McKay Confers Over Annual Message

Thurmont, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower met with his Cabinet and White House staff in a rustic mountain lodge today for an intensive work session on the State of the Union message he will lay before Congress in January.

Two of the President's chief speech-writing assistants—Kevin McCann and Bryce Harlow—were among the administration officials who flew in for the meeting at Camp David on a Catoctin Mountain top near here.

The National Security Council met in the same setting yesterday. Eisenhower strode up to the cabin accompanied by Secretary of State Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the U. N.

The presence of the speech-writers and other White House technicians made it plain the administration was ready for serious work on the State of the Union declaration of policy which the President gives Congress early in each session.

One of the early arrivals by air was Secretary of Agriculture Benson. Both he and presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerity said they knew nothing about a report published in the New York Herald Tribune that demands for Benson's resignation have been blocked by the President's brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower.

Besides Benson, Postmaster General Summerfield and Secretary of the Interior McKay were the Cabinet members who flew in by helicopter today.

They all appeared a little bemused by the unusual method of transportation, which served to dramatize the mountaintop session as well as save the convalescent President a trip back to Washington.

for this first Cabinet meeting he has attended since early August. McKay cast a backward look at the "flying banana" which deposited him and several other top officials at Camp David and inquired: "I wonder how much these things cost?"

Then he answered his own question with: "Probably too much." Summerfield, in a similarly jocular vein, said he wasn't at all reassured by the pilots' wearing crash helmets while the Cabinet members had on their usual felt hats.

In the same wooded seclusion, with Marine sentries everywhere in the surrounding snow-covered forestland, Eisenhower met for two hours yesterday with the National Security Council.

There was, as usual, no announcement of what came under discussion. This meeting of the nation's top security planning board, like today's Cabinet session, was the first Eisenhower has attended since his Sept. 24 heart attack in Denver.

Both groups met in Camp David's Laurel Lodge, a weather-beaten green wooden building with gray trim. The building is one of several on the remote mountain reservation maintained by the National Park Service and operated by the Navy for the occasional use of presidents beginning with Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Eisenhower planned to drive the 22 miles back to his Gettysburg, Pa., country estate immediately after today's Cabinet meeting.

He played bridge last night with Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Mrs. Woodward Undergoes Tearful 3-Hour Session, Repeats Story

MINNEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. William Woodward Jr., haggard and tearful, went through a three-hour police quiz last night after leaving a hospital for the first time since Oct. 30, when she shot her millionaire husband to death.

The 38-year-old widow, Ann, broke into uncontrollable sobs three times during the questioning. She stated again that the shooting was a tragic accident.

After the interrogation, authorities unofficially let it be known that it still looks like an accident to them. However, Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank A. Gulotta and Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinell said they would make no official comment.

The widow, dressed in black, emerged late in the day from Doctors Hospital in New York City, where she had been under treatment for grief and hysteria.

Flanked by her physician and Gurfelin, she moved slowly and with bowed head through a curious crowd that had waited to see her come out.

Her chauffeured sedan sped her from the hospital to county police headquarters here on Long Island. After three hours she left the building and had to be helped to the car. Back in New York City, she was half-carried by her lawyer and doctor into her town house on Manhattan's fashionable East Side.

Her police questioners said she was "pitiful" but declined to take advantage of a standing offer to postpone further questioning. She stuck with it to the end and was finally dismissed.

In an adjoining room Dr. John M. Prutting, her physician, waited and occasionally was called to help her regain control in fits of weeping.

She was the third time police had questioned her. They first got her story several hours after she shot her 35-year-old sportsman husband, owner of the racehorse Nashua. The second time she was questioned several days later at the hospital. After that police said they would wait until she left the hospital before seeing her again.

"Traffic safety," Moseley said, "begins with the individual. Every individual, whether pedestrian or motorist, has a responsibility for traffic safety. Safety," he concluded, "is everybody's business."

In addition, Jack Gates, coordinator for the Pitt County drive, issued a specific warning concerning the hazards of driving and walking at night.

"More than half of all pedestrian deaths," he said, "occur between 6 p.m. and midnight."

Driving within the range of one's headlights is another important factor, Gates said. "In other words, regulate your speed so that you can always stop within the distance you can see with your headlights."

Meanwhile, other civic and community representatives are going ahead with their scheduled programs for promoting the S-D Day campaign.

Representatives have been appointed for various Pitt communities and will enlist support of civic clubs, women's organizations and others to put the drive across.

SEATO Warned By Red Chinese TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today warned the southeast Asian treaty nations that intervention in any fighting in Laos, Indochina, "will not be tolerated by China and all peace-loving nations that support the Geneva agreements."

The Red radio, quoting a "observer" in the official Peiping People's Daily, attacked the United States and blamed the Laotian government for taking U. S. advice.

The dispute is over handling of remnants of the Pathet Lao Communist fighting forces.

Long Quiz Of Widow By Police

Farm Bureau Speaker Warns Of Political Opportunists Sees No Guaranteed Income

RALEIGH (AP)—Farmers will not be misled by political opportunists in either past or future thinking government can guarantee them satisfactory income," the president of the American Farm Bureau Federation declared today.

"The way to improve farmincome," said National President Charles E. Shuman, "is to reduce, not increase, government interference in the pricing and production of farm commodities."

Speaking before the annual meeting of the N.C. Farm Bureau Federation, Shuman stated: "Expanded sales in this country and abroad offer our best hope of satisfactory farm prices."

He said the Farm Bureau continues to favor "realistic price support program, with support levels tied to supply."

"We are also studying proposals for a 'soil bank' program designed to bring total agricultural production more nearly into line with demand," he continued. "We feel that it better to store fertility in the soil than to build up vast government holdings of surplus commodities which hang over our markets and depress prices."

Shuman asserted: "Government must accept some responsibility for the increase in the labor element in farm costs. The recent increase in the minimum wage had something to do with the recent round of industrial wage increases. We in agriculture think labor deserves rewards for increased productivity, but we resent monopolistic tactics used by some labor groups and often encouraged by government."

Clyde Greene, chairman of North Carolina's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said Tar Heel tobacco farmers will make $20 million dollars from this year's flue-cured crop.

"Let's not destroy the tobacco program," he said, "over little things." He said the tobacco program is looked on with admiration by other segments of the nation's agricultural economy, yet is in danger because of arguments "over little things," such as whether "we should measure land by aerial photography" or by ground measurement.

At last night's session the delegates heard reports of State Farm Bureau President A. D. Williams and Executive Secretary R. Fluke Shaw.

Two new flue-cured tobacco varieties—Coker 139 and 140—are not being recommended by North Carolina State College for planting in 1956, the Farm Bureau's tobacco conference was told yesterday.

Carl T. Hicks of Walstonburg, conference chairman, reported that a group of German cigarette manufacturers had expressed "tremendous opposition" to the two new varieties.

Export sales were complained, Hicks said, that the varieties "do not have the desired aroma and distinctive qualities desired by the foreign manufacturers."

Dr. W. E. Colwell, head of tobacco research at State College, said that on the basis of the 1955 crop, the varieties "failed to meet requirements in flavor and aroma. They are described by many as neutral tobaccos, lacking the characteristic aroma and flavor that have made U. S. flue-cured impossible to duplicate elsewhere."

At Hartsville, S.C., officers of Coker Pedigreed Seed Co., insisted the varieties are all right.

Dr. C. Hoyt Rogers, plant breeder for the firm, and Robert R. Coker, president of the company, declared the varieties have been tested "fully acceptable for manufacturing purposes" by large companies that have tested them for three years.

Dr. Rogers and Coker also said the nature of the 1955 growing season caused a great deal of tobacco to curl up pale and smooth. They added, however, this tendency was no greater in 1955 and 1946 than in other varieties. Part of the trouble, they said, was due to improper handling of the new tobaccos by growers.

Meanwhile, announcement of the release of a new tobacco variety by the North Carolina Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture was made by Colwell. It will be known as Dixie Bright 344.

The new variety is said to offer more resistance to black shank than Dixie Bright 101, which is widely grown. Dixie Bright 344 has a lower nicotine content, broader leaves and few suckers than Dixie Bright 101, the report stated. Seed will be available in "reasonable quantities" for planting in 1956.

Grimesland Told Contract Release Felt 'Impractical'

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor

Grimesland's legal representative in his request for release from a Greenville Utilities power contract, has been informed that "it would be impractical and improper to release your client from its contract."

A letter to that effect, signed by City Attorney R. E. Lee and addressed to Attorney Albion Dunn was made public today. The letter was dated October 21.

Dunn appeared before the Utilities Commission last September 13 to formally request that the Town of Grimesland be released from its contract for purchasing electricity from Greenville.

The attorney said at the time that the reason for the request was to allow Grimesland to sell its municipally owned and operated power lines.

Greenville now sells electricity to the town on a wholesale basis. Since that time the Grimesland Town Commissioners have called an election for next Saturday at which time voters in the town will decide whether or not they want to approve the sale of the municipality's electrical system to Carolina Power and Light Co.

At the time of the formal request for release from the contract the Utilities Commission agreed to hold a special session for consideration of the request at a later date. The special meeting was never held, however.

Utilities Commission Chairman J. Boy Martin, when asked about the decision not to release Grimesland from the contract this morning referred the Reflector to City Attorney Lee.

Lee said he was instructed by Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam to write the letter notifying the Grimesland legal representative of the decision.

Bloxam told the Reflector that no formal meeting of the Utilities Commission was held to consider the matter.

"As you know, Greenville has spent considerable money making an inter-connection with Virginia Electric and Power Company not only for the Town of Greenville's benefit but to better serve all of our customers. We have also made additional improvements on the feeder circuit through the Town of Greenville which serves Grimesland and have purchased voltage regulators for this circuit, which have been scheduled for installation for several weeks but due to storm damages our program has been retarded to some extent."

"Taking into consideration the above expense and the fact that we have committed ourselves to the General Electric Company for the rebuilding of one of our turbines this winter and a twenty year contract with Virginia Electric and Power Company, it is with much regret that we inform you that it would be impractical and improper to release your client from its contract."

"The Utilities Commission will be more than glad to discuss the purchasing of this property or working out a feasible operating program with them if so desired."

"Let me thank you for your kindness and patience while we have tried to work out something on this matter."

Woman, Aged 112, Dies In New Bern

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Nasimia Zaytoun, who outlived three of her five children after they paid her way here from her native Lebanon 19 years ago, will be buried here tomorrow. She died yesterday at the age of 112.

