Blount To Be Honored At N. C. Merchants Association Meet

State Merchants Association Director Judson H. Blount will be honored at a meeting of that group in Raleigh September 28.

Win Damages In Election Suit

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Damages amounting to $80 dollars, $219,120 less than the total sought, have been awarded 22 Negroes in a voting rights suit against two members of the Randolph County Board of Registrars.

A Federal Court jury yesterday fixed damages at $40 each for the 22, who had sued the board and charged that the registrars had conspired to deprive them of their right to vote in the Southwest Georgia county.

The verdict directed that the damages be paid equally by Board Chairman R. S. Banks and C. C. Martin, a board member. U. S. District Judge W. A. Boodle said he would rule later on the Negroes' request for an injunction to force the board to restore their names to the voting list.

Marines Set For Reserve Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps says it's ready to accept between 461 and 661 teen-age volunteers in each of the next nine months for its six-month training course under the new reserve program.

Volunteers between the ages of 17 and 18½ must sign up before receiving a draft induction notice, and must remain in the active reserves for 7½ years after completing their training.

Funeral On Thursday For Dewey Rouse

Dewey Rouse, 56, died Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock near Hookerton at the home of his brother, Jesse Rouse, following three months of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Wilkerson Chapel by the Rev. C. J. Harris, Free Will Baptist minister of Greenville. Burial will be in the Rouse family cemetery near Hookerton.

Mr. Rouse was born in Greene County and was the son of the late Charlie E. and Molly Dixon Rouse. He was a farmer and had lived in Greene County until going to Newport three years ago to become a prison camp employee.

Surviving are two brothers, Snodie B. Rouse of near Snow Hill and Jesse W. Rouse of near Hookerton; and two sisters, Mrs. Monroe Fulcher of Morehead City and Mrs. Simon Rouse of Grifton.

Hugh D. Cox Funeral To Be Held In Kinston

Funeral rites for Lieutenant Hugh Donald "Don" Cox of Kinston, who was killed last Wednesday night in an airplane crash near Tyndall Air Force Base at Panama City, Florida, will be held at three o'clock Thursday afternoon from his home, 510 Westover Avenue in Kinston, and interment will follow in the West View Cemetery in Kinston.

Lieutenant Cox was graduated from East Carolina College in June of 1954. He received his wings and commission at Tyndall Field in July after completing a course in radar. He was scheduled to complete his

Lutheran Students At ECC Organize College Association

Lutheran students attending East Carolina College this fall have formed a student association, the first organization for this denomination at the college, and are now planning their activities for the school year.

Twenty-five students are associated with the group. Jane Lingle of China Grove, junior at the college, is president of the new Lutheran Student Association. Chosen to serve with her as officers of the group are Ann Tucker of Monroe, vice president; Mary Elizabeth Tienken of Wilmington, secretary; Perry Julian of Salisbury, treasurer; and Norman E. Prigden Jr., of Wilson, publicity chairman.

The Lutheran Student Association will participate during the school year in the work of the Inter-Religious Council of the college, which includes representatives from all student religious organizations on the campus.

Last Rites Thursday For Lonnie Carliles

Lonnie Carliles, 73, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville at 9:25 o'clock Tuesday morning. He had been critically ill for the past six days.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday afternoon at two o'clock and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The Rev. Reuben Jones, Free Will Holiness minister of Fayetteville, will officiate.

Mr. Carliles was a native of Halifax County and had lived in Henderson for about 20 years prior to moving to Vanceboro. He had lived in Greenville for the last seven years and was a retired textile worker.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mamie Carliles; three sons, William B. Carliles of Greenville, George C. Carliles of Durham and Fred R. Carliles of Henderson; six daughters, Mrs. Allen Turnage of Goldsboro, Mrs. Ransom Handford of Henderson, Mrs. Gladys Uttley, Mrs. Mary Heath and Mrs. Mildred Wright, all of Newport News, Va., and Mrs. Charlie Blackburn of Greenville; 31 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Pitt Welfare Workers Will Attend Institute

Pitt Welfare Superintendent K. T. Patrel and several representatives from his department will attend sessions of the 36th annual Public Welfare Institute in Raleigh November 3-4.

The institute, announced by Dr. Ellen Winston, commissioner of the State Board of Public Welfare, will have as its theme, "Services to Children with Special Problems."

The meeting, which is expected to draw some 500 persons from over the state, will feature as speaker Fred DellQuadri, director of the division for Children and Youth of the Wisconsin State Department of Public Welfare. He will discuss services to juvenile delinquents.

Other speakers will include Dr. James T. Proctor of the School of Medicine of the University of North Carolina; William B. Rodman Jr., state Attorney General; Eleanor E. Cockerill, professor in the School of Social Work, University of Pittsburgh; Wilbur J. Cohen, director of Research and Statistics of the Social Security Administration, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and W. C. Reed, general superintendent of the Baptist Orphanage of North Carolina.

F. C. C. Alumni To Make Plans For Homecoming

Homecoming plans will be discussed by members of the Greenville-Pitt County chapter of the East Carolina College Alumni Association Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Alumni-Faculty Building on the campus.

Mrs. Robert W. Fennell, chapter president, will preside. She invites all East Carolina alumni residing in the Greenville-Pitt County area to join in this meeting.

Homecoming Day at East Carolina College will be held on Saturday, October 8, and a full schedule of events in which alumni will participate is being arranged, and Pitt County alumni will have a share in these activities, Mrs. Fennell has announced.

Storms Are Just One Farm Problem

It has been emphatically pointed out by North Carolina farm leaders that crop damage caused by recent hurricanes is not the only major problem facing farmers of this agricultural state.

Speaking at the meeting which marked the beginning of the annual Farm Bureau membership campaign in Pitt County, R. Flake Shaw asserted that foreign trade agreements and federal agricultural policies in the next few years will directly affect every farmer in this section of the state.

American farmers—particularly tobacco farmers—are facing constantly stiffening competition for purchasers' dollars in the world markets. Although separate organizations have been set up to promote overseas sales for flue-cured tobacco and other crops, a strong farm organization is vital if the American farmer is to receive favorable consideration in the mapping of various foreign trade programs by the federal government.

At one time the average farmer looked to his immediate community for the sale of his crop. That day has long since past, particularly in the case of the tobacco farmer. Today approximately 40 per cent of our flue-cured tobacco production must find purchasers in foreign markets if the surplus of leaf is to be maintained at a safe level. The individual farmer, acting as an individual, can do little if anything to promote the sale of American tobacco in the world market. But through organizations such as the Farm Bureau, in influencing the shaping of the federal agricultural policy and foreign trade agreements, the farmer can exert considerable weight on the national level, and in turn in the world market.

Pitt County's Farm Bureau organization has now launched its annual membership drive. To carry out an effective program, the North Carolina Farm Bureau must have the support of farmers in individual chapters throughout the state. Pitt County has as much if not more at stake so far as agriculture is concerned as any other county in North Carolina. It follows, therefore, that Pitt County should lead the state in the membership of its Farm Bureau organization.

