$20.5 Millions In Scholarship Fund

CHICAGO (AP)—The largest independent college scholarship program in the history of American education was announced today.

The program, backed with initial funds of 20½ million dollars is designed to locate young men and women of high aptitude and enable them to go to college regardless of their financial means.

The program will be handled by a corporation which will make an annual nationwide search for talent at the high school level. The financial support of business and industry will be encouraged.

Selection of winners will involve a nationwide scholarship competition in which all of the approximately 25,000 secondary schools in the United States, public and private, will participate on an equal basis.

Plans for the program were announced by John M. Stalnaker, president, and Laird Bell, chairman of the new National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Between one third and one half of all the funds invested in the program will go directly to colleges and universities selected by the award winners on the basis of free choice.

Stalnaker said the corporation's initial working funds came through grants by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corp. of New York and are earmarked for use in these ways:

Ten million dollars will be spent at the rate of one million a year for four-year national merit scholarships to high school students in the nation adjudged most capable of benefiting from a college education.

Eight million dollars will be used through a 10-year period to match contributions received from corporations and other donors for the purpose of establishing additional scholarships.

Two and one half million dollars will cover the costs of administration for a 10-year period and cover the cost of developing and operating a nationwide selection program.

Stalnaker said each scholarship granted will carry an annual supplemental "cost of education" grant to the colleges and universities selected by the scholarship winners—the supplement roughly equalling the cost of tuition.

Bell said only about half of the upper quarter high school graduates are going on to college and added:

"Without new measures to locate the best brains among our youth and encourage their further education in large numbers than at present the nation will fall far short of developing its vital sources of talent and leadership."

Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) and a director of the new corporation, said "this scholarship program makes good business sense."

He said industry donors will get a "double-barrelled benefit" because the money donated will be used exclusively for scholarships, eliminating costly duplication of effort and expense in locating and selecting talent of the highest aptitude.

Record Growth Of Churches Goes On

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans have kept up their postwar interest in religion, swelling total membership in U.S. churches of all faiths to a record 97,482,611.

This figure, reported yesterday by the National Council of Churches, means 6 out of every 10 persons in the United States is listed as a church member.

"There has been no pause or letdown in the vigorous postwar growth of the churches," said Dr. Benson Y. Landis, editor of the council's yearbook, in which the new figures are to be published this month.

The council's figures show that church membership is growing faster than the population of the country. Most of the current church figures are for 1954. The rise over 1953 is 2,639,766 or 2.8 per cent. In the same period the population rose 1.7 per cent.

The council is an organization of 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox bodies but its yearbook statistics cover all American churches, which now have a total of 300,056 congregations, 5,597 more than in 1953.

More than two billion dollars are given annually to churches, the council reported, and church construction in 1954 hit an all-time high, amounting to 588 million dollars This was 25 per cent more than a year ago.

Clergymen in active charge of local churches total at least 213,167, compared with 207,618 the year before.

The yearbook reported that church members now make up 60.3 per cent of the population, compared with 49 per cent in 1940 and 16 per cent a century ago "when Americans were popularly supposed to be more religious-minded than today."

The yearbook listed this membership breakdown by religious groups:

Protestant — 57,124,142 in 273,508 churches.

Roman Catholic — 32,403.332 in 20,794 churches.

Jewish — 5,500,000 in 4,079 churches.

Eastern Orthodox — 2,024,219 in 1,341 churches.

Old Catholic and Polish National Catholic — 367,918 in 285 churches.

Buddhist — 63,000 in 49 churches.

Protestants gained the most numerically in 1954 with an increase of 1,286,817 or 2.3 per cent. Greater percentage increases were shown by the Roman Catholics up 927,071 or 2.9 per cent, and the Jews, increased by 500,000 or 10 per cent.

Membership in the largest Protestant denominations or denominational groups was:

Baptist — 18,488,621.
Methodist — 11,688,002.
Lutheran — 6,818,283.
Presbyterian — 3,703,021.
Protestast Episcopal — 2,660,699.

Israel, Egypt Struggle To Keep Uneasy Peace

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel and Egypt struggled today to maintain a shaky peace along the tense Gaza frontier.

Israel apologized yesterday for the only clash reported along the border since both nations renewed their cease-fire pledge Sunday. The Israelis said one of their patrols had crossed into the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip Sunday night "through a mistake."

Egypt said the patrol of 20 soldiers opened fire on an Egyptian outpost. Two Israelis were killed and a third taken prisoner in the ensuing clash. The Egyptians said they suffered no casualties. They returned the two bodies to Israel yesterday.

Delving back into the recent daily violence along the Gaza border, the U.N. Egyptian-Israel armistice commission held the longest meeting of its history yesterday After 14 hours the commission's French chairman, F. X. Giacomaggi, ruled that both nations had violated their 1948 armistice in the initial incident Aug. 22, a clash between an Israel patrol and an Egyptian outpost near Gaza.

"It is impossible in my opinion to decide which side opened fire first," Giacomaggi said.

Egypt said she lost four killed and nine wounded in the Aug. 22 incident while Israel reported two of her soldiers were wounded.

Holiday Traffic Toll Hits 423

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy toll of traffic accident deaths was made by American motorists during the three-day Labor Day weekend, exceeding advance predictions and the toll for the 1954 holiday.

Reports still trickling in today showed 423 persons died in traffice mishaps between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and midnight Monday. An additional 80 persons drowned and 88 died in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 591.

This compared with a record high of 461 and record overall total of 658, both set in 1951. The 1954 traffic toll was 364.

The National Safety Council had predicted 400 would die over the holiday. Today Ned Dearborn, council president, said in a statement:

"The toll, thank heaven, stayed below the all-time record for Labor Day. . . . It is of small comfort to anyone who sincerely believes that this wholesale slaughter on the highways need not and must not be tolerated.

"We hope and believe that extra effort on the part of everyone between now and Christmas will hold down the year-end holiday toll."

Council statistics show that 32 other persons are injured for every traffic death. Also, for every three persons killed, a fourth dies later of injuries.

Construction In City Advancing To Record Peak

The city authorized an additional $171,500 in new construction during August to push the total for the year to $1,674,500 for the first eight months of the year.

That means the total is only $309,700 short of the record year, 1950 when permits for building valued at $1,984,200 were issued. The year's total for 1955 is expected to set a new record.

Building Inspector George W. Gardner issued permits for 12 dwellings and two apartments during last month with a total valuation of $156,500. One new commercial building was approved to cost $15,000. Fees for the permits totalled $23.50.

For the first eight months, Gardner's report showed, permits for 132 dwellings and 14 apartments have been issued. The total valuation of the home building is $1,550,800.

Fourteen commercial buildings have been authorized by the building inspector with a valuation of $123,700.

Permits for 27 alterations have been issued and the cost of the work is estimated at $79,000.

Hurricane Flora Curving Away From Mainland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora, a well-behaved lady, was making a sweeping curve today that will keep it in the open Atlantic and away from the American mainland.

"This storm is not a threat to any part of the United States coast," the Miami Weather Bureau reported.

"Flora should get into an upper air current flowing from the south," forecaster Cecil Gentry said. "This should head it further north while it is still well away from the coast."

It was roughly a thousand miles from the nearest mainland point, Nantucket, and about 560 miles southeast of Bermuda.

Packing 100-mile winds, it slipped off its northwestward path last night and began the turn to north. If the curve continues it should pass Bermuda to the east, weathermen said.

Returnee Quizzed By Officials

Citizenship Of Former Russian Prisoner Beclouded By Varied Stories

BERLIN (AP)—A civilian handed over to U. S. control by the Russians after seven years in Soviet labor camps was questioned closely today to determine his claim to American citizenship.

U. S. officials said that Frederick Charles Hopkins told "so many different stories" that his actual citizenship could be open to question. The man reportedly said yesterday after the Russians released him that he was from New York City.

Hopkins is in the custody of intelligence agents. He is in good health in spite of his long years in camp, doctors said.

He was handed over by the Soviets yesterday along with Pvt. Wilfred C. Cumish, 39, of Amesbury, Mass. and Cpl. Murray Fields, 36, of Bayside, N. Y.

Both soldiers had been missing since 1948 and may be tried as deserters. They were under guard today in the Army hospital until medical examinations are completed.

The three said they knew nothing about a report another American by the name of Grishman was in Soviet hands and was about to be released. The report came from Austrian repatriates in Vienna last week.

Officials said that Hopkins apparently had some reason for clouding his past and they had not yet discovered what it was. One authority said the man "acts and talks like an American."

Army spokesmen said it was presumed all three had been held in various slave labor camps for the past seven years.

The three were turned over to a U.S. State Department official, A. E. Dubois, at the Soviet consulate in East Berlin. The Russians had said earlier they would be released at Karlchorst and a U.S. liaison team had gone there to get them.

Dubois who had gone to the consulate to pick up a visa was stopped by a Soviet official, who said:

"By the way, will you sign this receipt for these three Americans?"

Dubois signed and took the three to the U.S. provost marshal's office in West Berlin. They were arrested immediately and sent to an Army hospital for examination. Cumish and Fields said they needed medical attention. Hopkins said he was in good health.

All three are scheduled to be screened by Army's interrogators after several days medical treatment.

The Army indicated that both soldiers might be subject to court-martial for desertion. In view of Cumish's military intelligence work, officials were anxious to learn what he might have told the Russians during his captivity.

Authorities also planned to question the three about other missing Americans especially soldiers who have disappeared from Berlin in recent years

Murderer Bluffs Way Out Of Jail

QUEBEC (AP)—Convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin bluffed his way out of jail with a gun made of soap early today. He tied up seven guards and locked the sergeant-at-arms in the boiler room.

But the 44-year-old Gaspe prospector, sentenced to hang Sept. 23, was persuaded by his lawyer to give himself up after only 1½ hours of freedom.

Brandishing the intricately carved soap gun, Coffin took all the keys of the jail with him when he left.

Lawyer Raymond Maher, who defended the prospector at his trial last year in Perce, Que., said Coffin hailed a taxi a few hundred feet from the jail and asked to be driven to the Quebec bridge. Seven miles west of the heart of the city As they neared the bridge Coffin told the taxi driver who he was.

"Then they began talking about the case," Maher said. "Coffin asked the driver if he knew were I lived."

The driver, Gaston LaBrecque, telephoned his office for Mahapartment in uppertown Quebec.

Coffin, convicted of murdering Richard Lindsey, 17-year-old Hollidaysburg, Pa., hunter, two years ago, made his way out of the grey stone prison at about 1 a. m. He arrived at Maher's home at 2:10 a.m.

Maher said he told Coffin to lie on the floor of the taxi on the way back to the jail for fear of shooting by armed provincial and municipal police who were called out following the escape

Maher described the gun, painted black, as a "piece of craftmanship." A cartridge magazine, complete with holes for bullets had been fashioned. A small metal sight had been inserted on the barrel

Coffin also drew the gun on the taxi driver during the ride, but then put it back in his pocket. Maher said. He quoted Coffin as saying: "I just wanted to show you I'm not a bad man and did not kill Lindsey."

Communist China Says Others Can Leave Soon

Reds To Free 9 Americans

GENEVA (AP)—Communist China notified the United States today that nine American civilians detained in China including six women were now free to return home.

Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan told U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson at their 13th meeting that two other Americans could leave at once if they asked for exit permits and a third could leave within two or three months.

The two ambassadors have been meeting at intervals since Aug. 1, negotiating the release of 41 Americans imprisoned in China or denied exit permits.

The announcement by Wang was the first positive result of the talks since they began.

There was no indication when the Chinese Reds would release the 29 Americans not mentioned on Wang's list but the ambassadors agreed today to continue their secret talks on Saturday.

American delegation members were able to find only a partial identification for some of the Americans listed for release by Wang. A delegation spokesman said none had been imprisoned.