Mrs. Zaytoun traveled the 7,000 miles across the world by herself in 1936, when she was 93.

In New Bern she lived with one of her sons, Ellis Zaytoun, who survives her. The other surviving son, Eunice Zaytoun, lives in Chilton, N.J. Two other sons and a daughter are dead.

American Guides Touring Russians

By HAROLD K. MILKS

BRAKRA DAM, Northern India (AP)—Premier Biju Patil and Nikita Khrushchev toured India's $37-million-dollar irrigation project today with American dam builder Harvey Sloum as their guide.

Spirited conversations between Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party chief, and Sloum, chief consultant on the dam, enlivened the tour in which the Russian party of more than 100 was guided through miles of construction work.

As Sloum showed the top Soviet leaders a view of the project, the 680-foot concrete dam—to be the second highest in the world—by the stocky Khrushchev turned to the American engineer and said: "American engineers were helpful to Russia in the early days. We learned a good deal from them, but now we are in competition and soon we will pass them."

"Competition is a good thing. It helps progress," Sloum replied. "It is very good," Khrushchev echoed.

Again, as they viewed another phase of the giant project which will irrigate more than two million acres of Indian farmland, Khrushchev turned to his Indian hosts and said in front of Sloum: "You people should learn to do these things yourselves. Then you will not have to depend on foreign help."

"It's a case of you work for me and I'll work for you," Sloum remarked.

"They wouldn't let me in (to the United States)," Khrushchev pointed with the American engineer. "They wouldn't give me a passport."

The Bhakra-Nag project was the first stop on a 10-day, 5,000-mile swing around India by the Kremlin leaders.

Killed Best Friend When He Shot Pistol At Pepper Box On Head... And Missed

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Knoxville man was shot and killed last night by a friend who was aiming at a pepper box atop his head.

Police said the shooting came as the climax to a drinking party. Dead is Raymond V. Baker, 40, with a pistol bullet wound in the head.

Knox County police arrested his friend James Bowerman also 40, and charged him with manslaughter.

Capt. Estel Wrinkle said Bowerman and Bill McCall, 30, a witness to the shooting, gave this account:

Bowerman and Baker went to a tavern yesterday after they got off work at an iron company and drank beer. Later they went to McCall's home and drank a pint of moonshine whisky.

Then the trio went to Bowerman's rural home so Bowerman could feed his livestock.

While there, Bowerman showed the men his fishing equipment, rifles, a shotgun and a 32-caliber forearm pistol.

A discussion arose as to whether the pistol would shoot. Baker picked up a plate from a kitchen table and Bowerman shot a hole in it.

Baker placed a potato on his head, but Bowerman refused to shoot it because it was "too flat."

Baker then picked up a black pepper box, set it on his head and told Bowerman:

With Few Collection Reports In, Chest Fund Begins To Rise

Community Chest funds had climbed to $2,030.75 this morning, according to figures released by Drive Chairman Ben L. Rouse.

Today marks the fifth day of the drive which, Rouse has said, he hopes will be completed within a ten day period.

"So far the drive has been very satisfactory," the chairman declared. "The various solicitation chairmen report that their portions of the drive are progressing."

Rouse noted that the bulk of the solicitors have not reported on the collections at the half way mark in the campaign.

"Only eight of the 54 special gifts solicitation teams have reported so far and none of the other special categories such as the college and the city schools have been included in the present totals," he noted.

When those groups are heard from the collection totals are expected to be swelled considerably.

The official target date for ending the drive is next Tuesday.

"We want to end the drive within the ten day period but if it is not completed we will have to extend it," Rouse declared.

He urged all special gifts solicitors to complete their lists and turn in their money as soon as possible.

A number of contributions have been received through the mail, Rouse said. Anyone not contacted who wishes to contribute may mail their contributions to: Ben L. Rouse, Box 264 or they may contact the chairman and a solicitor will call to receive the donation.

Community Chest funds are distributed largely among local participating agencies.

The organizations which are included in the Chest are: Boy Scouts (white and colored), Charly Fund, Girl Scouts (white and colored), King's Daughters, Service League, Teen-Age clubs (white and colored), Travelers Aid, United Seaman Service and Carolina's United.

Aim To Build Up Teacher-Supply

RALEIGH (AP)—An adequate supply of qualified teachers is the "imperative" need in North Carolina's schools.

So says the legislative committee of the North Carolina Education Assn. The committee yesterday announced a three-point legislative program which will be presented to the 1957 General Assembly.

The program calls for: (1) a minimum salary scale of $2,600-$4,100 for a four-year college graduate with an "A" certificate; (2) an extended term of employment of two weeks, based on the $2,900-$4,100 scale; and (3) clerical assistance for schools.

The extended term of employment, the committee said, would enable teachers to "plan their year's work, teach a full term of 180 days, and evaluate the year's work."

The present minimum salary for "A" certificate teachers is $2,430. The maximum scale is $3,420 annually.

The legislative committee contended that the best way to provide an adequate supply of properly qualified teachers is to increase their salaries.

The committee agreed that school construction is a critical need, but pointed out that the state does not have primary responsibility for building schools.

Mrs. Lullie Allen of Hendersonville, chairman of the committee, said North Carolina's school administrators "are finding it virtually impossible to employ enough teachers to staff our schools."

She added: "Of those being employed too many lack proper qualifications. This situation is certain to grow worse as the school enrollment increases in the immediate years ahead."

Lack of a quorum kept Greenville's Recreation Commission from acting in an official capacity at its regularly scheduled meeting last night.

The meet, which was scheduled for City Hall at 8 p. m. found those present participating in an informal discussion concerning recreational problems.

Recreation Director Warren Carroll said however, that a called meeting of the commission is planned sometime in the next several weeks.

Carroll last night had planned to present a series of comparative figures illustrating Greenville's recreational expenditures as compared with other North Carolina cities.

Governors Asked Follow Example

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors of 12 Southern and Southwestern states have been asked to follow the example of Maryland's Gov. McKeldin in ending segregation in the National Guard.

The American Veterans Committee (AVC) said yesterday such follow-up action would "strike a blow for democracy and honor those who serve their nation."

Signers of the message were Frank Iglehart of Baltimore, chairman of AVC's veterans and armed services commission, and Kenneth M. Birkhead, executive secretary.

It was addressed to governors of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana and Virginia.

sources long have said that the Vatican secretary of state has a voluminous file of letters and messages from persons telling of "prodigious facts"—miracles—that have helped them as a result of the Pope's intercession.

No official word has ever been issued on this file of which one source close to the "pontiff" once remarked: "These things will be made known after both he (the Pope) and I are dead." Such miracles normally are necessary for both beatification and canonization.

Many appearances of the Virgin Mary have been reported in the history of the church. But a member of the Vatican's Holy Congregation of Rites—the church body responsible for the processes of canonization and its preliminary beatification—said he could not recall a previous appearance of Christ to a pontiff since Jesus appeared before St. Peter after the Resurrection.

S-D Day Effort Draws Support From Officials

Still more Pitt County leaders have gotten behind the local S-D Day safety program, scheduled to reach its peak December 1.

At least three City Schools Superintendent J. H. Rose, police chief S. G. Gibbs and Chamber of Commerce president Bancroft Moseley, released statements today.

The S-D Day campaign, a nationwide event, is aimed at keeping the country free from any traffic accident December 1 and to increase highway safety for a 10 day period before and after that date.

Rose, in comments aimed at school-age children, pointed out that traffic accidents in 1954 killed 1,750 children under five years of age, 2,350 between five and 14 and 7,800 between 15 and 24. Fortunately, however, none of the victims were attending schools of Greenville city schools and no fatalities have been recorded among local youngsters this year.

Gibbs meanwhile, gave the go-ahead to program under which special safety slogans will be placed under car windshields. "We can achieve this goal of no accidents on S-D Day," Gibbs said, "if we accept the idea that traffic safety is an individual, personal matter."

"Traffic safety," Moseley said, "begins with the individual. Every individual, whether pedestrian or motorist, has a responsibility for traffic safety. Safety," he concluded, "is everybody's business."

In addition, Jack Gates, coordinator for the Pitt County drive, issued a specific warning concerning the hazards of driving and walking at night.

"More than half of all pedestrian deaths," he said, "occur between 6 p.m. and midnight."

Driving within the range of one's headlights is another important factor, Gates said. "In other words, regulate your speed so that you can always stop within the distance you can see with your headlights."

Meanwhile, other civic and community representatives are going ahead with their scheduled programs for promoting the S-D Day campaign.

Representatives have been appointed for various Pitt communities and will enlist support of civic clubs, women's organizations and others to put the drive across.

That's Him DENVER (AP)—"That's him, all right," said Lyman Brown seeing John Gilbert Graham in a police lineup yesterday as the man who bought 39 to 25 sticks of dynamite three days before a United Air Lines plane exploded and crashed near Longmont, Colo., Nov. 1, killing all 44 aboard.

Brown, 46, co-owner of Brown Bros. Supermarket at Kremmling, Colo., 105 miles west of here, came to Denver at the FBI's request to view Graham. Dist. Atty. Bert M. Keating termed the identification "a telling link" in the chain of evidence Keating is assembling in an effort to send Graham to the gas chamber.

Book Fair Days At Grifton High School

GRIFTON—"Book Fair Days" at the Grifton High School will be December 1st and 2nd, Principal E. B. Bright and Library Committee Chairman Mrs. James Rooley announced today. This venture was begun last year with a great deal of success and will be continued this year.
Parents, teachers and friends who visit the fair will see the books on exhibition in the school library. The proceeds from the book sales will be used by the school for the library fund. There is no admission fee.
Thursday, Dec. 1st, the hours will be from 3:30 to 5:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.
Friday the hours will be following the merchants' Christmas parade until 6:00 and at night from 7:00 to 9:00.

Single Ring Rites Unite Couple

ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Mildred Carraway and Payton Allen Vanderford were united in marriage on Saturday morning, November 12, with the Rev. J. H. Keelen, Methodist minister of Emporia, Va. officiating in the single ring ceremony.
Mrs. Vanderford wore a two piece dusty rose dress with black accessories.
She is the daughter of Mrs. Idell Carraway of Everetts and the late Archie Carraway.
The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Vanderford of Gold Point.

