College Choir To Offer Wide Range Of Songs

The East Carolina College choir, singing here tonight in its annual home concert, will give a program of songs ranging from the reverent to the humorous. The performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium and will be open to the public.

Dr. Elwood Keister of the college faculty will direct the choir. He is well-known in Greenville for his solo recitals as both tenor and violinist; for his direction of Handel's "The Messiah" during the Christmas season for the past three years; and for his outstanding work with the East Carolina Choir, which under his direction has made tours including engagements in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia.

Opening the concert, the choir will sing one of the most difficult compositions in all choral literature, "All Breathing Life, Sing and Praise Ye The Lord" by Bach. This will be followed by the quietly beautiful "O Vos Omnes" by Victoria. The Brahms Motet from Psalm 51 will complete this group.

Included in the contemporary sacred group will be "Beautiful Savior" and "Love In Grief" by Christensen and "Early In The Morning" by McCormick. The "Brazilian Psalm" by Jean Berger, one of the most colorful and impressive modern sacred compositions ever written, will close the group.

Contemporary American writers will be represented by "Madrigal for a Bright Morning" by Wayne Barlow and "A Jubilant Song" by Dello Joia.

The folk song group includes "De Campdown Races" by Lynd, "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair," arranged by Churchill, and "Frankie and Johnny" arranged by Clokey. This classic from American folksong literature will be dramatized in true "handlebar mustache" style by choir members.

Modern arrangements will include "Holiday" by Boland, "A Thing of Beauty" by Wilson and "Let's Have A Square Dance" by Tom Scott.

Music Club Has Program On Mozart

The February meeting of the Greenville Music Club was held last Monday evening in the Music Hall at East Carolina College. Mrs. Howard Bodkin conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Dink James.

The program of the evening was given by Mr. Edmund Durham on Mozart, in honor of the bicentennial of the composer's birth. Mr. Durham's approach was to point out the falsity of many well-known stories regarding the genius of Mozart and then illustrate in some detail the real and much more subtle aspects of that genius. A teacher of music theory at East Carolina College, and at present engaged in writing a doctoral dissertation on the harmonic language of Mozart, Mr. Durham was well qualified to demonstrate several of Mozart's harmonic innovations illustrating them both with recordings and on the piano. He also discussed briefly the compositions of Mozart's contemporaries, then accredited far higher than Mozart's and called attention to the fact that most of the contemporary names are now forgotten. The program closed with a discussion of certain interpretive techniques in which members of the club participated.

Refreshments were served after the program was over. Hostess and host for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Whitley, Miss Ona Shindler, Miss Bessie Brown and Mrs. Paul Davenport.

4-H Girl Recalls Highlight In '55

EDITOR'S NOTE: March 2-11 is being observed as National 4-H Club Week. This article was written by an outstanding Pitt County 4-H girl who was a winner in national 4-H club competition last winter.

"TIME OF MY LIFE"
Phyllis Corbett
Farmville Senior 4-H Club
Attending a National 4-H Club Congress was my aim upon becoming a 4-H club member eight years ago. After going work in projects and leadership the wonderful news was announced on November 1—State Winner in Girl's Record 1955. To receive this award a long time record based on projects pertaining to the some and leadership activities in school was entered in state competition. Project work laid the foundation of the record, but I feel it was the leadership possible in school and community which earned me the honor.

The experience of a lifetime began on November twenty-fifth at the State Recognition Luncheon held in Raleigh for the 75 state winners. Only 31 of the winners were delegates to the 34th National 4-H Congress. An excited group of 4-H'ers boarded a trailway bound for Lynchburg, Va. at 1:30. Members of the delegation were strangers but upon arriving in Lynchburg everyone was acquainted. Having a police escort due to congested traffic caused the first exciting and humorous incident of the trip. We had to wait 30 minutes after getting to the station. Each delegate received an all expense trip due to having sponsors who paid for everything—even the tips.

Train Trip Fun
Boarding the train was a joyous occasion. Sleeping, eating, and riding on it were an unusual experience for the majority of the delegates. We girls were luckier than the boys in having sleeping compartments while they had berths. What could be more beautiful than peeping out of a train window at snow-covered mountains at four o'clock in the morning? That was exactly what occurred.

Saturday morning we saw the largest train terminal in the world in Cincinnati. The walls of the station showed paintings of different industries in the world. Taking the James Whitcomb Riley, we headed toward the cold and windy, but wonderful city of Chicago.

Mr. L.R. Harrill, our State 4-H leader, announced the National winners in which the girls proved to the boys that being of the minority in delegates we were the smarter in having seven of the eight National winners from North Carolina.

Cold in Chicago
Chicago greeted our delegation with cold weather, but a warm spirit. After registering at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, largest in the world, it was discovered that the girls' rooms were next to the top floor.

The round of entertainment, being top-notch throughout our stay, started Saturday with a concert by the Chicago Symphony in the orchestra hall, which had a domed-shaped top that appeared as a soft and velvet blue. With the first note of "The Star Spangled Banner" everyone sat with open eyes and mouths.

On Sunday came the annual 4-H service by the Reverend Kenneth Hildebrandt whose topic was "Stars at Your Fingertips." Various speakers of the week discussed our theme for the congress, "Improving Family and Community Living."

Attending a showing of the "Cinema Holiday" proved to the delegates that imagination can play tricks. The movie carried us on various rides, while on the ferris wheel we experienced funny feelings as we whirled around.

At the International Livestock Show the entire delegation was presented and heard a talk by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Strenuous Activities
The strenuous activities of the week created enormous appetites satisfied by elaborate banquets. General Motors entertained at the Palmer House on Thursday, December first where we received the warmest hospitality of the week. Music played by famous orchestras plus entertainment were always a part of the banquets.

Twenty-two buses composed of the 4-H'ers at congress claimed the right of way on rides in the city. The tours we took offered educational and valuable points. Seeing the Museum of Science and Industry, Universities of Chicago and Illinois, and frozen ponds, which appeared most unusual to the Southerners, were included in the various tours.

Montgomery Ward presented on Tuesday the Girls' Record Winners at the South Shore Country Club. Lou Reese and his orchestra, with the assistance of Dorothy Collins, entertained the girl delegates of the congress.

National winners in Girls' Records hailed from Oregon, Missouri, Illinois, New York, Kentucky, and North Carolina. Being the only winner not attending college and the Southern belle of the group, I had the opportunity of having my picture taken for the January issue of the Southern Planter at our news conference. Cook books given by Montgomery Ward will be cherished as well as the many other souvenirs we received at congress.

The most exciting moment of the week was receiving my scholarship at the National 4-H Recognition Banquet, on Thursday night. Friendliness and understanding delegates from 48 states, Canada, Hawaii, Alaska, and 21 foreign countries prevailed at the congress and it impressed me greatly to know of the good work the youth of the United States can do organized as we are in 4-H.

Airplane Ride Thrill
Another thrill came with that airplane ride home on Friday. Being so smooth the 4-H'ers were sleeping soundly upon arriving in Washington, D.C., after traveling 21 thousand feet up at 375 miles per hour. Landing in Raleigh, we were a tired but happy bunch of youngsters. Parting was a slow process at the airport for some of us because we hated the idea of leaving our new friends of a week.

Every delegate to congress realizes their obligation to the 1900 4-H'ers each represented during their stay in Chicago. It is our desire to help and guide them in their future work. Thanks goes to Farmville high school, Farmville Pitt 4-H'ers and agents, and the State College Extension Staff for helping me achieve this honor. The trip showed me that anything worth having is available only through hard work.

My trip to the 34th National 4-H Congress is one of the grandest things that could occur to an individual. The experience gained will remain with me throughout my life.

Grifton School Listing Pupils
GRIFTON—Grifton school is now compiling a list of children who expect to attend the first grade next year. Any parent who has a child who will attend first grade is asked to register the child with the school office if his name has not already been sent in.

There will be a meeting for parents of these children at 9:30 a.m. March 9 in the school assembly room. This meeting of parents is for the purpose of getting acquainted with the first grade teachers and other school personnel and discussion of children and reading progress, in addition to an informative film on the child and reading.

Mrs. Nobles, nurse, and Miss Annie Lee Jones, Pitt County supervisor of elementary schools, will be present to outline the procedure for the pre-school clinic which will be held on March 22.

Principal E. B. Bright said it is not necessary that the children attend the meeting but parents of prospective first graders are urged to attend.

