tion and purpose of the legislative, executive and judicial branches. Cliff pointed out that government was maintained by collections of various forms of revenue. He then discussed several subsidiary branches, including the Department of Conservation and Development and the North Carolina Highway and Public Works Commission.

Cliff then conveyed this thought: Each citizen could do his part by exercising his right to vote. But before voting, a citizen should weigh and study the qualifications and potentialities of any candidate for office.

These qualifications should be conducive to the betterment and efficiency of the position sought by the office-seeker. He stated that then could graft and corruption cease and our government continue to be one motivating force utilizing its ideas and those of others for the advantage of the masses.

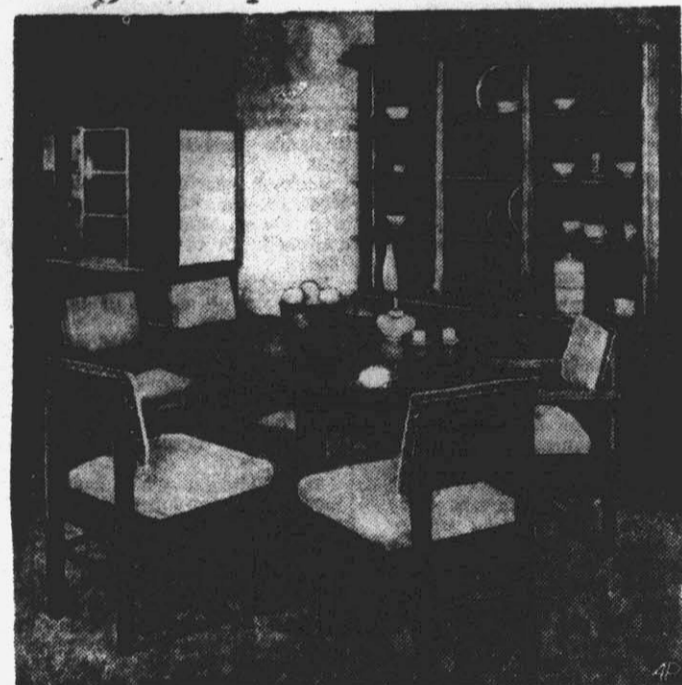

Miss Elizabeth May assisted the hostesses in serving home-made coconut cake, pickles and coffee.

Wright-Styled Furniture

HERE'S THE DINING ROOM... Chairs are designed to scale of human figure, for short or tall men and women. No hardware is used but designer Frank Lloyd Wright's ornamentation is in an oxidized brass on table and chairs.

AMERICAN FURNITURE... Architect Frank Lloyd Wright's living-dining room furniture designs. Cocktail tables may be used horizontally or vertically, for seating, dining ornamentation and lamp. Sofas are standard and sectional.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News/features Writer
America's architectural revolution, Frank Lloyd Wright, long has criticized American furniture designs. "Blasphemy against nature," he once exploded.
Now Wright, 86, has come up with designs of his own. They do not, as some had expected, look like the "were meant for moon travel or life on Mars. On the contrary, they are livable and suited to today's changing needs.
Noted for years for his looks into the future in building design, Wright started out to produce "furniture of organic design, derived from nature, mathematically correct and designed for the human figure, and above all, made for easy living and adaptable."
He seems to have accomplished his mission.
Each piece designed for Heritage Furniture, has Wright's signature burned into the wood. The furniture should appeal to those who have rejected "modern," a spokesman for the manufacturers says, "or who want to mix the furniture with models pieces they already have. It will appeal also to lovers of antiques or Oriental furnishings."
Characteristic features include finger slots as an integral part of drawers and doors. There is no hardware used. Ornamentation becomes part of the piece, not an added fixture. It is found around edges or the perimeter of wood pieces. It is mathematically cor-

Indian Motif Is Observed In Mission Study

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Charlie R. Gray, literature chairman, arranged a very interesting program for Monday when David L. Cory's book, "Within Two Worlds" was reviewed at the First Christian Church. Mrs. Gray gave the introduction to the book which was divided into four parts for this occasion.

The others participating in the review were: Mrs. Hugh Roberson, Mrs. Jackson Sharp, Mrs. Robert James and Mrs. Wiley B. Rogerson. During the noon hour the group went to the dining hall where a covered dish luncheon was served buffet style. The centerpiece was an Indian village with teepees, a fire, Indian mothers and children standing near the wooded area. Near this unique decoration were various kinds of handicraft including beaded belts, dolls, strings of beads, tomahawks, arrows and other weapons. The food was placed down the sides of the long table which was spread with a white cloth.

Following this stimulating meeting there was a splendid display of religious books which are on sale at the Christian Board of Publishers. Many orders were taken.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Phillips spent the weekend in Washington, D. C. with Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blake.

Mrs. Edison Otpson and boys spent the weekend in Pine Hall, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Baldres and daughter Ann spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Baldres and attended Homecoming at Roundtree Christian Church.

Miss Eleanor Rodgers and Mrs. Josephine Ross spent the weekend in Norfolk, Va. and attended the funeral of Mrs. Mae Holton Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Willoughby and son Billy of Williamston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Baldres and attended Homecoming at Roundtree.

One of the prettiest, gayest and most colorful parties of the season was given on Saturday night at their home on Second Street by Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Taylor honoring their daughter, Henrietta, on her 16th birthday.

On arriving, the guests were greeted by a Harvest scene in the yard. A complete spell of festivity prevailed throughout the home. Lighted Japanese lanterns swung from the trees, adding color to the yard. A lighted bonfire burned in the front yard. Dancing and games were enjoyed.

Each person present had their fortunes read. Madame Kilpatrick delighted each guest with her charm in reading their palms.

Hurricane lamps glowed from the porch. Also floor baskets of lovely fall flower arrangements were used in decorating.

A beautiful birthday cake, centered on a lovely cut work table cloth, was cut by the honoree after a toast to her was given by Peggy Wood and "Happy Birthday" was sung. Lighted tapers interspersed with trailing ivy and red roses was used on the table to make a beautiful setting for the cake.

The honoree received many nice and useful gifts and said goodbye to approximately 35 guests.

During 1954, U.S. steelmakers used over 521,000 tons of metallic manganese, most of it imported.

Wastebasket Mail Keeps Costs Up

Postmaster General Summerfield is still going about balancing his Post Office Department budget in the wrong manner. Maybe he'll be able to convince Congress next year that additional hikes in postal rates are necessary; but we have doubts.

The federal government is the biggest business in the United States. It likewise is the biggest user of the United States mail. And much of the mail sent out by federal departments, agencies and officials is handled free of charge by the Post Office Department.

