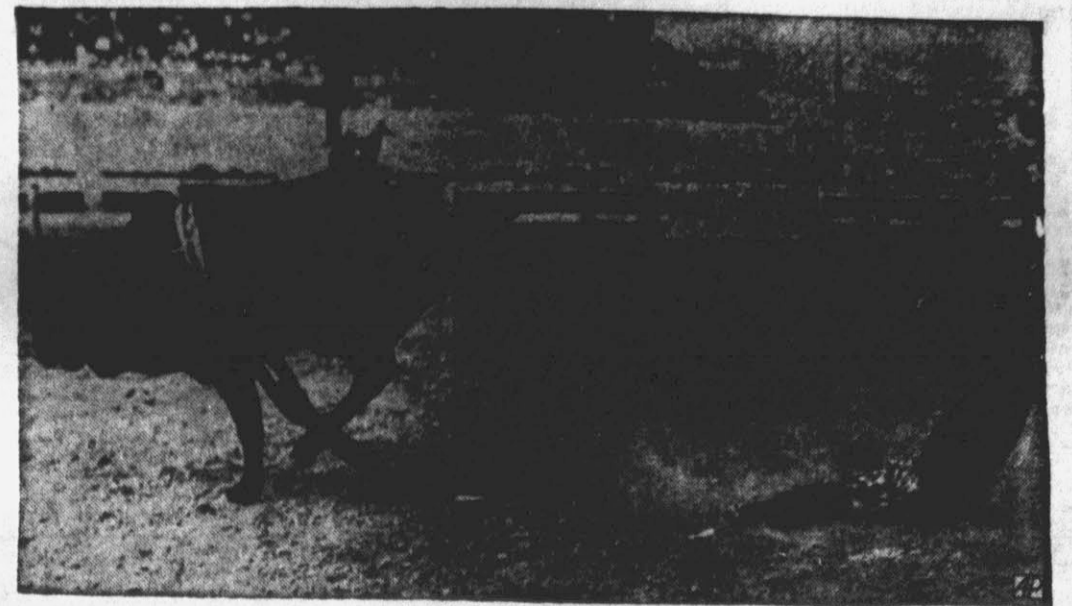

The international designer search stemmed from the dearth of ideas that the Hollywood designers came up with. So far, the local scissors men haven't come up with anything better than giant-sized fig leaves, flesh-colored tights, tree bark wrap arrounds and bird feather arrounds.

"The script calls for Lillith to braid Eve's hair and pile it on top of her head in one scene," he states. "Where would we be with the censors then if we had only hair for a covering?"

However, he insists on some suggestion of nudity, with good taste, to keep the picture in the spirit of Genesis.

Otherwise, he notes, there will be no dramatic impact in the scene where Adam and Eve are banished from the Garden of Eden and try to cover their bodies for the first time.

Costumes must be as good taste, say Franklyn, because there are so many love scenes. When Adam and Eve aren't kissing in their bower, the seductive Lillith is batting her eyelashes at Adam to get him to taste the forbidden fruit.

Pistol-Shooting Victim Does Well

Eugene Lloyd, who was shot in the face with a .32 caliber pistol near Belvoir last Wednesday, is "doing fine" doctors at Duke Hospital reported today.

Medical authorities said they have not operated to remove the bullet as yet and if improvement continues an operation will not be performed.

Lloyd was shot just under the right eye and the bullet lodged within his head. He was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital and later removed to Duke.

Being held in connection with the shooting is Clifton James. James is charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

The shooting took place in a combined "luxe joint" and living quarters owned by James.

Mean Survivor In Groundhog War

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—When George Kitchner's watermelon patch was invaded by groundhogs he shot and trapped 104 of them and collected county bounty of 25 cents each.

Kitchner said, "Last year I lost 20 watermelons to one big old groundhog. He just chewed into each melon for pure cussedness, I reckon, and not because he was really hungry. A few groundhogs can do more damage in a melon patch than a truck-load of grade school boys."

