

Balanced Budget This Fiscal Year And Next, Assured

President Adds Tax Cut Justifiable Only If It Won't Mean More Red Ink

By ED CREACH
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the budget will be in balance this fiscal year and next. He declared, however, a tax cut would be justifiable only if it would not put the government into the red again.

Eisenhower told Congress the nation's outlook is "bright with promise" even though Soviet leaders have shown they "are not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace."

In his annual State of the Union message, Eisenhower declared Russia has shifted from "violence and the threat of violence to reliance on division, enticement and duplicity."

To meet the Russian threat, he called, among other things, for a stepped-up foreign aid program and asked Congress "to grant limited authority to make longer term commitments for assistance to such projects, to be fulfilled from appropriations to be made in future fiscal years."

Eisenhower's legislative program also called for:

1. A 25-billion-dollar program of federal aid to highways such as Congress failed to approve at the last session. Eisenhower suggested merely "an adequate plan of financing," rather than insisting on the long-term borrowing program which caused the highway plan to bog down last year.

2. Farm legislation, including a soil bank program as part of "a many-sided assault on the stubborn problems of surpluses, prices, costs and markets." The program will be detailed in a special message next week.
3. A five-year program of federal aid to school building. This too will be outlined in greater detail in a later message.
4. A two-year slum clearance program calling for 35,000 public housing units in each of the two years.
5. Creation of a bipartisan commission to investigate charges that in some localities Negroes are being denied the right to vote.

The President said, "We are proud of the progress our people have made in the field of civil rights. We must expand this effort on every front. We must strive to have every person judged and measured by what he is, rather than by his color, race or religion."

6. Statehood for Hawaii—something the President has repeatedly asked and Congress has refused to approve. Eisenhower said he hoped "progress toward statehood" for Alaska also could be made at this session.
7. Revision of the immigration law so the number of persons admitted to this country each year could be based on the 1950 census rather than that of 1920. Eisenhower also asked amendment of the 1953 Refugee Relief Act so more immigrants can come from Greece and Italy and from the ranks of Iron Curtain escapees.

In his message, delivered to Congress while the President continued recuperation in Key West, Fla., from his heart attack, Eisenhower declared:

"I expect the budget to be in balance during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956."

"I shall propose a balanced budget for the next fiscal year ending June 30, 1957."

He said present "burdensome" taxes "should be reduced when we prudently can."

He added, however, "under conditions of high peacetime prosperity, such as now exist we can never justify going further into debt to give ourselves a tax cut at the expense of our children."

Eisenhower began his message with a review of progress he said had been made in the three years since he took office. In summary he said:

"Our country is at peace. Our security posture commands respect. A spiritual vigor marks our national life. Our economy, approaching the 400-billion-dollar mark, is at an unparalleled level of prosperity. The national income is more widely and fairly distributed than ever before. The number of Americans at work has reached an all-time high. As a people, we are achieving even higher standards of living—earning more, producing more, consuming more, building more and investing more than ever before."

"Virtually all sectors of our society are sharing in these good times. Our farm families, if we act wisely and imaginatively and promptly to strengthen our present farm program, can also look forward to sharing equitably in the prosperity they have helped to create."

"War in Korea ended 2½ years ago. The collective security system has been powerfully strengthened. Our defenses have been reinforced at sharply reduced costs. Programs to expand world trade and to harness the atom for the betterment of mankind have been carried forward. Our economy has been freed from governmental wage and price controls. Inflation has been halted; the cost of living stabilized."

"Government spending has been cut by more than 10 billion dollars. Nearly three hundred thousand positions have been eliminated from the federal payroll. Taxes have been substantially reduced. A balanced budget is in prospect. Social Security has been extended to 10 million more Americans and unemployment, insurance to four million more. Unprecedented advances in civil rights have been made. The long-standing and deep-seated problems of agriculture have been forthrightly attacked."

"This record of progress has been accomplished with a self-imposed caution against unnecessary and unwelcome interference in the private affairs of our people, of their communities and of the several states."

"If we of the executive and legislative branches, keeping this caution ever in mind address ourselves to the business of the year before us—and to the unfinished business of last year—with resolution, the outlook is bright with promise."

The President said many measures, "of great national importance," which he recommended to Congress last year should be adopted now. He mentioned school and highway construction, health and immigration matters, water resources, foreign trade, policy, amendment of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law, extension of the wage-hour law to additional groups, occupational safety legislation, and construction of an atom-powered merchant ship to tour the world as an illustration of atomic energy's peacetime uses.

Turning to world affairs, Eisenhower said the Geneva conference of foreign ministers last October "demonstrated conclusively that the Soviet leaders are not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace."

Nonetheless, Eisenhower said, the East-West conflict "has taken on a new complexion."

"Communist tactics against the free nations have shifted in emphasis from reliance on violence and the threat of violence to reliance on division, enticement and duplicity," he continued.

Eisenhower said the free world has scored "major gains in collective security during the last year"—such as the addition of Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the developing of mutual security pacts in Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

Moreover, he said, the United States has laid its disarmament program "squarely before the bar of world opinion" and will persevere in seeking a general reduction of armaments "under effective inspection and control."

Much remains to be done in the coming year, he said, and added:

"In Asia we shall continue to give help to nations struggling with the threat of Communist coercion or subversion. In Europe we shall endeavor to increase not only the military strength of the North Atlantic Alliance but also its political cohesion and unity of purpose. We shall give such assistance as it is feasible to the recently renewed effort of Western European nations to achieve a greater measure of integration, such as in the field of peaceful uses of atomic energy.

"In the Near East we shall spare no effort in seeking to promote a fair solution of the tragic dispute between the Arab states and Israel all of whom we want, as our friends. . . . In Latin America we shall continue to cooperate vigorously in trade and other measures designed to assist economic progress in the area."

Eisenhower urged Congress to approve United States membership in the Organization for Trade Cooperation and to foster foreign trade by further simplification and improvement of the U. S. customs system.

Then he urged Congress "to sustain and fortify the mutual security program of foreign aid in order to fight 'poverty and unrest'."

Eisenhower also proposed a "substantial" increase, to be spelled out later, in appropriations for the U. S. Information Agency

'16 Tons' Writer Is Released

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—No charges will be pressed against song writer Merle Travis, 37, who climaxed an all-night drinking spree yesterday by slugging his wife with a pistol and barricading himself in his San Fernando Valley home for more than 90 minutes.

Travis, who will earn an estimated $75,000 from his current song hit "Sixteen Tons," said he "didn't remember a thing" after 30 policemen armed with rifles, shotguns and tear gas stormed his modest bungalow.

Police said the husky composer, dressed in pajamas and a robe, was drunk when they found him unharmed in his living room. After a short snooze at the Van Nuys jail, he was released when his wife Bettie, 31, refused to sign a wife-beating complaint.

"I love him very much," she said. "He's really a very nice guy, but he was drinking."

Mrs. Travis said her husband began drinking Monday night after a television appearance. In the morning she said she found him fondling a bottle of scotch and a Luger automatic.

When she threw the cartridge clip into the back yard, she said, he hit her with the pistol. She was treated later for a one-inch gash behind her ear.

As she herded her two sons by a previous marriage, Mike, 8, and Dennis, 10, to a neighbors' Mrs. Travis said her husband threatened:

"If anybody shows up I'm going to shoot them."

But police, who kept a tense vigil outside the house, said Travis surrendered meekly when a raiding party led by Police Lt. Ernest Johnson finally knocked on the door.

Travis told officers all he needed was sleep and added:

"You don't do such things as shoot people. I'm the happiest guy in the world."

Destroyer Runs Aground Today

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The destroyer Baseline ran aground in Chesapeake Bay 200 yards off Cape Henry early today in seas roughened by high winds.

"Grounded Lynnhaven Roads; no hull leaks apparent," the 3,000-ton ship radioed.

Baseline had been anchored before she grounded. A naval spokesman said it had not been determined whether the destroyer was under way at the time she grounded or dragged anchor and grounded.

Three salvage vessels, the Windlass, the Joist and the S-neca, were dispatched to the destroyer's assistance.

Speaker Rayburn Gavel-Happy

To all appearances, House Speaker Sam Rayburn happily awaits the time to pound his gavel in opening the second session of the 84th Congress Tuesday. Shortly after this picture was made, his resounding whack called the House of Representatives to order. (AP Wirephoto).

Proposal Studied By Westinghouse

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Federal mediators and union officials today awaited a decision by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. on the latest proposal aimed at ending a nationwide strike now in its 81st day.

The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers last night accepted a suggestion from Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, that a three-man board be appointed to consider points in dispute and make a recommendation for further negotiation.

The opinion of the board would not be binding. Each side would select one member and Finnegan would choose an impartial chairman. The mediator asked the union and Westinghouse to make known their selections to him within 24 hours.

The proposal followed a series of daylong separate conferences held by Finnegan with the company and the union.

James B. Carey, president of the IUE, announced union acceptance shortly after the proposal was made public. He said if Westinghouse management would take the further step of making the board's recommendations binding, the union was ready to ask its members to return to work at once under the provisions of the current contract "as modified by the findings."

In Pittsburgh last night, a Westinghouse spokesman said the company was studying the proposal but added that the "qualifications" Carey placed on it "change the original proposal so substantially that he, in effect, has rejected it."

Carey was not available for comment.

The union has offered several times to submit the issues in dispute to arbitration but the company has refused.

Carey's added proposal last night that the board findings be binding would be, in effect, arbitration.

Westinghouse and the IUE signed a two-year contract in 1954 which does not expire until Oct. 15. The strike resulted from inability to negotiate a new wage scale under a reopening clause. Also in dispute are company time studies and an extended contract proposal. The IUE struck 30 plants Oct. 17.

On Oct. 26, the independent United Electrical Workers also called out some 10,500 employees in 10 plants.

Giving Up Fight, Claims 'Politics'

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Julius H. Purvis said today he is "giving up" and "throwing in the towel" in his row with the State ABC Board.

The state board yesterday removed Purvis from his $5,700 a year job as supervisor of Beaufort County's ABC stores for "violating the spirit and purpose" of the state's alcoholic beverage control laws.

Purvis had charged immediately his removal was caused by politics and he would carry to the courts his fight to keep his job.

Today, however, Purvis said, "I can't fight it any longer," and "I must in fairness to myself, my family and the county ABC board accede to the State ABC Board's demands."

Purvis had asserted his firing was "nothing in the world but Sam Etheridge and politics." Etheridge, a member of the state board, is from Washington.

Purvis also had asserted State ABC Chairman Tom Allen goes "gallivanting around the country at the expense of liquor companies."

Purvis said he had "tried at all times to do my job well," but, "when I am accused by the three men on the State ABC Board, on such trivial charges as trying to operate ABC stores for profit, not cooperating with law enforcement officers and being opposed to the control of alcoholism and found guilty with a complete lack of substantiating evidence, it makes me wonder what has happened to

Monaco Prince To Wed Actress

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Prince Rainier III of Monaco today announced his engagement to American motion picture star Grace Kelly through a palace statement.

The prince, 32, long considered Europe's most eligible royal bachelor, is now visiting the United States.

He met the American star when she was on the French Riviera making a film.