With crucial problems facing agriculture, the farmer needs the Farm Bureau more than he has in a number of years. Conversely, the Farm Bureau must have the support of the farmers if it is to effectively carry out a forward looking program for the betterment of agriculture.

Look, We Already Have Educational TV Here

Columnist Ray Tucker recently wrote an admittedly "promotional" piece on educational television, pointing to the very slow progress of growth. This despite the fact a very generous share of available channels has been held back by the Federal Communications Commission for such use.

He remarked then, and subsequent events have emphasized it in our mind, that commercial TV interests have been utilizing educational programs in the public interest.

Greenville's TV station has been one of those who have shown commendable quickness to make such courses available to the public at large.

Of course, it has also taken considerable effort and some special and extensive preparation by faculty members of East Carolina College to make this "part time" educational television possible. We understand two more courses will be offered for credit during the present school term.

This is public service of no mean degree, and a great deal of appreciation is due to WNCX, East Carolina College, and the individuals who choose to believe that effort expended to teach unseen audiences is not a wasted labor.

One Soldier Disproves An Old Army Complaint

How 'bout that soldier who is now worth $25,000 after 14 years of Army service! Sergeant Charles Smothers, age 36, enlisted in the Army in 1941 with but 37 cents in his pocket.

Odds are that he'll have his own account books loaded even further with the weight of good black ink by the time he retires at the ripe old age of 42. The Sergeant will also then be able to count on a sizeable pension to augment any business interests he might undertake.

Or, he might elect to try for that 30-year pension (in which servicemen can retire at full pay). At that, Smothers would be only 52 years old... in his prime, by today's standards.

Why this in an editorial column?

Well, it isn't entirely the writer's idea to encourage young men to take an Army career seriously; but rather to marvel anew at how a determined young man can do a creditable job of saving for the future in no matter what field he attempts.

That old song about "you'll never get rich" surely doesn't apply to the Army any more.

Tireless Crews Deserve A City's Appreciation

Pitt County people, while they were spared the brunt of Jones' fury, would have suffered much more inconvenience than they did were it not for the diligent work of telephone, utilities, street department and highway crews.

While most people seek shelter during a storm such as the one which ripped through Pitt County Monday, these workmen are called upon to brave the wind, rains and other hazards to keep open communications, keep electric service functioning, and to keep streets and highways open to traffic. To be sure there were many residents of the county without electricity and telephone service during and following the storm. There were many streets and highways blocked by high water and fallen trees. Yet these people have worked tirelessly to restore telephone and electric service and transportation to normal as rapidly as possible.

They deserve a sincere "Thank You" from all the people of Pitt County.

Interest In YDC Election Perks Up

By LYNN NISBET

Y.D.C. — Interest is perking up in the forthcoming Young Democratic Clubs state convention in Durham on September 30-October 1. There may be a livelier contest for state president than seemed likely a few weeks ago, and there might be an even hotter fight over endorsement of a candidate for national YDC president.

It appears now that Victor Bryan Jr. of Durham will be unopposed for national committee. No contests are in sight for the positions of national committeewoman, state vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer.

The race for president between Henry Hall Wilson of Monroe and Robert M. Davis of Salisbury probably will go to formal ballot in the convention. Information from sources—which heretofore present accurate and reliable—is that Wilson, a two-term legislator from union county, is a long-odds favorite.

His backlog of strength stems from alleged commitments of YDC leaders last year when he withdrew from the race for president leaving the field clear for John R. Jordan of Raleigh. Jordan's election to succeed Billy Harrison of Rocky Mount upset the traditional east-west rotation plan.

This year no easterner has offered for the post, and Wilson is believed to have support of many eastern clubs—although Wake Forest alumni are mobilizing to put Bob Davis over. Wilson is a Duke man.

The outcome will depend largely on which county and college clubs "affiliate" with the state organization. Votes for YDC offices are more openly bought than anywhere else on the North Carolina political scene. County delegates unblushingly let it be known they will support the candidate whose friends put up the money for the affiliation fee. In close contests a few bucks make a whale of a lot of difference. Also, YDC elections are frequently engineered from behind the curtain by elder statesmen.

NATIONAL — Somewhat similar conditions prevail at YDC national conventions. It is recalled that four years ago Basil Whittington of Winston was runner-up for the National presidency. North Carolina and other southern delegates still believe they lost that election to Richard Blair, administrative assistant to then Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, because big money chartered airplanes and special trains to bring in delegates and pay affiliation fees from the New England and northwestern states.

North Carolina has more than usual interest in the national YDC because the whole business started here. There were clubs of young voters as far back as 1876 sponsored by the Democratic party. The YDC as presently constituted began in North Carolina in 1928 under sponsorship of the late Governor Marshall Gardner and direction of Tyre Taylor. A few Tarheels have held subordinate offices in the national organization, but none has made the top grade. A high-level conference of national YDC leaders was held in Chicago a few days ago at which steps were taken to get together on the big offices. Looks like either Alabama or Missouri will get the presidency, despite aspirations of Bedford Black. BLACK — The Kalamazoo lawyer has been very active in YDC work at local, state and national level. He belongs to the biggest local club in the state, believed to be the biggest in the country. He has attended as many, perhaps more, national YDC meetings as any Tarheel. For some reason he has never clicked with state leadership and he has been sidetracked several times when he sought state office. There is a substantial group now determined to see that he does not get state convention endorsement from the national presidency. The endorsement may go to somebody else, or there may be no action. In any event there is likely to be considerable argument. Difficulty in finding an opposition candidate is enhanced by YDC by-laws limiting office holding to persons under 40.

MONKEY-BUSINESS — Apparently the state has been pretty well flooded the past few days by post cards bearing dates from various and sundry parts of the world, and signed by fictitious names—but all mailed on the same date at the same army-airforce postoffice. The cards are the familiar multi-color prints showing a yellow headed barefooted man. The message on the postcard with the admonition to "let the Kid in the Middle Answer Your Riddle." Below the message on the reverse side is printed the Kidd Brewer trademark "You'll Be a Kid Too Did".

The half dozen or so of these cards, have a direct connection with the Old Dominion Speedway at Manassas, Va.

There, every Saturday night, crowds averaging more than 1,600 come out to see stock cars and midget autos race. The Gores are there in force. Al, 36, whose brashchild the 1/4 mile track is, promotes the races. Irving, 40, general superintendent; Pete, 38, pit steward;

W.L.O. Gore father of the brood, manages the gate into the infield to see that unauthorized persons don't gain entrance to that section of the track. Margaret, Al's wife, runs the refreshment stand, and four other wives help out there with the tickets. The stables Mrs. Gore lends a hand with the hot dogs, gates or wherever she can be helpful.

Wally, the racing member of the tribe, was originally responsible for what has now turned into a family project. At 17, he entered his first race, and his success got the other Gores interested. Al went out to watch his brother in competition and was appalled at the conditions the boys faced.

