IT'S VALENTINE DAY—And Margaret Moyer, Greenville High School student, seems disappointed as Mike Riddick, a fellow student, presents her with a paper Valentine he made all by himself, for many of the other girls had received pretty boxes of candy. Mike just laughs at her chagrin, for hidden behind him is a fancy box of Valentine bon bons just for Margaret. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haynes).

Krushchev Outlines 5-Point Foreign Policy For Russia

Western Amity Set Soviet Goal

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev today laid down a five-point foreign policy for the Soviet Union in which improvement of relations with the United States, Britain and France was a key point. He told cheering delegates at the 20th Congress of the Communist party in the Kremlin "there are only two roads — peaceful coexistence or war."

United States. We propose a treaty which can be useful for both countries. There are only two roads, peaceful coexistence or war. Although first reports of his address indicate a mild approach he could work up to a slam bang attack on the West before he wound up the usual lengthy address. The official release of the speech probably will come much later. Khrushchev opened the meeting by calling on delegates to stand in tribute to Communist leaders who had died since the last party Congress. He linked the names of Stalin, Klement Gottwald, and Kiyuchi Tokuda, former first secretary of the Japanese Communist party who died in exile in Communist China in October, 1953.

Runaway Weather Balloon Radioing Data From Siberia

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. Navy said today one of its weather balloons launched from Japan for the United States was sending radio data today from over Soviet Siberia. The Navy said "wild and unpredictable" winds over the Aleutian Islands Monday night reversed the balloon's course and sent it over Soviet territory. It was moving at 100 m.p.h. Navy experts were tracking it by its automatic radio transmissions. The Russians have protested vigorously in recent days about American weather balloons over their territory. These balloons had been launched from Europe and the U.S. Air Force suspended launchings of weather balloons from Europe. But since all balloons sent up from Japan had previously been borne eastward—the prevailing direction of the upper-level jet stream—the program was continued from Japan. The balloon today was the first of 12 launched from Japan to go over the Aleutians. The Navy reported the big plastic gas bag—40 feet in diameter—was 30,000 feet above Siberia. Lt. Cmdr. M. Lee Lewis, in charge of the weather balloon program at Oppama, near Tokyo, said the runaway's radio was transmitting "valuable" weather information, but "not what we wanted."

Investigating $2,500 Campaign Gift Incident Grand Jury Begins Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury embarks today on an investigation of a $2,500 campaign donation rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) during Senate debate on the natural gas bill. The grand jury summoned before it John M. Neff, Lexington, Neb., and Elmer Patman, Austin, Tex., both of whom testified before an special Senate committee which went up public hearings on the incident yesterday. Neff and Patman are lawyers for the Superior Oil Co. of California. The Senate committee was told that Superior's president, Howard B. Keck, furnished the $2,500 contribution to Case's campaign. Neff and Patman, who forwarded the money to him, swore that no conditions were attached. Both said, however, they would not have been retained in connection with the case if they had known he was going to vote against the bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. The bill is now before President Eisenhower, who discussed it with his Cabinet yesterday but reached no decision. Keck and Patman testified the $2,500 came from Keck's personal funds and was not offered in an attempt to influence Case's vote. Case has said he was originally inclined to favor the bill but changed his mind because it appeared to him that someone thought big profits for oil companies would result if the bill became law. Neff and Patman remained under subpoena to the special Senate committee headed by Sen. George D. Aiken. Committee Counsel Charles W. Steadman said in a statement yesterday, however that the group

C-of-C Budget Adopted And Appointees Named

Chamber of Commerce board of directors last night adopted a 1956 budget, and approved a program of activities and a slate of committee appointments for the coming year. The directors also voted to endorse Rocky Mount as the site for the new consolidated Presbyterian College. A $15,000 budget, which is a $4,000 increase over 1955, was adopted by the board. Furniture Factory Fire Takes One Life Winston-Salem Fire Rages

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — A spectacular fire with flames shooting 150 feet high raced through a furniture factory here today, taking at least one life. Firemen said one B. F. Huntley Furniture Co. layout, extending over one city block, apparently would be a total loss. All available equipment from the Winston-Salem fire department and fire companies from Greensboro and High Point fought the blaze. The fire was discovered about 6:30 a.m. Flames leaped quickly from building to building, most of them interconnected. Sheets of fire and dense smoke enveloped the area, about a dozen blocks north of the center of the city. Firemen found the body of Carl Everhart, 53, in a burned-out area on the third floor of one of the larger buildings. A Huntley employee, he was reported missing shortly after the fire began. He was found near a fire door. Firemen speculated that he fell or was overcome by smoke and flames in a dash for safety. The outside walls of one building collapsed and police and firefighters pushed back crowds of spectators to safety points. The Huntley factory was the only business on the block it occupied. Several hours after the firemen arrived the flames still were out of control within that block but there seemed little chance that they would spread to other buildings nearby. B. F. Huntley Furniture Co. was organized in 1900 as the Oakland Furniture Co. It is one of the older furniture manufacturers in the Winston-Salem area. It has about 500 workers and makes both bedroom and dining room furniture although a few years ago it specialized in bedroom furniture exclusively. In 1952 the company had an authorized capitalization of 1 1/2 million dollars common stock, and its production totaled about seven million dollars a year. Its plant occupies between seven and eight acres of floor space, and it had an annual payroll of well over a million dollars.

Entrance Examinations Are Decreed For UNC

RALEIGH (AP) — University of North Carolina trustees have named entrance examinations will be necessary to gain admittance to the three units of the university. Both actions were taken during a lengthy session of the trustees' executive committee yesterday. Dr. William M. Whitburn, 55, head of the department of mathematics at the University of North Carolina since 1948, will take over as acting provost tomorrow. His salary will be $14,000 per year. Dr. Whitburn fills a post left vacant since Dr. J. Harris Purks became acting provost in the interim. His departure from the University of North Carolina was announced in a letter to the trustees yesterday. Purks, who was provost before he became acting president, soon will become director of the State Board of Higher Education. A committee is searching for a new university president. Dr. Whitburn, a native of Lewisville, Tex., was president of Texas Tech. College at Lubbock 1944-48. He had previously taught at South Park Junior College in Beaumont, Texas; A.M. Harvard, and U.C.L.A. The new policy requiring entrance examinations became effective in September, 1955. It will apply to those seeking admission to the university at Chapel Hill, Woman's College in Raleigh and N.C. State College in Raleigh. Arch T. Allen, the executive committee secretary, said the examination policy was recommended by university officials in an effort to improve the school's academic standards over high schools. In the past the university has

Europe's Death Toll In Big Cold Soars To 418

LONDON (AP) — The death toll in Europe's disastrous freeze — up soared to at least 418 in the West today. No letup was in sight in the heavy snows and bitter cold gripping the battered Continent. Storms and ice packs brought peril to ships at sea. The century's worst cold wave — now in its third week — stretched right down into the Mediterranean. It brought untold hardships to residents of southern areas unprepared for bitter weather. These were the latest death figures from cold, fires, storms, avalanches and accidents attributed to the weather: France 91, Yugoslavia 65, Italy 55, Britain 45, Germany 24, Greece 26, Denmark 23, Turkey 16, Holland 14, Portugal 14, Spain 12, Austria 11, Switzerland 10, Sweden 6, Belgium 4, and Tripoli 2. U. S. Navy planes stationed near Naples joined the giant operation to bring relief to thousands of suffering Italians. They were to drop 300 food packages to south Italian villages and on Sicily. Bad weather slowed the airlift of U. S. Army supplies from Germany to Italy. But 350 American soldiers tolled through the frigid night at Leghorn to ready a 25-car relief train for snow-paralyzed Sicily. It carried 21,000 cans of hamburgers, 11,000 cans of chicken, 16,000 sweaters and other food and clothing. Ice stopped sea traffic between Sweden and Finland for the first time in 30 years. In the Bategat Strait between Sweden and Denmark, icebergs were slowly forcing two Swedish ships toward a minefield. An icebreaker was fighting to reach them. The worst ice since 1947 isolated many Danish islands and a blizzard battered southern Denmark. At Aranea, in north Sweden, three suns and a rainbow blazed in the sky at the same time. The weather bureau said the phenomenon probably was caused by the partial fraction of light in snow crystals. A blinding snowstorm swept the Baltic. The temperature touched zero at Stockholm and 40 below in northern Sweden.

Warns Of Consequences Should Public Learn Prices Legislated

RALEIGH (AP) — Assailing rigid farm price supports, Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz yesterday said if the people "ever discover that the price of food can be legislated, I fear overwhelming political pressure will legislate it downward." Millions of Americans "believe inherently and consistently in 'free' food prices," Butz declared. "To these people," he added, "will be support indefinitely a program of curtailed production and government ownership of an unprecedented board of food and fiber which has been taken off the market at taxpayers' expense." Butz spoke before farmers and bankers attending the annual Farm Credit Conference at North Carolina State College. He declared rigid price supports "are the inevitable aftermath of a price support system conceived in a shortsighted politics." "It is now abundantly clear to all that rigid price supports and rigorous production and marketing controls are the Siamese twins of agricultural policy. If you drink the brew, you must endure the hangover." Butz defended the flexible price support program of the Eisenhower administration. The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved legislation returning rigid supports on certain basic commodities. He asserted the system of rigid supports "not only failed to maintain farm prices and income but encouraged substitute products and

More Anti-Polio Vaccine Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Release of 999,000 dose of Salk polio vaccine was announced today by the Public Health Service. Made by E. Lilly, Inc. of Indianapolis, all the vaccine was allocated to the states and territories for use under the voluntary control program. The new release raised the total number of doses to 3,115,274. About 274 million doses of the vaccine were licensed last April.

