New Star Has Risen On City's Musical Horizon

By GEORGE E. PERRY

Aside from her musicianship, Miss Melton's stage presence was indeed that of a well-trained young lady. It was a delight to see her so befittingly attired, and to see her acknowledge the well-spring of applause with such poise, bearing, and graciousness.

Miss Melton is a Freshman in the Department of Music, and is a pupil of Dr. Robert Carter. For thirteen years prior to her coming here, she studied with Miss Annoye Wortham of Albemarle, who was present for the performance.

The orchestral portion of the program began with the Bach Chorale, "Sleepers Awake," followed by Hans Kindler's transcription of the B Minor Toccata by Frescobaldi. Here one could not help but notice how much the string section of the orchestra has improved since the last concert. There were several instances in which the bows seemed to really bite into the strings, helping to achieve the solid tone which every conductor desires. The climax of this number was exceptionally well executed, as was that of the Prayer and Dream Fantasia from Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel." As a matter of fact the bigness of tone at these and other spots is one of the most significant improvements in the orchestra. It goes without saying that Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert has done some splendid work with its members in the preparation for this concert.

In the Saint-Saens' G Minor Concerto, the orchestra supported Miss Melton admirably. The balance and ensemble between the soloist and the orchestra was good, and while Dr. Cuthbert conducted with authority, he never seemed to impose his tempi upon her but rather let her follow her own feelings in the matter.

Of unusual interest was the programming of the Bach Brandenburg Concerto no. 2 performed by six soloists from the Department of Music Faculty, with a small ripieno orchestra, all under the direction of Mr. Frits van der Steur of High Point. This was one of the few times that Greenville has had the opportunity of hearing chamber music, and for those who enjoy either Bach or chamber music, it was probably a most welcomed hearing.

It seems apparent that a commendable orchestra has emerged from the nucleus of musicians which responded to Dr. Cuthbert's call upon his arrival in Greenville. It is an orchestra of which this region may justly be proud and one whose future concerts will be anticipated with pleasure.

Here is a young girl who, in spite of her youth, plays with the authority, command, and definite qualities of a seasoned performer, and one of whom her fellow North Carolinians may not only be proud, but from whom they may expect greater artistic triumphs.

The Saint-Saens' G Minor is one of the most difficult of the romantic concertos yet Miss Melton gave it a performance which was indeed outstanding. The crashing chords, the purling scales and arpeggios, the delicate melodic sections the strenuous octaves, the intricacies of much of the passage work, in other words nearly everything within the boundaries of this composition was handled magnificently.

No matter what the music demanded, Miss Melton met these demands, thanks to her reliable technique, and yet her technique never took the upper hand in the submersion of her interpretation. Her nuances and rubati were handled adroitly, her feeling for the romantic never became saccharine, and her over-all conception of the work showed a remarkable understanding, which is most unusual for a girl of seventeen. To be sure, there were a few notes which did not come out as planned, but when one's playing is so musical the small errors, which creep into even the best playing, become insignificant. Better this than the most meticulous playing minus the slightest hint of emotion.

Officers said the child's mother, Mrs. Edna Earl Vail, had placed a tub of boiling hot water on the porch of the house and was preparing to scrub the floor.

Several children were playing on the porch when the tub backed against the tub and fell in backward. The badly burned child was rushed to Pitt Memorial Hospital by his mother. He died around 7 o'clock this morning.

Officers Named As N.C. Ass'n Conference Ends

June Dinkins of the R.J. Reynolds High School, Winston-Salem, was chosen president, and Dr. Harold Barrow of Wake Forest College president-elect, of the North Carolina Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Association in elections held here by association members this weekend.

Approximately 200 delegates from all parts of the state were present at East Carolina College Friday and Saturday for the annual fall conference of the organization.

Miss Dinkins will take office in March 1956, succeeding George Powell of Charlotte, and will serve for a year. Dr. Barrow, president-elect, will begin his term at that time and head the organization until March, 1958.

Vice presidents chosen here for divisions of the association will serve for one year, ending March, 1957. They are Ray Rhodes, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, Health; Dr. Rosemary McGee, Woman's College, Greensboro, Physical Education; and Marjorie Crisp, Wake Forest, Recreation.

Teachers, coaches, recreation leaders, school administrators, and others participated here in a full program of general assemblies, divisional meetings, and social activities.

Dr. Harold Jack, state director of health and physical education in Virginia, and a group of authorities from North Carolina schools, colleges, and state agencies were principal speakers.

At the association banquet, Friday night, Dr. Jack presented challenges to be met in school health programs and areas calling for expansion and improvement.

He emphasized individual guidance; atomic and nuclear information relating to health, safety, and survival; safety education and its implications in health education; coordination of health education with the study of science and social problems; health education for parents; and closer ties between school and community.

Dr. N.M. Jorgensen, director, and other members of the East Carolina health and physical education department were in charge of local arrangements for the conference. East Carolina President John D. Messick welcomed guests at the association banquet.

Cemetery Beside Industrial Plant

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A small family cemetery stands in stark contrast near a big manufacturing plant here. The Everett family which sold the site for the plant more than a quarter-century ago, retained ownership of the plot. Family members say a rose bush which still blooms in the cemetery, against a drab industrial backdrop, is more than 100 years old.

Broke Peace In 'House Warming'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—George D. Anderson was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail yesterday on a breach of peace charge arising from a "house warming."

