Stabilization Corps. Is Big Purchaser On Opening Day

Leaf Market Off To Slow Start

Belt Price Average Is $44-$48

Prices Below Expected Level; Stabilization Body Gets Large Share

RALEIGH (AP) — The huge Eastern North Carolina Fine-Cured Tobacco Belt held its first sales of the season today, and the estimated average price on several markets during the first hour of sales ranged from $44 to $48 per hundred pounds.

The state and Federal departments of agriculture also estimated that on several of the markets between 40 and 65 per cent of the early sales were going to the Fine-Cured Stabilization Corp. under the government price support program.

The corporation takes the leaf when buyers bids fail to exceed the price support figure. The estimated average prices were substantially lower than expected and the amount of leaf going to Stabilization was higher.

Phil Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist for the State Department of Agriculture, said yesterday he expected the opening day average to be between $52 and $53 per hundred.

The Agriculture Department said the quality of the leaf was generally better than on opening day last year. Its said condition of the leaf was good, but there were several baskets "in unsafe keeping order and damaged."

Volume of sales was reported as "extremely heavy" that most of the leaf sold between $38 and $60 per hundred pounds with $62 the practical top price.

Estimated average prices for a number of representative grades follow: Good lemon leaf 58 to 60, good orange leaf 53 to 59, fair lemon leaf 50 to 54, good orange leaf 45 to 55, low orange leaf 44 to 48, good lemon lugs 60 to 65 good orange lugs 59 to 63, good lemon primings 50 to 54, good orange primings 46 to 50, fair lemon primings 40 to 48, fair orange primings 37 to 45, low orange primings 20 to 38, best thin nondescript 12 to 15.

Massive Rehabilitation Effort Begins

Men And Funds Mobilized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government threw money and manpower into the flood-stricken Northeast today in a massive rehabilitation effort which could cost more than 100 million dollars.

With advance approval of congressional leaders, President Eisenhower ordered into effect yesterday an over-all plan for using funds and resources already available to numerous government agencies. They will look to Congress for reimbursement next year.

"This means a special session of the House to authorize the plan," said a White House press secretary, as he outlined the steps already taken or planned.

The Red Cross, meantime, boosted its disaster appeal goal from five million to eight million dollars as it faced growing reports of damage.

It said at least 702 homes were demolished and more than 14,000 heavily damaged by last week's flood. Its latest count showed 10,562 families homeless and dependent on charity for survival.

E. Roland Harriman, national Red Cross chairman, said the "needs continue to grow in the disaster affected areas," and urged chapters throughout the country to consider as "rock bottom" the fund goals assigned them earlier.

The agency reported "virtually a deluge of gifts" to its disaster fund had followed appeals by Eisenhower and other officials, but stressed that the need is growing.

Eisenhower made a new appeal yesterday, saying donors shouldn't wait to be asked by the Red Cross but "should seize the opportunity to force upon them more than they can use."

Five more bodies of flood victims were recovered yesterday in Connecticut, and large numbers of persons still were unaccounted for in Pennsylvania and Connecticut. That threatened to raise still higher the storm's death toll, which was revised downward slightly yesterday to a new figure of 176.

Not even a good guess was available of the total overall material damage from the rains and floods which Hurricane Diane brought on last week.

Eisenhower approved the government relief program in a brief Washington stopover en route from Philadelphia, where he addressed the American Bar Assn., to his vacation headquarters in Denver.

The White House put no ceiling on the cost figure but indicated the Army Engineers alone have up to 100 million dollars that can be diverted to flood relief. The engineers will handle the bulk of the direct work — removing debris, clearing and patching bridges and highways, and repairing other damage to public property.

Over-all supervision will be handled by the Federal Civil Defense Administration Director Val Peterson said every government agency has been directed to find out what it can do. He said he could not estimate the cost.

Some congressional leaders indicated they thought the cost could be held to about 80 millions, but the White House indicated it might even go over 100 millions.

Farmville Mart Has Heavy Sale

FARMVILLE — The local tobacco market will sell 750,000 pounds more of leaf today as sales opened here along with other Eastern Belt markets.

That was the estimate of Charles S. Edwards, Farmville sales supervisor. If the estimate holds true it will be more tobacco than was sold in local warehouses up until Labor Day last year.

Edwards said he would guess that sales on the local market would average 50 cents per pound for today's opening and he said that he had seen several piles which sold for 60 cents or better.

However, Stabilization Corporation was taking a considerable amount of the leaf on today's sales. "They are getting a whole lot more than I hope they'll get any other day," he declared.

The sales supervisor said that buyers from some companies were not on the market today but all buyers are expected tomorrow.

"A lot of the companies here aren't buying as much probably as they will buy tomorrow," he said.

The Farmville market has a full sale today and will be full tomorrow, according to Edwards.

"Everybody is fairly well satisfied," he continued. "We anticipate a higher average tomorrow than today."

Arms Cut

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Following Russia's lead, Czechoslovakia also has announced a cut in her armed forces.

Radio Prague said last night the Red regime plans to reduce the army by 34,000 men this year as a "result of the Geneva conference and the improvement in international relations."

The broadcast gave no figures on Czechoslovakia's armed strength, but Western estimates place it at about 240,000 men under arms, some 200,000 reserves and about 250,000 armed police, border guards and people's militia.

Russia announced 12 days ago she planned to demobilize 640,000 men by Dec. 15. Like her satellites, she has kept her armed strength secret but the West estimates it at about 4 1/2 million men.

Few Purchases By Big Cigarette Companies Mark Opening Today

All Warehouses Report Full Sales, Expected To Be Heavy Friday, Monday

Stabilization Corp. was the big purchaser on opening sales of the Greenville tobacco market today as the market began its 65th season with prices apparently under last year's opening average.

On opening sales this morning estimates of the amount of tobacco going to Stabilization ranged upwards to 75 per cent of the offerings which showed somewhat better quality than the break on opening sales last year. By noon most observers were estimating Stabilization's take at about 55 per cent. Indications this morning were that today's average might be as much as $5 per hundred under the opening average of $53.11 for the Greenville market last year.

All Greenville's warehouses reported full sales today for the market's opening, and sales are expected to continue heavy tomorrow and Monday.

Major cigarette companies were conspicuous on the warehouse floor this morning by their scanty purchases. American Tobacco Company appeared to be purchasing more piles of tobacco than the other two of the Big Three domestic companies, but their purchases seemed to be considerably lower than their usual amount. Individual warehouses and Greenville's three independent tobacco companies, Person-Garrett, Ficklen and Greenville, were getting the bulk of leaf which did not go to Stabilization.

A misty rain cast a gloom over the opening sales most of the day in Greenville. The outside gloom was reflected inside the warehouses as farmers showed little enthusiasm for the prices they were receiving for their offerings.

On an early morning sales, one tobacco grower asserted, "If it were not for Stabilization we wouldn't average 25 cents today." Another pointed to the 20 piles of tobacco he had placed on the warehouse floor for an opening sale. Stabilization had received 18 of his 20 piles of tobacco and independent companies had purchased the other two piles.

One farmer commented, "It looks rough. I expected it to be rough, but not this rough."

Another said, "It doesn't look good to me, but it is about what I expected to see. If we ever needed the Farm Bureau we need it now."

It was reported that neither Export nor Imperial tobacco companies were represented by buyers on Greenville's five sales today. Those companies were expected to have full representation on eastern markets by Monday, however.

Although the quality of offerings on today's sales was somewhat better than on opening day last year, there was a large quantity of common and damaged leaf on warehouse floors. Many farmers who had tobacco damaged in recent storms placed it on the floors for today's sales.

Practical tops on today's sales was $65 per hundred but there appeared little demand for top quality offerings. Farmers and others estimated some grades were bringing 10 to 15 cents less per pound today than the same grades brought last year. It was the general consensus that prices of most grades were off from last year's sales.

As sales progressed this morning there was little indication of increased demand for leaf or increased competition between purchasing companies. There were, however, predictions that the company demand might increase this afternoon or tomorrow.

W. L. Whedbee, sales supervisor of the Greenville market, estimated between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000 pounds of 100-100 was on the floor for today's sale. All warehouses had full sales, he said, and expected full sales tomorrow. There was tobacco in Greenville warehouses from many sections of North Carolina, some from Virginia and some from South Carolina.

The Stabilization take varied so great from row to row that it was impossible to give an accurate estimate until figures have been compiled," Whedbee said in reference to the amount of tobacco stabilization got. From his observations, the sales supervisor said, the common end of the offerings today seemed stronger than the top quality leaf.

Greenville will continue to sell five and one-half hours tomorrow, and Whedbee said he expects the five and one-half hour schedule for the local market to continue through next week.

Whedbee said he expected the trend on the local market to follow about the same pattern as has been set on southern markets with stabilization receiving a large percentage of leaf on the first day and company demand and purchases increasing as the season progresses. He said he anticipates an increasing demand on sales tomorrow.

Hurricane Edith Spins Way Westward; Power Growing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The year's fifth hurricane, Edith, spun ominously over the open Atlantic today and one of the top storm warning experts predicted its winds would have a force of 125 miles an hour or better by Saturday.

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Weather Bureau's Hurricane Center here, said Edith's winds at present were about 80 m.p.h. She was centered at 5 a.m. near latitude 22.7 north, longitude 58.6 west, or 580 miles northeast of Puerto Rico.

