Bootleg Load And Extra Springs

UN Reports On Arms Shipped To Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. today published a survey reporting that 10 Western nations have shipped 22 million dollars worth of arms to Israel and her Arab enemies since 1951.

This survey, published in the U. N. periodical Commodity Trade Statistics, said Israel got $8,986,000 of the arms and the five Arab states of Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria got $13,029,000 worth.

The figures, however, did not include (1) aircraft shipments, (2) Britain's 25-million-dollar annual subsidy to Jordan's Arab Legion and (3) any arms from France.

The survey, ending with mid-1955, also made no mention of Communist Czechoslovakia's agreement to sell Egypt 80 million dollars worth of arms.

The survey said the nations had reported only "ordnance" shipments—firearms of war, tanks, self-propelled guns, machine guns, projectors and ammunition.

Car And Bootleg Cargo Is Seized Early Today

An automobile bearing the slogan "Jesus Is God" was seized by Pitt County ABC officers about daybreak today. In the vehicle's trunk was found 30 gallons of bootleg whiskey.

Officers H. B. Lilley and Walter Taylor stopped the car at 12th and Pitt Streets about six a. m. and found the liquor. The driver ran as officers approached but later was apprehended at Old Sparta by Lilley, Taylor and Bethel police officer Curtis Martin.

He was identified as Jerome Griffin, 22, who had been living in a house trailer near Bethel. Griffin was jailed on charges of possession and transportation of non-tax paid liquor.

ABC men, who have struck hard recently at bootleg transportation, were patrolling early today when Griffin's vehicle was discovered.

When Griffin fled, officers J. M. Ward and James Ross joined in the search which led to the arrest about an hour and a half later at 7:30 a. m.

Griffin officers said, admitted being the driver of the car. The vehicle, however, is registered in another name.

Hicks Says 20 Percent Leaf Cut 'Conservative'

RALEIGH (AP)—The 20 per cent reduction in this year's blue-ribbon tobacco cut urged by a committee of growers, the five states producing the crop is "a conservative proposal," the chairman of the committee declared yesterday.

Carl F. Hicks, of Winston-Salem, told a meeting of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation that the 20 per cent cut was "a conservative proposal" and that growers were to be brought strictly in line with the 20 per cent cut of 38 per cent would be required.

Hicks said the Farm Bureau directors reaffirmed their support of a 20 per cent reduction.

A 20 per cent cut already has been recommended by Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan before Congress would allow growers to plant more tobacco in return for the 20 per cent cut.

"have confused the thinking of the people."

Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, has been quoted as saying the bill to cut acreage 20 per cent has little chance of approval by Congress. Scott also has indicated he will support a 12 per cent reduction is sufficient.

With her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, the young monarch is off to show the flag in British-protected Nigeria, once the main source of the slave trade and now emerging as an industrial nation on the brink of full self-government.

In Nigeria, the Queen will find a nation in political ferment preparing for this summer's elections to the House of Representatives. Delegates from this new House will conduct a constitutional conference with the British which could remove the last vestige of colonial administration.

Already the Nigerians control practically all their own affairs. The question now is whether they can sink their own internal jealousies and religious feuds which only two years ago brought fears of civil war.

The main rivalries stem from Nigeria's division into four regions—North, West, and East Nigeria and the Southern Cameroons,

Named Head Of Forestry Council

DURHAM (AP)—G. F. Jackson, a Winston-Salem, N. C., consulting forester, was named chairman of the North Carolina Forestry Council at the state's winter meeting here yesterday. He succeeds Roger Watson of Raleigh.

Other officers named were State College, Raleigh, vice chairman; and F. M. Claxton, state forester, Raleigh.

The forestry council is the steering committee for forestry problems in the state.

which together make up the Nigerian Federation.

The North, much the biggest of the four, is predominantly Moslem. Christianity predominates elsewhere, but paganism still has a big hold. The North has long been fearful of losing influence to a combination of the three other regions.

The hope in London, of course, is that Nigeria eventually will emerge as a self-governing and independent member of the Commonwealth, of which the Queen is nominal head and symbol of unity.

Thus the timing of the Queen's visit is politically significant. It could help promote the commonwealth ideas among the Nigerians. And it might give a fillip to British trade which, though still the dominant factor in Nigeria's economy, has been falling off while German trade with Nigeria has been advancing.

The royal visit has given a tremendous boost to public improvements in Nigeria. It's even started a small-scale antilobby campaign.

Obstacles Encountered By City's Major Street Plan

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

The Planning Board's major street plan bounced back last night with word from the city attorney that difficulties were arising concerning shallow lots on certain streets which have been recommended for wider rights-of-way.

In a letter to the board City Attorney R. B. Lee pointed out that in some areas, such as on First and Third Sts., where hundred foot rights-of-way have been designated, many lots would be rendered useless if property owners follow zoning ordinances which require that houses be set back 25 feet from the front property line.

Planning board members noted that the Board of Zoning Adjustments has the power to make adjustments in zoning requirements in "undue hardship" cases, however.

Recommendations

The group recommended that the Board of Zoning Adjustments be given information as to the variances that might be necessary as each individual case arises. That board can then take action it deems necessary.

Planning Board member Tom Rivers pointed out that while the worst spots in the plan are along First and Third Sts., problems might arise in other areas.

However, he noted that much of the boulevard system around the outer edges of the city takes advantage of existing highways with 100 foot rights-of-way.

Rivers, an engineer, prepared the original major street plan, which, with some changes made by the Planning Board, was recommended to the Council.

The plan sets out standard widths for various streets in the city. As buildings go up along the affected streets, builders would be required to set back beyond the planned right-of-way.

The plan has already been to the City Council which instructed Lee to draw an ordinance calling for a public hearing on the matter.

However, Lee reported that difficulties were arising in certain areas, hence the request that the Planning Board give further consideration to the matter.

Subdivision Problem

Board members faced another problem last night when plans for a new residential subdivision were presented by representatives of Marvin Blount.

The new residential area would lie between N. C. Highway 43 and Evans St. Ext. It would be partially opposite Lakewood Pines.

However, the subdivision lies directly in the path of a proposed boulevard which would serve as a link in the beltline around Greenville.

The link, as now planned, would

Bulganin Offers Friendship Treaty

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The heart of Soviet Premier Bulganin's letter to President Eisenhower is reported to be a proposal for a treaty of friendship between Russia and the United States, coupled with the suggestion that this would promote world peace.

United States officials are studying this latest Soviet move seriously but skeptically. They feel it is almost certainly a propaganda maneuver.

Bulganin is understood to have proposed a pact pledging the United States and the Soviet Union to settle differences within the framework of the United Nations Charter and to avoid interference in each other's internal affairs.

This latest Moscow initiative is puzzling to diplomats. Just last year Russia canceled somewhat similar treaties with Great Britain and France in angry protest over formation of the Western European Union. The WEU is part of the arrangement under which West Germany is being rearmed as a member both of WEU and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Bulganin's letter was delivered to Eisenhower Wednesday. Its contents have been closely guarded, although publication is expected eventually, perhaps after Eisenhower has prepared and dispatched a reply.

It seems unlikely that will be done before his talks here next week with the British Prime Minister, Sir Anthony Eden.

The White House had no comment on the authoritative report that a proposed friendship treaty is the main point of the communication, which it described Wednesday as a "friendly letter."

The proposition appeared to confront Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles with problems of both policy and propaganda. They want to take advantage of every Soviet move which offers a hope of making some real improvement in relations between East and West.

At the same time they oppose participating in any kind of agreement which would simply raise surface hopes about peace and create an illusion of greater security. Should they decide to rebuff Bulganin's move on such grounds, they would face the ticklish question of how to go about it without at the same time giving the impression that this country is not interested in friendship with the Soviet Union.

As diplomatic experts here reported treaty proposal, it would not materially alter the present basis of relations between the United Nations since that organization was formed in 1945. Furthermore, the doctrine of noninterference in internal affairs was mutually agreed to at the time the United States recognized Soviet Russia.

Seven-Inch Rain For Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One of the heaviest rains in Los Angeles history—more than 7 inches—forced about 1500 persons from their homes, closed schools and disrupted traffic and business.

It wasn't until late last night that the storm abated and the Weather Bureau predicted "moderate to showery" rainfall today.

No drownings had been reported but a 7-year-old boy was reported missing. Sheriff's deputies searched for the youngster, Roger Weingartner of nearby San Gabriel. He was last seen by his sister peering into the raging waters of Rubio Wash.

The Los Angeles County Flood Control District reassured jittery citizens who recalled the recent deaths and destruction in northern California floods. District spokesmen said that debris basins were equipped to handle most runoff from the mountains.

Vast areas of Los Angeles County were covered with water during the height of the storm, and the runoff, racing to the sea, posed a serious threat to Long Beach, 25 miles south of here, for several hours.

Shortly before midnight, Sam Vickers, Long Beach city manager, announced he had canceled an alert after engineers told him they had strengthened a flood control channel which passes ultimately through the heart of that city of 300,000.

Floodwaters moved at speeds estimated up to 25 m.p.h. and in depths of more than three feet in many places. Even after the storm slackened last night, flood channels ran brimful and in a few areas evacuated residents were urged to return home until the rain stopped.

Trucks and boats had been used to take women and children from flooded homes. Police said a resumption of heavy rainfall would renew the danger in such areas as Long Beach, Venice, Torrance, Lennox, Firestone, Norwalk, Artesia and Lawndale—all contiguous to Los Angeles.

Between 3 p.m. Wednesday and 3 p.m. yesterday the rainfall was 6.05 inches, third heaviest in southern California history. The heaviest was 7.36 during a one-day period from Dec. 31, 1933, to Jan. 1, 1934, and the second was March 1-2, 1938.

By last midnight the storm total was 7.39 inches. Before this storm the total rainfall for the season, which started last July 1, was only 2.61 compared with a normal of 6.83.

While householders counted their losses, County Agricultural Commissioner Harold J. Ryan said the rain will do more good than harm for crops.

Traffic moved at a crawl all yesterday. Los Angeles blocked sections of Pacific Coast Highway northwest of Santa Monica.

Kefauver Talks To YDC Tonight

RALEIGH (AP)—A statewide rally of Young Democrats tonight will hear Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), an aspirant for the party's presidential nomination.

The Tennessee senator was scheduled to fly here this afternoon. A meeting with Gov. Hodges, a reception and a dinner were slated before he speaks to the rally in Memorial Auditorium.

Officials of the YDC have predicted attendance at the rally will approach 3,000. The gathering is planned as the first of a series featuring top national political candidates and plans are afoot to bring Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman, other Democratic presidential hopefuls, to the state.

Henry Hall Wilson, Monroe lawyer and state YDC president, will introduce Kefauver at the rally. Kefauver has said he will discuss a bill he has introduced to provide a federal disaster insurance program.

Mrs. Mae Oliver, a native of North Carolina and a member of Kefauver's campaign staff, will be in the party. Kefauver is slated to return to the state for talks at Rocky Mount, Feb. 23 and Hickory, Feb. 24.

N. C. Income Tax Revenue Is Rising

RALEIGH (AP)—The state is reaping in dollars the benefits of a program to secure better compliance with tax laws, according to Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw.