Anderson, 27, a truck driver, admitted he had been drinking the night he walked into H. M. Kessler's home uninvited "to get warm."

Ayden Teachers Are Visiting The Parents

By JEANNETTE WORTHINGTON, Ayden High School

The students at Ayden High went home a little apprehensive each afternoon last week. As two students were leaving basketball practice one was asking the other, "Do you suppose Mrs. Little went to my house this afternoon? Goodness, I hope I made an A in United States history." Beginning last Monday each home room teacher visited some of their students' homes after school, delivering the student's report card to his parents, and discussing school work and school problems. The teachers will continue this visiting until every parent has been contacted. The members of our faculty say they enjoy it, and it makes for better relationships between our school and our homes.

A surprised and excited Ayden High school football player, James Robinson, accepted the Ayden Dispatch's "Player of the Year" award November 30 in the Myers Theater here, while his teammates and hundreds of sport fans stood and cheered.

In a secret vote at the high school Tuesday morning the football players were asked to vote for the man who had contributed the most to the success of the team. Robinson was unanimously elected.

Prior to the presentation of the trophy, the 31-man squad dressed in full uniform came on the stage and were introduced by their coach, Stuart Tripp. Tommy Craft, assistant coach, introduced the cheerleaders who led the audience in some enthusiastic yells.

The Future Homemakers of America at their regular monthly meeting last week elected Mrs. Wilbur Worthington, Mrs. Gagnon, and Mrs. Caviller as chapter mothers. Plans were also made for the Christmas party which will be held after school in the home ec cottage on December 16.

The Future Farmers of America, Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y held their regular meetings and dispensed with routine business.

At the regular meeting of the Student Council reports were heard from the various committees including devotional, morning bulletin, house and grounds.

Our annual staff composed of: editor-in-chief, Connie Lou Dunn; assistant editor-in-chief, Henrietta Taylor; business manager, Delano Wilson; assistant business manager, Margaret Nichols; literary editor, Carol Lynn Johnson; assistant literary editors, Kay Braxton and Anne York; sports editor, Bobby Johnson; assistant sports editors, Lindy Dunn and Horton Jolly; art editor, Lorenzo Allen; and assistant art editor, Glenn Bowen are working hard these days getting the material in shape to go to the printers early in the new year. We gave our orders for the annuals last week. We look forward to receiving these memories of our days at good old AHS put together in a book, and passed out to use before school closes in the spring.

The Ayden Tornadoes have elected the following cheerleaders: chief, Connie Lou Dunn, Ann McLohon, Betty Craft, Brenda Davis, Betty Lou Cannon, JoAnne Williams and Kay Braxton.

During these next two weeks we will be a busy student body, preparing for mid-term exams and the glorious Christmas holidays which begin on December 22. Just think all the old AHS students now away at college will soon be home. Thursday of this week Melvin and Milton Worthington, Kemp Edwards, and H. W. Smith will arrive for the holidays. These boys are students at Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky.

Six Killed As Train Hits Auto

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—A train moving 75 m.p.h. smashed into a car at a grade crossing yesterday, killing six persons.

The only survivor in the car was a 10-month-old baby. None of the passengers aboard the Southern Railway's Crescent, headed for New York, were injured.

The dead were James F. Brooks, 37; his wife Louise, 26, driver of the car; Mrs. Louise Bagwell, mother of Mrs. Brooks; Holland Benny Sutton, 29; his wife Rosa Lee, 23; and their daughter Wanda, 3.

The baby, Beeny Sutton, suffered minor injuries.

Had 25 Cars In Turnpike Pile-Up

SWEDESBORO, N. J. (AP)—Twenty-five cars piled up end to end last night on the New Jersey Turnpike, causing minor injuries to 13 persons, after one car stopped without pulling off the roadway lane.

State police said the driver of the first car was not hit and drove on. Twenty of the other cars had to be towed away.

Troopers said the pileup occurred near here when a car braked to avoid hitting the stopped vehicle. Traffic was backed up for four miles before the road could be cleared.

Five Teenagers In Fatal Crash

SHAFER, Calif. (AP)—Five teenagers met instant death when an automobile which police said was traveling from 90 to 95 miles an hour plowed into a heavy truck and trailer Saturday night.

State highway patrolmen said the top of the auto was sheared off as it rammed under the rear of the truck's trailer, loaded with cotton.

The victims, all of Shafter, were Finis Loran Ashmore, 19, the driver; Ronnie Colvard, 18; Freda Brown, 17; Marvin Taber, 18, a Marine, and his sister, Viola Bernice Taber, 15.

The truck driver, Ernest Ladell Pace 26, of nearby Wasco, was unhurt.

Further reasons are: (1) In addition to investment, earnings retained by the companies, net earnings on underwritings are usually plowed back into the business. (2) Good insurance stocks deserve to sell at a time-earnings ratio somewhat higher than is usual for other types of companies and (3) The lag in premium rate raises, insurance stocks are a logical form of post-inflation investment.

USE OF NON-FLAMMABLE MATERIALS

Great progress has been made in preventing loss of life and property since Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern and burned Chicago to the ground! The first step was the inventing of a Fire Alarm System by John N. Gamewell of Newton, Mass. He was burned out in Chicago. Returning East, he interested Boston in the fire alarm idea. After getting these municipal fire alarm systems in the country's leading cities, the fire chiefs turned their attention to Sprinkler Systems under the leadership of George I. Rockwood of Worcester, Mass., of which company W.M. J. Carroll is now President.