Stream Of Customers On Stand Before State Board Hears Utilities Witnesses

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor NEW BERN—Greenville Utilities attorneys continued to place a stream of customer witnesses on the stand this morning as they attempted to refute Vanceboro charges of poor electric service. The hearings on the Vanceboro charges are being held here before the State Utilities Commission. Commission members heard one witness this morning deny that a name appearing on the original Vanceboro petition charging Greenville with furnishing poor electrical service was his own. R. C. Spruill was asked by Greenville attorney L. A. Sitt if his name appeared on the original petition. "I was told that it was, but I never signed the petition," Spruill declared. Later he was shown the petition and asked by a Vanceboro attorney, Libby Ward, if he were the R. C. Spruill appearing on the paper. "That was not my signature, no, sir," Spruill declared. Spruill said he knew of no one else in the area with an identical name. A number of witnesses living on the Streeter's Ferry Road testified that they had been unable to obtain electrical service until it was furnished by Greenville Utilities seven years ago. Mrs. Katherine Godley told the commissioners that lights were installed in her home "at least" six years ago by Greenville Utilities. She said residents of the area approached Tidewater Electric Co. and they "strictly refused" to install the lines. "You don't know what kind of service Greenville is giving, do you?" Ward asked the witness. "As far as getting lights and current, they are giving good service," Mrs. Godley replied. Ward asked the witness if she would be opposed to another company coming into the area if they would give service cheaper. "I'd be opposed to changing from Greenville to any other company because we would not have service now if Greenville hadn't given it to us," Mrs. Godley declared. Another witness, Donald G. Wood, testified that service he had been receiving is good. However, he admitted under cross-examination that a water pump motor had burned out some time ago. He said Greenville Utilities employees had checked the current and said the motor was defective. However Wood said that the company that sold him the motor informed him that it burned out because of current. Vanceboro petitioners are asking that Carolina Power and Light Company be ordered to service its area. Original hearings were held before the State Utilities Commission in Raleigh last July. Further sessions were held in Greenville in late January and at the request of Vanceboro attorneys the present hearings were scheduled to be held here. Greenville has still more customer witnesses to place on the stand and Vanceboro lawyers have said they also have more witnesses to be heard.

New Police Chief For Winterville

WINTERVILLE—A new chief of police is expected here Friday, replacing one who "resigned" several weeks ago. R. L. Trueheart of Durham, will take office Friday, Mayor Bernie Tucker said this morning. Trueheart comes as a replacement for Clyde Boone, who came to Winterville from Siler City about three months ago. Tucker this morning declined to elaborate on Boone's sudden resignation. "I'd rather not say," he said when asked if Boone had left under any pressure. Boone's departure reportedly was prompted by the discovery of discrepancies in his past record. His sudden removal was a blessing for some six persons scheduled to appear in court however. All had been charged with minor traffic violations but when no prosecuting attorney was available, the cases were held pressed. INDUSTRIAL COMMITTEE Industrial Committee members are Leonard P. Bloxam, chairman; Bancroft F. Moseley, vice chairman; A. Tyson Bilbo, James S. Picklen, Vernon E. Hendell, E. Badger Johnson, B. J. Marston, Jr., J. H. Moyer, Thomas W. Rivers and T. L. Wagner. Stroud, sergeant at arms, and directors, Dr. Sam T. White II, Henry Coleman, J. B. Newman and Rev. W. M. Howard Jr. The new officers will assume their duties July 1. Jack Edwards, member of the Rotary Club, presented a program on ham radio operating as a hobby. The speaker traced briefly the beginning of the amateur radio operations throughout the country, and asserted many developments in radio progress have been made by amateur operators. As a hobby, Edwards said amateur radio operation is adapted to almost any person. While the ham operators have their short wave radio stations as a hobby, he said they play an important part in communications in time of emergency. Edwards told the group atmospheric conditions determine the quality of communications by ham radio operators, but added it is not uncommon for him to be able to talk with other operators in Japan, Europe, Greenland, Labrador, and Iceland throughout the United States. He related for his audience several personal experiences he had had while operating his radio set. FILES AS CANDIDATE RALEIGH (AP) — Solicitor Basil L. Birthday Party Honors Mr. Wade

Mrs. J. H. Wade entertained at her home on Sunset Blvd. at a delightful party to honor her son Jesse, who celebrated his sixteenth birthday.

Mrs. Wade was assisted in the evening by Mrs. L. D. McCotter, Mrs. Charles Wade and Mrs. Robert Sidney McCotter. The Saint Valentine motif was used on decorations throughout the home. This was emphasized by the use of red hearts and cupid. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over red and held as a centerpiece the beautifully decorated white cake with its red and pink hearts.

Mrs. Robert Sidney McCotter poured punch and guests were served cake and salted nuts.

During the evening, party games were directed by Mrs. Charles Wade. Guests included classmates and neighborhood friends, Judy Hart, LouRaye Mewborn, Judy Hart, Linda and Mac Chauncey, Sallie Mewborn, Dorothy and Jack Groet, Phyllis Dudley, Barbara Lane, Frances Davis, Martha Hart, Pat Bennette, Linda Koon, Emily Nelson, Nancy Gladys and John Smith, Bette McCotter, Tommy Sugg, Walter Craft, Ronnie Stallings, Buddy McCotter and Donald Cannon.

Mrs. Graef On Children's Home Society Staff

GREENSBORO—Mrs. Alice Spencer Graef of Greenville has joined the staff of the Children's Home Society of North Carolina as case consultant.

Mrs. Graef, wife of Philip Graef of East Carolina College, is a graduate of Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. Until recently she was associated with the Department of Public Welfare in Virginia.

Addition of a staff member in the Greenville district makes the Children's Home Society's services more readily available to people in this section. The Society offers help to mothers wishing to plan adoption for a child, nursery care for babies while plans for their futures are being made, and help to couples seeking to adopt a baby or older child.

Since its organization in 1902 the Society has placed 124 children from Pitt County in adoptive homes. Last year alone three children from Pitt received help, 21 applications were received from couples seeking to adopt children and four children were placed in Pitt County homes.

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR February 14, 1926

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Herman Duncan was hostess to the members of her bridge club. The tables at the games were arranged in the library. The decorations were suggestive of the Valentine season, the same idea also prevailing in the refreshments. After several interesting progressions table prizes were presented to Mrs. Knott Proctor, Mrs. Joe Rowlett and Mrs. T. C. Young.

Dr. K. E. Pace is attending the Tri-State Medical Convention in Fayetteville.

Mrs. Quinerly Bridge Hostess

GRIFTON—On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. H. P. Quinerly entertained at a dessert bridge party at her home on Church Street. The home throughout was decorated with greenery and red candles and together with table appointments carried out the Valentine motif.

Six tables were placed for the games and guests found their places by Valentine tallies. Cherry tarts with ice cream, salted nuts and spiced tea were served before the games. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Clifton Jackson, Mrs. Edwin Reeves and Mrs. Walter Patrick.

Others playing were Mesdames Edward Hart, J. M. Hart, Woodrow Smith, Roy Jackson, W. E. Rasberry, Mark Phillips, Ben G. Tucker, J. G. Chauncey, H. L. Lawton, Roger Johnson, Becky Worthington, Sam Nelson, Bill Daws, Bryan Davis, Claude Hart, Alton Chapman, David Parker, Walter Murphy, Wilbur Murphy, Archie Rogers and Johnnie Smith.

Mrs. Jackson Is Hostess At Bridge

GRIFTON—Mrs. Clifton Jackson was a gracious hostess on Friday night when she had as guests for bridge, members of her contract club. White chrysanthemums and African violets in the playing rooms were used as decorations.

During the games highest scores were compiled by Mrs. David Parker, Mrs. Bryan Davis and Mrs. W. Richard Johnson. The consolation went to Mrs. Albert Tyson. Other players were Mesdames Heber Wade, Bryan Davis, Walter Murphy, John Coward, Joe Goolsby and Miss Ruth Smith.

As cards were laid aside, the hostess served cherry pie a la mode with coffee and salted nuts.

Valentine Theme Noted At Dance

A Valentine theme was observed in decorations and refreshments when Misses Margaret Ella Greene and Susan Franklin entertained at a dance at the Woman's Club on Saturday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock.

The refreshment table was spread with a white cloth and attractively decorated with red camellias, in white milk glass vases, red hearts and reflectors. Greenery, with red hearts and candles, were used on the mantels and piano and old fashioned nosegays were showered from fans.

Cranberry punch was served at either end of the table by Mrs. Ruth Whitchard and Mrs. W. H. Tichel.

Guests helped themselves to cheese biscuits, salted peanuts, lemon cookies and chicken salad sandwiches.

Mrs. Tichel, Bob and Howard Tichel and Cameron Little of Roanoke Rapids were out-of-town guests.

Home Management Meeting In Belvoir

BELVOIR—A demonstration of "Furniture Arrangement and the History of Styles" will be presented Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at an adult homemaking meeting in the Belvoir home economics cottage.

This will be the fourth in a series of six home management meetings being conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Gurganus, home economics teacher at Belvoir-Falkland High School.

The third meeting was held last Thursday when David Stirling discussed landscaping around the home.

"Cake Decorating" and "Meals from a Gas Stove" will be demonstration topics at future sessions.

Bethel Circles Meet Last Week

BETHEL—Circle No. 1 of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church met on Monday afternoon of last week with Mrs. J. L. Brown.

Mrs. R. L. Goodall, Spiritual Life Leader, used Psalm 1 and her theme of discussion was "Now Is the Acceptable Time." She brought out that now is the time to prepare ourselves for doing our Master's will. Her remarks were closed with a prayer.

The program was taken from the study book and the first chapter, "Confession of St. Augustine," was given by Mrs. J. L. Gurganus Sr. She stated that during the fifth century the church was divided and that the Holy Men were God centered.

Mrs. Leighton Blount Jr. presided during the short business meeting and the secretary, Mrs. W. P. Thigpen, gave her report. After other matters were discussed, a report from the recent supper was heard.