That location placed it about 1,500 miles southeast of Miami and the same distance south-southeast of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Edith is a smaller, more concentrated storm than either Connie or Diane," said Dunn. "Her spawning ground was in the same general area as the other two, although Edith moved farther west in wave form than the others before spinning into a hurricane.

"This caused us to believe there is some persistent factor in the area which is causing storms to develop there. It is farther north than the usual breeding ground.

"Conditions are such that Edith probably will move in a westerly direction — either northwest or west-northwest — for the next two days, at least. That's the same old route that Connie and Diane followed. Edith will require a lot of close watching.

"Being more concentrated as the outset, Edith can be expected to show greater intensification. By Saturday I expect her to have winds of 125 to 135 miles an hour near her center."

The storm's forward movement was toward the west-northwest at about 13 m.p.h. Gales extended outward 150 miles to the north and east and 80 miles to the south and west of the center.

Connie brought damaging winds and heavy rains earlier this month to the Carolinas, Virginia and Pennsylvania, blowing out in Canada.

Diane followed last week. It caused the heaviest floods on record in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and parts of New England, and left more than 175 dead and damage estimated at a billion dollars.

Weathermen had been watching an easterly wave well to the east of Puerto Rico for several days but it was not until the Air Force plane flew into the area yesterday that forecasters knew another potential killer was on the way.

The Bride Wore Her Only Dress

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—It wasn't a stylish wedding—but only because a big flood ruined the town.

The bride wore the only dress she didn't lose in the flood.

The bridegroom wore his National Guard fatigue uniform and he was haggard from long flood duty.

They knelt on pieces of cardboard in Sacred Heart Catholic church to protect them from the damp floor.

Shirley Malo, 18, and Normand St. Germaine had planned a stylish wedding with formal clothes and scores of invited guests.

Instead, only a handful could reach the church in a badly battered part of town.

A reporter gave the pretty bride away in marriage last night because her father became ill after the flood.

Another reporter served as altar boy. A newspaper photographer was one of the official witnesses.

The Rev. Mose LeDoux married them by candlelight. There was no choice since there won't be lights in parts of town for a long while yet.

St. Germaine and Miss Malo originally were to be married last Friday, the day of the flood.

They got part way to church and the flood waters engulfed their car.

A policeman rescued them and brought them to nearby house. Several hours later they were evacuated.

They boarded a small boat and rowed to the church. They found the church empty—and flooded.

Father LeDoux said it was to be an 8 a. m. nuptial Mass.

"I waited past that hour," he said. "People kept flocking to the church to pray and light candles. Across from the rectory 12 nuns who teach at our school were evacuated while I waited for the couple."

"Finally I had to start the Mass, a bit late. The water was getting too high for comfort."

"About 10 o'clock a boat rowed up to the rectory and took the two altar boys, Father Aled Brouseau and me out of the flood

Pastor Offered $500 To Leave Position Early

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Rev. George P. Crist, convicted by the United Lutheran Church, Northwest Synod, in a heresy trial, says he has been offered $500 by the synod to leave his pastorate at Durham, Wis., by Oct. 1.

The offer, the 31-year-old minister said, constitutes the total settlement offered by the synod's Executive Committee.

A synod trial committee found Pastor Crist guilty on 9 of 14 counts of doctrinal deviation and recommended he be suspended from his pulpit. The committee further suggested to the Executive Committee that he be given adequate financial support for himself, his wife and two children until the synod convention next spring has an opportunity to review the penalty. The committee suspended him from his pulpit.

Pastor Crist said the offer "does not constitute adequate financial support."

A synod spokesman said the Executive Committee believed the offer is adequate to tide Pastor Crist over until he finds other employment.

Murder Charged To 78-Year-Old

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—A 78-year-old man was charged with murder last night after beating his 9-year-old granddaughter to death with a hammer because "she was making too much noise."

Robert Wallace told Asst. Dist. Atty. A. A. Alexander and Police Chief O. C. Beard that he smashed Frances Jean Wallace's skull as she sat coloring pictures. He said she had been "singing and hollering" while he was trying to sleep. The child was struck some 20 times.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Wallace, were at work.

Relatives said the grandfather recently had attempted suicide.

Confession Was Easy To Get

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Police wish all culprits were as frank as this one.

Officers investigating a break-in spotted him when he reached up from behind a counter to pull a bottled drink down to swallowing level. They found him crouched down, his mouth stuffed full.

Asked what he was doing there, he replied calmly: "Eating bananas so they won't know I took them."

They marched the 8-year-old rascal home.

Pitt Needs Better Telephone Service

Telephone companies have come a long way in meeting requests for service in the past several years; but they still have a long way to go to furnish the calibre service needed particularly in rural areas of Eastern North Carolina.

The Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company which serves a large area in the eastern part of the state has made excellent progress in improving telephone facilities and services in Pitt County in the past decade. Yet the citizens of this county are keenly aware—as company officials should be aware—that the demand for telephone service has not nearly been met.

In rural areas throughout the county the only service available for the most part consists of lines which have many parties. Reports from various sections of the county indicate there are some rural areas in which prospective customers are unable to obtain even multi-party line telephone service. Then to others are in Greenville some areas in which only multi-party lines are available to customers.

The Reflector is aware of the fact that both in towns

Every Plug Counts In Advertising Greenville

Greenville picked up a nice plug in free, nationwide TV advertising today as it was featured on the CBS "Welcome Travelers" program.

It was, of course, through television station WNCT in Greenville that this community was picked as one of the many about the nation to be featured on the program. For that the entire community should be grateful.

The salute to Greenville which was carried by the CBS TV network couldn't tell the nation all that local citizens would like them to know about our fine city. But we may rest assured that a good many people today heard about Greenville for the first time. Frankly, The Reflector is mighty pleased.

From time to time we have looked with envy upon other communities in the state which have received publicity in nationwide magazines, in newsreels or on television for one reason or another.

Now that Greenville has joined this group, we are somewhat less envious. At the same time we are encouraged, for at last perhaps our community too is beginning to learn the secret of spreading the good news about itself throughout the country without spending a fortune in advertising campaigns.

Pitt's New Rescue Unit Is Now Ready For Use

Pitt's long awaited Civil Defense rescue truck has finally arrived and is now ready to serve the people of the county in times of emergency.

The new rescue unit affords citizens of Pitt County the latest word in rescue equipment for use in connection with highway or other accidents. It is the only unit of its kind in this section of the state, and one of the relatively few in use throughout the Southern states.

Pitt's citizens now have the use of this rescue truck and equipment because municipal governments of the county and the county government itself recognized the need for it and contributed local funds with which to purchase the truck. With the old rescue truck of the Greenville Fire Department as an alternate unit, this new equipment will afford the people of the county two rescue trucks to answer emergency calls anywhere in Pitt.

For the sake of the people in the county we hope there will be only rare occasions in which either of the rescue trucks are needed. Nevertheless it is a comforting feeling to know that in time of emergency there are two rescue trucks which can speed to the aid of Pitt County's citizens.

How Many More Bonds Will Be Found Void?

Announcement that another school bond issue has been declared void should induce school officials who have not checked their unsold bonds to do so immediately.

A number of weeks ago the city of Goldsboro found it could not sell its school bonds because the wording of the bond act set out that funds from the bond sale were to be used for construction of schools for a particular race. Bond attorneys held such wording was not legal because of the Supreme Court anti-segregation decision. Now it has been discovered that a similar situation exists in Rockingham County.

How many other counties in North Carolina may face the same situation?

Those counties which have not made a thorough check of their unsold school bonds in the light of these recent developments should do so immediately for the protection of their citizens and their school construction programs.

and in rural areas many of the multi-party lines have been installed in order to furnish some type of service to the greatest possible number of people. When it came to a choice of making a line a one, two or four party line, or making it a multi-party line for 10 or more customers, we agree with the company decision to afford some service to the greatest possible number of customers although the service may not be the calibre desired.

On the other hand, the company must realize and carry out its obligation to improve the calibre of service as rapidly as possible and to extend service into unserved areas as quickly as possible. The telephone company still has a great deal of work to do before Pitt County has the quantity of telephone lines and the quality of service it needs for its people. We trust Carolina Tel and Tel will intensify its efforts to supply Pitt County with the telephone service which is sorely needed.

Diverse Interests At The County Level

By LYNN NISBET
COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—A convention of county commissioners is very much like a session of the General Assembly. Next to the Legislature the boards of county commissioners have to deal with the widest diversity of problems than any other governmental bodies. They "make laws" for their respective counties, fix valuations and rates for ad valorem taxes, distribute moneys derived from taxes to various public services, and have numerous other duties involving elements of legislative, executive-administrative and judicial authority.

This diversity of interest is perhaps the reason that the printed program for the 48th annual convention of the State Association of County Commissioners which convened in Asheville Monday did not assign any special topic to any discussion group or section meeting. Like a daily session of the General Assembly the fellows "make their own" to talk about anything that came to mind, with assurance that it would be pertinent to some phases of commissioner activity.