As statistics were beginning to show that almost as many were being killed by automobiles (with corresponding losses to Insurance Companies) as by fires, the Gamewell laboratories worked upon traffic lights. With factories at Moline, Ill., they, under the leadership of Matthew Porosky, are spending millions to reduce life and accident losses from automobile accidents. Now the whole army of Fire Chiefs are urging the increased use of non-flammable furniture and textiles with the hope of preventing or stopping fires at their source.

FIRE LOSSES TOO HIGH
Notwithstanding the marvelous work that Gen. Mgr. Vincent of the National Board of Fire Underwriters is doing to lessen fire losses, these losses continue to climb. The official statistics show that over 26 per cent. of the fires reported from known causes are believed to be due to smoking and matches. This Board has a tremendous uphill task to compete with the cigarette advertising.

Without interfering with this advertising, the Fire Insurance Companies should supply the Board an equal amount of money to spend on newspaper advertising to prevent fires as the tobacco people spend on advertising. When the insurance companies provide such funds, you will see the fire losses per home begin to decline. The above hope is another reason why I am bullish on good fire and accident insurance stocks for the long pull, although these stocks may decline with the general market. Finally, the insurance business is basically a Christian co-operative enterprise where the fortunate people club together to help the unfortunate in case of fire, accident, or death.

Pirates Begin Season With 77-67 Win Over Guilford

Thomas Collects 20 To Pace Team In First Triumph

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor
GUILFORD, Dec. 3 — The East Carolina College Pirates, making their first start of the 1955-56 basketball season, had to come from behind here Saturday night to down a gritty Guilford five, 77-67, in a thrilling contest.

Always tough on their home court, the Quakers made a valiant bid for an upset with two pistol-hot guards leading the way. East Carolina saw its 41-36 halftime lead diminished with awesome suddenness by the dead-eye shooting of Bob Atlas and Ed Harris, a couple of little men.

Captain Howard Porter's gang kept a slim lead in the first half on the strength of superior height and experience. The Bucs, however, lost their lockerroom lead in the first five minutes of the third stanza.

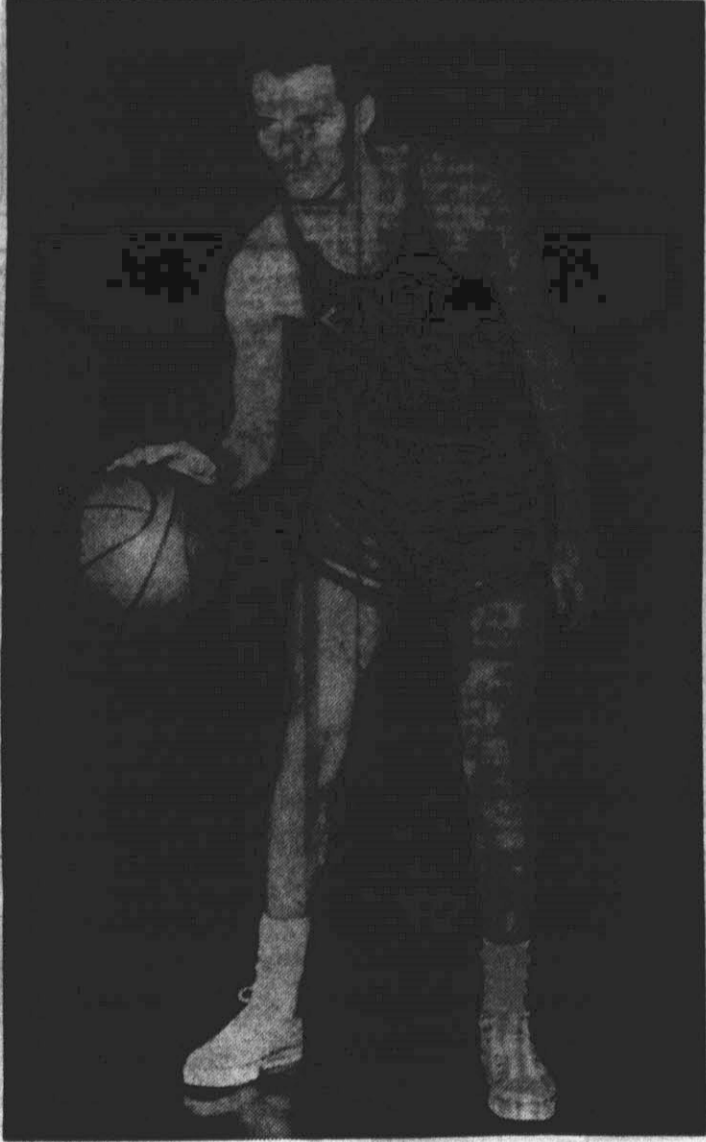

Atlas topped scoring with individual scoring honors for both teams with 23 points, popped in a quick basket and Center Jim Burgess tipped one in, running the score to 41-40.

Little Ed Harris, a 5-7 dynamo, took over and pumped in two consecutive baskets to put the home club ahead and that's where they stayed until 7:45 remained in the final period.

