Increased Leaf Cut Bill Killed

House Subcommittee Holds Large Acreage Reduction Could Prove Harmful

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Agriculture subcommittee today killed a proposal that flue-cured tobacco acreage quotas be cut another 8 per cent.

The committee held that the cut on top of a previously ordered 12 per cent reduction would cause "economic shock" and "distress to many producers."

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the Agriculture Committee had introduced the proposal. He said he did not believe a further cut would be warranted but that he offered the legislation at the request of some tobacco men merely to give growers an opportunity to express their views.

Carl T. Hicks, Walstonburg, N. C., chairman of a 11-member committee from flue-cured areas, had urged the additional cut. He said it was needed to keep tobacco stocks in line with demand.

The committee disagreed, holding that normal production of flue-cured might result in a crop larger than economically necessary "but not an unmanageable surplus."

The committee in citing reasons for its recommendation that the bill be tabled—an action which kills the proposal—also said the cut proposal came too late to be practicable.

It said that the cut order came after seed beds had been sown, contracts signed with tenant farmers and all plans completed for planting in the fields.

Special Senate Committee Closes Neff Incident Inquiry

Broader Inquiry Shapes Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—John M. Neff, oil company lawyer, testified today he had made no contributions in recent months to any senator's "personal campaign funds" other than the $2,500 which Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) spent.

On this testimony the special Senate committee created to inquire into the Case incident closed its public hearings. However, a new, broad inquiry into all "means and methods employed by interests outside the Senate who pressed for the passage or defeat of the natural gas" bill apparently was shaping up.

To clear the way for it, Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) resigned from the Senate Elections subcommittee of which he has been chairman.

He said that he felt the subcommittee could not undertake the inquiry while he remained on it since he is a candidate for re-election.

It has long been Senate custom that the elections subcommittee—which has the job among other things of policing elections—should not include any senator who is currently campaigning for re-election.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) is in line to become chairman of the group in succession to Hennings. Gore has repeatedly urged a broad inquiry into efforts to influence votes on the gas bill.

The special Senate committee, headed by Sen. George (D-Ga), has limited its hearings strictly to the Case incident.

This group closed out its hearings with less than an hour's testimony today.

It first called Sheriff Paul Whaley of Dawson County, Nebraska, who accompanied Neff to Sioux Falls, S.D., in January when Neff left 25 $100 bills with a friend of Case's as a campaign contribution.

Whaley, who was just along for the ride had little pertinent to tell the committee.

Neff, who had told his story last week, was then recalled.

Charles W. Steadman, the committee's counsel, asked him: "Have you at any time since October, 1955, made contributions to the campaign funds of other senators in connection with the Harris-Fulbright (gas) bill?"

"I have made no other contributions to any senator's campaign funds," Neff said.

Steadman then told George, "We have no further witnesses."

"The committee will recess, subject to the call of the chairman," George said. "As far as the committee knows now there is no further testimony expected at this time."

Case asked whether some of the South Dakota witnesses could go home. "All the witnesses are still under subpoena, and still subject to call," George said.

After the hearing, Neff was asked by newsmen whether Neff had made any contributions to other persons for the campaign funds of any senator.

Evans replied: "How do I know? I could give you a $5 bill and I wouldn't know what you did with it."

When reporters pressed the question of whether any indirect campaign contributions might have been made, Evans answered only: "Read the record."

Neff had testified Saturday that the $2,500 was from the personal funds of Howard Keck, president of the Superior Oil Co. of Los Angeles.

Whaley was questioned mainly about his associations with Neff. A sturdy built, graying man in a gray suit, Whaley said he was "a very, very close friend" of Neff and accompanied him on a Nov. 2 trip from Lexington, Neb. to Sioux Falls.

The trip reportedly marked the start of a sequence of events capped with the campaign fund offer last January while the gas bill was under vigorous Senate debate.

Whaley said he learned only "within the past 30 days" that Neff worked for Superior Oil.

Whaley said he did not know the purpose of the trip to Sioux Falls. He said Neff wanted him to "help drive."

The day after their arrival in the South Dakota city, he said, he accompanied Neff to the office of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader where he sat while Neff talked to E. J. Kahler, the paper's business manager, for 30 to 40 minutes.

He didn't hear "anything about natural gas," he said.

There has been testimony that Neff asked for the editor when he went to the Argus-Leader but was told Kahler, the paper's business manager, for 30 to 40 minutes.

Relating the Neff-Kahler conversation, as he said he recalled it, Whaley told the committee: "I heard them mention the Harris bill, but didn't know what it was."

Rep. Harris (D-Ark) sponsored the natural gas bill in the House. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) on the Senate side.

"I got the impression Mr. Kahler was well acquainted with Sen. Case," Whaley said.

He said "funds were not mentioned" during the interview.

Burgess-Maclean 'Press Conference'

Turncoats Seen In Moscow

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY MOSCOW (AP)—Nearly five years of mystery surrounding the whereabouts of former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean have been lifted in the shadow of the Kremlin. But most of the riddles were not answered.

The Russians staged a dramatic appearance of the two turncoats Saturday in the National Hotel, three days before the opening of the Soviet Communist party's 20th congress. Two British and two Soviet newsmen were summoned to their five-minute "press conference."

Immediately after, the two were driven off into the night. They left unanswered a host of questions:

What underground route carried them through the police nets of Europe? What secrets did they give the Russians? And what would events did this knowledge set off? Did it cause the Chinese Reds to enter the Korean War? Why did the Russians remain silent so long, then choose this time to disclose their whereabouts? What are they doing now and how are they living?

Burgess and Maclean said in a prepared statement they had been Communists since their days at Cambridge University but denied they had been secret agents as charged last year by the British.

They said they had fled to Russia "to make our contribution to a policy aimed at achieving greater mutual understanding between the Soviet Union and the West."

They charged that a "small but powerful" group in the West had opposed a mutual understanding. They particularly criticized U. S. foreign policy.

Maclean and Burgess slipped across the English channel on a small steamer in May 1951 and disappeared. It seemed clear they had vanished behind the Iron Curtain but Soviet officials blandly denied knowledge of their whereabouts.

Maclean had been head of the American Department of the British Foreign Office. Burgess, earlier with BBC and the British Secret Service, was second secretary of the British Embassy in Washington.

Both were in close touch with the secrets of U. S.-British diplomacy then.

The British Foreign Office said in a white paper last year that the two had fled when the government was suspicious at the leak of secrets to Moscow, ordered Maclean questioned.

Maclean's American-born wife, the former Melinda Marling of Chicago, followed her husband to Russia in 1953 with their three children. Mrs. Maclean is daughter of Francis N. Marling, advertising manager of the Pure Oil Co.

They were appointed by Dr. G. Earl Trevathan, Jr., city campaign chairman.

This brings to six the number of appointments made by Dr. Trevathan for the drive which will begin March 1. George Wilkerson and James S. Ficklen, Jr. will begin advance gift solicitation Wednesday, and Dr. K.B. Pace and Dr. W.H. Pott will be in charge of solicitation of physicians during the general campaign.

Mrs. Lillie B. Little, Home agent, is serving as county campaign chairman. She and Dr. Trevathan were appointed by Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Red Cross chapter chairman, several weeks ago.

Other appointments are expected to be announced later.

Goal for this year's drive is $17,979, of which $11,150 is the city's share, and $6,829 the county's portion.

Another view, he said, was that the Soviet government hoped to "create distrust" and drive a wedge between the "closer accord" reached by London and Washington in the recent talks between Eden and President Eisenhower.

Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn said one of two white youths arrested yesterday signed a statement admitting participation in ink-spattering, pie and egg throwing, and putting livermush in a supermarket's coffee grinder.

"The kids are going crazy," Littlejohn said as Youth Bureau deputies looked for the culprits who on three successive days last week wreaked senseless destruction at Harding High School and four business establishments.

Littlejohn reported the two youths, "not juveniles, they're both over 16," were held on an open charge. He declined to name them until the continuing investigation determines whether others are involved.

At the school, records were burned in the principal's office, windows smashed, doors broken, and paste and ink thrown against a wall. A soft drink machine was flooded with $3.

In the supermarket, eggs were smashed against a wall and cigarettes stolen. Two soft drink machines filled with $6, and livermush and milk dumped into the coffee grinder. The manager estimated damage at $500.

NEW YORK (AP)—A barefoot Brazilian stowaway who hitched a 5,182-mile ride in an airliner's freezing and cramped nosewheel compartment today awaited a more comfortable trip back home.

Wanderley de Cunha Carmargo, 20-year-old airport baggage handler, hid in the nosewheel compartment of a Pan American World Airways DC6 at Sao Paulo, Feb. 20, Friday night.

He leaped out of the plane at Idlewild Airport Saturday night and sprinted away into the darkness. He was found several hours later, rummaging through garbage cans a few miles from the field.

Hungry and bewildered, he wore only a jacket and trousers.

"A miracle he's alive," an airline spokesman said.

See Attempts To 'Drive A Wedge'

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd accused Soviet authorities today of "lack of candor" in dealing with British attempts to track down the renegade British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

Rising in the House of Commons, Lloyd warned the Russians that if they were trying to "drive a wedge between the United States and Britain," then it will fail.

Just before the Burgess-Maclean case came up, Sir Winston Churchill entered the Chamber in one of his rare visits since retiring as prime minister.

Prime Minister Eden who was already in the House, went over to whisper to him.

Burgess and Maclean, who vanished in May 1951, came out of hiding in Moscow Saturday and denounced British and American foreign policy in a prepared, typewritten statement.

Lloyd said speculation revolved around two possible reasons for the reappearance of the fugitive diplomats. While conceding the Russians could use the Burgess-Maclean statement for propaganda, Lloyd said:

"No credence can be placed on their words. There is nothing in the statement which causes me to modify that view."

Lloyd said it had been suggested

Professorship For Dr. W. I. Wolverton

Dr. W. I. Wolverton, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Greenville, has accepted the professorship of "The Founding Institutions and Literature of the United States" at St. John's College, University of Manitoba, at Winnipeg, Canada.

The announcement of Dr. Wolverton's acceptance of the new post was made here yesterday by Bishop Thomas H. Wright, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese.

Dr. Wolverton will remain here as rector of St. Paul's until August 1 after which he will begin his new duties at St. John's College. The professorship which Dr. Wolverton has accepted is a new chair in the University of Manitoba which will deal with the language and literature of the ancient Near East and that, beginning with the Old Testament.

St. John's is a college of liberal arts and theology and was one of the founding institutions of the University of Manitoba which now has about 6,000 students.

Dr. Wolverton came to Greenville as rector of St. Paul's Church in April, 1952. Prior to coming to Greenville he was a chaplain in the Air Force for 18 years. He was retired because of physical disability.

A native of Holton, Kan., Dr. Wolverton received his A.B. degree from Park College, Parkville, Mo. He received his theological education at Duke University. He has master of arts and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Chicago where he studied in the Divinity School and did further postgraduate work in psychology at the University of

Aiken Sees Soil Bank Add $2 Billion To Farm Income

By EDWIN B. HAARINKSON WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) predicted today that the new soil bank program "could add some two billion dollars of farm income this year" if Congress retains flexible price supports.

Aiken, in an interview, repeated his forecast of a presidential veto if Congress ties rigid price supports to the soil bank proposals of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

His comments came after Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee and Sen. Young (R-ND) said they were willing to risk a veto in order to try to get higher mandatory supports for cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts.

As the soil bank bill goes to the Senate it will include this provision inserted by an 8-7 vote of the Agriculture Committee.

Ellender and Young contend the soil bank payments, authorized at $1,100,000,000 this year, would mean little actual profit to farmers unless something is also done to raise prices and support levels.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), another member of the committee, supported Aiken's view that the President would veto the bill in its present form. But he added, in an NBC-TV interview, that he hopes Eisenhower never has the opportunity to do so.

He called the bill "atrocious" and "completely inadequate."

Benson, in another NBC-TV interview, said he couldn't say with certainty what Eisenhower would do, but said that if the President asks his advice he would recommend a veto.

He said he didn't think either he or Eisenhower would approve a farm bill including the high price supports, and added, "I think probably my advice will not be necessary in this case."

Calling a return to the high support levels "a step backward," he noted that Eisenhower already has said such action would "defeat the main object" of creating a soil bank to reduce crop surpluses.

But Ellender contended that whatever the price support level, Benson "has authority to control production of basic crops if he wishes to do so."

LONDON (AP)—Fresh snowstorms heaped more misery today on freezing Western Europe. The toll of recorded weather deaths climbed to 333 for the past two weeks and scores were missing.

A Greek air force Dakota with 17 aboard was reported missing on a mercy flight to drop supplies to snowbound villages in Macedonia.

Avalanches struck at least six Yugoslav villages and authorities said they feared "a great number of people" were trapped. At least 10 workers were reported killed at Strezimir, and three at Torbeski.

Harriman Ready Inject Race Issue In Politics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Another round of comment on civil rights questions leaves Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman differing sharply on one issue growing out of the segregation dispute.

Harriman, governor of New York and an "inactive" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said last night he favors barring federal grants to schools that resist desegregation.

Stevenson, however, said it wouldn't help reduce race prejudice to cut off Southern states from "the means of improving the educational standards of all their people."

In a statement issued at Portland, Ore., Stevenson also said he thinks it is "essential" that the segregation issue be kept out of this year's presidential campaign.

Among the Republicans, National Chairman Leonard Hall said he hopes the Democratic nominee will be picked by former President Truman "because I want the American people to have a choice between what they now have and what they had under Mr. Truman."

As for the GOP candidate Hall repeated that he is operating on "the absolute, definite and positive theory" that President Eisenhower will seek a second term.

The school aid issue dividing Stevenson and Harriman stems from an amendment proposed by Rep. Powell (D-NY) to a federal school construction program pending in Congress. The amendment would prohibit allocation of federal funds to communities resisting integration.

In a radio interview, Harriman said he believes "the correct position" is to support the Powell amendment.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, another Democratic presidential hopeful, hasn't taken a final position on the question. He has observed, though, that the amendment might result in defeat of the aid bill.

Stevenson, in his Portland statement, said he can "think of no greater disservice to our country than to exploit for political ends the tensions that have followed in the wake of the Supreme Court decision" ordering desegregation.

Ground Observer Meeting Is Called Tuesday Night

Supervisor Jake Hadley today called a meeting of Greenville Ground Observers and interested people for Tuesday night. The meeting will be held in the court room of the Municipal Building at 8:00 p. m.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee, Civil Defense director J. H. Rose and representatives from the Durham Filter Center will be present.

