

Soil Bank Plan Part Of 9-Point Farm Program Offered Congress

By OVID A. MARTIN Associated Press Farm Reporter WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today to vote a soil bank plan to help use up the present towering surplus of farm products as part of a nine-point program to ease the plight of farmers.

who helped cut back production would be offered government surpluses as compensation. The program lays much of its immediate emphasis on the soil bank or "acreage reserve" plan under which farmers would be encouraged — but not compelled — to reduce plantings until surpluses are trimmed and markets grow enough to buy agriculture's productive capacity.

ing a dollar limit on the amount of price support aid that could be given to a single farm. 4. A speed-up of the rural development program for low-income farmers first suggested by the administration last year. 5. Greater aid to stabilize farming in the drought-plagued Great Plains.

must be relieved." As he has before Eisenhower blamed continuation of "wartime production incentives" too far into the postwar period as the major factor in the problem of surpluses and declining prices. He said: "The attack on the surplus must go forward in full recognition of the fact that farm products are not actually marketed when delivered to and held by the government. A government warehouse is not a market. Even the most stable commodity cannot be added forever to government granaries, nor can they be indefinitely held. Ultimately the stockpiles must be used."

pronged attack. The first phase would be designed to meet the "immediate need to reduce the crops in reserve supply" by an acreage reserve program. Under this program farmers would be encouraged to plant less than their regular acreage allotments through the offer of government surplus stocks as an incentive payment. Eisenhower emphasized, however, that this program is not proposed as a device to empty government warehouses so that they might be filled again.

Assumes 'Full Duties,' Big Question Unanswered Eisenhower Yet Undecided

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower settles down today to "the full duties of the presidency" after assuring his supporters that he has made no final decision on whether to retire a year from now.

He said the matter requires much study and that "naturally" he would want to confer with some of his most trusted advisers before making up his mind. He has not done that as yet to any extent, he said and his advisers have not wanted to bother him about it.

announcement could be expected early in March, as he indicated in March of last year. "I don't think we have to go by that exact date," he said with a grin. Reporters understood him to add that "maybe we can go faster and maybe we can go past it"—an early March date. But the White House stenographer's version was: "Maybe we can go past it—never tell."

Virginians Troop To Polls In Major Amendment Vote

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginians voted today on a proposal which would clear the way for granting public funds to send children to private schools. The proposal is designed as an avenue of escape from the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Ranged in favor of the plan were a formidable majority of state legislators, both Democratic and Republican, including U.S. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), Gov. Stanley and three former governors—John S. Battle, Colgate Darden Jr. and Rep. Tuck (D-Va.).

Young Driver Arrested After Long, Wild Chase

A 19-year old Washington youth was jailed here last night on charges of racing, speeding in excess of 90 miles per hour, reckless driving and failure to stop for a stop sign.

During the chase, Surles said, Arnold passed another car on a blind curve at close to 80 miles per hour on the dirt road and, later, tore down a mail box and a hedge in the yard of 1402 N. Pitt Street.

Another Charge Facing Two Men Two Simpson section men, arrested last week on charges of theft of copper tubing from tobacco bank oil tank, face an additional charge today.

Stevenson Sees 'Political Tone' In Annual Message

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says the nation's relationships with other countries have "never been more perilous than now" and that he can't understand why President Eisenhower pictured them otherwise.

Stevenson tossed new criticism at the President's State of the Union message in a television interview on CBS Face the Nation yesterday.

Six In Hospital, Six In Jail After Soldiers Brawl

RALEIGH (AP)—A brawl among three car loads of Ft. Bragg soldiers near Piquay Springs yesterday landed six of the men in the Wake County jail. Five others received hospital treatment.

Big Store Guttled By Stubborn Weekend Blaze Fire Loss For Washington

WASHINGTON, N.C. — A stubborn fire roared through a store in the heart of the business district here Saturday night leaving damage estimated at $300,000. Ten of the more than 100 firemen who joined in fighting the blaze were overcome by smoke and fumes.

The flames gutted the two-story McLellan's store on Main St. In addition to the variety store, the building housed the dental office of Dr. J. F. Duke. The adjacent, Maude's Beauty Shop was also destroyed by the fire and the American Barber Shop and Bell Jewelry Co. were damaged by smoke and water.

Thousands of individuals gathered in downtown Washington to view the burning building during the evening and at one time the crowds so hampered fire fighters that special announcements were made over Washington radio and television stations requesting sight-seers to remain away from the fire area.

Questionnaires were sent to the 444 doctors certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine as heart specialists. Of this number 275 or about 62 per cent replied. Twenty-nine of these did not give direct answers. The two questions asked and the replies as given by the magazine:

Presumably most if not all of the replies received were in the mail before the AMA Journal appeared. The magazine said it published the results of the poll, along with the comments of all the physicians who responded, as a public service. In defense of the basis for the survey, it noted there had been widespread publication of technical data on the President's Sept. 24 heart attack, including the extent of damage, blood pressure pulse rate and electrocardiograph readings.

U. S. News and World Report said the difference of opinion as to Eisenhower's fitness to undertake a second term "indicates that his own doctors may not give Mr. Eisenhower a clear-cut answer as to whether he should or should not campaign."

Four of the men were carried to the Ft. Bragg military hospital where they were treated and released. Cause of the fight was not determined. Apparently two cars containing seven paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division were parked near the entrance of the hospital here.

One witness said the building collapsed "like a punctured balloon." The shocks, first major Mexican quakes in two years, were felt over a wide area of southern Mexico. In Mexico City, the capital 195 miles north of Acapulco, skyscrapers swayed.

Stevenson, who lost the 1952 election to Eisenhower and now is a candidate for president, said it appears to be the case that the United States has lost its military lead to Soviet Russia. He said Eisenhower's description of conditions abroad and American defenses in his message Thursday to Congress pictured them "in a happy state." Stevenson said this "seemed to me very misleading." "From Iceland to Japan, we have never been in more peril," he said.

They were the first jet bombers to arrive in FEAF's major modernization from B2F propeller-driven planes to the swifter and deadlier jets.

All-Purpose Spring Costume For U. S. Women This Year

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—The favorite spring outfit of the American woman in 1956 is an all-purpose costume which adapts itself to the mood of the moment and the etiquette of the hour by adding or subtracting a jacket or coat.
Some 200 fashion editors representing newspapers throughout the United States and a number of foreign countries assembled in New York today for a preview of spring styles which will show up in shops across the country in time for Easter shopping.
It is apparent that the silhouette for spring is slimmer and straighter than ever, that fabrics are lighter in weight and more varied in texture, and that the multipurpose costume is the all-time favorite.
Spring suits become afternoon or cocktail dresses merely by the removal of a jacket. Slim sheath town dresses become festive enough for after dark by the addition of a colorful obi sash or an apron overskirt, plus discreet changes of jewelry.
A new note in the suit lineup is the "peel bolero"—you peel it off and have a soignée dress or dressy bolero blouse and high-riding skirt beneath. These double bolero suits illustrate the newest lines of the season.
Skirts are strictly straight and narrow, and come to just below the bust, fitting the midriff smoothly and (it is earnestly hoped) revealing no bulges. Often these high-minded skirts are attached to a bodice. A matching brief bolero curves over the bustline, and when it is removed reveals a second bolero blouse, often in white linen or a contrasting color, making a dressy costume for the suit.
Sometimes the costume consists of sheath dress and bolero, the dress likely to have short sleeves and low décolletage, to give it parity with the bolero when worn without the jacket.
Although the daytime line is uncompromisingly slim, designers have found ways to add softness and movement to the silhouette through use of floating panels, low-placed back flares and drapery that dramatizes the figure but does not interfere with the sheath line.
There is much back talk in the spring collections, with back belts that may be anywhere from the shoulder blades to the hips, back-buttoned suits, necklines tilting backward, sometimes with floating back bows or drapery.
For after 5 wear, there are more full skirts shown, and even some petticoats for those women who love the frothy bouffant look in party clothes. There also are more full-length evening gowns than formerly, in keeping with the new trend toward formality and elegance.

30 Years Ago Today

January 9, 1926

The Epiphany service held at St. Paul's Church last night was a complete success, according to the report of the crowded congregation. After the evening prayer and an appropriate sermon by the Rev. Rector, the candles were distributed to the congregation and three beautifully robed and crowned kings, representing the "Three Wise Men," slowly marched up the aisle of the church singing the old carol "We Three Kings of Orient Are." All lights were extinguished save one small candle on the altar. The Rector lit from the altar light a candle for each of the Wise Men and they in turn kindled the candles of those seated at the end of the pews. Everyone lit his neighbor's candle and in the subdued light of these candles the final hymn was sung and the choir, the three kings and Rector passed down the aisle followed by the congregation, everyone bearing his little light out into the darkness of night. It was a beautiful symbol of the spiritual truth that every Christian comes to the altar of Christ for his light and must carry it out into the world of sin and sorrow.

With the narrow line of daytime fashions, hats again are important, with the bulkier silhouette firmly entrenched. Big picture hats will be seen all over the place next summer, it appears from advance showings, and accessories also acquire more importance in the head-to-toe picture. Big handbags, dramatic jewelry, small contoured furs hugging the shoulders, bold bracelets, carefully coordinated gloves—all these are important in the spring picture.
Fabrics are more beautiful and more varied than ever, with the accent on lightweight costumes that can do duty in warm weather. There are many blends of silk and wool, silk and cotton, silk and linen, cotton and nylon or dacron. Dark tones still are favored for town wear, with brown running a close race with navy for the popularity prize. But for afternoon and evening wear, color runs rampant, and the well-dressed Jill may be as vivid as she likes.