When he left for his visit to the United States all his subjects fervently hoped he would bring back a bride. But at that time he was noncommittal as he boarded the ship.

A romance has often been rumored between the couple but previous reports have been denied.

The prince's subjects are anxious for him to get married and have children because under treaty arrangements with France the tiny principality reverts to France—and French taxes—if he dies without an heir.

Long Range Plan Of Foreign Aid Asked Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to vote unprecedented long-term foreign aid weapons to reinforce the fight against Communist offensives aimed at spreading Red power in the Middle East and Asia.

Eisenhower told the lawmakers that his meeting with Premier Bulganin of Russia and other big-power leaders last July had produced agreement that atomic war would be an "intolerable disaster."

But the follow-up foreign ministers meeting in October showed, he said, that "Soviet leaders are not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace."

"Soviet and Chinese communism still poses a serious threat to the free world," Eisenhower said in the State of the Union message.

He thereupon outlined a plan for 1956—one of the most spectacular recommendations in the field of foreign aid to come from the White House in several years. This was the request for authority to make commitments for foreign aid extending into future years.

Marilyn Ends Long Holdout

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After a year-long squabble, Marilyn Monroe returns to 20th Century-Fox Studio next month with a seven-year contract estimated to be worth more than eight million dollars.

The deal, announced yesterday ended one of the most publicized walkouts in film history.

The actress was reportedly dissatisfied with her salary. She said she was making less than $500 a week when she first appeared in the list of the movies' top 10 box office stars.

The contract, with Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc., calls for four pictures in the next seven years on a profit-sharing basis.

The studio would not comment on the deal, one of the most solid victories for a star fighting a studio.

However, one source close to Marilyn's financial operations explained that the deal—a nonexclusive pact—can earn her more than eight million dollars.

"It leaves her free to do pictures at other studios and also to name her own price for her television appearances."

"It's the kind of a deal that a Jimmy Stewart or a Bing Crosby usually gets," the source said.

Six Would-Be Assassins To Die

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP)—Six men charged with treason after the attempted assassination of President William V. S. Tubman of Liberia last June 22 were sentenced to death yesterday.

A seventh man received a letter of pardon from the President. He described plans for the plot to kill the President, incriminating himself. The others denied they were implicated.

Would-Be Disc Jockey Jailed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A burning ambition to rise from janitor to disc jockey landed 17-year-old James Thomas in jail to the tune of 60 days at hard labor.

Thomas was convicted yesterday of defacing property at WRMA, a negro radio station during unauthorized jam sessions.

Police said Thomas held five programs before a dead mike after the station closed. Tape recordings and records were scattered about the studio after the disc jockey show, and wires were cut they said.

Thomas made tape recordings of his "programs" under the name of Fletcher King. But station manager Ralph Allgood recognized the voice and had Thomas arrested. Thomas had worked at the station for a few days as janitor after his application for disc jockey was turned down.

COLLECTIONS UP
RALPHIGH (AP)—North Carolina's general fund tax collections last month totaled $12,154,854, or $190,926 more than was collected in December 1955.

Education Board Sets Up Formula

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Board of Education today approved a division between county and city school units of each county's share of 25 million dollars in state school building funds. The divisions were made on the basis of average daily school attendance for the last school year.

The board also adopted a resolution asking Gov. Hodges and the Council of State "as soon as they deem it practicable to authorize the issuance of 'all or such part as they deem necessary' of the 25 million dollars in bonds to finance the state allocations."

A formula for allocation of the state funds among the counties was announced at the board's last meeting. At that time, it was announced that allocation among city and county units would be on the basis of average daily attendance, or the city and county units could, if they desired, agree on some other plan of allocation.

The board today was read a letter from Elmer H. Garringer, superintendent of schools at Charlotte, stating that the board was "pleased" with the work the state board has done in working out the formula and describing it as a

Honor Adenauer On 80th Birthday

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today celebrated his 80th birthday, the Western world's oldest chief of government of a major nation.

Tributes flowed in from around the globe.

Pope Pius XII awarded the West German leader—a Roman Catholic—the Vatican's second highest award the Order of the Golden Spur.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru telegraphed congratulations and expressed the hope that Adenauer might long continue to serve his people.

President Eisenhower sent a personal letter of congratulations. Prime Minister Eden's message saluted Adenauer's work for West European cooperation. Another noted octogenarian, Sir Winston Churchill, wished the Chancellor "greatest happiness and success."

The big bag of mail delivered to Adenauer's home this morning was postmarked with roses in honor of his birthday. Adenauer is an

Fight Already Shaping Up On School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Mississippi and Louisiana House members today predicted defeat for any school aid bill containing anti-segregation provisions.

The Southern's view conflicted with a statement yesterday by Rep. Powell (D-NY) that "we've got the votes" to write such provisions into an education bill. Powell, a Negro, said he intended to press the segregation issue on the House floor.

A fight shaped up, therefore, over what Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) has said will be the first major piece of legislation to reach the House this year.

A school aid bill is pending in the Rules Committee but contains no integration or anti-segregation proviso.

If the measure is amended to bar segregation, the Mississippi and Louisiana House members said, the bill won't pass.

Rep. Colmer (D-Miss), chairman of a Southern group organized several years ago to oppose civil rights legislation, told a reporter a segregation amendment would be the death knell of the school aid bill.

Reps. Willis (D-La) and Winstead (D-Miss) expressed similar beliefs.

Colmer said he would like to see the House go through the session without any civil rights controversy arising but added he doubts this is possible. He recalled that last year efforts were made to add an integration amendment to the Army reserve bill. The ensuing fight delayed passage of the act for weeks.

Willis said there would be considerable opposition to any school aid bills in the House and that it should contain some anti-segregation requirement virtually all Southerners would oppose it.

"It just couldn't pass under those circumstances," he said.

Winstead said that while he favored federal aid to schools he couldn't accept any bill "with federal strings attached."

N. Y. Times Charges Probe Is Aimed At Them

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee today called for a probe of the New York Times today while disputing that news agency's contention it has been singled out in the group's current search for subversion.

The only witness named in advance today's session was Otto Albertson, Subcommittee aides declined to say what his job is.

"It seems quite obvious," the Times said in an editorial in today's editions, "that the Eastland inquiry is an attempt to divert attention from the real issue of the New York Times."

The New York Times denies when so one is pressed it," replied Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman. "The New York Times is not under investigation."

The newspaper said it seemed obvious it had been in a target because of its condemnation of such things as school segregation and "McCarthyism and all its works" which it decries Eastland and two associates stand for.

The subcommittee's first yesterday public hearings in a series which has centered on the press, radio and television. Eastland has maintained that the inquiry is not aimed at newspapers, nor at any particular newspaper but rather at seeking out communism wherever it can be found.

Three of yesterday's seven witnesses were employees of the Times. Three others were former Times employees. The seventh was a movie theater operator.

The Times cited "the heavy concentration of subpoenas served on employees of this newspaper" in declaring that it had been singled out in the investigation. It said also that J. G. Sourwine, the subcommittee counsel, had sought at earlier closed-door hearings to show "some connection between a witness' onetime association with the Communist party and the character of the news published in this paper."

"So far as we are aware, no present member of the Communist party has been found among the more than 4,000 employees on our rolls. . . . We would not knowingly employ a Communist party member in the news or editorial department of this paper, but we would not trust his ability to report the news objectively or to comment on it honestly."

Noting that a few of its employees have acknowledged party membership in years gone by and that several have pleaded the Fifth Amendment, the Times said it will judge each case on its merits, and it added:

"It is our own business to decide whom we shall employ and not employ. We do not propose to hand over that function to the Eastland subcommittee. . . . nor do we propose to permit the Eastland subcommittee to determine in any paper."

The Times said it appears obvious that it was singled out "precisely because of the vigor of its opposition to many of the things for which it said Eastland, Sourwine and Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) stand. Jenner is a member of the subcommittee."

Times employees who testified were Clayton Knowles, 47, reporter; Samuel Weissman, 46, an employee for 20 years in the editorial index department; and Jerry Zolph, 45, a proofreader.

Former Times employees, called were James S. Glaser, now a copy reader for the New York Post. John T. McManus, general manager of the New York Herald Tribune weekly; and Allan James Aronson, executive editor of the National Guardian.

Also called was a "Fine" operator of a New York theater show, a Soviet film.

Sourwine said he was "flattered" at having been grouped by the Times editorial "with two of the senior members" of the Senate of the United States."

Jenner could not be reached for comment.

Eastland, in response to a reporter's question, said he knows of no evidence received by the subcommittee of any Communist attempt to influence the content of a recognized, metropolitan newspaper.

"We are not after anybody," he said.

Tripp-Barnhill Vows Spoken On Anniversary Of Bride's Parents

Miss Daphne Ann Barnhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan C. Barnhill of Stokes, became the bride of James Edward Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Watt Tripp of Tarboro, in a lovely informal candlelight ceremony solemnized Friday, December 23rd, on the 23rd wedding anniversary of the bride's parents at 7:00 o'clock in the evening at the Mayo's Presbyterian Church near Tarboro. The Rev. Dan Norman, pastor of the groom, officiated using the double ring ceremony.

The repeated vows were spoken before an altar amid a background of pines, with two seven branched candelabra holding tall cathedral candles, two large stands of white gladioli with palms and fern. The couple knelt for the benediction on a prie-dieu and a white satin pillow. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Ann Stokes of Stokes, pianist. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional. Miss Ann Parker, cousin of the bride, soprano soloist, sang "Always" and for the benediction "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of pale pink silksweet Worstellia with a rolled neckline and a bouffant skirt and three quarter length fitted sleeves. She also wore a small hat of same color sprayed with rhinestones and sequins and nylon net gloves to match. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a purple throat orchid and with white satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Conington of Stokes, student at East Carolina College, attended her cousin as maid of honor. She wore a mint green street length dress with winter white accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations amid green and tied with pink satin streamers. The bridegroom had as his best man his father. The ushers were Clayton Barnhill, brother of the bride, and Jackie James, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore for her daughter's wedding a navy blue crepe and tulle dress, with winter white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a light blue faille two-piece suit with navy accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom received in the church, later leaving for a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride added to her ensemble a navy duster and the orchid from her Bible.

Mrs. Tripp is a graduate of Stokes High School and at present is attending East Carolina College.

Mrs. Tripp attended Stokes School and received her diploma after entering the U. S. Navy. He has returned to duty aboard the USS Platte now at Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Tripp will resume her studies at East Carolina College in Greenville.

Following rehearsal on Thursday evening, Dec. 22, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tripp entertained at an informal cake-cutting in the recreation room of the church for the wedding party and close friends of the bride and groom. The room was decorated in the Christmas motif. The bride's table was covered with a white Maderia table cloth, centered with a crystal bowl of white carnations, pom poms and fern, flanked with crystal candleholders holding lighted tapers and on either end of the table stood a crystal punch bowl and the three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. After the bride and bridegroom-elect had cut the traditional first slice the wedding cake was served by Mrs. Dan Norman. Mrs. Nathan Barnhill poured punch and the guests served themselves to mints and nuts.

Miss Ann Parker and Miss Patricia Conington honored Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Tripp, recent bridal couple, at a miscellaneous shower on Friday night, December 30, at the home of the former.

