Barnhill wore a white orchid, while those in the receiving line and assisting with the reception wore corsages of large gold chrysanthemums; the boutonnières were white carnations. Assisting the hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barnhill of Stokes who greeted the guests at the front door. Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
Miss Edith Simester, who has been missionary service in China and in Brazil under the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, has recently been transferred to Korea where she will engage in the teaching of adult literacy under the auspices of the Korean Literacy Association. Miss Simester (who was born in China of missionary parents) has recently been studying at Cornell University to prepare herself for literacy instruction and writing.

Juvenile delinquency is basically and essentially a moral problem which cannot be solved by purely secularistic means, says the Catholic Lawyer's Guild. "Children without religion are deprived of the strongest motivation for good conduct. It is fair to a child to give him, as the only reason to avoid wrong, that it is 'socially unacceptable in a democratic society' and may lead to punishment? ... More must be done in teaching moral and spiritual values based on religion both at school and in churches in school hours. Although the public high school cannot legally give such instruction, it does not follow that it could not legally credit such instruction taken elsewhere."

Dr. Madeleine Barot, Geneva, Switzerland, a member of the World Council's "Commission on Cooperation of Men and Women" says that church women of America have a responsibility and a great opportunity to help raise the educational level and advance emancipation of women in many countries of the world undergoing rapid social change. The need for women to be accepted as "co-workers" with men is "the burning question," she says in Asia, Africa, Latin America and in many parts of Europe. Men, she adds, need to accept women as real partners and co-workers and to give up the practice of running the world alone. "Women must be willing to find out that cooperation means full acceptance of the interdependence of men and women and that the relationship of men and women has a special potential richness as much in the spiritual and cultural realm as in the biological realm."

Junior Woman's Club Has Meeting

The Junior Woman's Club of Greenville held a program meeting at the Wgman's Club Building last Wednesday night at 8:00. After the praying of the Club Collect, the president, Mrs. Thomas Vicars, welcomed three guests, Mrs. Juanita Lewis, Mrs. Jimmie Jordan and Mrs. Rebecca West.

Following the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Mack Stocks, the club voted $10 be donated to the March of Dimes Campaign. The club has also voted $150 to be donated to the Children's Home Society out of the Watson Memorial Fund. The problem of where to install the Junior Woman's Club road sign was also discussed.

The meeting was then turned over to the chairman of the American Home Department, Mrs. Hoyl Naron, who introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. E. E. Tunell of Quinn, Miller and Stroud Furniture Store. Mr. Tunell is a past president of the Greenville Furniture Dealers Association, a member of the Shopping Committee of the Southern Retail Furniture Association of High Point, and also winner of the Blue Ribbon Buyer Award of 1954 by the National Furniture Association of Chicago. Mr. Tunell showed two roles of slide pictures—one on the Key to Color, showing how to build color schemes in various type rooms, and the second on how to choose furniture using and mixing different periods of furniture for the most attractive effects.

A social hour after the program was enjoyed, while the hostesses, Mrs. R. D. Harrington and Mrs. N. C. Pierce, served dessert and coffee.

Mere Charm Is Not Sufficient

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
Today's young women need something more than a knowledge of how to be charming. Dean Eleanor Tupper of Endicott Junior College, Beverly, Mass., thinks it's a big help if they also know how to earn a living.

Dean Tupper is the wife of a Lutheran minister, the Rev. George O. Bierke, who also happens to be president of the college, and who is heartily in accord with her determination that their two small daughters, Priscilla and Barbara, are going to learn how to earn a living by the time they are through college.

This husband-and-wife team runs the small New England college strictly on the basis of helping students get practical training for careers. A requirement for graduation is one month each year spent in actual work on a job.

"Every December we send the girls out in the business world in the various fields of their choice," says Dean Tupper.

The college includes the usual arts and science courses in its curriculum, so that girls can go on to accredited universities if they desire. But many students start their working careers immediately after the two-year course at Endicott.

"The girl who spends her college years merely in studying the liberal arts and in acquiring poise and manners is ill equipped for today's world," says Dean Tupper. "It is tragic, I think, to see the thousands of young women who are graduated each year from our colleges with no practical training in any field, and not the vaguest idea of how to earn a living."

Belvoir-Falkland's Honor-Roll Students

By ANNE HARRIS
Belvoir-Falkland High School
The bookkeeping class is all "excited" (?) this week—why? They have found themselves bookkeepers for Mr. R. L. Dean. In short, the class has begun the annual project of completing a practice set which covers all the principles covered so far in their bookkeeping course. In about three weeks we'll report to you the results of this adventure.

Attention, patrolmen! You're off duty for a while! (How long? We don't know.) The two week Drivers' Safety course is being taught throughout high school for the purpose of instructing our young people on the fundamental safety rules and regulations which should govern our driving decisions. It is the hope of us all that this program will do much to eliminate careless and ignorant auto driving.

The junior class met and decided on the class flower, color, and motto for this year as well as for their senior year. Their colors are baby blue and white and their flower is the red carnation. Their motto is "Determination is the surest way to success."

Another six weeks have elapsed and students of BFHS received report cards on January 19. Those students making all A's thus qualifying for the honor roll are as follows:

- First Grade—Carol Lewis.
- Second Grade—James Edwin Gurlins, Becky Sue Harris and Peggy Wallace.
- Third Grade—Tommy Harris, Patsy Lewis, Shelby Nichols, Carol Peaden, Patsy Jo Teel, Debbie Turner, Rodney Tyson and Janice Whitaker.
- Fourth Grade—Carolyn Hathaway.
- Fifth Grade—Elizabeth Boyd.
- Sixth Grade—Joy Strickland.
- Seventh Grade—Betty Mae Harrell, Carolyn Harris and Patsy Mills.
- Eighth Grade—Marie Harrell and Barbara Parker.

Ninth Grade—Nellie Ruth Gwaltney and Mitchell Wooten.
Tenth Grade—Grace Edwards, Jean Flake, Shirley Harrell, Anne Harris, Dorothy Harris, Donald and Sheba Wooten.
Eleventh Grade—Shelby James, Joyce Jenkins and Lois Whitley.
Twelfth Grade—Minnie Anderson, Nellie Bland, Mariene Clark, Shirley Clark, Carolyn Dixon, Edna Flake, Barbara Jenkins, Shirley Peaden and Florence Harrell.

Driver Jailed After Accident

A former deputy U.S. marshal from Grimesland was jailed here Saturday night on charges of operating under the influence, assault on a police officer and resisting arrest.

Benjamin Franklin Buck, 64, of Grimesland, who retired last year from the marshal's post, was arrested after the 1956 sedan he was driving collided with a utilities pole at the intersection of Fifth and Albemarle about midnight Saturday.

Investigating police C.W. Warren and E.E. Elks charged Buck with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence and brought him to police headquarters.

Upon arrival at the police station, Buck allegedly pulled a knife and a short scuffle ensued. Buck was disarmed however, after officers J.W. Fivers, W.E. Peterson and Roy Harris arrived. Damage to Buck's car was estimated at $80.

French Designers Keep Their Hemline A Secret

PARIS (AP)—Will hemlines soar or sag this season? Your guess is as good as that of the best-informed Paris fashion editor.

For the first time, French designers have imposed a real curtain of secrecy around the forthcoming 1956 fashion openings at the end of this month.

"To reserve a bigger surprise for the public," the dressmakers unanimously decided to reveal not a single hint of the styles they are preparing, according to their syndicate president. And for once, they seem really determined to put the fashion forecasters out of business. Nobody has broken the secrecy pact yet.

But if the big-name designers' lips are sealed this season, the Independent Society of Modelists, which claims to sell sketches and patterns to all the houses, has already come out with liberal predictions. They include:

A new longer length: a "gladiola silhouette longish and slinky, enclosed in hermetic but supple lines, rigorous but comfortable." Day and cocktail dresses that will look like suits, bloused-back effects, more Asiatic influence, and a long line free at the waist but nipped at the hem.

The 1956 spring openings will get under way Jan. 30, with the shows of Patou and Heim.

Tree-Sitter's Anniversary

NILES, Mich. (AP)—His 25th anniversary as a tree sitter is being marked this year by Wilbert Jann. Back in 1930 when he was 13, he sat up in a tree for 25 days with a 14-year-old pal, Howard Davis. Their perch was a small wooden platform in the branches of a spreading maple tree.