Funeral Wednesday For Lewis P. Dudley

Lewis P. Dudley, 78, died at his home near Greenville at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon following a heart attack. He had been in failing health for several years. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Dudley spent all his life in Pitt County and was a farmer. He was married to Nellie Tine Tyson of Pitt County in 1910, who survives with three daughters, Mrs. Buriel Hamilton of Appalachia, Va., Miss Florence Dudley, attached to the American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium, and Mrs. Gayle Haughton of Oneonta, Alabama; a son, Hallett W. Dudley of Alexandria, Va.; 4 grandchildren; three brothers, S. I. R. L. and Ernest Dudley; and a sister, Mrs. S. W. Scott, all of Greenville.

Three U.S. Presidents have been assassinated—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

Korean Visitor In Robersonville

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Induk Pakh of Korea, author, Voice of America lecturer and former American military government employee, was guest speaker on a program at the First Christian Church last Friday.

She also spoke to Robersonville school children during her visit.
Mrs. Pakh brought to the gathering some facts about her native land and explained that at present she is trying to found a college in Korea. She has recently had her autobiography published, and proceeds from the sale of this book will be used for the establishment of the college and to help educate a group of 17 young people she is sponsoring offering was taken to help Mrs. Pakh with her work.

Sweet Gum Grove HD Club To Give Annual Party In December

SWEET GUM GROVE—Mrs. Arthur Barnhill and Mrs. Lewis Whitehurst gave the demonstration on "Buffet Meals" at a meeting of the Sweet Gum Grove Home Demonstration Club last Thursday.

Club members decided to serve a buffet meal at their January meeting, and made plans for their annual Christmas party during December.

Mrs. Heber Briley, Mrs. John Whichard and Mrs. Fernando Whichard were named as a committee to complete plans for painting the club kitchen, rest rooms and coat room.

The club voted to purchase a $5 TB bond, and a collection was also taken for this campaign.
New club president, Mrs. Whitehurst, presided. Devotional was given by the vice president Mrs. Eric Whichard.

Renston-Nobles Club Given Demonstration

RENSTON-NOBLES—A demonstration on Christmas buffet luncheons was given by Mrs. C. D. Langston, foods and nutrition leader, for members of the Renston-Nobles Home Demonstration Club last Wednesday.

The club voted to have a Christmas luncheon for the December meeting.
Reports were given by the home beautification and health leader, Mrs. Norman Savage; the citizenship leader, Mrs. Obed Castellor; and Mrs. Langston.

Local Optometrists Attend Fall Session

Dr. Sam T. White II and Dr. Kenneth L. Quiggins are among more than 250 Tar Heel optometrists attending the Fall Educational Congress of the North Carolina State Optometrist Society in Winston-Salem this week.

The congress opened Sunday with an executive council session, registration, a panel discussion and an address by Dr. John C. Wall, director of the Contact Lens and Subnormal Vision Department, Pennsylvania State College of Optometry.
Other highlights of the congress include panel discussions, talks by eminent specialists in the vision field, and society business sessions.

Joint Hostesses To Benjamin May Chapter D.A.R.

FARMVILLE—The regular meeting of the Benjamin May Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held Saturday afternoon at the chapter house with Mrs. J. B. Eagles, Mrs. H. S. Sheppard and Mrs. C. S. Eagles as hostesses.

The regent, Mrs. H. D. Moye, presided and led the members in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. Mrs. Henrietta Williamson, acting as chaplain, led the ritual and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Miss Elizabeth Lang, chairman of the approved school committee, reported that approximately 179 pounds of clothing had been sent to Crossnore School.

Miss Tabitha M. DeVoscenti reminded the members to bring their gifts for veterans to the December meeting, and asked for volunteers to fix the Christmas stocking for the Veterans Hospital at Camp Lejeune.

Dr. Esther Long, a member of the Foreign Language Department of Atlantic Christian College and also regent of the DAR in Wilson, was speaker for the afternoon, using "DAR Objectives" as her subject.

Dr. Long was presented a mum corsage by the hostesses.
The chapter house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. On one mantel there was a large brass centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums of several varieties, five branch brass candlesticks with yellow candles draped with a garland of miniature fruit. On the second mantel there was another arrangement of chrysanthemums and an antique pitcher. A dried arrangement was used on the presiding officer's table. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a silver bowl of chrysanthemums and silver candelabra ornamented with Lechothea leaves and miniature fruit. After the guests were served a delicious sweet course Mrs. Williamson served coffee and cheese straws from the beautifully appointed table.

Mother Of Former Local Woman Dies

KINSTON—Mrs. Lula Garris Morris, 60, mother of Mrs. Louise Morris Speight, formerly of Greenville, died at a Kinston hospital Monday morning.

Funeral services for Mrs. Morris were held at Edwards' Funeral Home Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. Clinton Bradshaw of Kinston and Rev. H. Glenn Haney of Greenville officiated. Burial was in Westview Cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, W. G. Morris of Kinston; two daughters, Mrs. Howard T. Pitts of Weldon and Mrs. Louise Morris Speight, secretary to the president of Atlantic Christian College in Wilson; one sister, Mrs. J. L. Lancaster Sr. of Belhaven, and one brother, Richard H. Garris of Wilson.

Band Tag Day Drive Fills Half Of Goal

The second annual Tag Day for the Robersonville High School Band was held Saturday morning on Main Street with the band, under the direction of Bob Craft, playing a series of marches.

Eight hundred dollars, approximately half the needed budget, was raised in two hours as students and parents helped solicit funds.
The campaign, which ran from 10 a.m. until noon saw students in uniform canvassing the residential area while parents contacted business firms.

Although lobar pneumonia used to kill one in five patients who contracted it, the use of antibiotics has drastically reduced pneumonia death rates.

Orchestra Plans Concert Dec. 4

The East Carolina Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert of the East Carolina College music faculty, will present a program of music Sunday afternoon, December 4, as the opening event of its 1955-1956 season.

Featured on the program will be Miss Joan Melton of Albemarle, freshman pianist, and six instrumentalists from the faculty of the college department of music who will appear under the direction of Guest Conductor Fritz van der Steu, conductor of the High Point High School Orchestra.

The program will take place at 3:30 p. m. in the McGinnis auditorium on the East Carolina campus. The public is invited to attend.

The orchestra, only organization of its kind in Eastern North Carolina, is made up of students and faculty members at East Carolina College and of other musicians who commute from Washington, Wilson, Tarboro, Jamesville, and Rocky Mount. It is now in its fifth season under the direction of Dr. Cuthbert.

Miss Melton will appear on the December 4 program as piano soloist with the orchestra in the Saint-Saens Piano Concerto in G Minor.

Install Officers Of Chicod FHA

CHICOD—New officers of the Chicod Future Homemakers of America were installed in a ceremony at the school recently.

The ceremony took place in the auditorium before a setting of pines, FHA emblems and burning white candles. Red roses, the FHA flower, centered the table.

Outgoing president LaRue Mills had charge of the program. The outgoing officers lighted the white candles, which represented the eight purposes of the organization, from a red candle, which represented the light of home economics. The new president, Shelby Haddock, accepted the gavel and presented red roses to the chapter mothers, Mrs. Norman Porter and Mrs. Lester Wiggins, and made them honorary members of the club. Mrs. Olive Smith, a faculty member, was also made an honorary member.

Mrs. Anne Hodges, FHA advisor, recognized the five girls who are working on the state homemakers degree: Frances Mills, Virginia Evans, Betsy Spain, Freddie Cox and Hazel Wilson. Shelby Haddock was recognized as the first girl from Chicod school ever to receive her state homemakers degree.

Vornholt Heads Organization

Dan E. Vornholt, faculty member of the department of music at East Carolina College, has assumed his duties as president of the North Carolina Chapter of the National Association of Teachers of Singing. Mr. Vornholt was elected at a state and regional meeting of the association last weekend at Queen's College in Charlotte. Other officers are Harvey Woodruff, Charlotte, vice president, and Mrs. G. Ruth Edwards, Durham, secretary-treasurer.

A chapter meeting to be held early in 1956 is now being planned. Dr. Vornholt states it will be held in Raleigh at a date still to be announced.

Mr. Vornholt has been for several years an active member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing and has acted as state chairman for North Carolina and as vice president of the state chapter. He has also served as an officer of the North Carolina Music Educators Association and as chairman of the Committee on Folk Music of the Music Educators National Conference. At East Carolina he is director of the Women's Chorus and the College Singers, organizations of student musicians.

More Responsibility Ahead For ECC

East Carolina College is soon to assume a much greater responsibility to the people of Eastern North Carolina than heretofore has been the case. It's not so much what East Carolina is doing, but what another institution of higher learning is doing.

When Wake Forest moves its base of operations from Wake County to Winston-Salem, it will leave only two major colleges in North Carolina east of Raleigh to serve the young people of this section of the state. It will mean that both East Carolina and Atlantic Christian College in Wilson will have to assume more responsibility for affording higher education to young people of this section. East Carolina, the larger of the two institutions, will be expected to shoulder the larger portion of the burden.

For several years now East Carolina College has been faced with the desperate problem of what to do with all the students who make application for admittance. Year after year the college has had to turn away prospective students for lack of dormitory space. Each spring long before the crop of high school seniors have received their diplomas, the college has had to notify applicants that no dormitory space is available. Many freshmen have had to find places to live off the campus, or change their plans and attend another institution. Far too often, high school graduates who had planned to attend ECC had to give up plans for a college education because the local institution could not accept their applications.

By and large, youngsters who go to college pick an institution close to home. Youngsters from the eastern section of the state have looked to ECC, ACC, Carolina, Duke, State and Wake Forest because they were reasonably close to home. Now with Wake Forest moving to the Piedmont more students will be looking to the other institutions—particularly the two east of Raleigh.

As the number of potential college students in Eastern North Carolina continues to rise, ECC will have to enlarge its facilities, or else turn away even larger numbers of applicants. The past few years have shown that East Carolina can fill dormitories and classrooms with students from this area as rapidly as they are completed. In spite of legislative appropriations which have far outstripped those earmarked for ECC in any previous era, the college has not had sufficient funds with which to provide facilities for the number of students it can serve.

With a greater field to serve now that Wake Forest is moving West it is essential that the General Assembly give more attention to the demands for higher education in the eastern section of the state. If the demand by students is to be met, East Carolina must be allowed to continue to expand its physical plant.

The ability of the outstanding institution to serve the young people of the state—and particularly this section of the state—will be limited only by the facilities with which it has to work.

