Adenauer Reports To West German Cabinet On Parley

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Cabinet heard a report on the Moscow talks by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today but took no formal action. An official announcement said the ministers wanted to study detailed reports from the foreign office on the negotiations between Adenauer and the Russian leaders.

The cabinet has decided what to recommend to Parliament. Schmidt, a leader of the opposition Socialists and a member of Adenauer's delegation in Moscow, attended today's special Cabinet session. He said in a broadcast earlier that acceptance or rejection of the Moscow agreement would be a tough decision for Parliament to make.

Adenauer discussed the Moscow talks this afternoon with leaders of the political parties including the Socialists. While Premier Bulganin's verbal promise to return German prisoners has naturally been welcomed in Bonn, some politicians voiced doubt about the wisdom of exchanging ambassadors with Moscow.

Rep. Cooley Says Farm Recession Is Repeating

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Chairman Cooley (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture Committee said today "a farm recession is creeping in again over our land."

Cooley cited Agriculture Department figures showing a 30 percent drop in farm income since 1947 and farmers now getting 42 cents of the consumer's food dollar compared with 52 cents in 1946.

The situation, he said, is "a frightening parallel to what happened in agriculture in the years immediately preceding the great depression of the 1930s."

In a speech prepared for the National Assn. of County Agricultural Agents Convention, Cooley said opponents of the federal farm program have seized upon agriculture's plight to destroy the program, setting city people against farmers and farm groups against each other.

"The truth is that the abundant supplies now causing our troubles resulted directly from the policy of our government which, at the outbreak of the Korean conflict, suspended crop controls and called for all-out production."

Out of respect for the nonpartisan county agents, he said, he refrained from suggesting any particular kind of program, but he contended that without a program "agriculture today would be, not in a recession, but in the depths of a depression."

Questions Congressional Right To Expose For Exposure's Sake

By KARL R. PALMAN WASHINGTON (AP)—The right of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to compel testimony and force disclosure of information to a former Communist already known to it was challenged today in the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Attorneys for John T. Watkins, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., a regional organizer of the United Automobile Workers-CIO, contended the committee has no authority to engage in "exposure" before the court.

When the sole or primary purpose of the congressional committee is the exposure of individuals to public view, the committee is engaging in a legislative trial in violation of the doctrine of separation of powers.

Islanders Will Miss 2 Storms

Hilda Rolls Westward While Sister Ione Curves To Open Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Frightened residents of Puerto Rico and the Virgin and Leeward Islands relaxed today as Hurricane Ione began curving gradually to the north, pointing her 80-mile-an-hour winds toward a vast expanse of open Atlantic waters.

Ione's older sister, Hilda, rolled on westward across the Caribbean Sea, meanwhile, and is due to slam into the Yucatan Peninsula tonight. Storm warning flags were lowered over the northern Leeward and Virgin Islands and the north and east coasts of Puerto Rico as Ione, a small but growing tropical twister began the northward swing taking her away from those land areas.

Planned Citizens Committee Runs Into Difficulty

Waterfront Quiet Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The Atlantic waterfront returned to normal, bustling activity today, but a second major crack developed in the peace plan on which striking longshoremen went back to work.

The committee, brainchild of Jersey's State Sen. James F. Murray Jr., was a political kiss of death. Anton quit today saying "my motives have been misinterpreted."

Murray himself is not a committee member. Left on it now are James McAllister, a New York seaman; Geoffrey Schmidt, of the Fordham Law School faculty, and the Rev. Dennis Comey, of Philadelphia who would vote only in case of a tie.

Industry sources termed the ILA's acceptance of the committee formula a "face-saving" device adopted by locals in some cities failed to heed the strike call. Now comes the huge cargo cleanup from more than 150 ships — practically all freighters. Most passenger liners were not seriously delayed by the tieup.

Soviet Sets East German Meetings

MOSCOW (AP)—Moving swiftly to follow up its negotiations with West Germany, the Soviet Union has announced it will open talks tomorrow with leaders of Communist East Germany.

The Soviet news agency Tass said East German Premier Otto Grotewohl would arrive in Moscow for conferences on "questions of interest to all sides." The announcement came only a few hours after West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer ended his Moscow conference and left for Bonn.

Jap Imports Said Endangering Jobs

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute (ACMI) says continuation of the present rate of Japanese cloth imports will put 13,000 textile workers out of work permanently.

A K. Winget of Albemarle expressed this view yesterday after reviewing the textile situation at a meeting of the institute's board of directors here. Textile men from the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Virginia and New York attended the meeting.

Resolutions of Respect
We mourn the passing of our friend and sister, Mollie Brown, one of our beloved charter members. For many years she was a most active member, having served as Worthy Matron and secretary of Greenville Chapter No. 149. Her death on June 12, 1955, came as a distinct loss to her Chapter. She was truly a person worth knowing, passing to and fro among us with her genial, friendly personality, radiating cheerfulness and good will. Her devotion to service, and the happy spirit of her life, made her a host of friends. We shall miss her happy smile, but can only say "God doeth all things well." Be it resolved: That we, the members of Greenville Chapter No. 149 realize our loss in the death of our sister; that we shall miss her cheerfulness and keen interest in the work of our Order; and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy to the Greenville Daily Reflector, and a copy be incorporated in the minutes of this meeting of our Chapter.

Respectfully submitted,

State President Visits Local Chapter The King's Daughters

Mrs. T. W. Young, state president of the North Carolina Branch of The King's Daughters and Sons, was the guest of The Patient Circle on Tuesday night, September 13, for the first fall meeting at the home of Mrs. Allen W. Baker, 402 Harding Street.

Mrs. Nannie Evans led the devotional. She read several verses from the sixth chapter of Matthew, making pertinent comments upon the words, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

The president, Mrs. Clara Moyer Shackell conducted a brief business session. The chairman of all standing committees made concise reports of summer activities. The emergency committee had done extensive service. They had sent groceries to needy families, cards and fruit trays to shut-ins and flowers to the bereaved and those sick in the hospital.

The president read the convention call. The State Branch will convene in Durham on October 4, 5, 6 with headquarters at the Washington Duke Hotel. Mrs. Clara Moyer Shackell, Mrs. H. W. Winstead, Mrs. J. B. Smith and Mrs. C. A. Bowen will be delegates from The Patient Circle.

The Nominating Committee presented the slate of officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. C. A. Bowen; 1st vice president, Miss Martha Lee Cowell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. B. Smith. The recording secretary is to be announced at the October meeting.

Mrs. Shackell then presented Mrs. T. W. Young, state president, to the group who stood in her honor. First, Mrs. Young elaborated upon plans for the State Convention telling of many attractive features which have been planned for the three-day meeting and urging as many King's Daughters as could come to Durham. She next gave the group many interesting highlights of the meeting of the Central Council, which convened in Chautauque, N. Y., the first week in August. She stated that all branches in the United States but four were represented there. She paid high tribute to the King's Daughters scholarship girls and boys who conducted all of the devotional during the meeting of the council.

An enjoyable social hour followed the program. Mrs. Baker and the assisting hostesses, Mesdames E. W. Harvey, Alice Keel, W. G. Ward, W. M. Scales, J. B. Smith and Miss Mary Wells, served ice cream wafers and salted nuts.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
September 15, 1925

The Greenville Banking & Trust Company received quite a unique deposit yesterday when an official of the bank was handed a bushel of money. The deposit was made by a farmer of Martin County and represents, no doubt, the hoardings of many years. When the automobile in which the deposit was brought to this city, stopped in front of the farmer's residence, the farmer with the aid of a wheelbarrow, brought out the keg; containing his money and emptied the contents into a bushel cement bag. As he emptied one of the kegs he remarked that every piece in that keg had been in there for more than five years. It required three experienced counters more than three hours to assort and count the hoard which was found to total $1,515.21.

Powell Bill Funds Play A Major Role

Six years ago when the General Assembly adopted the controversial Powell Bill, many misgivings were voiced around the state that it was an unnecessary measure which would come to no good end. Most of the opposition which was raised was because of the extra half cent a gallon gasoline tax which would go to incorporated towns and cities.

Since that time the additional half-cent tax has remained in tact and it is doubtful whether sufficient support could now be gathered in the state to repeal the measure. The Powell Bill funds have meant a great deal to every municipality, large and small, in North Carolina. They have afforded more and better streets for residents of incorporated towns and also for people in rural areas who visit the cities and towns. Better city streets benefit rural as well as urban people just as better highways benefit urban as well as rural people.

