Nixon Told To Make His Own Decision: Eisenhower

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has asked Vice President Nixon to chart his own course as to whether he wants to bid for another term.

what he felt it should be, then he would go before the American people and tell them so. The implication was that he would withdraw from the race, but he did not say so in so many words.

however today dealt with what a reporter called published reports that some of Eisenhower's advisers were urging him to dump Nixon from the Republican ticket this year, and that—secondly—the President himself was reported to have suggested to Nixon that he consider standing aside this time and perhaps taking a Cabinet post.

A good many questions today dealt with the political situation. One was whether Eisenhower felt the state of his health should properly be a campaign issue as many Democrats have said it will be.

other matters: WORLD PEACE — Eisenhower said he believes the people everywhere in the world have awakened to the fact that another global war is well nigh unthinkable. On the other hand, Eisenhower said the cold war probably will go on for some time and proceed in several directions. He predicted a very great broadening of that contest, but said it does not necessarily carry the threat of a major war.

hower's proposal to halt production of atomic materials for weapons purposes. Eisenhower opposed—and repeated that he has no objection to any constitutional amendment which would say simply that any treaty not in consonance with the Constitution should be declared null and void. He declined to make any specific comment on a revised proposal for an amendment which some Congress members say would limit treaty making powers. Eisenhower opposed—and the Senate killed—an original proposal by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) dealing with the same matter.

MIDDLE EAST — Asked for comment on the dismissal of British Lt. Gen. John Glubb as commander of Jordan's Arab Legion, Eisenhower replied that anyone who would minimize the consequences of that action is being more complacent than he should be. Both the United States and Britain, the President added, are trying to promote understanding and friendship between Israel and the Arab nations. Such a course, he said, is the only way to bring about a situation which will not be a source of permanent irritation to the whole world.

GUIDED MISSILES — Eisenhower said there is tremendous psychological value in having a missile which can travel great distances without requiring a pilot aboard to guide it. But he also emphasized the importance of being able to keep such missiles on target. His remarks came in response to a request for comment on a statement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that he believes too much emphasis is being placed on guided missiles.

Presbyterian College For Laurinburg Needs A Name

RALEIGH (AP)—Trustees for the new four-year Presbyterian college today began searching for a name for the school which will be built at Laurinburg.

Neal, whose home is in Winston-Salem, said Laurinburg offered around $2,800,000, but that money was not the overriding factor in Laurinburg being selected. The trustees gathered Monday night to make their selection. Agreement was reached on a complicated voting formula and the board went into session about 8:30 a.m. yesterday. A final decision was announced shortly after 4:15 p.m. last night.

an endowment of about four million. The trustees are now making plans to collect three million from Presbyterian churches in the state for the new college. The 17 towns in the original bidders included: Durham, Fayetteville, Goldsboro, Jacksonville, Lenoir, Lenoirville, Lumberton, New Bern, Oxford, Raleigh, Roxboro, Red Springs, Rocky Mount, Sanford, Snow Hill, Southern Pines and Wilmington.

Coonskin Caps

RALEIGH (AP)—An Asheville resident who claims North Carolina State Highway Patrolmen spend much time "hidden behind bushes" trying to trap "unwary motorists" has recommended that coonskin caps become their standard headgear. The suggestion was made by Gordon Ramsey in a letter to Gov. Hodges. The letter stated in part: "I am enclosing one coonskin cap—Davy Crockett style—which I suggest be worn by the Highway Patrolmen (Motor Vehicle Commissioner) as standard headgear for his minions. This seemingly facetious recommendation is made in all sincerity since Scheidt's men spend long hours in the woods, hidden behind bushes, and other subterfuges in attempting to trap the unwary motorists than they do in apprehending the real lawbreaker and/or highway menace."

Proposed Conference Aimed At Any 'Israeli Aggression' Iraq Said Calling Arab Defense Meet

JERUSALEM (AP)—Iraq was reported today to have proposed a military conference with the Arab neighbors of Israel on a common front to "kill any widespread Israeli aggression." Informed sources in Damascus said the oil-rich Arab kingdom, long a target of nationalist Arab criticism because it is a member of the Western-sponsored Baghdad Pact, submitted the proposal to Syria, Egypt, Lebanon and Jordan.

2. Arab security. 3. Coordination of the defenses of the Arab world. 4. Coordination of the plans of the three nations — whose forces are linked under Egyptian command in a mutual aid alliance in case of aggression. The Damascus sources said coordination of inter-Arab military measures also was the aim of the Iraqis, who look part with other Arabs in the 1948 Palestine war.

kill any widespread Israeli aggression in the future." Iraq's King Faisal is a cousin of Jordan's young King Hussein, who won applause from Arab nationalists last week by firing British Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb as commander of the Jordanian Arab Legion. The Egyptian-Syrian-Saudi Arabian alliance would like to have that crack 20,000-man force under its unified command.

Britain's recall of 15 high British officers who served under Glubb did not sit well in Amman, Hussein's capital. His foreign minister, Hussein Khalidi, said today Jordan does not regard the recall of the 15 as an accomplished fact and "hopes the position will be reconsidered."

was defeated 66-13 last night on a motion of no confidence in the government of Premier David Ben-Gurion. The Heruth wants Israel to attack before Communist arms shipments can tip the balance in the Arabs' favor.

Hearing Ahead

RALEIGH (AP)—The Utilities Commission will hold a hearing at 10 a.m. tomorrow on application of Carolina Power and Light Co. to purchase and operate the electric distribution system at Grimesland.

Neal stated that Laurinburg was the center of a Presbyterian cultural center. The trustees will have to buy a campus site. Requirements call for a tract of land of not less than 300 acres. In addition to construction costs, Neal said the college will need war-time price support into peacetime. Two years ago the administration persuaded Congress to vote a program of flexible supports, under which prices of basic crops are supported at varying levels depending upon the stocks of each crop on hand. The theory is that this will bring production into balance with demand.

New Building In City Approaches Last Year's Pace

New construction for the first two months of 1956 totals $371,400—a few thousand short of the $382,000 total for the first two months of record breaking 1955.

Security Council Session Possible

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Representatives of the Western Powers are conferring here on the advisability of calling the U.N. Security Council into emergency session in an effort to head off further threats of war in the Middle East.

delegates. Yesterday he saw Egyptian Delegate Omar Loufi after a meeting of Asian-Arab representatives discussed the situation. The representatives of the United States, Britain and France also were keeping in close touch. Diplomatic observers see two main factors behind the rapid deterioration of the Middle East situation:

1. A switch in Soviet policy, ending the Kremlin's neutrality and bringing its support openly to the Arab side. 2. The growth of Arab nationalism, manifesting itself in anti-Western demonstrations all the way from French North Africa to Jordan.