$28 Millions In Primary Roads For N. C. System

RALEIGH (AP)—More than 28 million dollars in primary highway road contracts were completed last year, exclusive of land costs, according to the Highway Commission.

The contracts involved 804 miles of primary road construction or major reconstruction.

Projects under way at the end of the year, said the commission in a year-end report released over the weekend, had an aggregate value of more than 36 million dollars.

At present 100 miles of four-lane highways are in the construction stage.

Looking far into 1956, the report said one of the "most colorful improvements expected to be started... is the construction of 11 miles of asphaltic pavement on Ocracoke Island. The Outer Bank Island's only hard surfaced road at present consists of a few short stretches of 10-foot-wide pavement.

The report, compiled by Statistics Engineer James S. Burch, listed 26 outstanding primary highway projects completed during the past year, 59 projects of major importance at the end of the year, and 56 which "represent some of the needs, the fulfillment of which probably will be undertaken during 1956."

The most outstanding group of projects opened to traffic last year, the report said, made available a new expressway section of U.S. major current primary highway 70-29 between Hillsboro and Salisbury, bypassing Efland, Mebane, Haw River, Graham, Burlington, Whitesitt, Greensboro, Jamestown, High Point, Thomasville, and Lexington.

The 80-mile expressway section is the longest of its kind in the South. With the opening of a new section of the Durham bypass early this year, this stretch of highway will be extended to Raleigh, or a continuous length of 118 miles.

December Report For Fire Dept.

Greenville firemen answered nine box alarm calls to fires during December, Fire Chief Gardner's monthly report showed.

In addition the department answered 23 telephone calls to fires and ten calls to blazes out side the city limits. Firemen stood by while four lots were burned off last month and answered 15 rescue calls.

The volunteer firemen's payroll last month came to $100. The volunteer payroll for the year now stands at $426.

December Saw 32 Accidents In City's Traffic

Thirty-two traffic accidents occurred in Greenville during December, the monthly traffic summary released yesterday by Chief of Police S.G. Gibbs revealed.

At least 11 persons were injured, though none were killed, and damage to property was estimated at $15,265.

Sixteen arrests were made in connection with the accidents. Friday again proved to be the most dangerous of days to drive. Ten wrecks were reported on Friday in December with six occurring on Saturdays, five on Sundays and Wednesdays and two each on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Forty-eight of the drivers involved were men and 13 women.

Last Rites Held For Walter Wilson Today

Mr. Walter L. Wilson, 61, died in St. Luke's Hospital in New Bern at 8:50 o'clock Saturday night following several weeks of illness.

Funeral services were conducted at Juniper Chapel Free Will Baptist Church near Vanceboro at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon by the Rev. John Grimsley, Free Will Baptist Minister of Bridgeton, assisted by the Rev. Henry Armstrong, Free Will Baptist Minister of Chocowinity. Burial was in the Churchyard. Military honors were accorded by the Donaldson-Hawkins American Legion Post, No. 24, of New Bern.

Mr. Wilson, son of the late Tom and Alvina Morris Wilson, spent nearly all his life in the Vanceboro Community. He served in the United States Navy in World War I. He was a mechanic and operated a shop in Vanceboro. He was a member of the Juniper Chapel Free Will Baptist Church and a former teacher in the Sunday School. He was also a member of the New Bern Post of the American Legion and the Forty and Eight.

Surviving are his wife, the former Reba Sutton of Vanceboro, to whom he was married in 1916; a son, Floyd L. Wilson of Vanceboro; a daughter, Mrs. Albert J. Novak; of Baltimore, Md.; 3 grandchildren; two sisters Mrs. James W. Wilson of New Bern and Mrs. Zeb Carawan of Vanceboro; and four brothers: Tommie, Leon and Marcellus Wilson of Vanceboro, and Jather Wilson of Swansboro.

Methodist Circles Meet In Bethel For Their Regular Sessions

BETHEL—Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Leighton Blount Jr. with 13 members present.

The devotion was given by the Spiritual Life Leader, Mrs. R. L. Goodall. She chose as her scripture Psalm 19. The theme of her discussion was "Taking Inventory." Her closing prayer was "For Guidance in the New Year."

The program was turned over to Mrs. Robert Davis. Her thoughts were taken from the study book "Within Two Worlds." She talked about the early missionaries and their work and results with the American Indians and Eskimos. She brought out the need for missions and the necessity of continuing their work.

The benediction was repeated in unison. During the social hour, fruit cake, nuts and coffee were enjoyed.

Mrs. J. D. Hemingway and Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst were co-hostesses to members of the Sarah Whitehurst Circle in the home of the former. Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst presided due to the absence of the president.

Mrs. Whitehurst, Spiritual Life Leader, took her devotion from "The Advocate." Her topic was "Make the Most of Your Time" during work, play and worship. Her remarks were closed with a prayer.

Mrs. Whitehurst was also in charge of the program. She discussed the last two chapters of the study book, "Within Two Worlds." She described the trials of yesterday and tomorrow of the American Indians.

Thirteen members answered roll call. Mrs. Grover Whitehurst read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Frank Butler, daughter of the late Mrs. John Lindsay.

The benediction was pronounced. The hostess served a sweet course with coffee.

The Marion Burton Circle held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night. The hostess was Mrs. L. L. Andrews Jr.

Mrs. Sam Keel gave a most interesting and informative program from the study book, "Within Two Worlds."

Mrs. D. E. Perry presided over the meeting in absence of the leader. Mrs. Andrews, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting.

After the benediction, apple pie a la mode and coffee was served.

Eleven members met in the home of Mrs. Ralph Highsmith for the meeting of the Mary Lambeth Circle. The Spiritual Life Leader, Mrs. Clara W. Roberson, read a few verses of scripture and related some resolutions for the coming year.

Mrs. S. D. Dewar gave an interesting discussion from the study book by David M. Cory. The American Indians and the progress of the church was told.

During the short business session, Mrs. R. E. Riddick presided. Harold Manning read the minutes and called the roll. A menu for the Men's Supper was discussed. The benediction was then pronounced.

A salad course was served. The Sallie Tucker Circle of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist Church met on Friday night with Mrs. Ed Hemingway. The president, Mrs. Burton Ayres, called the meeting to order.

Changes Noted On Returning To School

By ANNE HARRIS
Belvoir-Falkland School
The agony of returning to classrooms on January 4 was somewhat reduced by our enthusiastic exchange of greetings and "What did you get for Christmas?" Popular gifts on Santa's list for the girls were cashmere sweaters, diamonds, luggage, cedar chests, and for the boys, more sweaters, shirts, cigarette lighters, and silver identification bracelets.

Also on our arrival at school, we noticed that many of our former students were absent — our loss and another school's gain. But to encourage us a bit, there were other faces to replace those lost ones. The new high school students included: ninth grade — Alice Laughinghouse from Winterville, Janice Hodges from Grimesland, and Jean Smith from Bethel; tenth grade — Faye Corbett from Farmville; eleventh grade — Mary Laughinghouse from Winterville.

The Juniors have received the big keepsake of their high school days. You guessed it! Class rings have arrived; These rings are beautifully mounted on an oval ruby setting with a gold crescent.

On December 24, a Christmas Eve dance was given for the young people in the Falkland community building. Festive and the room. Not only was there dancing, but delicious refreshments were served.

This affair was followed on December 30, with a senior class holiday party, also held in the Falkland community building. Gay decorations of candles, mistletoe, and holly added to the festivities. The party was given by the senior class grade-mothers.

The publication of our '56 year-book was brought closer to reality on Friday of last week when group and club pictures were made. Our editor, Barbara Jenkins, has promised delivery of our annuals by April.

Funeral Tuesday For Mrs. Luther Tyson
Mrs. Clara Tyson, 66, wife of Luther Tyson, died suddenly at her home in Farmville at 12 noon Sunday following a heart attack.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. D. W. Alexander, Free Will Baptist Minister of Bethel, and burial will be in Forrest Hills Cemetery in Farmville.

Mrs. Tyson was born and reared in Green County and had been living in Farmville for the past 20 years. She was a member of Friendship Free Will Baptist Church near Farmville.

Surviving are her husband; and a sister, Mrs. Ida Tyson of Mount Olive.

New Departure In Church Rules

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Congregational-Christian Church, which has already made one radical departure from its "congregation" principle to carry out a nationwide church-extension program, appeared likely today to make a second break and set up a centralized fund-raising system for church-affiliated colleges.

The church is built on completely independent congregations, with no national organization. A group of "home boards" in New York exercises only a sort of clearing house function.

Faced with a financial emergency, the Congregational-Christian College Council, meeting here this week, has appealed to the home boards for support.

"This would be a departure from the congregational principle," Dr. Leon E. Smith, president of Elon College, N.C., and president of the council, said in an interview.

"However, we believe our church members will see the necessity for it and believe there is a very good prospect the home boards will take action."

The denomination has just completed a combined 4 1/2-million-dollar campaign to extend the work of the church in the United States.

"We feel that an over-all effort to support our colleges would be just as appropriate. Smith said. Dr. Howard E. Spragg, representing the church's Board of Home Missions, lent encouragement to the college leaders in remarks prepared for the council meeting.

"If these schools are not enabled to take on some additional students," he said, "their role will be reduced to insignificance. Fortunately our churches are beginning to become aware of their missionary obligations to these schools."

Police Arrested 183 Persons In December Here

Some 183 persons ran afoul of the law in Greenville during December and were arrested, City Police Chief S.G. Gibbs reported today.

Sixty of those arrested were white men and 104 Negro men. Of the 19 women arrested, 10 were white and nine Negro.

