'High C' Tenor Here Wednesday

Kurt Baum, "High C" tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will sing at East Carolina College Wednesday, October 26, at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium. The concert will be the second attraction on the 1955-1956 Entertainment Series at the college.

Baum is one of the foremost dramatic tenors of the Italian repertoire including "Il Trovatore," "Cioconda," "Tosca," "Pagliacci," "Aida," and other operas. His versatility is shown by the fact that he has starred also in the great German operas "Lohengrin" and "Meistersinger" and, from the French repertoire, in "Carmen," "Manon Lescaut," and "Samson and Delilah."

Famous for his operatic portrayals, he is equally celebrated for his recital performances. A superb Liedersinger and interpreter of art songs, he has been acclaimed season after season on the American concert stage from coast to coast. He is now making his twelfth nation-wide tour.

Church Of Year

GREENSBORO (AP)—Deub's Methodist Church, a congregation of less than 100 members in northwestern Forsyth County, will be honored tonight as "Rural Church of the Year." The Rev. Raymond L. Wilkinson, pastor of the church, will receive the award at Goldsboro at a fellowship dinner during the 27th annual convention of the North Carolina State Grange. John Deub, a native European, fled Germany centuries ago to escape religious persecution, and settled in a section of Stokes County which later became part of Forsyth. His family founded the church. The first pastor was the Rev. Peter Deub. Honorable mention in the Grange competition went to Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church in Rowan County. Other churches recognized for outstanding progress were Hopewell Methodist in Sampson County and Pleasant Hope Baptist in Wilkes County.

Three Drown On Sightseeing Trip

TALLULAH FALLS, Ga. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy, his father and a relative, drowned in a pool in Tallulah Gorge while on a sightseeing trip yesterday.

Ronald Elrod toppled in the 10-foot-deep pool first. His father Carlos Louis Elrod, 34, jumped in to get him, but was unable to climb out over the slippery rocks. Thomas Greemon, 33, Elrod's brother-in-law leaped down to help them, lost his balance and fell in. Other members of the families were unable to reach them.

Advices More Activity By Negroes In Politics

DURHAM (AP)—Kelly Alexander of Charlotte, state president of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, has proposed greater political activity as a means of achieving NAACP goals of desegregation.

Alexander, speaking here Saturday at the 12th annual state convention of the NAACP, set a North Carolina goal of at least 500,000 registered Negro voters. He declared:

"Let us answer the politicians and the segregationists at the polls in 1956. Negroes in North Carolina want to be free by 1963." This last was a reference to the NAACP national goal of full desegregation by the anniversary of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

About 500 delegates attending the meeting here voted unanimously Saturday to give Alexander his eighth consecutive term as president of the state group.

J. B. Harren of Rocky Mount, a convention delegate, said the reelection "dispelled rumors that one group would attempt to capture the NAACP." He did not elaborate.

The delegates also voted unanimously to wage a letterwriting campaign to Gov. Hodges, voicing opposition to his plan for voluntary segregation in the schools. The governor has reiterated his contention that the majority of North Carolinians, Negroes included, favored his suggestion made Aug. 8 for the races to maintain segregation by choice.

The delegates also commended the state Negro school teachers' group, which refused to endorse the plan, and declared that counties and cities are setting up study committees on integration but are "doing nothing."

The three-day convention ended yesterday.

Alexander's goal of half a million registered Negro voters was one of three proposed major projects for the NAACP. The others:

1. Integration of the state's public school system along lines set down by decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court outlawing public school segregation.
  2. Desegregation of all public housing and all housing developments receiving federal aid, including those financed through loans from the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration.
- For the second project, Alexander urged that Negroes apply for living in such segregated units in order to force test court cases.
- Alexander also struck at Gov. Hodges' suggested plan that the races maintain segregation through their own choice, and that local school units be allowed to plan pupil assignments on their own. He called the plan and others "deliberate and intentional techniques to evade compliance with the Supreme Court decision."

One-Time Child Actress Is Wed

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Former child actress Jane Withers and singer Kenneth Errair were married yesterday aboard a yacht.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Sam Allison, pastor of the Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church. Mrs. David Rose was matron of honor. Elmo Glorio of Detroit was best man.

This is the second marriage for the 29-year-old actress. She was married to William P. Moss Jr., Texas cattleman, in 1946. They were divorced in 1954. They have three children.

Errair, also 29, has not been married previously. He is a member of the singing group called the "Four Freshmen."

Misinformation About Food Said To Abound

ST. LOUIS (AP)—So you've been skipping meals as a good way to reduce . . . or perhaps eating olives and oysters in the belief they'll make you more virile.

If so, you're wasting either your power or your time, says the American Dietetic Assn.

Have you always thought junior needs a thick steak after a strenuous afternoon on the football field because protein needs are increased with physical activity?

Misinformation, say the association's food and nutrition experts. They add that it just isn't true, either, that sassafras thins the blood, or that cheese is constipating.

These were on a long list of food fallacies drawn up by the association's community nutrition section. The executive board of association, in convention here, has resolved to establish a program of providing the public with sound food and nutrition information.

"The national organization wishes to cooperate with its affiliated state associations and allied health groups, as well as the public in correcting food misinformation," said Miss Fern W. Gleiser of Chicago, president of the association.

The nutrition authorities are appalled by the amount of phony food beliefs swallowed and digested by so many Americans.

Who, for example, doesn't believe that milk, potatoes and bread themselves, are fattening—or that fruit and fruit juices are not fattening?

Why, the members of the American Dietetic Assn., don't. Neither do they accept the old sayings that fish is brain food, or that fresh pork in summer will make one ill, that celery is good for the nerves, or that garlic pills help our memory.

The association's community nutrition section also has drawn up a list of groups responsible for spreading false information about food.

The salesman who distorts facts to sell his product and the professional person who fails to keep well-informed and passes on outdated beliefs are on it, along with many others.

And so is grandpa.

Illness Appears To Have Applied Inflation Brakes

NEW YORK (AP)—The President's illness appears to be accomplishing what the money managers first started out to do with tight money—nip over confidence and put a brake on inflation.

Confidence seems unshaken. But as the stock market shows, caution has returned. There are fewer people today who believe that the only way business stock prices, and the economy can go is up.

Many businessmen, therefore, now believe that the money managers will take few if any further steps in tightening credit. Interest rates are still creeping higher as the result of past steps by Federal Reserve and government mortgage and home building agencies. And there is little thought of a shift to easy money.

But money managers seem to think these past steps plus the president's illness have halted over-confidence, speculation and incipient inflation that could lead to boom and bust.

Home building felt the pinch first. Contractors say mortgages are hard to come by these days and housing starts are decreasing.

Tighter money also has hit businessmen seeking bank loans. Banks have just hiked their interest rates again.

But so far Federal Reserve hasn't raised its rate, and businessmen see this as a sign that further tightening of money is not thought necessary now.

All along Federal Reserve has made clear it wasn't making money dear just for the sake of restraining business. It promised to keep credit easy enough for ordinary business needs. But it was alarmed at the signs of over-confidence and speculation which threatened a runaway boom.

In the last three weeks this over-confidence has been largely deflated. Speculation is being widely tempered by caution. And inflation looks like much less of a threat now than just three weeks ago.

FOSSIL FIND

BENSON, Ariz. (AP)—Fossils believed to be nearly three million years old have been discovered near here. # Not Very Many Serve Life Sentences

Four youths—three of them teen-agers—last week began life sentences for first degree murder in North Carolina. Each of the youths will serve several years of his sentence, then in all probability will be released from prison to again seek a place in society.

If the normal course of events is followed in their cases, these youths who have been found guilty of first degree murder will still not be old men when they are released from prison. Whether their prison experience will rehabilitate them for a proper place among law abiding citizens or will only afford them a prolonged education in the way of hardened criminals remains a moot question.

Unfortunately the percentage of parolees from North Carolina prisons who return to crime after being released is high. Many of those who serve only a fraction of their sentences find themselves at odds with the law again shortly after their release. Perhaps their subsequent crimes are of a lesser nature than the original one for which they were sentenced, but more often than not the seriousness of the crime increases.

In the case of these youths who were sentenced last week after being found guilty of first degree murder, possible future crimes could be no more serious than the ones they already have committed. Yet we wonder whether juries which choose between capital punishment and life imprisonment in first degree murder cases actually feel that the guilty should actually be allowed to return to society after serving a few years of the sentence?

It is almost an economic necessity that North Carolina—like other states—have a system of paroles in connection with system of dealing with those guilty of crimes. If we did not the state would have to spend more millions of dollars to house those guilty of crimes for the full term of their sentence.

Although our penal system is supposed to afford the inmate a program of rehabilitation as well as punishment for his crime, the former receives very little attention in our prisons program. We often wonder whether those parties who receive "life imprisonment" in lieu of the death penalty for capital crimes should not be made to serve what the sentence implies—a life of confinement in prison

A Business Is Expected To Pay Cost For Trips

When a member of Congress or some other government official has to go out of the country on government business, it is only right for Uncle Sam to pay the necessary expenses. Business is business, and when in business it is necessary for an official to travel, the firm which he works usually finances the trip.

It is one thing for a member of Congress to take a trip in behalf of the government and let the government bear the necessary expense. It is quite another thing when a Congressman or other federal official takes off on a lark and leaves the taxpayers to pick up the tab.

Although the government operates its own air transportation services, the travel expense item goes up mightily fast when officials begin ordering special planes for special trips which would otherwise be worked in with regular schedules of government flights.

Some of the criticism which has been leveled at Congressmen who scatter across the face of the globe at government expense when Congress is not in session is justified. In some cases Congressmen have taken advantage of their position to take expense-paid vacations under the guise of official business. For the most part, however, most of the solons in our opinion have taken their work-trips seriously and have not usurped their authority to request government transportation.