When the distribution of Powell Bill funds takes place this month 398 incorporated towns and cities will receive their share of the one-half cent gasoline tax. In dollars it will mean more than five and one-half million which can be spent in building new streets, paving and improving old ones. This year's distribution of funds will bring to almost $26 million the amount of money the Powell Bill has meant to municipalities of the state during the past five years.

As was anticipated at the time of its passage, the Powell Bill has proved a great boon to incorporated communities in North Carolina. It has bolstered municipal treasuries and has made possible street improvement programs which otherwise would have been left undone or financed through bond issues. At the same time, the tax which makes possible the annual distribution of these funds has proved no hardship upon the people of North Carolina. Without a revision of the one-half cent per gallon gasoline tax earmarked for Powell Bill funds, the program will gradually mean more and more money which can be diverted for use by municipalities in their street maintenance and improvement programs.

It is a good example of a pay-as-you-go program which has meant and is meaning a great deal to all the people of North Carolina.

A Pressing Task Faces Our Busy Street Dept.

Greenville's Street Department has had its hands full with repair and maintenance work since early August, but along with other things, immediate steps should be taken to repair sunken places in paved streets at many points in the city.

Heavy rains in recent weeks have apparently caused the settling of asphalt paving. In a number of places large holes several inches deep have appeared right in the middle of streets and intersections. These holes not only have become a nuisance to motorists whose vehicles suddenly hit them, but they have likewise become traffic hazards. And they are hazards which can and should be eliminated immediately.

It may take the Street Department a week or so to get around to patching all the holes, but immediate steps should be taken to commence the repair work on the worst spots.

Scott 'Plays Rough' Defending Farm Aid

By LYNN NISBET
SUBSIDIES — Senator Kerr Scott discussed the whole question of government subsidies to private enterprise in his address to some 2,500 attendants at the annual FCK Cotton Co-op convention here. Although less fiery than when he was governor, he pulled no punches in defending agriculture prices supports and the basic farm program.

Starting with the Websterian definition of subsidy as a grant to a private enterprise which is deemed "to the advantage of the public," he traced the history of government aid from the first tariff act of 1789 to the present. Tariffs have been continued, and to this day the subsidy has been added payments to steamships, railroads and airlines for carrying the mail and direct grants of land and services.

Railroads were given more than $13 million acres of public lands, and later substantial subsidies in freight rates. Direct aid to ocean and airline ran into multiplied hundreds of millions of dollars. Fast amortization and outright gifts to war production plants amounted to billions. Compared with these aids to other types of business the agricultural payments are insignificant.

The Senator quoted from a congressional report which stated that in the fiscal year 1949 through 1955 all payments for agriculture support amounted to three billion 773 million dollars, while for the same period other business subsidies aggregated five billion 880 million. That, he said, is only part of the story. A large part of the listed payments in the farm program is recoverable, but almost all of the other subsidies are gone forever.

Nearest approach to his old time vigor came when the Senator charged that most of those who criticize the farm program are themselves beneficiaries of government subsidy. They demand protection for themselves but clamor for a "free" economy with respect to agriculture.

BIG BUSINESS — Financial reports of the two cooperatives joining in the meeting show that in the early morning hours of Sunday, August 28 a two-month old baby girl in the family of Calvin and Vivian Hill, Negro tenants, died of unknown causes. Exactly one week later in the early morning hours of Sunday, September 4, a 22-month-old daughter in the same family died. Cause again unknown.

If this is mere coincidence, it is certainly sinister enough to warrant investigation.

Dr. J. G. Babby, Edgecombe County Coroner, said that since there was no evidence of foul play he saw no reason to call for an autopsy.

It is perfectly true that Dr. Babby's duty can be limited to ascertaining foul play. It is also true that he would not be justified in expending over $300 to ascertain by autopsy at Duke Hospital the cause of every sudden death in the county. At the same time each and every case must be decided on its own merits. We believe this particular case warrants an autopsy.

Dr. Babby himself admits that he does not know the cause of death. It is true that there are no obvious signs of foul play, like bruises or a slashed throat. But, does this entirely rule out the possibility of a not-so-obvious cause such as poisoning? Was there criminal neglect in the death of the first baby which showed signs of starvation? A third child in the family is now ill, reportedly from pneumonia. Is all this death and illness in one family mere coincidence?

The circumstances surrounding these deaths have alarmed the people in the Dunbar community and rightly so. They want to know if the children were victims of a deadly, contagious disease.

Certainly the situation at Dunbar deserves the closest medical attention. Common sense and enlightened self interest dictates nothing less. More than that, the children of Negro tenants in Edgecombe County are as precious in the eyes of God as the children of the most prominent family in Eastern Carolina and they deserve society's concern and, if necessary, its protection.

The Cloverleaf

Somebody Told Me In Hot Pursuit With A Ball Bat

Can you imagine Bill Taylor of Blount-Harvey in hot pursuit of Burney Warren (drug store) — Bill with a baseball bat in hand?

That happened about 16 years ago Burney was pitching baseball and it seemed that every time Bill came to bat Burney hit him with the ball.

After this happened about eight times, Bill made it plain to Burney that he didn't want to get hit again.

"When he came to bat," Burney recalls, "I got so nervous that I hit him right beside the head."

Bill took off after Burney. There was no fight, but a merry chase around the baseball field.

This came out of the regular meeting of the Chit-Chat bridge club last night. Every other Wednesday night when we meet there's always a rich story that comes to the surface.

George Lautares named us the Chit-Chat club, because we talk more than we play bridge. When the club was organized almost six years ago we were much more serious about the game. Several of the members studied books, bought the latest pamphlets and learned the newest bidding methods.

Then came more children to talk about. More football games, more business and more golf games. The greatest stride forward was reducing the number of progressions of bridge from three to two.

With more children in the picture at least one couple is always late. This helps, too, for it gives more time to the other three ouples to chat while waiting.

Now we are developing enlarged pairs. There are two conversations in progress, one at each table. The people at table one are trying to participate in one conversation and at the same time follow the one at table two. This is hard to do, but can be done.

Now and then, however, we have to shout from one table to the other for repetition of a very vital point missed.

The offensive bridge player finds it easy to make a hand if the bidding was near right, because the distraction by the opponents is in his favor.

It's plenty of fun: a bridge club with little emphasis on bridge.

And I thank you.

Wives Lack Clothes Sense?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The average American husband may doubt whether his wife has horse sense, but he's sure she does have clothes sense.

The chances are he's got her wrong on both counts. She probably could beat both Swaps and Nashua on a quiz program, but when it comes to dressing—well, after all all racehorses do insist on wearing shoes that fit them. Many women absolutely won't.

Charles Le Maire, famous Hollywood fashion authority, says the four most common clothing faults among both housewives and career girls are these:

"They don't know how to wear shoes. They don't know how to put on or take off gloves. They don't know how to handle veils. They won't pick the right size or kind of shoes."

Le Maire, wardrobe head of the 20th Century-Fox film studio, speaks from experience. He has designed the costumes for 62 Broadway shows as well as the outfits worn by such glamorous stars as Susan Hayward, Jennifer Jones, Jane Russell and Marilyn Monroe.

He says that experienced clothes designers don't make these obvious clothing errors but that "if it's any consolation to the housewife, young starlets often do. They have to be taught."

What's wrong with the way American women wear furs? "Very few know how to handle a fur gracefully," said Le Maire.

"They hold it awkwardly in their hand like a football halfback looking for someone they can throw a downhill pass to."

"They don't know how to drape it gracefully around their shoulders or drape it over their arm. It's the draping that creates the effect."

"They hang it around their neck like Daniel Boone fighting his way out of the forest. And many a woman thinks the more fur skins she wears the better she looks. Actually they only make her look like a fur trapper's bride."

"A small stole is graceful. A large stole is hard to handle. A woman would be better off with a fur coat."

Now about the gloves? "Too many women take off their gloves by tugging separately."

FIDELITY

"It is required of stewards that they be found—successful."

No, the Bible does not say that. The Bible says: "It is required of stewards that they be found faithful." They may be successful, and frequently are, but success is not the ultimate goal. Fidelity is the ultimate goal. There is no end in life we can attain and which God needs to have attained save one name—faithful. It is revealed whether we have in us the qualities that God can cherish and cultivate through eternity.

We give our time and attention to certain achievements and feel that they are ends in themselves. They are not ends—they are only means. Many a man goes down to what in the eyes of the world is complete defeat yet, in the eyes of God this man is a great success. He has been proved faithful. Jesus of Nazareth, according to the Roman law courts, was just one more executed Jewish rioter; according to the heavenly appraisal, he was the consummation of God's revelation to the hearts of men.