To enter school in the 1956-57 school year a child must be six years old on or before October 16, 1956. If parents will bring birth certificates to the meeting on March 9, they can be verified at this time, as required by law. Bright stated, "Two meetings instead of one are being held, he said, to avoid a rush on clinic day."

DEADLY WEAPON
NATIONAL CITY, Calif. (AP)—The municipal court put Alvin B. Cramer, 36, on three years probation and confiscated his bow and arrow. He had admitted exhibiting a deadly weapon—the bow and arrow—while chasing Hugh E. Maranville during a quarrel.

Rutgers University professors are developing a stingless iodine.

THAT DID IT — Annette Hunt, Indianapolis High School senior, shows pie she baked to win 1956 cherry pie baking contest in Chicago over U. S. and Canadian entrants.

Spent 39 Hours Trapped In Tub

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Stella Crowley, 72, today was found to have suffered no ill effects after spending 39 hours in a bath tub. She became ill while bathing Friday night and was in the tub until yesterday when her daughter, Mrs. Mary Hawkins, found the doors locked on her usual Sunday visit.

The daughter called firefighters, who entered the house and helped the elderly woman into bed.

Mrs. Crowley's only complaint after her rescue was: "I'm hungry."

INDUSTRY FOR KANSAS
TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Eighty new industries started operation in this predominantly agricultural state in 1955. The Kansas Industrial Development Commission said it was the biggest new gain in eight years. Towns with less than 10,000 population got 40 per cent of the new plants.

One 10th of U.S. crops are lost to insects.

DECORATED WITH FOOD — You know that old expression, "I'll eat my hat?" Well, this white velvet hat, shown in Paris, is decorated with pieces of real macaroni.

Golden Girl 'Emmy' Is Under Heavy Fire

HOLLYWOOD P—An 8-year-old golden girl named Emmy was being shot at by some well-known marksmen this week.

Emmy is an ethereal-looking gold statuette, a shapely miss in a diaphanous gown upholding an electronic symbol of circles and things. The origin of her name is rather obscure, the best explanation being that it stems from the word "image." She is the younger sister to the 28-year-old Oscar, being the award of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

This defenseless doll was under attack from such persons as Jerry Lewis, Jack Webb and Liberace, who might be accused of lack of chivalry. Or, some say, modesty. At the dawn, the cops (oops—officer) and the dowagers' cupcake were beeping about being neglected or misclassified in the TVAcademy's eighth annual nominations. This has been termed the greatest case of sour grapes since a Fresno winery produced 16 vats of vinegar.

Come on now, boys. Jerry is hurt because he wasn't nominated. He's on TV four times a year. Shouldn't he compete with comics who have to be funny every week? Webb wants to pick up his marbles because he didn't like the way he was classified. Would Joe Friday abandon a fight? As for Liberace—didn't Mom teach you to be a good loser? Having dented Emmy, I will now proceed to criticize.

The dreadful truth, I fear is that television is virtually unavoidable.

Movies are different. The studios make individual films, in which actors act out stories. They are homogeneous. There is a reasonable basis for pictures, actors and other craftsmen competing for individual awards.

But TV is so diverse, so complex, embracing so many forms of entertainment and information that awards make little sense. The academy has wound up with the absurdity of more than 40 different awards. It has tried to please everyone and ended up pleasing few.

"Yes, Marcel Proust is the greatest novelist of the 20th century."

Ernest Hemingway?
"A first-class novelist."

A board the ship Esperia, Maugham was sailing back to his French Riviera home. He had visited Spain, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, Sudan and Italy.

"I thought I would like to do some more traveling before they lay me away," he explained. Maugham still finds activity a virtue. He has achieved success in almost every literary field. His plays include "The Circle" and "The Constant Wife." Among his novels are "Of Human Bondage" and "The Moon and Sixpence." Today he writes out, though bothered by rheumatism and bronchitis.

"He's irritable if he isn't writing," explained Alan Searle, Maugham's secretary for 26 years. Searle confided that Maugham has forsaken fiction for the leisurely composition of an anthology of essays.

Slim Elegance Built Into The New Spectator Shoes

They're new, they're smart, they are different! Spectator used to be a dull name for a basic shoe. Brown-and-white, red-and-white for a dash of excitement. The spectator is as highly styled as the most formal shoe in your wardrobe. It's the shoe you'll probably wear the most, so highly adaptable is it to various spring and summer costumes.

The spectator of Spring '38 is slim and elegant, with tapered toe and delicately shaped heel, whether high, low or medium. It comes in new leathers.

In addition to the classic smooth leathers and suedes there are such new materials as alligator, softly brushed so that it looks sueded, and the fine grains that take a high polish and are glove-soft on the foot.

As always, combination of leathers and colors are important in this type of shoe. But they handle them differently nowadays.

Back and heel may be of one color, vamp of another. Mud-guard treatments have been revived for effective contrasts. Sometimes stitching or piping adds the color touch, usually with heel to match. Pinking, perforations and cutouts with underlay of color add the dress-maker look that is essential this year.

Brown-and-white and black-and-white look new in these new treatments. Red-and-black promises to be a high fashion combination for spring wear.

As spring moves into summer there's a whole palette of new colors to glamorize the spectator. Pale bisque and light beige and the whole beige-to-brown family are important.

Newest looking of all are the flower-petal colors in fine-grained textured leathers—pastel pinks, yellows, blues and violet to go with spring woolsens, and later to team up happily with your summer cottons and linens.

Glamour Afoot

Slender new lines in sling pumps of soft matte leather play up buckles and toes. Flaming model shown by Customercraft.

The soft tailored pump in suede comes in peanut shades to wear with spring beiges, browns or tweeds. Marshall, Meadows, Stewart.

Out-of-door entertaining being what it is, many women reserve their prettiest shoes for parties on patio or terrace. The Eastern influence is strong in this category in both color and cut. Low-sided pumps, slippers and mules are in many instances inspired by Oriental shoe-making. Sandals are important, thonged, twisted or banded, offering wide variety.

There are exotic new materials, leathering embroidery, gilding and cool effects. In leathers, kidskins, featuring Oriental, pale or bright colors are a favorite. Vinylite contributes to the naked look.

Fabrics include everything from demure in new party shades to imported silks.

70,000 Retail Outlets
There are about 20,000 shoe stores in the U.S. But there are over 70,000 retail outlets of all kinds through which shoes are sold. Shoe stores and department stores account for about 88 percent of all the stores sold in the country.

High Style In Low Heels Of Spring, Summer Shoes

Good news for women. They used to be called sensible. The mid-heel heights and the flats. Shoes with these heel heights were conservative, conventional, built for comfort rather than eye-appeal.

Things are different now, and are the girls happy! The medium heel has become high fashion. Designers, realizing the army of women who want this heel, have gone to work with great success to glamorize it. It appears on many of the smartest shoes of the spring season.

Medium heels are thinner, more delicately curved, flattering as well as comfortable on the foot. Even square heels have been narrowed at the base to give a slim, trim look. Wedges are in many instances shaped or whittled out to a flattering line.

The story of the heel is not complete without mention of the decorated heels which are going right on into spring. There is endless variety in heel trims. Lucite heels are still a feature. They've been seen on the street this last season but are now being more and more used for cocktail and lancer shoe.

There are painted, filigreed, jeweled heels and heels made of fabric or printed leather on the new shoes for spring and summer. For daytime wear, the heel in contrasting leather, and color, especially patent, is a feature of many of the most attractive town shoes.

Shoe Wardrobe Requires Flats

Yes, women are wearing flats. And they don't have to go to the children and junior departments to get them.

Flats are now a recognized part of a well-organized shoe wardrobe, and mighty smart they are for spring. Good shoe making and smart new designs have made the flat more than a mere country casual.

It's divinely comfortable, of course, but its claim to high style is comparatively recent.

They come in halter styles and new dipped slings. In tailored flats to wear with tweeds the square throat and straight sideline gives the new look.

For hot weather wear sandalized, bare stripping and banded flats go well with pretty summer cottons.

Materials are as varied as styles, depending on when and where you plan to wear the little shoe. Rafia, especially in black and white, is a summer feature. Glove or rough suede leather for the town and country type.

Grained and shrunken leathers, and lustre leathers in dark or pastel shades add to the variety. Velvet comes in lovely colors. Very high hat.

Enchantment In Vinylite Slipper

In any season, there's a place for the gay and frivolous in slippers—the sheer extravaganzas that's the highlight of a party costume. And that's where vinylite comes in.

