President Outlines Ambitious School-Building Plans

By HERB ALTSCHULL WASHINGTON (AP) - President Eisenhower asked Congress today to provide 1 1/2 billion dollars in federal grants over the next five years to help conquer the nation's school building shortage.

He made no mention of a question already stirring Congress - whether federal education aid should go only to states adhering to the Supreme Court's ruling barring race segregation.

House Education Committee is due for early action. The Kelley plan would provide money to the states on the basis of the number of school age children.

He cautioned that "the responsibility for public education rests with the states and the local communities."

He proposed three ways of fulfilling this principle: 1. "In distributing federal funds larger amounts per school-age child should be allotted to states with lower income per child."

He called for a formula that would cut the proportion of federal funds "for those few states which are noticeably lagging."

Eisenhower noted that a serious shortage is imminent at the college level, particularly in the training of doctors, teachers, nurses, scientists and engineers.

office in cooperation with state education departments, colleges and universities. The President paid tribute to those in the teaching profession, and by implication suggested better pay for them. He put it this way: "Good teachers do not just happen. They are the product of the highest personal motivation, encouraged and helped in their work by adequate salaries and the respect, support, good will of their neighbors."

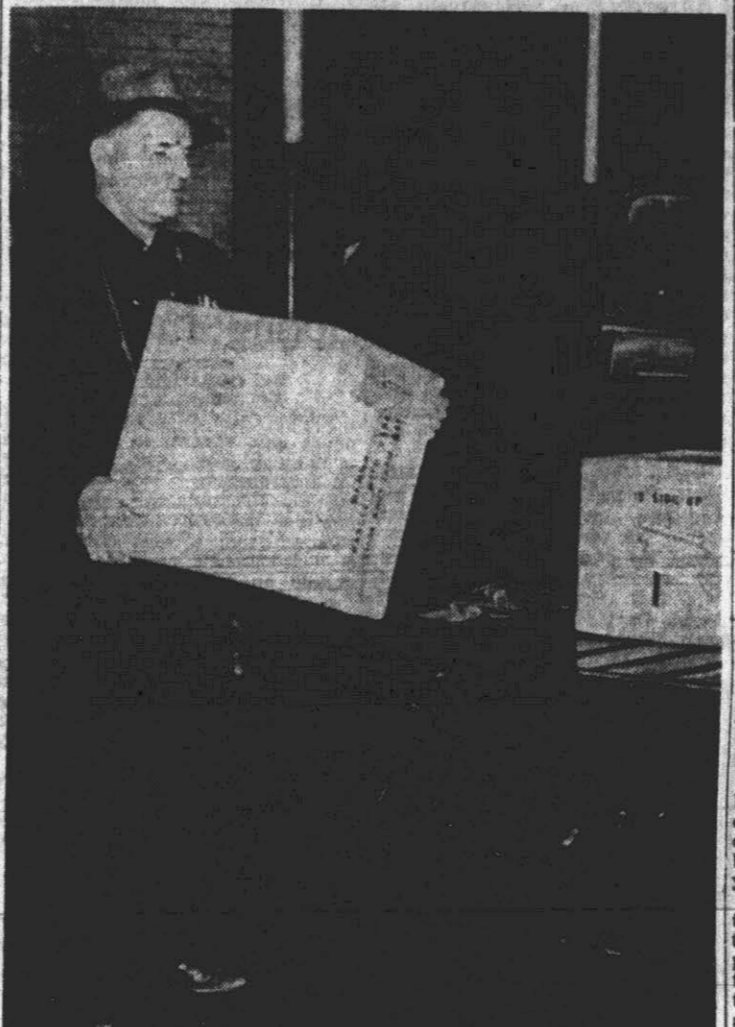

Eisenhower Silence Over Illinois Adds To Guessing

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Eisenhower's refusal to give assent or dissent to the entry of his name in the Illinois preferential primary led Republicans as uncertain today as before about his second intentions.

There were some new predictions that he will seek re-election, but no one claimed to see in the White House statement any clearer indication than Eisenhower gave a news conference Sunday at Key West, Fla.

He said then his mind is not so fixed that it cannot be changed. The clear implication was that he has made a tentative decision one way or the other, but he was careful not to say what it was.

Glamor Tips For Silver Tops

GRAY HAired CHARM Easy to achieve with new hair colorings that are temporary, easily rinsed out.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer
Women are not trying to disguise their gray hair these days. The trick is to make it look attractive. More than 20 million working women make industry and business conscious that they need them, their experience and their charm. Since the older woman is in demand these days why disguise one or many gray hairs? Most men do not. Why should women?

A great stride made in the hair coloring field is temporary coloring that may remove yellow discoloration from gray and white hair without making the hair look bluish purple. This affords the older woman a one-shade gray over her head—no black and varied shaded grays to contend with. What's more if she doesn't like it, the color can be rinsed out. A new color is touted as a come-alive-gray that won't rub off on combs, towels or bed clothing. Colors are prepared to run true from shampoo to shampoo, and do not contain peroxide. If the hair is gray to begin with, it may achieve a silvery tone, white hair can become a good pearl-white and salt and pepper hair may become a subtly smoky shade with these new hair colors.

Hair is the one feature that the older woman must be aware of if she seeks a job. As women become older hair is likely to become dry and dull, particularly if one strives to maintain its original color. But if hair takes its true course a woman may keep a uniform color all the while and look chic. Other charm pointers for older working women include these: 1. Wear dark dresses or suits in a good fitting line. Avoid gay large patterned dresses, although small prints are good for spring and summer. 2. Try not to lose a youthful viewpoint, avoid a stern attitude. 3. Frivolous accessories are likely to stamp you as in the dotage period. 4. Beware of too youthful coiffure—poorly tailored, unusual chignon arrangements. Stick to chic head-hugging hair arrangements. 5. Shoes are a great indication of character. Study your feet until you find the right type shoe for you. Avoid flat shoes if the ankles are large. Loafers are shoes if the toes are ugly. You'll find the happy-medium shoe just right for you if you pursue the idea.

Monday's Message To Have Balanced Budget

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to send to Congress Monday a balanced budget, but one that contemplates higher spending, and to indicate that outlays are likely to keep climbing in the next several years.

The actual budget totals are closely guarded until disclosed to Congress.

But on the basis of Eisenhower's State of the Union message and other official pronouncements it seems certain the budget will forecast: (1) spending of between 65 1/2 and 66 billion dollars in the next fiscal year; (2) income of at least that much; and (3) requests for appropriations well in excess of projected spending.

At the same time Eisenhower probably will revise his estimates for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, to predict a balanced budget with spending at about 64 1/2 billion dollars. That would be some three quarters of a billion dollars higher than previously forecast.

In his State of the Union message Jan. 5, Eisenhower said his budget would forecast a balanced budget in fiscal 1956 and 1957.

If a balanced budget is achieved this fiscal year, it will be the first since 1951.

The budget is being balanced even while spending is going up, because the expanding economy is enriching the government's income faster than spending is growing.

Aside from the balanced budget forecast, the most significant items in the forthcoming budget message, as indicated in previous announcements, are:

1. The expected sharp rise in appropriations requests — a reversal from recent years — because this indicates a rising trend of federal spending for some years to come.
2. An indicated sizable surplus of perhaps five billion dollars in the cash budget — because that could in given circumstances, virtually force a personal tax cut.

The cash budget includes receipts for social security and other trust funds which are not counted as income belonging to the government.

Such a surplus, if it increased at a time when business activity may be turning down somewhat, would increase the pressure to cut personal taxes.

This is so because a cash budget surplus means the government is taking more out of the economy than it is putting in. The quickest way to correct such a deflationary effect is by a tax cut.

Extra Time For Trustee Who Escaped Camp

A prison camp trustee, arrested in Greenville Monday afternoon, will serve an additional six months in jail because he escaped from a Craven County Camp.

Pete Williams, Negro, of Greenville, received the additional sentence in Craven County Superior Court. He was charged specifically with escaping from Prison Camp 203. Signing the warrant was Captain James Langley. The sentence was imposed by Superior Court Judge Malcolm Paul.

Williams was arrested in Greenville Monday afternoon after local authorities were notified of his escape.

He was originally sentenced in Greene County on a breaking and entering and larceny charge and was sentenced to three years and six months in jail.

Legion Sets Sights On More Liberal Pension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Legion told Congress today its No. 1 legislative goal this year is a half-billion dollar boost in veterans' pensions.

The plan would increase individual pension payments and make more veterans eligible.

National Commander J. Addington Wagner said passage of the pension bill would "spell the difference between despair and hope" for thousands of veterans.

Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex) of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, indicated in advance of Wagner's prepared testimony that the plan will face cool treatment.

Teague disclosed he had turned down an American Legion request that he introduce its bill. And he said the committee would not take up the plan before it has disposed of such other items as hospital repair, scholarships for veterans' orphans and "equalization" of various veterans' benefits.

The Veterans Administration figures the American Legion bill would cost $28 million dollars its first year with the amount to increase 18 per cent a year for some years thereafter. The Veterans of Foreign Wars is understood to be giving top priority to a similar Wagner asked that Congress:

1. Raise the present monthly pension rates of $66.15, $78.75 and $135.45 to $85, $105 and $150 respectively.
 2. Increase income limitations on veterans eligible for pensions from the present $1,400 and $2,700 to $2,000 and $3,500.
 3. Presume for pension purposes that any veteran age 45 or over is totally disabled and unemployed, and thus automatically eligible for a pension.
- About a half-million veterans are now getting pensions.
- On other legislative matters Wagner said his group:
1. Favors 51 of the Hoover Commission's recommendations affecting veterans' services and opposes 46, especially those possibly involving cutbacks of federal medical services, compensation and pension, veterans' job preference and Civil Service.
 2. Wants the termination date of the World War II GI home loan guaranty program extended three more years to July 25, 1960.
- The Canary Islands were named for their many large dogs (Latin canis), says the National Geographic Society, and the canary bird took its name from this archipelago.
- The kangaroo family has more than 50 members ranging from the foot-long muskyrat kangaroo to the 7-foot red and great greys.

