Diane Disappears, Leaving Flood Conditions Behind

RALEIGH (AP)—Hurricane Diane disappeared into the north today but left flood conditions in many areas of northeastern North Carolina.

Her all-day sweep across North Carolina from Wilmington to the Virginia line northwest of Raleigh brought heavy crop damage.

Connie, the two storms which hit the state less than a week apart, hit the state's crops a much heavier blow than did destructive Hazel.

Residents of Elizabeth City and Washington were still very much concerned with high water. At other coastal points they turned again to building up foundations washed away from beach property.

At Washington, water from the Pamlico River rose to a depth of four to six feet in parts of the city. Amphibious vehicles—ducks from Camp Lejeune and 18 assault craft from Ft. Bragg—were sent to the area last night to help city officials in evacuation work and to be used anywhere else needed.

Military vehicles were needed elsewhere, however, because of high waters. Gen. Manning said five trucks were used at Belhaven, two at Swan Quarter, two at Aurora, and two in other river front sections near Washington.

The big highway bridges, closing them to traffic late yesterday. Evacuees at New Bern also called on outside help for shelter. Some 700 persons had to move out of areas near New Bern's waterfront, and about 170 campers and counselors from Camps Don Lee and Carolina at Arapahoe were evacuated to the city.

Morehead City reported the only death attributable in part to Diane. Agnew Guthrie, 60, was found dead in the water on the shore there yesterday morning. However, officials said they believed he died of a heart attack.

Hodges Calls For Long-Range Coastal Storm Protection Studied

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolinians must begin to think of a long-range plan to protect the coast against hurricane destruction, Gov. Hodges said today.

After hearing state officials report on the effects of Hurricane Diane, Hodges declared, "We've got to be thinking of something more permanent than temporary repairs following a storm's damage."

State Adj. Gen. John Hall Manning, reported that two Washington National Guard units which were called to active duty yesterday probably will be relieved this afternoon.

W. H. Rogers Jr., chief state highway engineer, said the full effect of Diane on highways was not yet been felt. He said flood conditions on all eastern North Carolina streams are expected to reach a peak later this week.

Later the Air Force announced a C-47 transport searching near the demilitarized zone for the missing trainer was fired upon this morning. One small slug hit the left wing but the plane was otherwise unharmed.

Increased Property Damage Feared Possible Pitt Flood Threat Grows

By BOB HILLDRUP Reflector Staff Writer

The prospect of flooded lowlands and increased property damage from rising water loomed larger in Pitt County today as the Tar River crept closer to flood stage.

At 8 a. m. today the river stood at the 12-foot level, a scant two feet below flooding, and was reported to be rising rapidly.

Hurricane Safety Possible, Costly

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army engineer general said today any shore, almost anywhere, could be protected from hurricane ravages. But he said the cost would be staggering.

This was the view of Brig. Gen. E. C. Itchner, head of the Engineers' civil works division which now is drawing up recommendations for possible construction of dams, seawalls and other structures to minimize property damage and loss of life from great storms like those which have been lashing the eastern seaboard.

Protection from wave and tide damage, Itchner said, could be provided by seawalls and dikes. But aside from the heavy expense, he said, local inhabitants might be object on grounds that their bathing beaches would be marred.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Police arrested a 13-year-old boy yesterday who admitted taking 1,500 pencils in a Sunday burglary at an advertising firm.

Military Adopt New POW Code

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

Hull, onetime supreme commander in the Far East, was vice chairman of a committee of retired officers and civilian officials which drew up the code and an accompanying report.

It officially relaxes for the first time the old requirement that a man give his captors only his name, rank and serial number.

That remains the first line of defense, to which he should hold if he can. The code calls on him to avoid answering other questions "to the utmost of my ability."

Wading Time In Washington

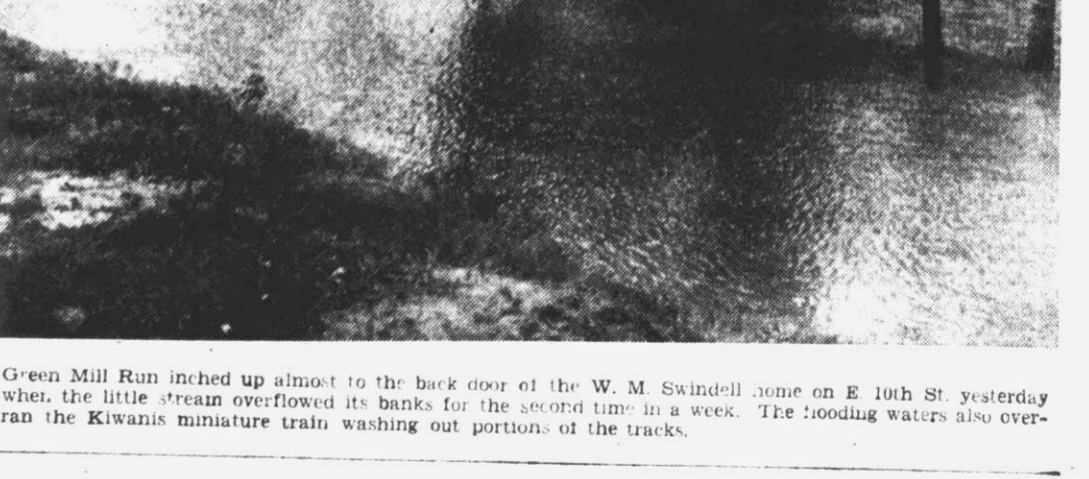

HEADING FOR LAND—Three Washington youths battle through high water to land after inspecting damage at a barbecue stand near the National Guard army. Behind the youths a highway bridge and a railroad trestle are covered with water.

May Also Lose Second Husband

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Una Schmidt-Fine, who a week ago was in the dilemma of choosing between two husbands—today faced the possibility that she may have none.

Last Afternoon Closing In City

Yesterday's Wednesday afternoon closing was the last of the year for Greenville merchants.

Green Mill Run inched up almost to the back door of the W. M. Swindell home on E 10th St. yesterday when the little stream overflowed its banks for the second time in a week. The flooding waters also over-ran the Kiwanis miniature train washing out portions of the tracks.

Numerous Power Line Breaks Quickly Repaired By Utilities

Greenville Utilities had numerous breaks in its lines yesterday due to falling limbs but the longest any major circuit was out of service was about 45 minutes.

It is estimated that to utilities resulting from Hurricane Connie and Diane at "around $5,000." Damage from last year's Hazel amounted to approximately $20,000.

At the power plant arrangements have been made to keep river waters out of the turbine room basement if the river should rise to flood stage, Bloxam declared. If the river should rise to 14 feet water would flood the basement if the necessary precautions were not taken, he pointed out.

POSTMAN'S CAPE
Gray tweed sheath dress with black jersey top and new waist-length wide cape.

By DOROTHY ROE, Associated Press Women's Editor
Having three daughters, Jack Horwitz is a man who went into the dress business in self defense.

Any parent of even one teenage daughter can understand that this is the only ultimate solution of how to get enough dresses to satisfy the demand.

Also because he has daughters of his own, who keep him thoroughly posted on what's hot, Horwitz manages to turn out each season just the kind of things the younger set has been yearning for.

Red Oak Church has had its first visit from the Ku Klux Klan. Wednesday night the house was packed with people and all were singing "He Loves Me" when all at once fifteen white robed men came marching down the aisle. They went and stood in front of the pulpit and handed Rev. Fox a sealed envelope. He opened this and read: "Please accept this offering as an expression of our appreciation of the great work you are engaged in and we wish to assure you we are with you in all of the good work being done. Your friends of the Visible Order of the Greenville Klan, Realm of N. C." After Mr. Fox had spoken his words of appreciation for their visit and offering the Knights departed as quietly as they had come.

Alexander-Tyson Marriage Vows Spoken In Double Ring Rites

FARMVILLE—In a lovely pink setting at the Farmville Baptist Church, Miss Mary Thorne Tyson, daughter of Mrs. Carl A. Tyson and the late Mr. Tyson, became the bride of Stuart Lee Alexander, Bachelor of Arts, at 4 o'clock. Mr. Alexander is the son of Dr. Joseph A. Alexander of Richmond, Va. and the late Mrs. Beulah Bierley Alexander.

Bouquets of white gladioli and asters in shades of pink in floor baskets and banks of fern formed the background for the double ring rites performed by the Rev. Earl W. Holmes. Burning pink tapers lighted the scene.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Hayward Smith, organist, played a program of traditional nuptial music including "Intermezzo," "Mascanzi," "Traumerli," "Schumann," "Serenade," "Schubert," "Evening Star," "Wagner." For the processional the organist played "The Bridal Chorus," "Wagner," during the ceremony "To a Wild Rose," "MacDowell," and for the recessional "Wedding March," Mendelssohn. Mrs. Thomas G. Bulluck, soprano soloist, sang "I Love Thee," "Grieg," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Strauss," and "Oh, Perfect Love," "Barby," as the benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Joseph D. Joyner, wore a ballerina length gown of bluish silk taffeta. It was fashioned on princess lines with a portrait bustle outlined in petal lace applique. The long sleeves ending in calla points also featured the lace. The fitted bodice was buttoned in back with covered buttons and inserts of silk taffeta enhanced the bouffant skirt. A veil of bluish tulle fell from a small bonnet of pleated illusion, exquisitely embroidered with rows of twisted pearls. The bridal bouquet was of stephanotis and shell pink roses, centered with a white purple threated orchid, outlined in pink tulle and tied with pink satin streamers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Tyson chose a gown of powder blue lace over taffeta, a small hat fashioned of pastel flowers and navy accessories. She wore a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. Alexander, stepmother of the groom, wore a dress of turquoise silk organza, and her flowers were yellow cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony Mrs. Tyson entertained at a reception at the Moore House. Guests at the door was the Rev. E. W. Holmes, who introduced Dr. and Mrs. Guy Langston Jones of Raleigh who in turn introduced the receiving line, which was composed of the bridal party.

Directing guests into the dining room were Dr. and Mrs. Britton Ferebee Beasley of Kinston. Mrs. John T. Bynum presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. John T. Thorne served ice-cream cakes. Guests served themselves nuts, mints and ham biscuits, assisted by the Misses Henri Perle Johnson, Martha Holmes and Faye Newborn. Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Harris spoke to guests as they left the dining room, and Mr. and Mrs. John Alfred Taylor of Jacksonville directed them into the living room where Mrs. Joseph D. Joyner presided at the guest register. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Audrey Joyner.

The Moore House was beautifully decorated for the occasion with many arrangements of pastel summer flowers. A pink and white motif predominated in the dining room. Pink roses and white pompoms formed a lovely centerpiece on the bridal table and burning pink candles in silver candelabra flanked the floral arrangement.

After the reception the bride and groom cut the first slice from an exquisitely decorated three-tiered wedding cake, which was surrounded with pink roses, and served their attendants and those who assisted during the reception.