Vinylite makes the Cinderella slipper of glass. It lends itself to sheer enchantment in cocktail and dance shoes. With this clear transparent material, shoe designers have let their fancy run riot.

There are mule types and sandals in vinylite, each of them a jeweler's piece. Take for example the crystal clear vinylite mule, backless, of course, with slender lucite heel and open toe—and for decoration, a huge butterfly ornament in exotic colors poised at one side of the vamp.

Less exotic, but equally smart, a cocktail shoe consists of a gold kid halter sling with inserts of clear vinylite on the vamp, and lucite heel. Gold and crystal for the shoe that can accompany any formal costume.

In another formal mule type of slipper, the rhinestone studded heel is white satin, the open toe vamp is clear vinylite with glittering cadillac ornament of rhinestones.

Slim And Softer Pumps To Show Up On Spring Scene

The pump may not be new—but it's new! The beautiful new pumps which open the spring season are as different from the old standard opera pump as jeeps are from Cadillacs.

They're light in the hand and on the foot soft and flexible in new soft lannages. They're slim in line, slim and curved in heel, the last word in femininity.

There is a great variety of patterns to choose from—the deep V throat, the oval throatline, the squared off vamp with disappearing sides introduced by Givenchy.

It's the chance of a lifetime to pick THE pump that flatters your foot and is velvet-soft to walk-in.

The plain pump is still the choice of many women. But it's a pump with a new look, due to the seamless folded top-line, the lower back and straighter side. A very much smarter silhouette than that of the pump we knew a few seasons back, and artfully adapted to the slim sheath lines which prevail in high fashion town clothes.

Many of the pumps for the coming season go in for smart decorative touches. But they are done with a master's hand, to emphasize rather than detract from the graceful lines of the shoe itself. Typical trims are narrow self-stripings, tiny fold-back throat tabs, center and off-side draping and slim flat self bows.

Color of course is important. Black in patent in polished calf, in silk or silk and leather combinations, and for women who prefer it, black suede.

Blue bows to brown this spring in high fashion brackets. But you can't get away from navy blue as a popular spring shoe color. For the new look, it's blue with a lustrous finish, alone or used as a trim.

The browns are really making headlines for spring from the true brown to shades running to beige—and it looks as though lighter color in shoes would emerge as a big fashion not too long after Easter.

Symington Appears A Good Prospect

The dark horse of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination is taking an increasing share of the political spotlight these days.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri is receiving more attention from political observers and the nation's press as convention time draws closer. A capable man who is not yet considered in the "running" for the nomination, Symington appears a logical person to figure prominently in the alignment of Democratic party factions at the convention.

With President Eisenhower now assured of the Republican nomination, the Democratic strategy must of necessity be to put a man in the race who can defeat the President. While supporters of Stevenson, Kefauver and Harriman all assert their particular favorite is the person for the task, there remain a number of factors for consideration.

While Stevenson is far and away in front of the other prominent Democratic candidates, there are many who are reluctant to pin their hopes on a man who has already shown up in the losing column. Particularly so when he is pitted against the same opposition that caused the defeat. It must also be considered that the chances of any of the three leading Democratic candidates would be slim against Eisenhower in attracting the large independent vote which follows a moderate candidate as opposed to either a liberal or conservative.

In 1952 Eisenhower attracted a surprisingly large number of these "moderate" votes which normally would have been in the Democratic column. He likewise received many votes in the South which normally would have been in the Democrat fold.

Symington appears even now to have a better chance of breaking even with Eisenhower on the independent vote as well as the moderate vote than either of the principals which have so far held the limelight in Democratic maneuvers. Certainly he could expect a more enthusiastic support from the Southern wing of the party than either Stevenson, Kefauver or Harriman. That too, will be a factor as the Democrats seek this year to pick a winner.

Date-Setting Meet For Demo Sessions

By LYNN NISBET DEMOCRATS — The State Democratic Executive Committee will meet to set dates for the House of Representatives in the capitol next Thursday, March 8, at 3:00 p.m. Main purpose of the meeting is to fix the date and place for the annual state convention and dates for the preceding precinct and county meetings.

At least two vacancies on the committee occasioned by deaths of Dr. H.B. Perry of Watauga in the ninth district and Mrs. Paul A. Reid of Jackson in the twelfth are expected to be filled. County chairmen have been advised to have suitable resolutions prepared and nominees for the positions.

The committee may act on other matters, such as amendments to the plan of organization, or resolutions endorsing or condemning certain actions or persons. The resulting business is generally left up to the full convention.

DATES — The state committee has sole authority and responsibility to set dates for the conventions. For many years the rule has been to hold the state-wide meeting in Raleigh on the second Thursday before the first of June.

State meetings have been held during primaries and after the runoff. In years when there are heated contests for high offices the candidates like the convention before voting day so their supporters can meet on the state executive committee. Only five of the twelve districts meet that requirement. The first, second, third, fourth and ninth districts maintain the tradition. The fifth and eleventh districts save 13 men and five women each; the sixth and seventh have a ratio of 12 to six; the 10th and 11th have 10 to eight; and the eighth is worst of all with 14 men and four women.

Although the first sentence of the Plan fixes membership of the state committee at 12 from each of the 12 districts, a total of 216, another section adds six members. Sec. 10 provides that the chairman, vice-chairman and secretary of the committee are two members of the national committee and the president of the State YDC shall be ex-officio member. In 1952, the fraction thereof votes cast in the district for the Republican candidate for Governor in the preceding election.

April 7. Since the plan of organization places authority for fixing dates in well to be followed and allocation of delegates, question has been raised whether precinct and county meetings held on other dates will be recognized and delegates named to the state convention accredited.

REPUBLICAN — Republicans hold their conventions earlier in the year because of the custom of actually making nominations for elective offices. Because all candidates must file with the State Board of Elections the Republicans meet before the filing time expires.

The Republican state convention is scheduled to be held at Durham next Saturday, March 10. Practically all the congressional district conventions have been called for March 9, and the county meetings generally were held Saturday, March 3, in the courthouses.

Although they are hopelessly in the minority in most of the counties and districts, as well as a state-wide, many Republican leaders feel they are in a position to set the date and place for the state convention. The Democrats probably more than Republicans.

RULES — The plans or organization adopted by each respective party conventions are presumed to be controlling. Both parties often ignore, the Democrats probably more than Republicans.

The first sentence of the Democratic Plan provides for nine men and nine women from each congressional district on the state executive committee. Only five of the twelve districts meet that requirement. The first, second, third, fourth and ninth districts maintain the tradition. The fifth and eleventh districts save 13 men and five women each; the sixth and seventh have a ratio of 12 to six; the 10th and 11th have 10 to eight; and the eighth is worst of all with 14 men and four women.

Although the first sentence of the Plan fixes membership of the state committee at 12 from each of the 12 districts, a total of 216, another section adds six members. Sec. 10 provides that the chairman, vice-chairman and secretary of the committee are two members of the national committee and the president of the State YDC shall be ex-officio member. In 1952, the fraction thereof votes cast in the district for the Republican candidate for Governor in the preceding election.

JUMPED — Sampson County Chairman Stuart Warren jumped the gun on the committee and the plan of organization. He has announced that precinct meetings will be held at the polling places on Saturday, March 31, and the convention in the courthouse on

Another Opportunity To Channel Enthusiasm

North Carolina must accelerate its industrial development to replace the loss of the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The announcement several months ago of the intention of ACL officials to transfer the general offices of the company from Wilmington set state officials stirring seeking to have the company keep its offices in the port city or relocate them within the state.

Now in a letter to the mayor of Wilson, the president of ACL has asserted the new location for the company's general offices will be either Charleston, S. C., Savannah, Ga. or Jacksonville, Fla.

North Carolina cities which have been actively seeking to be selected as the site for the new general offices of ACL may or may not give up their campaigns on the basis of this announcement. Certainly neither local campaigns nor the state efforts to have the general offices of ACL relocated in North Carolina should be abandoned until it is absolutely certain that North Carolina has been ruled out of the railroad's considerations.

Like the campaigns staged by many small and large cities in the state in an effort to attract the Presbyterian College, efforts by Tar Heel cities to attract the general offices of the ACL have not been in vain. Each community which has made an effort has stimulated interest in the development of its own community. Although the initial goal is not obtained, the situation affords an ideal opportunity to channel the generated energy in another direction which will benefit the community.