In Israel, advocates of a preventive war against the Arabs stood rebuffed. Israel's nationalist Heruth party

Annual Check Of City Gas Mains

Greenville Citizens who remember the big gas explosion in Goldsboro a couple years ago will soon have no worries. Greenville Utilities is now making its annual survey of gas mains.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate aides said today 63 different amendments have been offered to the omnibus new farm bill on which voting is scheduled to start tomorrow. Still others may be offered. Starting tomorrow the Senate has agreed to limit debate to two hours on each proposed change, but there is no limit on the number of amendments which may be offered. On the other hand, many of those pending may not be pressed to a vote.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Agriculture Committee, backing a return to rigid price supports, has been pressing for final Senate action no later than Saturday. He predicts a close victory for his side but so do backers of the administration on the price support issue. Unless there is a change in tactics, the first vote is due on a proposal by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) to knock out the rigid price support provision which the Agriculture Committee approved 8-7.

Opposition For Gold And Crane

RALEIGH (AP)—Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold and Labor Commissioner Frank Crane today were assured of opposition in the Democratic primary. John N. Frederick of Charlotte paid a $100 filing fee to the State Board of Elections yesterday to seek Gold's post. Frederick, a native of Anson County who operates an insurance adjusting firm, ran against Gold unsuccessfully four years ago.

Oppose Stressing High Leaf Yield

RALEIGH (AP)—Flue-cured tobacco growers should "strive for quality, aroma, and flavor rather than for high yields." This was urged yesterday by delegates at the annual meeting of Tobacco Associates Inc. Growers were requested to "produce tobacco with desirable characteristics of flavor and aroma through proper fertilization, adequate spacing, and selection of approved types of seed rather than to strive for maximum yields."

House Approves Extra Sum For N.C. Relief Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, adding a warning that hurricane debris could cause a malaria outbreak if not cleaned up, has voted to add $5,386,030 to federal disaster relief funds allotted to North Carolina. An amendment to an omnibus appropriations bill including the money was introduced by Rep. Bonner (D-NC) and adopted unanimously.

More Than Knuckle-Rapping Needed

The judge of Moore County Recorder's court apparently has launched his own campaign to impress upon the violators of highway safety regulation the seriousness of their offenses. There would be less speeding, reckless driving and probably fewer accidents if judges of courts of all levels throughout North Carolina adopted a similar policy.

In addition to a stiff $300 fine for a high school boy found guilty of speeding 100 miles per hour, the judge specified a five-month suspended road sentence and ordered the youth locked up on the Moore County jail for 10 days.

An editorial on the case which appeared in the Elkin Tribune reflected our own feeling toward such disposition by judges. The Tribune observed:

"It has long been our opinion that such punishment as related in the above news story should be handed out in far more cases. A fine doesn't deter teen-agers whose fathers go down and fork over the money. We have seen cases right here in Elkin where youths were fined and their driver permits revoked for a period of time, go right back to driving just as reckless as before, once the minimum requirements of the law has been complied with.

"But a jail term and a fine are two different things. And while we do not wish to be unnecessarily harsh, what less than a jail term does a driver deserve who gets out on crowded highways and drives 100 miles per hour or more? If he gets by with it and doesn't wreck himself or collide with another car, is that any reason that he won't the next time . . . ?"

In every community in North Carolina cases could be cited in which the court merely raps the knuckles of a reckless and speeding driver and sends him on his way. It is indeed rare that a driver is made to spend even a few days or a few hours in jail for recklessness on the highways regardless of how flagrant the violation of which he is found guilty.

For most drivers found guilty of serious offenses, a few days of cooling off in the local calaboose would be much more impressive than a fine of $100 or so.

The Reflector finds itself in a agreement with the statement of Judge J. Vance Roew of the Moore Recorder's court who asserted:

"The slaughter on the highways is in the end the responsibility of the courts which must see that those who obey the law are protected from those who don't. It can't be done with leniency in the face of terrific, muderous speed."

North Carolina's highways would be much safer if more judges held the same conviction.

Few Extra Sessions For N. C. Assembly

SPECIAL SESSIONS — Seven extra sessions of the North Carolina General Assembly have been held in the past fifty years. They ranged in length from six to 17 days. Three were held in August, two in December, one each in January and September.

In each instance the Governor who issued the call stated the main purpose of the special session, but the General Assembly being a law unto itself activities were not limited to the main topic. Several times, in fact, the important action was not included in the stated purposes.

1908 — Governor Robert B. Glenn convened the 1910 Legislature in special session on January 21, 1908, for the specific purpose of dealing with excessive railroad freight rates. The session adjourned on February 1, 1910. Very little was accomplished in freight rate adjustments. The session goes down in history as the one which submitted the issue of prohibition, resulting in banning the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages in North Carolina for 25 years.

1913 — Governor Locke Craig called a special session to convene on February 1, 1913. It remained on the job until October 13. Freight rates again was a primary issue, but the major job was rewriting the tax laws and submitting a constitutional amendment providing for income taxes, a six months school term and other basic changes—some of which had to be submitted several times before final approval by the people.

1920 — Governor Walter Bickett called an extra session to convene on August 10, 1920, to revise tax laws so as to make the tax books speak the truth. The session adjourned on August 26, after becoming more of a good roads rally than an effective tax revision session.

1921 — Governor Cameron Morrison called an extra session on December 6, 1921, which adjourned on December 20, after providing emergency funds for maintenance of the public schools and other major items of business.

1924 — Governor Morrison convened another extra session on August 7, 1924, which adjourned on August 23. Freight rates again was the major item, and the Legislature submitted to vote of the people a bond issue for developing deep water ports.

1936 — Governor J.C.B. Ehringhaus called an extra session on December 19, 1936. It convened on December 10 and adjourned on 16th, doing practically nothing except establishing the Unemployment Compensation Commission (now Employment Security) to permit the State to participate in certain phases of the Federal Social Security program.

1938 — Governor Clyde Hoy called a special session to provide State funds to match Federal money for public buildings that session met at noon Monday, August 9, 1938, and adjourned before daylight Saturday, August 13—the shortest legislative session since the first State constitution was adopted.