"Most of the tracks they raced on were dangerous, dirt-surfaced and poorly banked," he recalls. "I thought it was awful that those kids were risking their lives on death traps for little but the thrill of racing and not much in purses. I knew they were going to keep on. I didn't see why the tracks couldn't be safer."

Al's wishful thinking led to action three years ago. Working with very little financial backing, he proceeded to do over the abandoned Longview Speedway, a flat dirt track with a small wooden grandstand, into an asphalt strip with good facilities. A construction foreman, Al did most of the work himself. He graded the track and had Wally test it with his car, following behind to make changes with a bulldozer.

The track was scheduled to open on a July night in 1954. As the time drew near, with work still to be done, Al labored almost 24 hours a day. His weight dropped 20 pounds.

At 3 a.m. the morning of the opening the fence around the track—a necessity for auto racing—wasn't even started. Al and four brothers, however, in posts during the rain all morning. Roadster drivers, the major

REG-MANNING

Somebody Told Me It'll Help JC's And The City

Tomorrow night and Friday a new kind of garbage man will be knocking on your door. He'll offer you, for the small sum of $2.50, sanitation, protection and assurance that your garbage can will double its life.

Members of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce have built approximately 500 garbage can racks, made of two by four lumber and designed to fit a standard can.

The racks will keep the can about a foot off the ground, making it easy to sweep under the can. The ventilation provided will easily double the life of the can, preventing rust. Breeding of insects will be lessened, also by the ventilation. And of course the menace of dogs overturning the can will be eliminated.

This idea was brought to the Jaycees by Highway Patrolman Jim Boykin. The project naturally is an effort to build up the Jaycees treasury, but at the same time it is a service to the community.

Dr. Humbert, head of the health department, endorses the project and specifications for the rack were obtained from him.

After construction the racks were dipped in copper naphenate, the green stuff that acts as a preservative against weather. Ford McGowan and Polly Williams have headed the committee to build the racks, while Wainwright Morehead Scales is in charge of selling. That's Booger. (Have you seen Booger's blotters? He has football schedules of the Big Four.

East Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest and North Carolina. That proves not many of his policy holders are State graduates).

These racks are very durable and should last for years, especially considering the treatment with copper naphenate. Jim Boykin brought one to the Jaycee meeting that had been in use for some months, without any indication of deterioration.

The Jaycees are giving you an opportunity to get a bargain. And they'll even place the can in the rack for you. When a Jaycee knocks on your door tomorrow night or Friday he'll be inviting you to save money and aid in our fight for sanitation.

And I thank you.

Gores Are A Racing Family

By BRIAN RELL AP Newsfeatures

Short on cash but long on family spirit, the Gores are making a success out of a risky business—automobile racing.

Seven brothers, five wives, the father and mother, all named Gore, have a direct connection with the Old Dominion Speedway at Manassas, Va.

There, every Saturday night, crowds averaging more than 1,600 come out to see stock cars and midget autos race. The Gores are there in force.

occupying a bad position and surprised by a superior force, seeks safety in retreat; but a great captain supplies all deficiencies by his courage, and marches boldly to meet the attack.

These are good rules not only for meeting the attack of soldiers but some of them are price-ence because of "poor health."

1. Never attack a position in front which you can gain by turning.

2. Charges of cavalry should be made, if possible, on the flanks of infantry.

3. The first qualification of a soldier is fortitude under fatigue and privation; courage is only the second. Hardship, poverty and actual want are the soldier's best schools.

4. Nothing is so important in war as an undivided command.

5. Never do what the enemy wishes you to do.

6. A general of ordinary talent.

WASHINGTON — Internal Revenue Director T. Coleman Andrews has denounced publicly the leniency of many Federal Judges toward fraudulent income tax evaders. As further evidence of his attitude, here are his written private comments on certain cases which outrage him, as well as the criminal details:

"Ugh," wrote Andrews in a court file involving Robert G. Leuty of Minnesota. He failed to file an income tax return for 1951, with tax and penalties amounting to $23,403.35. He is a dentist Judge Robert C. Bell placed him on probation for three years, and fined him $5,000.

SEVEN-YEAR OFFENDER The Internal Revenue agents investigated Leuty from 1946 to 1952, inclusive—seven years in all. With court costs the expense to the government was more than the $5,000 fine.

"How considerate," was Andrews' written comment on the sentence which Judge J. Joseph Smith gave to Patsy Frank D. Zenzo of Bridgeport, Conn.

Di Zenzo was convicted of evading income tax payments totaling, with penalties $236,112.23. From 1946 to 1951, inclusive, A rental housing corporation official and general contractor, he omitted business receipts from his records and claimed mortgage interest deduction to which he was not entitled.

FINED $1,000 AND SUSPENDED SENTENCE When he pleaded nolo contendere usually regarded as an admission of guilt, he was fined $1,000. He was given a suspended six-month prison sentence because of "poor health."

George Boldt of Seattle, Wash. For 1946-1948 income tax evasion, involving taxes to penalties of $179,100.53, Judge Boldt gave Amador A. Senns a probation operator, five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Andrews wishes there were more Boldts on the Federal Bench.

ANOTHER INTERESTING CASE Spae does not permit a listing of all the former sentences pronounced and decided by Andrews in his written comment. But the following case is interesting because it involves James J. Moran of Brooklyn, N. Y., former First Deputy Fire Commissioner and a close friend of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Moran was convicted of income tax evasion for 1948, 1949 and 1950. The money on which he paid no taxes consisted of "shake-downs from installers of oil and other municipal equipment."

Taxes and penalties assessed against Moran amounted to $272,

925.70 Judge Robert A. Inch gave him two years and fined him $22,500. Moran is now serving a twelve-and-a-half to a 15-year term for extortion and conspiracy to be followed by consecutive sentences of five years for perjury and Judge Inch's two years for income tax evasion.

TWO YEARS FOR SWINDLING UNCLE SAM For a half-year to 15 years for extortion and conspiracy—five years for perjury—and only two years for swindling Uncle Sam of $272,925.70 in an illegal operation that involved all the other offenses—extortion conspiracy and perjury.

Being a Virginian, Director Andrews knows practical politics. Federal Judges' handling of tax fraud cases have made him cynical. So ancient Moran, he appends this comment to the Tammany politicians' file:

"It's interesting to see who springs him after things quiet down."

NO MORE WITHHOLDING ON NON-CASH "WAGES"

Luxuries Lag In This '55 Boom

By ELMER ROESSNER

This is the darndest boom ever. Individuals are making and collecting money at a faster rate in July than before. Personal income in July was at an annual rate of almost $300 billion. Wages and salaries were almost $212 billion. Proprietors' and rental income was $48 billion, not quite a new record. Corporate profits were about $40 billion, approached only once before, in 1951.

So people are "dishing" to buy cars, jewelry furs, liquor, candy, cameras sporting goods, appliances, television sets and other luxuries.

