Dollar Day Shoppers Began To Gather Early

Small crowds had gathered in front of a number of stores before opening hour at 9 a. m. today to take advantage of Dollar Day discounts. The widely advertised one-day sales event brought downtown many out-of-town shoppers, as well as local citizens. Buying was reported heavy this morning, though rain threatened at noontime. General Calls Memoirs 'Labyrinth' Of Fancy And Fiction

Truman-MacArthur Feud Renewed

WASHINGTON (AP)—What was the reason behind former President Truman's spectacular firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1951? Truman says it was "open defiance" by MacArthur and that it threatened to bring on an atomic World War III. MacArthur calls it "vengeful reprisal" because the general sought to unmask a spy ring stealing this country's top-secret military plans. And so the continuing Truman-MacArthur controversy, involving the whole range of Far East strategy, goes into a new round with publication in Life magazine of the new installment of Truman's memoirs and a blistering 5,000-word reply by the five-star general. MacArthur says Truman's account of the dismissal is "a labyrinth of fancy and fiction, distortion and misrepresentation."

George Committee To Seek Source Of Proffered $2,500

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today a special inquiry committee he heads will try to find out the source of a $2,500 campaign contribution offered to Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.). The committee opens hearings tomorrow, under instructions from the Senate to investigate "the circumstances involving an alleged improper attempt through political contributions to influence the vote" of Case on the natural gas bill passed Monday. The inquiry centers around the $2,500 in 1950 bills given to a friend of Case's by John M. Neff, an attorney from Lexington, Neb. Case has said he thinks the donation was intended to influence him to vote for the gas bill. He directed that the money be returned, and voted against the bill.

Police Clamping Down On Minors In Pool Rooms

Greenville police today told poolroom and bowling alley operators they must comply with ordinances prohibiting youngsters under 18 from loitering or playing in their establishments. Chapter 18 of Greenville City Code forbids those under 18 from loitering or playing unless they are accompanied by parents or guardians, or have written permission from them to do so.

CAA Voices No Objections To Property Lease

Greenville has been advised by the Civil Aeronautics Association that the Federal body has no objections to the leasing of a section of airport property to the Pitt County Fair Association. City Councilmen approved the leasing of a strip of property, isolated from the airport by the new bypass now being constructed in the area, several months ago. The approval was given subject to final approval of the CAA. A letter has been received by Mayor W. L. Whedbee notifying the city of the CAA's action on the matter.

U. S. Planning 15 Space Satellites

By VERN HAUGLAND AP Aviation Writer CINCINNATI (AP)—Informed sources indicated today that the United States has decided to launch up to 15 space satellites during the International Geophysical Year—the 18 months between July 1, 1957, and Dec. 31, 1958. The sources said orders for 15 first-stage rockets for the three-stage satellites of Project Vanguard have been placed with the General Electric Co. Not all of the rockets can be expected to be successful. Officials of General Electric, hosts to 150 military leaders and aviation writers at a jet engine plant "open house," declined to comment on the reports. However, Fred Brown, the company's manager of rocket engine marketing, told an informal news conference that GE's share of the Vanguard program is on schedule and that his company is geared to meet the initial launching date.

Shoppers Throng To City For Big Dollar Day Event

"My kingdom for a parking place!" could well have been the exclamation of many today as shoppers thronged into the city to take advantage of the annual Dollar Day sale. Long before the stores opened their doors, parking spaces were at a premium. The three municipal parking lots were filled and automobiles formed a continuous line up and down the business sections, extending even into the residential areas. Though the bargain-seekers were plentiful and merchants generally agreed this morning that Dollar Day sales should come up to all expectations, the skies were overcast and rain threatened to dampen the spirits of afternoon shoppers. The one-day event brought would-be purchasers out early, and small crowds had gathered in front of a number of stores before opening hour at 9 a. m. Men as well as women seemed to be buying, and few persons were seen along the streets without one or more packages. Most stores hired extra help for the day, and a number of merchants purchased special merchandise for the event. Liberal discounts were widely advertised.

Scouts, Scouters Hold Anniversary Event Here

Scouting's 46th birthday was celebrated by 473 persons attending the annual dinner of the Pitt District Wednesday evening at the Moose Temple in Greenville. Addressing the Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and Scouters present, the Rev. L. C. Vereen, Methodist minister of Farmville, summarized the program of the Boy Scout movement as aiding in the development of the art of optimism, the sense of patience, and the sacrifice, service and thoughtfulness for other people. District Chairman F. D. Duncan presided and introduced the principals on the two-hour meeting which moved with rapid pace. The invocation was spoken by the Rev. Robert McKenzie of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Units were recognized by John Behr, district commissioner, the camping program was stressed by Sherman Parks, deputy camporee chief, and Wyatt Brown, chairman of the Council Inter-racial Committee, convened the court of honor and presented the Rev. Had 100 Stitches For Dog Bite

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Nearly 100 stitches had to be taken in 2-year-old Ricky Pollock's scalp because a dog bit him as he played in front of his home. The child's mother Mrs. Norma Pollock said she heard screams, rushed to the front yard and found Ricky bleeding. A woman was chasing two dogs away. A neighbor said she saw the larger of the dogs shaking Ricky. The dogs were held in quarantine.

Bloodmobile Short Of Quota

Greenville fell short of its blood quota by 14 pints when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visited here Tuesday. In Grifton on Monday the bloodmobile collected only 62 of its 110-pint quota. There were 17 rejections in Greenville and nine in Grifton. However, in spite of the fact that the quota was not made, Dr. John L. Watters, blood program chairman for Pitt County, stated it is "very gratifying to know that better than half of the total number of pints were given by people in replacement of blood used at the local hospital. This was the largest number of replacements that the chapter has had since it began participating in the blood program. Dr. Watters pointed out that if the recipient of blood does not make an effort to have it replaced there will be no blood for the next person who might be in dire need of it." The chairman expressed appreciation to all those who donated blood, and also to the volunteers who staffed the operation. At the local Moose Lodge headquarters for the bloodmobile in Greenville, physicians in charge were Dr. Charles T. Pace, Dr. Harriet Wooten, Dr. James Smith, Dr. Howard Gradis, Dr. Ray Minges, and Dr. Ray G. Silverthorne. Mrs. Phyllis Martin supervised the nurses, who were Mrs. James Smith, Miss Pauline Newton, Mrs. Sylvia Faircloth, Miss Elena Hedges, Miss Louella Vaughan and Mrs. Dorothy Miller.

Advance Gift Chairmen For Red Cross Named

George Wilkerson and James S. Ficklen Jr. have been named advance gifts chairmen for the city's Red Cross fund drive. Dr. G. Earl Trevathan Jr., city campaign chairman, announced the appointments today. Advance gifts solicitation will begin February 15, with the full campaign scheduled to get underway March 1. City and county quotas for the fund drive total $17,979. In making the advance gift appointments, Dr. Trevathan noted that Wilkerson and Ficklen were selected because "they have both served in this capacity previously and they have done a good job." The chairmen will name their solicitors in a few days. Dr. Trevathan emphasized that the "disaster drain on the Red Cross has left funds at a very low level, and our quota this year was increased by $1,500 due to the floods on the west coast. We hope this will add impetus to this year's campaign."

Will Modernize Oteen Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration Hospital at Oteen, N.C., will be modernized rather than replaced. Veterans Administrator Harvey V. Hingle said yesterday that the hospital's classification was changed because its ratio of temporary buildings to be replaced is less than the area of permanent buildings to be improved. The hospital was on a list of 16 which were to be replaced. Eight of the replacements were approved by President Eisenhower and four were placed in the "modernization" classification. Those to be replaced are at Downey, Ill.; Long Beach, Calif.; Oakland, Calif.; Wood, Wis.; Jackson, Miss.; Memphis, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; and Temple, Tex.

Labor To Oppose 9 GOP Senators

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Leaders of the combined AFL-CIO today were reported to have targeted nine members of the Senate for organized labor opposition in the fall elections. The nine, all Republicans, were reported to be Senators Duff (Pa.), Capahart (Ind.), Thurmond (S.C.), Kuchel (Calif.), Welker (Idaho), Goldwater (Ariz.), Millikin (Colo.), Wiley (Wis.) and Butler (Md.). AFL-CIO leaders participating in water meetings here also were reported to have decided to support Sen. Morse (D-Ore.), but to withhold any organized labor support in the prospective Senate race in Ohio between Gov. Frank Lausche, Democrat, and Sen. Bender (R-Ohio).