Holiday Traffic Need Not Become Heartache

As on every other holiday, there'll be more than the usual amount of traffic on North Carolina's highway during Thanksgiving.

Thousands of families will travel hundreds of miles to put their feet under Grandmother's dining room table loaded with turkey and all the trimmings which go with the annual Thanksgiving feast. For countless other families there will be shorter trips in connection with Thanksgiving dinner... a few miles down the road to the home of another member of the family; a jaunt to a nearby town for dinner with friends.

And as on other holidays, every mile of highway holds the threat of injury and heartaches which result from traffic accidents. There is no sure protection against traffic mishaps. The closest thing to sure-fire protection is extreme caution and a healthy regard for the fundamental rules of highway safety and the other fellow.

Grand Assault On School Problems

SCHOOLS — One of the major problems facing the people of North Carolina and all the other states is how best to handle the public schools. Racial segregation is an important factor in this and in several others. Majority of school people concede it is not the most acute problem. While it is true that what Governor Hodges calls the "overtones of segregation" affect almost every phase of school operation, the really acute problems have to do with financing and efficient operation of the schools.

President Eisenhower has recognized the urgent need for a more realistic approach to the public school situation. He has called nationwide White House Conference on Education in Washington next week to which some 2,000 participating delegates have been named from the 48 states, the District of Columbia and the territories under the American flag.

Your reporter is one of 34 accredited representatives from North Carolina pursuant to appointment by Governor Hodges. The meeting was accepted with the hope that some contribution might be made toward solution of the complex problems which plague the public schools.

QUESTIONS — The regional conferences had six questions to discuss and at the state conference there was a composite presentation of what was considered the conclusions reached. The questions were: 1. What should our schools accomplish? 2. In what ways can we organize our schools more efficiently and economically? 3. What are our school building needs? 4. How can we get enough good teachers—and keep them? 5. How can we finance our schools—build and operate them? 6. How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education? DISCUSSION — It was believed and seems obvious, that correct answers to these questions would afford solution of most of the

Thanksgiving Vision In Song

"Over the river and through the woods, to Grandmother's house we go..." What does that remind you of? To me, and to the thousands of school children who are singing it now, it means that Thanksgiving is here again. And more than any other song at this holiday season that particular tune always pushes itself uppermost in my mind.

hard dirt path banked on either side with freshly fallen snow? And you drive up to grandmother's warmly lit house where all the kin have gathered to enjoy a day of feasting and companionship, and inside are all the tempting Thanksgiving aromas—of turkey, mincemeat and plum pudding. It sounds wonderful, doesn't it? But how many of us have ever experienced it? Who rides in a sleigh today in these parts? How often does it snow here in November—or at all? More important, how many of us have grandmothers who live in the country? And even if you do, how many families are not so scattered over this shrinking world that they can gather on that day? It's a good song, and the words and tune fill us with holiday spirit. We like to sing it, even though it doesn't exemplify for most of us how we will spend our Thanksgiving Day. I guess we like to think of how it used to be, because it was good, and maybe hope it might be like that again someday. One thing we can all remember, even if it doesn't snow and we can't ride to grandmother's in a sleigh—there are plenty of other blessings we can count. Let's don't forget to count them. Happy Thanksgiving!

Notebook On Life

He Builds A Rainbow Future

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Today's success story: One of Robert W. Sarnoff's hobbies is collecting dictionaries. And to him the most important word in any dictionary is the word "color."

him on a platter. He worked his way up in the company, and had to take his lumps along the way. To the younger Sarnoff has fallen many of the chores of supervising the spending of 12-million dollars within the next year in NBC's gigantic expansion of its color telecasting facilities. This will bring to more than 75 million the amount spent by RCA and NBC to promote color television.

few years," said Bob. "We believe television will be an all-color industry in less than 10 years—and it could be a lot sooner than that." Young Sarnoff doesn't regard color television as a gamble. He looks on video's rainbow future as a sure investment, an inevitable step that has to be taken. He is impatient of critics who feel color is being rushed.

FOUNDED UPON A ROCK Architects, engineers, and builders have made great strides in construction methods in the last decade. All kinds of new structural materials are available through ingenious developments in glass, steel, cement and wood. New methods and processes are in operation to handle the new material and to handle the old ones more quickly.

This is a good thing to remember, whether you are building a house, a business, a friendship, or a life. There is no substitute for a solid substratum of integrity. A structure must rest on truth, faith, hope and love if it is to endure at all. The fanciest decoration can never compensate for a weak or crooked foundation which may bring everything crashing down at any time.

"There are more phone calls in this business than in any other in the world," said Sarnoff, who sometimes feels it might be pleasant to spend a day all alone in a dark closet, completely away from Mr. Bell's invention. Sarnoff believes that in another (Continued on Page Twelve)

'Dark Horse' Could Be Democratic Nominee

Tennessee's investigating Senator Estes Kefauver is said to be ready for the plunge into a pre-convention campaign for the Democratic Presidential nomination. If he does, he will have an open fight with Adlai Stevenson who already has announced he is a candidate for the nomination.

With both Stevenson and Kefauver battling for the nomination in pre-convention campaigning, it will leave the way open for a dark horse to slip in under the wire if anything approaching a stalemate develops. That may be exactly what New York's Gov. Averell Harriman is waiting for.

At the moment Stevenson is the odds-on favorite for the nomination. He already has announced his candidacy and is launching a rather fast campaign pace considering the months between now and convention time. During the ensuing months before the National Convention, Stevenson has time to make a great many new friends. He also is putting himself into a position to make lots of enemies. Every statement he makes, every political alliance he is able to execute will be closely watched by his friends... and by his enemies. Each of these groups will give a different interpretation to every act Stevenson makes.

If Sen. Kefauver plunges into the campaign next month, he will be much in the same boat as Stevenson the man to beat in the race, Kefauver may well pay too much attention to defeating Stevenson while attempting to boost his own popularity.

With those two engaged in a pitched battle for months before the convention begins, it will leave an ideal opening for a third candidate to slip quietly in as a compromise choice and walk away with the party banner come nomination time.

Whatever the outcome of the pre-convention campaigning by Stevenson or other candidates who toss their hats in the ring, Democrats will be assured there will be no dearth of political activity within their party during the next eight months.

Opinions In Brief

KINGSLEY, IOWA, NEWS-TIMES: "Some members of Congress are firmly convinced that lower taxation for corporations is essential to encourage industrial expansion essential to meet the nation's future needs. Taxes necessarily are added to the price paid by the consumer for the products corporations manufacture."

MOUND, MINN., MINNETONKA PILOT: "An attitude change must be effected among our teenagers if we are to increase the supply of scientific minds. They must be made to see the necessity of doing more than meeting just the minimum requirements both in high school and college. This is a job which falls squarely to the teacher, the counselor and the parent. By allowing, and sometimes inadvertently encouraging, youngsters to take the course of least resistance we not only defeat our purposes but could possibly crush our own society."

Other Editors Are Saying... Boom Will Balance Budget

(Henderson Dispatch) Booming business in 1955 will balance the Federal budget by the end of the present fiscal year next June 30, according to a Washington forecast. The prediction says few doubts remain that income will more than equal outgo, barring some unforeseen huge increase in government spending. It is further stated that speculation now revolves around the amount of the surplus, rather than whether or not there will actually be one. In some quarters belief is expressed that Uncle Sam will end up the year as well as two billion dollars in the black. Others are crawling far out on the limb to forecast a surplus of as much as four billions. Income tax collections, due April 15, will tell the tale. While that is one of the most heartening items of news out of the capital in a long time, the fact is that the balance will not come about in the manner most desirable, namely through economies in operation. It will result almost entirely from the great upsurge in business volume and profits therefrom bringing in a swelling flood of taxes to the Federal coffers. These calculations are based upon current budget figures before any tax reductions. Almost certainly there will be reductions in that field. There also is the question now as to how much of a cut there will be and who will share it, rather than the mere fact that there will be one. There is the further uncertainty of whether or not the present rate of production and profits are of a permanent character, or of a temporary nature and subject to a moderate slump that would bring the red ink into use again. The national economy at present, by all yardsticks of measurement, is at an all-time high, due to unprecedented domestic production, consumption and foreign trade. Once a balance is attained, however, means should be devised for keeping it that way, and one of the surest methods would be to slash in wherever possible. That possibility ought never to be lost sight of, since it is an ever-present condition that could yield beneficial results to taxpayers in all directions.

Predictions Of Solid South Are Sound

By SAM STICKNEY Ray Tucker is on vacation. While he is away there will be guest columns by several prominent newspaper editors. Today's column is by Sam Stickey, Editorial Writer, The Tampa (Fla.) Daily Times. TAMPA Fla. — Those Southern Democrats who have been predicting that the South will return to its "solid" role in the Democratic Party in 1956 are not, as the saying goes, "just whistling Dixie." They realize—as well as do Republicans who are willing to face facts—that Southern GOP leaders have missed a big opportunity to make permanent inroads on the Southern Democratic vote. Only the announcement that President Eisenhower will seek re-election would brighten the picture for Republicans below the Mason-Dixon line. The South split wide open in 1952 with Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia landing in the Republican column. This show of GOP sentiment was largely resentment vote aimed at the Truman Administration, its dailying with FEPC legislation and exposures of graft and corruption in the Treasury Department. Southerners went to the polls in unprecedented numbers. In addition, there was the opportunity to vote for general Eisenhower, a military hero, and the South has a soft spot in its heart for heroes. SOUTHERNERS OF CONSERVATIVE BENT Properly wooed, those who marked the ballot under the elephant in 1952 could have been turned into regular, organized Republicans. General Eisenhower's name erased anathema from the Republican label. But Southern party leaders muffed their big chance. Instead of launching into a giant organizational campaign to consolidate their battles to control party machinery, many Democrats who had participated in the "Democrats-for-Eisenhower" movement found themselves largely ignored.