For traveling the bride changed to a suit of softly tailored purple wool tweed, with which she wore black accessories, and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet. The couple left for a trip to the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, after which they will be at home at 1612-A Hanover Ave., Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Alexander, who has made her home in Richmond for the past several years, is a graduate of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. Mr. Alexander was graduated from the University of Richmond and served as first lieutenant in the Air Force during World War II.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Aroney Alexander, Dr. and Mrs. David Mitchell Alexander, Dr. Louis Alexander and Miss Susie B. Stox Alexander of Richmond, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Alexander Jr., Arlington, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Latham, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carraway, and Mrs. Thomas M. ## Program Chairman Presents Discussion At Circle Meeting

BETHEL—Mrs. Don Carson Jr. was hostess to the regular monthly meeting of the Sallie Tucker Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

The president, Mrs. Burton R. Avies, called the meeting to order after which Mrs. John L. Watson read a few verses of scripture and made remarks concerning them. She closed with an impressive prayer.

Mrs. W. C. Whitehurst Jr., program chairman, gave a most interesting discussion on "The Family and The Christian Home." In her talk she brought out that if Christian personality is the highest form of life, it will be produced in families. She also stated that the Christian home is the hope of the world and that the principles and practices that characterize the Christian home are prerequisite to a just, peaceful and brotherly world.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A motion was made and seconded that the members would serve the Lions Club on the third Fridays. Other matters were transacted and the benediction pronounced.

Time lapsed on angel food cake was served during the social hour to loved members and two visitors.

Improvement Work At ECC Under Way

East Carolina College has added a new cafeteria and made other improvements in preparation for the opening of the 1955-1956 term September 5, according to an announcement by F. D. Duncan, college business manager.

The new East Cafeteria, formerly the student soda shop, is expected to be ready for use by September 5. Remodeling of the area and installation of equipment have been in progress during the summer.

The new cafeteria provides seating accommodations for 120 people. A stainless steel counter providing for the heating of food by electricity has been installed, and meals will be served with a fixed menu for each day. The cafeteria will also be available to students and faculty members for parties and special dinners. It is expected to relieve crowded conditions in the North and the South dining halls.

Furniture is now being placed in Unstead Hall new dormitory for men. The building will be ready for use when students arrive on the campus for the beginning of the fall quarter. Other improvements completed this summer include the painting of woodwork on the exteriors of Cotten, Fleming, Jarvis, and Wilson dormitories and of the Wright building and of the interiors of Ragsdale Hall, women's dormitory, and the McGinnis auditorium; laying of asphalt tile in Wilson hall and the basement of the Austin building; and the installation of an intercommunication system in Ragsdale.

Don't Laugh, Your's Could Be Next

If your name is Edith and you laughed at friends named Hazel, Connie and Diane after their names were associated with the last three hurricanes which have hit the North Carolina coast, then dry up.

You see Edith, your name is next on the list. That's right. The Weather Bureau has already picked Edith as the tag for the next seasonal hurricane which makes its way up from the Caribbean.

So, Edith, soon you will join Alice, Brenda, Connie and Diane and receive the dubious honor of having a hurricane named after you.

And you Flora, wipe that smirk off your face. Your turn comes after Edith's. That also goes for Gladys, Hilda, Ione and Janet.

If that isn't enough, all you Katies can watch out. You're coming in for some ribbing also. Then after that there's Martha, Nelly, Orva, Peggy, Queen, Rosa, and Stella.

Still hasn't gotten to you? Okay, there's Trudy, Ursula, Verne, Wilma, Xenia, Yvonne and, if North Carolina is still here, Zaida.

You see, girls, the Weather Bureau has already picked out plenty of names for all the hurricanes which might form in the Atlantic this year.

The list, of course, is entirely different from last year's. As you remember it was Hazel in 1954, Hilda this year.

So you're wondering how your name was picked to be attached to anything as violent as a hurricane? Well, the names were selected by a group of Weather Bureau, Air Force and Navy meteorologists at their Hurricane Services Coordination Conference.

"It should be emphasized," says the Weather Bureau, "that the names of particular individuals are not chosen for inclusion in the list of hurricane names."

You ask why girls names are used at all for naming the tropical storms.

"For several hundred years many hurricanes in the West Indies were named after the particular saint's day on which the hurricane occurred," says the Weather

Bureau. "For example, there was 'Hurricane Santa Ana' which struck Puerto Rico with exceptional violence on July 26, 1825, and 'San Felipe' (the first) and 'San Felipe' (the second) which hit Puerto Rico on September 13 in both 1876 and 1928."

The practice of naming hurricanes after girls became prevalent during World War II when Navy and Air Force meteorologists took up the system and "it soon became evident that the use of girl's names, in written as well as in spoken communications, was shorter, quicker and less confusing than the older more cumbersome latitude-longitude identification methods," according to the Weather Bureau.

"These advantages were especially important in exchanging detailed storm information between hundreds of widely scattered stations, airports, coastal bases and ships at sea."

And, of course, it lessened the danger of confusion when two hurricanes were in the making such as happened with Connie and Diane.

Do girls approve of the system?

"A great many letters have been received from feminine writers who heartily endorse the present Alice-Brenda-Connie system of identifying hurricanes," responds the Weather Bureau. "Many girls have offered their names for use in future hurricane lists."

Such names won't be accepted. However, if you haven't had a storm named after you yet, just be patient. Your turn will come one year.

Senator Scott Now Mildly Restrained

By LYNN NISBET
SCOTT—Kerr Scott, the United States Senator, is a toned down edition of Kerr Scott, who served four years as Governor. He has toned down in two ways. He is a good many pounds lighter in gross weight, and he is more restrained in comment for publication. Most of the reporters who attended the news conference in the Senator's offices in the postoffice building Tuesday, the first time since he became Senator that he had faced Tarheel newsmen in a pre-arranged session, had "covered" the Governor's office during the Scott regime.

They noted the difference, but had no difficulty in recognizing the man who had been with the Senator. He explained part of the reason when asked to compare activities of a Governor with those of a United States Senator. "There's something doing all the time in both positions," he said. "Headed in the same direction in the middle or on top of all of it; but there are 96 Senators and they must share responsibility and the publicity. So he thinks being a Senator is less strenuous than being the Governor."

Many astute observers have contended for years that Kerr Scott is the most important individual or "name" in North Carolina politics. Lately there are signs that Governor Luther Hodges may be sharing, if not challenging, that supremacy. It was natural for the reporter to emphasize the political situation. And just as inevitable that the Senator would make observations that inspired direct questions—which he declined to answer.

He said he did not presently plan to take any part in the next campaign for Governor in behalf of any candidate; but added that in the past he might have shot too quickly sometimes and now thought he would wait until he could see "the whites of their eyes" before shooting.

Asked if he had made any special effort to keep alive the nucleus of the organization which obtained the senatorial nomination for him last year, the Senator said he had not. "We have had no meetings," he said, "that's what you mean." He said, "We have tried to keep contact with individuals and keep up to date on their thinking."

The "keeping in contact" and the waiting "to see the whites of their eyes" policy indicates that Senator Scott does not expect to sit on the sidelines during the

Other Editors Are Saying... How Modern Are Hurricanes?

(Henderson Dispatch)
A great deal is being heard—and almost as much is being experienced—these days about hurricanes. Just how modern are these convulsions of nature that spread so much fear, kill so many people and do so many millions of dollars damage when they strike?

In these parts, hurricanes are comparatively new. But as such they are anything else but new. Such tropical disturbances are common to the Caribbean Sea area, where most of them originate. Chances are that mariners had to contend with them centuries ago before this part of the world was ever settled by the white man. Many an expedition must have come to grief that we in this modern day have never heard of, and many the lives that probably were snuffed out as sailors were carried down to Davy Jones locker never to come to the surface again.

Only in the past few years have the Carolinas been subjected to the devastating ravages of these storms. A quarter century ago we read about the dreadful storm that swept inland with heavy loss of both life and property in Miami. Others followed in that section through the years. There have been heavy blows in the Carolina coastal country, too but for the most part inland dwellers read about them and shuddered at the thought of what was going on, and felt a relief that they spent their fury before they got this far.

Prodigal Son—

Somebody Told Me

Today, Bob's Pet Cat Is Bald

If there is any doubt in your mind that a cat has nine lives, check this story on Bob Boyette's bald cat.

Bob's wife, Dot, started up the car the other day and heard a terrific knocking in the motor. She shut the motor off and went in the house to call Bob. He suggested that she look under the hood to see if there was anything out of the ordinary there that might cause such a noise.

Dot managed to get the hood up and was astounded at what she saw. The cat had crawled up under the hood and was near the fan blade when the engine started. The whirling blade caught the cat and threw it into the radiator, knocking a hole in the radiator, shaving the cat and throwing it to the ground.

Dot took the cat to the vet and with a little doctoring it was OK. But I imagine Dot and Bob are trying to keep him from looking in the mirror. The shock of seeing that he's bald might have a lasting psychology impact on the cat that would warp its personality.

Last night I talked to a radio amateur in Coronado, California, who was surprised to hear that I was 80 miles from the coast and still intact. Newspapers on the West coast, he said, have given top billing and big headlines to the hurricane situation here.

(For Hal Boyd)
WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the season of the amateur photographer. Innocent bystanders should take to the hills.

The shutterbug we have with us always. He goes forth laden with expensive cameras. He comes home with the rent money spent on film, filters, exposure meters, tripods. In between, he takes out pictures. You want to see them? Don't worry. You will.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
IN THAT IMAGE

We read the Bible story which tells of Esau's selling his birthright for a mess of pottage. The immediate impression conveyed to us is that Jacob was an abominable cheat. The deeper Biblical meaning—and one that later events confirms—is that the real cheat was Esau. The birthright was something of great value. In a moment of hungry passion, Esau flung it aside for a savoury stew of lentils. But Esau's great evil was his brightness and this had done something of a terrible nature to his soul.

We cannot play fast and loose with our souls and escape retribution, and this because we are made in the image and after the likeness of God.

New, Growing Industry Officially Noted

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower recognized the rebirth of a new and expanding industry when he signed a Federal Housing Bill that provides for Government insurance of loans for automobile trailer courts. This was not just that he parts of the measure which he personally disapproved.

Incidentally reflecting the change in motoring and living habits, the industry's spokesmen no longer call them "trailers," a term which is associated with the depression and the "Okies." The new and more applicable description is "mobile homes" inasmuch as it is estimated that about 2,000,000 people live in them permanently, and the number grows every year.

HOMES ON WHEELS—This population on wheels was born during the depression days, when many people found that they could vacation or live in trailers at less cost than in conventional homes. It expanded rapidly after World War II, when a shifting working and military population discovered them to be cheap and convenient.

Sales in 1952 amounted to about $1,000,000 worth. The total for 1955 is placed at $400,000,000. Surveys show that 65 per cent of trailer occupants are mobile workers, mostly construction, 25 per cent are retired people seeking the sunlight of Florida, California and the Southwest. Their annual incomes range from $4,000 to $5,000.

Both the industry and the "mobile homes" have grown enormously in recent years. Present trailers were primitive vehicles from 15 to 18 feet in length. This year, 45 per cent of production consisted of 40-foot trailers and even longer ones.

LUXURY MODELS—The additional length has gone into complete bathing facilities, tub and shower, more living and dining space and two bedrooms. A completely furnished "mobile home" 36 feet long and sleeping four people, with all conveniences and furnishings costs from $4,000 to $7,000 for luxury models. All a housewife must provide are china, silverware and bedclothes.