License Plate Sales Are Slow

RALEIGH (AP)—Although less than a week remains for Tar Heels to display their 1956 license tags, plates have been issued for less than half of the vehicles registered in the state. The 1955 plates will be good until midnight Feb. 15, which is next Wednesday. After that time, says the Motor Vehicles Department, the highway patrol will "rigidly enforce" the license plate laws.

Peiping Charges U. S. Subversion

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio accused the United States today of conducting subversive activities throughout Asia, Africa, South and Central America, "including even the allies of the United States itself." The Red Chinese broadcast said in Tokyo today that the United States organized coup d'etat and carried out subversive activities in Iran, Guatemala, Paraguay, Brazil, Costa Rica, Argentina, Indonesia, Burma, China and Korea. Quoting the official Chinese Peoples Daily, the broadcast included another demand for "an immediate stop to United States provocations with military balloons over Chinese territory." The United States proposed last night to a Soviet protest against the Air Force's weather balloon flights, by halting their launches from Turkey and other countries, pending a study of whether they have anything to do with Russia. However, all nine of the weather balloons which the Air Force has sent up from Japan have been carried eastward toward North America and away from China.

Given Bus Tokens, But No Buses Running

BALTIMORE (AP)—Robert F. Lavoie, an 8th Air Force staff sergeant during World War II, received orders to report today to the veterans hospital at Ft. Howard.

Attached to the form was an envelope containing three bus tokens. "No additional reimbursement for traveling expenses will be allowed," the accompanying explanation said.

But the tokens supplied by the Veterans Administration will be of little use to Lavoie. Baltimore is in the midst of an 11-day-old transit strike.

An article in The Clock's February issue says parents who "don't have time to make their children feel as if they were part of the things" must take the brunt of the blame if their kids turn out wrong.

U.S. Films On Juvenile Delinquency Doing Harm

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ray Milland said today that Hollywood films about juvenile delinquency are doing the United States great harm in Europe.

He urged that such films not be exported.

Milland voiced an opinion that is seldom heard in Hollywood. Most spokesmen here declare that limiting exports would interfere with "freedom of the screen." They argue that films depicting social injustices here demonstrate to foreign lands that the United States is a democracy because it can criticize itself.

"Certainly I believe in freedom of the screen," said Milland. "But I don't believe in abuse of that freedom."

The Oscar-winning actor just returned from Portugal, where he produced, directed and starred in "Lisbon." He said his talks with Europeans during his journey appalled him.

"Wherever I went—Lisbon, Athens, Rome, London—I heard the same things from people," he said. "They think all American children are delinquents. This impression comes from three Hollywood pictures—'Rebel Without a Cause' (James Dean), 'Blackboard Jungle' (Glenn Ford) and 'The Wild One' (Marlon Brando).

"I try to explain to them that those pictures show only isolated cases of juvenile delinquency. But they don't understand that. They see it up on the screen, so they think it must be true.

"It is this the way to make friends? We pour billions of dollars into Europe and then ruin their opinion of us by a few pictures. Naturally they want to believe those destructive views of us because they are envious of our prosperity."

Milland realizes the problem of juvenile delinquency in this country. "We should make pictures about it, to show ourselves what is going on. But we shouldn't send the pictures abroad to make enemies for us. Can you imagine the Communists making films about their juvenile delinquents and sending them abroad?"

'Broke The Bank' Has Plans For Money

DALLAS (AP)—An 84-year-old Texas preacher who "broke the bank" for $7,150 last night on a network television show originating here, knows what he is going to do with the money.

The Rev. R. Edwin Porter, oldest active Methodist preacher in North Texas, said "I'll give a tenth of it to Him for the church. And, since I've lived in parsonage to use the rest to buy a ages all through the years, I home."

He and his daughter, Aylene Porter, who wrote the book, "Papa Was a Preacher," were the final contestants on the ABC-TV show "Break the Bank." He won the jackpot by identifying the 10th and 12th presidents of the United States.

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

Whatever the crop—corn, cotton, tobacco, pastures, small grains, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda top-dressings and side-dressings give the best results, lowest costs, largest net profits.

Natural Chilean works fast. Corn responds bountifully at rates up to 500 pounds per acre or more, 40 to 50 days after planting. The nitrogen in Chilean is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—invaluable at the critical stage of crop development.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. On cotton, side-dressings of 300 pounds or more, 35 to 40 days after planting, produce heavy-yielding, early-maturing plants. On pastures, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia forms of nitrogen.

Natural Chilean contains sodium. Ammonia nitrogen is acid-forming and must be changed to the nitrate form in the soil, but every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone for destroying soil acidity.

Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. It corrects acidity, improves potash, phosphate, calcium, magnesium and minor element availabilities. Chilean is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for side-dressing summer crops. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

Make sure you get the NATCHEL kind!

Friendship Night Observed By Greenville Chapter O. E. S.

Friendship Night was a gala affair of Greenville Chapter 149 O.E.S. on Tuesday evening in the Masonic Hall.

The chapter room was beautifully decorated with baskets of greenery, red and white gladioli.

The meeting was formally opened with the officers march. Mrs. George Smith, worthy matron, presided in the east assisted by her husband, George Smith, worthy patron. The flag ceremony was led by the worthy patron and "The Star Spangled Banner" sung by the group.

Mrs. Maude Baynor Foy of Kinston, past grand matron, Dr. J. Frank Duke, and Vernon J. Spivey, past grand patrons of the Grand Chapter of N. C. O.E.S., were introduced, heartily welcomed, escorted to the east and given grand honors. Mrs. Lila Duke of Washington, N.C., Grand Conductress; Mrs. Blanche W. Jackson of Greenville, Grand Adah; Miss Ayla Ray Taylor of Greenville, district deputy grand matron of the 7th district; Mr. Preston Cuthbertson of Kinston, district deputy grand patron of the 7th district, and Robert Wilson of Grimseland, district deputy grand patron of the 2nd district of the Grand Chapter of N. C. O.E.S., were properly introduced, welcomed and seated in the east.

Grand chapter committee members, worthy matrons and patrons, past matrons and patrons were recognized and welcomed, as was Mrs. Mildred Kennedy, Grand Page.

A short business meeting followed the introductions. Mrs. John Carrington gave her Sickness and Distress report.

For Fraternal Visitation, Washington chapter exemplified "the examination of a visitor." Mrs. Eva Vann Julian Vann, Helen Lewis and Lila R. Duke did the exemplification.

An original program, "The Importance of Friendship," written by the worthy matron, was presented in the form of a ritualistic opening, with all officers taking part.

The central thought was "God's Greatest Gift to Man is His Friends." A special prayer for members and friends was included in the program. In closing, Mrs. Smith paid special tribute to the past grand and grand officers present and new members and what their friendship meant in the fullest extent.

Bill Norwood favored the chapter with a solo, "My Friend," with his wife accompanist at the piano, to begin the program. To close it he sang "He" by special request.

All distinguished guests expressed pleasure in attending the meeting and dinner.

Prior to the meeting a buffet dinner was held in the Fred Stokes dining room. The chapter was host to the 7th district and husbands and friends of local members.

The dining room was artistically arranged with ivy, candles and red gladioli. Small red hearts were used amid the ivy down the tables. The guest table and piano was centered with a beautiful arrangement of red and white gladioli.

Mrs. George Smith, worthy matron, extended a hearty welcome to approximately 100 persons at the dinner. She stated that the response to the supper from the district was an expression of their friendship.

The invocation was given by George Smith, worthy patron. Mrs. John Carrington, associate matron, introduced Mrs. J. B. Jackson, who is Grand Adah of the Grand Chapter of N. C. O.E.S. Mrs. Jackson recognized all distinguished guests and all visitors.

Mrs. Smith had all new members stand and welcomed them as special guests.

Coffee was poured by several students from the Greenville Beauty School. Mrs. J. B. Jackson was thanked for her work as overall chairman, assisted by Mrs. Vera Sutton and Eva Corbette. Mrs. Ethel Allen and her committee were in charge of coffee and rolls. Mrs. John Carrington, Mrs. Preston Cannon and Mrs. Alfred Kennedy were in charge of decorations.

Visitors were present from Washington, Williamston, Grifton, Kinston and Farmville.

Two break-ins last night are added to list.

Two service stations were entered here last night, the latest in a sudden spurge of break-ins to plague police.

About $60 in cigarettes and some chewing gum was taken from Mill's Service Station at Fifth and Albemarle. Entrance, police said, was gained through a side window.

At Sutton's Service Center, also entered through a window, about $2 in money was reported missing.

The windows through which entrance was gained are located in positions out of sight of a patrol car passing by, Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs said.

'Citizen Of Month' Tribute Considered

By DAWN SMITH
Grifton High School

Plans are being made by a committee to begin having "A Citizen of the Month" from Grifton High School. The person elected will have his or her write-up and picture in the town paper.