This was the case in Florida, although Republicans have fared better here than in most other Southern states. A measure of this success can be attributed to the extremely active Women's Republican clubs. The influx of new residents from traditionally Republican sections of the nation is also a big factor. The Democratic Party in Florida is disorganized. There is no real state leadership. Candidates, in most counties, are elect-

Why They Suffer Ulcers

By ELMER ROESSNER Almost every man and some of the gals, too, would like to be big-shot executives. They'd have palatial offices, a chorus of secretaries and their names in "Who's Who." They might even get into a novel. But two recent studies indicate that being an executive is a discouraging and disappointing existence. No wonder ulcers! Many company presidents are as dissatisfied with their own work as with that of their most bustling employee, Lyle M. Spencer, president of Science Research Associates, Chicago, found. After reviewing the ordeal of executive decision, Lydia Strong titled her report to the American Management Association, "Every Day is Doomsday." NO ESCAPE FOR THE BOSS Decisions are the essence of management, she writes in the current "Management Review," and each decision means a conflict. "The buck stops here," may well be written over the desk of top management, she points out. Top management can consult. It can assemble facts, can run them through electric brains but in the end, it must make the decisions. Wrong decisions may be ruinous, of course and good ones profitable. A postponed decision may be harmfully late; a snap decision may be wrong, because all the facts aren't in. "No decision," Miss Strong says, "is also a decision." Sometimes it may be the best one. The perfect executive just doesn't exist, she found—if that's any comfort to you or your boss. She quotes one unnamed executive: "The difference between a successful executive and an unsuccessful one is the difference between being right 82 per cent of the time and right only 48 per cent of the time."

TEN CAUSES OF ULCERS

1. Spending too much on "making crisis decisions" as one of the 10 principal worries of executives.
2. "One of the recurring worries of the president's job is the necessity for him to act as chief fireman for his company whenever a crisis arises. However, it is in times of crisis that presidents are most apt to prove again why they became presidents in the first place."
3. The nine other things presidents do in the first place:
 1. Using time effectively. Most presidents surveyed said they had more to do than time allowed.
 2. Not being doer. They have difficulty in shifting from doing things themselves to getting others to do them.
 3. Building a team. Finding, training and motivating key men is the most persistent problem most executives face.
 4. Setting the direction. Defining and reanalyzing factors that affect success in their firms is the "most solitary mental anguish."
 5. Finding expert advice. Failure to get best, guidance sometimes results in serious errors.
 6. Securing working capital. At one time or another, nearly every president has worried about this, they admit.
 7. Negotiations. A heavy burden that adds anxiety to the daily routine.
 8. Searching for a creed. "The president wants a code of ethics that will distinguish between a good businessman and one who is unscrupulous."
 9. Self-improvement. Three out of four presidents are currently engaged in some type of training to improve themselves as businessmen.

BURDENS MAY BE EAS'D

Other studies have indicated that ulcers are not the only by-product of executive strain. There have been a sizable number of heart attacks, breakdowns and suicides among top businessmen. Just as Congress is considering easing the burdens on the American President, so might major stockholders and boards of directors investigate ways to relieve pressure on chief executives—and thereby get a larger return on these large salaries.

Late Hours For Stores Favored

Greenville Merchants Association Board of Directors has recommended that local stores stay open at night the week before Christmas as they did in 1954.

The recommendation was made at the regular board meeting last night in the association office.

If the stores follow this recommendation it will mean purchasers may shop at night from December 19 through Christmas Eve.

Outline of plans for the Christmas street decorations and the Santa Clause parade was given by Dan Saied, who noted that "everything will be in readiness for the opening of the Christmas shopping season December 2," date of the parade.

It was announced that ballots for the election of new directors will be mailed out the latter part of December. Ballots containing the names of all association members will be mailed out and the new directors will be elected by a vote of the membership at large.

New Supersonic Plane Tested

EDWARDS, Calif. (AP)—Republic Aviation Corp. has announced the successful flight testing of the new supersonic F105A fighter-bomber. It was developed to fill the need for a supersonic fighter-bomber capable of delivering nuclear weapons as well as heavier loads of conventional bombs and rockets at extremely high speeds over a long range.

The initial flight was Oct. 22 and 12 others have been made since, the company said. Performance details are classified secret.

The F105A has short, thin, swept-back wings, a long cylindrical fuselage and wing root intake ducts permitting radar equipment to be installed in the nose.

Crown Queen And Royal Ambassador

Joanne Parks and Norfleet Felton were crowned queen and royal ambassador, respectively, at the first Girls Auxiliary coronation and Royal Ambassador recognition service at Immanuel Baptist Church Sunday night.

The occasion also marked the ninth anniversary of the Rev. J. A. Neilson's ministry here, and a reception was held to honor him and Mrs. Neilson and their family immediately following the service.

The forward Steps in Girls Auxiliary and Ranks in the Royal Ambassadors gives each girl and boy an opportunity to advance individually for the church work they accomplish. The girls' steps to be passed are maiden, lady-in-waiting, princess and queen. Boys advance in the ranks of page, squire, knight and ambassador.

The queen and royal ambassador were crowned and recognized by Miss Beverly Neilson, state Sunbeam secretary and W.M.U. field representative; and the Rev. Bill Jackson, state Royal Ambassador secretary.

Miss Parks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parks, and young Felton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Felton.

The queen gave from memory the entire life of Christ from birth to ascension, and the ambassador told what it means to be a Christian.

The royal court was composed of 16 maidens dressed in white, five pages, ladies-in-waiting Betty Derrick and Carole Wilkerson and princess JoAnne Eagles. Little Miss Barbara Taylor was the queen's crown bearer and Jimmy Mullen carried the royal ambassador shield. George Patrick gave the bugle call for the royal procession, while Elbert Felton and Tommy Henderson served as flag bearers.

The maidens were awarded a green felt octagon, background for the GA emblem, and the ladies-in-waiting received a white star for their octagons. The princess, who named the 35 countries to which Southern Baptist send missionaries, boards and secretaries of the Southern Baptist Convention, was awarded a GA monogram to place

Hear 7 Cases In Superior Court

Pitt County Superior Court opened a special November Criminal session here yesterday by handling seven cases.

Final disposition however, had not been made in the cases of M. H. Hales and Oscar Haddock, charged with larceny and receiving. Hales entered a guilty plea and Haddock, who pled not guilty, was tried and found guilty.

William Thomas Hill, of Farmville, charged with two counts of bigamy, was called and failed to appear for trial. An instant capias was ordered issued by Judge William J. Bundy for Hill's arrest.

An instant capias was also ordered issued for Heber Garris, 46, of Route 2, Vanceboro, who was charged with drunk driving.

James Williams, 40, Negro, of Route 5, received a 90 day road sentence after being convicted of driving 50 in a 35 mile an hour zone and driving after his license had been revoked.

An abates was ordered in the cases of drunk driving and speeding 70 against Jim Moseley, 30, of Route 1.

Actress Yvonne De Carlo Weds

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. (AP)—Movie actress Yvonne De Carlo is honeymooning in this historic old mining town today with a Hollywood stunt man, Robert Morgan.

The 33-year-old actress and Morgan, 40, drove to Reno and were married yesterday at the Episcopal chapel. Actor Rory Calhoun gave the bride in marriage and Charles Hayward was best man. The couple have to be back in Hollywood later this week for film work.

Miss De Carlo, one of Hollywood's most traveled performers, was also one of its most eligible spinsters. Her name had been linked romantically with many men including a German prince, an industrialist, Moslem Prince Aly Khan and Peter Townsend, recently rejected suitor for the hand of Britain's Princess Margaret.

on the green octagon with the white star. The pages each received a bronze pin in the shape of a shield.

Miss Velma Trot, director of Christian Education at the church, presided and recognized the counselors, Mrs. H. N. Felton of the Intermediate Girls Auxiliary, Mrs. E. C. White and Miss Norma Barnhill of the Junior GA's, Leonard Bloxam of the Intermediate RA's, Bill Holley of the Junior RA's and Mrs. Bloxam, young people's leader.

The service was conducted before a background of white muslin and greenery and wrought iron candlesticks holding burning white tapers.

E. C. White served as organist for the occasion.

Averette Named As Committeeman

Larry Averette, president of the Pitt County Agricultural Fair, will serve on Committee on Arrangements for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Association of Agricultural Fairs, to be held at Raleigh, January 19-20, according to an announcement made today by Norman Y. Chambliss, of Rocky Mount, who is president of the State Association of Fairs.

Averette will also attend the annual meeting of the National Showmen's Association, to be held in New York City November 23.

RETURNING FOR G-MEN—Big Harold Edwards, a 6-4 senior center for Coach Boley Farley's Greenville Phantom cagers, will return for another year of action with the 1955-56 hoopers. Edwards was one of the top scorers and rebounders in the Northeastern loop last season.

Host Of Newcomers On GHS Basketball Court

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer
Greenville high school basketball coach, Boley Farley began practice yesterday for his Phantom Cagers with only two returning regulars and a host of newcomers reporting. The returning first-stringers are center Harold Edwards and guard Ike Riddick, both seniors. Edwards is a 6-4, 170 pound ace rebounder for the G-men, who has two years of fine performance beneath his belt. Riddick has been called one of the most accurate cagers ever to wear the Green and White. Both boys will be depended upon greatly to hold together a fresh squad of Phants.

The Green quintet will take part in a new tournament this year that will see competition between three AAA squads and four class AA teams. The "Tobacco and Tourney" is a new project, devised especially for this season, with the objective being to promote stronger interest in the cage sport in this area. Kinston will be the site of the three-day affair. Participating in the event will be Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Clinton, Kinston, Greenville, New Bern and Washington. It will be held during the 19, 20, 21 of December.

Writers Chose Outfielder Smith

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland baseball writers yesterday picked outfielder Al Smith as the Cleveland Indians "Man of the Year." Relief hurler Ray Narleski also was considered for the award for his 9-1 record, his 20-odd games saved and his 59 relief appearances. But Smith won the nod because in addition to his fine offensive and defensive contributions, he appeared in every game and played six different positions in the infield and outfield. Smith led the team with a .306 batting average, 186 hits, 27 doubles and 10 stolen bases. He scored more runs, 123, than any other player in the American League. Smith will receive a plaque at the baseball writers' annual dinner Jan. 30.

Warren Spahn is the only member of the Milwaukee Braves who played with the Boston Braves in 1947.

Nice Guy, But Couldn't Win; Coach Is Fired

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Alton Kircher, a "nice guy" who couldn't win, was fired as football coach at Washington State College last night after four years of trying. He had another season to go on a $12,500-a-year contract but WSC said it is buying him out and will take its time picking a successor. He had a poor 1-7-2 record this fall.