The recent stir over special planes which earlier were said to have been requested by Senators Stennis, McClellan and Chavez has been cleared with the Air Force announcement that it got its transportation wires crossed. The special planes were not requested by the solons, the Air Force said, they were sent because they were necessary to meet schedules made more than a month ago.

Tangible Evidence Of Eastern Carolina View

Wilson County has taken a major step toward alleviating its shortage of school classrooms by approving a major school bond issue even in the face of uncertainties in public schools because of the Supreme Court anti-segregation decision.

The people of Wilson County Saturday went to the polls and voted almost eight-to-one in favor of a two million dollar school bond issue. While almost 1,800 votes cast in the referendum represents only a small portion of the eligible voters in Wilson County, the results of the election indicated the heavily favorable support the effort had among the residents of that county.

Obviously the people of Wilson County realize their public schools cannot be neglected while the many questions surrounding the segregation issue remain unresolved. More classrooms must be added as the number pupils increase unless the public schools of that county are to become so overcrowded that they cause a continuing deterioration of the educational program.

The vote in Wilson County Saturday should be encouraging to many people throughout the state who have seriously questioned the reaction of Eastern North Carolina people to spending more local funds for public schools in the face of the segregation question. If Wilson County is any indication of the people's feeling toward the public school system—and we frankly believe it is—it is evident the people of the area are not going to let their public school system go to pot for lack of physical plants while the question of segregated or integrated schools remain in the forefront in state public schools considerations.

The Wilson County vote is tangible evidence of the feeling of Eastern Carolina people toward their public school system even in the face of unanswered questions concerning the segregation issue. It is an encouraging sign to those who realize the importance of public schools in our way of life.

Saarlanders Raise Old Problems For Europe

One of the principal bones of contention, the Saar, has been thrown open to future grounds for discord between France and Germany by the just-concluded election.

By voting against the Europeanization status, with a strong lean toward reunification with Germany, the Saarlanders have upset many year's work for reconciliation between the two historic rivals.

The Saar has long passed out of the realm of being merely a problem for France and Germany, this industrially-rich area is a European problem. Its people do not live on an island.

Use For Abandoned Sanitoria Appears

By LYNN NISBET

HOSPITALS—The idea of utilizing some of the county tuberculosis sanatoria which are being abandoned as nursing homes for senile and bedridden patients is being considered by Dr. J. W. Murdoch, acting superintendent of the mental hospital system.

A major problem for the State Hospitals Board of Control for many years has been the high population of senile and incurable occupying beds in the hospitals which otherwise might be available for patients susceptible to treatment and cure. There are about 200 of this class patients at Dix Hill, about 75 at Butler. Dr. Murdoch does not have at hand the number at Morganton, but said it would approximate the same at Raleigh.

Available rooms in the tuberculosis sanatoria has made it possible to transfer TB patients from all but three or four of the county institutions. Plans are for complete abandonment of county sanatoria by end of next year. What use to make of the county buildings is giving concern to local authorities.

Dr. Murdoch joined a group of local people on an inspection of the recently vacated Guilford sanatorium last Thursday. He found it entirely suitable for the type nursing home he has in mind, requiring very inexpensive adaptation. The plant accommodates about 125 tuberculous patients. Dr. Murdoch believes that elimination of some of the dining room and medical facilities will provide accommodation for 200 bed-ridden old people who are not really sick, mentally or physically, but who require custodial care.

The Guilford sanatorium is the only one visited by the mental hospital folks, but there is prospect within a few months of plants in Forsyth, Mecklenburg and New Hanover being considered.

PROBLEMS—The whole idea is in embryo stage. Ideally there are numerous problems to be worked out. Some of the counties need the buildings for local purposes. One proposed use for the Guilford building is a vocational school. In other places the old sanatoria are serving to relieve the shortage of public office space in the line of State use will have to be on co-operative basis. The buildings belong to the counties and the sanatoria have been largely supported by local tax money. The State has for years made relatively small contribution on per diem basis for care of TB patients. Now that the big State sanatoria at McCain, Wilson, Black Mountain and Chapel Hill have facilities for better care and treatment of patients, the State is abandoning the practice of contributing to local units. By removing pa-

Mass production, making mass consumption possible, has been one of the bases of the Western system of free enterprise. We teach our children in school that if each auto were made by hand it would be too expensive except for the very rich. If each aspirin tablet were compounded by hand, a headache would be more bearable than the price.

of course, expect present customers to pay for these extensions. The companies will borrow the money. But they do want a higher margin of profit to attract lenders.

prices, because a company is handling a higher volume seems like charging a nickel apiece for eggs or 65 cents a dozen, or pricing ready-to-wear suits higher than those cut to order.

Another 'Profession' Growing

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Yes, it is the old misnamed "public relations" job which is fast being built up into a new and distinctive "human relations" profession. Furthermore, it is open to both men and women—yes, even to "shut-ins." I forecast it is headed for a brilliant future.

WHY A NEW PROFESSION? Many lawyers are being used as "public relations" men; but it is not a work for lawyers. You yourself know that a lawyer's letterhead scares you! It is indicative of force. A good human relations man or woman cannot use force or directly or indirectly threaten. You may be wrong but in my opinion, to be most successful a human relations expert should not be a lawyer and should never have to take the case to court.

Unfortunately, human relations work has got mixed up with advertising. Although I am a great believer in wise advertising, yet it must be open and above-board. It must not be any part of secret propaganda. The human relations expert, whether man or woman should frankly state he or she is in the employ, at the time, of certain corporations (one or more). But the terms "public" or "human" relations need not appear on his letterhead. If the corporation's letterhead is used, no reference should be made to a Public Relations Department or to such an office as "Vice President, in charge of Public Relations." In fact, the terms should be avoided at all times in any public way.

FUNDAMENTAL RULES FOR SUCCESS

1. Always be honest. 2. Handle cases only in the community in which you live and are known to be a person of excellent character and in which, preferably, you are connected with some church. 3. Avoid threatening, bribing, or being party to ultimatums. In case of labor troubles, "keep the ball in the air," so to speak. Unless a fire is constantly being kept with you, it goes out. 4. Avoid using the words "never" or "always." 5. To use a slang phrase, a good public relations person will not "attempt to tell a father how to raise his children." 6. Avoid writing letters in any public way. Keep all work very informal and personal, without a secretary or other go-between.

To succeed in this new profession, a person must be patient, starting with only one corporation at a time, and which is handling MUST know more about said corporation than anyone else in the community. Of course this takes time, patience and prayer; but think of the time and money which will be saved to be get his first patient. On the other hand, such a public relations man needs no office, but can operate from his home; in fact, an office might be a handicap. The work should be done either by telephone or through personal talks. Every such person should be a careful reader and indexer of the local newspaper and get the friendship of all local merchants.

WORK SHOULD BE INFORMAL

It does not harm and perhaps may help such persons to do other things for a corporation client. Also, I, however, cannot overemphasize the importance of advice, integrity and the recognition by the entire community—bankers, merchants, labor leaders and wage-workers—that you stand for such. As for income, your fee for each case must depend upon the time consumed and the results achieved. I should say that these fees might run from $100 to $5,000. But let the corporation determine the fee. Your task is to have every one connected with the problem satisfied with the outcome.

The public relations group have a monthly publication called "Public Relations Journal." Several text books are available to those desiring to read about this new profession. The Babson Institute has none of these books for sale; but it has a course of study which helps men prepare for such work. Unfortunately its classes for 1955-56 are full and no more applicants can now be taken. Prof. Bertrand R. Canfield, at the head of the Department, Any reader may feel free to write him for a list of books on the subject, including one written by himself. Just address him at Babson Institute, Babson Park 57, Mass.

Auto Careens Into Oil Tanker; 7 Marines Die

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—A sedan going northward broadsided into an approaching oil tank truck-trailer yesterday, killing seven young Marines in the car.

It was one of the worst highway disasters in southern California history. Wreckage and bodies were strewn along the highway. The windshield broke off the Marines' machine, sailed over the truck and shattered the windshield of another car but its driver was unhurt. The truck's radiator was embedded inside the Marines' car.

The truck driver, Jack R. Hubbard, 32, was unhurt. He told highway patrolmen: "There was nothing I could do. They were skidding, then wham! They hit me. It sounded like thunder. Sparks went everywhere."

Patrolmen said it was a miracle the oil-acen truck did not explode. They said skid marks showed the oncoming car was five feet over the center line reeling sideways.

The 1st Division Marines, returning to Camp Pendleton from weekend liberty, were:

Cpl. Wesley T. Macon, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tossa L. Macon, Navco Ala.; Pvt. Frederick P. Hulme, 21, son of Edwin Hulme, Medford, Mass. and Mrs. Anna Hulme Chelsea, Mass.; Cpl. John H. Malone, 21, son of John R. Malone, Bixby, Okla. and Mrs. Anna Malone, Tulsa, Okla.; Cpl. James B. White, 19, son of Arion E. White, Herrin, Ill.; Cpl. Paul L. Lemieux, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Lemieux, Lowell, Mass.; Cpl. Gary C. Perini, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Perini, Denver, Colo.; and Pfc. James H. Harker, 20, son of Mrs. Thelma Bowen Delphi, Ind.

Highway patrolmen said Macon was driving the car. Six Marines died instantly. Harker died shortly afterward in a hospital. The crash, occurred about five miles northeast of Brea.

Safe-Crackers Found Nothing

PARMILLY—Would-be robbers got nothing for their troubles when they broke into an ancient safe stored in an unoccupied house on S. Main St. here sometime last week.

Chief of Police L. T. Lucas said the culprits broke into the safe from the rear. He estimated that the safe was around 200 years old.