Each year literally millions of pieces of mail are being sent out by federal agencies and from official offices free of charge. This mail is in a large measure accounting for the half-billion dollar deficit in Post Office Department operations. It should be realized also that a large percentage of this mail winds up in wastebaskets without even being opened.

Instead of trying to boost the rate charged the paying user of the mails, Uncle Sam might well consider the possibility of cutting out large quantities of worthless material which it is now sending through the post offices across the country. From our evaluation of mail coming to our post office box, we venture the evaluation that many federal departments and agencies could cut their outgoing mail by 50 per cent without hurting their programs or curtailing the flow of worthless information about their activities to the public.

There is another measure which could be profitably taken in bringing down the Post Office Department's deficit. If members of Congress were given a flat allowance annually for postage rather than unlimited franking privileges, much of the mail which isn't worth the paper it's it is now thrusting upon the postal system every day.

Industry And Business Help Push Prosperity

There are a number of encouraging signs and a few shadows being seen by the prognosticators who gaze into the crystal ball and seek to predict the business future for the country during the next few years.

One of these brighter spots is composed of the billions business and industry are investing in new plants and more and better production machinery.

For years now individuals have seriously questioned whether this country could maintain its record consumption of goods and products year after year. For almost a decade production records have been reaching new peaks while many pessimists shook their heads and declared the saturation point was near at hand. So far consumers have been able to gobble up the vast output of mass production American industry.

With the marked increase in equipment and production machinery now being made by the nation's business and industry, it is apparent the leaders in these fields are looking for constantly rising consumption by the American people. The nation's population is increasing, the number of employed is increasing, and the numerous retirement and pension programs are putting a floor under income of individuals who have—by age standards at least—passed the age of productivity in modern business and industry.

The business spending for machinery is now rising faster than any other investment category. While this new machinery is to some extent replacing old equipment, in many instances the new machinery is supplementing rather than replacing machinery which has been in operation. As more machinery is added to the nation's industry, it will not only mean greater production, but likewise more jobs. These in turn will mean more and larger payrolls and more dollars pouring into consumer markets.

The South, which is experiencing an industrial renaissance, stands to profit by this industrial expansion perhaps more proportionately than any other section of the nation. In the South, where industrial jobs have been few and far between in many localities, the increase in steady employment will be more keenly felt than in other areas.

In its spending for machinery, industry is looking at the long haul. It is not thinking only of more efficient production, but greater volume production over a long period.

A Princess Must Put Duty Ahead Of Desire

When Princess Margaret said "No" to Peter Townsend it was the greatest decision of her young life.

Reading between the lines of her statement announcing she would not marry the divorced air force hero, it is obvious that the 40-year-old group captain is the man she would marry if she were free to do so. Yet Margaret has chosen to sacrifice her own happiness to discharge what she keenly feels is her obligation and responsibility as a member of the Royal Family.

Her decision no doubt brought tears to the eyes of millions of Britons. Her decision, on the other hand, caused rejoicing in the hearts of other millions who realized that the young princess had chosen to put first what she believes the welfare of her own people, and subordinate her personal desires and happiness to that primary consideration.

The vivacious Margaret has catapulted to new heights of prestige with her momentous decision. Her personal sacrifice will not be taken lightly by the people of her own country nor those of the other nations of the world.

printed on would cease to go through the post office. As we see it, there is a two-fold savings the federal government could realize by a more careful evaluation of what is being mailed out by its thousands of agencies and offices. There would be a savings in the post office expense, and there would likewise be an appreciable savings in the federal government's annual paper bill.

Some upward adjustment of postal rates may be justified in individual classes of mail; but before the Post Office Department begins asking for another round of arbitrary increases, Uncle Sam should make a sincere effort to eliminate the terrific burden of waste-basket mail

Disparity In Rates And Tax Valuations

By LYNN NIBBET
TAXABLE PROPERTY — The October issue of "We, the People," the monthly magazine published by the N.C. Citizens Association, devotes major attention to discussion of tangible property tax valuations and rates in the 100 counties of North Carolina for 1954.

Aggregate values upon which local taxes are levied fall just short of six billion dollars. Of that total about 60 per cent represents real property assessed by local tax units, about 25 per cent is personal property appraised for local taxes, and roughly 5 per cent represents "excess valuations," public utilities and other properties evaluated by the State Board of Assessments and distributed among the 100 counties.

The actual figures quoted are $2,611,850,414 real estate; $2,065,637,850 locally appraised personal property and $264,710,266 excess values for a grand total of five billion, nine hundred forty-three million, nine hundred ninety-eight thousand, six hundred thirty dollars. This is almost $22 million above the 1953 values. Statistics have not been compiled for 1955, but the total is expected to approach six and a quarter billion dollars.

The magazine story quotes the North Carolina Department of Tax Research as estimating taxable valuations at approximately 40 per cent of actual or market value of the property. That would indicate that taxable physical property in North Carolina is actually worth about fifteen billion dollars.

Add to that figure the value of government-owned non-taxable property—Federal, State and local—and all the educational, recreational and religious properties which do not pay taxes, and estimated total value of real and estimated total value of real and personal property in North Carolina will approximate $20 billion.

DISPARITY — There is wide disparity in valuations and tax rates among the several counties. This discussion is not confined to municipal rates, which are generally based on county valuations. Take Greene and Orange counties to illustrate this point. These counties are selected because they have the highest and lowest tax rates in the State. Greene is assessed at 62 per cent on the $100 valuation.

Orange is about one and a half times as big as Greene in area, approximately double in population. Neither county is highly industrialized but Orange has the University at Chapel Hill with millions of dollars tax-exempt property. Greene has highly productive tobacco and cotton land and is almost wholly agricultural. Orange is sandwiched between highly industrialized Alamance and Durham, which added to the Chapel Hill center probably classifies it as "suburban" rather than essentially farm or city.

None of these distinctions can justify on face value the difference of eight million valuation in Greene, more than $71 million in Orange. No person at all familiar with the facts would concede that Orange has nearly nine times as much taxable property as Greene.

Then compare Ashe and Hoke counties. Ashe has 273,280 acres and Hoke 264,960. Ashe has about 22,000 residents, Hoke about 16,000 on basis of 1950 census count. All of the Ashe land is taxable, but almost half of the Hoke area is non-taxable because of Fort Bragg and Pope Field military reservations. Yet the reports show Ashe listing $9 million property for taxes at a rate of $2.50 per $100, and Hoke listing $14 million at $1.15 tax rate.

No informed person would agree that Hoke county with less total area has large part of that off the tax books has one and half times as much taxable property as does Ashe county. The statistical differences come about because of appraised values fixed by the county commissioners of the several counties.