Security of help remains the Greenville unit's biggest handicap, says Hadley. "I think anybody could be able to forget their own problems for two hours every two weeks and devote that time to national preservation," he continued.

"We've been trying to operate 24 hours a day but actually our observation post has been on duty only about 15 per cent of the time, which is very poor."

A training film will be shown at the meeting in time and Ground Observer Units will be presented to about thirty participating observers.

"Anyone who can spare some time is urged to come," said supervisor Hadley. "Our post needs a lot of recruits."

BATH, N. C.—More than 1,500 Boy Scouts and leaders from Eastern North Carolina met here Saturday afternoon as part of the nationwide historic pilgrimage observance commemorating the 46th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

The group was composed of Cub Scouts Explorers, and adult volunteer leaders from the 13 districts in the 26-county Council, making one of the largest gatherings in the history of this Council which has set a record for bringing Scouting to a rural area.

The program at the water-side stage in this historic community launched the new four-year program on the theme "Onward for God and My Country" and was highlighted by an address by Hon.

Herbert C. Bonner, first district congressman of Washington, N. C., on service to one's country.

Also speaking were the Rev. A. C. D. Noe, rector of St. Andrews-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, of Nags Head, and Edmund H. Harding, also of Washington, N. C., and author of "St. Anne's Bell," the historic paragon depicting the history of Bath.

Bonner praised the part played by the Boy Scout movement in becoming youth of the nation into becoming useful citizens. The Rev. Mr. Noe emphasized that a person begins to serve God when he begins to believe in God, to have respect for God's holy name, and His holy book, to serve God through serving his fellowman. A prayer, written by Mr. Noe for the occasion, was dedicated to the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Harding challenged his hearers to keep alive the spirit of the Carolina pioneers who settled this region and gave it great traditions and heritage.

Presiding pastor Dr. J. D. Messick, president of East Carolina College of Greenville, now serving his second year as president of the East Carolina Council. The group was welcomed by Mayor B. A. Brooks of Bath. The invocation was spoken by the Rev. Harold Tyre of Bath.

Council Scout Executive Ralph H. Mosz noted the observance of the historic pilgrimage project by the 13 districts in the Council. Music was by the Plymouth high school band conducted by Bernard Ham.

There has been testimony that Neff asked for the editor when he went to the Argus-Leader but was told Kahler, the paper's business manager, for 30 to 40 minutes.

Relating the Neff-Kahler conversation, as he said he recalled it, Whaley told the committee: "I heard them mention the Harris bill, but didn't know what it was."

Rep. Harris (D-Ark) sponsored the natural gas bill in the House. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) on the Senate side.

"I got the impression Mr. Kahler was well acquainted with Sen. Case," Whaley said.

He said "funds were not mentioned" during the interview.

Utilities Hearing Resumes Tuesday

Long drawn out State Utilities hearings on a Vanceboro request for electric service from the area, held in New Bern and the utilities Power and Light Co. are scheduled to be resumed in New Bern tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The hearings are to be held in the municipal court room.

Utilities is changing that service received from Greenville Utilities has been dependable and asking that CP&L take over the territory.

Greenville Utilities has attempted to show at the hearings that service has been good in the area. Original hearings were held in Raleigh last July. After several delays "rther sessions were set for Greenville early this month.

At that time Vanceboro attorneys requested that further hearings be held in New Bern and the utilities commissioners agreed to the move.

Greenville Utilities is expected to place still more customer witnesses on the stand tomorrow and in addition various officials of the local utilities are expected to take the stand.

Vanceboro attorneys have indicated they also plan to place still more Greenville Utilities customers on the stand to complain of service being rendered from the local plant.

Age Of Speed In Fashion World

By DOROTHY ROE
Set planes aren't the only things that travel fast these days. Take women's fashions, for instance.

I was talking to a young man named Andy Arkin today. He got in yesterday by plane from Paris, where he had attended the spring fashion showings of Dior, Givenchy, Balenciaga and the rest of the big boys who continue to tell women all over the world what to wear. This morning he had a fashion show at which he showed more than a dozen adaptations of the spring styles he bought in Paris. "How'd you do it?" I asked him. "Simple," said he. "We did it by telephone. Soon as a showing was over I got on the phone to the New York office and told them what I bought and we designed the American version over the phone. Had a pretty big phone bill, but it all pays for itself."

American buyers pay about $1,000 each for the Paris originals they buy at the couture openings. And within a week they have their adaptations ready for orders by stores all over the country and a few weeks after that American women are buying them for as little as $50. "Of course," says Arkin, "we don't copy these Paris styles exactly, because if we did we couldn't sell 'em over here. That's the reason American women have different ideas about clothes—and different shapes, too. They want the latest thing from Paris, but they want it fixed up a little here and there so that they don't look like a cartoon when they wear it. That's what we do for them."

This year, says Arkin, all the American buyers are worried about whether women over here will go for the loose line so prominent in Paris showings. "Frankly, I wasn't sure about it at first," said Arkin. "Up to now we've been faking this sack silhouette, sort of. We've been making these bellies dresses, but we've been shaping them so that they actually fitted the figure. This time I realized that the fitted things—the ones nipped in at the waistline—were beginning to look out-fashioned. So this spring we're making dresses loose. Hardly any belts at all, or if at all, then it's just a little half or quarter belt."

Training In Family Living Is Discussed

Dr. Reuben Hill of the University of North Carolina, discussing a project in Personal and Family Living sponsored by the American Social Hygiene Association, addressed faculty members at East Carolina College and teacher in the Greenville City schools at a meeting held Friday afternoon in the McGinnis auditorium at the college.

Dr. Hill, professor of sociology and research professor in the Institute for Research in Social Science at the University, is director of family life education there and a leader in this field. President John D. Messick of East Carolina, who serves as chairman of the project in the Middle Atlantic states, introduced Dr. Hill to his audience.

The increasing complexity of modern life calls for a new type of training in family living. Dr. Hill stated, in reviewing the work of a committee working in the Middle Atlantic states on the project. Some of the old patterns in family life are now being repudiated by young people, who are unwilling or unable to follow the patterns set by their parents, he said. "Where," he asked, "will they learn new patterns?" The American Social Hygiene Association has instituted the project to help those attending schools, colleges, and universities and to train teachers and prospective teachers for work in the areas of the project, he explained.

He noted that the project does not necessarily call for the setting up of new courses. It rather involves emphasis on personal and family living in various types of work now being offered in the schools. It provides also for the development of competencies such as the ability to work with others in all areas of instruction.

After Dr. Hill's talk, members of the departments of instruction at East Carolina held meetings to discuss the project further, especially with reference to how it applies to their fields.

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR, February 13, 1926

The dental offices of Dr. B. McK Johnson on the fourth floor of the National Bank Building were completely destroyed by fire of an unknown origin Saturday night at 11:30. Adjoining offices also suffered damages from fire, water and smoke.

Miss Lois Zeigler of Orangeburg, S. C. spent the weekend with Mrs. Frank Wilson.

Friends of little Miss Marion Wilson, who has been ill for several days, will be glad to learn that she is improving.

Pupils Form Company; Building Auto

AP Newsfeatures . . . . .
WYANDOTTE, Mich. — Future captains of industry may emerge from a group of 24 high school students here who have formed their own company and are building a deluxe version of a 1935 automobile.

The project is believed to be one of the most ambitious in the history of the Junior Achievement program. The group is made up of 12 boys and 12 girls ranging in age from 15 to 18 who have formed their own corporation, selling 2,000 shares of stock at 50 cents each to finance the project. When additional funds are needed they will sell the remaining 500 authorized shares and then borrow $500 from the Junior Achievement bank. The entire project is expected to cost $1,750.

The young industrialists expect to sell their car at a profit when it is completed.

Carl Szejda, 16, an honor student at Roosevelt High School, is president of the company. The car is being built in a 1,000-square-foot plant rented for $10 a month with the cooperation of the Marine and Industrial Engine division of Chrysler Corp., which also has loaned the students tools and other equipment.

The car will be called the "Royal Achiever" and is expected to be sold for close to $4,000. It will have all the latest equipment, including power steering and brakes, heater and radio with rear seat speaker, directional signals, whitewall tires, power seats and windows and many other accessories.

The engine will be a Dodge V-8 of 230 horsepower. The body will have a special paint job, using the Junior Achievement colors, blue and gold. The engine will be painted gold and will have many of its parts chrome-plated.

All work on the car is being done by the boys of the company, while the girls handle accounting and clerical work. The wage rate is 10 cents an hour with time and a half — 15 cents — for Saturday work. Work is limited to two hours a week, and the car is expected to be completed by the middle of April.

Profits of the corporation will be distributed among the 24 members of the company, who also are directors, and as dividends among the more than 600 stockholders.

Like all Junior Achievement projects, the company will be liquidated in May.

Other officers of the company include "Rand" Peterson, vice-president; Joan Carle, secretary; and Tom Szeles, treasurer.

Funeral Held Sunday For Mrs. Will Hardee

AYDEN—Mrs. Isbell Newell Hardee, 83, of Ayden, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Saturday at 7:10 a. m. after a lingering illness. Funeral services were conducted from Britt's Funeral Chapel Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. Jack Fogelman, Ayden Methodist minister. Burial followed at Ayden cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, Will Hardee, and several nieces and nephews. Mrs. Hardee had been a life-long resident of Ayden community, a member of the Ayden Methodist church and she was a member of the Eastern Star chapter. The couple had recently celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary.

NEW BERN—Funeral services for Marion Odell (Richard) Tripp, 43, of New Bern, who died in an auto accident Saturday, will be held Tuesday at 4 p. m. from the West New Bern Presbyterian Church. Dr. Harlan Dudley of Raleigh and the Rev. John Murray, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in New Bern Memorial Cemetery.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Ruth Owens Tripp; one daughter, Janice of the home; a son, Winstead of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Chauncey DuPre of Greenville and Mrs. Donald Smith of Junction City, Kan.; five brothers, Hicks of Raleigh, Raymond of Parris Island, S. C., Woodrow of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Jarvis and Joseph of Greenville.

Party Plans Awry

NEWCASTLE, England (AP) — Somebody's party plans went awry.

Police said a purse was found on the street here containing four pound notes ($11.20) and this shopping list:

Whisky, sherry, stout, beer, ale, aspirin and stomach powders.

Slaying Charged To Twin Youths

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Twin 14-year-old boys charged with the slaying of a 9-year-old Cub Scout steadfastly insisted they were innocent during eight hours of questioning yesterday.

Police and other officials who saw Thomas and Joseph Williams calmly answer questions—and submit to lie detector tests—scheduled a meeting to correlate their information.

Members of the family of David Powell gathered for his funeral today.

After the interrogation of the twins, Ohio County Prosecutor Joseph Gompers said a mental examination is planned, adding: "I still don't think we've got the truth from the boys."

The lads are charged with murder and are being held in a juvenile detention home.

Dressed in blue jeans and wearing identical jackets, the tow-headed twins—rather slightly built for their age—remained calm. They both insisted they knew nothing of how young Powell was brutally beaten to death and his body placed in a coal cellar under the porch of the Williams home.

Young Powell's body was found last Friday, about 12 hours after he disappeared on a house-to-house tour of the neighborhood selling tickets for a scout benefit.

Gompers said Powell's skull had been crushed and that his chest had been nicked with a knife. A knife, he added, was found in his jacket sleeve.

The prosecutor said human bloodstains were found on a jacket worn by Thomas Williams and that Thomas admitted owning the knife but claimed he lost it last Tuesday.

Undismayed By Low Hog Prices

SMITHFIELD — Hog prices may be low but some Johnston County swine farmers aren't a bit discouraged.

In fact, Assistant County Agent Jack W. Barnes says that Henry Cross of Selma, Route 2, and Hobart Reeder of Smithfield, Route 1, two of the county's leading swine producers, recently went all the way to Florence, S. C. to attend a purebred Berkshire sale and ended up buying four nice gilts for $360.

LEXINGTON — Ray Crouse, young dairy and poultry farmer of Lexington, Route 2, thought he "smelled a rat" when something kept killing his six-week-old chickens. This time, however, the "rat" turned out to be a cat — four of them in fact.

Davidson County Agent G. E. Bernhardt says that one night Crouse caught two cats in the act of killing his chickens while two more lurked nearby. A few shotgun blasts quickly settled the issue.

Scared Thieves

Burglars broke into the Stokes and Lane Store at Gardenersville early yesterday morning. Suddenly, as they were lifting a trap door leading to the downstairs portion of the building, the robbers were startled by the wall of a siren.

The frightened thieves dived out the upstairs window by which they entered onto a porch and fled into the night.

An owner of the store, Lewis Lane, who lives nearby, ran to the building, investigated and turned off the burglar alarm which the intruders had set off when they opened the trap door.

Lane said the robbers were gone when he arrived. Nothing was missing.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the break-in.

Bootleg Operator Flees As 2 Stills Are Blown Up

Explosive dynamite kept Pitt County ABC officers from capturing the operator of a still this weekend.

Officers, searching the woods, came upon a partially dismantled still and destroyed it with dynamite. Then, when crossing the road, they found a second still, this one in operation.

The operator, however, apparently had fled when the dynamite went off. The second still plus 100 gallons of mash was destroyed also.

Welcome Innovation In City Govm't

The appointment of a single official to serve as administrative head of both the utilities commission and the city government has long been proposed for Greenville. Now that such a situation has in fact come about, it offers an unparalleled opportunity for lasting close coordination and cooperation between these two vital functions of Greenville's government.

Saturday's unprecedented action by Greenville's City Council was a bold stroke which holds great promise of giving the city greater efficiency in its government and utilities operations which will in turn accrue many benefits to local citizens.

The appointment of Leonard Bloxam, utilities superintendent, to the dual post of city manager and utilities superintendent is in itself another illustration of cooperation of the Utilities Commission and the City Council under the Council-Manager form of government.

Although the idea of one official for the dual role of city manager and utilities superintendent has been undertaken by the city on a trial basis, both the Council and the Utilities Commission have expressed confidence that the plan will work. To be sure there may be pitfalls and flaws which may be picked in such a plan whereby one official is to some extent answerable to two autonomous boards. Nevertheless the merits of the plan far outweigh the drawbacks which appear at the outset.

Bloxam, in his new post, will be answerable to the Utilities Commission for utilities operations and to the City Council for municipal government operations. Nevertheless, with the same man at the head of both operations, he will have a broader view of both utilities and municipal affairs than has heretofore been possible, and certainly there will be no margin for one hand not knowing what the other is doing or planning. This, in itself, will provide a very real basis for affording Greenville's taxpayers with greater service for each tax dollar.

