Winter Scene Used For P.T.A. Meet

ROBERSONVILLE—The Parent-Teachers Association held its regular meeting Thursday, December 8, at 7:30 in the high school auditorium. The business session was brief due to the length of the Christmas program that followed. When the curtain went up a pretty scene was displayed. Trees were on either side and the stage was centered with a large sleigh and cardboard horses. Mr. Howard Whitehurst's eighth grade, dressed appropriately in heavy coats, warm hats and mufflers, in and around the sleigh, sang many Christmas carols. One pupil sang "All I Want For Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

The Girls' Chorus, holding candles, entertained with five numbers. Santa came from the back of the auditorium to talk to the children and to ask Miss Richardson, the school librarian, what she would like him to bring her. She gave a humorous list of the teachers' wants which included a television, record player, Cadillac and other expensive gifts. Saint Nicholas and one of the boys then sang "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa."

Mr. Whitehurst's class received the attendance prize at the end of a delightful evening.

Some of the freshmen walk in the front door as farmers from the Everglades of Florida might walk in the door of the Capitol of the United States. MYF Presents Nativity Scene

GRIFTON—On Sunday night at 7 o'clock members of the MYF presented a Nativity Scene to the church. This was of their making and will be lighted each night throughout the holiday season.

The impressive dedication service took place in the main auditorium of the church with Tommy Boysey, Emily and Marian Nelson having the reading parts. Appropriate Christmas carols were sung at intervals in the reading. At the conclusion of the program the audience was asked to follow the star which was carried by Martha Hart. This led to the church lawn where the Nativity scene is set up. As the young people sang "Silent Night," the lights were turned on to show the Holy Child in the manger and the Mother with the shepherds and animals making a very realistic scene.

Dedication speeches were made by the president, Judy Hart, and Jesse Wade, vice president. Choir members were Carolyn and Martha Hart, Jean Carr, Linda Chauncey, Janis Cox, Gladys Smith, John Triplett, Steve Cox, Ushers were Tommy Sue, Jesse Wade, Mac Chauncey and Bill Goolsby. The coffee table held a colorful Hawthorne gum drop tree with groups of candle Christmas carolers, and on the book shelf a beautiful scene of the Nativity.

The president, Mrs. Herbert W. Lee, called the meeting to order. After roll call and completing plans for helping a needy family, the hostess served members party sandwiches, stuffed nuts and dates, cookies and Russian tea; and as favors, a Christmas tree made from a green gum drop centered with a small red candle tiered with layers of crinoline dotted with gold, red and green paper stars.

Health Center Is Given Approval

RALEIGH—The construction of a $66,700 health center at Statesville was approved by the Medical Care Commission yesterday.

Dr. John A. Ferrell, the commission's executive secretary, said plans call for a one-story building containing 4,000 square feet. The center, which must be approved by federal authorities, would be financed by the federal government paying 50 per cent of the cost, the state 16 2-3 per cent, and Tredegar County 33 1-3 per cent.

say we just can't seem to get the spirit of Christmas then we have forgotten the birth of Christ, and should read the scripture 'Unto you is born this day.' We find that the things that mean most to us at Christmas are the things the family can do together. We may sing some modern songs but we find they are still old carols, and we may buy new gadgets for the tree but the ones we cherish are those that have been kept with care from year to year. And finally on Christmas day we find that one way of life remains—that which Christ gave us; that old customs strengthen our family ties, and bind us to our friends and make us one with all mankind.

"And even though there be many changes we will not spend Christmas nor observe Christmas—we will keep Christmas: keep it as it is in all the loveliness of its ancient tradition.

"May we keep it in our hearts that we may be kept in its hope."

Dr. Pingle Gives Meaning To New Christmas Symbol

The home of Mrs. W. F. Moore was gay with Christmas decorations as she and Mrs. F. A. Bendall, co-hostesses, entertained members of the Chatham Book Club on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30.

After welcoming members and a guest, Dr. Martha Pingle, Mrs. Carl Adams, president, presided over a short business session. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee. Mrs. Moore introduced Dr. Martha Pingle of the English department of East Carolina College, who delighted her listeners with the lovely and moving Christmas story by Emily McCracken "The Little Black Lamb."

As an introduction to the story, Dr. Pingle cited the traditional Christmas symbols which have been handed down through the centuries and which are used as the basis for all Christmas legends. The three most important of these are: the Star, the sign of royalty and divinity, which was placed in the heavens as a guide and a message; the lamb, denoting purity, goodness and kindness, and the tree, symbolizing hope and eternal life.

Dr. Pingle explained that the idea for the story of "The Little Black Lamb" was not originated by Miss McCracken but was based on a legend which arose a thousand years before the birth of the Christ Child.

In her adaptation, the author shows how even an unworthy gift can be made worthy through love and patience and perseverance.

Dr. Pingle then played a tape recording she had made of "The Little Black Lamb," complete with background music. As the story unfolded, she commented on the Hebrew superstitions which motivated the plot.

The story tells of Ishma, an old shepherd, who has a black lamb born in his flock. It is customary to dispose of such an animal as it brings shame and is an omen of bad luck. Deciding to go against tradition, Ishma keeps the lamb. It proves not an easy task he has set for himself, however, as the little black lamb strays away from the flock and on many occasions is found hurt and bleeding and has to be nursed and comforted. When, finally, Ishma's efforts begin to bear fruit and the little lamb learns to conform, Ishma admits that he loves it better than all the rest.

One night a star appears in the heavens and a shepherd boy comes to tell Ishma the glad tidings. He begs him to bring a gift and to let it be from all the shepherds, as they have nothing to lay at the feet of the new born babe. Ishma has only the little black lamb, which is his most precious possession, but he feels that it has been made worthy through love and kindness. So, he goes, at once, to the stable and the little black lamb jumps from his cloak and kneels beside the Christ Child.

In her interpretation of "The Little Black Lamb," Dr. Pingle impregnates the true meaning of Christmas with an entirely new idea. That this new conception is being adopted by many, is evidenced by the use of the black lamb as a new symbol for Christmas.

As a television personality, Dr. Pingle is now at work producing a play, "Holiday Greetings," which she wrote especially for WNCN. The cast is composed of townspeople, college personnel, and two third grade children. It is to be presented from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Christmas Eve. All present were cordially invited to tune in at that hour.

Following the program, everyone joined in the singing of Christmas carols to the accompaniment of a ukulele played by Mrs. T. M. Watson. Guests were then invited into the dining room where Mrs. N. S. Beard and Mrs. Carl Adams assisted the hostesses in serving a delicious salad course with coffee and holiday confections.

Each member was presented a gift from under the Christmas tree and much merriment ensued as they were opened and displayed. After the exchange of books, a most enjoyable meeting was adjourned.

Buffet Meal Easy To Serve

By Mrs. Lillie Little
Pitt County Home Agent
"To give a party and enjoy it, too" is the ambition of every homemaker. Especially at this season of the year do we think in terms of entertaining family and friends.

A buffet meal is an easy way to serve a larger number of people than can be seated at the ordinary table. It is a meal that may be served from the dining table or from the table and buffet or side table if in a home. The buffet meal may be either breakfast, luncheon or dinner and it may be formal or very informal.

Any way it can be fun for guests and hostess if well planned, for with careful planning and working of the plan the effort will be reduced to a minimum, the food will be good and pretty and everyone will be glad they came.

Planning Is Important
There must be some effort to serving any type of meal, but care in planning and organization of efforts will insure a feeling of poise on the part of the hostess. Guests should never sense that the hostess is worried, tense or overworked from preparing the meal.

So if you are thinking about a Christmas buffet, let's do a little planning!
First, you want the table and the food to be "as pretty as a picture," simple and requiring a minimum of work.
Second, the food must taste good and be nourishing, enough but not too much. Remember there will be many parties for everyone.

Third, those who prepare and serve the meals must not be "worn to a frazzle." The art of being a good hostess is to do a good job and still be calm, rested and able to enjoy family and guests.
Same Meal Pattern
The pattern for this meal will be pretty much the same as for any other well-balanced meal.

A main dish will probably be your first choice. Hot casserole dishes of fish, beef, veal or chicken are always good. Hot roasts of ham, lamb, beef, pork and turkey are traditional and always good. Then, of course, any or all of them may be used as cold cuts. The garnish may make it festive.

With vegetables and fruits we might keep color as well as nutrition in mind. Spiced bright red beets are pretty and tasty. Buttered green peas, Brussels sprouts or broccoli add a bit of green and are delicious, too. Glazed apples might be natural color or red. Grated sweet potato pudding is perfect with baked ham or roast pork, or they might be mashed and baked in orange shells.

For a salad you might choose the molded salad which shows off to wonderful advantage in this type meal. It would be a good time to use cranberries, cherries, raspberries and strawberries for red or lime, mint and green vegetables for green. A green vegetable tossed salad is always good. All molded salads can be made in advance.

Breads and Desserts
For your bread—hot rolls? Brown 'n' serve will save time or make your own and keep in refrigerator until a short time before the meal. Hot biscuits, hot muffins or hot spoon bread may be made from mixes made ahead of time.

Plum pudding and fruit cake are desserts that may be made weeks ahead and served with hard sauce. Cranberry and strawberry chiffon pies can also be made ahead. Or you might like Christmas cookies and ambrosia. The choice might be one of many.

Relishes might be an assortment of pickles, olives, spiced peaches, nuts, celery tidbits or green pepper rings. Keep them dainty and pretty.

A hot spiced fruit punch for a beverage will greet your guests with a nice aroma. It might be spiced apple juice or hot tea with lemon and mint for a garnish. Coffee is always a choice for many who can't do without it even at a Christmas party. You might try hot milk punch (milk heated with a bit of sugar and nutmeg added) or hot chocolate (beaten until nice and creamy and a bit of vanilla added for variety).

Decorating Can Be Fun
And what about decorations? Why not look to nature for these? No doubt the house will already be decorated with greens and berries. For the table a red or green tablecloth would be pretty if one is available. The plain white one always makes a pretty background for red or green decorations, however.

Large bowls of fruits, vegetables, nuts all lend themselves to the Christmas theme and colors. Magnolia leaves and branches with red seed balls are lovely with red candles.

Creating your own decorations can be a part of the family fun for the holiday season.

Remember to keep the real Christmas spirit and be grateful for all the things we are permitted to share and enjoy.

The warmth of heart and a genuine welcome are more important than fine food and a pretentious home. We see fine furnishings, but we feel genuine hospitality.

Mrs. Howell Hostess To The Round Table

In the glow of the Christmas tree lights and other lovely holiday decorations, Mrs. W. W. Howell was a most gracious hostess to the members of the Round Table and her guests, Mrs. John Reynolds of Greensboro, and Misses Elizabeth Walker and Eunice McGee of East Carolina College, at her home on Rock Spring Road on Dec. 13.

Mrs. H. H. Duncan, president, dispensed with all business and read "Keeping Christmas" by Henry Van Dyke. Miss Walker delighted everyone when she told her story, "The Voyage of the Wee Red Caps." Mrs. Robert Fountain, in her most talented manner, rendered a piano-ologue, "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

The program closed with the singing of some lovely carols with Mrs. D. S. Spain at the piano. Mrs. Howell served a delicious salad course, with hot tea, fruit cake and candy, with all the Christmas trimmings. She presented lovely gifts, hand-made bako covers of white with gold lettering, the club colors, to everyone present.

Students And Glee Club Give Christmas Story

GRIFTON—The December meeting of the Grifton PTA was held on Tuesday night in the school auditorium with the president, James Israel, presiding.

The Rev. R. C. Mooney Jr. gave the devotional after which the program chairman, Archie Rogers, presented Mrs. June Carson of the music department who conducted the program. This was the Christmas story in word and song, with members of the glee club and high school students taking part. Pat Stokes accompanied. The scene opened with a living room in which a young girl, portrayed by Fatsy Burley, and her mother, Phyllis Dudley, who were talking as a number of her young friends came to sing carols with them. Upon their leaving, Fatsy fell asleep and in her dream saw the Christmas scene unfold. The narrator was Fred Taylor. Taking the part of Mary and Joseph were Nancy Smith and Roy Garris. The angels were Donald Bennett, Ellen Calvert, Ann Lynn Davis, Bonnie Lewis, Dorothy Mitchell and Peggy Dixon. Wise men were portrayed by Tommy Sugg, Gilbert Quigley and Bobby Rouse.

Taking solo parts were Bette McCotter and Wayne Erwin. A trio composed of Wayne Erwin, Carrol Gray and Ronnie Stallings sang "We Three Kings of Orient Are." A number of traditional songs included "Deck the Halls With Holly," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "O Holy Night," "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," "Away in a Manger," "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night."

The scenery and lighting produced a beautiful effect for the program. Cakes on percentage were won by Mrs. Ticker's fourth and Mrs. Bradley's ninth grades.

Principal E. B. Bright made a few remarks and reported on the Book Fair which was well received. He asked support for the Band Boosters Club and the basketball teams. Incidentally, the last game before the holidays will be on the home court on Friday night.

After the singing of "White Christmas" and "Jingle Bells" by the audience, the benediction was said by the Rev. Mooney.

Atheneum Club Fetes Husbands

Madames Sellers Crisp, Walter Harrington and Owen Marshburn entertained members of the Atheneum Book Club and their husbands at the home of Mrs. Harrington on Fifth Street Tuesday evening.

As the guests approached the home, with minds jumbled with personal responsibilities, anticipations and ideas for Christmas, a full spirit of the coming date descended upon them at the sight of the hostess' front door with its huge red candles, magnolia leaves and poinsettias. Just inside the door was a lovely white Christmas tree decorated with red balls and tinsel. The mantels were most attractive with angels and choir boys flanked with spruce, berries and candles.

The dining room was a picture of beauty with its green satin cloth centered with an arrangement of Christmas decorations in gold, green and red.

Serving at either end of the table were Mrs. Sellers Crisp and Mrs. Ty Wagner.

The guests were served a three course turkey dinner.

Hurricane shades over red candles and surrounded with greenery decorated the green covered tables.

Following the dinner, "I've Got A Secret" was very capably carried out with Col. Owen Marshburn as "Gary Moore," Dr. K. B. Pace as "Bill Cullen," Mrs. J. B. Cummings as "Jayne Meadows," Mr. Ty Wagner as "Henry Morgan," Mrs. Lee Hannah as "Faye Emerson," and immensely enjoyed by all the members and guests.

Mrs. Knott Proctor and Mr. June Rose led in singing Christmas carols, accompanied by Miss Marian Folk on her harpsichord.

The Christmas spirit was manifested throughout the evening and all present voted it a delightful occasion.

Boon To Education, Medical Care

The Ford Foundation, launching history's biggest give-away program has made provisions to channel a half billion dollars into colleges and hospitals, and in so doing has rendered immeasurable service to the American people.