Just remember that in this terrific struggle called life, victory is not a matter of winning something or winning over somebody. Victory consists in being found faithful.

"It is required of stewards that they be found faithful."

Other Editors Are Saying... Pentagon Keeping News Secrecy Policy

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The accidental revelation of military information vitally important to the American public discloses the fact that the "high brass" in the Pentagon have stubbornly resisted Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's March 29 directive that handling of Army-Navy-Air Force news be turned over to qualified and experienced civilians with no departmental axe to grind.

Although the Air Force has been conducting its "torture and brainwashing" school for several years with as many as 29,000 "graduates," the story was suppressed until alert reporters for Newsweek Magazine stumbled on it, and did their own digging.

The critical reaction to the revelation, as well as the elaborate and immediate defense advanced by those responsible suggests that the news was withheld deliberately in fear of nationwide criticism.

The other incident involved a trade magazine's disclosure of development of an entirely new type of fighter plane which may be the fastest and most maneuverable in the world. With all the concern and confusion over the relative strength of American and Russian air power, this item is and was of transcendent importance to harassed and heavily burdened taxpayers.

TRADE MAGAZINE'S DISCLOSURE Again, this news became public by accident. The trade magazine discovered it through its contact with the aviation industry, a tie-up with few daily newspapers enjoy. It suppressed the story for a year at the request of Air Force officials.

It defied the "high brass" and published the article only when it learned that a rival was about to release the news within a few weeks. The editors of both magazines insist that the disclosure constitutes no threat to national security, as a report of the advanced type was well known in the trade here and abroad.

Secretary Wilson has apparently backed away from his insistence on civilian control of military information, for he has shown no interest or courage in forcing generals and admirals to comply. It is true that the Public Information Bureau of the Defense Department itself is manned by civilians, from top to bottom. But it is a different story in the three services.

OFFICERS IN CONTROL The Army has a civilian as the head of its so-called "news desk," but he defied a uniform only three months ago. Over him there are a major general and a colonel, and all the other sections, press, radio, television, magazines, special events—are headed by officers. Junior officers or non-coms make up their so-called "reportorial staff."

The Navy has no civilians in its Public Information Bureau. The top men are admirals and captains, while lieutenants and corps commanders have the actual work of producing news. The same situation, perhaps even worse, exists in the Air Force, which is the branch that with held data on the "torture and brainwashing school" and on the new type of war plane.

Except for the Army, there is no expectation that this system will be reorganized in accordance with the famous but misleading Wilson directive. Wilber M. Brucker, former Michigan Governor and new Army Secretary, has approved the appointment of a civilian in charge of public information, and is now seeking a qualified individual.

NO RESULTS R. Karl Lonahan was brought in last spring as Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense, and his assignment was to improve the Pentagon's information system. So far, he has produced no results, and he took his usual long summer vacation on Cape Cod.

Nor does he appear to possess the qualifications for the job. He is on leave as WOC man from his post as Public Relations Director for the Bell Laboratories. He is predominantly a salesman and press agent rather than an editor or newspaperman.

Lawrence Pratt, a Boston advertising man and brother of Assistant Navy Secretary Albert Pratt, has surveyed that service's public information setup. He has recommended to his brother that an admiral remain in control and Wilson has agreed.

Before he reached after a similar investigation, Air Force Secretary Harold G. Talbot ordered in favor of a general for his news department. So far, the decision stands.

THEORY OF MILITARY MEN Obviously the military will get less news of the news it has a right to know under this kind of organization. Military men operate on the theory that "the news is good news." They are terrified lest they incur disciplining and suppression and concealment. And this same philosophy apparently prevails with Secretary Wilson and Sherman Adams, White House Chief of Staff.

Builders, Retailers Competing

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the bitterest competitive battles being waged today is between appliance dealers and builders of new homes. Builders, in increasing numbers, buy refrigerators, stoves and other kitchen appliances at wholesale and install them in their new houses. Each time a builder does that, appliance dealers lose five to ten cents in their margins. In most cases, builders add the retail price of the appliances to the price of the houses.

Builders have a point—as well as a profit. A family buying a new home often has to scrape together every available dollar to make the initial payment. It has to make a down payment on a stove, washer, refrigerator and other big-ticket items at the same time, it might not be able to swing the deal. So builders say they are justified in including such items in their packages, especially since they will boost the down payment only a few dollars. Some also offer wall-to-wall carpeting, built-in television sets and other electric devices.

Dealers counterattacks so far have been feeble. Some of their associations have passed resolutions—and few have been carried as easily as a resolution. Some dealers have written indignant letters to the press. Others have refused to carry brands made by manufacturers who countenance wholesale sales to builders.

Harry Martin, columnist for Retailing Daily, has another idea: Dealers should advertise that they can undersell builders. He says that in a number of cases buyers have found they can get the same appliances from retailers at from $200 to $300 less than the builder charges.

But there is another, possibly more powerful, theme available to retailers. They ought to point out in advertising and sales talks, the economic and folly of having appliances blanketed into mortgage deals.

When $1,000 worth of appliances are included in the total price, the buyer will pay $1,250 more in interest on a 25-year, 5 per cent mortgage. On a three-year, 6 per cent time payment plan, the buyer would pay only $180 extra. Tucking the appliances into a mortgage may cost a buyer a total of $2,250 instead of $1,180 paid a dealer.

Furthermore, few appliances will last 25 years. Thus, during the later years of the mortgage, the buyer will be paying on devices long since traded-in or junked.

RADIOACTIVE TRACERS AID PESTICIDE RESEARCH

Days may come when produce is cheaper because pesticides are more effective.

U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists are now studying "radioactive" chemicals—those that move through plants. By using radioactive tracers, the scientists can tell exactly where each chemical moves, and thus find out whether it can poison pests in leaves, stems or roots.

One chemical now being studied with great interest is MOPA. MOPA is simply—did we say simply?—alpha-methoxyphenylacetic acid. It seems to move through all parts of a plant, especially in the root and leaf extremities, protecting it against diseases, insects and nematodes. Scientists believe MOPA's mobility results from its molecular structure, hence other protective chemicals with similar structure may be even more effective.

Thought: A universal plant chemical might make crop production immeasurably—and bankrupt the government through price supports.

HOW TO DEMONSTRATE REFRIGERATOR FINISH

The importance of showmanship is being demonstrated again by Robert Jacoby, manager of appliance store in Delaware, Ohio.

Mr. Jacoby wanders through his store marking up porcelain refrigerators with lipstick, ink, nail polish, crayon, indelible pencil, and iodine. He usually has one well scribbled on, in the window. When people ask why a refrigerator is smeared, Mr. Jacoby quickly wipes off marks, proving that the porcelain finish is stainproof.

It sells refrigerators.

Workers Defy Order To End Westinghouse Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse electrical workers in Pittsburgh defied an order from high union officials today and refused to end their strike.

James B. Carey, president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, said he was confident some 33,000 members in 36 other Westinghouse Electric Corp. plants would report to work. He went ahead with plans to start wage negotiations with the company.

Local 601 at the East Pittsburgh plant, which has about 10,000 members, continued picketing. It started the walkout Aug. 8 after 2,200 day workers quit work to protest a company time study of their jobs.

Under a strike-ending agreement announced by Carey last night, the time study question was made a bargaining topic opening today. Previously the talks were to have been confined to wages only under the current two-year contract.

The agreement gave the union the right to strike over the time study question if no solution is found.

Carey said the Westinghouse Conference Board, made up of officials in all locals within the Westinghouse organization, approved the agreement to end the walkout by "an overwhelming majority."

This announcement was greeted with cries of derision by the officers of Local 601. They said their representatives on the conference board had "vigorously protested" acceptance.

A spokesman for Local 601 would not say just why the proposal accepted by the conference board was rejected.

Westinghouse officials, expressing surprise that Local 601 would not go along with the pact signed by Carey, declared:

"We have an agreement with the union and it is up to the union to keep its house in order."

Consultant Will Aid Communities

Special services to local civic clubs and interested groups which are looking toward development of community projects are now available through the State Board of Public Welfare.

Pitt County Superintendent of Public Welfare K.T. Futrell said today the assistance of the State Consultant on Community Services is now available to such groups in organizing and conducting a survey of community resources and unmet needs to aid in community projects such as homes for the aged, homemaker service, juvenile delinquency and specialized facilities for children.