A resulting problem has been the need of more adequate highway, power, sewage, plumbing, landscaping and recreational facilities. One Florida trailer park, for instance, boasts a yacht basin. Banks have been loath to lend still regarding the trailer population as cousins to the "gypsies."

The new Housing Bill permits 80 per cent Government insurance of $1,000 for a single trailer site, and $300,000 maximum for any single trailer park. FHA officials

Reluctance To Accept Rivalry

By ELMER ROESSNER
There is a marked tendency among Americans to run to the City Council, the State Legislature or to Congress when competition gets tough. Businessmen, despite their devotion to free enterprise, are eager for laws or regulations that restrict the other fellow.

Right now a lot of retailers are clamoring for laws to put shackles on auctions. That's because of the rise of warehouse auction sales. Only the largest retailers can convert a warehouse (or a public auditorium) into a temporary auction hall and move a mass of merchandise with a lot of fanfare and showmanship. Little fellows say that kind of selling is unfair competition and, because the little fellows have more votes than one big operator, legislators listen.

This year Nebraska passed a public auction law. It prohibits the sale of new merchandise at auction without a $50-a-day permit. The constitutionality of the law is now under attack.

Still raging is the fight between discounters and those who want fixed prices. The battle lines are growing more confused, however. Many merchants whooping it up for "fair trade" are, at the same time, "meeting competitive prices," which is a euphemism of saying they are discounters, too. There has been further confusion caused by the fact that many courts have questioned sections of "fair trade" laws. In the last two years almost a dozen state laws have been ruled unconstitutional in whole or in part.

Demands for laws taxing chain stores to death have subsided in most states. Too many voters are opposed to such laws. But during the depression, these laws threatened the very existence of chain selling.

Laws permitting door-to-door selling are constantly being proposed, usually by merchants who fear competition. Many states attempt to levy "use" taxes on goods purchased out of state. Others prohibit "loss leaders" with some, such as California, specifying minimum markups.

Many merchants who regard price supports for farmer as creeping socialism believe that price supports for their merchandise is free enterprise.

PRECISE MEASUREMENTS MADE OF COLOR EFFECTS

That color affects emotions, appetites and appearances has been known for centuries but it was not until recently that efforts have been made to measure precisely the effect of color on apparent size.

John Hopkins University, in collaboration with Pittsburgh Plate Glass, has completed studies that show color can cause an increase or decrease in apparent size up to 13.5 per cent.

Tests show that hue, the quality that distinguishes one color from another, can change apparent size by 9.5 per cent. Brightness can cause an apparent change of 8.5 per cent while the chroma, or saturation, can affect apparent size by 6 per cent. All three factors, when producing seeming changes in the same direction, because of duplicating effects, can cause a change of size to the 13.5 per cent mark.

Extension of these studies can have important implications for many lines of business. With adequate data, the size of buildings and rooms can be made to seem larger or smaller; packaging can make an article look like more for the money, and color of clothing can make the stout seem slim and the short fellows seem taller than she.

(CLOTHING INDUSTRY SET FOR BIG FALL)

May is the first big cutting month for men's fall clothes. And this May manufacturers cut 27 per cent more regular weight suits, overcoats and topcoats, the Clothing Manufacturers Association discloses.

CUSTER'S GAMBLING—A

one of Sheridan's daring cavalrymen in the Civil War, Custer used to halt his company on the side of a road, throw a blanket on the ground and force his officers to play poker. His gambling caused complaints that threatened a court-martial.

"A week before he left to drive the Indians from Wyoming, Montana and the Dakotas, he dined with the business firms of Wall Street. The conference strengthened the theory that his—and their—main interest was to win valuable cattle and mineral lands for the great financial interests.

MILITARY BLUNDER—"Custer disobeyed orders when he admitted against Sitting Bull. He had been instructed to await the arrival of General Terry's main body from the North. But so the story goes, Custer thought that he could clear his record at Washington escaping a court-martial, if he could defeat the Sioux chief. He made the further blunder of dividing his regiment into three columns, and advanced without a chance of victory.

"And he, too, neglected to do a good job of scouting the enemy. "The lesson is that military failures may sometimes be a glorious heritage to a nation."

MARRIAGE for THREE

Business reverses had forced Adam Laird to sell the home which he had built in Kennerly, Missouri, for Ann, his bride.

"Well, you're handy..." She smiled at him, went in, sat down on the couch and smoothed her skirt.

CHAPTER TEN

As Adam drove on home, he decided that a man did learn a few things with years. This time he'd talk it over with Ann very thoroughly before selling her house.

"What sort?" "Well, he's working for the government. Something to do with the Atomic Energy commission. Installations is his department.

"I'd rather have a fireplace like yours," Her cheeks turned pink. "The first one we built you know, I'd want several features like we had there, but, of course, some differences, too."

"Boss carpenter, with a fancy name. Ames said I'd done a good job at that sort of thing in the South Pacific, and—"

"But Ann..." "I didn't decide anything. I told him it would all depend on you."

"That wasn't what I started to say, but—you've been your own boss, here. Would you want to go back to working for another man?"

"The pay's awful good, Ann. And the hours short. Eight hours a day, flat, and five days a week. I put in twice that much here."

"I asked him if there'd be any restrictions on what I did off the job. He made a joke about security—but he thought there was no reason I couldn't do some contracting on my own, on the side. I about told him that I'd be interested in his offer only with that proviso."

"If you agree, I told him that, too." "She got up and moved into the bedroom. In the dresser mirror, he could see her moving about the room, taking off her hat, putting it into a box; she seemed thoughtful."

"Ann was thinking hard. Adam had never said one word to her about Linda or his interest in her. Well, maybe it hadn't been an affair. But certainly something had gone on! She'd be a dumb wife not to know that! Lately, things had changed for the better, but Linda was still in Kennerly. Town gossip said she was going to marry Mr. Bell, but even if she did—"

"I think the move sounds like a good idea," she said definitely. "How soon?"

"Well, there'd be a security check of you and me," he told her, standing up. "FBI questionnaires, Ames said. That'll take a little time."

"What about your work here?" "I won't start anything big, and I believe I can rig a deal with Lockett. He could take over my truck, tools and so on—pay me for their use, or buy 'em outright. Maybe the first would be better. If we don't like New Mexico, then we could come back here."

"We would live in Santa Fe?" "I think so. Anyway, we could store our furniture here until we got an idea of what went on. I don't see how we can lose on this, Ann."

"No," she agreed. "And maybe we'll like it better; we're young enough to take the chance."

Adam was relieved, and a little surprised, at Ann's readiness to see things his way.

But she had her own purposes. (To Be Continued)

The Associated Press
 This American League race is so screwy even the contending managers are talking with tongues in check. Each one maintains his guys are going to win it but none of them really sounds convincing. Just a couple of days ago Al Lopez of Cleveland, observing there was no pushovers in the league, figured there wasn't much chance of one club getting hot and racing off with the flag—but if any club could do it, his Indians could, what with their pitching and all.

And Chicago's Marty Marion, ever sure his White Sox will come out on top, nevertheless conceded he couldn't see all that New York talent going to rot. Casey Stengel, meanwhile, patted his Yankees on the head and warned that the Boston Red Sox were not to be written off.

So what happens? Detroit up and busts Cleveland for the second straight day yesterday 9-5. It was the Tribe's third loss in a row behind the failures of its mound ace—Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon.

And Boston, still persistent if not as consistent, wallows the Yanks off a seven-game streak behind the excellent pitching of Ike Delock.

All of which left the Yanks just one game and three percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who were idle. Chicago is half a game up on the Indians who are but two games ahead of fourth-place Boston.

The Tigers whacked Lemon for six hits and five runs in three innings. That's the longest any of Lopez's Big Three has lasted in the last three games.

Jim Bunning gave up solo homers to Larry Doby, Bobby Avila and Gene Woodling before Babe Birrer came on to win in relief. Al Kaline, back up to .350 to top major league hitters, and Bill Tuttle had three hits, each in the major league's 14-hit attack. Cleveland used four pitchers for the third straight game.

Hoot Evers, a regular break-and-sprains guy, suffered an eye injury when struck by his own foul in a pinch role for the Indians. The Yanks, who three times have won seven in a row this season, gave up their chance at eight straight as Boston scored five times in the sixth inning. Grady Hatton and Jim Piersall laced Bob Turley for back-to-back triples to get the frame under way. Delock, a 25-year-old right-hander who had failed against New York in two previous tries, checked the Bombers on two hits until the seventh when Elston Howard's double and a pinch single by Joe Collins scored the Yanks' run. He gave five hits for the night.

A two-night doubleheader between Baltimore and the Nats at Washington was rained out. In the National League, Brooklyn lost its second straight to New York 5-1. Milwaukee homered past St. Louis 11-4. Chicago regained fifth place from Cincinnati 3-2, and Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 6-4.

Willie Mays led the Giants' attack with a triple, two singles and a walk and figured in all of New York's runs. Ramon Monzant, going the distance for the first time in the majors, won his second while scattering eight hits and striking out eight.

Del Crandall's grand-slammer in the eighth put the Braves beyond reach following earlier homers by Andy Patko and Ed Mathews that had built a 5-4 lead.

Hank Sauer only a sometimes starter with the Cubs these days, belted a pair of homers for all of Chicago's runs. Smokey Burgess hit a two-run shot in the first for the Redlegs before Bob Rush settled down for his 10th victory.

The Phils got three runs in the first, then Elroy Face knuckled down while the Pirates' batted back with 16 hits. 11 of them off loser Curt Simmons. Richie Ashburn, tops in NL hitting, pulled a back muscle trying to beat out a hit and left the game in the second inning.

Greenies, Farmville Fail Again To Start Playoffs

The Greenville-Farmville Coastal Plain League playoff series will likely be held up until Saturday night, it was learned today from Farmville Manager Bill Kennedy. Kennedy said the Farmville field was so drenched by Hurricane Diana that it would be impossible to play tonight and probably tomorrow night. He pointed out that water covered the infield and was standing deep in some parts of the outfield. Kennedy said he was trying to negotiate with Greene Business Manager Floyd Nichols to call the series off until Saturday night. He felt that only then would conditions be suitable. The two clubs will engage in a best-of-five semi-final playoffs with the winner meeting the winner of the Rocky Mount-Williamston series for the league championship. Rocky Mount is in Williamston tonight, weather permitting, of course. Farmville No. 1

Farmville completed its schedule the No. 1 club in the loop. Kennedy's boys won 31 games while dropping 15. Greenville finished fourth with a 21-23 record. Williamston was second and Rocky Mount third. Greenville has had very little success with the Farmers during the season. Farmville winning the last meeting by a 14-4 count. As a matter of fact, Greenville holds only one win over their county neighbors. Carraway said he has no special strategy planned for the series, except anticipation of a brand of ball his club is capable of playing. "We're capable of playing a lot better than we've showed in games of late," he exclaimed. "In practical every game so far, however, we've had a key man out. Many times it was James McLawhorn, hard-hitting catcher. Now it is Bobby Flye, who has a sore shoulder." The Greenville skipper hopes to have his full roster on hand for the crucial playoffs. "McLawhorn has indicated he'll be ready as have the others."