The nearest approach to specific assignment was in the panel discussion Tuesday morning devoted to 1955 legislation relating to county government. Panel members were W.E. Eastering, secretary of the Local Government Commission, J.A. McMahon and Henry W. Smith of the Institute of Government. The fact that this topic was not very "special" is indicated by studies showing that more than 600 acts relate in some way to county government. It is further noted that the majority of functions that more than 40 per cent of all legislative acts involve to greater or less degree the authority of county commissioners.

It is true that majority of the acts also apply to municipal government bodies, boards of education, health and welfare and the courts. In almost every instance involving these special agencies the county commissioners are included—and more often than not as the primary controlling governmental unit.

INFORMAL—There was keen interest in the talks by Attorney General William Rodman and Assistant Attorney General Robert L. Lake, by Miss Ruth Current, State Home Demonstration Agent, and in the reports of the officers. As usual at conventions of this type, the most important and most valuable part of the "program" was which was not on the program at all—the informal interchange of opinion, discussion of problems and suggested solutions by the commissioner, the county accountant and attorneys.

The shadow of the race segregation issue was over every discussion, public or private. Only occasionally was it met head-on; most times it was skirted or referred to by indirection.

The two most important questions on the agenda of these informal conferences were equalization of taxes and the distribution of property for taxes, and the wisdom or folly of continuing the policy of discounts for prepayment of taxes.

VALUATION—There was almost unanimous opinion that the present method of valuation is creaky and absurd. Some counties frankly appraise property at "true value," in line with the dictum of Governor Bickett four decades ago that the "tax books should speak the truth." Others just as frankly adopt a percentage of true value basis—60 per cent, 75 per cent or 80 per cent—for taxation purposes.

Privately almost every commissioner interviewed by your reporter admitted the "true value" basis should be followed. But what is true value? Should it be based on income? Then what about idle property held off the market for speculation, but yielding no revenue? Should it be the last sale price of that or comparable property? Should buildings be appraised at what they cost to build, or at what they would sell for at forced sale? While some counties are seriously seeking equitable adjustment, in majority of instances the policy is not to disturb sleeping dogs—which might bite the disturbers if they were waked up.

DISCOUNTS—Somewhat the same attitude was taken toward discounts for prepayment of taxes, but with a larger percentage favoring continuing the present policy. Taxpayers are now permitted to pay taxes any time between June 30 and October 1 at a discount of one-half of one percent a month, the equivalent of six percent a year. Payments in October, November and December are at par or face value. In January and subsequent months there is a "penalty" of one-half of one percent a month.

When this policy was inaugurated it enabled counties to "borrow" money from taxpayers without increasing the legal limit of "debt," and discounts for advance payment just about balanced penalties for deferred payment. In recent years a larger percentage of taxpayers have avoided the penalty while some big taxpayers continue the advance payment plan. Result is that many counties are paying 6 per cent interest on "borrowed" money when they could get the money from banks at less interest.

Opinion is practically unanimous for retaining the "penalty" provisions or enacting interest on deferred payments. It is estimated at about 60-40 percent in favor of continuing the discount plan. At the time this was written there was uncertainty whether formal resolutions will be offered on this matter. It is quite likely that any proposal to change the policy would be voted down approximately two to one. Those counties which are now losing money on the advance discount are not at all sure they might not need that plan next year or the next.

MISCELLANEOUS—Other matters concerning the commissioners, and talked about more freely in private or in open discussion, include the increasing demands of the social security program, pension and retirement benefits for county employees, and the responsibility of Federal and State governments to make a fairer distribution of taxes for revenue producing properties which have been taken off the tax books—forests, parks, recreation areas and such. This is a growing problem, for which no answer has been found.

Other Editors Are Saying... Will State Keep Sea Tours

(Goldsboro News-Argus) North Carolina's State Ports program got a big boost in a session through the Caribbean Sea cruises which originated at Morehead City.

It was the first time in the history of the state that sea cruises had been organized to sail from a North Carolina port. This despite the fact that Bermuda, one of the most popular sea tour objectives, is directly east of North Carolina only several hundred miles. And despite the fact that Nassau, Puerto Rico, Cuba and the West Indies are only a pleasant sea journey from Morehead or Wilmington.

Several cruises to Bermuda and Cuba were made out of Morehead by the Swedish ship "Stockholm" in the first year of the experiment. Three to four hundred people made each tour, most of them from North Carolina. Many, however, came from distant states to board the Stockholm. Some drove from New York. Several cars drove from Florida. Others came from the Middle West. Morehead City throbbled with the new business and actively a day or so prior to sailings and a day or so following arrivals from the cruises.

North Carolina tourism picked up a pretty penny for a couple of weeks ahead of each cruise as visitors came by car to tour the state before boarding the ship. This year the cruises have been changed to sail from Wil-

Observation On A Thursday

For children whose birthdays fall the little too late for them to make the first grade this year, a first grade is being organized to meet at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. For further details, call Mrs. Waltz at 2288.

The height of something (you name it): An amateur radio friend of mine, Sergeant George Sharp in Stephensville, Newfoundland, is getting married on the 30th.

He's going to one of those cottage-by-the-lake places in Newfoundland on his honeymoon and is quite concerned about whether or not he'll have a good antenna site there. That's what I said; he's going to take his radio equipment on his honeymoon! That's the best way I know to start a marriage in the dog house.

It seems that putting on the dog to going out of style. By that I mean that I find folks are not trying to impress each other with things they can't afford.

Although we're supposed to be enjoying prosperity as great as we ever have, the cost of living is so high that I find folks not only more conservative, but more open with their economy.

A good example is the planning of a trip by a few young couples. Even before making a decision as to whether or not the trip will be taken, a complete financial survey is made, determining almost to the dollar what it'll cost.

There are some, of course, who don't care what it'll cost and ignore such a survey. But the ratio of those seems to be down. Clothes and new cars are not as important for some. No doubt this is the result of my observation of young parents, who are constantly putting more emphasis on the children and less on themselves. This applied to the financial side of life as well as every other phase.

Actually, this observation may be inaccurate, but it seems to me that people are less interested in impressing someone as having what they do not have.

And I thank you

How To Wind Up A Vacation

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Returning from a vacation is much more of an ordeal than going on one.

There is a thing called the "post-vacation blues," a hang-over disease from a spirit of spree in freedom. Maybe half the adult working population of America is suffering from this seasonal epidemic ailment at this moment.

One returns from a summer vacation to his daily bread-and-butler chores with the hypnotic feeling of a wild bird fixed by the steady bead gaze of a snake.

The job a man lives by holds no glory; he groans in his rut; he feels no victory in accepting his usual insulting weekly paycheck.

Did any man in the history of the world ever come back from a vacation and meet a raise in pay? What a delicious dream!

"Welcome home, Jones," says the boss. "Boy have we missed you! If you find a few extra bucks in your next envelope don't think it's a mistake."

Lacking this surprise, the ordinary vacationer comes back to his daily tasks in office or factory with a split-leg regret. One foot faithfully plods toward the regular routine, the other holds back in a desperate toe-clutch on a last lost liberty.

What can a man do to avoid this straddle of mind and body? How can a man adjust to the problems created by the death of a vacation?

Here are a few how-to-do-it suggestions to cushion the shock of actually having to earn your own living again.

1. Inherit money during your vacation. There is no point in laboring this idea further. Its advantages are obvious.

2. Try to get called for jury duty. The pay is small, but your boss can hardly fire you if you go guilty to serving the Republic.

3. Grow an ulcer. Employers are notoriously sympathetic toward this ailment because, since they are susceptible to it themselves, they are sure that anyone afflicted with it is dedicated to his job. They will be particularly impressed by the fact you developed the ulcer during your time off from your work.

4. Take up a new hobby, such

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
ON MAKING HABITS
In a recent article, I made the statement "We must therefore repeat the sin." When the article came back from the printer it read "We must therefore repeat the sin."

My original statement was theology as contained in the Word of God; the "repeat" was theology which has been largely current in the world since the beginning of time. The tendency of the sinner is not to repent but to repeat. The philosopher William James speaks of his writings of Rip Van Winkle's excuse for habitual conviviality. You recall that Rip always said "We won't count this one"; and James adds that Rip may not count it, and a merciful heaven may not count it, but that it is being counted in the cells of his nervous system.

Repetition of anything tends to establish it as a habit. We stand in awe of the circus juggler or the acrobat swinging above the crowd on the trapeze. We listen to the pianist and wonder why we cannot play that way. There is an ease about achievement which is even more marvelous than the achievement itself. But the secret of this ease is repetition, repetition, repetition—hour upon hour of doing the same thing over again.

Repeat a thought and you have a conviction. Repeat a conviction and you have a purpose. Visualize a purpose and you have a habit.

Salesmanship Mixed With Diplomacy

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Don Jose Maria de Arelliza, the personable and hospitable Spanish Ambassador to the United States, has two strangely contrasting diplomatic concerns on his new assignment—namely, the increasing popularity of vodka as an American drink and the improved relations between Washington and Moscow.

Besides representing the fiercely anti-Communist Generalissimo Franco Spanish dictator, Ambassador Arelliza must do part-time duty as a salesman of Spanish sherry. It is a matter of regret to him that, partially as a result of Moscow's more moderate foreign policy, sales of sherry are falling in direct proportion to an increase in American consumption of Khrushchev's favorite beverage.