East Carolina caught the Quakers in spectacular style. With the Quakers leading 52-47, senior and captain J. C. Thomas dropped in a long one-hander and then stole the ball for a snowbird, Nick Nichols connected from the side and ECC had taken the lead and scored six points in a matter of 10 seconds.

The Pirates continued the rapid fire until they held a comfortable 14-point lead late in the game and Porter emptied the bench.

Both teams played ragged ball in the opening moments. East Carolina had first game jitters and Guilford was missing badly. Of the first five shooting attempts from the floor, the Bucs hit only one, a one-hander from the side by Harris.

THOMAS FACED BUCS—Senior guard J. C. Thomas, from Raleigh, led the Pirates to a 77-67 win over Guilford Saturday night with a 20-point performance. The game marked the opening of the 1955-56 basketball season for East Carolina.

East Carolina's biggest lead in the first half was a six point margin coming with 6:03 left. Three straight baskets by Nichols put the Bucs out in front 28-22. Atlas soon cut it down, though, with a couple of swift goals on the fast break.

Atlas, a sophomore find, devastated the Pirates in the first half. He connected for 17 points on seven field goals and three out of five from the free throw line. He was held to six points in the second half as the Buc defense sharpened.

Four In Double Figures
East Carolina had four players hitting in the double figures. High man for the night was Thomas, who played a remarkable game both as a scorer and rebounder. The Raleigh star threw in 20 points, 12 of which came on shots from the outside. He hit eight field goals and four out of six from the gitt line.

Harris and Nichols, ECC's slick forward combo, scored 16 points apiece. Harris had seven field goals and two out of four from the line. Nichols pumped in seven field goals and binged on two out of three from the rebound leader.

The anchor man in the double figure scoring was Freddie James, who started the game at guard. The Virginian sophomore played an outstanding game on defense besides helping out with the scoring.

East Carolina travels to Wilmington to play the Phillips Oilers on Thursday night. Catawba and Lenoir Rhyne will serve as foes here Friday and Saturday nights.

Grimesland Has Double Victory

Grimesland high school's cagers smashed a visiting Chocowinity delegation Friday night, taking both the boys' and girls' games. The male aggregation walloped their foes 47-32 and the girls pulled a 41-38 win.

Though the opening contest was close at the finish, the Chocowinity girls never took the lead. Tucker and McRoy paced the victorious crew with a fine performance in the scoring department, while White was the leading ball handler.

The boys' game was a see-saw battle, which saw both squads toying with the lead in the early minutes. Led by Center Singleton, who collected 20 points, the Grimesland quintet forged ahead to claim a 47-32 triumph.

Lou Hallow Elected To All State Grid Squad

East Carolina College's Louis Hallow yesterday received the highest state's honor attainable by a college football player when he was named to the All-North Carolina team.

Hallow, a senior from Goldsboro, was chosen along with 21 others by coaches and officials as polled by the Greensboro Daily News. Just last week, Hallow was named to the Daily News' All-North State Conference team.

The All-State team included players from Duke's highly-rated Blue Devils, Wake Forest, State College, North Carolina, Davidson, Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba. Lenoir Rhyne placed two men, fullback Harold Bulard and guard Arden Ray, Catawba's fine end, Dick Snyder was the only other North State griddler to make the mythical aggregation.

In the story, written by sports editor Smith Barrier, Hallow was called "a standout at his position." The article went on to say that "Louis Hallow, senior at East Carolina, did the most damage for the Pirates on defense, and excellent linebacker."

Dick Cherry, ECC's famed quarterback, was given honorable mention. Cherry, along with ECC's Bobby Hodges, was an All-State selection back in 1953.

Deacs' Football Future In Doubt

WAKE FOREST, N.C. — The big questions at Wake Forest today were, "Are we going to de-emphasize football?" and "Who will be the new football coach and athletic director?"

In a surprise shakeup the resignations of Head Football Coach Tom Rogers and Athletic Director Paddison "Pat" Preston were announced by the college Saturday.

The announcement came while most sports fans were wondering if North Carolina Coach George Barclay is about to get the ax and perhaps be succeeded by Jim Tatum, Maryland's successful moldier bowl teams.

None of the principals involved in the Wake Forest shakeup were talking for publication.

Dr. Harold Tribble, president of Wake Forest for the past five years, read a letter to the Athletic Council from Preston in which Preston requested that he be relieved of his duties.

At the same time the council said it had been notified by Rogers, whose team won five, lost four and tied one game this season, that he will not be available for renewal of his three-year contract which expires at the end of this month.

The man holding the key to the entire picture is Dr. Tribble, who has stated he favors athletics but never had wielded a strong hand over the school's athletic policy.

With the school due to move to its new campus at Winston-Salem next year, there has been speculation that Dr. Tribble would prefer to put renewed emphasis on academics instead of athletics.

Allie Reynolds is the last pitcher to hurl two World Series shutouts. He blanked Brooklyn 2-0 in 1952 and shut out Brooklyn 1-0 in the 1949 opener.

Many Believe Barclay Leaving

DURHAM — Duke defeated North Carolina, 6-0, in a bruising football game Saturday which many believe was the finale for George Barclay as head coach of the Tar Heels.

The rugged defensive battle saw Duke drive to North Carolina 2, 25, 31, 12 and 18-yard lines only to be thwarted from scoring by a never-say-die Tar Heel line.

The lone score came in the second period when unheralded sophomore halfback Oliver Rudy raced 35 yards from scrimmage.