Quota production and acreage allotments under the crop price support program control the market value of farm lands, but these factors are seldom considered in tax valuations. Whether or not they should be considered is debatable. Take the instance of Orange county, which is worth in the $50 an acre or $5,000, for general farm purposes. But it has an allotment of five acres for tobacco. That tobacco acreage allotment is worth as much as the whole farm in prospective value. It should be taxable at market value in view of all the hazards incident to producing, harvesting and marketing a tobacco crop. Most folks think not, and tax appraisers seem to agree.

That distinction between potential and actual or market value of real property partially explains the relatively low tax values on land as shown on the tax books.

Other Editors Are Saying . . . Stevenson Is Still The Man

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
When the Democrats in 1952 were faced with the bleak prospect of campaigning against the nation's war hero and world figure, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who had to fight hard to win the nomination from the reactionary Taft wing, they buried their sectional and ideological differences and drafted the very best man in their ranks—the talented and articulate but generally reluctant, Adlai Stevenson, Governor of Illinois.

When, before his heart attack in September, it seemed that "Ike" would be pressured into running again, the Democrats were suddenly filled with the fight. Again it seemed the nomination by default and draft would go to Adlai Stevenson.

Trick Or Treat

By Bob Hilldrup

We Can Set A Record In '55

One or two weeks, reckon we'll make it.

From the looks of things up to now we will just think, a chance to set a new record for highway fatalities in Pitt County during a single year.

Why look where we are now? We've got 15 just four shy of a new record, and two more whole months yet in 1955. That should make it easy. Just take an extra drink before you drive.

Yes, I with all those golden opportunities there ought not be any trouble reaching a new record number of dead. Four more, just four more and eight whole weeks to do it in.

After all we really should make 24 for last year. Why in 1954 we didn't kill but seven persons in Pitt County. Of course we got 15 in 1953 and 12 the year before and then there were the years of '50 and '38 when we really did it up. Got 18 each time.

So you see, the goal really isn't so far away. Go on, mash down on that accelerator, four more dead and twisted bodies and we'll have a new record all framed in blood and sorrow, motherless children, weeping relatives, a new record.

But we wonder, we just wonder. So let's try a more practical approach. Just what, will break up this gruesome toll of highway fatalities not only in Pitt County but throughout North Carolina and across the nation?

Some say why not make the chronic violator the man with several speeding offenses against him or the drunken driver go on the ambulances with the patronized in the scene of a first-hand accident. Make them see first-hand just what it's like.

Yet even with that, there's still that feeling—it can't happen to me. But when it does, it's too late. It's all over. Finished, brother, finished.

The real answer lies indirectly in the people. Give the Highway Patrol enough men to maintain round-the-clock shifts, let them use unmarked cars wear plain clothes. And back all these methods up with courts which make the punishments so stiff that no sane driver will violate the law simply from fear of the financial consequences or jail terms.

And get, even though veteran law enforcement officers will agree with this theory, the legislators of many districts fight the "whammy," unmarked patrol cars, and other measures designed to save lives.

Maybe someday, somehow, something will be done. Yet until that day comes, until stricter enforcement laws can be passed, the toll will climb higher and law enforcement officers everywhere will have to keep struggling not simply to give tickets (they don't get a penny of that money) but to help you, and me, stay alive long enough to see another day.

Notebook On Life

Story Of Tennessee Williams

NEW YORK (AP)—Today's success story: Tennessee Williams who once wrote purely from hunger has become one of the golden boys of the American writing scene.

He has been so successful that his friends have given him a new nickname: "Tennessee Millions."

At 41 the prolific author has turned out nine full-length plays, a volume of verse, two volumes of stories, and a collection of a dozen shorter plays called "Three, seven Wagons Full of Cotton."

He has completed for Paramount Pictures a film script of "The Posei-Tattoo," starring Burt Lancaster and Anna Magnani. It is the third of his dramas he has adapted for the screen.

Williams' success is a top-notch success. He has a "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" is a top Broadway hit. Most successful people credit their success to hard work. Williams feels that his own fame came, in large measure, from the revival staged in him by his discovery of poverty and what it did to people.

Born in the Episcopal rectory of his grandfather in Columbus, Miss., he moved at the age of 12 to St. Louis, where his father worked as a salesman for a shoe firm. The family lived in one of a row of ugly brick apartment buildings "the color of dried blood and mustard."

Inequality Of Taxes Pinpointed

By ELMER ROESSNER
 glaring inequalities in present Federal income-tax laws are pinpointed in a list of 226 changes recommended by the American Institute of Accountants.

Some of the inequities are: A businessman can deduct the expenses of seeking customers but, except for employment agency fees, an individual cannot deduct the costs of seeking employment. Tax benefits after retirement, regardless of the age at which they retire. Ordinary people get those benefits only after 65 years of age.

Persons whose income fluctuates considerably from year to year—such as farmers, professional men, entertainers and others—pay more taxes than those whose incomes are comparatively level from year to year. The Institute urges some method by which those with variable income may average it over several years.

Persons in high-income brackets can risk a profit on giving away property that has increased in value. "If a taxpayer in the 78 per cent or higher bracket has securities or other property now worth ten thousand dollars, with an original cost of only one thousand dollars, he will end up with more money after taxes if he gives the property to charity than he would have if he sold it and paid a capital gains tax on the nine thousand dollars profit, because he has a ten thousand dollar reduction from his other taxable income," the Institute points out. It recommends that the taxpayer pay a capital gains tax on the rise in value of gifts.

Companies can use fictitious depreciation to reduce taxes. "At present a company can buy an asset, such as an automobile, with an estimated useful life of four years, deduct half its cost as depreciation the first year and then sell it at the end of the year for much more than half its cost, paying only a capital gains tax," the accountants note. They would limit depreciation to salvage value.

Estates are thrice taxed under some conditions. A corporation pays taxes on its earnings; they are taxed 15 per cent if paid to another corporation, and taxed a third time when received as dividends by a shareholder. The Institute recommends repeal of intercorporate dividends.

Most of the other recommendations are for adjustments of minor inequities, or for clarifying various sections of the code.

BROTHERS MULTIPLY FISH SALES BY 12

Aggressive selling, new product ideas and well-planned newspaper advertising multiplied sales 12 times for three brothers who inherited a Boston fish business. The story of their success is told by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association.

When the brothers, Tom Jack and Jerry Fulham, inherited the business, it was largely local, with sales of about $600,000 a year. They began by expanding their market and adding frozen fish and later pioneered in frozen fish sticks. They relied largely on newspaper advertising because it was effective and could be tied to local markets.

Sales last year were $10,000,000 and are expected to be higher this year.

42 PER CENT OF FIRMS IN AUGUST SALES

MINN is still a girl's best friend. During August, the sales of 42 per cent of the firms sold more mink followed by mouton with 17 per cent and squirrel with 15 per cent, the National Retail Dry Goods Association found after a survey.

