Grimesland Asks Utilities Parley

Grimesland commissioners have asked for a special meeting with the Greenville Utilities Commission to discuss plans for disposing of the Grimesland municipal electrical system.

The meeting is tentatively set for some time during the first part of January.

Utilities Commission members were informed last night by Chairman J. Roy Martin that Grimesland had requested the special meeting.

Martin said Grimesland's attorney, Albion Dunn, had called him about the matter. He said the attorney told him the Grimesland board "wants to come before us and meet with us some night other than regular meeting night."

Grimesland wants a special meeting, rather than bring the matter up at a regular monthly meeting, so that the entire evening will be free for discussion of the Grimesland situation, according to Martin.

Commission members expressed the opinion that a date after Christmas would be more suitable. Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloom told the commission a Richmond engineer who had done some survey work for the local utilities would not be available before the first week in January.

The Richmond engineer should be present for such a meeting, Bloom indicated.

Reply To Letter The Grimesland request for the special meeting was evidently in reply to a Greenville Utilities proposal to purchase the eastern Pitt County town's electrical system.

Earlier this month City Attorney R.B. Lee sent a letter to Dunn in which he asked the town's legal representative to discuss with the Board of Commissioners the possibility of selling the system to Greenville.

In a special meeting last month, Grimesland citizens approved a plan to sell the electric system to Carolina Power and Light Co.

However, Carolina Power and Light officials have said that they will not buy the system until a 20-year contract with Greenville for the wholesale purchase of power from Greenville Utilities has been settled. The contract still has 13 years to run.

Grimesland was told by the local Utilities that it would be "impractical and improper" for Greenville to release Grimesland from its contract at present.

Utilities Commission members also discussed a supplemental accident insurance plan for key utility employees. The plan would provide compensation in addition to Workmen's Compensation in the event of an injury to a key employee. The plan was referred to a committee composed of Martin and W.H. Woolard for study. The committee was given power to act on the matter.

Resolution Approved Given unanimous approval by the commissioners was a resolution of appreciation for City Manager James S. Hughes services while Greenville was under his management. Hughes is a member of the Utilities Commission. He has resigned effective Dec. 31 to take a new position at Pompano Beach, Fla.

In his monthly report to the commission Bloom said that water and sewer installation is complete in the Englewood subdivision and water lines installation is complete in Colonial Heights.

Bloom also reported that the public relations classes recently conducted for Greenville Utilities employees by members of the college faculty have been completed. Some 38 Utilities employees received certificates upon completion of the course, Bloom said.

The superintendent reported on work being carried on by Utilities including the construction of an alternate electrical feeder across the river and the installation of heavier switches in various sections of town to avoid TV and radio interference.

Boys Credited With Aiding In Capture Of Bank Robbers

YOUNGSVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Keen-eyed schoolboys who jotted down the license number of a bandit car were credited today with helping solve yesterday's robbery of the Youngsville branch of the Durham Bank and Trust Co. of $1,562.

It was the second time in four months and third time in six years the bank had been robbed.

Less than two hours after two unmasked gunmen robbed the bank and roared off in a waiting automobile, Highway Patrolmen arrested Howard R. Davis, 22, of Rt. 1, Creedmore, and Jerry Lee Allen, 20, pulpwood truck driver of nearby Brasfield Township. Patrolman Roy C. Duncan, one of the arresting officers, said Davis and Allen admitted the robbery and that they were identified by witnesses.

An FBI spokesman said all the money was recovered.

Highway patrolmen, using the numbers obtained from the schoolboys and a furniture store worker, picked up Davis and Allen at a house trailer where Davis lived. The patrolman said the car was registered in the name of Allen's father and that it was parked near the elder Allen's home. Young Allen and Davis were found less than a mile away in the trailer.

Davis and Allen waived preliminary hearing when taken before U. S. Commissioner H. A. Bland in Raleigh last night and were bound over to the April 9 term of Eastern District Federal Court.

Four months ago the bank was robbed of $3,100 in a stickup which was solved in 1948. It was robbed of $5,880 but an arrest within an hour closed the case.

Mrs. A. W. Ward, the bank's cashier and only employe, faced the holdup men's guns on all three occasions.

A group of schoolboys on their lunch hour saw the car pull up and stop in front of the bank.

Wayne Pearce, one of the group, said the two bandits acted suspicious, "and I said 'Maybe they are going to rob the bank.'"

They jotted down the license number and strolled along the sidewalk.

Ronald White, another in the group, said one of the bandits "kind of put his hand over his face and the other pulled his cap down" when they realized they had attracted attention.

Archie Brown, employe of a furniture store near the bank, said he saw the men leave the bank, but turned back at the outskirts of town.

Youngsville is a small community about 25 miles north of Raleigh, near Wake Forest.

Russian Visitors Leave India Today

By HAROLD K. MILKS NEW DELHI (AP)—Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet traveling salesmen of Communist cooperation and discord left India today after a month warming up the cold war with bitter attacks on the United States.

They left behind pledges of closer political, economic and cultural cooperation between Russia and this key nation of Southern Asia.

The Russians planned to fly direct to Tashkent, in the south of Soviet Asia, to meet a snow-storm raging at Kabul, Afghanistan, final stop on their tour through non-Communist Asia.

In a final communique, Bulganin and Indian Prime Minister Nehru called for "unconditional prohibition" of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons, along with a "substantial reduction of conventional armaments, coupled with effective international control."

But in a separate statement to newsmen, Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev said the Soviet Union could not disarm unless the other big powers did.

Until atomic and hydrogen weapons are banned "completely and unconditionally," they declared, "the Soviet Union is compelled to, and in the future will take care to, strengthen its defensive capacity and produce atomic and hydrogen weapons."

The huge enthusiastic crowds which greeted the Russians everywhere on their four-week tour of India and Burma again were out to give a goodby ovation. Touring loud-speakers and free buses swelled the outpouring along the route to the airfield and at the field itself.

"I am leaving part of my heart behind in India," said Khrushchev.

Secretary Dulles Arrives In France

EVREUX, France (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles arrived here today in a misty rain but in cheerful spirits for top-level talks with foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Dulles chatted amiably with U.S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon and other high officials who greeted him but declined to make any comment on prospects for the upcoming talks in Paris, the annual year-end meeting of the NATO council to approve plans for the coming year.

He said he had not seen statements by Soviet Premier Bulganin and Indian Prime Minister Nehru calling for high-level discussions between Red China and the United States.

Dulles landed at the American Evreux airbase, an hour and a half drive from Paris, because a strike of airport technicians has closed Paris fields.

U.S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Treasury Secretary George Humphrey arrived at the same field in another plane about two hours earlier. Both Wilson and Humphrey waited for Dulles, then joined him in a motorcade bound for Paris. All three will be on the American delegation to the NATO talks.

Employment Law Violation Costs Greenville Woman

In Magistrate Frank E. Brooks' Court Monday, he found Mary H. Wilks, 63, who lives at 510 Vance St., guilty of violating the Employment Security Law during the week of December 2, 1954.

Testimony was that the defendant reported that she earned only $1 during the week ended December 2, 1954, whereas she earned $20.79 while employed at the Greenville Tobacco Company. Employment Security Commission Investigator C. A. Dees of New Bern reported.

Will Discuss Details Of Meredith Move

RALEIGH (AP)—A plan to move Meredith College to Winston-Salem will be discussed by "a group of Baptists and Presbyterians" next week, according to the architect for the new Wake Forest campus at Winston-Salem.

Such a meeting would be an outgrowth of Winston-Salem millionaire Charles Babcock's offer to move Meredith to his estate, Reynolds, which is adjacent to the new Wake Forest campus.

Architect J. Frederick Larson said that Reynolds, a one-million-dollar estate, could be adapted to a college campus.

"The whole plan and situation is most fascinating to me," he said last night. "Reynolds would make the most beautiful college campus in America when combined with Wake Forest."

A special committee of Meredith's executive committee is slated to report on the unusual offer next month.

It is understood that Babcock's offer was made to the executive committee at Winston-Salem Dec. 6.

Included in the Babcock offer of his 165-acre estate, it also is understood, is a one million dollar cash gift, and the stipulation that Meredith sell its present campus at Raleigh to the proposed consolidated Presbyterian College for two million dollars.

Griffin declared that if Babcock's plan is accepted, "Meredith would be on its own campus." It is understood that under the plan dormitories would be built for the 600 Meredith students and the Reynolds mansion would be used for administrative offices and classrooms.

John had told Communist agents who followed him everywhere he had an appointment for talks with officials at Humboldt University in East Berlin and wanted to go alone. The agents remained outside while he went inside the university.

John walked through the building, left through the front entrance and went to a parking lot for a prearranged rendezvous with a newsmen. They drove down Unter Den Linden to the Western sector, passing a Communist police control post at the Brandenburg Gate.

The two drove to Tempelhof Airport in West Berlin and reported to West German authorities. Together they flew to Frankfurt, going from there to Bonn.

Some West German sources expect the government to take action for only disciplinary action for abandoning his official post. One minister said he did not think John had gone East with any traitorous intent.

A reporter for Denmark's biggest daily newspaper, the Berlingske Tidende, said he had brought John back to Hamburg. Hendrik Bonde-Hendriksen, Berlin correspondent for the paper, wrote in a dispatch:

"I drove quite legally to East Berlin, and I took Dr. John quite openly to West Berlin. I was the only person who knew about it. Nobody else helped him."

One 'No' Vote Among Pitt County Growers Cotton Quota Plan Voted

Pitt County cotton growers yesterday voted almost solidly in favor of continuing market quotas on cotton.

Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Sec. James Meredith said this morning that 1,234 eligible farmers in the county voted in favor of quotas for 1956 and only one had voted against market quotas.

Only one township, Pactolus, had not reported the referendum results this morning.

Meredith said the lone vote against the program came at the Chioch "A" balloting box.

RALEIGH (AP)—Tar Heel cotton growers yesterday voted overwhelmingly in favor of continuing market quotas in effect on the cotton crop next year.

With returns virtually complete, 27,054 voted in favor of continuing quotas and 1,408 were against, according to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

H. C. Blaylock, assistant chief of the Marketing Quota Division of the state ASO office, said only 93 per cent of the 78 cotton-producing counties were unreported. They are Beaufort, Carteret and Wilkes. He said that in the 1954 referendum these three counties had a combined total vote of less than 300.

While the state vote was lighter than in 1954, the margin in favor of quotas was slightly higher, Blaylock said. In 1954, Tar Heel growers cast 33,544 votes. Of this, 94.4 per cent favored quotas. Yesterday's margin was about 95 per cent in favor of quotas.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The surplus-plugged cotton crop will be grown under federal limitations again next year.

In a referendum lacking in interest, growers voted yesterday to continue Agriculture Department marketing quotas which seek a crop next year a third smaller than that this year.

Preliminary returns from the 21 cotton-producing states gave 267,238 votes for quotas and 30,191 against.

This was a favorable majority of 93 per cent—far above the two-thirds margin required by law. In a similar referendum last year the majority was 92 per cent.

The bulk of the estimated 1,300,000 growers who were eligible to vote failed to cast ballots.

Next year will be the third consecutive year in which federal restrictions have been imposed on cotton and the 10th time since 1938, when legislation was enacted authorizing such limitations. Cotton controls never have been rejected by the growers.

Quotas were proposed by the department in a move to prevent the production of additional surplus supplies of the fiber crop. Present supplies are the largest of record and are sufficient to meet market needs for two full years at the present demand.

As in the past, growers were influenced to vote for controls because of their tieup with government price supports. Farm law directs that, price floors—which were at 90 per cent of parity this year—be reduced to 50 per cent of parity in the event controls are rejected.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

But in voting for quotas, farmers balled somewhat in the dark insofar as next year's support level is concerned. It will be determined under the administration's new flexible price support system authorizing floors between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

Wake Forest Inquiry In Its Final Hours College Faculty Is Quizzed

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP)—A special investigating committee which met behind closed doors with Wake Forest's faculty last night expects to conclude its fact-finding on the college's campus tomorrow.

Chairman Andrew J. Hutchins said the committee will move on to Winston-Salem, site of the college's Bowman Gray Medical Center.

Some 80 faculty members filled out questionnaires for the committee which is investigating the administration of Dr. Harold Tribble, college president for the past five years.

It was understood the questions were general in nature and asked such things as what the faculty members thought of the administration and how they rated morale at the college.

Following the hour and a half session with the faculty, Hutchins said the questionnaires were handled in such a manner that "one during part of the meeting."

The investigating committee hopes to report its findings to the college's board of trustees in time for its Dec. 22 meeting.

Hutchins issued a statement which said:

"The relationship between the college and the various groups mentioned in the resolution (creating the committee) has been established over a period of more than five years.

"It is not the purpose of this committee to establish a relationship now but to ascertain as definitely as possible what relationship has already been established. The committee is determined to make a fair and impartial investigation.

"The committee will interview members of the faculty of the undergraduate school, the law school, didn't know what the other was saying," Dr. Tribble was present and the medical school and will interview staff members and other employees of the college and will also interview certain officials among the alumni groups."

The resolution pointed out it would be impossible for the committee to interview thousands of alumni scattered throughout North Carolina and other states. It called on these alumni "to express themselves by communicating with the committee or board of trustees."

The committee, created by the board of trustees Nov. 16, was directed to make a study of the overall situation at the college with particular reference to relationship between the administration and the faculty, all other employees and students; between the administration and the alumni and the administration and friends of the college generally.

UNited Nations, N. Y. (AP)—Sponsors of the proposed package deal to bring 18 new members into the United Nations cast about today for some way to keep their veto-riddled plan alive.

There appeared no chance, however, that any of the 18 would make the grade at this session of the General Assembly.

The package proposal was defeated in the Security Council last night. Nationalist China cast its promised veto against Outer Mongolia and the Soviet Union then carried out its threat to veto the 13 non-Communist applicants.

In the final round of voting the four other Communist applicants could muster only one council vote, six short of what they needed.

As soon as the council finished a rapid-fire balloting, supporters of the package scheme began sounding out fellow delegates on possible courses of action. Two were suggested:

1. A formal request that the council action be reported back to the Assembly, where the package originally received 52 favorable votes. The Assembly then might repeat its recommendations and toss the question back into the council's lap during the current session.

day-to-day problems which arise in an operation as large as the city government.

Under the city manager form of government, Greenville may be likened to a corporation. The City Council is the Board of Directors for the "corporation" and the mayor is chairman of the board. Citizens of the town are similar to stockholders.

As in a corporation, the Council makes major policy decisions. It is then up to the city manager who would correspond to an executive vice-president to carry out the policies and to take care of everyday problems.

Thus the city government will find itself with a major void while the city manager's office is temporarily vacated.

Who will assume these duties? Mayor W.L. Whebebe says that plans are to operate the city gov-

Christmas Help Is Sorely Needed

Would you like to help someone less fortunate than you have a merry Christmas this year?