An excellent example of this is now being carried out in Goldsboro which was eliminated from the competition for the Presbyterian College. Goldsboro has now launched a drive to raise one million dollars for Mount Olive College, a small junior college located in Wayne County. The enthusiasm created in the effort to attract the four year Presbyterian College was quickly and smoothly transformed into a program to aid an institution within Wayne County.

Public Forum Column Is For The Readers

The Reflector is gratified by the use which has been made of its Public Forum by residents of Greenville in connection with the proposal to fluoridate the city's water supply.

A dozen letters pertaining to the Fluoridation issue have been received and carried in the Public Forum so far. Through these letters, we feel Reflector readers have afforded a wide range of opinions and a broad scope of information on the proposed fluoridation program. The letters themselves, both pro and con, are indicative of the public interest in the proposal.

The Reflector is always pleased when a reader avails himself of the opportunity to publicly express his own opinion on any matter of public interest in this paper's Public Forum column. It is a column set aside by The Reflector for the specific purpose of providing a medium for the expression of personal opinions by readers.

It is our hope that in the future Reflector readers will use the Public Forum column of this newspaper more frequently for the discussion of issues of the day. We earnestly solicit from our readers the expression of such opinions through the Public Forum.

There are two fundamental rules we ask our readers to follow in writing letters in the Public Forum. Because of space limitation we ask that a single letter contain not more than 300 words. All letters must be signed by the author. No anonymous letters will appear in the Public Forum.

(Due to space limitations, letters must be kept to 300 words, or less)

Dear Editor, An inquiry was made concerning the merits of fluoridation of water in the Public Health Service. Enclosed find letter for your "Public Forum" Column, sent to me, in answer to inquiry by Dr. Hagen, Chief of Public Health Service.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Courtney Stromsta

Excerpts from the letter written to Mrs. Stromsta by Thomas E. Hagan, Dental Director, Chief, Division of Dental Public Health, United States Public Health Service:

"In response to your letter of January 24 requesting information about fluoridation, we are enclosing a number of publications.

As you know, the Public Health Service has long endorsed the fluoridation of public water supplies as a safe, effective and economical procedure for the partial prevention of tooth decay. The procedure has grown out of some 50 years of research in this country and abroad, and is approved by such organizations as the American Dental Association, the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the National Research Council, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and state and local health departments.

Children who start drinking fluoridated water when they are under eight years old, or while the enamel is forming on their teeth, obtain the greatest reduction in tooth decay. The reduction in tooth decay obtained with fluoridated water continue to middle life.

Among the studies of fluoridation conducted during the last 25 years are those concerned with its effects on the body. In these studies, experimental work was conducted with laboratory animals. In dental examinations, fluoridated water was examined and analyzed in fluoride and non-fluoride towns, and toxicological evidence were evaluated. These investigations show that the recommended amount of fluoride will not harm the body in any way.

At the present time 22,000,000 people in about 1,200 communities are provided with fluoridated water. In addition, people in 1,600 communities are receiving the fluoride in their drinking water through the use of fluoride in their water pipes.

The story of Cain and Abel is known to every Bible reader. Cain slays his brother, and when God asks Cain "where is your brother," Cain replies, "Am I my brother's keeper?" The Old Testament affirms that every man is his brother's keeper. The New Testament declares that every man is his brother's brother. Between these two conceptions lie thousands of years of moral improvement in human outlook.

Pre-Easter Sales Looking Up

By CLMER ROESSNER
The chances are fair to good that pre-Easter sales will be unusually high this season, perhaps setting new records.

However, Easter is on the early side this year, falling on the eleventh of possible days, which are from March 22 to April 25. This leaves a lot of sales to the whim of the weather, but that is the weather so far this year has been to borrow a Los Angeles phrase—unusual. People floating down West Coast rivers, tossed about the sky by Midwest tornadoes or chilled by unseasonable freezes in the East make pretty poor customers. But if the weather is close to average, sales volume may be excellent.

CONSUMERS CONFIDENT
Sales have been on the upbeat this year. Federal Reserve figures showed an 11 per cent drop in department store sales for the first week of the year, but that was only because there was one less shopping day than in the comparable week in 1955.

Since then there have been steady increases in the national total, although in some trading areas. Sales nationally were 6 per cent ahead in the week ending January 28—the Cleveland District, with an increase of 20 per cent, helped push it up—and the stores started Lent 2 per cent ahead of last year.

Consumers appear to have considerable faith in the future of the economy. Consumer confidence is usually expressed in terms of purchases. The average man spends more and saves less when he is sure of his job, his income and the future. He reverses this when he is uneasy. Retail sales have continued to rise even when stock market prices quavered, which may indicate that the average man has more confidence in the future than investors and speculators.

MORE MONEY TO SPEND
Another reason for expecting good sales during March is that approximately 2,000,000 worker just got a raise. The amended Federal Wage and Hour Law boosted the minimum pay of those in interstate commerce to $1 an hour, and the best-educated guessers are that many workers benefited.

The increases ranged from 1 cent to 25 cents an hour. If the average rise was only 10 cents, the aggregate is $8,000,000 net. A 40-hour week, or $32,000,000 between now and Easter. And because that increase is "new" money to the recipients and an increase that came without any extra labor, what's left after taxes will be highly expendable.

In the Northeast section of the country, 3 per cent of covered workers in manufacturing got raises, according to Commerce Clearing House. Increases went to 4 per cent in the Midwest and 2 per cent in the West. Large percentages got raises in certain industries in the South, with 84 per cent of the worker in Southern saw and planing mills and 44 per cent of the workers in food industries getting increases.

TRAP IN SALES COMPARISONS
While this and other wage increases in the last 12 months will help increase total retail sales, merchants should guard against being misled by week-to-week comparisons with last year. Because Easter is nine days earlier than it was last year, the upsurge of shopping will be approximately a week earlier—approximately because the pull of Easter will be counteracted in part by the seasons. For similar reasons, sales in the week ending March 24, the week before Easter week stand to be vastly higher than sales in the comparable week in 1955, while sales in the week ending April 7 will be markedly lower.

Blind To Beauty? Not Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—To me, Deborah Kerr is one of the most beautiful and talented beings I have seen. She is a her with a whirl-rrr!

To meet and talk with her in person was still, after all the movie people I had met, something of a personal adventure. She sits in me the kind of goose pimples I used to feel when I wore real pimples.

I am beyond true paralyzing stage fright, but I came out of the brightness down the steps into the considered twilight of the 21 Restaurant with some awe, not out of respect for the restaurant but out of respect for the actress I was to see.

At the greeting table very close to the entrance I identified myself. I was to see Deborah Kerr, mentioned that she would be accompanied by a Mr. Leonard Wayne of Paramount Pictures.

"Is she here?" I asked of the dark, not unhandsome attendant. "No," he said positively. "It didn't encourage me to inquire."

"I'll wait in here," I said, uncomfortably, moving into the lounge area. Big Black-Brows didn't say yes or no. So I sidled into a chair. Nervously I fingered my wallet. It was still there. There was no money in it but I knew it held an identity card from the U.S. Department of Defense, and I figured that in an emergency I could hand it out and cry, "See! This is me!"

I looked at the Western drawings of Frederic Remington on the wall. They seemed terribly robust and long ago.

An elderly man near the door frowned and half started from his chair.

"Wall Street must have collapsed," I thought nervously but apparently it hadn't. Because the old man puffed back contentedly in his seat, like a smiling faced balloon.

This is one of the 10 great restaurants of the Western world? I had come in at 3:23 p.m., stuffed with superb haddock as dealt by P.J. Moriarty, owner of a 6th Avenue emporium of hunger.

A dandified lady passing by me gave a $12.65 belch; at least it sounded like $12.65—give or take half a buck. I felt justified in giving a diminished $1.75 burp back based on the haddock.

No reply. Silence. Class will always tell.

I picked up a copy of the New Yorker, smiled at the cartoons, glanced at the short pieces looked at the signatures of the fiction pieces.

Then I started looking at my watch. Had Deborah Kerr stood me up? It was quite a disfunction, but one that somehow I

Uranium Release Runs Into New Uproar

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON President Eisenhower's proposal to furnish a vast store of uranium to foreign countries for peacetime purposes has run into a storm of opposition on Capitol Hill, even before submission of a detailed program. It has revived "giveaway" charges on the Democratic side, with the silent support of many Republican skeptics.