"Five" furs are becoming more important, and 41 per cent of the stores reporting had given them special promotion. Two-thirds of the stores plan to continue fur sales, but many of the others plan to hold September sales instead, with clearance sales in February or March.

They have no acquaintance with political and social dialectics. If you ask what his politics are, he'll say he's a Democrat.

Possible Revolution In U. S. Education

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — America's war-time and peacetime needs in an atomic, electronic and technological society may necessitate a revolutionary expansion of the country's educational system, requiring tomorrow's children to learn in pre-college schools until they are 20 years old. It is not so much a question of education as national survival.

Appalled at the dearth of personnel trained or training in new and unreamed-of lines of work, government experts on labor and educational questions discussed the problem with President Eisenhower before he became all. But the prolongation of school days into the twenties will probably be broached for the first time publicly at the White House Conference on Education later this month.

EXPLORATORY STAGE Although still in a tentative and exploratory stage, the reform content plan covers years of grade school, four years in high school and, for those who do not go to college or other kinds of advanced professional or vocational education, two years of specialized, technical training.

Under such a scholastic regime, particularly apt student might be prepared for a job at 19. No more slow learners and dropouts. The school would be a continuous stream of students, and a he has become a dead aim as a squirrel hunter. Today, in charge of a weapon with thousands of intricate mechanisms, he might be a clerical job or a cook.

ARMED FORCES' NEEDS "Appalling" is only a mild word to depict the educational inadequacy which military statistics reveal. The Armed Forces, for instance, are 30 per cent short of fully qualified personnel for critical biological jobs.

They need 35,000 aircraft mechanics and electronic technicians, 18,000 communications equipment men. It applies to factory and laboratory workers of the future, the men who toil with their hands.

President Eisenhower has shown keen interest in the new educational program. One of his first acts as president was to appoint an educator at Columbia University, out from his studies as Commander-in-Chief of our European Army in World War II, and subsequently as Chief of Staff at the Pentagon.

few of the human statistics which aroused Eisenhower's interest, and concern:

PERCENTAGES OF SERVICE REJECTIONS The following figures for 1953-4 gave the percentages of rejections because the volunteers or draftees could not meet the Armed Forces' minimum mental requirements, which are comparable to a fourth grade examination:

For the United States as a whole the percentage is 11 per cent. The percentages for the various areas are: New England and Middle Atlantic, 6.6; Southeast, 27.9; Lower Appalachain, 8; Middle South, 16.4; Midwest, 4.6; Southwest, Far West and Mountain States, 6.

Here are the geographical percentages of Army ratings of below-average or worse groups: For the U. S. the percentage is 33.3. In the various Army areas: New England and Middle Atlantic, Appalachian 35.3; Middle South, 44.1; Middle West, 25.8; Southwest, Far West and Mountain States, 23.1.

In their efforts to attract today's and tomorrow's industries, the Chamber of Commerce boys and local officials should consider these official figures and the reasons for them, along with such inducements as lower wages and taxes.

Pole-Type Farm Construction To Be Talk Topic

An educational meeting to give farmers of the Greenville area information on the most modern methods of pole-type construction for farm service buildings will be held at the Pitt FCX at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 9.

Sponsored by the Pitt FCX, the meeting is open to all farmers of the community who are interested in this low-cost type of construction use of which is increasing rapidly in rural areas throughout the country.

Highlight of the meeting will be the showing of a full-color, sound motion picture entitled "Pole-Type Buildings Cut Farming Costs," which has just been produced by the Wood Preserving Division of Koppers Company, Inc., one of the nation's major producers of pressure-treated wood for farm building construction.

Farmers attending the meeting also will be shown giant charts which explain the step-by-step construction of pole-type farm buildings.

Literature showing construction and floor plans for nine different types of farm buildings, including general purpose barns, beef cattle barns, machinery sheds, poultry houses, general warehouse, agricultural activities centers and cattle barns also will be distributed at the meeting along with information on the availability of complete building plans.

Hallowe'en Carnival Draws Large Crowd

By DURWOOD WHITE

Well, the Bethel School experienced another successful annual Hallowe'en Carnival this past Friday evening. As usual there was a series of games and novelties on hand such as fishing, dart throwing, house of horrors, turkey raffles, cake raffles and auctions, and others which were available during the earlier part of the Carnival. A program in the auditorium consisting of skits, recitations, songs, dances and novelty numbers seemed "hit the spot" as a record crowd appeared to be enjoying themselves to the fullest. Prizes were given for the best costumes, which were judged on the basis of originality and in keeping with the Hallowe'en spirit.

The whole evening was highlighted with the traditional crowning of the Kings and Queens of the Carnival. This particular sector of the program most always creates a state of great excitement and tension. The queen and king honors of the primary grades, the elementary grades and the High School were received by Bobbie Sue Martin and Jim Taylor; Mary Chesson and Harry Latham; and Virginia Barnes and Larry Stewart respectively.

The proceeds which grossed approximately $1,900 before expenditures, went to the Parent-Teachers Association of Bethel Schools to help the schools secure things that would otherwise be impossible to obtain.

The High School Honor Roll for the past six weeks was announced this week. These students must maintain an average on all subjects being taken for the six weeks period.

The Honor Roll is as follows:

Ninth grade—Laurel Thigpen, Churchill Briley, Jean Simmons, Betty Cooper; Tenth grade—John E. Whitehurst, Bobbie Garrenton; Eleventh grade—Lona Manning, Connie Garrenton, Barbara Dall, Patsy Harris, Janie Rollins, Ann Stocks; Twelfth grade—Bryan Latham, Wayne Webb, Durwood White, Peggy Whitehurst.

The Bethel Teenage Club would like to extend an invitation to all teenagers in and around Bethel to attend and enjoy the facilities of their club. A meeting is held every Saturday night at 7:30 till 10:30, in the basement of the Grammar School Building.

Plenty Of Suspense At GHS Homecoming

By ROSEMARY EAGLES

The twelve sponsors kept wondering if they could make it up the stage steps in three inch heels. A suspenseful air surrounded the student body.

And then a loud burst of applause followed head cheerleader Ann Hamric's announcement proclaiming Susie Pope the Greenville High Homecoming queen at a pep rally Friday afternoon. Susie, an attractive senior, was chosen queen by the football squad.

Representing the good spirit of Greenville High, a cute brunette, Ann Corbett, and drum major Preston Cannon were presented as Mr. and Miss School Spirit. The spirits were chosen by the cheerleaders.

Strutting off with the title of Miss Football was Gayle Clapp who sponsored co-captain Hal Edwards.