It was then a new record. Looking back, he can see why tree sitting is something of a lost art. He says: "I didn't feel any different when I came down than when I went up."

Jann is married and the father of nine children. He is head maintenance man at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Davis has died. So has the tree.

Character Actors Who Work Steady

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two of the most popular actors in Hollywood these days are fellows who will never set the bobby soxers afire. They are Robert Middleton and Arthur O'Connell, character actors who are working more than most stars. Each hit it big with a showy role during the past year—Middleton in "The Desperate Hours" and O'Connell in "Picnic." They'll be in the running for the supporting Oscar.

The friendly contenders are acting in the same film these days, 20th-Fox's "The Proud Ones." So I dropped out to get a rundown on them.

Middleton is a tall, hulking man of 44, dark, balding and deep-voiced. His size and manner have suited him for heavies, which he has played during 75 per cent of his career.

Like most actors, Middleton has had his struggles, but unlike most of them, he has had an ace in the hole: his family runs a big construction firm in Cincinnati—Frank Messer and Sons, Inc. (His real name is Messer.)

"I started in the construction business when I was old enough to wield a shovel," Middleton said. "But I got the acting disease bad when I was in the first grade. It was during the first World War and I played a wounded soldier in a play."

"I acted all through school and went to New York when I got out in 1932. But there were no jobs for actors then, so I went back home." He worked in the family business by day and did local theatricals and radio work by night.

Finally he tried New York and started clicking in TV and on the stage. After scoring in "Ordinary" with Audrey Hepburn, the movie offers came in. He's been working steadily on the sound stages ever since. Arthur O'Connell is a wiry, soft-spoken bachelor of 47 years who claims he never got married because he couldn't afford it.

"I've had leaner days than most anybody you could name," he remarked. "I slept in subways and parks and freight cars. I've worked in soda fountains and lunch counters to earn $200 so I could start touring the casting offices again."

Born in New York and son of the Murray Hill Hotel head waiter, he became an actor by accident at 21. A girl friend was an actress and he toured the casting offices with her. He was offered a job in a Dorchester, Mass., stock company. After eight years in stock and two in vaudeville, he decided to try Broadway.

He virtually starved for years. One year he did six plays, all of them closing out of town. But the following season came "Picnic." After the film version, he was in. He has done six pictures since and his lean days are over.

Late Decision Cost Him $696

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—For 26 years Plizer Transfer Co. here received a $2 check every month from a man in Baltimore for storage of goods.

Finally a man identified himself to Jim Nunery, the secretary-treasurer, and asked to see the goods. They were in two small chests. One contained some tools for an old model car. The other contained some relics of World War I—gas mask, uniforms and some moccasins. The owner said he guessed it wasn't worth paying further storage—would the company throw them away. The total bill was $696.

No Doubt Now As To Farmers View

The vast majority of Pitt County tobacco farmers want only a 12 per cent reduction in their 1956 tobacco allotments, and current indications point to their getting their wish.

Congressman Harold Cooley of Nashville, who presented the legislation calling for a 20 per cent reduction in this year's tobacco allotment, told an audience Friday night his bill hasn't a "Chinaman's chance" of getting through Congress. He added, much to our surprise, that he presented the bill only to get the reaction of Congress. It seems to us he should have first gotten the reaction of tobacco growers to the proposal.

But back to the sentiment of Pitt farmers.

The straw vote taken last week by The Daily Reflector showed approximately 93 per cent of those farmers who took part in the vote favored the 12 per cent acreage reduction over the proposed 20 per cent reduction. It appears somewhat ironical to us that while tobacco farmers of the county were expressing an overwhelming sentiment in favor of holding the 1956 reduction at 12 per cent, the board of directors of the Pitt County Farm Bureau went on record as favoring the proposed 20 per cent reduction for the 1956 crop.

We do not seek to explain the divergence of opinion which has accompanied this matter of acreage reduction for this year's crop. Time alone will produce an adequate evaluation of the diametrically opposite reaction brought to light by the straw vote among farmers, and the vote taken by Farm Bureau Directors.

Except for the formality of government red tape, the proposed 20 per cent acreage reduction for the 1956 crop appears a dead issue. Rep. Cooley has said as much, and since the proposal is incorporated in his bill, he should know.

It appears certain that a 12 per cent reduction this year will have to be followed by another acreage reduction next year in order to bring down the amount of to-

Hodges Chose Words Well In New York Talk

Gov. Hodges spoke in frank, forceful words in New York when he asserted a large segment of the press outside the South "damned and condemned our Southern states" following the Supreme Court segregation decision "without any attempt to understand the real background or the reason for our present segregated schools."

Throughout most of the country, Gov. Hodges is highly respected as a sound thinker and a level-headed businessman. He is not looked upon in the same light as some leaders of Southern states who wear the taint of demagogue. Following his declaration in New York, however, some ivory towered journalists, as misinformed about Gov. Hodges as they have been about the segregated school system of the South, probably will set the Tar Heel chief executive down as another narrow Southern racist.

"We were found guilty without fair trial by much of the Northern press, and with apparently no regard for the fact that the Supreme Court decision overturned the law as that same court had pronounced it on countless occasions for some 60 years."

For the more conscientious individuals outside the South, Gov. Hodges' statement may supply food for thought and prompt a reconsideration of the problem which the South now faces. In other instances his words will penetrate no farther than water on a duck's back.

It remains, however, that Gov. Hodges, in his most recent address above the Mason-Dixon, sought to prod, rather than provoke the press of the rest of the nation. He sought to inform rather than infuriate.

Gov. Hodges' words were well chosen, and regardless of subsequent reaction to them outside the South, they stated well the position of the South, and the unfounded, unfair treatment this section of the nation has received at the hands of some newspapers in other areas.

Thanks, Friends, For A Gratifying Response

It is not often that a newspaper takes a poll or straw vote among a particular group of its readers. When it does, the success of such an effort is measured by the number of readers who respond.

The response of Pitt County farmers to the straw vote on tobacco acreage allotments taken by The Reflector was indeed gratifying to this newspaper. A total of 742 tobacco growers from all sections of the county took time to mark the straw ballot and return it to the newspaper. We are aware that there are many more than 742 tobacco growers in Pitt County, but those who participated in the voting represented, we believe, a cross section of the growers in this county and gave an accurate picture of sentiment toward the acreage cut proposals.

The Reflector would like to take this opportunity to express its appreciation to the farmers of Pitt County for the interest shown in the straw ballot, and for their participation which made the effort worth while.

acco in storage and prevent an adverse effect on future crops. The advocates of the 20 per cent cut recognized this fact as do those who favor the 12 per cent reduction this year.

In our opinion a 12 per cent reduction in the 1956 crop will not have as severe an effect on the economy of the tobacco region as would a 20 per cent crop reduction in one year. With another tobacco acreage cut a foregone conclusion for 1957, the tobacco region will have a grace period in which to make provision for families which will be forced from the farms by further reduction in tobacco acreage. The region will likewise have more time in which to endeavor to create new sources of income to compensate for the decline in tobacco income which will accompany acreage reductions.

Add Some Salt To Avowals To Quit

By LYNN NISBET

PATTERN — Political activity on the local level is developing along traditional lines. A small minority of members of the General Assembly openly admit they stay in Raleigh and they decide they should be returned for further service.

Such comments are very common during the final weeks of a session. Long time observers do not question the sincerity of these avowals to quit, but have learned to take them with a grain or two of salt. Because, almost always when the sap begins to rise the following spring, when politics begin to flower, the legislators are prone to forget the hardships and the worries and remember the more pleasant phases of their stay in Raleigh and they decide they should be returned for further service.

There is no disposition on part of the observers to question the complete sincerity of motive which leads to change in attitude. Seniority is important in the Legislature. Members who have long service records naturally exercise more influence than first timers. Just as logically they give their counties and constituency more prestige.

Some very able statements from big counties have been heard to protest the system that accords so much influence to probably less able legislators from small rural communities. A glance at the lists of committee assignments over a period of years will show that the most powerful positions have been most often filled by members from small counties.