Futrell said a closer look at the community, its resources and its deficiencies, "is advisable in directing efforts at community projects."

Any organized group or groups in the county which desires such a survey in preparing for a project may contact the local Welfare Department or Nelson W. Stephenson, State Consultant on Community Services, State Board of Public Welfare, Raleigh.

Backs Gay And Jackson To Miss West Chester Clash

Boone Discloses Illness, Injury Sideling Pair

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

Head Coach Jack Boone announced today that fullback Bobby Gay and defensive halfback Lawson Jackson will definitely be lost to the East Carolina Pirates this weekend against West Chester (Pa.) Teachers.

Gay, the hard-running second string plunger, is in the college infirmary with a kidney disorder. The Wilson junior ran well against Norfolk Navy last week from a halfback post.

Lawson, the hard luck grider, is out with a sprained ankle. He suffered the injury in Tuesday's workout. Exactly a year ago from that day he broke his arm and missed the entire '54 season. He was being counted on to spell starter Harold O'Kelly some on defense this fall.

Defense Stressed

The main order of the day yesterday was a rugged defensive scrimmage. A third unit, composed mostly of freshmen, acted out the West Chester offenses and the Nos. 1 and 2 units drilled on stopping them.

The action was spirited and the pace fast. Sparking the first unit were linebackers Lou Hallow and Harold O'Kelly, along with guard Dick Mond and tackle Jerry Brooks. Ends Ray Pennington and Bill Helms, tackle Ray (Bull) Overton, and guard Paul Popov also stood out in the drills.

Working the defensive backfield were halves Emo Boado and Jim Henderson, with Dick Cherry at safety. These boys drilled a lot on pass defense in anticipation of a lot of throwing by the West Chester gang.

No. 2 Unit

Spearheading the No. 2 defensive unit were ends Tommy Waggoner and J. D. Bradford, tackles Charles Smith and Waverly Chesson, guards Ken Burgess and Harold Hoffman, and center Tom Mixon. The latter backed the line with fullback Bob Maynard. The halves were Bobby Perry and Charles Suggs.

Coaches Boone, Jim Mallory and Earl Smith expect one of the toughest games on the card this weekend. West Chester was the No. 1 small college team in the land a couple years back and last year ranked in the top three.

Head boss there is W. Glenn Kilinger, well-known football teacher and writer. He has published several books on offensive systems and has always been able to apply what he knows to his own West Chester club.

Strength Returning

He has 15 lettermen returning from the 1954 team that clipped the Bucs 6-0 here. Among those 15, eight are '54 starters. West Chester lost several good boys via graduation. They were co-captains Dick Paclaroni and John McAneney. All-State end and quarterback respectively. Pirate fans especially remember McAneney. The little man personally out-gained the Bucs, a lot through the air and a lot more on the ground.

West Chester should have a strong line. Veterans return at all positions. A pair of experienced ends, Bill Crozier and Ronnie Gaski, are the co-captains.

Returning backs are small but fast. Dave McMahon is the only quarterback with experience. He is only five-seven and lacks experience under fire. Lee Royer, who played a lot of fullback last fall despite the fact he weighs only 160, has been shifted to halfback. King McLean is another little but hard racking runner.

Farmville Eleven In Good Shape

FARMVILLE—Coach Ebert Moyer sends his Farmville Red Devils in search of victory No. 1 tomorrow night against Nashville in Farmville.

Last week Tarboro spoiled the Red Devils' opener by whipping them 14-0 in Tarboro. But this weekend, the two teams are of more comparative size and the battle should be a dandy.

"We lost two boys we'd counted on for duty this week," Moyer lamented. "Sonny Mall, who'd been alternating with Mack Holmes at quarterback, has missed practice all week with an infected finger." Mall had been reflecting Holmes at the signal-calling post and the latter moving to fullback to take advantage of Holmes' good blocking.

The other Red Devil on the shelf is second string tackle Dale Russell. He broke a finger in Tuesday night's practice and will be out for some time.

Working On Condition

Other than these two, Farmville is in good physical condition for the scrap. "That's what we've been working on all week," Moyer explained, "to get the boys in better shape so they won't tire so quickly. Last week against Tarboro, we just gave out in the late stages."

Moyer said he was going with the same starters. The backfield will include Holmes at quarter, Ervin Allen and Billy Eason at the halves, and Johnny Dixon at full. "Allen looked real good last week. His running was excellent and this week's practice sessions indicate he'll be moving well against Nashville," Moyer pointed out.

The Red Devil line will have Bill Owens and Bill Haire at the ends, Carroll Wooten and David Braxton at tackles, Mark Owens and D. L. Bateman at guards and Cliff Williams at center.

Wooten and Holmes looked good backing the line last week," Moyer said. "Wooten, though, was hampered by a cold and didn't play up to his capabilities. Braxton and Owens were sharp in the line and will be counted on to lead the play, along with Wooten, against Nashville."

Nashville Opener

Nashville brings an untried eleven into Farmville tomorrow night. This will be their opener. Last year they whipped the sock off just about everybody they played, including Farmville, 37-12.

But they lost their entire backfield. The big Nashville line, though, is still intact and will cause the Red Devils trouble.

Moyer said he was looking for a hard, close contest. He just hopes his club can come out on top.

Babe Nominated For Fla. Honor

TAMPA, Fla. — Babe Zaharias is mighty tickled at being nominated for the Florida Sports Hall of Fame.

"That is real good news," she said when told of the nomination on her return home from Galveston, Tex., yesterday. "I've been wanting to get into it ever since I first heard of it."

Weak from her second round of treatment for cancer and pale from three months in a Galveston hospital, the great golfer came down the plane steps under her own power, but rode in a wheel chair to the automobile which took her to her home.

Tibetans think that had results from the mischief of devils and when it falls on the holy buildings of Lhasa, magicians who have been hired to prevent it are punished.

Stepping up the tempo of things as the Beaufort game gets nearer, Coach Guy Lewis is putting the accent on offensive power in the week's final drills. Beaufort, a class A school, is reportedly strong this season and is expected to keep the Phantoms busy Friday night in Wilmington.

Line coaches Marshall Tatum, a former N.C. State guard, and Vaughn Fowler of East Carolina College, stressed the importance of blocking yesterday. They sent the guards, tackles, and ends through a long session on the sled, instructing several players individually. Tackles Pete West, Howard King, Angus Duff, Fred Nobles and Roy Martin showed particular spark in their blocking.

DeMarco Burns With Ambition To Regain Title

BOSTON (AP) — Rugged Tony DeMarco, punching harder than ever, has one burning ambition today—to regain his world welterweight boxing championship from Carmen Basilio.

Basilio was the main topic of conversation in Tony's dressing room last night after his quick, devastating technical knockout triumph over Chico Vejar in 2:40 of the first round at Boston Garden.

The 23-year-old north end battler, making his first appearance since he lost the welter title June 10, decked Vejar with a right to the body and left hook to the head in the first minute after a savage flurry.

Two ripping rights to the body and head moments later sent Vejar down again and as soon as the Stamford, Conn., boy got up Referee Tommy Rawson called a halt.

Afterwards, the linemen practiced running through plays without contact work. Ends Ike Riddick and Harold Edwards, tackles West and King, guards Hollingsworth and Barnhill, and center Wade Jordan will probably get the starting nod Friday night. These boys held first-string positions in the drill followed closely by several reserves who have shown up well. Billy Johnson and Jack Calhoun have improved at end slots and will see action in the future, as will guards Barney Barrett and Godfrey Oakley, center Edwin Wilkerson, and tackle Angus Duff.

The Phantom backfield, comprised of halfbacks Charlie Smith and Bob Shackelford, fullback Billy Sermons and quarterback Jerry Drum, were given pointers by Coach Lewis. Other backfield candidates, Tommy Norris, Mack Roebuck, Charles Station and Bobby Edwards took note of Coach Lewis' instruction in the event that their chance comes Friday night.

New Offense

Scrimmage occupied the remaining half hour of practice. The first team ran line plays, then displayed a few new ones. The Greene running game seemed effective against a Beaufort-type defense with Sermons and Shackelford breaking away several times for big gains.

Blocking, a major item in this week's drill, was much improved over last Friday night, when the locals defeated Jacksonville. The middle of the line seemed particularly staunch. Passer protection appeared to be the weakest point.

Jerry Drum, senior quarterback, fired several passes to ends Riddick and Edwards for substantial yardage. This facet of Phantom offense has been stressed during the greater part of this week and may play an important part in the outcome of the Beaufort contest.