It was stored along with other furniture in a house owned by Quinley Reobuck of Raleigh.

Chief Lucas said the owner reported nothing missing from the safe or the house.

The chief stated that the house was entered sometime between Tuesday and Saturday afternoon when the safe breaking was discovered. The culprits entered the house by a rear window.

Investigation of the affair is underway, Lucas stated.

Dr. G. P. Corey Dies In Durham

Dr. Giles Patterson (Pat) Corey, 30, of Greenville died in Duke Hospital in Durham at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon following two months of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by the pastor, the Rev. W. M. Howard Jr., assisted by the Rev. R. W. Bradshaw, Methodist minister of Wilson. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Dr. Corey, son of J. Hicks and Laura Edwards Corey of Greenville, was born and reared in Greenville and was graduated from Greenville High School in 1943. After attending the University of North Carolina, he entered the Bowman-Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem and was graduated with a degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1951.

He interned for two years at Jefferson-Hillman Hospital in Birmingham, Ala. prior to entering the U. S. Navy in 1953. Since then he has been stationed at Pensacola, Fla. and aboard the aircraft carrier Antietam. He was a member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, Phi Chi, national medical fraternity, and Phi Gamma Delta, national social fraternity.

Dr. Corey was married to the former Miss Elizabeth Kennedy of New Bern in 1951, daughter of J. T. Kennedy of New Bern. Surviving in addition to his widow are a daughter, Laura Lucinda Corey; a son, Giles Patterson Corey Jr.; his parents; and a brother, Dr. J. Hicks Corey Jr. of Charlottesville, Va.

Boys Unscathed In Long Ordeal

CHICAGO (AP)—Thirst and hunger were the only ill effects suffered by two 9-year-old boys trapped for 15 hours in the steel drum of an old laundry machine.

The boys, Robert Houk and James E. Hardcastle Jr., stopped at the display lot of a laundry equipment company Saturday afternoon on their way to a movie. With them was 8-year-old Billy Stephens.

Robert and James decided to investigate the interior of a big commercial laundry in a building stored on the lot. They climbed inside. Billy playfully closed the door on the perforated drum.

The door would not open. Billy said nothing to anyone until early yesterday when he was pressed by the frantic parents of the missing boys.

He finally told police and firemen.

Rescuers found both boys calmly sleeping in the giant tub.

Plaque For Old Eisenhower Farm

ELIZABETHTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A bronze plaque now marks the farm home built by President Eisenhower's grandfather 101 years ago in this central Pennsylvania town.

The plaque was unveiled by the President's brother Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University, at ceremonies yesterday. He said:

"If they (the Eisenhower brothers) have lived and strengthened just a little such principles as fear of God, freedom, justice and opportunity, if the family has symbolized these fundamentals, this tablet has a value."

The home is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Phillips. Most of the original house is intact although it has been enlarged and renovated.

Siamese Twins Born To Family

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Siamese twin girls were born yesterday at Madison General Hospital to a 36-year-old Dane County woman.

The girls are joined at the abdomen, but apparently are normal in all other respects. The physician, who would not reveal the name of the parents, said it would take four or five days study to determine what might be done surgically to separate the girls.

The parents have one other child, the physician said. Both the mother and twins are reported in good condition.

Furniture Mart Buyers Gather

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Buyers from over the nation began gathering here today for the opening of the annual fall showing of the Southern Furniture Mart.

More than half of the nation's bedroom furniture is made within a 100-mile radius of here and the area was expected to be flooded with an all-time high in attendance. Previously W. M. Bassett, chairman of the Furniture Factories Marketing Assn. of the South, predicted "clear sailing" for the industry.

Regional Head Of BPW Elected

CHARLESTON S.C. (AP)—Mrs. H. Pat Nixon of Sanford N.C., is the new president of the Southeastern states region of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

She was elected Saturday at the biennial meeting here. Birmingham, Ala., was picked for the 1957 meeting.

An installation ceremony and a session of the regional board yesterday wound up the four-day meeting, attended by 530 delegates from nine states.

Also elected were Mrs. Edna Van Acker of Miami, vice chairman; Miss Annise Troth of Atlanta, recording secretary; Miss Claire Richbourg of Greenville, treasurer, and Miss Opal Marie Jackson of Washington, D.C., chairman of nominations.

The North Carolina Highway Patrol traveled some 22 million miles in 1954 to protect life and property on the highways.

Warehouse Burns At Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The Planters Tobacco Warehouse three miles from Fayetteville was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin yesterday. One of the owners, Carl Adams, estimated the loss at $178,000.

Adams said 20,000 pounds of tobacco and considerable equipment were lost.

Two nearby homes were badly burned by the flames. No injuries were reported.

Fence-Mending On Adlai's Farm

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson did a little political fence mending yesterday at his 70-acre farm.

He entertained Lake County men and others—about 200 in all. But the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee did not divulge his 1956 plans to his neighbors. He is expected to make the announcement next month.

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, who was the nominee for vice president on the ticket headed by Stevenson, was an overnight guest at the farm.

Stevenson made no speech. He mingled with the visitors and showed them around his place.

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Oct. 22.—The East Tennessee State Teachers spotted East Carolina College 13 points, then scored five times with blinding suddenness to throttle the Pirates, 35-20, in an inter-sectional football game here.

East Carolina showed its finest offense of the campaign and looked like more than a 6-point favorite for the first 40 minutes. The Pirates scored the first time they got their hands on the pigskin.

The scoring play was a 40-yard pass from quarterback Milton Collier to halfback Emo Boado. Collier added the point-after with only five minutes having elapsed on the clock.

On the fourth play in the second period, Harold O'Kelly, fullback, climaxed a Pirate drive for another touchdown. He went off left guard for four yards and the score, Collier's placement was no good but East Carolina had a 13-0 lead over a stunned East Tennessee club.

The Tennesseans roared back, however, and sent fullback Howard Tippet around end for 15 yards and a touchdown. Tom Rock, sturdy tackle, booted his first five conversions.

Perry Ramps
About this time both teams were just getting warmed up. East Carolina talked again, this time on a beautiful 30-yard scamper by fleet halfback Bob Perry. Dick Cherry converted true and the Pirates held a 20-7 advantage with less than four minutes left in the half.

But four minutes was enough for the East Tennessee Buccaneers. Quarterback Don Riley tossed a fourth down desperation pass to end Bob Evans which the latter gathered in for the touchdown. The play covered 11 yards. Rock's boot made it 20-14 and the crowd was left tingling as the half ended.

After intermission, it was all East Tennessee. Penalties galore and a unstoppable Buc passing attack left East Carolina hapless at the end.

Two In 3rd
The winners scored twice in the third period. The first one was set up when East Carolina tried the yardage for a first down when deep in their own territory. The East Tennessee line held O'Kelly on fourth down and the Buccaneers took over at the 22.

Riley hit end Bob Bradley to move to the 16 and a first down. Hard-driving Don Whistler fought his way to the 8. Riley fumbled on the next play but made his own recovery. Dickie Warren, right half, got five and Whistler went over from the three.

Less than three minutes later, East Tennessee furthered their advantage. Cherry was rushed as he tried to get off a punt and the kick went out on ECC's 30. Tippet motored to the 22 before Perry pulled him to earth. Riley then got Evans in his sights and tossed a 15-yard strike for the touchdown. ETSC 28, ECC 20.

By this time, the East Carolina defense had been ripped to shreds by the rifle arm of Riley and the running of Warren, Whistler and Tippet.

East Tennessee's final marker came on a two-yard end around by Warren. Rock nervelessly converted and ECC stood on the short end of a 35-20 score.

The loss was the fourth suffered this season by East Carolina against three wins. East Tennessee now has won four, lost only one and played one tie.

The summary:
East Carolina . . . 13 0 0-20
East Tennessee . . . 0 14 14 7-35
East Carolina scoring—Touchdowns: Boado, 49, pass from Collier; O'Kelly, 4, plunge; Perry 30 run. Conversions: Cherry, Collier.
East Tennessee scoring—Touchdowns: Tippet 15, run; Evans 20, pass from Riley, 18 pass from Tippet; Whistler 5, run; Warren 2, plunge. Conversions: Rock 5.

Sooners Appear Shoo-In To Get Big Seven Title

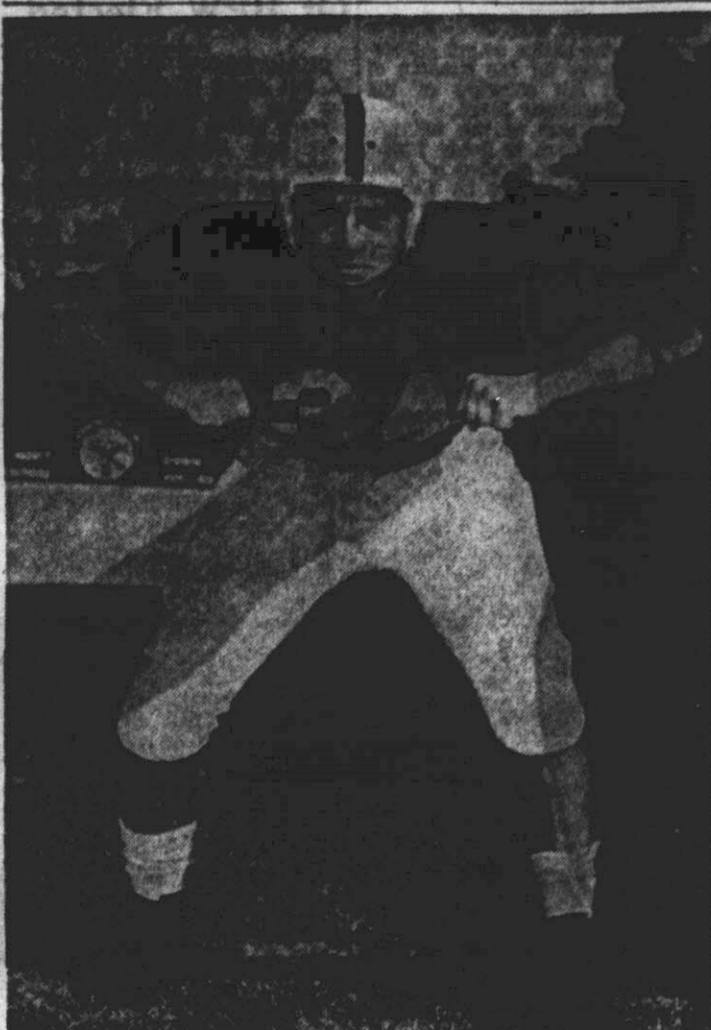

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—It now appears an almost certain that the Oklahoma Sooners will win the Big Seven Conference title for the eighth straight year, have another perfect season and play in the College Bowl.