Ed LeBaron Impresses Skins In Exhibition

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Little Eddie LeBaron, a midget among pro football giants at only 168 pounds, proved last night that size isn't important in the Eastern Division of the National Football League this year. He came mighty close to beating the powerful San Francisco 49ers last week, although losing 7-6 on a blocked field goal in the closing minutes. Norman Van Brocklin, Los Angeles' quarterback, hit Tom Fears and "Seabiscuit" Boyd for touchdown passes. Washington tried 15 passes and completed eight for 155 yards. Los Angeles attempted 23, and completed eight, also for 155 yards. The Rams fought an uphill battle, being behind 10-0 early in the second period. The Rams pulled up to trail, 17-14 at the half, and the teams each scored touchdowns in the third and fourth periods. The Rams got two scores on the ground, rookie Corky Tharp, formerly of Alabama, rambling 29 yards for one on a pitchout, and Don Fowler bowling his way for 10 for the game's final tally. ## Caroline Offered Post In Canada

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—J. C. Caroline of Columbia, S.C., declared scholastically ineligible for 1955 by the University of Illinois, says he has been offered from $12,000 to $15,000 to play Canadian football. Caroline declined to say yesterday whether he would accept the offer made by the Toronto Argonauts. Caroline starred as a halfback for Illinois.

Small College Football Has Its Trying Moments

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (AP)—Small college football is fighting a "battle for life," in the opinion of C. L. (Buck) Starbeck, coach at Iowa State Teachers College. "The larger colleges prefer to ignore the problems of the smaller schools," he declared in a letter to the editor of the Waterloo (Iowa) Courier. "The major colleges are clamoring for unlimited television," he wrote. "They say that they are acting only to satisfy fans, not for money. Then it would not seem

Slick Shortstop . . . . . by Pap

With only a season and a half of major league baseball behind him, Ernie Banks was voted the shortstop berth on the National League team for the annual All-Star game. That's quite a compliment to a 24-year-old youngster of limited experience. Yet, few veteran baseball men will quarrel with the choice of Banks over other more experienced short fielders in the league. Banks is great, that's all! Banks was an immediate click with the Chicago Cubs when he joined them in the spring of 1954. He has been outstanding ever since. Banks played the 1953 season with the Kansas City Monarchs after having served two years in the Army. After reading glowing scout reports on Banks, Wid Matthews, the Cubs' personnel director, arranged Ernie's purchase from the Monarchs. Banks had one season with the Monarchs before going into the service. Ernie played the full schedule for the Cubs last year—154 games and batted 275 while hitting 19 homers and driving in 79 runs. He was well high perfect on defense and many experts rated him the top rookie of the year. This season, Banks has been the club's most consistent hitter. Manager Stan Hack even had Ernie batting in the clean-up spot to get the full benefit of his timely hitting. In the field, Banks has been making good use of the knowledge he picked up last year by fielding his position with uncanny skill. He's a real ALL-STAR, make no mistake about that!

Cleveland Has Not Died Yet -- Al Lopez

DETROIT (AP)—Hold off on those Cleveland obituaries. The Indians may be gasping, but skipper Al Lopez says they're not dying. "We're still in pretty good shape, even though we're a game and a half out of first place," said Lopez today. "We've had batting troubles all season and now, for no reason, our pitching has gone sour. But then we've been hot and cold right from the start." Only last Saturday night the Indians held what appeared to be a firm two-game grip on first place. They seemed ready to make a run for their second straight flag. Then the pitching staff crumbled. In the last three games Lopez has called on 12 pitchers—four in each game. He used Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Ray Narleski and Art Houtteman yesterday but wound up on the short end of a 9-5 score to the Detroit Tigers. Lemon, making his second start since returning to duty after missing three weeks with a pulled leg muscle, lasted only three innings. He was cuffed for six hits and five runs. Much of Cleveland's troubles stems from a serious decline in production by the "Big Three"—Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. They've compiled an overall mark of 35-27 compared to 47-19 at this time last year. Wynn after a slow start due to a bronchial ailment, leads with 14-8. Lemon is 13-8 and Garcia 5-11. A year ago today Wynn was 15-9, Lemon 17-5 and Garcia 15-5. The Big Three pitched 54 complete games last year, but so far this season have completed only 22.

Dodgers Given Big Shakedown By Wally Alston

By JOE REICHLER
 NEW YORK (AP)—The pennant-bound Brooklyn Dodgers, comforted by a 14-game lead, experienced their first shakedown of the season today after a disturbed Walter Alston reportedly gave them what was termed in some quarters as a "You-better-wake-up" speech. Alston, after seeing his Dodgers stagger through one of their most listless performances of the season in last night's 5-1 loss to New York, announced he was making a couple of changes for today's series finale against the Giants. The manager said Junior Gilliam would replace Don Zimmer at second and Jackie Robinson would be in left field instead of Sandy Amoros. He also had a few choice words to say to a couple of unidentified Dodgers who incidentally were not the benched athletes. No Dodger would admit there was a speech by Alston, let alone disclose its text. "Does it mean the Dodgers are experiencing their customary August jinx? Hardly, only a rabid Dodger-hater would venture such a prediction and it would be more wishful thinking than anything based on fact. A 14 and 15-game sliver over a couple of crippled challengers like the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Giants with less than six weeks to go should be enough to overcome any case of nervousness. There's no denying the Dodgers not only looked but played like a bunch of tired athletes last night in losing their sixth game in nine starts. They reached Ramon Monzant, Giants' rookie right-hander, for eight hits and were presented with four walks, but scored only one run as they left 10 runners stranded. On the field they made three errors, only the third time this season that they have committed that many mistakes in a game. On the other hand, the Giants cashed in on all but two of their nine hits, leaving only two men on base. It was the first complete game of the 22-year-old Monzant's major league career and by far his best. It was only his second victory against six defeats.

Gastonia Edged In Region Five

ROME, Ga. (AP)—Macon, Ga., and Auburn, Ala. meet today for the Region 5 Little League baseball championship. Macon rolled into the finals with a convincing 10-1 victory over Paducah, Ky., with Bobby Mathews providing the punch and the pitching. The little right-hander gave up only four hits and batted in five runs with a single and base-loaded homer. Paducah performed poorly in the field, committing seven errors, five in the first inning. First baseman Joe Benson's homer accounted for the only run. Auburn, failing to get a hit in a 3-0 victory over Gastonia, N.C., scored all their runs in the third on four straight walks and an error. Gastonia blew its only scoring opportunity when Jerry Davis struck out in the 5th inning with the bases loaded.

Satterfield Spots Cuban 32 Pounds, Wins Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Satterfield, the unprejudiced heavyweight slugger, pondered over his inauspicious fight progress today after scoring a unanimous decision over Cuban Nino Valdes, a leading contender for Rocky Marciano's title. Satterfield dealt the giant Valdes his 10th defeat in 45 bouts last night in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Chicago Stadium. In a bout that very few observers thought would go the limit, since both men had 75 per cent knockout averages, Satterfield hammered Valdes to the floor in the final round, but he couldn't keep him there. The Chicago Negro, outweighed 32 pounds and a 3-1 underdog, won a unanimous decision. Satterfield weighed 183, Valdes 215. Before last night's bout Valdes had won 23 of 33 fights by knockouts and was ranked No. 5 among heavyweight ring contenders. Satterfield has scored 30 knockouts in 38 victories. He has lost 19. At the start of the 10th round Valdes and Satterfield raked each other with short blows when Satterfield suddenly backed away and swung widely to his opponent's head. The blow glanced off Valdes' shoulder and he slipped to the floor. He was up in an instant, and there was no count.

Referees Clinic Held At College

Football coaches and officials from eastern North Carolina attended a clinic at East Carolina College Tuesday and heard a discussion of rules, held blackboard drills, saw movies and worked out under the lights Tuesday night in College Stadium. The clinic was first of a series of three held under sponsorship of the Northeastern Officials Booking Office, of which Walter Jones of Farmville is commissioner and secretary, and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association. Jones conducted the meeting and drills and L. J. (Happy) Perry, of Chapel Hill, executive secretary of the NCHSAA, lectured to the 100 coaches and football officials on the 1955 rules and held the blackboard exercises. From practically every section of eastern North Carolina the high school athletic interests were represented in the spirited sessions in which 141 C. C. and C. C. athletic officials also participated.

Fishermen Eisenhower Happy Over Catching 2-Pound Trout

By MARIN L. ARROWSMITH
FRASER, Colo. (AP) — Delighted over landing a two-pound Rocky Mountain trout, President Eisenhower today held a new "catch" championship at his secluded vacation retreat here.

He reeled in the trout yesterday in the first few seconds of 3 1/2 hours of fishing in cold St. Louis Creek. He also caught several other smaller trout and his 7-year-old grandnephew, David, fly casting for the first time—hauled in two 12-inchers weighing under a pound. The youngster fished a quiet pond.

In addition to fishing, Eisenhower, in some golf practice shots, started painting a mountain scene, did nearly all the cooking for his party—and turned out quite a bit of work to boot.

Seated in the living room of his cottage 8,700 feet high in the Rockies, he signed an executive order providing for a new code of conduct for American servicemen who become prisoners in another war.

In an accompanying statement, he said:

"No American prisoner of war will be forgotten by the United States. Every available means will be employed by our government to establish contact with, to support and obtain the release of all our prisoners of war."

The President also:

1. Signed a proclamation formally completing United States approval of the Paris agreements providing for returning a sovietized West Germany.
2. Chose Robert H. Thayer, a national security affairs specialist, to be minister to Communist Rumania, succeeding career Diplomat Harold Shantz, who is retiring.
3. Picked John M. Cashin, of Kingston, N.Y., to be a federal district judge for southern New York state.
4. Accepted the resignation of Archie A. Alexander as governor of the Virgin Islands. Alexander, target of recent demonstrations against his policies, said he was resigning because of "the urgent admonitions of my medical advisers."

The President drove here Tuesday from the Denver Summer White House to be the guest until Sunday of an old friend, Aksel Nielsen. Eisenhower and his grandnephew, who arrived from a Colorado boys camp Thursday evening, are staying in a new cottage at Nielsen's Byers Peak Ranch.

All advance indications had been that grandfather Eisenhower would give David his first fly-casting lesson. But the President turned the job over to Nielsen and some of the Secret Service agents.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, told newsmen that the President and Nielsen together caught about 16 trout. The daily limit for each fisherman is 10.

Hagerly explained to reporters that the President shunned the placid pond where David fished because that kind of setup "is not his dish."

Checked Record Of 'Safety' Man

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Traffic Judge James Demopolos never had heard a speech quite like it, especially from a defendant.

"I'm appalled at the reckless driving on main street," said 26-year-old Charles Hamilton Keegan.

"It sickens my heart. It makes me ashamed of my fellow man. I'm trying to do my part to help correct it."

"Why then are you charged with reckless driving?" asked Judge Demopolos, stirring uneasily on the bench.

"Because I saw a teen-aged boy who I knew," Keegan came back quickly. "He was driving recklessly. I was trying to catch him so I could take him some place and give him a quiet lecture on the principals of safe driving. You see, I've never received a ticket before in my life."

The judge whispered to his bailiff and shortly afterwards a file was brought into the courtroom.