The sophomores and freshman classes are planning a Valentine dance to be held for the class members Saturday night. Dancing and refreshments will be enjoyed by all attending.

Fatsy Burrey and Barbara Jean Taylor are giving a semi-formal party in Kinston on Saturday night. Guests will gather at Barbara Jean's home and then go to Kinston. Approximately six couples will be invited. Dancing, refreshments and games will be features of the evening.

The senior class is staging a bake sale Saturday morning. Freshly baked goodies will be on sale in the front of Don Casey's shop. Everyone come, look over and buy these baked delicacies, as the proceeds will go in the senior class treasury!

There were many sighs this morning when the senior class had to re-open their English literature books. The majority of the class, I believe, would be willing to study grammar for the remainder of the year.

Day Saw Nothing Turn Out Right

OWINGSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It was just a day when nothing seemed to turn out right, so Ray C. Manley's house burned down.

Manley's mother-in-law discovered a fire in the 10-room home. But Manley's son, operating a power saw nearby, couldn't hear her cry for help. Neither could a neighbor driving a tractor. Some passersby did and went to a neighbor's to telephone for help.

But it took several minutes to locate Mayor Shanlin Piper so the city could send fire-fighting equipment.

Volunteers on city's two fire trucks then raced to the home of another Ray Manley. After returning to the station one truck was dispatched to the right home—but too late.

Loveland Will Be Valentine Center

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP)—Got a sweetheart? Then you'll probably be mailing a Valentine come next week.

And if you do, you'd probably like to mail it care of this North-eastern Colorado town of 9,000. Loveland is America's "sweetheart town."

Valentines traditionally are sent here to be stamped with an appropriate crimson seal and then re-mailed from the Loveland post office. The practice was begun in 1947. Last year more than 65,000 valentines were remailed.

Wrong Number, All Day Long

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—The Albert Heemstra family had their telephone number changed when phones were converted to the dialing system in nearby Cascade.

The new number was exactly the same as the old number at the State Police Rockford post. Heemstra said the phone started jiggling the minute the new system went into effect, and continued steady for a day. "They mostly wanted to know the road conditions," he said.

DAWN

Recently an unfinished product, our annual, the "Griftonian," was returned to the company to be published. You should have heard the sighs of relief from the annual staff. Many people will be surprised to see what improvements have been made on our book this year. There is a variety of eye-catching pointers never before seen in a Grifton annual. We owe this to the ingenuity of the annual staff and its able adviser, Mrs. John Bunch.

The junior class has just finished writing their short stories in English. There should be some authors from that class. You should read some of the interesting and exciting stories they have written!

Peel And Joyner Recommended For Re-Appointment

John G. Clark Sr., Democratic Chairman for Pitt County, reminded local citizens of the Jefferson-Jackson dinner which will be held in Raleigh February 25. Tickets may be obtained from Clark.

Nab Incompetent Bank Robber

HAMAMATSU CITY, Japan (AP)—Police today announced the arrest of an "incompetent bank robber" who forgot to take the safety off his loaded rifle.

The man gained entrance to the bank about 9 p.m. by telling the night watchman he was a messenger from one of its branches. Once inside, he whipped out a rifle, pulled the trigger. When the gun failed to fire, the watchman knocked the man down, grabbed the rifle, and called police.

The rifle was loaded but the safety was on. The man refused to give his name and police booked him as "an incompetent bank robber."

This Hearing Appears Fruitless Talk

The hearing on the 20 per cent tobacco acreage cut slated for Nashville tomorrow can do little but add to the confusion in the minds of tobacco growers and businessmen.

Rep. Cooley has invited to the hearing members of the subcommittee which has the bill, and also members of the full House Committee on Agriculture. He has asserted the Tobacco Subcommittee has scheduled the hearing to hear "all sides and all the facts" concerning the matter before rendering any judgment on the bill.

Nevertheless Rep. Cooley himself said at the outset he introduced the bill at the request of the 15-member belt-wide flue-cured tobacco committee and added that the bill did not necessarily represent his own views. Furthermore Rep. Cooley has said "I haven't yet found a single Congressman in favor of it. I have received hundreds of communications in opposition to any additional cut in the flue-cured tobacco acreage this year, while I have only three telegrams and one letter favoring it."

Why then delay a final decision longer while farmers wait to find out whether they will have the 12 per cent cut already authorized or will have a 20 per cent cut?

It appears to us the hearing will only add to the present confusion and serve no constructive purpose so far as the tobacco acreage are concerned.

Many spokesmen in Washington have asserted that so far as Congress is concerned the proposed 20 per cent cut has long been a dead issue. Yesterday in a telephone conversation Rep. Herbert Bonner of the First Congressional District told us that in his opinion the matter is dead so far as Congress is concerned and it has no chance of being passed during this session.

Yet so long as the proposal remains alive in the subcommittee—regardless of foregone conclusions—it is bound to cause a certain degree of unrest among flue-cured tobacco areas and hinder the planning of farmers and businessmen who are directly or indirectly dependent upon the agricultural economy of the region.

In our opinion the best interests of tobacco farmers would have been served if the matter had been dropped several weeks ago when Rep. Cooley himself conceded the proposed increased acreage cut did not have a "Chinaman's chance" of being passed.

The hearings tomorrow in Nashville will afford a show for those who want attend or read about it; but we doubt it will serve any constructive purpose for tobacco farmers or the tobacco region.

Pressure For New Acreage Cut Is Off

By LYNN NSBET
TOBACCO (AP)—Report that the Stabilization Corporation with in the past month has sold 108 million pounds of tobacco has alleviated pressure for further cut in acreage for 1956. Besides the fact that most farm leaders agree it is too late to revise acreage allotments for this year, the removal of 108 million pounds of stocks held by the corporation is equivalent almost to the estimated reduction by reason of further 8 per cent acreage cut. A meeting of tobacco growers is scheduled for Nashville on Friday to discuss pending legislation to authorize a grower election on a 20 per cent acre cut instead of the presently set 12 per cent.

L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, has never been enthusiastic about the additional cut in acres, and he insists that whatever merit the idea might have had has been lost by the time element. Plant beds have been planted throughout the flue-cured area and reports are that plants are coming up in Georgia. Fertilizer contracts have been negotiated on basis of the 12 per cent cut.

Majority of tobacco growers have to make arrangements for financing the crop, usually in February. Continued uncertainty about acreage would handicap completion of these arrangements. Ballentine was in Washington last week and dropped in on a conference of congressmen from the flue-cured producing states. He said he did not hear a single expression favoring further cut in acreage.

His opinion, shared by Phil Hendrick, the department's tobacco expert, is that an election will be wasted time and an expense. The growers will not endorse 20 per cent cut. Mainly because of the time element, but also because the sale of 108 million pounds by the Stabilization Corporation has occasioned belief the tobacco picture is not as dark as it has been painted.

BUYING AGENT — It was frequently charged during the tobacco season that many of the big tobacco processors were using the Stabilization Corporation as their buying agent. Many marketing specialists were not greatly concerned about the high percentage of warehouse offerings going into the corporation pool, because they felt sure the processing companies would within a few months take over a lot of it. The January sales seem to confirm that position.

INFORMAL CONVERSATION with a couple reporters, Ballentine voiced resentment at the "calculated indictment" of small farms as chief offenders in the agricultural situation. He said when full value is given to the whole contribution of small farms it will be found they are contributing more than their share to the overall prosperity.

Historically North Carolina has been a state of small family farms rather than large plantations. To greater degree than in most states the family farms have been divided among children who continued to live on them, and who have constituted the basic strength of the state in high moral standards, good government and sound economy. Mechanization is changing the picture, but there is still a place for a small family farm.

It is a important place for the small family farm. It represents the defeatist attitude some folks take on this point. Industrial employment should be used to supplement, not to replace, the income from the family farm.

MOTTO Prominently played on Commissioner Ballentine's desk is a neatly lettered framed statement by George Washington reading: "Agriculture is the most healthy, the most useful, and the most noble employment of man."

CANDIDATES — Candidates for the General Assembly are blossoming so fast all over the map it is impossible to keep tab on them. Recent additions to the list include David F. Dellinger in Gaston, veteran of eight sessions as representative and six as reading clerk in the House.

In Rockingham county Radford Powell is seeking his fifth term as representative, and chances are he will have no opposition. Jules McMichael of Reidsville has announced for the senate—which means Clarence Stone, veteran legislator and udgeteer, may decide not to seek reelection.