Each sponsor was given a green ribbon with their title on front in gold letters and a white mum corsage. The royalty were presented crowns and bouquets.

Clapp, Corbett Sponsor Captains Martha Corbett, Miss Right Guard, sponsored co-captain Mickey West and Lois Simmons, Miss End, sponsored Billy Johnson who was absent because of an injury in the Elizabeth City game.

Tradition was broken, however. Many of the students missed having the Phantom stars escort their sponsors on the stage.

Band Leads Parade After the pep rally the band led the parade down the main streets of the city. The cheerleaders piled on a green convertible waving their pom poms and the tired old green bus being pulled by a wrecker preceded a procession of beautiful convertibles carrying the sponsors.

It was a night for victory and the Phantoms won over Smithfield 13-0. The proud parents of the stars had reserved seats behind the players' benches.

Many people turned out for the dance at the high school following the game, given by the cheerleaders who sponsored the Homecoming activities.

Beauties Forget To Sleep Lillian Moyer had a slumber party to top off the exciting night. Ann Moore, Judy Jolly, Ruth Young and Lillian were the sleeping beauties who forgot to sleep.

Memrie Mosier had an unexpected party at her home after the dance. At least a hundred people came over. When the last guest had disappeared the scheduled slumber party began.

The sleepy time girls were Dornning Jenkins, Peaches Larkins, Ann Rooker, Ann Hamric, Bobbie Barber, Janc Perkins, Nancy Ann Hoot, Nancy Harris and Doris Davenport. Others were Alice Lee Edwards, Jeanne Moyer, Jane Berryman, Beth Murray, Martha Corbett and Joanna Rooker.

Ice Cubes Make Good Coffee The girls will probably never forget the group that went after the chicken, making coffee by heating ice cubes, and the two who swiped the donuts. The party ended at 12:00 Saturday and Memrie stated with a sigh, "I spent the whole day returning mattresses."

The band journeyed to Chapel Hill early Saturday to take part in the pre-game and halftime performances of the Carolina-Tennessee homecoming football game. They were among four thousand other band students who also participated.

Saturday night the teenage club was decorated for a Hallowe'en Dance and even the lights were orange. The crowd enjoyed refreshments as well as seeing two brave girls wearing Bermuda skirts.

F.T.A. Goes To Raleigh Another group up bright and early Saturday morning were eleven members of the Future Teachers Club and their adviser, Mrs. Kemp H. Baldwin. They went up to Raleigh and State College to attend their state convention.

By 10:00 Lois Ann Webb, Nancy Ann Hoot, Nancy Harris, Jeanne Moyer, Grayson Waldrop, Gayle Clapp, Joanna Rooker, Frances Smith, Sarah Ewell and Margaret Moyer were hearing speeches and becoming acquainted with the various leaders. That afternoon Clyde Templeton of New Hanover High School in Wilmington was elected the new president.

The girls bumped into Jimmy Perkins and Michel Johnson of State and Jerry Gaskins and several boys from Campbell while they were in Raleigh.

Girls Have Reunion One group ran over to St. Mary's during the lunch hour and saw Nelson Blount and Dolly Best, Sally Beard and Sylvia Bonner were in Raleigh spending the weekend with another St. Mary's student, Terry Tripp.

Several former GHS students are doing well in the field of journalism at various colleges. Mary Will Long, co-editor of GREEN LIGHTS last year, is a news reporter for the CAROLINIAN at WCUNC. Wayne Bishop has been appointed sports editor of THE DAILY TAR HEEL at UNC. He was sports editor for GREEN LIGHTS last year and a sports writer for THE DAILY REFLECTOR. Marilyn Bestied is editor of the CREEK PEBBLES at Campbell Junior College.

This weekend Jori Lassiter and Sue Tucker were home from Duke University and last weekend Mary Will Long and Hannah Proctor were home from Woman's College.

It was a big weekend but the gray matter at GHS hasn't been lazy for one minute. For example, Mrs. M. H. Derrick's junior high science class had the honor of having Mr. Sherman Husted, the weatherman over television station WNPT, to visit them. Mr. Husted of hurricane fame brought barometers, thermometers, and such equipment to school with him and explained their uses.

Mites Play Doubleheader

Golds, Whites Eke Victories In Nighttime Play

Four Greenville Midget League football teams clashed last night at College Stadium in a Halloween double-header, before 100 shivering fans. The event was sponsored by the local Recreation Department and the Greenville Exchange Club.

In the first contest, the Golds overcame a strong Red defensive line to chalk up a 6-0 victory. Most of the action in the first half was restricted to a see-saw defensive grind and neither team scored. Red linemen who were outstanding were Buddy Bass, Bill Wade, Jimmie Roberts, Bill Moore, Billy Turcotte and Morton Johnston. Gold stars in the forward wall were Burt Aycock, Richard Taft, Kenneth Allen, and Jack Foley.

Near the end of the third quarter, halfback Billy Neal James blasted through the Red line for 26 yards and the only touchdown of the contest to put the Golds ahead, 6-0. The extra point attempt was stopped and the score remained the same to the end of play.

Whites Top Blues, 7-6

A rugged White team, led by husky Jeff Fountain, battled the Blues in the second contest of the night and managed to push across a score and extra point in the final minutes to take a 7-6 win.

The Blues scored first after a 30 yard pass from quarterback Harry Forbes to Erskine Duff brought them into White territory. Skip Wright, a few plays later, smashed into the end zone for a tally. The pass for extra point was broken up and the score remained 6-0 in favor of the Blues at halftime.

Blue defenders, Wayne Summerell, Don Pierce, Bennie Caraway and Tommy Bryant, held the Whites until midway the third quarter when Fountain began to run wild. The huge fullback made steady advances, and in the last minute of the game, plunged five yards for the tying score. He also ran over the extra point, giving his squad the victory.

Phants Back To Basic For Workouts Under Coaches

Practice sessions in the Greenville Phantom football camp yesterday stressed fundamentals of defensive and offensive play. Drills opened with a short set of calisthenics, led by the two team captains, Pete West and Harold Edwards.

Notre Dame Is Relying On Power And Control

By JOE MOOSHIL
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame, relying on old fashioned power and ball control in pounding away to another successful season.

Hopes of an undefeated season vanished with a 21-7 loss to Michigan State but Notre Dame appears well on its way toward duplicating last year's 9-1 record.

Navy was a big hurdle Saturday for the Irish who now face weaker opposition in Penn and North Carolina before finishing against Iowa and Southern California.

After the 21-7 triumph over Navy, Irish Coach Terry Brennan said: "The main difference was in those seven guys up front. They opened the holes and we controlled the ball."

Control the ball they did. Notre Dame had the ball for 79 plays and ran 68. The harassed Middles tried 32 running plays and went to the air 26 times. Navy had 13 completed passes and 3 Notre Dame interceptions.