The Ambassador does not expect President Eisenhower to serve imported wines at White House functions, inasmuch as that might throw California into the Democratic column next year. It would be a social, economic and political insult to Vice-President Nixon and Chief Justice Warren.

But he does pray—and so state—that our new sweetness—and light attitude toward the Soviet will not be crowned by serving a "screwdriver cocktail" (vodka, vermouth and orange juice) at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

MORE IMPORTANT PROBLEMS He has other and more serious problems. Although the United States has taken Spain under its military wing as a "cold war" asset, the current relations between the two countries could stand improvement. They had deteriorated almost to the breaking point during the Roosevelt and Truman-Acheson regime.

World War II really began in Spain when Franco's forces sought to overthrow the Loyalist (radical) Government. The Russians supported the Loyalists, while Germany and Italy backed Franco, Communists and Fascists—Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini—used the civil conflict to try out new weapons in a bloody rehearsal for the inevitable and greater struggle.

When Franco won out, Washington feared that he would side with the enemy. Had he done so, he might have closed the Mediterranean to the Allies, and prevented Eisenhower's invasion of North Africa. He played it safe, remaining indifferently neutral.

EUROPE'S ORPHAN However, Spain is still an international orphan under American guardianship. She has not been admitted to the United Nations or NATO. For a while, in condemnation of Franco's policies, the Western nations withdrew their diplomatic missions from Madrid. British Laborites, French leftists and American Liberals still have no use for the dictator.

Eisenhower reversed our critical and hostile policy for realistic, military reasons. The two nations are Allies today, and we are building vital air and naval bases on the Iberian Peninsula. We are also advancing technical and economic aid to rebuild industrial and transportation facilities.

But relations have once again become difficult although outwardly friendly. France and England still resent our tie-up with Spain, fearing that we might withdraw behind the Pyrenees if the Russians conquered Western Europe.

MADRID'S IMMEDIATE CON-

Four-Day Week Now Very Near

By ELMER ROESSNER

The four-day week, most economists agree, is only a matter of time. In fact, it is almost here today. Hundreds of thousands of stenographers, typists, reporters and other white-collar workers have a 3 1/2 hour week and a little schedule-juggling could give them each a week of four 9 hour and 23 minutes work days.

But what is making the four-day week a reality is not schedule changes, not union pressure but the increase in automation and the consequent rise in productivity.

When the four-day week arrives, some vested reactionaries may threaten to commit suicidal acts into exile. Most of them, however, will proceed to get richer on it. The four-day week will create vast opportunities.

It will generate an enormous expansion of the vacation and travel industry. Why, if we got the four-day week tomorrow, by next Tuesday at 3:30 P.M. that inventory of 750,000 new automobiles would vanish! In addition to a fresh new demand for cars, there would be greater sales of clean-shaven oil, clamorous demands for new and better highways, great upsurges in motel, hotel and resort registrations, and travel agencies would take over downtown skyscrapers.

The three—instead of four-day week end would increase sales potentials 50 per cent in the do-it-yourself market. It would make a similar increase in possible sales in the sporting goods market. While the sale of some business books has been trimmed a bit, demand for sports and outdoor wear would soar.

Such places of culture as the theater, the ballet and concert halls might enjoy unprecedented patronage. People might even resume reading books! And there would be a rush of thousands of new products, designed to amuse buyers or tick off their extra leisure hours.

In fact, business might be stimulated so greatly that the country would have to go back to the five-day week to fill all the demand for goods and services.

ADVERTISING ON WAY TO NEW RECORD HIGH
Businessmen' investment in advertising will soar above $8.5 billion Printer's Ink predicts. Its final tabulation for 1954 shows an investment of more than $8 billion. During the first half of this year advertising expenditures have been running 11 per cent ahead of last year.

Television and newspapers are leading the race to a new record this year, the Trade magazine says. During the first six months of the year, television was 22 per cent ahead of the same period last year and newspapers were 15 per cent up. Only network radio showed a decline, down 16 per cent.

STORE POSSES OWN $64,000 QUESTIONS
Opportunistically a New York rug store is featuring a $64,000 question in new promotion. Teaser ads are offering that sum to the first person who can solve "one of the most perplexing problems pertaining to rugs and carpets." The store has not yet propounded the question, it doesn't expect anybody will provide the answer. In any event it promises to award four other prizes.

BASSIE TAKES DARK LOOK AT ECONOMIC FUTURE
L. Lewis Bassie added to his reputation as one of the most bullish economists when he wrote in the University of Illinois Business Review that the stock market is supporting the boom and the boom is supporting the stock market. The whole is ready to fall apart "like a house of cards when any portion fails to hold up," he contended.

Bassie finds the present optimistic "typical of the state of mind at the end of a long prosperity."

RUSSIANS WORKING ON STRIKING INVENTION
Russia is now inventing the match book.

The Russian magazine "Ogonyok" reports that the Soviet has opened its first match-book factory using mass-production machinery capable of turning out 150,000 match books a day.

This, says the American Match Book Information Bureau, is about 15 minutes production on each machine in any of a dozen American plants. Besides, the Bureau says, match books were invented here in America back in 1892. A likely story!

FRN We have skimmed on our promised pledges to Franco. Spain has received only $159,000,000 as against billions advanced to Germany and Japan. Even Marshal Tito, who again flirts with the Communists, has had far more economic and military reinforcement than Spain.

Madrid's immediate concern is that easing of Russo-American tensions may mean abandonment of our alliance with Spain. In that event, Spanish liberals would probably renew their attack on Franco, precipitating turmoil in this key area.

Ambassador Arelliza's special qualifications influenced his selection for this critical period. He is one of the few practical businessmen among members of the former Director General of Commerce and Mayor of Bilbao.

He will need all these assets because of his double diplomatic duties. It is no easy task to warm against Russian bearing gifts, as do so many foreign diplomats here, and to achieve a more profitable market for Spanish sherry.

Lou Costello Credits Horse With A 'Cure'

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lou Costello, who has had more than his share of serious illness, now has a horse for a doctor and never felt better in his life.

The world knows Lou as one half of the famed comedy team of Abbott and Costello. Another world—the turf world—now refers to Lou as the owner and breeder of Bold Bazooka, one of the fastest 2-year-old colts running today.

A radical change takes place once Lou leaves the theatrical world for Del Mar, where he is vacationing now.

Lou's chestnut colt tied the world's record for five and one-half furlongs when he won his first race last month. The time was 1:03 1-5.

A few days later, Lou posted a supplemental entry fee of $2,500 and entered Bold Bazooka in Hollywood Park's Starlet Stakes, the West's richest event for 2-year-olds.

The Costello entry ran the six furlongs in a blistering 1:09 4-5, a track record for 2-year-olds. Lou's $2,500 entry fee returned him a net winner's purse of $49,650. And that's a lot of hay.

But to Lou, already a millionaire, the money was unimportant. "I wish I could tell the people just how much this horse has done for me physically and mentally. I feel 15 years younger and my health is so good that I don't think I'll ever need to take another pill," Lou reveals.

Three years ago, Lou bought a 22-acre ranch in the San Fernando Valley—mostly as a weekend retreat and a place for his children to get away from the smog. First he started raising chickens but he figured the eggs were costing him about $35 a dozen.

Then one day at a San Francisco track, he claimed the mare Bold Rebel for $2,500. She was to be the nucleus of a horse farm. Lou bred the mare with Bazooka and the result was Bold Bazooka. One horse owner asked Lou for the secret of feeding Bold Bazooka. "I just give the horse $20 and tell him to buy whatever he wants," was Lou's answer.

Adm. Ingersoll To Head 7th Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rear Adm. Stuart H. Ingersoll, a veteran Navy aviator, is to be the new commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, which guards America's interests in Far Eastern waters. The Navy announced yesterday that the 57-year-old Ingersoll will succeed Vice Adm. A. M. Pride next December or January. The next assignment for Pride has yet to be announced. Ingersoll, a Springfield, Mass., native, has been chief of staff to Adm. Gerald Wright, Atlantic Fleet commander.

In 1907, the Clermont, first successful commercial steamboat transported 14 people from New York to Albany on the Hudson River on its first trip.

Calls A Halt; 6 Pilots Is Enough

THE PAS, Man. (AP)—Tom Lamb has put his foot down. Six pilots in one family, he says, are enough. His youngest son, 18-year-old Connie, would like to be a pilot along with his dad and five brothers.

"But we've got enough pilots in the family now," says Tom. "I want him to be a veterinarian." So Tom has sent his youngest to Seattle to take a veterinarian's course. Eventually he will manage Tom's 54,000-acre cattle and muskrat ranch at Moose Lake, 25 miles east of this northern gateway town.

Father and the other sons will look after Lamb's unique four-plane family air service operating out of far-flung points in Northern Canada. Early bush pilots taught Tom how to fly and he soon was flying fish into The Pas from the surrounding district.

"When I saw there were few dollars to be made in this business, I decided to form my own company," he said. That was in 1935. Now 57, Tom is still flying.

Married in 1925, he has nine children. The three oldest are Sheila, 28, married and in Seattle; Carol, 27, also married and running Tom's trading post with her husband at Moose Lake, and Phyllis, 26, wife of Cal Gibson, the airways' office manager.