The unprecedented gesture on the part of the Ford Foundation will prove a major step in strengthening the position of colleges and universities throughout the nation by enabling them to keep top professors and instructors who otherwise would be lured by higher salaries in to private industry. At the same time the gifts to hospitals throughout the country will certainly be used for the fulfillment of the late Henry Ford's purpose in establishing the foundation for "the advancement of human welfare."

The 210 million dollars which will go into ten year endowments to be used solely for a decade for increasing teachers salaries will keep many a brilliant professor from leaving the classroom in search of greener pastures. It will enable colleges and universities throughout the country to afford the young people the highest calibre instructors available.

For private hospitals the $200 million grant likewise will mean better medical facilities and better medical care which will reach into practically every community in the nation.

Privately supported colleges and hospitals in North Carolina were not overlooked by the Foundation in awarding the gifts. In addition to gifts to private hospitals in North Carolina, colleges and universities of the state received more than $5,200,000 in grants from the Foundation.

The gifts will prove a boon to both education and better medical care in North Carolina just as they will in the other 48 states.

The benefits which the nation as a whole will derive from the history making distribution of funds by the Ford Foundation cannot in any sense be measured in dollars alone. The funds will continue to benefit the American people through many decades to come.

Some Alert Boys Show Cooperation With Law

The important part alert citizens can play in law enforcement activities was vividly demonstrated by a group of school boys at Youngsville who jotted down an automobile license number that led to the quick capture of two bank robbers.

Information the boys turned over to officials proved the key to the apprehension of the two youths who had robbed the bank of $1,500. The boys noticed a car drive up and park in front of the bank in the small town. They noted too that one of the two persons who got out of the car acted suspicious. They decided to jot down the license number of the automobile.

Had it not been for the information the boys furnished officers it may have taken days or weeks to solve the bank robbery. As it was the robbers were behind bars in about two hours.

All law enforcement agencies depend to a great extent on public assistance in solving crimes and tracking down criminals. The degree of public assistance officers receive often determines the outcome of a case. If more citizens would follow the example of the Youngsville boys by taking their civic duty of assisting in law enforcement more seriously, it would go a long way toward decreasing the number of unsolved crimes.

Super-Snoop? Or Maybe A Human Ping-Pong Ball

Traitor, master espionage agent, or just plain crazy? Which of those titles is best fitted for Dr. Otto John, it is difficult to say just now; but time will tell whether the turn-about former security chief of the West German government has betrayed his government or the Russians, or both.

John's return to West Germany caused as much stir throughout the allied nations as his desertion to East Germany 16 months ago. How much valuable information on West Germany and other allied countries the "man of a thousand secrets" handed over to the communists has been a matter of speculation since his dramatic outward change of allegiance in July of 1954. What, if any, information he gained from the communists and will now turn over to the allies likewise is causing high speculation.

Dr. Otto John has indeed become an international mystery man in the past few decades. Under Hitler's rule in Germany he rose to the head of the German national airline from which post he was in a strategic spot to carry out espionage activities at a high level. He later deserted to the Allied side. Over the objections of Chancellor Adenauer he was appointed director of West Germany's Office for Protection of Constitution, from which post he deserted to the communists.

Now he's back in West Germany after deserting the communists.

Where will he go next?

Close Inquiry Should Be Given Bridge Collapse

If the promised full technical inquiry into the collapse of a bridge near Burlington turns up any pertinent data, it may be the source of preventing in the future similar situations which could produce tragedy.

The Haw River bridge collapsed Saturday and sent three vehicles plunging into the Rocky River bed. According to the highway patrolman who made a preliminary investigation, two cars sideswiped, and one of them struck the bridge supports causing the bridge to collapse.

The collapse of the bridge after being struck by a vehicle is certainly no indication that North Carolina's bridges are not soundly built. Nevertheless the investigation now underway may turn up some information which will make bridges less likely to collapse even when their supports are struck by a rapidly moving vehicle.

North Carolina's overall highway safety program demands that attention be given to the construction of highways and bridges as well as to driving habits of motorists of accidents, deaths and injuries are to be decreased.

Three Factors On Funds Allocation

By LYNN NISFET
EFFORT — It was inherent in discussions at the recent White House Conference on Education and in deliberations of the State Board of Education and its special committee to devise a formula for distribution of Federal and State aid that three major items should control allocations.

First was need; next was ability to meet the need (on national level ability of States and on State level ability of Counties); and then came the item of effort made at State and local level. The factors of ability and effort occasioned all the worry. In many respects "effort" was most difficult to appraise than "ability."

What constitutes "effort"? And what is a correct definition of contributions to public schools and to the whole purpose of education?

STATISTICS — The November issue of the North Carolina Public School Bulletin, an official publication of the State Department of Public Instruction uses a streamer headline to proclaim that "Public Schools Get More Dollars, Less Percentage of General Fund Total." Obvious purpose is to indicate that State "effort" for support of public schools is less now than it was nine years ago, and less than four years ago.

Figures presented show that in 1946-47 the public school system directly received $64,788,392, which represented 71 per cent of all general fund revenue. For the 1954-55 school year the public schools directly received $124,071,428, more than double the amount of dollars but representing only 61.3 per cent of total general fund money. That would seem to indicate reduction in "effort" for public schools.

Further analysis raises question about any decline in overall effort for public schools, and proves more effort for the whole purpose of public education.

OVERALL — The Bulletin presents another table showing percentage distribution of State revenue for four years—1951-52 through 1954-55. During that time, according to the table, the public schools amount declined from 40.2 per cent to 37.6 per cent; highway spending declined from 38.3 per cent to an even 38 per cent; and departments and institutions went up from 19.9 per cent to 21.6 per cent; debt service increased from nine-tenths of one percent to 2.2 per cent, and agriculture remained constant at six-tenths of one percent.

On face of these figures it looks like "effort" for public schools has declined while effort for other services have increased. The fact is that considerable part of the increase in department and institution spending (which includes retirement fund matching)

Other Editors Are Saying... The Teen-Age Diet

(Wilson Times)
Did you know your teenager may be undernourished? They can look rosy and healthy and be full of empty calories. For dietary investigations over the past ten years show malnutrition is nationwide in teenagers.

The studies go into the situation thoroughly and come up with some pertinent facts. The average child is only properly nourished through the first 10 years of age. From then on his diet declines until, as the report shows, it reaches "an alarming low" in the teens.

Two factors are blamed, dietary ignorance and the lack of parental directions or discipline. In other words the children are allowed to indulge their whims and likes and dislikes to the point that their health is impaired.

Myrtle Axelrod, who writes the full story in the Reader's Digest, describes the luncheon in favor with the high school set as a hot dog, bag of potato chips, and a soft drink. And these have too little nourishment, for a growing person. Then they get hungry in the afternoon and eat a candy bar and there goes the appetite for the evening meal.

The result of this meal skipping and snack bar eating is the loss to the body of protein, calcium and vitamins. And the result are far reaching. The boys are making poor showings in physical education, as Selective Service records show. The malnutrition in the girls of today will show up in the mothers of tomorrow. And this is a serious point.

Notes By An Ex-Pipe Smoker

At the risk of sounding as though I thought there were any readers who cared one way or another how I came out combating the pipe habit, this column will carry on with the assumption non-smokers may find grounds for thanksgiving they have thus far not fallen to the siren song and soothing comfort of good tobacco.

Last week's "diary" tried to describe something of the grip tobacco holds on the habitual smoker, namely me. The necessarily brief account of symptoms underscored a physical craving and a demand by the nervous system.

Senses of sight, taste, hearing and even smell seemed to sharpen as abstinence from my pipe continued. There was a "stretching" sensation in the ankles and feet which lasted for several days; a tendency to yawn; and for three nights, I'm told, there was a considerable amount of twitching in my sleep.

As the days passed I learned it was extremely easy to "rationalize" thinking toward relaxing my no-smoking resolve. I imagine an alcoholic has much the same problem.

By December 10 (the ordeal began with sunrise Dec. 4), my eyes had lost their staring sensation and some of the nervous tautness was gone. Candy and chewing gum remain my staunchest allies.

The most hazardous hours proved to be those immediately after supper, before the pattern of the evening's chores and relaxation had become established. For the record, my resolution was not completely smoke-proof; having succumbed to perhaps six cigarettes (a pretty flat substitute to

New Hollywood Stars Sought

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Anybody who wants to be a movie star? Well, now is the time to try.

"Fresh talent has more opportunity now than at any time I can remember," remarked film producer Hal B. Wallis. "As more and more stars form their own companies and appear in fewer films the supply of veteran players has diminished. The discovery of new talent has become a problem of real importance to the motion picture industry."

This statement by Wallis, however, is no invitation to every good-looking stage-struck girl in Cornsop Corners, Neb., to fly out to Hollywood and beat on his office door.

"The idea still exists that all one needs to get ahead in pictures is a pretty face or a good shape," he said. "If that was ever true once, it isn't true now. You have to have real acting talent—a spark of personality that the camera can catch. Anyone who really wants to get ahead in the movies should first try to get as much experience as possible in little theater work or playing summer stock."

"The Cinderella legend persists. It is said that many of the top film actresses got their start as elevator operators or soda fountain waitresses. Perhaps so. But I never have found any real talent while riding elevators or sitting at a drug fountain."

Wallis has a reputation in the industry as a star maker, and the record shows he has been one of its most astute judges of new talent. Among stars he introduced to the screen are Shirley Booth, Burt Lancaster, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Elizabeth Scott, Kirk Douglas, Wendell Corey, Corinne Calvet and Charlton Heston.

"I'm constantly looking for new talent," he said, "but I don't find it standing on street corners or by reading the mail."

"It's a real search. We find potential new stars by going to the theater, by watching television, by interviewing young bit players."

"Sometimes but very rarely, I sign up a new actor without even having him make a screen test. I saw Burt Lancaster in only one act of a Broadway play and signed him up the next day."

Lancaster is costarred with a pipe-smoker) and a half-bowl of pipe tobacco the other evening, during the past week.

This was poor fare to one accustomed to smoking six packs of tobacco in a week, and I trust this lapse proved negligible in the overall campaign. At any rate, there is no longer any hunger for a pipe; indeed, my recent sampling was almost a disappointment. To all intents and purposes one could say the main hurdle has been overcome.

I don't think my fond recollections of the pipe habit will fade for years. Frankly, I liked my pipe and it was a comfortable and near-constant companion for the past eleven or twelve years. But, even over-eating isn't so good for a person; and my indulgence had assumed the proportions of too much of a good thing.

visit or words we read, or pictures we see, or thoughts we cherish. When these tempting influences, whether personal or impersonal, come in contact with our lives, they begin to impair us in quite definite fashion and very often they injure us permanently.

The way to avoid such damage is very simple and easy to understand—keep away from these persons, things, and influences. Sometimes when we consider the problem of how to meet temptation and overcome it, we become very philosophical and commend to ourselves very complicated schemes. But the problem is relatively simple—keep away from persons and things that tempt you.

The temptations which overcome us are not so often the ones we encounter as the ones we seek out.

Knowland Voices Challenge Of A Faction

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Senator William F. Knowland's challenge to the Eisenhower-Hall-Dewey wing of the Republican Party does not represent merely the Presidential ambitions of the senior Senator from California. The grim and humorless Knowland is the symbol and spokesman for a solid bloc of Republicans on Capitol Hill and throughout the country.

Most of this conservative and isolationist faction will support President Eisenhower, if he runs again, although some will fall into line grudgingly. Despite his demand that Ike declare his 1956 intentions before February or precipitate a bitter intra-Party fight for the nomination, even Knowland would back an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. He would deride his real try until 1960.

RESENT PRESSURING But the Knowland faction, which consists chiefly of former Senator Taft's followers in the Far and Middle West, does not intend to permit the Eisenhower Easterners especially National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Thomas F. Dewey, to drag them into a closed convention, where they will be pressured into nominating a hand-picked candidate.

Specifically, the movement is directed against Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is supposed to be the favorite of the White House palace guard, if he does not run for re-election. The "Big Three" of California politics—Knowland, Governor Goodwin J. Knight and Chief Justice Earl Warren—have never waded any love on "Young Dewey" as they refer to him.

It means, more precisely, that if Nixon enters the California primary he will be opposed by the combined Knowland-Knight forces. And without the support of his home state delegation, the V.P. might be knocked out of the running before he began to run.

DISAGREE WITH IKE'S POLICIES Presidential personalities aside, the Republicans, represented by Knowland's protest against delay disagree with many of Eisenhower's major domestic and foreign policies. They dislike particularly the Administration's perpetuation and extension of so many Roosevelt-Truman ideas in "home and foreign fields."

Diet Linked To Nation's Economy

By ELMER ROESSNER
Changes in our economy are causing changes in the American diet; changes in the diet are in turn, causing other changes in the economy.

More people are employed now than ever before. Average—hence aggregate—wages are higher than at any other time. Along with peak business and security returns, total income, per family income and per person income are greater than ever.

How long since you've seen a butcher sell a block of salt pork?

The American diet changes with income. People are now eating more "upper class" foods and less working-stiff fare.

That's one of the reasons for the present pork panic. Pork used to be known as the poor man's meat. Maybe it still is. We have fewer poor today and there is less demand, per person for the succulent pig. Sales of pork are so far behind supply that the price has fallen, the government is buying up supplies and even the President of the United States—on advice of economists, not doctors—has switched from smoked beef to bacon for breakfast.

When did you last see stewed liver on a menu?

Factory workers and salaried employees have been buying less pork and more beef and lamb. They are also buying more fresh and fresh-frozen vegetables, more exotic foods, more fruit, more dairy products. In fact, they are buying more of almost every kind of food except those associated with low incomes: beans, pork, kidneys, tripe, lights, chin bones, fish heads salted cod and hake, calves' jowls and turnips.

FAT AS AN INDEX
Studies show that per capita consumption of fats rises and falls with prosperity. During World War II prosperity didn't exist in occupied nations. So before we dropped agents and saboteurs behind enemy lines, we sent them to "no fat" schools where they were put on fat-free diets until their skins assumed a chalky look. Otherwise, they would have been recognized instantly as spies by their oil-slick faces.

Walk down any street and butters are exceptions, consumption of beef fat, oleomargarine and other fats has steadily been gaining in prosperous America.

Walk down any street. Count shiny faces. That's prosperity! Records show also that with the rise of incomes and fat-eating there is also a rise in certain ailments, notably diabetes and heart attacks.

A BIT OF RECTITUDE
Now a reaction has set in. So far, it does not appear to have affected total fat consumption. The packers, it is true, have announced they will trim excess fat off pork but that will interest housewives who dislike buying waste and more than it interests the overweight.

However, the sale of dietetic foods has shot up amazingly. Before the war the few diet-food stores were often on side streets, their sur prunes covered with dust and their brain spilling out of inferior packaging. Today diet-food stores are bright and busy places, but, alas, they have lost what might have been the bulk of their customers to the supermarkets.

How much do you weigh, Bud? "All we get are the diabetics that aren't lot for this world anyhow," the proprietor of a wheat-germ and defatted-chocolate emporium was heard to remark.