And it could be that Oklahoma has its greatest team since Bud Wilkinson took over as coach in 1950.

Coch Dallas Ward, who watched Oklahoma rip his Colorado Buffaloes 56-21 at Norman's last Saturday, commented it was the best "blabber" team he has played and that it is the fastest team he has ever seen any place.

Sooners now have scored in 50 successive games and have gone 47 playing dates (45 victories and 2 ties), since winning a Big Seven title.

Oklahoma is scheduled to make Kansas State its third Big Seven victim of the campaign at Abilene, Kan., Saturday. Kansas State won its first conference game, 7-0, over Iowa State on Jim Risher's 39-yard field goal last Saturday.

STANDOUT—Guard Ken Burgess of Burlington played a great game defensively for East Carolina against East Tennessee Saturday night in Johnson City. The 185-pounder is only a sophomore.

Harbert Confident His Ryder Cuppers Will Win

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Chick Harbert, captain of the United States Ryder Cup team, expressed confidence today that his golfers would beat England in the approaching matches and uphold the tradition of having never lost to the British in the states.

Harbert's Ryder Cuppers polished off a challenge team assembled by Jimmie Demaree 29½ to 15½ over the Midland Country Club course here the past weekend.

"This year's Ryder Cup team is one of the best ever fielded by the United States," said Harbert.

The Ryder Cuppers licked Demaree's team 17½ to 12½ in the singles yesterday following up a 12-3 decision in the Scotch foursomes Saturday.

Chandler Harper, Sam Snead and Jack Burke led the Ryder Cuppers with 3-0-0 victories. Snead beat Mike Seachak with a 4-under-par Mike Seachak with a 4-under-par 68 over the 7,305-yard course. Seachak had a 74.

Cary Middlecoff beat Demaree by one point by also shooting a 68 to the Snead for low score of the day. Harper had a 69 in downing Bobie Rosburg. Burke won over A. Bessink with a 71.

Harbert split over Vic Ghezzi and Jerry Barber halved with Billy Maxwell. Challengers: Don Cherry, Bo Winger, Byron Nelson and Fred Hawkins won their matches. Cherry beat Marty Furgo, Winger won over Tommy Bolt, Nelson beat Doug Ford and Hawkins edged Ted Kroll although the latter had a hole-in-one.

Former Star Of SMU Is Injured
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Frank Eidom, 23, former Southern Methodist University football star, was reported in critical condition with a skull fracture at Brooke Army Medical Center after an auto crash near Gonzalez yesterday.

Police at Gonzalez said Eidom apparently fell asleep at the wheel and hit a tree alongside Highway 90 about 25 miles northeast of Gonzalez. He was driving a 1954 Buick.

Eidom, of Port Arthur, was noted for his head punting and pass receiving. In 1954, his senior year, he was named All-Southwest Conference.

Old Pro Stars Still Shine For Browns, Rams

By RIP WATSON
The Associated Press
Pro football fans in Cleveland and Los Angeles can be glad Otto Graham and Crazy Legs Hirsch aren't the retiring type.

The two old pros called it quits at the end of last season, then changed their minds. Today their clubs are leading the National Football League.

True, the surprising Pittsburgh Steelers are keeping pace with Cleveland in the Eastern Conference but they were far less impressive yesterday in a 19-17 victory over the New York Giants than the Browns were in walloping Green Bay 41-10.

Graham completing 7 of 12 passes for 187 yards, guided the Browns on touchdown marches of 74, 97 and 71 yards and scored once himself.

Hirsch took a pass from Norm Van Brocklin for the winning touchdown in Los Angeles' 24-13 victory over the toothless Detroit Lions by winning the Rams' emergence from a three-way tie for the Western Conference lead as the Packers were beaten and Washington edged Baltimore 14-13 on Vic Janowicz's accurate conversational kicking.

The Chicago Bears won their second straight after a miserable start, as Ed Brown ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third in a 34-23 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

Philadelphia, the September choice to battle Cleveland for the Eastern Crown, was left with a 13-1 mark after a 24-24 tie with the Chicago Cardinals. Cleveland and Pittsburgh are 4-1 with seven games to go.

Although the Green Bay-Cleveland game was close on the scoreboard for three quarters, the statistics tell a far different story. Cleveland rolled up 454 yards while their hard-hitting defensive platoon held the Packers to 161. A 100-yard kickoff return by Al Carmichael supplied Green Bay's only touchdown.

Duke Tumbles From Undeclared Ranks By 26-7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ed Vereb of Maryland, who scored one touchdown and passed for another in the undefeated Terrapins' 24-13 victory over Syracuse, is almost certain to set a new single-season scoring record in the three-year-old Atlantic Coast Conference.

His performance last Saturday boosted his total to eight touchdowns and 48 points in the six games that Maryland has played this season. The senior halfback from Pittsburgh is within one touchdown and six points of tying the record of 84 points shared by several players. And Maryland has four regular games left this season.

Next with 30 points apiece are Bob Pascal and Bernie Blaney, whose Duke team was tumbled from the undefeated ranks by Pittsburgh's 26-7. Blaney scored the Duke touchdown after scampering 75 yards with a pass from quarterback Sonny Jurgenson. Pitt came back with three touchdowns in the second half, behind a solid line.

Fourth with 26 points in ACC individual scoring is John Parham, whose Wake Forest mates drubbed North Carolina 25-0. Parham scored twice once on a one-yard plunge for which the stage was set when he caught a 17-yard pass from Nick Consoles, and another time on a 25-yard pass from Charlie Carpenter. Coach Tom Roger nominated Carpenter sophomore quarterback from Canton, as the key man in the victory, saying "Charlie gave us the spark we needed to get rolling in the second half." Wake Forest scored all its points in the second half. Carpenter was successful on seven of 10 passes for 187 yards, including a ditch to end Ralph Brewster that went 83 yards in the air, a new ACC record for the longest nonscoring pass. Consoles completed eight of 15 for 90 yards.

Wake Forest, which won only two of 10 games last season, now has won three of six. The victories this season have been over Virginia Tech, South Carolina, and North Carolina, all of whom beat Wake Forest last year.

Quarterback Eddie West passed for two touchdowns and plunged for two others as North Carolina State won its first game of the season 34-13 from winless Villanova. One of the TD heaves was a 44-yarder to Dick Hunter, tied for fifth in ACC scoring with 24 points.

Junior is in a three-way tie with Billy O'Dell of Clemson and Mike Caskey of South Carolina whose teams battled earlier last week in their traditional Big Thursday game. Clemson won, 28-14.

Coaches To Resume Basic Pigskin Lessons Same System For Phants

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer
Greenville High School's football coaching staff intends to continue their recent mode of instruction despite a 41-7 shellacking handed their team by New Bern Friday night.

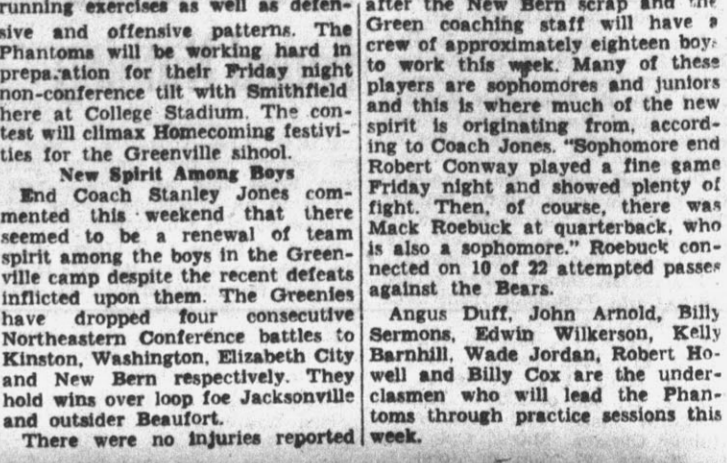

Head Coach Guy Lewis and two assistants, Vaughn Fowler and Stanley Jones, have been striving since early season to give their squad a solid, thorough knowledge of the basic fundamentals of the gridiron game. As one of the three put it, "You can't teach a team a lot of tricky maneuvers until they first learn the meanings of the words RUN, TACKLE, and BLOCK."

Drills during the coming week will include tackling, blocking and running exercises as well as defensive and offensive patterns. The Phantoms will be working hard in preparation for their Friday night non-conference tilt with Smithfield here at College Stadium. The contest will climax Homecoming festivities for the Greenville school.

New Spirit Among Boys
End Coach Stanley Jones commented this weekend that there seemed to be a renewal of team spirit among the boys in the Greenville camp despite the recent defeats inflicted upon them. The Greenies have dropped four consecutive Northeastern Conference battles to Kingston, Washington, Elizabeth City and New Bern respectively. They hold wins over loop for Jacksonville and outsider Beaufort.