RE-CAP — Governor Morrison holds the record for having called two extra sessions. The 1938 General Assembly holds the record for two extra sessions of the same membership, called by different chief executives. There was a bit of a legal hassle over whether the special session in December, 1936, should be composed of members in the regular 1935 Legislature, or those elected in November, 1936. The attorney general ruled that the 1936 electives should be seated. So for the only time in modern history a "special session" was held before a regular session of the same Legislature.

RELUCTANCE — Reluctance of Governor to ask the Council of State to authorize a special session is derisive because of the "free-wheeling" authority and proclivity of the Legislature. That would seem to be particularly true of mid-administration sessions. Of the seven extras listed four were called to convene after both regular sessions of the Governor's term had adjourned.

Glendon 1908, Bickett's 1920, Morrison's 1924 and Ehringhaus' 1936 extras came when they knew they were on the way out. Craig's 1913 and Morrison's came the first year of their term, and Hoy's 1938 in mid-term.

It is further noted that the 1936 and 1938 specials were required to comply with Federal aid provisions. All the others were occasioned by internal State problems.

HODGES — Governor Hodges is in a unique position. He has been Governor through one regular legislative session and if a special session it will be of the same membership—lacking half a dozen or so very influential members who have been appointed to other positions. But—the special session would convene before he had been elected Governor in his own right, and before the membership of the regular 1957 General Assembly had been elected, although they had been elected and the election results easy to forecast.

The present situation is further complicated by difficulty in appropriate action of the emergency items from compliance with Federal provisions or from internal problems. That gets to the timing of the session. One group wants it as possible in order to submit constitutional amendments in the November election. Another group want it early as possible, because they say it will take the legislators about 30 days to agree on amendments to be submitted.

Some soil! The waste from this kind of session would build 250,000 homes costing $12,000 each. Not just one year. Every year.

Priglitful as this estimate is, it is no indictment of tension in itself. Tension is as essential to the normal human body as it is to the functioning of a rubber band or a watch spring. Without tension life would be as dull and monotonous as a piece of string.

The basic trouble with our tense times is that we have let our nervousness run wild like a bedspring that suddenly bursts uniformity of dosage can ever be attained with them. These are the same officials who claim that by putting fluorides in the drinking water you can obtain a uniform dosage for all. It is too obvious that no two children drink the same amount of water. Now, suddenly the sodium fluoride which, according to the authorities, is perfectly safe when you put it into drinking water for everyone, sick and well, to drink in any quantity at all becomes deadly poison when you suggest giving it in well controlled doses to children, the only members of a community who can possibly benefit from it. How does it happen that a deadly poison turned into the water supply can be perfectly safe, but the same poison in ample diluted form, to be given at regular intervals and in carefully regulated dosage is a horrible menace?

Perhaps fluorides are given to children in pill form which will be able later to tell exactly which child has actually benefited, the one who took the fluoride or the one who did not. Perhaps, too, we will be able to tell from the health of the children which is healthier in general, the children who were dosed with fluoride or those who were not.

Is that the reason why the health officials are objecting to dosage by tablets? Or can it be simply that there is less money to be made by selling tablets (and now, according to an article in the Newark Sunday News for August 14, 1955, public health officials are denouncing the fluoride tablets as extremely dangerous and claiming that no

Where Lightning Hit Friday

Scared of lightning? Off-hand I don't know anyone who isn't, and there are a few families on Route 3 who have reason to give a shudder whenever the word lightning is mentioned, when we have another thunder storm.

Lightning struck out there last Friday morning, sometime around 6:30 a.m., and at least three families thought for a moment their homes were afire. The electrical charge became involved in the power line serving homes along that road and fuses blew right and left.

The bolt apparently hit at the farm home of Fountain and Belle Station, because that was where the main damage occurred.

And here's an instance of the odd tricks lightning plays. By chance (I'd call it through the Providence of the Lord), the members of the family were not in the room where the bolt struck.

Notebook On Life

Those Good And Bad Tensions

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a pavement Plato:

One way to be happy in this life is to pick your own tensions—good and bad. A good tension, such as one we get from playing a game or watching a well-acted drama, is followed by a feeling of both physical and emotional release. The tension relieves itself; we end up relaxed.

A bad tension, such as the kind we build up while pursuing an impossible goal or doing something we know is foolish like chasing our friend's wife, only tangles our emotions deeper. We tie ourselves inextricably in knots of our own devising.

Therefore we have no one to blame but ourselves. How many of our tensions are caused because we let our neighbors—or our envy of our neighbors—determine our own ambitions?

Just because Jones went into debt and worried himself into an ulcer buying a big car he couldn't afford, is it really necessary for us to buy a bigger car, go deeper into debt, and wind up with a double ulcer? Where is the reward in that kind of tension?

Ike's Approach To Segregation Issue

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has outlined clearly and emphatically the Administrative procedure and the political strategy he will pursue in handling the South's explosive segregation problem. In contrast to extremists on both sides, his attitude will be one of extreme caution and moderation.

As with such problems as labor disputes and economic conflicts, he is a firm believer that the question of States versus Federal Rights should be solved on the post-Korean and anti-Communist expansion has dragged in thousands of youngsters, who do not have the mature judgment essential for dealing with inflamed civilian populations. So much for this phase of the segregation problem.

When the U.S. Army was only a 120,000-man force of hard-bitten "regulars," they were older, wiser and experienced men. Today, the post-Korean and anti-Communist expansion has dragged in thousands of youngsters, who do not have the mature judgment essential for dealing with inflamed civilian populations. So much for this phase of the segregation problem.

They were all awake, and being a farm family I guess they were all up, during the early morning thunder storm.

Suddenly there was an intensely bright flash of light followed by an ear-splitting crash. Fountain said later he thought the house was afire.

Nearly a half-mile down the road there was a blinding flash of light in the James F. Elks residence . . . and Mrs. Elks tells me she thought the place was on fire.

Back at the Station house, when they began looking at the damage, the bolt left no signs of charring or scorching the woodwork or rugs. Just a big blow of power and light. I'm sure there are a couple of families out on Route 3 who wish sincerely that the old saying of lightning never striking twice in the same place will hold true for a long, long time.

about 4 x 4 feet near the door. Of course, all the fuses were burned out; but luckily the refrigerator was unharmed.

At the Elks' house, fuses blew out and the lamp atop the TV set had the top blown out of the bulb . . . the TV set wasn't damaged.

Fuses blew in maybe four or five houses along that section of the power line and pumps for their water supply were temporarily out of operation. Odd thing about it was that so few homes were affected.

But the greatest oddity (to me) was that at the Station house the lightning bolt left no signs of charring or scorching the woodwork or rugs. Just a big blow of power and light.

