Will Take Up Disarmament Plans With Soviet Sec. Dulles Back In Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles conferred today with disarmament expert Harold Stassen. He opened a drive to get Russian participation in measures designed to make a massive surprise attack by either America or the Soviet Union impossible.

Minister V. M. Molotov that agreement on such measures — keyed to President Eisenhower's U. S. Soviet aerial inspection plan — could be followed readily by other steps leading to worldwide arms reduction and control of atomic weapons.

maintain other exchanges would be "dangerous interference" in Soviet internal affairs. Big Three negotiators have turned down Russian demands to end the West's ban on the sale of strategic goods to the Soviet bloc and have refused to discuss a Communist "freedom of the seas" proposal.

Tito Concur Red Satellites Should Get Independence

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP)— Marshal Tito put his weight today behind the West's demand that Soviet-found satellite states of Eastern Europe be given their independence and freedom of action.

indicated that Tito's views had not been changed by the visit of Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party leader Khrushchev last spring. Dulles said he and Tito also were agreed "the German question must be settled gradually, step by step."

Scott Says Sec. Of Interior Held Up Statehood

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)— Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) says Secretary of the Interior McKay is largely responsible for the delay in admitting Alaska and Hawaii to the union.

Scott said both Hawaii and Alaska have "been denied statehood too long. Both are treated as colonies, which forces them to carry on in a fashion not in keeping with true democratic principles."

Accusations And Counterclaims In Middle East

JERUSALEM (AP)—A new shower of charges of violations of the Palestine armistice agreement confronted peacekeepers today in the troubled Middle East.

They included an Israeli declaration that Egyptian troops were entrenched in the demilitarized zone of the Egyptian Sinai, constituting a longstanding violation and a threat to civilian life.

Lanier Addresses Press Session On Tobacco Impact Seen In Acreage Cut

J. Con Lanier of Greenville, in an address before members of the Eastern North Carolina Press Association Saturday, asserted a 20 per cent cut in tobacco acreage next year "will mean bankruptcy to a considerable number of growers."

pounds per acre will be their salvation because it will mean cheaper per pound cost of production and will give American tobacco a better position in the world market.

When the current tobacco crop has been marketed, Lanier stated, the amount of tobacco held by the Stabilization Corp. will amount to 500 to 550 million pounds which represents approximately one-half of one year's production of tobacco.

Growth Of Secrecy In Gov't Draws Concern

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for the American Society of Newspaper Editors expressed concern today over what he called the mushrooming of "new categories of withheld information" in government agencies.

government; to the emigration of governmental power from publicly operated legislative and judicial agencies to secretly operated administrative agencies; to the declining faith in the wisdom of the people which is an aspect of the generation's counter-revolution against free institutions; to the requirements of national military security which have increased steadily since World War I.

The time for the people in the tobacco section to worry, he said, is when exports of tobacco and domestic consumption of tobacco begin to drop off. The current trend points to an increased consumption. He told the group that within the next several days there should come from the Philippines an announcement which will mean an appreciable increase in the amount of American tobacco which will be purchased by that country.

Hears Rumors Of Klan Recruiting

CHARLOTTE (AP)— Police Chief Frank Littlejohn, who was instrumental in breaking up a Ku Klux Klan group here five years ago, said today he had been told membership in the new Klan Klaverns in Charlotte.

He conferred immediately with police and other officials and called for meetings with Israeli and Arab representatives on the latest U. N. proposal to ease border tensions.

Will Be Hunting Industry For N. C.

RALEIGH (AP)—Air-minded Gov. Hodges plans to switch his mode of transportation tonight and travel by train.

General Wage Increase Is Goal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-United Textile Workers of America has announced plans to press for a general wage increase in the textile industry next March.

House Guttled By Flames Today

Fire fighters in the above photo pour water into a burning dwelling at 301 Deck St. as heavy smoke belches from the building. The house, which was occupied by Essie Pritchard, was completely gutted by the blaze.

Damage High As Equipment Shortage Claimed 2 Simultaneous Fire Calls

Firemen found themselves short of equipment this morning when calls to two major fires came from opposite ends of the city.

The aerial ladder truck and a small truck, part of the local fire department's second line equipment was dispatched to the fire.

When that truck arrived, firemen used foam and quickly extinguished the burning bulldozer.

Constables Resign In Two Townships

Two resignations by township constables were received by Pitt County's Commissioners at their regular monthly meeting today.

The resignation of Elizabeth Pate Johnson, assistant home demonstration agent, also was accepted.

Cost of the truck has been estimated at $16,000. Also in plans for the future, are a new substation and another high pressure truck for the eastern section of town.

Those Thumps Are Basketball Practice

By JEANNETTE WORTHINGTON
Arden High School

The thump, thump of the basketball can be heard any afternoon after school nowadays in the AHS gym. The Tornadoes lasses have begun basketball practice in earnest. E. F. Johnson, principal and coach, welcomed thirty girls to the initial practice last Tuesday afternoon.

Returning letter winners Carol Lynn Johnson senior; Margaret Wooten Nichols senior; Sue Sutton and Ann Long, juniors, all forwards, are among those preparing for the eighteen game schedule to begin on December 2. Returning guards are: Carolyn Sumrell, sophomore; Faye Bowen, senior; and Doris Whaley, junior.

The Tornado quintet has not begun regular practice yet, as most of the squad is currently active in football practice.

Final plans are being whipped into shape for the annual homecoming at AHS on Friday, when the Tornadoes beat Beaufort.

JEANNETTE

The committee in charge of the plans is: Lindy Dunn, president of the Athletic Association; Faye Bowen, president of the Student Council; and Carol Lynn Johnson. Other committees and their jobs are: Floats—fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades.

Crowning of Queen, FHA; transportation for sponsors, NFL; decorating field, cheerleaders and football players, exhibit on front campus, Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y PA system, Mr. May, Herbie Little and Bobby Gagnon; programs and advertising, FELA; dance, Beta club; parade, Mrs. Rosa Little and Mr. Stirling; individuals in parade, FFA; Social committee, Student Council.

Wednesday at chapel period, the student body elected Jeri Jolly, sponsored by Sonny Smith, as Homecoming Queen. Connie Dunn, sponsored by Lindy Dunn, and Betty Craft, sponsored by James Willis, were runner-ups.

Rehearsals for the senior play, "Along Came Spring" have begun. The seniors report they are having a lot of fun and are working hard to make this comedy a great success. Members of the cast are Connie Dunn, Betty Lou Cannon, Jo Anne Williams, Betty Lou Ross, Sonny Smith, Kay Braxton, David Nobles, Allen Dennis, Carol Lynn Johnson, Jeri Jolly and Mary Alice Hart.

Barrow, Suzanne Taylor, Ella Mae Ormond, Barry Moore, Dorothy Spence, Barbara Gagnon, Peggy Wood and Ann Lassiter. These students were chosen for their ability, interest, effort, congeniality and co-operation.

The following new members were initiated into the Ayden FEA at the regular meeting last week: Carol Lynn Caviller, Joyce Davis, Barbara Gagnon, Geraldine Nelson, Ella Mae Ormond, Susan Ross, Joyce Stancil, Elizabeth Thomas, Grace Whaley, Myrtle Willis, Kay Cannon, Mary Allen, Edna Cannon, Francine Cannon, Jessie Hardee, Joyce Jolly, Sonia Payne, Freddie Skinner, Dorothy Spence, Nancy Wingate, Peggy Wood, and Ann Lassiter.

Billy Cuthrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cuthrell, was chosen Citizen of the Week by the Citizenship committee of the Student Council. He is a member of the Freshman class, high school chorus, football team, and takes part in all school activities. Congratulations, Billy!