There were no injuries reported after the New Bern scrap and the Green coaching staff will have a crew of approximately eighteen boys to work this week. Many of these players are sophomores and juniors and this is where much of the new spirit is originating from, according to Coach Jones. "Sophomore end Robert Conway played a fine game Friday night and showed plenty of fight. Then, of course, there was Mack Roebuck at quarterback, who is also a sophomore." Roebuck connected on 19 of 22 attempted passes against the Bears.

Angus Duff, John Arnold, Billy Sermons, Edwin Wilkerson, Kelly Barnhill, Wade Jordan, Robert Howell and Billy Cox are the underclassmen who will lead the Phantoms through practice sessions this week.

TWO TOUGH TERMINALS for Coach Guy Lewis Greenville Phantom football team are Ike Riddick and Edwin Wilkerson, who will be depended upon greatly in the coming contests. Both boys are excellent receivers and both serve well at a defensive end post. Riddick also punts and passes for the Phants at various times, while Wilkerson has performed at guard, center and linebacker slots. (Reflector Sports Photos by Bruce Phillips)

CHAPTER THIRTYONE

Shandy brought in a tray with scrambled eggs, toast and coffee. Doc Thomas came down, gave Lois a hostile glance, looked lingeringly at Carol, curiously at Shandy and took his departure. Lois was ravenous. The drink, the hot coffee, the food restored her. She looked at her watch. "Good heavens, it's two-thirty!" She got up. "Shandy, you really save my life."

"I'll take you home," he said. Carol got easily to her feet. "Darling, I'm sorry you should have responsibility for all these people practically thrust on you. But I don't know what I'd do without you. You always help me so much. After seeing Mrs. Fleming to her cottage, do get a good rest yourself."

He walked slowly beside Lois. "Feel better?" he asked.

"Quite all right."

"Did the kid tell you what was wrong?"

"She was with Roger Brindle the night someone shot through the window. She thought the bullet was meant for her. Evidently she has been brooding; she was afraid someone would try again and she got panicky." Why don't I say Carol, she wondered. Why am I so cautious?

Shandy opened the door of her cottage and followed her in. Recalling that from the second-floor windows of the big house the cottage could be seen, Lois said unobtrusively, "You had better go, Shandy."

Again his mind followed hers with uncomfortable fidelity. "Carol been making remarks?"

"No, exactly."

"That's all over," he told her abruptly. "I supposed you understood that."

Suddenly Lois was not tired at all. She felt young and light and quite irrationally happy but she managed to say levelly, "Does Carol understand it?"

Shandy made no direct answer. "Why did Paula scream tonight?"

Lois explained that Clyde had insisted on seeing her and that Paula in her drugged state had mistaken him for Roger or Roger's ghost and had screamed in terror. Shandy shook his head. "I think you haven't quite got the picture. It is possible she was panicked by Clyde in propria persona. We might as well clear things as we go—you and I have a lot to clear up. So I'll tell you plainly I think it was Clyde Kibbee who fired that shot at Roger."

"Clyde? I simply don't believe it."

Clyde, Shandy explained, was an unknown factor. Because of Albert's frail health and his constant moving from church to church, he had never had a settled home; the boy had been kept away at schools and summer camps until he had gone into the Army.

"He has been here only a few weeks," Shandy said, "and he fell for Paula right away. Paula, of course, had a kid's infatuation for Roger. I think the boy was blind jealous and a bit unbalanced by the war. Anyhow, his own father was so devoted to the great man he had no time for his own boy; Clyde has had a lot to resent."

"You mean he killed Roger?"

Lois was incredulous.

"Oh, no," Shandy said. "I don't think there was any connection."

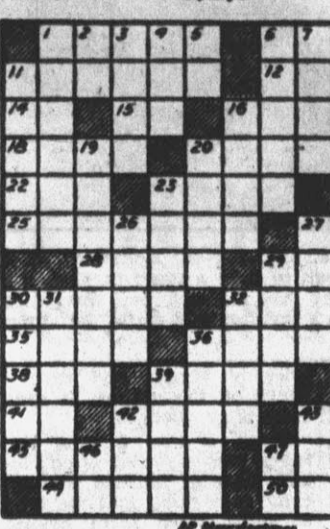

His voice trailed off and he looked down at her. "We'll talk about it tomorrow." He started for the door, wheeled, returned to her, gathered her into his arms and kissed her eyes, cheeks, throat, lips until she was limp, clinging to him. No moment will ever again be like this, she thought.

He released her with such abruptness that she staggered. "And I thought you'd come too late!" He went out, closing the door behind him.

The sheet of paper was adorned only by a half-dozen lines which had been x'd out. As blank as my mind, Lois thought. She was uncomfortably warm again and for the third time got up to switch off the electric heater. She returned to stare at the accusing page of paper in her typewriter and then, as a shiver ran along her spine, turned the heater on once more.

What kept her sitting in front of the silent typewriter was her respect for deadlines. In six weeks she must have finished copy on the first article in the hands of the editor, with the others following at weekly intervals. By now she should have been able to produce a detailed outline. Half a dozen glib openings had already suggested themselves but she felt a curious sense of obligation to Roger Brindle. He deserved better at her hands. He had spent his life giving people what they wanted and someone had killed him. Someone had entered this very room and turned on the gas.

The gate in the fence creaked and she turned swiftly to see Shandy coming across the terrace. He waved to her and came on, smiling. When he opened the Dutch door and came in the smile faded. For a moment he studied her, dark head a little on one side, hands in the pockets of his slacks. He wore a sport shirt with an open collar and looked younger years earlier. There was a new air of determination about him and instinctively Lois found herself gathering her defenses.

"It's all right to be a ghost but isn't it carrying matters a bit too far to look like one?" he inquired. "You are too pale and there are shadows under your eyes." With his fingertips he touched one cheek. "You're cold!"

He picked her up unexpectedly, put her on the couch and drew over her a Scotch plaid blanket. "Too much romping around in the woods for you last night. Take it easy for the rest of the day."

"But I have work to do," she answered helplessly.

"And time to do it in."

"After all you know, I'm not here as a guest," she reminded him.

He shot her a quick, speculative glance, opened his lips and closed them again. He looked at the paper in her typewriter. "At least," he commented, "you can't pretend that I interrupted any flow of ideas." He sat down at the typewriter and began to poke at the keys in a two-fingered, pleading fashion, his forehead puckering as he concentrated on his work.

"What on earth are you doing, Shandy?"

"Borrowing your typewriter. I want to get off that advertisement for Ebel's Hattery. Should have done it before but what with one thing and another—" he swiveled around in the chair and grinned at her. "You are a very distracting person to have around, Lois. Bad for my peace of mind."

To her immense annoyance Lois could feel herself blushing. "Speaking of the Hattery," she began quickly.

His dark brows arched. "Were we?" he asked in amusement.

"Shandy—did you fight with Joe Hattery?"

His grin faded. "I just explained, in the only way that septile little rat would understand, that I don't like Peeping Toms."

Remembering how she had stood unclothed in the brightly lighted room with the dark windows, dropping the filmy nightgown over her head, she shrank back, her face dark with color. "Is that what—"

"That's what he was doing out-

Old Political Parties Begin To Stir In Free Argentina

By ROMAN JIMENEZ

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's old political parties and some new ones are taking advantage of their new freedom to prepare for the next elections—even though these may take many months or years to materialize.

Leaders of the established Radical, Democrat (conservative) Socialist and Progressive Democratic parties have taken to the air through the previously forbidden state radio to voice their opinions and ideas.

The old parties are engaging in a "active" reorganization of their ranks and especially of their leading cadres. This is more noticeable in the Radical party, the strongest opposition group during the Peron regime. The Radicals, actually a center party, are engaged in an attempt to heal their internal divisions.

Among new forces coming up in Argentina's political field are the Christian Democrat group and a Social Democratic group which may be created by old Peronists who long ago parted from Peron.

An announcement this week said "a group of personalities" including Dr. Juan Atilio Bramuglia, was drawing up a communique on Argentina's present and future political conditions. Bramuglia was once Peron's right hand man in social affairs—the springboard from which the deposed president jumped to complete power in 1946.

Bramuglia was a respected, temperate foreign minister for Peron from 1946 to 1949. Then he was dismissed after a long running feud with the president's wife Eva and Jeronimo Remorino, then ambassador to the United States.

He and his friends may make a strong bid to attract millions of Peronists who, with their leader in exile, are now bereft of personal allegiances.

Another such bid is expected from Cipriano Reyes, who founded the Labor party and supported Peron in 1945 and 1946. He went to jail in 1948, accused of plotting against Peron, but is now free.

Even the Conservatives, National Democratic party, many of them in high offices under the provisional government avoid any statement that might be construed by the workers as a threat to the rights and even the pampering they won under Peron.

The Communist party, legal under Peron, has been officially quiet since the revolution. The Peronista party, not yet outlawed has been even quieter. Its future is a mystery.

It seems probable the provisional government of Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi will take at least a year to tackle Argentina's economic and financial problems and to come down to the political facts of life before calling for general elections.

Grocery-Shopper Runs Into Conflicting Data

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The housewife pushing the grocery cart is at odds again with the statisticians who figure the food price index.

The housewife is told the wholesale index is down but she can't see that the retail food prices are—at least not much.

"It's largely the old story of the spread between the price of the raw materials out of which foods are fashioned and the finished products on the grocer's shelves. That spread like others, tends to widen with the years.

The grocer insists the housewife's getting more for her money today—if she takes into consideration all the fringe benefits of convenience, time saving and improved nutrition in today's prepared foods.