Mrs. Peggy M. Evans, Pitt welfare worker, reports that more and more cases of families needing Christmas cheer this season are pouring into her office. Unless some help these folks out, their Christmas Day will not be a joyous one this year.

If you are interested in helping a needy family call Mrs. Evans at the local Welfare Department. You may like to provide a merry Christmas for one of these families.

A bedridden aged white lady who lives with her daughter in Greenville on a very limited income is incapacitated and lives in another county would appreciate a remembrance at Christmas. She has a daughter 15 years old and a grandson, 8 years old, who live with her near Bethel.

A middle-aged white couple who live near Graham and her five 10-year-old daughter who has asthma. The father is an arrested tubercular case, and the mother is not well either.

A white mother and her two small daughters who live near Grimesland. The girls are 8 and 6 years old. The father is deceased.

A Negro mother and her five children who live near Greenville. The father has deserted and they are now living with the maternal grandparents.

An aged Negro woman who lives in Greenville with her feeble-minded adult son.

A 30-year-old blind Negro woman who lives with her feeble-minded husband near Greenville. They have three children, 2, 4 and 6 years old.

A 50-year-old Negro woman and her five children who live near Greenville. There are four boys, aged 16, 14, 10 and 8, and a girl 13 years old. The father is dead.

Mrs. Evans pointed out that all Christmas cheer for these families must be provided by generous individuals and organizations, as the Welfare Department has no funds for this purpose.

City Councilmen Looking To Interim Operations

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor On January 1 Greenville will find itself without a city manager for the first time in more than two years.

City Manager James S. Hughes will complete his services here the last day of this month and journey to Florida and a new city manager's position.

Hughes will be completing more than two years in his job as Greenville's first city manager. He came here chosen from a field of nearly 50 applicants, September 1, 1953.

During the period in which he has held the job, Hughes has taken on more and more of the administrative duties of the city government, as is proper under the city manager form of government.

Thus during the interim period when city fathers are looking for a new city manager to fill the vacant position, Greenville will be without a manager to handle the responsible for the Department of Public Works under the system, Wesley Harvey was assigned to the Police Department, J. A. Collins to the Clerk's and tax collectors' offices, and A. C. Ruffin to the Fire Department and the Recreation Department.

Mayor Whebebe says that the same set, up will be used beginning January 1. Each of the councilmen will be responsible for the same departments.

The city fathers turned down a suggestion by Hughes, made at the last Council meeting, that an acting city manager be appointed during the period until a new city manager is hired.

City fathers said they felt the system used in 1953 would better serve the purpose during the time the city will be without a manager.

Tomorrow — Procedure Followed in choosing a new city manager.

Washington, D. C.—Congressman Lindsay Warren today introduced a bill in the House providing for an appropriation of $10,000 for the erection of a monument or some other form of memorial to the memory of Virginia Dare, the first child of English parents to be born in America. The bill provides that the memorial shall be erected at Sir Walter Raleigh's Fort on Roanoke Island, and the work is to be done under the direction of the Secretary of War.

Hoe and Hope Club Has Display Of Original Packages

GRIFTON—The Hoe and Hope Garden Club met on Thursday night at the home of Mrs. H. C. Wright on Church Street for their December meeting, with Mrs. Wright presiding at the meeting in the absence of the president.

Beautiful Christmas decorations were in evidence throughout the home and these were made by the hostess. All club members brought Christmas arrangements and gift packages which were beautiful as well as original in design. Mrs. Norman Reis' arrangement featured an angel-drawn sleigh. To explain this unusual idea Mrs. Reis read an original poem telling why Santa had help from the little angel in delivering packages to Grifton.

Mrs. Walter Hanson's table arrangement of snow-white branches with blue candles and angel carolers was a striking entry.

A glittering white Christmas tree surrounded by candles to be used as a centerpiece was entered by Mrs. Ed Bright. These ideas were made to show how much beauty could be achieved with very little cost.

The most outstanding packages in originality and beauty were made by Mrs. Harold Burkley and Mrs. B. C. Bowen.

At the business hour the club voted to make a donation to the Grifton School band to further their activities.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Herman Owen and Mrs. Kenneth Talton.

Following the business, the exchange of gifts was cause for much merriment. The hostess served spiced tea and cookies.

Members of the congregation who do not come to church on Friday are urged to bring their Ember offering on Sunday.

College Staff Has Annual Dinner

Staff members at East Carolina College met last night in the North Dining Room on the campus to enjoy together their annual Christmas dinner. The event was planned by the Social Committee of the college, headed by Miss Nell Stallings of the department of health and physical education. Special guests included wives and husbands of staff members.

The dining hall was attractively decorated for the occasion. A Christmas tree, reaching to the ceiling and brightly ornamented with lights, was the gift of Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville, who for several years has presented a tree to be used at the staff dinner each holiday season.

Mobile designs which were suspended from the ceiling and small Christmas trees on the dining tables added a bright note to the scene. They were designed and made by students in classes taught by Francis Lee Neel of the department of art.

President John D. Messick of the college said grace before dinner was served. An appetizing meal, featuring turkey and mince pie, was served by the staff of the college dining hall under the supervision of Mr. Paul Julian, steward.

A special welcome was extended to a number of guests, including six retired members of the faculty—Miss Mamie E. Jenkins of Raleigh, Miss Dora Coates of Raleigh, Mr. R. C. Deal of Greenville, Dr. Howard J. McGinnis of Greenville, Miss Ola Ross of Greenville, and Miss Elizabeth Hyman of Greenville—and Mrs. McGinnis.

Dr. James Allison of the department of English gave two readings as part of the program for the evening. Selections included a Christmas poem by Dr. Elizabeth Uterback of the faculty and his own account of a Christmas in the Pacific theatre of war during World War II.

Mr. Donald Hayes of the department of music led the Chordettes, an ensemble of college students, in a group of songs and instrumental selections. His own composition of "Jingle Bells" as played in various countries around the world received much applause. Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert of the department of music led those present in the singing of Christmas carols as finale to the evening.

Semi-Centi Club Entertains Husbands

The Semi-Centi Book Club entertained their husbands last week at a dinner party given by the members of the club at the Best-Yet. Upon arrival the guests were served tomato juice cocktails, after which a delicious steak dinner was enjoyed.

The banquet table was laid with a white cloth, with a miniature sleigh filled with colored Christmas balls flanked by red candles and pine used as the centerpiece. Christmas place cards designated the seating places.

After dinner, Mr. James Lafferty, who served in the capacity of Santa Claus, passed out gifts to the husbands and members who were present.

BETHEL—Local chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held its annual Mother-Daughter banquet December 6 in the home economics department.

Miss Alice Strawn, East Carolina College student-teacher supervisor, was guest speaker. Miss Strawn spoke on "Building Today for Tomorrow."

Musical entertainment was furnished by Durwood White, soloist, and Kay Rogerson, Jean Simpson, Patricia Carson, Virginia Barnes, Judy Cullifer, Laurel Thippen and Betty Cooper. Miss Carolyn Willis, music teacher, was accompanist.

Arrangements of decorations suggesting the Christmas theme were used throughout the dining room. The speaker's table was centered with a bouquet of red roses, the FHA flower.

A three-course meal was served to the approximately 80 guests.

Les Brown Dance Started A Busy Week

By ROSEMARY EAGLES
Greenville High School

Excited yells of "Come on big green let's go!" marked the beginning of the Phantom first basketball game Tuesday night against Goldsboro. The Phantoms won 53 to 50 only to lose to Rocky Mount Friday night. The triple A Blackbirds handed the Phantoms their only loss in last season's play.

Only words like "great" and "fabulous" describe Les Brown and "His Band of Renown" playing at the Wright building at East Carolina College last Tuesday night for a concert and dance. Several GHS girls including Dornning Jenkins, Memrie Mosier, Jeanne Moyer, Grayson Waldrop and Josephine Hendrix enjoyed dancing on the crowded floor.

During the intermission Dornning talked to the featured singer, Jo Ann Greer. "She was very friendly and at ease," stated Dornning. Doris Day once sang with the Les Brown band.

Friday afternoon Lois Ann Webb decided to have a slumber party. The list kept getting longer and by Friday night after the basketball game and dance eight girls had invitations to spend the night. An unexpected party resulted when several boys came over for dancing and talking. After the boys had gone the girls, Lois Ann Webb, Ann Rooke, Dornning Jenkins, Judy Jolly, Ann Moore, Rosemary Eagles, Jeanne Moyer, and Nancy Ann Hood had fun taking some crazy pictures.

Lucky Dee Hux went to Chapel Hill Saturday to bring Sam Hux and Cathy Petrou, a Carolina coed from Shelbyville, Ky. to Greenville for the rest of the weekend. At the University Dee ate lunch at Sam's fraternity house, Zeta Psi. Cathy took me through Smith Dormitory and we went by Keenan Stadium also," stated Dee.

Three high school seniors, Lois Ann Webb, Gayle Clapp, and Jane Berryman sang in the "Messiah" at ECC Sunday afternoon. The three altoes enjoyed singing under the direction of Dr. Elwood Keister.

Songs of gloria, Noel, and thanksgiving rang through the Greenville High auditorium Sunday night as the mixed chorus and junior high girls club gave their annual Christmas concert. "The Shepherd's Story" and "Gloria In Excelsis" proved to be two favorites of the almost capacity crowd.

Monday morning was campaign time for the Student Cooperative Association. Four candidates are running for the offices of roving representative and treasurer. Running for roving representative are Kathryn Moore managed by Nancy Harris, and Bob Biber managed by Gayle Clapp. Running for the office of treasurer is Martha Pierce managed by Sally Beard, and Gayle Clapp managed by Josephine Hendrix.

After the campaign speeches were given in assembly yesterday morning the SCA president Hal Edwards urged all members of the student body to vote in the elections today.

"The 'Midnighters' are making their second appearance at the New Enterprise Warehouse Friday night. The Christmas Dance is sponsored by Durwood Harris.

Preston Cannon, the band leader, states, "We hope a big crowd will come to hear us. The band is in good shape."

New Chemical Compounds Tried

By FRANK CAREY
CLEVELAND

A new class of chemical compounds which may prove to have wide commercial use—for example, as insecticides and wood preservatives—have been developed with the help of atomic rays, a University of Michigan scientist said today.

Dr. J. J. Martin said they are a special variety of so-called "chlorinated aromatic hydrocarbons"—produced by making chlorine and certain coal tar derivatives react vigorously in the presence of a radioactive material.

One such compound, he said, has long been produced commercially with the help of ultraviolet radiation. This particular one is used as an insecticide.

But he said the Michigan research had produced a variety of different compounds of this class and that, moreover, use of a radioactive material instead of ultraviolet light appeared to offer "a more efficient method of chlorination," because its rays are more penetrating.

The research, done with radioactive cobalt, opens up possibilities of using waste fission products which result from the operation of nuclear reactors, he said.

He told reporters about the development in explaining a technical paper on the subject which he read to the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress (NSE) here.

Martin declared that he and his colleagues have also radioactive cobalt in an attempt to develop a simpler and cheaper method of producing industrially important ammonias from hydrogen and atmospheric nitrogen.

East Carolina Graduates Married In Bellaire, Tex.

The marriage of Miss Jan Mason Mitchell of Hillsboro, N. C. and William Austin McLawhorn, Lieutenant U.S.A.F., of Greenville, N.C. and San Antonio, Tex., was solemnized on December 10 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in a double ring ceremony, with the Reverend L. E. Stokes officiating.

The wedding took place at the home of Lt. and Mrs. E. T. Boll, in Bellaire, Tex. Mrs. Boll is a sister of the bride.

The home was decorated in a silver and white Christmas motif. For her wedding the bride chose a street-length dress of French blue with matching hat and black accessories. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid. For traveling she added a beige cashmere coat to her wedding costume.

Following a wedding trip to Southwestern Texas, Lt. and Mrs. McLawhorn will be at home 2110 Huisache St., San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. McLawhorn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason Mitchell of Hillsboro. She was graduated from East Carolina College with the Class of 1955.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Austin McLawhorn of Greenville. He was graduated from East Carolina College in 1953.

Mrs. R. A. Whitehurst of New Orleans, La., sister of the bride, was an out-of-town guest for the wedding.

Piano Recital Applause Attests To Reception

By GEORGE E. PERRY

The second in the current series of faculty recitals at East Carolina College was given last evening by Dr. Robert Carter, pianist. The sincere applause which he was awarded attested to the fact that the audience had heard great music musically performed.

An innate feeling for music and its thoughtful interpretation, and a technique full of strength and vitality were two of the pianist's attributes which he displayed to advantage, though nervousness prevented him from displaying these qualities to the fullest. Whatever his weaknesses (it is needless to say that most pianists have one or more), he evidenced his ability to conceive music tremendously in scope and to perform these works in a grand and noble manner.

The program opened with the Sonata by Dello Joio, a work in the modern vein and filled with found in contemporary music. His performance, however, showed conclusively that Dr. Carter's comprehension of music of this period is an unusually intelligent one and his ability to perform is unique. The comparative absence of melodic line and the fiendish did not trouble him, and he played it with a steady intensity. The balance between the hands in the last movement was exceptionally good, I could not help remembering his memorable performance of the Barber Sonata about two years ago. For here was another such composition—modernly difficult—which was likewise performed with an uncanny conception of the contemporary.

The Prelude, Chorale and Fugue by Caesar Franck, one of the great pieces in piano literature was heard next. In the Prelude the melody, which the composer chose to entwine amid descending arpeggios, sung out beautifully and with excellent tone and in the Chorale, Dr. Carter achieved one of the best built climaxes of the evening. The Brahms Intermezzo which followed was played with a poetic beauty and a singing line which showed the pianist's genuine love for music by this great composer. Liszt, another of the performer's specialties, was presented first by the Sonnetta del Petrarcha in which Dr. Carter showed remarkable ability to cope with the composer's severe pyrotechnical demands. Runs of great difficulty—both in single and double notes—were spun forth in a way that showed hours of practice. Yet in the midst of this Lisztian display lay the plaintive melody which stood out in true lyric fashion.

Students Will Give Christmas Play At Church Thursday

The play "White Christmas" by Dorothy Clarke Wilson will be presented at the Immanuel Baptist Church Thursday evening at 7:00 by Baptist students of East Carolina College.

The 40-minute drama concerns the wealthy Marshall family who are generous contributors to Missions, but beyond giving of their plenty they care little for the great work being done in foreign fields.