Rotation agreement figure prominently in Senate candidacies. In the 32nd district where Haywood and Henderson alternate senators it is Henderson's time. W. B. Hodges is expected to be the minor candidate in the 31st district—Jackson, Polk and Transylvania—have a senator every six years. It is Polk's time, and names of prospects are not available. Information it will be a young man, not heretofore known to the state.

In the 13th district a real scrap is in prospect between incumbent James Poyner and Challenger Martin Greene, with probable other entries, for Wake county's seat. Chatham and Lee alternate and Warren Williams of Sanford is slated to come without opposition in place of Wade Paschal of Siler City.

In Hertford County, Roy Parker of Ahoskie, senior member of the firm which publishes several weekly newspapers, is seeking the House seat occupied for the last four sessions by Gordon Maddrey, and J. W. Copeland of Murfreesboro wants the Senate seat he held in 1951 and 1953.

Other Editors Are Saying... The 'Sold - Out' South

(Washington Daily News)
We speak often of the "Sold South" but more than ever we ought to speak of our fair land today as the "Sold-Out South."

Dwight D. Eisenhower is president of the United States. He comes from Kansas even though in justice to him it can be said he was born in Texas. Mr. Eisenhower has a cabinet of 10 members. Not a single member comes from the South. Three members, John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, Herbert Brownell, Attorney General, and Marion Folsom, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, come from New York state.

Two members, Charles Wilson, Secretary of Defense, and Arthur Summerfield, Postmaster General, hail from Michigan.

George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, comes from Ohio. Douglas McKay, Secretary of Interior, comes from Oregon. Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, comes from Utah. Sinclair Weeks, Secretary of Commerce, comes from Massachusetts. James P. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor, is a native of New Jersey.

It is all very fair, we ought to say that Marion Folsom, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, was born in Georgia, but has lived in New York most of his life.

To be precise the cabinet of the president of the United States. Not one single man lives South of the Mason-Dixon line. Is it any wonder that we can speak with such authority on the South as the step-child of America?

Can the voice of the South possibly be heard when it has no one with a Southern accent to listen? The South is completely ignored.

The Executive branch of the government is completely dominated and made up of men outside the South.

Now let us turn our attention to the nine men on the United States Supreme Court. Of the nine men, only three have any Southern exposure at all. The three with a Southern heritage are Hugo Black of Alabama, Tom Clark of Texas, and Stanley Reed of Kentucky. The other six are Earl Warren of California, Felix Frankfurter of Massachusetts, William Douglas of Minnesota and New York, Harold Burton of Ohio, Sherman Minton of Indiana, and John Harlan of New York.

While we cannot complain too much in the South about the residences of members of the Supreme court, we can complain heavily on their minds. He lay near death on the icy floor of the cell, strange new thoughts and visions came to him. He had what not one person in a million

Without an assured supply of oil from the areas where Moslems are now provoking enmity toward the West, especially at Washington and London, the American economy could not survive healthily in war or peace time. We could not win a global conflict against Russia, if she obtained control of these supplies. Our NATO Allies would be as helpless as so many troops of Boy Scouts.

Polo Within Reach Of All

So you're poor man and can't take up any of the activities of the idle rich.

You have to stick to such outdoor sports as tennis and golf due to lack of money necessary for the finer things of life.

Maybe you've always yearned to take up the game of polo. Think of it! You'd be the envy of all your friends. While they toiled around the golf course on a hot summer afternoon, there you would be—the height of sophistication as you raced up and down the polo field with your ritzy friends.

You say you can't afford a horse for such frivolous activities? The hay burner would eat you out of house and home? Well, friend, cheer up. A new era is dawning for you.

You don't need a horse to engage in this sport of the true connoisseur of sports. An automobile manufacturer is advertising that you can play the game with his vehicle. What's more, the manufacturer has shown movies on TV to prove his point.

The polo player sits in the back seat and as the car pulls along-side the ball he gives it a whack in the general direction of the goal. If he misses, the driver just throws the vehicle in reverse and backs up for a second chance. Who ever heard of a horse that could do that?

So, friend, don't let lack of a horse hold you back in your climb to the top of the social ladder.

For a reasonably modest investment you can make like a Rockefeller or a Vanderbilt. All you need is a polo court, a chauffeur, and, oh yes, a convertible.

Come to think of it the set-up has all kinds of advantages. While all your rich friends are currying and cooling their horses after the game, you can grab up one of the admiring young ladies who will have undoubtedly gathered to view the contest and spin off in your convertible. What a beautiful life!

Notebook On Life

Now Used To Fear's Shadow

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

Have you made a do-it-yourself personal survival kit to protect you against the hydrogen bomb?

Probably not. People who live on the edge of a night in time cease to fear the falling dark. So it is with us. We have dwelt so many years now under the pall of potential atomic death that we have become accustomed to its shadow.

It had to be that way. No human being can remain frightened forever. He cannot endure a permanent panic.

So it is we have come to look for the silver lining in the mortal mushroom that first towered in terror over Hiroshima. Today we have fewer nightmares over what atomic power will do to mankind. We prefer to dream what it can do for mankind.

Therefore it comes as a rude shock when an atomic expert suggests it would be a good idea for every American to stock his automobile with a week's supply of groceries and water against the possibility of atomic attack.

The expert, Dr. Stafford L. Warren, director of atomic energy projects at the University of California at Los Angeles, revealed he has done so the last two years.

"In addition to canned goods," he said during an interview in Detroit, "I have bottles of water, a can opener, a hatchet, blankets, pliers, a tow rope and a 6-by-8-foot sheet of canvas in the trunk."

Obviously, Dr. Warren believes in being prepared, and every man, of course, has a right to his own safety measures.

But one can only hope that an impressionable populace will refrain from leaping to follow his example. Canned groceries are high enough already, and if 166 million Americans tried to stockpile a week's supply all at once sardines might cost more than caviar.

There would be a terrible shortage of can openers, too, for most houses usually have only one—and it rarely works.

But the biggest objection to everyone building a survival kit and turning his automobile into a portable bomb shelter is that it is a step back toward fear, a step away from hope.

Only a few days ago another expert told a congressional subcommittee that a single H-bomb could destroy a metropolitan area and contaminate 100,000 square miles with radioactive fallout.

In the face of such utter devastation of what real value are automobiles stocked with groceries? Of what avail are mountain hideaways of concrete caverns in the backyard?

The true peril of the awesome destructive potential of atomic attack rises above the problem of individual safety measures.

It is a collective problem: The fate of civilized man—and, not the Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THEY DO OCCUR

There is a religious leader in this country today who, until he was a man almost thirty, was known to the police as an extremely dangerous criminal. He began going to jail as soon as he was old enough to be committed. He came from a good home. His father, as long as he lived, stuck by him.

At last, after some unusually bad conduct in prison, he was sentenced to the dungeon, or "the hole" as it was called. He collapsed at last, as men always did from this treatment. As he lay near death on the icy floor of the cell, strange new thoughts and visions came to him. He had what not one person in a million has, namely, a genuine vision of heavenly things. The proof that he had it is that when consciousness returned, his mind was completely changed. He was healed of all criminal tendencies. When he left the prison, he hastened to devote his transformed life to the cause of Christian faith, and today he is known in every part of the country—after many years of service—as an outstanding Christian leader.

We should not want to convey the impression that an experience of this sort is normal, but the stupendous change made on this criminal does show that there are spiritual powers at work in the world—probably at work on all of us—trying to transform us and lift us to higher levels.

We Can't Afford To Lose Fight For Oil

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON "OH!"

Although that oleaginous word was not mentioned in the Eisenhower-Eden communique on their White House conferences on the world's troubled state, it was the subject which weighed most heavily on their minds.

It is the main reason—almost the only one—for their grave concern over such seemingly unrelated problems as Russia's penetration of the Middle East, the dispute with Greece over Cyprus, and Red China's aggression in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

Without an assured supply of oil from the areas where Moslems are now provoking enmity toward the West, especially at Washington and London, the American economy could not survive healthily in war or peace time. We could not win a global conflict against Russia, if she obtained control of these supplies. Our NATO Allies would be as helpless as so many troops of Boy Scouts.

Incredible as it may seem, our lack of gasoline might reduce us to production and use of only 4-cylinder cars as a fuel conservation measure. Gasoline prices would soar beyond the purse of the ordinary man, and Federal rationing would become as in evitable as Federal income taxes.

FIGURES ON WORLD OIL SUPPLY Eisenhower and Eden had new and appalling figures on the world supply (proved reserves) of petroleum at hand during their three-day talk. These fresh statistics reinforced their decision for an about effort to save the Middle East from Communist clutches, even if they have to use force and to trample on important political toes at home and abroad.