The report also shows that 194 cases were made known to police and 94 per cent of these cases were cleared by arrest.

The city's four police cars and one motorcycle were driven 14,488 miles during December.

A break-down of major cases investigated by the department last month shows one murder, seven aggravated assaults, two burglary and or breaking and entering, six larceny and two auto theft.

Another Chance For Eastern N. C.

The forthcoming meeting of the commerce and industry committee of the State Department of Conservation and Development will be of great importance to Pitt and surrounding counties of Eastern North Carolina.

For its meeting which has been slated in Farmville the Committee has invited representatives from Farmville, Greenville, Tarboro, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Kinston and Goldsboro to discuss the matter of a joint airport for this section.

A few months ago the committee endorsed efforts to establish a joint airport for this section, pointing out that such a facility is a necessity to spur the industrial development of this section. With the State Department of Conservation and Development as a party to the development of such a facility, its chances for success are much greater than was the case a couple of years ago when several cities and counties in this area banded together and attempted the establishment of such an airport on their own hook.

The previous attempt failed because at least two county governments failed to come through with the necessary financial support after joining in the project.

While the interest of this major state agency will be a great aid in the establishment of a joint airport, the major portion of responsibility for the facility will rest with the local government units. In this case it will be the several municipalities which join in the project. Prior to the meeting called by the committee of the Department of Conservation and Development, the individual municipalities invited to the meeting should determine by self-examination just how far they are willing to go in giving financial support to the facility. It will take money to build the airport, and while it is reasonable to expect that some federal aid will be obtained, the local government units will have to share in the cost. That business of sharing the cost of the project proved the downfall of the previous attempt at establishing a joint airport. It should not prove a stumbling block again with the facility is within reach.

This eastern section of the state needs a major airport facility if its industrial development is to realize its potential. The only practical way for this facility to be established and adequate air service to be obtained is through a joint effort such as the one which failed and the one which is now proposed by the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Greenville, Farmville and other municipalities involved should stand ready to do everything in their power to assure that this time the effort to establish a joint airport will be culminated by success rather than failure. It is of utmost importance to the municipalities individually and this section of the state as a whole.

It Sounds As Though Eisenhower Reluctant

Republicans who have been cock sure that President Eisenhower is going to seek a second term are eating a lot of words today following his announcement yesterday in which he said he has not made up his mind.

The President's statement at a hastily called news conference—his first since last August—was a definite blow to GOP leaders who for the past month have carried on an intensive campaign to boost Mr. Eisenhower's candidacy. Although the President did not say in his statement he would not seek a second term, the fact that he said he had not made up his mind to run lends more support to the predictions that he will not seek a second term in the man-killing job.

The statement, as we see it, will cause a split in the GOP ranks as other potential candidates take the statement by the President as a go-ahead signal for their own campaigns. It has been apparent for some time that the Republican party would be desperate for a first line candidate to head the ticket if the President decided not to run. That factor, to a large degree, is responsible for the undue optimism on the part of Republican leaders over the possibility of Mr. Eisenhower seeking a second term. There is, of course, still a possibility that the President may seek a second term. But we contend, as we have since September, that it is merely a possibility rather than a probability.

Yesterday's announcement by the President will have its repercussions in Congress as well as on other political scenes. The Republican party which was split by factions in 1952 is still split by factions. As each of these factions now seek to boost one man for the presidential nomination, the intra-party split will become more pronounced. The situation will make rough sledding for the program the administration presents to Congress in this session. The Democrats in this election year, will be all out to push their own program through Congress, and with the Republicans split, the administration's program can hardly expect a great deal of support even from GOP members in Congress.

The President's statement, as we see it, puts him farther from a second term candidacy than his previous silence on the matter had.

By LYNN NISBET

INDUSTRY — Tourism and travel constitute a major source of income for North Carolina, the public treasury as well as the bank accounts of caterers. Because it puts into circulation some $350 million a year travel has been called the state's third major "cash crop," outranked only by agriculture and manufacturing. That ranking would seem to justify the attention accorded tourist and travel promotion by the Department of Conservation and Development.

The concept of travel as a major source of both public and private income is relatively new. It is still difficult for most people to understand that tourism is a highly important "industry." At every meeting of the C&D committee on advertising and public relations your reporter has attended in recent years there is argument over the proper allocation of advertising money between "industrial" and "tourist" appeals.

Presently, and for a long time except for one six month period about two years ago the division has been in the ratio of 60 per cent, tourist, 40 per cent industrial, for direct mail, magazine, newspaper radio and TV advertising. When all factors of promotion are counted including the personal salesmen for industrial activities, the ratio of total spending is almost reversed—60 per cent for industry, 40 per cent for travel.

The terms are misnomers, and distribution of the meager funds available should not be divided on any such basis. Every dollar should be spent for promoting the development of North Carolina, in whatever particular way the exigencies of conditions indicate best profit yield. Actually, of course, tourism is much an "industry" as processing, and operation of a fishing boat or a motel is as much a business as the operation of a factory making soap or barrel staves or clothes pine or cigarettes. If there is to be breakdown division it should be on basis of more brackets—fishing, manufacturing, processing, recreation, travel, etc.

BUSINESS — For most people fishing is a recreational sport. For several thousand North Carolinians fishing is the source of livelihood just as much a business as farming or manning a factory machine. The run of nine citizen goes to the theatre; for entertainment but there is none of the same kind of entertainment for the folks who operate the show houses. It is serious business with them, "industry" if you please.

C&D folks are manifesting clearer understanding of this situation and fuller recognition of the fact that a resort lake on which a boat can be used is just as important as a factory to build the boat; that a factory making baseball bats could not exist without playing fields upon which to use them; and that the man who buys and rents a bed in a hotel or a motel is just as important cog in the industrial scheme as the man who makes the bedstead and mattress. The very simple fundamental fact has been too often overlooked—there is no point in making something to sell unless there is a prospect to whom it can be sold.

CYCLES — The current interest in the travel business follows an established cycle or pattern, except that there is presently more complete understanding of the importance of travel and catering to the traveler, whether on business or pleasure bent.

It is therefore natural that the folks who make their living out of catering to travelers should manifest more concern over that phase of general industrial progress. A further natural development is that bankers and merchants and processors of raw products are showing more interest in the tourist-travel-vacation "business" than they did a few years back.

COUNCIL — The industry is attempting now to form a Travel Council of North Carolina, the major objectives of which will be to coordinate efforts of all the component parts of the travel business, to more adequately promote that important segment of the state's total industrial economy. A temporary organization has been formed and a charter obtained from the Secretary of State's office.

Two or three preliminary committee meetings have been held. The main organizational meeting is scheduled for the Sir Walter Hotel at Raleigh at noon on Monday, January 16. The plan is for a Dutch-type luncheon to be followed by a business session, at which it is hoped to perfect the Council with election of permanent directors and officers.

Principal speaker at the luncheon will be Robert Nelson, head of the Virginia Travel Council and president of the National Association of Travel Organizations. Also scheduled for the afternoon program is a short talk by B.T. Davidson of Santa Monica, California who has had successful experience in travel council organizations.

It is hoped at this January 16 meeting to complete the travel council and get it on the way to supplementing and supplementing the activities of the State C&D Department in promoting the travel business. Advance reservations indicate attendance in excess of 200 persons, representing all the elements interested in tourism.

Others Say . . .

THE MEN WEAR OUT FIRST

(The Daily Oklahoman)
Working women and wives of retired persons would become eligible for benefits at the age of 62 instead of 65 under some of the pending social security legislation. On political grounds the reasoning is obvious enough. Otherwise the evidence supporting the proposed change isn't too impressive. It's true that a woman of 65 would be under an age handicap in the job market. But it isn't clear that a woman of 62 would be much better off.

On strictly medical grounds all the statistical evidence suggests that any lowering of the retirement age ought to favor the men rather than the women. How many widowers turn up in the obituaries? As a general rule the men wear out physically long before their wives do.

For every widower living in retirement after social security hits the stretch there'll probably be a half dozen or so widows. If the government retires the women early it had better revise its actuarial estimates concerning the long range costs of social security.

Glance over the pages of any newspaper and read the articles concerning crimes, accidents, divorces, and other unpleasant events. One common denominator runs through the majority of them. # Where Manufacturers Miss

By ELMER ROESSNER

Manufacturers often miss the mark when they aim to help stores sell more of their products, declares Edward F. Engle, manager of the sales promotion division, National Retail Dry Goods Association.

There's an amazing waste of advertising expenditures, judging from a survey Mr. Engle's division recently completed. Only a few retailers regularly use sales aids, the survey showed. Some use them occasionally and a significant number never use them.

Notebook On Life

Refugee Became A Millionaire

By HAL BOYF

NEW YORK (AP)—Leon Jolson is a refugee who became a millionaire by convincing even his enemies that they could do home sewing.

His success is one of the most spectacular of any achieved by fugitives from totalitarian terror who have found a new life in America.

Jolson and his wife, Ann, came here in 1947. They were stateless, penniless and childless. On Jolson's left arm he bore the blue tattooed numerals symbolizing the three years he was imprisoned in Nazi concentration camps before he escaped and joined the Polish underground movement.

Today at 42 Jolson is an American citizen, has two children, and heads the 60-million-dollar-a-year Neechi and Elna sewing machine corporations.

What could he do to earn his way in this strange land? Jolson had been a sewing machine company representative in Poland. He was amazed to find how few American women did home sewing. He decided there was a big market here, and that he would go back into the only business he knew.