Its cast includes William Marshall portrayed by William Holley, Kate Marshall, his high strung wife, portrayed by Ruth Lassiter; Bob, the 18-year-old son, portrayed by Jimmy Walton; Carolyn, the 20-year-old daughter, portrayed by Shirley Alford. Little 8-year-old Junie Marshall is acted out by Mary Elizabeth Jones. Ralph LaLum acts Charlie, the Chinese servant, in the Marshall home. His little daughter, the Small One, is portrayed by Jerry McDaniel. Mrs. Milton Craig, the socialite, is acted out by Sarah Margaret Asbell. Miss Jacqueline McDaniel is director of the play with Sylvia Lassiter serving as make-up director, Ray Lane and Lindley McFarland as props committee, Jean Hargrett and Rachel Caudell as costume committee, and lights under the management of Harold Beck.

This play was presented at the weekly 5:30 Forum at the B. S. U. Center last Monday and again last night to the Powell Circle in the home of Mrs. Lucille Jones. The church families are urged to come, and visitors will be welcome.

White's Stores Employees Have Christmas Party

The employees of White's Stores Inc. of Greenville held their Christmas party in the private dining room of the Best Yet Restaurant Monday night at 6:30.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith and found their places at the tables decorated with bells, interspersed with pine, candles and bows. A miniature Christmas tree centered the table surrounded by Santa Claus figures. Under the Christmas tree there was a Christmas present for everyone. These were distributed by Mr. Charlie White and Mr. Russell Bell. Mrs. Clifton Stokes was in charge of arrangements and planning for this festive event.

Various contests and games were led by Mr. and Mrs. John Shannonhouse and enjoyed by everyone. A singularly interesting feature of the party was the democratic and cordial spirit prevailing among the store officials and employees.

After a three-course turkey dinner, gifts were exchanged and much noisy merriment provided with Christmas horns presented by Mrs. Sam T. White.

White's Stores Inc. was organized in 1922 with S. T. White president and general manager, who still continues in this capacity. Some of the employees have been with the com-

Priority Owed To Community Health

Pitt Countians should take note of the things which have been cited by the county's health director as among the greatest needs for Pitt at the present time. Dr. Walter G. Humbert in an address recently pointed out that a mental health clinic, and proper sewage and sanitary garbage disposal are among the greatest needs of the county.

Progress toward accomplishing all three of these things has been made in the county recently, but there is still a long way to go before the goals are reached.

Public health is important to any community. Indeed there are few things which should receive more attention than the health of the people within a community. Far too often, however, citizens are content to shun pleas from health officials for better health conditions and follow in their old ways.

Pitt County in recent months has made notable strides toward the establishment of a mental health clinic. If the enthusiasm which greeted the initial efforts in behalf of the clinic in continued—and by all means it should be—Pitt will boast the first such clinic in this section of the state. It will prove of immense benefit to the people of this county and eventually to the people of many other counties in this area.

It is likewise true that Pitt has come a long way in improvement in proper sewage and sanitary garbage disposal in recent years; but there is still a great deal to be desired in this field. Through the rural sections of the county individual water systems on many farms have improved sewerage disposal systems. On many other farms sanitary privies patterned after recommendations of health officials have replaced many insanitary privies. There remains throughout Pitt, however, many rural houses with the most unsanitary "sanitary facilities" imaginable.

In Greenville and in other municipalities of the county in recent years special efforts have caused the disappearance of many privies in thickly populated areas. There remains, however, in Greenville and other towns of Pitt residential areas in which outdoor privies are the rule rather than the exception. Much more work needs to be done in that direction.

Then there is the matter of sanitary garbage disposal. Greenville, the largest town in the county, is still burning its tons of garbage month by month at the old fashioned garbage dump on the edge of town. So far attempts to establish a garbage dump on the principle of a sanitary land fill, or some more sanitary basis have utterly failed.

Are we content with our standards of public health in Pitt County? Do we desire to make no more progress toward better health standards?

If the needed progress is to be made, county and municipal officials as well as individual citizens throughout the county must exhibit a greater interest in public health than is evidenced at present.

The West Is Buying Out East's Cultural Centers

With Wake Forest College firmly in its hip pocket, Winston-Salem has made another staggering bid for another Baptist College located in the eastern section of the state.

It has become apparent that wealthy leaders in Winston-Salem are determined to make their city a college town as well as an industrial city. Their determination is commendable, for certainly the presence of institutions of higher learning is a valuable asset of any community. But must this advancement by wealthy Winston-Salem be made at the expense of the eastern section of the state?

The Meredith College board of trustees has received the offer of a gift of the fabulous Reynolda, the R. J. Reynolds estate in Winston-Salem, if the four-year women's college will be moved from its present location in Raleigh to the Forsyth city. In addition to the beautiful site which adjoins the new Wake Forest campus in Winston-Salem, Meredith College could be assured of considerable additional financial assistance from wealthy Winston.

One cannot help but admire Winston-Salem's desire for colleges and its willingness to "purchase" the institutions in order to get them. Yet the precedent which has been set by Winston-Salem in its successful bid for Wake Forest, and now its attempt to lure Meredith, poses a serious problem not only for the eastern section of the state, but likewise smaller communities throughout North Carolina in which such institutions are now located. Will we see colleges taken away from smaller communities and the less wealthy eastern section by big cities of the Piedmont which are able to pay millions for what they desire?

Institutions of higher learning long have been a valuable asset of the eastern part of the state which was short on industry. Their presence has afforded the east a cultural flavor which could not be had by the Piedmont even with all its wealth and rich society people.

With the growing number of young people seeking higher education throughout the state, North Carolina needs more facilities for offering a college education. If Winston-Salem, Charlotte or other major cities wish to afford themselves the advantages for a college in their midst, it would be far in the better interest of the state as a whole for them to spend their money establishing new institutions rather than making a play for those already established in other areas.

Russian Visitors Wear Their Welcome Thin

The visit to India by Kremlin chiefs Khrushchev and Bulganin may result in a backfire which will make the New Russia government more cautious if its relationships with Russia rather than cementing the ties between the two nations.

In the past several days, it has been apparent that many Indian leaders have become quite concerned about statements issued by the Russian leaders from India. On one occasion the Indian government felt it necessary to make a clarifying statement with Russia, and to reaffirm its neutrality.

Just this past week-end Khrushchev made a strong vocal outburst in support of India's claim to disputed and partitioned Kashmir. That has likewise caused concern among Indian leaders for fear it will cause a worsening of relationships between India and Pakistan. Khrushchev again was a source of embarrassment to Indian officials when he told the people of a community built through a joint Indian-U. S. technical development program that they were victims of "exploitation and discrimination."

It just might be that Khrushchev and Bulganin have made their visit to India long enough to give the Indian leaders a belly full of Soviet lords and masters.

Visitors and fish often develop one similar characteristic. After the "bird day" they begin to smell. That may be the case with the visit of the two top Soviet leaders to India.

The Pre-Requisites To Luring Industry

By LYNN NISBET

ESSENTIALS—Some 300 men and women from all corners of North Carolina assembled in the highway building auditorium Monday to discuss problems of industrial promotion heard "experts" in the field present the essentials.

The meeting had been arranged by the Department of Conservation and Development's commerce and industry division. Those attending represented chambers of commerce, civic clubs, municipal governments and private business. The day-long session brought out very little new information. It did help to evaluate factors in order of importance in community development.

While most of the talk revolved around the matter of increasing factory payrolls, the underlying purpose was overall and balanced development of the state and its various communities.

To that end one of the major requisites is an inventory of the community, including what industries are there, what kind of industries are needed to fill out the program, and what are the existing advantages and disadvantages for obtaining the desired expansion.

It was emphasized that attention to establish industry is just as important as trying to bring in new plants. This goes to make up the "climate" which is important. No business firm is likely to be interested in moving into an area where existing plants are not supported, and where indications are the business might not be given cordial welcome.

Consensus was that a complete inventory and honest presentation of good and bad features, an attitude of appreciation for business already located and careful screening of prospects to make sure they would fit into a local scheme, combined to make up the prime factor in a development program.

CO-OPERATION—Next in importance perhaps, and to some degree implied in the first, is a spirit of cooperation among the people of the community, between the local chamber of commerce and the State department, and among communities in the same general area.

On this point spokesmen for the department assured community representatives that information originating in one place about prospects would be treated confidentially and not passed along to other towns, until every resource for locating at the original point had been exhausted.

Spokesmen for promotional divisions of the utility corporations also offered full co-operation, but suggested that if they were taken into the confidence of particular local agencies they might be able to render more assistance and advise what sometimes looked like working against the community in favor of some other. There was very general approval of the long established State policy that industries which ask for free land or tax exemption concessions might not prove local representatives said they did not want any part of a "give away" program. At the same time, there was recognition that community cooperation in subscribing stock, in providing facilities on rental or purchase basis as showing mutual good faith was acceptable practice. Numerous instances were cited for the successful operation of this policy.

Finally, it seemed evident that while the essentials are the same for the whole state, many of the problems are peculiar and worked out on the local level. No meeting by this or any rule book adopted by the department can provide the solutions. Neither can a chamber of commerce go out and snag a new factory without full cooperation of the people who make up the community.

FRILLS—The slow-down order issued by President Eisenhower's doctors focuses attention again on the extra duties, the frills, the people have come to expect of their high public officials. The reason assigned for the President's tired feeling was the strain he had undergone in two or three cabinet top level official conferences—cabinet, security council and other.

Correspondents, however, noted that he has been called upon many times to have his picture taken accepting a huge cheese and a doled up tractor and other gifts. The purpose of these contributions was to get publicity for the donors, because obviously the President can afford to buy anything he needs. And some of these affairs put as much strain on the star participant as do the official duties.

There has developed in North Carolina the idea that the Governor and the United States Senators should be at beck and call of every group with special interests to further. Complaint is because of invitations to attend public meetings throughout the state and address the people assembled. That is an appropriate function of the office, as well as a necessity in democratic politics. The idea that any convention which meets in Raleigh can count on a reception at the Mansion, and that anybody with horns or turkeys or overalls to sell has a right to expect the Governor to have his picture made while being presented with an item of merit to everybody, a certain type of strange appearing vegetation began to grow as the result of the heat generated by the light bulbs. The strange-looking growth was sent to experts who examined it and declared that here was something absolutely new. Nothing like this had, to their knowledge, ever appeared before.

The Night Aunt Minnie Died

Editor's note: Publishing a poem on this page is a near-precedent-shattering occasion which probably won't be repeated for a long time to come. But the following, dashed off by sports writer Billy Arnold and previously carried by the East Carolinian, is a gem we offer our readers today.

We wuz settin' 'round th' stove one night.
A-barkin' 'bout th' crops.
When ole Aunt Minnie rolls her eyes.
An' to the floor she flops.
We figured she was mebbe tired.
So we let her lay a-spell.
An' after while we went to bed.
We figured she stayed right there.
All next day she stayed right there.
A-sprawled out 'cross th' floor.
We figured she wuz just wore out.
From plowin' th' day before.
We didn't waker her up for her meals.
We knew it warn't no use.
She never did much care for col-lards.
Cooked in 'possum juice.
Well, purty soon a week went by.
An' she never moved a bit.

"You feelin' bad, my woman?"
He ast, "For goodness, sake?"
She didn't answer a word, he said,
And his pride wuz hurt real deep.
He ast her more blame questions,
But fum her come not a peep.
"You ain't holdin' no respect," he said.

A-gittin' mighty mad
"What you need's a spankin' like
One you never had."
So he picked her up and spanked her good.
She moved not one bit more;
Well, preacher spanked her harder.
"Th' his hand was gittin' sore.
Well, Paw come in and seen it all,
And laugh and nod his head,
But purty soon th' laughin' stop.
When he notice Minnie's dead.
Well, th' preacher got th' electric chair.
For his awful, sinful act
When th' judge perounce him guilty.
Of breakin' Minnie's back.
I always thought 'twas funny,
But th' others, they jest erred,
About the way things happened.
The night Aunt Minnie died.

Notebook On Life

Where To Find More Time

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the best how-to-do-it-yourself books is at hand — and I don't know which hand to throw it from. It destroys my whole sense of perspective.

The title is, "How To Gain An Extra Hour Every Day."
The reason I don't dare throw it from either hand is that just by looking at it my whole life is changed. I started to throw this book away with the left hand, and now I've determined to go back to the starboard muscle. With it I can hurl further. But I am confused. Thereby I've gained a minute — and, frankly, I don't know how to invest it.

I hate to have this minute go away in the long history of time. But I really don't know what else to do with it.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SEEDS START TO GROW
Many years ago certain portions of the Mammoth Cave known only to intrepid explorers was open to the general public. Pathways were established and electric lights installed. To the amazement of everybody, a certain type of strange appearing vegetation began to grow as the result of the heat generated by the light bulbs. The strange-looking growth was sent to experts who examined it and declared that here was something absolutely new. Nothing like this had, to their knowledge, ever appeared before.

What, did this mean? It meant that probably tens of thousands of years ago some being made captive during periods of upheaval and finally this seed-laden soil had been deposited far below the ground. When heat and light were brought into the cave, the seeds began to sprout. Life had been in them all these centuries. They needed only light and heat to get them started to grow.

Every one of us have in our souls good seeds and evil seeds. We have character capacity which we never utilize. On the other hand, we have tendencies toward evil that are largely kept from growing into scandal and disgrace because of a fortunate arrangement of the factors of our environment.

Let the factors of the environment change and the seeds will start to grow at once. Environment is influential—both for good and for evil.

Strategy Of Criticism Of Eisenhower

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower will be depicted as a well-meaning but an easy-going and indifferent Chief Executive subject to the pressures of "Big Business," if he runs again and if the Truman-Harriman extremists frame Democratic strategy for 1956. Vice President Nixon will be the target of an even more violent attack along the same line, if he should be the nominee.

Senator Estes Kefauver who will soon announce his candidacy for the Democratic Presidential nomination, has undertaken to show that Ike has been a "President in absentia," even before his illness. The Tennessee insists that the White House was kept in ignorance about the bankers' allegedly profitable role in the original TVA-AEC contract.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming has directed his anti-monopoly and squeeze-the-little-dealer barrage against general Charles E. Wilson to the cabinet, and which enjoyed billions in war and postwar contracts. In contrast, there has been no such spiked investigation of the two other members of automobile's "Big Three"—Ford and Chrysler.

ACCUSATIONS BY KEFAUVER
Kefauver charges that Eisenhower was hood-winked in the TVA-AEC transaction by AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss, Budget Director, Rowland R. Hughes and Sherman Adams, White House Chief of Staff. The senator's complete faith in Ike's own integrity, in his opinion, gives color to his allegation.

On several occasions, the President has declared that he and the three aides listed above had made public all the details about the Dixon-Yates contract. But at no time did he reveal that Adolphe Wenzell, Boston banker, was an active consultant in the proposed refinancing of TVA.

Sizzling Blast At Pro-Raters

By ELMER ROESSNER

A sizzling attack on "pro-raters" by Karl G. Pearson head of the Department of Business Administration at Upsala College appears in the latest issue of Credit World.