Appeals Revoked Drivers License

A man convicted of drunken driving in Farmville Mayor's Court in October, 1954, is appealing to the State Supreme Court a Motor Vehicles Department decision to revoke his license for three years.

The state's highest court was asked in an appeal filed Monday to say how far the department may go in revoking the licenses of motorists twice convicted of drunken driving.

The question developed after the department revoked the license of Jasper Hymrick Harrell.

Harrell pleaded guilty in Farmville Mayor's Court in October, 1954, to driving drunk and was fined $100 and costs. The Motor Vehicles Department found that its records showed a Jasper Hymrick Harrell had been convicted in Edgecombe Superior Court in December, 1947, of drunken driving and revoked Harrell's license for three years.

Harrell eventually brought suit against Motor Vehicles Commissioner Edward Scheidt demanding that his license be returned. Attorney General William B. Rodman filed a demurrer. Last December, Judge Walter J. Bone overruled the demurrer and Rodman entered an appeal.

The earth's orbit is such that the sun is 3 million miles closer in January than in July.

Grifton PTA Hears Address By Judge

GRIFTON — Judge Albert Cowper of Kinston spoke to members of the Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday night on courts and highway safety. Judge Cowper gave statistics on miles of highways and automobiles in the United States, accidents, deaths and property damage, concluding from these figures that "the problem of safety on the highways is stupendous." The speaker said that "The seven billion dollars lost as a result of accident property damage could well be used for schools." He stated that with proper law enforcement and education in highway safety there can be considerable reduction in loss of life and property damage, and he commended the driver training program which is being conducted in a number of high schools in the state. The judge was introduced by Jack Calverly, president of the PTA. The Rev. Joseph Roberson gave the devotion.

Dunn Addresses Bar Association

Greenville attorney Albion Dunn, speaking at the January meeting of the Pitt County Bar Association here Tuesday, expressed praise for the high ethical standard of the legal profession in North Carolina. Dunn, who is chairman of the committee of Legal Ethics for the N. C. Council of the State Bar, traced the committee's history of rulings and opinions back to 1942. He pointed out that, as chairman, it was his duty to receive any inquiries on points of ethics and to forward the opinions reached by the full committee. Dunn also said that he had been requested by the State Bar to get an expression as to whether or not lawyers want to come under Social Security, either voluntarily or involuntarily. Upon motion, the bar voted to endorse coming under Social Security on a voluntary basis. W. W. Speight explained the provision made by the 1955 General Assembly for the establishment of

High Cost Of Living Said Ruining Love In France

LONDON (AP)—A complaint by French movie maker Rene Clair that the high cost of living is ruining love—even in France—brought a flood of feminine objections today. Clair, who has made millions out of his films about love, mused over the state of the art during a recent interview here. "When I was 17," sighed the 87-year-old movie maker, "I had a little bachelor's attic up under a Paris roof. Here I could allow myself a love life, but today no young man could afford such a place. It was suggested that no young Frenchman would be stopped by such a thing as not having a roof over his love affair.

"Ah, my friend," said Clair, "you are wrong. You forget the French love of comfort. The young man would not mind, but his lover would usually be a woman of 35. She would never like to be loved outdoors. When they are 35 and over they just don't like it."

That did it. The girls leveled their sights on Clair. "No, no," said 29-year-old Shiril Conway, an actress. "Indoors or outdoors—it makes no difference at any age provided the woman is in love."

"Truth is that before 25 a woman is shy about necking. But, I think it's much more romantic in the open air when the stars are shining and the night is warm."

Said novelist Daphne du Maurier: "Put the age up to 45 and I might agree with him—but not at 35." Avis Scott, 30, film actress and TV star said: "Why, out of doors is a splendid place for romance. If a woman really needs comfort with her love she can't really be in love with her man." Clair refused to even discuss the question of how an American woman might look on outdoor love-making. "Americans are afraid of love," he said.

TRUE PATRIARCH BRUNSWICK, Md. (AP)—Among the mourners for John Newton Waters, who died at the age of 95 last night, are 178 direct survivors. He left behind him 10 children, 48 grandchildren, 110 great grandchildren and 10 great great grandchildren, the family said. Waters farmed in Washington County most of his life.

Two Groups Will Seek Ilmenite

RALEIGH (AP)—Two groups have been given state approval to proceed with plans to explore certain public waters along the coast for ilmenite, a heavy mineral. The Council of State approved one agreement with Graham D. Monroe, formerly of Lillington and now living in Coral Gables, Fla. The other was with W. H. Rodenbeck of Morehead City and an associate, Eli Perry, attorney of Kinston.

All important fishing areas and oyster beds are excluded under the leases, according to State Geologist J. L. Stuckey. Ilmenite has been found in sand of sound bottoms and other coastal areas. It is a source of the metal titanium and also contains ingredients used in the manufacture of paints.

If ilmenite is found in commercial quantities, permission must be sought from the state to mine it. The agreements, it was explained, merely give the groups the right to explore for the mineral.

Paid For Repair Of Car In Blood

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The case of the damaged police car remained unofficial to the end. Two detectives, in it when it scraped the entrance to a garage, failed to make a report.

Police Chief A.E. Jansen said they could pay for the damage themselves. They found, in shopping around at garages that repairs would cost about $100. One garageman, however, remarked that the detectives looked healthy and said his sick sister needed blood for transfusions. The deal was made, unofficially—blood for repairs.

Virginia was the first permanent English settlement in North America.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found 13 motorists guilty of speeding and taxed them with court costs—$13 each. Speeding: John B. Bennett, 2308 Deal Place; Henry A. Baker, 103 Colonial Ave.; Earl L. Porter, 2601 East Fourth St.; James Sherrod, Negro, 1413 Short St.; Billy B. McKee, address unknown to police; Ruby M. Porter, 1302 Charles St.; Janice H. Evans, Rt. 5, Greenville; and Mrs. H. B. Mayo, Falkland.

Failure to yield right of way: John T. Wilson, Grimesland, not prosessed with leave; Willie H. Hines, Negro, 811 Hudson St. prays for judgment continued on payment of costs. The judgment also provides that Hines is not to drive a motor vehicle for six months unless he makes adequate restitution for property damage.

Louis A. Reeves, 1800 Forest Hill Drive paid $5 on costs for not stopping at a stop sign.

George Gardner, Negro, 1716 S. Pitt St., who was charged with the larceny of a pistol, was found not guilty. The court found him guilty of discharging firearms in the city and gave him 30 days, suspended on payment of court costs. Judge Whedbee also gave Gardner 60 days (consecutive) to be suspended on payment of $50 and costs.

Council Unwilling To Accept Offer

JUNCTION CITY, Ark. (AP)—The City Council of this village (pop. 1,016) sent a resolution to the state Public Service Commission endorsing a proposed increase in electric rates and urging that it be approved.

The PSC replied that if the council favored the boost, it had the power to put it into effect in Junction City. Then, 160 residents petitioned the PSC to ignore the council's resolution.

The council decided to pass up the PSC invitation.

A Doctor in the Family

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

CHAPTER TWENTY
Jasper recovered slowly; his unfamiliarity with illness and his natural progress made him reluctant to trust his body too soon, or too much. But gradually his natural vigor asserted itself, boredom took precedence over such pleasure as he had found in convalescence and there came a springlike day when the old man announced, somewhat belligerently at lunch, that he was going down to the stables that afternoon.

"Do you want me to drive you down Father?" Linda asked. "Perhaps you'd rather use your strength looking around down there."

"Maybe you're right, I reckon there'll be a lot to see to."

So, after an hour's nap, the old man, looking quite himself again in his broad-brimmed hat got into Linda's little car, and settled back in the seat of it.

The winter's sky was a clear and tender blue, the sunlight lay like a warm hand upon the pleasant scene. Old Jasper sniffed the air with pleasure.

The window of each stall door was open, through every one hung the head of a horse. Plume squealed at the sight of his master, and the other heads tossed, and lips curled back from hard yellow teeth. Hard feet pounded the floor planks. "Should have Plume out and runnin'," growled Jasper, but he was pleased at the greeting from his big buckskin.

Linda watched him go down the line—he had something in his hand for each muzzling mouth. Linda laughed, and touched the starter. "Have someone bring you home, Father," she called, "or phone me when you're tired."

He waved a hand at her—exasperated, no doubt. But he had given her his promise not to ride.

Of course, he overdid. Linda knew he would. Without any message she came for him at four, and found him white, tired, relieved to be helped into the car and driven back to the house. He was glad to lie down upon his narrow bed, propped high with his big pillows. Linda sat quietly by the fire until she heard his breathing deepen to a snore—and another.

"Miss Linda?" It was Clew at the hall door. Linda rose and went into the hall.

"What is it? I'm afraid Mr. Thornton got too tired."

"Yes'm. Ma'am says she wish you to come to the mornin' room—for tea."

Linda hesitated, then quietly told Clew that she'd be in directly. She went up to her room, put on a fresh blouse, ran a comb through her hair and then went down to the morning room where her mother-in-law was seated behind her tapestry frame.