Even though Friday night was the coldest night we've had this season, a lot of people came out to witness the game between the Ayden Tornadoes and Tarboro, and it was worth coming out for. That was the most exciting game of the season and Ayden's teenagers were so happy they felt like shouting and did so in no uncertain terms, when the Tornadoes scored in the last few minutes of the game. The final score was 20 to 19 in favor of Ayden.

Instability Seen Rising In Greece

ATHENS (AP)—The political instability that plagued Greece for generations seems to be on the way back.

For nearly two years Marshal Alexander Pappas maintained stability in this NATO country. His death last month virtually disintegrated his Greek Rally party, which had 205 of the 300 seats in Parliament. Constantine Karamanlis, the new prime minister, is the recognized leader of the Rally remnants. His government exists only because national elections have been pledged for spring. Karamanlis has promised his government will make no major policy decisions without consent of the opposition.

Ten major political groupings, plus a dozen individuals, are negotiating for lineups in the elections. Perennial names in the Greek political picture, submerged by the Papagos landslide in 1952, are coming back.

In five years after their liberation the Greeks saw more than 29 governments come and go—all coalitions.

Class Play Receipts Help Building Fund

By ANNE HARRIS
Belvoir-Falkland School

The Junior class presented "The Hillbilly Wedding" again Wednesday night in the Falkland Elementary School auditorium. Fifty per cent of the proceeds was given toward the payment of the recently constructed Falkland community building.

After the play the class enjoyed refreshments and games in the community building. In addition to honoring the casts, the party also honored one of the members of the Junior class, Shelby James, on her seventeenth birthday.

In observance of FEA week, October 31-November 4, the Future Homemakers of America busied themselves acquainting the public with the projects prepared for that week. Each member of the club wore a pin titled "This is FEA Week." In the high school hall, a bulletin board was put up symbolizing the creed, symbol, colors and the flower of the club. FEA members made favors and presented them to the patients of Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Also in observance of FEA Week, some of the club members gave a skit "Builders of Homes," Thursday.

A report on the Student Council convention held in Rocky Mount, October 23 through October 25, was given by Dorothy Harris and Sheila Dawn Wooten, the representatives for our school, in the school auditorium. Dorothy reported on the trip to Rocky Mount and the social entertainment while there and Sheila reported on the general assembly.

See Possibility Of Sabotage In Airliner's Crash

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP)—"Possibility of sabotage" is being checked and investigators have found "some things that appear unusual," a federal official said last night of a United Air Lines crash that killed 44 persons.

"There's nothing outstanding," said James N. Peyton, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Board's investigation division in declining to specify what appeared unusual. "But they do appear out of the ordinary."

Authorities are satisfied, Peyton said, the plane was at approximately 11,000 feet and climbing when it exploded. The crash occurred last Tuesday a few minutes after the DC6B had taken off at Denver. It scattered wreckage over a five-mile area near here.

meetings held in the Rocky Mount High School auditorium and the trip back home.

Approximately thirty students and the eighth grade teacher, Mrs. Fillmore, took a sight-seeing tour to Raleigh Friday.

They left the school about 7 a.m. and while in Raleigh, visited the Governor's Mansion, State Museum, Capitol, State School for Blind, and the penitentiary. They enjoyed lunch served at Pullen Park. Also to add more interest to the trip, the students went to the Ice Capades and enjoyed the event greatly. They arrived back at the school about 9 p.m. with an enjoyable day to add in their diary.

Among the high school students who saw the Ice Capades were Barbara Jenkins, Shelby James, Vera Windham, Annie Mae Spain, Minnie Anderson, Bobby Manning, Anne Harris, Bud Little, and Belvoir graduates C. E. Manning, Jackie Marris and Harvey Strickland.

The basketball season officially opened Thursday night of last week with a double-header with the Maury High teams.

Our girls staged a brilliant rally in the second half to defeat the Maury team 41 to 38. Time ran out for our Eagles, however, and they were unable to overcome the 6 point lead of their opponents who won the game by a score of 53 to 46.

Our next game is scheduled for tomorrow night in the Belvoir-Falkland school gym.

Inquest Slated Into Bomb Death Of Willie Bioff

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An inquest into the mystery bomb-slaying of retired racketeer Willie Bioff was scheduled for today with his widow as a witness.

Officers said a weekend of intensive detective work has failed to turn up any new clues, and the few they have to go on are meager.

Mrs. Bioff, who has refused to give anything but the most brief statements to newsmen since her husband died in a tremendous explosion as he stepped on the starter of his truck Friday, will be called to confirm his identification.

Most of Bioff's fingers were blown off or mutilated in the blast. Fingerprint charts were scheduled to arrive today.

Officers eliminated one angle in the gangster-style killing when they found Bioff's seven-carat diamond ring on his lawn. He wore it on his right hand, which was blown off in the explosion.

Two Years Seems Long Enough

The quest for an equitable economic formula to govern the distribution of $25,000,000 of state school funds among the 100 counties in North Carolina admittedly is no easy matter. Yet it seems to us that by now the committee charged with the responsibility for working out such a formula should have come up with a recommendation.

The 1953 bond act under which the money was made available provided that $25,000,000 was to be distributed among 100 counties without regard for need or the counties ability to finance their own school program. The remaining $25,000,000, according to the legislative act was to be distributed among the counties according to need, local ability to pay, and local efforts to finance

Ben Douglas Played Big Role In Advancing N. C.

It will be a difficult job to fill the shoes of Ben E. Douglas who has resigned as head of North Carolina's Department of Conservation and Development.

During his two years as head of the department, Douglas has been one of the foremost leaders in a period of North Carolina's greatest industrial development. Under his leadership efforts of the department have attracted many new industrial plants into the state. These plants have provided an increase in industrial jobs and payrolls and have contributed to the stabilization of the state's economy.

At the same time, Douglas has prompted many individual communities throughout North Carolina to launch their own industrial development campaigns. These, coordinated with the state program, are playing a major part in the industrial development of the area.

In his role as head of the Department of Conservation and Development, Douglas has made a lasting contribution to the people of North Carolina. Although he will soon leave the post, his continued support of the state's development program will mean a great deal to the people of North Carolina.

Hunters Should Take All Safety Precautions

As the days of November slip by, the hunting season in this section of North Carolina moves into high gear. Literally thousands of sportsmen, armed with lethal weapons, take to the fields and woods in quest of their favorite game bird or animal.

For several years Pitt County has been fortunate in not having a serious hunting accident. The small number of hunting accidents throughout North Carolina in recent years has indeed been a credit to the caution taken by sportsmen to prevent injuries and death from gunshot wounds.

The number of hunters in North Carolina is increasing each year. In order to keep down the number of hunting accidents, it is necessary for the sportsmen to be ever more cautious else they injure themselves or other hunters.

As the current hunting season moves into its peak period, The Reflector urges Pitt County hunters to be mindful of the fundamental precautions to prevent hunting accidents. The county has maintained its good record of preventing hunting accidents for several years. Every effort should be made for preserving the good record which has been established.

It'll Take Time To Get Used To Runway Planes

There can be no doubt that several red faces appeared among military officials when a "drone" aircraft was "lost" somewhere over North Carolina, South Carolina or Virginia and flew for several hours before crashing near Georgetown, S. C.

The plane, flown by remote control, apparently lost contact with its control station during some sort of military test. Maybe it couldn't be helped; maybe it could. We don't know. At any rate the fact the runaway plane was loose somewhere over the area caused an appreciable degree of excitement among those who knew about it. It's a good guess too that it caused embarrassment among military officials.

In the course of time we've gotten used to runaway horses, runaway elephants and runaway automobiles; but this business of runaway airplanes is something new. It'll take the public a little while to get used to that idea.

school building programs. It has been more than two years since the legislative act was passed. Certainly that length of time should have permitted ample study of the economic situations of the various counties in the state. It likewise should have permitted ample time for the special committee to come up with an equitable formula for allocating the money.

The committee didn't have its formula ready to present to the Board of Education Thursday. Its spokesman declared it would take at least another 10 days to compile needed information.