KNOW-HOW — It takes only one session of the Legislature, whether the General Assembly of North Carolina or the Congress of the United States, to convince newcomers that "know-how" gained from experience is more valuable than inherent ability when it comes to getting bills enacted into law. They realize, too, that however meritorious a bill may be it will do the state no good unless it can be put into effect.

The flurry of announcements during the past few days that this and that representative of such county will seek re-election does not mean that the candidate was not sincere last spring when he swore he would never run again, or that he got sick or selfish now in seeking another chance to serve his people.

The job of making laws is never completed. Each legislative session adds something both in the way of enacting new statutes and in repealing laws which have proven unwise or useless. Many of the legislators who had a hand in the original enactment feel an obligation to continue, extend or repeal provisions.

So it is developing this spring, as in past general election years, that a lot of oldtimers are asking to be returned to the Legislature and a lot of challengers are looming with the purpose of keeping the old timers at home, and giving the constituency a new deal.

That bears out predictions made last fall that this year's primary campaign would be more hotly contested on the local level than for statewide offices. There presently seems little likelihood of a major contest in the state at large. There is promise of real scraps in half the counties and in several state senatorial and judicial districts. In the democratic process that is where the contests should be, keeping government close to the people.

ISSUES — Intimations rather than specific statements in some of the early announcements of candidates for the Legislature also confirm predictions that the segregation issue would be more openly discussed in local races than by statewide candidates.

There is almost a "conspiracy of silence" on this point among prospective statewide candidates to date. The prevailing attitude is of watchful waiting to see what happens somewhere else.

By way of contrast several legislative candidates make no bones about their position. In Wake county, for instance, Martin Green, Raleigh merchant and member of the city council, has entered the race against incumbent James Poyner for the State senate. Green said in his original announcement he expects "to discuss the great social question of our time."

Significance of that promise is not so much what Green's position is, or how much it differs from incumbent Poyner's philosophy, but that the issue will be brought openly to the campaign. Information obtained largely through grapevine channels is that similar open discussion will be had in several other Eastern counties.

Strength for the Day

CREEDS ON LEGS

Someone once asked Leonardo da Vinci why he did not criticize certain artistic productions which were manifestly inferior to his. His reply was: "I criticize by creating."

In other words this great genius kept right on working. "What do you do, Babe?" someone asked Sluggo Ruth once, "when they begin to throw pop bottles at you?" And his wise reply was, "I just keep my mind on that ball."

Keep on creating—if you do well, that will be criticism of those who do poorly. If you do not do well, it will be a criticism of you; and perhaps that is just what you need. When they begin to throw pop bottles, just keep thinking about that ball. Nobody remembers the name of the people who threw pop bottles at Babe Ruth, but baseball enthusiasts will never forget the Sluggo himself.

The best witness to goodness is a life well lived. The best creed in the world is one that walks about on two legs. The classical creeds have their place, but so do the perambulating creeds. When God wanted to give his message in all its fullness, He arranged that the Word would become flesh and dwell among men.

Criticism or praise, both can best be given by creative achievement, and by creative achievement made by humble men. God has an overwhelming interest in humble men.

Other Editors Are Saying ...

NOT NECESSARILY SO
(The Daily Oklahoman)

As one consequence of the merger affecting 15 million American trade unionists it's said that wages and prices both are likely to remain high. It's reasoned that the powerful new AFL-CIO combine will be in a better position to resist wage cuts in the event of future depression. Since wages are the principal component of prices it's argued that living costs also will remain high and rigid.

But this is a shallow appraisal of what would happen in the event of a real depression. For it presupposes a continuing high level of consumer demand that wouldn't exist in a general depression. A company with high and rigid wage costs at a time of contracting sales has one of two possible alternatives. It can reduce its wage costs by curtailing its labor force or it can suspend altogether.

These are the harsh realities and they aren't influenced to any important degree by external pressures. But of course when companies order large scale layoffs or suspend operations there is a sharp decline in consumer purchasing power. So a vicious cycle begins, as anyone old enough to remember the great depression can attest.

Therefore it's nonsense to contend that the labor merger would lend any real stability to the economy in the event of a deep depression. Too many of the present members wouldn't be working and wouldn't be paying dues.

These industry-wide labor monopolies need prosperity or the inflation that passes for prosperity. They'd have trouble surviving a real depression to say nothing of preventing one.

STILL THE BEST

The makers of newsprint have announced they cannot supply the demand until their mills are enlarged to produce more paper. While the paper shortage and the higher prices work a hardship on publishers, the enormous demand for newsprint is the continued popularity of newspapers with the public. For news and as an advertising medium, there's nothing that can touch the printed word.

The Two Biggest Issues!

Business Today ...

Complaints, Up To A Point

By ELMER ROESSNER

Businessmen constantly complain about too much government interference and regulation up to the point that competition gets tough. Then they want the government to do something.

The Brooklyn Tavern Owners Association is now asking the New York State Liquor Authority to declare a moratorium on new licenses in that "borough of churches." The competition seems to be hurting. And thus the saloon-keepers of Brooklyn find themselves aligned with the prohibitionists.

Both the bicycle and watch industries succeeded in getting the government to raise barriers against imports. The duty on imported watches, most of which come from Switzerland, was raised 50 per cent. The American watch industry is still not satisfied. It complains that imports have reduced American production to half capacity. The Clock and Watch Manufacturers Association of America is now demanding new bars to foreign-made watches.

Efforts to use government strength to support business sometimes leads to curious consequences. The Hoover Commission strongly recommended that the government get out of the coffee-roasting, paint-making, rope-making, laundry and a dozen other businesses. These enterprises, the commission pointed out, were competing with private industry in that the more the government did for itself, the less it purchased in the free market.

The Eisenhower Administration accepted this idea. In fact, every body seemed for it—up to the moment that the government began to close down these plants. Then the firms that had been selling green coffee, paint materials, hemp detergents and other materials to these enterprises started to scream, and their cries were echoed by their Congressmen. The government was interfering with private enterprise, they said; in closing down these establishments they were robbing suppliers of customers!

There are parallel situations in other areas. Businessmen shout for reductions in government expenses so that taxes can be cut, but as soon as the government starts to dismantle a fort established in the Indian area, or to lay off men at an arsenal or navy yard, businessmen scream that Uncle Sam is robbing them of customers.

Nobody likes to see people on government payroll just stand around—unless they are standing around in their trading area.

AT STATE AND CITY LEVELS
Efforts to outlaw competition are made at every level of government. Manufacturers and retailers notably in the drug, cosmetic and appliance industries, ask states for laws permitting the fixing of retail prices. Local merchants ask city and county governments to outlaw door-to-door selling. Independent merchants are constantly campaigning for tax restrictions on chains. Other groups have asked state legislatures to outlaw "loss leaders" by prohibiting merchants from selling goods for less than they pay for them.

Perhaps these efforts to get the government to put a heavy thumb on the scales of competition merely proves that businessmen are only human after all.

But it should remind businessmen not to be too angry in their criticism when the farmers, the poor, the aged, and other groups put on the pressure for more governmental aid.

INJUSTICE WORST OFFENSE TO EMPLOYEES
A survey by the National Office Management Association shows that the average office worker doesn't mind if the boss has no sense of humor or if he is actually "lax." The average worker will even stand it if the boss is impatient. But one thing the worker resents is unfairness. The worker expects credit for a good job and will take blame for his own errors—but not for the errors of other workers or the boss.

Notebook On Life

Admits Exploiting Husbands

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a pavement poet: "Do American wives really exploit their husbands?"

Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg, an authority on family life, detects a tendency in young wives to take advantage of their husbands by having them do too much housework. Mrs. Gruenberg, who headed the Child Study Assn. of America for a quarter century, objects to the selfish use of a husband for a wife's personal advantage without regard to his own need. She feels this husband-exploitation is probably an unconscious feminine reaction against past generations of wife — exploitation by husbands.

But, warning that a man who is forced to do too many maid chores may start straying away from home, Mrs. Gruenberg advances this revolutionary thought:

"Men have a right to find in their households a little peace, a little quiet, a little pleasure, a little protection."

Well naturally, kind words like this are enough to make the average husband break right down and cry out of pure gratitude. He isn't used to being appreciated. He is more accustomed to being ridiculed.