"There is already too much competition in it," they told him. "Besides American housewives are different from European housewives. They aren't interested in acquiring the technical skill to do home sewing." Jolson thought they were wrong. He felt that by importing an Italian model sewing machine that required less operating skill he could make a go of it. In 1948 he started his own business on $2,000 borrowed capital.

60 PER CENT NEVER USE RADIO SCRIPTS

Manufacturers' shots are often wide of the mark in other areas. Sixty per cent of the stores polled said they never used radio scripts offered by manufacturers. Stuffers—those ads you get with your monthly bills—fare better. Only 2 per cent never use them although 85 per cent use them only occasionally. Only 4 per cent use other direct mail material and 16 per cent never use it. From there on:

Twenty per cent never use blow-ups of advertisements, 30 per cent never use publicity releases, 40 per cent never use seasonal promotional kits, 2 per cent never use informative labels or tags, 30 per cent never use reprints of national ads, 30 per cent never use easel displays and 15 per cent never use manufacturers' window displays.

The big trouble, Mr. Engle deduced is that manufacturers do not understand retailers' problems. Manufacturers and their advertising agencies, he said, lack "retail thinking."

ARE PEOPLE FOOLED? OLD PROMOTERS ASK

"Morality marches on!" the old promoter exclaimed as he walked in today and, most importantly, snatched a handful of cigars out of the box on our desk.

"Well," he asked, "Doesn't it?" "Yes," he said, lighting a cigar and flicking the match on the floor. "The Federal Trade Commission has cited an American scent company for advertising its perfume as 'French as the Champs Elysees.' The FTC says this makes people think it is made in France."

"Well?" he asked. "Doesn't it?" "I don't think it is any worse than making Swiss cheese in Wisconsin or Burgundy wine in California," the old fellow said. "If we let the cheese and wine maker cheat a bit, why can't the perfume makers?"

"Well we don't let people make Scotch whiskey in this country," we said. "The rest of us," the old one exclaimed, grabbing his hat and dashing out. Wonder why he left in such a hurry?

Among others commonly suggested, irrespective of party are Kefauver (52), and Clement (35), both of Tennessee, Dirksen (60) of Illinois, Meyer (47) of New Jersey, Stratton (41) of Illinois. I will also add that Ex-President Truman, at 71, may be a candidate. So much for statistics.

CONSIDER PHOTOGRAPHY

This is an age of photographs. The successful magazines—such as LIFE and LOOK—are almost 85 per cent photographs. Television is 96 per cent. The movies are 98 per cent photographs. He takes wonderful photos and his smile alone is worth millions of votes. But, photography is even used by us statisticians to forecast conditions. We can often predict what man will do by studying the "setting" in which he allows his photo to be taken. Consider the following as evidence that Ike and Mrs. Dowd want to be in the White House four more years, irrespective of what Mrs. Dowd may want.

If Ike did not want to run again, he would have been wheeled onto the airplane which took him from Denver to Washington, in a wheel chair. This would have helped him in his desire for four more years of quiet life at Gettysburg. But no, he will do the airplane ramp like a young fellow and waved to the people. He did the same upon arrival at Washington and Gettysburg. The plan of his managers is to have the voters entirely forget his illness. Watch the photos of him from now on. They will tell the story.

More Than A Cold Study Of Statistics

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The threatening farm depression has assumed the aspect of a human and poignant problem rather than a cold study in economic statistics since the reconvening of Congress. Returning members from the agricultural areas say that there has not been such resentment toward any Administration since Hoover days, when farm commodities were burned as fuel.

Many Congressmen are engaged in the production of grains and meat animals. They bring in their own records of expenditures and income since prices began their long and persistent slide. Others related to urban colleagues the bitter complaints of their constituents. They did not talk in terms of percentages; they told of losses that will mean hardship and bankruptcies, unless checked quickly, and possible GOP defeat next fall.

FARMERS' HOSTILITY TO UNIONS — The most popular—or unpopular—subject among farm legislators is not Cold War II, tax cuts or no tax cuts, national defense, Ike's illness and possible retirement. It is the harsh fact that further declines will insure a Democratic sweep of about 11 agricultural states, even if Ike runs again. It will mean larger Democratic majorities in House and Senate in their opinion.

The bitterness against the Administration is matched only by the farmers' new prejudice against labor. They charge off a great deal of their economic troubles to the wage increases that have boosted the cost of everything they buy. While farm prices have hit dismal lows, wages have reached record peaks during the same period.

In fact, the farmers have finally declared open war against the unions. The American Farm Bureau Federation with 1,600,000 members, and the National Grange, which has a membership of 900,000 in 37 states, demand that a right-to-work amendment, now effective in 18 states, be incorporated in the Taft-Hartley Act. This provision bars a closed shop, and it is the unions' great fear and hate.

HOGS CAN DECIDE ELECTIONS? Another anti-Administration note has been struck by the agricultural rebel. While they are suffering, they point out that corporation profits and dividends have shown a sharp increase

The stock market reflects prosperity everywhere except on the farms. This trend may incline them to hear the Democratic charges that this is a "Big Business" Administration.

"Hogs can't vote," declared a Republican member and an Eisenhower man from the Middle West, "but they can decide elections." They elected Truman in 1948, and they may defeat Eisenhower in 1956.

Then sitting on the black leather-covered divan of the House corridor, he gave a down-to-earth farm lecture to several "city fellows" to wit:

AGRICULTURISTS' DILEMMA — "The hog born on a farm last spring will cost $15 a hundred pounds before it is sold. This cost includes corn and oats pasture feeding, vitamins and other health protective measures, and depreciation on the implements needed for this one operation. It does NOT include any pay for the farmer's long hours, which are about twice those of the unions' 40-hour week.

Statistics On Possible Candidates

By ROGER BABSON
WASHINGTON, D.C., The most important comment in my last week's Forecast for 1956 was this statement of mine: "If no unforeseen event happens, President Eisenhower will be re-nominated and re-elected in 1956."

REPUBLICAN STATISTICS
I am no politician, but I do try to be an honest statistician. Hence, first let me dispose of the question of age. The President will be 66 in 1956. This would make him 70 by the close of his second term. His rivals, in both the Republican and Democratic parties, say he is "too old to run again." Yet Warren of California is 64.

Let us discuss first the possible Republican candidates. My first choice would be Vice President Nixon, who is 50 years old, has an ideal age of 42. Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, my second personal choice, is 65 but I doubt if he could be elected. Next in order I would select Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York. He probably is the ideal age, namely 63; but the party would be loath to nominate one who had been defeated twice, even though he is an excellent administrator. My fourth choice would be Secretary of State Acheson; but he is two years older than Nixon. If Eisenhower! The other active Republican aspirants are Senator William Knowland of California, 47, Stassen of Pennsylvania, who is 48, and Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts, who is 60.

WHAT ABOUT DEMOCRATIC

Now let us apply statistics to the possible Democratic rivals. If the nominating convention were to be held this month, I am sure that ex-governor Stevenson of Illinois (55 years old) candidate four years ago, would get the Democratic nomination. If Eisenhower should not run again, Stevenson would have a good chance of election; but not against Eisenhower as a candidate. This is in my humble opinion. As for Governor Harriman of New York, he surely could be featured as a "male-factor of great wealth" more than could Mr. Humphrey. Harriman probably never "earned a dollar in his life." He inherited his millions from his father, who was an American public utility railroad giant; while Humphrey started with nothing and earned his present wealth through developing coal iron, and other mines. Let me say, however, that Harriman has probably had the best training and experience for the Presidency of any possible Democratic candidate. I have great respect for his knowledge and for his contacts in national and world politics. He is a "New Dealer," which would help him with the labor and American public. Statistics show the country is Democratic. Republicans should not forget this in their enthusiasm for Ike.

Among others commonly suggested, irrespective of party are Kefauver (52), and Clement (35), both of Tennessee, Dirksen (60) of Illinois, Meyer (47) of New Jersey, Stratton (41) of Illinois. I will also add that Ex-President Truman, at 71, may be a candidate. So much for statistics.

Rep. Martin Still Hopes For Tax Cut

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
 WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts says "I still have hope" that taxes can be cut at this session of Congress.

He declared there was no reason to think the Eisenhower administration cannot achieve "all three" goals of a balanced budget, tax reduction and some payment on the national debt.

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message Thursday, put debt reduction ahead of a tax cut for the present.

But Martin said he saw "no variance" between his view and the President's position. He also said budget balancing must come first, but added:

"I certainly hope we can have some minor tax reduction and a token payment on the debt too."

Martin's views were given to newsmen in an elaboration of remarks made in a filmed television interview yesterday with Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) over Buffalo and Rochester stations. He said then it would "be better for the country" to reduce taxes than to pay off the debt with any surplus.

A less optimistic outlook on tax reduction was taken by four other members of Congress on an ABC network broadcast last night.

Rep. Boggs (D-La.) said he had serious doubts about achieving a tax cut, while Rep. Albert (D-Okla.) said there could be no tax reduction if it meant a net revenue loss to the government.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) declared he did not believe "we can afford a tax reduction while we're still undecided about what we're going to do about defense expenditures," and Rep. Hillings (R-Calif.) said a balanced budget must be achieved first.

And in a CBS broadcast Martin's opposite number, House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts, said "the reasonable probability is that there will not be" a tax cut.

Martin's views, however emphasized a quiet feeling evident among many members of Congress that some action probably will be taken on tax relief before Congress adjourns next summer.

While no one is venturing to predict the outcome publicly, these members feel that election-year political pressures may be too great to resist when the government's financial picture becomes clearer in the spring.

Lausche Says Is Available As Nominee For Presidency

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche says he "would be available" for the Democratic nomination for president, but has no present plans for seeking it.