These figures show that proved oil reserves outside the Soviet and satellite area amount to 306 billion barrels. The Middle East, mainly Saudi Arabia and adjoining Arab lands, where American and British companies now have long-term concessions, accounts for 230 billion barrels of this total.

REDS SEEKING OIL MONOPOLY The United States has proved reserves of only 35 billion barrels, according to this report by the Atomic Energy Commission. The balance of the non-communist reservoir is accounted for by petroleum fields in Mexico, South America, Southeast Asia and the Indonesian archipelago, Russian agents, as well as Arabian resentment against the West are stirring the Arabs against us. Anglo-American oil royalties finance their campaign. Communists are growing stronger every day in Southeast Asia and Indonesia. Moscow is now making eyes at South America and offers of economic aid on better terms than we give.

The Russo-Chinese Reds, in short, are seeking a monopoly of the world supply of oil. It may take years, but time is no object with the faceless men in the Kremlin.

OPPOSITION TO TRUMAN'S INSISTENCE The late James V. Forrestal, then Secretary of Defense, foresaw this menace in his diaries. Together with Churchill, the State Department and national defense experts, he opposed Truman's insistence on the Middle East partition which led to creation of Israel and Arab bitterness toward us.

Minimum Wage And Housewives

By ELMER ROESSNER

The 51-an-hour minimum wage going into effect March 1 will tend to affect all wage rates. In addition—if merchants help make it so—it can influence housewives' valuation of their own time.

The new minimum applies directly only to those working for firms in interstate commerce. Keeping house, of course, is not recognized as an interstate business. But women, especially if retailers remind them, will soon find that their work is worth as much as that of the stumbling handyman at the widget works.

And once a housewife is convinced that her labors are worth $1 an hour, a vast number of appliances, housewares and prepared foods take on new values. Their prices rise—perhaps only a little, but their worth goes up. Thus their relative cost goes down.

HO IT WORKS OUT Let's suppose it takes a housewife 5 minutes to wash and cut up enough cauliflower for a 10-ounce serving. At the present minimum of 75 cents an hour this labor would be worth 6.25 cents. At the coming minimum, it will be worth 8.33 cents.

At present, any time a 10-ounce package of frozen cauliflower or cabbage costs 25 cents, 25 cents more than 10 ounces net of the fresh stuff, it's a bargain. This applies not only to frozen vegetables but also to all foods, prepared or partially prepared, that save housewives appreciable time.

It's even this good: If it takes a housewife an average of two hours and 15 minutes to prepare a dinner for two, any time she can get two frozen meals for $1.50 or less—assuming they are satisfactory and need only 15 minutes heating—she practically gets them for nothing. After February 29, two meals for $2 will be similar.

All this theory is void, of course, if the housewife does not make productive use of the time saved. If she uses it to save time on other things, she will simply be paying $1.50 an hour ($2 later) for television.

VALUE OF APPLIANCES Figuring the value of appliances and housewares in terms of time saved is slightly more complicated. Determining how quickly a dishwashing machine will pay for itself in terms of hours saved involves cost, carrying charges, electricity used, interest on investment, depreciation, insurance and perhaps other factors. However, it can be expected that manufacturers and dealers will work these problems out for their products and present them to wives and husbands through their advertisements.

Meanwhile, it is a good guess that any device that in one year saves as many hours as it costs in dollars is a bargain. That is, if a dishwasher saves an average of one hour a day, it is a bargain at any price under $365.

This kind of thinking is not new in the home. Women of America stopped making bread in their own kitchens not because bakers' bread was better (in many cases it wasn't) but because if their time had any appreciable value—even 10 cents an hour—store-bought bread was infinitely cheaper.

In reckoning the value of their time, housewives will be doing exactly what successful men do constantly. Everywhere there is a pay rise, they recalculate the value of automatic and other labor-saving devices. Any machine that will save more than its total cost in man hours is a bargain.

NEWS YOU CAN USE IN BUSINESS A paper-bound book, "U.S. Government Purchasing Directory—Who Buys What and Where," is now offered for 59 cents by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C. Manufacturers interested in selling products abroad through agents or other indirect representatives can get a leaflet on the subject by asking the International Cooperation Administration, Washington 25, D.C., for a free copy of its Small Business Mem No. 56-1. Inventors seeking eager manufacturers may find leads in "How To Find Buyer For Your Invention," a $2.95 book by Science & Mechanics, 450 E. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

FORRESTAL'S ARGUMENT "There was," writes Forrestal, "a general discussion of oil (at a Cabinet meeting—Ed note, King then Secretary of Interior) reported a 50 per cent increase in the use of fuel oils since prewar."

"Forrestal argued that without access to the Middle East pools, the Marshall Plan could not succeed and we could not fight a war and we would not even maintain the tempo of our peacetime economy."

"Without Middle East oil, we would have to convert within 10 years the later doubled the period) to 4-cylinder cars."

General George C. Marshall, then Secretary of State, suggested that South American wells might supply our needs, but Forrestal disagreed completely. The Eisenhower-Eden fears bear out Forrestal's forecasts only too tragically.

Pirates Roll Over Catawba, 92-72 In Rush For Crown

Virtually Clinch Championship In 12th League Win

SALISBURY — East Carolina's title-hungry Pirates all but clinched the North State Conference regular season championship here last night by smashing Catawba's Indians, 92-72.

While the Pirates were racking up their 12th league triumph, Elon, the second place club, was being surprised by Appalachian, 85-69.

East Carolina would have to lose all of its three remaining games in order for Elon to overhaul them. The Pirates have dropped only one league game, Elon three.

Three Left
ECC plays host to High Point in Greenville next Tuesday night in its last home game. Road games are left with Elon Saturday night and ACC the following Saturday.

Guy Mendenhall, the 6-5 sophomore center who has risen to unexpected heights this season, paced East Carolina over Earl Ruth's Indians here. The dead-eye stringbeater collected 28 points to lead both outfits in scoring.

The Buc pivotman recorded 10 field goals, most of which came on jump shots from around the foul circle, and eight out of nine from the free throw line. The 28-point performance matched his brilliant effort against ACC in Greenville last week.

Nick Nichols and Tim Smothers co-shared the runner-up role in scoring. Each had 16 points. Smothers was particularly outstanding, coming off the bench to dazzle the Indians with his fine point-making.

Don Harris, the Buc's leading scorer over the season, hurt his ankle in the second half. The Lenoir junior didn't see any action after the injury and the extent of it isn't known yet.

Loss of the clever sharpshooter, who's averaging 18.3 points a game, would be critical at this stage of the season.

Little Ray Clayton and Pete Hunt did all they could to keep the Tribe in the game. Each scored 14 points and played five floor games.

No other Indian hit in double figures. East Carolina jumped out in front 10-4 in the first three minutes and moved that out to 16-6 on the sunning of Mendenhall's Harold Ingram, who got 11 points for the night.

From there to the half, the Buc's burn up the cords and Catawba sank fast. At intermission, Coach Howard Clayton's clientele had a voluminous 47-24 advantage.

With the Buc reserves getting a workout, Catawba managed to look better in the second half. The Tribe scored 48 points to ECC's 46 but the early margin was too much to overcome.

All of the Buc's 12-man squad played. Harry Blevins made the next best showing of the sub. The Lees-ville forward finished with three nice driving field goals and a free throw for seven points.

206 STRIKEOUTS
HAVANA — "Vinegar Bend" Mizell, St. Louis Cardinal star southpaw, finished the Cuban winter baseball season last night by fanning 11 for a record season strikeout total of 206. He pitched the Havana Reds to a 7-4 victory over the Maricao Tigers although he needed help from Red Munger in the 8th.

Phantoms Favored To Axe Roanoke Rapids Tomorrow

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer
Greenville, the No. 1 team in the Northeastern Conference, travels to Roanoke Rapids tomorrow night to face the team that is currently resting on the bottom of the heap.

Coach Boley Farley's Phantoms, boasting a 9-0 league record and a 12-5 overall slate, are favored to apply a destructive axe to the hapless Yellow Jackets with an easy win.

In the only meeting of these two teams earlier in the season, the G-men completely thrashed the Jackets on the Green court, racking up a 46-point victory margin, as they won 81-35. Farley's first team played only about half of the contest, and when the substitutes went into action, the score had already mounted to an unbelievable 63-19.

Should Be Warm
Considering the vast improvement in the hantom ranks since that first Jacket-Greenville ball game, the locals might be expected to give their luckless foe an even worse time of it tomorrow night.

In the past two tilts, all five of the Greenville regulars have been hacking away at the nets for a pretty good scoring average. Harold Edwards, Ike Riddick and Billy Johnson, Greenville's one-two-three punch, have been hitting steadily. The real improvement has come in the shooting of guard Jerry Drum and forward Ray Hardee.