The university's Athletic Council meets tomorrow at which time it is anticipated Barclay may be informed his expiring three-year contract will not be renewed.

Duke wound up the season with a 7-2-1 record and tied Maryland for the unofficial Atlantic Coast Conference championship. North Carolina, which tangled with such powerhouses as Oklahoma, Maryland, and Notre Dame, finished with a record of seven losses and three wins.

KIDS AND A FIREPLACE are surefire for personal holiday greetings. To prevent a last minute rush, why not let mother take the picture with her own camera?

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Now that Thanksgiving is past, I'm going to talk about Christmas, Christmas comes weeks earlier if they intend to send a personalized, hobby-view of the holiday greetings.

Right now is none too soon to start concentrating on a picture idea; after that comes the problem of presentation.

One of the best things about personal cards is that making them can be geared to the skill and experience of the fan. They can range from simple contact prints to tricky creations involving multiple exposures or darkroom sleight-of-hand.

In fact, a darkroom at home isn't essential either. Camera stores can take the whole job off your hand and offer a new selection of greeting messages and styles this year. You do have to supply the picture, though. In black-and-white, the original negative is necessary for best results. If you don't save and file your negatives, a copy will have to be made at extra cost and with some loss in quality which your original print had.

Special folders for color prints are becoming more popular but working with color is still fairly expensive. You can figure that cards with color prints will cost from three to four times what black-and-white will cost and will take at least a week longer to process.

But whether in black-and-white or in color, a simple contact or by a tricky printing process, an effective card must have a good photo of general interest. Family pictures should have animation, in expression if it doesn't show action. A current pictorial shot or this year's favorite vacation memento might also be used if you don't want to depend on the outcome of a fresh topical idea.

UNDOUBTEDLY, a good many camera fans will make an attempt at a special holiday card and are frantically searching for a brand new idea. The fact remains that if they adapt the reliable, time-tested situations of the past to their own family and do a good job of lighting and posing they will have a new, fresh picture. For holiday appeal you can't beat the perennial symbolism of the fireplace and children in pajamas carol singing. Yuletide decorations and activities or the dignity of religious feeling in a photo.

A simple photo set-up is one that contains the holiday message as part of the picture. The classic examples are children writing on a blackboard, at an artist's easel, on a typewriter or an oversize package label or arranging the last few letters of a greeting spelled out by alphabet blocks. Done before? Sure, but the classics will always be with us and it can be done better than before.

Situations involving the television screen have also been a favorite these past few years but this year you might play with wide, wide photos to be different, especially if your specialty is home movies involves printing two separate views. The front of the card shows a couple or a family about to enter a house through the hall open door. All you can see of them is a rear view. When the greeting card is opened up, using the French-fold method, the other side reveals the couple or the family head on. This second view is taken from inside the house. The message would illustrate, "Just dropped in to say Merry Christmas" in visual form.

A great many ingenious pictures are made by using cut-out photos of members of the family in combination with holiday objects. For instance a youngster could be sitting on a single tree ornament of the family, in miniature, could be busy with the various gadgets of a monster camera or working on huge Christmas packages. It would be done by photographing the subjects in appropriate action separately. Mount the prints on cardboard and cut them out with a razor. Set the little figures on the real objects and photograph the combination.

Union's Name Is Jawbreaker

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas Transit Company workers yesterday tackled the job of memorizing their new union designation under the AFL-CIO merger.

Their new name, which they claim is just about the champion jawbreaker, is the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations: Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union of America, Local 1338.

There are about 1,917 hear, attacks a day among American citizens.

Large Families If Birth Rate Is Maintained

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A UCLA sociologist says that if today's birth rate is maintained American women may have families as large as their grandparents and great-grandparents.