Citizens in half a dozen states have given him encouragement to make the race, said Ohio's five-term governor. He named five—Florida, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Indiana and Minnesota.

But he said last night he "dreaded the thought of occupying the highest office" because of its burdens, is not seeking it, and "presently I have no plans of going outside Ohio."

In Ohio, he is letting his name be used as a favorite son candidate. He also is running for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican George Bender, and probably will have no opposition in the Democratic primary.

Often outspoken as an admirer of President Eisenhower, he said he hoped the President would regain his health and be the Republican candidate again. But in that case, "if everything else was equal I would support the Democrat" who runs against Eisenhower, he replied to a question.

He likened himself to Eisenhower of four years ago, saying that when Eisenhower first was offered the nomination he "did not flee from responsibility."

Of his own feelings about the presidency, he said:

"If you would ask me if I would flee from my responsibility or accept it if it was made available to me, I would have to answer that I would be available."

His answers were made on the NBC radio and television program Meet the Press.

In answer to a specific question, he denied a report that he entered the favorite son role in Ohio to block Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee from getting any Ohio delegates.

Father, Son In Legislative Body

OTTAWA (AP)—The House of Commons gets its first father-son team in almost 65 years tomorrow when Jean-Paul St. Laurent, 43-year-old son of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, takes his seat.

The younger St. Laurent says he doesn't expect to make any speeches this session. "The reason," he explains, "is that anything I will say will be interpreted as coming from Louis St. Laurent."

Jean-Paul, a Quebec City lawyer in his father's old firm, was elected as a Liberal member from the Quebec constituency of Temiscouata in a by-election Sept. 26. He got a majority of about 4,000 votes over Progressive Conservative Jean-Paul Berube. Some 20,000 votes were cast.

Stern Front In Juvenile Cases

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Juvenile Judge Louis H. Jull is going to take the advice of his youth advisory committee and put up a sterner front for young offenders.

The judge received a report from the teen-age group yesterday and heard local juvenile delinquency efforts termed "95 per cent diagnosis and 5 per cent treatment."

It was then that he decided to try out some of the recommendations such as instituting an atmosphere of "formality" to make the juvenile's first appearance in court one that would leave a lasting impression and if necessary a frightening one.

Jull appointed the committee to advise him on problems of the court.

Stevenson's Son Now Recovered

BOSTON (AP)—John Fell Stevenson, 19, youngest son of Democratic Presidential aspirant Adlai Stevenson, was back at his Harvard studies today, apparently recovered from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last month.

Young Stevenson arrived at Logan International Airport last night, accompanied by Harvard Economics Prof. Seymour Harris, who spent the weekend with the elder Stevenson.

The Harvard sophomore suffered a fractured jaw and loss of a knee cap in the Christmas holiday highway mishap that claimed the lives of two other Harvard students in Indiana.

Smile Week For Oklahoma Coeds

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Some 30,000 Oklahoma junior high school students will have something to grin about for the next two weeks.

The state dental association is sponsoring a "smile of the year" contest to pick the state's two healthiest grins.

After dentists have narrowed the field to those youngsters with "perfect" teeth, layment will make the final choice on the basis of personality and "infectiousness" of the smile.

Novel Story For Court Audience

KNOWATA, Okla. (AP)—Robert Bruce Hill, 42, who was bound over for District Court trial yesterday by County Judge Leslie J. Coffman on a charge of drunk driving—his second offense—had a novel story, explained in court his wrecked car had plinned him to the ground and that a helpful stranger came by and "poured whisky down my throat" to alleviate the suffering.

Some 22 Million People Still Out Of TV Reach

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP)—There are about 22 million people in this country whose homes are outside the reach of existing television stations. The majority of these live in about 2,000 communities ranging in population from 2,000 to 20,000.

Now comes an energetic young man named Jerome L. Doff who is trying to do something about it. As the President of Trans-Community-Television Network, Inc., with headquarters in Beverly Hills, Calif., he wants to establish closed-circuit television for subscribers in these communities. His five-year goal: one million new television set owners.

Any day now his idea will bear first fruit in Cedar City, a community of about 7,500 in southern Utah. Here, Doff explained the other day as he hurried through New York, is how the plan is working in Cedar City:

More than 350 citizens have bought their own TV sets and each has paid the corporation an installation subscription fee of $150. A TV station with a three-member staff is being built in town and each subscriber will receive programs by wire from the station. Each will pay $7.50 a month additional—"an amount we hope to decrease steadily as membership grows," says Doff.

Cedar City will have eight hours of television a day—from 3:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. By an arrangement Doff has worked out with ABC-TV and NBC-TV, the folks in Cedar City will see kinescopes and films of whatever programs of those networks Trans-Community-Television selects. The plan is that programs will be shown soon after their appearance on the network stations.

The training college of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Regina, Saskatchewan, has perhaps the only church in the world used exclusively by policemen.

Bucs Crush Elon, Take North State Conference Lead

'Toss-Up' Game Proves To Be A 105-69 Landslide

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina's boiling cagers took Elon apart here Saturday night, 105-69, to grasp undisputed possession of first place in the North State Conference.

The victory, somewhat magnificent in view of the fact that the game was rated a toss-up, was the fifth straight within the league for Coach Howard Porter's Pirates. Over-all, it was win No. 8 against two losses.

Never has there been a more thorough whipping administered on the local court. From the outset, Coach Doc Mathis' Christians were outplayed and only once did they come within striking distance at the five minute marker in the first half with the score 37-25.

Team Effort

The triumph, begotten before a capacity house, was definitely a team effort. The entire first five scored in double figures. Don Harris' 25 led with Freddie James' 18 copping runner-up honors.

The true story of the victory, which knocked Elon from the conference's unbeaten ranks, was defense. Only one Christian was permitted to score in double figures, and most of his were achieved against East Carolina's second five.

Guy Mendenhall did the most to monkeywrench Elon's offense. The 6-5 stringbean was everywhere knocking down passes and snatching rebounds, finding time in the meanwhile to dunk 11 points. He held Elon's celebrated Ike Atkinson to a mitty-eight points and Atkinson's replacement, Ed Rickover, to five.

Jim Crump, who didn't start, began to connect for the visitors in the second half and collected 14 points. Ed Juratic and Ben Kendall, reputedly the Christians' best two scorers, could register only nine apiece.

First Time

It marked the first time this season that East Carolina went over the century mark. Harold Ingram, a reserve guard, dropped in the 100th point from the free throw line with 1:54 showing.

The outcome was something of a switch for the Christians. They went into the game averaging 90 points in their eight games.

They brought their record on the road to 7-2. They had only been so good only by McCrary prior to the game.

East Carolina had Elon down for a nine count in the very first round. The Bucs, hitting on an almost mythical 80 per cent from the floor, ran up a 22-8 lead before some of the fans were seated.

The winners stretched that out to 42-27 at the half. In the first 20 minutes, East Carolina hit on 47 per cent of its shots.

After intermission, the fire was only kindled. ECC ran for 63 points, something over three points a minute. The over-all shooting percentage was an amazing 53 per cent.

James, who turned in his second good performance in as many nights, had the best accuracy. He had 10 shots and made good on seven for 70 per cent. Harris hit 57 per cent and J. C. Thomas and Nick Nichols, who had 15 points apiece, had identical percentages of 33.

Defiant Boxing Guild On Ropes

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK—Its back broken, its morale shattered, the once-defiant New York Boxing Managers Guild was ready today to surrender unconditionally to the State Athletic Commission.

The guild's board of governors scheduled a meeting late today, and one informant told the Associated Press the organization would be voted out of existence.

Just four days ago the guild voted 66-0 to defy Julius Helfand, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, who ordered the guild to dissolve by Jan. 16 because he alleged some of the plots were conspiring with criminals.

But the swift-moving developments that followed the guild's vote led to an abrupt turnaround. They included:

1. The International Boxing Club headed by Jim Norris, the biggest promoter in the country, aligning itself behind Helfand.

2. The refusal of the Maryland state commission to sanction bouts by the London Sporting Club, which has been operating at St. Nicholas Arena here.

3. The resignation of Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, from the guild.

Said one guild member: "Most of us were badly advised when we were told to refuse to testify at the recent hearings Helfand conducted. Everyone knows that the International Boxing Guild is the patron body to the New York (local) ran things. But we needed it

Eppes Starting Conference Play

Coach A. E. Murrell's Eppes' high school Bulldogs will open their conference schedule tonight when they play host to New Bern in the Eppes' gymnasium. The varsity contest will begin at eight o'clock and a jayvee game will take place at six-thirty.

The Bulldog hoopers will be seeking to improve a 3-3 record and will try to post their first loop win of the year. Leading the pack will be Richard Armfield and James Brewington. Other team stars will be Robert Edwards, John Summerville and Frank Norris.

Tatum Will Take 'Easier' UNC Job

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Jim Tatum, "like an old Br'er Rabbit going back to the rabbit patch," has quit the job that earned him a reputation as one of football's master tacticians to become head coach at the University of North Carolina.

He announced his resignation yesterday as football coach and athletic director at the University of Maryland to take a job that will pay less, but lighten the load of his responsibilities.

Terms of Tatum's contract with UNC were not announced. But athletic publicity director said the salary will not exceed the $15,000 limit placed on the position by the State Legislature.

And Tatum said, "I'm not going down there as athletic director and coach, only as coach. You ought to get some idea from that, that Carolina can't afford to pay me as much as Maryland was." He received $18,500 yearly at Maryland.

"The job as football coach and athletic director got to be so mammoth at Maryland," he said, "I felt I was spreading myself too thin."