Republican Sounded Like A Democratic Speaker

Here in Democratic North Carolina it's not unusual to hear Republican officials—particularly a Republican Secretary of Agriculture—severely criticized. It is, however, a little unusual in North Carolina to hear a Republican official criticized by a member of his own party.

At the Lincoln dinner in Raleigh the other night Rep. Carl Andersen of Minnesota sounded a great deal like a Democrat rather than a Republican as he criticized Secretary Benson for this program of flexible price supports.

We wish the Republican administration and members of Congress—as well as more Democrats to what harken to the truth of Rep. Andersen's assertion that, "You can't have continued prosperity without giving agriculture a place in the sun."

Rep. Andersen, who originated the Soil Bank plan for farmers, spoke a truth that cannot be denied. Far too many members of Congress oppose what they call "subsidies to farmers" yet are advocates of even greater government subsidies to other segments of the nation's gigantic economy.

Obviously with other segments of the nation's economy being subsidized, agriculture must likewise receive favorable support from Washington. Caught in the spiral of rising costs and dropping income, the nation's agriculture must be afforded a positive program supported by the federal government.

The present Republican administration has fallen far short of providing such a program. The last Democratic administration, while its farm program was perhaps a little better, certainly did not offer agriculture the dynamic support it needed and deserved.

Republican farmers of the mid-West and Democratic farmers of the south may differ widely in their political views. Yet they have one common cause: the securing of an adequate farm program from the federal government.

Certainly 1956, as we have said before, is an ideal opportunity for the farmers of the nation as a whole to extract from both the Democratic and Republican parties concrete commitments for the calibre program the nation's agriculture must have if it is to regain its rightful position in the country's economy.

We've Had Our Share Of Break-Ins For Week

Greenville has definitely broken out with a rash of "break-ins" during the past week.

We are looking to the long arm of local law enforcement agencies to quickly put an end to the alarming situation which has developed in the past few days.

Friday night five separate instances of break-ins and thefts were reported to local police. That brought the total for the week to 11. Whether these robberies are result of activities of several individuals or groups, or whether they are the work of one gang, we do not know. We do know, however, that local police should concentrate on breaking the cases and catching the culprits before they carry such activities further.

Five break-ins in one night may not be a record for Greenville, but is much higher average than the city can tolerate. The same thing applies to the week's total of 11.

Aside from the merits of the new approach to municipal and utilities operations which has been undertaken in this move by the City Council, certainly the city is fortunate in having for the new post a man with the experience and proven ability of Leonard Bloxam. He has proved himself an able administrator and an able engineer during the 18 months he has been utilities superintendent in Greenville. These are without doubt the key qualities which must be looked for in a city manager. We are confident that Bloxam, with full cooperation of the Council and the Utilities Commission, can make the new plan entirely beneficial to the people of Greenville.

The Reflector is highly pleased with this new innovation in Greenville's municipal affairs. It is a move which has long been needed and one which can be of incalculable value to Greenville.

We congratulate the City Council for its initiative which set the wheels in motion for this innovation in municipal government in Greenville, and likewise we congratulate the Utilities Commission without whose wholehearted cooperation the proposal could not have become a reality.

Stress Need For Concerted Action

By LYNN NISBET

FLOOD CONTROL—Although the area embraced five states at least three-fourths of the approximately 100 attendants at the flood control and public works conference held on Friday at the North Carolina Hotel in the Hall of the House of Representatives, the conference included the two Carolinas, Georgia, Florida and Alabama. Florida and Georgia were not represented.

Governor Hodges' welcome to out of state visitors fell a bit flat, which perhaps added emphasis to his contention that all of the people and the communities in the area had better work together if they hoped to accomplish much. Both Governor Hodges and Miles J. Smith, vice chairman of the C&D board and a director in the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, stressed the need for concerted action along all lines, particularly in the matter of getting the region's proper share of federal funds. Both speakers stressed the growing importance of the southeast as an industrial area demands more attention to flood control and water commerce.

Smith noted that while this state has more than 300 miles of coastline, large areas of inland water and many rivers, it was allotted only one million dollars out of a total appropriation of $420 million for rivers and harbors. "The need for a project in Wilmington and the lower Cape Fear. By way of contrast New Jersey gets $10 million for four projects. The inland state of Iowa also gets $10 million.

The Governor insisted that rivers and harbors improvement should not be considered as "pork barrel" legislation, and reminded that "Federal money belongs to you and me. Comparison of a few headlines and lead paragraphs in stories about Governor Hodges' news conference Thursday affords illustration of how reporters and editors put emphasis on different points—and how mistaken ideas may result from reading only one story of an event.

The Governor said several things. He told reporters that he had paid his filing fee in the primary for the Democratic nomination for a full term as Governor and would continue to stress need for higher per capita income. He said he had no further comment at this time on the segregation issue. He complained, but not very vigorously, that previous news stories had imputed to him statements about "voluntary segregation," when he had said

"voluntary separation." Several afternoon newspapers Thursday did not state the story front page, and put it on inside. Here's how some others played it: Burlington Times-News: "Hodges to Drive on Higher Income." In an 8-column streamer inch-high letters top of front page. Small single column sub-head reads "Governor reserves comment on plans to meet opposition." Concord Tribune: "Hodges' Candidacy is Official. He Will Wage Active Campaign." Two-line six column head in three-quarter inch letters top of front, with three-column sub-head "Governor's First Concern: To Raise the Income Level." Durham Sun: "Angry Governor to Clam Up on Schools Segregation, eight-column streamer top of front in half-inch letters. Smaller sub-heads say "Voluntary Idea Said 'Misused'" and "Raising of Income Seen as Main Plank for His Platform." High Point Enterprise: "Would Raise Income Level." In small type above a two-column front-page head in half inch-type "Governor Officially Files for Re-election." Greensboro News-Argus: "Hodges Files as Candidate for Governor," three lines in quarter inch type, single column, middle front page. Greensboro Record: "Governor Plans to Cut Short Discussion of Plans to Halt Integration," two column head in about one-third inch type, left front below two streamers about other subjects. BASIS—Headlines are written in newspaper offices, based on stories received from wire services and reporters, and more often than not the lead paragraph is featured in the headline.

The Public Forum

Dear Editor:

Edwina Haymes recently wrote an article on "A Forgotten Way of Living", in it she says "It seems that everybody's living so fast nowadays, trying to exist and keep up with the Joneses and the Yankees, that there's not much time anymore for neighbors to be neighborly, for long visits with friends or for big family gatherings." The South as it used to be, its leisurely days, its happy gatherings and its little, but important, courtesies, is nearly no more, and it's all the fault of the Southerners, who of course were pushed a little by the Yankees.

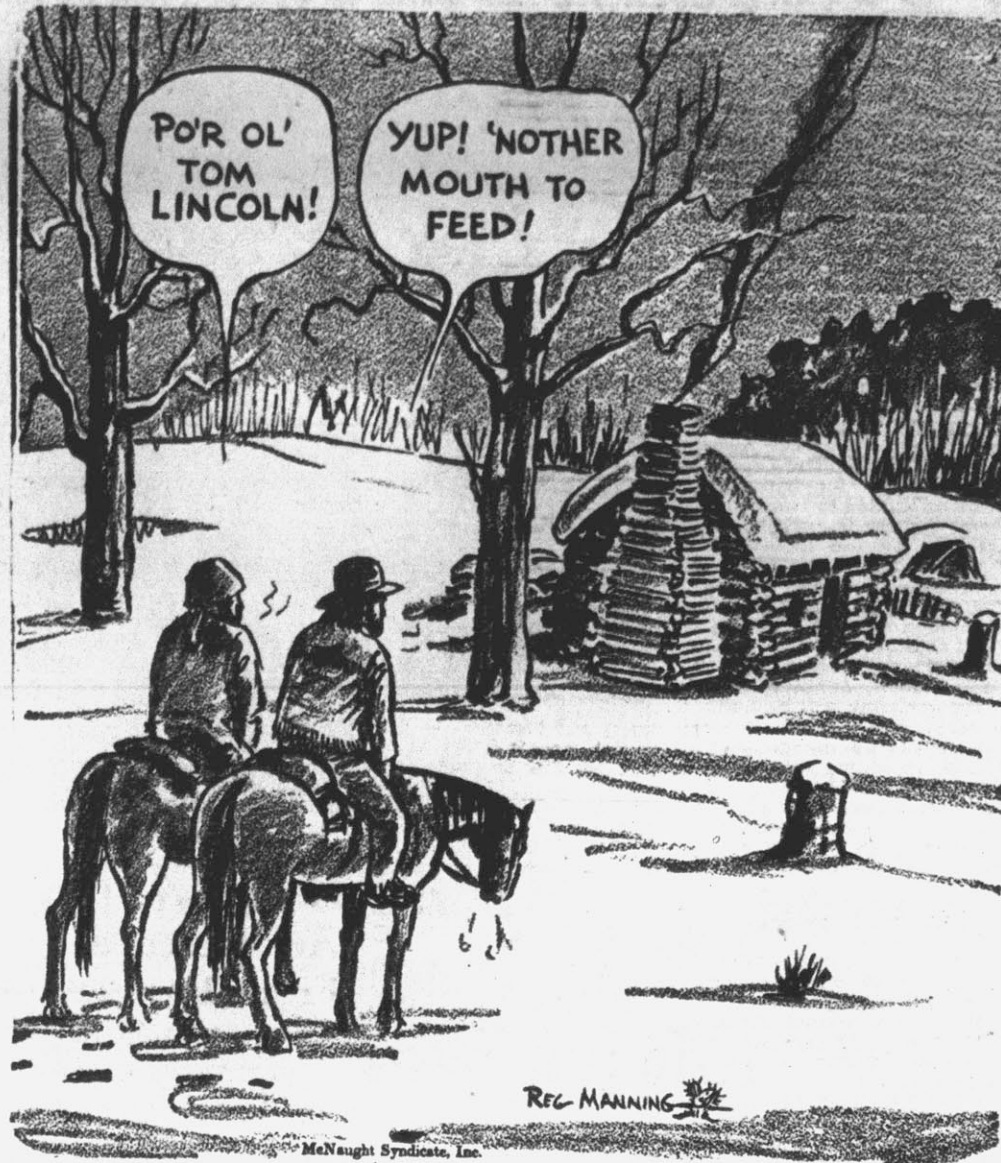

By way of comment may I ask your readers a question? Do you among the "Friends of Father Maurice" who honored him last evening? In July of 1935 an unknown priest came to Greenville. Though a Yankee, and Irish to boot, he found a fond place in the hearts and affections of people of all walks of life.

"Through his public activities for better recreation, his radio work, his secret charities to the poor, and his spiritual assistance to the troubled of heart, Father Maurice won an enviable position in 'Tobacco Town'."

For twenty years children, who are now grown up and have families of their own, referred to Father as their dear friend. Elderly folks some living, some resting in peace, accepted his message of Christian hope and fervent faith. To all he gave himself as his Model, Jesus Christ, did!

Last night's gathering manifested OH so clearly, that Southern hospitality is still very much alive and thriving! To ALL the friends of Father Maurice, especially the committee members, may I utter a word of sincere thanks. "YOU ALL" deserve God's blessing which I gratefully bestow. Always in Christ, Father Berchmans McHugh

His grandchildren listen to him in awe not only because of his ## Business Today . . .

Statistics Fail To Tell Story

By ELMER ROESSNER
Total department store sales in 1955 were 7 per cent higher than in 1954. The Federal Reserve Board reports.

The gain was less than the average increase in retail sales. The reason is simple. Department stores don't sell autos. It was the remarkable rise in auto sales that pushed the average so high.

The Federal Reserve figures show a great variation in increases by cities and metropolitan areas. They range from no increase in New York City to a gain of 19 per cent in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa. While the Federal Reserve figures are probably accurate, they can be misleading as precise measures of local conditions.

One reason New York did not show a gain is that one or two big department stores went out of business. Some of their customers went to other department stores; some transferred their trade to smaller shops. The amount of department-store type of goods sold in New York under the circumstances is probably about the same as in other cities. The increases just didn't get into Federal Reserve channels.

PITTSBURGH STRIKE DISTORTS DATA
One reason Pittsburgh showed the greatest gain is that a strike of teamsters made sales abnormally low in 1954. However, prosperity in the steel business is lively, and Pittsburgh department stores would have shown a sizable increase anyhow.

Despite the lack of precision in the Federal Reserve comparisons, they do have value as clues to where the golden touch of prosperity has been brightest.

The Atlanta and Cleveland districts showed the largest increases, 10 per cent. In the Atlanta District, the metropolitan areas of Knoxville, up 10 per cent, and Atlanta, up 11 per cent, showed the largest increases. Other areas were 8 per cent or less. In the Cleveland District, which includes Pittsburgh, the Springfield, O., metropolitan area showed a better-than-average gain of 11 per cent, and the Toledo area was up 8. Other areas were average or less.

TEXAS STILL BOOMING
Third in increases was the Dallas District, up 9 per cent, with 9 per cent gains in Dallas and Fort Worth areas and an 8 per cent rise in El Paso.

The Richmond, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco Districts all did better than the national average with 8 per cent rises. Metropolitan areas with the best showings, and percentage rises, include: Richmond, 9; Detroit, 12; St. Louis, 9; San Jose, 11; Salt Lake City, 10, and Tacoma, 10.

Other Districts and their increases in percentage: Kansas City 8; Philadelphia, 7; Boston, 4; Minneapolis, 4; and New York, 3.

For the first time in years there was no shopping area to show a decline, although Downtown Boston, Newark, N.J., and Downtown Los Angeles, as well as New York, showed no gains. However, suburban areas showed a gain of 5 per cent and the Greater New York area, which includes New York Newark and suburban areas showed a rise of 4 per cent. Therefore it seems certain that the zero scores were partly resulting from the flow of retail trade toward suburban branches.

DANISH HOUSEWIVES SPURN CHEESE NAMES
The Danes are having cheese troubles. For years Danish cheeses have been known by the names of comparable kinds produced elsewhere, such as Edam and Swiss. This lost export sales. Why buy Danish Swiss when you could get Swiss Swiss at the same price?

So with the Danes gave distinctive Danish names to their cheese, such as Samsøe and Danbo. But housewives still insist on using the old name. Now the government has launched a program to sway them.

tattle: Would you like to know what it is that meadowlarks and robins sing about so early in the morning?

Well, there is a way to find out—if you go for the superstitions. There was a belief in medieval times that anyone who ate the tongue of a white crow would understand the language of all birds.