Linda greeted Seretha, said that Jasper was sleeping—he'd "overdone." Seeing Seretha lean toward the window to thread a needle with garnet wool, she snapped on the lamps throughout the room; they'd need them by the time tea was brought in.

"Thank you, Linda," said Ma'am

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

By FAGALY and SHORTEEN

"The days are short . . ."
"But it's been like spring outdoors today."
"There was a little silence, and then Ma'am spoke. "I understand Alan is planning a trip."
"Yes," Linda said in a detached tone. "He leaves on Sunday."
"For a moment Seretha said nothing."
She had a purpose in sending for me, ran Linda's thoughts. I'll wait her out, make her state what she has in mind.
"I always hate to see Alan go off to a clinic or a medical meeting," said Seretha, in a coolly analytical tone. "Don't you?"
"No," said Linda firmly. "Why should I?"
"Because he always comes home discontented with his position here. And then I always have to persuade him that he is well located. I presume you have the same problem?"
Now Linda lifted her head and looked across at her mother-in-law. The tapestry frame was between them, and Ma'am's white head was down to her work. She had not waited for an answer to her question. "I've been fighting Alan for years on that point," she said resignedly. "He thinks he wants to be a city specialist."
"He'd made a very good one, I expect," murmured Linda.
"Now, my dear, you know that Alan would do better to content himself with the fine work we know he does as a country doctor. And that sort of notion is an especially futile indulgence for a man with his own hospital dependent upon him."
"He realizes that, Ma'am," said Linda softly. "The fact sometimes weighs upon him; he says he took on that responsibility too young."
"Oh, nonsense!"
"Alan is conscientious about his work. We both know that. He is grateful for what you, and Father, have done for him. He knows that it was you who persuaded Father to build the hospital and place him at its head. But one can't blame Alan for being sometimes a little overburdened and tired by all that such a position imposes upon him."
"Does he think a city specialist does not get tired?"
"We don't discuss the matter often enough for me to know. He gave up that dream when he accepted the hospital here."

"I don't think he has given it up, however. And that is why I say you should help me to keep him here. Where he belongs."
Linda frowned, and said nothing. "A wife can manage such things, Linda."
"I'm afraid I am not that sort of wife, Ma'am. I married Alan as a man capable of making his own decisions. And I still think he is capable. He must be the one to decide such important things as to where he will work, what sort of work he will do. He will decide it too, Ma'am. He'll do the right thing—the thing that is right in his own mind."
"Humph!" said Seretha, angrily. "That's exactly what he said about you!"
Linda lifted her head to look at Seretha. How she wondered, had Alan happened to say such a thing?
Now she was eager to prolong the conversation, but there was the sound of running feet in the hall, childish voices—and the twins plunged into the room, their apple-cheeks flushed. Their mother, they announced breathlessly, had said that they were to come here after school—she would stop by for them. Linda suggested that they hang their jackets in the hall closet, wash their hands, and tell Jacob that they would be present for tea.
The twins scampered off; they could be heard shouting, "Hi, Aunt Flora!" and the old lady came into the morning room, greeted Linda and Seretha and settled her perturbed, fluttering self into a chair.
"I wonder where Margaret went this afternoon?" mused Seretha. "Margaret has lots of interests."
Linda realized that, these days, she often met with the need to defend her sister-in-law. "Could be the dentist—shopping—a club or committee meeting."
"The twins came back, helping Jacob to bring in the tea things. Ann carried a napkin-covered basket of crullers. The butler set the tray before Ma'am, and left.
"You'll pass the crullers, won't you, Ann?" Linda asked.
"Oh, yes, sure," the child agreed.

East Carolina Cagers Gun For Loop Win No. 7 Against Guilford Quint

East Carolina's stakes in tonight's game with Guilford are high—and they get higher with each game. Coach Howard Porter's cagers will be gunning for conference win No. 7 without a loss and No. 43 straight on the home court.

Guilford, who suffered its latest loss to Western Carolina Tuesday night, isn't conceded much of a chance of upsetting the locals' apicart, although they are capable of playing winning basketball.

East Carolina opened its season with the Quakers in Guilford back in December. The Pirates had to fight all the way to squeeze out 77-67 score.

Not-So-Hot
The Quakers of Coach Dave Meridith are having difficulty staying above the 500 mark in games won and lost. They have two outstanding scorers but lack height.

The spark for them has been Bob Atlas, a tricky, hard-driving playmaker. He netted 23 points against East Carolina before and has since stripped the cords at a 15-point clip.

Rodney Edwards is the Quaker captain and one of the starting forwards. He contributed about 10 points each game and pulls in his share of rebounds. Jim Burgess, at 6-6, is the largest man on the team. Ed Harris, a 5-8 guard, can run like a deer and usually snowbirds for points. He canned 15 against the Pirates.

Among the Guilford reserves are Bob Loftin, Sam Getzinger, Doug Wood, Bob Young, Tom Dillon, Bob Tuto and Vince Brietenberger.

Captain J. C. Thomas will lead the Bucs into the battle. The flashy senior has always found Guilford defense to his liking. In Guilford, he threw up 20 points.

Hot Combe
East Carolina's explosive forward combo will be set. Don Harris and Nick Nichols scored 48 of the team's 80 points against High Point Tuesday. Harris is the fifth man in the conference scoring race with a 19.1 average. Nichols is averaging exactly 14 a game.

Guy Mendenhall, who played another good defensive game against High Point, will open at center. The Cary sophomore is hitting a 111 clip and sharing the rebound lead with Nichols.

Freddie James, the Virginia sharpshooter, will pair with Thomas at the guards. James has come into his own lately and against Elon flipped in 18 points.

Several reserves are expected to play roles in tonight's drama. Tim Smothers and Waddell Solomon are certain to see duty. Solomon played well in relief of James against High Point. Maurice Everette, Joe Plaster, Marion Hales, Harold Ingram and Dick Little likely will play, too.

Phantoms Meet ECC Frosh Winterville Tops For Benefit Game On Friday Grimesland

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's AA Phantoms will meet the ECC freshman quintet in a benefit game, beginning at 8:00 Friday night, with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes. The contest will be played in the ECC gym.

Coach Earl Smith's freshman cagers are an array of top-flight hoopsters that will definitely be favored to down the high school team. Every man on the starting freshman five has seen duty with the East Carolina Pirate varsity squad and at least one, 6-6 Tim Smothers, has been somewhat of a regular.

Starters for the college club will be Smothers and Joe Musgrave at forwards, Dick Little and Chester Knotts at guards and gigantic 6-10 "Yogi" Joe Plaster at the center spot. Plaster has given added strength under the backboards to the varsity Buccaneer quintet and will be expected to share rebounding honors tomorrow night with Smothers and Musgrave. The team as a whole, is comprised of individual aces, any one of whom is capable of hitting the double figures in the scoring department.

5-Game Streak
The opposing Greenville Phantoms are currently running a 5-game winning streak on the talents of two outstanding senior cagers. 6-4 Harold Edwards, who is averaging 20 points per contest, will combine his efforts with guard Ike Riddick to handle the brunt of the G-Man offense tomorrow night. Riddick is averaging 19 markers per contest and is leading the team in points scored with a total of 153.

Coach Boley Farley has fielded a scrappy crew of Greenies capable of high-scoring antics at times. Like their college foes, the Green boasts of five starters who often hit the double figures in scoring.

A large crowd is anticipated at the event, as in past years. This year's contest seems destined to be the most successful of any before it, due to the tremendous drawing ability of the players involved.

The game might be billed as a probable scoring duel between towering centers, Plaster and Edwards, however, the encounter will more than likely be a team scrap all the way. Other starters who will add to the high school's strength are Jerry Drum, Billy Johnson and Ray Hardee. The freshman five named above are the only ones named by Coach Smith as squad members. He mentioned no substitutes.

Jockey Dies Of Injuries In Spill

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Jockey LeRoy Nelson, 18, died today from head injuries suffered in a spill at the Agua Caliente, Mex., track on Sunday. He never recovered consciousness after the accident.

Nelson was either kicked by a hoof or struck the rail when his mount fell over another horse which had gone down with a broken leg.

As an apprentice, Nelson rode 300 winners and in 1954 at Golden Gate Fields. He scored 40 victories in 42 days.

Braves Deep In Left Field Talent

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves are dugout-deep in left field candidates, and with no squatter's rights at County Stadium seven baseball players are on the run in a wide open race.

The seven players in the running are outfielders Bobby Thomson, Chuck Tanner, Andy Pafko, Wes Covington and Al Spangler, plus first baseman Joe Adcock and first baseman-outfielder Earl Hersh.

Manager Charlie Grimm, with long ball threat George Crowe, slick-fielding Frank Torre and Adcock available for first base has said he plans to experiment with Joe in the outfield.

Adcock, 28, slipped to 264 last year, and missed the tail end of the season when a pitch by Jim Hearn fractured his right wrist. He recently signed a '56 contract and reported the break had knitted perfectly and gave him no trouble.

The 22-year-old Hersh, who batted .314 for Atlanta in the Southern Assn. last season, will make the switch to the outfield because of the Braves' overabundance of first sackers.

Thomson and Tanner, who split the left field chores in '55, both say they won't be counted out of consideration despite poor seasons. Thomson, never right after suffering a broken ankle in the spring of 1954, batted .297, Tanner 10 points less.

Covington, 23, and Spangler, 22, were teammates at Jacksonville in the South Atlantic League and both come highly recommended. Covington led the league with .326 batting average while Spangler batted .287.