Indians Slip Up Against Washington Jinx

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Ray Narleski, Cleveland's fireballing fireman, finally made a slip—and with it, the Indians may have lost their footing in the race for the American League pennant. Washington revived the Indian sign it's had on the Injuns for one parting shot last night, handing the 26-year-old right-hander his first defeat of the season while dumping the Tribe 3-2.

That sliced Cleveland's lead to one game over New York, a 6-4 winner against Detroit. More important, it left the two clubs even in the lost column with eight games remaining for Cleveland and 10 for New York.

The White Sox, four games behind, muffed a chance to move closer by splitting a double-header at Baltimore. The last-place Orioles won the opener 8-2 before being stopped by Billy Pierce 6-0.

Boston, filling seven of New York's remaining dates, all but faded away in a 7-3 defeat by Kansas City that left the Red Sox seven games back.

Washington, only club to beat Cleveland over the season (13-9), was stopped cold by Narleski in the seventh after chasing starter Herb Score with three straight singles that tied it 2-0. But in the eighth, the Nats finally got to the guy who had run up nine victories, all but one in relief, and had saved 20 others for the Tribe.

Jose Valdivielso, a .225 hitter, did it with a double after Pete Runnels had opened with a single and moved up on a sacrifice.

In the second inning, Roy Sievers had become Score's 228th strikeout victim, a major league record for a rookie. Score working with two days' rest, wound up with nine for a total of 235. Grover Cleveland Alexander held the old mark, whiffing 227 with the Philadelphia Phils in 1911. Alexander set it in 367 innings. Score, a 22-year-old southpaw, broke it in 214.

Detroit scored twice in the first, but New York came back with three off Ned Garver in its half to take charge. Hank Bauer delivered the winning blow for the Yankees with a two-run homer in the eighth off Bebe Birrer, third pitcher for the Tigers.

Baltimore racked Chicago's Dick Donovan for 10 of 14 hits while smacking two for the Giants, tying Jim Wilson shut out the Sox until Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski for the ninth when Bob Kennedy homered with one on. In the nightcap, a scratch run broke up a duel between Pierce and Bill Wright in the fifth. Three more runs in the eighth wrapped up Pierce's 13th victory and fifth shutout.

Boston was walloped by Gus Zernial, who powered two homers—one a tie-breaking grand-slammer off loser George Susce in the eighth—for six runs batted in.

Brooklyn's National League champs lost their fourth straight, waten 3-0 by St. Louis behind Tom Poholsky's three-hitter. At Milwaukee, the Braves clubbed the New York Giants 9-2 with a pair of two-run homers by Del Crandall and George Crowe. Willie Mays smacked two for the Giants, tying Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski for the lead with 45.

Coach Declares Eppes is 'Loaded' For Beaufort Tilt

Head Coach Percy Daniels introduces his 1955 Eppes High Bulldogs tomorrow night against Beaufort in Guy Smith Stadium at 8:00.

In the opinion of Coach Daniels, the Bulldogs are loaded. "Yes sir, we've come along nicely and have the largest squad ever. We expect to go places," the mentor said.

The Bulldogs backfield is small but exceedingly fast and the line is a little heavier than the one of last year, to give you the lowdown in a capsule.

Tough Card
But the catch this season is the schedule. Eppes has booked the strongest teams in the state for the first time in the school's history. Only Beaufort can be called a mediocre team.

From there, such teams as Rocky Mount, Fayetteville, Raleigh, Durham, Washington, Goldsboro, Wilson and Elizabeth City are on tap.

This season Coach Daniels has added another tutor to assist in the line. He is Frazier Sanders, a graduate of Winston-Salem College. He is a veteran of two years of professional football in Canada and has had three years of service ball. Sanders will team up with the other line coach, Leroy Foster.

Getting to the Bulldogs personnel, the backfield is composed of three seniors and a freshman. At quarterback is Chiny Cox, at the halves Fred Outerbridge and Willis Moore, and at fullback Bennie Wilson.

Good Backs
"Cox has very good deception," Daniels pointed out. "He is generally regarded as the best in the East. He can run, pass and kick well. Outerbridge and Moore were All-State candidates last fall and appear destined to make the grade this season. They are expected to carry the offensive burden for us," Daniels commented.

The freshman member of the backfield is Wilson. He moved out a senior who was in line for the job. "He can really go and has proved without a doubt that he's the man for the job," Daniels chided.

Two other boys will likely see action in the backfield. They are Joe Baker, a good punt return man, and speedy Bobby Jernigan.

Massive Tackles
The line is real heavy, anchored by tackles James Brewington and Andrew Gorham who weigh 250 and 245 respectively. Both are savage tacklers and good offensive blockers.

The captain of the Bulldogs is J. T. Tyson, a 180-pound center. He is the inspirational leader and calls plays on defense.

The rest of the line has James Teel and George Hunt at the guards and Rudy Streeter and John Jenkins at the ends. Two other boys who will certainly see duty are Elbert Kilpatrick and Gillard Station.

North Dakota has 5,256 miles of railroad.

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel thinks his New York Yankees can win the American League pennant if Cleveland loses two of its remaining eight games.

The grizzled pilot was in a speculative mood after yesterday's 6-4 triumph over Detroit that moved the Yankees within a game of the front-running Indians, who lost to Washington 3-2.

"Well," he said happily, "it looks like our pitching finally has straightened out. That L. A. s. n pitched a good game today. That gives our pitchers four complete games in a row. That's the first time it's happened this year."

"Now if Cleveland should lose two games and we win all ours, we ought to win the thing."

Stengel's reasoning was sound but his arithmetic was a bit off.

Two Cleveland losses would give the Indians a final record of 96 victories and 58 defeats. The Yankees with an 86-56 mark, thus could afford to lose one of their remaining 10 games and still finish one game ahead of Cleveland. Two defeats would mean a deadlock for the flag, necessitating a one-game playoff.

Today was a day of rest for New York and Cleveland. Tomorrow the struggle resumes.

Versatile Halfback

Ayden Girding For Vanceboro Clash

AYDEN — Coach Stuart Tripp's Ayden Bulldogs take to the field Friday night to meet their first conference opponents of the season in Ayden, Vanceboro, which dropped the Bulldogs last year, will be trying to make it two in a row. The game will begin at 8 o'clock.

Ayden opened its season last week with a display of ground power and defensive strength by downing Benvenue 13-0. Coach Tripp's squad runs from the regular T and has been paced thus far by a veteran backfield and a fast young line.

Little Lindy Dunn will handle quarterback chores and will direct the play against Vanceboro. Tommy Edwards, fullback, and halfbacks Jim Willard and R. L. Collins will do most of the power work. Collins, a standout in the Benvenue contest, will again be an important threat.

Line Ready
Coach Tripp concentrated on a running attack throughout this week's drills and stated that his backs were improving. So far this season, the Bulldogs have managed to avoid any serious injuries. "We had several bruises this week in practice," the coach said, "but everyone will be ready for Friday's game."

A large crowd is expected to attend the contest in Ayden. It may well be a preview of conference play for the 1955 year.

Godfrey Is Back But His Vacation Didn't Help Him

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—A recent issue of a television fan magazine says that this man once was idolized by the American press. Now he is not. The man is Arthur Godfrey.

him, if possible, as if he were just beginning in television.

The program began and the man came on. He had, he said, gained 10 pounds. It was, he said, the result of drinking too much tea in cans. (One of his sponsors is a tea company.) He named various makes of beer (which do not sponsor him) as being labeled on the cans from which he drank this "tea with foam on it." He drank this tea, he said, while hunting antelope in the West during vacation.

One began to fidget uneasily. The man displayed no wit as he kept talking. Here was a man back from a long vacation who had the opportunity to start anew with verve. But he had no verve. He seemed bored with his show but not with Arthur Godfrey. Eventually he began to seem contemptuous. The contempt boiled over when he read a commercial for a make of television tube with adolescent cuteness, throwing away the script with a sneer.

"Well, I won't have to read that again till next June," he said. Henry Morgan, an entertaining gentleman who's had more downs than ups on television and radio, is an adept and delightful kisser of commercials. But he laughs. He does not sneer. I was about to say the sneer has no place in entertainment. Then I remember that Godfrey is a household word and Morgan is less widely known. I don't get it.

Charges Critic Refuses Help In Easing Problems

CHICAGO (AP)—Asst. Postmaster General Eugene J. Lyons says Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) has refused to help solve the very post office problems the senator criticizes.