The European male for some time now has looked down on the American husband as a forlorn puppet of his womanfolk. Manhood in America takes a beating from almost every quarter. It is drummed into men from birth now that they are intellectually inferior to women, emotionally more unstable, shorter-lived, and more susceptible to disease and accident. The knight has lost his armor. Man has become the second sex.

In the popular family situation comedies on television the husband is generally portrayed as an oakish dolt around the house who is eternally being outwitted by his children and who couldn't even hold his job except for the shrewd behind-the-scenes machinations of his never get a raise from his boss. She gets it for him.

American's march toward patriarchy goes steadily forward. Frankly speaking, Mrs. Gruenberg's friendly pat on the back for the U.S. husband, as welcome as it is unexpected, has probably come too late.

It is doubtful whether most husbands want to be the king in their own castle again and rule the roost as they once did. To be a boss carries with it the penalty of having to shoulder a lot of responsibility, and many men are tired of responsibility.

Odd Aftermath Of Soviet Leaders' Tour

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The new and friendly relationship between Russia and India has created unexpected difficulties for Prime Minister Nehru and the Communist Party in his country. The Khrushchev-Bulgarian tour of Asia has had an uncomfortable aftermath for both countries, politically, economically and socially.

Communists in India do not know where they stand with respect to the Kremlin and New Delhi. They cannot decide whether to continue to harass Nehru's Congress Party, or to join it in a "united front" with Russian technicians and engineers discover that training and supervising natives imbued with a spirit of nationalism, freedom and independence is quite a different task from coercing "forced and slave labor" in a totalitarian state.

American diplomats' reports of these classes have influenced the Administration's policy markedly. A more cautious attitude has supplanted the near-hysteria felt in official circles after the over-optimistic reports of Khrushchev and Bulganin. It is reflected in the apparent determination of Congress not to outstep and outbid the Soviet auctioneers in India and elsewhere. There is a growing belief that Russia cannot deliver without demanding controls and authority that will be resented fiercely by the local peoples and governments.

NEHRU DETESTS NATIVE REFS
Nehru has frequently shown and spoken his detestation for native Communists. He has denounced communism itself as a "reactionary force," still motivated by Karl Marx's obsolete, mid-nineteenth century ideologies. But he has offset vocal denunciations by his praise of Soviet progress during his 1955 visit there, by his gushing welcome to Moscow missionaries, and by his acceptance of Communist aid in rebuilding his backward country.

Temporarily at least, or until the pattern of Russo-Indian relationship is delineated more clearly, the Communists at home have met him halfway. Their central committee, in a formal report recently damned him with faint praise. It said: "Although the foreign policy of the Government of India has undergone a welcome change in recent years, no such change has taken place in its internal policies. These policies, on the contrary, are reactionary and undemocratic."

Nehru himself has created a political vacuum for the Reds to occupy by destroying the Socialist Party. He did so with his program of nationalization of basic industries, his distribution of land to peasants, and his establishment of a credit system for the new class of farmers.

It is into this spot that the Communists may move with slogans of a "united front." It was by such a strategy that they virtually took over Indonesia, where they now have several key Cabinet positions and a strong parliamentary bloc. They seek to pursue the same course in France in the current government crisis.

KREMLIN ORDER?
Nehru himself is strong enough, and popular enough, to keep the Communists in check. In fact, they have probably been ordered by the Kremlin, although this is mere speculation, to exercise restraint. But many of Nehru's

Alcohol And Auto Accidents

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — My father used to say to me: "Roger, avoid the words NEVER and ALWAYS also, not put dates on your forecasts." In discussing this unpopular subject of Prohibition, I will now observe his advice.

PROHIBITION COULD RETURN
First, let me say I am not forecasting the success of the Prohibition Party as a political factor. Rather, I am forecasting that one, or both, of the major parties will put some form of Prohibition in their platforms. The course of the liquor traffic may be no different now than 25 years ago; but there is one great difference.

In 1933 when Prohibition was overwhelmingly defeated, there were no great industries to put up the funds to continue Prohibition. While the great brewers, distillers, and other liquor interests supplied the funds to kill it. Then, however, there were only 20 1/2 million automobiles. Today—with 50 million automobiles—the situation is very different. In the next fight over Prohibition the automobile industry (now the second largest) which includes manufacturers, sales agencies, the great gasoline industry, as well as the owners of property rented by motorists, would heavily support the Prohibition cause. And this group is increasing every year as more cars go on the roads. There are now over 225,000 filling stations earning nearly a billion dollars.

METHODS OF PREVENTING ACCIDENTS

Safety belts, compulsory car inspections, canceling of licenses, and even jailing offenders should help prevent accidents or make them less serious. However, none of these things seem to be effective. The main cause of accidents is with the brain of the driver. Hence, the great importance of insisting upon drivers keeping in line and no passing except where specifically permitted.

The basic reason why drivers disobey traffic rules, crossing lines, driving fast, ignoring intersections and signs, is lack of self-control.

People are all too willing to take chances. But civilization has progressed by a constant tempering of this instinct to risk; by education, religion, and development of self-control. This is a very important fact which parents and teachers should recognize.

LIQUOR AND SELF-CONTROL
There are three biological effects of drinking. 1. Drinking in very small amounts, gives people temporary courage to do and say things they otherwise would not. 2. Drinks enable people to forget about driving. 3. Drinks are habit-forming. No one is expected to become a slave to drink when he started simple social drinking.

Not only are automobiles increasing every year by several million and the population by about 3 million, but the age when young people start to drink has lowered. The cocktail party, along with the above-mentioned factors, has become a national problem which must be conquered. It may get worse before Prohibition, in some form, returns; but it is a sure forecast that it will return. Perhaps one plan would be to prohibit sales to those holding drivers' licenses. Even the new four-lane turnpikes do not solve the difficulty, as they develop a "sleepitis."

NEW PROHIBITION WILL BE DIFFERENT

How the liquor issue will be handled, I do not know. As my friend, Deleware King says, it is a problem of the three E's—Education, Engineering, and Enforcement. The most common suggestion is to give a license to drive a car. This, however, will not alone solve the cocktail-party danger and the fact that the self-control and judgment of many individuals are not affected by a little liquor while others are affected almost by the smell of it!

I hope readers will not take this column as propaganda for Prohibition, as I believe the person who does not have a right to drink. However, with 99 being killed each day and one seriously injured every 25 seconds, and these figures constantly increasing, something radical must be done.

Some 1,532,000 Weddings In '55

NEW YORK, N. Y.—There were 1,532,000 marriages in the United States during 1955, it is estimated by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

This figure represents a 3 per cent increase over the 1954 total of 1,488,000 marriages, but is somewhat below the 1,545,000 marriages of 1953.

The statisticians do not foresee any appreciable change in the marriage rate during the leap year 1956. In fact, they do not expect a marked rise in the number of marriages for several years to come.

"After the early 1960's, however, there should be quite an upsurge in marriages as the large numbers of babies born during the war and postwar years enter the marriageable ages," the statisticians comment.

Each geographic division of the country shared in the small rise in marriages between 1954 and 1955, with the largest increases occurring in the Pacific and Mountain regions, where they amounted to 5.4 per cent and 4.9 per cent respectively.

Of the five largest cities, New York alone experienced a decrease in marriages, their number dropping from 69,900 in 1954 to somewhat less than 68,500 in 1955. Little or no change was recorded in Chicago and Philadelphia, and an increase of about 6 per cent occurred in Los Angeles and Detroit.

He'll Frame His 'Nothing' Check

DAVENTRY, England (AP)—Farmer David Lloyd reported today he has received nothing from the British government, and has a check to prove it.

The check from the food ministry is for 0 pounds, 0 shillings and 0 pence. Printed across it is the promise that "if presented through a bank within three months, the Postmaster General will pay the amount stated."

Lloyd it seems, recently sold six heifers. The food ministry guarantees farmers a minimum price per pound on such livestock sales. Lloyd's heifers brought more than the minimum.

"So I was entitled to nothing," he explained to reporter, "and it seems that the ministry decided they should send me a check for it."

"A clerical error," said a blushing official.

Will Lloyd present his check for payment?

"On the whole, I think not," he opined. "I believe I'll just frame it."

Mallory Picks Hallow As Best

(Note: The following article appeared in yesterday's Charlotte Observer. Because of local reader interest, it is reprinted here.)