There are two problems involved. (1) The crow population of America has been estimated to be as high as three billions (that seems awfully high) but the Audubon Society is reported to have observed fewer than 100 albinos in the last half century.

(2) There are even fewer cook books which contain recipes on how to dish up crow tongues palatably.

However, Joe Pellegrino, a Boston macaroni magnate, is now trying to popularize something he calls "non-skid spaghetti."

It tastes exactly like ordinary spaghetti, but the strands have been given a permanent wave and a plate of them looks pretty much as your wife does when she shows up at breakfast with her hair in curlers. The advantage: the spaghetti can easily be entwined around a fork.

Pellegrino got the idea from Italian fishermen, who enjoy a curled form of spaghetti. He first merchandised his product under the name of "Fusilli."

What's in a name? As soon as he changed the name to "non-skid spaghetti," sales jumped 100 per cent.

The present residential building boom, big as it is, isn't a record-breaker, in terms of the population involved.

The Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. points out that the 1,300,000 nonfarm dwelling units built in 1955 came to an average of 86 for each 1,000 families.

But back in 1925 the rate was 47 new units for each 1,000 families. There were 20 million nonfarm families in America in 1925. In 1955 there were about 36 1/2 million.

How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm? The evidence seems to be that in America at least only when the brakes are intended.

BEWARD OF INVESTING AFTER RETIREMENT

In closing this column, let me call to your attention two dangerous temptations which face all persons who retire.

(1) A man who has made a success in his regular business too often thinks he can make a success in any business. This is a great mistake. Therefore, such a man should never start a new business and, if possible, should avoid taking a position in any business very different from the one to which he has

Business Plans For Retiring

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—With all this talk today about President Eisenhower retiring from the Presidency I grasp the opportunity to discuss the general problem of retirement as applicable to officials and to wage earners of corporations.

Probably a compulsory retirement plan is wise for most business organizations; at least so far as it applies to the specific position which the man holds. This, however, should not necessarily mean that he would leave the employ of the company. The present custom of demoting active Presidents to inactive Chairmen of the Board might be applied to other officers and even foremen. There should be some happy medium between dropping an employee entirely and thereby losing the benefit of his years of experience, and continuing him with the business in some capacity.

Although age may not be a good yardstick, yet it is one measure of a person's energy. I forecast the time when accountants will insist that their annual audits show the age of all officers and important foremen, probably the age of the directors. Retirement, however, should be decided from many standpoints. Age is one definite factor.

CONSIDER CHARACTER OF WORK

Another important consideration is the character of work which an executive should do after he is sixty-five or seventy years of age. I seriously question whether it is advisable for such a man to be kept in a position requiring energy or important decisions. There are many other phases of work that he could do excellently, such as serving as employment manager, or in public relations. These are positions which require ability that can be secured only by experience.

Therefore, I appeal for the practice of changing a man's work after he reaches his retirement age, but not necessarily making him retire from the company. This especially applies to day when surgery and medicine have overcome many of the effects of age. The study of old age has already become a science, known as Gerontology. Two of the best authorities are Dwight S. Sargent, of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York City, and Prof. Ward C. Halstead of Chicago University.

Why should "compulsory retirement" require 100 per cent retirement? A man might go on half time after he reaches sixty-five or seventy. It seems wrong, from both the individual's and the company's standpoint, to make him retire altogether. It certainly should be possible to have one job continued by two men, both of whom would be acquainted with the work.

IMPORTANCE OF YOUTH
Perhaps too much consideration has been given to a "retirement age" and too little to a "promotion age." If a man is to be retired at a certain age, it seems only reasonable that he should have been promoted at a certain age. An old saying is: "It's a poor rule which does not work both ways." I consider that this suggestion is very important. Youth is very valuable to a business. We should learn to respect the suggestions of younger people.

The growth of most businesses is due to the influence of youth within the business. As people get older, their judgment is influenced by a natural increased conservatism and timidity. It is necessary that every automobile have brakes; but it is important that these brakes be adjusted so that they "wear" only when the brakes are intended.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOTGLASS
LIGHT SHINING FOREVER

There is an old man who, at the age of 92, is at the time these words are being written, lying upon what appears to be his deathbed. His memory for recent events has almost disappeared, but he remembers with utmost clarity things that occurred 75 or more years ago.

Among other things, he loves to tell how as a young man he walked five miles from the outskirts of Philadelphia to the center of the city to see a certain inventor, Thomas Edison, demonstrate an incandescent light which he had just invented and patented. His grandchildren listen to him in awe not only because of his

Post-Mortem On Closed-Over Issues

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON The versions of the recent Eisenhower-Eden discussions of world problems published in the two countries—the United States and Britain—were so divergent that they might have been reports of two different conferences. Political requirements of the American President and the British Prime Minister account for the contrast and contradictions.

After each session, Eden and his large staff of advisers briefed accompanying British newspapermen on the talks. At separate meetings, Secretary Dulles and his aides reported on results to American correspondents. Each statesman emphasized his achievements, and minimized his concessions to the other side.

There is nothing sinister or unusual about this seemingly lopsided procedure. It is customary at these international conferences, with each participant putting his best foot forward. Each was talking to a different audience.

There is a different audience. Eisenhower had to keep in mind next November's elections, especially on the China-Formosa and the Israeli-Arab problems Eden had to think of charges by both Labor and Conservatives that he was "weak and futile," and a great comedown from Winston Churchill, in standing up for British rights.

Here, then, is a post-mortem on the salient differences between them which were glossed over in the somewhat vague and ambiguous communiqué.

Far East: Eden believes that the U.S. will eventually recognize Red China, although he realizes that it cannot be accomplished until after the Presidential election. Meanwhile, through Prime Minister Nehru of India, he will try to persuade Mao Tse-tung to honor our demands on Korea and Formosa. The main objectives are a peace treaty in Korea, settlement of the Formosa question through negotiation and release of all American prisoners.

BRITISH EYES ON TRADE Eden claimed important concessions on relaxation of restrictions on trade with Communist China, including sale of Burma and Malaya rice and rubber. Through periodic reviews, he believes that the United Nations embargo will be lifted gradually to permit the sale of everything except war materials. British interests want this business.

Dulles says that we are adamant on non-recognition of Red China, unless she meets all our terms without haggling. He does not trust Nehru as an impartial negotiator. He maintains that the U.S. will oppose any general trading with Peking, merely permitting small and select shipments to strengthen Burma and Malaya against Communist inroads.

Britain will not support us in a war with China over the Matsu and Quemoy Islands, unless it is a U.N. action. A Russian veto can block any U.N. decision favorable to us. Ike, too, seeks to avoid a conflict on the offshore possessions.

ISRAELI-ARAB QUESTION Middle East: Eden wants establishment of an international police force along the Israeli-Arab border to prevent warlike clashes. He opposes military intervention because British troops would have to bear the brunt of fighting. He does not think that the West can afford to alienate the Arabs.

Dulles stressed the 1950 agreement under which the U.S., Britain and France guaranteed to preserve present boundaries. Although this does not satisfy the Israelis or pro-Zionist Americans, it implies American action, and the use of force if necessary. The Administration cannot afford to antagonize Jewish voters or contributors.

KEEN CONCERN OF U.S. German Reunification and Satellite Liberation: The official communiqué endorsed both objectives. But Ike's Christboth ways. I consider that this suggestion is very important. Youth is very valuable to a business. We should learn to respect the suggestions of younger people.

Ike, of course, had to remember the importance of the Polish German, Scandinavian and Jewish elements of the electorate. Suffering from no such political pressures in a formerly homogeneous England, Eden's attitude was one of "Don't rock the boat!"

Red China Plans Adopt Alphabet

LONDON (AP)—Communist China has decided to scrap the ancient Chinese character language of 250,000 ideographs—dating back thousands of years—for an easy-to-learn, English-style alphabet of 30 letters.

The Communists thus are embarking on a monumental gamble to modernize their nation and seize the minds of its 600 million people.

A simplified phonetic alphabet would help wipe out illiteracy, grease the grinding gears of Red indoctrination and simplify the education of technical experts needed to turn China into a modern industrial state.

Peiping radio announced the 30-letter alphabet had been introduced officially "for discussion and trial as a further step in the plan to change the Chinese written language."

It has all the letters of the English alphabet except "V" and five other letters "corresponding to sounds common in the Chinese spoken language."

The five added letters are mainly for sibilant Chinese pronunciations such as "zh" and "sh." Pronunciation of some consonants has been changed to accommodate the Chinese tongue. "r" has been added as a sixth vowel with a different pronunciation than the English.

AFL-CIO Strategists Decide Republicans Will Have An Edge

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO political strategists have decided that "the Republicans will have an edge" in the 1956 presidential race regardless of whether President Eisenhower decides to run again.

Some of their most appealing issues. The conclusion is reached that the decline in farm prices is "the most forceful" domestic issue left to the Democrats. "Although it is impossible to evaluate the presidential election until there is an announcement of Eisenhower's intention," the report says, "the Republicans will have a... in the race. "This will result from a shift in the party character to provide more appeal for city voters and from their control of communications."

for two reasons: "1. Further shorten the campaign time to give the greatest possible advantage to a blitz campaign into which large financial resources could be poured and in which the full advantage of the one-party press, radio and television could be mobilized. "2. Solidify the hold of the Eisenhower-Dewey wing on the Republican party by delaying the organization of the anti-Eisenhower forces around any single candidate."

Goldsboro Trio Are Rescued From Pasquotank

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP)—Three Goldsboro men have a trio of Elizabeth City fishermen to thank today for saving them from a possible watery death in the Pasquotank River.

The Goldsboro men, Jimmy Rhodes, 42; Clarence Hollowell, 43; and Raymond A. Mitchell, 45, were hospitalized here after an hour-long ordeal in the icy waters of the Pasquotank yesterday. Their boat overturned after striking what was believed to be a submerged fishing net and the men clung to their craft. Fortunately, their cries for help were heard by the only other fishermen in the area.

Irvin Nixon, J.D. Aydtlett and Lee Rathner, all of Elizabeth City, pulled the distressed fishermen aboard their own craft just in time. The Elizabeth City men said Mitchell was unconscious when they reached him, and Rhodes and Hollowell collapsed shortly after the rescue.

Psychiatry For Safer Highways

UNIVERSITY PARK Pa. (AP)—Psychiatric tests could do much to curtail America's traffic accidents, says Amos E. Neyhart, head of the Institute of Public Safety at Pennsylvania State University. Emotion, ally unstable people are bad traffic risks, he says. And bad attitudes are important factors in many crashes.

He says that psychiatric checks on stability and attitudes could be an important addition to driver training as a means of reducing accidents.

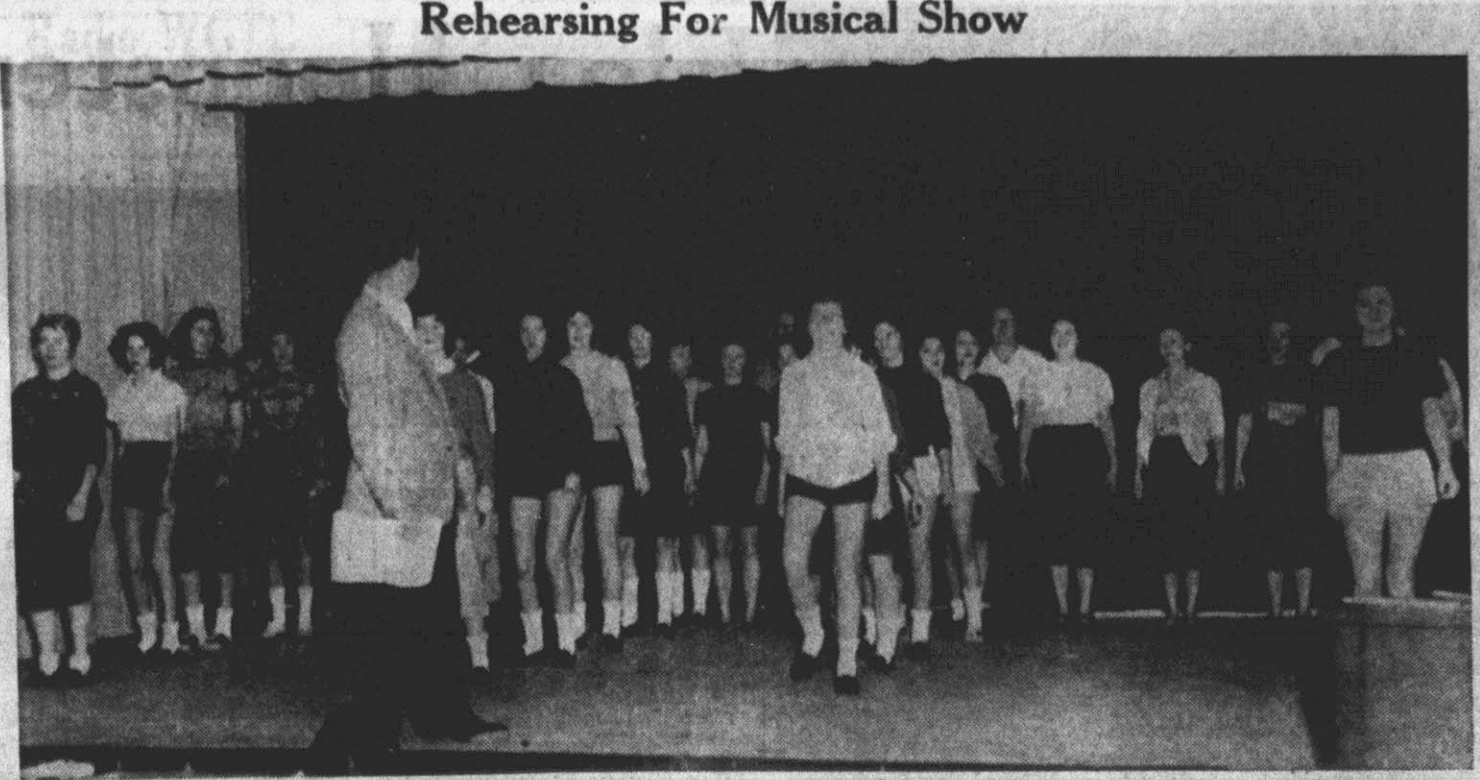

He is an expert on driver training, having conducted the first course in driver training here in 1934. He says a poorly trained driver is twice as likely to have accidents as is a well-trained driver.

The Lebanon Mountains in Syria extend for about 100 miles along the eastern shore of the Mediterranean Sea.

Story Changed In The Telling

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Over a sociable beer a customer asked bartender Virgin M. Washam if the place ever had been robbed. "Nope," Washam said.