Throughout the season in which the Irish have won five of six games, ball control has been the story with the idea you can't lose individual instructions during the exercise by both head coach Guy Lewis and line coach Vaughn Fowler. Blocking will be an important factor in the coming Goldsboro contest Friday night in Goldsboro. Phant blocking in the forward wall and downfield will undergo the acid test against the AAA non-conference squad.

Head-On Tackling

After the blocking, came a period of head-on-tackling. Again, the entire squad participated in the exercise. Coach Lewis has expressed the need of his boys to know well the fundamentals of the game, especially tackling and blocking. The great emphasis placed on tackling drills is extremely important, according to Lewis. Angus Duff, Howard King and Jack Calhoun showed up well in the drill.

Following the tackling play, the squad assembled for some words of instruction from Lewis, Fowler, and end coach Stan Jones. The three coaches set up an offense, complete with Goldsboro plays, and then constructed several defenses.

Windsprints Conclude

After a scrimmage that lasted approximately 45 minutes, the Greenville crew line up for windsprints. Coach Lewis' whistle marked off 500 yards of running, then blew a halt to work for the day.

if you keep the ball. This calls for a powerful ground attack in which Notre Dame excels. In six games this year the Irish have picked up 1,626 yards on the ground for a 271-yard average. Against Navy, Notre Dame backs piled up 323 yards on the ground.

Fullback Don Schaefer is the key man. "He's the most underrated and certainly best player I've seen around," says Brennan. "When he's not carrying, he's blocking. He threw the main block in Aubrey Lewis' touchdown run."

Lewis came off the bench for his first and only play against Navy and went around right end for 12 yards and a touchdown, with Schaefer paving the way.

Schaefer has carried 97 times this year for 387 yards but he's not alone. Paul Hornung, who Brennan says is "a real quarterback for my dough," is anything but ball shy.

The controversial Irish general, who some observers insist is not a first rate passer, has carried 64 times for 292 yards. Seven of those yards came at a crucial point in the Navy game where Hornung gambled and won.

Eppes Bulldogs Invade Wilson For Homecoming

Coach Percy Daniels' Eppes Bulldogs are working hard to get ready for another rugged football test this weekend. The Bulldogs will act as villains in homecoming of Darden High of Wilson.

Coach Daniels' club last week blasted Goldsboro 31-7 in a great show of offensive power. The Bulldogs overcame a 7-0 halftime deficit to win.

Daniels said today that his club will work on defense designed to stop Darden's fullback Harold Johnson, rated one of the best runners in the east.

Emphasis will also be placed on passing defense, he explained. His own passing attack will get a coat of polish and be counted on for most of the Bulldogs' scoring.

Daniels had a word of praise for quarterback Fred Outerbridge, who recently returned to action after a long layoff. He has thrown six touchdown passes in the last three games and returned two punts, one for 84 yards and another for 62.

Two first stringers will be out this week. Joseph Tyson, captain and center, and end Rudy Streiter will miss the game. Robert Edwards will take Tyson's place and James Falls will step in for Streiter.

Andrew Gorham, the Bulldogs' 245 pound guard, returned to practice yesterday and will be okay for the Darden scrap.

The Eppes High band will accompany the Bulldogs and participate in the homecoming festivities.

Bucs Buckling Down

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

The East Carolina Pirates, rounding finally into a real ball club according to its coach Jack Boone, gets down to serious work today for what is expected to be the toughest game on the schedule and the final one, Tampa University here this Saturday.

Last season, Coach Marcelino Huerta's Spartans spotted the Pirates a touchdown and then went on to win easily, 27-14 in a game played in sunny Florida. The contest was the second in the young series, begun in 1953. The Spartans won the first one, too, 18-13. The Spartans have lost only one game so far, that being to Morris Harvey in the opener. Since then, they've rambled past Troy State, Southwestern La., Stetson and Livingston State. Last week they had an open date.

Bucs Feel Good

The Pirates feel mighty good about the game despite the Spartans' formidable record. Coach Boone's charges upset Appalachian last weekend 13-0 to move into second place in the North State Conference. This was practically the same Appalachian team that smothered Tampa, 36-12, in 1953.

Boone praised his defeated foe, saying "Appalachian has the finest ball club we've played all year and we had to go all out to beat them. If any particular players were responsible for our victory, it would be Dick Cherry at quarterback and Lou Hallow at center. They were the difference in the ball game.

"I've never seen Cherry play any better ball game. His passing may not have been as sharp as usual, but he set up both our touchdowns on runs of 26 and 19 and his defense once again was vitally important to us.

Hallow Great, As Usual

As for Hallow, he played his usual fine game as linebacker. The folks at East Tennessee told us they hadn't seen anybody as good all year. Lou has played that kind of ball all season and he was instrumental in keeping Appalachian from scoring.

"I think the turning point of the game came early in the game when they went to the nine and fumbled. That kept them from scoring and then we came back in the second half to get those two touchdowns.

"We're finally rounding into a good ball club," Boone concluded.

The Pirates came out of the tussle without any major injuries. Barring injuries in practice this week, Boone should be able to field about the same club against Tampa.

Tight Three-Way Race In College Gridiron Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

Maryland Oklahoma and Michigan continue a race that's knotted up like a coach's nerves on the eve of a big game still are 1-2-3 in the national college football ratings.

The seventh weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters drew the season's heaviest vote but it left the situation unchanged with Maryland on top by a scant handful of points.

The tabulation of 220 ballots brought Maryland 1,207 first place votes and a total of 1,884 points—counting on the usual basis of 10 for each first place vote nine for second etc. Just behind came Oklahoma with 54 firsts and 1,852 points then Michigan with 63 for 1,774.

A week ago with fewer votes cast Maryland topped Oklahoma by just 30 points.

Navy soundly beaten by Notre Dame lost their fourth place rating to Michigan State but salvaged ninth place. And the Irish hopped from ninth to sixth and almost

Interruption Due Funds Lack

GREENSBORO (AP)—Lack of finances has caused an interruption in the annual regional basketball clinics, held throughout the state for the past two seasons by the North Carolina Coaches Assn.

Bob Jamieson of Greensboro, clinic director, said yesterday that the clinic committee of the association hopes the sessions will resume next year.

Santee Anxious Over Olympics

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Marine Lt. Wes Santee, America's star miler, was poised today to fight a permanent suspension as an amateur Athlete which would bar him from the 1956 Olympics.

Santee, a former University of Kansas runner, said last night he planned an immediate appeal of the suspension voted Sunday by the Missouri Valley AAU registration committee. It said he had accepted excessive expense allowances for competing in three California track meets last May.