Grimm has said Pafko, 34, still can help the club but, "I don't think he will be able to go 100 games this year." Pafko finished up with a .266 batting average in '55. Few can beat him as a first-rate utility man.

San Francisco's Defense Is Best

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten San Francisco, the nation's top-ranked basketball team, held the best defensive record among the major colleges today.

The Dons, who have won their last 38 games to move within one of tying the all-time record, have yielded only 626 points in 12 games for an average of 52.2 points. Oklahoma A&M's perennial ball-control specialists are next with 53.8 followed by Stanford with 54.6.

The talented San Francisco team, however, is not even among the first 20 on offense.

The highest scoring team is Morehead State of Kentucky with 1,173 points in 12 contests for a 97.8 average. The records include Tuesday's games.

Winterville Tops Grimesland

Winterville knocked off Grimesland in two games played in Grimesland this week. Winterville's girls won 49-38 and the boys by 57-56. Both were Pitt County Conference contests.

Evans of the winners paced both girls teams in scoring by bucketing 22 points. D. Evans had 14 and Stox 13. Mills canned 16 points for Grimesland. Tucker's 14 took runner-up honors.

Winterville won the game in the final period, scoring 15 points while holding Grimesland to nine.

The boys game was a thriller throughout. Both teams went into a scoring slump in the final period, Winterville scoring five to Grimesland's four.

Sawyer has 21 points for Winterville to pace both teams in scoring. Elks had 20 for Grimesland.

Eagles Sign Up Bob Pellegrini

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today announced the signing of Bob Pellegrini, University of Maryland linebacker and the Birds' No. 1 draft choice this year.

Pellegrini, who played guard and quarterback at Yatesboro, Pa. High School, handled a guard spot at Maryland his first two years there. He was a standout in the recent Senior Bowl and in the Maryland loss to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

The Eagles now have signed all three top draft choices for 1956. Previously placed in the Philadelphia fold were Frank D'Agostino, Auburn tackle, and Don Schaefer, Notre Dame fullback. All three are All America team members.

American League umpire Bill Summers has appeared in seven World Series.

TEAMS ARE MADE IN WINTER PRACTICES

In a season when you'd rather be inside than anywhere else, the East Carolina College footballers are, of course, taking to the outdoors for winter football drills.

Coaches Jack Boone and Jim Mallory greeted more than 45 prospective gridirers Monday. Approximately four weeks of head-knocking he ahead with the traditional Purple-Gold game to conclude the off-season rehearsals.

Dick Cherry and Ray Pennington were among the candidates who watched movies and participated in blackboard drills. Both Cherry and Pennington a quarterback and end, were North State Conference choices this past fall.

Six familiar faces will be missing next fall. No longer eligible are Louis Hallow, Emo Boado, J. D. Bradford, Bob Chambers, Harold O'Kelly and Harry Rainey. Hallow, the most decorated player in East Carolina history, will be the hardest man to replace.

The first week or so will be devoted to getting the fundamentals down and developing speed. The four weeks will also allow the coaches a chance to work with some of last season's freshmen.

"We'll have a lot of time to work with individuals," Boone commented, "and after all, winter drills are where next year's team is made. We have many boys who will be OK with a little special work."

The drills will afford us a chance to take inventory and find out just what we'll have to bring in next fall. We'll have to adjust our system to meet our personnel."

Mallory, line coach, inserted: "We expect a good four weeks of work. The competition will be keen, as we are seriously contemplating some line-up changes. There will especially be some good battles for line positions."

NORTH STATE NOTES: ELON COACH SAYS TEAM BEST EVER

Don Mathis, pugy coach of Elon's Christians, calls his present club the best basketball team he's ever had at Elon. "I know we got ears pinned back by East Carolina (105-69) Saturday but I still say this is my best team . . . and that when the conference tournament comes up, we're going to be tough."

Mathis has this season discarded one of the most sacred tenets of basketball—defense. And that's how East Carolina whipped his club so easily. He has employed almost exclusively a race-horse type of game.

"Why? 'Because we've got more scoring power than we've ever had before. But we've got a long way to go on defense, so we've had to get a lot of points to outscore the opposition.'" Until the ECC pitfall, Elon had averaged 98.6 points a game. The Christians hit 100 or more points in six consecutive games prior to the final game in the Parris Island tournament.

It's the same old story in the North State Conference scoring race. Basford Wells, Lenior Rhyne's Goliath, has taken up where he left off in 1954-55—right at the top. The 6-6 star has scored 205 points in nine games for a 22.7 average.

Kim Buchanan of ACC is runner-up with 188 points and a 20.9 average. Dave Abernathy of Appalachian has scored 20.6 per game for third and Bill Campbell of the same club is fourth with 19.3. On the strength of his 27 markers against High Point Tuesday night, ECC's Don Harris takes over fifth place with 213 points and a 19.1 pace.

The regular season reflects an infinite decrease in individual scoring in the league. Well's 22.7 average is far below record-breaking pace of 28.9 which he posted for all of last season. In addition, three other stars of last season finished with higher marks than the current No. 2 mark books.

OTHER SPORTS REFLECTIONS: MIDGET AND MITES AT PLAY

The 1956 midget and mite basketball program is in full swing with games being played in both the boys and girls divisions. The boys play at the Army on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The little ladies play at Wahl-Coates gym.

The midget league is for boys who had not reached their 14th birthday before Sept. 1, 1955 and any boy regardless of age over 5-feet-3. The mites should be eleven or under and not over 5-feet-3. The girls play regardless of age and height.

Coach Frank McGuire proved somewhat of a prophet recently. Just last week, the UNC coach had erected a new electric basketball scoreboard which has a three-digit scoring dial. Tuesday night, the Tar Heels hit over 100 for the first time in the school's history.

Do you have an idea what Americans spent on recreation last year? Here's some idea: $223 million on spectator sports; $577 million on play-for-pay sports; $1226 million for toys, games and sports equipment; $408 on pari-mutuel losses; and $1256 for bikes, boats, planes, ect.

You'll have to dig deep to find two scorers of the caliber of Ed Harris and Ike Riddick on one high school team. Fortunes of GHIS are looking up. Don't be surprised if the Phantoms Cop the North-eastern bauble.

EXTRA GOOD
because it's NATURAL

This demonstrates the value of sodium to soils (left). The crop was side-dressed with Chilean Nitrate of Soda (26 per cent sodium); at right, no sodium. The extra values—sodium and the minor elements—help account for Chilean's remarkable all-round efficiency.

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

For small grains, corn, cotton, tobacco, pasture, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda top-dressing and side-dressings assure lowest costs and extra profitable results. Here's why:

Natural Chilean is extra good for soil and crop because it's natural—the only natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements. Chilean Soda is the ideal way to feed a hungry crop with life-giving plant food.

Natural Chilean works fast. The nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen—ready to work immediately after application. This assures maximum yields and quality, protection against losses and extra profits per acre.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. 100 "Make sure you get NATCHEL" pounds produce as much or more crop than gets of NATCHEL 100 pounds of any other nitrogen fertilizer—regardless of nitrogen content. Also, every ton contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone in acid-destroying efficiency.

Natural Chilean fights acidity. Because it corrects acidity and improves potash, phosphate and minor element deficiencies, Chilean Soda is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for top-dressing and side-dressing. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND

You can have a bigger say than you think about getting bigger crops than you think with the ideal nitrogen top dressing—Nitrolime. All you have to do is make up your mind that your next growing plan includes generous top dressing with Nitrolime to give your plants the nitrogen food they need when they need it—from the time they start to shoot to full growth.

Non-acid forming Nitrolime gives you complete control of the nitrogen feeding problem that makes the difference between just normal yield and maximum crop production. Nitrolime gives you the benefits of the two most important types of nitrogen, both fast acting—nitrate nitrogen and ammonia nitrogen which stays with your crops, resisting leaching out and feeding them right up to harvest time.

Every handful of free-flowing Nitrolime consists of a guaranteed 20.5% nitrogen content, perfectly balanced and completely neutral. Its granular form makes it equally simple to apply by hand or machine, and it dissolves quickly to give your crops an immediate advantage.

Talk to your dealer or county agent—they'll tell you how you can as much as double your yields with the aid of Nitrolime.

NITROLIME for better crops all the time.

NITROLIME

DOUBLE SMALL GRAIN YIELD as many farmers have—they use a growing plan that calls for a topdressing of 100 to 150 lbs. of Nitrolime per acre, applied before grain starts to shoot. The benefits last till harvest.

Hungry Wolfpack Tackles Maryland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A hungry Wolfpack from North Carolina State will be out to regain some lost national honors when it tangles tonight with Maryland's basketball team.

The Pack got a 68-58 spanking by a sharp Duke team in its last outing and the defeat had a three-way blue. It broke a N. C. State win streak at 23, dropped the Pack from second to third place in the national rankings and opened the way for Maryland's assumption of the Atlantic Coast Conference lead.

Wolfpack Coach Everett Case figures double trouble ahead for his squad in the Duke game. They were let down, he says after the Dixie Classic (which they won) and ace scorer Vic Molodet was sidelined with an illness.

Mind you, Case is making no predictions, but he can't foresee any such complications tonight.

Bob Satterfield Had Chin In Way Of Holman Fist

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Satterfield's chin got in his way again last night, keeping him once more from crossing the threshold to heavyweight title contention.

Johnny Holman, a hulking 201-pounder with the reach of an octopus, outpunched three long rights to Satterfield's sensitive button.

Three times Satterfield, out-weighted by 17 pounds, fell like someone yelled, "Timber!"