MARRIAGE FOR THREE
By ELIZABETH SEIBERT
Business reverses had forced Adam Laird to sell the home which he had built in Kennesaw, Missouri, for Ann, his bride. Unhappy in the small apartment in which the Lairds had moved, Ann found solace in volunteer work at the local hospital. Here she met Dr. Alexander, a not-too-happily married man of great charm, with whom she could very easily fall in love. Adam, too, had found new diversion in the dark, dynamic person of Linda Van Sant, a nurse on the hospital staff. The Lairds' marital relations became badly strained until they found a new interest in building a new home together.

CHAPTER EIGHT
Adam was relieved to have Ann so much her old self again. He'd build her a nice house! And as quickly as he could manage, what with pay-jobs having first call. Linda, perhaps, recognized this change in Adam's affairs; because that spring she began to take the initiative with him. Now it was she who joined him at the drug store counter, or even ventured to call him at times when she knew that Ann was away from home. She again asked him to drive her to Columbia and didn't flick an eyelash when he explained that he didn't go down there so often any more.

A wife would have been put out by his bluntness. Linda was not in a position to afford such tender sensibilities. She'd think of something else.

She did, too. She had a project, she told him, and would need Adam's help on it. "Ann said you probably help me," she continued smoothly. "Then I guess it's as good as done!"

Linda had driven out to one of his jobs. He knew that every workman was watching them under cover of keeping busy.

Linda looked like a million dollars—the top of her car was down, she wore a yellow sweater, and she had the figure to do it the most good. And again her green earrings swung below her blue-black hair.

"It's a wonderful project, Adam!" she told him. "You know how many chronics we have out at the hospital? Men the railroad have retired for one reason and another, mostly age. Some of them don't have families; others are with us because the families don't want an idle old man sitting around. Well, anyway, I thought if we could fit a place out at the lake—Mr. Bell owns some land there and he said we could use a half-acre of lake shore. I thought if we could build some benches and tables, a fireplace—maybe a shelter of some sort—those old men could go out there and fish—be better than just sitting on the hospital porch, or listening to the radio in their rooms."

"I take it I'm to build the things you want." "Would you Adam?" "I might, Linda. I'm awfully busy, but maybe some of the men would give me a few hours after work."

"Could you get away now for a quick run out there?" The workmen were still watching. "No. But I'll go some evening, soon."

"Tonight? Tomorrow?" "It would depend on Ann—what her plans are."

"I'd want to go with you, to show you the place." "Yes, sure. I'll try to make it tomorrow about seven. I'll pick you up."

"If it's all right with Ann," purred Linda, driving off. Adam tipped his hat back and scratched his thumb nail along his jaw.

That evening, at supper, he mentioned the project to Ann. She said there'd been some talk about it at the hospital. He'd have to work on it. Van Sant had got the old men all worked up.

"You think it's a good idea?" "It's O.K." "She acted as cool as water. I said we'd drive out there tomorrow and look at the place."

"We?" "Sure. You and me. And Linda." "I can't see any need for me to go. I couldn't contribute a thing, and there's that baby shower for Wanda Belcher."

She sounded as if the trip to the lake wasn't important—and it need not be. They'd drive out, walk around and decide on what and where and how much. It was only another job. Adam was always going on similar errands with women—of course, not usually as pretty as Linda.

The next evening he dropped Ann at her shower. She looked cute that evening in a grey dress with a pink rose tucked under her chin.

Linda was dressed for an excursion into the woods. The yellow sweater again, but no earrings. She wore slacks—bright green. Ordinarily, and categorically, Adam disapproved of slacks on women. But on Linda—and for scrambling about on the brushy hillside, they were the only practical thing.

Besides, Linda was different in a lot of ways. Slacks looked good on her; they matched up with her frank and friendly manner, her dazzling smile, the provocative things she said.

Ann's appeal lay in her softness, her childishness, her wide-eyed air of dependency, her general lady-like qualities. Linda had none of those things, but her other qualities compensated. She met a man more than halfway. At Adam's first meeting with her, her friendliness had been the thing on, as she came to know a man better, to indulge in an occasional bold act or word that challenged him snapped him to attention. It was like the champagne that Adam had infrequently tasted, on special occasions.