Star-gazing is a task for some coaches, a hazardous occupation for others, but Jim Mallory, assistant football and head baseball coach at East Carolina College has found it the gateway to success in the coaching business.

Quite a few veteran mentors of the Carolinas have had longer coaching careers than Sunny Jim, but few if any have produced more outstanding athletes than the former University of North Carolina football and baseball star.

Since stepping out of the majors in the mid '40s for health's sake, Mallory has turned out scores of top flight high school and college baseballers and grid-ers.

With such a bountiful harvest he found it doubly difficult to name his "greatest athlete" when quizzed on the subject recently. After much consideration and deliberation he finally tagged Lou Hallow, 225-pound center and linebacker at East Carolina as his finest.

In picking the Goldsboro senior, whom he has handled as line coach at ECC, Mallory passed up such an outstanding product as Tom Brewer, young mound ace for the Boston Red Sox, whom he developed as baseball coach at Elon College.

Thin Jim lists Scott Quackenbush, Ed Ellis, Steve Walker, Gene Stewart, Nelville Cooper, Bob Stewart, Nick Thompson, Hank Hamrick, Lefty Leon Taylor, Charlie Swicegood, Luther Conger, Sherrill Hall as his other top baseball products at Elon.

Cecil Heath at East Carolina and Tom Pruett, of the New York Giant farm system, are among the other top baseball finds.

Hallow Won All Honors Conceivable . . . For his best in high school football Mallory unhesitatingly picks Bobby Stutts, ace back for Burlington's Bulldogs in 1947, and later a star at Wake Forest. Mallory figures Stutts the greatest high school player he ever coached or saw.

Turning back to Hallow, Mallory recalls that big Lou, drafted by Los Angeles, of the National Football League, is one of the most rugged ball players he has ever seen.

In three years at ECC the big lineman has averaged around 58 minutes per game and the only tape he has ever used was on a sprained thumb or wrist.

Among the many virtues that Hallow has in his knack of knowing where the ball is going. "In North State play last fall we gave up but 27 points in five games and it was Lou's defensive signal-calling and terrific line-backing that led to the low figure.

"Without a doubt Lou is the best blocking offensive player I have ever been associated with. In addition he has great competitive spirit and a burning desire to excel," Mallory asserted.

To show that he wasn't the only person with high regard for Hallow, the ECC mentor pointed out that All-Conference, All-State and N. A. I. A. All-American honors were won by the youth as a senior.

"Adding it all up—ruggedness, desire, hustle, ability and skill, there's no question but that Hallow is my finest," Mallory concluded.

Betsy Rawls Conquers Berg In Blazing Finish

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Betsy Rawls, of the Phi Beta Kappa swifter from Spartanburg, S.C., is $900 richer today after winning the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Rawls, four strokes behind Patty Berg as the final round opened, went all out and luck was with her. She knocked four strokes off par with a 71 and wound up with 293 and a five-stroke victory margin.

In winning her second Tampa Open, Miss Rawls started out with even par 75 for the 6,207-yard Palma Celia course and got better each succeeding round.

"Everything I did went right," she said of yesterday's round. "I had been worried about my short game but it was fine."

Just as luck smiled on Miss Rawls, nothing went right for Patty Berg, who had shot 71 twice herself earlier and had led every round, lost her touch completely and blew to an 80.

That still kept her in second place with 296 and brought her $630.

Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., who was close to the top all the way, finished third with 299 and won $540.

Beverly Hanson, Apple Valley, Calif., and Fay Crocker, Uruguay, came in at 304.

Trailing them were Louise Suggs, 309; Betty Jameson, 310; Mary Lena Faulk, 311; and Marlene Bauer Hagege, 312.

The pros dominated the tournament so thoroughly that the non-amateur, Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., was tied with the 17th pro, Joyce Ziske, at 321.

Phants Invade Kinston Tuesday To Meet Defending Class AA Champs

By BILLY ARNOLD, Reflector Sports Writer. Sporting a 5-0 Northeastern conference slate, the Greenville Phantoms will invade Kinston tomorrow night to meet the defending class AA State champions in a contest that will decide which of the two teams will continue their hold on the loop's first place.

The Red Devils will be favored to take the coming tilt, the basis of their last year's championship standing and the advantage of their home court. Coach Amos Sexte's crew are perennial favorites to sweep the conference and are currently trudging through the league with the same 5-0 record that Greenville boasts.

Greenville has shown a very positive strength in their 5 wins, boasting statistical records which indicate that the Devils will need very little help to gain the top spot in their last season standing and home court advantage. It was generally thought at the beginning of the year, that Kinston was the only club in the loop that could really be considered outstanding, and that they would easily round up their second Northeastern title in a row.

Against the Washington Pam-Pack, for instance, Greenville stars Ike Riddick and All-Conference Harold Edwards paced the Phants to a 14-point victory—and on the Washington court. The Red Devils, also meeting the Pam-Pack on their home hardwood, suffered a very trying battle and managed an extremely tight one point triumph, 66-65.

Against Roanoke Rapids, the G-Men posted a terrific 46-point victory, while Kinston downed the hapless Yellow Jackets by 30. The locals pounded out a 34-point win against New Bern early in the season, while Kinston could only pile up a 27-marker lead. The Green dropped Jacksonville last Friday night by 24, which was one point better than the job Kinston did on the Cardinals.

To Kinston's credit, they swamped Elizabeth City by 27 tallies, whereas Greenville only mustered a 17-point triumph.

This season, the starting Red Devils continue the tradition of the fast, tall hoopsters that has become the natural thing at Granger high school. Forwards are Poo Rochelle (6-1) and Bob Stanley (6-3); guards are Marshall Happer (6-1) and L. E. Hart (5-9); holding down the center spot is 6-3 Elton Faelton.

Coach Boley Farley, a Southern gentleman from Virginia, who has the quiet, unassuming air rarely found in coaching ranks, doesn't give a hoot for the experts' predictions. In his long career at the local school, he has learned that predictions often mean nothing. Already this season, his boys have upset the experts' appraisals by winning 5 contests with a team that was definitely labeled incapable of doing so.

Farley started the season with a club composed of two veterans and a meager handful of inexperienced boys. Both veterans were injured and unable to compete in the early games, and the entire picture appeared dismal indeed. But the Phantoms have come through with 5 very impressive victories and a team that do justice to any league.

Greenville, likewise, like the favored Red Devils, Greenville sports a tall, fast crew of hustlers. Tallest and highest-scoring Phantom of all is 6-4 All-Conference center Harold Edwards, who is currently punishing the nets at a 30-point clip. Ike Riddick, a 6-foot senior guard, is keeping the pace with Edwards in the point-getting department, with a 20-point average of his own. Following is 6-1 forward Billy Johnson, who nets in the double figures also.

The Green floor attack is sparked by Riddick, Jerry Drum and Ray Hardee. Drum and Hardee both are averaging around 8 points per contest and are capable of hitting the double figures in the clutch. Phantom reserves are shallow but rich in power, and Coach Farley has used his bench to good advantage.

All in all, the big tilt tomorrow night in Granger's new gymnasium promises to be one of the top attractions of the 1955-56 basketball season. A jayvee game will begin the night's action at 6:30 and the varsity contest will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Fast, Hazardous Winter Olympics Appear In Store

By ALLAN JACKS. CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—If Cortina's hard ice and melting snows hold out the 1956 Winter Olympics promise to be the fastest and perhaps the most hazardous on record.

The first events of the 10-day spectacle are scheduled Friday. But already records and bones have been shattered in this little resort which is swarming with the world's greatest skiers, skaters and bobsledders.

While veteran experts wondered who would be injured next, the International Olympic Committee began its annual meeting.

More records fell yesterday on the ice of Lake Misurina, high in the mountains above Cortina, and on the hazardous, twisting bobsled run just outside town.

Russia's Eugeny Grishin bettered the world 600-meter speed skating record with a breathtaking clocking of 40.2, six tenths of a second better than the old mark. One of his teammates also bettered the record while another tied it, a remarkable display of Russia's skating prowess.

Some other contestants said Grishin jumped the gun and an official admitted there might have been a bad start. The question will be studied but even so, most experts agreed Grishin would have done 40.5 with a normal start.

The Italians cracked both the two-man and four-man bobsled marks for the 1,700-meter run with times of 1:19.52 and 1:22.79. Even better times are expected. The Swedes and Americans both are hinting at "mystery sleds" they plan to introduce.