"Well, this is it," said the customer, flashing a snub-nosed revolver. After taking $176 from the bartender, he strolled out past four other patrons and fled in a car.

The show is being presented by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce and proceeds will go to the Greenville High School activities bus fund. ### Cash Purchases Once Costlier

LEWISTOWN, Ill. (AP)—According to local racenator Perry Bailey, 85, buying for cash rather than credit used to cost more back in '30's. It's one of his favorite stories. Charles Griffith, wagon maker was confronted by the town's big gest deadbeat in 1890 with a request to fix a wheel. Griffith made the repair, and when the poor-credit risk asked the price, the tradesman replied "It's $2.75 if you pay cash, $2.50 to charge it."

Expert Mockery In Bird Family

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The mockingbird imitates other birds, so well that only electronic analysis can tell the difference, say two ornithologists at Ohio State University. And the mockingbird mimics an individual bird, not just the general pattern of another species' song, study indicates. The investigators, Profs. Donald J. Borror and Carl R. Reese, use an audiospectrograph to measure the rhythm, loudness and pitch of tape-recorded bird songs. Analyzing a mockingbird imitating a Carolina Wren, they found one pattern was virtually identical to that of a wren recorded nearby 10 days earlier.

Elon Hoopsters Slow ECC Pennant Rush

Christians Take 86-83 Victory

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

BURLINGTON—The largest home crowd in Elon College's history saw the Christians take East Carolina's title hopes here Saturday night by turning back the Pirates, 86-83.

An estimated 4,500 rabid basketball fans took in the game which was a thriller from start to finish and pitted the two top teams in the North State Conference here.

The victory kept alive Elon's regular season championship hopes and at least postponed an East Carolina clincher. Elon's mark is 12-3, ECC 12-2.

Both teams have three remaining games before the tournament which gets underway in Lexington in little over a week. Elon has two big assignments in ACC at Wilson and Lenoir Rhyne at Hickory this week. The Christians close out their schedule against Guilford in Burlington Saturday.

East Carolina entertains High Point in Greenville Tuesday night in the final home game of the season. The Bucs play Belmont Abbey in Gastonia Thursday night and round out their card against ACC in Rocky Mount on Saturday.

Elon's victory was revenge for the 105-69 shellacking it took in Greenville. But the triumph came hard with the outcome certain only in the final seconds.

However, East Carolina's cagers, fighting the home court advantage and the big partisan crowd, had to call on all their wits to stay in the game with the vengeance-bent Christians.

Fast Start

Elon catapulted ahead 24-19 on the accurate foul shooting of big Frank DeRita but Coach Howard Porter's court recovered nicely to gain a 28-28 tie with 10 minutes left in the half.

Nick Nichols and Harris did most of East Carolina's damage in the first half. Nichols, playing before many home folks, hit four straight baskets in the first 10 minutes to keep the race close. Harris hit from outside and made 10 free throws in the first stanza.

Nichols, however, cooled off after the break in the second half. Harris got rough for the Pirates. Capt. J. C. Thomas, who was held to one field goal in the first half, took up some of the slack with 15 points.

Tough Man

Meanwhile, DeRita was literally murdering the Bucs at the free throw line and under the boards. The 6-7 sophomore made seven field goals and 14 out of 15 from the charity line for 28 points, high for both teams.

But the New York boy wasn't the only Elon gun. Flashy Ben Kendall and Ray Whitley poured in a dozen points apiece and were everywhere intercepting passes and feeding DeRita and Ed Juratic, another of the Christians' big men.

Juratic, a muscular Yankee, contributed 11 markers and was the man who hurt the Bucs most under the boards. He gathered 15 rebounds, among them two or three very valuable ones when ECC was closing in near the finish.

The contest was tied a total of seven times. In the first half, ECC knotted the score at 30-30 on a basket by Harris but that was the last time until midway the second half.

Bucs Cut Lead

Nichols' two free throws gave East Carolina a 60-60 deadlock with 14:10 showing on the scoreboard clock. DeRita and Kendall got hot here, though, and ran the score up to 61-60.

Slowly the Bucs narrowed the margin again. Thomas cut it to three points at 71-69 and Nichols' one-hander a minute later to 73-75. The Bucs played Belmont Abbey in Gastonia Thursday night and round out their card against ACC in Rocky Mount on Saturday.

Lead Looked Safe

Kendall got away for two driving snowbirds and Earl Stone, a gawking sub, hooked for two points and Elon's advantage looked safe at 85-79 with 2:40 left.

Whitley's free throw made it 86 for Elon and Thomas banged in two free throws to make it 81 for the Bucs. Thomas also dropped a one-hander for the final 83 count but only seconds remained.

Harris was the Bucs' individual scoring leader with 26 points, 10 of those coming via the free throw route. Thomas wound up with 15 and Tim Smothers, who played well in relief, had eight.

Schedule Favors Wolfpack In Its Homestretch Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The schedule favors North Carolina State to break out in front in the homestretch of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race.

The Wolfpack, rated fourth best team in the land, has four remaining ACC games, all at home in Reynolds Coliseum at Raleigh. The games are against Duke, North Carolina and Wake Forest, now tied for the lead at 92, half a game ahead of State's 82, and Maryland, the team just below State at 55.

State, with its home court advantage is a good bet to bowl them over by the time the regular season ends next week. The Pack is almost unbeatable in its own den.

All eight teams play in the league tournament March 13, also in Reynolds Coliseum. The standings determine tournament pairings, the No. 1 team opening against No. 8, then 27, 36, and 45. The tournament determines the ACC champion. The champion qualifies for the NCAA playoffs.

After next week, the teams take a break until the tournament starts on Thursday of the following week.

The jam at the top of the standings will be broken in the next three days. All the first division teams, plus fifthplace Maryland will be in action.

Wake Forest warms up with a nonleague game against Richmond tonight, and plays at North Carolina on Wednesday. Duke is at North Carolina State tomorrow and Clemson is at Maryland. The rebound game against Richmond Saturday, 80-77, the first time since 1927 that a Duke team has lost to Wake Forest twice in one season. Duke No. 8 nationally lost to Wake Forest, 84-71, on Jan. 4. Duke's latest loss was the first in its home court in more than a year, breaking an 11-game home skein that started after a loss to North Carolina State in January, 1955.

Ronnie Shawlik's 34 rebounds—within two of the league record—and 27 points helped North Carolina State's Wolfpack cruise past South Carolina, 95-88. The rebound record is 36, made by Dick Hemrick of Wake Forest against Clemson last year. Grady Wallace hit 33 for South Carolina to take game scoring honors.

Lennie Rosenbluth scored 34 points to lead 12th-ranked North Carolina to an 83-71 victory over Virginia. Bob McCarty paced the Cavaliers with 21 points.

Maryland kept its Indian sign on George Washington, trouncing the Colonials 67-46 for a second time this season. Bob Kessler scored 25 points for Maryland. The Terrapins' restricted GW star Joe Holup to 16 points.

Preview Saturday For ECC Football Strength

Fans will get a sneak preview of East Carolina's 1956 football strength here this Saturday when the Pirates square off against Presbyterian College of Clinton, S.C.

The game, which will be a regulation affair and culminate winter drills for both teams, will begin at 2 p.m. Admission, according to Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, athletic director, is $1 and 50 cents. Children will be admitted free if accompanied by one of both parents.

Presbyterian has been holding off-season practice for four weeks now. Last year the Blue Hose won the Little Four Conference and have about the same team.

Best Team

Coach Jack Boone of the Pirates says Presbyterian has one of its best teams of the past few years. "While at the recent coaching clinic in Greensboro, all we heard was how strong Presbyterian should be in 1956."

Boone's own team has been working hard for the past several weeks. And although bad weather has hampered the workouts a lot, the Bucs are said to be in good shape.

Dick Cherry, a brilliant All-Conference quarterback, is in fine condition and will direct the team on the field. Gary Matlocks will share in the quarterback duties.

Local Boys

Boone said he expects to introduce some brilliant freshmen, among them two Greenville boys, Jim Speight and Bobby Conway. Both excelled on the frosh squad last fall but Boone held them out for eligibility reasons.

Tickets are on sale now at the athletic office. They will also be sold at the gate.

County Tourney Starts Thursday

The Pitt County Conference basketball tournament will get underway Thursday with first round games being played in Ayden, Farmville and Winterville.

The tournament will run through the following Wednesday, with the last five rounds to be played in the East Carolina College gym.

The final standings will be determined until Wednesday, with many teams finishing up Tuesday night.

However, on Thursday night boys and girls teams eight and nine will play in Winterville, three and six in Ayden, two and seven in Farmville and five and four in Ayden. Team No. 1 will play the winner of eight and nine.

Then on Saturday night girls teams No. 1 and 2 will play the winner of the eight and nine and boys teams four and five will play.

The Farmville girls have won the right to the No. 1 place in the girls division. The boys' bracket is led by Ayden but Bethel's team is still in the running.

Fay Crocker Is Miami Tourney Winner Again

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Fay Crocker won the Miami Beach Women's Open Golf Tournament for the second straight year over the weekend.

Patty Berg, the veteran St. Andrews, Ill., pro had to take second place, one stroke behind the smiling South American.

Miss Crocker, National Open champion who registers out of Miami, Uruguay, posted a 71-73-144 in the 36-hole tournament. Patty had 71-74-145. Men's par for the 6,657-yard Normandy Shores course is 36-36-72.

Ruth Jessen, a Seattle amateur, and Betty Dodd, a San Antonio pro, fired 71s for the best score in the final round and pulled into a tie for third at 148 with Cathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla.

Mickey Wright of San Diego and Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., tied for sixth at 149 and Betty Jameson of San Antonio was next at 150.

Amen Completes His Wake Forest Coaching Staff

WAKE FOREST, N.C. — New Head Football Coach Paul Amen has completed his staff at Wake Forest.

On Saturday he named as his fifth and last assistant James Lee Hietikko, 24, former Ohio State star and assistant coach at Lancaster, Ohio. High. He played pro ball briefly for the Cleveland Browns in 1953 but suffered an early season injury and went back to Ohio State to complete work for his degree.

Amen said Hietikko plans to do some scouting in the Columbus, Ohio, area before reporting here permanently around Feb. 22.

Other assistant coaches named by Amen since he recently succeeded Tom Rogers as head coach are: Billy Hitebrand, former line coach at Minnesota; Elmer Bebout, head coach at Durham High, North Carolina; Ken Wable, assistant coach at Massillon High, Ohio; and Gene Gibson, assistant coach at Latrobe High, Pennsylvania. One of the assistants will be designated freshman coach after spring training.

Middleweights In Stir Of Activity

By JACK HAND

Everybody wants to fight Sugar Ray Robinson. That's the only way to explain the lively activity in the middleweight division since Sugar Ray knocked off Bobo Olson to win back the title.

With a Robinson-Oson rematch set for Los Angeles April 20, the other 160-pounders are forming a long line. Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who was the last to beat Robinson, strengthened his bid last week by knocking out rugged Tony Baldoni. Another pack of middleweights is ready to face the cameras this week.

Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood and Ray Drake, a pair of 160-pounders from Brooklyn who don't figure in anybody's title plans at the present, top the card tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Du Mont will telecast.

Eduardo Lausse the left-hooking Argentine, definitely has ideas about a title match later in the year. He is unbeaten in his last 32 starts with only one draw—against Milo Savage on Jan. 6. Lausse meets Bob Boyd, a fast-improving Chicago contender, in the Wednesday show from Chicago.

Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, ran up a string of 29 consecutive victories until Gil Turner outpointed him at Brooklyn last April 4. Fullmer got even by beating Turner in a rematch at Salt Lake City June 20 and they've been talking about a "rubber" match ever since.

Originally scheduled for Jan. 20 at Syracuse, N.Y., the third Fullmer-Turner bout had to be put back because of Fullmer's illness. Now that he is fully recovered the big rematch has been set for Friday at Madison Square Garden.

Smith Tallies 41 Points As Grifton Gets Victory

Grimesland and Grifton split two Pitt County Conference games in Grifton Friday night. The host girls won the opener, 60-51, and the Grimesland boys won the nightcap, 52-48.

Pretty Dawn Smith, who's averaging about 35 points over the season, had another of her usual good nights by dumping 41 points. Stokes had 15 for the winners.

Pat Tucker and Jane Martin of Grimesland scored 21 points apiece but couldn't keep up with the tremendous effort of Smith.

Elks and Singleton collaborated to pace the Grimesland males to victory, with 16 and 15 points respectively. Mills had eight for Grimesland.

McLachorn's 10 points paced Grifton's five. Branch added 10.

The boxes:

Grimesland	G	Grifton	G
F-P. Tucker 21		Smith 41
F-Martin 21		Stokes 15
F-McRoy 7		Reaves 4
G-Mills 7		McCluer 3
G-Kite		Kooner
G-White		Vandford
Subs: Grimesland — Haddock, Carroway, Jenkins, Grifton—Mewborn, Coward.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — General Motors' experimental kerosene burning, turbine engine Firebird I will make its first speed test today over the measured mile on the beach here.

The racer, driven by Mauri Rose, three-times winner of the Indianapolis Speedway, went 95.23 miles an hour in practice runs yesterday opening NASCAR's seventh annual Speed Week.

Ted Krull Captures Tucson Open Prize

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. — Ted Krull has won a lot of golf tournaments in 18 years as a pro but he's never had a 72-hole score like the 264 that won the Tucson Open and $2,000 yesterday.

The New Yorker, now playing out of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., chopped 16 strokes off the El Rio course par-70 during four days of play.

He broke up a duel with Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, on the 17th green and went on to beat him by three strokes in the final round. Finsterwald, whose broad grin and exciting chip shots made him the gallery's pet, collected $1,400 for his second-place 267.

Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., matched Krull's 65 and finished with 268.

Krull turned to Finsterwald after he clinched victory with a birdie on the 18th and told him "You had me scared all the way."

They went out together in the last threesome with Finsterwald trailing by a stroke. He made that test today by sinking a 40-foot chip shot out of a ditch for a birdie. Krull took par-4.

Krull regained the lead with a birdie on the second. Finsterwald birdied even again by sinking a nine-foot putt for a birdie on the third. Krull went ahead again with a

VMI Champions Tounce Pirate Swimming Team

V.M.I., the Southern Conference swimming champions, tounced Coach Ray Martinez' East Carolina team here Saturday afternoon, 56 1/2-37 1/2.