Mrs. Brown served 14 members, three visitors and one new member, Mrs. George James, refreshments using the Valentine motif and hot tea.

Mrs. C. P. Womack, Mrs. Maude Harris and Mrs. R. H. Tripp were joint hostesses on Monday of last week to the Sarah Whitehurst Circle. The ladies met in the home of Mrs. Womack.

Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst read a few verses of scripture and then gave "Ten Reasons for Attending Church." She stated that basically it is for a religious instinct which gives us contentment. She stressed that the hunger for God is sought. A timely prayer concluded the devotion.

Mrs. R. N. Simmons introduced the Rev. C. P. Womack who gave a most interesting talk on "The Confessions of St. Augustine" from the new study book. He gave a spiritual biography of this father of the church.

Mrs. Simmons presided over the business meeting and the minutes for the last meeting were read which stood approved. A committee composed of Mrs. Howard Keel, Mrs. Harold Staton and Mrs. Grover Whitehurst was appointed to make plans for the Men's Supper. Regular matters were transacted.

The hostesses served 19 members sandwiches, cakes and other sweets with hot tea.

The meeting for the Mary Lambeth Circle opened with the devotion given by Mrs. Clara Roberson. She read several verses of scripture from Luke and then gave a most inspiring talk and closed with a prayer.

The program was turned over to Mrs. W. H. Manning. Her topic was "The Confessions of St. Augustine." In her informative discussion she brought out that he was a Catholic and she described his search for God. This was a dramatic monologue addressed to God.

Mrs. R. E. Riddick conducted the business and Mrs. Harold Manning gave her secretary's report. Matters of making money were discussed and the benediction followed.

Mrs. W. C. Latham, hostess, served sandwiches, chocolate cake and hot tea to 20 members and one visitor.

Eleven members met on Monday night, February 6, in the home of Mrs. Wayne Rogerson. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Hilton Tetterton.

Mrs. D. E. Perry gave the devotion and her thoughts were centered around the idea of "Lest We Forget."

Mrs. Edward Matthews introduced the Rev. C. P. Womack, the guest speaker. He gave an account of the life of St. Augustine who was the bishop of Hippo, Africa. He brought out his trials and tribulations before he was converted.

Mrs. L. L. Andrews Jr. read the minutes and called the roll and regular business was conducted.

The hostess served refreshments with Coca-Colas after the benediction was pronounced.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sallie Tucker Circle met on Monday night of last week with Mrs. Bill Johnson. Eleven members were present.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Donald Jenkins, program chairman. Her discussion was taken from "The Spiritual Classics" and she discussed "The Confessions of St. Augustine." She told about the religion and education of this famous man.

Mrs. B. R. Ayres presided over the business meeting and the minutes for the last meeting were read and approved. It was announced that the study class would begin on February 19 and all members of the W.S.C.S. are urged to attend.

The members voted to change their meeting time from the first Monday night to the second.

After the benediction, refreshments were served.

World Day Of Prayer Planned

Dr. Ray G. Silverthorne (above) local physician and also a graduate of the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky. will be the guest speaker at the World Day of Prayer service in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Friday morning at eleven o'clock. The theme, "One Flock One Shepherd," will feature the need of "oneness" in a divided world.

This year marks the seventeenth observance of the World Day of Prayer. Sponsored in the United States by the United Church Women, this fellowship encompasses the globe with one hundred and thirty four countries having special prayer services.

The Greenville Council of Church Women, in addition to sponsoring the eleven o'clock service, has distributed program leaflets to all Greenville City Schools so that they may have World Day of Prayer observances. Each year these programs are written by a different nationality of Church Women. This year they have been written by American Indians.

The Greenville Merchants Association has announced that all businesses will be closed between the hours of eleven and twelve so that their employees may attend World Day of Prayer.

Thief Has Case Of Useless Loot

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—If the thief who stole the Rev. Gerald Fisher's suitcase uses the loot, he will not be hard to catch. The suitcase contained a number of large wooden discs used by women of the Ubangi tribe in Africa to stretch their lips to the size deemed glamorous by Ubangi men.

The clergyman told Springfield police his suitcase was taken from his stage wagon. Rev. Fisher displays the articles in religious lectures throughout the state.

Vows Pledged

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dowling Beasley of Norfolk Virginia whose marriage took place February 3, at 7 p. m. with the Rev. John W. Sullivan, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, officiating. The bride is the former Miss Zell Winstead Little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roscoe Little of Greenville. Mr. Beasley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood M. Beasley of Norfolk.

Awaited Orders For Ten Years

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Air Force is trying to find out what happened to orders for Pvt. Joe V. Garcia, 30, who has waited 10 years for word on where to report for duty.

Air Force officials in Washington have ordered Lackland Air Force Base officials to try to bring Garcia's records up to date to determine what action should be taken.

Garcia was stationed at Lackland for a year but in 1946 spent two months at Brooke Army Hospital convalescing from injuries received in a tavern fight.

He said when he returned to Lackland, his old outfit had been transferred along with his records and personal belongings. After three days of futile checking, a lieutenant told Garcia to go home and said the Air Force would get in touch with him in several days.

Garcia, then 19, did as he was ordered. Since that time, he has been staying on San Antonio, working as a truck driver.

Opposes Rise Of Spectator Mind

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Mental flabbiness" threatens the "spectator mind" that feeds on a diet of radio, television and movies, says Rabbi Harold Weisberg, Washington, D.C.

"The spectator mind that action have ordered Lackland Air Force Base officials to try to bring Garcia's records up to date to determine what action should be taken.

He told a news conference that the adult Jewish education committee hopes to stimulate a practice of inquiring, challenging and analyzing "as Americans used to do in their pioneer days."

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP)—A 1956 Barren County auto-license plate was bought by a resident of Seville, Spain. William B. Luster, a former resident here, wrote the county clerk that it would be legal for him to use his home county's tag in Spain. Luster is a construction worker.

Wed 71 Years Today, Couple Offer Formula

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 93-year-old couple married on St. Valentine's Day 71 years ago today topped off a gay anniversary party by passing along this happy marriage formula which "can't miss": "Always be kind and considerate, and never never try to be the boss."

In the words of Abner and Rebecca Braude, who confess they still have their romantic moments, that's about all the secret there is to domestic happiness.

"Of course," said Mrs. Braude in an interview, "there are times when I seem to do all the talking, but I never give Abner the impression that I'm boss."

"You go ahead, Ma," Abner put in. "You've got the gift of gab better than I have. Just keep talking. As for your being bossy, let's say that you can be firm but never bossy."

"Guess I don't need a second invitation to keep talking," Mrs. Braude went on with a hearty laugh, "especially after that great big box of candy Abner got for me." And she showed it off, a whopper of a Valentine gift, bright red and heart-shaped, naturally, and all bound up with ribbons and bows.

"What I mean," Mrs. Braude resumed, "is that a man and wife can make a go of it for as long as you care to say, without fear of serious squabbles or getting on each other's nerves more than the usual little bit, if they'll just play fair, have no secrets, and share the bad with the good."

"One of the most important things in the success of our marriage is that Papa and I have never been separated for more than a day or two. Whenever he traveled I tried to do the same. This talk about absence making the heart grow fonder is wistful-schitzel. Oh, I know the modern idea is that husbands and wives should have separate careers, separate vacations, and separate just about everything else. I'm not saying it won't work in some cases, but as a general thing it's all wrong. If you love someone, you want to be with that person just as much as possible, not traipsing off somewhere on your own."

"You might say that I've hardly ever had Abner out of my sight, and I still love him very much after 71 years."

Abner said those were his sentiments too, and then the talk got on to children and "the joy of a good-sized family."

"We've got five children, seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren," Braude said proudly.

The Braudes came to this country from Germany two years after their marriage. They settled first in Shamokin Pa., later moving to Philadelphia, where Braude dealt in real estate, and later became a clothing manufacturer. For a time after his retirement, the two lived in Atlantic City. They have been living for two years at a rest haven for convalescents in suburban Brookmail.

The couple's two sons, Dr. Bennett A. Braude, and Sigmund, a businessman, live in Chicago. The daughters are Mrs. Leon Katten, Stratford, N.J.; Mrs. David Lipman, Johnstown Pa., and Mrs. Albert Levy, suburban Glenside.

Farmville Pianist To Be Soloist In Wednesday Orchestra Concert

Louis Jasper Williford Jr. of Farmville, pianist and student of music at East Carolina College, will be soloist with the East Carolina Orchestra at a concert Wednesday in Farmville. He will play the Grieg A Minor Concerto.

The program, sponsored by the Benjamin May Chapter of the DAR, will take place in the high school gymnasium there at 8 p.m., according to an announcement by Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, conductor of the orchestra, and Mrs. Howard Moye, local chairman of arrangements.

Playing for children in the Farmville public schools, the orchestra will also give a performance Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the high school. Sam Bundy, principal of Farmville schools, will be in charge of this program.

Mr. Williford, a senior at East

Carolina, and a pupil of Elizabeth Drake of the college department of music, will be the first music major at the college to receive the bachelor of music degree in performance. This year he is one of four seniors at the college chosen by faculty members of the music department to be presented in an honors recital. The Farmville concert will be his second appearance as soloist with the East Carolina Orchestra.

Other concerts have been scheduled by the orchestra in Jamesville March 8 with Mrs. Charlotte Maydwell, director of music in the Jamesville Schools, as violin soloist; and in Washington, N.C., March 20, with Miss Mary Cahoon, piano soloist from Washington.

With Mr. Williford as piano soloist, the orchestra will play its home concert here on the campus March 18.

Parakeet Won't Tolerate Smoke

OMAHA (AP)—There's a parakeet named Pudgie who is a pet at a fire station here. And as smoke is a signal of danger to a fireman, so it is to Pudgie.