Now if a man's wife—occasionally—He didn't know that he actually wanted Ann to wear light sweaters, or to be able to swear so fluently and spontaneously as Linda did when she slipped at the lake edge and plunged her foot and leg up to the knee into the scummy water.

But it was exciting to laugh so hard at her language, then to rescue her and have her cling to him, and finally sit on a log while he wiped her leg and foot, with his handkerchief, replaced the skilkin moccasin—and folded his coat around her against the evening's chill. Of course, doing those same things for his wife for Ann, might not have been so exciting—

Whereas a man married to a girl like Linda. Yes, sir! That would be doggone exciting!

That idea, once planted in his mind, took root and grew apace. He saw a good deal of Linda that next month. Working with her on the picnic project supplied food for his imaginings.

Ann wasn't as interested in the new house as he felt she might be; not half as interested as Linda. At times Ann would go with Adam to look at a certain feature, or talk over some decision, but this happened rarely, whereas Linda, on their way out to the lake, would always ask to drive past the house. She scrambled around, expressed amazement over Adam's ability to get the roof ridge to come out just where it should, and the basement steps to hit the hole made for them. He laughed a lot at Linda those weeks, and listened with respect to her ideas. She urged him to make this a truly "modern" house, to go all out. To know that a contractor was available for that sort of work would be good advertising, with a strong appeal for people who had advanced ideas of their own. Adam mentioned this idea of a modern house to Ann. Yes, she said she guessed it would be all right. He could set a picture window to look out across the wooded hollow. And—did he know that Minda Belcher's baby was a boy? During the war, Linda had seen duty as an Army nurse in the China-Burma theater. She had brought back some thrilling stories about the experience, as well as several souvenirs. One of these, a Chinese painting, she showed to Adam, and offered it to him for the space over the fireplace of the new house. It was fairly large—about two feet by three—done in

Could Have Called Kitty Once Too Often

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. (AP)—Timothy, a blue parakeet belonging to Mrs. Mary McIntyre, is missing. Timothy flew the coop last Monday and Mrs. McIntyre immediately offered a $50 reward. She says he has a vocabulary of 400 words. Some of them contain the words of destruction, however. "Timothy gets in a rut. He keeps saying "Here kitty, kitty, kitty," and Mrs. McIntyre is afraid some cat has answered. She hopes not.

A demonstration of the best known methods of hair and scalp treatments to be given to the citizens of our city.

HAIR AND SCALP AUTHORITY HERE TO TELL TRUTH ABOUT BALDNESS

A personal demonstration will be held from 12 noon until 9:00 p. m. on Thursday ONLY, August 13, 1955, in the Proctor Hotel in Greenville North Carolina by the Merrill Hair and Scalp Consultants of Wichita Falls, Texas.

The Merrill Consultant is being sent here for the express purpose of explaining to the people of our city the facts and the truth about hair and scalp disorders. He will explain the 18 common scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose their hair. He will demonstrate the proper methods of hair and scalp hygiene that have been proven successful for thousands of Americans from coast to coast. The Merrill Hair and Scalp Consultants will give you FREE a complete hair and scalp examination and tell you why you are losing your hair, or why you are having trouble with your scalp.

Hopeless Cases Are Few
First, the Merrill Consultant is quick to tell the hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. Once a man is completely shiny bald, nothing can be done. But the hopeless cases are few. Because, if the hair roots are still alive, (evidenced by the presence of light, colorless fuzz,) the Merrill Consultant can perform what sometimes seem to be wonders. In the private examination these facts will come to light. No Charge For Examination
The examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires a full 20 to 30 minutes. And, there is no charge for this examination. After the examination, you will be told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost. After starting the treatment, you will make regular reports to the Merrill Laboratory in Wichita Falls, Texas. An expert will check your progress regularly, and keep in touch with you throughout your course of treatment. As you will be shown at your interview, Merrill offers you a written guarantee of satisfaction. New Hair Is Permanent
If every man and woman will follow our directions faithfully during treatment and after finishing treatment, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives." says this authority. "We know our treatments will work from our thousands of testimonials. It all depends on the individual person's faithful observance of a few simple rules."