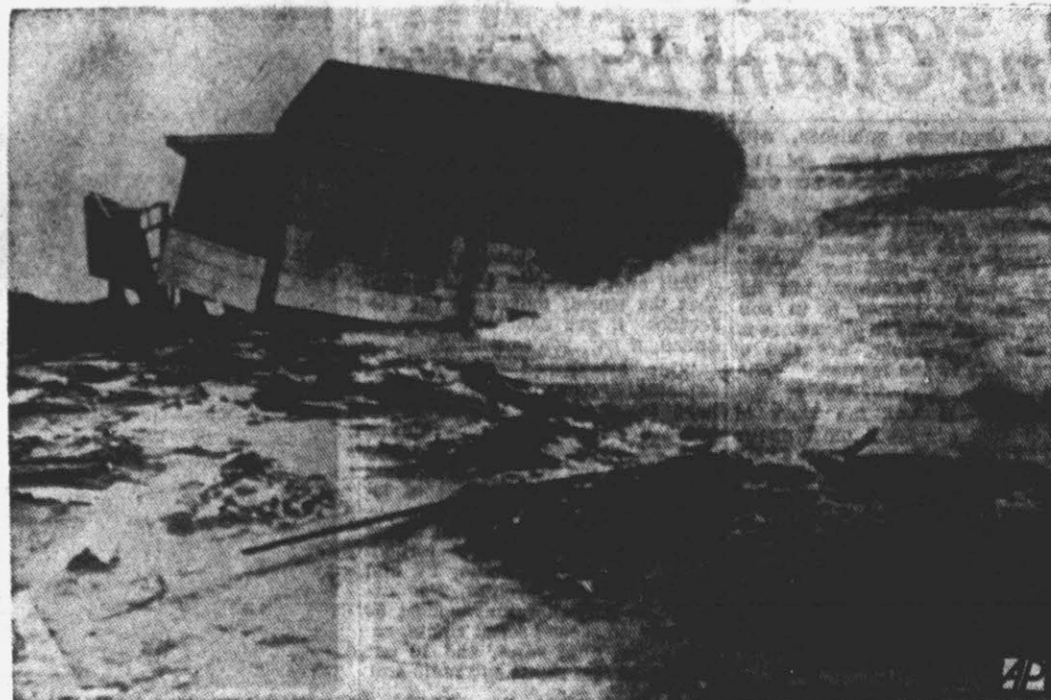

It showed that Keegan had been arrested six times for traffic violations during recent weeks.

"Is that your record?" asked the judge.

"I guess so, your honor," Keegan replied.

He paid a $20 fine.

Only One Of Seventeen Witness Spoke Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee, which today resumed hearings here into alleged Communist leanings in show business, has been defied by 16 out of 17 witnesses.

After actor George Hall—the 12th witness—admitted yesterday he had been a Communist, five other persons took the stand and refused to answer committee questions on constitutional grounds.

The first 11 witnesses also balked at questions during the first three days of hearings.

Madeline Lee, 32, actress and wife of comedian Jack Guilford, yesterday cited the First, Fourth, Fifth and Eighth amendments.

She cited the Fourth Amendment on the grounds that the inquiry constituted "illegal search and seizure and deprivation of the only thing I have to sell, my talent" and the eighth on the ground she could not be subjected to "cruel and unusual punishment."

Like other balky witnesses, she pleaded the First Amendment, which guarantees freedom of speech, and the fifth, which provides that a person may not be compelled to testify against himself.

Another witness was George Keane, one of six persons named by Hall as having been Communists. Keane appeared in "The Seven Year Itch" and "Brigadoon."

Keane, citing the First, Fourth and Fifth amendments, told the committee headed by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.):

"I've always been a patriotic American who has fought for his country and I would fight again."

"But I'm not going to answer such questions (about Communist affiliations) because I consider this hearing is an inquisition and not an investigation."

Actor Joshua Shelley, also named by Hall as having been a Communist, denied the committee's right to question him about his associations. He pleaded the First and Fifth amendments.

Peter Lawrence, former stage manager of the Ballet Theatre and coproducer of the 1950 production of "Peter Pan," was asked if he led "Actor for Peace" unit in the 1952 May Day parade.

Replied Lawrence: "I can do whatever I please. I can walk, I can march and I don't have to testify about it."

The final witness was Albert Ottenheimer, a veteran actor and native of Tacoma, Wash. He was graduated from the University of Washington and later organized the Seattle Repertory Playhouse. He testified he spent about 20 years with the playhouse, acting and helping to direct shows.

Ottenheimer cited the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer whether he had ever been a Communist party member or had taught in Communist-supported schools.

He said, however:

"I have never committed espionage or knowingly advocated the use of force or violence to overthrow the government. I am deeply and unswervingly loyal to my country."

Walter, in announcing yesterday that the hearings would end today, said some of the 10 remaining witnesses subpoenaed "were not available." He said a resumption of the hearings tentatively was scheduled for Washington early next month.

Women Inmates In Violent Riot

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP)—State police kept a watch today at the women's reformatory where 50 inmates last night smashed windows, dishes and "everything breakable" in a wild riot.

Iris Allen, 26 of Fall River, serving a term for robbery, scaled a 10-foot barbed wire fence and escaped during the riot. Three others who tried to escape were captured.

An inmate tipped officials to the breakout. Other inmates pounced on the informant, scratching and beating her. Then they turned to smashing everything breakable in sight.

State police quelled the disturbance.

Jets Fly From English Base To Texas, Non-Stop

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Refueled in flight, 10 F84F jet fighters flew from an American base in England to Austin yesterday 10 hours 48 minutes, breaking two world records.

One of the records was for time, the other for nonstop mass flight distance.

The fighters averaged 480 miles per hour for the 5,118-mile trip from the English Midlands to their station here at Bergstrom Air Force Base. They refueled in flight.

Col. Richard N. Ellis, 39, led the Thunderstreaks.

The flight began with 12 aircraft but two landed at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., and trailed the other 10 home. No reason was announced for the landings.

Summing Up For Court Martial

NEW YORK (AP)—Both sides sum up today in the court-martial of Sgt. James C. Gallagher, accused of collaborating with the enemy and of unpremeditated murder of three fellow Americans in a North Korean POW camp.

The 23-year-old Gallagher, from Brooklyn, has denied all charges against him.

The prosecution contends Gallagher hurried favor with the Chinese Reds and threw three ailing POWs from a prison hut and left them to die in the freezing cold.

Gallagher faces a possible maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

LANDSLIDE FATAL TO FAMILY OF 3

JONESVILLE, Va. (AP)—A family of three was killed last night when they were buried in a landslide caused by heavy rains.

David Cutler, his wife Elsie, both about 40, and their daughter Patricia, 3, were watching sections of a bank wash away along the Winooski River when an embankment fell on them.

Fire fighters dug them out. The parents were dead. The child died a short time later in a Burlington Hospital.

All except eight states restrict the use of fireworks.

"I think the purpose of this committee is to throw fear into the theater," Wolfson told the congressmen. He and other actors and actresses who testified laughed at questions about Communist associations. (AP Wirephoto)

It's The Extras That Pay In Book-Selling Claim Experts

By W.G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — It's "the pig's squeal," a publisher claims, that pays for books.

Once upon a time, he explains, a slaughterhouse and butcher found they could not make money just by selling meat, so they stepped up their efficiency and sold the squeal as well as the pork. The by-product made the difference between profit and loss.

The same is true in books. Not only that, it's true of culture generally. Whether in literature, music, art or theater, culture is not self-supporting. One way or another, it has to be subsidized.

Says the same publisher, with customary unwillingness of his trade to be quoted by name on business matters:

"We just couldn't keep going by publishing only new books."

A book agent tells me: "Do I slaughterhouse and butcher found they could not make money just by selling meat, so they stepped up their efficiency and sold the squeal as well as the pork. The by-product made the difference between profit and loss."

An editor says: "Look at this anthology." It was the work of one of this country's most distinguished and honored poets. "My house is printing about 2,500 copies. Can you guess what will pay a big share of the cost?"

He answers his question: "Reprint rights. I think it's likely that just one poem in these pages"—he named it—"by being sold over and over again for magazines and anthologies will 'seep us out of the red with this volume.'"

Still another publisher is certain that the squeal makes all the difference if you can sell it, you're ahead, if not, you're behind.

"Our established houses," he explains, "don't always dig too hard for the extra income to be found in subsidiary rights. Maybe they get along with help from text books. But the younger publishing house needs other sources of income."

"They are found in serial rights both first and second, in foreign rights, reprints and radio, TV and movies, and book clubs. For example, a publisher may collect 50 per cent on second serial rights, reprints and club sales, and 10 per cent on foreign rights and radio and television."

The New York Philharmonic Symphony, for instance, had a budget of slightly more than one million dollars in 1953-54; and for 1954-55, slightly under one and a half million. The figures show that 40 per cent of the symphony's entire bill is paid by patrons who buy Carnegie Hall tickets. Forty per cent of the income comes from recordings, broadcasts, endorsements and gifts, and the rest is made up by friends and admirers.

The Philadelphia Orchestra, better off than a lot of others, in 1953-54 had $1,094,268 revenue as against $1,269,571 expenses. At first glance, that left the orchestra $200,000 to make up from other sources; but at second glance, the break-down of revenue showed, among other items, that only $712,524 came from ticket sales, that $331,744 was collected from recordings and "other income."

The Museum of Modern Art says about two-thirds of its income is earned, one-third contributed by friends.

For the year ending May, 1953, the Metropolitan Opera received $3,692,665 from ticket sales in New York and on tour; $583,639 for "radio, television and recording fees, building rentals, etc."; and contributions of $205,145 from the Opera Guild, National Council and others.

Lucia Chase, of Ballet Theatre, says the box office can be counted on to foot the bills in the operating weeks of the regular season,

IKE WAITS FOR BOY—President Eisenhower waits patiently in Denver, Colo., while Larry Modest, 13, right, adjusts his camera for a picture. "Have you got it all right now?" the President asked, and Larry nodded happily that he got his shot. The scene is outside the home of Mrs. John S. Doud, the President's mother-in-law, shortly after he arrived by plane from Washington for a work-and-play vacation. (AP Wirephoto)

Rossano Brazzi Excites American Theater-Goers

By STAN SWINTON

ROME (AP)—Gina Lollobrigida and Sophia Loren steal the headlines, but Hollywood is more excited about another Italian — husky-voiced Rossano Brazzi.

Perhaps not since Charles Boyer whispered his invitation to the Casbah has a continental leading man hit American movie-goers with such impact. Thousands of U.S.-postmarked letters are delivered every month to his apartment on Via Sistina here.

Universal-International, with a keen ear to the feminine reaction to his role in "Summertime," with Katharine Hepburn recently signed Brazzi to a contract for one picture annually for three years.

He plans two outside pictures each year and has a round dozen offers to pick from. He is favored for the lead in "South Pacific," the role played by Ezio Pinza on Broadway.

"For the first time in my life I am really excited," Brazzi admits. So are female film-goers.

What is there about Brazzi which sets female hearts spinning? He isn't the typical tall leading man with handsome, regular features. Rossano's height is average, his build solid. His face is rather square, with lips which break often into a friendly smile. His eyes are large and warm. His nose is more Midwestern than Roman. He is 38 years old and looks it.

Yet somehow the romantic sum total exceeds the parts. At a recent balcony party under the Roman stars, a semi-circle of handsome women clustered around Brazzi minutes after his arrival. Standing inconspicuously on one side, beaming with pride at her husband, was Mrs. Brazzi, a fat, cheerful woman who fits to perfection the average American idea of a middle-aged Italian housewife.