Nevertheless, the fear of death that some euphonists call the "new dietetic consciousness" has—with the rise in income—resulted in a complex revolution of the American food industry.

Many merchants used to have "diet corners" in their store. It was a lousy idea—although, I think I recommended it once. Fat people just wouldn't expose themselves to titters by waddling over to a department clearly designated for butterfats.

And now fat-free, sugar-free and low-calorie foods are all over the store. Dietetic sodas are stacked with the others and when you want oil-saturated tuna you have to look sharp or you'll pick up a water-packed can.

So you had a double-headed revolution in the food business since prosperity set in. At the same time, there has been an other double-headed change going on. About that tomorrow.

BLAME EASTERN 'INTERNATIONALISTS'

The Knowland group which is composed of a score of Senators from about a dozen states, blame all these trends on the Eastern internationalists and semi-liberals and they look upon Dewey as their apostle. They recall his "Me, too" campaign in 1948.

They consider him the sponsor of the Dulles and Attorney General Brownell. They also aim as a close co-worker with Sherman Adams, White House chief of staff and Henry Cabot Lodge, our United Nations representative.

KNOWLAND'S CONTENTION
Finally, and most importantly, Senator Knowland believes that his insistence on an open and free-for-all convention will advantage the Republican Party in the 1956 campaign. Otherwise, and especially if it is run by New Yorkers on a closed shop basis, it will lay the GOP open to the charge that their candidate was chosen by a few bosses in a smoke-filled back room, and by Wall Street bosses at that!

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Food shortage and improper clothing for cold weather are among conditions listed at the county prison camp by the Cumberland County grand jury.

The jury filed a report yesterday with Judge George Fountain, who is holding a one-week court term here. It said their investigation of the prison camp indicated poorly prepared food and a food shortage and that some prisoners working the county roads in cold weather are not properly clothed.

Some of the prisoners were quoted as saying one of their fellows was physically unfit for the work and sometimes would faint suddenly.

California's June Primary May See Adlai-Estes Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS California's June primary seems likely to produce a head-on contest between Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson listed California yesterday as one of four additional states in which he will seek pre-convention voter support.

A short time later, Kefauver wound up a week's stay in the politically important state by announcing he too will enter the California primary if he decides to run for president.

The Tennessee senator says he'll declare formally tomorrow. Few will be surprised if he tries again as he did in 1952.

Stevenson added Florida, Pennsylvania and Illinois as well as California, to the list of states where he plans to run in primaries. Previously he had named only Minnesota.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee said he picked these contests so voters could show preference "on a regional basis in the East, Midwest, South and West." He said he would decide about other primaries later.

In Ohio, Gov. Frank Lausche announced he is willing to be his state's "favorite son" candidate at the Democratic convention.

Whether the five-term governor would remain in the secondary role traditionally accorded "favorite son" candidates remained to be seen. Some Democratic leaders outside of Ohio have mentioned him as a possible dark horse winner at the convention.

On the Republican side, friends of Sen. Knowland of California said in Washington they believe the GOP Senate leader will be an active aspirant for the presidential nomination early next year. The Knowland backers professed confidence that President Eisenhower will decide against seeking re-election, and that Eisenhower will make his decision known sometime next month as Knowland has been urging. Knowland himself declined public comment.

Harold E. Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, told a Young Republican Club gathering in New York City it is "unseemly and unwise" to press Eisenhower to seek re-election. And he renewed his contention that the President could reasonably "wait until June or July" before announcing whether he'll run again.

With Eisenhower resting at his Gettysburg, Pa. farm, newsmen turned to White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty to find out whether the President has called Averell Harriman a "Park Avenue Truman."

Hagerty wasn't saying yes or no about this comment. Eisenhower reportedly made about the New York governor while conferring with GOP congressional leaders Monday. Nor would Hagerty say whether he or the President does regard the wealthy Harriman as a Truman from Park Avenue.

Said Harriman through his Albany headquarters: "I'm always glad to have my name associated with that of former President Truman."

Harriman who is expected to be a candidate for President at the 1956 Democratic convention, also took a swing at the Eisenhower administration in addressing a Burlington, Vt., party rally. He said the recent Senate hearings on General Motors "have shown the inroads being made by monopoly and bigness under the Republicans."

Cool Welcome

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Afghanistan today for a snowy, crowd-less greeting.

On at least one Kabul wall someone had painted, "Soviets go home." Snow and rain—which had delayed the arrival a day—continued to fall intermittently.

Soldiers and police lined the road as the visitors drove with Prime Minister Mohammed Daud to his guest house. But there were none of the riotous crowds which everywhere had greeted the Kremlin chiefs during their visit to India and Burma.

The Russians' visit was virtually without advance local fanfare. Flags and hunting appeared for the first time on public buildings today and the government-controlled press for the first time reported the scheduled arrival.

An escort of Soviet planes landed at the airport before the big transport carrying Bulganin and Khrushchev touched down. A guard of honor goose-stepped through the mire to present arms before the pair drove off with Daud in a bulletproof car.

Flight Engineer Strike Is Ended

CHICAGO (AP)—A seven-week strike of flight engineers against United Air Lines ended last night.

An airline spokesman said a settlement negotiated in Washington provides that the 252 strikers will be returned to the payroll "on or before Dec. 19 without discrimination or disciplinary action."

United maintained service throughout the strike by using qualified pilots as flight engineers, thus touching off an interunion dispute which resulted in suspension of the Air Line Pilots Assn. from the AFL.

The AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Assn. struck United Oct. 23 when the company rejected a union demand that flight engineer jobs be limited to men holding airframe and engine maintenance licenses. United ruled that all newly hired engineers must be qualified pilots.

Company and union spokesmen said the settlement provides for United to give pilot training to engineers and for flight engineers who do not want to become pilot-engineers to continue as flight engineers alone.

William Kent, president of the flight engineers, said the agreement gives them increases ranging from $4 a month to new salary level of $815 a month for those DC6 type planes to $15 a month to $92 for those on DC7s.

ROAD MOVES MOUNTAIN HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana's largest current highway project will eliminate the motorist-killing Devil's Elbow and other hairpin curves of crosscountry U.S. Highway 2. It is perhaps Montana's most spectacular highway job, involving relocation of a river channel and moving parts of mountains on the near western slope of the Continental Divide. Crystal Creek will be piped underground for it.

Basil Whitener Weighs Outlook

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP)—Basil Whitener today weighed his possibilities for being a gubernatorial candidate, after his admission "some pretty responsible people" have urged him to run next spring.

The 14th District solicitor told newsmen yesterday callers from Raleigh and Charlotte, whom he did not identify, told him "money would be no problem" after he had objected he knew something about the cost of campaigning.

Whitener said before deciding he would have to consider all possibilities, including financial and "the question of whether or not there is any real desire that I run."

Reports here were that Whitener would run on a pro-segregation platform, but Whitener said there was "absolutely no mention" of issues in the conversations.

The callers, he said, "told me they had been talking about me. The men in Raleigh said the easterners felt they had to have a good strong candidate. Later I had similar calls from Charlotte."

Whitener has served a term as president of North Carolina Young Democrats, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was a state legislator in 1941 when he was 25, and in 1946 was appointed by Gov. Gregg Cherry to his present solicitor's post.

Offers 'Formula' For Cotton Woes

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—American cotton is in deep trouble, a cotton expert said today. However, said Dr. M. K. Horne Jr., of the National Cotton Council, there is a possible way out. Horne, in a speech prepared for delivery before more than 800 agricultural leaders at the first annual beltwide cotton production conference said: "There is a formula. It is a formula having three components: price, research, and promotion." He said the need for such a formula arose from a slump in foreign marketing of American cotton. And two important reasons for the slump, he said, are foreign cotton production and foreign rayon expansion.

"The great technical progress of the synthetics means that from now on we are in a field of competition where a man has to run fast even to stand still." In another talk, Dr. Russell Coleman of the National Plant Food Institute said farmers today need only half the land required 30 years ago to produce a bale of cotton. "The most significant thing here, however, is not the fact that America's farmers can produce more and more cotton, but rather that they can lower production costs by increasing per-acre yields." He said experiments have shown that an average farmer can increase his net income per acre from $15.51 to $56.94 by using proper kinds and amounts of fertilizer.

Demo Leadership To Press For Early Decision On School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) said today Democratic leaders will press for an early decision in the House on federal school aid legislation as soon as Congress returns in January. He predicted eventual passage of some form of government assistance to the states for construction of more schoolhouses. A House battle is in prospect over disputed features of a school aid bill already approved by the House Education Committee. The conflict promises to be compounded by deep-seated differences over racial segregation in some Southern school systems. Rayburn, nonetheless, said in an interview he expected the House to dispose of the school issue "early" in the coming session, and added:

"I think we'll get a school bill, because it's becoming more and more evident there is a serious classroom shortage." Some form of federal school construction aid was endorsed by a 2-1 margin by the White House Conference on Education last month. Shortly before Congress adjourned last August, the House Education Committee approved a four-year program for distribution of $1,000,000,000 among the states for new school construction. The bill would also authorize the government to underwrite state and local financing of additional buildings.

Rep. Smith (D-Va.), chairman of the rules group, said he has not yet been requested to act by Chairman Barden (D-N.C.) of the Education Committee. But he said "we Southerners" would question any inclusion of an anti-segregation amendment—any proposal to deny funds to states not practicing racial integration in their schools. Such an anti-segregation proposal already has been drafted by Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.). Powell has stated publicly he will offer it when the school bill comes up, and recently announced organization of a bipartisan "civil rights bloc" to back him. Powell's amendment proposes that for a state to be eligible for federal school aid, it must practice racial integration in its school system.

No Career Clash In One Filmland Home

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can a big league baseball player and a movie actress adjust their careers for a happy marriage? Lucy Marlo and Andy Carey are convinced they can. Lucy is the shapely, sweet-faced young beauty who scored as the starlet in "A Star Is Born." She is no being groomed for stardom by Columbia and is doing her first musical role opposite Frankie Laine in "He Died Laughing." Andy is a New York Yankee infielder.

remake of "Camille." Well, she can dream, can't she? Lucy said she and Andy considered all the hazards before entering into their marriage. They met last year when he was visiting the Pasadena Playhouse as guest of Victor Jory, an avid Yankee fan. Andy asked about the pretty girl who was acting in a play with Mrs. Jory, and the actor introduced them. Andy asked if he could write Lucy, and she said yes. During the seven months of the baseball season, their romance was carried on largely via letters,

Record Spending In Fiscal Year

RALEIGH (AP)—Municipalities participating in Powell Bill funds for highway improvements spent a record-breaking total of $5,717,538 during the 1954-55 fiscal year. The Highway Commission issued a report yesterday showing that $7,417,447 was available to the 396 eligible municipalities. Under the Powell Bill, the qualifying municipalities received one-half of one cent of the regular 6-cent gasoline tax for use on city streets.

Nashua's Fate At Stake Today

NW YORK (AP)—The future of Nashua, one of the greatest horses in American turf history, would well be decided today when sealed bids for the racing stock of the famous Belair Stud are opened. "We will make a definite announcement around 4 p.m. if at all possible," said John W. Ludewig, one of the executors of the estate of William Woodward Jr. "Then again it might be necessary to consider the bids at some length before we reach a decision." Ludewig said the executors have the right to refuse any bid. "We don't even know how many bids have been made for Nashua or the other racing stock," he said last night. Mrs. Titus Hafta of Chicago said she had made a bid for Nashua but declined to say for how much. Various syndicates, including one headed by John W. Hancock of Lexington, Ky., also have been reported to be interested in purchasing the big son of Nasrullah, recently named the 3-year-old champion and horse of the year. Under terms announced 11 days ago, the sale is divided into four categories: (1) Nashua; (2) nine other race horses and 12 yearlings; (3) 24 broodmares, including Segus, dam of Nashua, and 16 yearlings; and (4) the entire racing stable, including Nashua, and breeding stock in one package. Woodward's interest in two stallions, Nasrullah and the 8-year-old Ambrosia, are not included in the sale. Neither is the 2,500-acre Belair Stud farm in Maryland. Nashua has been valued at anywhere between half a million and a million dollars.

Predict Changes In Eden Cabinet

LONDON (AP) - The Conservative Daily Telegraph predicted today that Chancellor of the exchequer R. A. Butler will be named deputy prime minister next week. The Telegraph said he would be succeeded at the treasury by Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan. The newspaper, which has excellent information sources in Prime Minister Eden's Conservative Government, said Defense Minister Selwyn Lloyd, a former minister of state for foreign affairs and a former UN diplomat, would succeed Macmillan at the Foreign Office. As deputy premier, the Telegraph said, Butler also would act as government leader in the House of Commons and would be charged with keeping an eye on economic policy.

Gaitskell won out over left-winger Aneurin Bevan, 58, and Herbert Morrison, 67, Attlee's deputy for a decade. Morrison, in tears after the election, resigned as deputy party leader. By his action, he also surrendered his seat on Labor's front bench in Commons and on the party's National Executive Committee. Gaitskell received 157 of 287 ballots cast by the Labor members of parliament. Bevan got 7, Morrison 40. The party's most influential press supporter, the circulation Daily Mirror, commented: "Last night the Labor party was reborn. It demonstrated it is no longer satisfied with the cautious advice of old men or with ideas of the last half century."

On the opposite side of Britain's political picture, the election of Hugh Gaitskell to head the Labor party won general approval of London newspapers today.

Gaitskell, 49-year-old, moderate Socialist and former chancellor of the exchequer, was elected party leader last night. He succeeds former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, 72, who retired to a peerage after 2 years of party leadership.

As party leader, Gaitskell would become prime minister in any future Labor government.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robert F. Wagner, New York's Democratic mayor, says the Republicans "have no candidate" for the 1956 presidential race "and time is running out for them."

"Everywhere I go," he said last night at a Democratic fund-raising dinner, "the thinking of responsible people is that President Eisenhower will not be a candidate for a second term."

Wagner and Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler both predicted a Democratic victory in dinner attended by party leaders and some 90 persons.

Butler declared he "doesn't even give the Republicans a chance in Maine or Vermont in 1956." But he warned, "We will win in 1956 only if we work hard and work together."

Wagner, mentioned as a prospect for his party's vice presidential nomination, asserted "small but powerful" GOP group hopes to decide on a candidate "in a smoke-filled room."

He charged that Republican leaders are attempting to prevent a discussion of possible candidates as long as possible and are delaying a discussion of campaign issues.

Former President Truman wired regrets that he couldn't attend because of a virus attack.

BARCLAY OUT, WHO'S IN?—$64,000 QUESTION

Should the producers of the $64,000 TV quiz show need a stopper for their show, we've got one... Is Jim Tatum Coming To Carolina?

The present situation is just like the one of 1945 at Chapel Hill UNC officials had just chopped one head and more than 100 applications to fill it.

It you recall, Earl Black, just out of Dartmouth; Marty Bell, just out of Texas Christian, and Glenn Thistawell, just out of Wisconsin were among the candidates.