Listed for immediate departure were:

Miss Emma Angelina Barry, a young girl living in Shanghai with her mother, a white-Russian who was not an American citizen.

Ralpn Sharples Boyd, Shanghai representative of the North American Syndicate, born in Washington, D. C., in 1891.

Mrs. Juanita Byrd Huang, a Southern Baptist missionary married to a Chinese citizen, born Mount Olive, Miss., in 1904.

Robert Howard Parker, a retired businessman born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1873.

Howard Lischke Ricks, manager of Bills Motors Branch in Shanghai born in Boscobel, Wis., in 1889.

Mrs. Howard Lischke Ricks, his wife, born in Shanghai in 1894.

Miss Eva Stella Dugay, known as Sister Theresa, a nun in the Carmelite Convent in Shanghai, born in New York City in 1893.

Mrs. Nadesha M. Romanoff, a white Russian living in Harbin who became a naturalized American citizen in 1937, place and date of birth not known.

Miss Irene N. Romanoff, her daughter, born in 1940.

Wang said that Bishop Edward Walsh head of the Roman Catholic Bureau in Shanghai, and Mrs. Peter Huizer, married to the Dutch manager of the Shanghai branch of the Bank of America were free to leave China whenever they applied for exit visas.

Bishop Walsh is a brother of Judge William C. Walsh of Cumberland, Md., a former Maryland attorney general.

Charles Sydney Miner, Shanghai representative of several American companies, including American Asiatic underwriters, the Metropolitan Land Co. and C. V. Starr Enterprises, was free to leave after the two or three months he needed to "complete the settlement of his affairs," Wang said.

Bishop Walsh was the first American Roman Catholic bishop for China. He was consecrated on Chin.'s Sanchian Island May 22, 1927. In April, 1948 he accompanied Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, to Melbourne, Australia, for a Catholic anniversary celebration.

The bishop, now 62, is a member of the Catholic Foreign Missions Society of America, popularly known as the Maryknoll Fathers from their headquarters in Maryknoll, N. Y.

When the Reds suspended the Catholic Bureau in Shanghai in June, 1951, the Communists ordered Bishop Walsh to remain in the city pending an investigation. The bureau was a centralized advisory board with duties similar to those of the National Catholic Welfare Conference in the United States. A year later the bishop was reported under "surveillance" in Shanghai, being denied an exit permit.

Nothing was heard from him for more than a year, when a Canadian leaving Red China reported the bishop was keeping busy and had not been further molested by the Reds.

An account of the bishop's privations was given last May by the Rev. Charles Meeus a Belgian and the bishop's former secretary who was permitted by the Reds to leave China and reached Hong Kong.

Father Meeus said Bishop Walsh was living in cramped quarters and shaving with five-year-old blades.

"The bishop leads a life of piety, humbleness, and frugality, and is known as the 'Holy American' to the humble Chinese in Shanghai," Father Meeus added.

The bishop was described as living with three Chinese priests, with whom he had to converse in Latin since they all did not speak the same Chinese dialect. He is the only American Catholic bishop now left in China.

Scant information has been received from the other Americans who Ambassador Wang said are free to leave China.

Pitt Farm Bureau Asked Help End Air Photo System

The Pitt County Farm Bureau has been asked to act on the matter of air photo measuring of tobacco acreage, it has been learned.

Chairmen of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees for each of the Pitt County communities recently met along with several individual farmers to discuss the photo measuring of tobacco acreage allotments.

Many farmers are reported to have expressed dissatisfaction with the present system of land measurement. Under the system air photographs are on file at the county ASC office and fields which are planted in tobacco are measured at the office. If the farmer is found to be overplanted, field crews are sent out to destroy the excess tobacco.

Until the air map system was begun the tobacco fields were measured under a system of ground measurements.

The group which met to discuss the situation has issued the following statement:

'A group of Pitt County farmers consisting of the chairman of each ASC community committee and several other farmers over the county was recently called to a meeting concerning measuring tobacco.

"This meeting was called by J. L. Wilson, chairman of the Pitt County ASC committee upon request from a number of farmers of Pitt County who were very much dissatisfied with aerial photo measuring of tobacco.

'It was the opinion of this group that the complaints were justified owing to the large number of farms found to be measured wrong with the aerial photos, that a more accurate, economical, and quicker job can be done by ground measuring, using the aerial photo only to assist in locating farm boundaries, lines and fields.

"This group was also opposed to the new ruling requiring the computation of tobacco acreage to the one hundredth of an acre, as one tenth of an acre is as close as is practical to measure, even by a civil engineer.

"The Pitt County Farm Bureau was asked by the group to take action on this matter.

"Mr. J. B. Speight, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau, states that they are now in the process of making a further survey in Pitt and several other tobacco counties and that no action will be taken until this survey is complete."

Speight said this morning that the county Farm Bureau had written letters to several surrounding tobacco counties 'to feel out the sentiments" of the farmers in those counties concerning the present system of crop measurement.

He stated that all the counties have not been heard from as yet but results of the survey would be announced when it is completed.

Calls Conference On Youth Health

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower today called a conference here to chart ways of solving "a serious problem"—how to build the physical fitness of America's youth.

Vice President Nixon will preside at the meeting Sept. 27-28 at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Lowry Air Force Base. The President himself will receive the conferees' recommendations and speak at a dinner concluding the sessions.

The conference will bring together about 80 persons from such fields as sports, education and government. It will follow up a luncheon which Eisenhower gave in Washington last July 11 to get the ball rolling.

Headliners from all branches of sports attended that White House meeting, and the general conclusion was that American youngsters had shifted to an alarming extent during the last 25 years from active participation in athletics to the role of spectators.

The consensus was that that situation has been a big factor in the increase in juvenile delinquency. It also was blamed in part for failure of many hundreds of thousands of youths to pass physical fitness tests in the World War II draft.

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP)—A retired Negro couple from New York postponed plans to move into an all-white suburb of this resort community today.

Protests of white residents of suburban Kenwood caused Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. White formerly of Jamaica, N.Y., to reconsider, although they said they had not abandoned the plan.

They said they were leaving any statement to their attorney, W. D Sabiston of nearby Carthage. Mrs White 58 former policewoman in Toledo Ohio, and social worker in New York City said their furniture was arriving today and they probably would store it in the home they bought in Kenwood until something is worked out.

Slight Change In Salk Shot Plans

One change has been announced in the schedule for administering the second Salk polio vaccinations to last year's first and second grade school children.

The injections will be given in the schools Thursday and Friday.

Miss Julia Fisher, supervisor of nurses at the Pitt Health Department, said all children from St. Raphael's and the Seventh Day Adventist School eligible for the shots should report to the Wahl-Coates Laboratory School at 2 p.m. Thursday.

According to the previously announced schedule, these students were to receive the vaccine Friday at 1:30 p.m. in their own schools.

The change was made, Miss Fisher said, because St. Raphael's will be closed for a teacher's meeting, and there are only five children at the Seventh Day Adventist School to receive the second vaccination.

Some 3,330 children are eligible in the city and county for the second free vaccination, to be administered by physicians of the Pitt County Medical Society assisted by staff nurses of the Health Department and volunteer nurses and workers from the community areas.

No parental requests are necessary for this vaccination.

Schedule for the injections is as follows:

Thirty-Two Tobacco Barn Fires Recorded In Season

Greenville firemen were called to a total of 32 burning tobacco barns during the curing season, Fire Chief George W. Gardner reported today

It was one of the worst years for tobacco growers as far as barn losses to fires were concerned. Last year, Gardner said, the local fire fighters were called to only 12 barn fires, only a little more than one-third of this year's total.

Last month the department answered a total of 17 calls outside the city limits.

Locally the trucks responded to four box alarms, nine calls by telephone and two false alarms.

The department's rescue ambulance was called out 11 times during August.

Worst blaze of the month came August 30 when fire burned out a watch repair shop located over the Olde Towne Inn. Smoke and water from the blaze caused some damage to stores beneath the shop. Five trucks were called out to battle the blaze for more than an hour.

Largest Class Of Freshmen Is Starting At ECC This Term

Members of East Carolina's largest freshman class are participating this week in the twenty-seventh annual orientation program at the college.

A full schedule, planned by college officials faculty members, and representatives of the Student Government Association, will extend through September 11 and will assist new students in becoming acquainted with major aspects of campus life.

Prior to the opening of the college Monday more than 1400 applications were received from students wishing to enter East Carolina this fall for the first time, President John D Messick stated yesterday Of these approximately 1:50 freshmen and 100 transfer students were accepted as eligible to enroll at the college and most of these are expected to register for work during the orientation program.

New students will spend a large part of today and tomorrow meeting with their faculty acvisors and preparing their schedules for class work during the fall quarter. Upperclassmen and other students returning to the college will register on Thursday. Classes will meet Friday and Saturday The last day to enroll as a student at the college during the fall quarter is Wednesday, September 14.

A general assembly in the Wright building this morning brought new students together for the first time. President Messick extending a welcome to the campus, posed the question "Why Go To College?" and gave a three-fold answer.

Major reasons, he said, include the following: to prepare for earning a living; to acquire knowledge in the broad fields of information so that one may better understand his own environment and the world of which he is a part; and to enable one to render the most efficient and constructive service.

In an age of danger where competition is a terrific factor and in a world where there are great needs, much suffering, and vast opportunities Dr Messick said, the student should reach for higher standards of life, seek truth, and join hopefully in the quest for peace.

The orientation program in which new students will participate this week includes an extensive testing program, medical examinations by college physicians, instruction in the use of the college library, a "church welcome" program at the college and receptions at Greenville churches, an open house at the Y Hut with members of the YMCA and the YWCA as hosts and hostesses and a "get together" Saturday night in the Wright Student Union

Varied Proposals Put To Church Convention

HONOLULU (AP) — Proposals covering everything from buying an atomic reactor to using TV for missionary work in the United States went before the 58th General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church today.

A proposed program for the next three years was put to the convention by the church's top administrative body, the National Council.

The council expressed its view in a booklet and in talks by top officials before the joint session of the House of Bishops, House of Deputies and Women's Auxilary.

In its key proposal, the council gives the bishops and delegates a choice of three budgets, depending on how much they feel can be raised for more missionary work and church education and promotion.

The proposed budgets call for spending either six, seven or eight million dollars a year. The budget for each of the past three years was 5.8 million.

Whether the church will branch into new fields of endeavor will depend on how much increased income is received, the delegates were told by the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop of the church and president of the National Council.

Among the new fields of activity suggested by the council's report is the use of television and radio as "influential missionary media."

"Today in the United States, 129 million radios and 35 million television sets are in active use . . . The church must realize that these two media can be a powerful missionary, influencing people who might never be reached by any other method," the report says.

Besides these proposals from the National Council, bishops and delegates will act on recommendations from 20 between-convention commissions and committees and suggestions from various other groups.

These are other topics to be considered by the convention committees meeting at Iolani Episcopal School near Waikiki:

Alcoholism, divorce, giving women a vote in the convention, bridging the so-called gulf between church and worker in industrial areas and changing the name of the church.

In addition, Bishop Sherrill has stated the convention may authorize a committee to study a suggestion by the diocese of Washington for the church to buy an atomic reactor.

The reactor would be given to an institution in the Far East to stimulate research in the peaceful use of atomic energy.

High Praise

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—John Wade Fuquay, 21-year-old farmer of Snow Hill, N.C., has been called a splendid ambassador for the United States.

The same praise went for Fuquay's two companions, Georgia L. Hicks, 21, of Goodland, Kan.; and Ann Elizabeth Sayre, 20, of Sidney, Ohio.

Townsend Says 'Wait And See'

LONDON (AP)—"Wait and see" was the cryptic reply from Group Capt. Peter Townsend last night to questions about himself and Princess Margaret.