Virtually ignored in a corner where he restlessly passed time with a journalist friend was such a matinee idol as Edmund Purdom. Even his lady love, Linda Christian, clung to the Brazzi group for more than an hour. Afterwards, a male guest asked a girl to explain Brazzi's appeal. Her answer:

"Rossano just looks nice — like someone who would be good to you; romantic, yes but kind, too. A man wouldn't understand."

Neither did producers — for years, Brazzi made more than 70 Italian pictures with little notice abroad. Only once did Hollywood call — in 1948 for "Little Women" with June Allyson.

"I was given a 50-year-old character part and was so disgusted I came home to Italy," Brazzi recalls.

Then an American company hunting an Italian leading man for "Three Coins in the Fountain" picked Brazzi. That put him over.

and once in a while there may be enough left over for overhead. But there has to be other money for new productions; and some of it comes from Ballet Theatre Foundation and more from the sort of subsidiary rights noted in other fields.

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chief, reports that the UMW welfare retirement fund grew more than 10 per cent in the past year, winding up with a cash balance of $103,607,911. This balance, which was for June 30, 1955, compared with cash on hand of $93,565,044 on June 30, 1954.

Uneasy Jamaica Is Clinging To British Heritage

By PHIL MANGELSDORF
KINGSTON, Jamaica, (AP)—The capital city of this small Caribbean island provides a study in contrast. Surrounded by American culture—both from the United States and Spanish America—it clings to a heritage from England. The residents of Jamaica, which lies 90 miles south of Cuba, are British subjects. There is only one field in which the United States predominates here—tourists. More than 100,000 visitors from the United States came last year. They immediately found touches of the British culture. Motorists whip along narrow streets on the left side. In vacant lots, small boys play cricket. But everything is not gay. With wide unemployment, the government of Chief Minister Norman W. Manley has set as its goals development of industry, development of the tourist trade, continued development of the largest money maker, agriculture. Manley returned last month from a trip to England during which he obtained a guaranteed price market for Jamaica's banana production for the next five years. Estimates of the number of Jamaica's unemployed range from 11 to 20 per cent of the total labor force. Emigration to England has drained off a small portion of this—12,000 during the past two years. Employment in industry rose from 19,000 to 26,000 in 1953 and continues to increase. The government sees the best answer to its problems in new and expanded industries, and is seeking to attract foreign capital. It admits its accomplishments to date have been disappointing. Jamaica exports to other Caribbean islands the products of its textile and shoe industries. Willis O. Isaacs, minister for trade and industry, hopes for an industry geared to the American market. "We have only a limited supply of dollars," he said. "The government will try to abolish some of the restrictions on imports so that there can be a freer exchange of goods between Jamaica and the United States."

Doubtful Advantage In A Theatrical Heritage

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK, (AP)—There are both advantages and disadvantages to being the son of well-known parents. Some people might say that any break you get is thanks to pull. But when you produce—brother, you'd better produce, for the eyes of the world are on you. Such are the problems buzzing around the head of a cool young fellow named Jim MacArthur, the son of writer Charles MacArthur and actress Helen Hayes. But if he's aware of them, he's not talking about them. At the age of 17 he's being dealt into the game slowly—and he's playing his cards close to the vest. The game is acting. Jim MacArthur is the sort of guy parents are proud of because he's a guy who's proud of his parents. He merely wants to make sure he isn't trading on their name. He wants to move on his own merits. Just one week from tonight, on Thursday, Aug. 25, he makes his television debut in "Deal A Blow" on CBS-TV's Climax. In that drama he plays the role of a youth who's badly misunderstood by his elders. But when you meet Jim MacArthur in real life it's hard to see how his elders could misunderstand him. He's without guile and shrewd as a coney line. "I think I want to go into the theater," he says. "I've seen a lot of it thanks to Mother, and I think I'd like it. But I don't want to rush it. Maybe I haven't got what it takes, and that's why I want to go on to college and be prepared for something else. . . . No, I'm not sure what yet." Next month he begins his last year at the Solebury School near New Hope, Pa. After that he hopes to enter Harvard or Dartmouth. He likes baseball and basketball and he likes to read. And he also likes the theater. Summers he has worked at the Falmouth Theater, Falmouth, Mass., and at the Grove Theater, New Angola, Pa. His roles have been minor until one of the Climax people caught him and figured he was right for a major role in "Deal A Blow."

Eskimo Carving To Be Exhibited In Nat'l Museum

OTTAWA, (AP)—Issa the Smiler, an Eskimo from Port Harrison in northern Quebec, has never been in a museum but people who are getting to know his work. Issa is a carver. Several of his works have been selected for the permanent collection of the National Museum of Canada. They will go on display in Toronto this month as part of what the Northern Affairs Department has billed as the finest collection of Eskimo art ever exhibited. Sixty pieces from the National Museum and 60 from the Canadian Handicrafts Guild will be exhibited in the Northern Affairs Department's "Meet the North" display at the Canadian National Exhibition. Most of the carvings are from native soapstone. Others are whittled from granite, bone and ivory. The dominant motif is the hunt. Mary, Queen of Scots had so many wigs she had a special coach to carry them when she traveled.

Too Many Curves Is Handicap In Movies

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meg Myles, a voluptuous redhead who is the town's latest Cinderella, argues that a 40-inch bust can be a handicap in Hollywood. In a town where the going rate of exchange might put such an attribute as the equivalent of six Oscars, the bosomy Meg almost speaks heresy. "How many actresses with 40-inch busts," she asks, "have ever won an Oscar?" Marilyn Monroe publicly to the contrary, the 21-year-old Meg reveals how much of a handicap she thinks a well-rounded figure can be. "The producer and director of a big picture at a major studio wanted me for a good part this week. I didn't get it because the feminine star he penciled me. . . . She was nice about it though. She said, 'Honey, I would have done the same thing if you had been Baby Leroy or Cheeta the climp. Even if you couldn't act your way out of a paper bag, I know I'd come out second best in any scene with you.'" The star, a well-known one, is slender and flat, of course—and a little past 40. A few years ago, Meg was a College of Pacific coed. She was in a school musical and someone, who knew an agent, suggested she should come to Hollywood. She did. Scattered parts in TV shows, a little modeling but no success to speak of until one of those little breaks that can tilt a career towards stardom. She went to a night club one night where in lieu of salaried entertainment, the emcee passed a microphone around the tables—a sort of sidown amateur night. Meg had always liked to sing but had never done so professionally. She did a solo from the table—and got the usual burst of applause that comes from the customers who had expected you to fall flat on your face and then are surprised when you don't. She visited the club often and before long had a job singing there. One night, as was bound to happen, a customer expressed interest in her talent. That was Red Doff, now her personal manager. Doff, who has been associated with Liberace and Mickey Rooney, got the producers of "The Phenix City Story" interested in her. They heard her sing once and sent her almost overnight to the notorious Alabama city where the picture was shooting. In the picture, she plays a prostitute who delivers a torchy blues number, "The Phenix City Blues." A recording company also got interested and signed her to sing the number. It's selling well. And who said a 40-inch bust is a handicap?

Reasons Behind Scientific Beard

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
GENEVA, (AP)—Why do many scientists wear beards? Just for the fun of it, some of them say. It's a habit, say others, or it saves time shaving. A few even admit their wives made them do it. Those were some of the answers "uncovered in an unscientific poll of bewhiskered scientists at the International atoms-for-peace conference here. Francis Perrin, French high commissioner for atomic energy said: "I struck a rock while swimming in 1937 and broke my jaw. This prevented me from shaving for several months. After that, I just decided to keep my beard." Dr. Peter Fortescue, an engineer at Britain's atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, said: "I started mine during the war for the fun of it. The army didn't get a chance to relate the home guard. I find it saves me many man hours by not shaving." Prof. W. V. Mayneord of the British Medical Research Council said: "I happened to be ill and with nothing to do, I grew a beard. I liked it and I kept it. But it's only a temporary phenomenon." Dr. Luigi Mongini of the Italian Research and Experiment Center, didn't get a chance to relate the reason he grew a beard. "He grew it because I wanted him to," interjected his wife Dr. Carla Tamgnini, a fellow scientist at the Italian study center. "He started the beard two years ago when we got married." The poll also showed that beards on scientists may be on the way out. The youthful scientist of the atomic age is clean shaven, wears his hair crew cut.

Installments Met Generally, But Some Overreach

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, (AP)—You walk along the street and see a sign on a good used car: "Only $5 down." You look at a new house and the builder tells you: "If you're a veteran, $200 down is all you need." (Until recently you didn't need even that.) Your radio blares: "Install a window cooler now, payments start next April." An ad in the paper says: "Wall-to-wall carpeting for the entire house at $4 a week." Next to striking oil, it's the easiest way man ever has devised for raising his standard of living—and fast. It's also one of the easiest ways of getting beyond your depth if you don't watch your step. The vast majority of Americans are in one of their weekly or monthly payments. Finance companies say the record of installment payments on cars is now the best in history. In June, when a record $1,766,000,000 (b) of credit was extended to new car buyers, others were paying in $1,190,000,000 (b) on previous loans. The percentage of delinquencies and repossessions remains at a remarkably low level—and stable over the years. But as the total amount of consumer debt rises, the total amount of delinquencies tends to rise also, even if at the same low percentage. The American Collectors Assn. says that six million American families are delinquent on payments for one or more things they've bought on time. An agency that specializes in helping families after they get in a financial mess estimates that 10 million families are pinched by the debts they've piled up with overenthusiasm. The quality of some installment loans in recent months worries Administration officials. Terms have been getting easier—down payments lower, maturity times extended. This has been due largely to sales competition. Almost all kinds of consumer goods are in abundant supply. How do people get in over their depth? Silver Shield, an organization that makes a business of trying to help people who find they can't meet their payments—and charges 10 per cent for doing it—says that most of them just didn't realize they were taking on so much debt. Modern merchandising puts emphasis on time payment sales and makes credit look so easy that a family lacking sound money judgment just eases into debt before it knows it. Others are victims of illness or reduced income because of loss of overtime or from layoffs. Finance companies and bankers have assured the administration that from now on they'll be looking more closely to see if loan applicants are credit-worthy.

Black Market Probers Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty-eight government investigators are being assigned to hunt any possible "black market" in polio vaccine, but they will not check on what doctors do with it. A spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration conceded yesterday there have been a few cases of doctors charging steep prices and inoculating children outside the age priority group. The federal investigators, working from manufacturers' shipping lists, will trace each shipment to make certain it gets into "legal channels."

Interruption In Their Honeymoon

DETROIT (AP)—The Coast Guard innocently interrupted a sailboat honeymoon. A search had been started when Walter A. McGuffin, 35-year-old Detroit engineer, and his bride of three weeks failed to return from a sail on Lake Erie Saturday. They had just returned from a Bermuda honeymoon. Yesterday, Lt. George E. Cole of the Coast Guard cutter Tupelo spotted McGuffin's sloop. He pulled alongside and shouted: "You're supposed to be missing." "We're not missing," McGuffin shouted back. "We're just on an extended wedding trip." And the Tupelo moved on.

Wednesday's Cases In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
 In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of 14 cases, only five of them involving violations of motor vehicle and traffic laws.