Shaw told the Advisory Budget Commission yesterday that because of improved compliance he has raised by 10 million dollars estimates of revenue made when the Legislature prepared the budget for this fiscal year.

Facts cited by Shaw in his report:

At the end of December, individual income tax collections for the fiscal year were running about one million dollars ahead of the previous year.

Reports which indicate nonfilers of income taxes have declined by 42,000, while the number of income tax accounts receivable have dropped by 24,000.

The number of merchants registered under the sales tax has increased by 4,139. Delinquent sales tax accounts also have dropped.

The budget commission approved the request of the State Hospitals Board of Control for the transfer of some $15,000 of its building funds to match a like amount in federal money for the construction of new facilities at the psychiatric center at Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill.

Pay increases were voted for Roy Purser, business manager for the state mental hospitals system, and Ben Clark, business manager of the state's tubercular hospitals. Purser was raised from $11,004 to $12,000 annually, and Clark was upped from $9,240 to $10,000.

A raise also was voted for Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes, former executive secretary of the Library Commission and now state librarian under a merger of agencies. Her pay was raised from $6,000 to $7,500 because of her new duties.

Air Force Base Is Reactivated

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Reactivation of Seymour Johnson Air Force Base near here was announced today by the Air Force.

A security force which had been at the base for some time was redesignated the 445th Air Base Squadron. Its principal task was preparing the base for arrival of the 83rd Fighter-Day Wing of the 9th Air Force this summer.

The 83rd Wing will be equipped with F86F Sabrejets.

Rehabilitation of the World War II Army Air Force base began in December, 1954. Approximately 15 million dollars has been spent on construction. The Defense Department has asked for an additional seven million dollars for rehabilitation work during the next fiscal year.

The Air Force announced about three weeks ago that contracts for 1,500 family housing units for military personnel will be let shortly and that construction will start by early summer. This will involve an expenditure of about 20 million dollars.

Sec. Benson Says TV 'Farm Report' Distorted And Asks Time To Reply

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson, contending a CBS television broadcast gave a "distorted impression" of the farm picture, says he wants time to reply fully.

Benson said he would present his demand today to the Columbia Broadcasting System, which telecast last night Edward R. Murrow's See It Now program entitled "The Farm Problem: A Crisis in Abundance."

In New York, a CBS spokesman said the network had no immediate comment.

Benson, appearing briefly near the end of the hourlong documentary program, said he feared the program might give the idea that the small American farmer is on his way out. Any such contention, he said, is "demagoguery at its worst."

Murrow put together a series of films to portray the farm situation. Government-held surpluses were shown in Liberty ships, warehouses and tents. Farmers argued over the job Benson has done. One accused him of doing a "rotten job" while another called him a capable man beset by tough blaims and pressure from politicians.

The program opened with a farm auction sale near Corning, Iowa, where the farmer said he was being forced out of business by low prices. Murrow commented that many small farmers were being driven off the land, and said the Corning auction scene might be called "the death of a small farm."

Benson said the auction was not a foreclosure. He said he had learned that the farmer, Dale E. Peterson, had voluntarily sold his property with the idea of going to California, thinking he could do better there.

Benson said it "is just not true" that large numbers of farmers are being driven from their farms. He said he had not heard of any such thing in the last three years that in the preceding three years he said.

Taking the stand that he could not reply in five minutes to the questions raised on the program, Benson was about to ask for a later chance to "present all the facts" when time ran out on the program.

Benson delivered a speech last night in Johnstown, Pa. Reached there by a newsman, he said he would present his demand to CBS today.

All-State Symphony Performing In Special Concert Here Sunday

AS MUSICIANS REHEARSED—Nathan Gottschalk (extreme left), of Oberlin College in Ohio, is shown this morning conducting 124 high school members of the All-State Symphony in practice sessions at East Carolina College. The student musicians will present a free charge concert in the Wright Auditorium at the college beginning at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. (Reflector Photo by Bob Hilldrup).

Greenville citizens will have a chance Sunday to hear the best in scholastic orchestral music when the All-State Symphony performs in a 2:30 p. m. concert at Wright Auditorium on the East Carolina campus.

Under the direction of Nathan Gottschalk, of Oberlin College in Ohio, the group of 124 outstanding high school musicians began a three-day practice session here Tuesday.

Gottschalk, the first winner of the Albert Spalding award, is now going graduate work at Boston University.

The student musicians opened their public presentations with a program this afternoon for junior and senior high school students from Greenville.

Sunday's program, Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert of the college music department announced, will include the fourth movement from Dvorak's popular "New World" Symphony. Other selections will include works of Mozart, Dvorak, Grieg, Smetana, Correll, Davenport and Honegger.

The All-State Symphony currently is celebrating its 10th anniversary. It is sponsored by the North Carolina Music Educators' Association.

This year personnel from 15 North Carolina High Schools are participating in the concerts. Included are representatives from Ayden, Charlotte, Concord, Durham, Greensboro, High Point, Kannapolis, Kinston, Washington, Waynesville and Winston-Salem.

During the past year the organization has travelled thousands of miles to perform at National Music Educators' Conferences under the batons of some of the top directors in the country.

Included in the works performed by the group was the world premiere of "Trumpeters Lullaby" under the direction of its composer, Leroy Anderson.

Queen Elizabeth Sets Out Today On Three-Week Tour Of Africa

By COLIN FROST
LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth takes off today on one of the most exciting journeys of her reign: a three-week trip into the heart of a awakening Africa.

With her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, the young monarch is off to show the flag in British-protected Nigeria, once the main source of the slave trade and now emerging as an industrial nation on the brink of full self-government.

The main rivalries stem from Nigeria's division into four regions—North, West, and East Nigeria and the Southern Cameroons, size of the United Kingdom—large by airplane. But on Feb. 11 she will travel by air-conditioned train from Lagos to Ibadan. Along that 120-mile stretch of forest and tropical grasses the mosquitoes are getting some rough treatment.

Dozens of workmen have been spraying the vegetation on each side of the railway to destroy disease-carrying insects.

The antilobby drive grew out of efforts to beautify Carter Bridge, a 2,455-foot span linking Lagos Island with the mainland.

Municipal officials have clamored for a decade for a coat of paint for the bridge. No appropriation was available until three months ago—when it was learned the Queen would make the visit. Then gray blue and white was applied in a hurry and walls were thrown up on one side of the roadway to hide the unsightly waterfront.

Enterprising merchants promptly plastered advertisements on the new walls but officials clamped down promptly. Now the walls are a chaotic cream color bearing only a few dignified welcomes to the monarch.

Christian Church Announcements

Next week, January 29 to February 5th, is to be observed as Youth Week in this church. This has been designated by the Disciples of Christ Church to give emphasis to the work of the church with young people. "Give Youth a Christian Chance" might well be the slogan. The church takes pride in the young people and their leadership and would encourage them in every way possible to accept the Christian Challenge.

Sunday will be observed as Youth Sunday with the morning service delivered by the young people with Mr. John R. Carrington Jr. presiding and assisted by Mr. Roy Martin Jr., Miss Sarah Ewell and Miss Jane Winchester. The Youth Choir will sing and Mr. Leslie Wilkins of Atlantic Christian College will be guest soloist. Mr. Richard Ziglar, assistant minister, will bring the message "Our Citizenship Under Christ."

During this week the Eighth Street Christian Church has served as host to the men of the Hookerton District and to the families of the Hookerton Union. The men's meeting took place last Sunday afternoon and the meeting of the Hookerton Union was held on Thursday with the first session starting at 4:00 and a covered dish supper supplied by the ladies of the church was served at 6:00. In absence of the minister, Dr. H. G. Haney, Mr. J. B. Cummings, chairman of the board, served as host for the Hookerton Union meeting. Dr. and Mrs. Haney left last Sunday for a two-week vacation in Florida. Filling the pulpit in his absence will be Mr. Richard Ziglar on January 29th and Dr. Ray Silverthorne on February 5th.

The regular meeting of the Board of Officers of the church for the month of February will be held on Tuesday evening, February 14th, at 7:30.

FATHER DIES
Mrs. Henry Alexander White was called to Eureka this morning because of the death of her father. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Christian Science Society
How spiritual understanding of divine Love enables mankind to make the Golden Rule practical in daily living will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynote the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" is the Golden Text from 1 John (4:12): "If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us."

The spiritual basis for brotherhood is brought out in selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (518:13-19): "God gives the lesser idea of Himself for a link to the greater, and in return, the higher always protects the lower. The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieeth it, seeking his own in another's good."

Scriptural selections will include Paul's powerful statement on brotherly love (Galatians 5:14): "For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

Last month, says Mrs. J. C. Coward, secretary of the Sunday School, there was a growth of 30 new members in the Sunday School. The present number on roll is 298 and the attendance last Sunday morning was 252. Everyone who is not in Sunday School is invited to come and join this working and growing group. At 11 o'clock the worship service will begin under the direction of the music director, Mr. Samuel E. Johnson. During the service the choir will sing "Thy Will Be Done." Men and women are urged to be present for this worship service. There is a surprise waiting for you in this service. Don't miss it. At 6:30 the League begins. All young people especially are invited to attend. There is always a program that each one will enjoy. Revival services begin at 7:30. There will be good music, instrumental as well as vocal. The Rev. C. L. Patrick is the evangelist for the week. Banners are in store for all who attend.

The Good News Club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All boys and girls are urged to be present.

United Lutheran Mission

The United Lutheran Mission of Greenville will begin services Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Chapel of Clark's Funeral Home, 1206 Dick-linson Ave. The Rev. Frank C. Perry, pastor of Prince of Peace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kingston, will be in charge of the services. The sermon Sunday evening will be entitled "The Bedrock of the Church."

The United Lutheran Mission, which will be affiliated with the United Lutheran Church in America, the largest Lutheran body in this country, will hold services each Sunday evening until spring. At that time a pastor or student pastor will come to actively develop the field.

The public is cordially invited to all Lutheran services. Lutherans in Greenville and all persons without local church homes are urged to attend the local services and to become charter members of the United Lutheran Congregation when it is organized.

Bridge Club Meets With Mrs. Whitehurst

BETHEL—The Thursday afternoon bridge club met at 2:30 with Mrs. Lee Whitehurst Jr. The home was very attractive with vases of greenery and plants.

Soon after arrival of the last guest, the hostess served Cashew nuts and Coca-Colas. Later ice cream, cherry pie and coffee were enjoyed.

Mrs. Dave Speir was winner of the high score prize.

Others who attended were Mesdames C. B. Rowlette Jr., Van Taylor Jr., Bill Whitehurst, Robert Weeks, Walter C. Whitehurst, Dennis Hardy, and James Crandell.

Opera Delights Music Clubbers

Delighted and amazed were the words to describe Greenville Music Clubbers last Monday night at the Grass Roots Opera performance of "The Barber of Seville." Through the snow, sleet and rain of one of the worst nights of the winter came a near capacity crowd of culture-hungry Greenvilleans, who all but filled McChinnis Auditorium at East Carolina College. They weren't sorry they came, as the performance was up to the usual high standard that the Grass Roots Company has set for itself. But the big news of the evening was the crowd—thanks to the Greenville Music Club, Opera has come into its own in Pitt County.