Yesterday the No. 2 American four-man team's sled, piloted by Monroe Plagg of Saranac Lake, N.Y., went out of control, and the crew miraculously escaped injury.

Meanwhile, skiers from 15 nations have been practicing on the steep, well-prepared but icy slopes of Tofana Mountain for the downhill and slalom events. The bumpy, winding courses already have taken a heavy toll in injuries.

Some skiers blamed the injuries on snow which has been melting daily and freezing solid at night. There has been no snowfall in 13 days and bare spots are cropping up in some areas. All agree, however, that there's enough snow to go on with the Alpine events, scheduled to start with the women's giant slalom Friday.

birdie, and one of only 30 inches on the ninth. It was on the sixth that Souchak collared Bolt and the ninth green where he passed him.

From there on in Souchak played steady, consistent golf.

Bolt staved out a birdie three on the 17th green. But on the 18th he discovered on his second shot that there was a clump of mud on the ball. That hurt when he chipped up to the green and left himself a 12-foot putt. He took a 75 for 283.

The lone long putt Tommy got was a 30-footer in the first round. Bolt, who $1,500 for the second place, tied for third place, at 284 were Marty Furgol, with a last round 73, Mike Fetehik, a 71, and Rod Funseth, a brilliant young amateur prospect from Spokane, Wash., who had a 71.

The pros got $1,075 apiece. The 22-year-old amateur got a set of irons, plus a medal.

The outcome for other name players: Gene Littler, a 73 for 285, Billy Maxwell, 68 for 286, Lionel Hebert 69 and his brother, Jay, 70 both for 287s, Bo Wininger 80 for 292 and Frank Stranahan 76 for 291.

Souchak Wins Caliente Open In Closing Round

TLJUANA, Mexico (AP)—The Touring professionals headed back across the border today for tournament play in California and leading the procession was Mike Souchak, who was loaded with loot.

Fifty Mike won the $12,500 Caliente Open with a 72-hole card of 281. The victory netted the engaging young pro $2,200 in cash and a trophy that is three feet high and must weigh a small ton.

It is topped by a statue of the king of the Aztecs, by name Cuauhtemoc.

"That's the biggest price I ever got," said Souchak, who will keep it until the 1957 Caliente Open.

The presentation was made by Gen. Belardo Rodriguez, former president of Mexico and president of the Tijuana Country Club, where the event was staged.

The 22-year-old ex-Duke football player had to come from behind to nail Tommy Bolt and win, and he did it with a last round 71.

Mike led in the first two rounds, thanks to a whopping 65 and a 71. But Tommy took charge and was two blows in front going into the final 18 holes yesterday.

Putting was the key factor. Souchak sank his for birdies when they were needed. Tommy couldn't sink one to save his neck. He missed one of about four feet for a birdie, and one of only 30 inches on the ninth. It was on the sixth that Souchak collared Bolt and the ninth green where he passed him.

Stokes-Pactolus Sweeps Twin Bill

Stokes-Pactolus swept through a double-header Friday night, taking both the boys' and girls' contests from a surprised Belhaven crew.

The opening girls' tilt saw Nina Perkins, Billie Angle and Lillie Turner pound the nets for a total of 66 Stokes-Pactolus tallies to bring a 66-51 victory. Angle was high with 25.

Boys' basketball was close, and an overtime period took place before the winners could post a 62-57 triumph. Bobby Congleton scored 35 markers to pace the winning Stokes-Pactolus club.

Elon Has Chance To Gain Ground

Elon plays two North State Conference basketball games this week that may enable it to gain ground on loop-leading East Carolina.

Elon's Christians take on tough Lenoir Rhyne Wednesday and cellar-dwelling Catawba Saturday.

East Carolina, meanwhile, plays both one game, and that's with the only team to beat the Pirates this year—Western Carolina. ECC has an 8-1 loop record as of today. Elon is 6-1.

East Carolina gets the home court advantage on the Catamounts Friday. The Pirates have a string of 44 consecutive home wins.

Two other important conference games appear on this week's slim card. Fourth-place Lenoir Rhyne plays at High Point and Appalachian is at winless Guilford. Both games are set for Saturday night.

Monday—North Georgia at Western Carolina.

Wednesday—Lenoir Rhyne at Elon.

Thursday—McCrary at Appalachian.

Friday—Western Carolina at East Carolina.

Saturday—Lenoir Rhyne at High Point, Western Carolina at Appalachian Christian, Elon at Catawba, Appalachian at Guilford.

Mikan Tells Fans To Save Sympathy

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—George Mikan, basketball's onetime scoring colossus who risked his reputation by coming out of retirement, told his fans and critics today to save their sympathy.

He said it firmly and a little impatiently, despite his Minneapolis Lakers' 100-95 defeat by the New York Knickerbockers last night, their third setback in the last four games.

National Basketball Assn observers glimpsing the retired Mikan in the first week of his comeback have shaken their heads.

"Mikan may help his team," is the consensus, "but he's not the player he used to be. Better he should be remembered the way he was."

Mikan, at 31 still the proud competitor, disagrees.

"Give me two or three weeks more conditioning," he argues, "and I'll be as good as I ever was. I don't think I'm doing so bad right now. I'm averaging nearly a point a minute. What do they want blood?"

"I don't want anybody's sympathy. I'll stand on my merits."

His critics, while somewhat diminished after a year and a half absence from the game, are important enough to the Lakers.

Six times champions in three different leagues since their formation eight years ago the Lakers were stumbling along in the bottom half of the NBA's Western Division when Mikan came back.

They've won four of eight since, and Mikan has averaged about 9.5 points a game, playing about 15 minutes a game. NBA games are 48 minutes, however.

He got nine last night, in the loss to New York, which Harry Gatin and Ken Sears engineered by combining for 25 points in the final quarter.

TORCHES FOR OLYMPICS—Italian workers examine Olympic torches to be used in relay from Temple of Jupiter in Rome to Cortina d'Ampezzo to signal opening of Winter Games, Jan. 26. One will be left at each village enroute.

Hal Will Be In Forefront

LEADS THE GREEN—Big Harold Edwards, who along with teammate Ike Riddick is averaging 20 points per contest, will lead the Greenville Phantoms against the defending class AA State champions tomorrow night, when they invade Kinston.

Greensboro Easily Wins Swim Meet

Greensboro High School almost made a clean sweep in events of the first annual invitational interscholastic swimming and diving championship at East Carolina College Saturday afternoon.

The lads from Greensboro took first places in seven of nine events. Raleigh took first places in the other two.

Final scores gave Greensboro 86 points, Raleigh 59, Wilmington's New Hanover High 33, Chapel Hill 28, and Myers Park of Charlotte 21. David Nance of Greensboro, swimming in the 150-yard individual medley, set a new record for a high school swimmer, coming in first with a time of 1:43.4. Fink of Chapel Hill was second and Guillette of Raleigh third.

The team trophy, presented by Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of faculty and curriculum of East Carolina College, to coach Pat Every of Greensboro, was awarded by John Lautares, Greenville businessman.

The summary: 50-yard freestyle, 2:04.8—Hubner, Greensboro; Johnson, Raleigh; Woodbury, Wilmington.

100-yard breaststroke, 1:11.5: Dodson, Greensboro; Oliver, Greensboro; Pink, Chapel Hill.

200-yard freestyle, 2:09.5: Nance, Greensboro; Guillette, Raleigh; Smith, Wilmington.

100-yard backstroke, 1:10.8: Burwell, Greensboro; Guillette, Raleigh; Smith, Wilmington.

100-yard freestyle, 59.3: Kalkhurst, Raleigh; Hudgins, Greensboro; Jamerson, Chapel Hill.

Diving: Mackie, Raleigh; Dyer, Greensboro; Shaw, Raleigh.

200-yard medley relay, 2:06.2: Greensboro (Scruggs, Dodson, Oliver, Garrison); Raleigh (Duke, Cannon, Carroll, Genes); Charlotte (Goodson, Gierch, Whelchel, Wells).

50-yard freestyle relay, 1:46.5: Greensboro (Schiffman, Hudgins, Burwell, Hubner); Raleigh (Kriesel, Upchurch, Kalkhurst, Johnson); Wilmington (Woodbury, Farris, Womble, Boado).