Carolina looked the fabulous list over but decided to go down and acquire Carl Shively from Bucknell. The Old Grey Fox brought Carolina its first lucrative football years.

Therefore, we strongly feel that the next coach at Chapel Hill will not be Maryland's Tatum, but a littler man, somebody with the astuteness of King Carl who can gain the confidence of money-lined alumni.

MIAMI WOULD MEET HIS MATCH—DEMPEY

In the Sports Illustrated a few issues back, there was an article proposing a match between Rocky Marciano, heavyweight boxing champ and Lou Thesz, heavyweight wrestling king.

Jack Dempsey, fight immortal, recently aired his views on this matter, saying it will never be staged. "And it's a good thing," Dempsey commented, "the wrestler would win easily."

The old Manassa Mauler has dabbled in both, and he should know. There's a story tied to one particular Dempsey fight from which almost everybody on the sports front receives a big charge.

Dempsey confesses that he has always been fond of Cowboy Luttrell, one of the old toe-toe sluggers, but his admiration for the ex-wrestling roughneck was increased considerably the night they put on the gloves and fought in Atlanta in 1940.

Just before the fight, Cowboy came to me and said in that high shrill voice of his, "Listen, you an me's been friends for 30 years. But if you don't hit me as hard as you can tonight, I'll shoot you after the bout."

I told him, "Cowboy, you and I seem to feel the same way. The people came to see a real fight. That's what they're gonna see. Don't worry I'll hit you hard and often!"

Dempsey broke Luttrell's nose and knocked him out of the ring in the second round. Maryland will have trouble with Sooners—Murray

Coach Bill Murray of Duke thinks Maryland will have trouble handling Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. He believes Maryland lacks fullback power up the middle and runs mostly outside.

However, he thinks the Sooners may check that. Bud Wilkinson's club is powerful in the center, with speed everywhere.

The busiest Tar Heel? Will Frye of Hickory. He's going to be tied up in the East-West game Jan 2 at San Francisco and in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu Jan 8.

Halfback Ken Keller, tackle Jack Mautsby and guard Bill Koman of UNC will play in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery.

The ACC sports writers did an amend when they picked Wake Forest's Bill Barnes of their All-ACC team. Barnes didn't make the All-ACC eleven picked by the Associated Press and it's hard to understand how he could have been excluded.

He had a great season and Bill Murray of Duke called him the best man on the field the day his Blue Devils played the Deacons.

With new found strength in Billy Johnson, Coach Bo Farley should have a fine game aggregation at GHS one Hal Edwards and Ike Riddick come around. Riddick, one of the best outside prep shooters around played against Goldsboro Tuesday night but Edwards is still on the shelf.

Both GHS and East Carolina will participate in holiday tournaments. The Phantoms have accepted an invitation to the Tobacco Land Tournament to be held in Kinston Dec. 19 through 21.

The Pirates will engage in the Parris Island Christmas tourney beginning Tuesday of next week.

Bucs Go For Win No. 4; Apps Seek First Loop Game

East Carolina's Pirates are in Boone tonight, meeting Appalachian State's Mountaineers in a North State Conference basketball bout.

Coach Howard Porter's team, currently leading the league, will be gunning for conference win No. 4 as opposed to no losses.

On the other hand, the host Apps will be seeking their first win against conference opposition.

Appalachian last night defeated Carson-Newman College from Tennessee 92 to 85 in Boone. The Mountaineers took a quick lead and except for one brief moment commanded the play throughout.

Bill Julian scored 18 points to lead his team to victory. East Carolina hasn't played since last weekend when it defeated Lenoir Rhyne, 79-60, to surge out front of the pack.

Porter, however, worked the squad hard prior to leaving Greenville yesterday and the players should be in excellent condition for the scrap.

Porter will lead with his high-scoring combo of J. C. Thomas and Don Harris. These two accounted for 26 points apiece against the Bears and have been carrying the scoring burden in each of the local games to date.

Guy Mendenhall and Tim Smothers will start at the guards and Nick Nichols at the forwards with Harris. Thomas works the center slot.

Mendenhall turned in one of the best games of his college career in the Lenoir Rhyne victory. He held the Bears' 6-8 Ortmeyer scoreless for 25 minutes and to only six points for the contest.

Ortmeyer came into the tilt averaging better than 25. Freddie James and Marion Hales will be two of the first reserves to see action.

James started the opener against Guilford but has been motored out by Smothers, the 6-5 Bethany frosh.

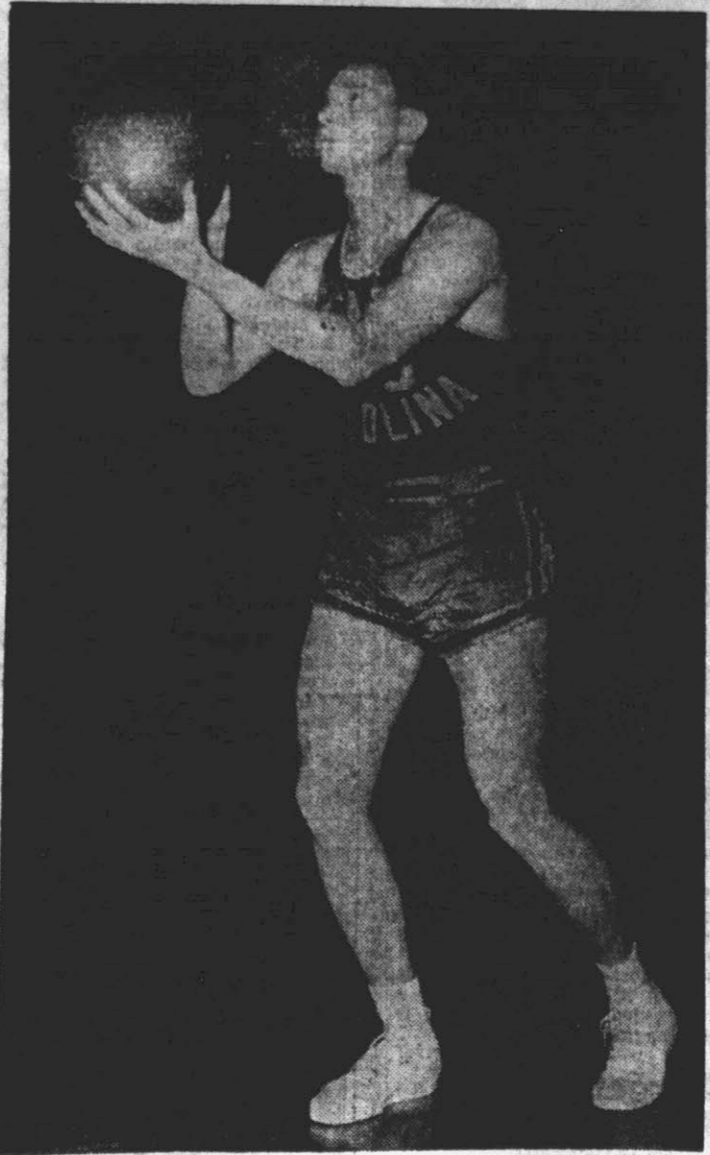

Big Joe (Yogi) Plaster has improved with every game and will relieve Mendenhall and Smothers alternately.

The 6-8 giant looked real impressive in his last outing and his ankle has apparently healed.

GOOD RESERVE—Marion Hales, (above), of Wilmington is one of Coach Howard Porter's first-line reserves. The 6-4 forward has come along this season and will likely see action against the Appalachian Mountaineers tonight in Boone.

Turner Decisions Newcomer Labua

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Gil Turner, experience was obvious, but he showed durability and a fearless counter-punching attack.

He stood up well under Turner's familiar windmill slashing with both hands. But the youngster from East Meadow, N.Y., was unable to cope with Turner's superior ring experience.

However, it was not the Gil Turner of old. He carried the fight to Labua but often found himself tricked out of a chance to land his hard right as Labua spun away while countering with his right.

Turner weighed 154½, Labua 159. Turner's eye was opened in the sixth round, but he managed to protect it after that. Turner also gave a mouse over his left eye.

Turner was on the deck in the fifth round but Referee Joe Palmer ruled it a slip. Palmer scored the fight a draw 4-4-2 and even on points. Judge Ted Shiels had it 5-4-1 and Dick Albino 5-3-1, both in favor of Turner.

The Associated Press card favored Turner 6-2-2. The victory made Turner's record read 82 wins, losses and draws. Labua now stands at 25-8.

Although the fight turned out to be worthy of any fan's rap attention only 1,300 braved a snowstorm to personally see the nationally televised scrap.

Kluszewski Officially Leads At First Base

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Kluszewski didn't figure to set any hitting records when he started his major league career with Cincinnati eight years ago.

The Redlegs' slugger wasn't—and isn't—anymore a gazelle around the first base bag.

Today, however, Big "Klu" is the owner of a shiny new major league mark for first baseman, having led at his position for the fifth straight season.

The official National League averages for 1955 disclosed yesterday that Kluszewski made only 8 errors while handling 1,482 chances for a .995 slant. Ted has led every season since 1951.

Rounding out the "all fielding" infield were Willie Jones of Philadelphia, Red Schoendienst of St. Louis and Ernie Banks of Chicago.

Jones headed the third baseman for the third straight year with .996. Schoendienst topped the second basemen for the fourth time with a .985 while Banks was the best fielding shortstop with .972.

Eddie Miksis, a converted infielder, was the leading defensive outfielder with .981, edging Brooklyn's Duke Snider, who finished with .980.

The best fielding "battery" was Andy Seminick of Philadelphia and Art Fowler of Cincinnati. The veteran Seminick paced the catchers with .984 while Fowler led the pitchers with a perfect 1,000 while handling 42 chances.

Mack Roebuck, a sophomore guard, is the Phantoms' most called-upon reserve and will probably see plenty of action tonight.

The game will get underway at 8 p.m. at Rocky Mount high school gymnasium.

ABC Sales Show Minor Increase

RALEIGH (AP)—Liquor sales in the state's ABC stores amounted to $5,567,101 last month, State ABC Chairman Tom Allen reported yesterday.

The figure was an increase of 1.55 per cent over sales in November, 1954.

Leading in sales last month were: Mecklenburg $864,791; Greensboro $639,076; Winston-Salem $402,393; Asheville $387,441; and Wake County $354,319.

Chapel Hill Cagers Top Highly Regarded Alabam By 99-77 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS That heavy breathing down your neck North Carolina State, comes from your next door neighbor, North Carolina.

State's 18th consecutive victory, 99-66, over South Carolina last night and its third this season in defense of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball title, was unusual only in that, Coach Everett Case's rangy Wolfpack waited until the second half to salt things away.

By contrast, the warmly gratifying sounds of gumphing feet and swishing cords were being made at Chapel Hill, where the North Carolina Tar Heels were finding themselves in a 99-77 triumph against the nation's fifth-ranked team, Alabama.

It wasn't just the fine shooting of the Tar Heels, but also their sharp defensive play and teamwork that routed Alabama in its first loss in six games.

Forward Lennie Rosenbluth dropped in 29 points for forward Jerry Vayda and center Joe Quigg 18 apiece, Pete Brennan 13 and Tommy Kearns 12.

Alabama also had five players in double figures, but one of them wasn't center Jerry Harper, which made quite a difference. Harper got seven and George Linn, who had averaged 25 points a game, was held to 17.

South Carolina made things interesting for the fans at Charlotte, N.C., as the Gamecocks grabbed the lead for the first five minutes and later pushed their advantage to seven points during the first period. They almost caught up again early in the second half, but Coach Case let down the bars at that juncture and the Pack led by 26 points at the end.

Ron Shavlik with 28 points and Bob Seitz with 18 plus fine second-half rebound work were the standouts for State. Teammate John Maglio added 17. For South Carolina, Dave Neilson had 20, Grady Wallace 17 and Lee Collins, who played a good floor game, 16.

Undeclared Maryland, which has shown only a little more scoring ability than its opponents this season, is host to mighty Kentucky tonight. It will be the Terps' fourth start, their second opponent outside the ACC. They also must take on North Carolina Saturday night.

Duke spends the weekend in Philadelphia, where the undefeated (3-0) Blue Devils play Penn Friday and Villanova Saturday.

Other games this week find Virginia at Clemson tomorrow night, and Saturday Virginia at South Carolina and West Virginia at N.C. State.

Sauer Content At Baylor Univ. WACO, Tex. (AP)—Athletic Director George Sauer of Baylor University says he is "happy" in his job and unaware of reports he would be considered for head football coach of Wake Forest, another Baptist college in North Carolina.

Sauer, who was succeeded by Sam Boyd when he retired last week from coaching at Baylor, declared he had not been contacted yesterday.

A report from the Charlotte (N.C.) Observer said Sauer would be considered for the Wake Forest job to succeed Tom Rogers, who resigned.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two University of South Carolina players and one from Clemson are among the seven players added yesterday to the All-Star South squad for the Shrine football game here Dec. 26.

Southern players chosen were end Joe Sillas and halfback Carl Brazell of South Carolina; tackle Ben Inabinet, Clemson; guard Charles Coffey of Tennessee; and Billy Doolley of Mississippi State.

Two Northern players were added. Frank Pappazzo of Purdue and John Miller of Boston College. The first practice session will be held Monday by the Southern squad.

Gold Getter by Pap

With the Wimbledon, French and United States singles tucked safely away, Tony Trabert decided to cast his lot with the play-for-pay tennis boys. Promoter Jack Kramer was forced to dangle quite a bundle of money in front of Trabert's eyes before the 25-year-old amateur king would abdicate his throne as the outstanding amateur tennis star.

But now it is time for Tony to go to work. A prize of $25,000 awaits the winner of the 1955 tour. Trabert has done considerable touring as an amateur but hardly anything to compare with the one-night stands ahead of him.

There were few amateur championships that eluded Trabert from the time he won his first national indoor junior title in 1948 until he quit the amateur ranks after win-

Ayden In Double Win Over Bethel

Ayden's Tornados scored a double win over Bethel on the victors' court Tuesday night.

The Ayden girls, led by Sutton's 19 points, romped to a 47-25 win in the opening contest while Ayden's boys turned back Bethel 61-51 in the nightcap.

Ayden led throughout the girls' contest, taking an 11 point lead at the end of the first quarter and an eight point margin at half. High scorers for the Tornados, in addition to Sutton, were Nichols, Summersell, Johnson and Jolly. Standouts for Bethel were Briley, Cooper, White and Suggs.

The Tornado boys had an easy time of it, too, in stopping Bethel as Edwards, Dunn and B. Tripp paced the scoring with 15, 12 and 11 points respectively. Top honors for the night, however, went to Bethel's Latham. White had 10 and Taylor nine for the losers.