The 40-year-old Royal Air Force flier was the center of attention at a cocktail party at the Belgian Embassy because of long-standing reports linking him romantically with the 25-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth II.

Townsend returned to Britain yesterday for the first time since last September. He flew here from Brussels, where he is British air attache, to attend today's opening of the annual Farnborough Air Show. He is to go back to Brussels Thursday, but will fly to London again Sept. 12 to attend the annual air attaches' conference.

At the cocktail party, he was asked by reporters:

"Do you expect any startling developments during your visit?"

"I hope to have a quiet three days is England," said Townsend "I do not think there will be any startling developments as far as I am concerned."

Princess Margaret is vacationing at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with other members of the royal family.

Deck Can Stand 40,000 People

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—How big is the Navy's new super carrier Forrestal?

The entire population of a city of 40,000 persons could stand on the hanger deck which the Newport News Shipyard says is the world's largest, unbroken enclosed space. It is three and a half city blocks long and could accommodate 18 full-sized basketball courts. And the overhead sprinkling system can spray water on the deck at 18,000 gallons a minute.

Schmidt Couple Say Son Cause Of Reuniting

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mrs. Una Schmidt says she and her husband Airman Daniel Schmidt were reunited because of their son Danny Jr., 2½.

"We decided that the baby needed not only his mother and his father but both of us," she said yesterday during an appearance on Art Linkletter's CBS House Party television show.

"That's right," Schmidt agreed.

Schmidt, released after 2½ years as a Chinese Communist prisoner, came home to find Una had married another man, Alford Fine, California logger, in the belief, she said, that Schmidt was dead. But she left Fine and resumed her married life with Schmidt and their son.

The family planned to return to Portland, Ore., today. Schmidt said he hopes to enroll at the University of Montana at Missoula for courses in wild life technology.

About 200 of each 100,000 U.S. babies born in 1900 will live to see the year 2000, statistics indicate.

A Local Industry Destined To Grow

Greenville may be a little on the short side compared with some other cities of comparable size, but we have one firmly established industry which has grown rapidly and promises to continue to grow. That is East Carolina College.

It wasn't many years ago that East Carolina was a college with less than a thousand students. Many local people can remember the establishment of the college and its struggle in its fledgling years with only a handful of students. But that's going too far back for our immediate purpose.

President John D. Messick of East Carolina pointed out in his address to new faculty members this week that college enrollment throughout the nation may be expected to increase by 70 per cent within the next 15 years. If college enrollment does increase by that amount—and there is no reason to believe it will not—The Reflector is confident East Carolina will get its share of the additional students enrolling in institutions of higher education.

Can you imagine East Carolina with an enrollment of 4,500 students? Can you imagine what a student body of that size at the college will mean to Greenville?

East Carolina's progress in the past decade has marked it one of the fastest growing colleges in the South. The supposition that it will be an institution with more than 4,500 students within the next one and one-half decades is not as remote as one might think at first glance.

There is little doubt that the number of potential by 1970. But there is one other important factor which must be considered.

Will the physical plant at East Carolina be enlarged sufficiently to keep pace with the increasing influx of applicants?

The physical plant of East Carolina has been increased rapidly in the past several years as the General Assembly has accorded the institution more nearly the funds needed for expansion than it did in previous years. Yet every year East Carolina is forced to turn away applicants because it does not have facilities to handle them. If facilities were available East Carolina's present student body would be much larger than it actually is.

Aside from all the other advantages East Carolina College offers Greenville, there are few other cities of comparable size which have an industry which brings as much money into the community as ECC does here. And few which have an industry with the constant growth potential of East Carolina.

Republicans Have Fallen Into Big Payroll Swamp

The high cost of government continues to go higher under the Republican administration in spite of almost forgotten GOP promises of more efficient operations in Uncle Sam's business.

The government's civilian payroll for the fiscal year which ended last June 30 climbed 168 million dollars above the total civilian payroll for the previous fiscal year. That, of course, means more millions must come from taxpayers' pockets to defray the higher cost of government operations.

During its first months in office, the Republican administration dug its teeth into the payroll it inherited from the Truman administration. The number of federal employes was steadily cut during the early months of Republican rule. Then, as in most cases, the trend turned the other way. The number of federal employes ceased to decline. Gradually more names appeared on the government payroll, and pay hikes increased the total cost to taxpayers.

During the first six months of this year the federal payroll under the Republican administration increased steadily each month. It was the longest sustained rise in federal employment since 1952 under the Truman administration which the GOP had attacked time and again for swamping the federal government with nonessential employes.

Well, what are the Republicans going to say now?

They will probably point to a figure—487—which they will say is the number of employes by which federal payrolls were reduced last year. On the other hand, the figure cannot mean much because Chairman Byrd of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures says changes in reporting procedures by government agencies prevent entirely accurate comparisons of employment figures.

At the outset, we thought perhaps the GOP administration would take a sizeable bite out of the personnel of the overstaffed federal agencies. Now its beginning to appear that by the end of the Republican four years in control of the administration the number of government civilian employes will be equally as large if not larger than when Truman left the White House to Eisenhower. students could swell the college enrollment to that figure

Anglo-Saxon Race Is Mixed-Up Affair

By LYNN NISBET

ANGLO-SAXON — The first objective of Patriots of North Carolina, Inc., as set out in its charter is: "To maintain the purity and culture of the white race and of Anglo-Saxon institutions." That two-pronged objective is to considerable extent contradictory in nature and purpose. In one phase it is very broad in scope; in another it is much narrower than Hitler's mania for exerting supremacy of the Aryan peoples.

Although for a century and a half Salem College and Academy at Winston-Salem has contributed greatly to the cultural and educational advancement of North Carolina, it is not an Anglo-Saxon institution. It is Moravian, founded and mainly supported through the years by the fine people whose ancestry goes back to central and eastern Europe.

The Waldensians who established a colony in Burke county 60-odd years ago are not Anglo-Saxon, although their culture and [illegible] is closely ak to the traditional Anglo-Saxon philosophy. Few communities in the whole country can equal and still fewer—if any—can excel Valdese as a place to live.

There has been so much interminging of racial strains among the "Pennsylvania Dutch" who settled in Piedmont North Carolina and made it the prosperous section it is, and among the Highland Scotch who people the Cape Fear Valley, there might be excuse for including them in the generic term, as commonly used, of Anglo-Saxon. In the true sense they do not belong in that classification. Neither do the descendants of the French and Swiss who settled around New Bern. There is some doubt about properly classifying the Scotch-Irish of the Iredell-Mecklenburg-Rowan sector as Anglo-Saxons. Certainly the Greek, Hebrew and Syrian groups are excluded from the list of those whose institutions are to be maintained.

HISTORIC — Although North Carolina in common with most of the States which originally joined to form the United States of America regards England as the "mother country" and many of our laws are based on the ol' English "common law", the historic fact is that North Carolina was developed largely by non-Anglo-Saxon peoples. Place names testify to that fact, as do the family names of the men and women who made this a great State. Those lists include as many derivations of Celtic, French, German and Latin names as of Anglo-Saxon origin.

The institutions which original immigrants from continental Europe, Ireland and Scotland fostered and which their descendants now pridefully maintain—are fully as worthy of continued maintenance as the Anglo-Saxon institutions.

In that connection it is interesting to note that a number of the signers of the charter of incorporation of Patriots of North Carolina, Inc., have names which indicate they do not belong in the classification of Anglo-Saxon.

Preponderant majority of the citizens of North Carolina are determined to "maintain the purity and culture of the white race." They will not readily accept integration in public schools or in social relations with colored people—black, red or yellow. They will insist upon separation on the major basis of Caucasian, Ethiopian, Indian and Mongolian as outlined in the geographies of a generation ago. It is very doubtful that any great number of North Carolinians will go along with a program confined to maintenance of Anglo-Saxon institutions to the exclusions of those established by other members of the total family — French, German, Greek, Italian and Scot, or Celtic.

Zealous as they are for maintaining racial culture, that concept is a bit too narrow for majority of the citizens of North Carolina.

WHITE HOUSE — Governor Hodges said he will appoint within a few days members of a group to organize educational conferences throughout North Carolina, preliminary to the White House Conference on Education called by President Eisenhower for early December. It is the Governor's understanding that the national conference will not discuss integration or segregation directly, although its overtones will be inescapable. The educational leaders will devote attention to financing, providing sufficient classrooms and competent teachers, and other administrative pr[illegible]

"This might well be one of the most important conferences held in the whole country this year," he said.

The group which he will appoint will call a statewide meeting at Raleigh on September 12, to be followed by district and regional meetings over the State and a final State rally in Raleigh perhaps in October. It is expected that this final state meeting will select the accredited delegates from North Carolina to the White House Conference.

INSURANCE — Investigation is being continued into reports that some companies have canceled insurance policies on beach property. Preliminary check failed to disclose any widespread practice and indicated rumors had exaggerated the condition. However, one or two cancellations suggested to the Governor and Commissioner of Insurance Gold that investigation and warning are in order.

There are some beach property owners still dissatisfied with adjustments made after Hazel, but for most part the feeling is that the insurance companies leaned over backward to pay loss claims.

Look At The Figures

(Washington Daily News)

We are told that by 1956 there will be 12,000,000 more pupils in our public schools than there are today.

That will mean that we will need approximately 400,000 more class rooms in the nation if we are to take care of the extra millions of children.

If present statistics prevail in 1965 it will mean that North Carolina will need about 8,000 more classrooms than are now available. But that 8,000 will not represent any real advance in education. We say this because today we are woefully short of classroom space in our schools in the state. We are actually behind what we need. With many schools placing children in church rooms in makeshift huts, or crowding classrooms or resorting to the shift system already, the addition of 8,000 classrooms in North Carolina by 1965 will merely represent a "status quo" and will not mean that we are any better prepared to take care of the children than we are today in 1955.

If we break the figures down a bit more we find that in 1965, if the present reports are true, North Carolina will have about 250,000 more students attending public schools than are now attending. We are critically short of classroom teachers now too. And to teach 250,000 additional students will mean that the state must employ about 8,000 more teachers than are now on the payroll. Where in the world will we find 8,000 additional classrooms and 8,000 additional teachers?

School officials are harassed now in trying to find suitable teachers. They are facing a school opening in many places without adequate teachers. Some classrooms over the state we are told will have opening day classes with teachers who don't want to teach, are not prepared to teach, and who are only there for patriotic reasons.

In discussing these figures we do not claim that they are exactly right. They sound very high to us, and we are sure they will sound high to most people who study them. But we cannot escape the trend. And the fact that in America our population is increasing rapidly naturally signifies that more children will be seeking educations with each passing year. It is difficult to believe that in North Carolina an additional 250,000 children will enter the classrooms in 1965. But they are figures which have been discussed, and while they may be the highest possibility they do point out an ever increasing problem which we must meet and solve.

There is one thing for sure. The state of North Carolina and other states in this union are going to provide schools for the children. The taxpayers will pay for these schools.

So looking at the school problem in this manner, about all we can hope for and expect within the next 10 years is to maintain our present picture.

Dear Sir:

I read with a great deal of interest your editorial relative to Utility rates in Greenville. You are to be commended for your stand in this important matter that affects every family in Greenville and a large number of rural families in Pitt County. I agree with you that the rates are entirely too high.

Prior to coming to Greenville, I received service from Carolina Power and Light Company. As an example of the difference in the rates, for the month of July I consumed 768 kilowatt hours of current for a charge of $16.02. Had I been on Carolina Power and Light Company's system this same amount, would have cost me $11.68.

You can readily see that this is an increase of $4.32 over the Carolina Power and Light Company's rate, or 37 per cent increase over their rate. This is entirely too much.