The cast of "The Barber" had a sprinkling of veterans and new faces, all of them good. Diane Holland, a new Grass Rooters from Florida, sang the feminine lead of Rosina with verve and elan. She was materially helped out by her charming appearance and personality in a part that required good acting as well as singing. The Barber himself, Figaro, was played by William Beck, a veteran of several seasons with the Grass Roots Company, who did it like a veteran, with plenty of gusto and enthusiasm. Seasoned performer Robert Bird sang Bartolo, Rosina's crusty old guardian, and was convincingly obnoxious, though some old opera-goers recognized that he wore the same wig that was used last year in "Don Pasquale." And Raymond McGuire, a new face also, was handsome and romantic as Count Almaviva, Rosina's versatile lover.

Alec Danne, Catherine Frantz and David Witherspoon carried off the rest of the singing in fine style, and altogether the company made things well worthwhile for one of the biggest crowds ever to pack into McChinnis Auditorium for anything, let alone "The Barber of Seville."

Opera Committee members of the Greenville Music Club who made the success possible were Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Walter, who were in general charge of all the arrangements, and their assistants, Mrs. Burt Greene, Mrs. D. S. Spain Jr., Mr. Dan Vornholt and Dr. Ed Hirschberg. Helping them in ticket sales were Mrs. Ellis Hamric, Mrs. Troy Rouse and Mrs. Dink James, as well as numerous grade school teachers who saw to it that a good and appreciative crowd of children got out to see the young people's matinee performance. Hosts and hostesses at the Music Club reception for cast, members and friends after the evening presentation were Mr. and Mrs. James Butler, Miss V. Cox, Miss Agnes Fullilove, Mrs. A. L. Barrett and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bodkin, and they provided a fitting close to one of the most successful musical occasions Greenville has ever had.

'Books and Stuff'

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
Cultural and musical event of the week is the performance of the All State Orchestra, consisting of high school students from throughout North Carolina which will present a concert this Sunday afternoon at Wright Auditorium, beginning at 2:30. The event will climax a weekend of study and fun by the members of the orchestra, who are converging on Greenville from all directions—about 150 of them, all winners of local competitions, the cream of this year's crop of high school concert musicians. They will play for their Sunday concert under the direction of visiting conductor Nathan Gottschalk, a member of the Music Department at Oberlin, past winner of the Albert Spalding Award, and an outstanding figure in the musical world. For grown-ups, the All State Orchestra plays on Sunday at 2:30 and for the city and county schoolchildren, at 1:45 Friday afternoon—both concerts will be at Wright, all seats are unreserved, and admission is free.

HIRSHBERG
A new biography of a famous war hero has just come out, modestly titled "MacArthur: His Rendezvous With History," written by one of MacArthur's favorite generals, Courtney Whitney. Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, seems to think that the book is a little one-sided, and even goes so far as to say that it might just as well be called "MacArthur on MacArthur," since the General himself had such a big hand in it. Writes Baldwin:

"The omissions are notable, the slanting is extreme, the contradictions, actual and implied, are many. There are numerous villains—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Navy, Truman, General George C. Marshall. But there is only one hero. We wonder who that could be."

Memoirs
In marked contrast to this latest accomplishment in self-adoration is Volume Two of the Truman Memoirs, now running concurrently in Life Magazine and the New York Times. We've been reading them, and have been pleasantly surprised by their lucidity of style, and honesty, and the modest but forceful character of the author. We hazard the guess that the Truman Memoirs—Volume One of which is on the best-seller list, incidentally—will raise the former President's stature considerably, and may well assure him a place in history among our greatest chief executives.

The Local Scene
Those who missed the recent TV presentation of Noel Coward's brilliant farce, "Blithe Spirit," now can get a real live view of it locally, at McGinnis Auditorium, where the E.C.C. College Theatre will be putting it on for a three-day stand, on February 8, 9 and 10. Curtain for these evenings will be at 8:15. We hope you didn't miss "The Barber of Seville" last Monday, also at McGinnis—the Grass Roots people did their usual gay and sprightly job, and the house was packed, despite the cold and snowy weather. Coming next week to a local cinema: "Red Shoes," on Tuesday, the best picture on ballet we have ever seen.

Today's Review
Mrs. Madge Allen, Supervisor of the Greenville colored schools, contributes today's review of the current Literary Guild selection, "VALLEY OF THE VINES," by Joy Packer. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Company, 1956.

Historical novels have never lost their popularity with the public. Here is one about South Africa, written by Lady Packer who was born there, and is the wife of Admiral Sir Herbert Packer. This is the story of great personal emotion, and of greater family pride. It is the story of Constantia Valley and Dieu Donne, the home of the pioneering de Valois family for many generations.

Pride of family and background stand in the way of progress. Granny Con saw only one thing, the preservation of her valley. With her lived Merle, beautiful and impetuous, the granddaughter, and the heir to Dieu Donne, and Roxanne, lovely and loved by all the valley. And there also lived Martinus Vos, Thinius for short, the Afrikaans overseer of the vast wine vineyards, hence the wealth of the valley. The age old story of love fulfilled and unreturned, the tragedy of fire and flood, make rather good reading. The background of Hollywood, London, and Paris have lots to do with the story. The kernel of the plot is kept till the last few pages, very successfully. Even though the emotions are touched, there is nothing to upset them. There are no new theories, nor radical views. For an evening's reading, it is close enough to our own way of life to send us to bed with a comfortable feeling. The world will not fall through before we read another novel.

Will Vocalize At Benefit Dance

Elaine Powell is vocalist with the Larry Elliott orchestra which will play for a March of Dimes dance Monday night in Wright Auditorium at East Carolina College. The informal dance will continue from 9 until 1. Tickets are on sale at several local business establishments, East Carolina and the Moose Lodge. All proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes.

ECC Religious Emphasis Week Observance Ends

The 1956 observance of Religious Emphasis Week at East Carolina College came to a close Thursday night as Dr. Robert Paul Roth of Columbia, S.C., dean of the graduate school at Lutheran Southern Seminary, spoke at the last of six assemblies which presented visiting leaders in religious and education as speakers. The topic of these programs was "Revolution and Reconciliation."

Audiences included students and staff members at the college and visitors to the campus from Greenville and neighboring localities. Programs in addition to assemblies included morning watch services, group meetings and afternoon coffee hours for informal discussion, and fireside chats in college residence halls.

Speakers and consultants who were present on the campus for Religious Emphasis Week were Dr. Roth; Dr. Roger Ortmeier, Nashville, Tenn., editor of the Methodist youth magazine "Motive"; Dr. D. D. Holt, Greensboro, executive director of the Methodist Church Foundation for North Carolina; the Rev. Beverly Asbury, pastor of the Zebulon Baptist Church; the Rev. Edward A. Cahill, minister of the Unitarian Church of Charlotte, N.C.; Bill Price, president of the Carolina Paper Box Co. of Burlington, N.C.; and Dr. Sankey L. Blanton, president of Crozer Theological Seminary at Chester, Pa.

Some Notes From Grifton High School

By DAWN SMITH
Grifton High School
Surprising things have been going on at dear old GHS lately. Guess who is now sporting those "daring" and "catty-looking" cat cut hairdos. You've guessed it: Lonnie Jackson and Alfred Boswell. On them it looks very nice.

For the past couple of weeks I have heard some faint moans over the expected results of report cards. Conclude, I believe, was the main worry of most of the students. I heard Barbara Taylor fussing aloud about her expected "D" on conduct. Much to her surprise when we got our report cards yesterday she had a "B."

on the conduct line. She was so pleased over that "B" I wouldn't be surprised if she hasn't ignored all her other grades.

Another Chance To Ask Surplus

A representative from the state civil defense office will make a re-visit to Pitt County next Thursday to take applications for federal surplus property.

Farmers and small businessmen who suffered hurricane damage to property this fall are eligible to make application for this surplus property.

Last week L. W. Word from the state civil defense office was here and took applications from only about two dozen Pitt County farmers and businessmen. On his return visit he will again be located at the county courthouse all day. Word noted previously that when he returned he hoped to have circulars offering new materials available. He said most of the applicants last week were farmers and their greatest needs were timber and roofing. "We have comparatively little of these items," he said, "but an effort is being made to get building materials and roofing to take care of the need."

Farmers and small businessmen who suffered actual damage to equipment during the 1956 hurricane are eligible to purchase the government surplus property at 10 per cent of the cost to the federal government.

The civil defense agency is not set up to take care of any crop loss.

Following Thursday's visit by the state representative, applications will be taken locally by a person appointed by the chairman of the County Board of Commissioners.

Hasn't Been To A Doctor Lately

ANDALUSIA, Ill. — Robert Johnson hasn't been to a doctor since he was 92, back in 1948. "And I still feel good and see good," he said today on his 100th birthday. "I see better with my own eyes than with glasses."

His formula for long life is "good behavior and the kindness of God Almighty."

In Mysore most of the people are Hindus and most of them speak Kanarese.

You should have seen some of the surprised looks on the students' faces out at GHS when I walked in with my new black-framed glasses on the other morning.

Mrs. Bob McCotter has been honored recently at two lovely showers. She has received many beautiful gifts. She was entertained by Mrs. Bill Jackson and Mrs. Robert McCotter.

Friends of Jesse Ray Stokes are sorry to hear of his recent illness. He is now a patient at Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville. Mr. Stokes, father of Pat Stokes, is an honored guest and devoted supporter of our basketball teams.

Mencken Ready To Be Denounced

BALTIMORE, Md. — H. L. Mencken is going to publish another book and he says he is looking forward with pleasure to "being denounced again."

The book, to be called "Minority Report," was put together before a cerebral hemorrhage laid the 75-year-old "Sage of Baltimore" low and limited his powers of communications.

He says it is a collection of essays. He put it together in 1948, then "forgot" it. It was rescued several weeks ago when his secretary found it among a pile of dusty papers headed for the Enoch Pratt Library for inclusion in the Mencken Room.

Among the barbs in the manuscript is this one: "No one blames a man for believing that his wife is beautiful, but it is impossible to avoid disgust in the presence of one who believes that he has an immortal soul of some vaguely gaseous nature and that it will continue to exist four hundred million years after he has been shovelled away."

Or this one: "Philosophy consists very largely of one philosopher arguing that all others are jackasses. He usually proves it, and I should add that he also usually proves that he is one himself."

Didn't Know His Own Wallet

OMAHA, Neb. — Are you sure you know your own wallet? Bachelor Farmer John Rohwer, 61, didn't.

Last November his ailing mother asked him to "hide" $960 for her. Rohwer took the money and stuffed it into the wallet. Then he put the wallet in a metal cash box and shoved the box into a tunnel between two chicken houses.

In December he pulled out the cash box, opened the wallet and checked the money. Everything O. K.

Last week he checked again. He slipped the wallet open and gave a gasp. No money.

Rohwer called for the sheriff. Deputies examined the wallet. No money. The deputies returned to headquarters with the metal box and the wallet. Onto a shelf they went while for a week the deputies investigated possible suspects. Yesterday special investigator Ed Clinchard saw the dusty box on the shelf. He took it down, dusted it off and picked out the wallet.