Lyons fired back at Johnston last night in a speech at a meeting of the National Assn. of Post Office and Surface Postal Transport Mail Handlers, Watchmen and Messengers.

He said the senator, who accused the department of "waste" in a speech before another group of post office employees in Chicago Tuesday, "personally refused to hold hearings on postage rates in the last session of Congress."

"By doing so, he blocked consideration of our efforts to reduce the postal deficit and further burdened the Federal Treasury during a period when the requirements of national security impose such a heavy burden on taxation of our people," he said.

Johnston, chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, said in his Tuesday address that qualified observers believe 250 million dollars could be saved by "elimination of waste" in post office operations. While he did not say, it was indicated he meant 250 millions a year.

Lyons countered that "the fact that the wages now paid postal workers amounts to 80 per cent of all postal expenditures points up the folly of the senator's claim that savings of 250 million dollars a year could be realized by some sort of magic."

Lyons said Johnston had "offered no constructive suggestions" to improve postal service.

Debunks Cure By 'Uranium Dirt'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle yesterday debunked "uranium dirt" treatments being offered in Texas.

"The healing value of dirt containing minute amounts of uranium isn't worth the time it takes a man to cover his aching feet," Dr. Holle said in a statement.

He said "dozens" of the so-called treatment centers started up after the idea spread that the allegedly radioactive in the dirt was a cure-all for assorted aches and pains.

Some uranium "healers" have erected tents in which patrons can sit while absorbing alleged radioactive emanations, Dr. Holle said. Patrons were said to pay $2 to $3 an hour.

Turned On Radio And Exploded

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Detective John Burk switched on the radio in his cruiser yesterday and — his gas tank blew up.

Burk was burned slightly on the face, but the blast broke a rear window of the cruiser, buckled the trunk, blew a hole in the gas tank and knocked Burk's hat out the window.

"I thought I'd been dynamited," said Burk.

A spark from his radio transmitter apparently ignited gas fumes, police said.

N. C. Boys Home Nearing Completion

By W. HORACE CARTER
TABOR CITY — North Carolina's first Boys Home is nearing reality.

Leaders of the Home, to be located three miles from Chadbourne in Columbus County, have hopes that construction will begin by November 1 on the $40,000 cottage to house the needy and underprivileged youngsters.

Boys Home is still new to North Carolinians. It first received publicity several months ago when the Whiteville Civitan Club headed A.D. Peacock's plea for an institution of this kind and quickly endorsed it as a civic project.

"It was too big for one club and the kind of thing in which every resident of Columbus County was anxious to participate," said Mr. Peacock.

Actually, Boys Home began to take shape as far back as 1937 when Peacock, who is a funeral director, buried the wife of a minister in Smithfield, N.C.

"As I watched the 12 children standing at the head of their mother's casket, I promised myself that someday I'd devote part of my life to helping youngsters."

Peacock took no action, other than helping needy children at Christmas on his dream until 1950.

When four boys between the ages of 6 and 11 had been orphaned by the death of their parents and left with him he made plans to lease a farm on which to start a home. After a few days some relatives who had shown no previous interest in the boys found there was some insurance involved and intervened.

The idea went on the shelf again until October of last year. Peacock arrived late for the regular meeting of the Civitan Club. He had just buried the mother of seven children. The oldest child was 15. There was no food in the home and the youngsters were ragged and barefooted. "This empty stocking fund will make a lot of kids happy Christmas," remarked one of the Civitan members in regards to the projects at hand.

Peacock, with tears in his eyes, told the group, "I know where you can make seven youngsters happy tonight."

His story touched the hearts of many that night. . . . Over $100 in cash and $146 in clothing was donated by Civitans and merchants.

"That was the making of Boys Home," reflected Peacock. The following month, he outlined the project to the Civitans. They quickly appointed committees and within two weeks the corporation was formed and Boys Home existed in name.

Peacock visited Ardell Nation, founder and director of Boys Estate in Georgia, to seek advice on founding Boys Home.

"Ardell Nation deserves much of the credit for North Carolina's only institution of this type," said Peacock who is serving as executive director.

During the past eight months, Peacock and other Boys Home leaders have traveled over 5,000 miles to tell the story to civic clubs and solicit their moral support. Moneywise, the project has been successful with little effort. The people of Columbus County were informed of the need for the initial $4,000 and the response was overwhelming.

People from North Carolina and other states have contributed without solicitation.

Home demonstration clubs in the county have been canning and freezing foods to take care of the boys next winter.

Yet starting Boys Home is an expensive proposition. Peacock estimates that the first year of operation including building, will run in the neighborhood of $65,000.

Plans are being made to care for 20 boys after the Home gets into full scale operation.

Boys from all sections of North Carolina will find a new way of life at Boys Home. The only requirement is that he be needy or underprivileged.

Pancake suppers featuring the famed Aunt Jemima will be held in Columbus County during this month and will spread to other sections of the State once permission is secured from the State Welfare Department to make statewide solicitations. Every penny from the pancake suppers will be turned over to Boys Home.

Probably the most interested persons in the success of Boys Home are the youngsters who will be given a chance to become outstanding citizens. The slogan, "A boy saved is a man made" is touching the hearts of many who were denied the opportunity.

Outstanding citizens and various clubs have endorsed Boys Home, including Governor Luther H. Hodges, who says, "It is with deep sincerity that I would like to commend the members of Boys Home, Inc. of Whiteville, for their wonderful work in providing a home for neglected and underprivileged boys. It is a great service to the State and its youths."

Polio Strikes His Eight Brothers And Sisters

DURAND, Ill. (AP)—A 7-year-old boy told today what it's like — to him, at least — to have eight brothers and sisters stricken with polio.

Little Bernard Walsh said he and five other children in the family who have escaped the disease "have to keep quiet around home now."

"We have to stay out of trouble too. Our house was noisy before all this happened. But now it's awful quiet."

Four of farmer Keron Walsh's children are hospitalized in nearby Rockford, Ill., and four are being cared for at home. One of those hospitalized, David, 17, is in an iron lung and his condition is regarded as critical. Hospital authorities say the condition of Eddie, 16, is "not good."

The father, 53, and the mother, 45, are staying in Rockford to be with the most seriously ill. The children at home, including the six not stricken, are being cared for by the father's sister Miss Daily Walsh.

Bernard said he and his 6-year-old brother Tom "have to help with the work. We help take care of Molly Lou (1 year old). She can't dress herself yet. We help carry meals on trays to our sisters who are sick in bed."

"We don't know how to milk cows. But we feed the pigs and cows. We do whatever we can. But it sure is quiet around here now."

Neighbors, relatives and friends have prepared food for the family, have taken them gifts and words of encouragement and are helping with chores on the 160-acre farm.

Two Durand churches have been conducting special prayer services for the family.

Fears that tiny Molly Lou might have contracted polio were dispelled yesterday. Dr. Charles Leonard said observation showed she did not have the disease.

MARRIAGE for THREE
By ELIZABETH SEIFER

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR
Adam got back into the truck, and whirled it away from the sidewalk where, for all he cared, the girl in white shorts and blue halter still stood trembling with anger.

At the corner, he had to fight the wind; he should get under shell for this one. He'd not attempt to drive home. Anyway, he was in entirely too edgy a state to talk decently to Wendel about anything—not that Pinky had any real grounds for assuming that his brother-in-law—No, he'd get leveled out a bit before tackling Ann's family.

He parked, and strode across the sidewalk to a can'tina, went in and found a small booth empty. The place smelled like the devil, racketed with talk, juke box music, the ping of a busy pin-ball machine. But maybe here Adam could think.

Pinky had made one sensible suggestion, that he talk to Isler. Without her knowing it, Isler had already asked him to consider the California job and Adam had promised to think over the proposition.

If Adam could locate him—after the storm abated, of course—he would have a natural opening for mention of his personal problems, and—with due allowance for the fact that Isler wanted him to take the job at Cal Tech—Adam could count on the scientist, a man in his fifties and a very nice guy, to survey his situation dispassionately, and offer the only sort of comment or advice that Adam would listen to.

It was a real disappointment not to be able to locate Dr. Isler that evening. Adam made the rounds of his jobs, checked on possible damage and finally, like a school-boy dragging his feet on the way to the woodshed, he turned the pick-up toward the canyon.

At the first sign of the approaching storm, Ann had taken her family home. She'd left windows open, and, anyway, home was the best place to be in a storm.