I'm sure there are a couple of families out on Route 3 who wish sincerely that the old saying of lightning never striking twice in the same place will hold true for a long, long time.

Production And U.S. Consumers

By ELMER BOESSNER
The statement that consumers are not getting a fair share of the rise in American productivity has been made, not by a disgruntled radical, but by Charles M. Shanks, president of Prudential Insurance.

Mr. Shanks made this point in an address before the Economic Club of Chicago. He was discussing the effect of the political campaigns on the economy ("election years in the past have not turned out appreciably different from non-election years") and pointed out that the farm problem will probably be the hottest single issue of the campaign.

"Farmers are in difficulty not so much because their gross income has declined as because their costs have risen," he said. "Even with a declining unit price, the increased volume of marketings has maintained gross income per farm fairly well. But the rise in the price of labor, equipment and supplies has squeezed farm net income badly."

LITTLE FOR CONSUMERS
"The rise in the price of the things farmers buy has, in turn, been the result of a growing tendency in industry to divide the fruits of increasing productivity between stockholders and those working directly for the company, passing along little or nothing to the consumers generally," he said. "This is a large section of the economy that is not part of industry."

Mr. Shanks did not define the elements of that section of the economy but presumably it includes the industry of producers and annuitants, tradesmen and the self-employed, as well as farmers.

"Labor has demanded and received an increasing share of industrial productivity," he said. "Stockholders have received larger returns, and in some instances have overthrown management to get them."

Consumers, he suggested, instead of getting lower prices because of increased productivity, sometimes get even higher prices. "Where increased productivity has not absorbed the increased costs, they have been passed along to the consumer as price increases to isolate the industrial community, in a sense, from the rest of the economy and to minimize to the vanishing point the portion of productivity savings which go to consumers as price reductions."

WOULD CORRECT IMBALANCE
"There is thus a growing imbalance in the economy resulting from this failure of industry to pass along to consumers some portion of the productivity in the form of lower prices."

"Not only farmers have been hurt by this imbalance. All consumers on more or less fixed incomes (and that includes most people) are passed by in the division of our economic product. Substantial progress in solving the farm problem, as well as the general problem of economic imbalance, cannot be achieved unless consumers generally are permitted to share, along with labor and the owners, in our advancing productivity."

Some industries would plead not guilty to the insurance executive's indictment. For example, while gasoline prices have advanced over the years, in terms of purchasing power they have actually declined with technological advances. Prices of television sets and air-cooling machines have dropped spectacularly with greater productivity. There are some other instances where general, Mr. Shanks' contention is demonstrably correct.

NEWS YOU CAN USE IN BUSINESS
The Internal Revenue Service permits a number of companies to unite for the purpose of investing and administering pension funds, thus giving small firms the economies and security enjoyed by large corporations. . . . The centennial edition of the "Commercial Atlas and Marketing Guide," said to be the most nearly complete Atlas of its type, has been published by Rand McNally, Chicago. . . . The Dominican Republic's World's Fair grounds have been proclaimed a duty-free foreign-trade zone.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
"Christ came to make us free but not to make us independent."

This statement appeared some time ago on the bulletin board of a church. There may have been those who, as they passed by, shrugged their shoulders, raised their eyebrows, and remarked, "There's reaction for you. That church must indeed be behind the times."

But is such a judgment correct? Think about this statement—God came to make us free but not independent. For certainly it must be apparent to everyone who looks into his own heart and also observes the behavior of others that sin is nothing more or less than an attempt to get rid of God. We may fall into some transgression, perhaps scandalous in its nature; this is acute sin. But chronic sin is a resolute attempt to push God out of life—an attempt which has unfortunately and tragically succeeded often.

Probably the sign on the church would better be phrased "God came to make us free by making us dependent." Not dependent on others but dependent upon Him. It is when we walk within the circle of his protecting grace that we have that peaceful sense of security out of which true contentment springs.

Independence can be greatly overestimated; it is out of de-standard to which the wise and honest can repair." — George Washington

LAREDO, TEXAS, TIMES:
"In supporting President Eisenhower in the coming campaign, we must add up that he has calmed the seas of human bloodshed. Labor is receiving the highest per-hour take-home pay and has never had it so good. Little business and big business has never had it so good. And unions have never been freer of strikes and stoppages, and they have the highest number of dues-paying members in history."

Opinions In Brief . . .

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR:
"The common economic goal of the free world, to discourage communism, is removing barriers to the flow of capital. The opportunities for achieving a stronger free world and at the same time for sound investment are fabulous. By strengthening capitalism abroad, we are strengthening the free enterprise system, which is basic to our own way of life."

"If, to please the people, we offer what we ourselves disapprove, how can we afterwards defend our work? Let us raise a

To the Editor:
A small, not very important looking release from the Associated Press for September 24, 1955, carried some news which should have shaken public health officials of this country down to their foundations. But it seems as if not an official anywhere paid the slightest attention to the news.

Two Texas X-ray specialists, addressing the 56th annual meeting of the American Roentgen Ray Society, told of finding bone changes in "a few" persons who have been drinking fluoridated water for many years. The specialists (X-ray specialists, not bone specialists, incidentally) went on to say that these changes are minor and harmless.

The advocates of fluoridation have assured us that no evidence exists of any possible harm from drinking fluoridated water. They ignore all the many articles in medical literature, both from this country and abroad, which deal with the possible harm that can be done. The report of the two X-ray specialists will be treated in the same way, no doubt, and the public Health Service, will go right on assuring every community that no evidence has ever turned up indicating any possible harm from fluorine in drinking water.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Alma Buck's fifth grade presented an entertaining program at the chapel period.

A number of parents were on hand for the program and later for the open house which took place in the home. Here Gloria Baldwin and Ben McLawhorn greeted the guests and invited them to the refreshment table which was covered with a pale green linen cloth and centered with a bouquet of spring flowers. Connie Jones poured fruit punch and other grade members assisted in serving cookies, dairy nut cups with salted nuts and mints, given as favors.

The play was preceded by a number of songs, "I Believe," "Your Land," "Star Spangled Banner," and "Little White Duck." The class took part in the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the reading of the First Psalm and prayer. Bitsy Haynes acted as narrator for the program.

A playlet, "The Magic Book Case" concluded the program. The characters that came to life from the pages of the story books were viewed by the Little Girl and Little Boy of today, Carolyn McCotter and John Cole, with Margaret Ellen Hudson acting as the Spirit of Bookland.