The powerful Cadets swept the 300 yd. medley relay and 400 yd. freestyle relay, taking every position, and also captured four other events. Sporting depth in every event, they copped the 220 freestyle, 100 freestyle, 200 breaststroke, 440 freestyle. Pirate Jim Meads took first place in the 50 yd. dash to give the locals their first top honor, and Harold McKee followed in the 200 yd. individual medley, with another first. Diver Ken Midgette, a freshman on the East Carolina outfit, defeated Southern Conference diving champion Lamb to take possession of the diving crown.

Jack Koeberling, another Pirate newcomer, claimed a winning place in the 200 yd. breaststroke, beating another S.C. champion, E. Johnson. It marked the first time Johnson had ever been defeated in the breaststroke event.

Martinez stated after the battle that the Cadets were a powerful team and "just had too much depth for us. Our boys couldn't win out over their fresh ones in each event."

Thursday nights, at 8 o'clock, the Pirates travel to Chapel Hill to take part in the North Carolina Invitational Championship meets. They will be competing against Davidson, Duke, North Carolina, N.C. State for the State title.

21-Game Baseball Schedule For '56

The East Carolina College baseball team, 1955 champions of the North State Conference, has a 21-game schedule for this season. Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, athletic director, has announced.

Head Baseball Coach James B. Mallory has 21 games definitely slated and expects to play one or two exhibition games against the Class B Kingston team during the month of April.

The Bucs open against Springfield, Mass., at Camp Lejeune on March 22, and on two successive dates, March 23 and 24, the Bucs will play the Camp Lejeune Marines. Their home game for Coach Mallory's charges will be against the University of Delaware on March 27.

The remaining games on the schedule:

April 4, Montclair (N.J.) State Teachers College, doubleheader, here; April 6, Atlantic Christian College, on high school day, here; April 11, Atlantic Christian College, in Farmville; April 15, Atlantic Christian College, in Wilson; April 20 and 21, Western Carolina College, here; April 23, Atlantic Christian College, in Salisbury; April 27, Guilford College, here; April 28, Elon College, here; May 2, High Point College, here; May 5, Catawba College, here; May 10, Elon College, in Burlington; May 11 and 12, Appalachian College; May 14, High Point, in High Point; May 15, Guilford College, in Guilford College.

County Tourney Starts Thursday

The Pitt County Conference basketball tournament will get underway Thursday with first round games being played in Ayden, Farmville and Winterville.

The tournament will run through the following Wednesday, with the last five rounds to be played in the East Carolina College gym.

The final standings will be determined until Wednesday, with many teams finishing up Tuesday night.

However, on Thursday night boys and girls teams eight and nine will play in Winterville, three and six in Ayden, two and seven in Farmville and five and four in Ayden. Team No. 1 will play the winner of eight and nine.

Then on Saturday night girls teams No. 1 and 2 will play the winner of the eight and nine and boys teams four and five will play.

The Farmville girls have won the right to the No. 1 place in the girls division. The boys' bracket is led by Ayden but Bethel's team is still in the running.

Fay Crocker Is Miami Tourney Winner Again

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Fay Crocker won the Miami Beach Women's Open Golf Tournament for the second straight year over the weekend.

Patty Berg, the veteran St. Andrews, Ill., pro had to take second place, one stroke behind the smiling South American.

Miss Crocker, National Open champion who registers out of Miami, Uruguay, posted a 71-73-144 in the 36-hole tournament. Patty had 71-74-145. Men's par for the 6,657-yard Normandy Shores course is 36-36-72.

Ruth Jessen, a Seattle amateur, and Betty Dodd, a San Antonio pro, fired 71s for the best score in the final round and pulled into a tie for third at 148 with Cathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla.

Mickey Wright of San Diego and Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., tied for sixth at 149 and Betty Jameson of San Antonio was next at 150.

Adlai Opposes Race Issue Tied To Political Contest

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says the question of integration of races in the public schools should be taken out of the presidential contest.

He said in a statement yesterday he could think "of no greater disservice to our country than to exploit for political ends the tensions that have followed in the wake of the Supreme Court decision."

The candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination is touring the West. His next address will be at Seattle tomorrow night.

There had been reports from California that Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) was gaining Negro support there over Stevenson for the nomination. Negro spokesmen said they had been unable to get even "a mild statement" from Stevenson on civil rights.

Expressing surprise, Stevenson said his attitude "has not changed since I first had a part in integrating Negroes in the naval service 15 years ago."

Referring to the Supreme Court desegregation order, Stevenson said he agreed "we must proceed . . . with all reasonable speed. But we must recognize that it is reason alone that will determine our rate of continued progress."

More than half the 17 states allowing segregation have shown "heartening results" in integration, he said, but in "the five or six where public opinion does not yet sustain the court's decision, we are faced with one of the ultimate tests of democracy and of our federal system."

Earlier, in a Saturday press conference, he had spoken of this too

Theft Ring Took Orders For Loot

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP) — Officers quote an alleged member of a theft ring as saying the gang would take orders for merchandise and then go out and steal the stuff.

They said Saturday that the ring which operated in six counties in this area had been broken up with the arrest of six men.

They were booked as Tommy Evans, 38; Henry Hyatt, 23; Joe Terry, 42; and Vernon Haywood, 27, all of Laurinburg; and Charlie Callahan, 44, and Donald Hunt, 27, both of Maxton.

The Laurinburg men were charged with breaking and entering and larceny. The Maxton men were charged with receiving stolen goods.

Dep. George Smith of Scotland County said Hyatt signed a statement admitting the ring pulled thefts in Richmond, Scotland, Robeson, Moore, Hoke and Bladen counties in a two-month period.

Smith said about $3,000 worth of merchandise had been recovered, including typewriters, adding machines and guns.

Smith said warrants have been issued charging a seventh man, Jack Clark, with breaking and entering. He was still at large.

Bank Deposits Grow As Bank Mergers Continue

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation has one less bank in the billion dollar class today than a year ago. But the total of deposits entrusted to the surviving 17 are almost three billion dollars greater than that held by the 18 in that class at the start of 1955.

Part of the story is in the general good times that have raised bank deposits almost everywhere. But part of the story lies in the very reason that today there is one less bank with deposits of a billion dollars or more. And that is the banking tendency that Congress has been talking about in recent days: Bank mergers.

There were around 250 bank mergers in 1955. Both large and small ones were involved. In the previous four years, congressmen reported 594 commercial banks "disappeared" by merger or consolidation.

Expressing concern at this pronounced trend, the House Representatives has passed a bill prohibiting bank mergers through acquisition of assets if that creates a banking monopoly or tends to lessen competition substantially. Previously the law forbade mergers through stock acquisition under similar conditions.

Banks have their reasons for merging. One is that the laws limit the percentage of capital and surplus that can be lent to any individual. Mergers mean larger capital and surplus, and hence the chance to make larger loans to giant corporations. Mergers can bring an increase in branches, if consumer business is the bank's aim. Or mergers can secure top personnel.

Before the merger trend got going in 1955 the 18 banks in the billion dollar class had combined deposits totalling $48,445,000,000. By the start of 1956 there were only 17. But the combined deposits of the 17 totalled $51,371,000,000. This gain of $2,926,000,000 is a 6 per cent increase.

Some of the individual banks in the list report a 6 per cent gain in their own deposits last year without benefit of mergers. But two of the biggest achieved their larger status partly by the merger route.

The third largest, Chase National of New York, and the 15th largest, the Bank of the Manhattan Co., merged. The resulting Chase Manhattan Bank became the second largest in the nation. It edged out the National City Bank of New York, despite the latter's own merger with the First National of New York a member of the exclusive billion dollar group.

The wedded pair, now the First National City, is in No. 3 place—the spot formerly held by the Chase.

Of the billion dollar banks New York has eight, San Francisco and Chicago two each, while Los Angeles, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Boston and Cleveland boast one each. San Francisco's Bank of America is still the leader with deposits of $8,802,506,128. Chase Manhattan, second, has $6,789,358,288. First National City, third, has $6,308,783,237.

GEORGIA ADOPTS CONFEDERATE FLAG—The Georgia legislature has voted to adopt the battle flag of the Confederacy as the official flag of the state. Mrs. Wite Crunk, a state capitol stenographer, displays the new flag (top) which replaces the old colors (bottom) of red and white stripes. Only Gov. Griffin's signature was needed to make the swap official.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
"Most of the churches have long recognized the good work done by women, but men need to accept women as real partners and to give up the practice of running the world alone," says Miss Madeleine Barot, head of the World Council of Churches department on the cooperation of men and women in church and society.

The Children's Center in Hong Kong renders two new services—a night program for 60 teen-age girls employed in factories, and a children's program on the roof of a seven-story building in a city block which houses 2,400 people, five to a room, each room measuring 12½ by 9½ feet.

"Invariably responsible Christian men and women in India say that Christianity knows nothing of geographical or racial barriers," says Miss Lucile Colony, executive of the Woman's Division of Christian Service (Methodist) which maintains missions in India and Pakistan. "They say that in India this must continue to be made known through Christians from different lands working together. Meanwhile they ask for more missionaries. For instance, the Indian principal of a teachers' college wants two missionaries, one to teach art and the other to teach experimental psychology. An Indian surgeon, superintendent of a hospital, asks for a missionary laboratory technician. An evangelist asks for a supervisor of village schools. The list of needs could be multiplied, but this illustrates that every Indian Methodist conference expectantly requests the American church to send missionaries."

Patrolman Roger Spreck of the suburban Weston police said Michael Dwyer told him last night the fatal mishap took place Friday.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dwyer, had left the house Friday, with Michael in charge. They returned several hours later to find Michael gone and the child dead in her play pen.

Police yesterday found the boy wandering the streets in nearby Venice, Ill.

"Mother and Daddy left, and Mary cried and cried because she thought they were leaving her," Spreck quoted Michael as saying. "So I put my hand over her mouth to quiet her, and I held my hand over her mouth for two or three minutes. When I took it away she was limp."

An inquest will be held at Clayton today at which time it will be decided what to do with the boy.

Peterson Hinted CAB Chairman

OMAHA (AP)—The World-Herald today quoted a "high Republican source" as saying Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson "almost certainly" will be named chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The former Nebraska governor has been rumored as a possible nominee to replace Ross Ritzley, board chairman, who was nominated Friday by President Eisenhower to be a federal district judge in Oklahoma.

The World-Herald quoted Peterson as saying all he knew about the possibility of going to CAB was what he had read in the newspapers. He said, though, he had rejected several weeks ago a position outside the government that would have paid him considerably more than his present $17,000 salary. The CAB post pays $15,000.

The newspaper said there had been reports that the Motion Picture Owners of America had been negotiating with Peterson to become president of that organization and "there were indications these negotiations are still continuing."

Father Loses Race With Death

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A frantic father, his only child choking on a piece of candy, lost a 10-mile auto race against death today.

James Spicer of Mount Joy drove at speeds up to 95 m.p.h. with his daughter Jacqueline, 18 months, trying to reach a hospital for aid. Moments before he arrived at St. Joseph's Hospital here the child died.

Coroner J. M. Mustard said death was accidental, caused by a gum drop lodged in the child's throat. Spicer and his wife Mary had tried vainly to remove the candy earlier.

Czech-West German Border Is Dangerous

By TOM REEDY
WALDHAUS, West Germany (AP)—One mile east of here is one of the most dangerous frontiers in the world.

It is the Czech-West German border over which thousands of anti-Communists have fled to the West since 1948.

Czechoslovak guards have orders that are stark in their clarity. No one who attempts to cross here secretly is challenged. He is shot first, and then questions are asked.

At Pilsen one strikes the highway leading to West Germany. For about 45 miles, it is a pleasant ride through countryside and village. Then it leads through dark forest.

Two miles from the frontier there is no sign of life. Trees have been felled to create open space dangerous for any potential refugee. Along the road there are signs every fifty yards or so: "Do not halt. It is forbidden."

After a series of these, there is a temptation to drive just a little faster. A sentry tower looms up. A guard peers out. Stretched the width of the man-made meadows are five strands of wire from the ground to a height of about eight feet. Signs, with painted lightning bolts, indicate the fence is electrically charged.

In this two-mile stretch no one except a properly documented

Final Phases Of Library Planning

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Members of the Harry S. Truman Memorial Library Committee today began studying plans for final phases of the building's construction.

Former President Truman hopes the library at nearby Independence, Mo., will be ready for dedication in May 1957.

The committee also will discuss means of raising another $300,000 in addition to the building's estimated $1,700,000 cost. The additional money is needed for landscaping, furnishings and equipment.

Millions 'Discovering' Lawrence Welk Music

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—If someone has gone along for much of his life building—so to speak—a pretty good mousetrap, it's always pleasant to note the moment when the world begins beating a path to his door.

Take the case of Lawrence Welk, a calm and thoughtful 52-year-old accordion-playing bandleader who has been "discovered" the past few months by several million television viewers. The popularity rise of his Saturday evening hour of "Champagne Music" on ABC-TV is sensational—if not phenomenal.

Actually, as long as his bosses would leave him alone, Welk has been playing the same kind of music for years in ballrooms, theaters and one-night stands the length and breadth of the country. How many million viewers constitute a TV "discovery"? Whatever the number, Welk happily now has them.

"Champagne Music" is smooth and has the flavor of a little age, as befitting a vintage wine. Welk, whose favorite beverage is milk, can't give you the same kind of music for any more than a French vintner can explain the specific

Youth Tells How He Killed Sister

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police say a remorseful 14-year-old boy has related how he murdered his favorite in a family of four children.

Patrolman Roger Spreck of the suburban Weston police said Michael Dwyer told him last night the fatal mishap took place Friday.

you can't — even though the towns, cities and suburbs become more and more crowded.

The late Gen. George S. Patton, prophet and hero of American armored might, often got himself in hot water with his blunt opinions.

After the second World War he was among the first to declare there was no essential difference between fascism, nazism and communism. He thought them all bad. He said so.

While Patton will hardly go down in history as a military diplomat, he will be long renowned for the battlefield boldness that won him brilliant success.

He was a great showman, a great actor but above all a great soldier.

To Wendell Phillips, an Indianapolis News editor and National Guard leader, I am indebted for the following summary of Patton's chief precepts as given by his admirer and comrade, Gen. Jacob Devers:

"1. In yourself demand the impossible.
"2. Always risk. Nothing worthwhile can be achieved without risking something.
"3. Never listen to the advice of fear."
Patton practiced what he preached. He was human and himself knew fear, but he also knew the terrible corrosion of purpose that fear can bring. Bravery came as hard to him as it did to any other man. By demanding the impossible of his troops — as he did of himself — he gained whatever immortal glory there can come from combat.