Very truly yours,

J. G. GIBBS

Girls And Normalcy Return

Greenville is back to normal! After a lull without the college students, they have poured back into town and given us the added vitality that is normally a part of us.

Last night I was walking down the street and met two of the many pretty college girls. "My," I said to them, "the scene around here certainly has improved since the college opened!"

Did the girls run? Blush? Stick up their noses? Nothing of the kind. They practically took a bow and said, "Thank you very much."

One restaurant owner said the college controlled half of his business. When it's closed his receipts are cut in half.

Last night Mrs. Graham Quinn and I were making a comparison of the college between now and the old days.

"When I was there," Edna said, "there were 1000 girls and 11 boys." During that time I met Edna while home on leave from Uncle Sam's Army.

new students here. Never will I forget the statement that Dr. John Messick made a few years ago: "Give me the dormitory space and I'll give you the students."

Last year there were 2496 students on campus, which puts us above Wake Forest (1698 last fall) and Woman's College of the University of North Carolina in enrollment. And of course Dr Ed Carter's extension courses would push the number much higher.

None have been turned down, but beginning in January the Registrar's office was forced to answer every application with the news that no more dormitory space was available. Many students want to live in the dorms, so they applied at other schools when they received that news. However, if they still were interested they were placed in town.

It is estimated that if dormitory space had been available, 800 to 1000 more new students would be enrolled. This morning Wright building, which always has held the freshmen with room to spare, was overflowed during the session greeting new students.

And I thank you.

Trying Times For Lady Bird

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — It has been a rugged experience, full of worry, and requiring patience, for pretty brunet Mrs. Lyndon Johnson since her husband, the Senate Democratic leader from Texas, had his dangerous heart attack last July.

But Lady Bird as she was christened, says it's opened some new vistas, some of which have paid dividends. There were the letters—"sweet, thoughtful, kind letters" that arrived by the hundreds from unknown well-wishers as well as friends during the weeks the senator was in Bethesda Naval Hospital. Then, as he was ready to go home, someone broadcast the word that Mrs. Johnson needed special recipes for preparing tasty dishes with low fat and low calorie content called for in the rigid diet his doctors insist he must stick to if he's to get well. More letters poured in.

"The response was really amazing," Lady Bird told me. "Some of the recipes have proved quite helpful. Some people sent in their grandmother's tried and true recipes, some sent new scientific booklets. I'm either going to have to turn a registered chemist, though, or jump out of the window.

Lady Bird said she finally bought a book a dietician at the hospital suggested—"Low Fat—Low Cholesterol Diet," and a scale for measuring grams.

"I'm trying to adjust his meals to what he really likes to eat, eliminating the fat," she explained. "There are only about 10 things he really likes a lot to eat. I try to have something he's really fond of in each meal. But I have to add the spinach, turnip greens squash, and other things he doesn't like worth a dern. I will say one thing, he's gotten to eat vegetables more than he ever did, a whole cupful at a meal. Only 20 calories, but it helps fill him up."

The senator can have his favorite Scotch and branch water before dinner.

"Usually we have a friend—he can't have more than one or two at a time—drop in at that time," Lady Bird said. "It makes a nice convivial moment for him.

Mrs. Johnson, the doctors and nurse who attends him part of the day don't have to nag him to stick to his diet. Lady Bird says he himself follows it with even more avid interest than they.

The senator spends much of his time reading "innumerable papers and periodicals, history and biographies" with occasional games of his favorite dominoes.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THEY PERCEIVED THE WAY

A noted writer made the statement recently that Abraham Lincoln probably read less and thought more than any other man that ever sat in the White House. A recent book reviewing the war between the States speaks of the utter confusion of men's minds a hundred years ago and points out that in this confusion Abraham Lincoln and a few others perceived a few basic things which really counted and held to them through thick and thin.

Don't you get weary sometimes reading these longwinded books which discuss human problems as if people were a lot of sticks laid up against a fence? Throughout history certain great leaders have arisen who, when everyone about them was shouting, gesticulating and citing statistics, pushed their way through the crowd and laid their finger on the real issue at hand. These rugged, basic, supremely wise individuals simply set the world on its head. Socrates was one of these, and St. Francis of Assisi, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, and Abraham Lincoln. And of course the one Person who saw life in its immensity and in its smallest detail was the Carpenter of Nazareth, who spoke not only in terms of wisdom, but in a way that everybody could understand.

Leadership is a rare quality. There have been few great leaders in world history. These have usually been men who felt, perceived, and pointed. Some of them read but little.

Attacks On McKay Ring Alarms In GOP

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A vitriolic attack on Interior Secretary Douglas McKay and the Eisenhower Administration's general conservation program has rung political alarm bells in the halls of the White House and Republican National Headquarters.

Although it echoes Democratic and public power advocates' indictment of Ike's policies in this field, highlighting the issues which the opposition will develop next year, this latest blast comes from a source that Sherman Adams White House Chief of Staff, and Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall dare not laugh off or ignore.

It consists of an editorial in the Denver Post which is printed under Ike's vacationing gaze. Publisher of the Post is Palmer Hoyt, a distinguished and independent editor, generally regarded as a Republican and an enthusiastic supporter of Eisenhower in 1952.

ADMINISTRATION DENOUNCED

In a scathing article, Editor Hoyt summarizes the very courses on which the Democrats hope to carry the West in the 1956 Presidential election. Hoyt and fellow-critics denounce the Administration, and especially Secretary McKay for neglecting the power-and-reclamation interests of that region. They even intimate that Eastern figures, especially public utility and banking groups, are chiefly responsible for this alleged neglect.

Charging that McKay has not helped the Eisenhower Administration or the Republican Party in this field, Hoyt demands the resignation of the Secretary of the Interior. When McKay should have been using his influence on behalf of several Western water storage projects during the recent session of Congress, Hoyt notes that "he was making a sentimental journey to the Meuse-Argonne and the hill where he picked up German shrapnel in 1918."

Hoyt attributes the delay of action on both schemes—the Arkansas-Fryingpan and Upper Colorado Basin ventures—to McKay's lack of interest and activity on Capitol Hill. Both Ike and Adams, the Denver editor notes had personally endorsed the proposals. But McKay, he says, did nothing.

CRITICISM OF IKE

Hoyt then repeats the criticism of Ike which the Democratic liberals hold against him—namely, that he has reversed the Roosevelt-Truman power policies in favor of a program favored by the private utilities and their financiers:

"The tide of non-Western opinion against reclamation and related power projects, and the historic subsidy there from for agriculture has reached a new high coincident with the Eisenhower Administration. Why?"

Then the editorial gives its own answer by saying that "the Administration has pursued no dynamic selling on Western development." It continues its attack against McKay as follows:

McKAY TAKEN TO TASK

"And McKay has failed, either from ignorance, indifference, or a calculated compromise engineered by the United States utility lobby and its many, many friends.

"McKay has no enthusiasm for the role of championing the economic expansion of a region which, now as always relies upon the Department of the Interior for co-operation. And he evidently has been touted away from that feature of his responsibility by the slickest and best-heeled touts of that never-resting gang known as the Washington lobby."

In short, the source and the bitterness of this disparagement of a major Administration policy and one of such political potency was so amazing that it was inserted in the Congressional Record by Senator Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon who promises to become a combination of George W. Norris, Harold L. Ickes and F.D.R. in his advocacy of Federal development and operation of the nation's power resources.

DEFENRS RECORD — McKay showed his concern immediately. Within a few weeks after the appearance of the Hoyt Denunciation he defended his record in a address before the Izaak Walton League at Portland, Ore. His speech was distributed widely by the Republican State Central Committee showing that he was talking politics, as well as conservation.

Tariff Is Mirror Of Labor Cost

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Eisenhower Administration has raised the tariff on bikes. This action was taken because foreign imports have cut into the American market. American manufacturers complained—loudly, in the right places and truthfully, too—that lower European production costs made it difficult to compete. They were losing sales and American workers were losing jobs. Little was said about the fact that some of those foreign bikes have features you can hardly ever get on American makes.

Manufacturers in England, France, Italy and other European countries turn out good bikes cheaper than they can be made is the U.S. All our vaunted production line efficiency cannot overcome wages of equivalent to $1.50 to $5 a day. Foreign manufacturers can absorb trans-oceanic freight, brokerage fees and pilferage on the docks and still undersell American producers—and so the tariff went up another notch.

Labor costs here have a way of pyramiding themselves. Factory workers insist on wage increases. Steel and rubber workers win higher wages, boosting the price of their products. So bicycle manufacturers must pay double: higher wages for their employees, and higher wages for the steel and rubber workers—and the copper, brass, chrome and paperboard workers, too.

Thus, every time there is a new round of wage increases there is fresh pressure for higher tariffs.

The more we keep out foreign goods, the less chance other nations have of earning dollars here. The fewer dollars they earn, the less American goods they can buy. Our exports will fall off and, as they do, employment may slacken and farm income decline. The government may have to increase foreign aid and boost totals paid to the unemployed and to farmers.

There are no simple solutions to the problem. We cannot halt the march to higher standards of living by freezing wages; we cannot allow industry to be undermined by cheap imports and we cannot become economic hermits. Answers, anyone?

PEARLS ARE MILDER, JAPANESE TO HEAR

This is the only column in the world that keeps its readers advised about the Japanese retail cigarette market.

A few months ago it reported that sales of higher-priced cigarettes, using considerable American tobacco, were skidding, while sales of cheap smokes of native tobacco were rising.

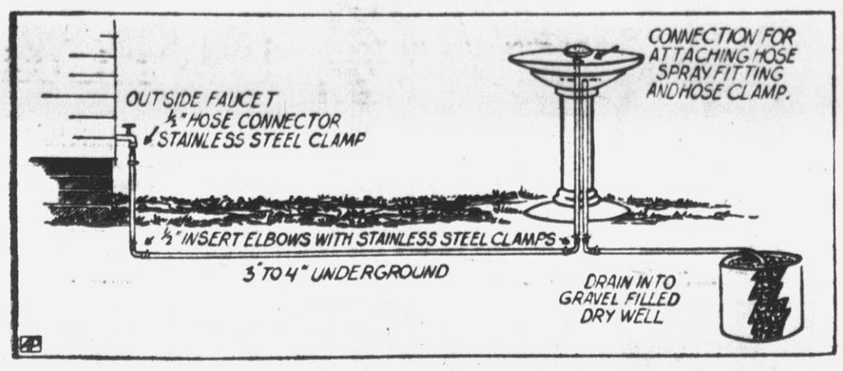

Now it can add that the Japan Monopoly Corporation, to reverse this trend, has introduced 10 cigarette packs of Fujis, at 16.7 cents. And on October 1, the monopoly will introduce the Pearl at 8.3 cents for 10. Pearls are a milder smoke (where have we heard that before?). They contain only 2.5 per cent nicotine, and will be made of 7 per cent United States flue-cured tobacco, 3 per cent Turkish leaf, 10 per cent Indian burley, 50 per cent Japanese flue-cured tobacco and 30 per cent other native leaf. Now all the monopoly needs is a few advertising slogan writers.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING IN NEWSPAPERS UP 13.3 PER CENT

National advertisers as well as local merchants appear to be defying the traditional seasonal pattern and are selling right through the summer. National advertising in newspapers reached a new high for the month in July, according to Media Records and the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association. The total was 13.3 per cent above July, 1954.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

BIRD BATH with running water is an easy project with plastic pipe.

Garden plumbing has become so simplified by the use of plastic pipe that bird baths, goldfish pools, fountains and miniature waterfalls in rock gardens no longer are reserved for great estates and public parks. Any man with a kitchen knife and a screwdriver can be his own outdoor plumber.