There's a new air of elegance about men's fashions this spring. It's reflected in their hats, their clothes, and particularly in the new shoe fashions.

For business and town wear, men are really dressing this season. There's a sharp line drawn between the casual and the town outfit in other words, well-dressed men now need a shoe wardrobe which includes both the casual and the dress styles.

In town clothes—and shoes—the trend is away from the free-and-easy jacket-and-slacks combination which has been doing duty for the last few seasons. The suit's the thing, whether it be in worsted, new fine tweeds, flannels or synthetics.

There's a new young modern type of elegance which is reflected in all the appurtenances of a man's costume, including his hat, suit, shirt, socks, tie and more particularly his shoes.

Charcoal grey, which started the trend in ready-to-wear was responsible for the tremendous vogue for black shoes.

This spring the new look is in the intermediate tones, blues, browns, greys, tweed mixtures, Black polished leather, which goes with all of these, will still be a favorite. But there will be more interest in the browns and cordovans than there was last season.

The low-cut shoe with the Continental air is the correct accessory fashion for the new town suit silhouette — which shows the modified natural line with narrow lapels, three-button fastening and slightly squared shoulders.

The new shoes are sleek, slim, light on the foot. They are distinctly a dress shoe with a town shoe wardrobe. It is definitely that takes a high polish adds to the new feeling for formality in men's city wear.

The popularity of the U and Wing Tip shoe is another indication of the trend as is the trend toward the modified low-cut in three, four and five-eye-let shoes for city wear.

The slip-on, now a basic in many men's shoe wardrobes, is definitely styling up for the spring and summer season.

In this type of shoe the Continental or Italian influence is particularly evident. Lines are slimmer, leathers softer and more flexible, soles lighter.

Higher vamp lines, hugging the instep give a smarter, more sophisticated air to a shoe which started out as a casual fashion. High riding flared vamps are a feature of the new look in town slippers. Strap treatments are popular, superseding in fashion interest the tassel in fashion apparel.

A typical town slip-on in black polished leather features a subtle strap and moc front with interesting bold perforated treatment. For wear with tweeds a flared tongue plain toe slip-on in the new Teak brown polished leather has perforated strap and buckle closing. Sleek low cut Italian styling is the feature of perfectly plain slip-on in black shrunken grain calf with high-riding front (the wing-tip slip-on, in either

Awards Made For Service Records

ROBERSONVILLE—Prior to the benediction in the First Baptist Church Sunday morning two prominent Robersonville citizens were honored.

The Rev. Ralph E. Ferguson, on behalf of the members, presented Mr. Henry Norman a framed certificate for fifty years of service. He is the only living charter member.

Dr. Vernon A. Ward, the oldest deacon, received a similar award for being chairman of the building program when the present structure was planned while the Rev. E. C. Shoe was pastor.

The citations were signed by the minister, the treasurer and the Board of Deacons.

There's a new young modern type of elegance which is reflected in all the appurtenances of a man's costume, including his hat, suit, shirt, socks, tie and more particularly his shoes.

Charcoal grey, which started the trend in ready-to-wear was responsible for the tremendous vogue for black shoes.

This spring the new look is in the intermediate tones, blues, browns, greys, tweed mixtures, Black polished leather, which goes with all of these, will still be a favorite. But there will be more interest in the browns and cordovans than there was last season.

The low-cut shoe with the Continental air is the correct accessory fashion for the new town suit silhouette — which shows the modified natural line with narrow lapels, three-button fastening and slightly squared shoulders.

The new shoes are sleek, slim, light on the foot. They are distinctly a dress shoe with a town shoe wardrobe. It is definitely that takes a high polish adds to the new feeling for formality in men's city wear.

The popularity of the U and Wing Tip shoe is another indication of the trend as is the trend toward the modified low-cut in three, four and five-eye-let shoes for city wear.

The slip-on, now a basic in many men's shoe wardrobes, is definitely styling up for the spring and summer season.

In this type of shoe the Continental or Italian influence is particularly evident. Lines are slimmer, leathers softer and more flexible, soles lighter.

Higher vamp lines, hugging the instep give a smarter, more sophisticated air to a shoe which started out as a casual fashion. High riding flared vamps are a feature of the new look in town slippers. Strap treatments are popular, superseding in fashion interest the tassel in fashion apparel.

A typical town slip-on in black polished leather features a subtle strap and moc front with interesting bold perforated treatment. For wear with tweeds a flared tongue plain toe slip-on in the new Teak brown polished leather has perforated strap and buckle closing. Sleek low cut Italian styling is the feature of perfectly plain slip-on in black shrunken grain calf with high-riding front (the wing-tip slip-on, in either

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
March 7, 1926

Washington, D. C.—Upon motion of Minority Leader Garrett, the House this morning selected Representative Lindsay Warren of the First North Carolina District to fill a vacancy on the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization caused by the death of Representative John E. Baker of California. The committee is one of the most important ones in the House and is especially so now, due to the fact that over a hundred bills have already been introduced to weaken and break down the present immigration laws.

Book Club Has Varied Program

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. David Grimes Sr. was hostess to the Book Lovers' Club Tuesday at 3 o'clock. After the meeting was called to order by the president there was a brief business session.

All the members participated in the program which included current events and interesting stories.

Mrs. B. L. Stokes held the attention of the group when she gave an informative account of the life of George Washington. On a recent trip to New York, Mrs. Mayo Little dined at Asa's Restaurant. She described this place where the hostess, waiters and frequently the customers entertain with selections from operas.

Mrs. J. R. Daniels told the story "Patty Sows Seeds of Friendship."

Use Dr. Guild's Green Mountain Compound as Cigarettes

Some believe that the legend of Johnny Applesseed originated from this. Many other news items and experiences made successful entertainment. After each one took part in the program, Mrs. Grimes served refreshments to the eleven members present.

Safety In The Home Offers Good Goal For 4-H Work

By HORACE G. CORBETT

Farmville Senior 4-H Club This week has been designated as National 4-H Club Week. Our theme is "Improving Family and Community Life." I am concerned primarily with improving the family life through safety in the home. There are many projects a member may complete in the 4-H club and safety is my favorite.

Take time out and list the number of accidents that have occurred in your home!

About half of all accidents that occur in our county happen at home. Nearly all home accidents can be prevented by common sense and forethought. Accidents do not just happen. They usually are caused by carelessness, haste, fatigue, poor housekeeping practices or bad judgment.

Home hazards are costly in pain, grief, and money. You cannot afford them. Check your home and remove every hazard that may cause injury or death. It will take little time, effort or money.