After them came the boys. Greg, 24, is chief pilot and assistant manager. The other pilots are Dennis and Don, 22-year-old twins, Jack, 21, and Doug, 19.

Former Premier Now Ambassador

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Former Prime Minister Mohammed Ali is going back to Washington as Pakistan's ambassador to the United States.

The government announced last night that Ali had been appointed again to the Washington post he held from January 1952 to April 1953. He resigned as ambassador to become prime minister.

Ali quit the prime minister's post two weeks ago after he lost his position as head of the Moslem League party to the present Prime Minister, Chaudhri Mohammed Ali.

The outgoing envoy is Syed Amjad Ali.

Finer Carolina Work Aired Over TV

The Finer Carolina Contest as participated in at Grifton was discussed on Jay Kroll's morning television show yesterday. Representing Grifton on the program to discuss the town's projects in the contest were Mrs. Tom Gower, chairman of the Steering Committee for the Finer Carolina program; Mrs. Joe House, president of the Service League; and Mrs. Selby Coffman, past president of the Service League. Shown here with Kroll just before the program went on the air are Mrs. Gower and Mrs. Coffman. (Reflector Photo by Edwin Haymes.)

Three Grifton women appeared on a WNCT television program yesterday to discuss their town projects for the 1955 Finer Carolina Contest.

Appearing with Jay Kroll on his morning show were Mrs. Tom Gower, chairman of the Grifton Steering Committee for the Finer Carolina program; Mrs. Joe House, president of the Service League; and Mrs. Selby Coffman, past president of the Service League.

The Finer Carolina Contest is sponsored annually by the Carolina Power and Light Co. Towns in North and South Carolina, according to their size and population, participate in the program to improve and beautify their communities. Each town must select five projects for the year, and at the end of the year submit a scrapbook showing all accomplishments in picture and story. Five impartial judges select winners, to whom cash prizes are awarded. The contest closes on Dec. 1.

Grifton was named winner of $1,000 in prize money in 1952 and 1953. This was first place for towns with less than 1,000 population. Last year the town received $100 and honorable mention.

Five Projects
This year Grifton citizens are undertaking five projects suggested at a mass community meeting.

First of these is to make the town "cleaner, greener and more beautiful." This project is being sponsored by the two Grifton Garden clubs. A contest has been held each month for the cleanest block in town, and also for the house and grounds showing the most improvement during the month. Winners are presented homemade cakes by the Garden clubs.

Also in connection with this project was the planting of "thousands of trees" which were distributed by the Garden clubs. There is now a movement underway, according to Mrs. Gower, to have all trees bordering the streets whitewashed "in the Grifton tradition."

Project number two for the contest is residential improvement, construction and beautification. This program is sponsored by the city clerk. It was reported that a number of new homes have been constructed in the town, with others in the process of being built. The planting of grass and general beautification of premises is also being emphasized. It was pointed out that each year a Finer Carolina survey is made to determine what home improvements have been made during the year, as well as all new electrical appliances which have been utilized.

Expand Recreation
The third contest project is expansion of recreational facilities, sponsored by the Lions Club. Service League and Toastmasters Club.

One part of this program has been the erection of poles and lights for the Grifton ball park, to which the $1,000 1955 prize money was applied. For the first time a Grifton Little League Ball Club has been organized, and the women have also formed softball teams. A dedication ceremony for the park is now being planned.

This year first steps have been taken for the establishment of a community clubhouse, with a building fund set up for this purpose.

A double tennis court, a special purpose Service League project, has been completed, with a dedication ceremony planned soon.

Swimming lessons have been provided through instruction classes in Kinston, and an active Boat Club has been organized.

Improved Facilities
Improvement of industrial, municipal and commercial facilities is the fourth contest project. As part of this program the town clerk's office has been moved from an alley to new quarters on Queen Street.

Water and sewer facilities have been expanded. A Recorder's Court has been established, and the State Highway Department has been contacted to erect signs on every highway entrance. In addition, it was pointed out that "another tradition has been re-established with the functioning of the town overflow well on Queen Street which furnishes drinking water from a fountain."

Improvement of religious, social and educational facilities is the fifth project, and a number of steps have been taken in this connection. The Parents-Teachers Association sponsored the improvement of the school library by purchasing new books and cataloging the ones already there. Several scholarships have also been set up in the school.

A new Presbyterian church has been completed this year, and the improvement of church attendance and religious education has also been promoted.

Airman Schmidt Visiting Mother

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Airman Daniel Schmidt spent yesterday in seclusion with his mother and relatives, still refusing to talk about his marital problems.

On returning from a Chinese Communist prison camp he learned that his wife Una, 20, had remarried in the belief he was dead.

He had a joyous reunion with his mother Mrs. Nellie Peters. He said, "It feels wonderful to see mother." And Mrs. Peters told reporters, "I couldn't be any happier."

That was about all they would say.

Schmidt, 23, arrived here Tuesday night from California. He was accompanied by his mother-in-law Mrs. Walter Ferguson, who aided with Schmidt against her daughter. He filed for a divorce at Red Bluff, Calif., last week, asking custody of his small son.

Schmidt's mother had been in poor health and he said, "I was very worried about her. It was wonderful to see her as happy as she is."

Mrs. Peters said that after he arrived, "I was crying all over the place."

Shooting Attack In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Four unidentified men in a jeep with its lights off fired early today at a policeman guarding a suburban gasoline pump. They missed.

The policeman, Genaro Turacci, shot back and one man fell from the jeep. His comrades picked him up and drove off.

It was the 12th such attack on lone policemen in the Argentine capital in recent weeks. The attacks began after the unsuccessful June 16 revolt against President Peron's government.

SMITH & SUGG - GREENVILLE, N. C.

The Flue-cured Tobacco Stabilization Corporation has requested us to assist in providing storage space in Greenville for their benefit. We are glad to do so.

The Stabilization Corporation will store tobacco in our Growers and Star No. 2 Warehouses, accommodating over 20,000,000 pounds of tobacco, re-dried weight.

Our sales schedule will be slightly changed, but there will be no change in the number of baskets (1408) we sell daily. Beginning Monday, August 29th, we will sell each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at our Smith & Sugg Star No. 1 Warehouse, and each Tuesday and Thursday at our Smith & Sugg Gold Leaf Warehouse.

We take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the tobacco growers of Eastern Carolina for their past patronage, and cordially invite you to market your tobacco with us again this season.

Let us urge you to market your tobacco in good condition. There is no support price for wet and damaged tobacco. All through the years, our first interest has been the best interest of our patrons, and we have endeavored at all times to assist the tobacco growers in securing a permanent stabilized income. The tobacco support price program would be of little value if what was purchased could not be stored. We are therefore glad to provide this storage space at this important time.

BASEBALL FUTURE SET AT EAST CAROLINA

All the sport needed was one good shot in the arm, like winning the North State Conference, and baseball's future at East Carolina was insured.

Head Coach Jim Mallory is the man most responsible. He directed the Pirates to their first conference crown in the sport last year and has already begun work on next spring's outfit.

He has contracted some of the most sought after high school stars in this state and Virginia. What might've been a problem when Tommy Pruett signed with the Giants appears to already be solved. Mallory has three highly-recommended chumpers coming in that should more than offset the loss of Pruett.

Jay Ritchie of Granite Quarry near Salisbury, is a 6-4 righthander who received baseball bids from virtually every college in the state. This summer, he's been down in Georgetown, S. C., with two other EOC stars, Mack Cherry and Jerry Stewart. Mallory said that Ritchie is definitely coming to school here and could be the replacement for Pruett.

PRUETT

Then there's Sob Lilley of Tarboro. He's well known around the semi-pro Coastal Plain circuit, especially in Greenville. He blanked the Greenies on two hits and struck out 20 batters in one game this summer. He is a righthander and, in Mallory's opinion, a terrific prospect.

Ben Baker of Wendell is the third pitcher. He is a lefthander with several no-hitters to his credit. Mallory says he comes highly-recommended from baseball men in that area.

These three newcomers, plus holdovers Cherry, Charlie Russell and Bill Loving, should give the Pirates a pretty formidable mound crew.

CLINE

Big Nick Smothers will be back at first. He didn't get his big bat into working order until the latter part of the season but he finished up hitting over 300. He was the difference in the championship play-off against Western Carolina, according to Mallory. Tommy Harris of Williamston is a good-fielding first baseman who'll work behind Smothers.

Bucky Reep will return at third. The Morganton speedster was one of the Pirates' most dependable hitters last year. Charlie Cherry, a regular third baseman, has impressed Mallory greatly this summer with his play in the Coastal Plain circuit.

He's hitting well over 350. He missed the Pirates' last season because of unavoidable attachments at home. Mallory says he'll be used somewhere in '56.

An incoming outfielder with a whole of a reputation is Baxter Puss of Hagrove Military school. He hit 560 there last season and is reportedly a very fast customer. Another likely new face in the Pirates' outfield next year will be Bobby Clark.

Mallory says Clark has impressed him a lot by his performances with the Greenville Greenies. "Clark is a real hustler, the kind of guy you want on your ball club," the coach said.

So, you Pirate baseball followers just sit back and hope Uncle Sam doesn't start grabbing before next spring.

SMOTHERS

Top-calibre college baseball is here to stay. With the College's growth more and more star athletes are finding East Carolina more and more appealing.