You just can't smoke in the station recreation room with Pudgie around. To disbelieve the firemen say "go ahead and light up a cigar. She lands on it and she pecks it into two parts. No use to blow smoke in her face, either. She's a true "smoke eater" like her owners.

The leek does not have the strong taste of the onion, although it looks very much like it.

Assuming Atlantic Christian beat Elon last night in Wilson, the North State Conference race would look something like this:

And Coach Howard Porter's Pirates would have only to defeat High Point here tonight to clinch the regular season championship.

However, if Elon upset the Bulldogs on their own court, then a victory tonight would insure only a first place tie.

And if the latter is the case, Elon still has to get by Lenior Rhyne in Hickory—something only the Pirates have done all season—and turn back Guilford Saturday night to earn a deadlock.

East Carolina stands better than average chance of finishing out its conference schedule without a setback. The topper, the ACC game, will be played in Rocky Mount, not on the miniature Wilson court.

Even though the race is considered strictly a two-way affair now, it's mathematically possible for any of the top four to finish as high as in a tie for first place.

And while the No. 1 tournament seeding is still in the pot, one other situation lingers on the outcome of this week's activity. Whether Catawba (1-12) or Guilford (1-12) constitutes the eighth team has yet to be decided.

This week promises to be a full one, with positions all down the line, outside of swapping from first to second division and interfering with the last-place battle, subject to change about every night.

Important games on the docket include the Catawba-Guilford row tonight, the Elon-Lenior Rhyne game Thursday, High Point-Lenior Rhyne, Appalachian-Catawba games Saturday night.

Locally, basketball seasons are drawing near tournament time. The Pitt County rounds start Thursday night, and as soon as its over the Northeastern and Coastal conferences take up.

The Pitt County and Northeastern tourneys of last year will still be remembered for their turbulent action. Some fine basketball was exhibited and, like a true tournament, upsets were not lacking.

As a matter of fact, the upset nemesis was a regular feature of the Pitt County tournament. Belvoir's girls got it started in the first night's action by surprising Bethel's strong team, 46-45. Bethel has come into the tournament seeded No. 3. In keeping with Belvoir's suit, Chocod's previously winless boys overhauled favored Grifton on the same night.

But it didn't stop there. Next night, another controversy. Farmville's boys, who managed a mediocre 4-6 season, thwarted second place Winterville, 53-50.

And in the semi-finals Bethel's boys knocked off the Ayden Tornados, the tournament favorites. Ayden had won the regular season championship and came into the tourney seeded No. 1 only to suffer a fate not unusual for the first place finisher.

The Northeastern also had its share of the bumps and grinds. The biggest, of course, being Kinston's 68-61 spanking of the Greenville Phantoms in the finals. Greenville had drubbed the Red Devils twice during the regular season.

And many will say the saddest results of them all in 1955 was High Point's 90-71 humiliation of East Carolina in the first round of the North State Conference tournament in Lexington.

Southeastern Conference Puts Auburn On Probation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) The Southeastern Conference has placed Auburn, a rising football power, on probation and has barred the school indefinitely from playing in postseason bowl games.

Commissioner E. Dennis Moore of the Southeastern Conference announced the penalty yesterday. The action, taken last week by the SEC executive committee, penalizes Auburn for giving $1,000 to the Beaubie twins, top flight high school football players.

Auburn's assistant football coach, Hal Herring, gave $500 each to the twins, Harry and Robert Beaubie, in December. The youths were halfbacks on the Emma Sanson High School team at Gadsden, Ala.

Moore fined the school $2,000 soon after it was learned that Herring had given the twins the money.

It is the first time in SEC history that a member has been placed on indefinite probation. Yesterday's announcement said Auburn had been warned "that proof of further violation by its employees may lead to suspension or termination of membership" in the 12-member conference.

It also said the conduct of Herring as well as that of certain alumni in the Beaubie affair "was inexcusable."

For the past three years, Auburn, long an SEC pillar, dwelled in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. The school's 1955 team was ranked ninth nationally in the Associated Press poll after Finishing second in conference play with an 8-1-1 record.

Probation may be lifted either at the SEC annual meeting set for December or by action of the executive committee. Auburn itself is host at the December meeting.

Moore fined the school $2,000 soon after it was learned that Herring had given the twins the money.

Phantoms Go Into Stretch, Holding Good 10-0 Record

Going into the final stretch of Northeastern Conference basketball, the Greenville high school Phantoms have a firm grip on the loop lead with a powerful 10-0 mark. Jacksonville is rated No. 11 tonight.

Two months ago, nobody in the state would have bet a plugged nickel on the chances of Coach Boley Farley's quintet even entering the race for the coveted A.A. crown. On paper, the Phantoms looked as bleak and unbalanced as a team could, and the general belief was that Farley would be in the midst of a rebuilding program here.

Only Riddick and Edwards After all, Farley had just lost by graduation what was supposedly the greatest Greenville team in history. Boys like Bobby Howell and Edgar Moore and Tommy Saleed had pushed the G-men into the final stages of the fight for the shot at a State title, losing finally to Kinston. All that remained for the 1955-56 campaign were Harold Edwards and Ike Riddick.

Edwards, who led the scoring parade last season with an average of 18.4 points per contest, would naturally be dangerous in his senior year, but—without the team to back him up—his scoring feats would diminish. Riddick was viewed by most experts in the same sad pessimistic fashion.

Greenville, dreamed the experts, would be a one-man scoring team, with occasional help from Riddick on the outside. Everybody knows that a one-man team would get ripped to pieces in the red-hot Northeastern league. Green fans began to weep.

Further anguish was heaped on Greenville fans when the season opened. Both Riddick and Edwards were on the sidelines with ankle injuries.

With a group of youngsters that nobody had ever heard of, Coach Farley squeaked past AAA Goldsboro 53-50 in the opener and then dropped three quick ones to Rocky Mount and Goldsboro.

Experts assumed the 1-told-you-so air and winced as the Phants entered the Tobacco Road Tourney at Kinston. With Riddick back in the lineup, the Greens were able to win two of three contests.

The first conference tilt of the new year found the All-Conference Edwards among the playing five for Greenville, and the locals trounced New Bern by a very impressive score. Edwards donated only 10 points to the cause.

From that point on, Edwards and his teammates roared through the loop on a triumphant rampage, knocking off Washington, Roanoke Rapids, Jacksonville, Elizabeth City, and even the top-seeded Kinston Red Devils. Red-faced experts folded their tents and silently stole away.

Only two games stand between Greenville now and the Northeastern Conference championship. Having defeated all other teams twice, only Jacksonville and Kinston remain. Coach Farley's boys travel to Jacksonville tonight and then meet Kinston.

Grifton, Ayden Split Two Games

Grifton and Ayden split two games last night in a Pitt County affair at Grifton.

The Grifton girls, led by the shooting of pretty Dawn Smith, trounced the visitors, 54-48. Dawn scored 25 points and was given plenty of assistance from Lou Rae Newborn, who popped in 21. The win placed Grifton in second place in the standings.

Ayden's powerful boys smashed the home squad 66-42 in the night's second ball game. Bert Tripp led scoring for the triumphant Bulldogs with 17 points, but Grifton's Purdy collected 18 for top honors.

The boxes: Grifton Smith 25, Stokes 7, Newborn 21, Koon, Burney, Vanderford. Subs: Grifton—Dennis 3, McCotter, Ayden—Harper 8, Everette.

Grifton Ervin 14, Purser 18, Craft 4, McLawhorn 2, Jackson 2, Ayden—Simmons, Collins 6, Jolly, Baldrer, Willis 6, R. Tripp 1, Bowen, Hardee. Grifton 8 11 14 9-42; Ayden 26 8 19 13-66.

High Point Cagers Stand Between Bucs And Crown

East Carolina's cagers have once again reached a stepping stone to the North State Conference regular season championship. The Pirates have only to defeat High Point here tonight to tie the title in red ribbons.

Put off by Elon's gritty Christians last Saturday, Coach Howard Porter's team this time has the home court advantage and a string of consecutive victories that reads something like 47.

And the fact that the Bucs are in their best physical condition since the road trip back in January makes them heavy favorites in tonight's game, the last of the season at home.

Freddie James is able to go full speed and Don Harris' ankle completely mended.

Ironically, arch-rival Atlantic Christian made the clincher possible. The Bulldogs outscored Elon, 100 to 97, last night in Wilson, ACC and Elon are now tied for second place, having lost four games each.

The Pirates' conference mark is 12-2. A victory tonight would make it impossible for either ACC or Elon to overtake them, this being the final week of pre-tourney activity.

Although High Point has dropped its last two starts, Porter hasn't eased up a bit in preparation for the scramble. The Panthers always put on a battle royal here and the Bucs vividly remember the 69-68 squeak last season.

A High Point player made a long field goal at the final buzzer, but the official timer ruled the shot was made after the gun.

And the Panthers have an improved club over last year's In High Point. East Carolina sweated out an 80-71 victory.

In that one, East Carolina rolled up a 40-31 halftime lead and held on to win in the second half as the home team got hot.

Don Harris and Nick Nichols, the Bucs' fabulous forward combination, accounted for 48 points between them that night, Harris getting 27 and Nichols 21.

High Point has a great outside shooting outfit. Bill Huegele and Jerry Beauchot constitute one of the hottest pair of guards in the league. Each got 18 points against the Pirates in High Point.

But the boy to watch is jumping Jack Powell. The High Point red-head has the softest touch of any North State player and can be murder under the boards. He got 21 points in the first ECC-High Point meeting.

Other Panthers who could make trouble for the locals are Ray Crump, Joe Dunbar and Jim Williams. The latter is a 6-7 center.

Porter will go with his usual five with two of his reserves expected to keep busy running in and out. Guy Mendenhall will start at center and Harold Ingram and Capt. J. C. Thomas at the guards. James and Tim Smothers are the sixth men.