"I just didn't have the time any more to run both jobs right. I lost touch more and more with my team, especially with my quarterback Frank Tamburello, I lost hurting them and their performance."

"And with all due respect to my other coaches, when Warren Giese resigned last week to become head coach at South Carolina, I lost someone who had taken a great deal of the load off my shoulders. His loss really hurt."

Tatum also said, "Now my family and I will be right in the heart of our home country and this may be the last chance to return there. I had the opportunity once before and turned it down. Sometimes I regretted it."

North Carolina, his alma mater, is the "rabbit patch" to "Br'er" Tatum.

At Maryland, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, the president, said: "All realize the great contribution he has made to the university and the state of Maryland. We are sorry to see him leave. We will miss him, but we wish him the best of luck at Carolina."

Stokes, Oak City Split Twin Bill

Stokes-Pactolus split a double-header Friday night with Oak City at Stokes-Pactolus. The home girls won their contest, 75-49, but the visitors took the boys' contest, 48-30.

Nina Perkins of the triumphant girls' club took high scoring honors for all teams for the night, turning in a spectacular 36 point performance. Bobby Tomleson led the Stokes-Pactolus boys with 15 markers but was unable to stop the powerful Oak City cagers.

ECC Swim Team Collects Win Over Davidson Squad

Swimming as if equipped with fins, Harold McKee and Bob Sawyer paced East Carolina's formidable swimming team to an easy 48-36 win here Saturday afternoon.

McKee placed first in the 200 yard and 440 freestyle while Sawyer took firsts in the 200 yard backstrokes and 200 yard individual medley. The two racked up 20 points between them.

In winning, Coach Ray Martinez' club took every event relays, the 50 yard dash and the diving.

4th Victory

The victory was the fourth against two defeats. It was the second triumph over Davidson. ECC whipped the Southern Conference school 43-41 in the season opener back in December.

Martinez shifted his team around Saturday, not entering his strongest boys in many of the events. Still, the victory was decisive. It was on ice with two events left in the meet.

Ed Rivers, a real standout, captured the 50 yard freestyle sprint for the visitors, besting Jimmy Meads of ECC. Normally, Dickie Denton would have swum for the Pirates but he was held out because of a bad cold.

Frank Moore and Meads captured the other firsts for the Pirates. Moore's time of 2:44 took the 200 yard breast stroke, just nosing out teammate Jack Kobberling, and Meads won the 100-free style.

The summary:

300 medley relay — Carroll, Edwards, Rivers, (Davidson) 8:78.5

220 freestyle—1. McKee (ECC), 2. Denton (ECC), Clark (Davidson), 2:32.5

50 freestyle—1. Spers (Davidson), 2. Meads (ECC), 3. West (ECC), 25.3.5

200 ind. medley—1. Sawyer (ECC), 2. Carroll (Davidson), Anderson (ECC), 2:31.7

Diving—1. Sharp (Davidson), 2. Migette (ECC), Bryan (Davidson)

100 freestyle—1. Meads (ECC), 2. Spiers (Davidson), 3. Gartman (ECC), 57.6.

200 backstroke—1. Sawyer (ECC), 2. Rose (ECC), 3. Ormand (Davidson), 2:33.6

440 freestyle—1. McKee (ECC), 2. Sheppard (Davidson), 3. Clark (Davidson), 5:42.7

200 breast—1. Moore (ECC), 2. Kobberling (ECC), 3. Travis (Davidson), 2:44.3

400 freestyle—1. Rivers, Womack, Avery, Spiers (Davidson).

Elizabeth City Host To Green Phants Tuesday

By BILLY ARNOLD

Reflector Sports Writer

Elizabeth City high school will play host to the Greenville Phantoms tomorrow night in a North-eastern conference hoop encounter that should be a real test for the Green. Yellow Jacket cagers are annually a scrappy team and will be the toughest loop competition Coach Boley Farley's crew has met to date.

The Yellow Jackets thus far this season have faced only one team that has also battled Greenville. Last week, EC downed the Washington Pam-Pack by two points. The Phantoms racked up a 14-point victory over them last Friday night.

Probable Greenville starters tomorrow night will be Jerry Drum and Ike Riddick at the guard positions, Billy Johnson and Ray Hardee at forward slots, and huge Harold Edwards at center. Wayne Eldson and Tommy Key Norris, a pair of excellent reserve action.

Expected to carry the brunt of the G-Men's offensive attack will be Riddick, Johnson, and All-Conference pivot-man Edwards. Riddick, a 5-11 guard with an amazing eye, has not failed to score in the double figures in every game in which he has played this season. Johnson is one of the hustlers under both backboards and has done his share of scoring, too. Harold Edwards' height and ability to get points has made him one of the top college prospects in this area.

Coach Farley expects a tough game with the Elizabeth City club, however, he has stated that his team is doing well and "better than we thought we would." He said recently that the fine work of his lesser-known boys, has been the main reason for the improvement. Opposing teams set their defenses for Edwards and Riddick and forget about Drum, Hardee, Johnson, and Norris; this has proven to be the downfall of several foes already this season.

The contest tomorrow night will begin at eight o'clock, with a jayvee game scheduled to get underway at six-thirty.

ITALIANS LAUNCH ANTI-TAX DRIVE

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Inspired by the surprising success of anti-tax crusader Pierre Poujadès in the French election, Italian shopkeepers are launching a Poujadist movement of their own.

The leader, Raffaele Garbin, chairman of the Milan fishmongers' union, said the movement will be tailored to Italian conditions and will not be simply against taxes.

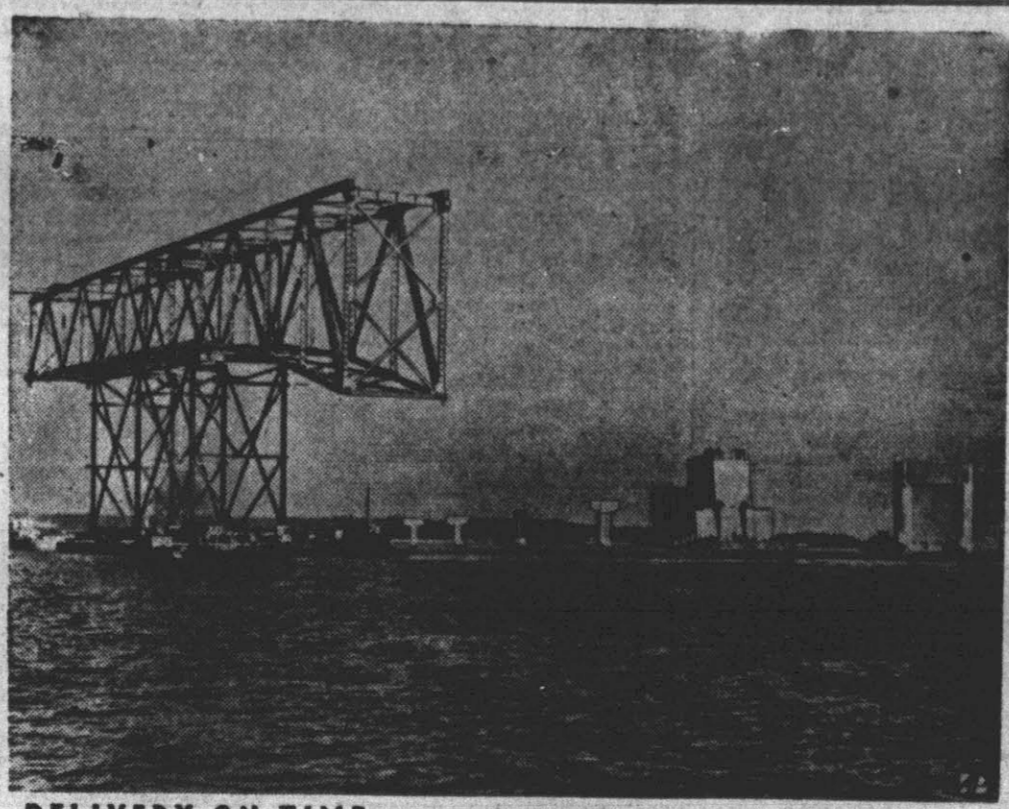

Garbin told reporters the party will be essentially a nonpolitical movement of the middle class. It will demand that the old Italian fiscal system be modernized and the minimum annual taxable income be raised from the present 240,000 lire (about $400) to 700,000 lire (about $1,170).

HIGH WINDS KEEP VESSEL GROUND

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—High winds and heavy seas appeared today to have washed away any hope of immediate rescue for a destroyer escort and a salvage tug, hard aground on mud flats off Ft. Story.

Both the USS Basitone and the salvage tug Seneca, the latter listing about 11 degrees to starboard were taking a heavy pounding from wind and sea. But Navy officials said neither vessel was in "serious danger."

The Basitone went aground early Thursday morning. The Seneca followed suit Saturday evening while attempting to free the destroyer. Crews of both vessels totaling 280 were still aboard.

DELIVERY ON TIME—A 750-ton span of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge is transported by barge to resting place between piers at St. Ignace, Mich., before winter closes in. Bridge, to link Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas, is slated to be completed in 1957.

Industry Steps Up Fight In Air-Water Pollution

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry—which has spent around one billion dollars to offset its pollution of air and water—is stepping up the fight on all fronts: Including its unfortunate assault on the nation's nostrils.

Most states now have laws on the subject of pollution as it affects streams and harbors. A congressional committee this session is expected to look into the matter on the federal level. Cities fight on the problem. Foreign countries also are adopting American methods.

Cities may perfect methods of making once polluted water fit for drinking as far as danger of disease goes and still have remaining problems of unpleasant tastes and odors in tap water.

