ACL Move Is 'Shocker' In N.C.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad announced yesterday that it will move its general offices from Wilmington to a more centrally located point. The ACL board of directors in a resolution passed in New York directed President C. M. (Champ) Davis to select a new site promptly and "as soon as practicable" to relocate the company's general office "to some location more nearly at the center of the company's lines." The general office employs about 2,000 workers. The Wilmington district office will remain here. An ACL official said that it may be "some time before a site is picked." Speculation as to the new site centered around Florence, S.C., and Savannah, Ga. The ACL operates about 5,300 miles of track in the Southeastern states. The main line extends from Richmond and Norfolk, Va., to Jacksonville, Fla., with branch lines extending south and west in Florida. Lines west from the coast extend to Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala. The ACL has had its headquarters here since 1902 when it took over the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, which had its office here for more than 50 years. Reasons given for the proposed move: 1. Time consuming added travel by supervisory forces and of a large number of other officers and employees who are required to travel in the ACL's interest. 2. Added time in getting the company's mail to and from the general offices. 3. The lack of ready accessibility from many points for transacting business with railroad patrons and others. City, county and state officials expressed concern over the move. William P. Saunders, new director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, said

Egyptian Reprisal Threats Add New Urgency At UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Egyptian reprisal threats lent new urgency today to U. N. Security Council debate on Syria's charge of Israeli aggression. As the 11 members of the Security Council gathered to take up the Syrian protest, they had before them a letter from Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser asserting the Israeli attack was "positively considered as an aggression against Egypt." Nasser pointed out that Egypt and Syria had concluded a mutual defense pact in October. The United Nations was called to consider Syria's protest against a raid on her post east of the Sea of Galilee Sunday night. Conflicting reports have put the death toll as high as 50. Nasser's letter was addressed to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold with the request that it be relayed to the council. It said Egypt must meet force with force and was "about to deal with the situation in herself" with her land, air and naval forces. Ahmed Shukairy, chairman of Syria's delegation to the General Assembly, told correspondents he would ask the council for "measures which have not been asked before." That could mean a proposal that the council request U. N. members to cut diplomatic, economic and communication ties with Israel or even to use military force. Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban was ready to reply that the attack was necessary to silence Syrian guns which had been harassing Israeli police launches and fishing boats. Israeli President, Izhak Ben-Zvi in Jerusalem yesterday charged the Arab countries with seeking the "annihilation of Israel" and said the Syrian firing on the Galilee boats was part of such a campaign. The council was expected to hear

Estes Kefauver Announces Candidacy For Nomination

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) plunged into the Democratic presidential nomination race today, and announced he will enter as many state primaries as time and money permit. Kefauver, who led in the early balloting at the 1952 party convention but lost the nomination to Adlai E. Stevenson, said he plans a vigorous campaign. Stevenson already has announced he will enter five primaries. Kefauver is expected to meet Stevenson head on in some of these. Gov. Frank Lauch of Ohio has announced as a favorite son candidate. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York says he is an "inactive" candidate. Kefauver said in a statement handed out at a Hollywood news conference that he thinks "it is a good thing for the Democratic party to have a choice of candidates for the presidential nomination." "The Republican party today suffers from lack of alternative candidates broadly representative of their party," Kefauver said. "It would not be a healthy thing for the Democratic party to be placed in such a position." The Tennessee senator said he would contest in a "number" of state primaries. "I am a firm believer in the place of presidential primaries in our democracy," he said. "Beyond the limiting factor of my work in the Senate, the amount of money available for campaigns, and the possibility of conflicting dates, I will hope to enter as many as I can." Kefauver already had announced that if he ran he would enter the June 5 California primary where a slate for Stevenson is expected to go on the ballot. Stevenson also will be entered in Minnesota, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Florida. Kefauver, who is expected to name Joseph P. Donohue of the District of Columbia as his campaign manager, evidenced some uneasiness about the support of his presidential aspirations in his own state of Tennessee. There Gov. Frank Clement is regarded as having some national ambitions. "I will hope of course for the support of my own state of Tennessee which was so generously accorded me in the last campaign," Kefauver said. Kefauver's decision got applause from a Senate colleague, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), who has already lined up for Stevenson.

Farm Federation Goes On Record

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is on record in favor of flexible government price supports and a proposal for a soil bank. The soil bank proposal won approval without opposition at the group's final session of its annual convention yesterday. But Southern cotton growers raised a cry against the okay for flexible price supports. The cotton growers sought yesterday to get delegates to the federation's 37th annual meeting to back rigid 90 per cent of parity supports. H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, led the fight against flexible supports. He said he was backed by delegates from South Carolina, North Carolina, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas and Florida. The Southern bloc tried four times to get delegates to exempt cotton from their recommendation for flexible supports. The bloc also represented growers of peanuts and tobacco. Under the present flexible system Wingate said, 75 per cent on cotton may drop to price supports

Trying Again To Break Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — With its scheduled adjournment only hours away, the U. N. General Assembly headed into its sixth round of balloting today to try to break the deadlock over disputed Security Council seats. The United States again pledged its support for the Philippines. Communist Yugoslavia, backed by the Soviet Union and the Philippines are tied in the contest for the seat after a record 29 ballots. There was, however, growing belief that a compromise choice might emerge before nightfall. Both sides claimed the addition of 16 new member states would swing the trend in their favor. And both voiced confidence they had enough support to get the necessary two-thirds majority. Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile conferred yesterday with top representatives of the United States, Britain and France in an attempt to find a way to settle the issue. Informed sources said Britain, which has been backing Yugoslavia, proposed Sweden as a compromise choice, but the United States insisted it would stick by the Philippines. Informants said the Americans oppose Sweden on grounds that the Scandinavian nation's recognition of Red China would play a role in the growing battle over Chinese representation. Italy and Austria also were reportedly suggested, but a number of diplomats are known to oppose giving such a high post to a new member. Negotiations have become urgent over the past two weeks. Delegates feared that if the Assembly adjourned without filling the seat, the council would be out of business. The British reportedly advised the Americans they might be compelled to ease the restrictions soon because of strong political and business pressures at home. Possibility of such action has worried the American administration because it would spell the loss of an important bargaining position in current discussions between U. S. and Red Chinese representatives in Geneva. Informed diplomats said Dulles asked Macmillan to take no quick action before the whole tangled question can be discussed at the highest level, presumably by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden when they meet next month in Washington. The issue of trading with the Chinese Reds is an old sore in British-American relations. The United States has called for the trade embargo on the Chinese Reds, in 1951 when it called the Peiping regime an aggressor for its part in the Korean War. The British think the control system on Red China is out of date. They believe there is nothing to stop Russia from buying certain goods available to her and then reselling them to Peiping. Eight Directors Are Elected To C-of-C Board

Eight new members of the Board of Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce have been elected in voting which closed Monday. Names of the new directors were announced today by the Chamber's Elections Committee. The new directors are John T. Barnhill, James W. Butler, F. Badger Johnson, Jr., J. T. Marston, Ben L. Rouse, W. H. Speight, Ercell S. Webb and D. J. Whitcher III. They will serve three-year terms beginning February 1, 1956. The directors were elected by the members of the Chamber of Commerce membership from a slate of 16 nominees. The Elections Committee, composed of Robert E. Tunnell, chairman, A. A. Hines and Joseph G. Proctor, canvassed the ballots and certified the election. Hold-over directors, who with the newly elected directors constitute the Chamber's 24-member board for 1956 are Dr. M. W. Aldridge, W. L. Allen, Stanley F. Anderson, John W. S. Biggs, Leonard P. Bloxam, John G. Clark, Jr., J. S. Ficklen, Jr., James L. Harris, Jr., Ford Moseley, Frank Stalnbeck, W. H. Taft, James A. Taylor, Edmund Waldrop, S. Eugene West and A. Tyson Bilbro, 1954 president who has served as an honorary director during 1955. The new Board of directors is expected to hold an organizational meeting and elect officers in January.

Global Range Of Topics At Secret Session NATO Policy Is Discussed

PARIS (AP) — Fifteen foreign ministers of the Atlantic Alliance sought today to coordinate their policy for dealing with danger spots all over the globe. Each attended the meeting, which lasted three hours, accompanied by only two top advisers. Spokesmen would only say afterward that the talk ranged all around the world wherever there were problems directly or indirectly affecting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. U. S. Secretary of State Dulles warned yesterday that Russia has

Chest Campaign To End Tuesday

The lagging Community Chest drive will officially end next Tuesday, General Chairman Ben L. Rouse announced today. Solicitors have collected a little more than $15,000 during the long campaign. That still falls far short of the $15,350 goal set for the Chest this year. Rouse expressed doubt that the goal will be met by Tuesday. "Unless the people give more generously than they have, we will not meet the goal," the chairman declared. He noted that a few solicitors still have not reported on their assignments and he urged those who have not contacted the persons assigned to them to do so before next Tuesday in order that final tabulations can be made. Rouse also asked all local citizens who have not contributed to the Community Chest this year to do so. He offered a reminder to the public that organizations supported through the Community Chest affect everyone in some way. The participating organizations are: Boy and Girl Scouts, Chazy Fund, King's Daughters, Service League, Teen-Age Clubs, Travelers Aid, United Seaman's Service, and Carolina's United. Rouse also pointed out that individuals who wish to contribute may contact him to have their donations picked up. The contributions may also be mailed to: Ben L. Rouse, Box 264, Greenville, S. C. Even though the drive for funds will officially end Tuesday, donations to the Community Chest fund will still be accepted after that date. Rouse said that those in charge of the drive will be working to bring in remaining contributions and individual donations will be welcome at any time in the year. If the Community Chest drive does not reach its goal this year, it will be the third year for which the full amount has not been raised. Last year with a goal of $15,350 the drive ended approximately $1,800 short.