Many serious injuries and deaths are caused by falls, fractures, bruises, cuts, scratches, strains, poisonings, burns, electric shocks, and firearms.

Falls often occur on steps or result from poor housekeeping practices.

a. Steps are dangerous that are broken, uneven, cluttered, icy, without hand rail, poorly spaced tread and riser (standard dimensions — riser 7", tread 11", poorly built, inadequately lighted, with loose carpet and slippery from wax or water.

b. Poor housekeeping such as slippery floors (highly polished, wet or greasy), unanchored small rugs, soap in tub, boxes or chairs used as ladders, furniture out of place, scattered toys poorly lighted rooms and hallways, and extension cords so placed as to cause tripping results in many home accidents.

Rugs can be made secure by sewing rubber jar rings under each corner.

Fractures and bruises result from door ajar, drawers left open, poorly lighted rooms and stairways.

Cuts and scratches result from open scissors, knives improperly used, razor blades, sharp metal toys, needles and pins within reach of children, exposed sharp instruments, nails, jagged glass and saws.

Strains are caused by the lifting of too heavy an object, or failure to lift heavy objects correctly. Carrying loads which obstruct the vision may cause falls, fractures and bruises as well as strains.

Poisonings result from careless use of medicine, disinfectants and insecticides. Poisons not clearly labeled, taking medicine without reading the label, keeping poisons within the reach of children, failing to keep poison in a place of their own causes many accidents.

Burns are caused by smoking in bed, careless use of matches, spattering grease, scalding liquids from containers knocked off of stove or table, unscreened fireplaces, defective stove chimneys and flues, overheated irons, faulty wiring and equipment, handling pots without pot holders, accumulation of rubbish and oily rags, careless with out-door fires, starting fires with kerosene or gasoline and the use of highly combustible cleaning fluids.

Electric shock results from faulty wiring, badly worn insulation on electric cords, operation of switches and appliances with one hand touching a grounded object such as a faucet, handling of electric appliances in bathrooms or other places where there is water.

Firearms wounds result from carelessness with guns, pistols, shells and fireworks. The "unloaded" gun is often the cause of serious or fatal accidents.

Check these danger spots in your home. A safe home is a happy home. Can you do more to make your home safer?

Eggs stored at room temperature lose as much quality in three days as they do in two weeks in a refrigerator.

Baptist Schools Of Missions Set In Pitt

The Rev. Worth C. Grant, formerly pastor of the Weidon Baptist Church, presently Southern Baptist Missionary to Sendai, Japan, will be one of the prominent speakers in Baptist Schools of Missions to be held in Pitt and adjoining counties, with 21 churches participating during the week of March 11-16.

Each of the churches will hear seven different missionaries, representing State, Home and Foreign Missions. In connection with the Schools of Missions study classes will be taught in the various age groups.

Mr. Grant is a native of High Point. He attended Mars Hill College and received his B. A. degree from Furman University, and the Th. M. degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

REV. W. G. GRANT

Before his appointment to overseas mission service in 1950 he was pastor of churches in Thomasville, and at Kennedy Home, Kinston. He is an evangelistic worker in Japan, and is now home on furlough.

Other missionaries speaking in Baptist Churches in Pitt county will be Dr. J. D. Franks, of Wake Forest, who served in the European field; Dr. Paul L. Bard, Rural missionary in Maryland; Rev. Abraham Wright, of Bend, Illinois, missionary to the Italians; Rev. Guthrie Colvard, New Bern, Associational Missionary; Mrs. L. F. Maynard, of Mobile, Alabama; and Mrs. A. R. Crabtree, of Louisville, Ky., missionary to Brazil.

Baptist Churches in Pitt County participating in the Schools of Missions will be Immanuel and Memorial Churches of Greenville, Pacolus Baptist Church, Farmville Baptist Church, Bethel Baptist Church, and Winterville Baptist Church.

These are the first Schools of Missions to have been held in this area, and will not be repeated any time in the near future.

In addition to the churches in Pitt county Baptist churches in Winterville, Tarboro, Pinetops, Wilson, Nashville and Spring Hope will have Schools of Missions during the week of March 11-16, with services each evening.

Dons End Season Unbeaten, NCAA Playoffs Next Goal

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
San Francisco's Dons have their first unbeaten regular season in the bag the National Invitation Tournament has its 12-team field wrapped up and the NCAA needs but one more entry.

The Dons, defending NCAA champs, bagged their 51st straight and their 25th of the season last night, walloping St. Mary's (Calif.) 82-49.

Only the 1953-54 Kentucky club ever had been 25 in a regular season before.

Coach Phil Woolpert's crew will open NCAA Tournament play against UCLA—the last team to beat them—at Corvallis, Ore., March 16.

While the Dons clinched an automatic NCAA berth a while back with their second straight California Basketball Assn. crown, the spot reserved for the Big Seven champ was claimed just last night by Kansas State. The Wildcats smacked Kansas 79-58 to avert a possible four-way tie.

K-State, overcoming a 10-point deficit as Fritz Schneider scored 36 points for a Kansas fieldhouse record, hadn't defeated Kansas since 1952.

Kentucky was sent to the NCAA for a record eighth time yesterday as the Southeastern Conference substituted the runner-up Wildcats for champion Alabama, which has five ineligible four-year men. Both Kentucky, only three-time NCAA champ and K-State have first-round byes along with Iowa, Houston, Utah, UCLA and San Francisco.

The remaining NCAA berth goes to the winner of the three-way playoff for the Ohio Valley Conference title, which gets under way at Louisville tonight. Tennessee Tech and Western Kentucky get it rolling with the winner facing Morehead (Ky.) for the crown tomorrow night.

Regional eliminations begin Monday in the NCAA Tournament. The NIT, which hasn't announced pairings for the March 17-24 battle in Madison Square Garden, closed its entry list with St. Louis yesterday. The Billikens wound up in a tie for second in the Missouri Valley with Oklahoma A&M, picked by the NIT Monday after the Aggies closed their season with an 18-8 record by smacking Bradley 74-40 last night.

Other NIT entries are defending champ Duquesne, Dayton, Louisville, Marquette, Niagara, Xavier of Cincinnati, Lafayette, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, Seton Hall and St. Francis of Brooklyn.

Broome Becomes New App Mentor

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—Bob Broome, who played on some of the best football teams ever produced at Appalachian, has been named head grid coach to succeed veteran E. C. Duggins.

Duggins, head coach since 1947 and who developed North State Conference championship teams in 1948, 1950 and 1954, resigned yesterday after eight years in the job. He did not reveal his plans for the future.