Boy Acquitted In Murder Trial

HIGH POINT, N.C. — A 15-year-old boy who testified he fatally stabbed his stepfather because he struck his mother with a small baseball bat was acquitted of murder charges yesterday.

A jury deliberated nearly two hours before acquitting Mack M. Warren in the death of his stepfather, Doramus L. Williams, 55, at their home here Oct. 19.

Warren, his mother and two small sisters broke into tears at the verdict.

Warren testified that he stabbed his stepfather with a hunting knife after Williams beat his mother with a small baseball bat and threatened to hit him with an electric iron. Mrs. Williams testified she was knocked unconscious by her husband.

We Should Expect Concrete Results

When representatives of 18 eastern North Carolina municipalities gathered in Farmville Monday night, they should be ready to say whether or not their respective municipalities are willing to participate financially and otherwise in the construction of a joint airport for this section of the state.

With the efforts of the Department of Conservation and Development fully behind the project, this section has its best opportunity in history to bring the dream of a decade into reality. The sooner the much needed facility becomes a reality, the sooner this area will begin to realize the fruits which adequate air transportation can mean.

It will be imperative that those responsible for this new effort to establish a joint airport profit by the mistakes made three years ago when a similar effort failed. Fair weather supporters of the former effort proved its undoing, and its ultimate failure. Four cities and four counties joined in the initial project. Things went well and progress was encouraging until the time came to make firm commitments for the local funds which were necessary to begin work on the facility. Two of the local government units—which had known for many months the project would require local funds—balked and caused the entire effort to collapse.

At the outset of this new effort to establish an airport for the eastern part of North Carolina, it should be clearly understood by each participant that local funds will be required. Those which lack sufficient interest to commit themselves to providing such funds should so announce and exclude themselves from the project at the beginning. Otherwise the vital project may again become a victim of the same pitfall as its predecessor.

By now officials of the various municipalities should know the sentiment of their respective citizens toward the joint airport project. On the basis of this knowledge, officials should be able to say with a reasonable degree of certainty whether their respective municipalities will be willing to cooperate in the effort and see it through to completion.

If there are communities which are in doubt about the project, they should eliminate themselves at the outset, lest they become the small stumbling block which causes the whole undertaking to fall flat on its face.

The Reflector urges the municipalities of Pitt County to lend their full support to this new effort to create a facility which will mean air service to this section. Each municipality, regardless of its size, stands to reap important dividends from the progress which the airport and accompanying air service bring to the area.

We trust the project will have the full endorsement of the seven Pitt County municipalities which will participate in the meeting at Farmville Monday night.

'Friendly Letter' Gives Rise To Dark Thoughts

Soviet Premier Bulganin's dispatching a "friendly" letter to President Eisenhower appears to us, as it does to many others, another Kremlin maneuver probably designed to take some of the punch out of top level American-British talks next week.

At the same time an American report of recent talks with Russia's top Communist Khrushchev in which the Soviet Party boss asserted he believed neither President Eisenhower nor Prime Minister Eden wanted war, adds credence to speculations that the Kremlin is off on another peace propaganda project.

Since the conference at the summit at Geneva last summer, Soviet words toward the west have varied from hot to cold. At times during the period their apparent attitude have covered the range from overtures of friendliness to outright belligerence. Until the past few weeks, Russia's policy toward the west has appeared one of increasing toughness. Now comes the warm flow of words reminiscent of the superficial spirit of friendship and ready smiles so evident at Geneva more than six months ago.

What does it mean?

Top authorities of international affairs of the United States are staying up nights trying to figure it out. Their conclusions are being put down in voluminous reports to other officials, no doubt. Until such time as they show us wrong, we'll cling to our own layman's theory:

The Kremlin, enthused over criticism of Eden in Britain, is trying to cut the ground from under any positive agreements which may be made between President Eisenhower and Eden at their coming talks. The Reds are hastily donning their sheep's clothing for the next few weeks in the hope of fooling some of the British and American public even if they can't fool top officials with such a masquerade.

Like a well trained vaudeville team, Bulganin and Khrushchev have gone through the act a number of times in the past. We may well expect other repeat performances in the future as its suits their infamous purposes.

Fitting Candidate For JC Citizenship Award

It was a fitting tribute paid to energy, young leadership and community service in the presentation of the annual Distinguished Service Award to Dan Saied of Greenville.

Chosen Greenville's outstanding young man of 1955, Saied's lists of accomplishments and activities during the past year reads more like the activities of a number of active organizations rather than the endeavors of one man during one brief 12 month period. One has only to scan the list of activities to realize the countless hours of work which Saied put into efforts to better this community during the past year.

His broad scope of efforts covered almost every phase of community life from business to civic activities to church work. Through his efforts he has afforded not only time and energy, but valuable leadership in a wide variety of the channels of community service.

The Reflector joins the rest of Greenville in offering its congratulations to the city's Young Man of the Year. The honor which has come to Dan Saied is well deserved. The efforts which he has put forth in community service on behalf of his fellow citizens have helped to make Greenville a more progressive city and a better place in which to live.

Traveling Is O.K.

by Bob Hilldrup

Two Sides To That Story

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the F.B.I., Hal Boyle, Associated Press columnist and even North Carolina's own—Charles Craven, have been airing their views lately on the subject of the word "cop."

Hoover, the famed Federal Bureau head, started it all by lambasting the word "cop" when used in reference to a police officer. But, even after all the wordage, there still seems to be two sides to the story.

The use of cop doesn't necessarily have to be a token of no respect. Rather, there are those, including some law officers, who feel that it is up to the police themselves to raise the meaning of the term to a more respectful level.

Still others however, maintain that calling a police officer a "cop" is no better than saying a doctor is a "quack" or a lawyer a "shyster."

Both sides apparently have their arguments and the split of opinion goes all the way down to North Carolina's Highway Patrol.

Says one Pitt patrolman, "Cop is the most disgusting word I've ever heard. It makes me want to chock my nails when someone calls me a 'cop'."

Still, on the other hand, another local patrolman maintains that the word "cop" is all right. "It's up to us," he says, "to raise the meaning of the word. When we make police work a profession on the same level as will use the term 'cop' as a token of respect."

And so you have it. Cop or police officer, it's how he does his job that really counts.

Notebook On Life

Hollywood Is Booming Novak

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Will success

spoil Kim Novak?
The 22-year-old fluorescent blonde landed in Hollywood two years four months ago virtually unknown except to her family and a few close friends.

Since then she has been in six films. The Hollywood drumbeaters have given her one of the most massive buildups since Marilyn Monroe tip-toed off a calendar to fame.

But even her old Sunday school teacher could hardly complain that Kim—who combines the flawless beauty of Grace Kelly with the sultry charm of Monroe—has let her quick stardom go to her head.

Miss Novak still talks with the down-to-earth commonsense of the proverbial "girl next door."

She looks pretty much like the girl next door, too—that is, if the girl next door rinsed her hair in a lavender tint and felt a bit crowded in a 34-36 size sweater.

One way Kim has kept her feet on the ground is by walking. "I love walking," she said, "during a visit here to attend the premiere of my latest opus, 'Picnic,' which is based on the Broadway play of the same name. I live only three blocks from the studio, so I walk to work."

I stay in a home with 37 other girls. It's an affiliate of the YWCA who are trying to get a break in Hollywood.

"My parents wanted me to stay there. They felt I'd be safer."

I pay $150 a week for a room and two meals a day, and the room is about the size of the bathroom in the hotel suite the studio has put me up in here," Kim started modeling at 12 and along the way also worked in a Christmas card factory and a dime store, ran an elevator, groomed horses, and served as a dental assistant.

In her studio biography Kim recalls: "One day the dentist's wife came in the office, and the next day I lost my job. It took me a long time to figure out why."

By and large the reasons are now clearly evident. Kim was averaging $200 a week as a model, but quit it to start her film career at $100 because "I was tired of just posing and smiling."

Today her weekly income is in four figures—somewhere between $10,000 and $9,999. Her studio "loaned" her services to make a single film for an independent producer for $100,000.

"Naturally, I didn't get any of that," Kim wistfully remarked the actress, who has just signed a new seven-year contract.

None of Hollywood's celebrated sins have caught up with Kim. She avoids the glamour circuit, likes to wear slacks and flat heeled shoes offscreen, prefers to eat to eat—it says right here!—she doesn't smoke or drink. No, not even coffee.

"In two of my pictures I had to smoke, and I had to practice a couple of weeks each time in order to hold the cigarette right. I hated it. It made my eyes burn."

So far, so good? Yep. But what about romance?

"I'm only 22," said Kim, crisp. "They don't marry that young where I come from."

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
LIVING FAITH

We have often remarked in this column that science is able to do about everything but create life. This illusive thing no one understands. No one can create it; society takes vengeance on those who destroy it.

None of the top level officials want that but several expressed fear that it might happen. Opinion of this group is that it will make very little difference who carries the banner, just so long as the banner is inscribed with the commitment for segregation at all costs.

There is further the feeling that while the extreme segregationists are vehement and vocative, a preponderant majority of North Carolinians favor a moderate approach.

cidedly does not go far enough. This is a healthy body is different from a corpse. Living faith means a faith with life on it, and life is something which only God can give. Living faith usually assents to creeds and follows most of the religious practices; but it does vastly more. Jesus described it by saying that it was in one's heart, a well of water springing up into eternal life. It is also a divine leaven which leavens the whole lump.

You can tell the people who have living faith from those who have nominal faith. Those who have living faith use that faith to live by. It not only pervades their lives—it is their lives. Living!

West Germany's Hopes For A Future

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — "Where do we go from here?"

With this typical American platitude as his title, a high official of the West German Government analyzes his divided country's present predicament and prospects as a result of the failures of the Geneva Conference. He urges continued alliance with the West and firm patience toward the Kremlin that free postwar Germany has no warlike intentions.

The author is Dr. W. Hallstein, State Secretary of the Bonn Government's Foreign Office. His article, which appears in a recent issue of Bonn's Official Bulletin, was first delivered as a lecture at the University of Munich. As a considered statement of Adenauer's present and future plans, it has attracted wide attention in diplomatic circles here and abroad.

ADENAUER STILL HOPES
It is regarded as especially significant because of Bonn's forthcoming negotiations with Moscow, based on resumption of formal diplomatic relations. Despite Moscow's Geneva rejections of German reunification, except on its own harsh and unacceptable terms, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer still hopes for a fairer settlement of the problem. In a sense, European statesmen like the Chancellor and Dr. Hallstein may serve as spokesmen and champions of the West at the Kremlin.

In seeking an explanation for the Reds' brusque behavior at Geneva—he calls it "crass and uncouth"—Dr. Hallstein furnishes a logical and comforting reason for their recalcitrancy. Bonn has better sources of information on Communist and satellite affairs than Washington or London.

"The theory," he writes, "is that the 'offensive of the smile' had given birth to certain trends of relaxation within the structure of the Soviet Bloc, too, and that, therefore, the Soviet leaders considered it advisable to show a more rigid front; again, SOVIET TRICKERY."