Weeping Mother Greets Turncoat

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Richard Tenneson, the Minnesota farm boy who once renounced America for communism, returned to his native soil today and a reunion with the mother who never abandoned faith that he would come back. The 22-year-old former soldier stepped from a commercial passenger plane here today and met his mother, Mrs. Portia Howe, in a long embrace. The Alden, Minn. farm woman walked half way up the ramp to greet the son she had not seen for five years. Tenneson, wearing only a double-breasted brown suit against the near-zero weather, appeared tired, and struggled to smile. He exchanged whispered greetings with his mother, who placed her hand on his shoulder and wept. He said his overcoat was in his luggage. Tenneson walked arm in arm with his mother to meet Mrs. Howe's 12-year-old twins, Jan and Eden. He placed his arms around them and for the first time broke into a broad smile. Tenneson arrived here on a flight from Hong Kong, where he crossed over from China Tuesday after refusing for two years to return to the United States. He was captured during the Korean War. At the airfield to meet Tenneson was the Rev. Forest Stinson, pastor of the Methodist church at Alden. Not there were Tenneson's stepfather, Eben How, and his half-brother, Nathan, 18, who were performing farm chores. At an interview in Seattle, Tenneson wouldn't say why he was back. "I am not prepared to answer now," he said in an interview which followed a 30-minute travel through official red tape after he landed here on a trip from Tokyo. Bewildered and ill at ease, the boyish looking repatriate landed shortly before midnight. He was released by the Red Chinese Tuesday at Hong Kong and landed Wednesday night in Tokyo. He was home for the first time since 1949, the year he went to Korea and eventual capture by the Communist forces. Offered a chance to return to the United States, he and 21 other GIs refused repatriation. Three others of the original 22, all of whom have been dishonorably discharged by the Army, returned several months ago. They were Otto Bell, Olympia, Wash.; William Cowart, Dalton, Ga.; and Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex. For them, Tenneson exhibited little respect. "They came back, he said, "because they couldn't lead the same easy life in China they had led in occupied Japan." And, he said, "they came back and said things which were not true just to put themselves in a good light." He did not explain this but added: "The men who are remaining feel like I do about the three." He said he had seen all the other Americans who remained in China in the last month and expressed the belief they all would come back "someday." This, also, he did not explain.

Dulles Calls For No Relaxing Ban

PARIS (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was reported today to have appealed to British Foreign Secretary Macmillan in an effort to halt a British move to relax Allied trade restrictions on Red China. The British reportedly advised the Americans they might be compelled to ease the restrictions soon because of strong political and business pressures at home. Possibility of such action has worried the American administration because it would spell the loss of an important bargaining position in current discussions between U. S. and Red Chinese representatives in Geneva. Informed diplomats said Dulles asked Macmillan to take no quick action before the whole tangled question can be discussed at the highest level, presumably by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden when they meet next month in Washington. Grand Jury Says Cooking 'Poor'

Pitt County's Grand Jury yesterday reported that it had inspected the State Prison Camp and found it in good condition. It added, however, in the report submitted to Governor Wade Rife, that some food served to road gangs was "poorly cooked" in that it was only partially done. The report, made as the current term of Superior Court neared its close, also extended thanks to Judge William J. Bundy, Solicitor Robert G. House and all state and county employees. Some 47 bills were examined by the Grand Jury of which 44 were ruled true bills and three thrown out. Heads of departments, including Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson, Clerk of Court D. T. House Jr., County Auditor Regina Gray, Tax Supervisor Harold Alfred, Welfare Superintendent K. T. Futrelle and Register of Deeds Mrs. Blair Wheelers, were summoned before the jury to explain the operations of their respective departments. 'Rescuer' Was Also Unconscious LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — A bus stopped at a highway accident scene near here yesterday. The driver and passengers helped or carried aboard the four persons who appeared to have been injured. One was unconscious. He was carried carefully into a hospital here. As he was placed on the examining table, he opened his eyes and started to get up. "Lie still," the doctor cautioned. "You may have serious internal injuries." "I'm not hurt," the man replied. "I got off the bus to help at the accident and fainted when I saw the blood." None of the other three was hurt seriously either. HE DOOD IT COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The "dood" is a crazy, year-old knows no bounds. When 4-year-old Billy Hawkins thought his father a little slow showing up with a promised Christmas tree the other day, he decided on his own. He took a small saw from his tool kit and cut down a young cedar tree in the backyard of the Hawkins' Columbus home.

Give Generously To Your Community Chest

A former Pitt County resident was arrested yesterday when Martin County ABC officers, assisted by Pitt ABC men and ATF agents, raided a Martin County still. George Brother Howard, 37 Negro, of near Robersonville, was taken into custody when officers came upon the still located near Everetts. The still, a 150-gallon submarine type, was destroyed along with 450 gallons of mash and 15 gallons of freshly-distilled spirits. The temperature in the Greenville area dropped 33 degrees last night to 23 from yesterday's high of 56 and cold wave No. 2, without sleep or snow, was gripping the countryside. The temperature here at 8 a. m. today was 23 degrees, the Coastal Tobacco Research Farm reported.

Adding 16 Countries To UN Is Automatically A Problem-Raiser

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Adding 16 countries to the United Nations brings up all sorts of administrative problems for the world organization. For instance, where do you seat them? The huge modernistic General Assembly hall and the committee rooms have accommodation now for delegations from 70 countries, six less than the new total membership. The U. N. will have to juggle some desks to get in all 76, and tip up the floors to put in conduits for the added sound equipment necessary for all to listen to the simultaneous translations. Sixteen new flagpoles will have to go up on the roll of nation's

Coroner's Inquest Tonight In Woman's Knife Death

An inquest into the death of Penny Green, Negro woman stabbed to death in the wee hours of yesterday morning, has been set for 7:30 p. m. tonight at City Hall. Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said this morning. The Green woman, city police are charging, was stabbed to death by another Negro woman, Annette Scott, at a "juke joint" near the intersection of Myrtle, Grande and Pamlico Avenues. The spot where the killing occurred allegedly was run by William "Snook" Barrett, 31 Negro, possessor of a lengthy court record. Barrett, who has been on probation at least three times for pre-

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
December 16, 1925

Last evening the Greenville County Club was the scene of one of the most enjoyable occasions that has ever been given in this city of Asheville social gaiety. Babes, Boudie and Business were alike forgotten and the whole evening was given over to dining and dancing.

Last evening the only one who did not have a good time was he who could not do the Charleston. Music for the occasion was rendered by the famous Stick Skinner Nineteen, an orchestra well known throughout the state and which the leader claims has a national reputation. The cuisine was presided over by the famous French chef, Alfred Barnhill, who with his assistants so successfully kept the wolf of hunger from the door that even the most hearty and also most fickle of appetites were more than appeased.

Honored On Birthday BETHEL—Mr. and Mrs. Brantley Chesson honored their son, Douglas, at a birthday party at their home on Monday, Dec. 12. A Christmas tree and other decorations were used throughout the house. Lighted tapers furnished the illumination for the party.

The guests were greeted by the honoree upon their arrival at 7:30. Each guest was to see who could dress the tuckiest. The girls judged the boys and Ramon Latham was their choice. The boys chose Kay Rogerson for the girls.

The table was covered with a green cloth. The cake was iced with green and white icing and fifteen red candles completed the decorations. The other refreshments consisted of candy, nuts and green fruit punch.

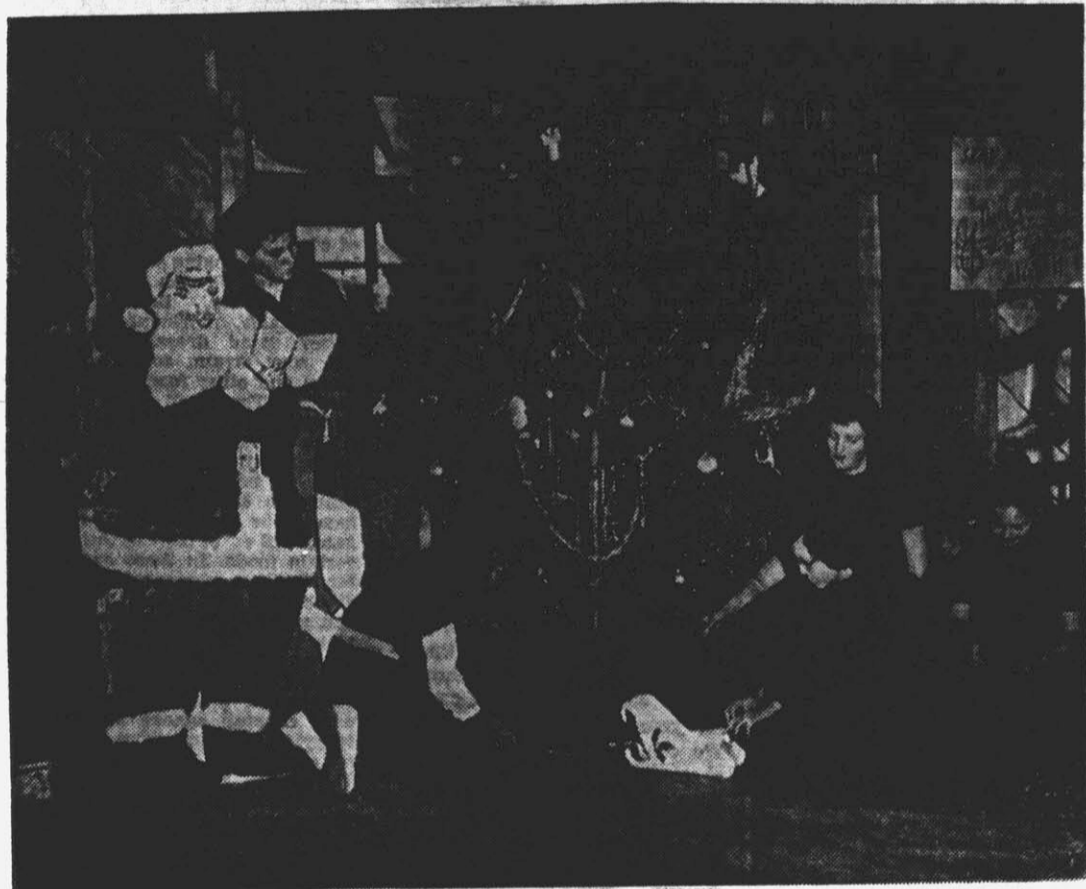

Doug opened his many nice and useful gifts and expressed his appreciation to each for their remembrance.

Christmas Party For 4-H Club Members

Celebrates Birthday

BETHEL—Little Karen Moringo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moringo, celebrated her birthday with a party at her home on Tuesday Dec. 13. The decorations used were of the Christmas motif.

The guests arrived at 3:30 and were greeted by Karen and her sisters, Ann and Malesa. The children sat in a circle and several games were played and prizes awarded.

Karen then opened her gifts which she will enjoy using. The traditional song was used and Karen blew out her candles.

The group was served ice cream, Christmas candy and cookies. The cake which was in the center of the table, was very lovely with pink and blue icing and six pink candles.

There were 25 children who attended the party.

To Present Christmas Cantata BETHEL The Bethel Music Club will present the Christmas cantata "The Choir of Bethlehem" by Noel Fenon on Sunday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 in the Methodist Church. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

For Awhile, Let's Not Rock The Boat

For the welfare of the city administration of Greenville, the City Council should as nearly as possible keep department operators of the municipal government on their current basis during the period between the time the present city manager leaves and the time a new city manager begins his duties.