Bob Brooks, coach of the Phantoms' last victim, Elizabeth City, joined the group of Phantom enthusiasts recently after they had shattered his club's offense and defense with a terrific performance.

He pointed out the improvement in Greenville's lesser-known players when he said, "Sure, every man on the (Greenville) team can score! If you try to set up your defenses

Midget And Mite Cagers In Action

The Phantoms defeated the Raiders and the Pirates downed the Warhawks in Midget and Mite league activity yesterday.

Jack Whitley, with nine points, led the strong Phantoms to a Midget win over the Raiders, 21-15. William Starned had six points for the winners and N. Felton had eight for the losers.

The Pirates just ran away with the Warhawks in the Mite game. B-O, Billy James' six points were high for the winners.

Sugg High Tops Snow Hill Cagers

Sugg High took Snow Hill in a doubleheader last night. The Sugg girls won by 27-12 and the Sugg boys, by 66-43.

The win was the 10th straight for the Sugg girls. Hattie Dupree's 16 points was high in the game. B. Carmon had nine for the losers.

The Sugg boys grabbed an early lead and were never challenged. Joe Roger had 17 points and Leonard Olds had 14 for the winners.

for Riddick and the outside men, Edwards and Johnson and the other boys (Hardee) eat you up from the inside! There's no way to stop a team that shoots like that!" He commented further that a team is bound to be loaded with scoring talent "when they can send in substitutes that I've never seen before and still beat my first team 104-68."

Reserves Will Play
It is expected that Coach Farley will give his reserves a good workout during part of the Roanoke Rapids affair tomorrow night.

Blue Devils Running Up Against Desperate Foe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Virginia and Duke provide the only action in the Atlantic Coast Conference tonight.

The Blue Devils will be battling to build up their slim lead in the loop, and the Cavaliers will be trying to stay clear of the basement.

Virginia, the seventh-place ACC team, has won only one conference game this year, edging South Carolina 69-70, but the Cavaliers gave every indication in their last outing that something startling may be afoot at Charlottesville.

The Virginians came within two points of trimming North Carolina State, the nation's No. 4 team. Only a 20-point contribution in the second half by State's Cliff Hafer saved the Wolfpack. Hafer did most of the damage on long shots. Virginia shoved a fence-like zone

Gonzales Widens Lead Over Tony

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Pancho Gonzalez defeated Tony Trabert 6-3, 8-10, 6-2 in a singles match last night to widen his lead in their professional tennis tour. Gonzalez now has won 25 matches to eight for Trabert.

In the other singles match Rex Hartwig and Pancho Sehura wound up in a 9-9 tie in the first set before Hartwig was forced to drop out when he suffered a minor ankle injury. Segura holds a 26-5 lead on the tour.

In doubles, Trabert and Segura defeated Jack Kramer and Gonzales 6-4 in a one-set match.

The tour moves to Ithaca, N. Y., Thursday night and to Albany Friday.

Local Bowlers Defeat Kinston

Greenville's bowlers rolled their way to a victory over a Kinston team at Connie's Bowling Center here. The score was 232 to 229.

Harry Lee Stokes and Billy B. Wells led the way for the locals with 516 pins each. Tony Herne was high for Kinston with 483 in three games.

Greenville will return the match in Kinston Monday night.

between the N.C. State fast-break artists and the Cavalier basket. State was baffled, and hung on for a scant 77-76 win.

Duke, like N.C. State, likes to run. The question in ACC circles today is: Can the Cavaliers keep the Blue Devils, eighth-ranked nationally in check?

The Dukes haven't tangled with Virginia yet this year. State had met the Cavaliers once before—and whopped them 99-54.

Virginia, considered something of a weak sister before Tuesday night's affair with the Pack was supposed to have been the last knocking starts in earnest among the ACC leaders.

Duke, which will host tonight's game, must play Wake Forest Saturday night, then take on N.C. State, Virginia and the University of North Carolina before winding up its conference card.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 12 team, has an 8-2 loop record to rate behind the front-running Blue Devils in the standings. Wake Forest and N.C. State are tied for third with 7-2 records.

A loss anywhere along the line would jeopardize Duke's bid for the top spot in the ACC tournament, which decides the conference champion.

Tiger Jones Hot For Title Bout

WASHINGTON — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, whose long ring career demonstrates this capacity to take it as well as dish it out, was clamoring for a shot at the middleweight title today after a dashing knockout of Tony Baldoni.

The 27-year-old Jones had to call on all his experience and stamina to withstand the pounding given him by young Baldoni in the early stages of the nationally telecast fight last night.

But Jones rallied strongly in the fifth, sending Baldoni down for a nine count with a short, chopping right, and then putting him away for keeps at 2:30 of the sixth with a pair of wicked left jabs.

Jones, of Yonkers, N.Y., weighed 157. Baldoni, who had won 12 in a row, weighed 160. Tony is from Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

The Yonkers veteran figured last night's work was faring an early shot at Sugar Ray Robinson's middleweight championship. Jones has one particularly good talking point. He beat Robinson a year ago before Sugar Ray regained his title.

Baldoni poured it on in the third and fourth rounds, at the close of which he was ahead on all the officials' cards. Jones was in trouble in the fourth but ducked his head down and stayed on his feet.

The battle changed swiftly in the fifth, Baldoni suddenly had run out of steam and Jones took charge for the rest of the way. Baldoni barely got to his feet after the right chop floored him in the fifth.

Connie Mack Succumbs To Time And Declining Health

PHILADELPHIA — Connie Mack, who raised baseball to a new dignity and became a symbol of the national pastime, died yesterday at 93.

This ended the career of the tall, lank, gently humorous man who for millions of fans the world over represented the best in the game during his 50 years as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

He died in midafternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Frank Cunningham, in the Germantown section of Philadelphia. At his bedside too were Mrs. Mack, three other daughters and one of his three sons.

The health of baseball's "Grand Old Gentleman" had declined steadily since he fell out of bed last Oct. 1 and suffered a hip fracture. Surgery seemed to help, but he never walked again.

He was taken for a drive every day in good weather. But his son Roy and others in the family had to carry him to and from the car.

The family physician, Dr. Flarion Gopadze, said Mack had been "doing very nicely" until yesterday morning.

"Then he went bad," the doctor said. "He just seemed to be going out of the picture. His heart just couldn't stand up at his age."

Tomorrow evening the public will be admitted to a funeral home in downtown Philadelphia to view the body. Solemn Requiem Mass will be sung Saturday morning in St. Bridget's Roman Catholic Church in the city's East Falls section, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery here.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, American League President Will Harridge, National League President Warren Giles, the owners of all the major league clubs, and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, will be honorary pallbearers.

The GOLDEN WITCH

By ZOLA ROSS

In 1897, Seattle was a bustling, booming gateway to the Klondike gold rush. After a frantic search of the town, Tim O'Brien finds his good friend Michael Dark, a handsome young lawyer, shortly before the WILLAMETTE sails for Alaska. Tim wants Michael to help him locate Meg Beaumont, his pretty, yellow-haired niece, and persuade her not to sail aboard the ship in search of her husband.

Kemp Beaumont. He had deserted Meg and their small son Johnny for the gold fields in the frozen north.

CHAPTER THREE

Michael spotted the Willamette's captain heading for the ship. He hailed him, spoke briefly with him, receiving an impatient but positive reply. Michael returned to Jason and Tim.

"The captain says nobody like your niece is aboard. Not too many women. He wouldn't miss anybody with yellow hair and purple eyes."

"Then she's still on the docks," Tim stopped. "Jason," he said in a different tone, "there's Ryerson. He's been looking for you since yesterday."

Ryerson, traveling on one of Jason's chartered boats, had been stuck off the Alaskan coast. Jammed overboard, the vessel had towed rafts with men, horses, cattle. The men made ashore and were a hungry, frozen lot when a returning steamer rescued them.

The boat was going. If Meg Beaumont was aboard, there was nothing anyone could do about it. "We'll find your niece if she's here."

Tim, Michael said, appeared to have lost his zeal. He was looking beyond Jason and moved backward with others. Michael saw Ryerson shouldering his way toward them.

At arm's length from Jason, he spoke. "Ten Eyck, you convincing?" He was a lean man, half a head above Jason's six feet, his face heavy-boned, his eyes a clear blue. Michael felt a circle widen about them.

Ryerson's green eyes blazed. In that second when he would have lunged, Jason leaped. His body poised, loose at knees and hips, Ryerson's fist smashed high on his chest, but Jason's head rode with it, lacing its force. Ryerson's face was wide open; Jason's slashing blow caught him on the jaw. He staggered sideways to a knee, rocked forward and came up.