Industrial odors can be costly. They can affect the value of real estate and as in the case of smoke damage, for example, ruin the sale of merchandise.

Odors also create in-plant problems, as well as ruckuses with the neighbors. Sometimes they affect the processing of goods, especially foods. More often they have a direct bearing on labor relations. With industrial expansion the problems increase.

do great monetary damage to goods than escaped the fire or water.

In one New York textile warehouse fire cloth valued at $30,000 was contaminated with smoke and seemingly made valueless. For four days chemicals were sprayed in the storage areas through portable vaporizers. Specialists report the smoke odor completely removed from the cloth at a cost of $500.

Some of the classic ones are steel mill slag, nonferrous metals smelters, chemical plants, canneries, slaughter houses, brewing—not to overlook illegal distilling of white mule.

With all of these, except the last, industry has grappled with considerable success, using refrigeration, air conditioning improved ventilation and disinfectants.

Since the war several firms have made a direct assault on the problem by producing chemicals that combine with odors to make them innocuous.

The problem is attacked on two fronts. Industrial odor control specialists say they use laboratory methods to study the specific odors on individual industrial processes. These may call for different chemical arrangements on special techniques in applications.

Among the first to turn to this were restaurants. Cities also use this service; getting liquids which can be sprayed into the exhaust stacks of sewage disposal plants.

Air guns sprayed into the stacks of ships improve their in-port social etiquette.

The second special classification is smoke odor control. Penetrating fumes of a smoky fire often can

Dottie McGuire Granted Divorce

BUNNELL, Fla. (AP)—A Florida circuit judge has awarded a divorce to Dorothy McGuire, the Arthur Godfrey singer once romantically linked with crooner Julius La Rosa.

Judge George W. Jackson signed the decree Friday. It becomes final upon filing today, said Joseph Hirschman, attorney for the husband, Air Force Sgt. John Henry Brown.

Brown originally brought suit Aug. 16—seven months after she announced their reconciliation—and Dorothy filed a counterclaim Aug. 30. Both charged cruelty and Judge Jackson appointed an examiner to take testimony.

Details of the testimony were not announced. Hirschman said no financial or property settlement was involved and Brown will not contest the decree.

Miss McGuire, 27, married Brown in her home town of Mansfield, Ohio, July 30, 1951.

Brown was in Korea when La Rosa's romance with Dorothy—one of a singing sister trio—was reported in 1954. Godfrey fired the crooner but denied the romance had anything to do with it.

La Rosa declared he would marry Dorothy if she could gain her freedom and Brown returned to this country to win her back. She announced a reconciliation Jan. 19 last year but they separated in April.

La Rosa said last week he plans to marry Rosemary Meyer, 24, secretary to another crooner, Perry Como.

Audie Murphy Now An 'Overnight' Hit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Latest "overnight sensation" in Hollywood is a 10-year veteran of the movie mills named Audie Murphy.

Critics and pollsters are always hailing new sensations, most of whom spent long years learning their craft with little recognition. Now everyone is discovering Audie. Long overlooked, he surprised everyone by scoring one of 1955's biggest film successes.

His auto-biography, "To Hell and Back," is the biggest moneymaker in the history of Universal-International. A nine million dollar worldwide gross has been predicted for it.

"I'm just as surprised as anyone," the war hero confessed. "I can't figure it out. The picture just isn't that good."

"The amazing thing about it is that women go for it as much as men. You'd think they would shun a war picture, but half of the people you see buying tickets for it are women."

"The only thing I can figure is that these women are married to men who took part in the war. They have heard their husbands talk about the war, now they are able to see what it is like."

Audie was asked if the success of "To Hell and Back" had changed his life.

Audie admitted the picture did zoom his career.

"I had offers from every studio but MGM," he said. "I don't suppose they'd want me back there again. I must say it's mutual."

He referred to the colossal failure of "Red Badge of Courage," the John Huston picture in which Audie starred. It has long been the subject of controversy. MGM argues that it did everything possible to save the Civil War epic. But Audie feels differently.

It was released on the bottom half of a doublebill and not even previewed for the press. Audie recalled that a British paper said the studio should have received a "Yellow Badge of Cowardice" for its handling of the film.

So strong are Audie's feelings about the picture that he recently offered to buy it for $250,000. He wanted to restore it to the original form and bring it out again. MGM hasn't replied to his offer.

Gretna Green in Scotland has long been a center for run-away marriages because Scotland permits couples under 21 to marry without parental consent and England does not.

A Doctor in the Family

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

The silence was stony, but not so cold as Seretha's voice when finally she spoke—"Linda, that is a perfectly ridiculous idea!"

Linda's head lifted, her eyes dark. "Why shouldn't I adopt a child?" she asked, her hurt forming a stubborn, cold mass in her throat. "Every woman needs a child to love, to care for. Manning is a nice little boy."

"He's a nice little boy," agreed Seretha. Linda cast a glance around the table, and saw that even Jasper was agreeing with Ma'am. Her soft chin sagged. "But you cannot adopt him Linda."

"But why not?"

"Well, for one thing, my dear, the other children of the family must be protected against such a move. Their rights..."

"If you mean inheritance, it just happens that Alan and I don't have six children of our own to diminish their prospects."

"Now, Linda..." protested Jasper.

"But, Father, I honestly don't see Ma'am's argument."

"Ignorance may be cured," Seretha declared magnanimously. "But breeding and blood cannot be changed. Manning seems a nice little boy, and he could perhaps be educated—but you still would have a child of inbred, poverty-weakened mountain people, Linda."

"I could educate him and fit him for life."

"I understand. But you can busy yourself in doing those things without adopting him."

It was love she wanted Manning's puppylike devotion. Her moxie was self-centered, and she knew it. Still...

"Granted," Ma'am was saying, "that this boy may be exceptional material. That happens occasionally in such families. But are you sure, Linda, that he would be happy away from his own well-folks? Away from the sort of life he is used to?"

"How can you tell so surely about anyone's happiness?" Linda's hurt now displayed itself for all to see.

"I can promise you," said Seretha calmly, "that none of us would be happy! Not even you, Linda. Manning is already well started in his way of life, and his family lives close by. Everyone knows them, and they..."

"They'd be kin to all of us," growled Jasper. "And claim it, too!"

Though not too clearly Linda recognized that they were right. The family—Seretha—was being so much more reasonable than she was.

"Please," she said in a stifled tone, "let's not talk about it any more." She knew she had already lost the fight, chiefly because she no longer believed in her cause. She went out of the room, saving her dignity by saying to herself that she'd mention the matter to Alan—when next she had a free minute with him. But when would that be? These days he was so darn busy, she scarcely saw him. He'd not made any move at all to renew the mood of Christmas Eve.

Alan was indeed busy—especially at the hospital. There had been a great deal of illness; people had swarmed into the neighborhood to work on the Army camp. They lived in makeshift homes and crowded the Valhalla Hospital with illnesses and accidents so that Alan was made sharply aware of how shorthanded he was in all departments.

Dr. Rupert Ernst scarcely took Bowman's place. The cheerful young intern had been ready to do any job at any time; this could not be said for Ernst, who considered his title as assistant surgeon to be a title only.

Alan, to lighten his own load, had asked his assistant to take over the supervision of all surgical activities, which of course would include the management of the operating room. He ignored the way Ernst bridled at the request.

"Mrs. Dunham will help you," he said, walking away.

But it was only a day or so later when, under a heavy surgical schedule, he found his surgical nurse opening a package of sponges taken from the shelf rather than directly from the autoclave. He frowned and later asked Dunham what had happened. "It's the first time since we've been working together that you've run out."

Between her tight cap and gauze mask the nurse's eyes met his levelly. She was threading suture into an upheld needle. "Dr. Ernst won't let the autoclaves work during operations, Doctor. Of course, they get empty on a day like this."

Alan whirled on her. "Why would he give an order like that?"

"He objects to the heat."

"He does? Well, I object to the sponge shortage! I'll speak to Dr. Ernst," he said. "But you're in charge here, as always."

Mrs. Dunham watched his tall person leave the room. "I wish," she said to herself, "I could listen in when he speaks to Handsome Ernle."

Leaning upon the fact of his European training, Ernst considered himself the better-trained man. That the American system required an apprenticeship of him made him unhappy, and quick to criticize that system.

Alan appreciated Rupert's position and took it into account. He always gave Ernst's medical opinion his most courteous attention, sometimes agreeing with him, but being very firm when he must disagree. "I cannot imagine any situation," he said one morning to the man at the next scrub-up sink, "where it would be wise to let a patient read the history letter sent to us by a referring doctor."

"My dear Thomson," said Ernst patiently, "only your rural mountaineer people would read a letter left upon my desk blotter."

There were several answers to that. Alan scrubbed steadily at his left hand, switched the brush. "We got an excessive flareback on Mrs. Patrick," he said then, tightly. "And our relations with her doctor had always been excellent."

The corner of his eye caught Ernst's shrug, and he turned squarely to face the man. "In my book, every doctor, every patient is important! If you would put yourself into Harg's place..."

Ernst said something under his breath.

"You wouldn't want to, naturally. Nevertheless think of this—Harg referred Mrs. Patrick to us and sent a letter, saying that there seemed to be nothing essentially wrong with her, but that a little reassurance would probably be a great help. We examined the woman, and found his diagnosis correct. But you fixed it so that we were unable to reassure her, and help her. And my contention is that, by neglect of one small ethical point, we failed with an important case!"

"I cannot agree," said Ernst coldly. "That was important."

"Dr. Ernst," Alan's deep voice said patiently, "you came here to learn what you could from me."