Broome has been backfield coach at Appalachian since 1947, and three of the backs he developed made all-conference teams. A graduate of Appalachian, he was the unanimous choice of the school athletic committee to succeed Duggins.

Duggins leaves the job after compiling a 57-24 record, including three trips to the Tennessee Burling Bowl. A graduate of Milligan College, he was named head coach after Flucie Stewart resigned in 1947 to become head basketball coach at the University of Maryland.

The new mentor played wingback and tailback on the 1937 App team which went undefeated and untied. A native of Marion, he graduated in 1940 and later coached at Henderson High School. After Air Force service in World War II, he was an assistant at Rocky Mount before coming to Appalachian in 1947 as backfield coach.

Podres Receives Induction Notice

By JOE REICHLER
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Podres, star of the Brooklyn Dodgers' World Series victory, admitted today he received his notice of induction into the Army a month ago.

"But I didn't tell anybody about it," he said with a wry grin, "and I don't know how it got out. I didn't think they were supposed to tell those things."

He added that his notice called for him to report to Ft. Ticonderoga, N. Y., March 15.

The news came as no great surprise. Podres was reclassified from 4-F to 1-A last Dec. 22. He could ask a transfer of his induction to here. If it was granted, he probably would go in the April quota.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," he answered when asked if he would seek the transfer.

He also will be privileged to request another physical examination before he is inducted.

Vice President Buzzy Bavasi said the Dodgers would maintain a hands-off policy.

"The club will not lift a finger to interfere," he explained. "We will merely advise the boy, as we do all our young players when they come to us with their problems."

Podres, who had a mediocre 9-10 record for the regular season last year, became the least of Brooklyn when he beat the New York Yankees in the third and seventh games of the World Series last fall.

"I didn't figure on him too much from the start," said Manager Walt Alston, "because I knew this was coming. We should be all right if some of these young pitchers are as good as we think they are."

The Brooks apparently are hoping Ken Lehman, a left-hander, will be good enough to take Podres' place.

Phantom Track Men Look For Good Year

As the 1956 high school track season draws near, Greenville high school mentor Guy Lewis reports that his squad of 30 boys is preparing for a busy campaign.

Lewis, coaching his first Phantom track crew, stated today that of the 30 candidates, eight are lettermen, and one is a full-fledged All-State performer. This gives GHS enthusiasts a bright outlook.

Harold Edwards, who is considered by many the greatest athlete to come out of the Greenville factory in the past twenty years, is the All-Stater and holds the North Carolina high-jump record with an unbelievable 6 feet 3-4 inches. He also excels in the discus.

Veterans Back

Lewis is expecting big things from veterans Pete West, Eon Shackelford, Jerry Drum, Robert Howell and Bob Arthur, and has commented that some of the newcomers have shown promise. The team has been working out since the middle of February.

An intra-squad decathlon is on schedule for the Phantoms for March 15, 16 and 19, which will give the coach a close view of his athletes. The meet will observe all events and the top squad men for each affair will be chosen at that time.

Games scheduled thus far will pit the locals against such teams as Goldsboro, Fayetteville, and Elizabeth City. There is a possibility that meets will be slated with Raleigh and Durham, Lewis said.

Sullivan, LaBua Square-off Tonite

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Jackie LaBua and John L. Sullivan of England, both aiming for a shot at Joey Giambra in April, square off tonight in a 10-round middle-weight bout.

Both also are out to regain prestige after recent losses.

Sullivan, 23, on his second American tour, lost his first outing on this trip to Rocky Castellani in Madison Square Garden, New York, Feb. 24.

LaBua suffered close losses to Gil Turner in his last two starts. Sullivan fought five fights in the United States and Canada in 1952. He lost the first, a split-decision to Gordon Wallace at Toronto, but then won the next four by knockouts.

His over-all record is 36 knockouts in 64 victories, 16 losses and 3 draws.

LaBua, 24, from East Mendow, L. I., has won 25 and lost nine. ABC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Dons King Of All With 51 Victories

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's dominating Dons are kings of all they survey in the collegiate basketball world.

The Dons put the frosting on the cake last night with a run-away and-hide 82-49 victory over St. Mary's of Moraga, Calif.

That gave the Dons: Their 51st straight victory. Their 25th straight triumph this season, tying a regular season mark set by Kentucky in 1953-1954.

CLINTON, S.C. (AP)—The District 26 basketball champion of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics will be decided between Presbyterian and Elon here tonight.

The winner will go to the NAIA tournament in Kansas City March 12-17.

Presbyterian beat East Carolina, 106-84, and Elon defeated Erskine 86-69, to advance to the finals.

Sievers, Senators Near Pay O.K.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Roy Sievers and the Washington Senators were reported moving closer today to compromising on the salary demands of the heavy-hitting outfielder.

Sievers, who is expected to move to first base this season, was said to have cut his demand from $25,000 to $20,000. And the Senators probably have upped their $17,000 offer by $1,000. Sievers drew $13,000 last year.

Marion Hopes Young Ace Can Regain Old Ability

The Associated Press
Perhaps the most bitter pill Manager Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox had to swallow last season was the failure of pitcher Bob Keegan to come through.

The White Sox finished five games out of first place and it seems fair to assume that had Keegan even approached his 1954 record of 16-9, the pale hose might have won the pennant.

As it was, his record stood at 2-3 at the end of the campaign with a paltry 59 innings pitched. Marion planned to send Keegan to the mound today for the first time in an intra-camp game at Tampa, Fla., and admitted he's been watching the big righthander carefully. Keegan could be the key man in the Sox pitching department.

The pilot said that Keegan has been working well so far, although he has been under no strain. "You never know about a pitcher, though," Marion added, "until he works under game conditions. If he can come back strong, that will help us no end."

Keegan isn't the only player in the majors desperately battling for a spot.

At Clearwater, Fla., where the Philadelphia Phillies are training, Phil Westlake, who was signed as a free agent by General Manager Roy Hamey, is working to shed 12 pounds from his 208-pound frame.

"If Hamey had enough confidence to sign me," he said, "I probably have to take over the right field job for him."

Then there is Monte Irvin, a 37-year-old flycatcher, who is with Minneapolis of the American Assn. Last year, after being dropped by the New York Giants, he has been drafted by the Chicago Cubs and is leading in the race for the right field job as of now.