Twelve will dress. Rounding out the dozen are Waddell Solomon, Maurice Everette, Marion Hales, Harry Blevins and Joe Plaster.

Reports recently were published that he was about to give up his successful coaching duties to become a physical education teacher. Casey is now working on his doctorate degree in physical education.

He said yesterday an apparent misunderstanding in a conversation with a reporter earlier this month caused the report to be circulated.

On the first two nights, games will begin at 6:00. Saturday night, game time will be 7:30.

Advance tickets are now on sale at the H. B. Sugg school. Admission is adults $1.25, children 75 cents.

Ground Rules Advised For Television Family

By CHARLES MERCER
 PELHAM, N.Y. (AP) — In practically every orderly household which contains both a TV set and young children there are ground rules on who looks at the set and when.

Such a matter as bad weather can knock the ground rules into a cocked hat, of course. Then, in many a home, it's a question of who has the stronger will.

Sunday afternoon in the East is a tough one, for example. From noon on it's a hassle to see who wins—parent or child. The three major networks have quite a few programs which children enjoy and quite a few which their parents favor. Unfortunately most of these fall at the same time on different channels.

At such times are raised fundamental questions in many a parental mind: What is justice? What is discipline? Is this good or bad for Jimmie? Who's boss around here anyway?

Let's consult the personal opinion of a pediatrician, Dr. Eliza Caldwell, who herself has four children aged 14, 9, 6 and 3.

The basic ground rule in the Caldwell household—and that she recommends for her young patients—is that there is no viewing after 7 p.m.

"If the children watch until 15 minutes before bedtime," says Dr. Caldwell, "they're all keyed up and they won't get to sleep for an hour. First and second graders usually need close to 12 hours sleep and they simply don't get it when they stay up too late.

Disneyland on ABC-TV from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. (Eastern time) on Wednesday evenings raises a great problem. Dr. Caldwell confesses. She thinks it an excellent program but its time is unfortunate. First and second grade teachers have told her they can tell those among their pupils who watched it the night before; the kids just aren't as wide awake the next morning.

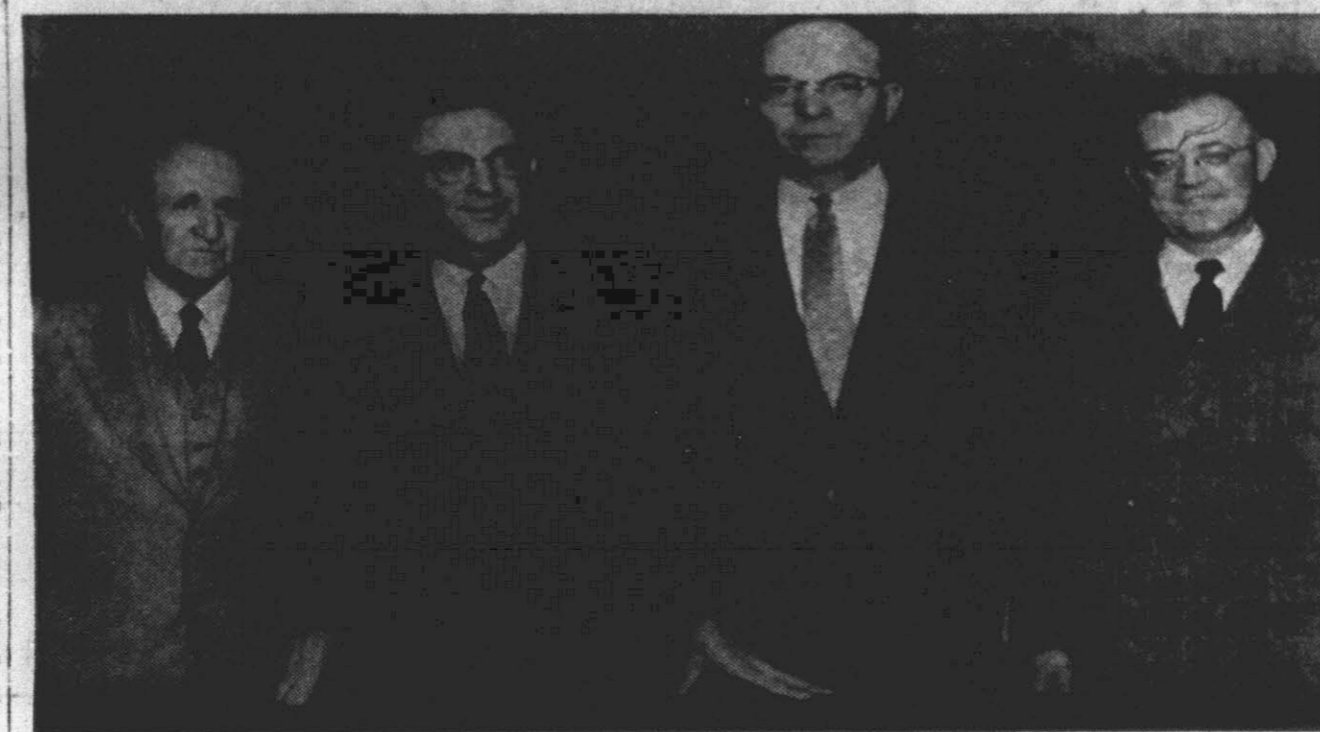

Every ground rule needs an exception, of course, and the exception in the Caldwell household is Rin Tin Tin, which comes on ABC-TV at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The fact it's Friday, with no school the next day, takes the curse off it.

Admittedly it's tough on Dr. Caldwell's 14-year-old and 9-year-old to maintain 6-year-old viewing habits. But, as every parent knows, it has to be a sporting proposition that if one child can view the set so can another. That, children, is justice.

Dr. Caldwell knows of no television program that is "bad for" the kids. To the contrary, she thinks the programs have a high level of entertainment value. In her personal recommendations she is not concerned with morals; she's concerned with health.

I think she has a point that is as applicable to us oldsters as to the youngest set. As long as viewing doesn't affect your physical and mental health just help yourself.

Science Meet Hears Irving

AT SCIENCE MEET—Principals on the program at the Northeastern District Science meeting at East Carolina College last week end, left to right, Dr. H. R. Totten, head of the University of North Carolina Botany Department; Dr. Henry Shannon, mathematics and science adviser with the State Department of Public Instruction; Dr. Charles Reynolds, head of the Science Department at East Carolina College and Dr. John Irving, head of the Science Department at Buffalo State Teachers College and co-author of the state adopted science textbook. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haymes).

Dr. John Irving, head of the Science Department of Buffalo State Teachers College and co-author of the North Carolina state adopted science textbook, was principal speaker at a Northeastern District science meeting at East Carolina College.

Dr. Irving spoke to approximately 75 high school science teachers on methods of teaching that subject. He was introduced by Dr. Henry Shannon, mathematics and science adviser with the State Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Charles Reynolds, head of East Carolina's Science Department, welcomed the teachers and invited inspection of the science classrooms after the meeting. Dr. H. R. Totten, head of the University of North Carolina Botany Department also appeared on the program.

Dr. Irving told the teachers that as economic and cultural scenes change, children change, and "We must conduct experiences in the field of biology that will result in a change in the behavior of the pupil."

He said, "We must teach a child to understand himself, and develop his ability to think logically, rationally and scientifically."

He named seven "well-defined areas" for high school biologists: development of a functional understanding of the human body; human nutrition; understanding of one's own heredity; work in the area of human diseases; child growth and the changes that occur in adolescence; safety; and mental hygiene.

"The child should have a functional understanding of the biotic world," the scientist stated. "He should learn what living things do."

Dr. Irving said science teachers must develop the idea of thrift and they must also develop "a nation of skeptics to the point that the child will not believe everything he is told. We need to set up a problem solving type of situation, and let the child work up his own technique of solving his problem."

Sonny Smith, another outstanding senior, has been selected to appear in the final eliminations for the Morehead Scholarship to the University of North Carolina as a result of his appearance before the District Scholarship Committee at Williamston on January 31.

Final eliminations will be held at the University of North Carolina early in March.

The Business Department at AHS had two guest speakers last week—Cpl. Carl E. Whitfield who spoke on Highway Safety and the Motor Vehicles Safety Responsibility Act and Mr. Edwin L. Clark, a District Representative of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, who spoke on life insurance.

Freddie Skinner, freshman, was named Citizen of the Week, during chapel period Wednesday. This award is based on ability, integrity, dependability, and leadership. Congratulations, Freddie!

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ayden High School Parent Teachers Association on Thursday night, Mr. Harvey Gwynn presided. After a short business meeting, a program was presented by the junior band under the direction of Mr. George Starling and the junior chorus directed by Mrs. Rosa Jones Little. Peggy Wood was accompanist for the chorus.

Mr. E. F. Johnson made some announcements and counted the parents present for each grade. Miss Butler's first grade won the attendance prize $1 for having the highest percentage of parents present.

Demille, Nearly 75, Isn't Planning Retire

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cecil B. DeMille, the fabulous film maker who will be 75 in August, declared today he has no intention of retiring.

There had been rumors that the director's swan song to his long career would be "The Ten Commandments," by far his biggest and costliest epic. He even added fuel to the reports by hinting that his age might preclude any further films.

But when I saw him in his Paramount Studio office, he seemed as vigorous as ever.

"No, I don't suppose I will ever quit unless I am forced to," he admitted. "The movies are such a great medium of communication—the greatest the world has ever known. If you are a good story teller—and Mrs. DeMille and I believe that I am—I think you should stick at your trade as long as you are able."

It has been reported that his next project will be a remake of "The Buccaneer," the Jean Lafitte story which starred Fredric March in 1938. I asked why he had chosen it.

"I haven't," he replied. "I haven't made any decision yet. I have a number of things in mind, and 'The Buccaneer' is one of them. It is a good story and a fascinating time in our history."