The other theory is that the Soviet planning separate bilateral talks with the Federal Republic (Bonn), fell back on their well tried method of uncouth talk in their four-power negotiations in order to achieve a maximum effect with a minimum concession in any forthcoming bilateral Russo-German talks.

But if Messrs. Khrushchev and Bulganin anticipate an Adenauer surrender in return for meaningless economic or political concessions, they will be disappointed. West Germany's only hope and salvation Dr. Hallstein warns, is for her to remain associated with the nations of the West. He writes:

"There are two resolutions which we ought to make in all earnestness and determination. The first is that we should never remain alone. We have experienced what the community with nations that are our friends, means in the questions that so deeply concern our people. It is not enough to be grateful for this fact."

COGENT STATEMENT
Obviously referring to West Germany's remarkable economic recovery under the Marshall Plan and subsequent aid programs, he continues:

"We must keep alive, particularly in ourselves, the awareness that our destiny is part of the destiny of a community of nations with whom we feel closely tied by everything that is valuable to us as individuals and as a people."

Whenever this community suffers, we also suffer. Whenever this community is endangered, we are

That Boom In Building Homes

By ELMER ROESSNER

The outlook for home building is confused. Let's see if we can figure what's what.

There's been a home-building boom ever since the end of the war. It was founded on pent-up demand, high employment and income, and government aid. It reached a peak in 1950, when 1,396,000 dwelling units were started in urban areas. There have been more than a million starts a year since.

The government aid, housing in two ways. It gives and lends money for public housing. While this accounted for 19,100 dwelling units last year, it is a relatively small part of the total. In addition, the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration guarantee mortgages, providing the mortgages and the construction meet certain minimums.

If guaranteed mortgages are available, no lending institution will put much if any of its money into the other kind. So the government just about dictates terms for all home building. THE FEDERAL WORRIERS

Early last summer Federal Reserve, Treasury and other government experts began to worry about the size of the boom. They feared there might be more building than could be sold, and that could lead to a bust. So they reduced the FHA and VA to increase the mortgage minimums. Down payments had to be 2 per cent larger and mortgages had to be paid off within 25 years instead of 30 years effective August 1.

That made monthly payments as well as down payments larger. In September home building started to slow down and in each of the last four months of the year the number of starts was less than in the same month in 1954. However, because of the heavy building earlier, the year was the second best in history with 1,329,900 starts.

Now the worriers had a new problem.

Spokesmen had been saying the Eisenhower Administration had set a goal of 1,200,000 new houses a year and the December starts were below that rate, even after allowances for the weather.

So the FHA and VA changed the minimum term back to 30 years. On a 4 1/2 per cent VA mortgage, that reduces the monthly payment per $1,000 from $5.56 to $5.07. Although, of course, there must be 60 more of those payments. No change in down payments was made.

DEMAND MAY LESSEN

If the longer terms do not stimulate demand, it is likely that the down payments will be reduced.

However, even that may not be enough. We are entering the years when the low birth rate of the Depression is being reflected in the number of persons in their middle 20's—the most popular marrying age. It is probable that the marriage rate will decline during the next five or six years, thereby reducing the demand for new homes.

A study by U.S. News & World Report indicates that a total of 7,200,000 new housing units were needed in the five years ending in 1953, while only 5,584,000 will be needed in the five years ending in 1959. After allowing for subdividing houses into flats and other makeshift arrangements, it calculates the average annual demand during the next five years will be 1,016,800 compared with 1,188,000 in the last five.

The average family may have a wide choice of new homes and it may get very easy to buy. But it is not likely that it will get good housing any cheaper, because if there is a slack in home building the rise in industrial construction will probably absorb all surplus manpower and materials.

Opinions In Brief

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR:

"The family doctor is a great institution. His financial reward may not be as great as the specialists', but the personal and professional satisfaction he gets in his practice truly is beyond price."

Now even F.D.R. or Winston Churchill, Harry S. Truman or President Eisenhower, ever gave more cogent reason for establishment of a Western European Union, economically and militarily powerful enough to withstand the influence of constantly aggressive communism throughout the world.

By Dr. Hallstein does not advocate a hostile or provocative policy toward Russia. He says: PEACEFUL POLICY STRESSED

"The German people wish to live in peace and good neighborly relations with the Soviet people. And in demanding the unity of our people and peace and freedom, we only demand what the Federal Chancellor (Adenauer) at Moscow called on divine and human rights. For this reason, our first step after establishing diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia will be to present the Soviet leaders a picture of Germany as it really is."

If misconceptions about us have been the cause of their reactions, we will in all fairness and patience strive to correct these interpretations."

God's Concern for Sinners (Temperance)

Accused by Pharisees and scribes of associating with sinners, Jesus asked, "If a man had 100 sheep, and lost one, would he not seek the lost until he found it, then call his friends to rejoice with him?"

Another parable Jesus told was of a woman who lost a piece of money, and she swept her house diligently until she found it. She then called her friends to come and rejoice with her that the coin was found.

A man, said Jesus, divided his property between his two sons. The younger took his share, went to far country, spent all and was in want. He decided to go home, ask forgiveness and offer to be a servant.

His father, however, rejoiced at his coming. He dressed him in fine clothes and made a great feast, "for this my son was dead and is alive again; he was lost and is found."

Scripture—Luke 15:1-32.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
MANY publicans and sinners gathered around Jesus to hear Him preach. The Pharisees and scribes criticized Him because, they said, "This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them"—something the orthodox Jew never would do.

Jesus, reading their thoughts, said: "What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost until he find it?"

Then he would call his friends and ask them to rejoice with him, for he had found the lost one.

"I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance."

Another parable Jesus told along was this son that he even envied the pigs the hawks he was feeding them. Then he thought of all the servants his father hired, and that they were all well fed and comfortable. He would go back home, he decided, and tell his father how he had sinned, and that he was no longer worthy to be called his son. Would his father forgive him, and let him be one of his servants?

He went home and told his father how he felt, but instead of scolding him, the father was so pleased to see him again that he dressed him in fine clothes, put a ring on his finger and shoes on his feet, saying, "Let us eat and be merry; for this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found."

Such love is like God's for us. It will not let us go. Happy the erring son or daughter who has such parents. Small children may the same lines was about a woman who lost a piece of silver of the 10 she possessed. She would sweep her house diligently, said the Lord, until she found the lost coin, then call her friends to be glad with her over its recovery.

The third parable Jesus told these church authorities was the familiar one of the prodigal son. A man had two sons, and the younger asked his father to divide his possessions with the two. The father did so, and the younger son took all he possessed and went on a journey into a faraway country, where he squandered all he had in riotous living.

Then a famine struck that country, and having spent his all he went to a citizen of the country and asked him for a job. The man sent him into the field to care for his swine. So hungry know of a family one of whose members has gone astray and been received at home again with rejoicing.

Other ones may recall a family whose husband and father had been a drunkard or a gambler for years, to their great sorrow and even suffering. Then, realizing the peril from his way of life, he has turned from his fault and become again a fine citizen, making his home life happy and secure once more. What rejoicing must there be in such a household!

If we, so full of faults for which we must ask forgiveness, can learn to forgive others as God forgives us, and as Jesus, in His sojourn on earth, forgave sinners and tried to turn them to the paths of righteousness, surely there will be rejoicing in heaven for us as well as for them, too.

To Lecture

The healing of sickness and other discords exclusively by prayer based on God's allness will be the topic of a Christian Science lecture to be given here Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock by Jules Cern (above), of New York City.

Mr. Cern, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church under the auspices of Christian Science Society, Greenville. His subject will be "Christian Science: Its Fundamental Teachings and Practical Use." The lecture is free, and local members have invited the public to attend.

A native of Dallas, Texas, Mr. Cern is on a nationwide lecture tour.

First Presbyterian Announcements

Assembly's Youth Sunday will be observed this Sunday during the 11 o'clock church worship service. Throughout the General Assembly, this Sunday is dedicated to the youth work of the church. Through active participation in the worship services, the young people interpret to the congregation the real purpose and aims of their program. Let all with greater interest and concern support the youth program of the church. This Sunday several young people will assist in the morning worship service: Explanation of Youth Sunday, Jesse Powell; Scripture Lesson, Pat Beatty; Prayer, Sylvia Satterthwaite; Offertory, Mary Ann Bryant; Ushers, Wesley Topping Jr., David Rosevear, Dicky Haas and Tom Powell. The cash offering this Sunday morning will be dedicated to the youth work and will be sent to the young people's treasurer of the Presbytery.

The Senior High and Pioneer Fellowship will meet Sunday at 6 o'clock for supper and vespers. The young people extend to each and everyone a special invitation to attend their vespers at 6:45. By attending this meeting the young people will have an opportunity to share with all part of their work.

The Westminster Fellowship of East Carolina College will meet at the Manse, 401 E. 8th St., Monday at 6:30 p.m. for vespers program, fellowship, and supper. Lee Giles, chairman of the Commission on Christian Faith, will present the program.

The Committee on Christian Education will meet Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Church Parlor. Each member is urged to be present.

The nursery for little children during the 11 o'clock church service is sponsored by Circle No. 6, Mrs. Harry A. Allen Jr., chairman. The choir will meet for rehearsal Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Immanuel Baptist Announcements

The Rev. Irby Jackson of Rutherford will be the guest speaker at the Morning Worship this Sunday morning. Dr. Frederick Jones will bring the evening message on the subject "Walking With God."

At the morning service, Mrs. James L. White will sing "I Talked With God Last Night" by Galt. The Adult Choir will sing "O God Our Help in Ages Past" by Mueller. At 5:30 the Youth Choir will rehearse at the church. At 6:00 Fellowship Supper begins followed by Training Union at 6:30.

Tuesday at 3:45 the Jr. G. A.'s (9-10) will meet in Miss Trott's office.

Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. the Men's Brotherhood will have a supper meeting at the church. All men of the church from 17 up are urged to make reservations to attend this meeting. At 7:30 on Wednesday, the Junior G. A.'s (11-12) will meet at

Revival To Open

The Grace Free Will Baptist church begins a mid-winter revival on Sunday, January 29 and will continue through February 5. The two Sunday morning services will be at 11:00 o'clock. The evening service will be at 7:30.

Rev. C. L. Patrick (above), pastor of the Free Union Free Will Baptist church near Snow Hill, will be the evangelist. Rev. Patrick is well known in Greenville and Pitt county.

Special music will be featured in each service under the direction of Mr. Johnson, the music director of the church.

Everyone is invited to share in the blessings of this revival.

the church. The Jr. R. A.'s (11-12) will meet in the Junior Department Room at the same time. The Jr. R. A.'s (9-10) meet at the church at 7:30 and Intermediate R. A.'s will meet in the church parlor at 7:45. All these meetings are on Wednesday night. At 7:45 Wednesday, Dr. Jones will conduct the midweek service.

The Adult Choir will rehearse at 7:30 on Thursday.

A nursery is provided during the Morning Worship for children up to six years of age.

Coach Stuart Tripp of Ayden hopes this is the year. The year that the big jinx on his basketball team will be dispelled. And about time, he figures, for the hoax has been on for 10 fat seasons.

No matter what kind of season Ayden has—and there has been only one losing campaign there in the last decade—Bethel always manages to smash the Tornadoes' sand castle.