Such a gift would place the United States at an enormous disadvantage from a long-range standpoint, in the opinion of the opposition. It would give our competitors, possibly including Russia and the State-lites a 10 or 20-year head start in the conversion of atomic energy to industrial and agricultural utilization.

DOUBTS CONCERNING SALE GUARDED In view of Russia's many successes in prying atomic secrets from the anti-Communist world, particularly the United States, Britain and Canada, there is grave doubt that safeguards could be erected against Russian capture of the precious uranium and production facilities sold or leased abroad. The beneficiaries would undoubtedly export strict and constant U.S. inspection.

Moreover, the lands most in need of atomic energy for peacetime development of their resources are the so-called backward and undeveloped countries in Asia, the Far East, the Middle East, Africa. Many of these governments, despite generous American aid, have shown more sympathy toward Moscow than toward the Western Powers.

Naturally, Capitol Hill wonders whether they can be trusted to withhold this valuable resource from the communists. Even our allies, as the McClellan inquiry reveals, have been selling strategic materials to the Soviet Union a boycott relaxation negotiated by Harold E. Stassen when he headed the Economic Co-operation Administration.

POWER COSTS HERE AND ELSEWHERE Even now, the United States suffers a disadvantage in adapting atomic energy to ordinary peacetime use because of the low cost of most competitive fuels—coal, oil, gas, hydroelectricity. There is neither the economic incentive nor need for intensive development here.

Most of our foreign allies for atomic energy are supplied with power at from six to eight mills per kilowatt hour. In Western Europe, the charge is from 12 to 18 mills. In Australia and Japan, it ranges from 18 to 30 mills. In the undeveloped areas, it amounts to five or six cents, a prohibitive figure.

This is it that in England, where coal is scarce and expensive, they expect to obtain 40 per cent of their power from atomic sources by 1975. Experts believe the comparative percentage here in that year will be only 10 per cent.

SKETCHY OF IKE'S PROPOSAL The oil-and-gas bloc which recently demonstrated its strength on Capitol Hill are skeptical of Ike's proposed distribution. They feel it might furnish 60 per cent of our power needs now, and a vast industry has been built around them. Both the coal and public power groups may oppose the White House plan.

They are sitting pretty now, in view of forecasts that the U.S. will not actually need this new form of energy for many years. But an overseas demonstration of atomic energy's peacetime possibilities might conceivably hasten the day of its general use in this country with reduction of costs to the level of com-

Self-Service Education May Suffice

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I don't see any way to cut costs of operating Primary or Grammar Schools. I believe, however, that High Schools and Colleges will become more efficient and economically operated. The self-service supermarket will show the way.

DO-IT-YOURSELF MOVEMENT
Some educational experts are urging cities and towns to spend money on building better schools, equipment and devote more of the total allotment to teachers' salaries. This may be good politics, but it is not in the student interest. It favors spending better schools with better libraries and equipment, but having fewer teachers. Then pay better salaries to these fewer teachers.

The more vital field for "Do-It-Yourself" campaign is that of education. A parent can buy a set of encyclopedias for $100 which contain more information than could be learned by the facts of all the teachers in your community. Moreover, the training and disciplines of self-education is even more valuable than all the facts that can be learned hence. I forecast that the next great movement in education for those above 13 years of age will be teaching students to learn with their own hands.

Some cities with the same city would put the managers of their self-service supermarkets on their school boards.

WHAT DOES YOUR SCHOOL BOARD KNOW?
To begin with, you probably don't know who are on your local school board. If not, send to your Superintendent of Schools and ask for a list of the members and the business in which each is engaged and the number of children which each has in the school. You may be surprised to find how poorly chosen these men and women are for this work.

In too many cities, school board members are interested in getting money for themselves or their friends as doctors, builders, insurance agents, bank officials, storekeepers, etc. These school committee members naturally make the members of the Superintendent of Schools who is an honest man but is guided by the colleges which determine what shall be taught and how. The Superintendent and School Principals are too often judged by the number of students they pass along to the colleges, and promoted accordingly. They are the men and women who deserve much better pay, but they have very little freedom.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?
I have attended a family of four grown-up brothers and of whom attended the same schools and had the same teachers. Yet three of the men are today useful in their communities and hold good positions. One of the boys was a "delinquent" and is now a near-dowell supported by the first three. The question the mother asks is: "Did the schools have any effect on the character of 'life' of these boys?"

TRAVELING TO THE MOON
The books most popular with the youth of today are books on "space travel"—that is, going to other planets. It is said that Washington is having more inquiries about the earth "satellites" which are to be sent to the moon about any other subject. Why is it that young people are so much more interested in other worlds than in learning about their own world and how to live in it? Something is wrong somewhere. Education should teach how to live. It should help parents mold their children.

Teachers should be spiritually minded in order to be efficient. Although they should be paid better salaries, yet this salary should not be based upon the degrees which they have received. Looking back over my school

ATOMIC ENERGY USE IN U.S.
For various reasons, according to the experts, the use of atomic energy will be confined to defense fields for many years in this country. The Air Force hopes to produce a power plant sufficient light for installation in heavy bombers. It will eventually be adapted to aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers, and possibly ocean liners.

In other fields, its use is limited. Few authorities look for it to propel trains, trucks and aviation planes, passenger cars. Operating in crowded cities, streets, railroad stations and airports, the danger to human health and life from radioactive particles in a crash would be ever-present. The same objections apply to most of our allies in the small and congested countries of Europe. Ironically, they do not hold in the vast spaces of Russia and China, where the engineers regard life as cheap, any way.

Industrially, however, the source of power has a vast and unlimited potential abroad. It is this realization which causes Congress in this country with reduction of costs to the level of com-

East Carolina's Bucs Meet Presbyterian In NAlA Tonite

Smith Says Bucs Will Win If Sharp

East Carolina College bids for another trip to Kansas City tonight in Clinton, S.C. against Presbyterian College in the District 26 playoffs of the NAlA.

Coach Howard Porter and a company of 10 players left early yesterday morning by car. Tonight's action gets underway at 8 o'clock.

East Carolina, competing in its four playoffs in as many years, has a big obstacle in the Presbyterian Blue Hose, champions of the Little Four Conference.

The Clinton collegians topped Erskine by one point 81-80 in the Little Four final at Anderson Saturday night to take the crown. Friday night Presbyterian edged Wake Forest 103-102 to gain the finals.

Elon vs. Erskine

The other half of the district playoffs concerns Elon, the North State Conference champion, and Erskine at Due West, S. C.

The winners of tonight's action collide Wednesday for the right to travel to Kansas City and the National playoffs March 12-17. The final game of the local playoffs will be played on the home court of the team with the best seasonal mark against NAlA teams.

Should East Carolina and Elon triumph, the finals will be played in Greenville Wednesday night. If Presbyterian and Elon win, the game will go to Clinton.

Assistant Coach Earl Smith scouted the Blue Hose through the tournament and commented: "We've got to be up and they've got to be down to win. That's how good they are."

Smith stated that East Carolina will have to stop Bruce Thompson, the Blue Hose fine center, to win. Presbyterian took the title on a last-second shot by Thompson, just as the buzzer sounded. Erskine bitterly protested to officials without avail. Thompson had 35 points for the night.

Beas Sharp

"Presbyterian can run, shoot and jump very well," Smith said. "They are not overly tall but will run you right off the floor. We've got to be up, that's all."

Smith, though, feels that East Carolina is in its best shape since mid-January. That was before Fred James, who was hitting his stride, got hurt. "Our boys looked real sharp in drills last week. Our shooting was sharp and we worked the ball well."

East Carolina has made the Kansas City trip twice. A third time would give it the best NAlA record of any small college in the Carolinas.

Army Horsemen Strong Threat For Olympic Team

TRYON, N.C. (AP)—The Army has been mechanized, but influence of the old horse cavalry is strong in the trials for the United States equestrian Olympic team under way here.

The main competition is for the Prix de Nations, or arena jumping, team.

The United States also will have and Three-Day (cross country) Grand Dressage (classical riding) teams in the horse and rider Olympics at Stockholm, Sweden in June.

But Maj. Robert Borg of The Dalles, Ore., coach of the Three-Day team, probably will be the sole United States entry in the Grand Dressage. The Three-Day team was chosen in trials last fall, and its appearance at this resort is only to condition horses and riders.

The trials here started last Saturday and will run two weeks. Of the 20 horsemen and 50 mounts, 11 riders and 18 horses will make the trip to Sweden.