And you don't have to be a ditch digger, either. A big advantage of plastic pipe is that you lay it merely under the sod and do without worry about freezing. If it freezes, the pipe stretches to accommodate the ice expansion. A depth of 3 or 4 inches is enough to hide this pipe.

So when you wish you had a handy water outlet in some far corner of the garden and you shudder at the cost of installing standard plumbing safely under the frost line, why not do it yourself the easy way with plastic pipe?

This material is amazing stuff. It is made out of inorganic polyethylene, supposed to last forever since it won't rot. Yet it costs no more than a good grade of garden hose, which no man in his right mind would expect to last more than a year or so if buried and left undrained.

The only hitch is that it seems hard to buy in some places. Dealers have given us various explanations—that it is sold only to plumbers, that it is too new, and that not enough people are demanding it yet. However, we notice that it is listed in the big mail order catalogues, so it shouldn't be long before you can buy it any place.

The mail order prices are running 10½ cents per foot for the half-inch size; 12½ cents a foot for ¾-inch, plus shipping charges.

But it's really a whiz for performing water tricks around the garden. You hook it up, couple it and handle it very much like a hose. It bends easily around corners, but for a sharp turn you can use a plastic elbow. There are plastic tees, couplings, reducing couplings (to cut down from large to smaller sizes) and adapters to join up with any standard steel pipe fitting.

Stainless steel clamps, put on with a screwdriver, give you a tight joint between the hose and any of those fittings. You can hook up an underground line to a bird bath or other fountain directly with an outside hose bib, or faucet. The length of plastic pipe that will come up out of the ground under the hose tap will be flexible enough to permit connecting and disconnecting at will.

Here is an easy project to glamorize any backyard—a bird bath. We asked the engineers over at Republic Steel to design this project for us—even though it calls for plastic instead of steel pipe. But it seems that both of these materials are now in the same family industrially, so we got some free advice.

Take a standard cast concrete bird bath, the kind sold at garden supply places. The pedestral is hollow, making it easy to bring supply and overflow pipes up through the center. If the bowl has no holes for such connections, it is not difficult to drill holes in it with a carbide tipped drill. The pipe lines can be fitted snugly through these holes by packing them with caulking compound.

The supply pipe can be capped with a small brass sprinkler head and there you have a tinkling fountain. The overflow pipe can extend up about an inch from the bottom of the bowl to keep the water at a desirable depth.

The overflow from this fountain can be directed into a fish pool, allowed to dissipate in the ground, or drained into a dry well—which is simply a hole in the ground below the sod, loosely filled with rocks.

Tropical Storm Leaving Texas, Enters Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Tropical storm Gladys, wayward and dangerous, turned away from Texas and sloshed her rains toward Mexico City today, where she already has caused the worst floods in the capital's recent history.

The Brownsville Weather Bureau said the middle and lower Rio Grande Valley, apparently was spared by Gladys' radical turn away from Texas. But the bureau warned that squalls ranging up to 400 miles from the center still could cause isolated flash floods along the river.

Weathermen at Mexico City already blame Gladys for three days of rains. The rain has caused disastrous floods, affecting some 40,000 families.

Gladys slammed into the Mexican coast about 150 miles below Brownsville with winds of about 70 miles an hour—five short of hurricane velocity. Then it turned sharply south-southwest and passed almost directly over Tampico, Mexico.

Half of Tampico was plunged into darkness by power failures. Wind damage in the city was heavy and families fled the low-lying areas flooded by the Panuco River.

The storm was last reported moving south-southwest from Tampico at 5-10 m.p.h.

To the north, storm warnings were still up in the Brownsville-Port Isabel area in extreme south Texas. High tides occurred and huge waves pounded the beaches from Galveston, Tex., southward.

Possible flash rises on streams in northeastern Mexico were forecast as the squalls continued to drench some areas.

The Rio Grande Valley from Brownsville to Del Rio, Tex., was still jittery about the possibility of floods. Last year Hurricane Alice sent squalls up the valley and touched off one of the worst floods in valley history. Hundreds of lives were lost.

Gladys—until she turned south—acted very much like Alice had.

In Mexico City, some four square miles of working class districts were under water. Some 3,000 persons were still stranded in the area after about 2,000 were rescued from rooftops.

Two children drowned and five more were missing.

Flames Menace Redwood Groves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Destructive waves of flames threatened two priceless redwood groves today as raging forest fires blazed out of control in northern and central California.

More than 1,500 fire fighters battled flames whipping through the Sequoia National Forest in the Sierra Nevada east of Fresno. More than 7,000 acres were already blackened. Damage was estimated at more than $650,000.

The crackling flames reached within a mile of the famed General Grant redwood, the world's largest tree and possibly the oldest living thing on earth. Its age has been calculated at more than 3,000 years.

In the northern section of the state between 17,000 and 18,000 acres were aflame in Humboldt County.

Fire fighters fought to save Rockefeller Grove, one of the few remaining stands of virgin redwood.

A brush and forest fire was finally brought under control in Lake County about 100 miles north of San Francisco after more than 200 persons were forced to evacuate their homes in the Whispering Pines resort area.

The Fresno County communities of Pume Lake and Grant Grove were evacuated from the path of the Sequoia National Forest fire.

Green Hair Tint Is Actually Used

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Hair stylist Guy Tipton came up with a new green hair tint and actually found takers.

Two normally blond youths exhibited the green hair at a downtown corner, getting a mixed reaction — but no questions as to where the dye jobs could be obtained.

Tipton says it's really very simple in case anyone wants to try it at home. Just take some hot bluing — the kind used in washing clothes — and apply it to light hair. The blue mixes with the yellow pigments of the hair anl the result is green. It won't work for brunettes.

Tipton says the stuff will wash right off.

Editor Questions High Esteem In Which Public Schools Held

RALEIGH (AP)—Unless Negro citizens "submit more easily than we predict they will," North Carolina's "only choice" in the school segregation issue "is between integrated public schools and free - choice private schools."

So says an editorial in the September issue of the Tar Heel Banker, official magazine of hte North Carolina's Bankers Assn.

"We do not relish the probability of arduous work involved in reorganizing our schools," it stated. ". . . the decision will have been made necessary by a very small minority of people who are hell-bent on forced integration. It is this minority which will decide whether our public schools shall be preserved."

The editorial was written by Jesse Helms, editor of the magazine and executive director of the association. He said, "My editorials do not set the policy of the association," although the magazine is the association's official publication.

Don't read into it (the editorial), Helms added, "that I'm advocating the end of the public school system."

The editorial stated that "there is nothing sacred about a public school system as such." It added, ". . . We agree that education is a commodity which should be made available to every child in America, regardless of race, creed or color."

"But we are far from convinced," the editorial continued, "that public schools are the only way to make education available to our people. . . there is the private enterprise way which offers the same wide horizon for enlightenment. And with private enterprise as the keystone in education, political sociologists would forever be unable to dictate terms and procedures to the people of America regarding their schools."

Apparently the "only point" on which Gov. Hodges and the NAACP agree, the editorial said, is that the public schools "must be maintained at any cost."

C. Lacy Tate of Chadbourn, 2nd vice president of the bankers association, said he would rather read the editorial and study it over before commenting on it.

American League Leaders Unable To Break Away In Holiday Games

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The Big Three in the American League race put you in mind of a bunch of old married guys. They've been knotted up so long they don't know how to cut loose on a spree even when they get the chance.

They had their chances in the Labor Day double-headers but only fourth-place Boston whooped it up, sweeping Washington 10-2 and 7-2. Cleveland, New York and Chicago split in their twin bills with the second division.

After sweeping into first place by taking three straight from the White Sox Cleveland misfired and lost the first game to Kansas City 5-4 before winning 9-2. New York was carried 11 innings by Baltimore then dumped 6-5 in the opener. The Yanks won the nightcap 5-3.

Chicago was rapped by Detroit 7-2, then rebounded 3-0.

All that treadmill work left the Big Three right where they started: the Indians lead the Yanks by half a game and the White Sox by 1½. But the ever-persistent Red Sox now are right back in the picture, just 1½ behind Chicago.

By contrast, Brooklyn reduced its magic number to 3 as the Dodgers swept Philadelphia 11-4 and 8-2. Any combination of Brooklyn victories and Milwaukee defeats totaling 3 returns the National League pennant to Ebbets Field. The twin triumph gave the Dodgers 90 victories—and a 15-game lead.

The Indians were all even with the A's after six innings, tied up 4-all following Larry Doby's three-run homer. But Art Ditmar held them in check the rest of the way while Reliefer Don Mossi gave up singles to Harry Simpson and Elmer Valo in the ninth and Hector Lopez lofted a sacrifice fly to score the tie-breaker.

In the nightcap, southpaw Herb Score struck out 11 (220 for the year) and had a two-hitter for eight innings. In the ninth, Lopez homered after a single to spoil the shutout, but the Tribe rookie notched his 15th victory with room to spare. Doby and Rosen connected back-to-back homers during the 11-hit Cleveland romp.

The Orioles eluded the Yanks with a run that scored on an interference call against Gil McDougald. Jim Wilson went all the way for his ninth victory. Two other Baltimore runs scored when Umpire John Rice ruled outfielder Hank Bauer had trapped, not caught, a low liner in the sixth. And the Orioles got three in the first on a single and five walks.

Tommy Byrne, who started the first game and left in the opening frame, came back to win the nightcap in 4 1-3 relief innings. Baltimore made five boots while outhitting the Yanks 11 to 7.

Chicago was dead in the first inning of the opener. The Tigers smacked across four runs as starter Virgil Trucks failed to last the inning. Ray Boone homered and doubled for three runs while Billy Hoeft won his 15th. Bob Keegan, who last 5 2-3 innings to get the decision, and Billy Pierce combined for the shutout in the afterpiece. Chicago had just four hits from rookie Frank Lary but made the best of a walk and a hit batsman.

The Bostons breezed in with Jimmy Piersall driving in two with a home run and making three brilliant stabs in the outfield as Tom Brewer won his 10th in the first game Jackie Jensen's two-run homer wrapped up the second game in the sixth inning. It was George Susce's eighth victory.

Don Newcombe won No. 20 for the Brooks in the opener hammering his seven home run with two on for a National League record for pitchers. Del Ennis clipped Newk for a three-run homer in the ninth.

Carl Erskine gained his 100th major league victory on the fifth try in the second game as the Brooks chased Robin Roberts.

Milwaukee split with Chicago. The Cubs won the first 2-0 on Sam Jones' five-hitter. The Braves won the second 1-0 with an unearned run and a three-hit job by Ray Crone.

New York's Giants, the '54 champs officially fell from the race in a split with Pittsburgh, losing 8-6 in 10 innings before winning 6-3.

St. Louis knocked Cincinnati into a fifth-place tie with the Cubs in a single game, winning 3-2 on Rip Repulski's two-out single in the 10th.

Booming Bosox Can Upset Race

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, relegated to the also-rans a week ago, were back in the thick of the sizzling American League pennant fight today and may hold the trump hand.

The Sox swept a Labor Day double-header from Washington yesterday 10-2 and 7-2 to pull within three games of league-leading Cleveland. Meanwhile, the Indians, New York and Chicago split their holiday matches with the non-contenders.

In the all-important loss column, the Sox are only two games back of the Tribe and the Yanks and one behind the White Sox.

A week ago, Boston was five games behind in the race after a double loss to Chicago. They hadn't been that far out since July 20 and skeptics began talking of "next year."

Down the September stretch the Red Sox have the definite edge of playing the most games at home. Of its remaining 18 games, Boston plays 16 at friendly Fenway Park. In contrast, New York has 11 of 18 at home Chicago 5 of 18 and Cleveland only 3 of 17.

In the fateful five days starting tomorrow the Red Sox play tough Detroit twice and meet Chicago in a Sunday double-header while Cleveland is at New York for two. That's when the standings may get a shuffling.