He went down for a nine count in the second round of the nationally televised fight at Chicago Stadium, for eight in the third and finally the scheduled 10-round bout was stopped in the eighth.

Holman's right in the eighth flattened the 135-pounder. But Satterfield staggered up just at the count of 10 with eight seconds to go before the bell.

Referee Bernie Weissman stopped it, giving Holman a technical knockout.

Satterfield, at 32, was being boomed as bait for Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano. But all that appeared vanished now and the unpredictable fighter has returned to the also-ran class.

The most that can be said of Satterfield is that he provides a token of excitement in his bouts. He has scored 30 knockouts but has been kayoed 12 times. Just when he appears to be going places with a string of knockouts, someone finds his chin and out go the lights.

Holman, who had been clobbered by Satterfield twice before, showed some fitness with a left jab, something that he only recently developed. It seemed to have bewildered Belting Bob.

Since being handled by trainer Angelo Dundee, Holman, who is 28, has a keyo list that includes besides Satterfield, Ezzard Charles, Cesar Brion and Boardwalk Billy Smith.

The International Boxing Club has promised him a Feb. 17 date in Madison Square Garden against Nino Valdes or the winner of the Feb. 3, scrap between Bob Baker and Hurricane Jackson.

A crowd of 3,508 paid $8,651 to sit in on last night's fight.

Molodet is back and the Classic is far behind.

Are his boys "up" for tonight's clash? Case says his teams never point for any one game. "We play them as they come," the gray-haired mentor declared.

Tonight's engagement at College Park, Md., should be a study in style. The Wolfpack can play it any way, but they like to run. Maryland's Terps are precision, ball-controlling artists.

Meanwhile Duke's Blue Devils are presenting a serious challenge to N.C. State's long domination of the ACC. The Devils stomped Clemson last night 109-80 to draw into a tie with Maryland for the league lead.

Tonight's action has several possibilities as far as the sixth-ranked Duke is concerned. A Maryland win would give the Terps a slight percentage edge. A Wolfpack win would give Duke a slight hold on the top spot. Duke and Maryland are 5-1 in ACC play, and the Wolfpack is 3-1.

North Carolina could further confuse the issue tomorrow night with a victory over cellar dwelling South Carolina. The Tar Heels have a 4-1 conference record and are the ninth-ranked team in the nation.

Duke's shellacking of Clemson in the only conference game scheduled last night had a slight tinge that dispelled a note of gloom in the Blue Devil camp.

Two weeks ago, the Devils' leading scorer — forward Ronnie Mayer — plowed his chin into the hardwood during the Dixie Classic and opened a gash that required nine stitches.

The 6-4 cager, a product of Avon, Pa., was held to 13 points against South Carolina, compared with his 21-point average.

Mayer pumped in 20 in the Clemson game and showed his flashy form of old. Junior Morgan led the Devil attack with 21. The Tiger's Bill Yarborough took scoring honors with 38 points.

Ben Hogan Will Play For Charity

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Ben Hogan comes out of retirement tomorrow for charity, but his benevolence may not extend to other pros entered in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

Blazing Ben, who retired last June after failing to win the National Open, turned in a nifty 68 in a practice round Wednesday at Cypress Point and remarked, "I was putting better than I have in two years."

Both he and his crooner partner in the pro-amateur meet had said before that practice round that they did not expect they would raise a winning sweat during the $15,000, 54-hole tourney.

Crosby said he convinced Hogan to leave his Texas home by pointing out his appearance would increase the gate. The singer said he returned to play after four years on the sidelines because Hogan "was mighty persuasive."

After that Crosby shot a creditable practice 75 and Hogan fired seven birdies and an eagle for his 66.

Crosby for 10 years has been picking up the tab for the tourney and donating receipts to charity. He is putting out a $2,500 first prize for best pro and a $1,500 first prize for the play-for-pay man in the winning pro-amateur team.

In the starting field are 125 two-man teams, including such sharp-

Final Grid Game For Doak Walker

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sunday's pro game between the stars of the Eastern and Western conferences of the National Football League will mark Doak Walker's final appearance as a player.

"This will be my last football game," said the Detroit halfback. "I'm in good condition and ready for my best effort, which I want to be a really good one."

"I'm severing all connection with football. It has been good to me and I've made a lot of friends in the game. I don't plan to try coaching. It's true, I could change my mind on that, but I don't think I will."

Carmen Basilio To Defend Title Against Saxton

CHICAGO (AP) — Carmen Basilio will defend his welterweight crown against former champion Johnny Saxton, at Chicago Stadium Feb. 15.

The nationally televised 15-round title scrap, with the Chicago area blacked out, was approved last night by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

The commission, however, said that Saxton must sign his own contract for the fight in preference to his reported manager, Blinky Palermo, who has been under fire from the New York State Athletic Commission.

Saxton lost his title to Tony DeMarco, who in turn was dethroned by Basilio.

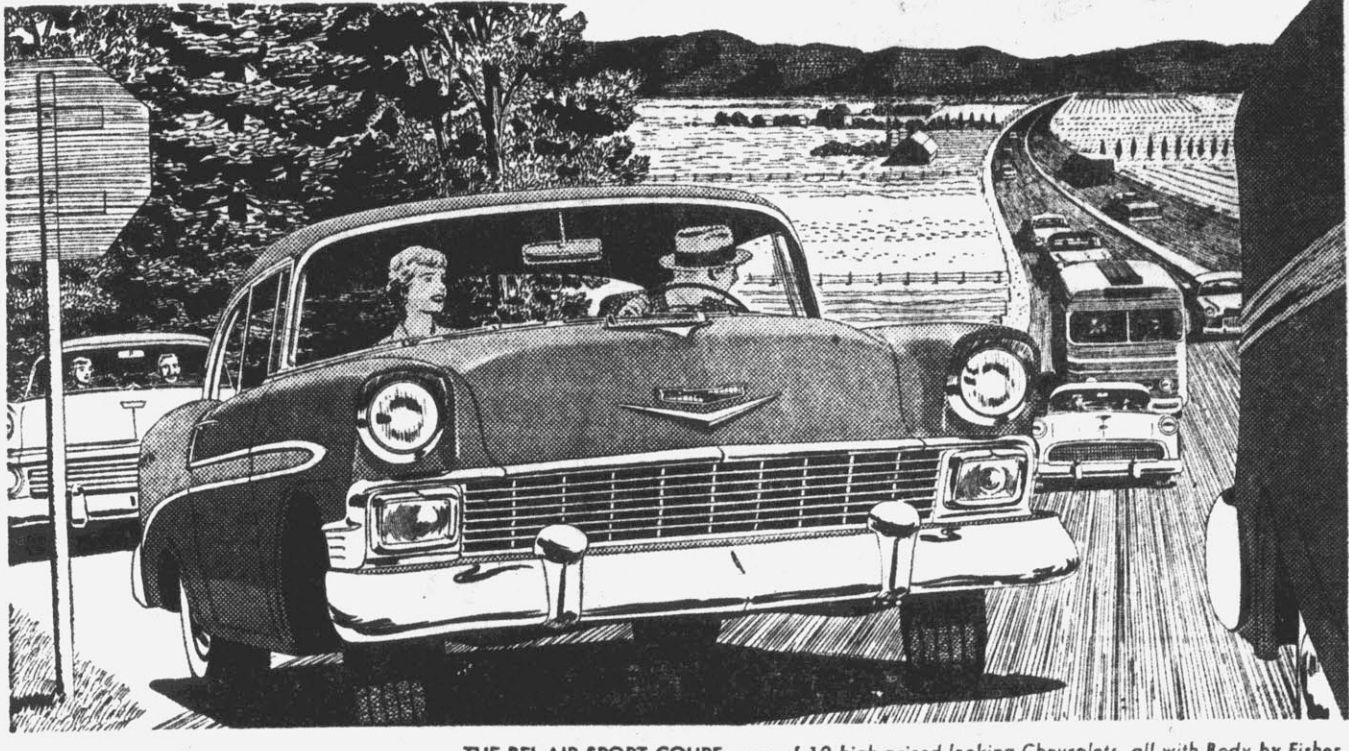

The International Boxing Club also announced the signing of Cisco Andrade of Los Angeles and Jimmy Carter of New York for a 10-round televised lightweight bout at Chicago Stadium on Feb. 1.

Views Clash At Rates Hearing

RALEIGH (AP) — Conflicting opinions were expressed over proposed sharp increases in extended coverage insurance rates at a public hearing yesterday.

The State Farm Bureau, the North Carolina Assn. of Broadcasters and a number of insurance agents spoke against the rate proposals, which were made by the North Carolina Fire Insurance Rating Bureau.

Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold, who conducted the hearing, said he would reach a decision after reading the case record.

The proposed hike in extended elision after reading the case record, 100 per cent and amount to an additional $3,803,920 in yearly premiums.

In addition, policyholders would be required to pay the first $50 damage from a windstorm under the deductible plan. Television and radio antennas would be excluded from the coverage and could be insured only under an additional fee of $7.50 along the coast and $5 inland.

Extended coverage offers insurance against damage from windstorms and other catastrophes.

William S. Bizzell, rating bureau manager, said the higher rates are "necessary to induce the companies to continue to offer this type of coverage."

The bureau also is asking for a 25 per cent increase in fire insurance rates on farm property, including farm dwellings. This, in effect, would institute a differential in rates for farm property which was dropped several years ago.

The fire insurance rates asked by the bureau would amount to an increase of $1,469,986 in annual premiums.