Once again Ryerson left his chin open. Jason caught it with a short, clubbing right. Ryerson went down sprawling, landing full on his back, rolling still. Michael thought it the finish but Ryerson stirred up right, took more of Jason's hammering blows on his body and face. Jason drove a final blow to his chin and Ryerson went down to stay.

Jason rocked on his feet, his nose dripping blood, blood welling from cuts above his eyes, his bruised mouth twisted. "Let's get out of here, Michael."

He ignored Tim but when Michael followed through a path that opened as they advanced, Tim trailed. He was surprised when Jason halted. In the shift of people, Michael saw Jason's full survey of a woman who sat apart on a trunk. Tim cried out and the woman's eyes found him. Jason went on his way, his hesitation briefer than Michael's assessment of it.

"Meg!" Tim rushed forward and Michael swore. "Meg Beaumont!" This unseemly that you sit here."

"No one's bothered me Uncle Tim," Meg said.

A cool hand, Michael thought. Maybe she did relish the fight; it would take more than that to ruffle her. Tim's description of her was bad. Her hair was the shade of the first flare of a candle in darkness; her eyes were turquoise with dark flecks. In her arms she held a sleeping child, his red hair a flame against her dark coat. A huge black cat crouched at her feet.

"I was afraid you'd gone to Alaska," Meg said. "I was looking for Kemp to keep him away from it." She looked at Tim for a long time, then shrugged. "So he did go."

Tim showed relief. "On this mornin's tide, darlin'. Do not you make the trip yourself, the way it would be a back and a heart breaker!"

Meg got to her feet. She was not a tall woman but her erectness lent her height. "Uncle Tim, since you're here, you can help me find a cheaper boardinghouse."

Tim turned to Michael. "Meg, my love, this is Michael Dark, the best lawyer in Seattle. Michael, you wouldn't be knowing where Mrs. Beaumont could stay until her passage back to Illinois could be—"

"I'm not going to Illinois," Meg interrupted. "How do you do, Mr. Dark?"

"I'm honored, Mrs. Beaumont." She reminded him of Jason. Their expressions held the same rebellion.

"Michael," Tim urged, "you could suggest a place?" Michael felt panned by their eyes. Even the cat looked at him. "Matilda Cox? I live there. Two of the boarders sailed on the Willamette."

Tim brightened. "If Matilda has room for you, Meg, you're in clover. Stay here. I'll find a hack."

"We'll walk. Get a dray for my trunk, Uncle Tim. It's cheaper."

"But I'll pay—"

"Get a dray, Uncle Tim." Michael's eyes met Tim's in an instinctive alliance against a bossy female.

"Nathan Grundy's boosting boxes on a Ten Eyck dray Tim. He'll take the trunk."

"It's not," said Meg, "necessary to make a favor of my trunk, Mr. Dark."

"Not even for a lady in distress?" She flushed under his amused glance and made no further objection when Michael spoke to Nathan.

"May I present Mr. Grundy, Mrs. Beaumont? Mark him well. He knows the Ten Eyck Company from drays to office ledgers. And the Ten Eyck Company is going to be the biggest supply outfit in town."

Nathan, a powerfully muscled hunchback with swarthy skin and purple-veined nose, inclined his head. Seattle claimed Nathan was as slimy with speech as Jason was with credit, but Michael knew Nathan for a wise man.

Nathan turned to her trunk. "Let's hoist her on, Michael. And then somebody better do something about Ryerson."

"Ryerson?" Michael had forgotten him, but when the trunk was secure he followed Nathan to where Ryerson was hunched against a lumber pile.

"He needs a drink," Michael approached a group of dock wallopers, located an acquaintance with a bottle. It held only two good drinks and its owner parted with it easily enough. Michael took it to Ryerson.

Ryerson looked at Michael as if seeing him for the first time. Finally his mouth showed a sour expression. "Thanks. I'll see about it." He walked away.

Michael eyed him. "Need a long?" Nathan said. "Well, I'll be rolling." He climbed into the dray and waved to Michael as he clattered off the docks.

As he walked toward the office, Michael fought his own restlessness. He was marking time. He had plenty of work but it wouldn't build into real success. His own lack, his own regard for money and fame were to blame. I don't want anything and that's my trouble. Yet he did want something and his own private life bothered him.

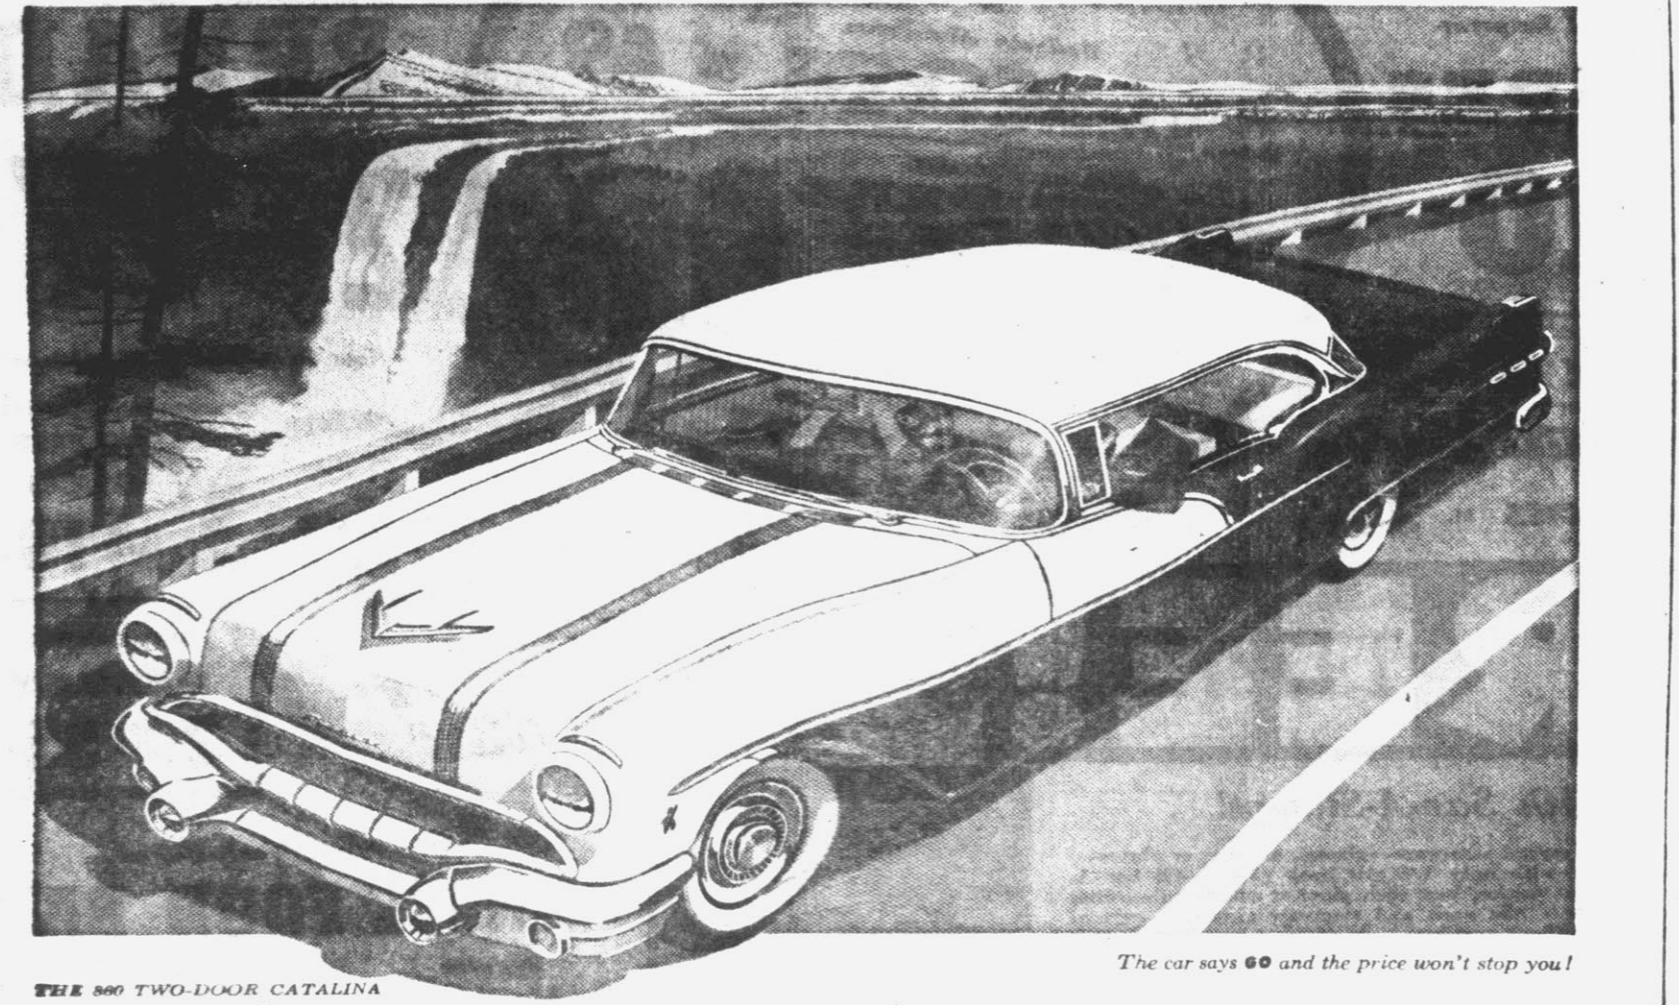

He was almost at his office when he heard carriage wheels behind him. "Michael!"