Score by quarters: Girls: Ayden 14 7 17 9-47; Bethel 3 10 4 8-25; Boys: Ayden 15 21 13 12-61; Bethel 13 12 10 16-51

U.S. Confronted By Shortage Of Key Technicians

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
CLEVELAND (AP)—The "race" to tame the H-bomb reaction for peacetime power could be lost to Russia or some other nation unless the United States overcomes a "mounting shortage" of manpower in every field of science and engineering, says the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.
In fact, declared Lewis L. Strauss last night, the shortage has become so "grim" that "all of our blessings, even our freedom, would be endangered."
Citing the quest to harness hydrogen-bomb energy as only one example of an American effort that might be jeopardized, Strauss told the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress:
"I am confident that the day will come although probably not for years when the way will be found to produce nuclear power by harnessing the same energy release that we assume is taking place in the sun—the process of the controlled fusion of light nuclei (the bomb nuclei)."
"Scientists in the commission's laboratories are at work on the problem, searching for the key—the elusive 'big idea' that could revolutionize the atomic art."
"But our people are not the only ones. Competent scientists in other countries are equally hard at work, trying to find the same 'big idea.'"
"Unless we have scientists and engineers, in quality and numbers, we could lose this race."
The AEC chief said that while American colleges are turning out less than half the number of scientists and engineers required in all fields—the shortage "will become worse before we can possibly correct it"—Soviet Russia is educating twice as many such technicians as this nation is.

Mississippians Debating Whether Nullifying Federal Acts Is Possible

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Whether individual states can nullify acts of the federal government without seceding from the union is becoming a hot issue in Mississippi where the Legislature meets Jan. 3 to consider legislation which would bolster segregation.
In a sequence reminiscent of events which led to the War Between the States there have been these developments:
1. The Legislature created the Legal Education Advisory Committee (LEAC) to devise means of circumventing the Supreme Court decision of May 17, 1954, outlawing segregation in public schools.
2. A U. S. senator, a representative from Mississippi and a state judge have suggested that Southern states nullify the decision.
3. The state's attorney general, who will become governor next year, said there is no way to nullify.
4. The nullification proponents have come back with an answer that Northern states themselves have nullified acts of Congress or Supreme Court decisions without leaving the union.
5. The state's attorney general, who will become governor next year, said there is no way to nullify.
Sen. James O. Eastland, Rep. John Bell Williams, and Circuit Judge Tom Hardy issued a prepared statement Monday that the American system of government demands that Southern states protect their sovereignty by nullifying the segregation decision.
Segregation is state law in the South.
"We think the Southern states should carefully consider the doctrine and precedents that a state has the legal right of 'interposition', to nullify, void and hold for naught the deliberate, dangerous infractions of the Constitution committed by the Supreme Court," said the statement by the trio.
The attorney general, J. P. Coleman added that the federal government could send troops, "some of them Negroes," to police Mississippi if the state tried to nullify federal laws, and he hoped the LEAC members would "pour cold water" on any move in the Legislature to do so. Nullification, he said, was legal poppycock.
Eastland, Bell and Brady then made a joint statement that they did not desire to get into a controversy with the attorney general, but that they disagreed with his views.
In the statement the trio said, "Twenty Northern states have nullified acts of Congress or Supreme Court decisions and five Southern states have likewise successfully exercised interposition."
"Federal troops were never sent into the many states which in the past have exercised the right of interposition and we are at an utter loss to understand why the federal government would now probably use Negro troops."
They said Georgia was the first state to exercise interposition, the ultimate result of which brought the 11th Amendment to our Constitution (the 1795 amendment which forbade the United States judiciary to intervene in any suit against one of the states by citizens of another state).
As early as 1790 the trio said, Georgia "defied the Supreme Court, refused to obey its orders and remained in the union as a loyal and obedient state in every other regard."
Among other states mentioned as having exercised this method of maintaining state sovereignty were Wisconsin, Kentucky, Virginia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont.
"Nullification," the trio added, "is not legal poppycock and is not an effort on the part of those states to whip the United States government."

Hospital Admits Seeing-Eye Dog With Master

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Punch, a 20-month-old German shepherd seeing-eye dog, was admitted to Jefferson Davis Hospital yesterday with the privilege of bedding down in his owner's room.
Hospital officials stashed red tape and a long-standing rule against dogs to reunite Punch and Elbert Spencer, his blind owner.
When Spencer was admitted Monday to the hospital for eye treatment, Punch defied all efforts to calm him or coax him to eat. Tuesday night he had a convulsion.
In arranging for Punch to have hospital privileges, Spencer's physician said, "It's best for both the patient and the dog. Spencer was nervous and upset over the animal and it was becoming difficult to treat; him. The dog was becoming ill and it would be criminal to let anything happen to a very intelligent and highly trained animal like him."

Wheels Crashed In Front Of Home

VAN NUYS Calif. (AP)—Ray Solomon drove nonchalantly down Sherman Way not realizing a pair of rear wheels from the dual set on his dump truck had gone sight-seeing.
The wheels rolled 300 feet sped across a lawn and crashed into the front room of a house. Mrs. Avelene Demberger, standing in the kitchen, was not hurt.
A few blocks farther along, three motorists stopped Solomon and told him he had only half as many rear wheels as he thought.

Police Search Countryside For Crazy Youth Who Killed Three

VANDERGRIFT, Pa. (AP)—Police searched rugged countryside near here today for a 15-year-old crazed high school junior who shot and killed the parents and uncle of the girl who spurned him.
Slain in their farm home last night 30 miles northeast of Pittsburgh were J. Warren Small, 44, a gas well driller; his wife, Irene, 35; and William A. Small, 49, brother of J. Warren Small.
The girl who police say was the center of the tragedy was shot and seriously wounded. She is 15-year-old Gladys Small.
Police named John Fallone as the slayer. Nearly a score of officers from all sections of western Pennsylvania searched for him. They were warned he may be hard to capture—that he's carrying the .22 caliber automatic rifle with which he cut down members of the Small family.
Gladys didn't lose consciousness in her ambulance ride to the hospital. Sobbing, she said:
"I went to a dance with him (Fallone) about a year ago. He got serious and wouldn't let me talk to other boys. He wanted me for himself. My parents finally forbade me to see him. Then he threatened us, said 'I'll get all of you some day.'"
Police got their first word of the impending tragedy when Justice of the Peace Homer King, 38, a neighbor of the Smalls, phoned for help. Later, King told this story:
William A. Small, a bullet wound in his foot, came to the King home. He said Fallone was terrorizing the family and had brought a carton of dynamite into the house, along with his rifle.
After notifying police, King rode with Small about two miles back to the house.
"After we stopped, Small got out on the left side and me on the right side," he said. "Just then Fallone came out of the house and out a window filled with Christmas candles. He hit Small over twice and killed him. I went running back of the car. I don't think Fallone saw me. I ran all the way home. My God, that boy might have killed me, too."
When police reached the house they found J. Warren Small and his wife dead in the kitchen. Five young children were huddled in the living room, sobbing wildly. Bullet holes were in the kitchen wall.
Police theorize that after William Small ran out of the house and drove to the justice of peace for help, the youth killed Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Small and shot Gladys. They believe he then tried to set off the dynamite with rifle shots before fleeing into the woods. Police said they don't think he had an auto.
A heavy guard was thrown up about the Fallone home. His father, Ernest, 39, a millworker, cried. And so did Mrs. Fallone. Looking out a window filled with Christmas candles, Mrs. Fallone said over and over:
"He was always such a good boy—such a good boy."

Forget Santa Is 8 Reindeer Man

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Christmas decorators around here have trouble remembering it's eight—not none or seven—reindeer that pull Santa Claus' sleigh.
According to the old poem, "A Visit From St. Nicholas," they're Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donner and Blitzen. There are nine reindeer however pulling Santa's sled in front of the Coral Gables City Hall; only seven perform the chore atop the Miami Beach Auditorium.
Mayor Fred Hartnett of Coral Gables said the ninth reindeer is Rudolph, a red-nosed animal. John Poulos of the Miami Beach Parks Department plans to ask the city government for another reindeer.

Bake at 375 degrees F. for 15 minutes; then for 5 minutes. Makes 1 1/2 to 2 dozen rolls.
Soften... 2 cakes compressed yeast in 1-4 cup lukewarm water. (Or substitute 2 packages dry yeast. Soften in 1-4 cup very warm—not hot—water).
Combine... 1-3 cup butter or margarine and 2-4 cup hot scalded milk in large bowl. Stir until butter melts. Cool to lukewarm.
Add... 1-3 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 2 unbeaten eggs and the yeast mixture.
Add gradually... 4 to 4 1/2 cups sifted Pillsbury's best enriched flour to form a stiff dough. Mix thoroughly. Cover.
Let stand... 30 minutes.
Roll out... to a 22x12-inch rectangle on floured board. Spread half of dough along 22-inch side with nut filling. Fold unrolled dough over filling.
Cut... into 1-inch strips (crosswise). Twist each strip 4 or 5 times. Then hold one end down on baking sheet for center of roll. Curl remaining strip around center on baking sheet as for a plaited effect, tucking other end under. Cover with waxed paper or towel.
Let rise... in warm place (85 degrees to 90 degrees F.) until doubled in size, 45 to 60 minutes.
Bake... in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes until light golden brown. Meanwhile prepare glaze of 1-4 cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons sugar. Brush tops of rolls and bake 5 minutes longer until deep golden brown. Remove from baking sheet immediately.
For warm place, set pan of boiling water in bottom of cold oven. Place rolls on rack above. Close oven door. Remove 15 minutes before baking to preheat oven.
Nut Filling
Cream 1-3 cup butter or margarine. Blend in 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar thoroughly. Add 1 cup Filberts, ground or chopped very fine. (Other nuts may be substituted.)

School Kids Have Own Thunderjet

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (AP) — Vacation time came and passed when it's recess time at the Glen City Elementary school the youngsters make a bee line for an honest-to-goodness Thunderjet plane.

Yep, there is a prominent spot on the school's 1-acre playground, stands a sleek, gray plane, steps leading to the cockpit on one side and a sliding board leading down the other. The playground's conventional swings and slides stand idle and forgotten.

"It just got here," said Mrs. Hamilton, whose second-grade boys and girls were observing and talking about their new plaything.

Mrs. Hamilton explained that the youngsters read a story last spring about another school being given a jet plane. The children at that school liked to explore it and draw pictures of it.

When her own pupils pleaded with her to get them a jet plane, Mrs. Hamilton, with the approval of the principal and superintendent, wrote the Air Force. The pupils wrote some letters too.

General Motors Charged With False Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. has been charged by the government with falsely advertising that "genuine Chevrolet" replacement parts are better than parts competitors sell without the "genuine" label.

GM had no immediate comment on the complaint, issued yesterday by the Federal Trade Commission.

FTC said GM buys many Chevrolet parts from other manufacturers, some of whom design the parts themselves and sell to others besides GM.

These parts, said FTC, "are at least equal in all material respects" to those GM sells, but GM advertises the parts it buys as "genuine" with the implication that all others are not as good.

The federal agency accused GM of representing that the Chevrolet parts it distributes are designed and manufactured exclusively for GM. It called this "false, misleading and deceptive" and said GM's claims "divert business from competitors to their injury and the injury of the public, in violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act."

FTC said its complaint "had nothing to do with" the recent hearings on GM held by a Senate Antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.).

President Harlow Curtice and other GM officials testified they are not trying to squeeze out small firms in replacement parts for GM cars. They said GM now sells half of all new cars and trucks but has only 2 per cent of the parts business, so the company naturally wants to capture a bigger share of the parts market.

GM has 3 days to file an answer to the FTC complaint. A hearing before an FTC examiner was set for Feb. 14 in Detroit.

Italian actress Anna Magnani in the producer's latest film, "The Rose Tattoo," based on the controversial play by Tennessee Williams. The Johnston office at first vetoed the project, but finally approved it after Wallis agreed to make the love scenes a bit less earthy.

Although Wallis is somewhat cynical toward the Cinderella legend, his own career has exemplified the familiar Horatio Alger pattern.

He quit school at 14 and got a job as an office boy to help support his mother and two sisters. He then worked as a traveling salesman selling electrical supplies and moved his mother from Chicago to Southern California in 1921 in hopes the milder climate would improve her health.

After managing a theater and serving as a movie press agent for 6 years, he hit the jackpot with his first picture, "Little Caesar," in 1929.

Now 57, Wallis has turned out between 350 and 400 full length films, a record matched by few men in the industry. Fifteen of the films produced under his supervision have won a total of 28 motion picture Academy awards. Now he produces only two to four a year.

"It's more fun to do fewer," he observed. "You can enjoy making them more when you can make each one a hand-tooled job."

Anybody who seriously wants to be a movie star can't do Wallis a big favor.

"Don't just sit down and write me a letter about it," he said. "First, be sure you have some real ability — then go out and get some real experience."

The young man who wants to look up Wallis, he says he'll be looking for you.

Favors Lowering Nat'l Debt First

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he thinks the national debt should be reduced at least a billion dollars before taxes are cut.

He expressed that personal opinion in an interview in which he forecast "little chance for a tax reduction unless we first balance the budget and then make some reduction in the national debt."

He added his note of caution to those sounded by other House and Senate leaders yesterday against too optimistic hopes of a tax cut in the coming election-year session of Congress. They spoke out after learning at a White House conference that defense spending requests next year will be higher than current levels.

Knowland conceded there may be heavy pressure on Congress for some tax reductions.

"But these assume it would be wise to provide tax reduction on borrowed money," he said. "I don't think the country will buy that even if the Congress should."

In any event, he said, it would be not April 15 but later before fiscal officials and Congress would even know if any type of tax cut is possible.

And before that date, he said, Congress must act upon expected administration requests to extend the level of federal corporate and excise taxes, which otherwise will drop automatically March 31.

Went Shopping, Wound Up With Two Baby Girls

AN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A sailor and his wife started on a shopping trip yesterday and wound up the parents of twin baby girls — born unexpectedly near and in a hospital.

The twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Pavia. Pavia is a machinist male first class aboard the submarine tender Sperry.

He and his wife Virginia were in their car about three blocks from the hospital when she had a little pain.

"The baby wasn't due until January and we thought it was a preliminary," Pavia said. "By the time we reached the front door of the hospital, one baby was born."

Hospital attendants rushed the mother to the delivery room, where doctors attended the birth of the second baby. Mother and twins were reported doing fine.

Seven Elegant Geisha Hangouts In Tax Trouble

TOKYO (AP) — Tokyo's tax office today attached seven of the city's most elegant geisha restaurants for $39,000 in back taxes.

The attachment suspends their legal titles to buildings and land and — worse yet — cuts off telephone service.

The restaurants — called "ryu-riya" in Japanese — are invariably exquisite examples of classical Japanese architecture in the form of a feudal nobleman's pleasure villa.

They are the places where geisha, who live elsewhere, gather at night to sing, dance, pour rice wine and otherwise entertain tired businessmen.

According to popular belief, tax officials are supposed to have considerable knowledge of this type of establishment. Traditionally, the biggest businessmen take the tax men there to thresh out knotty problems of overassessment.