Perhaps the formula will be ready this month. Perhaps there will be further delay before the funds approved by the voters in 1953 can be made available for school buildings in needy areas throughout the state.

In the meantime there are many counties in which children have had to attend classes under the most adverse circumstances because of the conditions of the physical facilities available to the public schools. The longer it is before the formula for allocating these school funds is reached; the longer it will be before the facilities which the bond money will provide can be put to use in the public school system of the state.

One Year Is Behind Governor Hodges

By LYNN NISBET
One Year of Hodges
Early Sunday morning, November 7, 1954, the people of North Carolina were shocked to learn that Governor William B. Umstead had just died in a hospital. It was a novel and tragic experience for them.

It was the first time since April 8, 1901, when Governor Daniel Fowle died that an elected Governor failed to complete his term. There was remarkable similarity in the two instances. Governor Fowle, like Governor Umstead, had been incapacitated by illness for a large part of his tenure in office.

William Umstead was buried at his boyhood church in upper Durham county Monday afternoon, November 8, 1954. From the graveyard Lieutenant Governor Luther H. Hodges came directly to the capitol and in a brief but very impressive ceremony took the oath of office as Governor of North Carolina. He has completed one year of service in that capacity, and it is appropriate to review the record of that eventful year. The review here presented will not be in detail, nor will it be chronological. It will seek to present a true picture of accomplishments and failures.

It is important to remember that Hodges came to the governorship in a mid-term, with a General Assembly less than two months away. Members of the Assembly had been elected with expectation of serving with Umstead. The Umstead program was well along toward completion. The budget report had been almost completed. Economic conditions were such that the budget, for the first time in 20 years, contemplated new taxes to meet increasing demands for State services. Also it contemplated some reduction in services. In addition, the expansion which had been the rule two decades or more.

Governor Hodges began as chief executive Tuesday morning, November 9. He canceled all speaking engagements and all social functions planned at the Manassas. Except for emergency matters that required immediate attention he devoted full time for the following two months to conferences with officials—agency and department heads, institutional administrators and budget officers. He dealt with the advisory budget commission in completing the report and signed it, although he had not been in on most of its preparation.

At his first news conference he announced he would delegate as much authority as possible, depend upon subordinates for details and give his attention to major policies. He also said he would set a schedule of activities, permitting some rest time every day. (That is one promise he has not found it possible to keep.)

The Legislature convened in an atmosphere of uncertainty. A new Governor, who had not been elected to that office, and a budget calling for $52 million in new money, was something no previous Legislature had faced. Without shirking his own responsibility, the new Governor promptly made it clear he would not assume the obligation of the General Assembly to make appropriations and levy taxes. Legislative leaders sought to pass the buck to him, but he refused to take it.

Result was the second longest legislative session in history. Meanwhile improved economic conditions made it possible to cut out some of the proposed new taxes. Instead of $52 million new source money the final revenue bill carried about $30 million.

Another primary cause of legislative concern was the segregation order and open rebellion against equal philosophy which had controlled North Carolina for 60 years had been thrown out by the Supreme Court. Confronted with extreme ideas of complete compliance with integration order and open rebellion against them, Governor Hodges exercised leadership to bring about a middle road course.

At his instance the public school laws were revised to give much more authority to local units. Later he appealed for voluntary segregation and suggested local option in event the voluntary compliance plan did not work. It is too early to evaluate the effect of legislation and executive recommendations. It can be stated that Governor Hodges leadership has to date kept North Carolina in the middle of the road on this explosive issue. Early in his regime he said he would make appointments on a basis of merit and proven worth not because of factional politics. This policy resulted in re-appointment of many officers, board and commission members, who had been named by his predecessors and many of whom were not his own personal or political friends. Result was a minimum of disruption in orderly and routine government processes. He supported the reorganization program recommended by an Umstead commission, accomplished much toward consolidation and continued studies for further streamlining of State government.

He came into office just after Hurricane Hazel had ravaged the east and he has served through Hurricanes Connie, Diane and Ione. The way he moved in to provide relief from State and Federal agencies in these instances of damage running into multiplied hundreds of millions of dollars, as well as the way he has been getting about ever since, state justifies the nickname of the "Hurricane Governor."

No other Governor has faced comparable problems involving the budget, segregation and hurricanes in a four year term that Governor Hodges has faced in one year. And no other executive had less political support upon which he had right to depend.