The guests were greeted at the door by the hostess and invited into the living room where they played games. Later they were invited into the dining room where they were served punch, nuts and mints from a lovely appointed table covered with a white linen cloth. In the center was an arrangement of white mixed flowers and lighted tapers.

The bride and groom then opened their nice and useful gifts and thanked their friends and classmates who called.

One-Act Folk Play By Paul Green To Be Presented Tonight

Paul Green's one-act folk play "Quare Medicine" will be presented tonight (Thursday) by the East Carolina Playhouse as one of a series of workshop dramas scheduled for the school year by the college dramatic club.

The performance will take place in the McGinnis auditorium at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Bobbi Harrell, junior at East Carolina, is student director of the play. She has acted in Kermit Hunter's "Horn in the West" and last fall was chairman of properties for the East Carolina Playhouse production of "Darkness at Noon."

Paul Green, native North Carolina dramatist, took part in the provocative development of folk drama which came under the direction of the late Frederick H. Koch at the University of North Carolina. Green's "In Abraham's Bosom" won the Pulitzer Prize in the 1920's and was followed by other outstanding plays. In 1937 he wrote the pageant-drama "The Lost Colony." "Quare Medicine" is a typical specimen of his short folk dramas.

Experiences In Scandinavia Theme For Round Table Program

Miss Cathmir Shaw of the physical education department of East Carolina College was guest speaker at a meeting of the members of the Round Table on Tuesday, January 3, at the home of Mrs. Spruill Spain. Other guests enjoying Mrs. Spain's gracious hospitality were Mrs. H. H. Settle, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, Mrs. H. R. Phillips and Mrs. Paul Davenport Sr. of Paeolus.

Miss Shaw's experiences in the Scandinavian countries last summer furnished a delightful theme for her talk. As a student of Oslo University she came to know the city and to evaluate the temper of the people. Her comments on their history, their casual attitudes toward life and religion, and their almost fatalistic attitude toward war and communism were most interesting. She spoke at length of their love of sports and of their participation as families in outdoor activities and graphically described their famous annual festivals. Mention was made of the interest of Scandinavian women in national and world politics and of the fact that they are active in and well informed about the social democracy under which their governments operate. Miss Shaw showed examples of their crafts and also a series of pictures of places of interest that she visited in Norway, Sweden and Denmark. Her tour of the picturesque fjords and the magnificent mountain gorges were particularly entertaining.

During a delightful social hour which followed, Mrs. Spain, assisted by Mrs. Settle and Mrs. Phillips, served delicious refreshments.

Music Hall Star Mistinguett Succumbs After 2-Week Illness

PARIS (AP)—Mistinguett, French music hall star for half a century whose legs were once among the world's most famous, died today after a two-week illness. She was 82.

The noted entertainer died in her sleep at her brother's home in suburban Boulogne. She suffered a paralytic stroke while spending the Christmas holiday there and sub-

One Can Slim Down With Right Makeup

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you are a fat-faced type, don't brood—a little concentration and the right makeup can make your slim whim come true.

One beauty authority, Mala Rubinstein, director of a New York salon, has found that all that is necessary to "trim the face" is "two shades of foundation and strategically placed rouge."

How does she do it?

The first foundation is of a shade a full tone lighter than the natural skin tone, and is applied evenly all over the face. Next, the rouge is placed in a long, sharp triangle starting at one point from the center of the eye and at a second from a spot one-half inch below the nose, then angling sharply back on the cheek bone to the hairline. It should be kept out of a hollow area and concentrated on the cheek bone, she says.

Now the other foundation is applied. It should be two shades deeper than the first. The principle, she says, is that the lighter foundation reflects light, the darker one does not, so areas covered with it appear as shadows, slimming the facial dimensions.

Determine where to place the darker foundation by feeling along with the fingertips just above the jaw bone, to find your facial hollows. Place the darker foundation within these hollows, from the middle of the ear downward toward the chin. Follow the jaw line back to the starting point in a half-moon shape. This treatment helps reduce the breadth of the lower face and any tendency toward jowls, giving the illusion of a slimmer contour, according to Miss Rubinstein.

You can minimize the appearance of a wide forehead, usually accompanying a broad face by placing the darker foundation in the hollows of the temples. Lessen the fullness of a double chin by putting the darker foundation in inverted V-shape under the chin—starting at the tip and moving downward and outward on the neck.

Next comes powder. First apply it to the shadowed areas (darker foundation) with a dark powder the equivalent of the darker foundation. Then powder lighter areas, with a shade equivalent to the lighter foundation.

Eyebrows have a great bearing on the width of the forehead, she reminds us. Miss Rubinstein suggests that if the face is full care should be taken so that eyebrows do not flare upward at the outside tips because this adds width. They should be shaped into a high, full arch, with the tips extending softly downward.

The corners of the lips should be filled in so that as much width as possible is given to the sides to balance the lips in the full face. If the mouth appears small, a wide face will look even wider.

BEFORE... Here's a too-round face that can be made to look slimmer with proper makeup suggested by Mala Rubinstein.

AFTER... Two shades of foundation cream, properly placed rouge and well-shaped eyebrows give illusion of slim contour.

sequently developed pneumonia. Her last days were spent in an oxygen tent.

Mistinguett had been a symbol of the gay life of the French music hall for longer than most present theatergoers can remember. She admitted herself that she was never beautiful except for her fabulous legs. Even in operettas she was more personality than singer.

At the turn of the century she was a rising star in operettas and dramatic comedies like "The Girl at Maxim's" and "The Belles of Corneville." Her name went high in lights at the Eldorado, the Folies Bergeres, the Moulin Rouge, the Casino de Paris.

Mistinguett had a long series of young men as dancing and singing partners, of whom the most famous was Maurice Chevalier. They tossed her about the stage, making it prudent to insure those famous legs for astronomical sums said to range up to three million dollars.

One of Mistinguett's most famous songs was "Mon Homme." Translated as "My Man," it became a popular vehicle for Fanny Brice in the United States.

Mistinguett won new acclaim singing for Allied soldiers and war relief groups in World War I. Further adding to her aura of mystery, she was credited with helping expose to the French intelligence the voluptuous spy for the Germans, Mata Hari, who was finally executed by a firing squad.

Mistinguett had two tries at the New York stage, neither very successful. The first was in 1923. She visited Washington on that trip and was presented to President Coolidge. The last visit to the United States was in 1951, when she performed at a night club, La Martinique.

During World War II, after the Nazis occupied Paris she lived quietly in southern France. After the liberation, she played again to great applause but in time she became deaf, forgot her lines and finally retired.

The end of her career did not bring want. She had held on to her big earnings and was said to have increased them by shrewd investments.

Mistinguett never married but she had one son. He was a physician, Dr. Leopoldo Lima de Silva, one of the doctors who attended her in her last illness. She reportedly met his father back in the misty years when she was a relatively unknown young actress touring Brazil.

Members' Sons In For Holidays Present Program Of Chatham Club

Mrs. N. S. Beard was hostess to the Chatham Book Club Friday, December 30, at her home on Elm Street. The house was beautifully decorated with poinsettias, Christmas candles and arrangements.

Upon arrival, members and their guests were most graciously welcomed by the hostess.

Mrs. Luther Bowling, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Carl Adams, presided over a short routine business session. She gave a cordial welcome to the guests of the afternoon who were Mrs. E. B. Fiedler of New Jersey, Mrs. D. A. Blue, Mrs. Joe Taft, Dr. Eustace Conway III and Mr. Shelly Beard Jr.

Mrs. Beard planned a most delightful program for the afternoon. She presented Dr. Eustace Conway who is employed as a chemical engineer with the American Cyanamid Company located in New Jersey. Dr. Conway was visiting his family here for the Christmas holidays. He presented a most interesting and enjoyable program of slides and telephoto views of the Appalachian Trail which extends into four states. Dr. Conway took these pictures as he hiked and climbed along the trail. Telephoto views and slides were shown of the Smoky Mountain National Park, Shenandoah National Park and the Skyline Drive. These views, photographed by Dr. Conway on different hiking excursions, showed the various seasons in the mountains with their splendor and riot of color, their varied plant and animal life. Many lovely shots of purple rhododendron, pink mountain laurel, fawn azaleas, virgin forests, high mountain peaks and gorges, colorful sunrises and sunsets, and interesting animal life were among the photos which showed the rare beauty of our own North Carolina mountains. The last few slides shown were taken in our city, Greenville, and were most enthusiastically received.

The meeting was most unusual in that two sons of club members, home for the holidays, presented the program. Mr. Shelly Beard Jr., son of the hostess and a senior at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, gave some interesting and helpful pointers on health and diet. A question and answer period followed.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Rufus Stark, Mrs. Luther Bowling and Mrs. Leonard Topping, served a delicious salad plate with coffee, nuts and sweets. Favors of tiny bells with 1956 painted on them were placed on each plate.

After the exchange of books, the meeting was adjourned to meet next on January 17.

Second In Series Of Family Life Services Set At Rose Hill Tonight

The second in a series of special services emphasizing family life will be held tonight at 7 o'clock at the Rose Hill Free Will Baptist Church.

The service will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Floyd B. Cherry, and will include a group discussion in addition to the pastoral message. A similar service was held last night at the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church.

Both the Black Jack and Rose Hill churches are observing "Family Life Month" during January with special services designed to help create more Christian homes scheduled throughout the month.

Identical mid-week services will be conducted at each church for the coming two weeks, at Black Jack each Wednesday night at 7 o'clock and at Rose Hill each Thursday night. Meetings January 11 and 12 will feature a group discussion on "Preface to Life," while on January 18 and 19 a film, "Marriage Today," will be shown, followed by a group discussion.

Three guest speakers from Greenville have been invited to deliver the message each Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the Rose Hill church for both congregations.

Speakers and their topics are J. H. Rose, superintendent of Greenville city schools, "An Educator Looks at the Home," January 8; Dr. Ray Silverthorne, "A Physician Looks at the Home," January 15; and William J. Bundy, Superior Court judge, "A Judge Looks at the Home," January 22. The Rev. Mr. Cherry will deliver

Colds? Little To Be Done

By DOROTHY V. WHIFFLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

"What can we do with that child, he no sooner gets over one cold than he comes down with a fresh one. I try to take good care of him, but something I'm doing must be wrong. Can you help us, doctor?"

Mrs. Smithers was an intelligent, conscientious woman. I knew that she went to a lot of trouble to do what she felt was right for Sam.

Sam was three, going on four. He was a bright, perky little fellow, about average size for his years. His nutrition was good, his bones were straight and strong, well covered with healthy muscles and about the right amount of fat. He did, however, look a little pale, his lips and his fingernails lacked the deep rosy color I like to see. (A blood count later confirmed this observation—Sam had a mild anemia.)

The rest of Sam's physical examination was quite normal. His nose and throat showed no abnormalities, his sinuses (those that were developed at age three) were clear and normal, there was no obstruction in the nose. Sam's tonsils were rather large but they were smooth and healthy. He breathed with his mouth closed.

As I examined Sam's tonsils I answered the look on his mother's face "No, Mrs. Smithers, removing his tonsils will not help a bit. These are healthy, useful organs. Sam is better off with them right where they are."