Take last season for instance. Ayden won the Pitt County Conference's regular season championship and went into the tourney top seeded. But along comes Bethel and upsets the Tornadoes' appellation in the second round.

"Bethel has always proved our Waterloo," Tripp lamented. "I can recall at least 20 games they've won from us by one point during the past 10 years. Last year it was a one-point margin here."

"Everybody beats Bethel, we beat everybody else, Bethel beats us," he uttered between shakes of the head. "If we could ever get by them . . . why, we'd go all the way."

Unlike the 1954-55 season, the first Ayden-Bethel game went to Tripp's charges. But that game was played in Ayden. In the sanctity of Bethel's home court, Tripp figures he has to spot them 10 points—the same margin by which Ayden won on their court.

But the Tornadoes sport one of their best teams and have run up a string of 12 consecutive victories. They have been pushed only twice, in two four-point triumphs over Robersonville.

The game in Bethel will come off next Tuesday night, January 31. Coach W. C. Latham's boys have compiled a pretty fair record, too, despite the early loss to Ayden—the only one, incidentally, by them in the league.

Bethel's record is second only to Ayden's. Latham's boys have won 16 and lost only three. Their conference mark is even better, nine wins and one loss.

Big Jim (Tatum, natch) has the state's grid fans buzzing about future football prospects at Carolina. Many expect too much, at least right away. Even a master planner like Tatum needs a couple years to bring in the harvest.

Here is a pretty good analysis of next fall's prospects at the Hill. Generally, the Tar Heels should have a bigger and faster team with six seniors, several transfers who're eligible for the first time, a host of good juniors from last year's sophomore group, and a field of fine rising sophomores.

Will Frye, Roland Perdue and Jack Maubts will be the main losses in the line, fleet Ken Keller the only backfield regular. Ed Sutton and Larry McMullen, two swift halfbacks, will return, plus juniors Joe Temple, Steve Kupchick and Jim Varnum, fullback Don Lear, Giles Gaca and Howard Williams.

Tatum will go right to work on the quarterback situation, will bring in ex-Maryland ace Jack Scarbath to work with his field generals in the spring. He thinks Buddy Sasser may be shifted to a halfback spot, leaving David Reed and Ron Marquette as the veteran quarterbacks, plus boohunk Don Thomas and frosh Curtis Hathaway.

Tatum may try to get Marshall Newman to return, thinks he is a great defensive man (Maryland scouting reports stressed that fact). Len Bullock may be back after a year's inactivity if he decides to try for his Masters degrees and the Marines don't call.

The line material will be good with stalwarts Phil Blazer, Leo Russavage, Stuart Pell and Dicky Morris—all held out in 1955—ready to go with returning lettermen John Bilich, John Jones, Jack Linberger, Hap Setzer, George Stavitski and Buddy Payne. David Coates, Fred Swearingner and Ronnie Koes are husky and promising forwards up from the freshman team.

Sutton and Temple should thrive on Tatum's variations of the split-T. Right now the quarterback spot, the same one Carl Snively and Barclay could never fill satisfactorily, looms as the No. 1 question mark. You can be certain that Tatum will bring in some hot freshman quarterbacks—more than his customary three, too—to be ready for 1957.

Pastrano Meets Chuck Spieser In Miami Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Willie Pastrano of New Orleans figures to be a 7-5 choice over Chuck Spieser of Lansing, Mich., when the two light heavyweight contenders meet in a 10-round fight in the auditorium tonight.

Pastrano, strapping 20-year-old who has not lost a fight since Nov. 30, 1953, when Italo Scottichini beat him, is expected to weigh in at around 182 pounds, which would give him a weight advantage.

Spieser, a Michigan State graduate is a puncher who has won six of seven fights since coming out of the Army last March. He lost only to Pastrano, in Chicago last July and since then has been anxious for a return engagement. NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

United States Athletes Suffer Early Defeats In Winter Games

Ayden, Farmville Cagers Leading Pitt Conference

Current Pitt County Conference basketball standings find two of the teams undefeated, as the Ayden boys and Farmville girls top their respective sections of the loop.

The Ayden boys boast an unblemished 8-0 conference slate, and a terrific 12-0 mark in over-all contests this season. Lindy Dunn and Bert Tripp lead the scorers and are assisted ably by teammates Vanderford, Edwards, and Stokes.

Farmville's girls, sparked by the scoring of Jane Joyner, possess a fine 8-0 loop record and an 11-0 card against all opponents. Moore, Baker, Oakley, Williams and Little are the other regulars.

Below are the complete standings to date:

Predicts Three Olympic Records

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—A man who should know today predicted three new world records in the four Olympic speed skating events beginning tomorrow.

Per Christian Andersen, Norway's walking encyclopedia of winter sports, said Russia will win the 500- and 1,500-meter races in world record time on the lightning-fast surface of nearby Lake Misurina.

He also forecast a new mark in the 5,000 meters, but couldn't pick a winner between Norway's Rold Aas and Boris Schilkov of Russia. Knut Johanneesen of Norway is his choice to win the 10,000-meter grind, but the veteran newsman who has covered every winter Olympics but one does not think Johanneesen can better the world record.

Per Andersen, news editor of Aftenposten, one of Oslo's largest papers, likes Yuri Sergeyev, holder of the current 600-meter world record of 40.8 seconds, in skating's sprint event. This despite the fact Eugeny Grischin skated 40.2 here last Sunday while Sergeyev was doing 40.4.

Andersen picks Schilkov, holder of the world 5,000-meter mark, in the 1,500.

Most other experts here agree the two short races will be dominated by Russia, but Del Lamb of Milwaukee, coach of the U.S. team, says two speedsters on his squad have a good chance. "With breaks" in the 500, they are Bill Carow, Madison, Wis., fireman, and Don McDermott, Englewood, Cliffs, N.J., construction worker.

Seixas Playing In Hollywood, Fla.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia goes into action today in the Hollywood Beach Tennis Tournament in both singles and doubles matches. His singles opponent will be Reynaldo Garrido of Havana, who defeated Leslie Longshore of Aniston, Ala., yesterday, 6-4, 6-4.

Pirates Play For Big Stakes Against WCC Here Tonite

A lot will be at stake for East Carolina tonight in its North State Conference basketball date with Western Carolina here.

Most important, its conference ranking will be in jeopardy. And at the moment the Bucs are in first place, a game ahead of the nearest pursuer.

Secondly, there is still the sting of their only loop defeat at the hands of these same Western Carolina Catamounts. Coach Jim Gudger's team snapped East Carolina's string of eight in Cullowhee with a 73-68 upset.

No. 45
And last but not anywhere but least, the Bucs have their 44 game home court winning skein to protect. The locals haven't been beaten at home since Carolina turned the trick back in 1952.

Porter has declared his team in fine shape for the contest. The Bucs have had a week's time to prepare for this one. They haven't played since the McCrary game last Thursday night.

The original starting line-up will be intact except for injured Freddie James. Porter has announced that sophomore Harold Ingram will work James' guard position tonight.

Ingram is a rawboned, 190-pounder from Lilesville. He has tremendous jumping range and is a steady performer. In brief appearances this season, he has impressed both coach and fans.

The remaining quartet will be composed of the familiar Don Harris and Nick Nichols at the forwards, Guy Mendenhall at the center and Captain J. C. Thomas at the other guard.

Porter will dress 11 men. Rounding them out are Maurice Everette, Tim Smothers, Marion Hales, Waddell Solomon, Harry Blevins and Harry Archer.

Coming Fast
Western Carolina, who holds down fourth place in the league standings, has been coming fast. The Catamounts recently handed a good Appalachian team a sound drubbing in Boone.

And the fact that they're the only team to trip East Carolina makes them a club to be respected. They have height and speed and on a good night can score a hundred points.

Gudger starts Tony Migiaolo and Tom Williams at the forwards, Bill Bowen at center and Ronnie Swartzel and Jim Matthews at the guards.

Bowen was the big weapon in the first game between these two teams. The 6-6 pivot man collected 21 points and was a demon under the boards. Reservist Harris Pryor also had a good night against the Bucs, hitting 15 points, most of those in the late stages of the game.

The game is the big attraction in the North State this week. Memorial Gym is expected to be filled to capacity. Tip-off time is 8 p.m.

Phantoms Hunting Victory No. Seven

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's league-leading Phantom cagers are searching for victory No. 7 tonight, as they battle the New Bern Bears in Bear territory.

The red-hot G-Men are currently straddling the Northeastern loop with six wins and no defeats, holding triumphs over every club in the league.

Three big reasons for the team's outstanding record thus far this season, are Harold Edwards, Ike Riddick, and Billy Johnson. All three boys, seniors, are buffeting the baskets at a rapid pace and are averaging in the double brackets.

Edwards Ever-Improving
Edwards, Greenville's All-Conference center, is currently leading the Northeastern circle in scoring with an average of 22.3 points per contest. The lanky 6-4 marksman is taking up where he left off last year, for he led the loop during the 1954-55 season in the same department, hitting at an 18.4 clip per game.

The big boy seems to improve with each game. He missed the first several Phantom contests because of an ankle injury, and has seen action in only six matches. An inability to score from out deep hindered the senior sensation in early tilt when he had to face taller pivot-men in close. However, against Kingston Tuesday night, he displayed top form from both corners and beyond the foul circle. His 24 points zoomed him into first place in the conference scoring parade.

Riddick, a fiery six-footer, is credited with what is probably the best shooting eye in the league, from the deep guard slot. At present, he is whacking away at 17 points per game. With Edwards, he is half of the vaunted Greenville one-two punch that is responsible for 236 markers in six games. Between them, they average a total of 40 points per tilt.

Johnson Rugged Rebounder
Billy Johnson, besides averaging over 11 tallies per game, is one of the outstanding rebounders on the squad, standing second only to the taller Edwards. Johnson is 6-1, and has been described by one Northeastern coach as a "crude but darned good forward." He is not a polished performer, having never played first string varsity ball before, however, his determination easily compensates for his lack of experience.

Starting at the guard post opposite Riddick, will be Jerry Drum, tonight. Drum, a senior, is one of the top assist-men on the squad and is responsible for many of the long-range passes that are necessary in Greenville's fast-break style of play.

He is a tricky ball handler and a fine shot from his deep position. The remaining starter will be Ray Hardee, a 5-11 forward. Hardee, like Johnson and Drum, is playing his initial season of first string ball for Coach Farley. He is not regarded as a high scorer, but opposing teams have found it dangerous to leave the pint-sized Greenie unguarded, while concentrating on Edwards and Riddick. He can be a crack shot at times (note: his 16-point performance against New Bern earlier this season).

Tonight's bout will begin at 6:30 with a Jayvee contest, and will be followed by the varsity match at 8 o'clock.

Scoring Punch

champion of the seventh winter Olympics when he captured the gruelling 30-kilometer cross country race.

The 31-year-old Finnish lumberman, winner of the 50-kilometer title four years ago, was timed in one hour, 44 minutes and six seconds for the 30 kilometers (18 miles, 1,128 yards) grind, a new event on the Olympic program.

Sweden's Sixten Jernberg was second in 1:44:30 with Russia's Pavel Koltdin third in 1:45:45.