Jesse Bass, Negro, 16th Street, Greenville, breaking, entering and larceny, two cases (Bell's Coal and Oil Company and Nobles' Grocery store). The defendant waived preliminary hearing and the cases were sent up to Superior Court.

The court not pressed the case in which Earl Boyd, Negro, 1205 South Pitt Street, was charged with larceny.

Roy Beacham, Rt. 3, Greenville, assault, 30 days in jail, sentence to be suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is to remain of good behavior and not violate any law for a year, and he is not to threaten or harm Edward Braxton.

Davis H. Wingate, 802 Dickinson Ave., was taxed $5 costs for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Johnnie Lee Harris, Rt. 5, Greenville, speeding, 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $10 costs and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without proper license.

Heiskah Anderson, Negro, 1226 Battle St., 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $10 costs, and he is not to operate a car without proper operator's license. The court gave Anderson 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without proper license.

James T. Teel, Negro, Rt. 1, Greenville, driving drunk, 90 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year.

James H. Palmer, Negro, 1206 Clark St., assault with a deadly weapon (brick), 60 days on roads, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted; pay medical bill, and be of good behavior and not molest or harm James O. Batts.

Guy Easy Boyd, Negro, 621 Pamlico Ave., assault with a deadly weapon (knife), 90 days on roads, suspended on payment of $25 costs deducted; pay $18 medical bill and not harm or molest Leroy Bell, Negro.

Roland Tyson, Rt. 2, Greenville, drunk, $10; possession of non-tax-paid whiskey, costs.

Norwood Conway, 1114 South Cotanche St., non-support, 12 months on the roads, suspended on condition that he remain of good behavior, stay gainfully employed and support his wife and five children.

The court order also provides that he is to refrain from taking intoxicating liquor or using narcotics.

Inflammation of the stomach and throat, adding that her condition was aggravated by the copper in the coins.

The child did not reveal she had swallowed the pennies until they showed up in X-rays last Friday.

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Jack Benson wrote to his home in Columbus, Ohio, and asked them to send him his canary. It arrived yesterday, but an express man had a hard time finding the address, 123 W. 3rd St.

Finally he discovered it was the county jail.

Benson, held on a bad check charge, paid $3.70 express charges—in cash—and took the bird.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—His friendship for a Milwaukee optometrist caused Fred A. Thomas a lot of trouble but the red-haired restaurant worker will get $5,000 from the man's estate.

Dr. Albert Napientek, the optometrist, died in a Miami Beach hotel room last April 13.

A week later, Thomas was found in a motel room at Dunedin with $60,480 of Napientek's money under the bed. Thomas claimed the optometrist gave him the cash to invest in a barbecue stand, but a charge of larceny was filed.

Harold Shapley, attorney for Napientek's widow said yesterday Thomas has agreed to settle his claim for $5,000.

County Judge Frank Dowling is expected to turn the money over to the widow as executrix of Napientek's estate tomorrow.

Thomas still faces the larceny charge but that is expected to be dropped.

More X-Rays For Crosby's Son

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—Madigan Army Hospital doctors planned more X-rays today on Pvt. Philip Crosby, 21-year-old son of singer Bing Crosby, to get an exact picture of his back injuries.

The young soldier's car went off a highway at Raymond, in southwestern Washington into a riverbed Sunday and he suffered a fracture of one or more vertebrae. An ambulance brought him here yesterday. He had to wear a traction on his neck but his back was not in a cast.

Named Top Red In Japan's Party

TOKYO (AP)—Sanzo Nosaka, who emerged from five years of hiding last week, today was named to the No. 1 Communist post in Japan.

The Japan Communist party announced his appointment as first secretary.

Nosaka succeeds Kyuichi Tokuda, whose death in Peiping in October 1953 was announced July 29.

Both Tokuda and Nosaka went underground in 1950 when General Douglas MacArthur purged them from the Japanese Diet.

Police arrested Nosaka last week but turned him loose yesterday after prosecutors decided a MacArthur occupation order was null and void.

IT FILLED THE STREETS—Merchants along Washington's waterfront suffered heavy damage yesterday as water driven along by Hurricane Diane's winds filled the streets and businesses. This photo was taken one block from Main Street at the edge of the Pamlico River.

DAMP AND DISGUSTED—1st Lt. Shep Grist, commander of A Battery, 295th Field Artillery Battalion of Washington's National Guard, glumly surveys water damage in the basement of the Washington armory. With him is CWO J. Nelson Lee, of Headquarters Battery. Water in the basement was coming in from one hole at a rate which filled a two and a half gallon bucket every 15 seconds.

Football Film Is Shown Lions At Weekly Meeting

The Greenville Lions Club, at its weekly meeting, was shown a movie of a football game between the University of North Carolina and South Carolina, played last year at Chapel Hill.

President Ben Rouse recognized Bob Starling for his work in arranging for the first family picnic, which the Club held at Elm Street Park. The event was the first outdoor picnic staged by the Lions Club and was well received. Plans indicate that another outing will be scheduled and, possibly, the family picnic will be a regular event with the local club.

Lion A. A. Hines presented the monthly blind activities report. Dick Worsley was in charge of the program.

A Board of Director's meeting was held following the regular club session.

Fair Committee Meets Tuesday

The Executive Committee of the Fair County Fair will meet Tuesday night to approve the fair budget for this year and consider bids for the erection of a steel fence on the west side of the fairground adjacent to the new highway. Fair President Larry Averette said the meeting will be held at 7 o'clock at Simpson-James Barbecue House.

Refusal Termed Insult To State

ATLANTA (AP)—The refusal of Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania to honor an extradition request for a convicted murderer is an affront to the citizens of Georgia and of every state, according to Gov. Marvin Griffin and Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook. In a strong statement, the two state officials said the unprecedented action was "an open invitation" for every convict to seek refuge in Pennsylvania. Gov. Leader recalled a Georgia extradition warrant against Edward Brown and a Philadelphia judge freed him 10 days ago. Brown, convicted for the 1936 slaying of another Negro in Macon, fled to Pennsylvania after escaping from a Georgia prison farm. Griffin and Cook said the Pennsylvania governor set Brown free "without so much as even giving the state notice and a hearing on the application for recall."

He charged Gov. Leader played politics with Negro legislators in releasing Brown. Neither Gov. Leader nor Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen could be reached for comment. A study of typing operations shows that an average typist has about 288,000 carriage returns a year to return the machine to the left hand margin.

Welcomes Entry Of Truman-Style Political War

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said today Republicans will welcome as an "asset" to them any campaigning former President Truman does for the Democrats in 1936.

"The American people have the utmost confidence in President Eisenhower and are perfectly satisfied with his record," Capehart said. "I don't think anything Harry Truman says will change their minds."

Truman said in a telephone interview last night he is going to "tear into the Republicans" in a series of speeches beginning at French Lick, Ind., Aug. 27. He said he will talk politics at Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 29, in Detroit Sept. 5 at a Labor Day rally and at two subsequent Democratic dinners in California.

"We'll beat the Republicans with their own ammunition," he said. "I am going to do all I can to help restore the government of this country to the people. I'll be available right along to the Democratic National Committee," he said.

"I am going to do all I can to ammunition," he added but indicated he will talk largely about domestic issues.

The Democratic committee has made increasing use of Truman since his recovery from a major operation last year. He has been the stellar attraction at major party rallies since Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 nominee, took a temporary leave from politics to tend to his private business.

Truman, who said he is feeling physically "tip top" at 71, pooh-poohed the idea that he might be a candidate himself, as suggested by Democratic Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama. He said he is for Stevenson, but will support the Democratic convention's candidates.

Capehart said in an interview he thinks Truman's active entry into the campaign will revive the issues of "crony government" and "Democratic mess in Washington" used by the Republicans in the 1952 campaign.

"Truman's statements and speeches will be an asset to us," he said. "I wouldn't know what his issues will be but I don't think the people want to go back to Trumanism."

RECAPTURES CAR
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Jack Fiener was driving his truck across a bridge when he saw in the rear-view mirror the car that had been stolen from in front of his house earlier in the day. He blocked it with his truck. Two youths jumped out and fled. They were later captured on the Indiana side of the Ohio River and turned over to juvenile authorities.

By BRUCE HENDERSON
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Peace seemed remote today for Argentina, her capital wracked by street fighting and her government renewing its battle with Roman Catholic Church leaders.

Reinforced police patrols roamed the streets of Buenos Aires after the third straight day of clashes yesterday between antigovernment demonstrators and followers of President Juan Peron.

Justice and Interior Minister Oscar Albreru accused seven priests in Buenos Aires of using the pulpit to incite a "campaign of disobedience" against Peron.

He said no action had been taken yet against the priests but that their names would be handed over to church authorities.

"Tolerance has its limit," he said, "and we cannot continue tolerating these things because that would in effect concur with them."

He told newsmen the government would resume its political campaign against the church leaders. But the regime, he added, would not abandon the policy of "pacification" Peron proclaimed in an attempt to restore order after the bloody abortive revolt of June 16. Until this week, the government had virtually stilled its attacks on the church since the revolt.

Commenting on the Peronista party's announcement Tuesday that it was resuming its "political crusade," Albreru said the opposition groups brought this on themselves by rejecting the government's proffered truce. The opposition Radical and Democratic (conservative) parties demanded that Peron restore civil liberties.

Albreru did not indicate what form the pacification policy now would take.

Yesterday's violence disrupted the holiday marking the 10th anniversary celebration of the death of Gen. Jose de San Martin, who liberated Argentina from Spain. The skirmishes—many punctuated by shots—broke out before dawn yesterday and continued intermittently until last night in downtown Buenos Aires. Police scattered hundreds of demonstrators with tear gas and fire hoses, but new fights kept erupting.

It was not known how many persons have been injured or arrested since the trouble began Monday, but the figure is expected to be high.

The Armed Forces Council last night announced the sentences for the ringleaders of the June uprising: Rear Adm. Samuel Toranzo Calderon, singled out as the chief plotter, was handed an "indeterminate" term which could mean up to life imprisonment. Nine navy and two air force officers received the same sentence.

Rear Adm. Anibal O. Olivieri, navy minister at the time of the revolt, drew 18 months for "not having used the means at his command" to avert rebellion. The sentence specified that his term would not involve hard labor.

Of eight other navy and air force officers, two got three years each, four received two years, one got 18 months and one a year.

Don't Envy Workers In Soviet Atomic Industry

By FRANK CAREY
GENEVA (AP)—Atomic workers are forging into the ranks of the Soviet Union's elite labor — with some getting a six-hour day and up to a month's vacation with pay.

The holiday may be at bargain rates if the worker spends it in a sanatorium or rest home.

Russian scientist A. Letavet told the atoms-for-peace conference today of these and other steps to guard the health of Russians exposed to atomic radiation on their jobs.

But don't envy the Soviet atomic laborer too much. He works a six-day week, in contrast to the 40-hour, five-day week American experts reported their labor force works.

Capitol Square

spoke out strongly for continued segregation in the schools have gotten something they didn't bargain for. Lake was in "no comment" mood about suggestions he might be a candidate for Attorney General or Governor next year, but he indicated he would stick to private practice—making his services available, if requested, by the State or any other interests concerned with the problem.