I inquired about Sam's diet and his sleeping schedule. It was pretty good although Sam was a little over fond of milk and as a result ate less meat and vegetables than might be considered desirable.

Sam got a 12 hour night's sleep and at least an hour's nap a day—couldn't ask for much better than this.

Mrs. Smithers saw to it that Sam was outdoors in the fresh air as much as possible, that he didn't sit on damp ground nor get his feet wet. She tried to dress him so that he was warm enough but not so hot he was moist from perspiration.

All in all there was mighty little one could find to account for Sam's susceptibility to colds.

I made some suggestions about the mild anemia Sam should be permitted only three glasses of milk a day (instead of the six he was drinking). This in itself would probably increase his appetite for the other foods and cure the anemia. However, to increase his hemoglobin a little faster I prescribed an iron tonic for a short time.

While it's desirable to correct Sam's mild anemia, I had no expectation that this was likely to perform any miracle and eliminate his colds.

What's the answer? It's not too satisfactory but it's all we have. Continue doing exactly what you are doing. Keep Sam healthy, and the regular Sunday morning sermons entitled "Are You Fit to be Tied?" on January 8; "Christ, the Hope of the Home" on January 15; and "Building Sound Homes" on January 22.

In addition, on January 14 at 7 p.m. the film, "Martin Luther," will be shown at the Rose Hill church. No admission will be charged.

Mermaids Will Go Gay For The New Season

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Woman's Editor

Beach Beauties of 1956 will be as vivid as confetti and as streamlined as seals, to judge from the new crop of swim suits.

Tops in the swim lineup is the elasticized suit, which fits the figure like a second skin, smooths out bulges like a good foundation style dressmaker touches as well, and whatever the fabric of the stretch suit, it looks like cotton.

Designers have adapted important trends in the current dress silhouettes to beach wear, so that you will find swim suits with Empire waistlines, with jumper designs, with bell tunics and new necklines.

The trend is toward a more covered-up look for the beach, with the one-piece suit the overwhelming favorite. There are more and wider straps to be seen on the new bathing suits, and skillful design gives a long-legged look even to short-legged gals.

The trend toward ensembles in dress fashions also spreads to the beach, with many suits featuring matching or coordinated skirts, shirts or jackets.

Daily colored Roman stripes and plaids will be all over the place this season, along with vivid solid colors with a variety of trimmings.

THE BIG SPLASH... Streamlined elasticized swim suits, made for serious swimmers. Left, "night and day" plaid with removable shoulder straps, back zipper, inner panty; right, "Madame X" in black form-fitting faille with checked trim.

in a few years time he will have matured beyond the period of extreme susceptibility to colds.

Some children are more susceptible to colds than are others, but all little children are more susceptible than they will be later on. We build up some immunity as we live in contact with other people. Goodness knows these immunities are not perfect since we all get some colds throughout our lives, but most children have to live through a time when their resistance seems about zero.

Someday we may learn how to give children a resistance to colds without living through this trying period. At present we don't have the answer. Removing tonsils, draining sinuses, helps only if there is disease in these areas. Pouring in vitamins helps only if the child's food consumption is not adequate for these factors. "Cold shots," at least in my experience, have little value.

Will Farmers Be Left On Sidelines?

In this political year of 1956, the farmer may find that federal officials, with eyes focused on the November elections, will come up with the positive kind of program for supporting agriculture that the farm regions throughout the country need.

On the other hand, farmers may find that opposing forces in the federal government, in their attempt to gain votes, may forestall each other with the result that the farmers get plenty of talk about the need for something being done to alleviate the crisis faced by agriculture, but little in the way of concrete action toward alleviating that crisis.

The Democrats, with a closer feeling for the problems which face farmers, already have a head start on the Republicans by virtue of the fact there is already a House-passed bill to restore rigid price supports for major field crops. This bill may be smothered by new proposals, however, before it can be considered by the Senate in this new session.

It has already become evident that each of the two parties will be trying to gain credit for doing something for the farmers this year. The Eisenhower administration has placed agriculture in the top priority position on its legislative agenda and early next week Congress will receive a special Presidential message outlining the administration's proposals for revamping the federal farm program.

At the same time, the Democrats who are in control of Congress already have their own farm program outlined and it doubtlessly will be presented to Congress as early as possible.

While the members of Congress cannot help viewing every piece of legislation and every legislative maneuver this session with an eye to the November election, the desperately needed revitalized farm program should not be made a political football merely for the purpose of debate and vote-getting. Regardless of the source of the ideas, regardless of the amalgamation of Democratic and Republican proposals for a farm program, the farmers need a positive program and need it immediately. Above all it is important that the conflicting proposals of the two parties do not result in a deadlock in which no steps are taken to bolster the sagging agricultural economy of the nation.

With both parties vying to come out on top by doing the most for the farmer during the current session of Congress, the farmers stand a good chance of getting an adequate program. On the other hand, there is always the possibility that partisan conflict will render ineffective the efforts of each party to get its farm program written into law.

In the latter case, the farmer will be left holding the bag.

Polio Now On The Run, Let's Keep It That Way

Development of the Salk anti-polio vaccine culminated last year has brought the American people to the threshold of stamping out dreaded infantile paralysis. The tide of battle against the disease has definitely turned, but the fight is a long way from being completed.

The annual March of Dimes campaign has been launched in Pitt County to provide through public subscriptions funds with which to continue to combat the disease. In spite of the fact that Salk vaccine has been put in use, and every indication points to a decrease in the number of persons stricken by polio, the fight against the disease cannot now be discontinued. Millions of dollars will be needed annually for at least several more years to provide treatment of patients paralyzed by polio and to push research programs which will hasten the day when infantile paralysis will be relegated to a position of minor threat to the health of the American people.

Last year alone the Pitt County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis used a total of $3,309 for treatment of 15 local patients stricken with the disease in 1955 and previous years. In addition the chapter contributed $1,400 to aid other areas more hard hit by the disease last year. Those figures, which do not include the amount turned over to the National Foundation by the local chapter, point up the fact that there is a continuing need for funds with which to fight polio.

During the month of January the people of Pitt County are being asked to contribute to the annual March of Dimes as they have done for many years. We trust the people of Pitt will do their part in giving financial support to the program to stamp out polio.

Faure's Effort Could Be A Boon To France

Efforts of French Premier Edgar Faure to establish a system which will insure a longer life span of French citizens is an undertaking which must be successful if stability is to be returned to the French government.

For a long number of years now, the life span of France's Cabinets has been extremely short. Under existing circumstances it has been next to impossible for France to carry out any continuity in its domestic or foreign policies with key officials moving in an out of office every few months.

Without being able to depend on backing from Parliament, the administrative heads of the French government have been able to do little toward carrying out a consistent program on either the national or international level. The deplorable condition and extreme handicaps under which the government has had to work is reflected in unrest among the French people. It is likewise reflected in the difficulty other nations of the free world have had in attempting to present a united front against the threat of communism and Soviet Russia.

For France and for her allies, it is to be hoped that some method can be worked out by Premier Faure to afford French cabinets a greater degree of stability and give them reasonable assurance of a length of time in office to carry to completion some programs. If Faure can stem the tide of confusion within the French government before it reaches the stage of chaos, it will have rendered one of the most important services to the people of his country in post war years.

East Is Narrowing That Economic Gap

By LYNN NISBET

CATCHING UP—The East is slowly narrowing the differential between that section and other parts of the state in industrial investment and payrolls according to report of the commerce and industry division of the Board of Conservation and Development at its semi-annual meeting this week. The Piedmont still leads in new industries but not by the overwhelming majority noted in previous years. Sixty-three per cent of the new plants established in 1955 are in the Piedmont, 24 per cent in the East and 13 per cent in the West.

The Piedmont got 82 per cent of capital investment, boosted largely by the General Electric $20 million plant near Hickory. 13 per cent of new plants and investments are in the East and 5 per cent in the West. The East fared better in number of new jobs provided. In this category 55 per cent are in the Piedmont, 32 per cent in the East and 13 per cent in the West.

The report suggests brighter prospects for the East with natural gas scheduled during 1956, and acquisition of the long time lease on the State owned railroad between Goldsboro and Morehead City by the Southern Railway practically assured.

SLOWING DOWN—The report is not all rosy. It notes a dropping off in the number of industrial inquiries from outside interests during the past few months. Increased competition from other states and letting up in the post-war expansion program are partly responsible. Other probable reasons cited include Federal legislation raising minimum wages and less extreme demands on part of organized labor in New England as making it less desirable for established plants to move. Middle West prospects are wary of hurricane hazards. And there is the ever present handicap of high State taxes, without opportunity to explain the "tax package" and show that combined State and local levies are in line.

PROGRESS—Reports of other divisions show substantial progress in conservation, development and utilization of natural resources—forests, minerals and water. Forest nurseries have been expanded to produce 30 million seedlings, and orders have been received for 28 million, of which 10 million have been delivered. Private industry's manifesting more interest in administering scientific forestry, which is described as an excellent trend — but trained foresters are leaving State employment for higher salaries and placements are difficult.

There is an optimistic note in the report of the water resources division. Accomplishments have been worthwhile in compiling inventories of several major river basins and some coastal waters. Forest nurseries have been expanded to produce 30 million seedlings, and orders have been received for 28 million, of which 10 million have been delivered. Private industry's manifesting more interest in administering scientific forestry, which is described as an excellent trend — but trained foresters are leaving State employment for higher salaries and placements are difficult.

The average doctor's fees are too small to encourage chiselers on part of those able to pay, but the need for vaccination is too important to let petty pride stand in the way of protecting the children against polio.

Dr. Norton says every family to take full advantage of the opportunity to have children vaccinated before beginning of the "polio season," usually around May 1. At present it is entirely voluntary and there are no immunization programs. His advice is to consult the family physician as to appropriate time for vaccinations, get the child vaccinated as soon as possible, but not to let lack of ability to pay the doctor prevent or delay applying to the public health offices for free service.

The average doctor's fees are too small to encourage chiselers on part of those able to pay, but the need for vaccination is too important to let petty pride stand in the way of protecting the children against polio.

Dr. Norton says every family to take full advantage of the opportunity to have children vaccinated before beginning of the "polio season," usually around May 1. At present it is entirely voluntary and there are no immunization programs. His advice is to consult the family physician as to appropriate time for vaccinations, get the child vaccinated as soon as possible, but not to let lack of ability to pay the doctor prevent or delay applying to the public health offices for free service.

New 'Aerotrain' Making Its Debut On 2 Railroads

NEW YORK (AP)—The revolutionary, new, lightweight "Aerotrain" built by General Motors Corp. makes its formal debut today on two railroads.

A thousand miles apart, two separate units of the train, heralded by GM President Harlow H. Curtis as a "new concept" in railroading, appear on demonstration runs.

The New York Central Railroad will show one unit on the 283.5-mile trip from Chicago to Detroit. In the afternoon, the Pennsylvania Railroad puts the other unit through its paces on a run of 216.8 miles from Washington, D.C., to Newark, N.J.

The latter train will stop 10 miles short of New York because a city ordinance prevents diesel engines from using the river tunnels.

The GM train—a sleek, 10-coach job of aluminum and steel pulled by a jet-nosed diesel specially styled for it—is the latest entry in the field of lightweight trains. Three other manufacturers are making their own versions of what they think the passenger train of the future should be.