SPORTS SHOTS GATHERED AT RANDOM

We're quite sure that everybody in this area is aware of Coach Bo Farley's coaching ability. But we wager that some didn't know of his golf prowess. Last week at the annual high school coaches clinic in Greensboro he walked off with the coaches golf tournament.

The head man of the Phantom basketballers stroked a 42 going out and a par-36 coming in for a total of 72, low among the hundred coaches present. The friendly tournament was held on the Starmount course.

Boxing fans will be able to see the Marclano-Moore fight Sept. 20 only on theater screens. We hear Wake Forest wants a 50,000-seat stadium. They'll have a lot of empty seats because their big game with Maryland in Winston-Salem last year drew less than 10,000.

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Farmers' three-game lead proved just too much to overcome here last night and the Greenville Greenies bowed out, 5-1, in the semi-final Coastal Plain League playoffs.

Manager Bill Kennedy's regular season champions have thus completed the first leg toward the playoff championship. They meet the winner of the Rocky Mount-Williamston series beginning Saturday night to decide the kingly.

The Farmers jumped off to a three-game advantage before the Greenies were able to salvage a game Tuesday night. The Greenies just got too far behind to catch up.

Fred Pittman, all season long Farmville's ace in the hole, constructed a fine six-hitter, striking out four and walking three. It was his second victory in the playoffs, having beaten the Greenies 8-0 in the opener.

Dunn Did Well
Billy Dunn, little lefthander, pitched well for the losers. He allowed the Farmers only seven hits and made the winners look bad on several occasions.

The Greenies hit Pittman hard, maybe harder than ever, but most of the blows were sailing right into a fielder's gloved hand.

continued their personal war on Greenville hurlers, with two hits each. Both men registered ballooned batting averages during the playoffs. Stuart had 10 hits in 19 at bats for a .526 average and Tugwell had eight hits in 18 at bats for a .444 mark.

Farmville scored two runs in the third, one in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Two In Third
Pittman walked to open the third. Sandy Sanderson lined out a single over shortstop and Millard Webb hit a slow grounder which enabled both runners to advance a base. Millard being thrown out at first. Stuart slammed Dunn's first pitch to him over third, scoring both runners.

Manager Kennedy started things in the sixth by getting a hit. Hill flew out to second and Catlett struck out. Pittman, however, doubled to score Kennedy.

In the seventh, Webb filed out. Stuart got his second hit. Tugwell walked and Barry Jones was on by an error, leading the bases. Kennedy worked Dunn for a base on balls, forcing in Stuart. Hill hit a slow grounder to Mat Hall at third and the Greenie infield tried for a double play, missing Hill at first and allowing the second runner to tally.

Greenie scored its only run in fourth. Tripp singled. McLawhorns grounded to second, forcing Tripp Clark got a hit and Boyd got a hit scoring McLawhorn.

An estimated 233 million people live in North America.

Greenies Football Eleven To Be Small Says Coaches

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

With little over a week's practice under their belts, the 1955 Greenville High School Greenies are still a mighty uncertain eleven.

Coaches Guy Lewis, Marshall Tatum and Vaughan Fowler have had an opportunity to take inventory, so to speak, and they've come up with many depressing weaknesses.

First there is a shortage of halfbacks and, secondly, everybody is comparatively small. Co-Captain Hal Edwards is about the only good-sized man in the line and there isn't a 180-pound boy in the backfield.

Halfbacks Problem
"We're having a tough time finding halfbacks," Coach Lewis explained. "We've been experimenting all week, trying everybody, including some linemen, at the halves."

Right now it looks like Bob Shackelford and Charles Smith have an edge there. Both boys are aggressive but are hampered by size.

At ends, Coach Lewis thinks he may be okay. Co-Captain Edwards will anchor one flank and Billy Johnson may handle the defensive burdens of the other with Ike Riddick working offense.

When Johnson isn't playing defense, he will run some from the fullback spot. He and Billy Sermons are currently contesting for duty there. Riddick is also apt to play two positions. He and Jerry Drum are waging a good quarter-back battle.

Good Punters
Both Drum and Riddick are good punters, so that is one bright note. Drum is a proven passer and handles the ball well. Riddick saw duty mostly at end last fall. He, though, is learning rapidly and looks impressive under the center.

Down the middle, Mickey West and Howard King are the likely starting tackles. King weighs in around 185 and West is 10 pounds lighter. Fred Nobles is another fine tackle candidate, but he has had to miss several workouts lately and the coaches haven't had a good look at him.

"Every guard on the squad is small," Lewis offered. "We'll have no weight at these positions at all." Working out here have been Kelly Barnhill and James Hudson. "Charles Hollingsworth was out but suffered a slight injury to his shoulder. He'll be back sometime this week," Lewis commented.

One Center
Wade Jordan is the only center with enough experience to do the Greenies any good, according to the new mentor. Several boys are working out there in hopes of landing a reservist job.

"We've just been trying to get our offense together this week," Lewis said. "We've had part-scrimmages, working every phase of defense. We seem awfully pressed for time. We open up Sept. 9 and there's a lot more work to be done."

Lewis and his assistants plan two-day workouts until school starts in an effort to get the boys ready. The coaches really have their work cut out for them.

Something Extra Kramer, Budge On Tap At Wilson Races Sunday

By ORLO ROBERTSON
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Take it from two former amateur tennis kings with the big game: the United States will retain the Davis Cup against the challenge of Australia starting tomorrow, perhaps by a margin as big as 5-0.

That was the prediction today of Don Budge and Jack Kramer as the draw was made for the two opening singles matches tomorrow on the famed Stadium Court.

Secretary of State Dulles will draw the names of the opposing players out of the huge convoluted cup.

Budge and Kramer, now professionals but themselves onetime defenders of the international trophy, made their predictions after numerous workouts with Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas, the pair who brought the cup back to the United States last December after a four-year sojourn in Australia.

"The U.S. will win because Tony and Vic have been working out a game plan with powerful serves and the big game such as Don and I have," said Kramer.

By contrast the Australians' practices have been with team substitutes. They would have been much better off if they had obtained the aid of such Australian stars as Frank Sedgman and Dinny Pails."

Kramer said he looked for the Americans to win by at least 4-1, "perhaps by as much as 5-0."

Budge declined to predict the margin of victory but said he was confident the Americans would win point in the five-match competition.

"I liked the way they looked against us yesterday," said Budge, whose service still is considered one of the most powerful in the history of sport.

Bill Talbert, nonplaying captain of the U.S. team was expected to go all the way with the 31-year-old Seixas and the 25-year-old Trabert.

Talbert was toying with the idea of naming 22-year-old Hamilton Richardson for one of the singles berths until yesterday. Then in a "produce or else" match, Seixas whipped the former intercollegiate champion from Baton Rouge, La., 6-3, 3-5, 6-3. That settled it for the captain.

Bob Baker Rallies To Defeat Layne

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Bob Baker, No. 2 heavyweight contender from Pittsburgh, rallied in the late rounds last night to gain a split decision over Utah's Rex Layne in a fight that probably didn't help the fistic careers of either.

Baker, who had everything to lose and nothing to gain against a boxer who has been up and down the fight ladder in recent years, probably lost some prestige in gaining only a split decision—his desire for a crack at Rocky Marciano's crown undoubtedly received a setback.

Layne, who lost twice previously to Baker, needed a win to project himself back into the heavyweight limelight.

Layne 202½, moved out fast in the early rounds and built up points on the surprised Baker, who weighed 210½. But Baker swarmed all over Layne after being staggered in the fifth round and gained the nod.

Layne's best round was the fifth when he connected with a series of hard overhand rights that had Baker reeling. Layne tried desperately for a knockout in this round but time ran out on him.

Baker then rallied in the sixth against a tiring Layne and in the seventh rocked him with murderous lefts and rights to the head.

There were no knockouts, although Layne slipped to the canvas in the eighth.

First Woman To Win Rifle Crown

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—A woman won the National Small Bore Rifle Championship yesterday for the first time in history.

Mrs. Viola Pollum, a 43-year-old dress shop operator from Brooksville, Pa., missed only 10 bullets in 640 shots to beat a field of 500. Her score of 8,390 was one point ahead of Charles Whipple of Somerset, Pa.

Twins Bowled Identical Scores

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—They look alike, they dress alike and they bowl alike.

Cathy and Marge Weiss of Passaic, attractive 16-year-old twins, came to the local Bowlero to play yesterday. Each of the girls scored 131 in the first game, 132 in the second, and 133 in the third for an identical 396 final tally.

UNINSURED
BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A vandal threw a rock through a window of the Farmers Insurance Group office yesterday. The window wasn't covered by insurance.

Homer Deal, the company's agent, said the premiums would have cost more than the window itself.