Yeah? They are buying cars, all right. If they are luxuries. They are buying a few more television sets. But the upsurge in what are commonly regarded as luxuries has been very small. In fact, it can hardly be called a surge.

Department of Commerce figures show that in the first seven months of this year, retail sales were 8 per cent above the same months in 1954. Of those luxuries list above, auto sales are 21 per cent above last year. Radio sales were up 9 per cent. Sales of all of the other luxuries showed smaller than average gains—and sales of liquor stores were down 1 per cent, with drinking places' sales just holding even.

Jewelry store sales were up 7 per cent; fur sales up 2 per cent; confectionery store sales up 4 per cent; photographic goods stores up 2 per cent; sporting goods stores up 6 per cent; and appliance stores up 1 per cent.

The big gains, outside of automobiles, were by furniture stores, up 18 per cent; lumber yards, up 21 per cent; floor covering stores, up 10 per cent; and paint, glass and wallpaper stores, up 10 per cent.

The general merchandise and apparel groups were up 4 and 6 per cent respectively, but some subdivisions showed above-average gains. Shoe stores were up 12 per cent, family clothing stores, up 10 per cent, and dry goods and general merchandise stores, up 10 per cent.

Americans may have more spending money than ever before, but they aren't throwing it around.

Other Editors Are Saying ... Released From Red China

(New York Times)

Gradually, a few at a time, the civilian prisoners of the Chinese Communists are being released. This "trickle technique" is an obvious face-saving device apparently to suggest that each case has been judged on its merits. In line with this, also, is the formality of reading charges and ordering deportation. Obviously the decent and humane thing to do would be to set all who are imprisoned free at once, but that is perhaps too much to expect of the Peiping regime.

The most important thing is that individual Americans—and some Europeans as well—are finally regaining their liberty. We rejoice with them and for them. The one curious exception to this pattern of joy in freedom, expressed by one man can best be judged by his own statement that he saw nothing wrong in the fact that he was imprisoned for four and a half years without even the formality of a trial. Those who are coming out now are giving still further glimpses of what is happening to mainland China. A significant observation was made by one of the priests who has just been liberated.

"They have a big improvement materially, but we were interested in spiritual improvement, which we did not see."

The same thing may be said about our own attitude toward Red China. We are still looking for signs of "spiritual improvement" and they are not in sight. Red China is still the unpurged and unrepentant aggressor. For this reason talk of higher level conversations at this stage is futile and will continue to be so unless and until Peiping, after the release of all the prisoners, gives evidence of willingness to adhere to the renunciation of force and a readiness to accept a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

New Witness, New Evidence Claimed In Mississippi Trial

By SAM JOHNSON
SUMNER, Miss (AP)—New witness with "absolutely newly discovered evidence" will be on tap today when the state begins the task of trying to prove that two white men murdered a 14-year-old Negro boy. Their evidence will strengthen the state's case, which is mostly circumstantial evidence, said Robert B. Smith, III, a special assistant attorney general assigned to the prosecution. He gave no details.

Smith and Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham will call the state's first witnesses in the trial of 24-year-old Roy Bryant and his 36-year-old half-brother, J. W. Milam. They are accused of murdering Emmett Louis Till, a Chicago Negro boy who allegedly whistled at Mrs. Bryant.

Smith refused to say whether testimony of the new witnesses would fill the three-day gap between the time Till was taken from his uncle's home and the time his body was found in the Tallahatchie River.

Chatham got an afternoon halt in the trial yesterday to summon and question the witnesses. Mrs. Mamie Bradley, the slain boy's mother, created a stir when she entered the courtroom yesterday with her father and two other men.

She came without the official bodyguards she had requested. Before leaving Chicago she had expressed some fear, but after arriving in Mississippi she said that no one had caused her any trouble.

White spectators from this race-conscious area watched as reporters and photographers—white and Negro—crowded around the 33-year-old mother. She sat at a newly built table set aside for Negro reporters and photographers. They were segregated from other members of the press and worked on a folding table.

Sheriff H. C. Strider, a jovial man who weighs 270 pounds, pushed his way through newsmen and handed a subpoena to Mrs.

"You are now in the state of Mississippi," he told her. "You will come under all rules of the state of Mississippi."

The subpoena made her a state witness in the trial of two storekeepers accused of murdering her son and dumping his body in the Tallahatchie River.

Mrs. Bradley fanned herself in the steamy room as questioning of jurors continued. Her father and another man stood beside her chair, scanning the audience as if they expected trouble.

After a short time, they sat down.

Selection of the all-male, all-white jury ended yesterday.

The state has said it will not ask the death penalty for the men, since much of the state's case will be circumstantial evidence. The minimum penalty for murder is life imprisonment.

Action To Draft Younger Men Is Being Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is considering a change in draft regulations aimed at getting younger men into uniform.

The proposed change is prompted by the rising average age of draftees—now up to about 23—and is coupled with the administration's new military reserve program.

Officials said the proposed changes, designed to be more "lenient" with older draft-age men are being circulated among interested agencies for review and comment. They said they did not expect early action.

At present, the practice is to draft from the top down—that is, to take the oldest men first in the eligible 18½-26 age group.

However, a selective service official said that as things now stand, the average draftee will be about 25 when he finishes his two-year hitch and moves into the ready reserve. This is only a year under what this official said is the age at which most men reach their peak of military efficiency.

"We want younger men than the 25-year-olds going into that ready reserve," he continued. "We want men who can serve in the ready reserve several years before they reach 26."

Selective service officials said the average age of draftees was about 20 in late 1952 and 1953.

"What we are trying to do is to get younger men into the service," the official explained. "Already some local draft boards are looking at the older men among the registrants more leniently and proposed regulation changes are designed to allow the local boards to be more lenient with the older men."

"It is hoped that local boards will be more lenient in regard to the requirements for deferment on grounds of hardship and essentiality."

"We are trying especially to find a formula to help in the scientific field."

Seeking Weepers For Smog Test

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Calling all weepers.

The UCLA Medical Center wants tears for smog research.

Dr. Robert Brunish announced today a study of the chemical makeup of tears may yield a clue to the eye-irritating factor in smog.

The UCLA scientist says he has plenty of children's tears on hand. They flow profusely for science from his own children and in the children's ward of the UCLA hospital.

But he's short of adult tears, even women's.

Dr. Brunish has a theory that tears shed in pain, sorrow or anger differ from those prompted by onion peeling or smog. He hopes to get plenty of both kinds for comparisons.

Crocodiles need not apply.

Want Atom Bomb In Quake Studies

TOKYO (AP)—The International Geodetic and Geophysical Union wants to use atomic bombs in artificial earthquake studies, the newspaper Asahi reported today.

Asahi said Prof. K. E. Bullen of Australia, chairman of the union's seismological section, asked Dr. Kiyoo Wadachi, director of the Tokyo Central Meteorological Observatory, for his advice on the project. Seven other experts in the United States, Russia, Britain and Switzerland were also queried.

Bullen tentatively suggested touching off four atomic bombs in the International Geophysical year 1957, in the United States, Russia near Australia and in the Pacific Ocean.