Pro-raters—who were discussed in this column a few months ago—are enterprisers who offer to help people harassed by debts. Sometimes they are called debt poolers, debt-adjusters, debt-budgeters or debt-managers. They work this way: They have each client list all his debts, they find out how much he can pay each payday and then notify his creditors that payments will be pro-rated among them until the total is paid.

This is a useful service; the pro-rater deserves pay.

But, Dr. Pearson points out, many charge excessive fees. Some charge 20 percent of total indebtedness, and sometimes they add on bookkeeping fees, handling fees, check service fees and monthly fees for each creditor. Often the plan makes the pro-rater a preferred creditor; sometimes the debtor must build up a "fund" equal to the pro-rater's bite before other creditors get anything. In any event the pro-rater's fees put the debtor deeper in debt the moment he signs an agreement. SALES METHODS SUSPECT

Operations of some pro-raters are definitely shady. Dr. Pearson adds. He cited the case of one operator whose salesman obtained entry to homes by leaving a picture of Jesus Christ, charging $1 "royalty" and agreeing to refund the dollar when the debtor signed up for services. The same promoter offered businessmen and ministers $5 each for names of people who would sign up for services.

Some pro-raters call themselves "loan companies" or "finance companies," he said, although they neither lend money nor finance people. Their offers of "no-co-signers, security or credit references" are as beguiling, and they are accurate. Their promises of relief from the demands of creditors are not always valid. When a creditor is notified a debtor's bills have been placed in the hands of a debt-adjuster, he may accept pro-rata payment, or he may regard it as a warning that the debt is in danger and foreclose, garnishee or take other legal action.

Pennsylvania and the Province of Quebec have barred pro-raters. Dr. Pearson reported, and bar associations in Michigan and Colorado have questioned their activities.

While some of the debt-adjustment companies are operated ethically, none has assumed leadership in campaigns against sharp operators.

WHAT DEBTORS CAN DO
One who finds debt payments beyond his means, Dr. Pearson suggests, can take other effective steps, such as:

1. Getting together with creditors in an effort to work out plans to pay them over a longer period.
2. "Almost all creditors will cooperate if the debtor lays his cards on the table and acts readily than they would through his middleman the pro-rater."
3. Going to banks, accredited loan agencies or credit unions for a consolidation-of-debts loan.
4. In those states that provide for it, asking courts to appoint a trustee to pro-rate debt payments. Trustees get fees but they are less than those pro-raters charge, and creditors are protected by the courts, which is not true when dealing with pro-raters.
5. Seeking relief under provisions of Federal laws that permit debtors to liquidate debts without going through bankruptcy.
6. Seeking help from Legal Aid Societies and community welfare agencies.

U.S. BLOWS WHISTLE ON STAMP COLLECTORS

The government encourages stamp collectors; it does a lively and profitable business with its Philatelic Agency, which sells stamps in assort condition, sheets, blocks, cancellations, and first-day covers to philatelists.

The government also discourages stamp collectors. The Internal Revenue Service, in a new bill, says you can't collect postage tax stamps. Used stamps have to be destroyed when the package is empty, it points out. And collecting unused stamps it adds, is not permitted.

Suspect Indian Raid Is TV Idea

SAPULPA, Okla. (AP)—Sheriff's officers are searching for an avid western movie or TV fan. An investigation into a building fire disclosed someone had shot a flaming arrow into the door to set the blaze.

Burnt Offering In Kitchen Stove

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—"It was well done" firemen said after answering an alarm at the home of Kenneth Peterson. It took them only 10 seconds to bring the blaze under control. Loss was small but the meat that caught fire was well done.

Duck Got Swim Instead Of Drink

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) A duck got a swim instead of the drink he was apparently seeking. City policeman N.B. Louis said he saw a duck waddle up to the door of a bar and settle down and seemed to be waiting for the bar to open. Louis took the quacker to the city zoo instead.

Moving House After 10 Years

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Walter Otton of Jersey City, N.J., grinner as a reporter as he made a last-minute dash from a houseboat to a former 50-foot Navy launch. "Moving my home," he said. "Been planning it ten years." Otton built the houseboat himself, then bought the Navy launch. He is towing it to West Palm Beach with the help of a friend.

Editorial Assist To Make Things Right With Boy

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Richmond man motoring with his family ran over a terrapin. A 12-year-old boy ran up and said bitterly, "Think you're pretty brave don't you, killing a little turtle." A woman walked over and said it was a terrible thing to do "making two little children cry." The man said the glares of the boy and his mother had turned a pleasant Sunday into a wretched memory. He took his plight to the Richmond News Leader and asked the editor if there wasn't some way he could make the children—whose names and addresses he didn't know—understand he didn't run over their pet on purpose. An editorial detailed the man's plight and the importance he attached to his standing in the opinion of a 12-year-old boy. And the editorial ended with this:

"Hey, lady! He didn't meant to hit the terrapin. Tell your boy so, will you?"

Finds Parakeets Are Not Unusual

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Para-

keets are more numerous than you think, says mailman Paul Duran. A parakeet took a fancy to Duran on his rounds and followed him home. He told newspapers he would return the parakeet to anyone who could identify it accurately. He said his telephone rang all the next day as owners of missing birds sought to find if the parakeet was theirs.

101st Airborne Division To Be A Combat Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today the 101st Airborne Division, now a training unit, will become the third major paratroop combat outfit of the Army. This will mean that total Army combat strength by the end of this fiscal year will be 19 divisions—a net loss of one from the present strength.

There are now two airborne combat divisions, the 82nd and the 11th. Details of organization of the 101st are not yet ready for announcement, the Army said. The Army recently disclosed, however, that personnel of the 197th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, now at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and the 508th ARCT, now in Japan, will be integrated into a new division. Divisions usually consist of three regiments.

The 101st is one of the oldest of the airborne divisions. It originally formed in 1921 as a part of the organized reserve, and was designated as an airborne division in 1942.

The 101st campaigned in Europe in World War II, including its famous defense of Bastogne in the Battle of the Bulge.

The Army recently announced a series of deactivations and organizations of divisions. At present, the Army has 13 infantry, 4 armored, 1 cavalry and 2 airborne divisions.

Under present plans it will have by next summer 4 armored, 1 cavalry, 3 airborne and 11 infantry divisions.

A few weeks ago, the Army announced that the 23rd Infantry Division based in Panama and the 71st Infantry Division in Alaska would be disbanded.

Present Army unit strength is deployed as follows: Far East 3 1/2; Alaska 1; Hawaii 1; Panama 1; the Bowman Gray Medical School, Friday.

300 Iceboxes 'Melted' Away

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana University inherited 300 iceboxes with a housing project and things got hot for several persons. The residents found it cheaper to use electric refrigeration and the boxes were junked. Montana law required junked iceboxes to be stripped of locks and catches.

Parents got so hot about the boxes on the junk heap that MU President Carl McFarland posted a 24-hour guard over them. The problem melted away after the iceboxes were offered to free to all takers. Within a couple days they were carted away. Hunters and fishermen wanted them to convert into meat smokers. Do-it-yourself addicts liked them for tool boxes.

Three Advance To Semi-Finals

FARMVILLE—Three of the five seniors who took the National Merit Scholarship tests recently have been advanced to the semi-finals in the nationwide program. Farmville High School principal Sam D. Bundy announced.

Chandler Cox, Nancy Jane Carol and Nan Williams scored high on the screening tests and will take the semi-finals test January 14.

The five senior students who took the initial examination were selected by the faculty.

Defense Spending And Tax Cuts Promise Hot Session

By JACK BELL. WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for a billion-dollar boost in defense spending and a possible battle over tax cuts pointed today toward a stormy election-year session of Congress.

The President's plan to step up the production of B52 bombers, jet interceptors and development of the guided missile program won general support from Republicans and Democrats.

But the 35 1/2-billion-dollar defense budget he outlined to top congressional leaders at a White House briefing yesterday held a threat to tax reductions and budget balancing. Several leaders in both the House and Senate said they saw little chance of substantial tax reductions.

Several other issues arose out of two days of White House briefings, which signaled forthcoming battles. In individual statements, Democrats and Republicans displayed sharp differences of opinion with each other—and even with their party colleagues—on debt payments, continuance of foreign economic aid, proposed new farm programs, highway financing and school construction. Both Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate GOP Policy Committee and Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee joined the chorus of those calling for a balanced budget before taxes are cut.

Byrd said he will fight to wipe out all foreign economic aid, a position already taken by Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The President was reported to have proposed a $2,600,000,000 new appropriation by Congress for all foreign aid, including military assistance.

Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said that while there might be some differences of opinion on economic aid he doesn't see how the overall program can be reduced below its present level.

"There would have been no use for military aid in Europe if there had been no economic aid first," he said. "The same thing applies to Asia now."

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) reaffirmed his support of legislation to finance highway construction which would put the burden of the cost on road users. Conferees said the Eisenhower administration still has not resolved the financing question but appears ready to abandon its previous bond plan.

Eisenhower stood firm on his flexible farm price support program, plus some additional measures he has indicated he will propose. Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex) plugged for a return to high, rigid supports.

Democrats were reported still at odds on the form of a school construction bill but unwilling to accept the Eisenhower bond plan in this instance.

The most popular toys for the crib and play-pen set usually are the simplest, says Gilbert C. Southwick, president of Childhood Interests, a firm specializing in educational toys.

He points out that one of the best-selling toys of the year is a soft plastic milk bottle filled with wooden clothespins. Babies first rattle the bottle, then dump out its contents, then put them back in again.

The partially transparent plastic lets the colored clothespins show through when the bottle is filled, further intriguing the small fry. In

THE PHANTOM

Tax-Free Foundation Topic Of Growing Gov't Interest

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Foundations are crowding the news columns these days — with both controversial and noncontroversial deeds. And there's a growing tendency in Washington — both in Congress and in the Treasury Department — to take a close look at these tax-free funds. The nation's largest — the Ford Foundation — has made news of a noncontroversial nature twice of late. It is giving 500 million dollars to private education and to hospitals. This is the largest single act of philanthropy ever announced. The foundation will take in an almost equal sum of money next month when it offers to the public Ford Motor stock, for the first time.

The stock offer, however, isn't to pay for this week's big giveaway. The foundation makes its donations out of earnings from capital, not from the capital itself. The money the foundation gets from the sale of part of its Ford stock will be invested in other ways and the yield from such investments will go into future donations.

The Ford Foundation's holdings are presently estimated to have a market value of between 1 and 2 billion dollars. Prior to this week's whopping gift total, the fund had handed out 350 million dollars since its founding in 1936 by gifts of stock in the motor company by Henry Ford I.

The foundation is also in the news just now in a controversial matter concerning some of the activities of one of its beneficiaries, the Fund for the Republic, which are attacked from several quarters.

While the Ford Foundation is the nation's largest tax-free fund, it has lots of company. If you count in churches, farm cooperatives and like there are more than 100,000 tax-free groups in the country.

Some 32,000 of these are in the category of foundation, fund or association — exempt from taxation on the general ground that they serve a public rather than a private purpose. And about 7,000 of these are foundations set up by wealthy men or corporations to handle their philanthropies.

Most of these are conceded to serve a public purpose. But some congressmen have been charging that some foundations or funds meddle too much in politics to deserve a tax-free status.

Congress is expected to be asked for a law which would open to public inspection the applications for tax exemption filed by foundations. The idea is that the ones solely serving the public interest wouldn't mind — many of them report publicly now. But some groups don't disclose how they raise funds or how they spend them, and Washington feels that many of these would give up their tax-free status rather than let the public in on their operations.

Hal Boyle . . .

It offers 243 time-saving techniques, developed by "scores of America's best — known, busiest people."

It tells, for example, how "Sam Goldwyn breaks up those long time-wasting luncheons by discussing business before eating." It doesn't go into the question of who is able to eat when the discussion is over.

The book also tells how President Eisenhower "has learned to bathe, shave, and dress in 20 minutes or less — almost 10 to 15 fewer than most men — by using a routine developed over his many years as a military man."

Former President Harry Truman shares with General Eisenhower this talent of being a fast morning dresser.

But I like Joseph's description of how the former British prime minister safeguards his hours against waste.

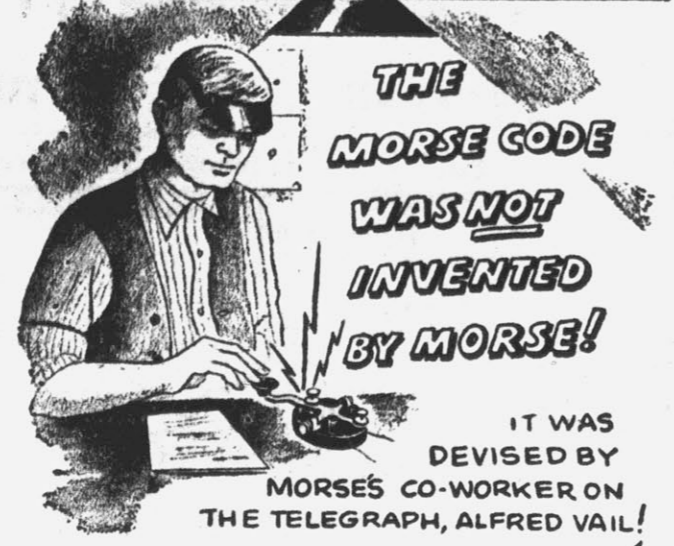

"Sir Winston Churchill," he points out, "does half his day's work in bed; gets added rest while accomplishing twice as much in half the previous, constantly interrupted office time."

This is the soundest of all Mr. Joseph's 243 different ways to save time. The gamble is great but the possible reward is fascinating.

Who wouldn't dare the possibility of unemployment if by staying in bed half of every day a fellow might hope to become prime minister of England? The problem of how to gain an extra hour every day wouldn't seem so bad if a man could spend it in bed admiring other people.

BURNED TO DEATH
DALLAS (AP) — A. L. Foster, 69-year-old paralyzed pensioner, was fatally burned yesterday by flames that engulfed his overstuffed invalid chair. County Fire Marshal Hal Hood said the fire apparently started when a cigarette fell from the man's lips. A 40-year-old deaf daughter attending him had stepped across the street and was unable to hear his screams.

MAN OR MOUSE:—Joseph Murphy Jr., 2 (center) was hardly aware that his balloon produced this effect when it floated in front of his dad's face. They were watching electric trains with throngs that shopped in busy Rochester, N. Y., stores, and most anything can happen. (AP Wirephoto).

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found Grady K. Lamm, 607 Harris St., guilty of driving drunk and sentenced him to 90 days on the roads.

The judgment provides that the sentence may be suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year. The court recommended that Lamm's license be denied for 12 months. Judge Whedbee ordered that the amount of the fine as equals costs be remitted. The case in which Lamm was charged with driving without an operator's license was combined with the first case. In another case, Lamm was given 30 days in jail for being drunk, sentence to be suspended on payment of $10.