Guarantee Pledges Results
Merrill Hair and Scalp Consultants GUARANTEE, in a written certificate given to each new client, that if you are not responding satisfactorily to treatment at the end of 30 days, that all money paid or treatments will be graciously refunded. "We do this to overcome skepticism," says the Merrill Consultant. "Most of our clients are happy, satisfied men and women confident that they will regain their hair and remove all traces of imbedded dandruff and other malicious hair and scalp ailments that prevent natural growth. This guarantee is for those who want to be assured that they will get their money's worth, and that is exactly what we intend to give them!" A Truthful Note
Thousands of men and women have been helped by the Merrill method. Because of their tremendous success in this field, it should be said here that there are some who cannot benefit from these treatments. Any person who is sick, shiny bald, or destined to remain so. If there is any sign of fuzz, no matter how short or colorless, there is a definite chance that hair may be regrown in time. "We have no cure-all," says our expert. "But if you take care of your hair, we can help you have healthy, normal, lasting hair that you will be proud of all your life!"

The Merrill Consultant will occupy a suite of rooms in the Proctor Hotel in Greenville, N. C. on Thursday, August 13, from 12 noon until 9:00 p. m. Ask at the desk for the Merrill Consultant and see what can be done for your troublesome hair and scalp.

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY
You need not have an appointment to take advantage of this clinic. All examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Both men and women are welcome.

Blame Animals For Woods Fires

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—State Forester Frank S. Hill, who investigates brush fires, hears all kinds of excuses.

A man accused of setting one told him: "I was burning trash in my backyard. A rabbit ran through the fire, caught fire and ran into the woods, setting them on fire."

A housewife explained another: "I threw a package of old meat in the trash I was burning. Our dog ran into the fire grabbed the burning package, and ran off into the field, setting the brush on fire."

FULL OF BEANS
DENISON, Tex. (AP)—Children in the neighborhood have quit calling S. O. Freeman "Shorty" and now call him "Jack." A 14-foot beanstalk in his back yard is the reason.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER DEED OF TRUST
Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain deed of trust bearing date of December 7, 1954, executed by Robert L. Crain and wife, Margaret W. Crain, to J. Harold McKeithen, Trustee, recorded in Book D-28 at page 443 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, and a certain instrument appointing R. B. Lee, Substituted Trustee, dated July 21, 1955, and recorded in Book Q-28 at page 215 in said Registry, default having been made in the payment of the debt secured by said deed of trust and the owner of the note evidencing the debt having requested the said Substituted Trustee to foreclose thereon, the undersigned Substituted Trustee will, on Monday, the 12th day of September, 1955, at 12:00 o'clock, Noon, EST, at the courthouse door in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, expose to public sale to the highest bidder that certain lot or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, on the South side of South Sylvania Drive in the Tucker Circle Subdivision, and beginning at an iron stake in the south property line at South Sylvania Drive at the common corner between Lots Numbers 6 and 7 in Block "A" of the Tucker Circle Subdivision, and running thence South 2 degra. West 100 feet to an iron stake in the north line of the Hillsdale Subdivision; thence North 88 degra. West 122 feet to an iron stake, a common corner between Lots Numbers 5 and 6 in Block "A" of said Tucker Circle Subdivision; thence North 27 degra. East 135 feet to an iron stake in the south property line of South Sylvania Drive, a common corner between Lots Numbers 5 and 6 in Block "A"; thence following the curve at the south property line of South Sylvania Drive 65 feet to the iron stake at the beginning of the course between the two points last mentioned being South 89 degra. East and being Lot No. 6 in Block "A" of the Tucker Circle Subdivision, a map of said subdivision being of record in Map Book No. 4 at page 127 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, and said lot being also shown on a more recent map of survey made by Joe M. Drebach, R. S., dated November 1954, and being the same lot conveyed to Robert L. Crain and wife, Margaret W. Crain, by Berger V. Rydell and wife, Esther M. Rydell, by that certain deed filed for registration in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County simultaneously with the recording of this deed of trust.

The proposed purchaser of said property at the said sale will be required to make a deposit equal to 10% of his bid with the Court, and the sale will be subject to confirmation by the Court as provided by law.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—Irregular price movements prevailed today in the stock market.