New End Coach Joins GHS Staff At Practice Session

Work Is Begun On Big Kinston Game

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer

Hurricane Jones no longer occupying their practice field, the Greenville high school Phantoms began work yesterday in preparation for their most important game thus far.

Coach Guy Lewis' crew tackled the Kinston Red Devils Friday night in the latter's back yard. The contest will be a Northeastern Conference tilt and the winner will generally be regarded the team to beat for the crown.

Coach Lewis and assistant coach Vaughn Fowler welcomed another member aboard the staff yesterday. Stanley Jones, a Korman war veteran, now enrolled as a sophomore at East Carolina College, will take over the position of Phantom end coach. Jones is also a former wrestler. He will instruct the ends defensively and offensively.

Loosen-up

Practice opened with windsprints and grueling calisthenics for the yet undefeated Greenville squad. The boys worked to loosen stiff muscles, get the kinks out of their arms and legs. After a long session of conditioning drills, the coaches turned their boys loose on the seven-man blocking sled. "We won't run against Kinston without real blocking," one of the coaches remarked.

The team then split up into three sections. Coach Lewis worked individually with the backs, Coach Fowler took his linemen, and Coach

Jones had charge of the ends. Reviewing basic plays, the instructors put their chargers through dummy drill. There was much improvement to be made after the three-day lay-off, due to lone.

Head-Knocking Session

Drills were ended with a 45-minute scrimmage featuring both offense and defense. First stringers moved the ball rather slowly to begin with, but showed up well on defense. The probable starting lineup will include these boys: Ends Billy Johnson and Ike Riddick; tackles Howard King and Fred Nobles; guards Pete West and Charles Hollingsworth; center Wade Jordan; backs Jerry Drum, Bob Shackelford, Tommy Norris and Billy Sermons.

Injured end Harold Edwards is working on a twisted leg and did not dress for practice yesterday. It is doubtful that the 6-4 senior will perform against Kinston Friday night. He was hurt in last week's Beaufort scrap.

Kinston an annual powerhouse in the Northeastern Conference, will definitely be the Phantoms' toughest opponents of the young season. Poo Rochelle, a triple-threat quarterback with a rifle-arm, will be the big threat. The peppery T-operator is one of the better passers in the east and has an able target in big Buddy Porter, a 6-5, 200 pound end.

Dodgers Inept In Series Showdown

By FRANK ECK
AP Newfeatures Sports Editor

BROOKLYN, N. Y. — Don't go overboard on the Brooklyn Dodgers winning the World Series. They never have won it and they've been trying since 1916.

Though the Dodgers this year made a shambles of the National League pennant race after winning 22 of their first 24 games they with failure. Twice they appeared on the verge of taking a series but each time they blew their chances.

In seven previous World Series Brooklyn has come off second best. It's the only team in either league to lose seven straight failures. The Chicago Cubs have lost their last seven World Series but overall they have won two Series in 10 appearances.

Here are some of the records the Dodgers hold or share for World Series ineptness:

Least runs (8) in a 7-game Series—1920.

Least base hits (44) in a 7-game Series—1920.

Tied for least hits (1) in a Series game—1947.

Least one base hits (19) in a 5-game Series—1941.

Tied for least doubles (5) in a 7-game Series—1920.

Tied for least triples (None) in a 7-game Series—1952.

No home runs in a 7-game Series—1920.

Least total bases (51) in a 7-game Series—1920.

Most strikeouts (49) in a 7-game Series—1952.

Collectively the eight Dodger regulars are getting 276 in World Series play.

Jim Gaham, the only Dodger regular benched for light hitting this season, surprisingly enters this Series with the best Dodger hitting record. He is a .206 Series hitter. However, he has been in only one—1953—when he made 8 hits in 6 games.

Duke Snider, a lifetime 306 hitter in league play, has batted 280 in Series competition.

Pee Wee Reese is Brooklyn's most consistent Series hitter with a .278 mark for 30 games in 5 Series. Three times he went over 300.

Despite all the Dodger reverses in the fall classic they enter the coming World Series with two distinct advantages. They have the experience, and the law of averages is on their side.

Reshuffling Of Pirate Lineup Seen By Boone For Lenoir-Rhyne Game

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

Coach Jack Boone indicated today that there is going to be some "reshuffling" in the East Carolina Pirates' line-up for the Lenoir Rhyne game here this Saturday.

"We've got to find an offensive combination that will go," the Buckkipper said. This evidently meant that some of the second unit boys will get their chance for a starter's berth.

Boone especially cited the play of Waverly Chesson, Washington, N.C. boy. "Our one big weakness has been at tackle. We converted Chesson from center there and he did such a good job against West Chester we hope our problem is solved," Boone continued.

Other boys along the forward wall of the second unit that looked exceedingly sharp in yesterday's offensive scrimmage were J. D. Bradford and Tommy Waggoner at ends, Ken Burgess and Harold Hoffman at guards, and center Tom Mixon.

Need Offense

But Boone was referring mostly to the offensive backfield when he said a working combination was needed. Against Lenoir Rhyne, Milton Collier, who had been solely on defense in pre-season practice, can expect to see plenty of action at quarterback. The Portsmouth senior ignited the only spark in the Pirates for a short drive against West Chester.

Greenville's Bobby Perry is another back who can count on being used a lot. He ran well yesterday in practice and seems to be improving with each workout. Bobby Maynard, hard-working fullback might be the power runner the Bucs will need against defensive-minded Lenoir Rhyne.

The Pirates will be without regular right end Bill Helms this Saturday. The Monroe junior played the most outstanding game of his career against West Chester but suffered a sprained knee in the fading minutes of the last period.

Rogerson, Gay Back

Tackle Chester Rogerson, and halfback Bobby Gay returned to practice, though, to perk up the camp. Both boys missed last week's game, Rogerson because of an injured knee and Gay because of a kidney disorder.

The Pirates drilled on their offense with a live scrimmage against Lenoir Rhyne defenses in the greater part of yesterday's workout. Assistant coaches Jim Mallory and Earl Smith worked the linemen on pass protection blockings, first in dummy drills and then live. Poor pass protection was one of the things Boone associated with the 9-0 defeat at the hands of West Chester. Dick Cherry and Gary Matlocks, Nos. 1 and 2 quarterbacks, were smothered repeatedly when they faded to throw.

"It just takes time with an inexperienced ball club," Boone said. "We'll just have to keep at it until things are ironed out."

Eppes Eleven Expects Rugged Friday Contest

Eppes high school's footballers began drills yesterday, anticipating a tough game with their first AAA conference opponents, Rocky Mount.

Coaches Foster and Sanders are working with the defensive linemen, hoping to have them ready Friday night against their foes powerful ground attack.

Key men in the Eppes defense will be Teel, Brumington, Streeter, Tyson, Jenkins and Gorem. "Rocky Mount," stated Coach Foster, "boasts one of the strongest lines in the east and will give us trouble." The game will take place in Guy Smith Stadium.