The circumstances surrounding his retirement from State officialdom give it far more importance than the usual resignation of a second-level official. However much his expressions may have run counter to the stated policy of the State of North Carolina, as to methods of handling, there is no doubt that he is the recognized and accepted spokesman for a large segment of the citizens who have no idea of tolerating integrated schools. The cards are stacked for Beverly Lake to have a big part in the next Democratic primary, either as an active participant or a behind the scenes adviser.

Male Penguin Is Hatching Egg

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—That proud male king penguin at the Stanley Park zoo is now two weeks faithfully along towards hatching an egg, a penguin accomplishment which has happened only a few times in North America.

His mate is giving him no help at all.

"Normally the female relieves the male at intervals during the egg's incubation period," zoo keeper Alan Beet said today.

"But so far she's shown no willingness to take over."

The incubation period is 64 days. So Mr. Penguin has a job until about Oct. 8, unless the Mrs. takes over.

Letavet said Russia has set a "permissible dose" of radiation — a day without harm — at five 100ths of a Roentgen. The Roentgen is the international unit for measurement of radiation.)

With a six-day week, the Soviets' safe maximum works out to the same three tenths of a Roentgen per week the United States, Britain and some other countries allow. An American scientist reported today that there was "little difference" at such low levels of radiation how the weekly dose was distributed.

Letavet said not all atomic workers get the six-hour day and longer vacation time, just those on certain jobs where the radiation standard might be exceeded. These include workers on nuclear reactors, atom-smashing research machines and on certain jobs using radioactive isotopes.

"Persons working under conditions of ionizing radiations," Letavet said, "are recommended to spend their annual vacations — which as has been mentioned is prolonged — at sanatoriums and rest homes." He added that such facilities were provided at "moderate price," with 30 per cent paid by the worker and 70 per cent from the state's "social insurance fund."

An official of the American Atomic Energy Commission told a reporter if the radiation to which U.S. atomic workers were exposed reached three tenths Roentgen before the work week was out, such workers were immediately assigned to another job away from any possible exposure for the rest of the week.

"It's seldom necessary to do that," he added. "With the protective measures we employ, we've had an amazing safety record."

Learn How Boys Suffocated

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police learned yesterday how Lewis Andrews, 5, and his brother Lee, 2, came to die in an abandoned refrigerator in an empty apartment Tuesday.

Five-year-old Carl Jenkins told Detective Patrick Ryan that he and the brothers were playfully taking turns getting in the refrigerator. When the brothers got inside, Carl found he couldn't open the door, either because he wasn't strong enough or was too short.

Fearing punishment, he said tearfully, he fled.

The bodies of the boys were found by their mother six hours later.

SET FIRE TO PRISON—Black smoke almost blots out the sun as fire started by rioting prisoners sweeps through a section of the Nebraska state penitentiary at Lincoln. The rebellious convicts set fire to six prison shops and then to the main night-smashing furniture and equipment in their cell block. The 12-hour revolt collapsed Wednesday when armed troopers and National Guardsmen marched into the cell block with orders to shoot to kill if necessary. No shots were fired. (AP Wirephoto)

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Limited progress was made by the stock market in the early afternoon today. The pedestrian pace of trading took prices up between 1 and 2 points in a few divisions. Losses usually were fractional.

Trading was a shade better than yesterday's 1,570,000 shares which changed hands in a mixed market.

Among higher divisions were railroads, steels, and aircrafts. Motors and coppers were mixed. Utilities were a shade lower.

Underwood Corp. was up around 1 point at times after directors declared a dividend of 50 cents against 25 cents paid in previous quarters. Curtiss-Wright yesterday's most active stock with a gain of 3/4, added another fraction today in moderate trading.

American Telephone, down 1/2 yesterday after details of its new $5-million-dollar debenture issue were disclosed, was off a fraction today.

Yesterday's stock market was mixed. Coppers were strong all day and leading producers announced a price increase for the metal to 40 cents from 36 cents a pound.

A late rise in which rails, steels, and motors participated, brought the average level of prices up, but there were more stocks declining than advancing. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 40 cents at $171.00.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) — Hog prices 25 to 50 higher. Tops of 7.50 at Goldsboro, Beulaville, Siler City, Mount Gilead, Elizabethtown, Micro, Mount Olive, Fayetteville, and Clinton; 17.52 at Castle Hayne; Snow Hill, Farmville, Kinston, New Bern, Benson, and Rich Square; 7.00 at Tarboro, Enfield, Hamilton and Lumberton; 16.75 at Jacksonville, Plymouth, Taber City, Rocky Mount and Washington.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) — Central North Carolina poultry markets: Fryers and broilers steady, arm price 26 f.o.b. plant price 28; Weights egg steady, A large 54. Asheville fryers and broilers steady, farm price 26, f.o.b. plant 24; eggs steady, A large 49-52.

Can Buy Part Of Crockett Farm

GREENVILLE, Tenn. — Part to be part owner of the farm where Davy Crockett was born.

An acre of the farm near here is being offered for sale at $1 per square inch by New Frontiers, Inc., a Florida promotion group.

Courthouse records show the acre was purchased recently by Joe Garrett Jr. of Miami for $600. If every square inch were sold, the promoters would gross $2,352,400.

A word of caution to prospective buyers: The deed states that each square inch is to be used for residential purposes only!

Colored News

Mrs. Ida Gardner Greene died August 15 at 5:30 p.m. at the home of her daughter, following an illness of a year. She had been critically ill for three weeks.

Moose General Governor To Be Guest On Aug. 22

Greenville Lodge No. 885, Loyal Order of Moose will have as its guest the General Governor of the Order, Judge Ralph D. Moore (above), of Aurora, Ill.

A large class of candidates will be inducted into the order in the Judge's honor on the night of August 22 at 8 p. m. in the Moose Temple on the Farmville Highway, and this class will be addressed by Moore who has brought to the Fraternal through knowledge of the law, so essential to the General Governor's office, as well as a capacity for matters concerning the Order.

Judge Moore was for many years Judge of the Municipal Court of Des Moines, Iowa, and is an old time Moose, long active in many capacities. He is a life member of Des Moines Lodge No. 819; has been treasurer and trustee of that Lodge as well as being Past Governor. He was state ritual chairman, state membership chairman and president of the Iowa State Moose Association. An instructor from the South-eastern Air Defense Filter Center, of Durham, will be present to teach and prepare the unit for exercises soon to be held to evaluate ability to spot and report aircraft properly.

At the present time the Greenville Observation Post has about 100 members, but to properly function as recommended by the Air Force at least 230 additional members are required.

"We ask each member of the unit to bring with him at least one of his friends and neighbors who is willing to give a very small amount of his time to this very important part of our national security," says Hadley. "We invite all persons interested in helping us to meet our quota of 330 members to be with us tonight."

All persons, male or female, over 12 years of age are eligible to participate.

"We especially appeal to the Greenville housewives," says Hadley.

Pitt Flood . . .

Water there, overflowing from the Pamlico River and backed up by strong winds, flooded much of the waterfront, caused considerable property damage and isolated the community with the exception of the Pamlico Highway from Greenville.

Much heavy equipment in the form of National Guard trucks, highway trucks from Greenville and volunteers from as far as Farmville and Bethel pitched in to help.

Bad as the situation was at Washington, however, National Guard commanders 1st Lt. Shep Grist and 1st Lt. William Tadlock were sending vehicles to help other stricken areas near Aurora, Belhaven and Swan Quarter.

Water in Washington isolated completely the east end of the city where many riverfront homes are located. Waves were lapping at the base of the armory, two feet of water stood in its basement and a railroad trestle and highway bridge leading east from Main Street were completely under water.

Grist, commander of A Battery, 295th Field Artillery Battalion, and Tadlock, commander of Headquarters Battery, were being assisted by a detachment of men from Greenville's Guard headed by Capt. Franklin P. Redmond. At least four trucks and eight drivers from C Battery here were on hand.

The call to duty issued to the Washington Guardsmen yesterday morning marked the fifth time in 10 months that they have been called out. Last October they were placed on duty for Hurricane Hazel, two forest fires also brought them out for sustained duty during the winter and Hurricanes Connie and Diane demanded their services also.

The situation in Washington, as described by Grist, was "far worse" yesterday in comparison with Connie last week.

This morning, however, water was reported to be dropping and homeowners were at work clearing mud, water and debris from their premises.

Dog Pack Kills 6-Year-Old Boy

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont. — A 6-year-old boy was bitten to death by a pack of 14 farm dogs here yesterday when he tried to keep them from mauling his own pet dog.

Police said Wayne Baker had wandered away from his family's summer home at nearby Mathiasville. He was found in a clump of bushes on a neighboring farm an hour later.

Mrs. Vera MacDonald, who owns the farm and dogs, said she had gone to the store shortly before the incident. When she returned she found her dogs sniffing at some bushes. She chased them and found the mutilated child. He died in a hospital.

Boy's Curiosity Handcuffed Him

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Eight-year-old Phillip French kicked at some old newspapers on the beach yesterday and made a fascinating find—an obsolete pair of handcuffs.

Naturally, he tried them, on his ankles. Just as naturally, he couldn't get 'em off. He hobbled to a nearby hamburger stand run by his mother Mrs. Richard French.

She hustled him to police headquarters. Sgt. Robert Houghton tried all manner of keys, and finally found one that set Phillip free.

Stabbing Victim Dies Of Wounds

Herma Brown, 36, Negro, of Ayden, died Tuesday of wounds received in a knife fight last week and his alleged assailant, Willie Greene, 31, of Ayden, will be charged with murder. Ayden Police Chief J. A. Jones has reported.

Brown was found lying near a railroad track by Ayden police officers with stab wounds in the chest, head and arms. Greene was arrested shortly afterward and was being held pending the outcome of Brown's condition.

Ground Observer Ordination Held At St. Paul's Church

Greenville Ground Observation Post Supervisor Jake Hadley announced today there will be a meeting of all members of the unit tonight.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the court room of the Municipal Building.

An instructor from the South-eastern Air Defense Filter Center, of Durham, will be present to teach and prepare the unit for exercises soon to be held to evaluate ability to spot and report aircraft properly.

At the present time the Greenville Observation Post has about 100 members, but to properly function as recommended by the Air Force at least 230 additional members are required.

"We ask each member of the unit to bring with him at least one of his friends and neighbors who is willing to give a very small amount of his time to this very important part of our national security," says Hadley. "We invite all persons interested in helping us to meet our quota of 330 members to be with us tonight."

All persons, male or female, over 12 years of age are eligible to participate.

"We especially appeal to the Greenville housewives," says Hadley.

Local CAP Unit Carried Gear To Beach Workers

Members of the Greenville Civil Air Patrol unit carried portable generators and spotlights to Atlantic Beach yesterday to provide light for bulldozers which were working through the night to repair sand dunes protecting the beach.

The group carried two spotlights loaned by the local fire department. Members of the CAP unit operated the power units and spotlights all during the night. Other members of the unit will return to Morehead tonight.

Members who have participated include: Nelson Dudley, Preston Cannon, Jerry Howell, Carl Bestedt, Wyatt Peaden, senior member, and Lawrence Tyson, second lieutenant.

Kiwanis Picnic Event Postponed

The Greenville Kiwanis Club's family picnic scheduled for Friday evening at Elm Street Park has been postponed, President Charles Wilkerson announced.