There is, of course, no way to tell exactly how long the interim period between city managers will be. In all probability the City Council will be able to secure the services of a new administrative head of the city government without an undue delay.

Plans already have been laid for members of the Council to take over supervision of the various departments of the municipal government for the interim period. For the most part, city departments seem to be operating on an even keel now. There is little reason to anticipate any major changes of policy having to be made during the period while the city is without a manager. Department heads should be able to carry out their departmental functions.

It appears to us it would not be desirable for members of the Council to institute policy changes during the interim period. It is quite probable that a new city manager may make some changes in government operations when one begins his duties here. Should members of the Council make major policy changes within departments now, it would mean employees within those departments would just about become accustomed to the changes about the time a new manager takes over and institutes another series of changes.

If such a thing happened, it could well impede departmental operations for several months.

During the period when the city was selecting its first city manager, members of the Council did a good job of overseeing department operations without turning those departments' operations topsy turvy. It helped make the real transition to an operating city manager form of government easier for city employes without disrupting vital departmental functions.

If the same pattern is followed during the interim period while a new city manager is being selected, it will mean the departments will probably have to go through only one change in operating procedure rather than two changes. It will cause less confusion and insure a smoother transition from the policies of one city manager to the policies laid down by another.

If It Wasn't Neglect, What Do You Call It?

We can't recall having heard a more absurd statement than the assertion of the State Hospitals Board of Control that no one was guilty of negligence in connection with the accident which injured 28 inmates of the Goldsboro mental institution.

Perhaps the board's whitewash of the Goldsboro incident is one of the reasons such neglect of the patients is tolerated in state mental institutions throughout North Carolina. Maybe members of the board feel that institution officials who permit the herding of 72 inmates into the back of one small truck are entirely in keeping with standards which should be met by such institutions. Perhaps responsibility for the particular incident could not be placed on any one person's shoulders; but from the report of the Board of Control one might suggest the responsibility rest on a great many shoulders from members of the board on down the line to the custodian who supervised the loading of the truck.

In most cases what is everybody's responsibility becomes nobody's responsibility. Is that the attitude which is being taken toward North Carolina's mental institutions and the care given inmates in these institutions?

In spite of the fact that the State Hospital Board of Control Executive Committee found from its investigation of the accident that no one was guilty of negligence, circumstances of the case point indisputably to the fact that there was neglect of the welfare and safety of the patients in herding so many into a truck. With proper attention, 72 people would not have been loaded in the back of a truck, and it is extremely unlikely that 28 of them would have been injured in the accident which resulted. No negligence?

How can North Carolina expect to improve its care of mental patients when the group charged with the overall responsibility for the institutions takes such a passive view point when unfavorable conditions come to light?

The statement of the Hospitals Board of Control notwithstanding, it is obvious from the conditions which surrounded the Goldsboro accident that patients were not receiving the attention they should be accorded. Call it negligence or by any other name, it does not alter the circumstances and the need for preventing a recurrence of such an incident.

There Is Still Time To Share Your Christmas

For the people who want to help needy families in their communities this Christmas there is still time to get the name of such a family from the Pitt County Welfare Department.

Although the local Welfare Department has long lists of needy families who should have assistance at Christmas, the department has no funds with which to provide special Christmas baskets. The Welfare Department therefore must rely on individuals and organizations to provide for these families if their Christmas is to be made brighter.

For the past few days the news columns of The Reflector have carried a brief description of some of these needy families. The list which the Welfare Department has on hand is too long for publication in detail, but the smattering of cases chosen at random for publication gives some indication of the needy cases.

Individuals and organizations who desire to help some needy family this Christmas have only to contact the Welfare Department to get the name and address of such a family. The Welfare Department has investigated the cases which it has on its lists and has determined that the families are actually in need of Christmas assistance.

It is certainly to be desired that every family in Pitt County this year is adequately provided for during this Christmas season. Yet such a goal can only be reached if the more fortunate within the community share what they have with those who are destitute.

Indifference Shown In Large Bond Vote

By LYNN NISBET

VOTING — Sponsors of the $5 million hospital improvement bonds for Wake county are pleased with the results of the election. The bonds received only 449 majority and the tax only 476 in a total of just over 5,000 votes cast.

Wake county has more than 60,000 registered voters and a potential voting strength estimated at between 80,000 and 85,000. The total number of votes cast Tuesday was about 10 per cent of the eligible registrants, and the bonds were approved by less than 6 per cent of those who could have voted.

Stated another way, 2962 voters were responsible for placing a debt and tax on 150,000 people and $10 million property values. At the same time only 213 citizens bothered to register protest. This indifferent attitude has revived the suggestion that perhaps there should be a required percentage of registered voters participating to constitute a valid election. Nearly every organization has regulations as to how many participants constitute a quorum for the conduct of official business. Until a few years ago it was required by statute that a majority of the registered voters must approve a bond or tax issue before it could be made effective.

When that was changed to make a majority of the votes cast controlling it was suggested there should be a minimum percentage or "quorum" established. Most popular figure was 25 per cent of the total registration. Opponents of the "quorum" idea point out that every registered voter has opportunity to cast his ballot, and those who do so should not be penalized for the apathy of others.

DEMOCRACY — The Wake county hospital election is the latest but by no means the only instance in which a very small minority has controlled the democratic process, which is essentially the right of the majority to govern. Numerous instances have occurred in which a small segment of the population decided the course for the whole people. This did no violence to the democratic concept, because there was no denial of opportunity to express a vote.

In the instant case it can be said with equal truth that only six percent of the registered voters in Wake county declared endorsement of the hospital bonds and taxes, but another 90 per cent evidenced tacit approval by failing to vote against them, and only four percent actually opposed. The ratio of 96 per cent to 4 per cent would seem to sustain the majority rule philosophy

LONG RANGE — In that connection some of the discussions at the recent White House Conference on Education would seem to be pertinent. Under the general heading of how to finance schools there was almost unanimous opinion that there should be definite restrictions on bond issues, but little if any limitations on tax levies for current purposes.

Reasoning behind the discussions was that temporary emotional upheavals might cause a favorable vote for long term debt, which the next generation would have to pay off after conditions had materially changed. Tax levies for current operations are subject to change every year, but tax levies for bonds cannot be changed until the bonds have been paid off.

That is why a number of participants in that conference contended for constitutional limitations on bonded debt and for requirements in bond elections more rigid than apply to tax levies and choice of temporary public administrative officials.

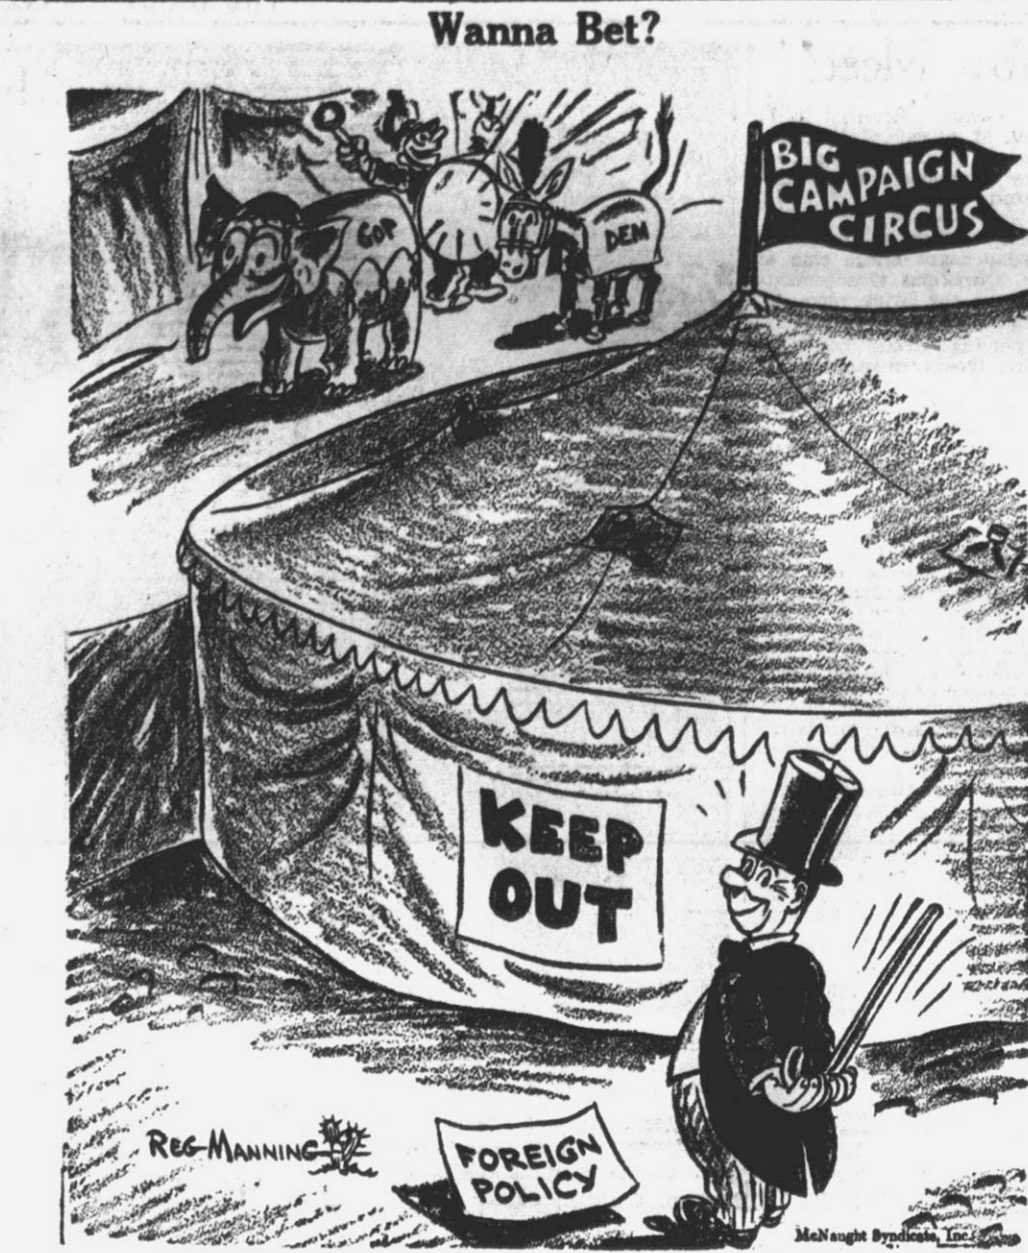

QUORUM — That brings us back to the "quorum" idea for bond elections. The former provision for a vote against the registration was obviously unfair, in that it required counting dead people and those who had moved away since putting their names on the precinct registration books, as well as affording a chance to vote against the bonds simply by staying at home on election day.