An official of the registration group said it was found Santee received $1,200 in all from sponsors of the three meets, whereas AAU rules allow amateur runners up to $15 a day in expenses, plus travel costs.

Word of the suspension action reached Santee yesterday at this Marine Corps base where he is stationed. He said he had never done anything to violate amateur athletic standards.

The committee gave Santee, the American mile record holder, five days to appeal its 5-2 action to the Missouri Valley AAU's board of managers. Santee said at his home in Triangle, near here, he was "in the process" of preparing that appeal and he indicated it probably would be in the mail by today.

Santee did not say what the appeal would contain.

If the suspension sticks, Santee would not be able to compete in next year's Olympic Games in Australia. This obviously was uppermost in his mind.

"I would hate to miss the Olympics," he told an interviewer.

Pancho Segura On Kramer Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pancho Segura again will be a member of tennis promoter Jack Kramer's professional tennis tour.

Kramer announced yesterday that Pancho will join him and former amateur titlist Tony Trabert as a fourth competitor to be selected. Kramer plans to talk further with Richard (Pancho) Gonzales.

The promoter is back from Australia, where he tried unsuccessfully to sign Davis Cup stars Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

Seven Straight For The Yankees

NAGOYA, Japan (AP)—The New York Yankees trimmed Japan's Chunichi Dragons 7-0 today behind the three-hit pitching of right-handers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant.

It was the Yanks' seventh win without a loss in a tour of Japan. The Yankees got eight hits, including a two-run homer into right field by first baseman Eddie Robinson in the fourth inning.

A crowd of some 30,000, including many U. S. servicemen, saw the game.

Stock And Market Reports

NW YORK — The stock market moved along a narrow path today with the trend slightly higher in the early afternoon.

Prices ranged around a point in either direction with one or two exceptions. There were no pronounced movements in major divisions.

Trading was on the light side and hit a pace less than yesterday's 1,800,000 shares traded in a slightly lower market.

General Motors was down about a point as it was disclosed in Washington that a Senate anti-trust committee study of the giant corporation will begin in a week.

Fruehauf Trailer yesterday's most active issue, up 2% on a good earnings report, was down a small fraction today.

Also lower were such issues as U.S. Rubber, Du Pont, International Paper and Johns-Manville.

Higher were Bethlehem Steel, Armco Steel, Goodrich, Boeing, Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Eastern Air Lines.

RALEIGH — (NCDA)—Hog prices steady to 25 lower. Tops at 14.75 at Beaufort, Goldsboro, Clinton, Fayetteville, Mount Gilead, Mount Olive, Elizabethtown, Siler

Sponsor Turkey Shoots In Bethel

A Turkey Shoot at the High School grounds in Bethel will be sponsored by the Bethel Lions Club each Wednesday and Friday night, beginning tomorrow at 7 p.m., for the next several weeks. Lions Club president D. E. Perry announced today.

Price tag for the shoot is one dollar. Perry said, and money will be used for organizational and charity work by the Lions.

Several shoots are scheduled each night with a turkey to be awarded the winner of each.

Coin Machines Found Looted

Approximately $25 was reported taken from various coin machines in the College Club on Cotanche St. during the weekend after thieves entered the building through window.

Police reported that the robbers entered the club by climbing a ladder to an upstairs window.

A "juke" box, a shuffle board game, and a cigarette machine had been broken open.

The loss was discovered last night. Police are investigating the theft.

Reserve Unit Up For Inspection

The 3015th Army Reserve Reception Station with headquarters at 106 Picklen Street Greenville has its annual Federal Inspection last week. Above men are shown being inspected in rank by the inspecting officer Col. McDaniels of Third Army. In addition to a personal inspection of each man, the records and other equipment of the station were also inspected by the inspecting officer. Results of the inspection will be forwarded to the local commander Major Gordon B. Berry in the near future. (Photo by Roy Harde)

Defendant Concedes Not Very Proud Of Transporting Liquor

Robert L. Crain, 24-year-old former DuPont worker and ex-marine, awaited a ruling today in Pitt County Superior Court to receiving stolen goods in connection with a mysterious case that broke last May.

Crain was arrested in a wooded area near Mumfords Street May 13 after county ABC officer H. B. Lilley grabbed an eight-shot revolver from his hand. The defendant, who had been tracked down by bloodhounds, had threatened to shoot himself as the officer approached.

This morning Crain testified that he transported three loads of non-tax paid whiskey during the period immediately preceding his arrest in a car stolen from June Tripp, of 124 Eastern Street. Officers, however, testified that Cain told them at the scene that he had transported only one load of liquor.

The big question, and one that has not yet been answered, was brought to light in the form of a query from Solicitor Bob Rouse to Greenville Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs.

"Do you have," Rouse asked Gibbs, "an opinion satisfactory to yourself as to what this was all about?"

"That would put me out on a limb," Gibbs replied.

Judge William J. Bundy, however, directed Gibbs to answer and the chief replied, "He (Crain) had been driving back and forth in the vicinity of the bank."

No more testimony, except for one comment by Crain, was introduced with reference to his arrest, a change of clothes hidden in the woods and some waterproof bags in his car, near the Meadowbrook branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co. on N. Greene Street.

Crain, who took the stand later, said his sole purpose had been hauling liquor. Crain, who is 24, said he met an "elderly man in his late 30's" named Johnny Edwards and discussed earlier that week the prospect of hauling illicit liquor. He listed his address at the time of his arrest as 106 E. Sylvan Drive.

"It's possible I rode by the bank," Crain said and added, "Mr. Gibbs gave an impression that might be bad." He did not elaborate further.

Asked why he was carrying a gun, Crain replied that he felt he needed it for protection against those whom he considered "bootleggers."

"I wasn't particularly proud of hauling liquor," the defendant said, "but I'd do it to save my home." Crain, a native of Missouri, admitted that he had encountered financial difficulties in making payments for his home from his $320 a month salary.

Crain testified that he used Tripp's car, stolen early in the week of his arrest, to make three hauls with liquor and was to have been paid $150 for his services the day that he was caught. Two of the loads of liquor, he said, were taken to Washington and one to near Black Jack. He got the illegal spirits on the Pactivol highway, he said.

Crain said he used the change of clothes found hidden in the woods nearby so that people he knew wouldn't be able to identify him. He wore gloves, he said, so as not to leave prints on the car.

The Johnny Edwards, whom Crain named as a confederate in the liquor-hauling, has not been found by officers. Another older man, also unidentified, also was part of the transporting of the whiskey, he said.

Crain's personal car was found near the spot of his arrest jacked-up.

Meanwhile, in business transacted by the court yesterday, a divorce was granted in the case of Mabel Dudley Teale vs. John Teale.