Quarterback Bullock, Rocky Mount's top offensive threat, is rated the conference's best passer and has two capable ends to catch his aerials. The Bulldogs have begun pacing their backs through pass-defense drills and hope to be able to stop Bullock. Bullock and crew dropped their opener last week to New Bern 18-16.

Despite two injuries in last Friday's Beaufort contest, the Bulldogs hope to be at top strength against Rocky Mount. Halfback Fred Outerbridge and end Rudy Streeter, the two injured players, are expected to be in condition by the end of this week.

Dykes Favored Tonight; Winner To Fight Olson

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bobby Dyke, a transplanted Texan who has become one of Miami's favorite fighters, meets George Johnson of Newark, N.J., in a 10-round middleweight bout tonight and both boxers are expected to shoot the works.

Promoter Chris Dundee announced that the winner is virtually certain to meet middleweight champion Bobo Olson in a non-title bout here Oct. 26.

The fight will be televised nationally at 9 p.m. (EST). There will be no home television of the Rocky Marciano - Archie Moore heavyweight championship fight.

Dykes, undefeated in seven fights this year, and currently ranked No. 8 in the middleweight division, ruled a 2-1 favorite over his hard-punching rival.

Western Grid Powers Will Be Testing 2 ACC Elevens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A couple of gridiron powers from the West move into the Atlantic Coast Conference schedule this Saturday, and every ACC school has at least one eye peeled for the outcome.

At Maryland, Coach Jim Tatum expects a hard-passing game from UCLA. Ronnie Knox, who fired three touchdowns passes last Friday when the Uclans downed Texas A&M 21-0. Tatum figures UCLA can't afford to play a rushing game.

In any case, he's not optimistic about the Terps' chances. Although he thinks his squad is better than last year's on account of triple threat quarterback Frank Tamburello Tatum calls the UCLA "perfect," made to order for the single wing. He also is impressed by the UCLA defense against A&M

Coach Bear Bryant's split-T North Carolina's Coach George Barclay also expects a passing game from the Oklahoma Sooners, and his Tar Heels spent about half their practice session yesterday working on pass defense. Barclay intends to stress that phase of defense, he indicated. He also put the first and second-stringers with their backs to the wall to make goal-line stands against the freshman offense.

Barclay indicated that sophomore Hal Seizer, from Lenoir, N.C., may start at guard against Oklahoma.

Other conference teams practiced for Saturday games with ACC neighbors.

The Wake Forest varsity, preparing for its game with South Carolina at Winston-Salem, N.C., scrimmaged against Gamecock players run by the reserves. Fullback Gerald Ruth was one of five players out with injuries yesterday, but he is expected to play Saturday.

Coach Rex Enright of South Carolina planned light contact work for today to brush up the offense. Yesterday the spotlight was on defense in scrimmage and on offense in a "rehearsal" session. Hugh Merck, who missed last season due to a knee injury, worked out at tackle and Enright expressed pleasure with his showing.

Virginia's Coach Ned McDonald scheduled offensive practice today against a dummy opposition to save his players for the Clemson game. He says they're all in good shape and he doesn't want any of them bungled up. McDonald's worry he explains, is the need for reserve strength.

Clemson's Tigers scrimmaged vigorously yesterday, with the first two teams running plays against the subs, arranged in Virginia-type defense. At first-string quarterback, Don King passed for two touchdowns and ran for two. Backs Joe Wells, Joe Pagliell and Bill O'Dell also scored six-pointers against the subs. Charlie Bussey was impressive at a second-string quarterback.

Duke planned strenuous workouts today and tomorrow, keeping all practices under wraps for the

Insurance Women Of Pitt Organize Ass'n

Miss Mary Elizabeth Carr of Farmville was elected president of the newly organized Pitt County Association of Insurance Women, meeting in supper session at the Olde Towne Inn last night.

Elected to serve with her were Mrs. Dorothy Johnson as vice-president, Mrs. Catherine Walsh, secretary and Mrs. Evelyn Smaw as treasurer, all of Greenville.

Miss Catherine Gardner of Greensboro, president of the North Carolina Association of Insurance Women, and Mrs. Florence Isley of Raleigh, past state president, explained the aims and purposes of the group to be educational in scope with courses offered by the national association designed to make each member better informed and more efficient.

Mrs. Thelma Nichols, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, and Mrs. Eloise Gibbs were appointed to serve on the Constitution and By-Laws Committee.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday night, October 6, at 7 o'clock at the Olde Towne Inn.

Membership is open to "women affiliated with insurance companies, general and local agencies, representing capital stock companies, adjusters, provided they represent capita, stock insurance companies, employees of agency association and employees of departments relating to insurance set up by the North Carolina Statutes."

Mrs. Edmond Bradley, Mrs. Eva Fowler and Mrs. Theda Hodge of the Raleigh Association pledged their assistance in organizing the local unit.

E. L. Willard, president of the Pitt County Insurance Exchange, welcomed the visiting association members to Greenville.

Miss Carr, the newly-elected president, is the only insurance woman in the state to attend all five summer institutes of insurance at Chapel Hill and she has a diploma for the full four-year course, the

Short-Changed On Fare Home

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A man arrested on a charge of drunkenness told Police Judge James McWhorter he had only $1.15 in his pocket and the bus fare to his home town was exactly $1.15.

Judge McWhorter gave the man a suspended 30-day jail sentence on the provision that he use the $1.15 for the next bus back. A newspaper reporter later checked the fare: it's $1.38.

No Americans On Red China Train

HONG KONG (AP)—No Americans arrived at the Hong Kong border today aboard the daily train from Red China, border police reported.

U. S. consular officials had expected the return from Communist captivity of Dilmus T. Kanady, Houston, Tex., cotton man. He is the only one still to come of 10 American civilians whose immediate release from prison or house arrest the Reds promised at the Geneva ambassadorial talks.

Kanady was arrested in Shanghai in April, 1951 and sentenced to 10 years imprisonment on Red charges of tax evasion, currency blackmarketeering and hiding arms.

The United States also is awaiting action on the Red Chinese promise to expedite the release of 19 other imprisoned civilians. The Communists also have promised exit permits to 12 other Americans detained for up to five years. Some of these latter are expected to leave Shanghai soon by ship for Hong Kong or Japan.

Grifton News

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dawson have returned to their home in Spartanburg, S. C. after a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bissette.

Miss Carolyn Davis left Monday for Raleigh where she will be a member of the freshman class at St. Mary's. She was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Davis.

Mrs. Fred Stenquist and children, Ruth, Dolores, Shirley and Ronnie, have joined M-Sgt. Stenquist in Newport News, Va. after spending sometime here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Parker on McRae Street. Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Edward Hart accompanied them to Virginia for the day.

Miss Margaret Sugg, a member of the Walkertown school faculty, spent the weekend at her home here.

Messrs. George Gardner Sugg and J. R. Stokes are in Sandusky, Ohio for a boat showing.