Requirement for a fixed percentage of the total registration to constitute a valid election would also give advantage to the stay-at-homes.

Theoretically North Carolina primary election laws require a majority vote for nomination of candidates. Actually, other provisions of the law put the burden upon second high candidates to call for a run-off or withdraw, conceding the nomination to someone who received less than a majority of the popular vote. A surprisingly large number of public officials have been nominated by that method, including the incumbent Governor.

There have been few, if any, instances and none is here remembered in which an important State official has been elected with less than 25 per cent of the eligible electors participating. There have been many county and municipal officers elected by small voter participation.

The question remains whether or not there should be a "quorum" requirement in popular elections comparable to legislative and judicial body, with further requirement that majority vote of the quorum should be necessary to determine the final action.

Sometimes, however, it can be a problem when they can't get the answer. There are lots of questions going unanswered in the world today, and there are lots of questions we don't expect to be answered at all.

There are a few though, for which the state Department of Conservation and Development would be interested in finding the correct reply.

New Look In Grocery Field Seen

By ELMER ROESSNER

Aerosol containers and collapsible tubes are threatening more revolutions in the food industry. Revolutions are normal in the grocery field. Ever since the advent of self-service, which has turned both buying and selling in side out, there have always been several other revolutionary changes in process. There has been a sharp trend toward upper-crust food and toward richer and fattier diets, with a counter swing to low-calorie specialties. And, as has been obvious for some time, there has been an amazing shift to quick-frozen and convenience foods.

This last phenomenon, industry leaders say, has only begun. Stores of the future may display long menus, ranging from venison au Kaye with mushrooms and Sherry sauce to pot roast Rumsey with potato pancake. Housewives will make their selections, get complete meals frozen on a plate—possibly from coin machines—take them home and pop them in the oven for a few minutes. A tired worker, after loading 16 tons of number nine coal, may tumble home to a meal prepared by 12 chefs at Le Pyramid in France.

The march toward convenience foods has been so swift that all a housewife today needs for a cake is a cup of water and a hot oven. The only thing left for manufacturers to offer her cakes already baked. (They've been doing that for centuries? Thanks for letting me know.)

CALORIES UNDER PRESSURE

Until the day comes when all meals are precooked and quick-frozen, there will be many changes in packaging. The most surprising of these may be in the use of pressure cans. So far, whipped cream and toppings are the only food put up in these containers. Some technical problems remain before use is general. But, as was disclosed at a recent meeting of the Chemical Specialty Manufacturers Association scientists are at work on it.

Soon, predicted W. Earl Graham, research manager for Crown Cork & Seal Co., housewives may buy aerosol containers of ca. up, cheese spreads, chocolate syrup, cooking oil, flavorings, food pastes, French dressing, ice cream mixes, liquid batter, vanilla, meringue, pancake batter, salad dressing, shortening, sour cream, soy sauce and many and other foods and condiments. They will need no refrigeration.

The consistency of some of these products, of course, will have to be lessened. And the problems of gas solubility will have to be solved. Perhaps some gases will be unpleasantly with certain foods. In those cases, Mr. Graham suggested, a plastic diaphragm can keep the food and gas apart with the gas serving to force the food out when the button is pushed.

The day will come, Mr. Graham said, when a hostess may prepare a party in a kitchen by spraying crackers from an aerosol can.

TUBE VS. PRESSURE CAN

Meanwhile, the use of the toothpaste tube for food is making some gains. In the case of baby foods, which are lagging far behind European countries in this type of packaging, only a few foods are now offered in tubes in American stores, and many of these are imported. But manufacturers of the tube have salesmen busy ranging the countryside, trying to persuade food processors to use them. Tests of jelly in tubes are now under way in parts of Pennsylvania and other tests may soon be made.

On other fronts, improvements in the eye-appeal of packages is proceeding rapidly. While packaging revolutions—like others in the food field—are almost as regular as the tides, interest has been stimulated by an amazing incident.

The package of you-know-which cigarette was changed to a flip-up folding carton. As Norman F. Greenway, president of the Folding Paper Box Association, reports the sales volume increased 50 fold in eight months. That's an increase, as we figure it, of 5,000 per cent.

There's still another trend: packaging food in unit portions. Many canned products now come in one- and two-serving sizes. Jelly comes in single-portion containers and now the idea is being adapted to frozen foods. A frozen fish cutlet, for instance, now comes in four ounce portions. So far, most food in portion size is being offered in the institutional market, but it will be offered to housewives soon.

And in Detroit Mrs. Dorothy Gazzeny brushed her teeth so vigorously she swallowed the toothbrush. Fortunately, she had another.

At least two dogs tried their paw at driving an automobile in 1955 — a Doberman pinscher in Fort Wayne Ind., and a boxer in Black River Falls, Wis. Both ended up by crashing into something. They also ended up in the doghouse.

Other Editors Are Saying ... Somewhere, It Got Away

(The Charlotte Observer) Just 55 years ago a thing called a Locomobile came to Charlotte and "Tryon Street went crazy," the horses and mules jumped every which way.

Now any horse or mule with the will to live keeps his distance from Tryon and the Locomobiles shoot all over the place and all over themselves. Or, at least they chrome-trimmed souped-up, air-conditioned successors do.

It is not hard to visualize the first appearance in our city of that cross between a locomotive and an automobile. Plainly it was a joke. But it was a joke with a distinction: no one was sure how long it would remain a joke.

running, they did something else. They speeded it up, faster and faster. And still faster.

Somewhere something got out of hand. The Frankenstein got away from us and, as you've been caught yet. It started killing and maiming beyond all our wars. Even as it altered our habits and split our families it started sending 35,000 of us to the graveyards every year. And so a President begs his people for just 24 hours of sanity in handling the thing. And school kids in Greensboro send up a howl when their "drag races" get cancelled.

It is hard to say just when and where the fury got out of the bag. Probably on a day in Detroit when an engineer looked across the table and said, "Mike, they're getting 30 miles an hour at a Boom-bomb. Surely we can beat that."

Director of Public Information So everything happens to you? Maybe you just think it does. For instance: Have you been shot by your car door? By your dog? By a fish? Have you swallowed your toothbrush? Has your dog driven your automobile? Ditto your two-year-old son or daughter? Have you proudly named your place Dew Drop Inn only to have it do just that — into the lake? All these odd little happenings and many others were uncovered by the National Safety Council in its annual roundup of freak accidents. Here's the roundup on the dizzy doings in 1955.

Gene Scott, of Rushville, Neb., had hoped his hunting trip would turn up something special. It did. He got shot by his car door. Gene was getting out of the car when a gust of wind blew the door shut on his coat pocket. In the pocket was a rifle shell. Bang! You can bet the next hunt will find Gene astride a good old-fashioned doorless horse.

In New Liberty, Iowa, 12-year-old David Dahl placed his rifle against a ladder in the barn and started to climb to the loft. His dog Terry jumped on the ladder, struck the rifle trigger, with his paw, and shot his ascending master just below the hayloft.

Some fish stories are greeted by raised eyebrows. But when Bobby Bright of Gonzales, Tex., reported that he had been shot by a fish, no one could doubt him. He had the fish, the gun and the

Tots Delight Parents In Yuletide Program

On Thursday evening, Dec. 15, 39 little patrons of Nobles Nursery put on a delightful Yuletide program for their parents. Festivities were begun with a "welcome to parents" by Danny Stox. Margaret Elks then sang the new and charming "I'm Gettin' Nuttin' for Christmas."

The children all joined together in singing some of the traditional songs of the season. "Away In A Manger," "The Story of Christmas," "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town," and "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas." Eva Jomp recited "Why Those Bells For Christmas Ring," and the children in unison gave "To the Stable," with appropriate actions. Then, to the eagerly anticipated swell of "Here Comes Santa Claus," the jolly old gentleman made his grand entrance.

Beautiful Christmas stockings, each with the child's name imprinted, and all loaded with goodies and toys were distributed by Santa amid great excitement, after this grand friend of all children had discussed gift preferences with all his little friends of the evening. Following Saint Nick's departure, "Aunt Betty," assisted by Jean Bright and Jeannette Bright, gave out the gifts the children had drawn names for.

After the children had enjoyed a wondrous interlude of opening, examining and trying out their gifts, delicious refreshments of punch, turkey sandwiches, cookies, nuts and candies were served buffet style with Jean and Jeannette at the punch bowls. The party then closed with many gracious "thank-yous" being said to "Aunt Betty" and the girls.

Shrine Club Installs Officers

The Pitt County Shrine Club held its regular meeting December 15 at Respass Bro Barbecue on the Bethel highway. The meeting was presided over by the outgoing president, Noble W. R. Humnicutt. After opening the meeting he called on past president Noble George Smith to install the new slate of officers which consisted of the following Nobles: Hoyt Naron, president; Leslie Garner, first vice president; Eli Bloom, second vice president; Herman Hardee, secretary; and Kelly Rowe as treasurer. Each made inspiring responses after the installation. A fine meal was enjoyed before starting the business session.

Three important matters of business were taken up and passed on, namely: to send the Crippled Children's Hospital at Greenville a check for $150 for Christmas, to take care of one needy family this Christmas, and to send the Greenville High School Band to New Bern to the Spring Ceremonial in January if it meets with the approval of the school superintendent.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the club was entertained by a very fine quartet consisting of Leslie Garner, Ed Conway, Harry Kelly and Thurston Wynne. Ladies night will be held at the next meeting in January.

Presbyterian Men Install Officers

At a regular monthly supper meeting of the Men of the Presbyterian Church held Wednesday night, new officers of the Men's Bible Class and the Men's Fellowship Club were officially installed.

They are as follows: Men's Bible Class—H. H. Bryant, president; D. A. Johnston, vice president; Tom Forrest, secretary-treasurer. He added that we all like to have other people think that we are Christians and that the home is the most important place in which to practice Christian ideals. "Thank God for homes of love, devotion and Christian worship," concluded Dr. Silverthorne.

Dr. S. R. Bartlett presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker. Thirty-five attended the meeting including guests Dr. Phil Graef of East Carolina College and the speaker.

Rev. L. W. Topping, minister of the church, installed the new officers and led the devotional. He announced that Dr. J. A. Jones will be guest minister at the church on Sunday.

A delicious ham supper was served by Circle No. 4, Miss Christine Johnston, chairman.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE
Wade and Lora made the rest of the trip downhill in complete silence.