Woudn't Break Anti-Smog Law

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A suspected dope addict didn't burn a bag of mail he had just stolen, police said, because it was against the antismog law.

Officers reported recovering the letters yesterday from the back yard incinerator of Pete Joseph Couzzi, 23, who was booked on suspicion of violating narcotic laws.

Police quoted Couzzi as saying he didn't burn the evidence just before he was arrested "because I didn't know what the hours for burning trash were."

Found Santa In Kentucky Instead Of North Pole

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 9-year-old Canadian boy who believed he could find Santa in Kentucky instead of the North Pole wasn't mistaken.

Edward Christie had tied a note to a Christmas tree destined for shipment to Louisville.

The note was discovered by members of the St. Matthew's Kiwanis Club as they unloaded some of the Canadian trees. It read:

"Dear Santa, I hope you get our letter. We live in Canada, out in the country. I am 9 years old. I have a brother, Stewart, he is 7 years old and I sister Sally she is 4 years old. Would you please bring us a truck and a doll and a train and some games. From Master Edward Christie, Harvey St., York Co., N.B., Canada."

After toys were purchased, Kiwanis Cliff Eblen said the children "will have a fine Christmas — more than the boy asked for."

Complaints Over Answering Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus firemen reported receiving a number of complaints last night after answering a call in neighboring Franklin Township.

"We have our own fire department," an irate feminine caller from the township was quoted as saying. "We're not part of Columbus and we don't need your help."

Acting Fire Chief Samuel Zaeyer of Columbus said his men got to the scene before township firemen even pulled out of their station and had the flames doused before township fire fighters arrived.

City firemen answered the alarm he added, because county commissioners recently approved the township's annexation of Columbus.

James A. Reed, in whose apartment the blaze occurred, said he didn't care who put out the fire.

JAPANESE GIRLS GROW

TOKYO (AP) — The girls of Japan are getting taller and slimmer.

The Education Ministry checked five million students, found girls averaged four-fifths of an inch taller than two years ago. And country girls, formerly plump and short, are approaching the dimensions of their more willowy city sisters.

Russia Says It Is Relaxing Hold On Romanian Oil

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union says it has relaxed its hold on Romanian industry further, relinquishing Russia's half interest in the important oil business.

A government announcement said under an agreement signed in Bucharest, Romania, will buy the Soviet-held shares in the oil industry "on favorable terms and by installments over a number of years." The amount to be paid was not disclosed.

The two-nation oil company Sovrom Petrol was organized in 1945 to produce and refine Romanian oil. Since that time, the Soviet announcement said, oil production has doubled. Last year's production, primarily from the big Ploesti field, has been estimated by outsiders at 86 million tons.

BETTER TARGETS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — New light-reflecting traffic signs on county roads are aiding motorists as well as motorists. Fiscal court noted yesterday a sharp increase in bullet damage to the signs since they were made into better night-time targets for autoists with guns.

Dallas Society Admits Negroes

DALLAS (AP) — For the first time in its 80-year history, the Dallas County Medical Society has admitted Negroes into their organization, Executive Secretary Millard Heath said yesterday.

Doctors Harold H. Culmer, William K. Flowers Jr. and Joseph R. Williams were unanimously elected into the group Tuesday night.

The three Negroes are now eligible for membership on the medical staff of Dallas' four major hospitals.

Driver Charged In Auto Collision

A two-vehicle collision near the State Highway Patrol Troop A headquarters at one p.m. yesterday resulted in charges of failure to yield the right of way against Elbert Stocks, of Route 5.

Stocks, investigating State Highway Patrolman W.E. Whitehurst said, was involved in a collision with Alton Harrington, 34, of 315 W. Fifth Street. Damage, Whitehurst said, amounted to about $40.

Santa Ordered To Turn In Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — One of our town's Santa Clauses stretched a 1-minute coffee break into five hours yesterday, was ordered to turn in his suit, and then got in a fight.

Racy Sporting Look In Christmas Bike Lineup

BLISS ON WHEELS... Top of the pack, the Christmas bike.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Dad can have his souped-up sports car. Junior will compete with his new speedy bicycle. It'll have a pain job as bright and gay as the family car, too, and what's more, new safety factors will reassure any parent.

New American bicycles are lighter and speedier. A middleweight style combines the best features of real lightweight models with standard balloon-tired vehicles. Speed models account for more than 40 per cent of American bike sales say manufacturers, a point to keep in mind when Christmas shopping for a two-wheeler.

Pedaling is made easier on the lightweight units with newly-designed tires. It steps down by one-third the amount of pedal pressure required to apply the brake, providing greater safety according to American engineers. A child weighing 34 pounds has the same braking ability with the new type coaster brake as a 50-pound youngster on the same bike with conventional brakes.

New American bikes are said to be less costly to maintain, and replacement parts are easily available.

- Points to keep in mind when shopping for a bicycle include these:
1. Foot brakes enable youngsters to make quick stops without releasing one hand from the wheel.
 2. Gadgets available include warning devices, horns and bells, sealed-beam headlights, special shock absorbers, chrome guard bars, luggage carriers, built-in locks and speedometers. (Basket, adjustment tools, speedometer and bicycle bags are preferred accessories say manufacturers. Bell, horn, headlight and tail light are basic requirements for sale riding.)
 3. The proper size bike is important. American bikes come in four basic sizes, depending on the diameter of the wheels. A youngster from 3 1/2 to 5 years old is suited to a 16-inch bike with extra outrigger wheels that can be removed after he learns to balance. Kids from 5 to 7 can handle 20-inch bike and 8 to 10 year-olds are happy on a 24-inch size bike. The full-sized bicycle will fill the bill for 11-year-olds and up.
 4. Flashy colors are popular. New color emphasis is on bright green, blue, red and yellow with contrasting trim.

Meat Prices In General Still Heading Lower This Weekend

You'll find attractive buys in pork, beef, veal and lamb in many of the nation's food stores this weekend.

Meat prices in general are still heading lower, and judging from the record pileup of supplies, the end is not yet in sight. Last week production of government-inspected meat set an all-time record. All told, 237,000 tons of pork, beef and other meats were processed by the nation's packing plants. Pork accounted for nearly half the record total.

For the coming week-end, one of the big food chains has trimmed prices of center cut pork chops in several major cities by amounts ranging from 6 to 10 cents a pound. Lamb is down anywhere from 2 to 6 cents a pound. While beef prices are resisting the downward pull a little more effectively than pork and lamb, there are bargains aplenty in everything from hamburger and boneless chuck pot roast to fancy porterhouse steaks.

While the meat glut is good news to the bargain-conscious housewife, it's a growing problem for the farmer, the packer and the retailer. No less than three meat merchandising campaigns have been scheduled for early 1959 by the National Assn. of Food Chains. Aim is to get people to eat more meat. The major campaign, scheduled for Jan. 26 to Feb. 4, will concern itself with pork. Others will be devoted to corn-fed beef and veal calves (Jan. 11 to 18) and ham and lamb (March 22 to 31).

While per capita consumption of meat showed a gain of 11 per cent this fall, the association believes an extra promotion effort by retailers will be needed to avert a crisis in the livestock industry next year. Record production of meat products is expected for early 1959.

Pork has been selected by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as its food headliner for this week. Its food specialists suggest roast pork as the main course for your Christmas dinner.

"Roast pork for the main dish fits right into the festive spirit," the USDA says. "Good to look at, and pleasing to eat, a piping hot pork roast does honor to any table."

There's a wide assortment of bargains this week in produce. The Department of Agriculture has singled out potatoes, rutabaga turnips and white turnips, beets, topped carrots, baby parsnips and kale as outstanding vegetable buys. Listed as good buys are new and old cabbage, beans, peppers, corn, egg plant, pascal celery, and lettuce.

Apples are still plentiful and reasonably priced, as are oranges, seedless grapefruit and tangerines from Florida and large red emperor grapes from the West Coast. Pineapples from Cuba are featured in some stores; in New York, they're priced at about 23 cents each.

Americans are eating less fruit than they used to. The total quantity of fresh and processed fruit consumed in the United States is about the same today as it was 10 years ago, government statisticians say, but the population has increased mightily in that time, so per capita consumption has fallen. While use of frozen fruits and juices has climbed sharply, this gain has been more than offset by declines for canned, dried and fresh fruits.

Camouflaged Garbage Can

CAMOUFLAGE for the garbage can is attractive when you make a screen out of diamond mesh metal lath.

AP Newfeatures. ... You can get diamond mesh lath in galvanized or black painted finish at any well stocked building supply house. Either can be painted to match surrounding areas. Or you can coat the panel with stucco, because the hundreds of small-diamond-shaped openings provide keys for such mortar. The material weighs less than 2 pounds per square yard.

Hodges Says Development Fund Moving Toward Goal

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges said today the North Carolina Business Development Corp. has "firm commitments" for the subscription of $500,000 worth of stock and is moving towards its one-million-dollar goal.

He made the announcement at his news conference. The governor said that $186,000 worth of stock had been sold in Charlotte, including $100,000 to Duke Power Co. He added that Charlotte hopes to raise more than $250,000 in stock subscriptions.

At his last news conference the governor had said he hoped to be able to announce before Christmas that $500,000 had been raised in the corporation.

The business development corporation was formed to aid small industry development through loans. Hodges said the organization could be an important factor in raising the per capita income in the state.

Neighbors said Margaret Veet, 22, and her husband, Frank, 23, were an inseparable couple much in love and very happy.

Then she turned on gas jets and lit a match for the candles. The explosion rocked the neighborhood. Mrs. Veet stumbled out, Burns covered 4 per cent of her body but hospital attendants said she will probably live.

WALTER SALEM (AP)—Faculty members of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, a division of Wake Forest College, will be interviewed here tomorrow as a special committee begins to wind up its job of the administration of Wake Forest President Harold W. Tribble.

Andrew J. Hutchins, chairman of the special committee chosen from the college board of trustees, said he expects to close the investigation Saturday. He has so far declined to comment on any findings.

The board of trustees will receive the committee report at a meeting tentatively set for Dec. 22 here.

Some 80 members of the Wake Forest faculty were asked by the committee Tuesday night to fill out questionnaires in secret.

The investigation was announced shortly after the resignations two weeks ago of Athletic Director Pat Preston and Head Football Coach Tom Rogers but trustees have denied there is any direct connection. Dr. Tribble defended himself against accusations of pending athletic de-emphasis by declaring he was against Preston and Rogers' departure.

Some reports have charged poor administrative relations with the faculty, students and athletic program. However, scattered demands from alumni and ministerial groups for Dr. Tribble's dismissal have been met this week by a rush of vocal support for the president of the Baptist college.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A strike threat by Western Air Lines pilots is being held in abeyance and negotiations with the company will resume today, the company said.

A walkout would involve 267 pilots. At issue is the amount of an annuity demanded by the AFL-CIO Airline Pilots Assn. The pilots voted several weeks ago to authorize a walkout between Dec. 5 and Dec. 15.

A company spokesman said there would be no strike today and expressed belief the union would give advance notice if a strike hour is set.

An official of another union said that office and reservations workers and luggage loaders are preparing to walk out tomorrow.

Woman's College Faculty Votes For Desegregation

GREENSBORO (AP)—A resolution recognizing the U.S. Supreme Court's anti-segregation decisions as "the law of the land" has been adopted here by faculty members of Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

By a vote of 95-25 at the December faculty council meeting Tuesday night, the instructors approved the resolution, containing an expressed belief "that qualified students of any race can be incorporated satisfactorily into the (Consolidated) University of North Carolina."

The Consolidated University includes the Woman's College here, the University at Chapel Hill and State College in Raleigh.

Information of the vote was delayed so that it might appear first in the college newspaper, the Carolinian.

The resolution was presented to the faculty group by Dr. Warren Ashby, associate professor of philosophy. Several members present did not vote. A more comprehensive resolution presented to the faculty council in October, was tabled at the time.

It was expected that copies would be sent to Gov. Hodges, Dr. J. Harris Purks, acting president of the consolidated university; and to the chairman of the board of trustees of the university.

The resolution also stated: "We are confident that the university will continue in its tradition of giving educational leadership to the state by showing that the problems associated with desegregation can be met intelligently and with good feeling; and to this end we pledge our efforts to meeting our professional responsibilities in order that the University may better serve all people of the state."

ARMLESS DRIVER CLEARED BY JURY. COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—An armless motorist who says he has driven 16 years without accident was acquitted yesterday of speeding and reckless driving charges.

A Justice Court jury of five men and one woman deliberated 25 minutes before clearing Edward E. Higgins, 29, a Pueblo, Colo., used car dealer who drives with his feet. His wife Betty Lou, 20-year-old mother of an infant daughter, was acquitted of aiding and abetting him.

Higgins and his blonde wife disputed Undersheriff Clinton H. Haugh's charge he halted their car Nov. 25 after a wild chase at speeds up to 106 m.p.h. They said they were driving under 60 miles an hour.

Cold War Again Confronts NATO

By ARTHUR GAVSHON PARIS (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told the NATO Council of Ministers today the East-West cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet policy zig-zagging.

The American secretary, discussing the trends and motives of Russian policy in 1955, declared the new rulers of the Soviet Union have opened dangerous new cold war fronts in the Middle East and South Asia.

He added however, that the 15-nation Atlantic Alliance had overcome greater dangers in the past by remaining ever vigilant and united.

Dulles spoke at the opening of the first Council meeting since last summer's Big Four summit conference at Geneva and the foreign ministers' subsequent deadlock in the Swiss city.

Also attending the annual year-end meeting of NATO foreign, defense and finance ministers were U. S. Defense Secretary Wilson and Treasury Secretary Humphrey.

The ministers of the 6-year-old Alliance gathered at their Palais du Chaillot headquarters to review their program of political and military cooperation during 1955 and to set new goals for 1956.

They opened a three-day conference with a debate seeking answers to the new challenges of the Communists in the world power struggle.

Dulles recalled that when the NATO Council met a year ago it was in the shadow of Soviet threats of awful things to come if the Allies fulfilled their intention of bringing the West German Federal Republic into their grouping, with the right to rearm again. The worst of those threats never materialized, Dulles noted.

The period of threats, Dulles went on, was followed quickly by a phase of what he called Soviet "sweetness and light" beginning with the Big Four chiefs of government meeting at Geneva in July.

Since then a new rigidity, a new cold war has become apparent in Soviet pronouncements and actions and the so-called spirit of Geneva seems to have been repudiated by the Russians he said.

What, he asked, are the reasons for this year of Soviet "zig-zagging?" Dulles suggested three possibilities.

1. It might be due to the element of confidence, flowing from a belief in Russia's increased strength. 2. It might derive from the Soviet's fear that new ideas would affect the compact structure of their system. 3. And it might be the result of a recrudescence of Stalinism which he believes is by no means dead in the Soviet Union.