R. Flake Shaw executive vice president of the State Farm Bureau, and John E. Jones, manager of the bureau's insurance company, said they were "rather shocked" at the size of the proposed increases. They predicted that if granted they would have an adverse effect on insurance sales, particularly west of Greensboro.

Bizzell said that between 1945 and 1954 the insurance companies had a total of $29,612,287 in extended coverage premiums in North Carolina. He added that in the same period losses amounted to $32,618,178, with more than 24 million occurring in 1954 when Hurricane Hazel hit.

The North Carolina Insurance Agents Assn. objected to the proposed deductible and suggested there should be at least three territories in North Carolina instead of the present two for rating windstorm. These are coastal and inland.

William E. Webb Jr., Statesville agent, said no windstorm had been recorded in Iredell County since 1856 and, "I submit the rates should not be doubled there." He added, "If we go another 10 years without another Hazel the insurance companies are going to collect another 28 to 40 million dollars as a result of a freak (Hazel) that happened in 1954."

R. B. Woodson mutual agent from Raleigh, felt the proposals were justified. He said, "No matter how you divide the territories there will be some who have no losses who are going to have to help pay for the losses of others."

Hard Freeze For Weevils Needed

RALEIGH (AP) — Unless a good, old fashioned freeze comes along, Tar Heel cotton growers may be in for their worst boll weevil infestation in five years.

That was the word from George D. Jones, N.C. State College extension entomologist, before the annual pesticide school yesterday.

Jones said the infestation could be counted on unless the state gets several days of weather below 15 degrees in temperature.

While there may be some fields with few weevils in the early season in the more northern areas, declared Jones, it appears the southeastern areas may have more weevils than any year since 1950.

Jones also discussed other insect control. He said the malathion-methoxychlor mixture could become widely used. The Mexican bean beetle in the Hendersonville area shows a tolerance for rotenone and it appears the cabbage worm may also be becoming resistant to DDT, he explained. He

His Punishment Showed A Profit

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — An Air Force general, fined $500 and reprimanded, has profited by $2,440 in pay and allowances during the inquiry leading to his punishment.

Maj. Gen. Byron E. Gates, 60, former commander at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., was punished for giving preferential treatment to private insurance firms for his personal gain at the air base.

The Air Training Command yesterday told of Gen. Gates' profit. He had been retired with a monthly pay of $864. For the inquiry he was recalled to active duty for six months with a total pay of $1,294 a month. With the $500 forfeiture deducted, he was ahead by $2,440, the ATC spokesman said.

Daughter Killed By Wasp's Sting

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Sitting in the living room of their farm home last night, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Schuster heard a scream from a bedroom where their 10-year-old daughter Jeannie was sleeping.

As they burst into the room Jeannie gave a low moan and lost consciousness.

The bewildered parents tried frantically to determine what had happened.

Then Schuster found a dead wasp beneath the covers of Jeannie's bed. He called a doctor.

SAVE DOG BURIED 5 DAYS:—Heather Sneddon, 10, of Seattle hugs her wirehaired terrier Bonnis which was rescued alive after being buried for five days under a mud slide that demolished the Sneddon home. suggested 10 per cent toxaphene for use on both flea beetle and cabbage pests.

Jones added that there are some new pests about to plague Tar Heel farmers.

These include alfalfa weevils and loopers on tobacco. He said the looper is believed to be the same thing as the cabbage looper. The alfalfa weevil, which isn't especially serious at this time, can be controlled with aldrin or dieldrin, while endrin, one of the new tobacco insecticides, is effective with the looper.

Stray Dog Set Off Toll Debate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A stray dog and a thin dime have caused an almighty fuss across New York State.

Seems a toll collector at a State Thruway interchange at Canandaigua noticed a mutt moping around yesterday. Deputy Alan F. Johnston responded to the call and picked up the dog. Four miles down the highway Johnston refused to pay a ten cents toll. What about line of duty?

Toll collectors summoned a state trooper. Johnston dug deep.

Thruway headquarters now says it was all a mistake. Thruway police, not the sheriff's office, should have been summoned for the dog.

Johnston will get back his dime. And the honor may go to the toll collector who called the sheriff's office.

Now He'll Regret Pointless Gift

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — Note to Dominic A. Tata of Niagara Falls, N.Y.: That gift you left in Jackson yesterday turned out to be pointless.

As service station attendant K.O. Hankins tells it:

Tata drove his sputtering car into Hankins' service station, asked for a fountain pen, asked Hankins' name, and then signed over the title of the car to him. Tata asked and got a lift to the bus station for himself, his wife and their luggage.

Said Hankins later as he polished his car:

"I put a new set of points in the distributor and now it runs like a sewing machine."

Strong UN Condemnation Of Israel Appears Certain

By MAX HARRISON
UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Israel today faced a strong U. N. condemnation for her Dec. 11 attack on Syria and a warning that further such incidents would bring sterner measures.

Both Russia and the big Western powers were pressing for such action in the 11-nation Security Council meeting to consider their rival proposals.

The other council members were reported in general agreement that the body must go this far at least. The main point at issue was what form the resolution should take.

The Soviet proposal was worded more bluntly. It also demanded that Israel pay compensation for the loss of life and property in the raid, which was directed against Syrian outposts near the Sea of Galilee in retaliation for Syrian firing on Israeli boats on the lake. Fifty-six Syrians and six Israelis were reported killed in the raid.

The resolution sponsored by the United States, Britain and France makes no recommendation for compensation, but a U. S. spokesman said the United States feels there is a moral basis for such payment.

The spokesman said the United States was ready to take the lead in proposing that machinery be set up to study how to provide for compensation should there be further incidents like the Dec. 11 attack.

This time, he said, the council would only raise false hopes in the families of the victims by proposing compensation when no machinery exists to insure payment.

Both the Western and the Soviet resolutions reminded Israel that the council already had condemned it for previous retaliatory attacks on neighboring Arab countries and had appealed for the Israeli government to prevent such actions.

Both resolutions also expressed concern at what they called Israel's failure to comply with its obligations under the U. N. charter and the armistice agreement with Syria.

The Soviet resolution was the first substantive proposal Russia has ever submitted on the Palestine problem. Western delegates considered it part of a continuing campaign to win the Arabs over to the Soviet camp.

It was submitted to the council unexpectedly Monday night while the Western powers still were working on their proposal. The Western resolution was circulated late yesterday.

Primary Grade Work For Student Teachers

More than a third of the East Carolina College seniors who are doing student teaching during the winter quarter are preparing themselves as teachers in the primary or the grammar grades, according to a report just issued by Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of student teaching and placement at the college.

Participating in the program are 135 seniors, including 46 men and 87 women. Students gaining practical experience in classrooms in elementary schools number 47. Those teaching in high schools total 86 students, Dr. Oppelt states. The work is being carried on in 17 cities, towns, and communities in the eastern part of the state.

The 47 seniors teaching in elementary schools have assignments in the Wahl-Coates Laboratory School on the campus, the West Greenville and other city schools, and the Raleigh public schools. Grade levels and the number of seniors working in each are: first 6, second 7, third 6, fourth 3, fifth 9, sixth 6, seventh 7, and eighth 2. One student is teaching art in classrooms of several Greenville schools.

The 86 seniors assigned for classroom work in high schools are teaching in the Greenville High School, seven other high schools in Pitt County, and eight schools in other Eastern North Carolina towns. The various fields of instruction and the number of student teachers working in each are: business 23, health and physical education 13, home economics 12, English 9, social studies, 8, science 7, music 6, mathematics 4, and industrial arts 4.

Dr. Oppelt presents a summary of centers and the number of student teachers working in each: Wahl-Coates campus school 41, other Greenville elementary schools 5, Raleigh 1, Ayden 6, Belvoir 1, Bethel 5, Chicod 4, Farmville 5, Grimesland 4, Winterville 4, Bailey 2, Kinross 9, Lucama 2, New Bern 2, Robersonville 2, Rock Ridge 2, Tarboro 4, and Washington 14.

Dr. Oppelt is coordinator of the student teaching program at East Carolina. Supervisors from the college faculty and from the public schools working in the program direct the activities of the East Carolina seniors preparing themselves as teachers.

Good Results Found In Anti-Clotting Drugs

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Many crippling and fatal brain strokes apparently can be prevented by wise use of anti-blood-clotting drugs.

The drugs are bringing encouraging results against brain strokes caused by formation of blood clots blocking main arteries to the brain. They cannot help against strokes due to other causes, such as the blow-out of weakened arteries in the brain.

Dr. Clark H. Millikan and Dr. Robert G. Siskert began using the drugs on patients suffering from special types of strokes. These strokes bring numbness, staggering gait, weakness, sometimes temporary paralysis of the eyes or limbs, slurred speech, unconsciousness or other troubles.

Some persons have several such strokes a day, or several a week. Without treatment, many die within a short time when a severe stroke hits.

These strokes apparently come because blood clots are building up in either the basilar artery, or the carotid artery which runs up through the side of the neck. Autopsy studies showed that fatal clots in these arteries have a layered appearance, as though they had been built up gradually in layers.

The Mayo neurologists reasoned that each little stroke might be due to temporary interference in blood flow to the brain as the clot increased in size with a new layer. Anticoagulant drugs might prevent that each little stroke might be due to blocks the artery completely, death or severe and permanent damage results.

Dr. Millikan and Dr. Siskert report promising results from daily or regular use of heparin or dicumarol, the same anticoagulants often used in treating heart attacks caused by blood clots.