Mrs. Addie Uzzell left Sunday for Henderson to visit with her sister Mrs. Sallie Cox Stubbs, who is seriously ill.

LOTS OF INGOTS
TOKYO (AP)—Japan exported 2,355 tons of ingot aluminum and 2,954 tons of processed aluminum the first six months of this year, compared with 1,155 and 3,254 tons for the same period last year, according to the newspaper Nihon Keizai.

New Channel For Stream Where President Fishes

FRASER, Colo. (AP)—They have changed the course of the Rocky Mountain stream where President Eisenhower fishes here to make it easier to catch trout.

The President and his host, Denver investment banker Asger Nielsen, stood on the bank of St. Louis Creek yesterday afternoon and helped supervise a bulldozer and a steam shovel in the operation.

The swift-flowing creek, which meanders through Nielsen's ranch, is being tapped to increase the supply of water to Denver, 70 miles to the southeast. The water will be piped over the Continental Divide to the eastern lobe.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen the President and Nielsen—who have been fishing for trout here since 1940—have been planning for years how to alter the course of the stream to improve the catch. They decided to go ahead, Snyder said, when it became apparent that the Denver water diversion project might lower the stream level to such an extent as to spoil the fishing next year.

So they had a new channel cut with the purpose of slowing down the flow, and in doing that created a few deep pools where trout like to lurk.

The President caught seven trout Monday, his first day here, but his luck fell off yesterday. He landed only two.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

The first class to complete four years of work at Chung Chi College was graduated by the Hong Kong institution recently. Almost evenly divided between men and women, the seniors numbered 45. Of this group, six have already been accepted for graduate work in foreign universities—one at the University of Washington, Seattle; one at Mount Holyoke College, Massachusetts; one at Golden Gate Seminary, San Francisco; California; one at Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, Stillwater; one at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth; and one at Ottawa University, Canada. Fourteen graduates are preparing to enter Northcote Training College.

The United Council of Church Women—arm of the National Council of Churches and representing some 10,000,000 Protestant women throughout the United States—will hold its national assembly in Cleveland, Ohio, from Nov. 7 to 10. Mrs. James D. Wyker, national president, will preside over the sessions of this body that is "fast becoming one of the major church agencies in effecting social change in local communities." According to the UCCW, American women in thousands of American communities are tackling problems as organized councils of church women. They point out that in Atlanta church women have carried out successful housing and nursery projects; and are now grappling with mental health. In Des Moines they have been busy in fighting race discrimination and "many doors to employment, previously opened only to whites, are being gently battered down." Sioux City has found jobs and homes for 36 displaced families; and Green-

1956 Model Lincoln Displayed

This 1956 Lincoln CAPRI four-door sedan illustrates the trim grace of Lincoln's "big new look." More than 18½ feet long—7 inches longer and 2½ inches lower than the 1955 Lincoln—this roomy sedan will carry six adults in uncrowded comfort. With Lincoln's power steering now standard equipment on all 1956 models, a woman can wheel this all-new sedan into a tight curb space with ease. Lincoln's smooth-shifting turbo-drive automatic transmission is also standard equipment. Outstanding performance is assured by Lincoln's new 285 horsepower V-8 engine with 9 to 1 compression ratio and the highest torque of any American car.

wich, Conn., has resettled 60 refugees. In Gainesville, Ga., and Lenoir, N. C., church women have established day-care centers for children of working Negro mothers. The women of Bloomsburg, Pa. have purchased play equipment for the children of migrants; and in towns scattered as far apart as Washington State, Long Island, Ohio and Arkansas, they have directed Hal- lowe'en "tricks" into collections for UNICEF in Ponca City, Okla., and in Modesto, Cal., women are promoting better race relations; elsewhere they are fighting the sale of comic books, aiding students from overseas, and providing food, shelter and relief for needy families.

Dark Intent

RAE FOLEY

Death of Roger Brindle, an extremely popular syndicate newspaper columnist, opens new chapters in the lives of those whom he wrote so well. He leaves his young widow Carol, and an entourage of persons whom he had befriended. Carol learns that Roger left her no more than five thousand dollars. When he learns from his wife, Bessie, that Roger's first wife, Jane, has come to Stovenville for the funeral, Albert Kibbee, one of those befriended by Roger, refuses to see her.

CHAPTER THREE

Bessie Kibbee had given everything she had to her husband but she had learned nothing from marriage. So now she protested, "But after all these years—" "No!" "Anyone would think, to listen to you Jane was a monster. And, except for being stouter and a little gray she's just the same as she ever was. Know what? When I stood at the cemetery and watched Roger's two wives I couldn't help thinking he made a poor exchange. Of course, Carol's younger and she has a pretty face and I guess that's all a man cares about. Some men," she added hastily, her hand closing over Albert's thin arm. "But Jane—" she made a helpless gesture. "Jane is wonderful," she said simply.

Albert drew his arm away. She never believed in Roger," he said in his ready voice. "She was destroying him. From the beginning, Carol knew what he was; she helped him believe in himself. Just because the woman is pretty—" Bessie snorted. "Think I'm jealous? At my age?" Hatred filled her mouth with a bitter taste. "Why Roger was so marvelous, why everyone had to believe in him—there's times, Albert, when it's made me downright sick at my stomach to see you worshipping a man who wasn't worth trying your shoelace." "Bessie! The little man set both upright, so frail that only the flame of the candle was left. "All right," she capitulated, helping him to lie down again. "All right, dear. Not another word. I won't say another word. Though just the same—" she swallowed the words as though they choked her and summoned up a reassuring smile. "I'm going to get up," Albert said. "What have you done with my clothes?" "You can't have them. Just a few more days. You haven't seen enough to keep up your strength." She stood beside him, wearing a slip she put on a housedress, her voice coming muffled from the folds around her head. "Know what? I brought Paula Case back with me for the rest of the day. Carol wanted to be alone and she let Clyde take Paula out for a drive in the car. It will give him a chance to get better acquainted with her. I suppose you've noticed how he feels about her." "About Carol's little niece?" Albert said. "His wife gave a little cluck of exasperation. 'Sometimes I think you're so wrapped up in your thoughts, Albert Kibbee, you don't know what is going on. That son of yours is head over heels in love with Paula.'"

Albert made no comment but Bessie was accustomed to that. "I suppose we've got to expect it," she went on. "He's the age to fall in love, and especially when he's just out of the army. Restless. And maybe it would be best for him to settle down. But we've had him so little." Her head emerged from the dress, she straightened the skirt. "At least, you'll have a chance now to talk more to him. Now he's grown up you'll find how gentle he is. Of course if he was to marry and live around here—" she broke off, her lips parted. "Albert! I hadn't thought of it before. What will happen to us now that Roger is gone?"

"The Lord will provide," he said gently. "She sat on the foot of his bed. 'I suppose he left you something in his will. He was bound to do that. I'll say one thing for him, he always looked out for us.' "Did you see him?" Albert asked, following a track of his own.