Want To Retain Coach Edwards

RALEIGH (AP)—The Athletic Council and Chancellor Carey H. Bostian of N.C. State College want Football Coach Earle Edwards' contract extended.

Edwards, who has used up two years of his three-year contract, guided the weak Wolfpack to a respectable 4-5-1 record last season.

The Athletic Council made the recommendation Saturday and passed it on to Dr. Bostian. Bostian commented yesterday, "I will recommend that it be approved" by the consolidated university's president and board of trustees.

Edwards, who has used up two years of his three-year contract, guided the weak Wolfpack to a respectable 4-5-1 record last season.

Sugg Wins Twin Bill Friday

Sugg High School downed Speight in a double-header Friday night, the girls winning 37-25 and the boys 65-35.

Lulu Monk with 19 points and DeLores Artis with 16 led the ladies to victory. Hall and Woodard each had 11 points for Speight.

The Sugg boys used better rebounding to decide their game. Bennie Harris had 18 points for the winners and Green had 18 for Speight.

Name Directors For New League

RALEIGH (AP)—District directors were named yesterday for the newly formed Little Tar Heel Baseball League.

The organization, whose games will be limited to play in North Carolina in contrast to the national operation of the Little League, will provide organized ball for boys aged 9-12. More than 80 teams have said they wish to enter the league.

Named directors were Ed Turney of Rocky Mount, Tracy Hart of Kinston, Selyn Orrutt of Fayetteville, Nick Warren of Durham, J. J. Wright of Greensboro, J. W. Emmette of Gastonia, Jack Justice of Canton, and Sam Howard of Raleigh.

Howard was named acting state secretary and Bill Whit of Greensboro was named acting chairman of the board of directors.

Familiar Names In This Week's Boxing Lineup

By JACK HAND, The Associated Press. Rory Calhoun, a young middleweight from White Plains, N.Y., who had to wait as long as a name for himself, finally breaks into the main event class in his home area tonight with a 10-round match against Jerry Luedde of New Haven at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Frank Bachman, manager of the unbeaten Calhoun who has had only 16 pro fights, insists his boy should have been named "Rookie of the Year" for 1955 instead of Boston's Bob Murphy. Calhoun's latest success was a knockout over Charlie Salas at Los Angeles, Dec. 1.

This is a rematch, giving the 22-year-old Luedde a chance to get even with the only man who beat him, Nov. 26, 1954. The first bout, a prelim at Madison Square Garden, was cut from six to four rounds to fit a time limit.

Calhoun and Luedde will be seen on television (DuMont) starting at 10 p.m. (EST).

Willie Pastrano the 20-year-old whiz from New Orleans who has impressed many as a future champ, faces a rugged night Friday at Miami Beach (NBC radio and TV) when he meets Chuck Spieser of Detroit in another rematch.

Ever since Pastrano outpointed Spieser in Chicago July 27, the loser has been clamoring for another chance. Since he came out of the Army, Spieser has won five of six, losing only to Pastrano.

The Wednesday series makes its annual stop at Norfolk, Va., for a benefit show with Joe Giambra of Buffalo, N.Y., boxing Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., in 10 rounds (ABC-radio and TV).

Giambra, discharged from the Army Dec. 9, the night Sugar Ray Robinson lifted Bobo Olson's mid-dewlight title, had been in line for a championship match with Olson. He went down and out with Bobo. In his most recent start, while still in the Army, Giambra lost to Olson in an over-the-weight match on an unpopular decision.

Andrews is on TV almost as often as Jackie Gleason. This will be his 19th appearance before the cameras.

Kills Wife And His Two Sons

MARTINSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A 31-year-old Sunday school teacher who police said thinks he is Jesus Christ, killed his wife and two sons with a shotgun yesterday.

"This is doomsday and I sent them to heaven," Robert Heckman, a truck driver, told Sheriff Victor Young after he was picked up at the home of his father.

The naked bodies of Rick, 11, and Chad, 10, were found lying in a bathtub full of water in the Heckman home at Brooklyn, 11 miles north of here. Outside the bathroom in the hall lay the body of Mrs. Jane E. Heckman, 30.

Young said Heckman told him in an oral statement that he shot his wife, then killed the boys.

The sheriff said Heckman, a former farmer who taught Sunday school classes at the Brooklyn Methodist Church, "believes he is Jesus Christ. He gave that as his name when I asked him."

The Morgan County grand jury will be called tomorrow to consider the case, Sheriff Young said. No charges were filed.

Young said he was told Heckman was treated at a private mental institution in Indianapolis last September.

Suicide And A Double Murder

FALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP)—Police learned it suicide and double murder yesterday when the bodies of a mother and her two small children were found huddled in a car 100 feet from a church.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Betty Lou Brewer, 32, her son, Terry, 4 and daughter Susan, 3. Police Chief J. A. Smith said a vacuum cleaner hose ran from the exhaust into the car.

Mrs. Brewer's husband Everett told officers he knew of no reason why his wife, a former airline stewardess, might want to kill herself and the children.

Tracking 'Job' On Cancer Cell

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP)—Cancer researchers at Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory say they have traced a cancer growth from a tumor to its original cell—a feat once considered impossible.

The tracing job was done on white spruce trees afflicted with tumors. The tracing is still considered impossible with animal cells.

The scientists said they located the original cancerous growth by correlating the tree's growth rings to the tumors.

Growing Concern Over Stockholders

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—The cars and feeding of stockholders occupies business management's concern more today than it used to.

Sensational proxy fights in the last two years have focused attention on what makes shareholders unhappy usually dividend policies or declining market value of their shares.

The big bull market, numerous stock splits, and such big issues of new or additional common stock as Ford, Campbell Soup and General Motors, and American Telephone & Telegraph's convertible debentures have united to spread stock ownership among people who never owned stock before.

That makes all the more shareholders that corporate management now must keep reasonably happy and contented.

With the peak season of annual stockholder meetings only a few weeks away, the question of "fairness to stockholders" is to the fore again.

Citing a continuing study of management practices of 4,000 corporations, the American Institute of Management is issuing today a two-edged guide to fairness, intended for use by both management and stockholders.

It discusses how dividend rates should be determined, whether they should be paid out of accumulated surplus, the piling back of earnings, stock splits vs. stock dividends, and annual reports.

The Institute holds that a company's dividend rate should be determined by its balance sheet rather than by its annual earnings. It argues that "dividends can be paid out of disposable liquid assets, not out of nominal dollar earnings which may need to be reserved for purposes other than dividends or which may have been channeled into inventory accumulation."

A firm annual dividend rate "below which the company will not reduce payments" is the policy of better managements, the Institute holds. Unusually high net income should call for an extra dividend, it contends, and larger ordinary dividends shouldn't be declared unless management "feels the new rate can almost certainly be maintained in all future years."

The guide also favors, "where circumstances warrant," payment of dividends out of accumulated surplus despite losses in income—as many companies did during the depression.

The Institute prefers the stock dividend to the stock split except

Pals Tried Cut Out Bullet In Thief's Shoulder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Accused burglar Robert Hodge was in the City Hospital prison ward today, and mighty glad to be there.

Two pals had tried to remove a bullet from his shoulder in their house, using a kitchen knife and a fifth of gin for a pain killer.

A midway in the operation, Hodge regained consciousness and bolted, screaming at the top of his lungs.

Police found him lying on a sidewalk and arrested him as a drunk. Surgeons removed the bullet later.

Hodge, 26, was shot by restaurant owner Bert Fant early Friday morning after he and his two accomplices robbed the place of $30, police said.

The story of the attempted operation was told yesterday by Hodge and one of his would-be benefactors, whose name was not available. The third man still was at large.

Russell Treated For Severe Cold

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga) was in a hospital today for treatment of what his Washington aide called a cold.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, had attended a testimonial dinner here Thursday night for Florida's Sen. George Smathers.

The aide said he was suffering with the cold earlier in the week and that he showed a slight temperature rise while here. He was placed in St. Francis Hospital Friday night.

A friend said doctors told Russell he may be able to leave the hospital tomorrow.

Living Standards Of Chinese Rise

HONG KONG (AP)—A British professor says the mainland Chinese lead a higher standard of living than in pre-Communist days.