Beyond that, Boston still has seven games with New York—four at home. Even if the Sox can't win it, they will have the say in where New York will finish.

The encouraging factor in Boston's sweep was the pitching of Tom Brewer (five-hitter) and George Susce (eight-hitter), who gave the team its first consecutive complete games since Aug. 7-8.

On the darker side, the Sox left 14 runners stranded in the first game and 12 in the second.

Pirates Get Break In Rainy Weather

With the opening of the 1955 football season for East Carolina College only five days away, Coach Jack Boone's gridiron squad took advantage of the breaks in the weather Tuesday to continue their polishing up for the initial game Saturday night.

The only interruption of the football conditioning came for the Freshman Orientation program on Tuesday morning and registration which got under way shortly after noon.

Another break for the Pirates was the appearance of Mr. Sun, although he was peeping through thin clouds and breaks in the overcast.

But the Bucs drilled on, and they continue their spirited drills, despite the heavy raincloud of the past weekend.

The linemen were still a problem for Assistant Coach Jim Mallory, and only the tested boys were being reasonably sure of a berth in the starting line-up in the Pirates' encounter with the Norfolk Navy team here in College Stadium Saturday night.

Mallory, Boone and Assistant Coach Earl Smith were out with the dawn patrol for the early drills Tuesday morning. Workouts on the field were scheduled for Tuesday afternoon and the rest of the week. And there will be continued blackboard study and motion pictures of other Pirate games.

Saturday night's game here will be the first collegiate football competition of the season for North Carolina east of the Piedmont section. Two other North State conference teams have games scheduled for the coming weekend, but they will be played in other parts of North Carolina.

As the Pirates continued their workouts, and candidates for starting berths continued their preparation for Saturday's opener, ticket sales were going at a brisker pace. However, there are plenty of good seats available, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, athletics director, reported Tuesday.

Pirates Club memberships at $12.50 each, good for reserved seats for the five home games, may be purchased at the Athletic Office or the Alumni Office through Saturday.

MONDAY'S FIGHTS

NEW YORK—Bobby Nourchesne, 131, Holyoke, Mass., stopped Tony Puleo, 135, Brooklyn, 9.

Prison Baseball Star May Return

NEW YORK (AP)—Husky Albert Owens, 31, may get back his old berth on the Sing Sing Prison baseball team.

Owens was a star batsman with a .310 average on the prison team until he was paroled in 1953 after serving seven years of a burglary sentence. Yesterday he was under arrest again.

Police said they nabbed the 206-pound man as he struggled out of a Brooklyn home with two suitcases loaded with $10,000 worth of loot. He was charged with burglary, grand larceny and possession of burglar tools.

The arrest gives him a good chance to get back to his old team, police said.

Batting Race Is Running To Close

NEW YORK (AP)—It looks as if the National League batting race will go right down to the wire again before a new champion is crowned.

Last season the title wasn't decided until the final day when Willie Mays of the New York Giants edged teammate Don Mueller and Brooklyn's Duke Snider.

This year's race is between Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phils and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella. Ashburn currently leads the Dodgers' catcher by two points—.333 to .331. The speedy outfielder gained one point during the week on 8-for-23, while Campy boosted his average seven points with 8-for-19.

Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, the home run leader with 44, ranks third with .317, followed by Snider at .314 and the Dodgers' Carl Furillo at .313.

Al Kaline of Detroit is playing out the season before he officially is proclaimed the American League batting leader. The 20-year-old outfielder is hitting at a .348 clip with Harry Simpson of Kansas City his nearest pursuer at .317.

Golf Cavalcade Gets Under Way

SCOTCH PLAINS, N.J. (AP)—The Cavalcade of Golf—the East's biggest tournament—begins today at the Shackamaxon Country Club with 84 golfers competing in the qualifying round for the $50,000 event.

About half of today's competitors will qualify to meet some of the nation's top pro and amateur golfers in the first round of the tournament, which gets under way Thursday.

Some 60 top golfers—including Jack Fleck, U.S. Open champ; Cary Middlecoff, winner of the Masters and Julius Boros, 1955 Tam O'Shanter winner—are scheduled to participate.

Competitors will shoot 18 holes a day through next Saturday with the winner taking the $10,000 top prize.

Hidden Trap Is Storm Product

Herb Thomas Wins Third Darlington Race

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Herb Thomas, lanky speedster from Sanford, N.C., won the Southern 500-mile stock car race here yesterday for the third time.

Thomas came from behind in the sixth annual race to win before an overflow crowd estimated at 50,000. He averaged 92.281 miles an hour, winning $6,700 in prize money and taking $4,000 more in $10-a-lap leadership.

The 1951, 1953 and 1954 national champion of the National Assn. for Stock Car Automobile Racing (NASCAR) won last year here and in 1951 in a Hudson. He drove a Chevrolet yesterday.

His closest challengers each went out late in the race.

Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., Fords that set the pace for most of the race, lost a wheel with only 48 laps to go in the 364-lap race.

Billy Widenhouse of Midland, N. C., driving a Chevrolet in second place with four laps to go was forced out with a blowout.

Thomas also picked up 1,500 points in NASCAR grand national circuit scoring for the season. An injury earlier this year has kept him out of contention, but the 1,500 points brought him up from 13th to 7th place.

Jim Reed of Peekskill, N.Y., in a Chevrolet, was second, winning $3,500.

Tim Flock of Atlanta, was third in a Chrysler 300, by unofficial results. Official results will be announced tonight. There were 69 leading at the time in one of two starters.

Flock won $1,800 and kept his national point leadership at a new high of 7,400. He set the track qualifying record last week at 112.041 miles per hour.

Other point leaders in definite contention held their second and third places. Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., sixth in the race, has a point total now of 7,016. Lee Petty of Randleman, N.C., 19th yesterday, got enough points for that to hold third at 6,078.

The heavy cars — Buicks, Chryslers and Oldsmobiles — that led for the first third of the race, fell by the wayside to excessive pit stops for tires. The Fords and Chevrolets then took over.

Other finishers, fourth through 10th in order by unofficial results: Gwen Staley, North Wilkesboro, N. C., Chevrolet; Larry Flynn, Daytona Beach, Fla., Ford; Baker, Buick; Jack Maness, Rocky Mount, N. C., Chevrolet; Widenhouse, Chevrolet; Cotton Owens, Spartanburg, Chevrolet; and Banks Simpson, Concord, N.C., Buick.

Flonty Flock, Tim's brother, took the lead in his Chrysler on the 10th lap and held it until Tim grabbed it on the 91st.

Fonty later hit the rail on the third turn on the 192nd lap, but escaped serious injury.

Tim held the lead for about 60 laps. Widenhouse took over briefly, then Weatherly got in front and stayed there, except for a brief lead by Thomas, until his tire blowout near the end.

Arden Mounts, Gilbert, W. Va., suffered a slight head concussion, and Don Duckworth of Woodruff had slight cuts and bruises from their collision on the 157th lap. Neither was seriously hurt.

Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., on the pole at the start, wrecked on the 31st lap when he, like Flock later, hit the third turn rail.

The caution flag was out seven times during the race, cutting down the final average speed. One three-car collision in which no one was hurt, and several lost wheels brought on the slow caution laps while the track was cleared.

In addition to facing Rocky Marciano, Archie Moore will have to overcome one of the ring's most persistent jinxes if he is to gain the heavyweight championship of the world. Ring history fails to reveal a single world light heavyweight champion who went on to win the heavyweight title. Many grew into the heavyweight class and challenged for the big crown, but none succeeded. From the light heavyweight division's first champion — Jack Root, right on through Joey Maxim, from whom Moore won the title — their efforts have been in vain.

Gene Tunney held only the American light heavyweight title when he took the heavyweight crown from Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia in 1926, so he doesn't belong in the group. Root, the first one to try, was knocked out by Marvin Hart in 12 rounds. Georges Carpentier lasted only four rounds against Jack Dempsey. Tommy Loughran managed to last 15 rounds against the awkward Primo Carnera but lost the decision. John Henry Lewis was battered to the canvas in less than a round by Joe Louis. Billy Conn twice failed against the Brown Bomber. Gus Lesnevich succumbed to Ezzard Charles' vicious punches in seven rounds and Joey Maxim took a brutal beating from Charles when he made his bid.

Some may argue that none of the above mentioned fighters could be classed with Moore as a fighter and insist that Ancient Archie will prove the exception to the rules. Could be, for Moore will have an edge on Marciano in height and reach while giving away only a few pounds in weight. But there still remains the old jinx.

Seixas Concedes Time Running Out

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Vic Seixas, at 32 the greybeard of American tennis, admitted today that he'd like to stay on the tournament trail forever, "but since I've got to think of my future I'm afraid tennis is going to be secondary with me."

The defending national champion—and, as usual, the forgotten man among the big names—discounted reports that he would retire to a plush job with his father's Philadelphia plumbing business and revealed that he'd like to try his hand at television.

"I definitely don't want to go in the plumbing business," he said. "I'm just not that interested. I'd like to enter television first perhaps on the sports side then maybe as a master of ceremonies.

"I've had some feelers, but I don't even know yet if I could do the job. One thing is certain—in television you find out right off if you can handle the job."

Seixas entered the round of 16 in the Nationals yesterday via an effortless 6-2, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Cliff Mayne of Lafayette, Calif.

Herbie Falm of Beverly Hills, Calif., seeded No. 8, had a close squeak though he fought off four match points to beat Tom Brown of San Francisco 6-3, 3-6, 5-7, 11-9, 9-7.

Top-seeded Tony Trabert whipped J. Allen Morris Jr. of Clinton S.C. 6-4 6-4, 6-1. Hamilton Richardson, No. 3, rode over Tim Coss of Washington 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Giel Reluctant To Talk Of Self

NEW YORK (AP)—Pitcher Paul Giel of the Giants still likes to talk football. But seldom discusses his own great performances on the gridiron.

Rather reluctantly the former All-America backfield star from Minnesota recalled his best day on the football field. It was against Michigan when The Gophers won the Little Brown Jug for the first time in 11 years.

Here's what Paul did: gained 112 yards rushing, completed 13 of 18 passes for 169 yards, scored two touchdowns and passed for a third intercepted two passes and ran back five kicks.

Brooks Appear Cinch To Clinch Flag Real Soon

BROOKLYN (AP)—The pennant bound Brooklyn Dodgers, practically a lead-pipe cinch to set an early clinching record in the National League, warmed up by knocking a handful of lesser marks for a loop while blasting Philadelphia in a Labor Day doubleheader.

The sweep 11-4 and 8-2, coupled with Milwaukee's split at Chicago, reduced the Brooks' magic number to 3. Any combination of Dodger victories and Milwaukee defeats totaling 3 gives the flag to Brooklyn.

New York's Giants the '54 champs, officially fell out of the race by splitting two with Pittsburgh—leaving second-place Milwaukee as the only team still mathematically capable of catching Brooklyn.

The Dodgers already own the league record for the earliest pennant clinch, wrapping up the 1953 championship on Sept. 12. They have seven games between now and the 12th—starting with two at Milwaukee tomorrow and Thursday. A sweep at Milwaukee could end it Sept. 8.

The major league record is held by the New York Yankees. They won the American League pennant Sept. 4 in 1941.

While knocking off the Phils in the first game yesterday, Don Newcombe (who won his 20th) set a National League mark for pitchers with his seventh home run of the season. Hal Schumacher of the 1934 Giants and Jim Tobin of the 1942 Braves hit six. Cleveland's Wes Ferrell set the major league record with nine in 1931.

Newk's drive was one of four Brooklyn homers in the opener, boosting the club total to 112 in cozy Ebbets Field. That erased the previous Brook high of 110 at home, set in 1950 and matched in '53.