Thieves Missed Five Dollar Bill

BOSTON (AP)—Thieves ransacked the safe and office of the Mutual Credit Union without finding so much as a dime.

When police discovered the break, lying in plain sight on a desk three feet from the safe was a five-dollar bill.

Walked Out With 500-Pound Safe

PARAMOUNT Calif. (AP)—Some one ambled into the Amble Inn over the weekend and ambled out with a 500-pound safe.

Proprietor John Blocker told police the safe contained $1,075 in cash and $1,000 in checks. The erring ambler jimmied the front door.

In 1897, Seattle was a bustling, booming gateway to the Klondike gold rush. Tim O'Beira, with the help of his good friend Michael Dark, a handsome young lawyer, persuades Meg Beaumont, his pretty, yellow-haired niece, not to go to Alaska in search of her husband, Kemp Beaumont. Kemp had deserted Meg and their small son, Johnny, for the gold fields of the frozen north. Michael finds Meg, Johnny and her black cat, Fessie, a place to stay at Matilda Cox's boarding house, where he lives. Tim thinks Meg should return to her father in Illinois, but Meg refuses, although she hasn't a job or money. Matilda tells Meg to stay, and asks Michael to help find her a job. Michael suggests a school-teaching job, but Meg says no. Meanwhile, at the boarding house, Meg meets plump Jenny Fleur, who has a small hat shop that isn't doing well because she is not a good saleswoman. Meg says she can design and sell hats, so Michael suggests they become partners.

CHAPTER SIX
Matilda broke the tension. "No harm in talking it over, is there, girls? What say we take a look at Meg's trunk?"

A half hour later, Meg ran down the upstairs hall to Matilda's store. In the still night, Michael's and Nathan's voices came clearly to her. She halted when she heard her own name.

"Mrs. Beaumont's a different kind of Alaska widow from Jenny Fleur," Nathan said in his dry, precise tones.

"Fleur in Alaska too?" Michael asked. "I never heard Jenny say, though I knew he took French leave."

"He started for there," Nathan answered. "Could be in Peking by now. Not a stable character, Frank Fleur. Jenny keeps on grieving, of course, but Beaumont better not stay away too long."

Meg, sitting up with anger, strained to hear Michael's reply. "You mean she wouldn't be waiting?"

Nathan didn't answer immediately. "I didn't mean she'd look for another man, I mean she'd learn to do without him."

Do without Kemp? Incredible! Yet Meg was unaccountably chilled. Did Nathan know her better than she knew herself? She felt invaded, yet she did not dislike Nathan because of it.

Michael said nothing. Presently Nathan spoke again. "Some men, some women are weighted down with their own faithfulness. Jenny Fleur's one. I don't imagine it's a comfortable way to be. Likely leave a body mighty empty at times."

Michael remained silent. Forget it, she stormed at herself. No use to court a headache with problems you can't solve. She wondered tardily at Michael's silence. Matilda had hinted vaguely about his involvement with a woman Matilda didn't like. The more she thought about it, the more convinced she became that Nathan's words about faithfulness had been aimed not at her but at Michael Dark himself. It was oddly comforting to her. Even Michael's assurance was not without flaw.

In the weeks that followed, Michael watched Meg with growing interest. He liked her and he sensed that she did not entirely approve of him. He was sure Matilda had told her he was set on making a fool of himself over the banker's wife.

If Meg were a man, Michael thought, she would be as successful as Jason Ten Eyck. His first impression of their similarity remained. He wondered if Jason shared his view. Certainly, since Meg had lived at Matilda's, Jason found time to drop in there with a new frequency. Although Nathan, his chief assistant, was the excuse, Michael doubted that he was the reason.

Meg and Jason were certainly alike in their positive manners, their barely concealed contempt for most of their acquaintances, yet Meg possessed an occasional warmth and kindness that Jason lacked. Michael noticed this most often with reference to Jenny Fleur.

Eavesdropping on one of their conversations had cemented this feeling. He had returned to the boardinghouse unexpectedly to pick up forgotten papers. Coming down the stairs, he saw Meg and Jenny in the dining room. They had formed a habit of working in the dining room until they went to bed.

"You shouldn't have fetched my coffee, Meg."

"Nonsense! I'm butterfingers with hats but my legs are sturdy." Jenny's thin face was flushed with concern. "You work too hard, Meg. In the two months we've been together, we've done wonders. Can't you let up a bit?"

"But it's fun not to let up!" Michael could not see Meg but he watched Jenny through the short slance.

"I—I guess we'll do pretty well now that Mr. Ten Eyck has agreed to let us sell hats once a week in his store."

"You just know we will! People come into his store that would never dream of looking into our little place. You make expensive hats, Jenny. I'll sell them to fat old dowagers if I have to stand on my head to do it!"

Jenny smiled but her worried expression did not change. "I—I couldn't sell the hats even if I did. Stand on my head, I mean. I—I'd miss you if you quit, Meg."

"I've not the slightest notion of quitting, honey."

"But—" Michael guessed what Jenny's persistence cost her by the twisting of her hands—"when your husband comes back from Alaska, maybe rich—"

There was a rush of skirts. Meg leaned over Jenny, her arms circling Jenny's shoulders.

"Bless your heart, honey, have you been stewing about my desertion? Listen." Meg's voice held the rare tenderness Michael had heard when she spoke to her child.

"We're partners. If Kemp comes home with tons of gold, we'll stay partners. We'll make money together. Our own money, Jenny."

Michael remained silent. Forget it, she stormed at herself. No use to court a headache with problems you can't solve. She wondered tardily at Michael's silence. Matilda had hinted vaguely about his involvement with a woman Matilda didn't like. The more she thought about it, the more convinced she became that Nathan's words about faithfulness had been aimed not at her but at Michael Dark himself. It was oddly comforting to her. ## Barthelmess In Hollywood Again

HOLLYWOOD —Richard Barthelmess is back in Hollywood looking as handsome as he did when he palpitated hearts as a star of the silent screen.

He is visiting old friends and looking after his real estate holdings, but he hinted he wouldn't be adverse to an acting return.

Barthelmess was one of the great stars of early films, appearing in several of the best D. W. Griffith movies and later at Warner Bros. His career extended well into the talkie period, but he became inactive in the middle '30s. He made a brief return in 1939, appearing in "Only Angels Have Wings" with Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Rita Hayworth.

Since then he has rarely been seen in the movie capital. Arriving for lunch at the Beverly Hills Hotel, Barthelmess looked amazingly young for his 58 years. His sleek hair is still jet black and his face has few lines. How has he managed to remain so youthful?

"I don't really know," he replied. "I might say that it was because I led an active life when I was in pictures. I had a yacht and was always swimming, playing tennis or doing other sports. But a lot of actor friends of mine did the same and they seem to have aged with the years."

His best pictures: "Broken Blossoms," "Way Down East," "Tollable David," "Patent Leather Kid" among the silents; "Dawn Patrol" of the talkies.

He left Hollywood in 1941 for four years in the Navy and since has lived in the East.

Since the war he has looked after his investments and raised potatoes on his estate on Long Island. He has since sold the place to Henry Ford, but rents a home nearby as well as an apartment in New York. His wife is an interior decorator there.

81-Year-Old Is Granted Divorce

ST. LOUIS — Circuit Judge L. D. Jones has granted Mrs. Mary S. Garrett a divorce from Donald Garrett, ending six years of marriage.

Mrs. Garrett didn't ask for alimony and charged general indignities, which included non-support, use of obscene language and, she testified, Garrett was jealous—without cause.

The divorce took place on Mrs. Garrett's birthday—her 81st. Garrett is 37.

He filed no answer.

Average Age of Veterans Is 38

WASHINGTON — The Veterans Administration has reported that the average age of more than 22 million living veterans now is 38.6 years.

The veterans ranged in age from Albert Woolson, who celebrates his 109th birthday tomorrow, down to a few under 18.

Woolson, lone Union Army veteran of the Civil War, lives at Duluth, Minn. He was a drummer in the Nashville campaign.

The youngest veterans — 34,000 under 20 years of age—served in the Korean conflict.

Only 4,000 veterans over 85 years of age were listed by the VA as of Dec. 31 but there were 19,000 between 80 and 85.

The largest group in the five-year age brackets by which the VA lists veterans was 5,185,000 between the ages of 30 through 34. The next largest was 4,081,000 in the 35-39 group. Most in both age levels served in World War II.

Camera News

"SUNDAY MORNING". The sun streaming in on daughter Barbara presents extreme contrasts. The meter was read from the shadow side by incident light. The exposure was 1-25th at f 5.6 with Tri-X film and normal development.

AP Newsfeatures

By IRVING DESFOR
"IF YOU CAN SEE IT . . . You can photograph it!" might well be the motto for the newest vogue in "available light," "existing light" or "natural light" photography. The advent of new fast film in the past year and special developers have opened to a vast number of camera fans a new field of indoor photography which, till now, has been open only to professionals and experimenters.

Undoubtedly, it is a thrill to many a fan, brought up in the knowledge that pictures were made only under sunlight or by flash indoors, to see recognizable images mapped in his living room without extra illumination. However, there's one disadvantage that is soon evident. . . the uncertain quality, or quantity, of indoor light. Flash and photo-floods are known quantities; a certain size lamp gives so much light at a certain distance. The natural light, however, of a kitchen is likely to differ from that of a living room or a youngster's bedroom due to the usual differences in sizes and color schemes of walls and furniture. These are likely to differ also from the natural light found in an office, a convention hall, museum, zoo, subway or a theater.

It is safe to predict, then, that a boom in electronic light meters is likely, to go with the boom in available light photography. As the best convenient device for measuring light quickly and accurately, it should become a handy and necessary gadget for more and more camera fans in the future.

Soon after an average camera fan discovers he should have an electronic gadget, he must make another decision. Should it be for reflected light or for incident light? Reflected light is usually read from the camera position; incident light is generally read from the subject's position.

A good many meters do a dual job but it would probably be simpler for the beginner to start with reflected light meter readings. The main point is to have a consistent measure for the various sources of light and thereby get a consistent set of exposure readings on any one roll of film.

When you're taking a meter reading, you may point it at a highlight area or you may point it at a higher reading than the other. Beginners are advised, in this case, to take the shadow reading in order to get some detail in the dark areas. Then by using a soft working developer such as D-23, the highlights will not be blocked up and come out chalk white.

(D-23 is a mix-it-yourself developer with only two chemicals and water: 1 oz. of elon or metol and 12 oz. of sodium sulfite dissolved to make a gallon.)

On some special occasions, some avid camera bugs have been known to resort to drastic measures to make sure that the available light would be good enough for easier picture taking. They place reflector floodlamps in some of the fixtures at strategic places and aim the lights at the ceiling to get a higher level of illumination. This idea might come in handy at a party or family gathering but make sure that the light socket can take the prolonged extra heat generated by these floodlamps.

Some photographers in shooting pictures by available light tend to overexpose and overdevelop "to be on the safe side". With fast film, this is far worse than underexposure, according to one leading commercial processor. It is noticeably apparent in excessive graininess throughout the prints and the highlights are so choked up they can hardly be printed.

The more usual practise, these days, is to push film speeds way beyond their normal ratings four or five times and then to force de-

Developing in order to get an image that will print.

One of the favored high speed developers where contrast is desired because of weak light, is D-76P. It is prepared by the addition of an extra two ounces of borax to the packaged D-76 in the gallon size. This adds the dynamite to the formula and works its magic in about 12 minutes at 70 degrees.

As is to be expected, the subject has been very well covered in a couple of new paper bound books, "A Guide to Available Light Photography" by Sid Latham is published by Greenberg, N.Y. The author was a former news photographer who switched to foreign assignments for various magazines.

Then there's "Available Light" published by Universal Photo Books, N.Y. Kinzer is an associate editor of Popular Photography magazine who has been taking his own pictures for a good many years.

Whale Heartbeat Is Still A Secret

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Pacific gray whales' heart secrets are still their own today despite three tries by Dr. Paul Dudley White, President Eisenhower's heart consultant, to get a gray whale electro-cardiogram.

However, Dr. White said last night that he got information on methods that may insure success next time.

The Boston specialist and his expedition, sponsored by the National Geographic Society, invaded a favorite calving lagoon of the whales on the coast of Lower California, Mexico.

They hit one big whale with a harpoon, to which an electrode was attached. It hardly got into the blubber. Another harpoon glanced off. The electrode would have carried the heart record by wire to a water-sled telemeter.

White's previous attempts were in 1953 and 1954. He said before leaving by plane for San Francisco and Washington that no time has been set for the next try.

He says the slow heart action of the big sea mammals, averaging 30 tons each, may reveal information of value in studying human hearts.

Four Bathless Days For Town

RODESSA, La. (AP)—All eyes were on the town water tank today as the 400 citizens of this northwest Louisiana town hoped for an end to four bathless, shaveless, waterless days.

Repairs began on the leaky water tank Thursday. Drinking water has been hauled from nearby farms and a gas refinery, but the lack of cooking and washing water closed down the drugstore, barber shop and local cafes.

Workmen hope to have repairs completed by late tonight or early tomorrow.

Sunspots are scheduled for an 11-year peak in 1957-58, says the National Geographic Society.

Two Experts To Study Big Issues At Westinghouse

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Two labor experts, appointed as a fact-finding board by Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania today prepared to study the disputed issues in the 120-day old Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike.

Leader, backed by the governors of four other states affected by the strike, named the labor-management experts to the board yesterday just two days after the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service quit the negotiations.

The strike has shut down 30 Westinghouse plants and idled about 55,000 workers in two unions—44,000 in the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and 10,500 in the independent United Electrical Workers (UE).

The IUE said in Pittsburgh it "accepts" the fact-finding program. Westinghouse said it wants to examine details of Leader's plan before replying.

Named to the board were: Dr. George W. Taylor, Philadelphia, chairman of the War Labor Board during World War II and now a professor of industrial relations at the University of Pennsylvania. During the Korean War he served as chairman of the National Wage Stabilization Board.

David L. Cole, Paterson, N.J., attorney, former director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and ex-chairman of the New Jersey State Board of Mediation. He is presently an arbiter of jurisdictional disputes for the AFL-CIO.

Backing up Leader in the action are Governors Averell Harriman of New York, Robert Meyer of Connecticut and William C. Marland of West Virginia. All, including Leader, are Democrats.

Leader said the board's purpose will be:

1. To investigate the facts of the dispute which erupted into a strike Oct. 17 for IUE members and eight days later spread to the UE.