It's the hardtop buy of the year with the most power and size per dollar of any car in this style.

If you're accustomed to buying in the low-priced-three range, chances are you're paying for Pontiac's size, performance and distinction—but you're not getting it! As a matter of fact, you're not even coming close!

Where else at a price so low can you enjoy bossing the most modern, most advanced power plant in the industry—the mighty Strato-Streak V-8?

Where else at a price so low can you get the luxury of Pontiac's optional Strato-Flight Hydromatic—America's newest, smoothest automatic transmission?

Where else at a price so low can you find a big 122-inch wheelbase, such luxurious interiors and all the other fine-car features that put you so squarely on even terms with buyers of far costlier cars? Come in and see how easily this heart-lifting Strato-Streak beauty can be yours. Once you do, you'll be out of the small-car class forever!

You can actually buy a big, glamorous Pontiac 860 for less than you would pay for 44 models of the low-priced three!

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Prices declined gently in the stock market today in quiet early afternoon trading.

A burst of selling which sent some stocks down around 2 points soon after the opening was arrested with later improvement which kept losses to within a point or so.

Some fractional gains appeared throughout the list.

Volume for the day was estimated at about two million shares compared with 2,170,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock was down 60 cents to $174.50 at noon with the industrials off 70 cents the rails 60 cents and the utilities 20 cents.

The rush of selling at the start followed yesterday's late sell-off on nervousness over news that President Eisenhower might decide on whether to run for re-election in three weeks.

Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texas Co. and U.S. Gypsum dropped a point or more. Union Pacific was off around 2 points.

Other rails were mixed, with price changes generally in fractions.

Steels and utilities were off for the most part but the declines were fractional.

High priced International Business Machines fell about 9 points and Addressograph Multigraph was down about 4. But the highest-priced blue chip, Superior Oil of California improved about 25 points to recoup its loss of yesterday.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel were among the losers in the steel division but Youngstown Sheet & Tube was up a bit.

American Telephone slipped close to a point. Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck lost fractionally but Allied Stores was up a shade.

Goodyear and Goodrich were steady. Boeing and North American Aviation improved slightly while Douglas Aircraft and United Aircraft lost a little ground.

Chemicals were mixed as Du Pont gained a little and Union Carbide lost fractionally.

Ford Motor stock was at its low of 60 3/4 bid 60 5/8 asked after some early morning improvement.

Local Grocers Join Red-White System

Two of Greenville's independent grocers today became associated with the Red and White system, a voluntary group of more than 8,000 home-owned stores.

Harris Red and White Super Market at West End Circle and Colonial Heights Red and White Supermarket on East 10th Street are the two Greenville firms which have joined the Red and White system.

Each of the grocery stores will continue as an independent store under the Red and White system and each will continue under its present management.

Harris Red and White Super Market is operated by Durwood Harris who started the business in 1951 at the store's present location. Prior to opening his independent grocery store Harris had been a manager for a food chain store for more than eight years. His brother Edward Harris became a partner in Harris Super Market last year.

Colonial Heights Red and White Super Market is owned and operated by L. T. Hardy, a native of Greenville. The store was opened in 1954 as the first establishment in the Colonial Heights shopping center.

The Red and White system is one in which each store is locally owned and operated, but which must adhere to certain accepted and approved standards. It becomes a local store "operated like a chain."

More than 35 years ago the Red and White system of grocery stores was organized by a group of progressive wholesalers to aid independent grocers. The system has grown rapidly in both the United States and Canada.

Fleming; secretary, James Harris; treasurer, Jessie Harris; assistant secretary, Isaac Molk.

Other members are Jimmy Epps, Robert Parker, Uriah Parker, Roosevelt Taft, Jessie Baker, L. C. Chapel, Willie B. Lofton, Willie Baker, James Lofton, Samuel Barrett, William Washington, Clifton Sherry, Roy Morning, Harva Ray Crandell and Isaac Taft.

The following poem was written by little Joseph Bernard who died recently and was buried Tuesday afternoon:

I go to church on Sunday.
I go to sing and pray.
I love to pray to Jesus Christ.
Because he is so nice.

We have church at eleven o'clock
Right on the dot.
Will you go to church someday?
Because God wants all to pray.

Mother, can I go out to play?
Joseph, you have to go to church today.

O. Mom, do I have to?
Yes, son, you do.

I went to church in a merry way.
So happy and so gay.
Then church was out
And I ran all about.

The Gospel Chorus of Selvia Chapel will rehearse tomorrow night at 7:30.

Pork Remains Best Meat Buy

By Mrs. Amelia Capchert

Many vegetables are still high priced, in light supply and showing low quality due to cold weather damage in Florida. New green cabbage offers good eating either as a hot vegetable or as a salad. Both old crop and new potatoes show good quality at reasonable price.

Homemakers will find good buys in beef and pork roasts. All pork cuts showed distinct price increases, but it remains the leading buy at meat counters. Lower grades of beef are about the same price.

Higher grades show some indication of a price decrease as more high quality cattle come to market.

The nutritive value for all grades of beef is about the same. An average serving provides one quarter of a person's daily quota of protein, one-fifth of iron and one-tenth of riboflavin (vitamin B2).

In buying beef, regardless of cut, the homemaker should look for these qualities: (1) a large amount of lean in proportion to bone and fat; (2) firm, fine-textured lean of uniform bright color; (3) covering of firm, creamy-white fat; (4) streaks of fat throughout the lean (well-marbled), and (5) red, porous bones.

Blizzard Stalls Trains, Buses In Texas Panhandle

PLAINVIEW, Tex. — Trains and buses were stalled as a heavy blizzard dumped more snow yesterday and early today on the Panhandle-plains area, adding to the misery of last week's record-breaking snow.

Although the new snow was comparatively light winds that ranged up to 40 miles an hour whipped up old snow and piled up drifts to block highways that had been laboriously opened.

National Guard trucks still patrol the streets and highways in this immediate area. Yesterday a school bus with 24 children became stuck 12 miles north of here, was freed by a National Guard truck, and then became stuck again.

A Fort Worth and Denver freight train stuck in a snow bank two miles east of Dimmitt and was covered by the blowing snow. A rescue train sent from Plainview got only two miles from the city limits before it too got stuck in the drifting, blowing snow.

North Carolina had 24,423 irrigated acres in 1954 compared with 2,083 in 1949.

They Torqued it up for the BEST TAKE-OFF YET

FIRST thing you need in a car, of course, is power to spark performance.

And you get that in a 1956 Buick in plenty — from big 322-cubic-inch V8 engines that hit new highs in horsepower and compression.

But the power under the hood must be carried to the rear driving wheels in the form of twisting force on the drive shaft.

That's torque — the end-product of your transmission. And the higher the torque build-up — the greater the "torque multiplication" in starting and accelerating — the better the getaway and response.

So if you want to feel take-off that leaves your breath behind you, come try a '56 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

For in this airplane-principled transmission Buick engineers raised the ceiling on torque to give you the best getaway yet.

They did it with something they call "double regeneration" — a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity.

And when you use the full torque of a Buick beauty like the one pictured above, you're using the highest torque multiplication to be had in any standard-production American automobile today.

Come see for yourself what that means in new thrills and new safety.

You'll find brilliant new getaway response in the first inch of pedal travel — plus greater gas mileage to boot. You'll find an electrifying new safety — surge of full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch.

And you'll find this spectacular performance blended into the smoothest-traveling, the sweetest-riding, the highest-powered and the easiest-handling Buicks yet built. Drop in on us this week — today, if you can — and judge things firsthand.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