Wendel, of course, reminded her that "the weather was always nice in New Mexico"; she was too busy to mind, closing every opening, the ventilator fan in the kitchen, laying folded towels against the window and door sills—and, even then, the sand came in, to lie and on the kitchen counter. Ann had set out dishes for his dinner. He came through into the light, still looking about. No guests were anywhere in evidence.

Ann smiled at him. "Would you like to shower before you eat?"

He scraped his thumbnail down over the grit on his cheek, nodded and ducked back through the big living room; she had clean clothes laid out for him. He sighed.

It was only when he was trying to decide if he should eat more chicken or "save myself for that pie," that Ann mentioned Wendel and his family. She told of their day.

The sandstorm, she said, had scared them off. They wouldn't even wait until Adam came home. "It was quite a storm," said Adam.

"Yes, but—Ann laughed a little. "He's the kind of tourist who starts out determined not to see anything better than can be seen home."

"Wonder why he bothers?"

Ann chattered a little about the children; she'd bought them some Indian shoes—they'd wanted a Santo "but I told them that those were not dolls."

"And cost a mint," laughed Adam.

Ann filled his coffee cup anew, and slid into a seat across from him. "Adam," she said, in a tone so casual as to sound almost indifferent, "could you get away next weekend? I'd like to go down to Albuquerque."

"I guess I could manage that. What for?"

"They have a marriage counselor down at the University. I'd like both of us—to talk to him."

Adam's very blue eyes studied her: round, pretty face. She met his gaze bravely, and honestly. "There's no use fooling ourselves, Adam," she said quietly. "We need some help. I knew that when I saw Pinky sitting in your truck this noon."

Red flared into his cheeks. "Listen to me Ann!"

"It doesn't matter, Adam how or why she was there. I know you've tried hard to clear up that —trouble And I've tried. But it hasn't been good enough, Adam! I think we need outside help. We might as well the whole thing out to each other you know? Completely honest completely frank. But I'm afraid."

"That we'd get emotional?"

"Yes, or hurt each other. Be hurt."

"Or get mad—" His smile was sweet. He was greatly pleased with Ann. After what he'd expected to find in his home tonight—his initial relief at discovering her alone had made him vulnerable to this, or any, suggestion. But what really pleased him was that he enjoyed being vulnerable!

"Even if we didn't get mad," she was saying earnestly, "we don't seem to know enough—I don't anyway—to be sure we're able to analyze the situation correctly or make plans we'd feel sure were right."

"Maybe this counselor you talk about wouldn't do any better."

"But he's trained to the job, and he must have experience enough to judge a situation and advise the couples who come to him."

"He'd be a stranger I mean, he doesn't know anything about us."

"Adam—he can't be prejudiced."

"How do they operate, Ann Or do you know?"

"Only in a general way. They write things for magazines, you know. I've read an article by this very man. I guess we'd start by laying all the facts before him—maybe there'd be several conferences. He'd want to make some sort of investigation, I guess. Maybe talk to each of us separately. I don't know Adam, but it would be worth trying if he could advise us so that we'd ultimately be able to live happily together!" She leaned toward him, her face intent.

As Adam watched her, an odd expression grew in his eyes. "Is that what you want, Ann?"

"Of course it's what I want! I married you five years ago, Adam because I loved you. I want our marriage to work, if it possible can!"

The expression in his eyes got some odder before it changed again and warmed into a smile. The thought that Ann would go to such lengths to save her marriage after she'd had such rough treatment! But if she wanted a complete reconciliation, she should have it! His voice rang clear with pleased excitement. "Let's do it, Ann. Let's go see the guy."

Await Details On Vaccine Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today it hopes to get this week detailed state plans for use of federal funds for antipolio vaccine.

The plans are required before the states can share in the 30-million-dollar appropriation voted by Congress for provision of Salk vaccine free to those unable to pay for it. The law says the funds are to be used by Feb. 15, 1956.

As of yesterday only four state and territorial plans had been approved, a spokesman said. They were submitted by Colorado, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and the Canal Zone.

Indian's Essay Copped Contest

QUEMADO, N.M. (AP)—State Sen. I.N. Curtis, came up with an essay which he said won a contest on soil conservation for an Indian.

"White man crazy. Out down trees. Make big tepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil. Grass gone. Door gone. Windows gone. Whole place gone. Buck gone. Papoose gone. Squaw too. No pigs. No corn. No plow. No hay. No Pony."

Full-Length Movies On Disneyland Show

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14 (U)—After finishing a lunch of stuffed pepper, spinach and stewed prunes, Walt Disney left the commissary, walked down Studio Street and climbed into his convertible.

How can he afford to give away such a multimillion-dollar property to home audiences?
 "That's a good question," he said. "You see, I wear many hats. When I have my TV producer's hat on, I fight like the dickens to get the films that the movie producer has made."
 "My brother Roy and the other businessmen in the company figure out what we can afford to give up. I convinced them to give me 'Dumbo.' It is one of our shorter features — it runs 63 minutes — so it is not as easy to re-release as the others. And we can hold it a few years and bring it out for an entirely new generation."
 This season he will also show two other features — "Robin Hood" and "The Sword and the Rose." Both are Richard Todd, "who should be much better known because of 'A Man Called Peter.'" By using such completed films, he can afford to go over his budget on the other shows. For example, a Tomorrowland hour costs him $250,000 or more. Two runnings on TV will bring him only half of that. "We went a million dollars over budget last year," he disclosed.

Over 130 In Pitt Given Blind Aid

"Davy Crockett put us out. We made the films for $700,000, while we could only get $300,000 back from TV. But the theatrical showings will possibly gross a million and a half here, and there is considerable interest in Davy abroad."
 "We also ended up with a star-Fess Parker."
 This season he hopes Davy will again come to the rescue. He has sunk $800,000 into two chapters — "The Great Keelboat Race" and "The River Pirates." Only $250,000 can be realized from TV. Disney hopes the theater release here and abroad will make up the deficit.
 On Oct. 3, Disney embarks on another TV adventure — The Mickey Mouse Club. It will be on ABC from 8 to 9 every week day. He accomplished the miracle of selling 15 million dollars worth of sponsorship without even making a pilot film.
 Tomorrow, Disney visits Disneyland, tells of his first two months' operation, plans for future.

One hundred thirty-seven persons in Pitt County received aid to the blind payments during August, according to a report received here today.
 The report said blind persons were visited in their homes and were assisted in personal and family adjustment, in addition to being taught Braille. They were given Braille reading material, and were aided in obtaining talking book machines and recordings. They were taught occupational therapy crafts and were assisted in obtaining material for their work and in marketing their articles. Some were given white walking canes and instructed in their use.
 Clothing was given to needy blind persons and their families, and a number were assisted in planning for physical examinations.
 Two persons were referred for rehabilitation; eight children were assisted in making plans to enter the State School for the Blind in Raleigh; and thirty-five needy persons were given eye examinations, with glasses recommended for 24, surgery for four and treatment for six. There was no recommendation for improvement of vision for one, and six persons were removed from the classification of blindness. One eye operation was performed.
 The Greenville Lions Club assisted three needy persons in paying for glasses. The Pitt County Association for the Blind helped three persons pay for glasses, and helped one person pay for an artificial eye.
 Both these groups purchased for the Pitt Health Department an eye testing machine to be used in the county for testing school children's eyes.

Harvesting Crop That Won't Sell

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (U)—A great many farmers around here face some pitchfork drill this fall and winter. They'll harvest a crop they can't sell, can't eat, can't feed their cattle, can't afford not to harvest.
 The plant is the tumbleweed—a joy to romping children, a ghost to a scary horse and a burden to dryland farmers.
 Many billions of the weed are ripening in unused fields. High winds last weekend loosened a few million.
 They whipped across level ground until they hit a fence or other barrier and then they piled up. They buried the fence.
 Sheltered lawns also were buried several feet deep.
 Tumbleweeds range from knee to waist high. Their limbs grow into a light, ball-like mass of tough branches. They break from the ground easily and children like to race them as the wind rolls them along. A nervous horse shies away from them almost as fast as from a rattlesnake's buzz.
 Where the weeds pile up, they can burn as if they were gasoline-saturated. If they're left along a fence row, winter winds bury them in silt and can completely cover the fence in dirt. Nothing less than a bulldozer moves them successfully.
 Soil conservationists blame two things for the severe infestation: dry weather in the early summer which caused fields to be abandoned for the season, and later rain which nurtured the tumbleweeds.
 Elmer Kelton, San Angelo Standard-Times agricultural editor, has his own explanation:
 "The tumbleweed is nature's way of trying to provide cover for bare ground.
 "Nature can't abide a bare spot, and where man fails to cultivate or remove the grass, the old dame steps in and puts tumbleweeds or other weeds as her own conservation measure."