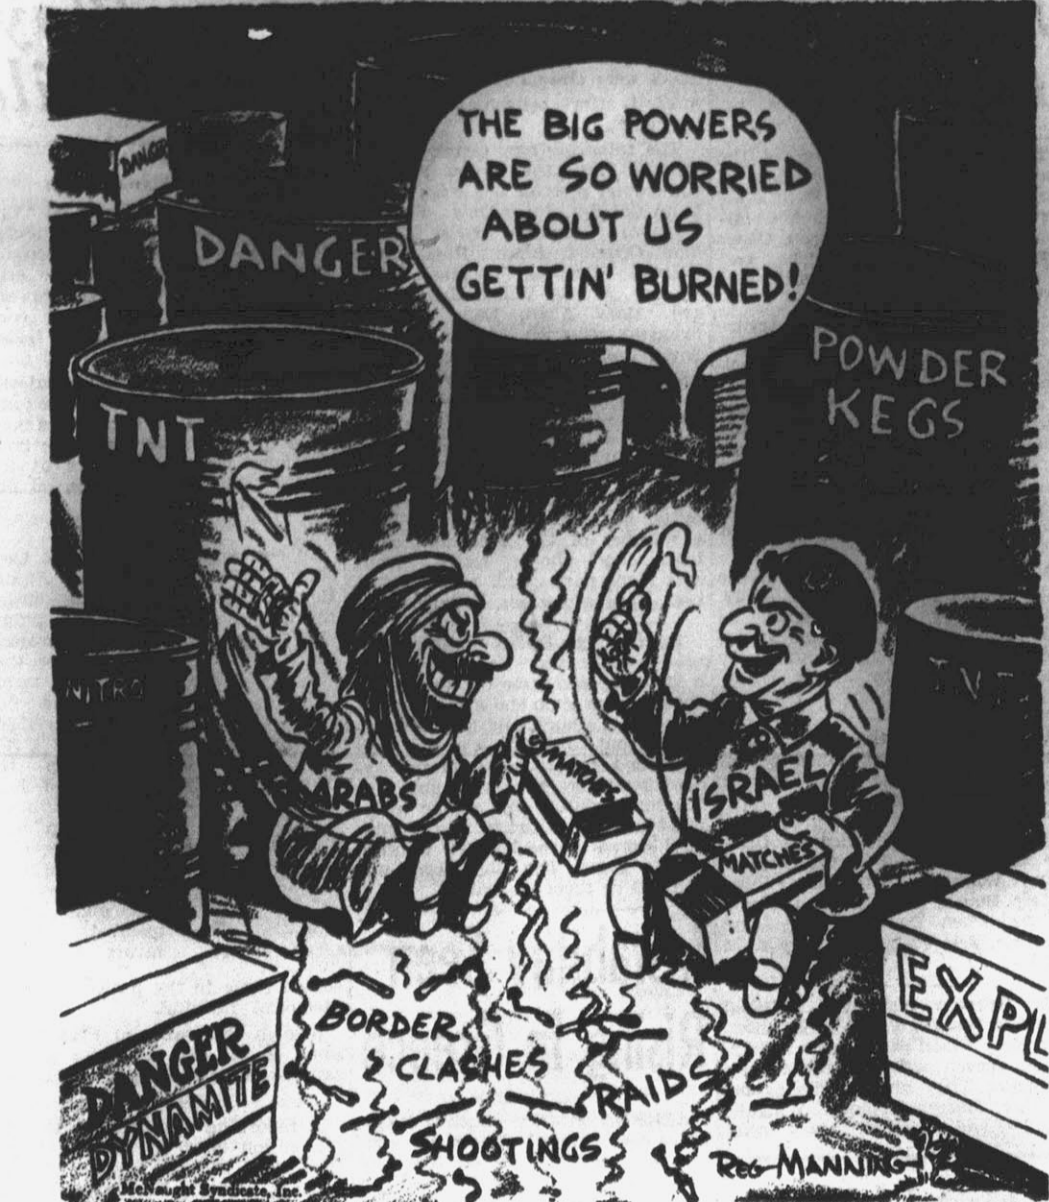

The fact that he now has, in opinion of your reporter, more popular and political support than any Governor in memory after one year in office, is testimony to the effective way he has met and dealt with these problems.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GOD'S GREATEST GIFT
The greatest gift in our religion is the assurance the Bible gives us that God forgives our sins. People read a lot of modern philosophy into the Bible, but the truth is that the Bible is neither modern nor ancient, but perennial. It lays down certain principles which apply to all people at all times. The thing which the heart of man most wants and which the Bible assures him he can have is the forgiveness of sins. How do we obtain this forgiveness and become reconciled to God? Solely by Faith in God's promise that He will forgive our sins, a faith which leads us to accept the gracious offer. Do we have to be worthy to receive this gift? No; the most unworthy, the most debased sinner is offered the full advantage of this heavenly gift and offered it while he is still a sinner. But he must renounce his sin if he obtains the divine gift. The Bible calls this renunciation "repentance." If we remain in our sin after we have accepted God's forgiveness, our acceptance has not been sincere and the value of our acceptance is destroyed. Let us establish ourselves confidently upon God's grace, that sense of the love and favor of God acting within the heart, which will rescue us from despair and shield us in the hour of temptation. Such has been the faith of the Christian church in every generation. Freedom from the guilt and burden of sin is the greatest gift God has to offer us.

Deterrent To Better Work

By ELMER ROESSNER
More workers are getting nearer the average wage and salary scales than before the war, according to findings of Dr. Herman Miller in a study made for the Social Science Research Council and the Bureau of the Census.

Dr. Miller analyzed incomes in 1939, 1945 and 1951. This table shows the percentage of total wage or salary incomes before taxes received by each fifth of the working population.

	1939	1945	1951
Lowest fifth	3	3	3
Second fifth	8	10	11
Third fifth	15	17	19
Fourth fifth	24	26	26
Highest fifth	50	44	41

Since there has been nothing to reverse the trend since 1951, the figures for that year probably apply today. At first glance, these findings seem wonderful. They seem to indicate that there is a fairer distribution of income—a sort of payroll democracy.

But while they may please the Marxists who urge, from each according to his ability, to each according to his needs, these figures may in reality point to a big flaw in our economic thinking.

Dr. Miller found that the trend prevailed among the nonorganized as well as unionized labor. Nevertheless, it seems reasonable to think that the equalizing process has stemmed from labor demands and the so-called "progressive" system of taxation. Because unions constantly press for higher wages, employers try to keep payrolls in check by reducing the premium wages above scale. In addition, many have found that a 10 per cent higher rate for an unusually effective worker soon becomes the basis of a demand for a similar increase for all.

And income tax rates that get larger as wages and salaries go up discourage workers from seeking advancement. Many companies have trouble getting employees to work overtime at time-and-a-half rates, and executives are less interested in stock options and "assignments" abroad than in salary rises.

As long as employees have little interest in more money—or place their interest in escrow to their business agents—they cannot be expected to give their best efforts. Perhaps if the highest fifth of the working population got an even greater share of the total income than they did in 1939—and were allowed to keep more of it—almost all workers would aim for that bracket by better production and more enthusiastic selling.

Luigi's Own Success Story

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Today's success story:
In the humming world of Rockefeller Center, one of America's busiest cities within a city, Louis Falsetti is a more familiar figure than John D. Rockefeller Jr., or his five sons.

"Luigi"—or "Luigi" as many of his clients call him—came to the United States 50 years ago as a boy of 15. Since then he has shined an average of 50 pairs of shoes a day, or about 650,000 shined.

His most memorable customer was President Harry Truman, who took his shine standing up during morning walk, paid 25 cents and said, "thank you."

"He was a very good man—I always admired him," recalled Luigi, who doesn't go into politics but puts an equal glow on Democrats and Republicans alike.

Luigi, who says "with me business is always looking up," has raised two children.

At the age of 18 Luigi's father took him back to Italy.

"They paid me 15 cents a day to carry rocks for a building," Luigi said. "And I told them if I could only see America again

I would never see Italy again."

After four months Luigi did come back to the United States, became a citizen and never has returned to Italy.

"I still don't want to go back," he said. "I have nobody there any more—only my three nephews and my sister-in-law."

"When I saw the Statue of Liberty when I came back I said this was God's country, and I still say all the time God bless America. I don't say this because it is the thing to say, but because this is the best country to live in."

About his sons Luigi is proud. One is a salesman, one works for a steel company.

"I don't mind shining shoes," he said, "but I don't want my sons to have to."

"It is the thrill of my life to work. I like to mingle with people. You may not learn an awful lot shining shoes, but you do hear a lot."

Luigi usually hums an Italian operatic aria as he moves from office to office, carrying his shine kit and kneepad.

"When Caruso was alive I knew more songs," he said. "I used to see more opera than Now I am married, the expense is more high and I have to watch out for the dollar. It is 15 or 16 years now since I have been to the opera, but I still remember the melodies. I carry them in my head always."

Luigi who is 5 feet 5 and combs his gray hair sideways across the top to split the hair, under-went a serious throat operation last March. He was off work three last weeks, the longest absence of his life, and hundreds of his clients missed him.

"They sent flowers, wine and books to the hospital," said Luigi. "But they didn't miss me. Where could they go and get a good shine? I always bring a good shine to them."

Luigi feels better now. He's worked back to his 50 shined a day schedule.

"Life is very good," he said. "But you stand on your knees all day and by night you are tired."

Maybe Luigi also becomes weary because of the number of his clients who depend on his

Balance In Values Is 'Natural'

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — As I look out at the trees, from where I am writing, I am amazed at their balanced shapes. How do the limbs know when to stop growing in order to keep the entire tree so symmetrical? I am told that if several limbs should be cut off on one side, the tree would partially rebalance these limbs before growing in height. I know that if you pull off one of the two big claws of a lobster so as to throw it out of balance, it will grow another claw to get back into balance.

WHAT ABOUT US HUMANS? We are surrounded by miracles, but the greatest miracle of all is seen when we look into a mirror. Among many other wonders is the fact that our two legs grow equally so as to balance in length, weight, and girth. The same applies to the arms, hands and feet. As food, drink, and air enters our bodies our wonderful automatic factory divides the proteins, fats, and minerals so that the same quantity goes to both sides of our bodies to keep them in perfect balance.

But our brains do get out of balance. The insane and senile people are the commonest illustration of this; but every one of us gets tipped on some one subject. Furthermore, some persons get enthusiastic over every new fad and are always optimistic; while others are like my friend, Mr. Humphrey B. Neil of Saxon River, Vt., who has been successfully following the "contrary side" of every question. I believe very few investors have made and kept a fortune by always being either bearish or bullish. The big fortunes in stocks, commodities, and real estate have been made by recognizing that nature is constantly working for a balanced situation. Hence, base your investments on Newton's Law of Action and Reaction.

APPLYING NEWTON'S LAW TO YOUR REAL ESTATE

Some communities today are booming. Others are standing still. It is safe to forecast that this will be either bearish or bullish. Therefore, those who are pessimistic or uncertain as to the future should not now move to some busy city like Detroit. Some day Detroit may suffer from great unemployment, while your city may have no jobs. Most graduates from colleges are now crazy to get into "electronics"; but before many years, electronic jobs may be selling at "a dime a dozen." Furthermore, we have learned that the days of "BOMBS" are always making millions in every industry.