"Not Jemmy," Wade said. He went to her dresser for a candle and she closed her eyes for a moment against the sharp arrowhead of light.

Back at home he left her at the foot of the stairs and returned to his mother's sitting-room. Lora went up to find Jemmy waiting for her at the head of the stairs.

"Why did you stay with me?" she asked. "Why did you watch while I slept?" "I was lonely," he said simply. "I wanted to be near you."

He leaned toward her, sniffing as she reached the top step. "You smell real strong of smoke," he said. "Papa shut me out when he came back to tell grandmother."

"I was lonely," he said simply. "I wanted to be near you." He, too, she thought and was warm bath and the down for a while, Jemmy. I'm so tired and my head hurts. Tomorrow I'll tell you all about everything, and that's a promise."

Any appeal to his sympathy always reached him and Jemmy pleaded no further. Lora undressed and bathed herself from head to toe in the zinc-lined tub in the bathroom. She brushed her hair to bright lustre and rubbed her head roughly with a towel.

"What time is it?" "Near midnight," he said. "Lora there was a warmth, a softness in his voice almost an affection. She swerved away from it quickly. Tenderness was not enough."

There could hardly be a more grateful moment in life, she thought languidly, than the first instant of consigning a weary body to the softness of a feather mattress and body, of surrendering as quickly as possible to the slant.

"I'm ravenously hungry," she said. "I've had only a bite to eat this afternoon, and no dinner at all. Do you suppose we could raid the kitchen for a midnight meal?"

For a little while the events of the day flashed in muddled sequence through her mind. Then slumber came and washed away the senseless pattern. For a long while her sleep was so deep that it did not seem that she dreamed at all.

He brought it for her from the wardrobe. Not her old, worn one, which had been his gift opened days after the unhappy fiasco of Christmas and never worn. Now she slipped it on and let him bring her the blue slippers he had given her to match.

She blinked the heaviness from her eyes and they became gradually accustomed to the gloom. Something in the room was changed, was not as usual. She turned on her side, the better to see the shadowy bulk not far from her bed.

"And you'd like me that way?" Lora could not resist the challenge. He had moved toward the door, the candle in his hand. Its yellow flame gave his face a golden warmth, as if the gray could be hind him had begun to thaw a little. He shook his head at her, smiling.

Daredevil Of Korea Has Mapped New Army Unit

By STAN SWINTON
CAMP DARB, Italy (AP)—The U. S. Army is developing an important forerunner of the atomized light task force of the future in mountainous northern Italy. It's called SETAF—Southern European Task Force. Its commander is Brig. Gen. John E. (Mike) Michaels of Lancaster, Pa. That choice is a tipoff to the significance of the job, for Michaels rates high among the Army's bright young men. A World War II paratrooper, he was senior aide to President Eisenhower when Eisenhower was chief of staff. But to the American public, he is best remembered as the daredevil commander of the 27th Wolfhound Regiment in Korea. "In my mind this is the forerunner of the future of the Army—tremendous mobility, small manpower (we have only 5,500 men) and great lethality of weapons. More firepower and less manpower." His task force is built around the Honest John, a rocket which can be fired with a conventional or an atomic warhead. Discussion of atomic warfare is not possible with the general but few believe

Dewey And Seven Top GOP Leaders In 'Social' Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey met last night with seven state Republican leaders. He insisted, however, that he has no political aspirations and a spokesman for the party leaders said the meeting was "strictly social." "There is no news tonight," Dewey told newsmen. William MacKenzie of Belmont, N. Y., chairman of the late Assembly Ways and Means Committee, said of Dewey, "In my book he can have any political job he aspires to." "I don't want any, now or anytime," Dewey, twice Republican presidential candidate, replied. "I am completely happy." Dewey is practicing law here. The meeting with state Republican leaders yesterday was Dewey's first since he left office as governor after three terms.

Indian Chief Has Reward For Cops

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two members of the police robbery squad were given rewards of bizehooz yesterday. Bizehooz, in case you didn't know, resemble beaded necklaces with medallions on them. They were presented to Sgt. Tom Buckley and Officer Robert Feinado by Chief Wah Nee Ota, who says he is of the Creek Indian tribe. The chief wanted to show his appreciation to the officers. It seems they arrested a robbery suspect who previously had struck up an acquaintance with the chief. Now Wah Nee Ota believes he would have been next on the man's list of possible victims.

Hospital Party For Polio Boy

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Thirty-six healthy youngsters were admitted to Children's Hospital yesterday, but all of them had a good time. They went to throw a Christmas-farewell party for Eugene Jackson, 14, a polio patient. The fifth-graders "adopted" the Jackson boy earlier this year when they spotted him sitting in his wheelchair from their school across the street. Since then, they've made a practice of waving to him every day. The boy is almost completely paralyzed. He left for Louisville, Ky., today, where he will spend his first Christmas at home in four years.

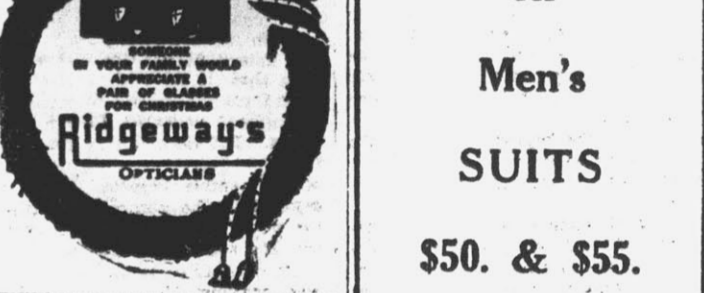

Taxpayer Hurt By Rising Level Of Defense Cost

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Push-button warfare comes high. The indicated rise of one billion dollars in spending for defense dims the hope of businessmen today that the heavy load of taxation that business carries will be lightened. The increasing costliness of today's supercomplex weapons may also cut the chances of the individual taxpayer for much relief soon. If you must blame someone, blame the scientists—their ideas grow costlier. Business hopes for tax relief had grown out of the business boom itself. Gross earnings are so remarkably good and payrolls so high that the U. S. Treasury stands to take in next spring a billion or two more in tax collections than it had counted on when the budget was drawn up a year ago. This seemed sure to balance the budget and perhaps leave room for tax relief—most likely at the individual income tax level, and possibly at the corporate income and excise tax level. That was before the Russians turned their smiles in other directions and returned to calling Uncle Sam and his friends bad names. Defense needs are more apparent now than in the days of the "spirit of Geneva."

Egyptian Peasantry Has New Life 'Forced' On Him

By WILTON WYNN
ABI VILLAGE, Egypt (AP)—Mohamed Hassan formerly lived in an overcrowded village where he had to rent his land and a mud hut. He, his wife, his children and his water buffalo shared the combined dining room and kitchen. The family drank water from an irrigation canal. There was no school in the village. At the end of the year, Mohamed rarely realized more than $5 net cash for his work. Mohamed now lives in a two-story brick house in this model village in a 24-acre land reclamation project in the Nile delta. The water buffalo has a separate room with a private entrance. A faucet in the street provides clean water. His children attend a modern school. There is even a bathroom in Mohamed's house. Social workers expected to find Mohamed happy, but he told a different story. For one thing, he didn't like the two-story house. His bedroom is on the second story, and for safety he would prefer sleeping on the same floor as the buffalo. And he doesn't like the government telling him when to plant his crops, and where to plant them. But if he gave up his place in this village, there are thousands waiting to take it. Despite what he says, Mohamed Hassan never had it so good. He is one of the first 84 families to move into Abis Point. Four are cooperating on a village, where Egypt and U. S. 24-million-dollar project reclaiming 24 acres of land from the sea. After land is drained, experimental crops are grown on it for two years. Then it is broken into farms of five acres each and distributed to peasants. A clean new village of brick and concrete houses will be built in each section of the project. Abis was the first. Each village will have its own school, social center, shops, and clinic. The peasants will pay for their land and houses over a 33-year period.

SAVE on Men's SUITS $50. & $55. Values Now $39.50 All Sizes Saieed's

A friend of ours has a Christmas custom in his house that we think is pretty wonderful. Every year, in addition to the gifts for all the individual members of the family, one purchase is made as a gift "from the family to the family." It is something mutually agreed upon—something the whole family can enjoy together. Over the years they've selected many different items—everything from a new record-player to redecorating the rumpus room. But one of the favorites has been the movie camera which was the "family gift" choice two years ago. You may have the idea that a movie camera is an expensive piece of equipment. Actually you can get Kodak's Brownie Movie Camera for only $37.50, inc. Fed. Tax. I've every inch a quality movie maker, and is as simple to use as a box Brownie. Everyone in the family will enjoy this gift, and you may even want to open it before Christmas so as to capture all of your holiday season in color movies. Dollar for dollar this Brownie Movie Camera will probably bring more pleasure to the whole family than any other gift.

Jesus, Man of Prayer

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 3:21-22; 4:42; 5:16; 6:12; 9:18; 22:29; 10:21-22; 11:1-13.

Jesus went into the wilderness, hoping, no doubt, to commune with His Father. The people followed Him and stayed, begging Him not to leave them.

Jesus restored a man's withered hand in the synagogue on a Sabbath, which infuriated the Pharisees. Then He went into a mountain and prayed all night.

Taking Peter, James and John, Jesus went into a mountain to pray. As He prayed His face became transfigured and His raiment was white and glistening.

One of Jesus' disciples asked Him to teach them how to pray. He taught them what we now call, "The Lord's Prayer." MEMORY VERSE—Luke 11:9.

Jesus, Man of Prayer

CHRIST OFTEN SOUGHT SOLITUDE TO COMMUNE WITH HIS FATHER

Scripture—Luke 3:21-22; 4:42; 5:16; 6:12; 9:18; 22:29; 10:21-22; 11:1-13.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE HAVE studied the Baptism of Jesus in our lessons recently, but possibly in the brief account Luke gives, we may have missed one word, and that is prayer.

Now when all the people were baptized, it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened, and the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove, upon Him, and a voice came from heaven, which said, Thou art my beloved Son; in Thee I am well pleased.

So at the beginning of Christ's ministry He prayed to His Father, and was heard and approved by Him.

And when it was day, He departed and went into a desert place; and the people sought Him, and came unto Him, and stayed Him that He should not depart from them." After an evening of healing the diseased and casting out evil spirits, Jesus sought solianswered Him. Shortly after that episode, Jesus took Peter, James and John and went up in a mountain to pray. The disciples were sleepy, but as Jesus was praying,

His countenance was altered, and His raiment was white and glistening." The disciples awoke to behold the Lord in His glory, and were deeply moved thereby.