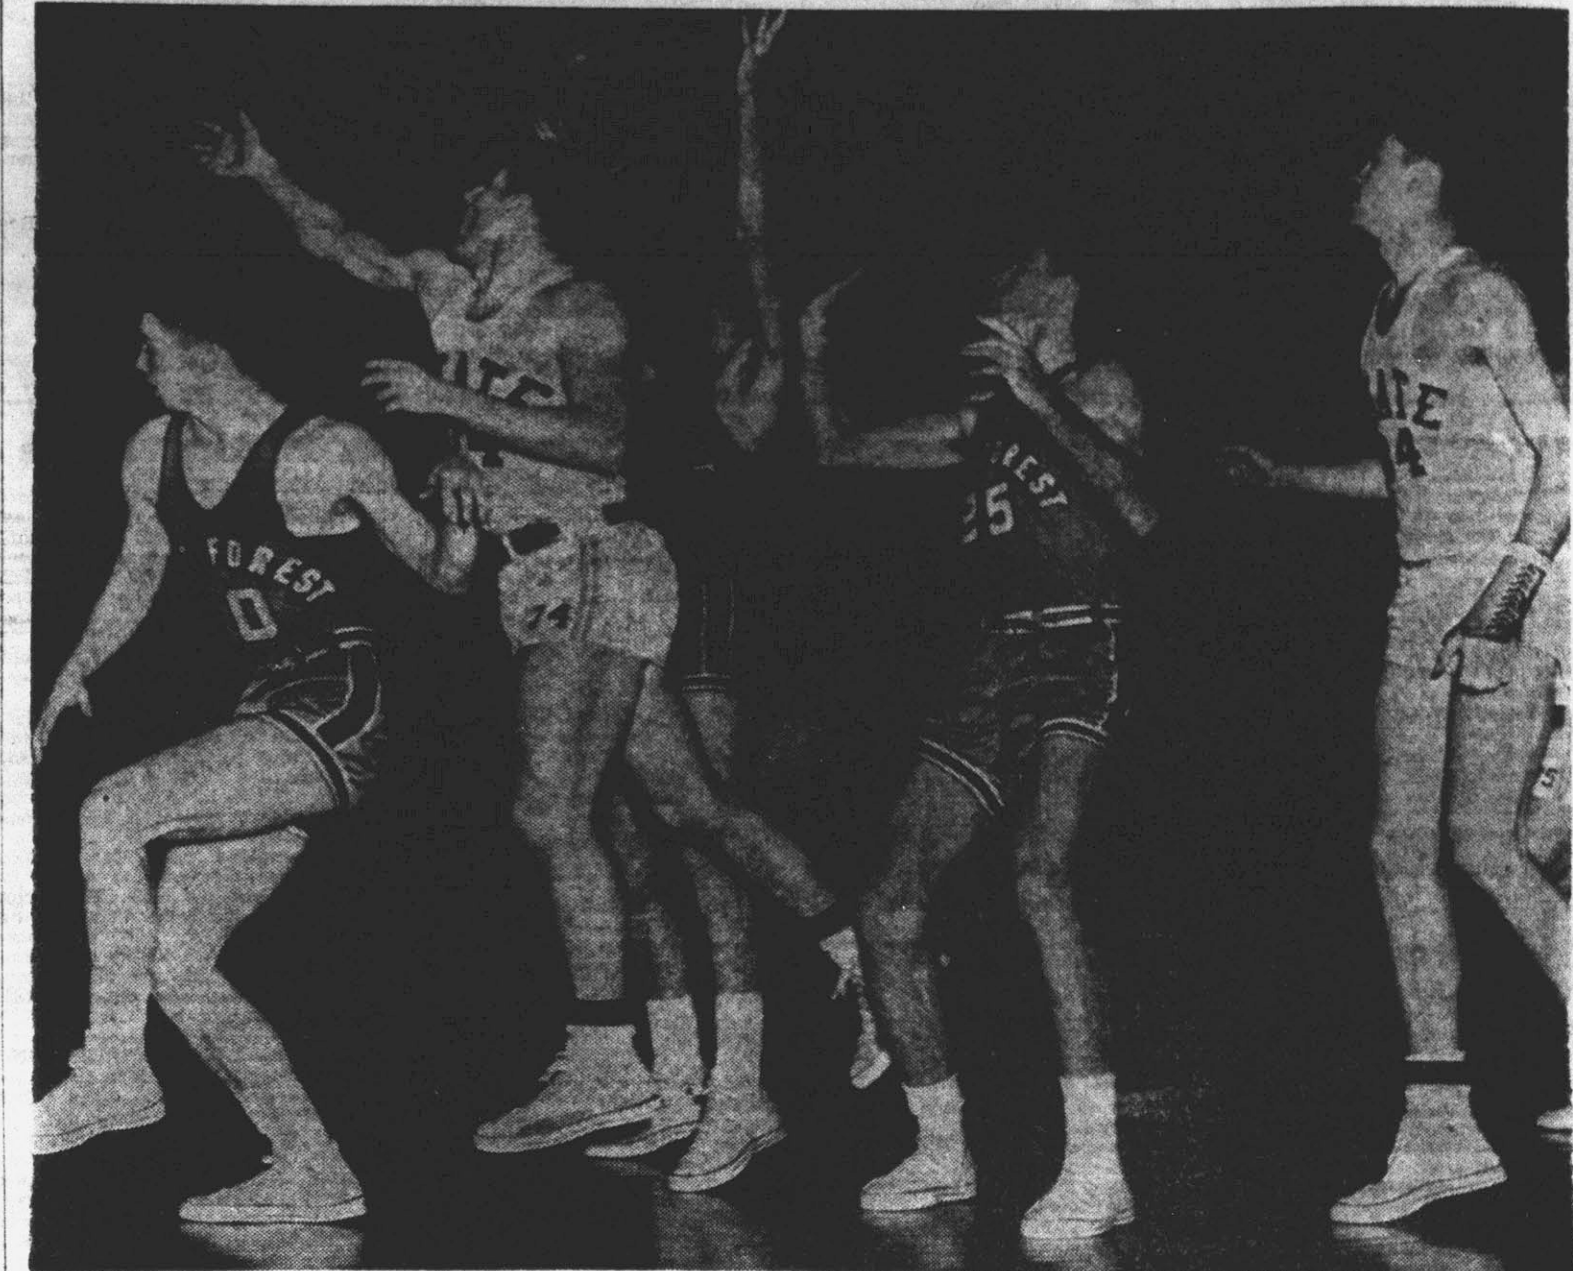

Until 1950 when the Army went fully mechanized, the cavalry furnished U.S. teams for the Olympics. Now the task has been taken over by the U.S. Equestrian Team, (E.S.T.), headed by Whitney Stone of New York. But military influence is still strong. Former cavalrymen do much of the coaching, and a few of the mounts are former warhorses.

Bartolan de Nemethy, a graduate of the Hungarian Cavalry School, is coach of the Prix de Nations team. Four members will be chosen from a dozen or so candidates. They include three USPT members: William Steinkraus, concert violinist from Westport, Conn.; Hugh Wiley of Towson, Md.; and Charles Denney Jr. of Lake Forest, N.J. James Green of Chicago; Phillip Jennings of Thiensville, Wis.; Burton Todd of Neshaic Station, N.J.; and Warren Wofford of Milford, Kan.

Members of the Three-Day squad are Maj. J. R. Burton of Berwyn, Ill., on detached service from Ft. Hood, Tex.; Walter Staley Jr. of Mexico, Mo.; Frank Duffy, Jr., a student at the University of Michigan and a resident of Birmingham, Mich.; and William D. Hagard III of Nashville, Tenn.

Scheduled For Tonight DeMarco-Smith Bout Set

BOSTON (AP)—Lightweight Champion Wallace (Bud) Smith and leading welterweight contender Tony DeMarco will be fighting a war for vindication tonight in a non-title scrap not expected to last the scheduled 10 rounds.

The Boston Garden bout between the 135-pound ruler from Cincinnati and the lethal-punching DeMarco from Boston's North End will not be televised or broadcast.

On the strength of his one-punch, take-out powers, left hooking Tony is rated a 10 to 7 favorite.

Smith, seeking fatter purses in the welter class after a relatively poor paying six years of professional effort, will be out to erase the memory of last month's loss to newcomer Larry Boardman.