Dulles argued that the Russians have been able to pose new threats in the Middle East and South Asia by playing on the emotionalism of those areas and by offering "apparent aid." Although Russia lacks consumer goods, she has big surpluses of obsolescent arms and has no hesitation about using them to further her own political ends, he said.

She Tried To Die ... And Couldn't

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Four months ago a young German woman came to California with the man whom she'd met and married when he was a corporal in the U.S. Air Force stationed in her home town of Frankfurt.

Neighbors said Margaret Veet, 22, and her husband, Frank, 23, were an inseparable couple much in love and very happy.

Last Saturday Frank suffered a heart attack and died. Margaret brooded, refused to eat and stared at her husband's picture.

The funeral services were yesterday. Then, said detective Bruce McKay, Mrs. Veet returned to her home and placed an unlit candle on either side of the picture. She put carnations and a crucifix on the same table.

Then she turned on gas jets and lit a match for the candles. The explosion rocked the neighborhood. Mrs. Veet stumbled out, Burns covered 4 per cent of her body but hospital attendants said she will probably live.

A Justice Court jury of five men and one woman deliberated 25 minutes before clearing Edward E. Higgins, 29, a Pueblo, Colo., used car dealer who drives with his feet. His wife Betty Lou, 20-year-old mother of an infant daughter, was acquitted of aiding and abetting him.

Higgins and his blonde wife disputed Undersheriff Clinton H. Haugh's charge he halted their car Nov. 25 after a wild chase at speeds up to 106 m.p.h. They said they were driving under 60 miles an hour.

She Tried To Die ... And Couldn't

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Four months ago a young German woman came to California with the man whom she'd met and married when he was a corporal in the U.S. Air Force stationed in her home town of Frankfurt.

Neighbors said Margaret Veet, 22, and her husband, Frank, 23, were an inseparable couple much in love and very happy.

Last Saturday Frank suffered a heart attack and died. Margaret brooded, refused to eat and stared at her husband's picture.

Still Digging For Two Buried Alive

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A search crew toiled today in an attempt to uncover two men who were buried alive in a 28-foot deep pit Tuesday.

Driven by the possibility that at least one of the victims still lived, the hunters had continued their work without a recess when the arm of one of the men was uncovered at 5:22 a.m. At that time both men had been buried 36 hours and 37 minutes.

J. L. Martz, supervisor of the rescue crew said the arm apparently was that of Lee Otis Sivilly, a Fort Smith fireman. Sivilly who was buried in a standing position, is dead, Martz said.

The other man, Donald Dagg, an 18-year-old construction worker from Hartford, Miss., was believed six feet deeper. The supervisor said it would be at least hours before either of the victims could be freed from the pit.

Dagg was trapped with two fellow workers Tuesday when the wooden braces supporting the walls of the excavation collapsed showing tons of soil and debris on them. The other two were rescued and Sivilly, about 45, was attempting to free Dagg when the sides of the hole caved in a second time, burying both.

The men were digging the hole inside the plant of the Arkansas Waste Paper Co. to hold a concrete foundation for a paper baler the firm planned to install.

Expects Finish Inquiry Saturday

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Faculty members of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, a division of Wake Forest College, will be interviewed here tomorrow as a special committee begins to wind up its job of the administration of Wake Forest President Harold W. Tribble.

Andrew J. Hutchins, chairman of the special committee chosen from the college board of trustees, said he expects to close the investigation Saturday. He has so far declined to comment on any findings.

The board of trustees will receive the committee report at a meeting tentatively set for Dec. 22 here.

Some 80 members of the Wake Forest faculty were asked by the committee Tuesday night to fill out questionnaires in secret.

The investigation was announced shortly after the resignations two weeks ago of Athletic Director Pat Preston and Head Football Coach Tom Rogers but trustees have denied there is any direct connection.

Dr. Tribble defended himself against accusations of pending athletic de-emphasis by declaring he was against Preston and Rogers' departure.

Some reports have charged poor administrative relations with the faculty, students and athletic program. However, scattered demands from alumni and ministerial groups for Dr. Tribble's dismissal have been met this week by a rush of vocal support for the president of the Baptist college.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A strike threat by Western Air Lines pilots is being held in abeyance and negotiations with the company will resume today, the company said.

A walkout would involve 267 pilots. At issue is the amount of an annuity demanded by the AFL-CIO Airline Pilots Assn. The pilots voted several weeks ago to authorize a walkout between Dec. 5 and Dec. 15.

A company spokesman said there would be no strike today and expressed belief the union would give advance notice if a strike hour is set.

TAKING CHILDREN'S PORTRAITS is a game with Josef Schneider that has led to success in that field. Here, in his right hand, he holds a rubber bulb on a 12-foot extension which permits him to play with the youngster, yet shoot at will, though away from the camera.

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

A leading specialist in the field of child photography, Josef Schneider, urges use of a practice doll, about the size of a small child to help gain preliminary training in handling and photographing a doll, the student will be better prepared to cope with a live, wriggling child, he says.

"Unlike fashion, sports, news or other specialized fields of photography is a field in which subjects are available everywhere at all times. They're no further than your own house... or your neighbor's. It is a field of perpetual demand because parents, publications and advertisers all want good photos of youngsters—not once, but again and again as they grow, change and do things."

"Successful child portraiture is possible," Schneider emphasized, "if two things are learned. First, good lighting. Secondly, effective methods for managing the child. He hastens to add that this is extreme simplification of the problem. He suggests beginners start with only one light.

With the model on a low platform, sitting three feet from the wall, the one light is placed four feet from the child, 15 inches to the right of the camera and 20 inches above the eye level of the child. The light is angled downward at the child's chest, not at the face, to prevent direct glare in the eyes. The camera, on a tripod, is 12 inches above the child's eye level.

This front light set-up will give well modeled features. It can also be used as the main light in conjunction with one or two back lights.

"Basic lighting set-ups for one, two or three photofloods are effective no matter which way a child turns as long as the youngster is maneuvered into a certain area," Schneider says. "The latter is done by a whole repertoire of games, stunts, noises and toys. Different age levels of children require different combinations of tricks and gimmicks but they rivet the child's attention, keep him in position and provoke a series of expressions which can be captured on film."

Here are some of the stunts he suggests:

A baby about a year old often thinks it hilarious if a pile of small cardboard boxes on the photographer's head topple over. Then pile the boxes near him and let him push them over.

When he tires of that game, give him an old magazine and tear out one page. The idea will sink in quickly and will keep him busy tearing out more pages.

He also likes noises—especially if he makes the noise himself. Give him a saucepan or kettle and tablespoon and watch him beat the band. To stop the movement of the arm when you want to shoot, suddenly attract the child's attention—and be prepared to push the button instantly.

A two-year-old will respond to a give-and-take-away game with a toy, a ball or a doll. He likes to blow out lighted matches of candles if he keeps a pacifier in his mouth or sucks his thumb. Give him a cookie or piece of bread.

Toy telephones are great fun for most 3-year-olds and blowing soap bubbles fascinates them. You can also keep a stock of pennies around for an intriguing game. Put a penny in a film box or little purse and hand it to the child. Watch his jubilant expression as he retrieves the penny. Take the container back and put another penny in. That's when to shoot.

"The whole emphasis is on getting the picture right to start with," Schneider pointed out, "...not processing afterward. It's as easy to take it right as wrong, then the darkroom end of it which follows becomes strictly mechanical. At home, processing is a matter of time and temperature. Or the films can be turned over to a drug store, and it'll still come out good."

beside her typewriter for consumption at the coffee break next morning.

When she came to work, the cake was gone and she was aggravated until she found this note of explanation from one of the night cleaning crew:

"I found a slice of cake on your desk. A roach was going to eat it but I beat him to it. Thank you mam."

Plans Laid In Ayden For Weekend Youth Revival

AYDEN — Plans have just been completed for a city-wide weekend youth revival to be held here this Saturday and Sunday, December 17 and 18. The interdenominational services sponsored by the Musical Messengers will be held in the Ayden Free Will Baptist church.

The first service of the only undertaking of this kind in the recent history of Ayden will be held on Saturday night at 7:30. Bobby Harris, studying for the Methodist ministry at High Point College, High Point, will bring the message in a service featuring Kemp Edwards, Methodist ministerial student attending Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, and Jerry Ballard, Free Will Baptist ministerial student at East Carolina College, in song, and twins Milton and Melvin Worthington, students attending Asbury College from the Free Will Baptist church, with inspirational testimonies.

All Ayden college students returning home for the holidays are invited to take part in the Sunday morning worship service, a service in which one will actually see college youth in Christian action.

A movie will be on the program Sunday afternoon in a service to begin at 2:30. Milton and Melvin Worthington will be in charge of the meeting.

Inspirational singing climaxed by a message on "Peace For The Young Mind" by Jerry Ballard, Musical Messenger president, will bring to and end the first annual weekend youth revival in Ayden. The Musical Messengers are five

'Big Voice' From Sky May Warn Of Attack

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—A "big voice" from the sky may some day provide the warning and information which will save families in rural America from the effects of nuclear attack.

JERRY BALLARD, Musical Messenger president, will bring the closing message of the weekend youth revival Sunday night at 7:30 speaking on "Peace For The Young Mind."

Next year the team is planning to carry the same series of services to the Ayden Methodist Church. All services this year are being held in the Ayden Free Will Baptist church on East Third Street.

No farmer in the fields, or housewife shopping, or child on the way home from school would be beyond danger warnings with an airplane-mounted transistor amplifier now under development by sound specialists and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Unlike sirens, the flying public address systems would not only warn of impending danger, but could be used to give directions on how to protect against it. For example, deadly radioactive fallout drifting or windward from a blasted target city could be charted. People in its path could be warned to evacuate or stay clear of any danger area.

The voice warning system would be effective in alerting people quickly to the complex dangers of biological warfare. It would be ideal to spread the word of an approaching tornado, flash flood or similar localized natural hazard.

Airborne Paul Reveres with "big voice" equipment also would help to overcome the limitations of Conelrad, the system of emergency radio broadcasting which, of course, cannot alert those beyond the reach of a radio receiver or in areas where Conelrad station do not provide coverage.

FCDA officials are quick to add, however, that both sirens and Conelrad are basic warning devices practical loudspeaker system likely employing transistors instead of vacuum tubes. Six different firms are now working with FCDA on this project.

FCDA officials point out that transistor speaker systems eventually would be cheaper to build and maintain, more adaptable to weather and last longer.

Because of their much lighter weight and lower power consumption, they could be used on helicopters or light planes, which are cheaper to buy and operate, and are able to fly closer to the ground for greater audibility.

Alfred P. Miller, director of the FCDA Warning and Communications Office, points out that "the siren still gives more sound per dollar than any other system." A voice warning system, however, provides voice information not obtainable with sirens, but essential in any evacuation of people.

Conelrad also is extremely valuable, Miller says, because radio gives a degree of blanket coverage unobtainable at such low cost with any other system.

In addition to airplane-mounted units, portable loudspeakers could be installed on trucks, at key intersections or downtown areas to route evacuation traffic and pedestrians to safety. Battery-operated megaphones would be used extensively by civil defense workers.

Fixed PA systems also would be installed in rural reception areas near large cities to give instructions to the vast number of evacuees from target cities.

To find out exactly how many units of each type of PA equipment are needed in different types of cities and how much it would cost, FCDA is planning application studies next year in a predominant-business type city, among others.

Preliminary studies indicate the cost of a voice-sound system would run about 20 to 30 cents per person. Federal money is available now on a matching fund basis to install such equipment when cities and towns request it.

The aerial "big voice" still awaits additional development of a

Approximately 60 From Area At New Bern Meet

Wills Manning, local congregation supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses, spoke at a three-day Watchtower convention in New Bern last week end. Approximately 60 persons from this area attended the meeting.

Saturday evening a two-hour program of demonstrations and talks on the theme, "The Right Kind of Ministers," stressed striving toward maturity on the part of each member by personal study, preparation and training.

A public baptism for 11 new candidates to the ministry was held Saturday afternoon.

Took Out A New Lease On Life

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—At a medical meeting, Dr. Thomas M. Durant of Temple University read a paper on old age and how to nurse the spark of life.

When he finished, Dr. O.M. Marchman of Dallas spoke up: "I wish to state that after hearing you, I propose to take a lease on my office for another 10 years."

Marchman is 83.

Poison Dropped 50,000 Rabbits

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A U.S. coast guard plane bombed Santa Barbara Island.

The bombs were forty 25-pound sacks of poisoned barley.

Their target was 50,000 rabbits Donald Robinson, department of interior, said: "We had to do it. The rabbits were eating the island's foliage faster than it can grow."

Experienced Men In Rubber City

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Maybe it's the bounce in this Rubber City whatever it is, many of the sturdy business veterans spurn retirement.

Paul W. Litchfield, 80 still heads a large rubber company. He delights in squashing retirement rumors each birthday.

Dr. M.D. Alles, former city health director, was past 70 when he stepped aside in favor of a successor. Now he's busy with private practice.

Cyrus S. Eaton, 71 rises at 1:30 a.m. workdays. Only two years ago he won the chairmanship of a major railroad.

At 87 attorney Clyde Berry has "slowed down," but still reports to his office and handles cases. And there Realtor R. K. Crawford, 85, is hard to see at times because his secretary reports he "just dashed out again to keep an appointment."

William F. O'Neil, 70, heads another big rubber firm.

Attorney Watson E. Slabaugh retired last year at 85.

"You'd be surprised just how valuable a man is with 70 years' experience," he said at that time.

Point Proved By Ghost Vote

BALTIMORE (AP)—Editors of The News-Letter, Johns Hopkins University student weekly, got their point across.

They contended freshmen didn't know enough about the candidates to elect a class president only five weeks after entering the university. Then they backed up their argument by adding Bob Clarke to the list of candidates.

Bob Clarke, who exists only in the imagination of the editors, drew 8 per cent of the vote.

Couldn't Say It, But Gave Alarm

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP)—A 3-year-old who hadn't learned to say "fire" woke his father in time to rescue members of the family from their burning home.

Douglas Boyer kept screaming "hotty" until he woke his father, Walter, 28. An overheated furnace had set the house afire.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

Morgan was nowhere in sight as Wade and Lora went through the back door into the house. Clothilde met them in the hallway, plainly distraught. She was a thin, nervous woman, dressed in black with a white apron tied about her waist. "Please!" she cried to Lora and Wade. "Madame Channing does the so terrible thing. Please, you will go to stop her."

already been done. "Morgan! Stop!" Wade cried. He went across the room as quickly as he could manage with his cane. When Morgan turned he reached up and twisted the knife from her hand. "Give it back to me!" she cried, stamping her foot on the inlaid desk top. "You wanted the picture of Virginia, didn't you? Well, I was going to give it to you. I don't want it—so the thing might as well be cut in two. Then I can be free of the way she watches me." Wade stepped out of her reach with the knife. "I can't stop you if you choose to do something hysterical. But it isn't necessary to ruin the picture. I'd thought to save the whole thing, not deface it that way." She stared at him for a long moment and then crumpled suddenly on the desk her black skirts billowing about her. She put her head in her hands and began to sob uncontrollably. Clothilde, who had hovered in the background, ran toward her and began to wave a bottle of smelling salts near her nose. Morgan flung up her head and slapped the green bottle from Clothilde's hand. It struck a chair and shattered, staining the carpet. For a moment the pungent odor was choking. "Get that away from me!" Morgan cried. "And go! Go away, all of you! As if I hadn't enough to bear today!" She stared angrily at Wade. "What do you know of how it is—having her up there on the wall staring at me, blaming me? I've tried to hide her face behind those draperies, but she looks at me right through the cloth. Day and night. What am I to do? What am I to do?" She rocked back and forth in torment, her head in her hands again. Lora turned to Wade. "I've seen this sort of thing before. Clothilde and I will manage. Please go home. We mustn't keep your mother waiting any longer. I'll follow as soon as I can."