"I haven't had time to think of the next project. I still have five months of work to do on 'The Ten Commandments.' I have the scoring and editing, plus some technical sequences like the pillar of fire, the parting of the Red Sea and the clash of storms from the Mediterranean and the Red Sea."

"The picture will be released soon as I can get the work done. I was hoping to get it out by October, but there is so much processing to do that I may not make it until November."

How long will the film run?

"Six feet longer than 'Gone With the Wind,'" said DeMille, never one to be beaten. He added that the Civil War epic ran 3 hours and 47 minutes.

The picture is said to cost 10 million dollars, and this may not be too much of an exaggeration, considering the scale on which DeMille operates. But he doesn't stress its enormity.

"Mere spectacle is not enough," he said. "The public will be bored by business alone. You've also got to give them a story, and I think I have a great one."

Valentine Spirit Is High At Ayden High

By JEANNETTE WORTHINGTON
 Ayden High School

The Valentine spirit is prevalent at Ayden High. The exhibits in the library and in the senior homeroom are especially attractive.

Big red hearts and cupid's with bows and arrows have been arranged in the true Valentine spirit. In many of the grammar grades beautifully decorated boxes are being filled with lovely valentines for friends, teachers, and in some cases, for very special kinds of friends, because on Valentine Day one can express his feelings without seeming too sentimental. The boxes to be presented the last of March passed out during activity period today.

Monday the juniors held try-outs for their play, "Room No. 13," a comedy-mystery by Vincent E. Daily to be presented the last of March. Members of the cast are Brownie Harrington, Horton Jolly, Bobby Gagnon, Sonny Harrington, Jeannette Worthington, Henrietta Taylor, Herb Little and Anne Yorke.

Mrs. Everton's biology classes have been having a very interesting time during class periods recently. Earthworms have been the specimens under observation. The students have been dissecting preserved earthworms and learning their structure.

The seniors are busy planning for their trip to Washington, D.C. and New York. They have formulated and adopted a set of rules to govern conduct and behavior.

Last Friday, the Student Council held its regular meeting with Faye Bowen, the president, presiding. Plans were made to present certificates to council members who do outstanding work during the school year.

The Student Council also decided to have a chapel program and a committee was appointed to make plans for the program.

Might Identify Her By Teeth

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A woman entered Dr. Linus West's office and told him she wanted her teeth pulled. The dentist said he didn't extract teeth but would recommend a colleague who did.

Then, he told police, she threw her arms around him and said, "What I really need is affection."

Dr. West, who is 75, disengaged himself and told her, "I'm afraid I'm not interested." He gave her his colleague's name and she left.

A few minutes later he found his wallet, containing $160, was gone.

Dr. West said the woman was about 40. He couldn't give a detailed description of her except that she had six teeth in her upper jaw and eight in her lower.

Councilman Can Serve Army, Too

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pvt. James J. Welsh Jr., fresh from basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., will resume his duties as a Baltimore city councilman Monday.

Welsh said he had been assigned to the Judge Advocate General's office at nearby Ft. Meade. His Army duties will permit him to leave Ft. Meade at 4:30 P. M. each Monday for the council's 5 P. M. sessions.

Appointed to a council seat a year ago to fill a vacancy, Welsh was elected to a full four-year term last May 3 only to be drafted for Army duty in the fall.

BARNHILL SUCCEEDS—John H. Barnhill, popularly known here as Jay, finally has succeeded in his efforts to be transferred from the Greenville post office to a post office near Raleigh. It's not that he doesn't like Greenville, but the rural mail carrier had been trying for more than a year to get located nearer the Capital city so his ten-year-old son, who is almost totally blind, could attend the State School for the Blind.

Billy Will Get To School, Thanks To His Father's Zeal

By EDWINA HAYMES
Reflector Staff Writer

Young Billy Barnhill can go to school again. This time he will be enrolled in the State School for the Blind in Raleigh.

Almost totally blind since infancy, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Barnhill of 1306 Myrtle Avenue will have his education because of the zealous and untiring efforts of his father for more than a year to make it possible.

It hasn't been easy for Barnhill. Or for his wife. The final obstacle the mail carrier had to hurdle was opposition from nearly 200 people. But he did it.

Three weeks ago the former Greenville rural mailman was granted a transfer to the Apex post office over the protests of about 170 persons from that town and the surrounding area. The protests were made on the grounds that three Apex men had qualified for the post under civil service regulations.

A delegation had even met with Congressman Harold Cooley early in January to seek his aid in having Barnhill's transfer stopped.

They couldn't have known why the Greenville man wanted to move. They couldn't have protested if they had known.

Barnhill, who was with the Greenville Post Office since 1937 except for some time in the Navy during World War II, wasn't set on getting a transfer to Apex in particular; he just wanted to move to some town near Raleigh so he could send his boy to school.

When the post became vacant in that Wake County town, the anxious father immediately put in his application, and his plea was backed up by Greenville postal officials, ministers, civic clubs and many individuals familiar with his situation.

Barnhill has been in Apex now about two weeks, commuting between there and Greenville each day. "We haven't decided exactly when we will move," Mrs. Barnhill said, "because we have other children in school, and we might wait until the end of the term."

The other youngsters are Dickie, 15, and Becky, 8, who are attending classes at West Greenville School.

School Days Again

When he enters the State School for the Blind, Billy will not be experiencing his first class days. For two years he was taught at St. Raphael's Catholic School by Sister Athanasia, who is no longer in Greenville, and he was tutored one year by an East Carolina student.

Then for a while, and his mother tried commuting each day to the Raleigh School for the Blind, but found it too strenuous. "We hated to leave Billy up there all week by himself," Mrs. Barnhill explained. "He loves school but when class is over, he's ready to come home."

Incidentally, the younger earns all A's and B's. Billy, who cannot distinguish objects but is able to recognize light and darkness, has an interesting hobby—he raises fowl, in particular chickens and turkeys. "Why, we killed a turkey the other day that weighed 34 pounds dressed!" he proudly exclaimed.

Billy also owns two parakeets which he is trying to teach to talk. "Can he do anything?" Mrs. Barnhill asked. "Yes, he can ring it some- times, too," his mother said. She explained that Billy "can do almost anything he wants to."

He is an alert and inquisitive youth, too. The glare of the flashlight as the reporter took his picture made him jump and precipitated a series of interested questions about the workings of the camera.

Mrs. Barnhill smiled at her son. "You know," she said, "we hate to move away to a town where we already seem to be resented, but Jay and I both feel that when the people of Apex know why we wanted this transfer so very much, they will understand."

We think they will, too.

BILLY'S HOBBY—Young Billy Barnhill who will be attending the State School for the Blind soon has a pet hobby of raising fowl. He is shown here with his two parakeets, which he is teaching to talk. Billy, who has had five eye operations, has been almost wholly blind since infancy. His parents are hoping that later they can have one of his eyes transplanted. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haymes).

RABBIT IS SOCIABLE
PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Portland area Pythians are using a white rabbit to multiply the number of visits between lodges. The rabbit has stirred up so much interest and fun with its gastronomical victories over ice cream, hamburgers, egg sandwiches and standard rabbit fare from any table, that more than 10 lodges have had command performances.

Divergent Views On Medical Fees

CHICAGO (AP)—About half the public feels doctors should charge the same fees to all persons, regardless of ability to pay.

But two thirds of the doctors favor a sliding scale, charging some patients more than others.

These divergent views were shown today in a report on nationwide surveys sponsored by the American Medical Assn. to determine what complaints people have about doctors and how services can be improved.

The public and the nation's doctors are even more sharply divided on the question of whether advance news reports to the public on new experimental drugs and treatments are desirable or undesirable.

Four fifths of the 500 doctors questioned in the survey believe such publicity causes more harm than good.

However, a majority of the public with its opinion on the subject contended such reports create interest and speed up research. Forty-five per cent of the public approved such reporting while 35 per cent disapproved. The remainder of the 3,500 lay persons questioned had no opinion.

Viewpoints also differed on the question of fee-splitting. Eighty-one per cent of the doctors questioned believed the public has an exaggerated impression of fee-splitting. Only 10 per cent of the public shared the view.

Eleven per cent of the public questioned believed their own doctors split fees on referrals but 20 per cent said most doctors follow the practice. Only 5 per cent of the doctors said most physicians split fees.

Charlotte Stepmother Held For Assaulting Tot, Now Deceased

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A stepmother charged with assaulting her 3 1/2-year-old child for several months before the child died was being held in jail here today in lieu of $7,500 bond.

Mrs. Duke H. Hottle of Rt. 6, Charlotte, was indicted on five counts yesterday of assaulting Debra Hottle, 3 1/2, the youngest of children belonging to her husband.

Bond was set at $1,500 for each count by Judge J. C. Rudisill. The child was admitted to a Charlotte hospital on Christmas Eve with convulsions and died eight hours later.

Mrs. Hottle is charged with beating the child's head against a bathtub spreading human waste on her face, pouring hot boiling water on her, roping her to a bed and stuffing paper in her mouth.

Doctors said the little girl had bruises about the body, an old laceration scar on the back of her head and signs of burns about the legs. They said she had a possible abscessed brain tumor and trouble with the central nervous system.

The parents told police the child received a head injury in a fall last July, a broken leg in a fall Nov. 21 and was burned in a furnace flare up.

Several neighbors told police in late November that the child was tied to a bed which was pulled over the furnace and covered with an oil cloth; that once the child was brought home from a drive-in theater and made to stand in a bath tub until 2:30 a.m.; that the child was tied in the bath tub for four hours and that the stepmother stuffed paper in the child's mouth until Debra's face turned blue.

Hottle, an employee of a Charlotte trucking company, had the six children by a previous marriage.

Mickey Cohen Is Squared Again

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Mickey Cohen, who recently completed a federal prison term for income tax evasion is square with the law again after pleading guilty to two misdemeanor charges and paying $75 in fines.