This marked Russia's debut in the winter Olympics and Koltdin became the powerful Soviet squad's first medal winner. He received a bronze trophy for third place. Behind him came three more Russians, then two Swedes and another Finn. America's two entries, Lynn Levy of New Orleans and Andy Miller, McCall, Idaho, were far out of the race.

As today's first full-sized competition began, fresh snow began to fall over this snow-starved resort center.

Stable Blaze Fatal To 8 Thoroughbreds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Workmen cleared away the charred ruins of Barn 3 at Tropical Park race track today in the wake of a fire that killed eight thoroughbreds.

Only five have been positively identified and horsemen awaited a final check of survivors to determine which animals were lost in the blaze yesterday afternoon.

Those known dead included Djed-dah's Star and Casba, owned by N. L. Haymaker of Berryville, Va.; Cable Break, owned by H. W. Hayner of Plant City, Fla.; a classy Belle, owned by Jack Goldstein of Louisville, Ky.; and Babco, filly owned by L. T. Torres of San Juan P.R.

Aladyne 2-year-old filly who won at Tropical Park Jan. 3 and is owned by Courtney Burton, was reported missing.

About 40 panic-stricken horses charged out of the park and galloped up heavily traveled Bird Road, which parallels the track. Traffic was snarled and two minor automobile accidents resulted.

No one was injured but groom and other stable help lost clothing and personal effects as the flames quickly consumed the 150-foot, 60-stall barn. About 35 horses were stabled there. Tropical Park closed its meeting Jan. 16.

Hildebrand Will Be Chief Aide For Coach Amen

WAKE FOREST N.C. (AP)—Charles William (Billy) Hildebrand will be No. 1 assistant to Head Coach Paul Amen in directing the Wake Forest College football team.

The appointment of Hildebrand as the first of five assistants was announced yesterday by Amen who recently took over the Wake Forest coaching spot vacated by Tom Rogers.

Amen said he has contacted other prospects and hopes to complete his staff next week. Hildebrand will be line coach.

Hildebrand 31, will coach to Wake Forest from the University of Minnesota where he was an assistant line coach. A native of Memphis, Tenn., he was an end at Mississippi State from 1942 to 1946. He captained his team in 1945.

He began his coaching career at Mississippi State in 1947. He served as head coach at Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash. in 1951 but returned to Mississippi State as freshman coach the next year. He went to Minnesota in 1954.

ONE-TWO PUNCH—Greenville's Ike Riddick (left) and gigantic Harold Edwards form a red-hot one-two scoring punch that is currently averaging 40-points per contest. Edwards is leading the Northeastern Conference point race with an average of 22.3 tallies per tilt.

Two of the horses were hit by cars and one of them had to be shot. Most of the rest of them were bleeding badly from cuts and bruises on the legs.

It was hours before some of the horses were found and returned to the stalls. About 850 thoroughbreds are stabled at the track. Cause of the fire was not determined.

BISON BUTCHER
 MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—For his 80th year, Missoula butcher H. J. Heigebach has completed the annual kill of buffalo on the National Bison Range in northwestern Montana. He killed and butchered 87 bison, bringing to 3,381 his total kill.

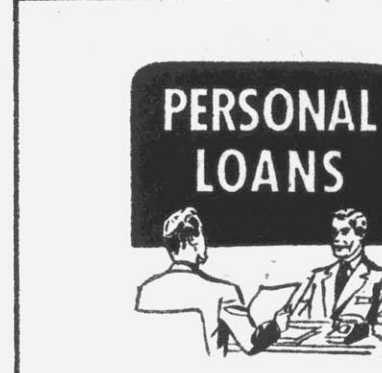

by Charles Bisette

In most places around the country this is the time of year when Nature seems to have put away her bright colors. And most of us, in turn, forget about color film for our cameras.

I personally believe this to be a great mistake—for there are surprisingly beautiful effects to be had by shooting color pictures even though there isn't much brilliant color around at all. Whether you're making full-color slides or snapshots these wintry days, you will find soft subtle tones in the picture that are very beautiful.

Just consider for a moment the famous artists who have devoted a lifetime of effort to capturing the blue-white majesty of sea and sky and snowcapped peaks. We'd have missed some very fine paintings indeed, if these artists had not seen the color possibilities in the glistening waterfalls of Niagara or the fishing vessels of Nova Scotia. And you'll miss a great deal, too, if you disregard the attractive scenes to be pictured in color this time of year.

We carry all types of color films—both still and movie. And we'd be glad to tell you all about how to use them.

See us if you need money for home improvements, personal emergencies or a new automobile. We'll arrange a low-cost loan to suit your needs.

ECC Has 2814 Enrolled In This Winter Quarter

East Carolina College's largest winter-quarter enrollment totals 2814 men and women now taking courses taught on the campus. Registrar Orval L. Phillips has announced. Of these 2092, or almost 78 percent of the students, are registered for work preparing them as teachers. These figures do not include students registered in extension courses now being offered by the college.

The present enrollment exceeds by 430 students that for the 1955 winter quarter, when 2384 men and women were registered for courses taught on the campus.

In addition to the 2092 enrolled in courses leading toward the B.S. degree, awarded at East Carolina to those completing work in teacher education, 399 are taking work leading to the liberal arts degree. Other students include 128 registered in pre-professional or pre-vocational courses and 180 in the two-year business course. Fifteen are graduate students.

A classification of those taking work in teacher-education indicates, according to Dr. Phillips, that 596 students, 25 men and 571 women,

Dearborn Fires Its Police Dogs

DETROIT (AP)—Suburban Dearborn has fired its K-9 force of five police dogs.

Lack of action made the dogs "nervous," said Safety Director Marguerite Johnson.

In their year of duty the German shepherds bit two policemen they were teamed with.

Chief Lawrence Schaefer said: "The dogs might be just right for all-out war, but they don't fit too well in our type of operation."

Negotiations are under way to sell them to Portland, Ore., Mrs. Johnson said.

Wine, Women, Song... And Beer

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Austrians like women, song and beer.

No one has ever doubted that Austrian men are fond of girls and music. But a Vienna polling firm was not sure about the favorite beverage, generally assumed to be wine.

Not so, a survey found, only 16 per cent of Austrians polled drank wine, while 25 per cent drank beer. The rest preferred a variety of other alcoholic or nonalcoholic beverages.

are receiving training as teachers in the elementary grades. Of these 359 are specializing in primary education and 237 in grammar grade education. A total of 1496 students, 888 men and 608 women, are receiving training as teachers in various areas of high-school teaching.

Windshield Cut Bullets' Force

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—There, but for the grace of his windshield, went William D. Clark.

Police Chief Donald Vanarsdall said Clark, 34, was shot at twice, but that the .25-caliber bullets spent their force going through the windshield.

One bullet hit Clark in the forehead, the other in the hip, but they only made dents.

Ernest Lee Estep, 24, was charged with shooting and wounding and carrying a concealed deadly weapon. Vanarsdall said Estep apparently shot at Clark after a dispute over Clark's ex-wife.

Rancher Dies In Gun Accident

LITTLEROCK, Calif. (AP)—A rancher using a rifle to drive wild pigs off his property was killed, sheriff's deputies reported, when the gun discharged accidentally.

Dead is Charles L. Nowman, 29. His widow Marian, 32, told the officers her husband had taken a .22-caliber rifle and gone out to chase the pigs which have been ravaging their small ranch near Los Angeles.

Officers said Nowman apparently was using the gun as a club when it fired.

PREFERS CRIME

BOSTON (AP)—Police picked up a 17-year-old youth they said was trying to build up a criminal record to avoid military service. He is suspected of robbing the same grocery twice in less than three weeks. The arresting officers quoted the youth as saying "The Army isn't going to get me." No charge was placed against him immediately.

Rides Chisholm Trail In 'Copter

PORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Former Texas Ranger Tom Hickman, 70, climaxed his 125-mile horseback ride down the old Chisholm Trail yesterday with a helicopter ride.

Hickman, one of the state's most famous Rangers who made the trip down the old cattle trail to the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show, tied his two horses just outside the gate of the Bell Aviation plant while he took the helicopter ride.

Of his horseback ride, part of which was made in steel and snow, Hickman said, "I had a great trip. The women all waved at me, the dogs all barked at me, and the men—they all laughed at me."

Pilots Survive As Jets Collide

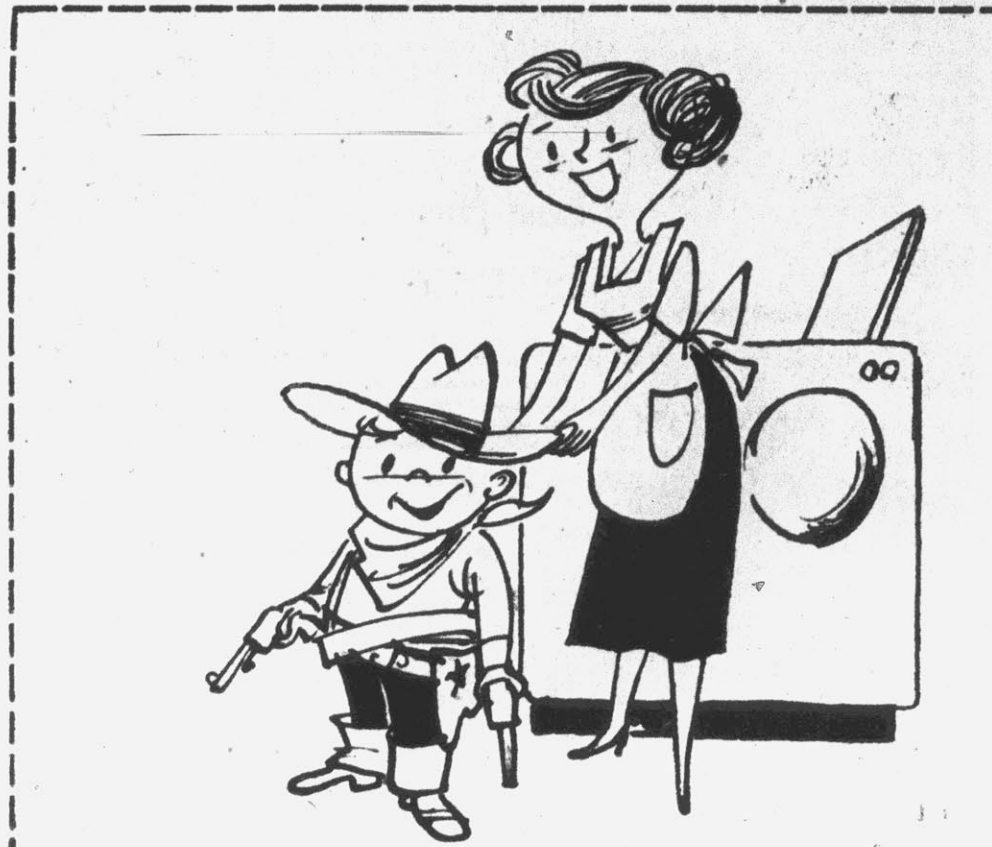

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—Two Navy F9F Cougar jets collided yesterday during maneuvers. One pilot bailed out safely. The other flew his crippled plane back to its base.