Duke Snider also got in on the record assault, hitting his 42nd home run. The Duke and Gil Hodges are the only Dodgers ever to hit that many. Snider now has done it twice.

Double Sport In Catching A Fish

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mabry Edwards has a new method of catching fish.

While water skiing on a lake near Keystone Heights he noticed a wake in the water such as a fish might make, steered toward it and hit something.

He signaled the man driving the boat to turn and they found a stunned 10-pound black bass which they boated.

PITCHING—Ray Crone, Braves, Shackled Cubs on three-hitter, striking out six and walking none, for 1-0 nightcap decision after Braves had lost opener 2-0.

BATTING—Jim Piersall, Red Sox, with just four official trips in doubleheader, drove in two runs and scored four with home run and two singles in 10-2, 7-2 sweep of Washington Senators.

WILD FRONTIERSMAN

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—When Municipal Judge Jack Lee was told by a vagrant that his name was David Crockett, the judge knew what to do: "Go to Hollywood," the judge said, "where you might find employment." Then he gave him an hour to start.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

Released from the beauty parlor, Ann drove out to the new house in the canyon. She looked it over speculatively, and asked Hermann how soon he thought they could move in.

"Any time you want to, Mrs. Laird. You got lights and water. There are some finish-up jobs—shelves down in the ski room and the driveway, but—"

"I'm glad," said Ann. "I'm tired of that cubby we're in." On the way home she sent a wire to Wendel to have their stored furniture shipped out to them.

When Adam came home that evening, she told him what Herman had said. "So I sent for our furniture We'll move into the house as soon as it comes."

She wasn't looking at him, but she sensed his surprise. His leg stiffened, his newspaper dropped to his knee.

"We'll have to use our stuff from Kenerly," she said quietly. "But we'll need more things, too. Furniture for the second bedroom, and the rumpus room—or should we furnish that room as an office, Adam? I could tend to your contracting work down there."

He mumbled some sort of answer.

went back to the kitchen and talk- west back to the kitchen and talked from there. "I'd want some of the house to be furnished in New Mexico style," she chattered. "We can't do much with the Colonial cherry in our bedroom, but what living room stuff we have will combin with Spanish or Indian. I could put a serape over the couch, and get some draperies—I'll try not to be extravagant Adam."

"Buy what you need," he said gruffly.

"I'll be careful. Mainly because I know so little about really good things. I wonder if they'd advise me at the museum?"

"You could ask, I guess."

So far so good. He'd been surprised; he'd said very little. He might have protested, or argued. He had not. Ann had warned herself to be thankful for small gains.

Next day she went to the museum, ashamed to realize that it was her first visit. The place was fascinating. It had everything from a sand painting to Kit Carson's beaver robe—and a most friendly woman at the front desk, ready and glad to talk to Ann about her needs. She got the information she needed.

With Adam, those days, Ann was maintaining a carefully controlled manner, neither warm nor cold. She didn't argue with him, nor attempt to conciliate him—she just went on as if nothing were wrong, as if there were no such person in the world as Pinky Haggard.

When she was with Adam, she behaved that way.

But when she was alone . . .

Their furniture arrived, and Ann became very busy moving into the canyon house—but washing windows and waxing floors used only a part of her stored-up energy. She talked to herself, and vigorously Polishing the tin shields behind the candelabra at the fireplace she said viciously. "I know you've Pinky's! I know she picked you out and watched him put you up. I know you're part of Pinky's house! The thing you didn't expect was that I'd claim your house, and live in it. I don't like it—I hate every inch of it. But Adam built it for me, and I'll live in it. He'll never know what's going on but Pinky will. Oh, yes, indeed! She'll know."

And what she didn't know, Pinky undertook to find out. The first week end that Ann and Adam spent in the new house, Pinky borrowed someone's car and drove out. Adam was removing the varnish from a small table because Ann wanted it done over with wax, so Ann offered to show Pinky around.

Adam gave both women a look, then bent again to his job almost as if he were relieved to escape that particular chore.

As if she were a stranger, or at best a casual friend, Ann conducted Pinky to the main floor of the house, showed her the bedrooms—the unfurnished one, and the one that held the cherry chest, the dresser, the half-poster double bed. They went back along the hall, across the living room to the kitchen; Ann displayed the build-in features, and discussed future plans

They came back to the living room and she indicated the view from the huge window.

Pinky turned then. "I'd say I was more familiar with that view than you are my dear." She tipped back on the heels of her elk-skin mocassins, her eyes challenging Adam's wife. "I've been out here so much while Adam was building this house that I got to thinking of it as mine."

This time Ann offered Pinky no saucer of cream. By now, the kitten had grown to tiger proportions and both women knew it.

Ann lifted her shoulders in a shrug. "That's too bad," she said coolly. "Because if you felt that way you must be feeling disappointed now—the house is mine."

Pinky ground her cigaret into a deep tray. "And now," she said sweetly "Adam will have to build me one." She went, switching, out through the terrace door to the convertible and drove away.

Ann watched her negotiate the still-rough drive. Pinky had not so much as waved good-bye to Adam. Of course, he'd seen her leave.

Ann put her hand out to the window drapery, rubbed its coarse weave between her fingers. Her lips were thin, her eyebrows drawn together. She jerked at the curtain, but it held upon the traverse.

She dropped it and kicked at the floor. She kicked and kicked it until it was a rumpled heap; then she stooped, lifted it, and flapped it smooth again. From here she whirled into a vertible storm of activity. For the first time, she abandoned herself to blind emotion. She let herself be frightened, and angry. If Miss Pinky wanted a fight she'd get one! Ann would show that yowling cat that a decent woman had ways . . .

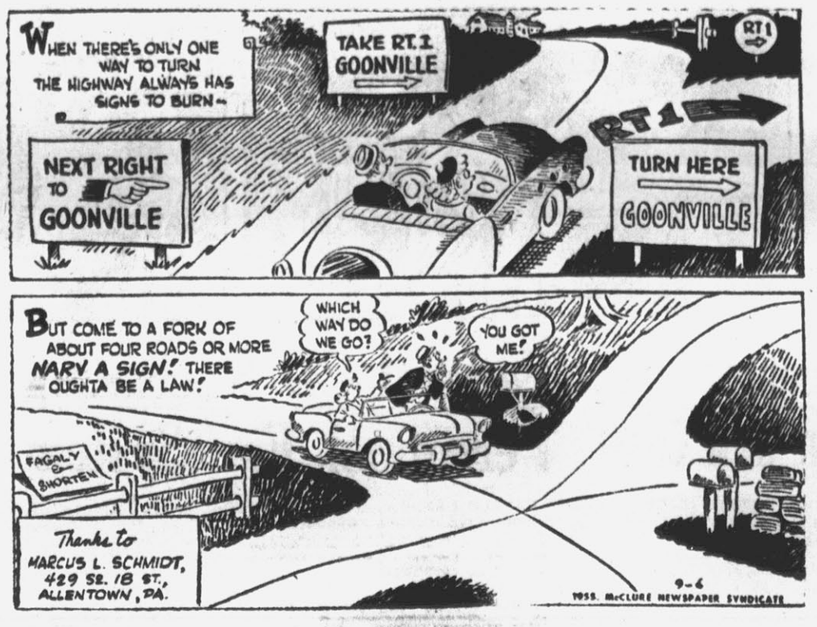

There were all sorts of things a wife could do.

In the next hour, Ann devised as many as three separate plans of action. She could follow any one of them, or all of them if necessary. Any one of them might work. All of them, of course, might be wrong. But it did seem to Ann that she would have to try them—and see.

Pressure On Ike Continues Grow

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP)—Republican party pressure on President Eisenhower to run for re-election is building quite a head of steam.

Vice President Nixon stoked the boiler fires well yesterday with his statement that those closest to Eisenhower—and "the overwhelming majority of Republican leaders" throughout the country—are more optimistic than ever that he will agree to be a candidate again.

And the pressure almost certainly will mount several degrees Saturday when GOP chairmen from all 48 states confer with the President here to map party strategy for the 1956 presidential and congressional campaigns.

Nixon met with newsmen at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters after he had discussed national security problems with the President for about an hour. The vice president said he and Eisenhower talked no politics whatever, but Nixon had plenty to say on that subject afterward.

He said in his opinion Sen. McCarthy R-Wis) is "through" as a political threat to Eisenhower and as "a major devisive force" within the Republican party.

McCarthy, said Nixon, was such a force last year at the time of congressional elections when the senator was firing sharp criticism at Eisenhower. In those elections the Republicans lost control of Congress.

"Our political history shows," Nixon said, "that when an individual takes on the top man and wins, he the individual) grows. But when you make a frontal assault, if you lose you are through. And that is what happened on this issue."

McCarthy at Appleton, Wis., last night replied:

"I don't believe it is a choice between destroying Ike by a frontal assault and rubber stamping and approving every mistake the administration makes.

"I feel that regardless of what success is had on what Nixon called a fonrtal assault, every senator has a duty to expose incompetence and wrongdoing in government regardless of which party is at fault—and that I intend to continue doing."

As for Eisenhower running again the President himself told a Washington news conference early in August that the state of his health next year would be a major factor in making up his mind.

So, newsmen asked the vice president yesterday: How is Eisenhower's health?

"I have never seen the President look better," Nixon replied. "I feel that he is in tip-top shape physically and mentally in his attitude toward his job."

As to the job, Nixon added, "has become easier" for the President "the longer he is in it." He said the President has it so well organized that he now can turn over secondary problems to aides and concentrate personally "on the great and important issues."

He stressed that he had no inside information about Eisenhower's 1956 plans, but he said the impression is general in the Republican party that the President will run again.

On related political matters, Nixon said:

1. The Democratic presidential nomination contest at this point "looks like a horse race" between Adlai Stevenson, the party's standard bearer in 1952; Gov. Averell Harriman of New York; and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Kefauver, said Nixon, has been "consistently underestimated" by the professional politicians. He predicted that in his own state of California, Kefauver could win next year's Democratic presidential primary 'easily— hands down" over Stevenson and Harriman.

2. The "most difficult" issue for the Republicans in 1956 will be defense of the administration's farm program because farm prices have been failing. But Nixon voiced confidence they will stabilize soon.

3. The Democratic presidential nominee will have no choice but to run on the record of former President Truman, or split the party.

AWOL Turns In After 27 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—If William F. Lydon's story checks out, the Army has a 59-year-old private on its hands.

Lydon, a slight, bespectacled elevator operator, turned up at 1st Army headquarters on Governors Island yesterday. He told an MP on duty there:

"I want to give myself up. I've been AWOL from the Army since 1928, and now my conscience bothers me so much I've got to go in and face it."

Surprised Army authorities assigned Lydon to a "casual detachment" and restricted him to the island while they checked his case. This might take some time a spokesman said, since records dating back that far are probably buried somewhere in archives at Kansas City.

Lydon told Army officials he enlisted at Boston in 1928 and was assigned to Ft. Scott, R.I. While on pass one day with other soldiers, he said he drank too much and overstayed his leave by two days.

Ashamed and afraid to face Army discipline, he decided to stay away.

"I went back to Boston, bought civvies and did railroad and construction work," he recalled. "The Army didn't trace me. A couple of years later I came to New York, met my wife and settled here."

The Army spokesman said the statute of limitations on a peacetime desertion will probably spare Lydon any punishment. "We'll have to give him a discharge, that's all," he added.

Break-In Charge Face Pitt Man In County Jail

A 22-year-old Negro man was arrested by the sheriff's department Sunday morning and charged with breaking and entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Rouse, Ayden Route 1.

Facing the charges is William Carman Jr., also of Ayden Route 1. Carman is alleged to have entered the front door of the Rouse home around 10:30 Saturday night. No one was home at the time and nothing was reported missing.