Jesus uttered a prayer of thanksgiving to God, thanking Him that He had hidden His message from the "wise and prudent," and "had revealed them unto babes." Did He mean by that that the chief priests, the learned men of the temple, rejected His message, but the common people—the poor and ignorant—believed? and He was glad it was so.

On another occasion when Jesus was praying, His disciples asked Him to teach them how to pray, and He said, "When ye pray, say, Our Father, which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth.

"Give us day by day our daily bread. And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil."

When parents teach their children to pray when they are young, a habit is established that will probably last through life. We all pray sometimes, even if we do not at stated times. "Draw nigh to God, and He will draw nigh to you."—James 4:8.

Our Memory Verse reminds us that if we ask, we shall receive; if we seek, we shall find, and if we knock, it shall be opened to us.

Many pray to God only when trouble strikes, but if we draw near to God in solitude, He will be very near to us, and His help will come, if we rely on Him to show us how to work out our problems. Teach the children to pray to God, knowing that they too, will be helped thereby.

Rocky Mount Plasters Phants 65-44 In Non-Loop Win

BACKBOARD BATTLE—Batling for control of the ball under Greenville's backboard last night is Phantom Billy Johnson (18) and Rocky Mounts Don Stallings (41). Green players are Jerry Drum (13) and Mac Roebuck (6). Stallings' superior height was a major factor in the Black Bird 65-44 win, which marked Greenville's third consecutive loss.

Duke Meeting First Real Test In Penn Contest

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer

Rocky Mount high school trounced the Greenville Phantoms 65-44 last night in a non-conference rout in Rocky Mount gymnasium. The loss was the third in four matches for the Phants who have confined their early season activity to AAA games.

Harold Edwards, Greenville's All-Northeastern Conference 6-4 center, was again absent from the lineup, and as in previous games, his height was missed sorely. Rocky Mount controlled both backboards with ease.

The Blackbirds virtually galloped to a long lead in the first quarter, as 6-4 center Don Stallings and 6-3 Charles Landen held the visitors to a bare handful of rebounds. While Landen and Harold Gilbert were leading the scoring parade for the Blackbirds, the Greenville club was busy trying to get their hands on the ball. Rocky Mount led 13-5 as the first period whistled.

Phantom Ike Riddick, averaging 24 points per contest thus far this year, scored 4 of the 5 Greenville tallies and combined with Billy Johnson to snare the few rebounds the G-men did get.

In the second period, the AAA hosts broke away for still a greater lead, paced by their 200 pound center, Don Stallings. Only Riddick, Johnson and reserve guard Mack Roebuck were able to score in the second quarter and the Rocky Mount crew had chalked up a 32-12 lead at halftime.

Riddick High Man Again

Ike Riddick, who, for the second time in two contests, took high scoring honors (this time with 19), began to pull his team together in the second half. A new crew of Blackbirds entered the game during this period and carried on the fire play started by their first string mates. Clarence Williams, a 6-8 center, led play on the backboards and Sammy Mouzon was outstanding as a floorman for the devastating 'Birds. The Rocky Mount substitutes racked up 23 points and held the Phants to 12.

In the final period, Greenville played its best ball of the night. Billy Johnson, having a tough time against his taller opponents at center fouled out and was replaced by Joe Wingate. Coach Boley Farley's crew scored 20 markers, with every man on the first five making points.

Jerry Drum accounted for 2, Ray Hardee collected 4, Tommy Norris 2, Riddick 11, and Johnson 1 before pulling his fifth foul. The Blackbirds sank only 10 points.

The contest ended 65-44 in favor of Rocky Mount.

Greenville starters were Riddick, Drum, Norris, Johnson, and Hardee. Reserves who saw action were Francis "Peanut" Nunn, Charles Smith, Joe Wingate and sophomore Mack Roebuck.

Tobacco Land Tourney

Coach Farley's boys meet Goldsboro Monday night in the opening round of the new Tobacco Land Tournament in Kinston. Big Harold Edwards, it is reported, will definitely see action against the Quakes. The two teams have split in previous matches this season, Greenville winning 53-50 and Goldsboro taking the second game 73-48.

Hopes Pee Wee Won't Wear Out

BROOKLYN (AP)—Pee Wee Reese, 36-year old captain of Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers, has signed his 1956 contract but Vice President Buzz Bavasi, for one, hopes he doesn't try to play every game. Reese, first of the Dodgers to sign a new contract reportedly received a boost of $1,000 to $36,000.

Dons Go After No. 30 In Opening Round Of Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—The San Francisco Dons, the nation's top-ranked basketball team, aim for their 30th straight victory tonight in the opening round of the four-team DePaul tourney — a rugged early season testing ground.

The Chicago Stadium attraction pits the Dons against unbeaten but unranked Marquette after the first game between the scrappy host school, DePaul, and Duquesne No. 6 in the national Associated Press poll.

Winners will meet in the title showdown tomorrow night while the losers play for consolation honors. If the favorites emerge it will be a belated battle between San Francisco 1955 NCAA champion, and Duquesne, the National Invitational titlist.

But the first round will be a sturdy test for each.

The Dons' top man is All America Bill Russell, a 6-10 phenom rated as one of the greatest goal tenders the game has produced. In addition to being great defensively, Russell is terrific in ramming shots through the nets.

K. C. Jones of the Dons is another defensive genius who all but immobilized La Salle's noted Tom Gola in the NCAA finale last season.

Marquette, undefeated in four starts this campaign, has the height to give the Dons trouble. Terry Rand, the Warriors' tallest, is 6-9 and their shortest player is Bob Walczak at 6 feet. The smallest San Francisco man is Harold Perry, 5-10 1/2.

Jayvees Lose To Rocky Mount

Rocky Mount Baby Blackbirds defeated the Greenville Jayvees 48-25 last night in the Rocky Mount high school gymnasium.

Blackbird forward Parker collected high scoring honors for the night with a 15 point effort.

The Greenville squad, coached by Guy Lewis, made its best showing of the young season against the AAA Blackbirds, as guard Don Wilkerson (Phant high scorer with 7) led his mates in improved performance. Steve Nobles, Billy Cox, David Evans, Albert Crawford and Walker Lee Allen played well for the losers.

Guard John Wesley Hudson was the floor leader for the Greenies and showed improvement in play-making.

Thomas, Mendenhall Lead Pirates To 77-66 Victory

Bucs Take Loop Win No. 4 Over Appalachian Mts.

BOONE, Dec. 15—East Carolina's height and experience were just too much for the rebuilding Appalachian Mountaineers here tonight and the Pirates racked up their fourth straight North State Conference victory, 77-66.

The Pirates quickly surged ahead and not until the final minutes were they seriously threatened. With the reserves carrying on, the host Apps closed the gap to eight points with two minutes remaining.

Coach Howard Porter put a stop to this in a hurry by ushering in his first five. The regulars stretched the lead out again to the final 11 points.

It was the collaborated punch of Don Harris and Guy Mendenhall that did the most damage for the winners. This combo had the Mountaineers on the canvas most of the contest and piled up points to win an easy decision.

Harris, the Laurinburg bomber, tallied 21 on nine field goals and three out of six from the free throw line. Mendenhall had a like number of points on seven goals from the floor and seven out of eight from the line.

Besides pacing the scoring, Mendenhall, who is rapidly developing into one of the loop's outstanding players, controlled the backboards with Nick Nichols and Tom Smothers, Pirates teammates.

Appalachian utilized its dreaded possession game in the first 20 minutes of play and the scoring was held to a minimum. At intermission, East Carolina held a 29-22 lead and went down to rest determined to break open the Mountaineers' game in the second half.

The Apps made a fatal mistake when play was resumed. They tried to run with the Apps and were snowed under by the speedier visitors. East Carolina shot way in front and were never headed.

Dave Abernathy, a muscular 6-4 senior, was the whole fireworks for the home team. The bespectacled hoopster poured in 29 points, the most an individual has gotten off the Pirates this year, and was the Apps' big rebounder. He collected 10 field goals and nine out of 13 from the free throw line in one of the best nights of his career.

East Carolina had two other players breaking the double figure barrier. Nichols, running with his usual zest, clicked for 18 markers and was outstanding defensively. Captain J. C. Thomas contributed 13, an off-night for him.

East Carolina had another good game from the floor. The Bucs hit on about 40 percent of their shots and got 17 out of 25 gift throws.

The Pirates returned to Greenville today and will lay over until Monday morning when they will leave for Parris Island and the Parris Island Christmas Invitational Tournament.

New Record For NBA Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There was a new record for the National Basketball Assn. book today as the result of the Minneapolis Lakers 135-123 triumph in three overtime periods over the Syracuse Nationals last night. The combined score of 258 points surpassed the old mark of 248 hung up by Syracuse and Anderson, Ind. in five overtimes in 1949. Syracuse won that one 125-122.

The only other game played last night was a defensive battle by comparison as the Philadelphia Warriors, Eastern Division leaders, turned back the Fort Wayne Pistons 80-73.

$1,251,200 Worth Of Horse Will Be Shipped To Florida, Resume Career

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Mighty Nashua will be shipped to Florida next week to continue his sensational career after being sold for a world record price of $1,251,200.

Executors of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr. sold Nashua yesterday to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.

This was the greatest single horse trade ever concluded involving an unprecedented sale of a great colt still at the peak of his racing career. Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 81-year-old trainer of Nashua, will take charge of the big 3-year-old again late next week.

Nashua, of course was the big news in the dollars and cents part of the bargain. But for the sentimentalists the clink of hard cold cash did not outweigh the passing of the famous Belair Stud—one of racing's greatest stables—founded 45 years ago by William Woodward Sr.

A total of 63 horses, including Nashua, sold under sealed bids for a grand total of $1,866,200. Combs said Nashua would be sent from Kentucky to Hialeah Park in Miami to begin training for the $100,000-added Widener Handicap Feb. 18.

Nine other race horses and 12 yearlings went to John Koresse, Teaneck, N. J., electrical supply man who owns a racing stable, for $205,000. Mildred W. Woolwine of White Oaks Farm, Lexington, Ky. breeder of Helioscope, a top 1955 handicap horse, paid $410,000 for 24 Belair broodmares and 16 weanlings.

Miss Woolwine said her associates were Edward Potter of Nashville, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Middendorf of Boston, Mass.

Broodmares acquired by Miss Woolwine included Segula, dam of Nashua. Segula is in foal to Nasrullah, daddy of Nashua. So a full brother or sister may be along next spring.

Combs, who has figured in many great horse deals, said he would go to Miami soon after Jan. 1 to confer with Fitzsimmons on Nashua's racing campaign.