Ben Foreman, Negro, 1308 Short St., assault, was called and he failed to answer. A capias was issued for him.

Jimmy Harris, 1017 West Third St., charged with skipping a lodging bill, case was dismissed.

Robert Barnes, Negro, 405 Bonner's Lane, assault, 30 days, suspended on payment of costs and he is not to harm or threaten the prosecuting witness.

Roosevelt Carmon, Negro, 810 Fleming St., assault on a female, 30 days, suspended on payment of costs and he is not to harm or threaten the prosecuting witness.

Carl Wilson, Negro, 1715 S. Pitt St., larceny, 30 days jail and road.

Drunk: Willie Jones, Negro, Rte. 1 Greenville, called and he failed to answer. Capias issued for him.

Edward R. Avant, Negro, Durham, 30 days or court costs.

Special Recruiting Team Here

This special Air Force procurement team from Raleigh will be in Greenville Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The team, which will set up headquarters in the Post Office Building will explain the Air Force prior-service (veteran) program, the WAF program, and the airman program to interested persons. Left to right are 1st Lt. Wilson L. Knowles, 1st Lt. Patricia R. Kramer, 2nd Lt. Thomas R. Gwinup and 1st Sgt. Horace T. Anthony.

Lincey Edwards, Negro, 1208-B Davenport St., non-support, six months, suspended on payment of $25 for support before release and $15 a week for support of children beginning December 17, 1955. This cause was retained for further order.

Dolly Mae Thigpen, 620 Pitt St., was found not guilty of abandoning her children.

Willie M. Lee, Negro, 200-B Cross St., not guilty of assault.

Neal Cherry, Negro, Rt. 2 Greenville, trespass, 30 days, suspended on payment of costs, and he is not to visit the home of Essie Mae Davis and Emma White.

Harris Junius Best, Negro, 1502-A Fleming St., worthless check, 60 days, suspended on payment of check and costs.

Jerry Joe Spain, 1614-E Griffin St., driving drunk, 90 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. He is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year and the court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year. The court ordered that the amount of the fine as equals court costs be remitted.

DOUBLE DEATHS

ECC WOULD BACK COMMISSIONER FOR NORTH STATE
Dr. N. M. Jorgensen of East Carolina left yesterday for the annual North State Conference winter meeting in Greensboro. Many important issues are expected to come before the school officials during the two-day meeting.

One of the biggest considerations is that of a commissioner for the rapidly-growing league. For some time now, certain athletic directors in the eight school conference have been contemplating the proposal and this year it will likely be introduced.

One of the most staunch backers of the idea is Dr. Jorgensen. He remarked before the trip Tuesday that he would wholeheartedly sponsor a conference commissioner and feels that the whole league should get behind the thing. "The conference needs a commissioner to supervise scheduling to avoid difficulties such as exists between some of the schools at the present."

He didn't say it pointedly, but likely had in mind the Guilford-East Carolina squabble. Guilford dropped football relations with the Greenville school in 1953. Last year at the meeting, Tom Young of Western Carolina proposed that WCC and ECC be allowed to count their East Tennessee game as a conference affair. "We didn't sanction the idea because we didn't think it would work on a long-time basis," Jorgensen said. "We believe if a school wants to remain in a conference, then they should play other schools in the league in all the major sports."

"A commissioner would eliminate such problems. He could set up the conference so it would be functionally balanced. No school would be allowed to emphasize just one sport (High Point and Atlantic Christian's basketball, for example) and all the schools could be allowed the same number of scholarships."

Jorgensen said he would propose that the salary of such a commissioner be assessed from the league schools, the amount according to size. If the institute both Southern and Atlantic Coast Conferences have commissioners and if the North State ever expects to go big time it'll have to get moving—and a commissioner would be the biggest move at this stage of the game.

ECC NEWCOMERS SHINE FOR SWIM TEAM
Coach Ray Martinez's East Carolina swimmers went after their third win of the young season at the local pool. Martinez' tankmen made a fine showing against State here last week.

Although six lettermen give the team a lot of seasoning, it's been the newcomers who have stolen most of the thunder in the early meets. The most dashing so far has been Frank Koebberling, a transfer student from Guilford. He is undefeated in four meets and even bested the best State's AAU champs club field.

Freshman Harold McKee, a speedy freestyler from High Point, took the 220 and 440 against Davidson and finished a close second against the weekback. His best time is 2:29, excellent for a first-year swimmer.

Bob Sawyer is another freshman from Greensboro who specializes in the backstroke. He still holds the state pre record in that event. His best time in college is 2:38 in the 200. The best mark in the Rocky Mountain Conference last year was 2:34, just four tenths of a second better than Sawyer's mark as a freshman. . . and he's still improving.

Graham Anderson is another transfer who's been outstanding for the Pirate swimmers. He switched from Campbell and does remarkable time in the individual medleys. He was a member of Raleigh's state high school champions a few years back.

The more we think about it the more we burn over Governor Marvin Griffin's request that Georgia Tech not play in the Sugar Bowl because Pitt's squad contains a Negro. He probably figured he was setting a precedent, but he is way behind time. Tech played against two Negroes at South Bend in 1953. Tech basketball team and track team have competed against them. So had Georgia. And there was never any trouble before.

Tech players voted unanimously to go to the Sugar Bowl, knowing Pitt was to be the opponent. After that it was none of the governor's business.

It has always been outside meddlers who cause the trouble in the sports world. Let alone athletes and coaches can work out their problems. Politicians should stick to their own game—politics—and let sports be. Amen!

Crimson Tide Quint Invades ACC Floors

Alabama's Crimson Tide roars into the Atlantic Coast Conference tonight, ready to throw its best basketball team in many years at North Carolina's Tar Heels in Chapel Hill.

North Carolina State, meanwhile fresh from a 100-83 drubbing of Clemson, meets South Carolina in Charlotte with State seeking its 18th straight victory.

Alabama which swept the Birmingham Classic last week, comes to Chapel Hill with sharpshooting center Jerry Harper and forward George Linn unanimous choice for most valuable player in the Classic and holder of an individual scoring record for Alabama with 33 points against TCU.

Four Crimson players are averaging in double figures, with Linn tops at 25 per cent in four games. The team is No. 5 nationally in the current Associated Press poll.

North Carolina, No. 16, is headed by Lennie Rosenbluth, who poured in 31 points against South Carolina last week. Extra scoring punch will be furnished by Jerry Vayda, Pete Brennan and Joe Quinn.

South Carolina's big hope against rampaging N.C. State—No. 2 in the nation—may be a 6-6 Kentuckian and transfer student, Grady Wallace. He has hit at a 24.2 per cent clip in four games, including 20 markers against North Carolina and 17 against Duke.

State's Coach Everett Case has one team to run the score up and another to hold it down. His regulars, playing off and on as the occasion demanded, ran up a 27-point advantage at one juncture against Clemson last night. Liberal use of the reserves kept State from making it a runaway. Vic Molodet led all scorers with 26 points and the "riggers" Bill Yarborough was close behind with 24.

Kentucky plays at Maryland tomorrow. The rest of the week's schedule:

Friday—Duke at Penn. Virginia at Clemson.
Saturday—North Carolina at Maryland, Duke at Villanova, Virginia at South Carolina, West Virginia at N.C. State.

Grimesland Boys Take 55-49 Win

Stokes-Pactolus and Grimesland split a double-bill last night, as Grimesland took the boys' contest, 55-49, and Stokes-Pactolus won the opener, 73-56.

Leading the Stokes-Pactolus girls to victory was Nina Perkins who racked up 30 points and Billie Angle, who contributed 25. Pat Tucker collected 25 for the losers.

In the boys' battle, Bobby Congleton was high man for the defeated Stokes-Pactolus crew, with 20 points and took high honors for both squads.

The doubleheader was a conference affair.

Score by quarters:
Stokes-Pactolus 18 19 18 17-73
Grimesland 8 17 14 12-56

Score by halves:

Goldsboro Drubs G-Men, 72-48
Lack Of Height Is Greenie Handicap

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer
Goldsboro's AAA Quakes drubbed the Greenville Phantoms 72-48 last night in a non-conference battle at Goldsboro.

Greenville guard Ike Riddick, playing his first game of the season, turned in a sensational one-man scoring performance and ran away with point honors, racking up 28 tallies. Riddick missed the first two Phantom contests due to an ankle injury and played only part of the game last night. He went in for starter Wayne Eidson midway the first period and began commanding the Green attack with the poise that has made him one of the top men in Eastern North Carolina basketball. He accounted for over 58 percent of G-men points.

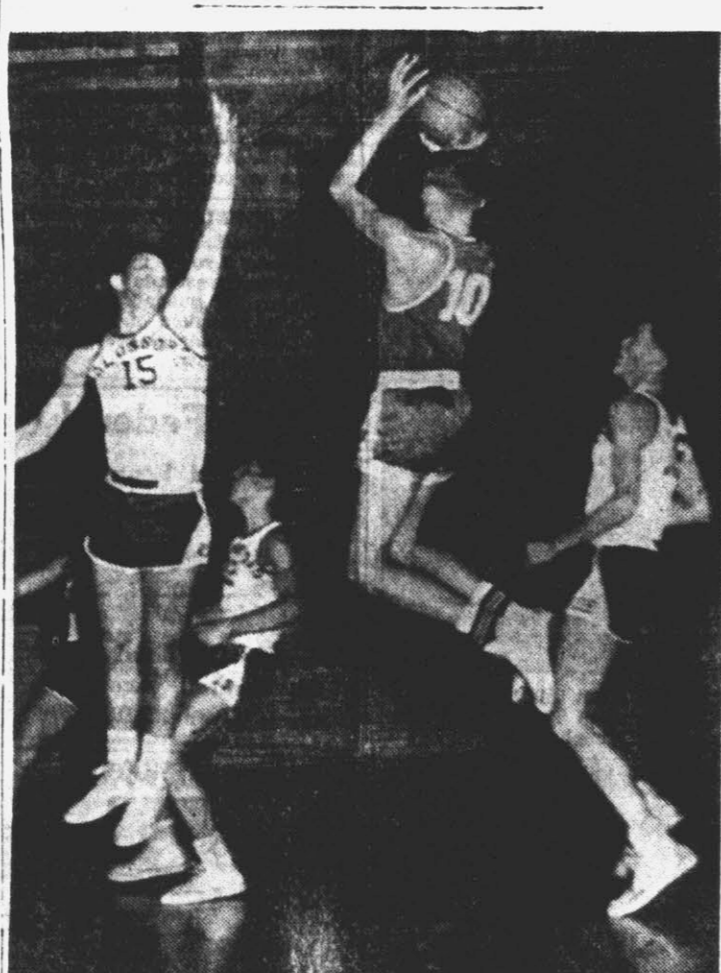

Goldsboro Begins Fast
The Quakes, seeking revenge for the 53-50 upset which Coach Bo Farley's boys dealt them last week, took the opening tap and literally outran their visitors from the beginning. Big Bob Bizzell led the Blue on the boards, while Bill Moore did most of the early scoring. Goldsboro held a 7 point lead at the end of the first quarter, 18-11.

Billy Johnson, high scorer in the first two Greenville games, was faced with a special defense that held him to 6 points throughout the game and dropped him beyond in the rebound department. Coach Charlie Lee had two of his boys working overtime on the 6-1 center.

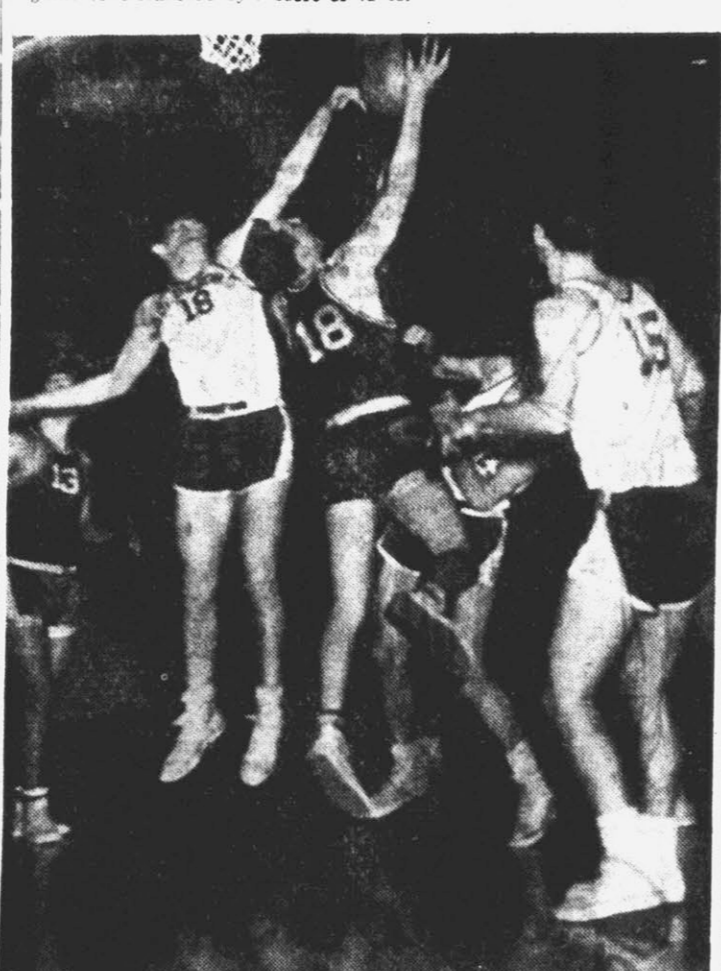

Bizzell, Moore and Little Lee Coward, Quake co-captain, blazed the nets frantically in the second period and Goldsboro moved ahead to a 41-20 lead at halftime.

Riddick Shines
Ike Riddick, held to 11 points in the first half, roared back in the third period with a celebrated one-hand push shot to provide the sinking Phantom with a brief glimpse of victory. The host team, however, ignored the amazing accuracy of the Greenville guard and continued to manufacture points of its own. Bill Moore, Quake forward, combined forces with little Jerry Ellis to hold on to a 21 point lead, and as the third period ended the score rested

ECC Aqua Men Rack Up Swim Season's Third Win

The East Carolina swimming team swam Norfolk Division of William and Mary right out of College Pool here yesterday, 74-10, to register its third win of the season.

Coach Ray Martinez' Pirate tankmen quickly piled up such an overwhelming margin that it was no contest after the first four events. The winners captured every event and in only one event did they fail to take second place also.

At the diving break, East Carolina had recorded four firsts in sweeping the 300 medley relay, the 200 free style, the 50 free style and the 400 individual medley relay for a 28-3 lead.

Denton Big Winner
East Carolina's team of Ronnie Rose, Jack Koebberling and Bill West swam the 300 medley relay in fine time of 3:21.5. Flashy Dickie Denton ran away with the 200 freestyle in 2:34.6 with Ted Gartman of ECC second.