"I came here in order to establish my degree and license, yes."

"So that you might practice in America. Toward that end, it would be easier if you would decide that I had a few things to teach you. Easier for both of us. I know that you feel you are already adequately trained in your profession. If that is true the things I could teach you would have to deal with our way of practicing medicine, particularly my way—my feeling about it, my attitude to the patient."

"That indeed is different."

"Yes," agreed Alan, "it is different." He could have pointed out to this insolent man that his own membership in the American College of Surgeons would lend weight to his act should he send Ernst away as untrainable.

Instead, he glanced at the timer he had five minutes in which to make his point. "When I began to practice surgery," he said patiently, "I had to decide if I wanted to work here among my own people, and I made my decision through the argument that a healing hand is valuable wherever there is humankind. In the little town of Valhalla, or the city of New York—or Vienna. A doctor works from within, by his own skill, his own ability, and he must bring that inward power to deal anew with each case, to treat that case according to any ability that is within him."

"That is why more than for any other reason I consider each patient important. I try to get the feel of his condition, to know what has led up to his illness, his injury. I want to know what mental and emotional complications there may be—and to know those things I give great personal consideration to each patient, probe as deeply with my mind, and my heart, as I do with my knife."

Dr. Ernst's elbow shut off the water at his sink. "That kind of doctoring must be very exhausting," he said politely.

"You're calling it emotional?"

Plays Nursemaid To 2,400 Mink

WHITBOURNE, Nfld. (P)—Helen Francis is a 29-year-old blonde who plays nursemaid to 2,400 mink in the wilds of Newfoundland.

Ormond Francis bought 26 mink after World War II. That was in Sackatchewan and he was so busy building up his mink stock that he didn't get around to marrying Helen, a nurse, until 1950.

In those days, says Helen, "I didn't even know what a mink looked like."

Horticultural was hard to get and prospects for expanding the ranch didn't seem good. Then Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland, something of a mink rancher himself, invited Francis to take a look at the pothead whales that come ashore in Trinity Bay. Good mink feed, they agreed. Last April the Francises and other mink ranchers set up in Newfoundland.

"It was quite a gamble on our part," says Mrs. Francis. "We stood to lose if the feed hadn't agreed with the mink."

Except for breeding stock, the mink are killed in late November, and their hides sold for perhaps $30 each. Helen stretches skins over wooden forms as the mink are killed.

She and her husband live in a clearing bulldozed out of the spruceclads.

"We live in a trailer with running water and electric lights," she says.

"It might be lonely if you weren't interested. The only time when there's any time to spare in the winter when the mink are killed and only the breeding stock are left. The busy time starts with making in the spring—you're always getting ready for something."

Mink are sickly creatures, and occasionally Mrs. Francis puts her nursing training to use by applying penicillin.

"I don't have a mink coat," she adds. "You don't have too many places to go here in a mink coat."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—A slightly higher tendency was found today in the stock market.

The list, however, displayed a broad mixture of gains and losses covering a narrow range that only occasionally exceeded a point.

The pace of trading was around 2 1/2 million shares for the day. That compares with 2,570,000 shares traded Friday when the market was higher.

Aircraft were higher at the start and then turned mixed. Many leaders were bolstered by defense order announcements out of Washington.

Boeing, for example started up 3/4 at 77 1/2 on 5,500 shares as the Air Force announced it had ordered 248 million dollars in heavy jet bombers from Boeing. The stock began to decline from its best almost immediately.

Lockheed was under light selling pressure following cancellation of a Navy order.

The steels and motors had some soft spots. The easing in motor production is being felt increasingly in the steel industry, it is reported.

Houston Oil, which is liquidating and Atlantic Refining, which is buying Houston's oil and gas assets, both were slightly higher.

International Telephone was active, and a block of 30,000 shares up 1/4 at 23 1/2. It was Friday's most active issue up 1/4.

General Motors, which has been at or near the top of the most active list, for weeks, opened on 10,000 shares unchanged at 44 1/2 and it maintained a fairly steady price.

At noon, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $119.40. It was ahead 80 cents on Friday.

CHICAGO—(USDA)—Salable hogs 21,000; opened fairly active, steady to 25 lower on butchers and sows, but later trade and close active with bulk sales all hogs steady with Friday; broad shipping demand and all local interests aggressive buyers; early clearance, a few late orders unfilled; U.S. No. 1 for weeks, opened on 11.0-11.75; very little below 11.25 a few hundred mostly mixed No. 1 and 2s at 12.00 and 88 head mostly No. 1s 200 lb at 12.25; most mixed

No Routine Drill, Test Atomic Reactor School Was Afire

HERTFORD, N.C.—Two hundred and seventy-five children, most of whom thought they were engaging in a routine drill, fled out of Hertford grammar school without incident today as a mid-morning fire destroyed the two-story old brick building.

Firemen from Hertford, Elizabeth City and Edenton arrived on the scene to find the building enveloped in flames, but managed to confine the fire to the school building and save the nearby cafeteria. No casualties were reported.

The children, many of whom rushed out in freezing temperatures without hats and coats, were taken to Perquimans High School by bus, about a mile away. It was believed that the Perquimans school and one at Winfield would absorb the Hertford pupils.

The blaze was discovered by a teacher who said she saw sparks shooting from a light fixture in a hallway.

No estimate of damage or the amount of insurance coverage was immediately available.

Ground Observer Unit in Exercise

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Experiments with an atomic reactor in a huge B36 as part of a program to develop atomic-powered aircraft were announced yesterday by the Air Force and Navy.

"Among other things the reactor is used to investigate problems of shielding against radiation to study effects of radiation on aircraft materials and systems to develop airborne nuclear instruments," the joint announcement said.

All safety precautions have been taken and "the public can be assured that there is no danger of nuclear explosion resulting from an accident to the aircraft," it said.

The announcement continued "The reactor is never operated during takeoffs and landings. It is operated only when the aircraft is flying over a predestinated area where maximum public safety is attainable."

"Precautions taken also include informing local public officials throughout the Southwest concerning public safety measures to be taken in the unlikely event of an accident."

"In past months the aircraft has made numerous successful flights during which the reactor was operated. The aircraft is presently on the ground at the Convair plant

Auto Overtakes, Driver Injured In Sunday Wreck

A non-collision accident on NC 43 south of Greenville yesterday morning sent a Fleming Street Negro to Pitt Memorial hospital with a fractured skull and lacerations of the face and head.

Warren Newborn, 36, of 708 Fleming Street was injured when a car driven by Sylvester Wilson, 44, Negro, of 708 Tyson Street ran off the road and overturned. Wilson was headed toward New Bern when the wreck occurred.

Investigating State Highway Patrolman R. E. Taylor said no charges would be placed against Wilson in connection with the wreck, which occurred on a curve near Cox's Mill.

Damage to Wilson's car, Taylor estimated, was about $700.

Nine Pitt 4-H Clubs To Meet During Week

C-of-C Installs New Directors At Meet Tonight

The eight newly elected directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be installed at a board meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Chamber office.

Immediately following a meeting of the outgoing board to complete any old business, the new directors will be installed, the new board for 1956 organized, and new officers for the year elected.

The new directors are John T. Barnhill, James W. Butler, F. Badger Johnson Jr., J. T. Marston, Ben L. Rouse, W. W. Speight, Excell S. Webb and D. J. Whitehead III. They will serve three-year terms beginning February 1.

Prince Fainer To Visit Florida

WILMINGTON, Del.—Prince Rainier of Monaco leaves today on a motor trip to Palm Beach, Fla., where he will spend 10 days to two weeks fishing and visiting friends before leaving for Hollywood to join his fiancée, actress Grace Kelly.

The sovereign of the tiny Mediterranean principality spent a quiet weekend here and yesterday assumed the role of "just a humble citizen paying homage to a great man"—his personal chaplain, The Very Rev. J. Francis Tucker.

The priest, a native of Wilmington, celebrated his 50th anniversary of entrance into religious life yesterday.

Tobacco Barn Is Lost To Blaze

A tobacco barn in which potatoes were being dried caught fire and burned Sunday night.

The barn was located on the Leon Hardee farm on 14th St. Ext. Greenville firemen who answered the call to the blaze managed to save a nearby barn.

Also yesterday firemen were called to the Paradise Cafe on Albemarle Ave. when rags around a chimney caught fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Highway Covered By High Seas

MANTEO, N.C.—Northeast winds ranging up to 50 miles per hour have caused high seas to roar up over Highway 158, leaving many stretches between Oregon Inlet and Hatteras damaged or under water.

The road was reported washed out some 10 miles south of Oregon Inlet.

Kitty Hawk and Manteo schools were closed when the roads became impassable.

No property damage or casualties were reported.

Three Arrested In Corn Thefts

Three Negro men were arrested by Pitt County deputies yesterday on charges of theft of corn from a Greene County farm.

The three, Arthur Lee Freeman, James Lee Atkinson and James Noble were turned over to Greene County officers. They will face trial in that county.

Around 300 bags of corn were reported missing from the farm which belongs to W. W. Young of near Bell Arthur.

The trio were arrested by Deputies N. H. Byrd and Duke Andrews.

Two Arrested In Weekend Raids

Two Greenville Negroes were arrested in separate raids by ABC officers this weekend and charged with possession of non-tax paid whiskey.

Charlie Huges, of the 600 block of Pamlico Avenue was taken into custody after officers found a gallon of illegal spirits on his premises.

Later, Mary Lee Hall, 38, of 106-B First Street, was charged after a search of her premises turned up a quart of bootleg in the kitchen sink.

Huges will be tried in Federal Court and the Hall woman in city court.