Don't be like the cow that always wanted to jump the fence to get into the next pasture. A distant field may look green, but when you get there you are often disappointed. Stick to the city and church where you were born and have friends. Make good in the industry in which you have been trained. Keep in balance. Farming or dairying, which now is in a poor section of the city which has "run down," I probably would advise against selling now, but if it is in a booming section, I might advise you to sell. All real estate prices will tend to balance, as years go on. Probably some outlying property may be cheap as a better buy than downtown property in the heart of the business district.

A final illustration of the way prices balance up (if we let God run them) is the record of the automobile. It is in a poor section of the city which has "run down," I probably would advise against selling now, but if it is in a booming section, I might advise you to sell. All real estate prices will tend to balance, as years go on. Probably some outlying property may be cheap as a better buy than downtown property in the heart of the business district.

When I asked about the possibility of a revival of Hitlerism and used the phrase, "Corporal Hitler," at the audience granted us by top officials of the Adenauer Government, the Germans at the conference snickered. However, there is a movement whether conscious or not, to absolve the German Army Command of responsibility for their World War II defeat. It is being carried on through speeches and writings, by surviving members of his General Staff.

Few of their books and statements have been published in the United States, although they should be. It is a reputation of the philosophy that brought Hitler to power in 1933. Germany, according to this theory, lost the war because of Hitler's blunders not because of the power or the righteousness of the Allied cause. IT HAPPENED IN 1933 The German General Staff—Rommel, Guderian, Kettel etc.—fiercely opposed Hitler's provocation of war in 1939. They told him that Germany would not be prepared for a global conflict until 1942 or 1943. They told him that England, and eventually the United States, would fight. He did not believe them. He thought that England would make a negotiated peace with him. Oddly, he had a sneaking admiration for the British Empire.

But, for a few brief and dramatic moments in history, he proved to be correct. France fell far faster than Hitler and his military advisers expected. Hitler danced a tragic jig when his troops goose-stepped down the Champs Elysees. He proved to be right in other respects. In those early and unhappy years, but he and his clownish colleague, Mussolini, whose death scene at an obscure gas station was subsequently law in Milan, began to blunder out of belief in their invincibility. Our delegation, based on talks with big and little folk throughout Germany, does not believe that this legend of personal rather than national responsibility for defeat, will gain popular credence. After all, we beat them badly in two of history's most crucial wars.

Dulles Right: Adenauer Scored Victory

By RAY TUCKER
BONN — The Western world scoffed when Secretary John Foster Dulles professed "optimism" over the outcome of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's recent visit to Moscow. The head of the Federal Republic did not achieve reunification of his broken fatherland and it is doubted that the statesmen now meeting at Geneva will accomplish anything constructive out hat key problem.

All that the Chancellor gained was the release and the return home of several thousand West Germany prisoners of war detained in slave camps and mines by the Russians for more than 10 years. Also released, as the newspapers here and abroad have noted, were Hitler's personal valet and chauffeur, who were with him and Eva Braun in their last hours, and helped to pour gasoline over their bodies after they carried out their suicide pact.

The psychological impact of the returned prisoners' reports has been terrific. A few of the newspapers in our delegation were fortunate enough to talk with some of them here at Frankfurt, Cologne and other places. Besides detailed publication in West German newspapers and magazines, their accounts of Communist brutality are getting around by word of mouth. Several have withheld the most horrible stories because they hope to capitalize on them by writing books and magazine articles.

TRUMPET FOR THE WEST? Seen in this light, Adenauer's visit to Moscow was a triumph for the West. The Germans in the Western Zone may not like Americans too well, despite our generous treatment of them since the surrender in 1945. But they hate and detest the Russian regime for personal rather than for political reasons. They are not deceived or lulled by the "smiles of Geneva."

In short, the release of these prisoners was one of Moscow's greatest postwar blunders. And we got definite indications that the aged Chancellor had this psychological objective in mind when he conferred with the men in the Kremlin.

In contemporary German opinion, Hitler turned out to have feet and brains of clay. Besides being a false and tragic prophet, he was a funny and cowardly clown.

SCORN FOR HITLER? Our delegation of Congressmen, Government officials and newspaper correspondents from California, Washington and New York, got definite evidence of the truth of this psychological response. When I asked about the possibility of a revival of Hitlerism and used the phrase, "Corporal Hitler," at the audience granted us by top officials of the Adenauer Government, the Germans at the conference snickered. However, there is a movement whether conscious or not, to absolve the German Army Command of responsibility for their World War II defeat. It is being carried on through speeches and writings, by surviving members of his General Staff.

THE QUICKSILVER POOL

CHAPTER ONE
 Sounds from New York harbor woke Lora early Saturday morning and she lay for a little while listening to them, snug beneath the warm covers, trying to realize all that had passed. Was this really her new husband's home on Staten Island? Was she really here as Wade Tyler's wife? The strange sad past flooded over her. Would this dull aching of loneliness ever go away?

That October day in Pineville when her father, old Doc Blair, had rushed out onto the street to help a wounded Union soldier, and been shot dead; her long nursing of Wade Tyler, cruelly hurt in the leg; the terrible emptiness of her life, with her lover dead and gone, filled in part by Wade the handsome wealthy young widower asking her to become his permanent nurse, to go home with him to his mother's house as his new wife. They had arrived last night and old Amanda Tyler, confined to a wheelchair and dressed in regal black, had stared at this mousy little bride in shabby brown, glowing past Lora's friendly brown eyes and generous mouth curved in a smile to note her roughened, hardworked hands. The one bright spot was the sight of Wade's eight-year-old son Jemmy, whom she had greeted warmly. Her depression and concern of the night before lifted and she felt eager to be up and ready to meet the new day. If only her nose had not warned the fire. This morning she wore a white lace cap with lavender bows which seemed a little incongruous considering the severity of the rest of her dress. The sight of it made Lora warm to her a little. If Mrs. Tyler had a touch of feminine vanity, as seemed possible with that cap and her well-kept hair, she might have her softer side and be vulnerable to affection.

"I've been wondering when you were coming down," Mrs. Tyler said, though the little clock on the mantel pointed only to 10 to 8. "I trust you slept well Lora?"

"I don't think I stirred all night," Lora said. "And you?"

Mrs. Tyler reached for the heavy wooden wheels of her chair. "I never expect to sleep more than a few hours."

"Let me help you mother," Wade said quickly and managed, despite his crutch, to rest a' hands on the curve of the chair's padded leather back and push it toward the hall.

collar. True, he exuded a pungent odor of mothballs but that did not detract from the elegance with which he wore civilian dress. A tracing of shadow still showed beneath his eyes and his cheeks were hollow, but he looked rested and was plainly enjoying her surprise at his appearance.

"You're very handsome this morning," she told him. "I'm not up to you in this old dress."

He crossed the room on his crutch and put an arm about her. His cheek felt smooth and clean-shaven against her own. "We'll change all that in a few days, Lora. We'll get you new dresses and then you can be as free of your old things as I am free of that filthy uniform."

She knew how he had grown to hate his uniform and the war that it represented. More than once she had pondered the impulse which had made him volunteer, when he was such unlikely material for an army life. Probably it had been an effort to escape the grief of his loss.

"I'm glad you're an early riser," he went on. "Mother will approve. Suppose we go downstairs where it will be warm."

She threw off her shawl and moved toward the door, but before he opened it he drew her back for a moment.

"Lora, you'll bear with my mother? She may be difficult at times, you know."

"Of course," she assured him. "I want her to like me. I want to like her."

He seemed oddly relieved and she wondered if he had feared some rebellion from her. It was true that she had an independent streak that he seemed to shrink from whenever it appeared, but people usually liked and respected her. Granted time and patience, it surely would be no different with Wade's mother.