There were both higher and lower swings of a minor nature in the market and there also was a divergent trend among major divisions.

Gains and losses spread over a range of around 2 points either way, but most changes were fractional.

Trading was light although it was better than yesterday's 1,230,000 shares, lowest since January a year ago.

Coppers and aircrafts were in demand at times while steels and railroads were mildly depressed. Other divisions were mixed.

Foremost Dairies today moved from the over-the-counter market to the New York Stock Exchange. It made its big board debut on three blocks of 1,000 shares each at 24. Thereafter it spent most of its time trading between 23 1/4 and 24.

Callahan Zinc, at the top of the most active list for the past three sessions, opened today on 1,400 shares off 1/4 at 5 1/4. It was down 1/4 yesterday.

A block of 9,000 shares of Royal Dutch Petroleum traded at 83 3/4 off 1/4.

Curtiss - Wright had flurries at higher prices following its earnings report showing profits equal to $2.02 a share for the first six months of this year against 96 cents a year ago.

North American Aviation was higher on reports in wall Street of possibilities of a higher dividend or an extra payment.

The stock market yesterday lost 30 cents at $171.60 in very quiet trading. Volume amounted to only 1,230,000 shares, lowest since Jan. 11, 1954.

RALEIGH (AP—(NCDA)—Hog markets mostly steady today. Purpose of the joint meeting will be to discuss renewal of Serv-Air's lease of the local airport.

Tobacco Barn Is Lost To Blaze

BLACK JACK—A tobacco barn containing 695 sticks of tobacco burned to the ground near here this morning.

It belonged to Elmer Haddock who said the loss was covered by insurance. Bystanders wet down a nearby barn until Greenville firemen arrived. That barn was saved but a pile of green tobacco was scorched. The firefighters also managed to save a part of the shelter at the destroyed barn.

Haddock lost another tobacco barn last Thursday.

RIGGER KILLED

BOSTON (AP)—An anchor cable split and killed a rigger yesterday on the Texas tower radar station being installed 100 miles off Cape Cod. The victim was Arsen S. Haroutyanian, 41, of Everett, father of two and a veteran of 24 years in the Navy.

Encouraged, But

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia's announced intention to reduce its armed forces appears to reflect Soviet recognition of the peaceful purposes of the United States and its Allies.

But he warned that the cut will leave Russian forces "much larger" than those of the United States, and continue other elements of Russian military strength unimpaired.

Furthermore, Dulles stressed the point that the Soviets have never given out any information on the size of their forces or the nature of their weapons.

He said the whole situation created by the Russian announcement last Saturday shows why an international exchange of information and a system of "effective inspection" are necessary for an "intelligent approach" to the control and reduction of military power.

Episcopal Bishop Will Conduct Ordination Rite Here Thursday

The Rt. Rev. Thomas M. Wright, Bishop of East Carolina, will ordain Alexander E. Livesay to the sacred order of Deacons at St. Paul's Episcopal Church here on Thursday, Aug. 18, at 11:00 o'clock.

Mr. Livesay was the Episcopal Student Worker at East Carolina College from 1949 to 1951 and received his Master's Degree in his last year at the college. In the fall of 1952 he entered the Virginia Theological Seminary and completed his course there in the spring of this year. During the past month he has been working as a lay minister at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church at Havelock to which he will return as a minister in orders after his ordination on Thursday.

A number of visiting clergy will participate in this ancient rite of ordination. The Reverend C. Edward Sharp, former curate at St. Paul's, Greenville, and now rector of St. Paul's, Beaufort, will preach the ordination sermon. The Reverend Charles W. Sheerin, Jr., rector of St. Timothy's Church, Herndon, Va., will lead in the Litany for Ordinations. The Reverend Frank L. Rose, Jr., rector of the Church of the Ascension, Norfolk, Va., will read the Epistle. The candidate will be presented by the Reverend Doctor Wallace I. Wolverton, rector of St. Paul's Church and the Reverend Dan Allen, Executive Secretary of the Diocese of East Carolina, will place the crossed stole, the symbol of the first order of the ministry, upon Mr. Livesay.