All of these trains are aimed at one goal—licking the chronic railroad passenger deficit which was 669 million dollars in 1954, the latest year for which the figure is available.

All of the lightweight trains have certain things in common: they are cheaper to build, cheaper to operate and faster than conventional trains. Although economical they are eye-catching, designed to lure back passengers from autos, buses and planes.

GM "Aerotrain" was labeled thus because of the "air ride" suspension similar to that used on GM buses. The springing is supplied by air bellows.

The train is 50 per cent lighter than conventional trains, 60 per cent less costly to build and 60 per cent cheaper to maintain.

GM said it could carry its 400 passengers between New York and Chicago in 10 hours on $125 worth of fuel and could cruise at 100 miles per hour.

Village Housewives' Orchestra Grew Up

By FRED SAITO
MISONO VILLAGE, Japan (AP)—The "Orchestra of the Aunts" celebrated its fifth anniversary today by dashing off Haydn's "surprise symphony."

This 75-piece orchestra, composed entirely of village housewives, is one of those things in Japan stemming from the Allied occupation's "liberation" of Japanese women.

The "Obasan Gakudan" or "Orchestra of the Aunts" sprang up without outside urging five years ago in this small farm village. It lies three miles from the grand shrine of Ise, symbol of Japanese culture on the west shore of Nagoya Bay.

The housewives average 40 years of age. Five years ago they were undistinguished among millions of Japanese housewives, many of whom drudge in field and kitchen day and night, their chief amusement the feudalistic game of nagging their daughters-in-law. All over Japan after the war women in cities organized clubs and sometimes choirs, but only in Misono did they organize an orchestra.

Mrs. Tome Mori, now 49, was secretary of the Village Women's Assn. She couldn't read music, but was irritated at the way village youth was gravitating to the juke joints in Ise and crooning popular songs without knowing a thing about good music.

"We must do something to stop this," she announced.

She got 24 other housewives and asked a music teacher in the village school to train them. Two could read notes. None had any instrumental training.

It didn't matter to the determined women. They studied and practiced intensively at the village public hall.

It mattered to their husbands, who inquired: "Are you out of your minds?" "Are we supposed to nurse the children from now on?"

Now the husbands are so proud that they take their wives to rehearsals on their bicycles. And the village kids hum Mozart, Schubert and Haydn.

Colonials, Terps Meet In ACC Headliner Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
George Washington and Maryland, two bitter neighborhood rivals, clash in the Terps' new fieldhouse tonight in an interconference basketball game sure to produce sparks.

Maryland found itself in third place in the Atlantic Coast Conference today after its 76-57 defeat of South Carolina last night. At the same time, 11th ranked Duke was drubbed by Wake Forest 71-84. The loss shoved Duke into fourth in the ACC standings.

The only other ACC team in action tonight is Clemson which is participating in the Senior Bowl tournament at Mobile, Ala.

The Tigers lost to Spring Hill 91-102 last night. Clemson will play Miami, Fla., tonight. Miami lost to Memphis State 71-79 last night. Clemson's Bill Yarbrough was high for the game against Spring Hill with 33 points.

Wake Forest's victory over Duke was sweet revenge after the Blue Devils had copped the Deacons 64-52 for third place in the Dixie Classic last week.

The big gun for Wake was Lewell (Lefty) Davis who bagged 26 points in the roughly contested game that saw 51 personal fouls called in Wake Forest's close and crowded gym. The Blue Devils in taking their second loss against eight victories, couldn't hit a field goal until the game was seven minutes old.

The best effort from a Blue Devil came from Jack Kalbfus who managed 19 points. He was followed by Ronnie Mayer with 15. The victory gave the Deacons a 2-2 conference record and a 6-6 overall mark.

Maryland had little trouble with South Carolina and Coach Bud Milikan used his subs a good portion of the game. Maryland's ace forward, Bob Kessler, with 26 points, was high for the night. The best effort from South Carolina was the 16 points scored by center Lee Collins.

Belmont Abbey scored the upset of the night, edging Richmond of the Southern Conference 84-82 in a thriller played in Charlotte's Coliseum.

A 30-foot field goal by guard Al Taglieri that was in the air when the final gun went off, provided the Abbey with its winning margin.

Belmont's Jim York, as high as both teams with 33 points, many of them coming at crucial stages during the frantic last half of play.

Elon scored its seventh straight victory with an 81-76 win over Pfeiffer's Jim Nuckles scored 28 to be high for the night. It was Elon's ninth win in 10 starts.

Parris Island took a high-scoring contest from Catawba, 111-94, behind the hot shooting of guard Gerald Cadence, former Mississippi State player, who bagged 32 points. It was Catawba's 10th straight defeat without a victory. The schedule tonight has Guilford at Appalachian and Lenoir Rhyne at Western Carolina in two North State Conference games, and High Point at McCrary.

Title Bout Seen Between Rocky, Floyd Patterson

NEW YORK (AP) A Floyd Patterson-Rocky Marciano match for the world heavyweight title in Los Angeles is in the making for next September.

Marciano may box Archie Moore, Bob Baker or Bob Satterfield in June before he meets the 1952 Olympic 168-pound champion who has been a sensation since he turned pro.

Although the Brooklyn Negro, who celebrated his 21st birthday yesterday, weighed less than 165 during the Olympics he came in at 168½ for his latest start, a seventh round technical knockout over Jimmy Slade Dec. 8 at Los Angeles.

Marciano, who said yesterday in Los Angeles he didn't know when or where he'll return to action, weighed 168 for his most recent start against Archie Moore in September.

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, launched his boy as a full fledged heavyweight at his birthday party at a downtown hotel. "I have decided that 1956 will be the year," if Patterson continues to function as he has," said D'Amato who previously had set 1957 as his target date.

"If there are obstacles, it is our job to eliminate them," said D'Amato, emphasizing the "our." "He convinced me in his last fight the way he handled Slade, a fellow who just beat Hurricane Jackson. He'd weigh 180 or 185 for Marciano. He is so large in stature he can't be ignored."

D'Amato said he hadn't talked with Al Hill, Marciano's manager, but wouldn't want the title match until September. Well suggested Patterson fight Archie Moore, the "inner" to meet Rocky.

G-Men Finally At Full Strength

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer

Coach Boley Farley's Greenville basketball team is at full strength for the first time this season. Their 95-62 victory over a befuddled New Bern team Tuesday may be an indication of the Green Phant's capabilities when their entire team is in playing shape.

The return of All-Conference center Harold Edwards, after the big boy missed the first seven games with ankle injuries, was undoubtedly a big factor in the G-Men win of this week. Edwards combined with the newly-converted forward Billy Johnson to share a lion's share of the rebounds Tuesday night and contributed 10 points to the scoring total.

Surprisingly enough, the scoring honors were not taken by either of the two Phant super-scorers, as chosen by pre-season predictions. Little Ike Riddick and Edwards, both high-scoring veterans, were rated the backbone of the team's point-getting facilities, and, of course, the rating can't be overlooked even now. However, the Tuesday night emergence of Ray Hardee and Tommy Key Norris as fancy scorers adds even more strength to the squad. Both boys collected 16 points each to fall second only to Johnson's 20 markers.

Coach Farley seemed to have no set first team against New Bern, with the exception of Edwards, Johnson and Riddick. Guards Wayne Eidson and Tommy Norris played approximately the same length of time at the post opposite Riddick and both turned in fine performances. Hardee and Jerry Drum alternated at forward slots with regularity.

If the recent scoring ability on the part of Hardee and Norris remains constant, Greenville high school may possibly become one of the highest scoring clubs in the North-eastern Conference.

Tatum, UNC To Talk Tomorrow

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Jim Tatum, who started his head football coaching career here in 1942, will talk to University of North Carolina officials tomorrow about taking the job again.

Tatum confirmed after his Maryland team lost to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl that North Carolina has asked him to consider returning to his alma mater as head football coach. He asked and received permission from Maryland President Wilson H. Elkins to come to Chapel Hill and discuss the situation.

No information was available as to when, where or with whom Tatum would meet.

Rumors that Tatum would take the North Carolina job have been circulating for several years. Late last year there were published reports that he already had signed a contract.

Elkins said Maryland has taken steps to make Tatum's job there more attractive through added security. He said no lifetime contract was contemplated, but rather an agreement under which Tatum would agree to certain policies and thereby be assured of his position for as long as his personal conduct was satisfactory.

Belmont Abbey, who hopes one day to acquire membership in the North State Conference, is going at it the wrong way. The Crusaders have lost at least the vote of one of the conference members and jeopardized more.

The Abbey coach, Al McCellan, used a Georgia Tech transfer, still one semester ineligible, in pre-Christmas games. Consequently, the week cancelled its schedule with the Abbey and others have made public their scorn.

The Crusaders are East Carolina opponents this Friday. How does Pirate Coach Howard Porter feel about the illegality? "I haven't heard from them yet. Whether they'll bring the boy or not I don't know. Until then there isn't much I can say."

The Abbey is enjoying a good season. Last night it landed its first Southern Conference basketball game since becoming a four-year college. The debut was an auspicious one, defeating highly-regarded University of Richmond, 84-82, in the Charlotte Coliseum.

The Abbey, which started a new season after having a six-game winning string snapped by Lenoir Rhyne Monday night, was paced by jump-shooting guard Roger Marcell and steady captain Mo Theberge.

Yesterday the Pirates were at work to get themselves ready for the Abbey and Elon here this weekend. Porter and assistant coach Earl Smith ran the first five for about 10 minutes and sent them to an early shower. "We got a lot of ball to play this weekend," Coach Porter declared, "and we don't want to burn ourselves out."

It is noticeable that Porter has changed his attacking system again. During the early part of this season, the Bucs employed a Pittsburgh type offense which had captain J. C. Thomas, at only 6-1, working the pivot. Guy Mendenhall, 6-5, now has moved to center in the familiar AM and AP designs.

"We're going to go from here," Thomas said. "The new system puts a strain on us but now everybody feels at home." The exuberant floor boss went on to declare his club a real title contender and looks to win over Elon here Saturday.

Freddie James, speedy guard, has moved freshman Tim Smothers out of a battle that has fluctuated since the season originated. "We need James' speed in the old system, where Smothers' height was essential in the Pitt type of offense," Porter chided.

The most aggressive player on the Bucs' squad is Harold Ingram. The big-boned sophomore, the only retained player from last year's freshman team, doesn't know the meaning of stop. He can jump like an

Snead Surprises By Capturing Vardon Trophy

CHICAGO (AP) — Sam Snead, whose back miseries have plagued him for a number of years, created one of the big surprises of the 1955 golf tour by winning the Vardon Trophy based on average low scoring.

The 41-year-old veteran averaged 69.86 strokes in 63 tournament rounds to win the trophy for the fourth time, the PGA announced yesterday. He won it in 1938, 1949 and 1950 when his 69.23 average set a record low that still stands.

Snead picked up $23,464 to place seventh on the money-winning list which was topped by Julius Boros with $63,121. Boros' $50,000 prize for taking the "World Championship" in August assured him the money-winning title.

Cary Middlecoff was second with $39,567 and Doug Ford third with $33,503.