In a number of patients, the little strokes stopped completely with no further trouble. Other patients showed great improvement. The drugs have been used to date on 59 patients, with only 14 per cent succumbing to strokes. But in another 23 persons not given the drugs, nearly half have since died from strokes.

The studies are continuing.

House Probers Will Follow Up On N. C. Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee will follow up testimony in a Smith Act trial in Greensboro, N. C., last summer with hearings into alleged Communist activities in North Carolina.

Committee aides would not elaborate beyond saying an investigation was under way and a hearing is scheduled for March 12 in Washington.

No witnesses will be named until the committee investigator completes his report.

In Charlotte, N. C., Ralph G. Clontz, who testified at the Julius I. Scales trial, said he would be available for the hearings, although he has not received an invitation to appear.

Clontz indicated, however, that he might have much to tell. He said he hasn't publicly named every Communist he knew of during his five years as an FBI undercover agent within the party.

Clontz added that every "Red rat in the Carolinas is worrying now whether Scales discussed him or her with me."

Scales was identified at his trial as the chairman of the Communist Party's Carolinas district. He was convicted of advocating the overthrow of the federal government by force and violence.

The U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld his conviction and six-year jail term. Scales has until Jan. 16 to appeal to the Supreme Court.

Two previous federal proceedings have touched on reports of communism in North Carolina. The Senate Internal Security subcommittee heard Paul Crouch testify that the Communist party had "a very large organization on the campus of the University of North Carolina" in the 1930s. Crouch identified himself as a former Communist and native of Wilkes County, N. C.

Clontz, a Charlotte attorney, testified "about a 'legged commu' in North Carolina at a Subversive Activities Control Board hearing into Communist-front organizations in New York City."

TROPICAL FLORIDA BLASTED BY ICY WINDS.—Cold and biting winds from a gigantic storm in the Atlantic ocean have brought strange winter weather to tropical south-east Florida. Citrus crops apparently have escaped major loss but damage to tender growing vegetables in southeast Florida is estimated at millions of dollars. (AP Wirephotos).

WASHINGTON (AP)—A few dates and statements out of the life of Secretary of State Dulles offer some insights into his ideas about foreign policy and his handling of it.

In April 1952, after watching the Truman administration for seven years devise various means for blocking Soviet expansion — such as foreign aid and military alliances — Dulles said: "The United States was too much on the 'defensive' when it should have taken the initiative. It was 'dancing to whatever tune' the Russians played; and 'most of our actions have been reactions to Soviet Communist actions.'"

Since he became secretary of state in 1953 he has followed in a general way the broad policies of former President Truman: a continuance of foreign aid and even more military aid. It is perhaps the only way. No one in authority has advocated another.

Last Nov. 29 Dulles told a news conference the United States "very distinctly" had the initiative in the Middle East. He said: "I believe what we are doing (in the Middle East) is of incomparably greater importance and significance than these tentative proposals the Soviets are making."

After this expression of confidence the secretary said the United States was not going to be drawn into an attempt to match every offer of economic aid the Soviets may make to the Middle East and Asia.

But on Dec. 20 — by this time the visits of Soviet leaders to the Middle East and Asia were being considered a propaganda success, at least — Dulles made it known the administration wanted to step up its aid to the Middle East.

And President Eisenhower — although there has been congressional opposition to continuing and prolonging foreign aid — said in his Jan. 5 State of the Union message his administration wanted to set up a 10-year foreign aid program.

Then yesterday Dulles, with Eisenhower's approval, called on the nation to "wake up" to all the implications facing this country in its struggle to keep the backward countries from Russia by economic help.

It wasn't the call so much that was unusual as the way in which it was made.

Dulles and his State Department have responsibility for making for Memory Helps A Busy Producer

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Holly B. Walker of Nearby Plain City is convincing proof of the old saying — if you want something done, ask a busy man.

Walker, 55, is an assistant bank cashier, secretary and a director of a savings company, village clerk, a church treasurer, elder and clerk chairman of the village's annual flower show, secretary of the board of park trustees and secretary of the village sinking fund trustees.

He admits that this confusion of duties might get out of hand. But he says he handles it all right because he has a good memory.

sign policy. But Dulles said he underdeveloped countries economically might cost this country the cold war.

Why Dulles had not long before this called on the country to "wake up" or why the warning had to be thought up by the U.N. delegation instead of the State Department isn't clear.

Sixty-Six Burn To Death Aboard Korean Vessel

SEOUL (AP)—Sixty-six passengers, trapped in a third-class cabin, were burned to death today as flames roared through a small coastal ship, Korean national police reported.

Police said a cabin boy dropped a kerosene lamp, turning the cluttered, below-deck cabin into an inferno.

The cabin boy, Park Chong Chul, 20 and the captain, Kim Han Suk, were arrested on a charge of negligence.

The 130-ton ship was docked at Samchongpo, about 60 miles west of Pusan on Korea's southern coast.

Eighteen persons were reported injured. The 65 dead included 7 small children.

Flames boiled up from the straw mat floor, spread to cotton quilts and blankets. Within seconds the tiny cabin was a sea of flames.

First class passengers scurried to safety, but nearly all the third-class occupants were trapped and died, police said.

The ship was reported carrying 127 passengers.

The fire raged for three hours, almost completely consuming the vessel.

It was South Korea's biggest ship disaster since Jan. 9, 1953, when a passenger ship capsized off Pusan with a reported loss of 249 lives.

'Theft' Proved A Family Affair

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A Fort Hood soldier complained to officers that $500 had been taken from him while he slept.

Investigators recovered $100 from one woman, then began looking for a second woman seen with the soldier.

Several days later the GI sheepishly reported the second woman was his wife who had taken the other $400 for safekeeping and returned to the couple's home in Fort Worth.

$3,000,000 FIRE HITS HOUSTON.—Damage estimated at three million dollars was done by this fire on the ship channel at Houston, Tex., Tuesday. A 1,000-foot pier and a 12,500-ton drydock were burned and a derrick barge was damaged. This picture was made while fire boats and firemen ashore were battling the flames. For awhile it appeared that the huge crane in the background would fall, but it remained standing. No one was injured. The cause of the fire was not determined immediately. (AP Wirephoto).

Data On Wake Forest Probe Said Not Ready

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The chairman of the committee that investigated Wake Forest's administration says he'll turn over testimony taken during the probe when it's all together.

Furthermore, Andrew J. Hutchins of Canton challenged an inference that his committee is withholding its findings from the executive committee of Wake Forest's Board of Trustees.

Hutchins had this to say in a prepared statement:

"My committee and I have rigidly avoided controversy and statements in the press. But I cannot let this libelous attack on the character and integrity of the members of our committee go without challenge."

Hutchins referred to an indirect accusation by Odus M. Mull of Shelby, new chairman of the board of trustees, that the investigating committee was delaying delivery of a transcript covering part of the group's findings.

Hutchins confirmed that part of the transcript had been delivered to Basil M. Watkins of Durham, immediate past chairman of the board of trustees. He said a court reporter is still working on the remainder of the testimony taken in Winston-Salem and Wake Forest.

Mull, when informed of the Hutchins' statement, said he only did what the executive committee ordered him to do when he sent a telegram to Hutchins requesting immediate delivery of the committee's material. Adder Mull:

"It's my duty to get the material before the executive committee as quickly as I can do so properly."

Hutchins said in his statement that his committee "is made up of high-class, honorable people who would not stoop to anything low and cheap. We have conducted this investigation on a high plane."

Hutchins released a telegram to Mull which read, "As soon as our transcripts are received and we can comply with the terms of the resolution passed in Winston-Salem Dec. 22, full information will be turned over to you."

Map Campaign At Grass Roots

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—Political leaders of Georgia have called for a "great crusade" on the county level to prevent mixing the races in a move which openly defied U.S. Supreme Court decisions on segregation.

Plans were outlined yesterday at the first grass roots meeting of the State Rights Council of Georgia, Inc., in this southwest Georgia city.

Gov. Marvin Griffin headed a parade of speakers who emphasized that organization of the recently formed council must be carried out through all levels in the counties.

"The rest of the nation is looking to Georgia for the lead in segregation," he declared.

Asserting that he "did not believe in the decisions of the Supreme Court," Griffin pledged that "as long as I am governor of the state there will not be any mixing of the races in schools and colleges at any time or any place."

Former Gov. Herman Talmadge said he felt that "the meeting here today is the beginning of a great crusade which will sweep the state and Southern regions to let the world know regardless of what the Supreme Court says, does or thinks that by the grace of God, Georgia will continue running its own affairs."

Weatherman Sent Regrets

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Dr. Irving F. Erick, Denver cloud-seeder, sent his regrets and said he couldn't be guest of honor of a little theater group here. The Mayde Mack Mummies opened in a play called "The Rainmaker."

The sent Erick a special invitation and offered him the umbrella concession free.

REAL SERVICE

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Now this is what you call ambulance service! Mrs. Anna Reineke, 74, was hit by a taxi as she crossed a street yesterday. Deputies said she was in a hospital for treatment of a broken leg less than three minutes after she was struck. An ambulance returning to the hospital was running behind the taxi.

Old Locomotive Idle As Fame Is Spread

JUST FOR FUN—Antique locomotive 761 stands in a park, the visible assets of its own nonoperational railroad company.

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (AP)—Fe. With 50,000 shares of common stock and some very uncommon stockholders, the Santa Fe, Wickenburg and Hassayampa River Valley Railroad is right on schedule—and not paying out a dime.

The firm's only piece of rolling stock was set up in the town park as a showpiece last spring. It's Old 761, an antiquated locomotive donated by the Santa Fe Railroad.