Bob Sawyer finished first in the 200 individual medley relay, bettering teammate Graham Anderson by a few strokes. Sawyer's winning time was 2:34.8.

Harold McKee, one of the finest swimmers to appear on the ECC swimming scene since the sport got started last year, stroked his way to victory in the spirited 50 yard free style in a time of 26.1. Meads was second and William and Mary's Sandler was third.

East Carolina continued to dominate the meet in the diving competition. Ken Midgette took high honors in the one-meter board aerobatics with a point total of 46.4. Gene Lusk of ECC was second with 41.1 points.

In the concluding five events, it was strictly intra-squad competition. In the 200 backstroke, the most exciting race of the day was run. ECC's Koebberling went into the event undefeated, having even whipped State's entrants last week. Frank Moore, also of ECC, stayed with Koebberling and about half-way of the last length kicked out in front six inches and held this advantage to win. The winning time was 2:31.9.

Visitors' Only Second
William and Mary got its only second place in the 100 yard free style. Denton of ECC won handily and Don Griffith of the visitors came in behind him. Steve Holton of ECC finished a close third.

The brilliant McKee almost lapped the field in the 440 free style, the longest individual distance of the meet. His smooth stroke and powerful kick carried him out front early and he was just coasting at the end. His time was 5:43.6.

The summary:
300 Medley Relay—Rose, Koebberling, West (ECC); Perry, Jackson, Ormond (W&M), 3:21.5
200 Free—Denton (ECC), Gartman (ECC), Griffith (W&M), 2:34.6

Belvoir Splits Farmville Games

Belvoir and Farmville split a conference doubleheader last night, Belvoir winning 51-49, Farmville claiming a 46-38 victory.

The Belvoir girls won the opener 51-49 with Joyce leading the winners. She collected 23 points.

Farmville took the boys' contest with a 46-38 score, as Carrol Wooten and N. Wooten scored 20 points between them to pace the Farmville club. D. Moore racked up 12 for the losers.

Score by periods:
Farmville 16 12 17 6-51
Belvoir 11 12 17 9-49

Score by halves:
Farmville 16 12 17 6-51

Gil Turner Rated 2-1 Favorite In Tonight's Bout

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (Special)—Veteran Gil Turner was rated a 2-1 favorite over young Jake Labia for their 10-round, lightweight bout tonight. The fight will be televised and broadcast nationally at 10 p. m. EST.

The reorganized state of the middleweight division, with Ray Roberts as champion, again has no special interest in the battle in the County War Memorial.

Labia, 23, a fast-moving slugger from New York, never has been counted out in 31 professional fights, although he had been stopped because of a cut eye. He is a newcomer to the middleweight division.

Although Roberts' assistants were not under contract, House and Erickson left no doubt they would not be retained. The assistants are Marvin Bass, Steve Belichick, Tom Fetzer and Ralph Floyd. Floyd was freshman coach at Barclay and Tatum's assistant at Maryland before moving to Washington and Lee in 1949. His W&L team had winning records two out of his three years there, the 1950 team winning the mythical Southern Conference championship.

North Carolina hasn't had a winning season since 1949, the last year All-America Charlie Justice romped for the Tar Heels.

Barclay, who came here in 1952 as assistant to Carl Snavely and took over as head coach when Snavely was fired at the end of that season, posted an 11-18-1 record in his three years.

Speculation immediately centered on Maryland Coach Jim Tatum as Barclay's successor—although university officials insist that no successor has been discussed.

Tatum only Monday reminded reporters that he had denied plans to move to North Carolina.

Barclay and Tatum played together at North Carolina in the early 1930s.

House and Erickson said they expect the school's athletic council and faculty committee to make a recommendation on a new coach during the Christmas holidays.

Barclay's salary reportedly was $12,000 a year.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all, results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Din-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your drug store. Money back guarantee.

Art Society Is Seeking Members

The fledgling Greenville Art Society is seeking more members, temporary chairman W.H. Watson, Jr. said yesterday.

A new addition to the area's cultural life, the society has established an organizational committee headed by Watson and composed of the following women, Mrs. J.H.B. Moore, Mrs. J.D. Messick, Mrs. K.B. Pace, Mrs. L.I. Shotwell, Mrs. H.S. Ragsdale, Mrs. Georgia F. Hearne, Mrs. S.M. Crisp, Mrs. J.B. James, Mrs. B.B. Sugg and Mrs. R.M. Garrett.

An organizational dinner meeting, which will feature an address by Robert Lee Humber, of Greenville, is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. January 5 at the Woman's Club.

Dr. Humber was instrumental in the organization of the State Museum of Art in Raleigh recently.

The purpose of the Greenville society, Watson said, "is to foster and promote the appreciation and exhibition of art and its related subjects." The society, he added, also "will work toward the goal of having an art museum and gallery in eastern North Carolina."

Prospective members need no great knowledge of art, Watson said, but merely an interest in it. Any person desiring to join the new organization can obtain information from any committee member.

Membership fee per year will be five dollars each 12 months for an active member or 10 dollars per year for a patron.

Tentative plans now call for one dinner meeting each year featuring a prominent speaker in some field of art.

Also scheduled are monthly educational programs, a quarterly exhibit and a quarterly bulletin to be issued to members.

Light Lathe Is Said Developed

CINCINNATI (AP)—A lathe so light and safe a child can operate it has been developed here.

It weighs 16 pounds, is 27 inches long, nine inches high, seven inches wide and has a 1-35 horse power electric motor which is encased inside the lathe.

It does not have gears or belts without injury according to the manufacturer. Yet it is said to possess sufficient "turning torque" to perform a good power job of cutting wood, plastics and aluminum.

A popular belief that the golden eagle eats carrion only when live prey is not available has been challenged by wildlife experts who report instances in which carrion was eaten even while live prey was available.

Heart Attack Patients Can Thank Three Men

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—No three men — two of them by being themselves and one by his sensible explanations — have done more than Eisenhower, Johnson and White to create hope for a full life among victims of heart attacks.

President Eisenhower, and Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, are recovering from heart attacks of their own. It was Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who did the explaining.

Neither Eisenhower, stricken in September, nor Johnson, who had his attack in July, is out of the woods yet — in the sense they have so fully recovered their doctors can tell them to resume a full life.

Both are awaiting the final medical verdict: Eisenhower in February, Johnson later this month. It may be the doctors will tell Eisenhower he can't run again and Johnson that the job of Senate leader is too much for him.

Even so, both men will go on leading lives just short of all-out. This need be no discouragement to other heart cases since a full life for both those men means a strain and responsibility most people never have to worry about.

If the verdict is against the fullest activity for them, Johnson may have to give up the Senate leadership but will stay in the Senate and Eisenhower will continue to fill his job as president until his term ends in January 1957.

Eisenhower and Johnson, through their prominence, focused the nation's attention on the problem of cardiac cases and how men, unwilling to let it throw them, can get up out of bed and be themselves again, patiently working toward recovery.

This doesn't mean heart cases can or should chase fire engines again climb mountains or fight a 10-round bout. But those are extremes anyway.

Because Dr. White was one of Eisenhower's physicians and because Eisenhower was the first president in history to have a known heart attack, White had a greater opportunity to talk common sense about the heart to more people than any doctor in history.

He used the opportunity to the utmost to do good. Through an article specially written for The Associated Press for newspaper use and through repeated news conferences he preached this gospel:

Trying to resume your full life is the best treatment. One heart attack doesn't necessarily mean you'll ever have another. Some heart cases live to a ripe old age and die of something else.

There is evidence that the Chinese used paper as early as the second century B.C. but it did not become available to the rest of the world through the Arabs until the eighth century.

Wood, Commandant, Fifth Coast Guard District, Norfolk, Va., will deliver the principal address at the 52nd anniversary celebration of the Wright Brothers famous first flight of December 17, 1903. He will be introduced, along with other notables at the ceremonies scheduled to be held at the base of the magnificent Wright Brothers National Monument atop Kill Devil Hill here Saturday morning and will be the principal speaker at the anniversary luncheon scheduled to take place at 1 o'clock in The Carolinian Hotel.

Advancement Follows The Person-To-Person Show

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—A fellow was sitting around the other day with John A. Aaron and Jesse Zousmer, coproducers with Edward R. Murrow of CBS-TV's Person to Person, when he thought up a question: "Where are they now?"

In a kind of chorus Aaron and Zousmer replied: "They're just about where they were."

This game of "Where are they now?" was occasioned by the fact that Murrow will conduct his 100th Person to Person interview program next Friday night. He will look in at the Chicago home of actress Kim Novak and the New York home of columnist Leonard Lyons.

Statistics are always deceptive, but maybe you can conclude something about the lives of the famous and near famous in America after Aaron and Zousmer finish running through the 199 names Murrow has interviewed in these past two years. Here's what they say:

More than 95 per cent still live in the same homes. Although two couples have hit rocky marital roads since Person to Person looked in on them, there has been only one divorce—that of Fleur and Gardner Cowles. Only two have died—Walter White, president of brook. In fact, there's an interesting trend toward greater success after you appear on Person to Person. Krishna Menon, Ethel Waters, Lillian Gish, Ernie Kovacks are a few of those who have enjoyed upswings in public notice. David Sarnoff, who was merely president of RCA when interviewed, is now chairman of the board. George Meany, who was merely president of the AFL, is now president of the AFL-CIO.

Staged Accident Too Realistic; Bystander Burns

VARINA, Va. (AP)—The staged accident in front of the American Legion hall here was pretty realistic to George Elmore Whitman.

Two automobiles were placed in position. A dummy figure was splashed with catsup to simulate blood. Gasoline was poured into a cap and set afire. A man banged a fence with a shovel to indicate a crash. The Henrico Volunteer Rescue Squad and Varina Volunteer Fire Department trucks dashed up from their arranged position several hundred yards away.

At this point Whitman, a construction superintendent (also a member of the fire department) came in. Thinking the accident the real thing he kicked the flaming hub cap to prevent the cars from burning. His kick splashed burning gasoline over his leg. He ran screaming but the fire department grabbed him and smothered the flames.

Employee Toiled For His Holiday

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The employee at a department store here worked like a beaver and piled up a sales record that won a 10-day trip to Bermuda for Manager J. B. Hickman.

Relatively simple, said Hickman. He just told the employees they could get rid of him for 10 days by winning the contest.

LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—Dishes rattled and trees averted but no damage was reported from a sharp earthquake felt yesterday in this West Central Wyoming town of 3,349. There were reports of a loud roar accompanying the forenoon tremor in an area at the foot of the still running along like Tennyson's

Hollywood Marriage Can Be Kept Private

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood's bridegroom of the year is handsome Rock Hudson, who has proven that movie marriages can be private.

This is heresy to the Hollywood publicity mill. The lives of the stars, particularly one so popular with the younger set as Rock, are supposed to be public property.

While not being as defiant about it as Marion Brando, Rock has generally rebelled against the system. He will play ball up to a certain point, but draws the line when his privacy is involved.

The success of his methods was proved Nov. 9. That was his wedding date. No one suspected he was had decided last March to wed pretty Phyllis Gates, secretary in his agent's office.

"We couldn't get married then," he related, "because I had to start 'All That Heaven Allows' with Jane Wyman. After that, I went into 'Giant.' That's what delayed us so long."

He said that he and Phyllis decided on a Monday that they would get married in two days. The operation was carried out in commando-like secrecy.

OVERLOOKED $400
CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (AP)—Notice to a thief: when you lifted $10 from the billfold of Mrs. James Crist, you missed $400 hidden in a secret compartment. Mrs. Crist told police a thief entered her second-story apartment, removed the $10, and left the billfold on a stairway.

An operative was sent north to Banks Barbara to scout the situation. He lined up the place for the wedding and interviewed the minister. When Rock and Phyllis drove up with a small party on Wednesday, he applied for the license under his legal name, Roy Fitzgerald. No one divulged his identity.

After the wedding was over, the newspaper news sources were called, to keep peace with the studio. Then the pair vanished on a honeymoon.

They even had privacy on their honeymoon. They went to Jamaica under assumed names, the airlines playing along with their hoax.

Now they're back in Rock's small home above the Sunset Strip, and he reports that the fans haven't even bothered him there.

Where Friendly Service Makes Food Shopping A Pleasure

Detroiters Miss Their Three Big Newspapers

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit is trying to get along without its three regularly published newspapers, but it isn't easy. The stereotypers' strike that has paralyzed the presses of the Detroit News, the Detroit Times and the Detroit Free Press ended its second week today.

Most people have turned to "spoon-up" radio and television broadcasts, or to four or eight-page local emergency papers.

The struck newspapers have continued collecting local news through jointly operated hotel newsrooms. They provide it to radio and television stations without cost.

Swamped by a windfall of local advertising, the stations have canceled some of their national programs for local shows punctuated by commercials.

Retail stores, without newspaper advertising, report Christmas business falling short of anticipated word levels.

Advertisers are turning to other media. Neighborhood weeklies have expanded. A foreign language newspaper switched to English pages. A strike-born union newspaper and "throwaway" shopping ideas have appeared.

Out-of-town newspapers and all kinds of magazines sell faster than usual.

The effect of the strike on retail sales since Dec. 1 is difficult to measure. Some stores say sales are running ahead of last year. At most they say they were anticipated even higher increases over 1954. Other stores say sales are not as good as compared with last year.

Attendance is reported below normal at sports events, movies and other entertainment, lacking the usual newspaper publicity.

Federal and state mediators reported last night at the end of a 12-hour bargaining session tentative agreements had been reached at all points except wages.

Publishers' representatives made wage offer and the union agreed to consider it. Mediators said the two sides agreed to meet again upon call but no specific time was set.

Under their old contract which expired at midnight, Nov. 30, stereotypers got $3.08 an hour for a 37½-hour day work week and $3.33 an hour for a 33-hour night week.

Try Another Use For Atomic Ray

CLEVELAND (AP)—Another new use for atomic energy—sterilizing human bone for use in transplanting—was described yesterday.

A spokesman for the University of Michigan said researchers there have developed a technique for treating bone with radiations from radioactive cobalt prior to grafting into a diseased or injured person's body.

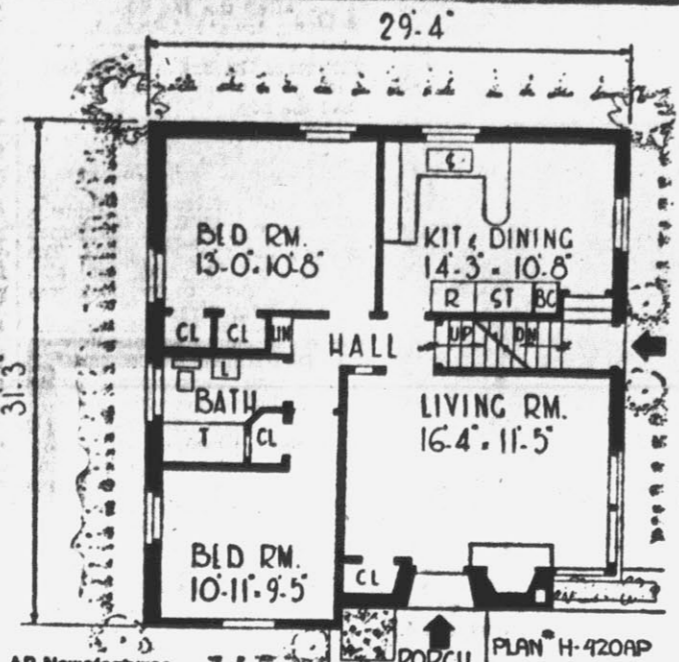

The technique is designed to assure that bone kept in "bone banks" is free of bacterial contamination before use in surgery.