Kircher's two chief assistants, Dale Gentry and Mike Scarry, were also let out. Dan Stavely, the freshman coach, will stay on. "I don't know what I'll do," Kircher said. "I don't even know whether I'll stick with coaching any more." Even before the firing, there was a string of suggested replacements. They ranged from Ray Hobbs, coach of the unbeaten local high school team, to Johnny Lujack, an assistant with the Chicago Bears. Kircher got the job here in 1952 by popular demand when Forest Evashevski quit to go to Iowa. He was a man everybody liked but in four seasons he never had a winning team.

Miller Is Named Farm Director For White Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Glen C Miller today was named farm director of the Chicago White Sox after serving five years as assistant under John Rigney. Rigney recently was elevated from farm director to a vice president. Miller, 48, has been active in baseball since 1937 when he started as a scout for the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Assn in Wisconsin and served for eight years. Later he was Wisconsin scout for the Chicago Cubs, then in succession was business manager of minor league clubs in Fayetteville, N.C., Eau Claire, Wis., Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., and Superior, Wis. In the last half of the 1955 season, Miller also served as general manager of the Sox Memphis affiliate.

Padlocked

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A sheriff's padlock has been clamped on headquarters of Little League Baseball, Inc., in a dispute over policies of the organization promoting baseball for youngsters. Sheriff William King, of Lycoming County, closed the league's offices yesterday after Carl E. Stots, commissioner of Little League, filed a foreign attachment petition, preliminary to a $300,000 suit for breach of contract. The prothonotary's office said it would be necessary for the league to post bond of $125,000 before the padlock will be lifted. Stots said in a statement that the foreign attachment papers are preliminary to a suit for $300,000 claiming "breach of contract." He said he and volunteer field personnel "no longer have a representative voice in Little League policy decisions." Peter J. McGovern, president of Little League, could not be reached immediately for a statement.

Belvoir, Bethel Split Twin Bill

Belvoir played host to Bethel last night as they faced their first County Conference opponent. The games were split as the Belvoir girls romped to a 49-18 victory and the Bethel boys scored a 64-31 win. Leading scorers for the Belvoir females were Gladys Corbett with 20 points and Brown, who dumped in 12. In the boys contest, four of the starting five cagers on the Bethel squad hit the double figures. Latham, White and Cooper collected 10 each, and Taylor racked up 12 markers.

Bill Virdon Signs Cardinal Terms

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bill Virdon, a top rookie of the year candidate in the National League is the first member of the St. Louis Cardinals to come to terms for 1956. Terms were not disclosed, but the West Plains, Mo., outfielder reportedly received about $10,000 in the contract signed yesterday, a sizeable increase over his rookie salary. Virdon hit .281 last year, with 18 doubles, 6 triples, 17 home runs and 69 RBIs. The fleet 24-year-old, a left-handed batter, tallied off from a .309 mark at all-star game time.

Three Men Each On All-Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's Big Ten champion and Michigan State's Rose-Bowl-bound Spartans each placed three men on the Associated Press All-Big Ten football team for 1955. Michigan's Wolverines, losing out to Ohio State for the Western Conference title, had two men on the squad while Illinois, Purdue and Iowa grabbed off one spot each. The team chosen by AP staffers in the Big Ten area consists of seven seniors, three juniors and one sophomore. Fabulous Howard Cassady, Ohio State's All America halfback was the only unanimous choice on the first team while center Ken Vargo, Cassady's teammate missed the honor by one vote. Ohio State's other selection was Jim Parker, 242-pound guard.

Fiore Sharp In Return To Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—After a one-year layoff Carmine Fiore is back in business looking for a shot at some of the top welterweights. "The rest did me a lot of good," Fiore said last night after winning a unanimous decision over sturdy Jimmy Nocero in an all-Brooklyn battle at St. Nicholas Arena. Fiore, 26, went into drydock Oct. 29, 1954, after he was stopped by Vince Martinez on eye cuts. He meant to rest up for six months to let the cuts heal completely but the vacation stretched into a year. At 149½, Fiore looked in good condition. He gave pounds and youth to Nocero, 155½, but didn't fade. In addition to his left hook always his best punch, he showed a solid right hand. Next for Fiore is Danny Giovannelli, Dec. 19 at St. Nick's. Nocero, 24, must lay off because of a cut eye for a month or so. The right eye needed six stitches. Since Fiore "retired," a new champion has taken over the welter division, Carmen Basilio. Carmine lost to Basilio twice in rugged fights. With two or three more bouts under his belt, he wants another crack at Carmen. A crowd of 1,300 paid $2,009 to see the bout. Two judges voted 6-4 and Referee Ray Miller 5-4-1, all for Fiore. The AP had it 5-4-1 for Fiore.

Thief Stole The Consulate Car

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's a car thief in Los Angeles who has no regard for diplomatic relations. A consular limousine, bearing diplomatic license tags, was stolen yesterday while the user Mrs. Ramon Magsaysay, first lady of the Philippines, was doing her Christmas shopping.

The driver, Venancio Bagnol, a member of the Philippine consular staff here, told police he parked the car and then went into a downtown department store to help Mrs. Magsaysay carry out packages.

When they looked for the car it was gone.

Escaped Jail Via Broomstick

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A prisoner who broomsticked his way out of jail in 1953 was returned yesterday.

Clyde Reed, 29, of Ludlow, Ky., had been jailed on two armed robbery indictments. He took a broomstick, lifted the jail keys from a wall hook, opened the main door and walked away.

Suddenly you know how a jet pilot feels!

It happens like that when you drive this fabulous '56 Pontiac.

You know you're in for a thrill the moment you hear the muted purr of the exhaust as the all-new Strato-Streak V-8 comes to life.

At first you'll just want to sail along smooth and easy, drinking in the new sensations. This long and lovely creation stops, starts, turns, moves and goes with swift and sure precision—as though in response to your wishes themselves.

You lean back luxuriously, listening to the miles whisper past. Then, ahead, you see the opportunity you've been looking for... the highway up front arching high over a hill. You touch the accelerator lightly—and only for a moment. Instantly, that great Strato-Streak V-8 takes over. Smooth as soaring, the rush of power catapults you up and over... your solo flight!

This is how it feels... seemingly limitless power at your command—smooth, effortless power for the slower pace of city driving, jet-fast in an emergency to flick you safely past loiterers on the highway.

By this time you're certain—Pontiac has everything—size, beauty, roadability and with it the greatest "go" and safety ever built into a car.

Drive this fabulous '56 Pontiac and find out how it feels to fly. This car will show you—fast!

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Lora rose reluctantly. Now that she recognized herself for time, she did not want to be betrayed again into grasping at make-believe. And yet—the music, starting up again, was heady and her rebel body longed to fling itself into the giddy steps of a polka. Edgar danced beautifully and was easy to follow. He took care of their sketchy conversation himself and did not expect too much from her. They waited breathlessly in among the dancing couples and once they came very close to Mrs. Channing and the handsome Murray Norwood. Morgan saw her and flashed a smile of recognition, her gaze dropped briefly, meaningfully, to Lora's green gown.

For a little while Lora had forgotten her dress, Morgan's frank look made her suddenly self-conscious. Here was one who would remember this gown—Virginia's sister. No matter which way she turned, Lora could not escape Virginia. Even now there might be whispers going on behind her back because Wade Tyler's new wife had no party gown of her own but must wear Virginia's.

"I'm going to make you dizzy," Edgar said, looking down at her in quick concern. She tried to smile. "It has been such a long time since I've danced."

He whirled her through the door and into the hall. "Wait, I'll get you a glass of water. You look a warm air, stuffy with the scent of perfume and heated bodies.

How silly to be so shaken because of a look from Morgan Channing's observant eyes.

"I don't want to be Virginia," she told the darkness softly; and went across to the far windows pulling the shawl more snugly over bare arms and throat. The only light on the veranda streaked across from a window in the drawing-room. Beyond that patch of light she could see the dancers. She turned away seeking the view that dropped sleepily down the white-blanketed hillside. From here the harbor lights were visible with black stretches of water between. Out toward the Narrows a ship, all agleam, was coming in on Christmas Eve.

Behind Lora the veranda doors opened, startling her. She glanced about and saw a man coming toward her in the darkness.

"So you ran away?" The tall red-bearded stranger held out his hand. "I'm Adam Hume. Sereia Lord's black sheep brother. And you're Lora Tyler?"

She hid her feeling of distress because her retreat had been discovered. "How did you know?" she countered.

"I saw you arrive and overheard your name. Just now I was in the dining room stealing tidbits from the hors d'oeuvres trays. I saw you. Here—have a bit of caviar."

He held out a tiny round of bread without apology for his fingers. She had never tasted caviar and she bit into it daintily.

"Look," she said. "Down there on the water, a ship is coming in. He reached past her and unhooked a latch, pushed the window ajar. An icy thrust of wind cut through Lora's shawl and she drew back hastily, but Adam made no move to close the window.

"Listen, sometimes you can hear them. Be very still."

At first nothing came to her but the rattle of icy boughs on the hill below, where snow had blown away and left dry winter bones to clatter. Then, faint from the water came a faraway singing, now full, now dim with the breathing of the wind. It was no Christmas carol they sang on the homewardbound ship, but another tune—"Home Sweet Home."

Adam closed the window and the sound was shut away. Now the music inside drowned out all other music and dancers went whirling about, the floor again.

"A waltz!" Adam cried. "Will you honor me with this dance, Mrs. Tyler?"

Plainly he meant here and now on this dark veranda. She drew away from him quickly.

"Oh, no—please! I must go back inside."

"How fearful you are," he said, and put his hand firmly at her waist. "See—you're cold. This will warm you quickly. And we have the floor to ourselves."

She was light on her feet and once she had loved to dance with a last worried look toward the window, she gave herself up to the lilt of the music. This was a reckless thing to do. Suppose someone should find them here? Suppose Wade should turn about and peer through the window behind him into the darkness. Or wonder where she was and come to find her. But the music sang and the chilled blood tingled warmth in her veins.

"I've been in a Confederate prison, you know, I'm here convalescing from the fever. I can see you're wondering." His hand was hard at her waist and his fingers hurt her side. She drew stiffly away from him in the dance.

"They haven't forgotten the war," she told him. "I thought that hard at her waist and his fingers hurt her side. She drew stiffly away from him in the dance.

"He made a sound of derision. "The men perhaps, yes—those who wear uniform. The others, and some of those nannies of women—it has never touched them at all."

"Let's hope it never does," said Lora gently. "Why should you want it to?"