He went on gently: "If you can win her, then we can live in peace in this house and more than anything else Lora, I want peace."

She cupped his face between her two hands and kissed him lightly.

Tampa University, living up to every niche of its pre-game build, turned loose a board of fast-stepping halfbacks here Saturday night to hand East Carolina its worst licking of the season, 33-14, before 6,000 shivering fans.

The game was the finale of the 1955 campaign for the locals, who finish with a record of four wins and five losses. The victory was the fifth straight for the Spartans and their third consecutive over the Pirates.

Sophomore Don Herndon and Kenny Nuzoff, a couple of fellows who ran like they'd had speed injections in the dressing room, worked Coach Jack Boone's boys over proper. Between them, the accounted for over 200 yards, almost twice the amount made by the losers.

Each scored once on long excursions that left the chilled crowd limp. Herndon streaked 46 yards down the right sideline early in the second period and Nuzoff, a freshman, scampered 30 yards through the entire ECC team near the end of the same period.

Spack Green, too. Herndon and Nuzoff weren't the only two who found the Pirates' defense extra-vulnerable, however. Halfback Tom Spack, a 5-8, 195-pound workhorse, ran at will. He reeled off two thrilling treks, one a 34-yarder for a touchdown. He later spun 45 yards to set up another, going over himself from four yards out.

East Carolina stole a moment of glory in the first two minutes of the game when Herndon fumbled when tagged hard by center Lou Hallow and halfback Harold O'Kelly, recovered for the Pirates on Tam-pa's 35. On the first play, quarterback Dick Cherry pulled the string on a long pass to Bobby Perry, halfback. Perry was covered closely by Herndon and both boys had their hands on it. Perry wrestled the pigskin away, though, for the touchdown. Cherry added the point and ECC held its only lead in the game, 7-0.

Retaliated
Tampa scored four minutes later on a pass that closely resembled the Pirates' scoring toss. Bill Minahan, one of the classiest quarterbacks seen all year, faked beautifully in the backfield and pitched to end Dickie Harte for the score. The play covered 26 yards. Ted Green converted.

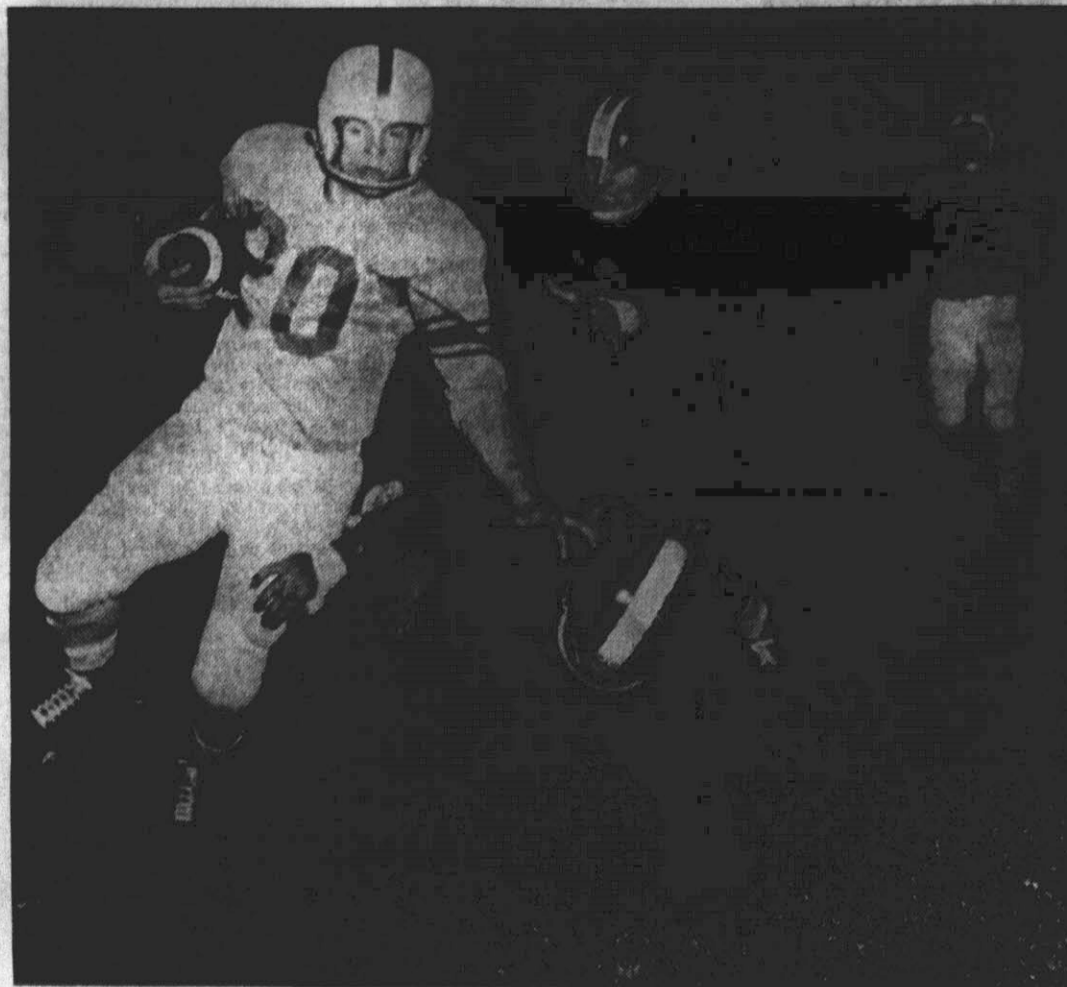

Tampa scored again on the first play of the second period. Spack broke around his own left end and aided by great blocking went 34 yards. Greene's kick was wide.

The Spartans weren't letting up yet. Moments later, Herndon laced up his running shoes and went to the races. He took a straight pitch-out from Minahan, struck out around his own left end and was on his way. Hallow came in fast at the 34 but was taken out on hard block by Greene. Herndon rolled on untouched into the end zone. The play had started on ECC's 46. Greene converted and Tampa led at halftime, 20-7.

Bit of Glory
The Pirates satiwatched another bit of glory between Tampa touchdowns. The first time they got the ball after intermission they drove 76 yards for a score. Bobby Perry's 42-yard scamper on a statue of liberty play was the big movement. Perry and sophomore fullback Bob Maynard drove the ball from the 26 to the half-foot marker where Maynard went over on a cross buck for the score. Cherry added the 14th point.

Tampa was just getting warm (and they were the only ones in the stadium, too) by this time and marched for two more tallies before the game ended. Nuzoff made one on his fine 30-yard gallop and Spack crashed over from the four after his electrifying 45 yard gain made it possible.

Louis Hallow and Ken Burgess, Pirate linebackers, played good defensive games for the locals. Hallow, especially, ended his college career in fine fashion. The big Goldboro boy was responsible for stopping several other Tampa scoring threats with his fine diagnosing and tackling.

Robersonville Defeats Selma

Robersonville's Rams downed non-conference foe Selma 20-13 last Friday in a home game for Coach Bob Lee's Coastal loop squad.

Fullback Don House led the Ram scoring attack, racking up two touchdowns and an extra point. Tailback Murphey Smith added another seven points to the Robersonville win.

This coming Friday, the Rams will play host to a rugged Penue (Rocky Mount) team in RHS Homecoming festivities. Coach Lee is expecting a tough game and stated today that his boys will have to work a lot on defense this week.

"We will be pretty close to top condition for Penue," Lee said. "We had no injuries last week, for a change."

Season Opens On Water Fowl

The season for hunting ducks, geese coots, brant and Wilson's snipe in North Carolina coastal waters opened today—November 7th and will close January 14.

County Game and Fish Protector J. O. Teel said the daily bag limit on ducks is 4, possession 8; geese, 2, possession 4; coots, 10 possession, 10; brant, 6 possession, 6.