"I know I still have some good baseball left in my system," he said at the Cubs' Mesa, Ariz., fair. George Strickland, the weak-hitting shortstop of the second-place Cleveland Indians, who has been relegated to the bench by the acquisition of Chico Carrasquel from the White Sox, isn't giving up without a battle.

"I know I'll definitely have to hit to take it away from Chico," he said at the tribe's Tucson, Ariz., base. "I've been talking to Manager Al Lopez about my hitting and he's doing everything he can to help."

Carrasquel hit .256 last season, while Strickland could do no better than .209.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

"It sounds awful." But Meg did not belabor Alaskan gossip as she usually did. "Michael have you ever thought that Jenny and—Nathan were—I mean, after all, Jenny is a widow and—" She stopped in confusion, for Michael was laughing at her. Meg flushed. She knew that light tone of Michael's. He was actually telling her she didn't own Jenny. She changed subjects abruptly. "I wish Gretchen wouldn't haul Johnny all over town as if he were a rag doll. Sometimes I think he believes she's his mother."

"A reasonable assumption," Michael said, still speaking lightly. He didn't stay as long as he usually did and left Meg with the feeling that he didn't quite approve of her.

that evening.

Michael was glad of the quiet streets between him and the town's center. Silence was a salve. Yet behind the silence coming change dug at him. Seattle was fat with portent this April. North was the golden witch of the Klondike (funny how Meg's phrase stuck); Cuba held the threat of war. He wondered how many people in the town fought awareness as he did. Maybe when war came it would be a jar. Perhaps a jar would be good for him, no matter what it did for the rest of the world.

Then, suddenly—the excitement of it riffling from the Tenderloin to the highest hill—there was war. President McKinley sent a message to Congress, called for volunteers. Colonel Wholley, onetime recruiting officer in Seattle, was called from his university teaching position and put in command. The National Guard was alerted. Washington was called upon for one regiment. Michael, as National Guardsman, worked with Wholley, turned his law practice over to Eben Holborn.

"Who's Wholley anyhow?" Meg demanded. "I never saw a college professor who could run anything more strenuous than a curriculum."

"Wholley's all right," Michael assured her. "We'll be at Camp John R. Rogers in no time."

The camp, named for Washington's governor, was near Tacoma. Other troops from over the state would also rendezvous there. Tim, attempting to volunteer, was rejected. When he came to tell Meg, he displayed a mixture of ire and relief. "Too old and too light! Why I could outlast a dozen young bucks!" He scowled at Michael and Nathan, who were laughing at him. "I hear Jose Gomez left town today. Did you finance it, Michael?"

"Gomez?" Nathan said. "Didn't he run that chill parlor below the Kemp? I thought he did a good business."

Tim snorted. "Say, you couldn't give away a Spanish dish in town now!"

Claims Poison Is 'Stupid' Method

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Poison gets the murderer's job done, but it is the most stupid method of getting rid of an enemy, according to a laboratory detective.

Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, director of the Michigan state detection laboratory, told the Southern Police Institute.

"The chemical methods for detecting poison are pretty good and chances of getting away with it are slim."

Order Pet Lion To Leave Town

LOS ANGELES (AP) — King the lion must leave town within 15 days.

The animal regulation commission so ordered after neighbors objected to the 4-month old animal and officials at the nearby Los Angeles orphans home said they would rather the lion were elsewhere.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market ran into a lot of irregularity today with prices leaning down in the early afternoon.

Changes with only a few exceptions went to around a point either way. A number of leaders held unchanged for considerable periods.

Trading was relatively light with the pace well under the 2,770,000 shares sold in yesterday's slightly lower market.

Biggest feature of the day was the start of trading in Ford Motor Co. stock on the New York Stock Exchange. In a flurry of ceremony and trading activity the stock opened at $2 on a stock of 1,300 shares. It was followed by 500 at the same price and then 100 shares at $2. Thereafter, Ford traded moderately in a range of 61 1/2 to 62. Estimated, Ford traded 63 1/2. An estimated 7,600 shares changed hands in the first two hours of dealings. The stock closed yesterday in the over-the-counter market at 61 1/2 bid and 62 1/2 offered.

Arcrafts were in demand today as they were yesterday, and they had good gains at times. Oils were under some selling pressure today as yesterday. Losses weren't sizable. The rest of the market was steady to mixed.

At noon the Associated Press average of 80 stocks was off 30 cents at $182.50. It lost 30 cents yesterday.

Brokers consider the current market situation normal. They point out that a three-week rally of the extent just witnessed should be entitled to a breathing spell if not a consolidating reaction of a modest nature.

At the same time they don't disregard the possibility that the market might seize on some excuse to sell and thus start a reaction. For that reason, Wall Street is keeping a close eye on developments in the Middle East where the nation has both a political and a business stake, the latter chiefly in oil.

Old Testament Poetry Reading For Men's Club

The Methodist Men's Club of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church heard Dr. Howard McGinnis read choice bits of poetry from the Old Testament last night at their monthly meeting. Dr. McGinnis told the club that poetry was found in all but two books of the Old Testament and predominated many of the books.

To make the excerpts more meaningful Dr. McGinnis placed each incident historically before reading. He read quotations from fourteen books of the Old Testament. Explanation was made that much of the poetry was not in the poetic form as to meter and rhyme nor even arranged by verses in the King James Version but in Standard Revised Version poetry is found in characteristic verse arrangement. Reverend William H. Howard reminded the club that Reverend Henry Ruark, pastor of the Laurinburg Methodist Church, would be holding a series of special services at Jarvis Memorial starting March 18th.

In commenting on the young preacher, Reverend Howard said, "Reverend Ruark is one of the very finest preachers the North Carolina Conference affords." Mr. Howard added that he held Henry Ruark in highest regard and commended him to young people especially.

Also making an announcement to the club was Kinchen Cobb one of the Co-chairmen of the Hospitality Committee for the June meeting of the North Carolina Annual Conference at Jarvis Memorial. He urged the members of the Club to consider themselves as appointed members of the Hospitality Committee along with every other member of the Church. Mr. Cobb said he wanted the church to make everyone attending the Conference to feel welcome and enjoy himself.

James Joyner is president of the Methodist Men's Club at Jarvis Memorial. Sam Underwood is chairman of the Program Committee. The ladies of WMSCS served dinner.

The Passion Play, an event of the Easter Season which has attracted wide attention in the state, will be presented this year March 25, 26, and 27 in the Wright auditorium at East Carolina College. Various churches of Greenville will sponsor the religious drama.

In addition to Dr. Cuthbert, a number of others at the college are assisting in the production of the Passion Play. Dr. Joseph A.