Fickle Nature Damages Some, Helping Others

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Fickle nature has been aiming blows at the economy in parts of the nation while dealing out prosperity to others.
 In the human misery and great property damage in Diane's wake will be added disruption of much industry and a strain on the building materials companies already plagued by shortages.
 In parts of the Midwest hot and humid weather favored the crop for awhile. But now searing and dry weather is reported, bringing the hopes of many farmers who had looked for a bumper crop.
 In the Eastern states hurricanes and floods ruined part of the tobacco and corn crops.
 The heavy rains, however, revived many soiled pastures, bringing cheer to dairymen. West of the Mississippi some areas have another story. There drought is killing pastures and some livestock men are reported saying they may have to rush cattle to market.
 Butler production, partly because of the fickle weather, has been running seven per cent lower this August than last.
 Durum wheat farmers, on the other hand, have had a good year, nature having dealt lightly with them in the matter of disease. This wheat is highly favored by the makers of macaroni.
 Diane's furious torrents dealt heavy blows to some Eastern railroads, which won't be able to move much revenue freight for some time. Not only are their roadbeds gone, but also the output of many of their customers.
 The storm's destruction of factories, highways, utilities, stores, homes and schools will bring a heavy call for building material. The great building boom already was straining the capacity of some of the building material producers.
 Copper and brass fabricators in Connecticut are badly hit by the floods. They had been suffering from metal shortages. Now many of their mills are out of operation, probably for some time to come.
 New England's textile industry, previously combating the move of the mills to the South, now is hard hit by flood and fire damage. The garment industry elsewhere may be disrupted for a time by delayed deliveries.
 Some chemical plants in New England will also be closed for awhile because of flood damage.
 To other firms in these industries that have factories and plants in sections untouched by nature's tempests, this may mean new orders, added pressures for deliveries.
 Merchants in the stricken towns will be feeling the aftermath for months.

Fantastic Story Of Smokey Is Just One Of Oddities In Flood

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Dan Burns shook his head in wonder.
"If only Smokey could talk," he said.
Out of all the incredible events of the flood-stricken night last week, one stood out in Burns' mind.
The water of the Farmington River was rising. He was afraid his horse Smokey might be trapped in the barn, so he set the animal loose. The water rose and Smokey disappeared.

The next day Smokey was found—alive—on top of a machine shop roof a mile from Burns' home.
Smokey was lying there, exhausted. Somebody thought it would be humane to shoot him, but didn't. Finally Smokey was returned to Burns.
"I was going to sell him," he said. "My children had not bothered to ride him lately. But they were so happy when he came back alive—now I wouldn't sell him for $1,000.

But the story of Smokey was hardly more fantastic than some of the things that happened that night.
There was the sturdy steel bridge a two-lane affair that had remained immovable for years. But last Friday it was gone, swept away by the rampaging river.
The fire house near the river bank had been a familiar sight. It too, disappeared but not before participating in an eerie effort to alert the population.
As the water rose to an alarming level shortly after Thursday midnight in this town a few miles south of hard-hit Winston in the northwestern part of the state, local authorities decided to warn the sleeping populace.
They set off the fire house siren. Ordinarily it can be heard for two or three miles. But the bursts of rain and raging of the river muffled its sound.
Some people didn't hear it. Some did. And some who did, didn't know what it was sounding for.
Fire house, siren and all, finally toppled into the water. Firemen had driven the pumpers to safety in the meantime.
If some of the people didn't link the siren walls with a flood it was understandable.
Before going to bed most had checked the height of the river and discovered that it had fallen. That was one of the strange phases of the flood.
It rose and fell twice, lulling the people, before the river broke out of bounds to take seven lives in the little town.
It played such pranks as leaving one particular blouse while washing out its television, refrigerator and freezer.
Burns—more formally Rep. Daniel Burns of the State Legislature—said the water climbed to within four inches of his living room ceiling.
"I don't care," he said.
"My wife is alive, my children are alive, I'm alive and the house is still there. What more could I ask?"

DIG THAT CRAZY, GIANT CUTTER!—The man with tall grass and a dull lawn-mower may envy N. E. Everson this giant brush-cutter. It cuts a 64-inch swath through brush up to 3-inch saplings. It is one of many devices Carolina Power & Light Company uses to keep down the undergrowth along thousands of miles of power lines.

Many Fish Die Of Salt Water

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP)—Salt water invasion of a number of fresh water streams in northeast North Carolina has killed thousands of fish in the area. District Game Warden Lester Pierce reported today.

Terrific winds that blew up big waves and caused high tides as Hurricane Diane passed northwestward a week ago forced ocean water into the fresh water areas. As a result, great numbers of bream, pike, bass and some flounder died because of a lack of oxygen, Pierce said.

Pierce said he had found some dead bass weighing as much as five or six pounds.

After the flood waters receded, decaying vegetation, toads, snakes and small animals have caused unpleasant odors in many areas.

A hard, driving rain in the Elizabeth City area last night somewhat relieved the foul odors, but brought discoloration to a number of dwellings along U.S. Highway 17 north of here. Householders, particularly those in white homes, reported that their houses this morning were streaked with a "grey - brown - purplish" smear. Similar discolorations were reported to houses at Hatteras after the passage of storms last year. Investigators said then that they believed that a gas caused by decaying weeds had smeared the homes with the dark colors.

Death Toll On Turnpike Runs Higher Than Ever

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—More people have met death on the Pennsylvania Turnpike this month than in any month since the famed four-lane superhighway was opened 15 years ago. Seventeen persons have been killed in traffic accidents this month. And there's still nearly a week to go. The previous high toll was 14 in December 1950. That was before the 67-mile western extension of the turnpike was opened. One accident this week took six lives when a car jumped the medial strip and plowed head on into another. And there's still nearly a week to go. Capt. Singleton Sheaffer, head of the turnpike state police detail, told The Associated Press yesterday that 57 persons have been killed on the toll road so far this year compared with 32 in the similar period last year. In all of 1954 the death toll was 51. The all-time high was 91 in 1953. Sheaffer said bad tires and above-normal rainfall—combined with human fallibility—were primarily responsible for the recent increase. "We have a terrific headache with bad tires," he said. "People just don't seem to realize that you can't travel at high speeds on a slippery road with bad tires. There's not enough traction. Tires good enough for low speed driving just don't do the job on this road. And they (the drivers) won't slow down." The speed limit on most of the turnpike is 60 miles an hour for cars and 50 miles an hour for trucks. He said state police are stepping up a drive against cars with bad tires and ordering them to leave the turnpike.

Formula Due On Distribution Of School Money

RALEIGH (AP)—A formula for distributing the last half of the $60-million-dollar school bond issue of $953 may be announced soon. Gov. Hodges yesterday asked the formula committee of the State Board of Education to devise a formula. The committee will hold its next meeting next Wednesday, the day before the regular board meeting. J. A. Pritchett of Windsor, chairman of the formula committee, stated, "We have been at work from time to time for the past several months with various percentages." However, the committee has found continual adjustments necessary. The first 25 million of the $60-million-dollar issue was distributed under a definite plan. Each of the 100 counties was given $100,000 outright, for a total of 10 million dollars. The other 15 million was distributed on the basis of average daily attendance. The bond act itself provides that the second 25 million be distributed to the counties according to their need and their plans for actual use. The governor said he was "hopeful the state board will present its proposed formula as quickly as feasible in order that we might accelerate our school construction program." He stated, "This action does not necessarily mean that the whole 25 million dollars of bonds will be issued immediately" but that they will be issued as funds are needed. Of the first 25 million, about 15-16 million has been allocated to specific projects while the remainder has been allocated to specific school units. In 1955, the first year the Sault Ste. Marie canal was open, 1447 tons of iron ore passed through it and the first million-ton year was 1973.

Conventioners Elect Officers

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Wally G. Dunham of Winston-Salem and Miss Flora Wyche of Lee County are the new presidents, respectively, of the State Assn. of County Commissioners and the Assn. of County Accountants. The two groups closed their annual joint convention here yesterday after electing officers and adopting a number of resolutions. One, hit the commissioners, endorsed extension of social security coverage to firm and law enforcement officers. Dunham succeeds A. D. Williams of Wilson County, and Miss Wyche replaces Charles H. McCall of Rutherford. The commissioners elected D. L. Alford of Nash County as first vice president, and J. M. Pleasants of Moore County, second vice president. The secretary-treasurer will be elected by the board of directors. The post now is held by

J. Henry Vaughan of Nash County, who has been ill. Hugh Ross of Guilford County was named first vice president of the accountants, James Potter, Carteret County, second vice president; and Mrs. J. C. Spencer, Caldwell County, secretary-treasurer. Other commissioner resolutions included one endorsing a plan for providing representation of commissioners on state government and advisory boards and study commissions.

Safety First Is Unsafe Driver

CHECOTAH, Okla. (AP)—The Oklahoma highway patrol said today that motorists who follow the rules of Safety First will be given traffic tickets. The warning was issued after Trooper A. H. Freney spotted a car driving without lights on U.S. 69, two miles south of here. When Freney caught up with the motorist he asked to see his driver's license. The motorist was identified as Safety First, Tulsa, Okla.

Movie Menace Is Now Bridegroom

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bela Lugosi, the horror movie menace, and his No. 1 fan, a woman who wrote him encouraging letters during his hospital stay for drug addiction treatment, were married last night. The 73-year-old actor and Hope Lininger, 40, a fan of Lugosi's since her girlhood in Johnstown, Pa., were wed in a ceremony performed by Manley P. Hall at his Hollywood Home. The marriage was the first for the blonde film studio employe. It was the fifth for Lugosi, freed Aug. 4 from a state hospital where he had admitted himself three months earlier for treatment. He said that his bride wrote him daily letters while he was in the hospital. She didn't sign her name, but Lugosi learned her phone number from her address and later met and wooed her. The couple said they would take a honeymoon trip to New York next month. The actor, described as rehabilitated by state physicians, said he would start a new film soon. Hall, a long-time friend of Lugosi, identified himself as a writer, philosopher and an ordained minister. He married the couple in front of a huge hearth, flanked by Chinese devil dolls, amid the odor of burning incense. Lugosi's son Bela Jr., 17, was best man, and Mrs. Pat Delaney, a city jail employe, was matron of honor.