Ford was second to Snead in the Vardon Trophy race with a 70.12 average in 128 rounds. Middlecoff was third with 70.16 in 76

African bushman . . . if he could only score consistently.

The House of David itinerants disappointed many folks last night. The "bearded beauties," as they like to be called, showed only brief flashes of real basketball ability. Their funny man, Bobby Roth, possessed the only clowning skill while the other four played it straight. Some of Roth's jokes were pretty risqué but went over with the college crowd.

Bobby Hodges drew a lot of fans to the game. Bobby weighs 230 now and said he hadn't had a basketball in his hands for four months. He and his pretty wife, Dru, have a nine-month-old son.

The ECC All-Stars need practice to become a workable unit. Managed by Len Manness, the boys have played several games against junior colleges, and been quite successful. They defeated Chowan and PJC.

Stokes Captures Double Victory

Stokes-Pactolus cagers last night swept through a doubleheader with Windsor, taking both the boys game 65-28, and the girls contest 62-50. It was a non-conference affair.

The Stokes-Pactolus girls were paced to victory by the fine scoring of Billie Angle, Little Turner and Nina Perkins. Angle collected 23 points and was followed closely by Turner with 21 and Perkins with 18. The home team took an early lead and held it throughout the contest.

Carlton Whitehurst racked up 14 points to lead the boys to a lopsided 65-28 win over the Windsor lads. Bobby Congleton added 12 markers to snare second-best honors.

Brown, Parker Rivalry Evident In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The natural rivalry of Paul Brown and Buddy Parker was never more apparent than today as they went about preparing opposing squads for Saturday's Senior Bowl game.

Both had the air of men with will to win.

Both have virtually dominated pro football during the past six years.

Brown's Cleveland Browns have won six straight divisional titles and three world championships. Parker, although his Detroit Lions fell from the peak this past season, won three divisional championships in five years and two world titles.

The major difference noted in their coaching of the Senior Bowl was that Brown devoted most of the early practice to individual tutoring of the players while Parker turned more to drills featuring team play.

Fullmer Decisions Rocky Castellani In Hard Bout

CLEVELAND (AP)—At last, a victorious fighter who doesn't want to take on the champion next!

Bravely, Gene Fullmer, winner of a split decision over Rocky Castellani last night in blood-splashed 10-rounder at Cleveland Arena, says he'd much prefer another crack at Argentina's Eduardo Lause to a middleweight title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson.

Fullmer dropped a decision to Lause last November.

"I just don't like to have someone running around who has beaten me, that's all," Fullmer declared in his dressing room after his bruising charges won the nod over Castellani's clever counterpunching. "I'll get to Robinson in time."

Last night's nationally televised bout left many of the 1,487 arena spectators as well as the judges, in disagreement as to which fighter should have won.

Castellani, despite blood streaming from a deep cut over his right eye at the sixth round on was fresh at the finish and appeared to have Fullmer in trouble the last two rounds.

Fullmer, however, was willing to take the best Castellani could offer. Bleeding himself from a gash across his hairline, he kept driving in to the end on legs that steadily lost steam after the eighth round.

Through most of the fight the pattern was the same—Fullmer charged, flailing with both arms; Castellani caught many of the blows on his gloves and elbows and countered with hooks and uppercuts.

Judge Herb Williams scored it 96-92 for Fullmer. Referee Lou Parker saw it 97-94 for Fullmer and Judge Charles Bill dissented with a 95-92 vote for Castellani. The AP card had it 97-93 for Castellani.

Fullmer, 24, of West Jordan, Utah, weighed 157½. Never knocked out the victory was his 34th in 37 professional fights.

Castellani, 29, of Cleveland, weighed 159. He was the third-ranked middleweight behind Robinson and former champion Bobo Olson and the defeat was his first in his last 10 fights.

Better Profits From Begging Than In Work

DALLAS (AP)—Bea Shaw, glamorous television actress of WFAA-TV, Dallas, used makeup and expert coiffing to transform herself into a greying, penniless woman.

Then she got a metal pan and began begging on a busy downtown corner. A hidden TV camera, watched while Miss Shaw tried to determine whether men or women are more responsive to a woman beggar.

Eleven men and two women contributed $2 which Miss Shaw turned over to charity.

"Two dollars every 20 minutes would be $48 for an eight-hour day," Miss Shaw said. "I think begging might pay better than television!"

Surprise: Only Wheel Wobbling

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Virginia Supreme Court says the "exercise of ordinary care and prudence" should be enough to keep a man from falling asleep. Accordingly, the court held that Army Sgt. Dorkin Riggins Jr. couldn't use sleep as a "tailor-made defense to negligence."

Riggins went to sleep while driving a military jeep on a road and hit a tree.

Dense Fog Over South England

LONDON (AP)—A dense fog blanketed southern England today, blacking out plane flights and badly snarling road and rail traffic.

About 2,000 travelers were stranded when more than 200 flights from London airport were canceled.

The thick pall in smoky London made breathing difficult and raised fears of another smog like the one which killed 4,000 asthmatics and other invalids here four years ago.

Visibility was zero in many parts of the fog belt and nowhere in London was it more than 30 yards. Automobile and bus traffic was disrupted all over southern England and shipping in the Thames was at a standstill.

Socrates, the great Athenian philosopher, wrote nothing. Our information about his personality and doctrine comes chiefly from the works of Plato and the "Memorabilia" of Xenophon.

...but it's the '56 Chevrolet!

THE NEW BEL AIR SPORT COUPE

Who wouldn't mistake this new Chevrolet for a high-priced car! It looks strictly "upper bracket" with its bold new Motorcraft styling... its longer, lower hood... its proud new full-width grille. But, even beyond the costly appearance of its beautiful Body by Fisher, Chevy gives the high-priced cars a run for their money. It brings you lightning acceleration for safer passing. Horsepower ranges up to 205! All engines now have hydraulic-hushed valve lifters. Besides, you get safety door latches in all models. You can also have seat belts, with or without shoulder harness, and instrument panel padding at extra cost. Come highway-test a Chevrolet!

A Doctor in the Family

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Each day must be faced anew, and each night taken up like a heavy and loathsome burden. By resolutely striking to her usual routine of duties Linda accomplished the day—and so a month was passed and gone. Thanksgiving came, and Christmas preparations must be begun and carried through, involving Linda in the ritual of the occasion as celebrated in the family. What with family members distant relatives, servants, the town, even in wartime a Thornton Christmas was a colossal undertaking.

Seretha, however, had time to attend to matters that seemed to her of first importance.

"I had Clew move your things into the green room," she had told Alan. "I'm afraid Linda is not well."

"She's unhappy," said her son. "And she's ill. But please, Ma'am, let us work things out."

"But, of course my dear. You know I want only the best for you."

He'd stood looking at her for a troubled minute, then had gone on his way, saying nothing more.

With Linda Ma'am found an early opportunity to urge again that she do "nothing foolish," take no step—until the holidays were over.

What answer she made—if she made any at all—Linda could not recall. She had just come downstairs, shaken by the discovery that all of Alan's possessions had been moved out of their room, even to his tube of toothpaste.

The empty closet gaped, the drawers of the highboy—it was a sensible thing for Alan to have done, perhaps, but it seemed very definite and final!

And now Ma'am—

She spoke as if she wanted the way left open for reconciliation—but really, Linda told herself, stomping her foot into her snow boot—really, it was Ma'am who had made a "thing" out of what could have been only a passing emotional flare-up.

She left herself out of the door and went across the "gallery" Jasper was coming in at the far circle of the drive, and he lifted his crop to her, Plume's neck arching his tail flowing like silver.

Linda was on her way to the hospital to confer with Miss Adamant about Christmas plans there—gifts for the personnel, "house" decorations, favors for the patients' trays on Christmas Day. She would walk—Linda had her own car, but she used it seldom.

Now, particularly, she liked getting out into the wintry air, on her feet, to walk briskly and try to think out the things that were troubling her.

Of course, thinking alone about her situation and Alan's brought her always up against blankness. That first night, Alan could have taken her down—and during the days since—but he made no move, said not one word. What was he thinking? What plans was he making?

She went into the warm hospital, conscious of its sounds and smells, its busyness at this time of the afternoon. Visiting hours, outpatients, the three o'clock shift-change.

She went directly to Miss Adamant's office, half hoping that a white-clad Alan would be sitting at his desk beyond the open door. He was not there, and within the first five minutes she heard his secretary say over the phone that Dr. Thornton was in surgery. "I'll take your message?"

Laura Adamant had been Alan's secretary since the hospital was built. About the same age as Linda, she was pretty; she dressed well and performed her multiple duties efficiently. She was also inclined to boss Alan, and tell about doing it. Alan hated this trait in her, but he was too gentle, or too busy, to express his resentment.

Others took Laura at her word, and were amused at the way she handled the doctor. They had, in the course of telling about his bossy secretary, built up a fiction in town that Laura was "soft" on the doctor, and that Doc somewhat returned the sentiment. All on the up and up of course.

Alan hated that situation, too. But Laura Adamant was a good medical secretary and hospital administrator, and as such would be hard to replace—and, anyway, doctors must constantly meet the occupational hazard of misunderstanding, talk and surmise.

Now Laura quickly got things lined up for Christmas, and asked Linda for a suggestion as to what the hospital should give its Chief as a gift.

"Goodness," laughed the doctor's wife, "you see more of him than I do. You should know what he'd like."

Laura's excited laughter and her quick blush made Linda regretfully aware that she had contributed to poor Alan's entanglement. The girl would quote her. Goodness, couldn't she do anything right these days?

Her own cheeks scarlet beneath her little fur cap she went on into the hall again, and was ready to push through the outer door when she heard her name called.

She turned.

It was Rupert Ernst, in a short leather jacket, a pointed-crowned green hat. "I'll walk along with you," he offered, pushing the door open for her.

When out for a walk, Linda had on a couple of previous occasions, met Rupert and permitted him to join her, talk to her. In her recent loneliness, she had found his company diverting, and now when he suggested that they walk a little way into the hills instead of going straight down the avenue to her home, she agreed.

"It's cold," she warned. "There isn't much snow but locally we say that such a day is colder than a well-digger's feet."

He laughed appreciatively, his teeth flashing, and they struck off across the snow-dusted field entered a small copse of cedars and came out again into the sunlight having climbed enough of the mountain-side by then to look down at the town.

They talked of the view, of a dozen things, none of them significant nor important—but in their talk the dark, slender doctor managed to be gallant, and so deeply attentive to his companion as to bring rosy color into her cheeks, and put a shine into her pretty eyes.

He mentioned their prettiness—he walked with her clear to the gates of the Green, and watched her face closely while she told him about the place's name.

"I like that," he said, his hand reaching for hers. "I like you." He lifted her hand to his lips, dropped it, turned on his heel and went off.

Linda went into the house and up to her room. She took off her outdoor wraps, sat down to smooth her hair, and leaned forward to gaze into the mirror. Her cheeks were pink, her eyes starry. She might have been sixteen all smiling and dreamy-eyed because some man had called her pretty.

Well, it was exciting, at any age, for a man to like to be with her, and to say so.