Lt. (J.G.) William H. Beck, 26, of Cupertino, Calif., said he didn't remember ejecting himself from the jet and had only a vague recollection of hitting the ground.

His plane crashed in flames. Ensign Harry W. Erickson, 22, of Rutland Vt., flew his plane to the Naval auxiliary air station although part of the wing had been ripped off and the tail section cracked.

TAKING NO CHANCES
 LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP)—Sgt. William O'Riley of the Lake George police department reports this explanation of a woman he stopped for driving 60 m.p.h. in the village: "Well, my tires are bad, and I just wanted to get home before they gave out."

"wash and wear" pair (ELECTRIC, OF COURSE)

With an automatic electric washer and dryer, there's no clean clothes problem. This team is so fast—and so easy to use—that you can "wash and wear" if you like.

There are no weather and work worries. You can wash and dry your clothes any time—no matter what the weather. And just by setting the dials, your work's done.

See your dealer for your automatic electric washer and dryer now. "Wash and wear" whenever you like!

A Doctor in the Family

By EUGENE ROBERT

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

Rupert stood at the Chief Surgeon's shoulder, handsome and trim in his white garments, his manner respectfully attentive. The visitors-out gong sounded softly through the hall. Alan hunched over the desk and the chart.

"Did the Captain refuse to sign a release?" prodded Ernst.

"I didn't offer him one for his signature," murmured Alan.

"Do you think he will sign one?"

"I don't know—I hope so. I think I should operate."

"But why?"

Alan's green eyes flashed up at him for a second.

"I mean," said the other doctor, pulling a chair to Alan's side, "why should you undertake to play God?"

"Oh, I'm not!" said Alan quickly. Then he sat back and looked beyond the circle of lamplight. "If I seem to be, it is because I want to give Mrs. Blake a free chance—a somewhat even chance with Margaret. I strongly believe that Fred Blake should not seek to divorce her in her present condition."

"Oh, he!" said Ernst softly.

"With his wife conscious, able to make her own decision—well, things would be more balanced. We should remember that Fred loved her once and married her—and that the situation with my sister came up while Fern was hurt and helpless. Marriages are often threatened and in need of defense..." his glance flicked across Ernst's face, "...against a third person. In Fern's case there has been no chance to defend her marriage, to fight for her rights."

"Was it a happy marriage? Were they in love at the time of the accident?"

"Do you think that is important? Margaret was not in the picture at that time, and there was no need for defense against her. But now... I think Fred is a fine person. If he were free I'd like to see him and Margaret marry. But he isn't free."

"He would be, shortly and without any divorce, if you'd keep your hands off."

"As a doctor, you know that I am pledged to do what I can for my patient."

"As a man, I think you're crazy. But as a doctor, you are crazy, as well. I would strongly advise against the operation."

Alan reached for a second chart. Rupert hunched closer. "Listen to me," he urged. "Perhaps you have not considered one aspect of this situation. It is a complex decision. I will agree, but consider this complexity, my dear Doctor. Consider the fact that you might fail to do a successful operation."

"Fail in what way?"

"Death, of course. Brain operations often result in death. That is usually explained to the patient, beforehand, and to the family."

"It will be done in this case."

Alan's eyes were shining.

"But failure of that sort would be especially bad for you, after all the significance that has been attached to this case."

Alan spoke gravely. "I don't think I shall lose this case, Ernst."

Dr. Ernst stood up then, and set his chair back against the wall.

"But if, unaccountably, she should die, you must face the fact that some people will suspect your motives. Whereas, if she survives, success in that sense will be worse than failure, Dr. Thornton. That is why I urge you caution you, not to play God."

Alan spoke quickly, and firmly. "That is precisely why I haven't the right to decide about this case on any basis except that of a doctor making a decision concerning a patient brought to him for such decisions. It is my job to attend this sick woman, to do that job to the best of my medical ability. Then let it be God's decision to heal her—or not."

Ernst smoothed the cuff of his white jacket. "That is idealism rather than science."

"I don't agree. It is what I believe and practice with every case I handle."

"You can't pretend that this is like other cases."

"If I find I cannot be impersonal, I should turn the case over to another surgeon."

"As Chief Surgeon—a man in that position—you must often have to consider the personal angle with cases."

"Of the patients yes—of their husbands or other relatives, no. As a doctor—any doctor, intern, assistant, Chief—my obligation is to think only of the patient. Can I help her? What can I do to help her, to prolong life and health in her?"

He had spoken with conviction to Rupert Ernst, but when, an hour later, he was free to go home he found himself wearied with the buffeting of the day's emotion, torn between the personal angles which, to Ernst, he had denied existed.

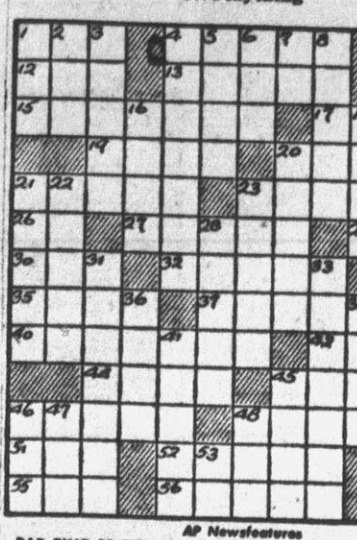

In the little cottage below the drive a single window was a light. He wanted to talk to Linda—as he had begun to talk that afternoon. But in the cottage the matter of Silas would have precedence, and the light was in Margaret's bedroom. The women would be getting ready for bed—he would only disturb them both.

Linda heard his car wheels. She was lying on the second twin bed in Margaret's room, both women with books in their hands, and pretending to read.

When she heard Alan's car, she realized wistfully that, had she been in her own room, he would have come to her and continued the talk which had been interrupted that afternoon. It had seemed

Without being free to court her as he had done in the months before their marriage, his passion for her was as great as it had been at that time.

It was not in any sense, a renewal, either. That love had always been there, but while he knew that Linda was his, safe, and surely waiting for his kiss and for his arms, he had diverted his real potency to his work. Such a diversion was neither fair nor right. She had had every reason to rebel, and to turn her eyes elsewhere.

So now, free or not, he must court her anew; he must do everything he could to get her back! He would go to her immediately and tell her how much he loved her. He would beg her—No! He would not whine to her!

Love had its own claim its own dignity. He loved Linda and would rest his case on that. She had loved him once, and perhaps that love still cast some shadow upon her; she would listen to him, he thought, when he reaffirmed his love for her.

Wake Forest In Final Semester On Old Campus

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP)—Wake Forest College started the final semester on its present campus yesterday with an enrollment of 1,354 students. The college is in the process of moving to Winston-Salem.

Speaking at a student convocation, College President Harold W. Tribble warned that the final semester "will be one of the most difficult but challenging in the history of the institution."

The college will hold graduation exercises May 21 and move to Winston-Salem in time for the opening of summer school June 15.

There will be "many distractions and problems" ahead, Dr. Tribble declared. "We love this place... but we are moving because we will have greater resources..."

Koreans Seeking Homes In Brazil

NEW DELHI (AP)—Sixty-two Koreans leave soon for new homes in Brazil after more than two years in India. They are war prisoners who elected to return neither to South Korea nor North Korea at the end of the conflict there.

India gave a haven and later Brazil offered a home to these men without a country. Twenty ex-prisoners will remain in India. Some have asked permission to stay permanently, while the remainder seek admission to Argentina or Mexico.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Another quiet decline took the stock market down slightly today in its second straight fall.

There seldom was any selling pressure and the market made a few efforts at a rally without much success.

Prices in the early afternoon usually were off between 1 and 2 points at the most. Gains were small.

All major divisions of the list were down or mixed at best. Trading was moderate at a pace right around yesterday's very slow 1,850,000 shares.

Penn-Texas was off a major fraction and had a block of 10,400 shares unchanged at 18 1/2 and another block of 11,200 at 18. The company disclosed it was buying into Fairbanks, Morse and that stock fell between 2 and 3 points.

International Business Machines, off 16 yesterday as the company settled its antitrust suit, backed down a few points today.

Babcock & Wilcox had a gain of 4 1/2 yesterday after announcement of a three-for-one split and then lost between 3 and 4 points today in light trading.

Ford Motor traded over the counter in a steady range—64 1/2 bid and 64 3/4 offered. The stock was issued last week at 64 1/2. Brokers said interest in the stock was light.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 60 cents at $172.80. It was off $1.30 yesterday. The combined fall of yesterday and today until noon amounted to $1.90 as compared with the rise of $3.10 in the two previous sessions.

Mollet Is Given Clear Field To Form A Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—Premier-designate Guy Mollet and his ally Pierre Mendes-France sought today to shape up the French Cabinet, the Socialist leader will submit for National Assembly approval next week.

Mollet, head of the Socialist party, and Mendes-France, who leads the moderate Radicals, formed an alliance called the "Republican Front" that won them some 160 Assembly seats in the recent election.

Although far short of a majority in the 566-member Assembly, they claimed the right to head a new government. Other parties disputed them only briefly and apparently are prepared to let them try to form a cabinet.

Mollet is expected to get the backing of the 151 Communists—largest single party in the new Assembly.

He says he will form a "minority" cabinet with all the posts going to members of the front. Mendes-France is expected to get a prominent job but there were reports of disagreement over which one. The former Premier reportedly wants to take over the key foreign affairs post, while the Socialist prefers to put him in charge of economic affairs.

Both Mollet and Mendes-France agree that Algeria is the main problem facing any new government. Mollet has said the next premier should go to Algeria for a personal try at ending the bloody 15-month-old guerrilla revolt against French rule.

Mollet accepted at once when President Rene Coty approached him last night, two days after caretaker Premier Edgar Faure submitted his resignation.

More popular than Mendes-France, he is given a good chance of getting confirmation. But how long his Cabinet will last is another matter. His own estimate, according to one report, is about three months.

Funeral On Saturday For Zeno H. Hardee

Art Society Plans To Incorporate Here

The newly organized community art group was formally named the East Carolina Art Society by the executive board in a meeting last night at Sheppard Memorial Library.

The name was selected by the board upon recommendation of a committee composed of Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, J. B. Kittrell Sr. and Miss Elizabeth Copeland.

Plans were made to have the society incorporated.

Board members passed a motion to go into effect immediately, that annual dues will be $5 per person. Patron dues will be $10 and life memberships will be $100 per person.

A building committee was formed with V. C. Fleming Jr. as chairman and members of the board as acting committees. The society eventually hopes to erect a museum here.

It was decided to publish a bulletin three times a year, in October, January and April. However, this schedule will not be followed for the first edition of the bulletin.

The board discussed programs and decided that Dr. Paul Running, chairman of the program committee, and his group should meet with Mrs. L. T. Shotwell and her committee on exhibits to coordinate programs for the meetings of the society.

No date has been set yet for the next meeting of the organization.

LETUCE GIVEAWAY

MCALLEN Tex. (AP)—A. F. Sherer, a San Juan farmer first decided this week to plow under his 10 acres of lettuce because of the low market price. But he changed his mind and invited winter tourists to the lower Rio Grande Valley to help themselves to free lettuce. The visitors cut an estimated 4,500 heads.