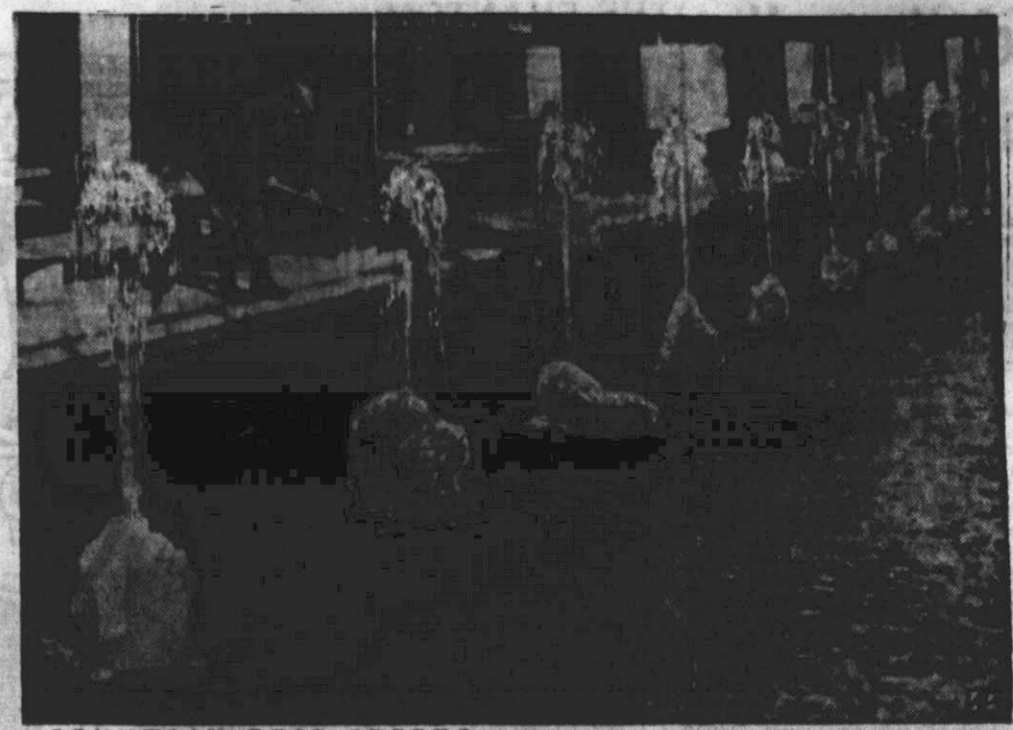

Dr. Ruth Riemer, who has made an exhaustive study of birth rates, cited these trends:

Last year more than four million American women had babies. Almost as many were having their second child as were having their first. This is the first time since accurate birth records have been kept that this situation has occurred. A surprisingly large number of women had their fifth child last year.

Says Dr. Riemer: "Not only are women today having more babies than their jazz age and depression era parents, but they are having them at an earlier age. Statistics show that one of every two married women already has a baby by the time she is 21."

BRICKS STOLEN

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Tenants of two homes said a man told them he had been hired by the landlord to tear down their chimneys. They said he carefully dismantled one chimney and half of another and hauled away 4,000 bricks in a pickup truck. The landlord, Sam L. Campise, asked police to find the thief. He said he hadn't hired him.

FOUNTAIN DRIP-FREEZE—These ice formations developed on fountains in the plaza of Mile High Center, Denver, Colo., when a cold wave brought two-below-zero temperatures. As the water dropped back it froze around the spots in form of a series of drip candles.

Virginia Legislators Okay School Vote Amendment

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The first phase of Virginia's two-pronged amendment immediately began laying plans to send sympathetic legislators on stumping tours of the state to drum up votes for the proposal. They said they feared opposition from groups which believe amendment of the Constitution might sound the death knell for Virginia's public school system.

Use of tax money to finance private schooling now is prohibited by Section 141 of the State Constitution. Should the constitutional convention win the favor of the voters on Jan. 9, indications are it would meet in late February or early March.

Proponents say the state's program for averting enforced integration is intended primarily for relief of sections, such as south-side Virginia, where the Negro-to-white ratio is high.

Although the Arabs made paper in the eighth century, there is little record of its use by Europeans before the 12th century.

THERE HAVE BEEN several variations of neighborly greetings using the front door as the main theme. One is a combination paste-up of two separate photos. The overall shot shows a straight-on view of the outside door with holiday wreath and welcome mat prominently displayed. The door is cut on three edges and actually swings open on the hinge side. As it opens it reveals a separate photo of the family. This is pasted on the rear of the large photo so it is framed in the open doorway.

Job Hunter Has Little Success

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—If you think it's tough to find a job, talk to James Oberst. He has to look for 200 of them. And since March, he has found only 10.

Employers of prospective parolees from the Kentucky State Reformatory and Penitentiary just aren't easy to find.

In fact James W. Hughes, director of the Bureau of Corrections warned Oberst, a placement representative, "You'll be lucky to find one a month at first."

He is now placing about two men a month while tracking employers all over the state. He estimates he has interviewed around 375 prospective employers at the rate of about 10 a day.

"One manufacturer in Louisville, told me that the parolee he hired was better than the average man that comes into his company for a job. As a matter of fact, he said that he was the best man that he ever had for that particular job."

Baby Arrived In Five-Car Crash

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—When a five-car smashup checked her husband's dash to a hospital, Mrs. Thelma Krempie gave birth to her fifth child in an overturned auto yesterday. Both mother and son are reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Seven persons, including Mrs. Krempie, suffered minor injuries in the crash, which occurred on her 26th birthday.

Anthony Krempie 34, the father, said it was his first accident in years of driving. He accompanied his wife and newly born son to St. Francis Hospital, where he was treated for a bump on his head.

An unidentified physician crawled into the tipped-over Krempie car to assist Mrs. Krempie. Police had to lift the car partly off the ground so a door would open.

Peanut Harvest Must Be Magic

WINTON — Hertford County farmers are wondering just what magic formula one county farmer used with his peanut crop this year.

Assistant County Agent P.E. Parker Jr. says that this year most Hertford farmers had to be content with from eight to 10 bags of peanuts per acre. Yet on a 1.4 acre plot, Jack Curle and his son, Elvin, harvested 82 bags, weighing 99 pounds per bag.

Michigan has more than 200 long distance truck lines.

THE PHANTOM

Home Isn't Safe Place Any More

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Moss learned it's not even safe to spend a Saturday night at home watching television. While the Mosses sat looking at the TV screen an automobile crashed into their living room. The car, out of control, passed between the surprised couple who were sitting on opposite sides of the room. The uninvited guest swept a large divan, a chair and stove along with it before coming to rest at the other end of the living room. Neither the driver nor the Mosses were hurt. Damage was estimated at $500. The car had careened into the Moss home after sideswiping another auto outside.