She leaned her chin upon her hand, and stared, dreamily, into the glass. What would it be like to be loved by a man like Rupert Ernst? His arms, his kiss—She wondered. . . . No! Obviously he was experienced with women. What difference did it make if he had loved other women? Why should one ask if he would be faithful? Rupert was a man for romance. For love as swift and as sweet as the evening moonlight glowing pink in the eastern sky, spreading into excitement and expectation, mounting into the full blaze of passion—and dimming into a tender memory.

She dropped her face into her hands, and sighed shudderingly. What was it she wanted? What

-and a figure you'll love

This new Buick SPECIAL 2-Door 6-Passenger Sedan delivers locally for less than some models of the well-known smaller cars. Come in and check!

If you think you can't afford a big-bodied, big-powered, big-muscled Buick like the one shown here—we'd like to set the matter straight.

If you can afford any new car, you can afford this strapping and stunning Buick SPECIAL Sedan—and no kidding.

For this Buick is tagged within a few dollars of the well-known smaller cars—and actually costs less than some models of those very same cars. The price we show here proves it.

So maybe you can understand why Buick—for two years running now—has outsold every other car in the land, except two of those well-known smaller cars.

But low price is just part of the picture.

Big reason for Buick's soaring sales sweep is that folks are finding here a lot more automobile for the money—more style boldness, more power thrill, more ride stability and more solid structure than the same dollars buy elsewhere.

Radio And TV Heading For Boom Year In 1956

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Our operatives have finally reported in after consulting the sibyls and soothsayers, the astrologers and assorted prophets on what to expect from television and radio in 1956.

The statisticians have projected their curves and see a boom business year for the industry. The figures to support this are very full and won't be mentioned here.

There will be an increased number of longer television programs, the two-hour program will be commonplace by the end of the year. The brief newscast, which reached an all-time high in radio in 1955, will be heard with even greater frequency in 1956.

In lighter hearted vein the astrologers see other things.

There will be about 2 new quiz programs on television. Of these, about 26 will imitate features of the couple of thousand now on the screen. One will be totally different—and may last three weeks or three years.

Arthur Godfrey will fire five more employees. Each firing will be attended with newspaper headlines. Every other producer in the business will fire many more employees than Godfrey—and no one will think of reporting it.

A total of 14,787 men and women are now working on program ideas which they are certain will be more popular than The $64,000 Question. Of these, 14,786 will flounder. One, marked by extraordinary simplicity, will succeed.

All the comedians in the business will at various times be assailed by the convicts—they're on the way out. Yet all but one will still be in business at the end of the year. This one will fade so slowly he won't even know it's happened. It really will be quite painful, sir.

At least one high-ranking official of one television network will transfer his allegiance to another television network. This will create a big stir in a small segment of New York and leave the rest of the country indifferent.

As the astrologers all agree, the only predictable thing about television in 1956 is that it's generally unpredictable.

Identify 'Bomb' As Heat Element

PITTSBURGH (AP)—After 24 hours of anxiety, Army bomb disposal officers have identified a small object found aboard a TWA passenger plane as a soldering iron heat element often used by airplane mechanics.

Lewis Rinebold, head of the Civil Aeronautics Authority here, said last night the object apparently was harmless unless it was set off and would require considerable force to do so. He said a mechanic probably dropped it after some repair work at Chicago before the two-engine plane took off Tuesday on a flight to Washington.

The plot discovered the object in the aisle of the plane and turned it over to a TWA representative at a stopover in Wheeling, W. Va. Finally an Army bomb disposal unit from Pittsburgh and the FBI joined the investigation of the possibility that sabotage was involved.

Rinebold said the heat element was a machined steel cylinder containing a small amount of magnesium and some chemical powder.

"It is incendiary only to a small degree," the CAA spokesman added. "It has a percussion cap, which when struck causes the rest of the element to give out quite a bit of heat for a few minutes. It is used inside the chamber of a soldering iron."

Caribbean War Games Scheduled

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—The first of the big Marine-Navy war games for 1956—Operation Lantiax 1-56—will open in the Caribbean later this month.

An advance party of Marines will sail from nearby Morehead City this weekend for the Isle of Vieques to establish a campsite and make other necessary arrangements for the thousands of Marines which will follow next week.

The advance party is under the command of Lt. Col. James B. Jacobson. The exercise is under the command of Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr. The purpose of the games is to coordinate air and ground units in amphibious operations. Marine planes and Navy ships will train at support tactics while Marine ground forces train ashore.

Navy ships and Marine planes will participate in a gunfire exercise in mid-February. In early March the games will reach their climax in an amphibious operation on the Isle of Vieques.

Navy ships participating in the games include 32 ships of the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force, the battleship USS Wisconsin, the aircraft carrier USS Siboney, the submarine USS Sea Lion and seven destroyers.

Businessmen And Employees Share Stake In Congress

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen and those who work for them—have about as much at stake as the politicians in the new session of Congress.

Most of the issues that will divide the politicians will touch closely on business.

Vital questions include: taxes, highway building, foreign aid, farm subsidies, labor and minimum wage laws, public housing, defense production, stock market, atomic and disaster insurance, social security extension, legislation on mergers and antitrust inquiries.

The list offers congressmen plenty of opportunity to get rid of any surplus the Treasury might build up through tax collections from prosperous citizens and corporations.

Few of the issues will find businessmen undivided any more than the politicians.

Most of the issues will have to be met square on by Congress because present legislation will expire this year.

Taxes are a prime example. On April 1, unless Congress acts, the rate on corporate income will drop to 47 per cent from 52 per cent, and the same day the excises on many goods will decline to lower rates. Businessmen generally resigned to quick action by Congress to keep these taxes from being eased much, if any. As individuals, however, businessmen like everyone else look for a cut in personal income taxes as an election year token.

On most other questions businessmen are pretty well split. Foreign aid is an example. Companies with connections or markets abroad are more likely to see good points about the administration's proposal for more spending than are business firms who are affected directly only by the chance more foreign aid would just mean more taxes.

Highway building programs will find business groups battling each other: over the amounts to be spent, how much by the federal and how much by the state governments, and how the money is to be raised.

Court Says Nap Is No Defense

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—While driving to town to report for work, Tulsa police detective Walter Turner noticed a wheel on the car ahead was badly out of line. He honked and waved at the woman motorist.

The elderly woman stopped, rolled down her car window and said: "Officer, please have mercy. I know I want to drive through the red light, but I've learned my lesson. Give me one more chance."

Turner tipped his hat politely and drove away.

Centenarian Is Traffic Victim

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—John Long, a retired farmer believed to be more than 100 years old, became Louisville's first 1956 traffic fatality yesterday.

Police said Long was hit by two cars while crossing a street. James W. Lucas, 26, was charged with manslaughter and reckless driving. Officers said Lucas' car knocked Long into the path of another car.

Mrs. Louise Head, a niece with whom Long lived, said he left Logan County, Ky. in 1953 and the way he talked he must have been over a hundred years old when he came here.

Ursula Thiess May Quit Career In Films

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ursula Thiess' latest movie may be her last.

The reason: she is also the wife of Robert Taylor and mother of his 6-month-old son Terence. And Papa says Mama should stay home.

Miss Thiess just finished "Bandido" with Robert Mitchum. She pronounces her name "Teece," but we might as well call her Mrs. Taylor because that's apparently who she's going to be.

It was a rugged picture. She had six hard weeks of locations in Mexico, working in 14 different sites. This kept her away from her family until just before Christmas. She has two other children—Manuela, 12½, and Michael, 10, by her first marriage to German film director George Hensch.

"Bob really suffered," she said. "I think I may never do another film. We're letting the baby's nurse go next month, so that will give you an indication.

"Actually, I didn't know what I was getting into. We made the deal over the telephone when I was on location with Bob on 'The Last Hunt.' My agent—or rather, my former agent, because I have let him go—called me about 'Bandido.' Bob approved it. But we didn't know it meant a long location."

"Now Bob says I'll be doing pictures only if it's something I really want to do, if he thinks it's worthwhile and if it doesn't involve a location."

She indicated that Bob has taken to the domestic life and has proved a good father to his brood.

"Bob thinks I spoil the children," she laughed, "and I'm afraid he's right. He was brought up more strictly than I was and he provides the discipline for the children."

Bird-Hater

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—A 14-year-old boy who said he hated birds was held for a mental examination after a third parakeet was found slain at a nearby elementary school.

One bird was drowned. The other two were decapitated.

The Fountain Dale Elementary School was broken into three times in two months. After each foray a parakeet was found dead. The last one was found yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Claude Cline said the boy told him he particularly hated parakeets, that something would "flip in my head" and he got the urge to kill birds.

Cline said the boy told him he "enjoyed" killing birds ever since he once killed some chickens for his mother. He said he once attended the school and knew it kept a parakeet.

Juvenile Court Magistrate Evan Croesley said he would seek a mental examination for the boy.

The most important localities where diamonds are found have been India, South Africa and South America.

Hot Money For Hot Tamales

DALLAS (AP)—H. E. Hughes told police that two men stopped his hot tamales cart last night, gave him a new bill for two dozen tamales and drove off.

He discovered too late the bill was a Mexican peso note, worth about 8 cents. Hughes said he's pretty hot about it.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alaska Democrats will hold a convention this weekend to pick the first delegates in either party to the presidential nominating conventions of 1956.

The territorial convention Jan. 7-8 will choose a six-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention starting in Chicago Aug. 13.

The first delegation to the Republican National Convention opening in San Francisco Aug. 20 will be completed in an Oklahoma convention set for Feb. 6.

The first delegate picking by the two parties will be in New Hampshire, March 13.

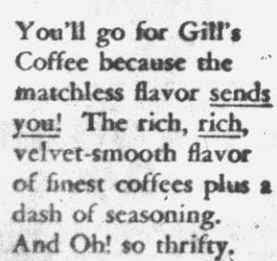

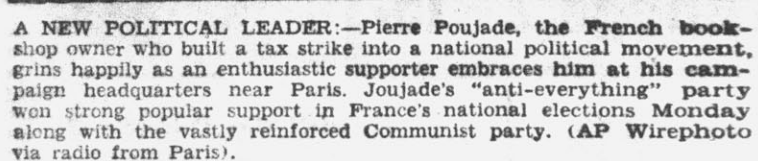

Alaska also holds its first presidential preference primary this year, on April 24, results will be advisory only.

Alaska Democrats sent an unsuccessful delegation to the 1952 Democratic National convention. The six votes on all three ballots were cast for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Kefauver supporters say they are considering entering the senator's name in the April 24 primary.

The Oklahoma Republican convention Feb. 6 will complete selection of 22 delegate to the GOP National Convention. There will be 10 delegates at large and 12 district delegates. Four years ago, Oklahoma Republicans split their national convention votes among President Eisenhower, Sen. Robert Taft, Sen. Philip and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Eighteen states, Alaska and the District of Columbia will hold two-party presidential primaries this year, three of the states, Indiana, Maryland and Montana, actually pick delegates in conventions as does Alaska. A 19th state, Alabama, holds a presidential primary only among Democrats.

The rest of the states choose their delegates by state and district conventions. A few select by party committees.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A court of honor has decided Chief of State Luis Batlle Berres doesn't have to fight a duel with publisher of Washington, Guadalupe, because of an editorial the President's paper wrote about the publisher.