Members of the Three-Day squad are Maj. J. R. Burton of Berwyn, Ill., on detached service from Ft. Hood, Tex.; Walter Staley Jr. of Mexico, Mo.; Frank Duffy, Jr., a student at the University of Michigan and a resident of Birmingham, Mich.; and William D. Hagard III of Nashville, Tenn.

DeMarco has even more at stake than Smith in this one because he's looking beyond to a third shot at the welter crown he held for 70 days a year ago. He wants the winner of the March 14 Carmen Basilio-Johnny Saxton title match.

To observers at the new Garden gym, DeMarco hasn't looked as sharp, fit and relaxed since before losing his welter title to Basilio last June.

DeMarco, doing a slow burn over rumors and accusations, has been working as many as six rounds a day in preparation for Smith.

After his second loss to Basilio here in November, Tony was the target of much talk that he had taken too much punishment from Basilio, that he was a playboy and neglected his training. Then Smith said Tony was ducking him when their fight was postponed last month.

Basilio, himself, has said that no welterweight can match DeMarco's knockout ability with a single blow.

Clever boxing Smith says he'll be trying for a knockout and adds: "There won't be two guys upright at the end."

Hitters Ahead Of Pitchers In Training Camps

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

This is the time of year when the pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters but you never would guess it from the reports from the major league training camps.

It's still a week before exhibition games begin but yesterday veterans and rookies alike slammed the ball to all corners of the lots in intrasquad contests. Pitchers, for the most part, took a mauling.

Rady Regalado, who was the star of the 1955 exhibition season and then failed to make the grade with the Cleveland Indians, led the barrage of homers.

The 25-year-old first base candidate, who hit .316 for Indianapolis before being recalled near the end of the season by the Indians, hit three home runs, including one with the bases loaded. His circuit drives accounted for eight runs as a team managed by coach Tony Cucinello beat Red Kress' team 13-9.

Willie Mays, 1955 major league leader with 51 homers, was up to his old tricks in a New York Giants intrasquad game at Phoenix, Ariz. He poked one that traveled a good 400 feet over the left field wall.

The Milwaukee Braves' intrasquad game at Bradenton, Fla., produced two homers by rookies—Wes Covington and Felix Mantilla. Harmon Killebrew, Lyle Lantieri and Rudy Tanner provided the homers in the Washington Senators' workout while rookie Frank Robinson belted out homer, double and single in Cincinnati's first intrasquad game of the season.

On the pitching side were three innings of no-hit, no-run hurling by Al Curtis of Washington.

A quick look at some of the other training camps:

Yankees completed their roster with signing of Billy Martin and Jim Konstanty for a reported $20,000 each. Dave Philley came to terms with the Orioles for a reported $23,000.

Ted Kluszewski had recovered enough from a wrenched leg muscle to work out with the Redlegs. Hank Sauer of the Cubs also returned to action. He had been sidelined Saturday with a twisted ankle.

Greenville Golfs At Rocky Mount

Greenville golfers will invade the Rocky Mount Country Club golf course Wednesday afternoon, to meet their Rocky Mount foes in the first rounds of Association competition.

Other towns competing in the same last league, are Fayetteville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Kinston, and Raleigh.

The Greenville club will take approximately 40 or 50 golfers to compete in the event. Local official Harold Thomas stated today that "all members are urged to take part in the Rocky Mount affair."

After the Wednesday match, the local schedule reads as follows:

March 14—Rocky Mount, here
March 21—Fayetteville, there
March 28—Fayetteville, here
April 4—Kinston, there

West Va. Wins Its Second Wrest Title

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Virginia Tech's undefeated wrestling team has captured the Southern Conference mat title for the second year in a row.

The Techmen made off with five of the eight available championships in the finals of the conference's annual tournament here Saturday night. But even before the last round, the Gobblers already had piled up enough points in the preliminaries and consolation matches to assure themselves the crown. They wound up with 82 points.

Host VMI nipped Washington and Lee for second place, finishing with 47 points to 45 for the Generals. The top three teams were followed by West Virginia, 36; The Citadel, 16; and Davidson, 15.

State, UNC Take ACC Swim Honors

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—N.C. State and North Carolina swept honors in the three-day Atlantic Coast Conference individual swimming championship tournament which ended Saturday.

State won eight first place events and the Tar Heels won six. Two schools finished the regular season with 8-1 loop record to tie for the team championship.

In the final day's events, State's Dick Faden set a new American and national collegiate swimming record in the 200-yard breaststroke while his teammate Frank Nauus set a new ACC record for the 440-yard freestyle.

Faden was timed in 2:21.9. The old national collegiate varsity and conference record was 2:24.9, set last year by N.C. State's Bob Matteson Nauus did the 440 in 4:42.2, bettering his old record of 4:43.9.

Darden, Johnson Get Outstanding Awards

At the close of the Pitt County Interscholastic Athletic Association Tournament Saturday night at Sugg high school gymnasium, trophies and awards were presented to teams and individuals doing outstanding sports work in conference play.

Farmville's boys and girls were presented the basketball championship trophies. Pitt County Training School boys and girls received runners-up cups. H. B. Suggs school was given a trophy for outstanding football work this past season, and P.C.T.S. received a baseball trophy for its fine work during the 1954-55 season.

Hundley Selected Most Valuable

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—For the second year in a row, West Virginia's Rod Hundley has been chosen as the most valuable player in the Southern Conference's championship basketball tournament.

Newspaper writers and radio newscasters covering the three-day tournament voted for the "Hot Rod" in landslide fashion after West Virginia won the title by nipping Richmond 58-56 in Saturday night's finals.

Hundley, who scored 26 points in the showdown game and gave his Mountaineers their eventual winning margin with a goal in the last 43 seconds, clinched 24 of the 31 votes cast. The other seven went to All-American Darrell Floyd of Furman, who established a new single-game scoring mark for the tournament with 43 points against Virginia Tech in the first round.

There wasn't much doubt, Hundley deserved the accolade, for without the incomparable — and sometimes insufferable — Hot Rod the Mountaineers wouldn't have stood a chance of carrying off their second straight championship and the NCAA playoffs berth that goes with it.

Though he collected only 14 points in West Virginia's 59-53 victory over Davidson in the first round, Hundley found the range in the semifinals against Furman and bucketed 42 points.

Wolfpack, Deacs Place Two Men

RALEIGH (AP)—Vic (Bino) Molodet, a perpetual motion guard for North Carolina State's Atlantic Coast Conference champions, was a unanimous choice for the all-tournament basketball team announced today by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Assn.

John Maglio of State, Jack Williams and Jackie Murdock of Wake Forest and North Carolina's Lennie Rosenbluth round out the first team.

Molodet, who fired in 32 points as State beat Wake Forest, 76-64, here Saturday night in the tournament finals, collected points at an equally sizzling pace on ballots cast by 48 newspaper, radio and TV men covering the championship game. Speedy Molodet had a perfect score of 240 points.

A first-team vote counted five points and a second-team vote three. Rosenbluth, who scored 35 points against Virginia on opening day of the tournament, missed unanimous selection by one vote.

State's star center Ronnie Shavlik, who played in the tournament with a fractured left wrist protected by a special leather brace, led the all-tourney second team. Others on the second five are Ronnie Mayer of Duke, Bob Kessler of Maryland and two Virginia players, Bill Miller and Bob McCarty.

Molodet was the leading scorer in the tournament. He hit 21 against Clemson in the first round, 26 against Duke in the semifinals, and 32 in the finals for a total of 79. Maglio was runner-up in the tournament totals with 45 points.

Williams and Murdock were the stars who led Wake Forest into the tournament finals for the third time in the last four years. Williams scored 22, 27 and 10 points in three games. The spunky little Murdock hit for 22, 17 and 18 and directed the Deacs' floor play.

Blue Devils Hold Blue-White Game

DURHAM (AP)—Duke's Blue Devils head down the home stretch in spring football training this week with the annual Blue-White intrasquad battle scheduled for Saturday.

The two teams have played three times so far with two ties and a 12-6 win for the Blues in Saturday's tiff.

Bill Langson and Rey Milner directed the Blues winning attack. Eddie Rushton and Wray Carlton did the Blue scoring. Nick Kredich scored the only White touchdown.