Carman is currently being held in Pitt County Jail. He will receive a hearing before Magistrate Luther Moore some time today.

Making the Sunday morning arrest were Deputies Duke Andrews, Jack Russell and Jasper Lee Mills.

Would Eliminate U.S. Radio Voice

MOSCOW (AP)—Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev), after five days in Moscow, thinks the U.S. government should get rid of its Voice of America radio because it hasn't whipped the Soviet people up to the point of a revolution.

And he thinks U.S. military spending should be cut back because he finds "no evidence the Soviet Union is prepared for war."

Malone who arrived here last Wednesday, told newsmen yesterday:

"I saw no evidence the Soviet people will rise against their government. Consequently, we should retrench expenses like the Voice of America."

Frogmen Planted Flag On Amoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Daring frogmen planted a Chinese Nationalist flag Saturday on the beach of Amoy, a Communist island and it was still flying there at sunset yesterday, according to local press reports. The exploit was in celebration of Nationalist China's first Armed Forces Day.

Anti personnel mines were planted around the base of the flag pole. The press speculated the mines and fear of Nationalist gunfire from Quemoy Island six miles away, made the Reds afraid to approach the flag.

OZARK IKE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 100-plus heat wave in Los Angeles has cracked, but just barely, and the forecaster predicts continuing hot weather today. A downtown maximum of 98 is expected.

Yesterday the high was 99. It was the first time since last Tuesday that the mercury had not sizzled up over 100 in the heart of the metropolis.

The daily maximums in the record-breaking scorcher were: Wednesday 101, Thursday 110 for an all-time high, Friday 108, Saturday 103, Sunday 101.

Gentle sea breezes and some high cloudiness are credited for the slight crack in the blistering weather.

Elsewhere in southern California yesterday the maximums included: El Centro 114, Needles and Blythe 113, San Bernardino and Burbank 111.

The heat wave death toll mounted in Los Angeles County. The coroner's office said 51 deaths were attributed to the heat since last Wednesday. The number of natural deaths was 277 in that period, nearly 2½ times the total of 113 in the corresponding period last year. The coroner said the heat was an apparent accelerating factor in many of these deaths.

Gino Prato Back Home In Italy With His Father

STATALE Italy (AP)—Gino Prato, the New York cobbler who won $32,000 on the U.S. television quiz, program The $64,000 Question, was back home today in the little village he left 33 years ago to seek his fortune in America.

He climbed a mule trail on foot yesterday to reach his birthplace in the north Italian mountains. Church bells rang and nearly every resident gathered in the town square to welcome him.

In the center of the crowd stood Giovanni Prato, his 92-year-old father. It was their first reunion since Gino left for the United States.

"It is a great miracle to be able to be here, to see you again," said Gino.

"You have moved the whole world to get here," said his father.

Gino won the $32,000 with his knowledge of opera. Accompanying him to Italy were his wife, their daughter Lorraine and her new husband Eugene Joannides.

Federal CD Recruiting Personnel For System

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — The Federal Civil Defense Administration today announced that America's nationwide attack warning system, manned by civil defense officers, is being expanded.

FCDA is responsible for warning the civilian population in case of enemy attack.

The system, which works in conjunction with Air Force control centers throughout the United States, is being enlarged to maximum staff.

Harry E. Roderick, director of the FCDA Attack Warning Division, pointed out that the expansion means immediate recruiting of more personnel — for more "in depth" strength to carry on the vital work of civilian warning.

At the present time, some 17 key officers are responsible for staffing the nationwide system, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. They are on duty at the command sites of the 12 Air Force Divisions and the headquarters of the Continental Air Defense Command and the Eastern, Central, and Western Air Defense Forces.

Desirable qualifications for new officers are listed as:

a. Operating experience at a responsible level, such as that attained in an Air Defense Direction Center, or as an Operations Officer aboard a large Naval vessel, as a Senior Controller or Controller in an Air Traffic Control facility, as a supervisory dispatcher in an Airline Operation or in Military Operations at a base with considerable Air traffic.

"Specialized operation experience which involved the development or use of techniques used in air tactics, or the joint control of military and civilian populations, or the methods used for the protection of civilian populations from aerial attack.

"Extensive experience in the employment or control of land, sea or air forces which involved command responsibility and thorough knowledge of the principles, tactics, and methods used in command, or

"Broad civil operational experience with major responsibility for operations, operational planning or operational coordination.

"The applicant must pass a rigid physical examination. The duties of the position are exacting and demand a high emotional stability under great stress. Persons appointed are assigned to critical and sensitive activities that may involve prolonged and irregular periods of duty."

Positions are rated GS-11 ($6385). Requests for further information or applications on federal employment form SF-57 should be sent to:

Director of Personnel, FCDA National Office, Battle Creek, Michigan.

Wife Was First To Sound Off

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Justice D.F. Thompson ruled the evidence was not sufficient to convict a chemical company for air pollution.

"But I'm sure going to catch heck from the ladies in that area," he remarked.

Telephone rang just as he made the statement. His face got red, but he listened meekly.

"My wife," he groaned. She'd just heard about the verdict.

Underwriters To Meet Thursday

Cadillac

No Doubt In His Mind This Time!

This happy gentleman has just taken title to his seventh motor car.

And while he would probably have difficulty recalling all the different makes and models he has purchased through the years, there is one thing he knows with absolute certainty: He never felt like this before when he took the keys and made for the open road.

For this is his first Cadillac! And what a glorious feeling it is to know he has chosen the "car of cars"!

Gone are the doubt . . . and the worry . . . and the wonder. This time he knows he's right!

And how quickly the evidence will assemble in support of his sentiment!

First of all, there will be the eloquent testimony of the car itself—its magnificent performance . . . its marvelous comfort and ride . . . and its incredible ease of steering and handling.

And then, as he travels the boulevard, there will be those quick glances of approval from his fellow motorists to tell him that he is not alone in his judgment.

And, finally, there will be that assembly of family and friends that awaits him at journey's end . . . offering final confirmation of the wisdom of his choice.

Of course, the man who takes title to a new Cadillac today enjoys the double satisfaction of having made the wisest possible choice at the wisest possible time.

Because of Cadillac's increased year-end production, for instance, he will find that he can have surprisingly prompt delivery on his new Cadillac.

And, as if this were not sufficient in itself, we are also in a position—because of our low inventory of used cars—to offer him a most generous allowance on his present automobile.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour at the wheel—and let us acquaint you more fully with this unique opportunity?

79-Year-Old Man 'Doing Very Well" After Accident

A 79-year-old Greenville man was "doing very well" at Pitt Memorial Hospital today after being struck by a car yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Pennsylvania and Dickinson Avenues.

Cephas Bowen, of 1208 Chestnut Street, was taken to the hospital by the Fire Department Rescue Truck after being struck by a car operated by David Newton, of 1306 Colonial Avenue. Bowen suffered a broken hip and facial lacerations after he apparently stepped into the path of Newton's car.

No charges were placed against Newton, an employee of the Greenville Utilities, by investigating police officers Lt. W. E. Peterson and patrolman Henry Lawson.

Club Entertained By 4-H Youths

Representatives of Pitt County's 4-H clubs entertained members of the Greenville Rotary Club last night as Miss Joyce Jackson of the Bell Arthur community presented a series of drawings set to verse and music and Horace Corbett of Fountain presented a talk on 4-H work.

Corbett, in his address to the club, told his audience 4-H work is built on the standards of good citizenship and high ideals of character. Each 4-H member, he said, pledges his head to clear thinking, his hands to larger service, his heart to greater loyalty and his health to better living.

4-H activities, the speaker said, broadens the scope of interest of young people who are moving rapidly in a rapid world. In North Carolina, he pointed out, there are 146,000 4-H members, more than in any other state in the nation. The various activities of 4-H work, he continued, teaches members of the organization to "make the best better by beginning with what we have. 4-H work is showing the way and planning the path for youth to better citizenship."

Miss Jackson, who presented her humorous drawings with verse and songs, was accompanied at the piano by Miss Della Ann Stokes, another 4-H member.

C. J. Goodman, assistant county agent in charge of 4-H work in Pitt County, introduced the 4-H members who participated in the program.

Hickenlooper Says Foreign Policy Open To Demo Raps

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today the Democrats will be treading "unsound ground" if they attack President Eisenhower's foreign policies in next year's political campaign.

Hickenlooper, a Senate Foreign Relations Committee member, vigorously disputed Adlai E. Stevenson's criticism of the Eisenhower international program in an article in Look magazine.

Eisenhower's "most serious failures" in office stem from foreign policies of "bluff and backdown," wrote Stevenson the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee who is expected to announce soon his availability for the nomination again in 1956.

Stevenson said Eisenhower's international policies are aimed alternately at pleasing "both right-wing and liberal wings" of the Republican party. Stevenson and Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler also attacked Eisenhower's farm program record in separate statements.

Hickenlooper interpreted Stevenson's Look article remarks as indicating Democratic plans to criticize Eisenhower's foreign policies in the 1956 campaign as well as his domestic programs. The senator defended Eisenhower's foreign program and declared Republicans will be ready to meet any such attacks.

"The impression I got in a recent trip to Europe is that our allies feel our policies are sound, that we are working for peace in a practical way," he said in an interview.

"The world has seen, under United States policies of the last three years, a distinct contribution to peace and the prospects of future peace. If Stevenson or any other Democrat wants to attack those policies, he will find himself on unsound ground."

Stevenson said Eisenhower's 1953 talk of "unleashing" Chinese Nationalists on Formosa for a possible attack on the Red China mainland "shook our alliances and invited war in the Formosa Strait . . ."

He said this "predicament which still plagues the Eisenhower administration—and us" was brought about by Eisenhower's desire to please Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, and Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Stevenson's criticism of Eisenhower's record on agriculture was in a letter to Henry Snow, at whose Kasson Minn., farm both Stevenson and Eisenhower made campaign speeches in 1952.

"Since that day three years ago," Stevenson said, "the farm situation has steadily worsened under an administration that embraces flexible price supports while maintaining distressing rigidity of mind."

He declared that while "the current farm distress is dangerous to our whole economy," the GOP administration is "as fertile of moralistic slogans for farmers as it is barren of practical ideas for a solution of the surpluses."

Butler also messaged Snow accusing Eisenhower of having falsely promised the farmers government price supports at 90 per cent of parity—the legally determined fair price standard.

Lived 5 Weeks With Dead Man

BOSTON (AP) — Police Capt. Michael A. Clougherty said 17-year-old Arthur H. Martin, an honor student at Boston Latin School, admitted last night he stabbed his father to death and lived alone in their home with the body for five weeks.

Mrs. Isabel Martin, 39, last night found the body of her husband, Manuel, 51, on their bedroom floor. She had been away on an extended vacation.

Clougherty said the son told detectives he stabbed his father with a trench knife last July 28 during an argument over washing the kitchen floor.

No charge was brought against the boy immediately.

Removed A Nail Lodged In Skull

TOULON France (AP)—A French surgeon worked three hours yesterday to remove a three-inch nail from the head of a young woman.

The patient, Miss Evelyne Plotu, 20 apparently had suffered only burns and scratches in an explosion in a Paris fireworks store where she worked a few weeks ago. But she complained of constant headaches.

An X-ray examination disclosed a nail had entered her skull and was lodged between the brain and the one Doctors said it probably entered through the left eye socket without injuring the eye.

Skunk Family Is Beneath House

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "It's quite uncomfortable," Mrs. Florence Phelps Smith reported to police last night. She was talking about the space under her home which has become a haven for a mother skunk and six large-sized youngsters.

Two officers went out to the home to investigate when Mrs. Smith pleaded: "It's getting serious." They found conditions as she described them, but couldn't get to the odor-bearing animals. They'll remain until someone with the proper equipment can reach them under the house.