Guadalupe's El Nacional accused the President of protecting private interests and serving as a financial editor for the editor of Batlle Berres' paper, Accion. Accion replied that the critics must be "low - minded" with "dirty souls." Then Guadalupe issued his challenge.

Dueling is legal in Uruguay only after a court of honor rules there is no other way of settling the dispute. The special tribunal decided Batlle Berres and Guadalupe had no cause for bloodletting.

BERLIN (A) — Casual travel by Americans into Communist East Berlin is being discouraged by U.S. authorities.

Soldiers are under new orders to notify their commanding officers if they plan to visit East Berlin. Visitors are informed that the U.S. command discourages visits to the Soviet sector except on regular guided tours conducted three times a week.

The move is designed to prevent incidents that might serve Communist propagandists. Two recent East Berlin encounters between U.S. servicemen and the Reds set off a flurry of attacks in the Communist press.

The Bataks of Sumatra base much of their economy on the palm tree. They make thatch from its fibers, liquor and sugar from its juice, brooms from its stems and ax handles from its branches.

County, dated December 1, 1955 and maturing annually, June 1, $8,000 1957 to 1959, and $12,000 1960 to 1982, all inclusive, without option of prior payment.

and semi-annual interest (J and D 1) payable in legal tender in New York City or Greenville, North Carolina, at holder's option; coupon bonds not registerable; delivery on or about February 9, 1956 at place

The bonds will be payable from an unlimited tax to be levied upon all taxable property in the Ayden School District of Pitt County. The bonds were authorized at an election

TAIPEI. Formosa (AP)—The U.S. Navy has extended its study of infectious diseases to Formosa. A research unit will study the d sects that carry the germs.

There are similar research groups at Cairo, Egypt, Berkeley groups at Cairo, Egypt, Berkeley, Calif., and Great Lakes, Ill. Such studies are expensive but, as the Navy has learned, cheap in the long run.

In World War II, for example, elephantiasis in Samoa caused the equivalent of a marine battalion to become ineffective for four years at a total estimated cost to the U.S. government of 50 million dollars.

Red Expedition Sees Antarctic

LONDON (A)—Moscow Radio reported today that the leading ship of the Soviet Union's expedition to the South Polar regions had sighted the Antarctic continent.

The Soviet expedition is one of a number from various countries preparing Antarctic bases for scientific observations during the 1957-58 International Geophysical Year. A U.S. Navy force already has established bases at McMurdo Sound and on the Ross Sea ice shelf.

LONDON (AP)—The Rt. Rev. A. Michael Ramsey, Bishop of Durham since 1962, today was Queen Elizabeth appointed 51-year-old bishop as second ranking prelate of the Church of England to succeed the late Dr. Cyril Garbett, who died Saturday.

324 Evans Street — Dial 3224.
A. C. Tadlock, Executive Vice Pres. & Secretary
Listen to Joe Overman "The Weather Man"
Every Day at 7:35 A. M.

Bidders are requested to name the interest rate or rates, not exceeding 6% per annum, in multiples of one-fourth of one per cent. Each bid may name one rate for part of the bonds (having the earliest maturities) and another rate or rates for the balance, but no bid may name more than six rates, and each bidder must specify in his bid the amount of bonds of each rate. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest interest cost to the District, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds until their respective maturities. No bid of less than par and accrued interest will be entertained.

Each bid must be on a form to be furnished with additional information by the undersigned, enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Bonds," and must be accompanied by a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company, payable unconditionally to the order of the State Treasurer of North Carolina for $6,000.

The approving opinion of Mitchell, Pershing, Shetterly & Mitchell, New York City, will be furnished without cost to the purchaser. There will also be furnished the usual closing papers, including a certificate stating that there is no litigation pending affecting the validity of the bonds.

The right to reject all bids is reserved.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made a moderate recovery by early afternoon today of the moderate losses of the two previous sessions.

The rise carried prices up 1 to 3 points at the close. There were scattered losses running to around a point.

Trading was at a good pace around 2 1/2 million shares for the day. That was better than the totals Tuesday and Wednesday when the market was declining. Yesterday's volume was 2,290,000 shares.

The best progress was made by oils, aircrafts and steels and also higher were the radio-televisions, electrical equipments, railroads, coppers and utilities.

There was no immediate reaction to the President's State of the Union message to Congress in which he promised a balanced budget but a definite tax cuts.

Trading slowed at the time the President's message was released, and a few small losses flicked the list.

Among higher stocks were Southern Railway, Houston Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Hiram Walker, American Telephone, American Cyanamid, General Electric, Zenith Radio, North American Aviation, Chrysler, U.S. Steel, and West Kentucky Coal.

General Motors was yesterday's most active issue off 1/4 and started on 4,500 shares off 1/4 at 44 1/2. It continued quite active over a narrow range that included both small gains and losses. At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents at $179.10. It lost 80 cents yesterday and 90 cents the day before.

New Town Clerk Sworn In Grifton

GRIFTON—Mrs. Ona M. Gilland was sworn in as town clerk by the Grifton Board of Commissioners when they held their first meeting of the new year Tuesday night. Mrs. Gilland succeeds Mrs. Frances Riley who resigned in December. The commissioners decided that W. C. Chauncey, S. E. Nelson, Craven Hughes and Kenneth Taiton are not entitled for refund for sewer fund on Church and St. Joseph streets.

Commissioner Jim Rooley moved that the clerk of Recorder's Court salary be raised to $80 a month, retroactive to December 1, 1955, and Commissioner Bill Mahler moved that R. B. Mewborn be paid a bill for $61.92 for tax listing. Both motions were carried by unanimous vote.

Balanced Budget .

In order to increase international "understanding of the truth about America."

On the home front, Eisenhower as expected asked Congress again to extend the Defense Production Act. He also renewed a request for legislation giving better medical care to dependents of those in the armed services, together with a "more equitable" survivors' benefit program.

He also asked for recommendations for medical and dental officers and nurses and increases in the proportion of regular officers, will be submitted later. The President touched on these other main topics:

RESOURCES CONSERVATION — He said a "comprehensive" water conservation program will be submitted to Congress at this session, and he asked speedy action on such programs as the Colorado River storage project and the Frying Pan-Arkansas project.

DISASTER ASSISTANCE — He said an experimental program of federal flood damage insurance should be started, and that he would offer detailed recommendations later.

AREA REDEVELOPMENT — He said he will submit later a program of federal technical and loan assistance to communities for redeveloping chronic unemployment areas.

SOCIAL WELFARE — He proposed extending old age and survivors' insurance programs to additional workers; increased child welfare services; and a considerably increased amount of federal aid to medical research. He said, too, provision should be made "by federal reinsurance or otherwise" for extending voluntary health insurance coverage — particularly among older persons and those in rural areas.

LABOR MANAGEMENT — He said he will propose legislation to "The Feast of Lights" will be celebrated tonight at St. Paul's Episcopal Church beginning at 8 o'clock.

A pageant, entitled "The Nations Shall Come to Thy Light" will be presented by some 40 young people of the church.

The Feast of Lights is always celebrated on Epiphany, which means manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles. It is based upon the story of the wise men.

The pageant was written by the Youth Division of the National Council of the Episcopal Church and will be presented by Young Churchmen in hundreds of churches in the country this year. The Young Churchmen is an organization of high school age youth, who are led in St. Paul's church by Mrs. P. W. Picklesimer and Miss Frances Lamb.

Assisting this group in the presentation of the pageant will be a group of Greenville High School singers under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler.

At the close of the pageant the angels in the drama will bring lights from the altar to light the candle of the people in the nave, and the procession of the lights will begin.

The benediction will be given to the people by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Wallace I. Wolverton, from the steps of the church, and all the worshippers will carry their lighted candles to their homes.

December became the "month of brides" in Pitt County this year as more marriage licenses were issued during that month than in June.

The Register of Deeds office reports that 68 marriage licenses were issued in December while 64 were issued in June. In 1954 53 licenses were issued in December.

Last week 20 couples applied for marriage certificates, ten of them on December 27. Licenses were issued to the following: White: Norman Heath and Eula Oakley, both of Greenville; Harry Russell Ross and Barbara Ann Bradshaw, both of Ayden; Henry James and Jean Robinson, both of Farmville; Alvis Earl Harris, Grifton; and Jean Manning, Ayden. Melvin E. Hathaway and Nancy Baker, both of Greenville; Clinton A. Cannon, Ayden Rt. 1, and Mary Frances Bryan, Ayden Rt. 3.

Negro: Linwood Barnhill, Bethel, and Dorothy Fleming, Pactivol; David Dixon Jr. and Eva Mae Spencer, both of Bell Arthur; Joe Stokes and Josephine Clemmings, both of Greenville; James Earl Jones, Ayden, and Mary Blanche Jackson, Farmville.

Four men were sent to Raleigh for induction yesterday by the local Selective Service office.

The volunteers were Franklin Alford, Alex Carr Jr., Harry Russell Ross and Ralph Briley Worthington.

No other calls have been scheduled yet for this month, an official reported.

assure "adequate disclosure of the financial affairs of each employee position and welfare plan and to afford substantial protection to their beneficiaries."

He also called anew for broadening of minimum wage law coverage and for strengthening eight-hour laws for workers subject to federal wage standards on federal and federally assisted construction and other public works.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Eisenhower today welcomed President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil, to the United States. They spent 30 minutes together at a breakfast meeting.

Kubitschek flew to Eisenhower's vacation headquarters as the first stop on a trip that takes him on to Washington and New York.

The Brazilian leader's plane landed at Boca Chica airport at 7:43 a.m., about half an hour behind schedule. He was driven immediately to Eisenhower's quarters where the President was waiting.

They shook hands warmly and Kubitschek apologized for being late. Several other guests were at the breakfast, including the President's brother, Milton; diplomatic representatives; and Gen. Alfred Gruenther, NATO commander who is visiting the President.

Train Smashes Into Landslide

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A speeding Union Pacific freight train smashed into a landslide in the Columbia gorge last night, tossing five boxcars from the rails. No one was injured.

Engineer Leo Tracy said the big seven-unit diesel engine cut through the slide and traveled half a mile before coming to a stop. He said he didn't see the slide, which had been loosened by heavy rains the past two days, until "we were right on top of it."

The huge slide was near Multnomah, about 30 miles east of here

Five Guardsmen Win Promotions

Promotions for five members of Service Battery, 288th Field Artillery Battalion, of Greenville's National Guard were announced today by 1st Lt. Hubert McGee, Jr., commanding officer.

Those promoted are, from Sgt. to Sgt. First Class, Delton E. Perry, of Bethel; pl. to Sgt. Billy H. Wilson, of Greenville; from Pl. to Spec. Third Class, James W. Fluke of Greenville; from Pvt. to Pl. Edward M. Foley, of Greenville and from Pvt. to Pl. Daniel W. Byrum, of Greenville.

In addition, McGee also announced that three unit members, James Cecil Spear, of Ayden; Bobby Wilson, of Winterville and Edward Cox, of Greenville, will leave Sunday for eight weeks of basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. They will return home following the training.

The three requested the training, McGee said, and will do so under a new program recently authorized by the Army.

Service Battery meets Monday nights from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Young men from 17 to 18 1/2 years old are particularly urged to attend, McGee said.