Dr. Donald Katz, who said the research was done by a team headed by L. E. Brownell, declared that bone so treated has been used as transplants in about 40 cases and that there is "much less inflammation afterwards" compared with bone sterilized by other methods such as heat.

Katz told reporters about it during the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress here. He said that the work up to now has been on a small research basis.

But he said the university researchers have designed a proposed instrument for using various radioactive materials for the purpose—an instrument he said conceivably might find wide use in hospitals.

DOOR IN A CHIMNEY is the effect produced by recessing this entrance in the stone work that dominates this smart house. The stone work is continued around under the corner picture windows of the living room to form an attractive planting box. This compact and economical house contains four bedrooms and two bathrooms, two of the bedrooms and the second bathroom being upstairs. This makes it possible to finish the main floor first and expand the house into the attic when family growth requires more space. A small basement provides for heating plant, laundry and storage with the stairs leading down from the service entrance. This is plan H-420AP by the Homograph Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 877 square feet and contains 20,903 cubic feet.

$100 Handbags, Diamonds And Minks Selling 'Like Crazy' This Yuletide

NEW YORK (AP)—Christmas shoppers in Baltimore are buying handbags at $100 each. In Dallas, they're splurging on live Mexican burros with carts. Merchants along New York's Fifth Avenue say diamonds and mink are "selling like crazy."

That's the pattern of Christmas buying this year. An Associated Press survey shows pre-Christmas retail trade in two dozen major cities smashing records right and left. People are spending more freely than ever before. And their preference seems to lean toward gadgets, gimmicks, luxury gifts and frills, rather than "practical" items.

Confidence that this year's Christmas volume will top the record levels of a year ago is evident from San Francisco to New York and Boston to Atlanta.

"We're ahead about 8 per cent," says President Herbert Wilson of Emery, Bird Thayer Co., Kansas City.

"Business is excellent," declares day to discuss the text, and how to join music and plot.

Wildier never has been afraid of experimenting. The opera too will be different.

"There are some innovations," he said. "You can call it, in quotations, 'grand opera.' The libretto will be written in a variety of meters."

Wildier is an old friend of Rome. He studied archaeology here at the American Academy and wrote the first sketches for "The Cabala," his first novel, a story of modern Rome.

John P. Murphy, president of Higbee's, Cleveland, M. H. Segner, vice president of Seattle's Bon Marche, describes business as "very, very good—so far, it's 10 per cent or more ahead of last year." A Los Angeles retailer finds shoppers "not just looking; they're buying. And they're buying good merchandise all the way down the line."

Booming employment and high wages are boosting Christmas trade in many of the nation's great industrial centers. Pittsburgh is "5 to 10 per cent ahead of normal."

J. W. Vanden Bosch, business analyst for the Cleveland, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce, says heavy Christmas sales are expected because payrolls in the Greater Cleveland industrial area for the final quarter of 1955 are up about 55 million dollars from a year ago.

Here and there, you'll find shoppers curbing their Christmas spending. A New Orleans department store official notes that "shoppers are a little more cautious this year. . . . Credit is a little tight." And a survey by the Los Angeles Mirror-News shows that families in the $3,000 to $5,000 income bracket are buying less for Christmas than a year ago. Reasons include: new babies, medical bills, payments on new homes, higher property taxes. Higher income shoppers are spending lavishly, however, and many Los Angeles merchants see new records coming up.

Free spending is the rule this year in the Carolinas. An AP shopping survey finds Carolina customers "plentiful, eager and loaded with money or ready credit." New York's glittering shops are gunning for new records. Macy's says its business is "going according to plan, or about 5 per cent ahead of last year."

If you're for dit-trail gifts, you'll find a wide assortment. Neiman-Marcus in Dallas is selling quilt claims to real estate on the moon "for people who have everything on earth." Macy's New York is advertising "things you never knew existed." They include: a fur dust mitt for mother, a computer's coffee pot (which plugs into the dashboard), a whistle that attracts squirrels, a shaving brush especially designed for men with handlebar mustaches, a hair brush for bald heads.

Black, Starr & Gorham, Fifth Avenue jewelry store, offers a combination whisk brook and shoe horn for $10. Also featured on New York gift counters: mink-trimmed toothbrushes, jeweled fly-swatters, beer can openers trimmed with ermine.

Although some areas have rice surpluses, some of the rice-eating peoples may go hungry because price and political struggles prevent their getting it, says the National Geographic Society.

Thornton Wilder Attempts Opera

ROME (AP)—Thornton Wilder, archaeologist, teacher, novelist and playwright, has come back to an old haunt to try something new.

The 58-year-old American writer, winner of three Pulitzer Prizes, is working on the libretto of an opera and he finds it challenging.

"I decided to try it to experience a different form of show business," he explained to an interviewer.

The music of the opera is being composed by Louise Talma of New York City, who look leave as a professor of music at Hunter College to come to Rome on a Fulbright scholarship.

Wilder won't talk very much about the new work.

"I've always made this mistake of telling about things in advance," he explained. "When they don't work out the way you expect, it's embarrassing."

Demo Foes Of D-Y Would Fight Suit

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic foes of the repudiated Dixon-Yates contract want Congress to take a direct hand in a "no holds barred" court fight against the private power group's claim for 3 million dollars in damages.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced yesterday he plans to introduce a resolution calling for appointment of a special counsel to fight the Dixon-Yates suit, filed earlier in the day at the U.S. Court of Claims.

Kefauver thus joined Sen. Anderson (D-N.M.), who said such a special lawyer should make certain the Justice Department puts up "no milk toast defense" against the Dixon-Yates claim. The Justice Department regularly defends the government in suits against it.

There was no immediate comment from the department. Anderson, chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee, said the proposed special counsel should also hunt for evidence of possible law violations in connection with negotiations which led up to the signing of the power contract more than a year ago.

Both Anderson and Kefauver, who heads a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee which held hearings on the contract, indicated plainly they do not want to trust the Justice Department to handle the claim case alone. Anderson said the department had been involved in negotiations "looking toward paying Dixon-Yates money."

Kefauver said that if administration officials were "doing their duty" they would have a case in court against Dixon-Yates by this time, trying to recover some of the real damages suffered by the government through the conflict of interest which permeates this entire contract.

The Atomic Energy Commission, which negotiated the contract for a 107-million-dollar private power plant with the Dixon-Yates group at President Eisenhower's direction, repudiated the contract last month. It based its action on an opinion by AEC General Counsel William Mitchell that Adolphe H. Wensell served as an adviser to the government in the contract talks "while having a conflicting private interest."

Dixon-Yates challenged this contention in the suit it filed yesterday. Wensell was a Budget Bureau consultant during this period while also serving as a top official of the First Boston Corp., a New York financial house that later became fiscal agent for the Dixon-Yates group.

Not Kerosene, But Gasoline

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Police found the woman yesterday who got five gallons of white gas at a local service station—instead of the kerosene she had thought she was buying.

But Mrs. Clyde C. Strode said they needn't have worried. She poured the gasoline into the family car's fuel tank as soon as she sniffed it later, at home.

Asst. Fire Chief Al Thompson says it's a good thing she did. He said three tablespoons of the gas, if used to start a coal stove fire, would have exploded with the same force as a stick of dynamite.

Badge-Wearing Farmers Cripple Bootleg Business

By JIM MCNEOE
WALTERS, Okla. (AP)—Four "badge-toting" farmers in southwestern Oklahoma are throwing a crimp in the state's bootlegging business.

Cotton County Sheriff Bill Dyer and his three assistants were "just a bunch of cotton farmers" a year ago.

Now they're fast acquiring a reputation as "experts" at intercepting bootleggers hauling contraband cargoes from Texas to cities in constitutionally dry Oklahoma.

Last May the newly elected sheriff and one of his deputies, David Hooper, were riding along on a county road when two cars sped by them throwing dust in their faces.

"They looked suspicious," Dyer said. "So we took after them." The two motorists were Lawton bootleggers and the two cars were loaded with more than 30 cases of illegal booze.

That prize haul launched Dyer on a career of catching whisky runners. He and Hooper, along with Undersheriff Alvin Clifton and Deputy Bob Simpson, take turns in keeping a watch on roads extending into Oklahoma from nearby Wichita Falls, Tex., a popular buying place for bootleggers.

This week Cotton County reaped its first benefits from the sheriff's crusade. Dyer sold 84 cases of confiscated whisky, gin and vodka and 48 cases of wine to a Dallas firm, J. R. Ray Co. The whisky, gin and vodka brought $30 a case, and the wine $2.

Under state law, money from the sale of confiscated liquor goes to the county school fund. The whisky must be sealed and taken out of the state.

There's no doubt that Dyer is enjoying his first year as an Oklahoma peace officer.

"No, a one of us has ever had mental care for cripple ordered

GUTHRIE, Okla. (AP)—A 45-year-old cripple who climbed a television tower in Oklahoma City Sunday to draw attention to what he termed his family's dire plight, has been committed to Central State Hospital for mental treatment.

Logan County Judge Mildred Patterson yesterday ordered him to the mental institution at Norman on recommendation of a sanity commission.

Beck had told officers who rescued him from the 250-foot level of the KWTW tower that his family was starving. Gov. Raymond Gary later declared the Beck family was being cared for "in as satisfactory a manner as the law will permit."

The family receives $136 a month in public welfare payments.

Candidate Has Changed Parties

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore grocer who has sought public office four times as a Democrat has switched to the Republican ticket in an attempt to change his luck.

"I was never able to get any support from the big boys uptown (as a Democrat) so maybe I'll be able to get some support as a Republican," said Harry D. Kemper.

Kemper as a Democrat, ran for governor in 1950 mayor in 1951, Congress in 1952 and for state comptroller in 1954. This year he goes for Congress.

"I don't run for a hobby. I really want to win and get out of the grocery business. It's a tough business," he said.

a day's experience before," he said. "We're just a bunch of cotton farmers. But I don't want them (the bootleggers) to think they can come down here and run over me."

The club appointed Bob Edwards a delegate to the Ruritan National Convention to be held in Atlanta, Ga., in January. Other delegates previously appointed are Noel Lee, Jr., and D.R. House, Jr. J.P. Davenport was named an alternate delegate.

The Pactolus Ruritan Club is sponsoring Boy Scout Troop No. 102 beginning in January. Sam Bowers, Jr., is scoutmaster.

The club has decided to have an "all family night" for members and their families at the Pactolus Community Building.

Simon Corbett was installed as a new member Monday night.

Special guests at the meeting were Roy Baker of Washington, Route 2, Carmer Wallace, Chester Riggs and Ernest Cullifer of Pinetown.

Ladies of the Pactolus Baptist Church served the turkey supper. Twentythree members were present.

Family 'Lost' One Of Brood

PRYOR, Okla. (AP)—An Arkansas family driving with their eight children to Clarksville, Ark., lost one of their brood here yesterday but with the help of the Highway Patrol finally were reunited.

The family pulled into a service station, the father driving a truck and the mother an automobile towing a house trailer. When they departed they left behind an 11-year-old boy. The name of the family was not learned.

Trooper A. H. Freeny picked up the boy after the lad had started hitchhiking toward Arkansas. With the aid of two other patrol units he delivered the boy to his parents.

Each parent had thought the other had the boy.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

Lora went into the hall, meaning to look for Morgan, when she heard the sound of raised voices from the front of the house—as if some argument was going on. This was no moment for ordinary manners and she hurried to investigate.

The drawing-room door was ajar and she pushed it wide without ceremony. Morgan and Wade stood with their backs toward her. Morgan seemed to be resisting indignantly some request which Wade pressed upon her. Lora broke in on them at once.

"Morgan! The fire has reached the cleared places now. If it jumps to the stable anything can happen. Have you packed up what you want to save? You may have to abandon the house."

Morgan looked at her as blankly as though she had forgotten the fire. But Lora's words seemed to encourage Wade in his purpose.

"It has to come down," he insisted to Morgan. "You mustn't risk having it burned to ashes."

Anger blazed in Morgan's eyes. "I am still mistress of this house. I'll be happy to see it burn with the house, if the house must burn."

Wade turned away from her to stride the length of the room as if his limp allowed him. And now Lora saw his purpose. The draperies had been pulled back from the painting of Morgan and Virginia, and as Wade went toward it she saw the kitchen knife in his hand and realized that he meant to cut the canvas from its frame.

Morgan however, flew down the room ahead of him, her state plain. By one of her hysteria. "Let it burn, I tell you! I won't have Virginia staring at me any longer with those pale eyes. All along I've wanted to see that picture destroyed."

"Don't behave like the heroine of a bad play," Wade said coldly, and there was a lash to his tone. "I'm only trying to save a valuable work of art. There are other possessions about the house which you should be giving your attention to, as Lora has pointed out."

Morgan seemed to go suddenly limp, and he pushed her aside easily, reached toward the picture with his knife.

Lora ran to help him. "Here—I'll push this desk over. Then I can stand on it and reach the higher part of the picture. It should be saved for Jimmy's sake. Give me the knife."

There was surprise in the look Wade turned upon her, but he handed her the knife and would have helped her clamber on to the desk.

But just then a shouting from outside reached them. Morgan started as if she had awakened from some spell and ran out of the room. Something had certainly occurred outside. Lora tossed the knife on to the desk.

"Let's see what happened," she said to Wade, and he limped beside her as she went toward the rear of the house.

They stood at the back door together, watching the frantic scene in the yard. Flames were running up the ridgepole of the stable roof hissing as the single stream from the firemen's hose barred them futilely. They darted along the shingles, slipping downward, and the crowd in the yard watched the doomed building helplessly. In a few moments a fierce burst of light behind the panes revealed that the interior, too, was blazing.

But now at last the wind having stifled its capricious will, seemed to be dying out altogether and no more sparks and burning embers were being carried across the bare expanse of yard toward the main house. At only one point did the fire seem to have leaped across the firebreak. Along the rest of the line it seemed to be satiating its appetite among the stubble, burning itself out in black patches.

Adam came toward them across the yard, streaks of soot smearing his upper body, his hair and eyebrows singed. Lora looked away from him quickly, standing very close to Wade.