Police Chief August Kettman said Cohen stayed at the El Mirador Hotel under a fictitious registration and also failed to register as an ex-convict.

Municipal Judge Eugene Therjeau fined Cohen $100 with a choice of 10 days in jail on each count, but he suspended $50 of one count and $75 of the other, with the proviso Cohen not violate the law for one year. Cohen paid the fines in cash.

Wants Refund On Ticket To Ball

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Delbert Edwards wants to know if he can get a refund on his ticket to the policemen's ball.

The ball will be held Feb. 21, and Edwards, 34, won't leave city prison till more than a week later. He's serving a 30-day sentence for intoxication. He said he bought the ticket only a few minutes before his arrest Jan. 28.

The GOLDEN WITCH

By ZOLA ROSS

In 1897, Seattle was a bustling, booming gateway to the Klondike gold rush. Tim O'Beirn, with the help of his good friend Michael Dark, a handsome young lawyer, persuades Meg Beaumont, his pretty, yellow-haired niece, not to go to Alaska in search of her husband, Kemp Beaumont. Kemp had deserted Meg and their small son, Johnny, for the gold fields of the frozen north. Michael finds Meg a place to stay at Matilda Cox's boarding house, where he lives. Tim thinks Meg should return to her father in Illinois, but Meg refuses, although she hasn't a job or money. Matilda asks Michael to find her a job, and he suggests schoolteaching, but Meg says no. Meanwhile, at the boarding house, Meg meets Jenny Fleur, who has a small hat shop that isn't doing well because she isn't a good saleswoman. Meg says she can design and sell hats so Michael suggests they become partners. After the partnership is formed, Jason Ten Eyck, a prosperous merchant, offers to let them display hats once a week in his store. Jason also becomes interested in Meg. Meg and Jenny work well together. They have a common bond after Meg discovers that Jenny's husband has deserted her, too. This gives them more reason than ever to succeed.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Three years ago Meg had met and married Johnny's father. She was twenty, already rebelling against her father and Stratton College, when she met Kemp at a college dance. Kemp Beaumont's orchestra, usually seen at noisy own affairs had been rushed in as a substitution when the regular musicians proved unavailable. Meg saw Kemp on the raised platform. He had looked at her with seeking eyes, and a startled awareness roughed her like a summer wind. She was not surprised when he managed to dance with her.

Kemp's voice was soft, slurred by forgotten ancestors who had left the South to settle in the sleepy little Illinois town. "I thought witches were dark. But you're a golden witch."

Lying in the darkness now, Meg shivered. Those words had seduced her as much as Kemp's eyes and lips. They were with her a month later when she married him in a shabby parsonage.

"Must we tell your father to-night?" Kemp's mouth was ardent upon her own.

"Yes." Wanting to yield, she couldn't.

Together they went to the green-and-white president's "mansion" to find Randall Stratton, frigidly polite at dinner. "I was not aware you had invited a guest, Margaret."

"He's not a guest, Father. He's my husband, Kemp Beaumont."

Her father's rage had been instantly controlled, but he had not deceived her. "You—my daughter—married to a—fiddle-playing hostler!"

"Keep your tongue from Kemp and his family!" She watched him writhe at the knowledge that her relatives by marriage ran a lively stable and a rooming house.

"I shall not accept your marriage!"

"I was of age two years ago, Father. Your acceptance is no more important than you are." The anger of twenty years flared between them. She wondered again if her father hated her because her mother had died giving her life.

"Leave my house!"

"As soon as I collect my clothes. You'll permit that, I suppose?"

He did not speak when she came down the stairs with her bags. Kemp took them from her and Meg faced her father. "I'll send for my trunks later, Father. I've already packed them."

In the months that followed, when they lived in his parents' crowded rooming house, Meg would remember things and try to hide her dislike of his shiftless father, of the untidy kitchen where the Beaumonts did most of their living. She was fond of her warmhearted mother-in-law, Honora. She soon saw that Honora held no better opinion of the capabilities of her menfolk than did Meg herself.

Before Johnny was born, Meg sensed her mother-in-law's concern.

"When the child's drawn his second breath," Honora predicted. "Kemp will be off for the West. Possessed he is to find gold. You'll taste tears with that ind of mine, Meg."

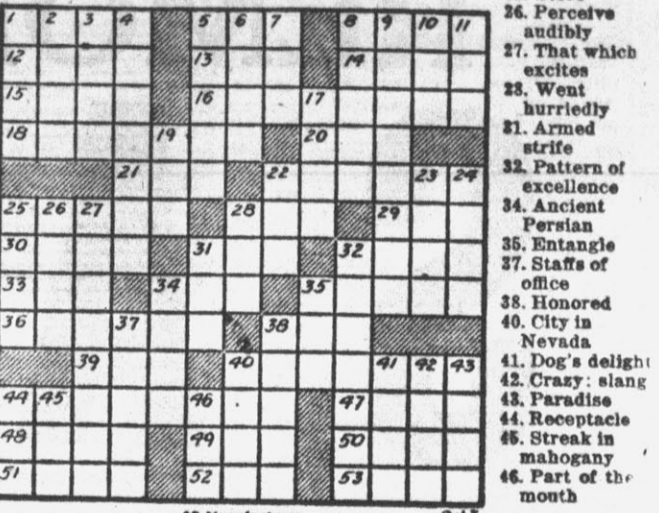

Motherhood, when it came, was beautiful. This small, perfect child hers. She had carried him within her, presented him with the gift of life.

They went to California. In spite of her warning better judgment, Meg really expected Kemp's uncle in San Francisco to help them get a start. But when they reached San Francisco, they discovered that he had been dead a month, killed in a saloon brawl and given a funeral through a collection taken up in that very saloon. Kemp wrote Tim O'Beirn in Seattle and Tim wired passage money.

Long before they reached Seattle, Meg voiced her doubts. She had met Tim in Strattonville. "He's a very prosperous himself, Kemp."

jumped from bed in a frenzy of self-reproach.

"We must be ready to go when your father comes, Johnny darling."

She was half dressed when she noticed the note on the pillow, and picked it up.

"I'm off to Alaska, dearest. Last night I got a chance to work my way. I'll come back with gold to match you. All my love. Kemp. Unbelieving rage shook her. He couldn't! She wouldn't allow it! She cried out with a fury that startled Johnny. With an effort that nauseated her, she controlled herself and soothed the child. The memory of last night scalded her. She felt like a woman, a woman a man had used and discarded. She hated him!

Even now, months later, reliving those waiting hours, she writhed. She loathed the curious glances, the whispered conjectures. She would never forgive Kemp for this. She'd show him!

Restlessness was on her. She slid from bed, went to the open window and leaned far over the sill. Meg's jaw set. She would build her own jubilee, not on the sands of gold but on the solid rock of work. Jason Ten Eyck would help her. He would help her because he was aware of her as a woman. All right! She'd take advantage of it. A hat shop was a precarious hold on the toe of fortune. She'd use everything she was to strengthen that hold. She scowled out into the sea-scented darkness. I'll show Kemp I'll show him!

Mrs. Willie Wooten entertained Group I of the Christian Women's Fellowship on Monday night of last week.

After the business meeting, the hostess served refreshments to 16 members.

Group II of the Christian Church Women's Fellowship met Monday night of last week with Mrs. Anna Bell Allen and Mrs. Lizzie Allen as hostesses.

The hostesses served a delicious sweet course and hot tea to the 13 members present and one guest, Mrs. Frank Allen.

Group III of the Christian Women's Fellowship met Monday night of last week with Mrs. J. H. Paylor. The meeting was opened with a devotional given by Mrs. Ted Albritton, who spoke on "Believe You Can and You Can," taking her scripture from Philippians.

Mrs. Paschal was program chairman for the evening and based her program on the questions taken from "World Call."

During a most enjoyable social hour, the hostess served coconut cake and coffee to 12 members present.

Group IV Christian Women's Fellowship met Tuesday night last week with Mrs. Z. B. T. Cox as hostess. Mrs. Sam Bundy presided over the business session. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Albert Sidney Darden, followed by the program on Mission Study taken from the World Call led by Mrs. Matthew Dall.

An enjoyable social hour followed, at which time the hostess served spice cake and coffee.

Group V of the Christian Women's Fellowship met Monday night of last week with Mrs. Carrie Belle Joyner. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. L. A. Moye, who spoke on the topic "The New Year" with scriptural reference from Corinthians 2:3-6.

Mrs. A. C. Turnage, who presided in the absence of group leader Mrs. W. A. Pollard, gave a report on the business items discussed at the executive meeting in the afternoon. She announced that the week of Compassion will be February 19-26. Mrs. J. O. Pollard announced that the Business Women's Retreat of the C. W. F. Guild will meet at Chapel Hill on March 10-11. For the program, Mrs. Turnage led the discussion of World Call topics.

The hostess served cookies, candies and hot tea to the 13 members present during the social hour.

The program of the February meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship was presented by Group 2 with Mrs. B. E. Moore as leader. The subject for the afternoon was "Prayer." Mrs. Moore, Mrs. R. D. Rouse and Mrs. J. M. Whitehurst presented the teachings of the Bible about prayer by use of scripture references interspersed by explanatory statements. Music was also used effectively, both congregational and special. Anne Francis Allen and Paul Cox sang "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" and Kay Allen and Marion Pickett sang "Earth Below Is Teeming." During the period of directed prayer conducted by Mrs. Moore, the quartet sang the prayer response, "Tender Shepherd of the Sheep." Mrs. B. S. Smith Jr. was accompanist.

The worship center was a picture of the "Praying Hands" on an easel. Prayer pamphlets were arranged on the table.

During the business session, the secretary read an invitation from the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church to attend the World Day of Prayer Service at the Methodist Church on Friday, February 17, at 3:30.