Expenses Up, So Is Parking Fee

DETROIT (AP)—Higher taxes, increased wages and bigger cars have resulted in a boost of parking lot fees in downtown Detroit.

William H. Coy, general manager of the Detroit Parking Assn. says increased parking fees are in effect at about 40 per cent of downtown lots. Increased tax assessments have contributed to the rise.

Coy says, and "newer, wider and much longer automobiles have cut the capacity of lots by a tremendous amount."

Licked By All, Licked By None

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's most widely-tasted product is not the oyster or crab from Chesapeake Bay. It's a tapioca preparation turned out by a Baltimore glue factory. It goes on the backs of nearly 23 billion U.S. postage stamps each year.

The glue is concocted of a minute percentage of hydrochloric acid and tapioca flour, and is shipped in powder form to Washington. There the Bureau of Engraving and Printing puts it on stamps.

Motto of the Baltimore concern: "Licked by all — yet — licked by none."

Although little is known about the life-span of bald eagles, captive birds can live to be 15 years old.

After All, He's Only A Governor

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton was at a loss for words when he stopped at the bedside of Mrs. Mary Vernon, a 98-year-old resident of St. Ann's Home For The Aged.

After he was introduced, the governor repeated his name several times. I'm very happy to meet you," the Illinois chief said. "I'm Gov. Stratton."

With a twinkle in her partially-blind eyes, Mrs. Vernon gingerly replied: "Well, what about it!"

Boys Discover Victim's Body

CRANE, Ind. (AP)—Three boys tramping through a thicket yesterday stumbled on the body of Ronnie Weikamp, 54 days after the 3-year-old boy's disappearance sent 2,500 servicemen and civilians combing the huge Crane Naval Ammunition Depot for 30 hours.

The body of the tow-headed youngster was found 50 yards north of the depot, where the child's father Lawrence Weikamp works as an ammunition inspector.

"There's no question about the identification," Delmar Hasler, Greene County coroner, reported. He said an autopsy was being made to determine how the child died.

Capt. Robert Dillon, chief state police investigator, said a preliminary check brought out no reason to suppose foul play. He said it appeared the boy died of "starvation and exposure," but emphasized the investigation would have to be completed before more positive conclusions could be drawn.

When the child disappeared Oct. 11, a 4-year-old playmate told Mrs. Weikamp: "Ronnie went off into the stickers."

No trace of the boy was found. Police turned to the theory that he might have been kidnaped.

Wheels Turned When Arm Cut

SEATTLE (AP)—A cut on Mrs. Nettie Donahue's arm really set wheels a-turning yesterday.

Before she reached a hospital, 8 vehicles, 22 firemen, 3 policemen and 2 ambulance attendants were involved.

As a fire department first aid car arrived, some one pulled a fire alarm box signal. Two engines and two ladder trucks responded. A police car and an ambulance also rushed to her home.

The 43-year-old woman started for the hospital in the police car. It's clutch failed. Another police car took over the job.

The cut? The hospital reported it wasn't serious. A broken glass caused it all.

Fears Son Will Be Bureaucrat

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Traffic Judge James Demopolos fears his 8-year-old son, Jimmy may grow up to be a bureaucrat.

The judge confided yesterday that he received a letter from Jimmy last week while in New Orleans to address a meeting of the American Bar Assn. "How are you feeling, dad?" the letter said. "Please check yes or no in the space provided."

THE QUICKSILVER POOL

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
Lora rocked comfortably for a few moments in John Ambrose's cottage. Ambrose began clearing the table, carrying dishes to the sink. She was glad that he chose to keep busy while she sat there sorting her thoughts.

"You've done a lot for the Tyler household," he said pumping water into a pan. "Jimmy tells me you've even got his grandmother sitting up again running things."

Lora nodded. "Was Mrs. Tyler always like this? I mean so domineering and—unreasonable?"

"She has a lot of her in her," Ambrose said. "Old Jason Cowles was all iron and nails and I guess she look after him pretty much."

"I believe you like her," Lora said softly. He looked around at her then. "I have liked her for a good many years, ma'am," he said simply.

Then Lora said slowly, "Tell me about Wade when he was little."

"Wade wasn't like either of his parents, he was more like his rowdy father than he was like Mrs. Tyler. But she was bound she could change nature and turn him into the spittin' image of old Jason, his grandfather. Everything he was good at she made nothing of, and she used to nag all the time to turn him into what he wasn't. Even his papa got sorry for the boy sometimes, but he didn't interfere, and anyway he wasn't much for the father stuff—not him. I never saw a little tyke who needed to be loved more than that Wade boy. He did fine, too, away from home. Girls always liked him and lots of the boys did too—except the real roughnecks. He was plenty smart, when he forgot that his mother thought he was stupid. Outside people listened to him and made a lot of him. And he warmed to that the way Jimmy warms to you."

"Virginia listened to him didn't she?" Lora asked gently.

His back was to her and he didn't speak for a minute. He hung up his dish towel and came toward the fireplace.

"Virginia thought Wade was Apollo and Lancelot and Abelard rolled into one. But I guess he didn't believe all that himself. Maybe in a way he was leaning on her belief, instead of his own. That's why you're good for him—he's beginning to find out he has some belief in himself after all."

"But am I good for him?" Lora murmured. "I hadn't thought of it like that."

He reached toward the mantel piece for a pipe in a cracked box then remembered his company and drew back his hand.