The government's wholesale farm product price index is well below the 1947-49 base. The government's wholesale food price index is about even with that pre-Korean war level. But the government's retail food price index in September was 11.6 per cent higher. Although nicely down from its peak of two years ago, Dun & Bradstreet's wholesale food price index is the lowest since June, 1950, when the Korean war started. The housewife finds this hard to believe because she says the prices she pay certainly aren't.

The D. & B. index is a rough and ready indicator. It isn't supposed to be definitive nor a cost of living index. The index is the sum of the price of a pound each of 31 foodstuffs. Included are lard, steers, hogs, barley, cottonseed oil. Few housewives would buy a pound of these each week.

Food prices, at every level, have come down from their peak. They fluctuate now. Some foodstuffs, like coffee or storm damaged vegetables, go up because of temporary shortages. Some, like pork, tumble because of over-supply.

But what the consumer mostly talks about is that the price of farm products and of foods at wholesale have fallen more than retail prices—and it's retail prices that interest him primarily.

The grocer and food processors have their arguments handy. They MUST BE DISPLEASED WITH STAND-IN.—In Hollywood, an actor passes a big milestone in his career when he becomes important enough to have a stand-in. Cleo, a basset hound appears in a filmed television series, "The People's Choice," has achieved that distinction but he doesn't seem happy about it. Maybe it's because the stand-in is a toy dog, used while the cameraman lights the scene because it will stand still. (AP Wirephoto).

Actor Declares Italian Actresses Should 'Act'

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (AP)—Anthony Quinn came right out and said it—Italian film sirens should start thinking less about bosoms and more about their acting.

Well, if this doesn't start an international incident, nothing will. But the Oscar winner "Viva Zapata," 1952 is sticking by his guns. What's more, he is qualified to comment. The past three years he has spent much of his time film making in Italy. He has met or worked with most of the much-publicized actresses there.

"Look—I've lived through two eras in Hollywood," he explained.

"I came here in 1937, so I've seen the eras of Carole Lombard and Mae West and the present time of Marilyn Monroe. I've seen them all.

"The thing that has impressed me about nearly every one of them is the basic urge for culture. They all want to get ahead, to improve in their profession.

"Betty Hutton wants to play the life of Sarah Bernhardt. Marilyn Monroe wants to play 'The Brothers Karamazov.' They all have some burning ambition.

"But that's not true of most of the Italian babes who have gotten big buildups. They think they can stay famous just because of their bosoms. That's not true. Because once their beauty starts to fade, they'll be sunk."

Sole exception among the curvaceous Italians is Gina Lollobrigida, he remarked. And this is not merely because she is slated to star with him in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" next year.

"Gina has a good head on her shoulders," Quinn remarked. "She knows you have to keep working to stay on top."

Such is not the case with other babes with whom American audiences are familiar, Quinn remarked.

"Yet there are some wonderful actresses in Italy," he said. "Girls like Lea Padovani, Valentina Cortese, Kerma and Julietta Masina. These are serious performers who do great acting jobs. But they are overshadowed by the more sensational babes."

'Nonaggression' Pact Dangled By Red China

MANILA (AP)—Manila Chronicle correspondents in Peiping reported today that Red China's Premier Chou En-lai, describing the "liberation" of Formosa as "inevitable," is dangling a nonaggression pact before the Philippines.

The Chronicle said Chou told the two correspondents in an interview that a "liberated" Formosa will not be used as a springboard for aggression against the Philippines. Only 230 miles of water separates the Nationalist-held island from Luzon, the northernmost Philippine island.

No official reaction was reported here.

(In Washington no comment was forthcoming last night from the State Department on Chou's reported proposal.)

The correspondents quoted Chou as saying, "Aggression will never happen (between the Philippines and China) because we've both suffered from foreign aggression and know from experience that aggressors always fail."

When you hear a siren or see a flashing red light on an approaching vehicle, you are required by law to leave the roadway until the emergency vehicle has passed, either on city streets or on rural highways.

Reunified Korea Plea Made On UN Day In Seoul

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea commemorated the 10th United Nations Day today with a renewed bid for unification of the divided peninsula at the earliest possible date.

"We demand unification of Korea and re-emphasize that it should not be delayed any longer from the standpoint of our survival," the U. N. Assn. of Korea declared in a resolution to the U. N. General Assembly.

President Syngman Rhee paid tribute to the Allied dead of the Korean War in a message: "Real peace will come to the world if the men buried here are not forgotten."

Gen. I. D. White, commander of the U. S. 8th Army in Korea, told the anniversary crowd of more than 2,000 in Seoul: "The victory is not secure so long as there remain those who would enslave their fellowmen."

Twenty-Six Hurt In Train Mishap

OTTER POINT, Md. (AP)—Twenty-six persons were injured when part of a Pennsylvania Rail Road train was derailed in this northeastern Maryland section yesterday, but only four of them were still hospitalized last night.

Fourteen cars left the tracks. Two were passenger coaches. The rest carried mail.

The train was on its way to Washington from New York. Investigators are seeking the cause.

Price of Bread, Flour Mills Hedge on Market to Even Out Daily Price Changes

There is also a time lag between raw material price changes and those of finished products. A cynic may think that the time lag is slight when farm prices are rising, and likely to be longer when they're falling.

But this is "Farm-City Week" aimed at making each understand the other better. It's that spread actually that causes most of the ill feeling on either side.

Food handlers also quote Department of Agriculture figures to show that payment to workers for assembling, processing, transporting, distributing farm food products was 46 per cent of the total cost of marketing in 1946 but is now 54 per cent. Modern "convenience foods" cost more in freezing, prepackaging, slicing, pre-cooking, packing. Transportation costs have gone up.

Daily fluctuations on the Chicago Board of Trade in the prices of the raw materials of tomorrow's victuals may mean little at the grocery. The cost of grain, for example, is a small percentage of the price of bread. And flour mills hedge on the market to even out daily price changes.

Runaway Truck Accident Fears Haunting Town

RATON, N.M.—A recent rash of runaway truck disasters has citizens more concerned than before over a traffic shotgun pointed down the community throat of this northern New Mexico city.

Just any time now, the fear is the next runaway heavily-loaded truck may come roaring death down off Raton Pass straight into the heart of the city.

Just as the fear exists, so does a certain amount of controversy over what has been done—or can be done—about the situation.

Raton is situated at the very foot of Raton Pass, a drop from the mountains of almost 1,200 feet in less than seven miles.

Last year two men were in a loaded vegetable truck which screamed out of control down the pass. The brakes and the vehicular monster were out. The mechanized nightmare ripped into a Y at the northern edge of the city, attempted to take a truck bypass but couldn't make the 45-degree turn. It scattered cabbage and lettuce over half an acre of railroad right-of-way and killed the two occupants.

It wasn't the first accident but it was the first fatal one. The town has been scared time and again.

Truck stop operator Jim Elliott is one of the leaders in a battle to have something done.

"There's no law of averages that says a truck has to go out of control because of brake failure in the middle of the night," he contends. "It could happen when these intersections are jammed with kids going home from school. It could happen in the business rush hours."

There was a mass protest meeting after the two deaths.

Elliott says all the New Mexico Highway Department did was to put up larger and better signs calling attention of truckers to a truck trap—or safety lane—on the mountainside where they could steer their runaway trucks.

Elliott doesn't think much of the truck traps—or the highway department's insistence they be called safety lanes.

"Most drivers," he says, "would rather take the risk of avoiding killing someone down in Raton than drive themselves into almost certain suicide."

The two traps are inclined designed to bring the trucks to a comparatively safe stop-off the main highway. But Elliott contends a speeding truck couldn't be kept on the narrow traps and drivers would face almost certain death.

State Highway Engineer L. D. Wiley disagrees. He says the traps have saved the lives of several truckers.

The New Mexico port of entry being moved from the foot of the pass to the top of the mountain. Truckers, required by law to stop, will be warned there may be trouble ahead.

The Raton Pass has been described as the most notorious runaway section in the United States. Raton residents don't care for the notoriety.

There have been no recent incidents, but escapades elsewhere with runaway trucks aren't easing the situation. Local residents are concerned, for they contend the

SEDAN DE VILLE: Cadillac's Sedan de Ville, a four-door hardtop presented for the first time for 1956, preserves the graceful Florentine window styling of two-door hardtops yet provides the roominess and four-door convenience of sedan models. Rear seat head and leg room in the Sedan de Ville is greater than in two-door hardtop models. The car features a new power train consisting of a new 285 horsepower engine and a "controlled coupling" Hydra-Matic transmission which is completely new in principle and mechanical parts.

South Viet Nam Republic To Be Proclaimed By Diem

By JOSEPH NERBONNE
SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, landslide winner in a popularity plebiscite over absentee chief of state Bao Dai, will proclaim South Viet Nam a republic and himself its first president, it was reported today.

Diem, one of Asia's most resolute anti-Communists, dug Bao Dai's political grave with a referendum yesterday in which the Vietnamese overwhelmingly rejected the playboy ex-emperor and chose the Premier chief of State.

Authoritative sources said Diem would proclaim Wednesday a holiday to announce the official election returns and in the presence of the Cabinet, diplomats and a large throng preside at the formal birth of the republic with himself as president.

He will remain premier as well until after the election of the first National Assembly, expected before the end of this year.

Returns from six provinces and the capital indicated about 98 per cent of those voting wanted Bao Dai eliminated from the political scene.

In Saigon, the capital, Diem received 424,126 votes to Bao Dai's 2,084.

The city of Tourane gave Diem 47,712 Bao Dai 5.

For the first time in modern history the Vietnamese were given the chance to vote in a national election and nearly five million turned out. No major violence was reported anywhere.

Another referendum probably will be held next month to approve a constitution.