By the time citizens dragged it into place, they swore it had square wheels and vowed never to move it again.

Stock at one cent a share was issued to finance a historical museum. Some of the most impressive names in American finance subscribed. Who wouldn't? Look at the prospectus:

"No interest to collect. No coupons to clip. No income tax to pay. No labor problems, because all the labor has been done. No operating difficulties, because it doesn't operate."

"No passenger problems, because we don't give a damn whether anybody rides or not."

Chief architect of this happy-go-lucky financial policy is Bill Weeks, the chamber of commerce chief town crier.

Some of the major stockholders: Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I ace and chairman of the board of Eastern Airlines; Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks; Roland Harriman, chairman of the board of Union Pacific Railroad and Fred Gurley, president of Santa Fe. Eyeing the names from big business, Bill Weeks says, winking "I'm afraid that a proxy fight will develop when we select a board of directors."

Questions arise like: What will the heaviest shareholder, Harriman, try to do with his 2,500 shares? Will Rickenbacker attempt to move into railroads? Will Gurley try to wrest control of the SF&HRVRR? Will Tommy Phillips, Wickenburg newspaperboy who owns five shares, try to force out the tycoons?

Weeks is busy reaping the reward from his publicity stunt.

of the contemporary world, now great; his collection of Lincolniana; his hundreds of volumes of poems.

Literary experts say that on the open market the collection would bring much more than $30,000, perhaps three to four times as much. But Sandburg decided to sell to the University, a spokesman said, because he wanted the collection to remain together.

Sandburg, born in Galesburg, Ill., and for years a familiar figure on Chicago streets when the city was a haven for the new poets

Mental Examination For Man Who Collected Wives

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A newspaper circulation manager who collected four wives but only one divorce will get a mental examination before he starts his 5 to 8-year prison term.

Judge J. C. Rudisill, who sentenced 33-year-old Frank King Owen in Mecklenburg Superior Court yesterday, ordered the examination of the defendant's request. Commented Judge Rudisill: "A man that's had that many wives can't have had too much wrong with him."

The Newton jurist added, "there must be something about you women see that I don't."

Owen was charged with two counts of embezzlement, two charges of passing bad checks, one of them to buy his fourth wife a wedding ring.

He was given concurrent terms of two to three years at hard labor on each of the embezzlement charges, three to five at hard labor for bigamy and had prayer for judgment continued on the check charges.

Owen pleaded guilty to all but one embezzlement charge. He offered a plea of no defense to the other embezzlement charge.

The Charlotte officer who handled the investigation, Capt. W. A. McCall, unfolded Owen's marital career from the stand.

He testified that Owen had married a Cambridge, Mass., girl in 1947. Later they were divorced. Then he married a Charlotte girl in Chester, S. C., in 1952. McCall said Owen took a third wife in Chester, S. C., but without divorcing wife No. 3. Thus the bigamy charge. Marriage No. 4 was undertaken in Concord.

Judge Rudisill questioned Owen closely about the last marriage which was to a 23-year-old girl who knew nothing of Owen's marrying career.

"Did you think you could have two women in the same town with each other and them not know it?" the judge asked.

"Like the captain said," Owen replied, "I must be sick."

"I've been on the bench a long time," Rudisill declared. "But I've never seen one like you."

Owen was brought back to Charlotte Tuesday from Wayne, Mich., where the FBI had picked him while honeymooning with his fourth wife in his third wife's car.

Owen was accused of embezzling more than $1,300 from the Charlotte News, where he was employed as a district circulation manager, a few days before his church wedding to wife No. 4.

Lamented Owen from the witness stand: "All I ever wanted was a home and children."

A Round House, But Biggest Ever Built

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You can hear all kinds of gags about Capitol records' new circular building. Such as: "They're delaying the construction because they don't know whether to put it on at 33 1-3 or 33 1-2."

Well, the 150-foot structure does look a little bit like a monstrous stack of records to the motorists who drive past it on the Hollywood Freeway. But that was just an accident, says Capitol President Glenn E. Wallichs.

Wary of the jokes but proud of his building, Wallichs gave me a tour through the new place as it neared completion.

"The round design was the idea of the architect, Welton Becket," he explained. "At first I rejected it—sounded too much like a cheap stunt. But he convinced me it would be the best possible design for our purposes."

"And it has turned out beautifully. Making the building round has not been more expensive. In fact, we may have saved some money on the final cost. And we've got a building that will be a real landmark."

Wallichs boasted that the Capitol building is the only circular structure of its size in the world. (Its 13 floors are as high as a private building can go in Los Angeles.)

The capitol building is half a block north of Hollywood and Vine, and it's completely modern, from its underground echo chambers to the 92-foot needle atop its tower. The street floor is occupied by three studios where stars like Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Margaret Whiting, Nat Cole and Tennessee Ernie will record.

The circular pattern begins on the second floor. It is indented to a 75-foot diameter to give the rest of the building a floating effect.

You get that effect on the third floor. Like those above it, it has a 90-foot diameter and you sense somewhat the sensation of being suspended in space.

The design appears to have worked out very well. The core of the building includes the service areas—elevators, washrooms, closets, corridors. Offices occupy the rim of the circle, affording a maximum of window space.

The bill: two million dollars.

Contribution Of England To U. S. TV Pleasure

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—In the aftermath of the great success of "Peter Pan" on NBC-TV we're inclined to forget that the original genius of that wonderful fantasy was a small, shy Scottish writer named James M. Barrie.

Within 24 hours of this week his extraordinary talent was represented twice by the best of entertainment on the TV screen. His play "Dear Brutus" received a fine production with Helen Hayes and S. J. Strasberg on C-10 (CBS-TV) Sunday. And on Monday, of course, came the revival of the musical version of "Peter Pan" with Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard.

Like many another talented Scotsman, Barrie had to go south to England to achieve artistic maturity. And his name sets one to thinking about the British influence on the new medium of television.

We gave the British the idea for commercial television. But they have given us some of the best plays and performers seen on our screen in the past year. To name only a few:

Noel Coward, who returns to TV Saturday evening on Ford Star Jubilee (CBS-TV) to star in his own delightful comedy-fantasy "Billie the Spirit." Ritchard, a product of the English stage who has become a leading TV actor—quite apart from his dual role in "Peter Pan."

Tonight on Climax Canadian-born Raymond Massey stars in his own play, "The Hanging Judge," a drama of British justice, with the Christmas season in his TV re-igns . . . The best regular program of movies on television is ABC-TV's Famous Film Festival Sunday evenings—composed exclusively of British films . . . One of the best TV dramas of recent weeks was "Edward, My Son" on U.S. Steel Hour (CBS-TV), a play of English theme, written by an Englishman and starring a fine English actor, Robert Morley.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke . . . Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" was with us as profusely as ever in the recent Christmas season. . . Charles Laughton, an Englishman, gave us the best entertainment of

Horse Business Is Still Good After 30 Years

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)—William Landsberg's place of business, like the three busy highways that intersect in front of it, is humming these days. But it's tuned to a far slower kind of traffic.

Landsberg is a horse equipment dealer, and his trade is better than ever.

"Before automobiles," he says, "only the wealthy could afford horses for pleasure. Today the working man and his children have taken up riding and the harness business is becoming more popular."

He opened his store in 1926 to give the right atmosphere he bought up scores of old carriages from wealthy families and still has many of them scattered around the grounds. He has in his possession a horse-drawn station wagon built 75 years ago, a chuck wagon, a western coach, top buggies, sleighs, racing carts, cutters, assorted carriages and a collection of 300 horse bits.

"The horse," Landsberg says, "is here to stay."

Half A Puzzle Is Not Worth Much

ORLEANS, Neb. (AP)—When Mrs. Edna Heinze's grandchildren came for a visit, she gave them a jigsaw puzzle to play with.

The visit over, Mrs. Heinze proceeded to clean up and found only half the puzzle. Since half a puzzle is no good, she threw it away.

A few days later, while cleaning, she found the other half of the puzzle.

She reasoned again, half a puzzle is no good, and threw it away.

Resignation Due To Tie's Color

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A man who wore a red necktie after Eva Peron died was forced to resign from his job, an investigating committee has been told.

Antonio Carrino, ex-president of the Bank of Santa Fe Province, admitted he "put pressure" on Venancio Vallirain, manager of the Belinco bank branch, because Vallirain wore a red tie after July 26, 1952.

For weeks after Eva Peron died citizens were exhorted to wear black ties in mourning.

Before 1800 the United States Congress sat in eight cities—Philadelphia, Baltimore, Lancaster, York, Princeton, Annapolis, Trenton and New York.

Afraid Someone Would Get Shot

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—At the height of a big fire, police radios in emergency equipment at the scene began blaring: "emergency, emergency, come in police unit."

"Sure I heard them hollering," a workman said, "but I waited for you to come. I was afraid someone would take a pot shot at me."

ESC Officials To Explain Law

Employment Security Commission officials will hold a meeting here Monday night to explain to a select group of employers a new amendment to the state Employment Security Law.

The meet is set for 8 p.m. at the city court room.

Those employers requested to be present are the ones who employ from four to seven workers. Previously, only employers who employed eight or more workers were affected by the law.

The move will mean that 10,350 employers and 60,000 more workers will be covered by the state Employment Security Law than previously.

Passed at the 1955 meeting of the General Assembly, the new law came after the federal government had amended its Unemployment Tax Act to extend its provisions to employers of four or more workers.

The N. C. amendment was enacted to conform with the federal law. Further information may be obtained from W. B. Dillingham at the Employment Security Commission office here.