The visiting clergy, all in red stoles, the acolytes in red and white vestments, and the Bishop in his distinguishing robes will make up the colorful procession. The clergy will sit in the choir and lead the congregation in the music of the liturgy. Mrs. Eva Hodges will be the organist.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service of ordination. There will be a luncheon in the Parish House after the service for those who have already signified their intention to be present at the luncheon. At this time the women of the Altar Guild, Mrs. Troy Rouse, president, will present Mr. Livesay with four beautiful stoles which they have made. Those who assisted Mrs. Rouse in the preparation of these symbolic scarfs were Mrs. J. G. Lautares, Mrs. J. T. Little, and Mrs. A. C. Tebeau. Mrs. Tebeau will present, in addition, the black tippet worn by her husband, who was a priest in the Episcopal Church. Mrs. Little is in charge of the luncheon preparations.

Aid To Blind For 137 During July

Some 137 persons received aid to the blind payments during July, Miss Jennie Manning, case worker for the blind, reported recently.

Two persons completed training at the Rehabilitation Center for the Blind. Thirty-five needy persons were given eye examinations during the month, according to the report.

Glasses were recommended for eighteen, surgery for six, treatment for six and for five there was no recommendation for improvement of vision.

Five persons were removed from the classification of blindness and two eye operations were performed.

Miss Manning reported that the local Lions' club assisted four persons in paying for glasses last month.

Youths Spending Week As Guests Of Paper Mills

Two Pitt County boys are spending a week at Crabtree Park, near Raleigh as guests of the state's pulp and paper mills. They are Hayward Whichard, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Whichard of Greenville, and J. D. Boyd, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Boyd of Grimesland.

The camp is financed by four pulp and paper mills in North Carolina with boys receiving instruction in forestry management. It is sponsored by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association of Atlanta, Ga. The association sponsors nine such camps throughout the south with approximately 1,000 boys attending every summer.

effective chief executive.

Add to these a few other little chores, such as being commander in chief of the armed forces, and you wonder why any man ever wants to be president even though the pay is good — $100,000 a year and an expense account — and you get your picture on a postage stamp after you're dead.

Thomas E. Dewey, who tried as hard as anybody ever has to get the job was asked near the end of the 1948 campaign why any rational person would seek the presidency. The then governor of New York scratched his head and, finally, gave a useful little laugh.

"I don't know," he confessed. "Still, there never has been any shortage of applicants for the job. Where is there a public official—village alderman or U.S. senator—who hasn't, in the secret recesses of his heart, nurtured a wild hope that some day lightning might strike and blast him into the ranks of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln?"

Privacy? Most men would count it a small price to pay for a sure place in history. Only the 33 men who have held the presidency of the United States could tell them how great the price really is.

U.S. To Stress Prevention Of Surprise Blow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will concentrate, at this month's disarmament conference, on finding ways to prevent any nation from making a surprise atomic attack.

Officials pointed up this approach today as a major U.S. goal which will come up for discussion at a meeting of a U.N. Disarmament subcommittee in New York Aug. 29. The United States, Britain, Russia, France and Canada will be represented.

As one official put it, in talking of the possibilities last night: "If you can prevent a surprise attack, you can prevent any attack. With weapons as devastating as those which exist today, no nation will start a war without a surprise attack."

As part of the plan, this country proposes to press for Russian acceptance of President Eisenhower's suggestion for exchange of military blueprints and aerial reconnaissance privileges, made at the Geneva summit conference.

Grifton's Fire Insurance Rating Revised Upward

GRIFTON—Grifton has been converted from a Class 9 to a Class A town fire insurance-wise, according to an announcement from Sam Nelson, local insurance agent.

Nelson said that the new rating is due to the new well and water mains installed in the town last year. The insurance department was then requested to make a survey to judge if the town complied with all regulations for a Class A rating.

Nelson pointed out that fire insurance rates in Grifton have now dropped from 24 to 17 cents a year per $100 on masonry dwellings; and from 38 to 26 cents on frame and brick veneer dwellings. Rates have been required approximately ten per cent on all mercantile establishments.