After a three-week tour of the mainland, Prof. E. Stuart Kirby of Hong Kong University says his observations make him agree with Sir Winston Churchill that communism is "an equal sharing of squalor."

He said that although the Chinese Communists tried to impress upon foreign visitors their desire for peace, he had never seen so many soldiers as in Red China.

Kirby, a specialist on Asian affairs, made his expense-paid visit with a group of Hong Kong University professors as guests of the Communist-controlled People's Assn. for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries.

Apparently a major reason for arranging the tour, Kirby said in a lecture, was to open up tourist trade and show that Communist China is safe, interesting and reasonably comfortable.

He said considerable new building has been completed—in a nondescript, characterless "barracks-like" architecture. Earlier attempts at making buildings more comfortable were abandoned in the name of economy, he reported.

Happy New Year Party Came Late

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP)—With shouts of "Happy New Year," 22 persons dropped in on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollard yesterday.

For the past 10 years the Pollards have celebrated New Year's Eve with four Rhode Island couples, but bad weather prevented the reunion this year—until yesterday.

The four Rhode Island couples and their 24 children arrived in a chartered bus and stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Pollard and the four Pollard children for about three hours.

'Emmy' Faculty Gets Together On Its Awards

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP)—It now appears that Emmy has patched up her family troubles and will be a respected lady from coast to coast.

"Emmy" awards are made annually by the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. They are like the "Oscar" awards made annually by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. There is no relationship between the two academies.

For some time many people employed in television in New York and the Midwest have complained that Emmy awards were not truly representative of the entire industry and were too much under the influence of Hollywood. But now there's been an East-West meeting at the summit here and the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences appears launched on an era of peace and good will.

Don De Fore, the actor and Academy president, explained nearly everything the other day while smoking a peace pipe after the meetings ended.

"We've established 41 categories of awards which will be made next March," he said. "We can really say that everybody is happy. We're setting up machinery for a national board with individual chapters in New York, Hollywood, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Boston."

York was represented by Ed Sullivan, Max Liebman, Alex McKee, Lawrence Langner, Henry White, Mark Goodson and Mario Lewis. Hollywood representatives besides De Fore, were Tom Lewis, Robert Longnecker, Loren B. Ryder and Thomas Fresthurn-Smith.

The Emmys are the only TV awards to craftsmen by craftsmen. In De Fore's words, "Starting this year, they will reflect the entire opinion of the industry. These will not be popularity awards, but true awards for merit."

All members of all unions operating in the television industry are eligible to nominate. Final balloting is done secretly by members of the Academy. Currently there are about 1,000 members in Hollywood and it's expected to have at least that many members in New York by March.

Anyone actively engaged in creative effort in television—actors, producers, directors, cameramen, engineers, film editors, writers, executive producers—is eligible to membership in the Academy.

The 41 categories for awards seem to embrace just about everything in television—from best news commentator to best camera work on a live show, and from best comedian to best comedian.

Sudan Aligned With Arab Bloc In Arms Market

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Newly independent Sudan is joining the Arab countries lining up for possible arms deals with Soviet-bloc nations. But the Sudanese are ready to buy from the West, too.

Foreign Minister Mubarak Zarrag said Sudan has sent arm-shopping missions to Britain, France, India, Pakistan and Czechoslovakia.

He told a news conference "nothing definite has been decided yet," but added that his government has no objections to purchasing arms from Communist Czechoslovakia. The Sudanese defense forces total 12,000 men, Zarrag said, representing a doubling in strength in the past two years.

Sudan declared its independence Jan. 1 after nearly 37 years of joint British-Egyptian rule.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy selling of Chrysler today unsettled the stock market, and some sharp losses were posted by early afternoon.

The market opened mixed and then started higher. In midmorning, however, selling began in Chrysler, and the whole market turned down. Chrysler was in the news because of spreading layoffs and production cuts.

Chrysler was down around 4 points at the most, and there were frequent losses throughout the list of 1 to around 3 points. Gains were small and scattered.

Trading was rather fast at times and came to more than Friday's 2,430,000 shares.

American Hawaiian Steamship provided a sensation with a fall of 22 to 23 points. S. H. Moerman, the president said he planned to resign and said he knew of "no good reason for the recent price levels of the stock."

Weakness in Chrysler brought fast trading for other motors at unchanged to lower prices.

For some time Wall Street has been aware that the recent production pace of the motor industry couldn't be maintained, and there has been some simple warnings from many authoritative sources.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 50 cents at $171.70. On Friday the average lost $1.30.

Hope Eden Will Continue Firm

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials hope to get agreement from British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden here next week to hold the line for another year against seating Red China in the United Nations.

American officials believe Eden will not press for any changes in basic U.S. and British policies.

Britain recognizes Red China; the United States does not. There have been growing pressures in Britain for several years to support Russia's effort to seat Red China in the U.N.

The United States is opposed to Red Chinese membership. Britain has gone along each time the issue has come up and voted to shelve it for the duration of each General Assembly session.

Officials say there is no doubt but that Russia will raise the matter again next fall.

Administration leaders expect Eden will realize the problems that face the government here in a presidential election year and will not do anything to make them more difficult.

The issue may be in for a new airing at home when the Senate takes up President Eisenhower's nomination of Robert R. Bowie to be an assistant secretary of state.

Senators Bridges of New Hampshire and Knowland of California, GOP policy chairman and floor leader respectively, have made it clear they object to the nomination.

They have given no reason publicly, but reportedly do not like Bowie's reputed stand that this country must face up to the U.N.-Red China issue.

"I have tried to do everything I can," Bridges said in an interview yesterday. "To keep party unity but I am afraid the administration's insistence on pushing this nomination is going to split the Republicans."

Bridges and Knowland are said to have tried unsuccessfully to persuade Secretary of State Dulles to recommend withdrawal of the nomination. Neither Dulles nor Bowie has commented. Bowie has been head of the State Department's Policy Planning Committee.

Training School In Home-Making

Pitt County Negro Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Amelia S. Caperton

is conducting a home-making training school for the leaders of the Pitt County home demonstration clubs Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the home agent's office in the Agricultural Building on Johnston street.

The theme of the school will be "Making Housekeeping Easy." The schedule includes good equipment, planning the jobs to be done, and doing the job the best way to save time and energy, and a brief discussion of "How to be a Good Leader," the home agent stated.

While there is little concern about the Red China question, there is less optimism among administration officials about their ability to hold the line on restrictions on trade with the Communist bloc countries.

Britain has been described as wanting to expand trade with Russia and the Eastern European countries and ease substantially restrictions on trade with China. The United States is opposed to such moves now.

American officials say most attention in the conference will be devoted to Middle Eastern problems.

Near $57 Million Said N. C. Share

WASHINGTON, N. C. (AP)—The state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Charles F. Carroll, believes that the federal aid to education bill will pass Congress, possibly bringing North Carolina $57 million dollars.

Carroll said, however, that the bill faces a number of obstacles, including an anti-segregation rider, a demand that funds under the bill be divided between public and nonpublic schools, and a call for equalizing wage scales of construction workers employed under the bill's provisions.

Protests Fail To Deter Schedule Of Integration

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Racial integration may come in Roman Catholic schools here this year, a high church official reports, despite protests and demonstrations from parents.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles J. Plauché, chancellor of the New Orleans archdiocese, told newsmen yesterday Archbishop Joseph Rummel intends to proceed with integration.

Msgr. Plauché said the timing of the integration was under study and "no definite decision has been made." He said, however, "it's very possible that it may be this year."

Msgr. Plauché's remarks came after a panel discussion at Ursuline Academy on integration, a topic that split up a meeting of the parents club at Jesuit High School

A large block of the 600 attending the Jesuit meeting walked out when the principal, the Rev. Claude J. Sialworth, refused to entertain a resolution calling for continued segregation. A similar resolution was passed with only two dissenting votes at Holy Name of Mary High School last month.

Asked to explain the Catholic Church's position on intermarriage of the races, Msgr. Plauché said it was permissible in the church and "would be a lot more desirable" than Louisiana marriage laws that produced mulattoes through adultery.

"Is anybody here going to say a couple in love should be refused marriage?" he asked, "because their grandmother or grandfather were Negroes? We are opposed to marriage laws as they exist."

He indicated that the social stigma usually would be enough to deter mixed marriages.