Morgan's state was quite evidently something Wade was glad to escape. "Don't stay too long," he said, and went out of the room. Lora took Morgan's arm firmly. "We're going to get you to bed now. A good sleep will make you feel better. Come along with us." The quiet, authoritative tones of adult to child seemed to have some effect. Morgan sobbed convulsively, but she slipped obediently from the desk. Lora glanced at Clothilde's clucking with a glance and put her arm about Morgan's waist, led her quietly from the room. Adam stood in the hallway, leaning against the newelpost as if he needed to cling to something to stay erect. But Lora had no interest in a second patient. When he would have spoken she shook her head at him sternly and it was likely that Morgan, her handkerchief to her eyes, did not even notice him as Lora led her up the stairs. When Morgan had been undressed and given hot milk to drink, she lay back upon the pillows and closed her eyes. The hysteria had gone out of her and she was drowsy and spent. Lora sent Clothilde away to help settle the servants' temporary quarters in the big house and to summon Morgan's father here. Then only the two of them were together in the darkened room. Discovering that it was afternoon and she was growing hungry, Lora had accepted the glass of milk and thick slices of homemade bread and jam. Clothilde took time to bring her. She ate now and watched Morgan drowsing in the big bed. But Morgan was not asleep. Once her heavy lids fluttered open and she stared at Lora. "Why are you being kind to me?" she demanded. "You need me," Lora said simply. She smiled, attempting to keep her tone light. "Adam says I can never keep away from anyone who needs me."

A faint light of interest sparkled in the dark. "I saw you kissing him this morning—down there at the far corner of the yard."

Lora said nothing. There were no words which would place the blame on Adam and exonerate her. She could only wish that all people Morgan had not seen what happened.

"I don't blame you for turning elsewhere. Not with Wade for a husband. Why do I still want him, Lora? Why should I fight anyone to get him when I know he's not worth it?"

"Be quiet," Lora said. "Don't say things you'll be sorry for. Things that aren't true. You don't want Wade and I'm not turning to Adam. Go to sleep."

Morgan's eyes closed and she lay very still. When Ambrose came quietly into the room she did not stir or open her eyes. Lora put her finger to her lips. "I'll stay a while," he whispered. "But I think she'll be right enough now."

Lora thanked him with a smile and made her escape. Downstairs she paused at the drawing room door and looked in. The desk had been returned to its accustomed place and the green velvet curtain hid Virginia, hid the slashed place between the two figures where Morgan's knife had cut through the canvas.

Lora sighed and hurried to the front door, inexpressibly glad to be free of the emotional tumult of this house. On the front steps Wade sat, his cane beside him, one leg outstretched. He looked up as she came down the steps. "I've been waiting for you," he said.

Wade got to his feet unsteadily and smiled down at her. "You didn't climb the long hill again just for me?" Lora protested.

"Why not? You've been helping up here, and I came too late to be of any use. The least I could do was return after I'd set mother's mind at ease. I thought I might see you home and keep the dragons in the woods away from you."

Remembering the betrayal of her own lips in the moment when Adam kissed her, she winced. She could not accept Wade's consideration as sweetly as it was given. If he knew, he would not be here. But when he offered her his arm as formally as if they'd been going for a Sunday stroll, she took it and went down the steps with him. Her knees felt shaky and more than anything else she wanted to reach the haven of her own room, fling herself across her bed and forget everything in the oblivion of sleep.

Wade spoke only once on the way down. "No Morgan is haunted, too," he mused. "I hadn't suspected that."

"You mean you think she blames herself in some way for—?" He nodded. "She saw Virginia that day. She just told me today. It wasn't suicide." His voice rushed on sweeping over her. "Morgan came through the woods that day. She had on a new hoop skirt and she wanted to show us all. She came to the pool and only Virginia was there, kneeling by the water, reaching out for a turtle. She knew Virginia couldn't swim."

Wade's voice shook but he continued, determined. Morgan saw Virginia topple into the water. She got panicky and shouted for help, but nobody was anywhere nearby. She knew her hoop would drag them both down. So while she wrestled out of it, Virginia drowned. Then Morgan was terrified and ran home."

can Christmas celebrations there. There is far less emphasis on gifts within the family than in the United States. However, tradition calls for presents to those who have done you services during the year. The postman, the telegraph boy, the policeman, the parking lot attendant—all call to pay their respects before Christmas and expect a panettone or cash present. In home the great day of family gifts giving is Jan. 6, Epiphany.

Programming Up In Daytime TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—It's possible that there's a steadily increasing television audience among those in the age of retirement. There are no statistics available to support the theory. Actually it's just a hunch based on the fact that I have heard of three older couples who recently acquired sets and the viewing habit. What interests me is that they're glued to daytime television.

If I had reached the age of retirement I'd be interested in what's happening on television these weekday afternoons. You wouldn't catch me staying up till midnight to see this and that.

Well, if I were sitting before the set these bleak winter afternoons I'd tune to Matinee Theater (NBC-TV Monday through Friday). I've been able to see only three or four of these, but from what I've seen it's one of the best of such programs on TV.

Now comes more good news for daytime viewers. ABC-TV has just acquired 100 feature length British films from J. Arthur Rank. Beginning Jan. 16 they'll come on ABC stations weekdays for two-hour periods.

Among them are such outstanding films as "Hamlet," starring Sir Laurence Olivier; "A Queen Is Crowned," the pictorial report of Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1953 with Olivier as narrator; "Run For Your Money" with Alec Guinness; and "Beware of Pity," starring Lilli Palmer and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

Any group of 100 films is bound to have some second-raters, of course. But in general ABC's announcement means another break for daytime TV fans.

Indiana statisticians report that a cow which produces 4,000 pounds of milk a year nets $43 above feed costs in a year; one which produces 6,000 pounds, $120 and $194 at the 9,000-pound level.

Got Blank Looks Out In Corn Belt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kerr Scott (D-NC) reported today that all he got was blank looks when he ordered country ham, grits, hush-puppies, corn pone and corn bread while in Iowa on a recent speaking trip.

Even though these are Southern delicacies, Scott said he figured he would be able to get them since

"this Iowa is known the world over as the hub of the corn and hog farming country."

He said he was "somewhat taken aback because Iowa didn't make it a point to promote hog and corn products."

After getting pressed ham when he ordered "country ham," Scott concluded, he didn't even bother to try to order "chittlins."

Although the Mayflower had a stormy trip from England to America, only one person died on the voyage.

Italian Yuletide Is Family Affair

By STAN SWINTON
ROME (AP)—Christmas in Italy is the day when the family bond is closest.

On Christmas Eve, before the eager eyes of the children, mother and father construct a model of the Nativity scene. This "presepio" is to Italian children what the Christmas tree is to Americans, although the foreign custom of Christmas trees is spreading even here.

Usually the presepio shows the Child in a wooden or rock manger. An ox and a donkey flank the manger. Around it, kings and shepherds kneel in veneration. Colored lights shine on the scene.

In poor homes the presepio may be of cardboard. Among rich nobles there may be expensive hand carvings. But always there is the presepio.

Nabbo Natale (Father Christmas) is known in Italy but it is the Gesu Bambino (the infant Jesus) who lays presents beside the heads of sleeping children before they awaken Christmas morning.

This begins Christmas, the one day of the year in which every Italian is expected to rest at home with his family. Through the day the family group plays cards, talks and jokes, drinks coffee and eats candies or sweets.

Sweets vary from city to city but everyone must have panettone. This is a sweet bread with raisins and candied fruit which has spread from Milan across the world. Thousands are shipped to the United States for Italo-Ameri-

You'll go for Gill's Coffee because the matchless flavor sends you! The rich, rich, velvet-smooth flavor of finest coffees plus a dash of seasoning. And Oh! so thrifty.

Annual Christmas Dance Set Dec. 16

By MELVIN BOYD
Grimesland High School
Grimesland High will have its annual Christmas dance sponsored by the Beta Club in the school auditorium starting at 8:00 o'clock on December 16. The dance will follow the Mother-and-Daughter Banquet given in honor of the mothers of the PTA. The dance will continue through 11 o'clock and everyone is urged to come.

The students and teachers at Grimesland High have entered into the Christmas spirit very wholeheartedly.

They have a play December 14 with all grades participating. They organized two choirs which accompanied the play by singing Christmas carols. Narrator Joseph Padgett read "Christmas Story" in parts and each part was acted out on the stage.

The stage was gaily decorated showing a silhouette of Bethlehem and a pretty blue sky decorated with tinsel foil stars in the background and palm trees in the foreground. Everyone was in costume. Following the play the PTA had its regular monthly meeting.

The senior class had a new arrival this week but not the kind that the stork brings. Shelby Jean Hodges, a former student of Grimesland High, has moved back from Robersonville and is now attending classes at the school.

The seniors at Grimesland High will be entertained at a Christmas party at 7:00 o'clock at Becky

Mills' home, a senior, on December 15. Refreshments will be served by Becky. They will exchange gifts also at the party. They will be chaperoned by Miss Katie Earl Owen, senior class home room teacher.

The Junior Class had a Christmas party at host Peggy Taylor's home on December 12. After arriving they had a friendly chat, played games and danced. Refreshments were served.

This Week's Menu
Monday: Fish sticks, buttered potatoes, turnip salad, cookies, slaw, hush-puppies, milk.
Tuesday: Meat loaf, cream potatoes, peas, biscuits and butter, jelly, carrot strips, milk.
Wednesday: Hot dogs, french fries, dried butter beans, chili and onions, cookies, finger rolls and loaf bread, milk.
Thursday: Chicken and rice, sweet potatoes, snaps, tossed salad, pineapple cake, hush-puppies, milk.
Friday: Vegetable soup, peanut butter and honey sandwiches, pimento cheese sandwiches, chocolate cake, crackers, milk.

The 4-H Club held its monthly meeting at Grimesland High School December 12. During the meeting they elected new officers. They had a guest from South America to speak to them. He is one of the boys the 4-H club is sending to all parts of the world to see how others live. He compared his way of living with ours. He said their farming was very much like ours except for farm machinery. He said we have more machinery than they do. After his speech he sang a Christmas song in Spanish.

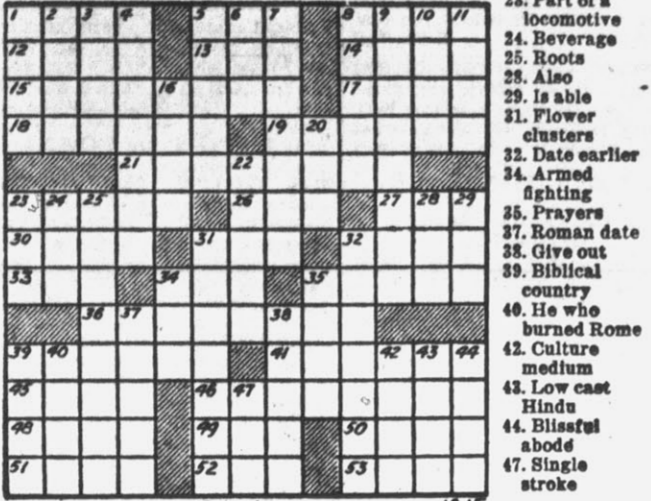

Jimmy Edwards was elected president; Sophia Clark, secretary; Ronnie Boyd, Terry Alligood, song leaders.

Grifton Class Plans Another Bake Sale

By DAWN SMITH
Grifton High School
Friends of Pat Buck are glad to see her "up" and "out" and back to school once more after her recent illness.

It looks as if there is a jinx on our high school girls basketball team now. Patay Burney has just returned to the squad after having sprained her wrist. Now Barbara Taylor and Ardath Vandiford are out with sprains. I certainly hope we have no more such luck as that!

Last Saturday the senior class of GHS held another bake sale. I am sorry to say that proceeds have dropped since the last sale. The class has decided to take orders for the next sale. If any of you in or around Grifton want to give orders for some delicious pies, cakes, cookies and a variety of other goodies let any member of the senior class know. You can even call the high school and leave your order. I'm sure our principal will forward it to us. All orders will be appreciated. The next sale is scheduled for the second Saturday in January but if we can squeeze in another before then we'll make it widely known.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association of Grifton was held Tuesday night. The meeting was called to order by the president, James Israel. He later turned the meeting over to the program committee. The program was a Christmas play and pageant directed by Mrs. June Carson and Mrs. John Bunch. The cast consisted of the glee club plus Nancy Smith, Floyd Smith, Roy Garris, Tommy Boney, Fred Taylor, J. C. Adams, Tommy Suggs, Gilbert Quigley, Bobby Rouse, Donald Bennett, Bonnie Lewis, Peggy Eatman, Dorothy Mitchell, Elen Calvert and Anne Lynn Davis.

Personal Service To His Own Fire
UNION, S.C. (AP)—Magistrate J. Lee Gregory was watching a fight on television at the Union fire station when an alarm came in. He told the truck driver that he would stay and answer the phone. "Get on!" the driver yelled at him. "It's your house!" Gregory rode the fire truck. He found his house full of smoke as the result of a burned roast and a pot of beans on the kitchen stove.

Judicial Wait For Give-Away
HANOVER, Va. (AP)—Judge Leon Bazile was on time for his address to the woman's club but was thirty minutes late in speaking. He found the ladies group around a television set watching one of their members participate in a national give-away program, and joined in watching the screen. After the program was over he spoke and departed.

Christmas Day In Mid-Summer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Imagine Christmas Day with the temperature 80 or even 100.

There isn't a cloud in the sky... People are sleeping off their dinner on a beach, or under a tree in the mountains. The kids are running around in swimsuits.

In Australia Christmas comes at the heights of summer, and in the middle of the children's vacation from school.

Most Australians try to get away from the city to the beach or mountains for Christmas-New Year. Hundreds of Australian factories and offices close for the period. Thus many persons spend Christmas Day away from home—in hotels, holiday cottages or tents. But wherever Australians happen to be, Christmas Day remains a family day. Often it is the one day in the year when whole families can get together.

More Australians go to church on Christmas morning than on any other day. After church, hundreds of thousands appear at the many surfing beaches strung along the coast.