Other cases found Gus Overton taxed with costs for hit and run and a careless and reckless charge against Jack D. Garginol prosed with leave. William S. Green received 12 months for assault with a deadly weapon and John F. Green was given eight to 12 months on a similar charge.

Heber Garris, charged with drunk driving, was called and failed to answer. An instant capias was issued for his arrest. Robert Earl Adams was taxed with costs for careless and reckless driving and Cecil Edward Bradshaw paid $50 and costs for speeding 69 miles per hour.

A charge of careless and reckless driving against Wilbur E. Goodwin was not prosed but he was fined $100 and costs for drunk driving. John Eli Olliver paid $100 and costs for drunk driving and Lamb Thigpen, charged with drunk driving, was fined $25 and costs for careless and reckless driving.

I am a humanitarian."

How did he get his odd first name? He picked it out himself. As a boy he had published some lyric poetry, which he later described as pretty awful, under his birth name—Thomas Lanier Williams.

"I felt the same had been compromised," he says, "so I changed it to Tennessee Williams mainly that the Williamses had fought the Indians for Tennessee and I had already discovered that the life of a young writer was going to be something similar to the defense of a stockade against a band of savages."

A depression product, it took Williams seven years to earn a college degree. Twice his health broke down in years during which he worked all day and wrote most of the night. He held such odd jobs as elevator operator, waiter, cashier, shoe firm clerk, teletype operator and movie usher.

"It there was never a moment when I did not find life to be immeasurably exciting to experience and witness," he recalls, "however difficult it was to sustain."

His bread crumb days ended when he left a $17 a week movie ushe. Job for a Hollywood writing assignment at $250 a week.

Williams now can afford to travel anywhere in the world and write where he pleases. An associate recently said:

"The first money Tennessee earned as a writer was $25 for three sonnets. Now he gets at least $1 a word."

That's not bad—considering that Presque, Calvin Coolidge when he left the White House received only a dollar a word for writing a daily column!

Rotarians Add To Club Loan Fund

A program under the direction of Dr. Carl Adams, chairman of the Rotary Student Loan Fund, netted approximately $50 to boost the fund at the Greenville Rotary Club meeting last night.

Dr. Adams, in reporting to the club on the operation of the loan fund, pointed that 26 loans have been made from the fund aiding 22 students at East Carolina College in completing their college education. The principal and interest now in slightly over $450, but from the revolving fund loans totaling $1,821.50 have been made to students over a period of years.

The fund is maintained by the local Rotary Club through fines its members pay for being tardy at meetings, and through other contributions of members of the club.

At last night's meeting, Dr. Adams presented club members with a series of questions, and each member who failed to answer his questions correctly was fined five cents for each question missed. The money collected will go into the Student Loan Fund.

Guests at the meeting included Nat VanNortwick, Rev. J. A. Neilson, Dr. Karl B. Pace Jr. and Donald Rose. Visiting Rotarians included Walter Jones of Farmville, J. B. Patrick of Washington, and Alton Rowe of Ayden.

Robinson School Honor Roll For Period Includes 12 In High School

WINTERTVILLE — At Robinson School during the first six weeks of the session 12 high school students made the Honor Roll. Twenty-eight pupils from the primary and 20 from the grammar grades also made the Honor Roll.

High Schools Students: David Hammond, Shirley Carmon, Margaret Pierce, Geraldine Worthington, Elinor Waters, Thelma Aldrich, William Hammond, Daisy Ennis, Helen Barrett, Inez Dixon, Sadie Willoughby and Esther Hammond.

Esther Hammond, Sadie Willoughby and Charles Henderson took the Meritt Screening Scholarship Test on October 26.

Approximately 40 members of 4-H clubs attended the recent State Fair in Raleigh with their leaders. Fourteen seniors attended the annual High School Day at A. and T. College in Greensboro on October 22.

A Health Education Workshop, under leadership of Mrs. Barbee of the State Health Department and the Pitt County Health Department was held at the school October 26. About 100 teachers, principals and health workers attended.

Officers Find 50-Gallon Still

A 50-gallon still was destroyed by Pitt County ABC officers yesterday near the Red Banks Landing Road. Also destroyed along with the still, which was not in operation, was 100 gallons of mash.

The unit fired by gas burners and used an old car radiator for a condenser.

Heber Garris, charged with drunk driving, was called and failed to answer. An instant capias was issued for his arrest. Robert Earl Adams was taxed with costs for careless and reckless driving and Cecil Edward Bradshaw paid $50 and costs for speeding 69 miles per hour.

Farmville 4-H Member Named State Winner

Phyllis Corbett, Farmville senior 4-H Club member, has been named a state winner in the Girls Record competition, the local Home agents' office announced today.

Phyllis will go to Raleigh November 25 for a state recognition ceremony, and from there to Chicago where her record will be entered in national competition. The National 4-H Congress, an annual event, will be held from November 28 through December 1.

Being named state Girls' Record winner means that Phyllis has excelled in keeping records of all her projects since she became a 4-H club member in 1949, assistant Home agent Elizabeth Johnson explained.

Mrs. Johnson said there have been only two other girls from Pitt County who have been named winners in state 4-H competition: Hazel Garris, now Mrs. Jarvis Tripp Jr., for a dairy foods demonstration in 1949; and Mildred Edwards, now Mrs. Norman Savage, in the dress revue in 1938.

Last year a Pitt County youth, Jimmy Hendrix, won national honors at the 4-H Congress for his home grounds beautification project.

A senior this year at Farmville High School, Phyllis has been active in both 4-H and school activities. Her 4-H projects, described in her record book, include clothing, food preparation, home management, home improvement, farm-home electric, frozen foods, home grounds beautification, better grooming and making and keeping friends. In these categories she has completed a total of 33 projects during her seven years as a 4-H club member.

Phyllis was a member of the Northeastern District team that won the dairy foods contest in 1954. She has also been county winner two years for girls' record, and county winner in home management, home improvement, farm-home electric, leadership and public speaking. She won a blue ribbon last year at the county dress revue, and in 1952 was named Pitt County's most outstanding 4-H girl.

She has held all the club and county 4-H offices, having just completed a term as president of the 4-H County Council.

Phyllis has attended state club week in Raleigh for the past three years, playing the cymbals in the state 4-H band for the past two years. She has been to 4-H camp a number of times and has served as a leader for junior club members.

At school, Phyllis is a charter member of the Keyette Club, and has served as county historian of the Future Homemakers of America and band reporter. She is a principal's list student (makes all A's and B's) and served as marshal her first two years in high school. She is a member of the Journalism club and the FHA and served as sophomore class president. She has also been a member of the basketball team.

Phyllis plans to attend college at East Carolina next year and to major in home economics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Corbett of Fountain.