A hunter's daily bag limit may include one wood duck, possession limit, 2. Daily bag limit may include only one red-breasted merganser.

GOT IT—Halfback Bobby Perry leaps high into the air to take a pass from Dick Cherry in the second period. Don Herndon of Tampa goes up with him as a defender. The play was one of the brightest for the Pirates who were soundly beaten.

U. S. Again Holds Ryder Cup Trophy For The Eighth Time

By BOB MYERS
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — It would appear that the best way for Great Britain to gain possession of the Ryder Cup golf trophy must be on some sort of lend-lease deal.

The United States today has the gold cup for another two years, winning it for the eighth time in the biennial battle yesterday, eight matches to four.

This 8-4 score was the best the British have ever done on American soil and at least one sparkling upset was included in their victories—the victory of England's John Jacobs over the American star, Cary Middlecoff, one up on the 36th hole.

But the cold fact remains that the U. S. team, performing before several thousand fans under a hot sun and bright blue skies at the Thunderbird Country Club, packed too much talent.

And the cup, which hasn't seen the British Isles since 1933, remains in the custody of the Professional Golfers Assn. of America.

The eight singles matches yesterday went like this:
UNITED STATES—Sam Snead over Capt. Dai Rees, 3 and 1. Capt. Chick Herbert over Sydney Felt, 3 and 2. Tommy Bolt over Christy O'Connor, 4 and 2. Doug Ford over Harry Weet-man, 3 and 2. Jack Burke Jr. over Harry Bradshaw, 3 and 2. BRI' 3H—Jacobs over Middlecoff, cre up.

Eric Brown over Jerry Barber Arthur Lees over Marty Furgol, 3 and 1. Saturday the U.S. won three out of four doubles matches.

Shaken Phants Start Drill For Wilson Clash Friday

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer
 Coach Guy Lewis' hapless Greenville gridgers begin drills today, desperately hoping to pull together the loose strings of its aggregation for its Friday night tilt with Wilson.

The Phantoms received a 57-0 blast last weekend from the AAA Goldsboro Quakers for their fifth consecutive defeat of the season, against three victories. Goldsboro's crew completely dominated the game, rolling up 419 yards on the ground and 14 first downs to Greenville's 7.

This would indicate a rugged night this coming Friday for the Greens, for Wilson, who will be visiting the Phants at College Stadium, clobbered the Quakers 20-7 earlier this year.

Edwards Was Injured

Statistically speaking, this would make the Wilson squad 70 points better than the locals. However, there are factors entering in that are not measurable by statistics. For instance, it should be noted that Greenville played the contest in Goldsboro without the services of crack end Harold Edwards. Coach Lewis and his assistants, Vaughn Fowler and Stan Jones, had been preparing the Greens for a passing attack, using Edwards as the key receiver.

Harold turned an ankle in practice last week, renewing an old wound that had haunted him earlier. It is uncertain whether the 170 pound terminal will see action this week.

Stage Set For Santee's Appeal

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Missouri Valley AAU's board of managers probably will hear Wes Santee's appeal on his suspension some time this month.

America's fastest miler was suspended last Sunday by the Missouri Valley AAU Registration Committee. He was found guilty of accepting excessive expense allowances for three meets in California last May. A few days later Santee filed his appeal.

Yesterday the Missouri Valley's Executive Committee considered the runner's case in a lengthy closed session. The session was a formality for clearing the way for the appeal.

Santee, now a Marine lieutenant stationed at Quantico, Va., has run the mile in 4:00.5.

Phants on the Rebound
 Greenville will be on the rebound against Wilson Friday, and Coach Jones has expressed a belief that GHS will make a good showing.

Several injured Greenville boys will be in top condition for the Wilson scrap for the first tie in several weeks. End Ike Riddick, who played last Friday despite an injured leg, will be in better shape. Also, guard Barney Barrett's fractured arm will be somewhat healed. Barrett played most of the Goldsboro match with his arm in a cast and did an excellent defensive job.

Drills this week will probably feature fundamentals of defense again, and also stress a new attack.

Perfect Records For 29 Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—There still are 29 unbeaten, untied college football teams in the nation, but only three of them — Maryland, Oklahoma and West Virginia — are rated as major outfits.

Maryland has a perfect record in eight games and Oklahoma and West Virginia in seven each. The majors lost one member last Saturday when Illinois defeated Michigan 25-6.

North State Race Down To 2 Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 The race for the football championship of the North State Conference has narrowed down to two teams, Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba.

Lenoir Rhyne, undefeated in its four league games, is favored over a Catawba club that has split its four. However, a clear-cut decision is unlikely before their Thanksgiving Day game at Hickory.

Actually, East Carolina, 3-2 in the league, is ahead of Catawba, champions, 3-3, are tied with the Indians. But these clubs are out of the race this year, having closed their league seasons without a mathematical chance to win.

Appalachian closed its conference season last Saturday by clobbering Guilford 77-6. East Carolina finished its season by losing to Tampa, 14-33. Catawba defeated Wofford 20-6. Elon defeated Newport News Naval Apprentices School 62-7. Western Carolina bowed to Emory and Henry 40-7, and Lenoir Rhyne was idle.

There are two league games and two nonconference games this Saturday. Elon is at Lenoir Rhyne and Guilford at Catawba in league games. Other contests send Appalachian to Presbyterian and Western Carolina to Tampa.

Clemson-Maryland Clash Probably Set Bowl Choice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said today, "We hope we can be up for this one." He referred to Saturday's homecoming football game against the nation's No. 1 club, Maryland, with the winner probably becoming the Atlantic Coast Conference representative in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

Maryland and Clemson have each won their three league games. Undefeated Maryland has won eight games this season while Clemson has won six and lost one, 21-7 to Rice.

Clemson was forced to come from behind in the final minutes last Saturday to whip a good Virginia Tech club, 21-16, while Maryland kept cruising along with a 13-0 triumph over LSU. In other games in volleyball AACC teams Duke's 13-point underdogs held Navy to a 7-7 tie, North Carolina whipped South Carolina 32-14, Pittsburgh defeated Virginia 18-7, Wake Forest edged William and Mary 13-7, and North Carolina State trounced Boston University, 40-13.

Games this Saturday are Maryland at Clemson, South Carolina at Duke, Wake Forest at Virginia, Notre Dame at North Carolina, and North Carolina State vs. Virginia Tech at Bluefield, W.Va.

Here are the Atlantic Coast Conference standings, conference games won, lost and tied, followed by all games:

Maryland 3-0-0 and 8-0-0; Clemson 3-0-0 and 6-1-0; Duke 1-0-0 and 4-2-1; Wake Forest 2-2-1 and 4-3-1; North Carolina 2-2-0 and 3-5-0; North Carolina State 0-2-1 and 3-3-1; Virginia 0-1-0 and 1-5-0; South Carolina 0-4-0 and 2-5-0.

For the first time in history, Clemson has sold out all 25,500 seats in its stadium for a home football game. It is selling standing room at $2.50 and these tickets are going for the Maryland game, which will draw a crowd of 25,000.

Howard said, "I wasn't too pleased with the way my boys played against Virginia Tech, and there is a lot of work to be done this week if we expect to make a decent showing against Maryland."

Saturday's game will be the seventh meeting between Notre Dame and North Carolina since the series started in 1949, and North Carolina has yet to win. The closest the Tar Heels came was in the height of the Charlie Justice era, when the Irish won 14-7 in 1950 and 13-7 in 1951.

Duke should be ready to run up a good score against South Carolina. The Blue Devils were among the nation's top 10 teams after beating Ohio State 20-14. But they haven't won since then, losing to Pitt 7-16, to Georgia Tech 6-26, and tying Navy 7-7.

North Carolina State's Wolfpack, which won only two games and lost eight last year, now has won three in a row. The Wolfpack's should manhandle a Virginia club that has lost six games and defeated only Virginia Military Institute, 20-13. VMI has yet to win after eight games.