The U.S. State Department has already said it will recognize the election outcome. Britain and France are believed certain to do likewise.

But new trouble between the Western Big Three and the Soviet Union loomed as a result. The overwhelming vote of confidence in Diem appeared to rule out any possibility of unification elections in North and South Viet Nam next July, provided by the Geneva armistice and vigorously opposed by Diem as long as the Communist North cannot guarantee free and unfettered voting.

The referendum marked the second—apparently final—ousting of Bao Dai from power. Puppet emperor of the kingdom of Annam under the prewar French and during the Japanese occupation he abdicated in 1945 under pressure from the Communist-led Vietminh and subsequently fled to Hong Kong. The French returned him in 1949 as chief of state, but his influence waned steadily after he went back to France last year and Diem's star rose.

From France Bao Dai gave active support to Diem's enemies and twice ordered him out of office. Instead of obeying, Diem pushed doggedly ahead, unified the wavering army defeated the rebellious Hoa Hao and Binh Xuyen private armies, jailed or exiled those Bao

Would Repeal Ban On Smoking

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — James Lamb, superintendent of the Oregon school for delinquent boys, thinks the state should repeal a law which prohibits minors from smoking.

He said of 119 boys checked at the reformatory, 112 had smoked continuously for two years. This has resulted in "almost a mass resistance to the no smoking rule," he said.

He proposed controlled smoking periods for inmates.

"The two traps are inclined designed to bring the trucks to a comparatively safe stop-off the main highway. But Elliott contends a speeding truck couldn't be kept on the narrow traps and drivers would face almost certain death."

State Highway Engineer L. D. Wiley disagrees. He says the traps have saved the lives of several truckers.

Princess Margaret Returns To London; Still No Word

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret, for further meetings were not discussed. When Townsend had tea with Margaret Saturday at Clarence House, her London home, it was their ninth date in 10 days.

Peter Townsend also spent a quiet Sunday. He left his London apartment only once, just long enough to put a letter in a mailbox in the street outside.

What plans the princess and the divorced commoner might have

The impression grew, meanwhile, that the 25-year-old Princess still had not made up her mind definitely whether to marry Townsend, 40, a Royal Air Force group captain and the divorced father of two sons.

The Rev. Douglas Lockhart, rector of old St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Scotland, spoke out strongly against such a marriage in a sermon in Edinburgh.

"No one has yet any right to assume that Princess Margaret intends to marry Group Capt. Townsend for there has been no official announcement to that effect, the 57-year-old clergyman said.

"But if she were to make any such decision she would be taking a step which she is perfectly well aware to be contrary to the law of Christ and his church.

"The views of her sister and brother-in-law about sanctity and the permanence of the marriage bond are well known."

Queen Elizabeth II is believed to be sympathetic toward her younger sister in the matter but she also is believed to be cautioning her to give second thoughts to any plan of marrying Townsend.

The Duke of Edinburgh, Elizabeth's husband, is reported to be firmly against such a marriage.

Flue-Cured Tobacco Markets Enjoy Upward Spiral Of Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Flue-cured tobacco markets of North Carolina and Virginia today rode an upward spiral of prices as another week of sales got under way.
Weekly price averages reached new season highs last week on the Virginia - North Carolina Old Belt and the North Carolina Middle Belt. The Federal - State Market News Service reported that the big Eastern North Carolina Belt came within a few cents of equalling its previous weekly season high.
Meanwhile, with all markets closed or the South Carolina-North Carolina Border Belt, record gross sales and gross value were reported for the completed season.
Gross sales on the Middle Belt last week totalled 14,421,372 pounds for an average price of $54.82, up 70 cents from the previous week and a new season high. The Flue-Cured U. S. Stabilization Corp. took about 11 per cent of the week's sales, compared to about 14 per cent delivered for the season under the government loan program.
Season sales on the Middle Belt total 126,439,426 pounds, averaging $52.67.
Last week's Old Belt sales grossed 34,369,973 pounds, an average of $54.40. This was a new season high and exceeded the previous week's average by $1.49. Stabilization Corp. took about 7.5 per cent of sales, in comparison with about 11 per cent for the season.
Old Belt season sales have brought an average of $52.99 for a total of 163,479,426 pounds.
Sales and averages by states on the Old Belt last week: Virginia markets 17,925,352 pounds, $53.86;

North Carolina markets, 16,444,621 pounds $52.22.
The Eastern Belt saw more than half its grades last week register gains with some grades reaching their highest level for the season. Sales totalled 39,850,404 pounds for an average of $55.57. This was only 14 cents shy of the season top record the preceding week. About 31 per cent of sales went under price supports, compared to about 25 per cent for the season.
Total sales for the season on the Eastern Belt are 456,639,316 pounds, averaging $52.44.
Almost 199 million dollars was paid for total sales of 370,838,900 pounds for the Border Belt season. Gross sales and value were at an all-time high, but the general average, $53.52, was down $2.37 from last year. The new gross sales record broke the old one, set in 1951 by almost 14 million pounds.
Stabilization Corp. also set a record by taking 24.1 per cent of gross season sales the biggest percentage since the loan program was started in 1946. Deliveries last year were 8.6 per cent of gross sales.

More than 60 per cent of grades suffered a drop in average prices from last year, but others generally were higher. Lower prices were paid for lugs, cutters, primings and low to choice quality leaf and smoking leaf. Higher prices were paid for poor quality leaf and smoking leaf, a grew grades of low lugs and some nondescript.
Sales and averages by states: South Carolina markets 129,342,788 pounds $53.82; North Carolina markets 181,496,012 pounds, $52.42.

UN Truce Team Chief For Palestine To Report

JERUSALEM (AP) — The U. N. truce chief for Palestine was en route by air to U. N. headquarters in New York today to report on the troubled situation along the Israel-Arab borders.
An Israeli raid in which three Syrians were reported killed and five captured added urgency to his mission.
Israel complained to the Security Council that Syria was guilty of persistent violations of her border.
The truce supervisor, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, said an investigation showed at least two groups of 20 to 30 armed Israelis each carried out a "well-planned" retaliatory raid across the Syrian border Saturday night.
He said Syrian sources reported one of their lieutenants and two privates were killed and six privates wounded. Israel previously had announced the capture of five Syrian soldiers, including a lieutenant and a sergeant.
"Bits of equipment and ammunition found in the area of the

Says Southpaws Get Early Start

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A school man said today that a three-year survey convinced him that, contrary to popular belief, southpaws get that way in their first few months of life.
"Left-handedness positively is not inherited, as most people think," said H. M. Wiley, president of Wheeler County, Tex., School Board.
Wiley has interviewed 17,662 pupils in the schools of Amarillo and other Texas cities.
He says left-handedness rises during war and depression years because "times of tension bring neglect in the training of children."
"Mother should begin teaching right-handedness from the day a baby can grasp a toy."
A southpaw himself, Wiley says he hopes to reduce left-handedness because it "handicaps a person throughout life."
"That's because we live in a right-handed culture — tools, machinery, instrument boards, scissors, pencil sharpeners and other devices," he said.
When he began his survey, he was assured that left-handedness is covered by Mendel's laws of inheritance and remains fixed at 9 per cent — a percentage established some 40 years ago in surveys by psychologist June Etta Downey.
But, he said, he found that 1,664 persons, or 9 per cent of those he surveyed, are left-handed. He also found that 562 persons born from 1922 to 1928 in the group are left-handed.
"Our country never had a more tranquil period than this period," he said. "Parents gave their babies more and better attention than the 297 born during the peak depression year of 1932, 12 per cent were left-handed, he said.

Says Housewife Can Help Cut Overeating

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doctors were urged today to "set your sights on the housewife" as a means of curbing overeating—and overweight — among the nation's people.
"It is she to a large extent, who shapes the food habits and practices of the nation," declared Dr. W. H. Sebrell Jr., former director of the National Institutes of Health and now a research consultant for the American Cancer Society.

Veteran Mule Is Brought In To Fight Mine Fire

WALTONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Officials at Orient mine No. 2 here brought in Pee Wee, a veteran pit mule, to help fight a two-week-old fire in the big southern Illinois coal mine.
All electric power underground has been cut off since the fire started at the mine owned by the Freeman Corp. of West Hartford, Ill.
Pee Wee, pressed into service Saturday, is helping the handful of men, working without gas masks, to move material and supplies for state mine rescue crews advancing into the area in which the fire is confined.
Pit mules gave way to electric motors at most big mines over 30 years ago.
The 13-year-old Pee Wee was recruited from a little mine.
"She's a pretty smart old coal miner," one miner said. "You can't fool her and she knows what to do."

Semi-Tropical Fish Is Caught Off Nova Scotia
ECUM SECUM, N.S. (AP) — Fisherman Heath Jewers caught a flying fish on Nova Scotia's eastern shore. It was a new experience in nearly 50 years of fishing — but then all sorts of strange things are happening in this part of the Atlantic.
Rays, tarpons and turtles, native to semitropical waters, have been caught off Nova Scotian shores. Two years ago a 25-foot killer shark, rare in these waters, caused a fisherman's death by upsetting a fishing boat.
Jewers caught his flying fish when he saw it skimming over the waters of a cove near his home. When it alighted on the beach, he clamped a bucket over the specimen.
Jewers took it to the fisheries experimental station at Halifax. Scientists identified the catch a variety rarely seen north of the Virginia Capes.

HELP WANTED - MALE

HELP WANTED—MALE ONE SALESMAN

Honestly, we are only advertising for one career salesman.