2. To determine the unresolved issues of the strike "that are responsible for this long-drawn-out dispute and present them to the general public, to labor, to management, and to myself and the other governors whose states are involved and who are cooperating in this action."

Both unions went on strike to back up demands for a 15-cent hourly pay boost for workers who previously averaged $2.10 an hour. Other issues in dispute are length of contract and company time studies.

Meteor Crosses California Sky

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A bluish white meteor with a brilliant orange tail flashed across the California sky and was seen from points more than 600 miles apart early yesterday.

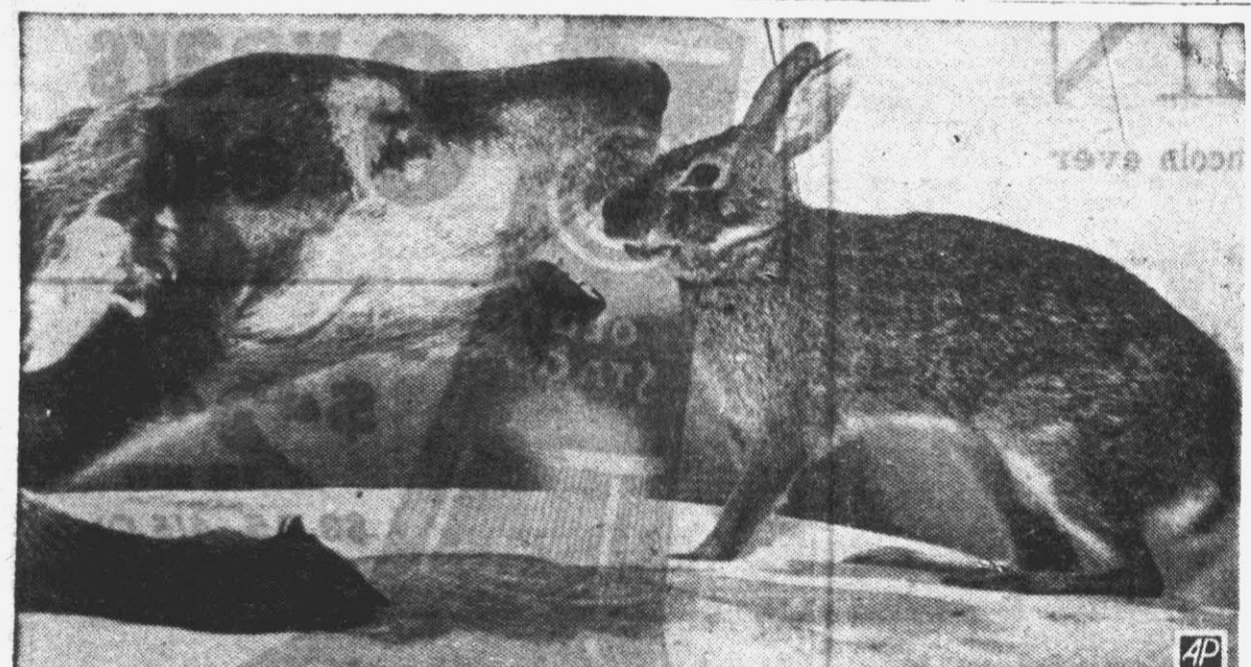

Observers as far north as Santa Clara 400 miles from here, and south to El Centro, 175 miles southeast, and east to Winslow, Ariz., reported sightings shortly after 1 a.m. Witnesses reported seeing it for 10 to 30 seconds.

A sentry at Camp Irwin, the Army's huge armored equipment maneuvering base on the Mojave Desert, said blazing objects appeared to fall nearby. Another soldier on the same reservation said he saw the same apparent breakup of the meteor.

Two witnesses in the towns of Barstow and Daguerre, near the camp, said they heard deep booming sounds after the flash.

A TWA pilot, Capt. Robert C. Downing of Malibu, Calif., flying over Winslow, said the meteor "looked like it was coming right under us. It made us duck and pull up the airplane a little."

PAINLESS FRACTURE
BLAND, Va. (AP)—John Richards walked into his house here from work fell on his wife's freshly waxed floor and broke his leg. He'll be back at work tomorrow, though, at State Road Camp 31 where he is a guard. The leg he broke was his wooden one.

WHAT BIG TONNELLS YOU HAVE SHAGGY!—Nobody has ever explained to Bunny, the cottontail rabbit pet of the Charles Graham family at Dallas, Tex., that rabbits are supposed to elude, evade and eschew dogs—not fraternize with them and bully them. Bunny stands his ground as Shaggy, the family Airdale, looks like he's going to swallow the rabbit whole. But it's all in fun. Mrs. Graham says Bunny and Shaggy play this way all day long, with the rabbit sometimes ripping the dog when he gets too rough. Bunny was found as a baby and has been raised as a member of the family. (AP Wirephoto).

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—Listless trading and narrowly mixed prices prevailed in early afternoon in the stock market today.

Fluctuations ranged from fractions to around a point either way. The drift, if anything, seemed to be slightly toward the downside.

While most major divisions were irregular, rails, oils and metal mining stocks were pretty generally off.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 174 with the industrials unchanged, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Volume for the day was estimated at around 1,700,000 shares compared with 1,770,000 Friday which was the slimmest volume since last Nov. 2.

Port Motor stock improved slightly in the over-the-counter market at 61 bid 61 1/2 asked.

Fairbanks-Morse and Baltimore & Ohio, among the more widely moving stocks, were both off around a point while Johns-Manville was up about the same.

The fact that many financial institutions were closed because of the Lincoln's Birthday holiday put a dampening effect on trading. On top of this, there were few outstanding pieces of news to stimulate market action.

Bethlehem Steel was up a shade but both U. S. Steel and Republic Steel were off fractionally.

General Motors and Chrysler were about unchanged while Studebaker-Packard was down a bit.

Goodyear, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber drifted off.

Both Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Texas Co. slipped to the downside. Airline issues were mostly off as were industrials. Dittler Corp. and Hiram Walker were up.

Bloxam Starts Out With Quiet Day In New Post

No major problems arose for Greenville's new city manager at the start of his first full day on the job.

Leonard P. Bloxam, who Saturday was employed by the Council as Greenville's second city manager, said this morning that city government affairs requiring attention today had been "routine."

Bloxam, who has been utilities superintendent locally for the past 18 months, will continue in that capacity in addition to his duties as city manager.

This morning Bloxam spent some time in conference with Mayor W. L. Whedbee and, as on other days, attended to the usual utilities business.

Tomorrow and perhaps all week the new city manager will be required to spend considerable time in New Bern where the State Utilities Commission is conducting hearings on a Vanceboro request that Carolina Power and Light Co. be ordered to serve that area. The section is presently served by Greenville Utilities.

Bloxam this morning reiterated his desire to go slow in making wholesale changes in the operation of the city government.

"I feel that the operation of the city during the past city manager's administration was very excellent," Bloxam declared, "as to changes or recommendations for changes I just don't feel in position to commit myself until I analyze the situation and find out where we are."

"I'm just slow and easy going and I don't believe in wading in in a hurry. After all, you've got the people to consider first and the welfare of the people. When you make an analysis of something you've got to be sure any changes are for their good."

The employment of Bloxam was unanimously approved by the City Council at a special meeting Saturday morning.

The council's action was unprecedented in the city's history. In addition to serving as the city's second manager, Bloxam will be the first man in local history to hold both the top appointive post in the city government and in the Utilities Commission at the same time.

Surprise Party Salutes 20 Years Here, And Birthday

Father Maurice Tew, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church, is shown above as he cuts the birthday cake at a party given by friends of the priest. The party was in observance of Father Maurice's 20th anniversary in Greenville and his 55th birthday. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor).

By CHESTER WALSH

Several hundred Greenville citizens representing all religious denominations assembled at the Moose Temple Sunday afternoon for a surprise birthday party for Rev. Father Maurice Tew, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church.

The tribute to the popular Irish priest by Protestants, Catholics and Jews was for his 55th birthday and the 20th anniversary of his coming to Greenville to establish the mission church for Negroes on West Fifth street. El Bloom was master of ceremonies.

Those who paid tribute to Fr. Maurice and praised his community spirit and work were Dr. H. Glenn Harty, Christian minister; Rev. Leonard Toppling, Presbyterian minister; Rt. Rev. Thomas Wright, Episcopal bishop of the East Carolina Diocese, and Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell, Baptist minister and head of the Union Station WNCN; Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, and Mayor Charles H. Whedbee. Judge Charles H. Whedbee introduced Bishop Wright, who declared, "I believe Fr. Maurice is only Episcopal bishop who ever participated in St. Patrick's day parade in New York."

Finance Chairman Bancroft Moseley, for Fr. Maurice's Birthday Party Committee and his Greenville friends, gave him a silver cigarette box as a "token of love and esteem" and a substantial check. The priest received numerous gifts.

Fr. Maurice knew nothing of the party until he entered the Moose Temple and faced a long receiving line and a large crowd of friends singing "Happy Birthday." Four priests accompanied him. Fr. Daniel of Washington, Fr. Joachim Benson of Farmville, and Fr. Julian and Fr. Gerald of New Bern.

George Perry of East Carolina College music department, directed a musical program by college students. Miss Joan Sparks sang "The Waltz Song" from "Romeo and Juliet," by Gounod, accompanied by Miss Margaret Griffin. Richard Tomlinson played a piano solo "Consolation No. 3" by Liszt. Miss June Crews sang "Face, Face, Mio Dio," by Verdi, accompanied by Miss Martha Pond, and Mr. Perry played the "First Movement in the Moonlight Sonata," by Beethoven.

Mrs. Lena Tyson decorated the auditorium. Refreshments were served during the two-hour fellowship period.

The plan to give a public birthday party for Father Maurice originated sometime ago when a group of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish men and women recalled his good work here during World War II and his extensive charity. James S. Ficklen Jr. was elected chairman; Mrs. Dall Laughinghouse, invitation chairman; Bancroft Moseley, finance chairman; Judge Charles H. Whedbee, entertainment chairman; El Bloom, master of ceremonies; Joe Hatem, decorations and Mrs. Lindsay Savage, refreshments, and Moose Temple Manager J. D. Smith.

Charters Given 3 Scout Groups

Three scout groups sponsored by Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church were presented charters at services held there yesterday.

Wyatt Brown, Institutional Representative for the Church, presented the charters to Bill Drum, scoutmaster of Troop 30; Charles Cobb, packmaster of Cub Pack 330 and Ralph Garrett, Jr. and Donald Rose, advisors of Explorer Post 30.

Brown, who made the presentations at the request of Rev. W.M. Howard, pastor, briefly cited the outstanding work done by scouts and called attention also to the interrelationship of scouting with youth movements in the church.

Numerous scouts representing their respective organizations attended the service.

Long, Long Line To Get License

If you haven't gotten your 1956 license plates by now, one thing is certain—you'll have to stand in line to do so.

Employees at Home and Auto Supply, Greenville's only outlet for the plates, said this morning that long lines are anticipated during the next three days.

Motor vehicle owners must have their 1956 tags displayed by midnight Wednesday if they expect to drive legally.

Wednesday is the deadline too, for Greenville citizens to purchase their city tags from the city clerk's office.

Some 3253 city tags have been sold, clerk H.H. Duncan said this morning.

Figures on the state tags show sales of 9,251 licenses for cars at Home and Auto and another 1,347 sales for trucks.

Last year, when sales ran for about nine weeks, sales here for cars and trucks totalled over 13,000. This year however, sales run only from January 1 through February 15.

Reveals Actress Is Secretly Wed

HOLLYWOOD—Movie actress Terry Moore was married secretly last New Year's Day in Las Vegas Nev., to Eugene C. McGrath, Panama City, Panama, insurance broker, and they are now honeymooning in Caracas, Venezuela, her mother said last night.

The mother, Mrs. Lamar W. Koford, said the marriage was kept secret because "he isn't used to this Hollywood publicity."

Miss Moore, 26, signed her real name Helen Luella Koford, in obtaining the marriage license. McGrath is 33. Mrs. Koford said the marriage was performed by Las Vegas Judge A. S. Henderson at his home.

It is the second marriage for each. Miss Moore divorced Glenn Davis, former West Point All-America football player, in Los Angeles in April 1952.

Terry's mother said McGrath was here on a business trip about three months ago. A friend of his, actor John Wayne, introduced him to Terry and her mother.

Driver Cited In Auto Collision

A two-car collision on S. Dickinson Avenue last night resulted in an estimated $800 property damage.

Police officers of the city, who were Edgar Bruce Langley, 31, of Falkland, and Leslie Thomas Everett, Jr., 16, of Hooker Road.

Debra Ann Langley, four, a passenger in her father's car, suffered a bruised right hand.

Police cited Everett for reckless driving.

Commercial Corn Counties In N. C. Increase By Four

RALEIGH—The number of commercial corn counties in North Carolina has been increased by four this year and totals 27. Acreage has been cut.

The amended list was made yesterday by H. D. Godfrey, administrative office for the State ASC Committee.

North Carolina's allotment in the commercial corn counties for 1956 has been set at 58,604 acres. The allotment for the 23 counties last year was 890,177 acres.

Godfrey said the allotment represents the state's share of the national allotment of 43,280,543 acres.

Counties added to the commercial corn area were Wake, Bertie, Northampton and Washington.

Price supports have not been announced for this year. Commercial corn counties last year had a support price amounting to $1.74 per bushel at 87 per cent of parity. Support in noncommercial counties amounted to $1.30 per bushel. In noncommercial areas there are no corn acreage allotments and the lower support rate is still available in those counties.

Snorting Steers End Sunday Quiet

PHOENIX, Ariz.—The Sunday afternoon calm of downtown Phoenix was shattered by the snorting of Brahma steers as police took potshots at a pack of the beasts who broke out of their feed pen.

Four were cornered after about an hour the other four were killed.

One steer charged through the baggage room at union station, sending redcaps and tourists scattering from his path.

Police needed 33 bullets to kill one, 16 for another and 14 for a third. Police Sgt. Melvin Well fired 10 shots at one beast; Well said later:

"He just shook his head and kept coming. I jumped in my car."

Four more shots from a high-powered rifle brought him down.

Dog Too Mutilated For Rabies Check

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Two men were advised to start antirabies shots immediately, but they may never know whether the dog that bit them was diseased.

A rabies test was made impossible after the black chow's head was destroyed in killing it. One man mutilated the head with a shotgun blast after another had hit the dog with a car.

The head must be preserved before an animal can be tested for rabies.

Frank Vardon said he deliberately ran his car over the dog shortly after it had bitten G. D. Schwartz and Uriah Sutton. He said it was headed toward two children.