Nashua with $1,415 in the bank, is the second greatest money-winning horse in the world. All he needs is one big victory like the Widener, and he'll surpass Citation, who retired in 1951 with $1,085,760.

This year alone, Nashua won seven $100,000 races and earned $753,550, surpassing Citation's 1948 record of $709,470 for one season of racing.

"I'll be happy to train Nashua for Mr. Combs," said Sunny Jim at Hialeah. "I thought he might bring any price, but this was just a little more than my estimate of his worth."

Mr. F. trained for the Belair Stud for more than 30 years. Combs declined to name others in the syndicate which bought Nashua.

Tony And Pancho Resuming Their Tennis Rivalry

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tony Trabert and Richard (Pancho) Gonzalez resume their professional tennis rivalry tonight, with veteran Gonzalez holding a 2-0 lead in the newly launched national tour.

Big Pancho of Los Angeles set the recently turned professional Trabert down in the opening match in New York and repeated it in Tony's hometown of Cincinnati.

Two onetime United States Davis Cup stars Ted Schroeder and Gene Mako, were named head umpires for the local duels tonight and tomorrow night at Pan-Pacific Auditorium.

Trabert and Gonzalez were agreed on one point at this stage of hostilities: each found the other a better player than anticipated.

As amateurs, when Tony was just out of the junior class, Pancho won in their only meeting.

The two signed yesterday for the 15-rounder at the Cow Palace. The match will be broadcast by radio and television except in the San Francisco area.

Agrees To Testify If He Gets Promised Immunity

CHICAGO (AP)—For the first time in history a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee has agreed to testify if granted immunity from prosecution. Congress in 1954 passed legislation providing that courts could give immunity to witnesses before congressional committees. The idea was to encourage witnesses who in the past had pleaded the Fifth Amendment in declining to testify. Until yesterday, however, no one had consented to testify after an offer of immunity. Ellis G. Olim, 44, an official of the Chicago Land Clearance Commission who was named by a previous witness as a former Communist in the U. S. government, said he was willing if such immunity is granted. He once was a stenographer for the Interstate Commerce Commission and the U. S. Public Housing Authority. The committee adjourned to March 5 and steps would be taken in the meantime to obtain Olim's immunity. The full committee must consent before committee aides can ask a federal court to grant the immunity. In another development as the House committee wound up three days of hearings in Chicago, the Illinois Institute of Technology suspended a professor who refused to testify about Red ties. Prof. Gerald J. Matchett, 43, an economist, and his wife Margaret Ellen testified Wednesday that they were not Communists now, but declined to answer questions on whether they had any past connections with the Communist party, contending under the Fifth Amendment that the answers might tend to incriminate them. Both Matchett and Olim were named by Prof. Herbert Fuchs, 50, suspended law professor at American University in Washington, D.C. as Communists employed by the federal government before and during World War II.

Weird Mishaps . . .

(Continued from page 4) sheet of ice, and, of course, wrecked the car. Another woman driver, eh, fellas? The Dew Drop Inn at Port Huron, Mich., lived up to its name during a wild wind and rain storm, and dropped into Anchor Bay. One brink too many! Traffic experts say it's safe to go on the green light. Try to tell that to Motorist E. T. Drake, Jr., of Atlanta! As Drake dutifully obeyed an overhead traffic light that flashed him a green go-ahead signal, the light fell on top of his car and sent him to the hospital. Drake saw red. The sign over the door of a used car salesroom in Los Angeles said "We need your car—drive in!" Lewis Jackson, Jr., did — with his throttle stuck. The car crashed through a heavy wooden door, sideswiped two glistering cars on the showroom floor, ran head-on into a costly convertible, and bounced the convertible into another car. They took down the sign. /Staton Sapp and his brother Daniel happened to run into each other on the street in their home town, Mount Vernon, Ohio. That would have perfectly all right, of course, if each of the brothers hadn't been driving a car. Neither was injured in the head-on crash, but it did prove the need for the safety slogan, "Be Your Brother's Keeper — Stop Accidents!" And in Copenhagen Mrs. Else Sorensen and Karen Kirk Lassen couldn't resist the dance music coming out of a radio in the Old Folks Home, and decided to try the mambo. They both landed in the hospital with broken legs. Both dancers were 80. Every theatrical act strives for a knockout finish. The ballet "Streetcar Named Desire" literally achieved it. — tiny ballerina Nora Kaye whirled in the middle of a pirouette during a New York performance her elbow caught her husky partner Ignor Youkevitch smack in the face, and he went down for the count. Ordinarily, a hung jury is the jury that fails to agree. But the jury that hung midway between the first and second floors of a new courthouse in Reading, Pa., in a stalled elevator for almost an hour agreed perfectly. It wanted down! To one family, at least, the most important catch of the year wasn't made on a baseball diamond, but on the sidewalk outside an apartment in Chicago. Mrs. Isabel Gutierrez looked up to see her three-year-old daughter teetering on the ledge 22 feet above the ground. Mrs. Gutierrez raced over the caught the falling child. Total casualties — one small cut on the girl's leg and cold chills for the mother. And out in Los Angeles there's a man who just can't stay out of accidents. He's had several traffic escapades that made news for the papers. And this year he fell through the floor of the laboratory where he works and landed nine feet below with a bang that knocked him out. His name? No kidding, folks, it's Safety First! Still, think everything happens to you? Monotonous life you lead, isn't it?

VA Forecasts GI Home Loans To Continue High

By JOYNES MACFARLAN WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans Administration officials today optimistically forecast that the GI home loan guaranty business will continue at a near-record level of 650,000 applications in 1956. They drew that picture despite officials' admitted credit but with encouragement from a slight easing this week in the Federal Home Loan Bank's limitations on loans to savings and loan associations. Last July what are described as "moderate" restrictions were placed on both VA and Federal Housing Administration housing credit. There are indications these may soon be modified too by again allowing 30-year maturity loans. The maximum term of such loans was cut to 25 years July 3. But there has been no indication of any easing in the federal reserve rediscount rate, which has been boosted four times this year until at 2 1/2 per cent it is at the highest level in 20 years. Thomas J. Sweeney, director of VA's loan guaranty service, said VA is expecting some 650,000 GI home loan applications next year. Such applications are filed after a private lender has entered into a commitment to make a loan with VA guaranty of a portion. Such a volume in 1956 would equal the record 650,000 estimated for this full year. It would compare with a previous top of 630,000 in 1950 and 528,000 in 1954. VA's home loan guaranty business began booming in April 1945. Officials attributed the boom to a May 1953 ruling raising from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent the maximum permissible interest rate on GI home loans. They conceded the increase has meant that some 950,000 veterans have committed themselves to pay as much as $51 million dollars more in increased interest costs than if the rate had been 4 per cent. But they said that without it few loans — or houses — would have been available to veterans.

Stevenson Supporter Says He Would Welcome Estes' Entry

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaking as a supporter of Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said today he would welcome Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination. Kefauver scheduled a news conference at which he said he will make known his political intentions. Nobody doubted he is eager to have another fling at the nomination. Stevenson snatched from him and others three years ago. The Nashville Tennessean reported in a Washington dispatch that Kefauver last night telegraphed friends throughout the country saying he had decided to run again. In advance of Kefauver's announcement, Monroney said in an interview that as a Stevenson backer he is glad to see Kefauver get into the contest. He said he is confident Stevenson, already running officially, welcomes a test of his own prevention strength. "It is a good thing for the Democratic party for Sen. Kefauver, and any others who want to run, to get into the competition," Monroney said. "That includes favorite sons. Democrats like to look at more than one diamond in the showcase. We have a lot of good men and I think the best one — Stevenson — will win the nomination." Kefauver has called for a return to "liberal democracy." Stevenson has subscribed to the theory that "moderation" is the trend of the times. Their primary contests thus may have a direct bearing on the direction the party takes in its platform as well as the choice of its candidate. On the Republican side, both Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire and James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, discounted a published report that the White House may be taking a direct interest in New Hampshire's March 13 preferential primary. The report implied that Sherman Adams, a top aide and a former New Hampshire governor, may have assured Republicans in that state that Eisenhower would not reject a second term before the primary — easing the problem of those who might want to file as delegates supporting the President. Hagerty said after checking with Adams that "to my knowledge, nothing of this sort has originated from anyone in the White House." Dwinell who had announced he would seek election as a pro-Eisenhower convention delegate, said he had "received no assurance one way or the other, from the President or anyone else." The farm issue came up again, with Secretary of Agriculture Benson predicting an end next year to a five-year decline in farm prices, though farm income will be "a little" below this year's. His department said, meanwhile, that farmers' net income will probably show some decline in 1956. Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a news conference he expects "a lot of union members" to vote Republican in 1956 and said he agrees with AFL-CIO President George Meany that "the vote of a union member cannot be controlled." Two members of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers protested to newsmen, however, that some of their union's dues money, if not their votes, is being put at the Democrats' disposal. Harry F. Brothers of Ypsilanti, Mich., and Walter J. Brauninger of Chealesa, Mich., made the charge at a news conference attended by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz).

Goldwater has said the same thing before. In a statement in Detroit, the UAW said it "has strictly observed the law with respect to election expenditures," and has used only voluntary contributions in federal election campaigns. It said Goldwater has "maliciously, wantonly and knowingly distorted the truth and perverted the facts about our political activities," which it said "are within the framework of the law." Goldwater was not available for comment.

New Tricycle Is Awaiting Stevie

EAST MEADOW, N. Y. (AP)—A shiny tricycle is waiting for little Stevie Damman for Christmas—although he may never see it. It was Stevie's third birthday yesterday — if he is still alive. His parents, Air Force Sgt. Jerry and Marilyn Damman are observing their fourth wedding anniversary today. Stevie, 3, disappeared from in front of a supermarket here last Oct. 31. A widespread search was unproductive. But his parents have not lost hope. In addition to Christmas presents for their daughter Pamela, 7 months, they bought a new tricycle for Stevie just in case. Money coins have been made of leather, lead, tin, glass, earth-and-blue as well as gold, silver, copper and nickel.

Says West Will Outpace Asia In Population Rise

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The population of the combined North and Latin American countries in time will dwarf the manpower boast of Asiatic countries, says Luis Quintanilla, ambassador of Mexico to the Organization of American States. He forecasts that by the end of the century there will be a population total of about 800 million; 250 millions in North America, 500 million in Latin America. "Asia cannot boast of its huge populations then," Quintanilla said yesterday in an interview. "I figure on the percentage of the present rate of growth. Asia has reached stagnancy in population increases. We have room, plenty of room, to expand." Maine has 1,796 miles of railroad.