Thief Entered A Risky Home
 OMAHA (AP)—It's questionable whether the burglar who entered a home through the back window and stole $90 while a party went on in another part of the house would have done so if he had known who lived there.
 It was the home of the pro wrestler Ernie Dusek.

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights
 Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exercising, emotional upset or day-to-day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation — with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.
 If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Don's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.
 So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Don's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Don's Pills today!

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Homes are getting to be so colorful, what with pink roofs, yellow doors and blue grass, as they call it, that it is no wonder people are tinkering with the natural color of concrete. It seems that life on the patio might not be worth living if the pavement isn't what the ladies call aquamarine, bottled sunshine, or bou-doir rose.

So everything is being tried to give concrete colors which the rainbow never had, and also to make it colorfast. The result is that in addition to the old standards in mineral pigments, new coloring aggregates are appearing on the market presenting a range from tile-red to Spanish-green.

One of these is a ready-to-use dry mixture combining color and hardener. This is sprinkled on newly poured wet concrete and troweled into the surface producing what the manufacturer says is "an attractive durable colored finish."

You may ask, why not paint the concrete? There are lots of floor paints for this purpose. Their proper application depends on you to follow instructions religiously. Such directions may include: (1) Soak out all lime, alkali and what not with a zinc sulphate solution; (2) Etch the surface with muriatic acid while wearing rubber boots and rubber gloves; (3) Do not try to paint concrete in direct contact with the ground and its moisture. The average man painting all that, takes a short cut, just paints, sees it blister off and puts up with a mottled patio.

So dyes were invented for concrete. But these called for similar preparation of the surface and when the dyes faded unevenly all the do-it-yourselfer could do was to scratch his head.

It seems that the trick of coloring concrete, getting it uniform and making it stay, is not so easy. If it were, you'd be able to buy ready-mixed dry cement to match your wife's most becoming gown—even though we never had that shade in our paint boxes when we were in kindergarten.

Of course, we are aware that concrete has a nice natural color of its own, but since so many people would like to change it, we had to do some investigating. We but-tholed Arthur C. Avril, who heads Sekrete, Inc., and asked him why he doesn't invent a ready-mix with all the colors of paint.

"Well, the biggest drawback," Avril told us, "is cost. The surest way to get a uniform shade is to color the entire mass of concrete. Suitable pigments range from about 40 cents to $2 a pound. If you are pouring a slab four inches thick, one pound of pigment for every square foot will give you a rather delicate shade. A more intense color may take 2 to 2½ pound of pigment per square foot.

"Normal gray concrete of this thickness may cost 35 to 50 cents per square foot, depending on local conditions. Colored concrete could run up as high as $5 per square foot."

Matching color is another problem. Unless you use white cement and white sand, which can raise the cost of your concrete from 1½ to 2 times, you'll find it virtually impossible to get a true color match between batches, even though you mix and place the batches at the same time.

"Ordinary Portland cement," Avril pointed out, "varies in color from a very light gray to an almost blue-gray. Sand and gravel vary from almost white to almost black. Cement from the same mill will not be of the same mass color from month to month."

Color pigments that will blend with concrete are limited largely to metallic oxides. Many color pigments are organic and organic matter interferes with the setting of concrete—in some cases even preventing setting.

Avril is not enthusiastic about troweling a thin layer of color over the surface on nature's concrete. "One difficulty," he says, "is the tendency of the average amateur to over-trowel a surface. This brings the gray color of the cement to the surface in gray spots. A professional finisher can do colored concrete work in this manner very successfully, but he must be of the highest type of craftsman."

Says Work Never Killed Anybody

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Andrew Ernest, 66, who still operates a farm and said he had been "throwing hay around this very morning," told a University of Michigan Conference on Aging: "Worrying kills more people than calouses, and headaches wear out more people than hard work." And a 73-year-old neighbor from nearby Saline, Edward Foster, told the conference: "I was smoking about 50 cigars a week, and then I just decided I'd quit — doesn't seem to help any, though. I don't feel any better or any worse."

SAFETY PAYS

A POT HOOK should be used when working from a ladder. The Institute for Safer Living attributes many painful accidents to falling paint buckets.

Old Warship Is Going For Scrap

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The proudest warship in the Chinese Imperial Navy of Dowager Empress Tzu Hsi is headed for the ignomy of the scrap heap.

The Kiang Yuan, a 500-ton warship built in 1880 in Japan, has been towed into the north Formosa port of Keelung to be broken up for junk.

The Kiang Yuan sank in 1949 after striking a reef in the Pratas Islands of the South China Sea.

STOLEN STEEL

HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—New Haven police call it the case of the stolen steel. Somebody backed a truck up to the plant of the Connecticut Alloy Steel Co. and made off with two and a half tons of stainless steel rods worth $1,500.

Beaufort Still Has Problems

BEAUFORT, N.C. (AP)—Torrential rains that accompanied Hurricanes Connie and Diane and have continued intermittently since then have created serious problems in this area.

Beaufort Town Clerk Dan Walker reports all storm and sanitary sewers are wholly or partially clogged with debris. Scores of septic tanks have been flooded out of working order for weeks.

Several streets and many driveways still are impassable, and many yards are covered with water. All this, of course, makes the area a breeding ground for mosquitos. DDT fogging equipment is available but it can't be used during the rains.

Mildew, another result of the wet season, also is plaguing housewives.

Correction

An article in yesterday's Reflector incorrectly stated that the price which was agreed upon two years ago for Grimesland's release from its contract with Greenville Utilities was $40,000. The price should have read $4,500.

In the same story a statement attributed to the mayor of Grimesland that the town would sell its electrical facilities to Greenville at the same price which had been agreed upon with another purchaser, actually was made by a member of the Grimesland Board of Commissioners, according to attorney Albion Dunn, who is representing Grimesland.

The Reflector regrets these errors.

Jailed When She Wouldn't Sign

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sixty-year-old Mrs. Gussie Adelman, who went to jail in handcuffs rather than sign a misdemeanor jaywalking ticket, was free on bail today.

"I didn't do anything so why should I sign anything," said Mrs. Adelman when booked Tuesday night at city jail on a charge of resisting arrest. She posted $25 bond and pleaded innocent to jaywalking and resisting arrest. Judge Sturt Clifton set Oct. 7 for her jury trial.

Administration Has Taken Harsher Tone On USSR

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration—far reasons not explained—has taken a harsher tone toward the Russians than it used in the early weeks after the President met with them in Geneva in July.

The latest example is the State Department's opinion on German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's deal with the Russians this week. The department considers it a victory over the "bankrupt" Russian policy toward West Germany since the war.

This can hardly make the East German Communists feel good, seeing Adenauer's prestige boosted by Moscow. It may make them feel shaky. No wonder Russia, immediately after Adenauer left, called them to Russia for a heart-to-heart talk.

But the State Department may be crowing too soon. Neither the department nor anyone else at this time can be certain about the full implications of the deal, since no one knows the Russians' long-range purpose.

In the first place, it was not a one-way street. Adenauer and the Russians both made concessions. He wanted the prisoners released. The Russians, for whatever their purpose, wanted to resume diplomatic relations.

Both sides got what they wanted. This gives the Russians a better chance to woo the West Germans away from their allies. If Adenauer ignores the wooing, then his successor when the old Chancellor dies or retires, may be more receptive to Russia.

On Aug. 24, a month after returning from Geneva, Eisenhower made a stiffer speech than he delivered July 25. Without mentioning Russia by name, he said Russia had to make a lot of concessions if it really wanted peace.

The Eisenhower administration may feel this sterner tone is necessary because it thinks the American people are getting too optimistic about the chance of peace.

Strong Demand, Many Attend Banquet Opening Annual Event

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sales moved along today on Carolina blue-cured tobacco markets against a background of stronger demand and steady prices.

The Federal-State Market News Service said the Eastern North Carolina Belt showed a stronger demand, while prices were mostly steady on the Middle Belt and South Carolina and Border North Carolina belts.

About half of the grade averages on the Eastern Belt were above Tuesday's figures, with most increases amounting to $1 or $2 per hundred pounds. Volume was heavy.

Gross sales Tuesday amounted to 14,395,706 pounds, averaging $49.52, a decline of $1.37 from Monday's season high. The Stabilization Corp. took 22.4 per cent of the gross sales under the government loan program.