"Who?" "Roger. Before—" "Roger, looked natural; like he was asleep." "Did he look happy?" When his wife made no reply Albert, repeated his question with a touch of impatience. "I was just thinking," she said in a tone of surprise, "I don't believe I ever saw Roger look really happy. Eager, of course. But I don't know—lately he looked anxious. I wouldn't wonder if he was worried for fear Carol might find out about that Hattery woman. Anyone with an eye in his head could tell what was going on there. Him and his peerless secretary!" "Roger was sorry for Ethel Hattery," Albert reproved his wife. "That's all there ever was to it." There was a knowing gleam in Bessie's small eyes. "No man's city made her blossom the way she did. The wonder is that Joe Hattery didn't suspect. Well, it's all water over the dam now. I hope Carol will get rid of them both."

Local Business Plans Expansion

J. D. (Dixie) McGlohon, owner of Jane's Shop in Greenville, today announced plans for enlarging the children's and ladies wear store in a new location at 308 Evans Street. Construction work is underway completely renovating the building formerly occupied by the New Greenville Cafe which will be the new home of Jane's Shop. McGlohon said the building will be converted into a completely modernistic store with approximately 1,300 square feet of floor space. In addition to the new modernistic front, the building will be completely remodeled inside, equipped with new, modern fixtures and interior decorations. The move will afford Jane's Shop with approximately one-third more space than in their present location at 310 Evans Street. "It will be our plan with increased room to expand our line of junior, misses and women's wear as well as carry a larger stock of children's wear," McGlohon said. He said he expects the new building to be ready for occupancy "around October first." Jane's Shop was opened here in 1946.

"We found this notation, written by the late Chief Justice John P. Higgins after Cantilupo had been arrested in connection with a similar slaying in 1934: "If this man is brought back into court or surrendered for any reason, he is to be sentenced to State Prison for 2 1/2 to 3 years."

Delayed Action On Prison Term

BOSTON (AP)—Anthony Cantilupo, 34, was convicted of slaying a woman's dress in the subway station. Before imposing sentence Superior Court Justice Frank E. Smith looked over the man's record. He found this notation, written by the late Chief Justice John P. Higgins after Cantilupo had been arrested in connection with a similar slaying in 1934: "If this man is brought back into court or surrendered for any reason, he is to be sentenced to State Prison for 2 1/2 to 3 years."

Ninety-seven dollars was taken sometime Monday night from the Diana Shop on Evans St., Greenville police reported today. The money, which was removed from a cash register, was obtained after a forced entry was made of the building. A police investigation is continuing.

Winds Leveled Carnival Midway

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A windstorm whipped through the "Tri-State Fair last night and leveled the carnival midway, injuring at least 28 persons. None of the injured were believed in a serious condition. Bill Hames, midway operator, estimated damage at more than $50,000. Property damage was extensive throughout this Panhandle city. Winds were measured at up to 45 miles per hour. Trees were uprooted and roof damage was heavy.

Police Hunting Another Suspect

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Sherman Sykes, 60, was robbed of $100 yesterday in his gift shop by a vividly-dressed gunman. Within minutes Sykes had given police an equally vivid description of the gunman. The robber wore a gray suit, dark blue shirt and a bright, solid red necktie. It took police no time at all to bring in a man who fitted the description perfectly. "Oh no! Not him!" exclaimed Sykes. "He's my best friend." Police are looking for another guy with a flair for colorful haberdashery. The water ouzel or dipper has the unusual custom of winking one eye.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures SPACE TO SPARE features this luxury house containing four bedrooms, two baths, extra lavatory and two-car garage. A large glassed-in porch with a barbecue fireplace adjoins dining room and kitchen. Another fireplace faces the wide bowed window in the living room. A family room den adjoins the kitchen on the garden side. Plan C426AP, designed by Lester Cohen, architect, Archway Press, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N.Y., this house covers 3,700 square feet. Overall dimensions are 109 by 64 feet.

Six Indicted In Houston Inquiry

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Fifteen indictments against six men have been returned here in a city land office scandal. Conspiracy and felony theft were charged. Included were three city employees fired shortly after the scandal broke in June. All three were named in other indictments returned July 28. The true bills returned yesterday brought to 34 the total of indictments since the probe of disappearing city-owned houses and building material started. In all, eight men, including former City Treasury Director Roy Floyd, have been named. The houses and material involved sites being cleared for expressway right of way.

Estimate $1,000 Damage In Wreck

City police today reported a Saturday accident which resulted in an estimated $1,000 in property damage. The driver of the car was listed as Norman H. Byrd, 19, of 109 Raleigh Avenue. No charges were placed against Byrd following the non-collision accident which occurred in the 2400 block of Dickinson Avenue.

Two Nat'l Fund-Soliciting Groups Unrecognized By N. C. Authorities

Persons receiving solicitation circulars from the Elizabeth Kenny Foundation and the Will Rogers Tuberculosis Sanatorium Foundation may obtain further information about these organizations from Pitt Health Director Dr. Walter C. Humbert. In a statement yesterday, Dr. Humbert said the only two nationally recognized official agencies for infantile paralysis and tuberculosis in North Carolina are the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the National Tuberculosis Association. According to the health director, the Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, with headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn., and the Will Rogers Foundation, centralized at Lake Saranac, N.Y., have no official status for soliciting funds in this state, as they are not recognized by the State Board of Health as official agencies for polio and tb. He declared that anyone receiving solicitation circulars from these groups may obtain further information about them by contacting him at the Health Department.

Paint Manufacturers To Open Branch In Greenville

The Sherwin-Williams Co., world's largest manufacturer of paints, today announced plans for the opening of a Sherwin-Williams Branch in Greenville, operating both as a retail outlet and a service center for painting contractors and for Sherwin-Williams dealers in this area. The new store will be located at 310 Evans Street in the buildings now occupied by Jane's Shop and formerly occupied by Greenville Production Credit Association. The transaction for the lease of the buildings was handled through Frank M. Wooten Jr., attorney for Mrs. W. I. Wooten, owner of the buildings. "We selected Greenville for a new branch because this is a progressive community," said J. L. Rutledge, regional director of the Sherwin-Williams company with headquarters in Philadelphia. "An analysis of recent residential and industrial growth," he said, prompted the company to locate its new branch in Greenville. "After remodeling we will open a completely stocked paint outlet for this area. Our inventory will include a full line of interior finishes and exterior house paints, plus special purpose finishes used by the professional painter. This branch will also be in a position to serve many factors in the area with specialized product finishes." The store structure includes 2,000 square feet of floor space. Remodeling operations are already underway, and although no formal opening date for the new store has been announced, a spokesman said the store is expected to be open for business by approximately November 1.

ROBBED IN ROBES? UPLAND, Calif. (AP)—Henry Calvin Zahn, 27, was in the habit of wearing a choir robe and carrying a Bible when he went to church. Yesterday he was arrested on suspicion of burglarizing four churches. Police accused him of taking more than $300, typewriters and movie projectors.