Happy Holidays From Home Furniture

by PEGGY KYLE

Suddenly fir trees lined the streets . . . Christmas Day is almost here. One glance at the calendar and you realize there are only seven more shopping days until Christmas! To make those days more profitable in every way, shop at THE HOME FURNITURE STORE, 701 Dickinson AVENUE.

Are you planning a family gift all in one package this year? Well, I Can't think of anything more thrilling than that handsome solid Honduras Mahogany DINING ROOM SUITE in the window. Made by Craftique is all you really need to know about it — but I must exclaim over the fact that the Credenza not only has tremendous storage space, but that the drawers all lock, just like grandma's old sideboard. Remember the little surprises that used to come from under lock and key — well the Credenza is just as spacious and just as safe from prying minds and hands as was the old sideboard of long ago! And such a soft, mellow wax finish! Other lovely suites by Georgetown Galleries and Morganton in cherry are also to be seen in the Home Furniture Store. What a joy to entertain when you dine "in style"! Speaking of entertaining — for those casual, or "special" parties, canasta and bridge will surely have to wait when guests are seated at SAMSON CARD TABLES. There will be more ohing and ahing than you ever heard over the new modern ones with their rosy beige metallic thread plastic tops. The chairs have new spring seats and they are simply beautiful! Just in time for the holidays SAMSON FOLDING TABLES and MATCHING CHAIRS make an ideal gift. There are still plenty of vinyl-covered top ones and did you know that their colors were chosen by Russel Wright? The younger generation will be happier for having their own small tables and chairs — just like mommies. There's a little red top one that is just darling. One I like specially is a natural oak. It's a real smoothy never a splinter to worry about — and believe me, what it can't take, the child has yet the "think up". A two-year old sits easily in the chair while daddy's weight isn't a bit too much for it either. Let Santa deliver one of these children's sets and the grown-ups will be as pleased as they are. Come now, its time to draw our chairs up close to the fire and do a little reminiscing . . . olden times talk like "a path winding thru the years thru dreams in some far land of truth" . . . the wonder of the Christmas story . . . "How blessed were Judean hills upon that holy night . . . How blessed were the shepherds who heard the angels sing. How blessed are all hearts today which turn toward Bethlehem" . . . We come down to earth again and put a fresh log on the dying embers on our hearth and think of practical things like wishing we had some beautiful BRASS ANDIRONS or perhaps a complete BRASS FIRESET to make our hearth brighter. The Home Furniture has a wonderful lot of these and other small accessories like the little BRASS FIRE - LIGHTER, so like the ones of long ago. BRASS is always acceptable. Make someone's hearth brighter with a gift of BRASS. Someone you know is bound to be going places in the New Year and how proud they'll be to carry SAMSONITE LUGGAGE. It's a wise traveler who carries STREAMLIT SAMSONITE LUGGAGE and its a wise friend who remembers to give it as a gift. Specially designed to carry more clothes in less space, its just as easy to keep as it is to carry. It's the right gift always. See the matched sets for every member of the family at the HOME FURNITURE STORE. BASKETS, BASKETS, who's got the BASKET? No trouble finding this item in every shape and size — for every purpose at HOME FURNITURE STORE

A square pine-finish one with lid and handles open up to hold tangerines and plums — a round tray against the wall holds more of that real-looking ARTIFICIAL FRUIT — a new shipment along with those FLOWERS we mentioned last week. How far is it to Christmas? The days are short. 'tis true — But measured by the heart, The answer lies with you! Again — HAPPY HOLIDAYS FROM THE HOME FURNITURE STORE.

John D. Spreckels Is Now John Smith

SEATTLE (AP)—John D. Spreckels III, who once inherited two millions dollars, is plain John D. Smith, cabinet salesman today.

He got the new name yesterday in Superior Court. He said the Spreckels name had been a handicap because it made it tough to get a job. Prospective employers looked upon him "as a financier or a playboy."

Spreckels inherited the two million dollars from his grandfather, sugar baron Adolph B. Spreckels, in 1930 at the age of 20. Most of it is gone now.

Spreckels has been married and divorced four times. Testimony in one of the divorces 10 years ago said he had gone through $100,000 in a three-month betting spree. Three years ago his fourth wife divorced him when he was a hotel night clerk. Wife No. 4 waived alimony, got $100 a month for support of their infant son.

Since then, he has taken a job as a salesman for his brother Adolph, who operates a custom cabinet shop here.

Asked if he had any debts, Spreckels said he owed the government some back income taxes. "I'm paying $25 a month on that."

"Have you been involved in any other court actions?" Judge Lloyd Shortt asked.

"Nothing but divorce cases," Spreckels answered.

"Petition granted," the judge said.

But changing names doesn't come so easily. When a reporter called the furniture-making firm to check on family relationships, the new Mr. Smith answered the telephone: "This is John Spreckels."

Hero's Son Earns Own Scout Honor

CONCORDVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A tall, red-haired boy with a ready grin accepted his own hour of tribute last night with a becoming shyness that would have warmed his father's heart.

Colin P. Kelly III, son of the United States' first hero of World War II, received his Eagle Scout award in a solemn ceremony before a group of neighbors and friends in a church hall in this tiny Philadelphia suburb.

For "Corky" Kelly it was an important event. It represented nearly four years of community and camping enterprises that totaled 21 hard-earned merit badges. Only an average of two scouts in every hundred reach this goal.

The slim, erect 15-year-old, who looks strikingly like his late father, was so engrossed with "scout talk" with friends that he paid scant attention to the cameramen and reporters on hand to cover the event.

His mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, who have tried to shield him whenever possible from any public display, took part in the ceremony.

Judge William R. Toth of Delaware County Court, himself a scout executive, presented the Medal with a speech in which he said:

"Here is a lad who has borne the mantle of a great father. Polished out in public places since babyhood, stared upon and asked a multitude of questions by the idle curious—through it all—tonight Corky Kelly has made the grade. Young Corky, through perseverance and integrity, has earned for himself the nation's highest scouting award. He has lived with a great ideal and tonight he is not found wanting."

Capt. Kelly lost his life in a bombing mission in the first days after Pearl Harbor. His plane scored a direct hit on a Japanese battleship Haruna and a grateful nation made him its No. 1 hero.

President Roosevelt, in an unusual tribute, wrote a public letter to "the President of the United States in 1955" asking that the airman's 18-month-old son be given an appointment to West Point in appreciation.

At present Corky is a student, and a good one, at Westtown Friends School. His mother a year there and would prefer a year in college before deciding whether to follow his father at West Point, or perhaps to enter the new Air Force Academy.

Boy Dies Of His Bullet Wounds In Fighting Posses

ANDERDREFT, Pa. (AP)—A love-crazed youth who killed three persons and wounded two others died last night six hours after he was shot down in a gun fight with a posse that hunted him for 16 hours.

John Fallone, 17, died at nearby Armstrong County Memorial Hospital where his would-be girlfriend, Gladys Small, 15, lay in critical condition from shots fired into her chest by the berserk boy.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Small, and her uncle William Small were shot by Fallone Wednesday night in this rural community.

Policeman Gus Zanos of Apollo, wounded by Fallone as the nearly 50-man posse closed in on the youth yesterday, was reported in satisfactory condition. He missed death by a fraction of an inch as a bullet hit him under the right eye and ranged upward to lodge under his skull.

About 100 shots were fired before a sharpshooting state policeman picked off Fallone as he stuck his head out from behind a tree stump. Fallone was found with a .22-caliber automatic rifle and 500 rounds of ammunition by his side. He never regained consciousness.

He invaded the Small home Wednesday with a rifle and a package of dynamite. His efforts to explode the dynamite after the killings were unsuccessful.

Gladys said she had dated Fallone several months ago and that her parents had forbidden her to see him again. She said after the date Fallone was so jealous he "wouldn't let me talk to other boys." Fallone had threatened "to get" the entire Small family, she said.

Today, relatives are caring for the five younger Small children.

Fallone's father Ernest said: "He was going with her and then it broke up. He never seemed to get over it."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The old Corrigan Ranch has been acquired by Jack Warther, a wealthy Texan who says he'll continue to use the 2,000 acres as a location site for movie and television horse operas.

New Bern Power Hearing Today

RALEIGH (AP)—A hearing on an electric service dispute between the city of New Bern and residents of the Havelock area continued today before the State Utilities Commission.

The city is seeking to reverse a commission order which directed the Carolina Power & Light Co. to serve the Havelock territory. The order was issued after Havelock citizens complained the New Bern municipal power plant was giving them inadequate service.

Witnesses for the city told the commission yesterday that service to the Havelock section now is adequate and dependable. However, some Havelock customers testified power problems are continuing in spite of improvements.

A commission order last December had the effect of setting an April deadline for completion of a new transmission line from New Bern to Havelock. When the line was not completed on schedule, the commission directed CP&L to take over.

However, the city appealed to the courts and the case was sent back to the commission. The city said relocation of the highway between New Bern and Havelock caused the delay in finishing the new line.

Swindler Among Traffic Violators

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Among those traffic violators who paid fines yesterday at the Police Traffic Division there lurks a swindler. He gyped the city out of $9 right under the eyes of the law.

Clerk A. A. Williams, counting the receipts from fines, came across a $1 bill among the $10 bills. He hadn't spotted it right away because, at the corners, it looked like a 10-spot.

The culprit, said Williams, had snipped one corner off of four $10 bills and pasted them on corresponding corners of the $1 bill.

TV Journalism Grows Complex

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) Whether the world's problems are growing more complex or we simply treat them more complexly is subject to debate. In any event, the burdens of good journalism are greater. And this applies to the electronics journalism of television and radio as well as to what you read in your daily paper.

Tomorrow night, for example, CBS radio is tackling the complex problems of the public schools in a 55-minute program narrated by Arthur Godfrey, Ralph Backlund, CBS radio's alert executive producer in charge of public affairs programs, discussed recently how the program entitled "The Warning Bell" was put together.

Most CBS radio network stations, the National Education Assn. and the Citizens Committee for the Public Schools were contacted to find 16 communities across the nation where various typically critical school situations could be dramatized. Hundreds of persons spent thousands of hours to place on tape a total of 4 hours of interviews and discussions—enough to keep you listening for almost two solid days.

"And then," said Backlund somewhat ruefully, "we had to cut 4 hours to 55 minutes. We feel we've succeeded in focusing on the most important universal problems."

"The Warning Bell" pinpoints these problems from rural schools in Lancaster County, Pa., to cities the size of Houston, El Paso and Des Moines.

The program serves to demonstrate that when radio or television undertakes what network executives like to call "programming in depth" the way is arduous, the paths confusing, and the goal a challenge. It will be worth listening to this most recent report on one of the nation's most complex problems.