"You should have arrived sooner," Adam said dryly to Wade. "We could have used an extra hand."

"I'm afraid I'd have done you little good as a helper," Wade admitted.

Lora could only turn a furlous look upon Adam, hating the flush that rose in her cheeks. Even as she turned purposefully away from him, she knew that he had noted it and was amused.

Now the stable and the quarters above were burning fiercely and even the firemen had given up waiving further water on the conflagration. Off to the left and right down the hillside the fire seemed to be dying out—balked on one hand by a stone meadow which had long been cleared of trees, and on the other by a road which cut through the woodland edged for a distance by a low stone wall.

Adam stretched himself upon the ground, looking really ill now and no longer able to stand. He fumbled with his shirt, buttoning it on, then folded his arms across draw-up knees and leaned his head upon them. If he were ill let other hands succor him. Lora thought, still angry and shaken.

Wade touched her arm gently. "I think there's no further use in staying here. We ought to get back to mother. She'll be worried. But first let's ask Morgan if there's anything else we can do."

There was a crash and a shower of sparks as the stable roof fell in but now more smoke than flame shot up and the blaze was quite evidently eating itself out.

Terrorists Raid Military Convoy

ALGIERS (AP)—Terrorist rebels yesterday and last night riddled a military convoy, bombed two downtown Algiers theaters and set a $57,000 fire.

From 14 to 22 persons were wounded in the theater bombings and an official French source said today the military convoy ambushed near Guelma lost 15 dead, 5 wounded and 8 missing.

Heavily armed French reinforcements were summoned.

Rebel arsonists cut the wires leading to Zeralda, 30 miles south of Algiers, late last night and set fire to a big fruit packing house. Damage was estimated at 20 million francs ($67,000).

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market was irregularly lower in the early afternoon today with the aircrafts strong and steels weak.

Changes covered a range of around 3 points lower to 2 points higher with most plus and minus signs small.

Trading was brisk at times with the pace ahead of yesterday's 2,430,000 shares.

Aircrafts were up at the start on hopes aroused by Washington's enlarged estimates of air defense needs in the coming fiscal year.

Strength in that area, however, was more than offset by selling in the steels and some motors later in the day. Bethlehem and Chrysler were active and lower.

Studebaker-Packard was higher again today on the news of an Air Force contract. American Motors gained a fraction on a better earnings picture.

Also higher were U.S. Rubber, Boeing, Glenn Martin, North American Aviation, Air Reduction and Schering.

Lower were Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Montgomery Ward, RCA, Consolidated Edison, Allied Chemical, American Edison, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, New York Central, Texas Co., Johns-Manville and Distillers Corp.

Bangle Day Will Be Observed In City Saturday

Bangle Day for tuberculosis patients will be observed in the city Saturday.

Girl Scouts will sell the bangles, red double banded crosses "symbol of hope for TB patients" downtown.

Bangle Day was observed in the city and county schools last Friday, when each student wore the red cross.

Christmas Seals are now being sold at booths in the post office, in addition to the mailing seal and bond campaign conducted by the county Tuberculosis association. Members of the Service League are selling the seals from the booths during this week to assist in the current drive for funds.

Deacon Club Is Skirting Debate

NEWTON, N.C. — The Deacon Club Foundation an alumni organization that boosts athletics at Wake Forest College, has taken no position in the current controversy at the Baptist school, its president said today.

Ed T. Harrill of Newton, head of the foundation, said it also has not taken any action in connection with the recent resignations of Wake Forest football coach Tom Rogers and athletic director Pat Preston.

"To my knowledge," Harrill said, "no one officially connected with the Deacon Club Foundation has suggested or sponsored any candidates for the possible vacancies on the Wake Forest athletic staff."

"A committee was appointed by the Athletic Council at its Dec. 3 meeting for the purpose of screening applications. The committee consists of Prof. Forrest Clinch, chairman; Dr. Harold W. Tribble (president of Wake Forest); Pat Preston, Dr. Vernon Taylor and myself. However, this committee has not been given instructions to proceed and I therefore presume that until such instructions are given, no action whatsoever will be taken."

"The Deacon Club as such is taking no position whatever in the investigation (of the college administration and other campus activities) which has been ordered. Its chief interest is in assisting our college, as it moves to Winston-Salem, in every reasonable way to plan and maintain as fine a program of athletic participation as is possible under the circumstances."

An ABC On Confusion Over 2 Men Named Lee

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Here is an ABC on two men named Lee who lost their jobs on the CAA and CAB. Sound confusing? It is. Even telling the difference between CAA and CAB gets confusing. Now, with politics involved, things are worse.

Just keep this in mind about the two Lees before getting any deeper: One is Josh Lee; the other is Frederick B. Lee. Josh Lee, a Democrat, lost his job when his term was up; Frederick Lee, a Republican, was ousted.

CAB — Civil Aeronautics Board — is a five-man board which is the big boss of civil aviation. It says what airline get what routes, writes the safety rules, investigates accidents, and decides who's to blame for them. The CAB is answerable directly to the President. Josh Lee was a member of this five-man board.

CAA — Civil Aeronautics Administration — carries out CAB's orders through teams of inspectors, operates flying facilities such as signals and radar warnings and airport control towers, and is supposed to foster the development of civil aviation in general.

The CAA — Frederick B. Lee was the administrator and boss of the five-man CAB in the Commerce Department. This made Lee answerable directly to Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

Here is what happened: Josh Lee, former Oklahoma senator, was appointed to two six-year terms in 1948. On Dec. 13, Eisenhower announced Dec. 8 he would replace him with another Democrat, G. Joseph Minetti of New York, when his second term ends Dec. 31.

This might not have attracted much attention if Frederick B. Lee had not bounded into the news about the same time. Republican Secretary Weeks forced Lee, a Vermont Republican, to resign as boss of CAA, a job Eisenhower gave him in 1954. On Dec. 13, Eisenhower announced he would be replaced by another Republican, Charles J. Lowen Jr.

The Democrats jumped on this, not so much on the exit of Democrat Josh Lee as on the firing of Republican Frederick B. Lee, but linked the two departures. The big question — not fully answered yet: Why was Frederick B. Lee forced to resign?

In a letter sent with his resignation to Eisenhower, F. B. Lee said Weeks told him they weren't getting along satisfactorily. But, Lee informed newsmen, Weeks had never told him what was wrong.

Then Weeks' undersecretary of commerce, Louis S. Rothschild, got into the act with an explanation which explained little. He said Lee was asked to quit because of an "accumulation of stress, detrimental to the sound development of civil aviation."

Sen. Monroey (D-Okla.), chairman of the Senate's subcommittee on aviation, said his group would investigate the whole thing in January.

He said Frederick B. Lee had been let out because he didn't "knuckle under" to Weeks and Rothschild so they could be the big bosses of aviation. He said Frederick B. Lee favored a big federal aid program to help more airports while Weeks and Rothschild wanted a "railroad-slanted transportation policy." Then he took another crack at Rothschild.

He said Minetti, picked by the Republicans to succeed Josh Lee on the CAB, although a Democrat, was a "buddy" of Rothschild.

The sacking of Frederick B. Lee from the CAA, Monroey said, "is all part of a pattern which includes the blocking of the reappointment of Josh Lee (to the CAB), the firing of a Republican and chairman of the CAB) is soon to be appointed a federal judge. And Weeks will have another position to fill in his grab for control of aviation."

Turnabout

State Highway Patrolman James Boykin, of Greenville, found himself in a peculiar position yesterday. Instead of having to investigate an accident, Boykin had to call city police to investigate one in which he was involved.

Damage in the accident at the intersection of Fifth and Eastern Streets yesterday morning was estimated at $250 after Boykin's patrol car was struck by a vehicle driven by Mrs. Mary Livingston Wooten, 55, of 1407 E. Fourth Street. No injuries were reported.

City police cited Mrs. Wooten for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Stepfather Gets Prison Sentence In Assault Case

Stephen Paul Ebron, 23-year-old Bonner's Lane Negro, was sentenced yesterday by Superior Court Judge William J. Bundy to 15 years in State Prison for attempting to rape his two and a half year old stepdaughter.

Ebron, who was not represented by counsel, told the court he remembered little or nothing of the incident on the night of Nov. 16.

A friend of his wife's, Thelma Teel, told the court, however, that she came to the home early in the evening and found the child bloody and lying in its crib. Ebron, she said, was only partially dressed and had blood on him also.

The Grand Jury, meanwhile, returned a true bill in the case of Henry Lee Darden, Negro, charged with July shotgun slaying of his mother-in-law. The case was continued until the January term of court.

Grover Smith and Wade Tucker, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, received two year sentences, suspended upon three years probation.

Luther Harp pled guilty to possession of non-tax paid whiskey and was sentenced to nine months on the roads.

Robert Moseley's 12 months sentence for breaking and entering and larceny was suspended on payment of a $20 fine and condition that he obtain gainful employment outside the state.

Leola Lee Joyner of Farmville was fined $100 and costs for possession of non-tax paid whiskey.

Allegedly Shot Boy In Forehead With Air Rifle

Mrs. Mary Phillips, of 1901 E. Third Street has been charged with assault after she allegedly shot a 13-year-old boy in the forehead with a BB gun Monday.

Mrs. Phillips was arrested after allegedly shooting young Donald Joyner with the youngster's gun. A warrant against her was sworn out by the boy's mother, Mrs. Beverly Joyner, of 1804 E. Third Street.

Reports indicated that Mrs. Phillips was gathering corn in a field near her home in east Greenville when an altercation arose between her and a group of nearby youngsters. The alleged shooting took place shortly after. Young Joyner apparently was not seriously hurt.

Tenant Home Is Lost To Blaze

A four-room tenant home was destroyed by fire on the Arthur Evans farm this morning.

The house, located about three miles from Greenville on the Palmetto land highway, was occupied by William Rogers, Negro, his wife and several children.

Greenville firemen who answered the call to the blaze said none of the household furnishings were saved. The fire apparently started in the kitchen of the home but its origin was unknown. Occupants told firemen that the stove in the kitchen was not lit.

The local firemen said the blaze was completely out of control when they arrived. The firefighters stood by to prevent the spread of the flames.

Greenville firemen were called shortly before 11 o'clock.

Estes Evasive As To Decision

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) remains evasive as to whether he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination but says he will announce his decision very soon.

Asked by newsmen last night about reports that he would make known his decision at a meeting of Democratic leaders in Washington Friday, Kefauver said:

"I have not invited anyone to that meeting. When I have reached a decision I will call a press conference for the announcement."

The Tennessee senator attacked President Eisenhower on foreign policy issues, accusing him of mistakes. "At the Geneva conference the President did not have any program for his ambassadors to carry out," he told a party rally.

Conspiracy Case Is Carried Over

ASHEBORO, N. C. (AP) — Conspiracy cases against three members of a former grand jury have been carried over to the Jan. 30 criminal term of Randolph Superior Court.

No action was taken during the December term ended yesterday. Indictments were returned last week on two counts of embezzlement (attempting to influence a jury) and one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and obstructing justice against A. V. Councilman, former grand juror; Harman Ridler of Asheville, and W. C. York, Asheboro attorney.

The State Bureau of Investigation for several months has been probing allegations of grand jury irregularities last June and July. Statements allegedly signed by a number of grand jurors, charging that all members of the grand jury were not consulted in making decisions.

A sworn statement, signed later by all but Councilman, repudiated charges of the first declaration and said all the jury's work was in accord with the law.

NAACP Concedes Some Exceptions

NEW YORK — Some Negro community groups in the South have expressed a preference for continuation of segregated schools, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People reports.

An NAACP spokesman emphasized, however, that such cases are "rare exceptions."

"The statement was made yesterday in connection with a petition in Henderson, Ky., by Negro residents asking the Board of Education to erect a consolidated school in the county for colored students. The NAACP spokesman said that regardless of such requests, the association would support any individual in those communities who wanted to go to nonsegregated schools.

The name "panther" is often used both for the leopard and for the puma.

December Cold Still Prevails

The early December cold wave continued to prevail in the Greenville area today under an overcast sky.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 45, six degrees above the previous day's 39.

Lowest temperature here last night was 21, three degrees higher than on the previous night.

Giant Christmas Card On Display

CHICAGO (AP) — A giant Christmas card went on display last night when the Merchandise Mart's annual greeting was lit.

The "card" is on the face of the Mart, the world's largest commercial building.

The scene depicts the Holy Family and the Star of Bethlehem. Across the top, in illuminated letters two stories high, are the words, "Peace On Earth." The Holy Family figures are 120 feet tall, and one-third the width of the building—158 feet. The star is 48 feet in diameter and more than 40 feet tall.

Fifty thousand feet of electrical wiring and more than 6,500 25-watt bulbs are used in the display.

NOT READY TO QUIT
SURRY, VA. (AP) — Sidney B. Barham Jr., 83, says he will stay in office as clerk of courts as long as the people want him. He's been on the job 33 years. Prior to that he served in both branches of the Virginia legislature.

Gov. Lausche Is Willing Candidate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, today announced his willingness to become "favorite son" candidate for president at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next August.

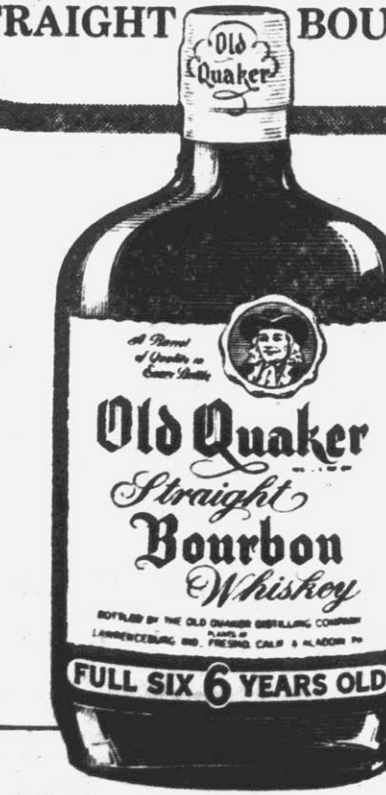

The five-term governor said in a letter to Rudey E. Stapleton, Fulton County Democratic committee chairman:

"I will allow my name to be used as the favorite son to whom you and others so disposed will be initially pledged."

Ohio law requires written permission from a "favorite son" candidate for delegates to run pledged to him.

COLD PEPPERS
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Officers said their hot trail turned cold. They followed a trail of chile peppers a half block but failed to find a suspect in the theft of five strings of the red peppers Julian Garcia was going to use to raise the temperature of his food.

RUGGED HOBBY
EAST MONTGOMERY, ILL. (AP) — Back in 1897 Albert Bensinger fractured a leg and took up a hobby of making rag rugs. His leg mended but the hobby lingered on. In retirement since 1953, he spends many hours at it. He recently completed 42 rugs for the Peace Lutheran Church.