India Agrees To Supply Monkeys

WASHINGTON (AP)—India has agreed to provide the United States with all the Rhesus monkeys it needs for medical research and polio vaccine production during the next 10 months. The government announced yesterday a new import agreement extending to June 30, 1956, and subject to renewal. India halted export for a time during the spring after some monkeys died in transit. The new agreement pledges every precaution against mishandling. WINS AND LOSSES BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Ukrainian immigrants had an argument. Ivan Karpus maintained "there are too many churches and cops" in America. Stanislaw Samoluk socked him in the eye. Karpus ran for the cops. Samoluk was fined $25 for sticking up for the cops.

Bathtubs Pose Legal Question

ANDERSON S.C. (AP)—Bootleggers hereabouts have a new gimmick that presents a nice legal question for officers.

Sheriff Clint McClain reports that some of the dealers in illegal booze empty a case at the time into a bathtub and put the pot in a bathtub in their homes.

Comes a customer, the bootlegger ladies up the purchase. Comes the law — and adequate warning — the bootlegger tips over the stew pot and the liquor gurgles down the drain, sometimes chased with a dash of disinfectant to kill the smell.

State law says the liquor and the container must be confiscated. McClain figures he'll have to get a ruling from the attorney general on whether to haul in the tubs, too.

Weather Bureau Expects Better Flood Forecasts

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Weather Bureau officials say they expect great improvements in the next few years in ability to forecast disastrous floods such as hit the Northeast last week.

They concede that as things stand now they just don't have the scientific knowledge, experience or facilities to foresee erratic extremes in nature.

But Congress this year gave the Weather Bureau a big boost in funds, providing 40 million dollars for the year which started July 1, 15 million more than the year before.

Much of the new money will be used for research on problems which have puzzled weather scientists and which officials blame in part for the lack of warning in some of last week's floods. Other funds will go to establish new facilities for getting more weather information and making forecasts.

For example, much of the havoc from last week's extreme rainfall came from flash floods, arising within minutes or a few hours in smaller streams and headwaters. It would be impractical to station fulltime Weather Bureau observers at every remote stream to measure rainfall and try to get out warnings. And meteorologists say that frequently there wouldn't be time to give the warning even if an observer were on hand.

One new project looks to far greater use of radar. The University of Miami in Florida will study improved methods of detecting rainfall on radar screens. Radar sets scanning a radius of 200 miles could spot extremely heavy rains or cloudbursts moving toward valleys and river headwaters where flash floods are likeliest. Advance warnings could be given long before ground instruments could record the extreme rainfall.

Another difficulty last week was the failure to predict the course and intensity of the rains pecked by Hurricane Diane. The Weather Bureau simply has had little experience on which to make precise estimates on rainfall above two to four inches at a time. Last week up to 17 and 18 inches of rain in less than 48 hours fell in some areas.

Projects are under way for more research into atmospheric influences which push a hurricane this way or that. Other projects are exploring rain patterns within the 50-mile area of the hurricane itself.

Secretary's Job Is A Little Bit Of Everything

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A church secretary may have a tough job.

A survey here found them running lost and found services for their congregations; serving as bridal consultants and church bookkeepers; handling church public relations and looking into cases of Sunday school absenteeism; to say nothing of taking dictation and typing.

Mrs. Jessie Yost, secretary of Trinity Methodist Church, says she has done nearly everything but preach and perform marriages. One of her bosses, Dr. James Chubb says of the church secretary: "She is a shock absorber who meets the people on the phone and as they come through the office, classifies their needs and refers them to those who can help them."

In their off-duty hours many of the secretaries sing in the choir, teach Sunday school, call on shut-ins and help with youth activities.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market still leaned slightly to the upside as trading slowed in early afternoon today after an active and higher opening.

Steels were the strongest major group as Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube ran up gains of about two points. U.S. Steel and Republic also rose.

But the rest of the list was pretty well mixed although most chemicals and rubbers were fractionally on the upside.

Rails, which have sparked recent market sessions, were depressed after a ragged performance yesterday.

General Telephone was up a point on news of merger plans with Theodore Gary & Co. Other gains of about a point were scored by CIT Financial, Commercial Credit, Bullard and Firestone.

Among the gainers were General Motors, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Boeing Douglas Inter-national, Harter, Anaconda, Union Carbide, American Tobacco, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio and Southern Pacific.

Losers included Chrysler, International Telegraph, American Telephone & Telegraph, American Tobacco, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio and Southern Pacific.

Gives Self Up To City Police

A young Center Street Negro surrendered himself to city police this morning and has been charged with possession of non-tax paid whiskey for the purpose of sale and receiving stolen goods.

Roosevelt Cox, of 218-B Center Street, has turned himself in after ABC officers J. M. Ward and Walter Taylor along with city detective N. H. Byrd searched Cox's home last night and found both bottles of liquor and ABC whiskey. The ABC whiskey was reportedly stolen Tuesday from a truck unloading at the Clark Street ABC warehouse.

Cox has been placed under $500 dollar bond and is scheduled for trial Monday.

Consider Calling New Bond Vote

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP)—Richmond County officials were pondering today whether to call another school building bond election.

They have been notified by a bond attorney that $1,965,000 in bonds authorized in an election on May 24 cannot be sold because they would violate the U.S. Supreme Court ruling against school segregation.

The bonds were voted to make improvements in "certain white and colored schools."

School officials said the only thing that could be done was to appeal to the State Supreme Court or to hold a new election with the segregation wording eliminated.

Lawmaker Wants Special Session

RALEIGH (AP)—Sam O. Worthington of Greenville, a member of the 1955 Legislature and now a member of the State Utilities Commission, thinks Gov. Hodges should call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the school segregation problem.

He said yesterday he thinks the Legislature should submit to a vote of the people a constitutional amendment to permit use of public funds to support a system of private schools.

"I frankly think the people ought to get a chance to vote," he said.

Local Resident Collects Prize From TV Show

Mrs. Aubrey Tilley was the lucky winner of a $100 Savings Bond and two comforters today because she knew that Greenville is named for the American Revolutionary officer Gen. Nathaniel Greene.

Mrs. Tilley, who lives at 407 Park Drive, was called from the CBS television program, "Welcome Travelers," on which Greenville was saluted as the "honor city" today.

As a result of answering the question correctly Mrs. Tilley was awarded the Savings Bond and the nylon-covered, dacron-filled comforters, the latter gift furnished by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Three contestants on the show were presented gifts provided by local merchants. A young boy and his step-father from Miami, Fla., received an imported Belgian wool blanket from Belk-Tyler Co.; a young woman and her husband who has just returned from overseas service in the armed forces received a satin comforter from Blount-Harvey Co.; and a couple with their eight-year-old daughter were presented a travel bag from Brody's, Inc.

Backdrop for the program was an air view of Greenville, furnished by the local Chamber of Commerce. The question asked Mrs. Tilley was taken from information on this city provided by the Chamber.

Farmville School To Open Tuesday

FARMVILLE—Farmville School opens Tuesday, August 30, instead of Monday, as was stated in yesterday's Reflector.

Bundy said the Farmville School is expecting an enrollment of 850 to 875 students. The school will have a staff of 38 for the coming year.

Scott Urges Sale Of Food Surplus To Reds

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Sen. W. Kerr Scott today urged the sale of surplus farm commodities to Russia and China and other Communist countries.

He said it would "solve our surplus agricultural commodities problem without even a paper loss to the American taxpayer" and "give proof that America is a Christian nation and is concerned about the welfare of hungry and ill-clothed people in whatever land they may live."

Speaking to the Wayne Dairy Cooperative Scott pointed out that President Eisenhower has offered to exchange military secrets with Russia as a step toward peace. He added:

"If the time has come when it is proper and safe, from a national security standpoint, to trade vital military information with Communist countries, . . . surely the time has come when it is safe and proper to sell our surplus agricultural commodities to the hungry and ill-clothed people behind that same Iron Curtain."

"Such sales could be made for either cash, or in exchange for items and raw materials for which we have a need," declared Scott, who is a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Scott told the farm group that to him, "The trend that our farm economy has taken in the past few years presents a very sickening and frightening picture," and, "What is more alarming it appears that the attending physician, Dr. Ezra Benson, is administering poison to the patient when the family's back is turned—whether he means to or not."

He said he had in mind "the revelation that Secretary of Agriculture Benson has been dabbling in the cheese market."

"The deal I am talking about involved 68 million pounds of cheese and profits of more than two million dollars for a tight little group of buddies-buddies on the inside," Scott said.

This cheese—part of our vast surplus stocks—was sold to the government by this little group of insiders," he added. "Just a few days later, they bought it back at a much lower price. In the meantime, it never left the warehouses. It was nothing but a paper transaction that cost the American taxpayers over two million dollars."