The Rev. Z. B. T. Cox announced that the church now owns a film strip machine which may be used in the educational program.

It was recommended by the Executive Committee that the fellowship send a gift to the Mission Church at Fayetteville for their building fund. The recommendation was carried unanimously. Twenty-three members and five visitors attended the meeting.

Ship's Bell Will Ring For Church

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP)—A 350 pound ship's bell from the old Great Lakes whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus, is set to ring in a new career. It's being sent to a missionary station in Northern Rhodesia, Africa, to be used as a church bell.

The Christopher Columbus, launched in 1892, was scrapped here in 1936. Oscar Lindemans Sr. of Manitowoc purchased the bell and used it as a dinner bell at his cottage of Pigeon Lake. Now he's given it to the Rev. A. B. Habben of the Northern Rhodesian Mission who spent a furlough here.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Quiet trading and mixed prices prevailed in the stock market early this afternoon. Gains and losses in leading issues ranged from fractions to a point.

It was another "waiting market" with investors and traders looking for some hint on President Eisenhower's future intentions from whatever today's market would bring forth.

Steels were generally firm while irregularity was the general rule in other divisions.

The Associated Press index of 60 stocks was down 20 cents at noon to 473.50 largely because of the number of stocks selling ex-dividend. The industrials were off 40 cents, the rails 10 cents and the utilities were unchanged.

Volume for the day was estimated at around 1,400,000 shares, or about the same as the 1,420,000 yesterday under the conditions prevailing on the Lincoln's Birthday holiday.

Bethlehem Steel was up around a point while U. S. Steel, Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube gained fractionally.

American Telephone was off a major fraction while General Motors, Chrysler and Studebaker-Packard inched to the downside.

Long Bell Lumber, which gained 6 points yesterday, went ahead another 7 points again today then lost about 2 points on the gain.

Chicago & Northwestern dropped around 2 points, New Haven lost fractionally while Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio and Southern Pacific clung narrowly to the upside.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) was down close to a point while other oils were mixed.

Ford Motor stock remained up from yesterday at 61 1/4 bid 61 1/2 asked in over-the-counter trading.

markets today were 25 to 50 lower. Tops of 12.50 to 13.25 at Rocky Mount; 12.50 to 13.00 at Tarboro; Enfield; 12.25 to 12.75 at Kinston; Bethel; 12.75 at Hillsboro; 12.50 at Rich Square Goldsboro; 12.25 at Lumberton, Shalotte, Cass 11e Hayne, Rocky Point; 12.00 at Kenly, Snow Hill, New Bern, Benson, Beaufort, Farmville, Nahunta, Mound Olive, Mount Gilead Micro, Elizabethtown, Newton Grove, Dunn, Tabor City, Whiteville, Warsaw, Bailey, Smithfield, Clinton and Fayetteville.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—Central North Carolina live poultry markets today, fryers and broilers steady farm price 20, f.o.b plant 21 3-4. Raleigh eggs steady following decline of three cents. A large 43 to 45.

Asheville fryers and broilers steady, farm price 20, f.o.b plant 21 1/4. Asheville eggs steady, A large 42 to 44.

Communists In Korea Accused

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The U. N. Command accused the Communists again today of bringing military supplies and warplanes into North Korea "in cynical violation of the armistice" and demanded a halt.

It also asked for an accounting of all military shipments into North Korea since the armistice was signed 2 1/2 years ago.

The joint Allied member of the Joint Armistice Commission, Rear Adm. Walter E. Moore made the charges in a meeting with Chinese and Korean Communist members.

Moore also denounced Red accusations the U. N. Command had staged a series of accidents involving neutral truce inspection officials.

The U. N. Command said "military men the world over" could tell that the North Korean Reds were beefing up their forces despite their reports to the contrary.

Another False Alarm At Box

For the second time in less than 24 hours firemen have answered a false alarm at E. Third Street and Rotary Avenue.

An 8:40 a.m. box call sent trucks to the scene this morning. Yesterday's false alarm, also a box call, came at 2:50 p.m.

U.S. population at more than 165 million has increased more than 10 per cent since 1950.

Funeral Wednesday For Roland D. Sauls

FARMVILLE — Roland Dixon Sauls, 36, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home last night at 8:10.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church Wednesday at 3 p.m., with his pastor, Rev. L. C. Vereen, and Rev. E. S. Coates, Presbyterian minister of Farmville, officiating. The body will be taken from the home to the church one hour prior to the funeral service. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

Mr. Sauls was a son of the late Annie Mae and Lawrence Sauls of Eureka. He had lived in Farmville the last 18 years. He served four years in the Army Air Corps during World War II. He was head of the Sauls Wholesale Company here. He was a member of the Methodist Church, superintendent of the Sunday school, member of the Board of Stewards and the Methodist Men's Club and a member of American Legion Post No. 151.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Meta Moore Sauls of the home; two sons, Roland Dixon Sauls Jr. and Fred T. Sauls of the home; one sister, Mrs. Marion Bogue of Eureka; and one brother, Henry J. Sauls of Eureka.

Had 'Wonderful Time' In Week Of Jail Stay

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mrs. Tillie Hansen, 58-year-old housewife who said she had a "wonderful time" during a week's "vacation" in jail, was released yesterday.

Mrs. Hansen was jailed Feb. 6 when Mrs. Alvin Harry invoked an old Wisconsin statute to compel payment of a $150 judgment awarded her 15 years ago after a Parent-Teachers Assn. quarrel.

A settlement was reached yesterday and Mrs. Hansen freed. The amount of the settlement was not made public. Costs and interest had increased the $150 figure to $295.

"I had a wonderful time here," Mrs. Hansen said as she left jail. "I wouldn't mind staying longer."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry paid Mrs. Hansen's $23 jail board bill. The couple's attorneys said the bill was taken into account in the final settlement.

GRIMESLAND—The Grimesland Home Demonstration Club leaders held their first meeting of the year at Mrs. Sarah Ruffin's home, with President Mrs. Jessie Payton presiding.

The club made plans for sponsoring the Home Demonstration Club's banquet and for arranging a special church service on the third Sunday in April. The time was changed from 2:00 to 2:30 p.m. A card from B. Little, who is in a sanatorium, thanked the members for a gift of pajamas last Christmas. Other business transacted at the January meeting included a garden report by Mrs. Sarah Ruffin.

Mrs. Australia Hardy and Mrs. Helen Johnson were welcomed as new members of the Grimesland club.

Mrs. Sarah Ruffin, the hostess, served refreshments.

Mrs. Willie Hawkins is secretary and Mrs. Joe Wilson is treasurer.

Board Suggests Friday Closing

Merchants Association Board of Directors has recommended that all places of business close for World Day of Prayer services Friday.

In compliance with a request from the Greenville Council of Church Women, which is sponsoring the service, the directors are recommending that stores be closed from 10:45 until 12 noon so employers and employes may attend the program.

The service will begin at 11 a.m. at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The Executive Committee will be composed of Daniel R. Sateed, chairman; Dr. M. W. Aldridge, Charles O'H. Horne Jr., J. B. Kittrell Jr., J. T. Marston Jr., W. W. Speight and D. J. Whitchard III.

In addition to the special program to develop Greenville's present industry and to attract new industry to the city, a number of other projects were adopted for each committee, with the exception of the Agricultural Committee which is to meet with county agricultural agencies to work out its program and the cost of any projects.

Projects for 1950

Principal projects to be carried out by other committees for the Chamber during 1950 include completion of a survey of the need for improved housing in the city, promotion of cleaner alleys and streets, support of an expanded recreation program, and endorsement of a "one time contribution" plan for support of community activities.

The Chamber plans to carry out a Business Education Day in Greenville, and to investigate the possibility of establishing a Technical Institute for job and business training.

It will sponsor a "Welcome to Greenville Week" for East Carolina College students and personnel in cooperation with the Merchants Association and other interested organizations, and will cooperate with other organizations in projects which promote Greenville as a tobacco marketing, banking and trading center.

Chambers Urges Legislation

Members will urge the city to request legislation to permit zoning one mile beyond the city limits, and will also urge city and county to adopt an ordinance regulating pest control work and operators.

A survey will be made of the current utilities rates and telephone service in the city, and the Chamber will continue to work for the extension of U.S. Highway 13 through Greenville, for the re-establishment of water transportation on the Tar River and development of inland water ports, for adequate air service for the area, and for better motor freight service.

from her husband on this day dedicated to love, even if she has to chivy her forgetful mate into presenting her with a black eye.

But such is the understanding nature of most wives, however, that it isn't really difficult to please them, bless their gentle souls.

Here are a few suggestions on how to surprise your wife on Valentine's Day and still remain solvent:

1. Send her the biggest, mushiest, most red ribbon - bedecked card you can find, but remember not to use your business signature. If she ever called you by a pet name, sign this. Statistics show that more husbands than single men buy the sentimental three-buck Valentines.
2. Are you a do-it-yourself fan? Carve up one of your kids' old yo-yos into a heart shape and box it with a card reading: "No other girl in the world could string me along but you, baby."
3. If you're a real cheap skate and want to save dough buy a goody dime card, and sign it with one of your wife's old high school lovers. When she proudly shows it to you, throw a real jealous fit. That'll put her on the defensive. On the other hand if she doesn't show it to you, you may have something to worry about a lot more serious than Valentine's Day.
4. If you loaf at home while your wife goes to work, at least put into her lunchbox a sandwich tied with a bit of old lace and a cloth forget-me-not.
5. Should you want to give her a real present, don't give anything sensible like an automatic dish washer. Make it something romantic but impractical, such as a giraffe the same size she wore when you first married her.
6. But, above all, restrain any urge to be comic. I know of a husband who 10 years ago sent his wife a get-well card on St. Valentine's Day—and he's still paying alimony today.

When eyeglasses first were produced in the Middle Ages they often were regarded as products of the devil.