He looked at her in the dim light. "I suppose I do want it to reach them and hurt them."

"But why? Why should you be angry because they haven't been touched?"

The music ended and he let her go abruptly. She was warm enough now not minding the chill of the veranda.

"I suppose when you've been in the thick of it," he mused as if he were anxious to find a valid answer to her challenge, "and have known how little your own people care at home, how ready they are to talk treason, even in their letters to camp—well, maybe that's why I want to wake them up. Until they do wake up we'll never win this war."

 DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — With regrets, movie actress Marilyn Monroe wired that other engagements prevented her from speaking at a Colorado Education Assn. convention here.

NEW 225-HORSEPOWER SAFETY-SURGE V-8 ENGINE. Here's high horsepower with a big difference. More of it's usable—for faster getaway, safer passing.

NEW PADDED INSTRUMENT PANEL. This attractive optional feature consists of an expanded plastic protective pad. Cuts down annoying glare in windshield.

NEW SAFETY SEAT BELTS. Strong. Comfortable. Add to your comfort on rough roads. Easily fastened with one hand. Bolted to floor. (Optional.)

NEW SAFETY GRIP BRAKES, NEW SAFETY EVERYWHERE. THE BIG M offers a new kind of motoring security. For instance, amazingly little foot pressure is needed on Mercury's big new brakes for smooth, sure stops. Look for many more extra values. Bold new styling ideas. New low-silhouette hard-tops in all Mercury series. And a new budget-priced model—the Medalist. Our showrooms are displaying these big new cars now. See them firsthand.

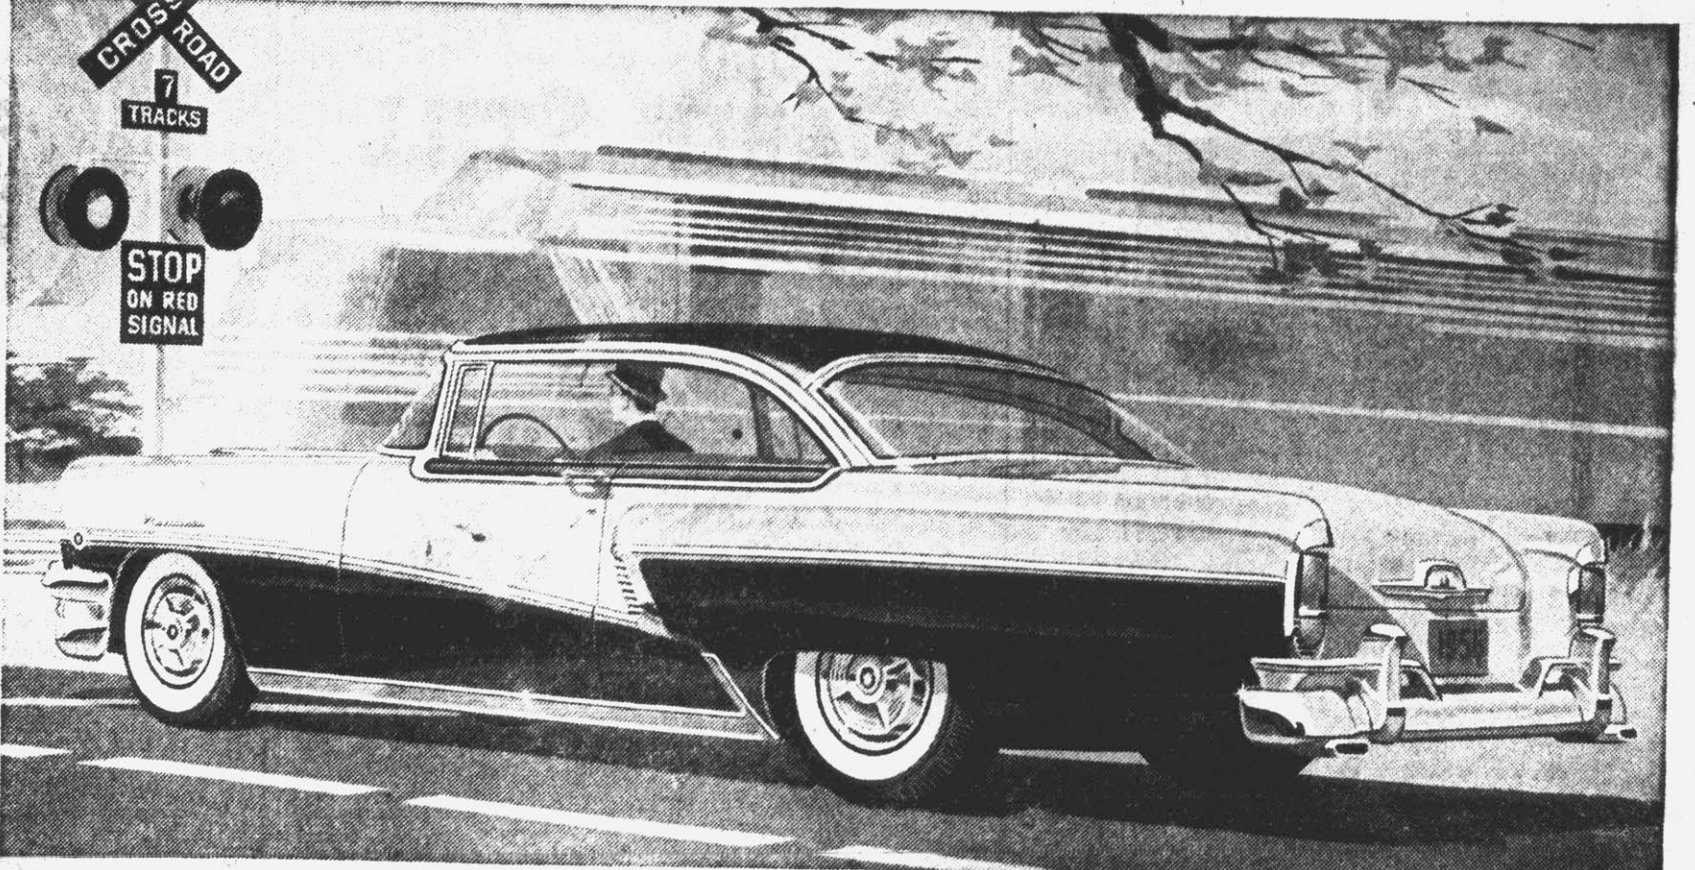

NEW SAFETY DOOR LOCKS. Give added protection against doors springing open. Child-guard locking device for rear doors available as an option.

NEW SAFETY-BEAM HEAD LAMPS help you see up to 80 feet more of the road ahead—help pierce fog, rain, snow, yet cause less glare to oncoming cars.

NEW SAFETY REARVIEW MIRROR swivels easily and fully in all directions. The safety-glass mirror gives an exceptionally broad view of the road behind.

NEW SAFETY SUN VISORS offer you the same kind of protection as padded instrument panel. These handsome visors are available as an option.

Now see the 10 new safety features in THE BIG M

One Of Best Follies By GHS Freshmen

By ROSEMARY EAGLES
Greenville High School
One of the teachers decided it was the best Freshman Follies in years and, of course, all of the freshmen thought so. There were the girls with the chicken heads who sang and danced, there was Patsy James who sang "Frankie and Johnnie" and John Van Voorhis who sang "Mammy" and so many more.

The girls were relieved to see two policemen in a police car and in the words of Nancy Ann, "We went riding down main street with two policemen looking for the team."
They stayed inside the station about ten minutes. When they returned the two policemen were still waiting for them to their amazement.

Merrill Bynum did the entertaining after the follies. Around fifty guests enjoyed the Russian tea and good food.
The student body and the Student Council elected Betty Sugg and Charles Smith as the best twirps of Twirp Season.
The Phantoms were supported by a few of their most faithful fans Friday night. Ginger Ross, Betty Sugg, Ann Rooker, Nancy Ann Hook, Martha Corbett, Ann Moore, and Judy Jolly were over for the Roanoke Rapids homecoming festivities. Six cheerleaders, Alice Lee Edwards, Ruth Young, Marietta Northrup, Grayson Waldrop, Jeanne Moye, and Margaret Ruffin cheered for the football game.
While Alice Lee Edwards, Grayson Waldrop, Jeanne Moye, and Nancy Ann Hoot were going through Scotland Neck they saw the Phantom's bus on main street. They discovered that the team was at the bus station.
The four brave girls began their venture down the dark deserted street to the station several blocks away when they heard someone say, "We'll take you down."

Local Delegates Return From Fall Meeting Of Elks Held At Hickory

Stuart C. Page, Robert G. Lang, and Harry M. Brown have returned from Hickory where they attended the annual Fall meeting of the North Carolina State Elks Association as delegates from Greenville Lodge No. 1645. At the convention they were guests of Hickory Lodge No. 1654, BPOE November 17, 18, and 19.
A program of business sessions, tours, banquets and dances followed.
Dignitaries attending the meeting were Grand Exalted Ruler John L. Walker, Roanoke, Va., Past Grand

Believe Tiger Is Roaming In Area

GALLUP, N.M. (AP)—A tiger may be roaming the Navajo reservation in western New Mexico and eastern Arizona.
Drivers for the General Services Administration and Navajo Indians say they have seen large cat tracks which a professional government hunter says are not those of a mountain lion.
One of the drivers says he has seen a large, striped animal jump across the highway.
Indians who have seen the tracks say they believe the cat may be holed up in one of the abandoned mine shafts in the Fort Defiance area.
The cause of the speculation goes back four years when a circus wagon was wrecked about 50 miles north of Gallup. A lion and a tiger escaped and were never recaptured. The tiger may have survived, Indians believe.

Toted 'Dragnet' Gun And Badge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When police arrested Richard Sauer in a downtown bank they said he had a plastic pistol labeled "dragnet" and a toy badge No. 714.
In the man's pockets, they said, was a note regarding: "Be quiet and you'll not get shot. Hand over all your $5 and 10s and be quick. Do not make a wrong move. I'm watching."
But bank guard E. R. Swenson was watching, too. He thought Sauer didn't look like a depositor, accused him, and then called officers. He was booked on suspicion of robbery.

School Board Ruined His Crop

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Emilio Vanoni claims the board of education doesn't know its oats from, well—
The board sent a disk harrow crew to Sepulveda, Vanoni says in a suit filed yesterday, and plowed under his crop of oats. He says the crew thought it was abating weeds on land he leased from the board.
And because they didn't know the difference between oats and weeds, Vanoni asks $4,880 damages. The board referred the matter to the county counsel.