BAD DREAM!
ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A student in a psychology class described "a dream, a strange image that never seems to change much from night to night, horrible and weird." He asked what to do about it. Dr. David Benedetti answered, "This is outside my province. You are talking about television."

'Playback' For Music Teacher

STONY CREEK Va. (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Prince, who filled a whole community with music had it played back to her.
 Pupils who learned from her during 48 years of her teaching music here, gave Mrs. Prince and her husband, L.A. Prince, a big reception and a silver service, a number of ex-pupils put on the musical program.

Thoughtful Look At Crime In TV Show

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The most thoughtful look at crime that has come to television in quite a while is a new series called "Wanted" on CBS-TV.
 It is the creation of a husband and wife team of radio-television producers named Walter and Peg McGraw. In preparing their show on wanted criminals they draw on wide experience in crime and penology acquired in preparing many previous programs.

"There's a lot of misunderstanding and glamorizing of crime," says McGraw. "Actually it's a sordid business. The people involved in it are seldom the movie gangster type. They're troubled people, poor people. The average criminal is far from being a happy man."
 "I don't think there's any such thing as a born criminal. What makes a man a criminal? The more we understand the circumstances the better we understand what makes him tick."

The McGraws' philosophy of crime and criminals is ably dramatized on "Wanted."
 The camera eye of "Wanted" is a penetrating one. It sweeps through slums and stares down grim alleys and peers into the hall-bedroom lives that fringe the world of crime. It's as concerned with the victims of crime as with criminals themselves.
 "We don't pretend to be experts on crime," says McGraw. "We happen to be reporters with many contacts in the field developed over a time."
 Over the course of time they've loaned money to almost 100 former convicts who are trying to go straight. "All but two have paid back the money," says McGraw.
 These men obviously have decided that crime doesn't pay. Anyone who looks at "Wanted" would have to come to the same conclusion.

Horses Best For Milk Deliveries

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Milkman E.A. (Oie) Palmgren, who retired after delivering milk on the same route for 29 years says wagons drawn by horses were best.
 "The horses were easier to handle," he said. "They knew the route and I didn't have to do any driving."

'For Sale' Sign Confuses Buyers

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP)—Kerr Cowan tells of a neighbor who decided to sell her house and hung a for sale sign on the mail box.
 When Cowan saw her taking down the sign he asked if she made a deal.
 "No," said the woman. "I am just moving the sign. Seven people have stopped and wanted to buy the mail box."

Comedians come and comedians go, but some of the best television drama shows continue forever. Tonight (Monday), Studio One (CBS-TV) celebrates its seventh anniversary before the video audience.
 This evening's drama is "Shakedown Cruise," a drama about a navy crew trapped in a crippled submarine at the bottom of the sea. The first Studio One program on Nov. 7, 1948—was "The Storm," starring Margaret Sullivan. In that time 327 dramas have been produced.

Directions Easy To Figure Out

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Driving along Sunset Blvd. in the fog-smog en route to an appointment, Dr. Wallace Sterling president of Stanford University, got his directions mixed.

Mrs. Sterling quickly straightened him out in simple academic terms: "Why, we're just going toward USC and away from UCLA."

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE

Continue Drive Without Permits

DETROIT (AP)—Half of all motorists in the state whose drivers' licenses are revoked or suspended continue to drive, says the Automobile Club of Michigan. It made a study in 40 Michigan cities and a number of rural areas. Club General Manager E.S. Matheson says the problem "is one of apprehension and punishment." He said "stiffer penalties would help." The current maximum sentence for the misdemeanor is 90 days in jail or a $100 fine, or both.

HELP WANTED - MALE

HELP WANTED - MALE ONE SALESMAN Read It Honestly, we are only advertising for one career salesman.

WE already have a President and several Vice Presidents but what we need is one salesman for the Greenville area to keep the President presiding and the Vice President vice-presiding. And we have more salesmen earning more than the Vice Presidents than we have Vice Presidents. If you follow me, and goodness knows we have plenty of Vice Presidents. It shouldn't be too much to expect that in a prosperous area like Greenville there would be one college graduate who feels that he has more potential than his present job offers. We're looking for that man and we'll train him, pay him while he's learning, and furnish him an office and equipment. What more his work will keep him in Greenville. Write for appointment.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market stepped ahead strongly today in its third straight vigorous recovery session.

Prices in the early afternoon were up 1 to 2 points frequently, and some higher priced issues extending their gains to around 7 points.

The market was higher right from the start and there was a buying rush initially that forced the tape to lag briefly in reporting transactions on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange. The pace slowed later and kept to a rate of around 2,500,000 shares for the day. Friday's total was 2,430,300 shares.

Decision of the Ford Motor Co. to sell part of its holdings to the public and to list the stock for trading on the New York Stock Exchange was considered a vote of confidence in the future possibilities of the market.

Chrysler was under selling pressure. Directors Friday after the close declared a dividend of 75 cents and an extra of $1, making the 1955 total $4 as against $4.50 last year. There was no mention of a split of the stock. It was down 1/4 Friday and today it opened on 5,000 shares followed by 2,000 shares off 1/4 at 93 3/4. The stock was depressed most of the time.

Standard Oil (N.J.), whose proposed three-for-one split touched off heavy buying Thursday, opened unchanged today at 144 1/2 on 3,500 shares. It wasn't very long until the stock pushed up for a gain of between 2 and 3 points.

United Dye & Chemical which lost 1 1/2 Friday, opened late today on 3,500 shares up 5/4 at 36.

There were several large blocks on the tape quite early. Among them were Fruehauf Trailer 16,000 up 1 1/2 at 57 1/2, Benguet Consolidated Mining 11,000 unchanged at 13 1/2, Panhandle Oil 5,000 up 1/4 at 12 1/2 and Kroger 10,200 up 3/4 at 41 1/2.

At noon today the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $173.70. The average and total gain of $3.90 on Thursday and Friday.

Hog Losses To Cholera In Pitt Now 'Thousands'

Losses of hogs in Pitt County due to a rampaging scourge of cholera have run "into several thousand."

The epidemic has struck particularly hard hit with one person reporting a loss of 108 hogs out of a herd of 125. In another area however, 45 hogs which were vaccinated, survived.

Goodman advised farmers to carry out a five-point program in an effort to curtail the disease. The measures to follow, he said, included:

- (1) a good sanitary program.
- (2) vaccination of all healthy hogs with either serum and virus, or serum and modified virus immediately if they have not been previously immunized.
- (3) using serum only if hogs have shown any sign of sickness.
- (4) marketing healthy hogs immediately as soon as they reach the 180 pound market weight.
- (5) following a systemized program of vaccination and good management.

Special assistance has been called in to help check the spread of the disease. Dr. W. R. Baynes of the State Veterinarian staff, has made a visit here to work with the County Agent's office in making a survey and performing post-mortems on sick hogs.

for top capacity with less power

We want you to see curved, cupped knives a full yard long whirling up to 1,500 rpm on a 15-inch cylinder. They cut and throw forage out the delivery chute—that's the "heart action" of the Allis-Chalmers forage harvester.

Spiraled like lawn mower blades, the knives slice smoother, easier, requiring less power per ton of forage cut. Keen cutting edges are carbide-nitride hardened to last longer. Built-in power sharpeners assure cutting edges accurately paralleled with the shear bar.

Come in and examine the "heart action" of the Allis-Chalmers forage harvester now. Be ready to go when your first forage crop is at its best.

Will your Life Insurance do what you want it to?

Left outright to inexperienced beneficiaries, the proceeds of life insurance may fail to accomplish the primary purpose you had in mind — protection. That purpose is often best served by creating a life insurance trust. Why not talk with one of our officers about the advantages which a life insurance trust arrangement can provide?