We already have a President and several Vice Presidents but what we need is one salesman for the Greenville area to keep the President presiding and the Vice Presidents vice-presiding. And we have more salesmen earning more than the Vice Presidents that we have Vice Presidents, if you follow me, and goodness knows we have plenty of Vice Presidents. It shouldn't be too much to expect that in a presidency of Greenville there would be one college graduate who feels that he has more potential than his present job offers. We're looking for that man and we'll train him, pay him while he's learning, and furnish him an office and equipment. What's more his work will keep him in Greenville. Write for appointment.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices were up moderately on the stock market today as it headed for its seventh straight daily rise early this afternoon.

Steels led conspicuously but the firm volume pervaded all major divisions of the market as gains ran to about 3 points.

Trading was fairly quiet, about on a par with Friday's total of 1,710,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents to $170.50 at noon. For the first time since Oct. 6 it was above the closing level of $170.10 on Sept. 26, the first "Blue Monday" following news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The market was higher from the opening by as much as a point. Late in the morning it began to boost its earlier gains. Higher were Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Union Pacific and Standard Oil (N.J.). Other gainers were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda and Allied Chemicals.

Safe Cracked

FACTOLUS—Bandits ripped open a safe in the J. Paul Davern and Son store Saturday night and made off with $125 in cash.

The robbers apparently entered the building through a back door and robbed the safe which was located in the office of the building.

Sheriff Russ W. Tyson said the thieves took $25 silver dollars among the loot.

The theft was discovered by store owners Sunday morning. They said they believed no merchandise was taken.

Assisting the sheriff's department in its investigation is Clyde Fenwick of the State Bureau of Investigation.

Two Indignant Senators Want Pentagon Explain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two indignant Democratic senators flew back from Europe today, demanding the Pentagon explain its assertion that special planes had to be sent after them and other members of their party at a cost of $20,000.

Firmly denying they ever asked any special transportation, Sens. McClellan of Arkansas and Stennis of Mississippi voiced their indignation after disembarking from a regularly scheduled Military Air Transport Service Constellation that brought them and 42 others from Paris.

Both said they expect top Defense Department officials to give an explanation of stories last week that they declined to adjust their schedules to travel on regular flights.

Referring to the Republican-run Pentagon, McClellan declared: "If there was any intent to embarrass me, I positively refuse to be embarrassed by it. It's their mistake—there's no mistake on our part."

Stennis declared he would seek an explanation from Secretary of Defense Wilson—now in Europe for the Big Four meeting—or from whatever top officials are available at the Pentagon.

"I think they'll make a correction," Stennis declared. "I think they'll explain the facts."

The plane specially dispatched to fetch them from Madrid stayed in Europe.

Stennis was accompanied by his wife. McClellan's wife is due on a later plane.

McClellan described himself as "completely mystified" by the Pentagon announcement that he and other senators in Europe and the Middle East on inspection tours had demanded special planes.

"The whole purpose of our using Air Force planes was to save money," the Arkansas senator said.

"We could, of course, have traveled by commercial airlines at government expense, since our trip was purely for government business. But it is less expensive to travel on plane that the Air Force is flying anyway."

Both McClellan and Stennis said they returned at exactly the time originally planned. McClellan said he told the Air Force before his departure he had to be back today because of prior commitments.

Other wise, he said, he couldn't have made the trip.

Stennis said he was "stunned" by the controversy over their transportation. "In fact, he added, "I think I have been stung."

"I feel," Stennis said, "there has been a serious misunderstanding somewhere by the secretary of defense. I'm going to explain the facts to him."

The Defense Department announced last Thursday it was sending two special four-engined transports to bring home McClellan, Stennis and Sen. Chavez (D-NM).

The Pentagon later said "some misunderstanding" had arisen—that the Air Force found after the senators left the United States that planes were not available to bring them back on the dates they wanted to return. The announcement said the Air Force tried to change the dates but were told the changes couldn't be made.

McClellan and Stennis said they knew nothing of any attempt to change the dates.

"It is absolutely without foundation," Stennis said. "Such a thing was never mentioned to me."

Chavez remained behind in Madrid and planned to return later to the United States.

Before leaving Paris, McClellan said he knew nothing about any special plan and asserted: "When we left the states we scheduled a return on this day by MATS plane and that is the way we are going."

Two Week-End Traffic Accidents In City; No Injuries Are Reported

Two weekend traffic accidents investigated by Greenville police resulted in property damage estimated at $800, but no personal injuries were reported.

Sunday afternoon two cars collided at the intersection of Boyd and Dickinson Avenues, resulting in one driver being charged with careless and reckless driving. Willie Eugene Carr, 39-year-old Negro of 402 W. 14th St., was charged with careless and reckless driving after the vehicle he was driving collided with a car driven by Walter Lee King, 32-year-old Negro of 1817 S. Pitt St.

On Friday, cars driven by Joyce Ellen Spain of 1102-A Chestnut St. and Jasper Clemon Jr., 27-year-old Negro, were involved in an accident on Dickinson Ave. Officers reported charges were made in connection with the accident which caused damage to the two vehicles estimated at $500.

Debate On Farm

if he decides not to run himself, could name the Republican presidential nominee in 1956. Knight said he was certain no man could win the GOP nomination if Eisenhower opposed him.

Among the Democrats, chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee told an interviewer he believes it impossible for Congress both to cut taxes and balance the budget next year.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), however, said in a separate interview he believes budget balancing is "clearly in sight" and the time has come for income tax cuts.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said in Dallas, Tex., he is "not interested or available" for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Another Firm Ups Newsprint Prices

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—The Abitibi Power & Paper Co. has increased the price of newsprint $5 a ton effective Nov. 1 the Hamilton Spectator said it was informed today.

The newspaper said its business office was advised of the increase by a telegram from the Toronto sales office at Abitibi.

The rise is the second by a Canadian newsprint manufacturer. Last Tuesday St. Lawrence Corp. Montreal, announced an increase of $5 a ton, effective Nov. 1, explaining its production costs had risen sharply.

A jump of $5 a ton brings the price of newsprint to $131 a ton, delivered in New York.

Officials at the Toronto office of Abitibi were not immediately available for comment.

The Spectator said its price will go up from $122 a ton to $127. In most cases, newsprint is sold to Canadian newspapers for $4 a ton less than U. S. paper.

Announcement of the boost by St. Lawrence Corp. last week brought vigorous protests from U.S. and Canadian publishers and some congressional leaders in Washington. At that time, other producers remained silent on their plans.

President Richard W. Slocum of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., warned that a new round of newsprint price hikes would bring higher newspaper costs to most advertisers and many readers.

Emile Castonguay, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Assn., said in Quebec City: "There is no justification for increased newsprint prices at this time."

The Department of Justice in Washington said it was setting up a series of antitrust conferences with U. S. producers of newsprint in a program to prevent any joint efforts to raise prices.

More than 80 per cent of North American newsprint production is in Canada. Only a relatively small part of the industry would be subject to any possible government action.

Newspaper supply has been particularly tight in recent months. Consumption is running an average of eight per cent ahead of last year. Gray market premiums of $50 a ton or more are reported being paid by some newspapers. The jump in consumption has been attributed largely to increased advertising, meaning larger papers.

Two Versions Of Incurring Burns

Greenville police were continuing their investigation today of a Negro woman who received second degree burns Saturday night.

The police report said Madeline Reed, 21, of 220 Boyd Ave. first told officers she poured kerosene on herself and set it afire. Later, officers said, she asserted she was attempting to light a fire in a stove in the room and her clothes became ignited.

Members of the Fire Department rescue squad who were called to the small dwelling where the woman was found said she was only partially clothed when they arrived. Burns, they said, covered most of the upper part of her body.

Criminal Term Of Court Opens

Four defendants entered pleas of guilty this morning as a week's criminal term of Pitt Superior Court was opened by Judge William J. Bundy.

Curtis Drake entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving drunk and was sentenced to six months on the roads by Judge Bundy. Edward Earl Locust pled guilty to charges of breaking and entering and larceny in connection to the theft of corn. He was placed on probation for 12 months.

Herman Blount, Negro, was fined $100 and his driver's license revoked after he entered a plea of guilty to driving drunk. James (Jim) Boyd, Negro, entered a plea of guilty to charges of driving drunk and driving without an operator's license. He was sentenced to eight months on the roads, suspended upon payment of $150 fine and cost.

Consultations On Atomic Energy Agency Pushed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Spurred by a State Department call for a 12-nation conference in December on the makeup of an international atomic energy agency, U. N. delegates renewed consultations here today in an attempt to get general endorsement of the agency.

The question is before the U. N. Assembly political committee. So far there have been differences over what countries should be in the agency, how it should operate, whether it should be formed inside the U. N. or outside and whether the Security Council should have a veto on its operation.

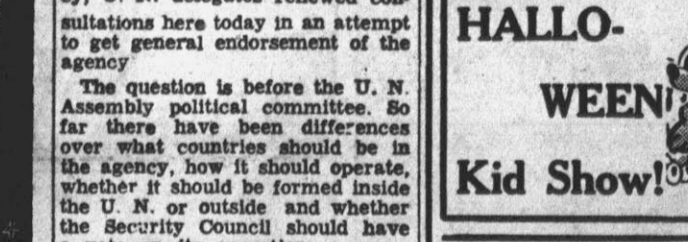

The United States, Britain, Australia and other Western sponsors of one resolution have insisted the Assembly should ratify a decision to go ahead and form the agency, and determine its U. N. relationship later. The Soviet Union insisted on Security Council veto power and also proposed that Red China be included in the agency.

India brought forward a number of amendments to harmonize proposals modified by the West. One sounded praise for the State Department action in calling the special conference. India also proposed that U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold set up a special group to outline possible relations of the agency with the U. N. before the Washington conference is held.

Shortly after the Political Committee recessed last Friday, not to meet again until tomorrow afternoon, the State Department announced it had included the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and India in its bid to the December parity. Other countries invited were