Exalted Ruler Howard Davis, Williamsport, Pa., and North Carolina Secretary of State Thad Eure.
Much of the business taken up concerned the North Carolina Boys Camp at Hendersonville and the eventual establishment of another camp in the eastern part of the State. Charlotte Lodge No. 392 presented the State Elks Association with a check for $3,000 for the boys camp fund as the proceeds of its Charity Ball held recently.

Kitchen Stove Shot Him Down

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A kitchen stove shot Leroy Carter in the leg yesterday.
Some bullets from a nearby container fell in the stove and were discharged when Carter, 55, fired it up.

Cadillac
Half its Horsepower is for Safety!
A pretty steep hill, you'd say? Well, not so far as this gentleman is concerned. He just gave the accelerator a little encouragement with his toe . . . and swept from bottom to top so effortlessly he was scarcely aware of it.
For he's at the wheel of a beautiful new 1956 Cadillac. And beneath that long, sleek, graceful hood rests the smoothest, most powerful engine in Cadillac history.
The fact is that this great new Cadillac engine is powerful and dynamic far beyond the requirements of normal usage. In the course of ordinary motoring, it is entirely possible that the driver will never put the accelerator down to the floor board.
But how wonderful that extra length of throttle will be if he does need it!
It will be there for that burst of speed that can free him from a difficult driving situation.
It will be there in case he needs it for safety in passing . . . or to answer the challenge of a mountain road.
And even when not in active use, that reserve of power will add to his motoring pleasure.
It will bring him confidence and contentment and peace of mind . . . and it will provide unusual operating economy and dependability.
Of course, Cadillac's magnificent performance is only part of the exciting Cadillac story for 1956. There is inspiring beauty . . . and extraordinary luxury . . . and superlative craftsmanship.
Why not stop in soon and see what we mean? We've got the keys and the car—all you have to provide is an hour of your time.
We can promise you . . . it will be the most revealing sixty minutes you ever spent at the wheel of a motor car.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (U)— The stock market started a moderate recovery movement today after three straight declines.

In the early afternoon, there were many gains of 1 to 2 points in key areas of the list. Some went beyond that mark. Losses usually were small.

Trading was relatively light at an estimated two million shares. That compares with yesterday's 1,930,000 shares, also a light day.

There were more activity and price betterment in the steels, motors, and oils than in any other division, but gains were displayed as well by the rubbers, mail orders, aircrafts, radio-televisions, coppers, chemicals and a few rails.

Du Pont, off 9/4 yesterday in disappointment from directors, was up around 5 points today at the best.

Packard Oil, yesterday's most active issue up 1/4, gained a major fraction today after starting on 1,100 shares up 1/4 at 13.

Cutler-Hammer, up 1 yesterday, dropped 3 points today in a quick reaction news of an extra dividend of $1.20.

Granite City Steel was up between 1 and 2 points right after directors declared a year-end dividend of 65 cents.

Continental Oil gained 3/4 yesterday but today it fell back a fraction on declaration of a dividend of 75 cents as against 70 cents in previous quarters.

Yesterday the Associated Press average of 90 stocks was off $1.40, and today at noon the average was ahead 90 cents at $178.30.

Scientists Offer Their Rebuttal

DUNCAN, Okla. (U)— It's not true that the modern scientist is a "square" or that he works in a "musty old laboratory."

In a survey conducted by an Oklahoma city school superintendent, some 100 high school students said, among other things, they considered scientists as unsocial creatures with one-track minds. The youngsters also declared that scientists don't make much money in comparison to the amount of study needed to get into the profession.

A group of Oklahoma engineers, chemists, geologists and metallurgists quickly came to the defense of the science profession. The rebuttal was from some 200 members of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. technical center.

The firm's technical employees said they took the student opinion of them with a grain of opinion of NaCl (salt). Malcolm Ross, editor of the company magazine, said the reaction of the working scientists was, "Gosh, kids, we're human too."

Rosser said that instead of being buried in a smelly lab, the scientist he knows is likely to be a guy with a crewcut and a passport to exotic lands.

Rosser said the demand for scientists and allied personnel is terrific and that the starting salaries exceed all other fields except medicine.

Russia Reveals 5 Security Men Are Executed

LONDON (U)—The Tiflis (Tbilisi) radio announced today five former security officials in the Soviet Georgian Republic have been executed for high treason and other crimes against the Soviet Union.

The broadcast did not list those executed specifically with Lavrenty P. Beria, Soviet security and police boss purged and executed in 1953 for alleged treason. However, Beria got his start in the Georgian security organization and kept tight control over it even after he went to Moscow. After his purge, he started falling right and left among Georgian officials.

The Tiflis broadcast identified those executed only by their last names. Radio monitors here said a sixth official might have been included in the group executed. This was not certain, due to the indistinctness of the broadcast.

Those definitely identified as executed were:

Rukhadze, former minister of internal security and one-time chief of the prosecution department in the Ministry of Internal Affairs. He apparently was the same man mentioned in a Moscow broadcast shortly after Beria's downfall as having been arrested on charges of persecuting innocent workers and plotting to arouse dissatisfaction among the Soviet people.

Rokava, former commissar of internal affairs; Tsereteli, former deputy commissar of internal security; Slavitsky and Khasani, former prosecutors.

The sixth man, who may also have been executed, was identified only as Rikarini.

The broadcast said two other former prosecutors got prison sentences. One of them, Paramanov, got 25 years. Another, Nadarain, also was sentenced but fairly recent made the length of his term unclear.

Treason executions in Russia are always carried out by shooting. Georgia, birthplace of Beria and Stalin, has a population of about 3,800,000. Many of the people are descendants of fierce mountain tribesmen who fought the Communists fiercely in the civil war that followed World War I and the Bolshevik revolution.

Arrest Break-In Suspect, Also Is Blamed For Fire

Isaac Pippin, Negro, of Greenville Route 6 is in Pitt County jail under $500 bond charged with breaking and entering and damage to personal property, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson announced this morning.

Pippin was charged as a result of the sheriff's department investigation of a fire which destroyed two mattresses and burned a hole in the floor of the home of Charlie Randolph, also Negro. Randolph lives in the Penny Hill area.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said that Pippin was arrested yesterday by Deputy N. H. Byrd and City-County Identification Officer Charles Whitman.

The fire was said to have occurred Sunday night between 9:30 and 10 o'clock.

Sheriff Tyson said Pippin admitted entering the house and falling to sleep on a bed. He told officers he awoke when the bed caught fire. Pippin received burns on his hand, the sheriff reported.

He will be tried on the charges in Pitt County Court next Tuesday.

Report Is Made To Stockholders Colored News

Reports to stockholders and address by J. C. Moore, vice-president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank in Columbia, S. C. highlighted an annual meeting of the Production Credit Association here.

In additional, stock holders heard a short talk by J. R. Jackson, field representative of the production credit corporation. Two directors, Alvin Gardner and W. P. Weifare, Jr. were elected for terms.

A report made to those present showed that loans of $1,000,000 dollars were made in 1955 and that total loans, since the organization's establishment in 1933 have been in excess of 25 million dollars. Losses on these loans have totalled less than 500 dollars.

Other directors, serving with those previously mentioned, are Arch Flanagan, of Farmville; D. W. Fleming, of Grifton and Jessie L. Tripp, of Route 1, Ayden.

Stranded Guests On Texas Tower May Get Home

TEXAS TOWERS, 110 Miles Off Cape Cod (U) (Via Marine Radio Telephone)— Hopes of Thanksgiving at home cheered 37 marooned visitors on this giant radar island early today.

A sudden break in the series of storms that has hit the big platform may enable them to get back aboard the tug El Sol by late afternoon.

The group was hoisted by derricks four at a time in a basket last Thursday for what had been planned as a three-hour inspection visit.

A sudden storm made it too hazardous to attempt to lower the visitors back aboard ship. The El Sol ran for safety in deeper waters to ride out the storm.

There were smiles among the 37 persons aboard the tower after a midnight weather check led to the decision to attempt a trip home.

Concedes Boys Kept In Cages

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (U)— Dr. A. C. Adair, superintendent of the Colorado Home and Training School here, acknowledged last night that boys are confined in cages at the institution.

But only a few are involved and the confinement always is administered for "their own good," he said. The institution cares for mental defectives.

A three-man committee of experts who inspected the institution at the request of Gov. Ed C. Johnson said in a report submitted Monday:

"We were astounded to find many boys confined to rooms with heavy metal prison doors, and three boys in caged cells, associated with an arctic era."

The committee said: "Confinement is being substituted for a constructive program of therapy."

Sea-Search For Missing Vessel

BOSTON (U)— A wide sea-air search continued today for the 100-ton freighter Daytona, feared lost in gale-swept seas off the Massachusetts coast with a crew of 24 aboard.

Three Coast Guard airplanes searched in a large area about 150 miles southeast of Cape Cod. Two Coast Guard cutters — the Evergreen and Acushnet — have been on the scene since Sunday.

The Daytona was last heard from about 9 a.m. Sunday when she radioed she was listing and taking water some 75 miles east of Gloucester. The crew are mostly West Indians.

Japan Brakes Cotton Exports

TOKYO (U)— The Japanese government, in an attempt to quell American charges that cheap Japanese cottons are flooding the United States market, said today it would no longer approve contracts for export of cotton goods to America.

The government previously had suspended export license applications on four specific cotton items considered most competitive in the United States market—grey and bleached cloth, velveteen and corduroy.

Japan's Premier Is Re-Elected

TOKYO (U)— Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama won overwhelming re-election today and formed a new right-of-center administration with his newly merged Liberal-Democrats.

It is expected Hatoyama's new administration will be even friendlier to the United States than his two previous governments since last December.

hand how the peoples of other lands live."

Television mushroomed in a few short years into a billion-dollar-a-year industry. It still is growing so rapidly its executives find difficulty keeping up with it.

"Programs have to be set up 6 to 8 months ahead," said Sarnoff "and one of the biggest problems is how to get rid of your daily tasks so you can find time to sit down and plan what must be done next."

How does a television executive relax from the endless high pressure he is under pressure he sometimes wonders how he can take and still survive.

"Well, I keep tropical goldfish," said Sarnoff, smiling. "They're fascinating. At the end of the day I like to go home and watch them. They seem so free."