"Please smoke," Lora said quickly. "My father always smoked a pipe. I liked it."

He took the pipe down and packed it with tobacco, held a taper to the fire and lighted the fragrant weed. Then he drew the other rocker up to the fire beside her.

"One thing I can't understand," Lora said, "is why Wade should include you in his feud with Morgan."

"That's simple enough." Ambrose rocked for a moment and drew on his pipe. "He offered me a home in his house after we lost Virginia. My wife had died a while back. But I decided to stay with Morgan. Funny thing, Lora—maybe it makes no sense but no matter how much of everything Morgan's got these days I still feel like I need to be around standing by. Just in case what she's got doesn't turn out to be enough after all."

"I'm sure she doesn't, a, preciate that."

"It makes no matter. Something inside me bids me do this. But you can guess how much it perved Wade. He wanted nothing to do with her, and when I chose to make my name here, he was mad enough to include me in the way he felt about her."

"Thank you for telling me these things," Lora said. "I'm not prying idly—I want so much to understand. Serena has told me a few things, too. So has Jimmy. And even Morgan. I can fit all the bits and pieces together and begin to see the pattern. But, John, I'd hate to feel that human beings can only be what they are made to be. I don't want to believe that Wade, or Jimmy, or Mother Tyler or I can only be part of a set pattern that was fixed in the beginning."

"I know what you mean Lorie," he said.

Her eyes blurred at the sound of the name he must have picked up from Jimmy. Hearing him use it was like hearing it on Doc's lips. Ambrose reached toward the bookcase beside him and pulled a volume from the shelf. "Just the same, Lorie, there's a weaving to start with we can't mirch help. There's a casting of the colors and a starting of the pattern that we've nothing to say about. Something's handed us and we have to go on with it. But the going on is up to us."

She went down the hill slowly. The sun was high and warm now—a true spring day bestowed as a gift before May was here to sanction spring's appearance. The breeze that had blown the mist away rippled the surface of the little pool in the woods. A soft, rippling motion sped across the surface. Like quicksilver, Lora thought, remembering Jimmy's words.

She turned away from the pool, found the place where the path opened on the downhill side. For the first time she was shaken in her convictions that she had been right in trying to persuade Wade to work with Morgan Channing and the Knights of the Golden Circle.

Then one night in April Wade came home from a meeting at Morgan's bearing news.

Lora had gone to sleep, but his tap at her door woke her and she called to him to come in. Only embers burned on the hearth, but he knelt to renew the fire without lighting a candle. Lora lay beneath the covers and waited till the fire was going and he had pulled up a hassock where he could stretch out his lame leg.

Every now and then he came to her room like this to talk for a while and then went away again. Sometimes a sudden flare of love-making might follow, but more often not. It was as though Wade were gradually coming to accept her as a person in herself, instead of as a substitute or as an image he could put into Virginia's place. Now he made love to her only when caught up in the old, dangerous make-believe, and she was relieved to find these times coming less often.

She had an affection for him. Yes. Perhaps even a growing affection, but it was not that of sweetheart for lover, or wife for husband. She still shrank within herself at his kisses and could only lie inert beneath his touch.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market pushed forward early to within a shade of its old record high mark in the early afternoon.

The market as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks has been hovering around its old Sept. 23 record peak for some time, and today it pressed upward again.

Prices were up around 3 points at the outside, and there were many gains going to around a point. Losses usually were small.

Trading was fast and approached an estimated three billion shares for the day. That compares with 2,400,000 shares traded in Friday's slightly higher market.

All major groups were higher, and there was a concentration of heavy trading in steels at the time buying in steels was encouraged by spreading reports of higher steel prices to come.

Kaiser Aluminum jumped ahead 2 points at the start at around 40 on the news of plans for expansion costing 280 million dollars, a program that would make Kaiser the second largest aluminum producer.

North American Aviation fell back before selling that came with declaration of its regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents. More evidently had been expected.

The market's rise was encouraged by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 90 cents at $181.40 at noon that is only 10 cents under the closing record high set Sept. 23.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court last Friday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of 18 cases, three of them involving forgery and five others larceny of tools. The court was in session until mid-afternoon.

Curtis E. Moore, 611 Vanderbilt Lane, forgery of checks on three different firms or individuals, probable cause found and the court bound him over to Superior Court for grand jury hearing.

The court found five of six defendants guilty of larceny of electric and other tools from Greenville Packing Company, R. V. Moore, Jr. was found not guilty in one case. Young Vandals Break Windows Vandals shot windows out of a building at Brookgreen school with air rifles during the weekend, City Police Detective R. T. Rogerson reported this morning.

The prowlers also shot out fluorescent tubes in three classrooms at the school, according to the detective.

New British Jet Airliner Tested

SYDNEY, Australia — Britain's new contender for commercial aviation honors, the Comet III jetliner, has made the 11,440-mile flight from Hatfield, England, to Sydney in just 24 hours 23 minutes flying time. It left England Friday morning and landed at Kingsford-Smith Airport here yesterday after stops at Cairo, Bombay, Singapore and Darwin. Propeller-driven British airliners normally make the flight in three days.

Earlier models of the Comet were taken out of service after several disastrous crashes. Group Capt. John Cunningham, chief test pilot for the De Havilland Co. and skipper of the plane, said the new plane's initial shortcomings "have been completely overcome."