The GOLDEN WITCH S By ZOLA ROSS

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
As Tim was being sworn in, Michael thought furiously. He couldn't hope to direct Tim's testimony, couldn't even ask sensible questions. Flo Gaynor, the fat woman, hastily introduced to Michael by Meg, remained a mystery. Why was she here? He looked at Tim and mentally showed in his last blue chip. Tim wore the glitter of confidence. Michael would have to assume it to be justified.

Carenin Truck Kills 2 Women In Hitting House

PITTSBURGH (AP)—In a few terror-filled seconds a happy Sunday afternoon turned into one of horror near here when tons of steel rods from a careening truck slammed into a combination store and home and killed two of the three women in the dwelling. The truck driver, 48-year-old Anthony Marshall of Pittsburgh, escaped unhurt. Killed instantly were Mrs. Helen Clark, 52, of RFD 1, Coraopolis, and Mrs. Susan Drury, 48, of Imperial, visitors in the home. Mrs. Francis Kaelin, 49, who lived there, suffered lacerations and shock. State police said Marshall told them he swerved his truck to avoid hitting an auto. The truck jack-knifed and slammed into the building. The big steel rods hurtled from the truck into the living quarters, pushing the three women out through an opposite wall into the backyard. INTERRUPTED COMPETITION MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Gasoline spouted for 50 feet when a 3-inch pipe broke at an oil company's bulk plant. Tank trucks were sent by four of the company's competitors, who succeeded in catching about 10,000 gallons of the fuel from a 15,000-gallon tank. They restored the salvaged gas after the pipe was repaired, then resumed their interrupted competition.

Safe Damaged By Amateur Thieves

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A Norman automobile agency will have to call in professional safecrackers to finish a job started by unsuccessful amateurs. Police said the would-be thieves apparently attacked the safe with everything from welding equipment to crowbars, but succeeded only in jamming the safe so it could not be opened. The safe, at the Cook Sundecker Agency contained about $1,500 in cash and checks. The thieves got only about 28 cents left in a cash drawer for their troubles.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—A general freight rate increase for the railroads started a buying rush for those issues and sent the entire stock market upward today.

Some price increases today were extensive, running to around 5 points at the best, and there were many leaders with gains of 1 to 3 points.

Railroads were granted a 6 per cent freight rate increase Friday after the market closed. Demand for the carrier shares was immediate today. The favored issues were up 1 to 4 points.

Steels and non-ferrous metals were the most active at higher prices among other divisions. Lukens Steel shot ahead 5 points at 8 1/4.

The Associated Press average at noon was up $1.20 at $182.80, the highest point it ever has reached. On Friday the average established a new record high at the close of $181.60, 10 cents above the previous record set Sept. 23 and matched again Dec. 5 and 6.

Friday's new high kindled week-end buying enthusiasm, and that was evidenced at the start today when large blocks dotted the tape frequently. They were as large as 10,000 shares. The rails were the immediate favorites.

Senator Eastland Called 'Stinking Albatross' Around Demo Party Neck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Negro leader yesterday called Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) a "stinking albatross" around the neck of the Democratic party and another said he might quit his seat in Congress to devote more time to the fight against segregation.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington bureau director of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, threw the verbal punch at Eastland, an outspoken segregation advocate, in a Washington speech to the NAACP's Civil Rights Assembly.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) told a church rally in New York City that he may leave Congress and devote himself to a nationwide prayer movement against segregation if his March 28 deliverance Day "extends itself successfully."

The Negro congressman wants admit fully qualified Negroes if the law says it must.

The Times and the Herald Tribune said in dispatches from Tuscaloosa, Ala., that the university will resist compulsory integration but would abide by court decisions.

"Our action in the Atherine Lucy case does not mean thereby that we are going to keep all Negroes out," the Times quoted University President Oliver C. Carmichael as saying. According to the Times, Carmichael also said "a very careful investigation" would be made of any Negro applicants.

Carmichael could not be reached for elaboration of his remarks.

In an opening speech to the three-day Civil Rights Assembly, Mitchell declared that civil rights legislation was an obligation of both major political parties. He was lashed out at by the Democrats by saying:

"If they're going to keep a stinking albatross like Sen. Eastland around their neck, they've got to kiss our votes goodbye."

The Democrats, adhering to the seniority system last week elevated Eastland to the chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary Committee, succeeding the late Sen. Kilgore of West Virginia. The committee considers most civil rights legislation.

Miss Lucy appeared last night at the civil rights meeting. She received a noisy ovation from a crowd of about 1,800 who she was introduced but did not speak. The Negro student's attempt to enter the University of Alabama touched off rioting which brought her suspension. She won a court order to reinstate her but was then expelled by the university trustees who said she had made "baseless, outrageous and unfounded charges of misconduct on the part of university officials."

Three other Negroes told the assembly of their racial troubles. They were the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, one of those indicted in connection with the bus boycott in Montgomery; Gus Courts of Belmont, Miss., who said he was forced out of business, then shot and severely wounded because he insisted on registering to vote; and L. A. Blackman of Ellmore, S.C., who claimed he was run out of business and was threatened by the Ku Klux Klan for asking the local school board to make a start toward classroom integration.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP and chairman of the civil rights conference said Congress should enact some civil rights legislation to keep pace with the Supreme Court and the executive branch lest "wholesale violence" be developed.

Stevenson Says GOP Tried Cripple Soil Conservation

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Adlai Stevenson told a farmer audience today that Republican administrations have tried to cripple soil conservation programs but Democrats have "flatly turned down such schemes."

In a prepared speech in Marshall, 150 miles southwest of Minneapolis, he traced the beginnings of federal aid for soil conservation back to 1936 under President Roosevelt.

Stevenson was in the fourth day of his five-day drive for support in Minnesota's March 20 presidential primary. He is contesting with Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) for Minnesota's 30 national convention votes.

He said that in 1936 when the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act was passed "there were scores of Republicans who cried to high heaven and you would have thought the end of the world was approaching."

He quoted Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) as saying then that farmers "are to be regimented for all time."

"The Republican administration has repeatedly recommended reduced appropriations for soil conservation work," Stevenson said. "Their first year's recommendation was to slice nearly in half the appropriations for the agricultural conservation program and to reduce to eight million dollars appropriations for assisting soil conservation districts."

"Democrats in Congress were able to fight off a part of these cuts. When we regained control of Congress in 1944 the Democrats restored soil conservation appropriations to their full level."

"The Republican administration weakened the Soil Conservation Service by its unnecessary reorganization in 1953. They coerced career civil servants into defending Republican administration policies in which they did not believe. They abolished the farmer-elected farmer committee system for administering the agricultural conservation program. They made an orphan out of soil and water conservation research."

No Charges Brought In Averted Bridge Suicide

No charges have been placed against a Negro woman who stood atop the Contonetta River bridge at Grifton Saturday night and for 45 minutes threatened to leap to her death.

The prospective suicide, Adelle Anderson, 28, of Grifton, was finally rescued through joint efforts of the structure but both were forced to turn back.

Then Harmon, unobserved by the woman, started up the structure. When he reached the top, he made his way around behind her and grabbed her.

A brief struggle ensued during which the woman almost managed to fling herself into the river.

While Harmon was struggling with the woman some 90 feet in the air, Taylor and an unidentified Negro were making the climb carrying rope with which she was tied and brought down.

Taylor said he told the woman's family to take her to a doctor and follow his orders.

didn't want. She was one of the Hollywood few I really wanted to see.

The black-browed man at the door grumbled vaguely at his table. I hurriedly reached for Forbes, a magazine that has to do with business, and trusted no one but myself would realize my interest was purely temporary, and not mercenary.

Then a tall young man, gilded in layers of renown between a birthday cake and an admiral, came up at 3:45 p.m., and said in a tone as apologetic as an usher who has seated a guest wrong in the cathedral at a Cardinal's first Mass:

"You were to see Miss Kerr?"

She had been there all alone, patiently waiting for half an hour. As I turned the corner and entered where she was, her red gold hair and friendly blue green eyes, smilingly drew me through the mid-afternoon gloom. As I walked toward her I couldn't but envy the black-browed guardian at the door so used to beauty that Deborah Kerr could have passed him unnoticed.

Blue-eyed people have more trouble with glaring sun and artificial light than people with darker eyes.

life. It was the teachers with the biggest hearts who won my interest and awakened a desire for knowledge and service.

To get back to my main appeal: One sure way to increase the efficiency and reduce the cost of our schools and truly help our child is to teach children where to find their own answers to question and awaken in them a desire for more knowledge. We need teachers born with a love for children and trained as helpful librarians.
