Witness Thinks Communists Are Greater Threat Than In Past

Student Lab Instructor or At UNC Is First Witness Called By House Probers

By AUSTIN ADKINSON
CHARLOTTE (AP)—A young student-lab instructor at the University of North Carolina who infiltrated the Communist party for the FBI, said today he considers the party a "far greater threat" today to the security of this country than it has been in the past.

Charles B. Childs, a native of High Point, N.C., was the first witness called by a subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities as it opened three days of public hearings into Communist activities in North Carolina and neighboring states.

Childs said he considered the "ultimate aim of the Communist conspiracy is to overthrow the United States government."

He described his activities as a member both of the Communist party from October, 1950, to April, 1955, and as a member of organizations sympathetic to the party during the same period in High Point, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Chapel Hill.

Childs named about a dozen people he said were known to him as members of the Communist party. Most of them had been so identified during the trial of Carolinas Communist party leader, Junius Scales at Greensboro last April.

Childs testified that during his membership in the Labor Youth League, which he said was the youth arm of the Communist party, he traveled over North Carolina with Maud Russell, chairman of the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy.

He said further that he was with her when she spoke at Winston-Salem, at Durham and at Chapel Hill, where he placed the audience at about 20 persons at a student center meeting under auspices of the Young Progressives.

The Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy, which was cited as a subversive by the attorney general in April, 1949, favored diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the subcommittee, told Childs, "Nobody can tell the extent of the value of your appearance here today. It might be equal to two divisions of infantry."

Walter, who also is chairman of the subcommittee, said about a dozen witnesses will be heard here.

He listed the five as:

1. John V. Myers, who was dismissed last Monday as languages professor at Campbell College, a Baptist-supported school at Buies Creek. The college announced he was dismissed for refusing to answer questions the trustees put to him "concerning his political and religious views as they affect the college." Myers previously had announced he had been subpoenaed and would be an uncooperative witness.

2. Charles Childs, a University of North Carolina student who testified in the Junius Scales trial that he had been Communist since April of 1950. Childs was convicted last April of violating the Smith Act while chairman of the Communist party in the Carolinas and Tennessee. He is sentenced to six years imprisonment and is free on bond while appealing to the U. S. Supreme Court.

3. Joseph Blake, a teacher in Winnah Junior High School at Georgetown, S.C.

4. Nat Bond, a teacher at Bluefield (W. Va.) State College.

5. William Evans of Durham, N.C.

GREET DULLES

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A dozen young Communists shrilled anti-SEATO slogans to greet Secretary of State Dulles when he landed here today. But most of Indonesia's 175 million people appeared indifferent to the American diplomat's visit.

N. C. Republicans Apparently Back Eisenhower

DURHAM (AP)—North Carolina Republicans apparently were solidly behind President Eisenhower today after one of their best shows of strength at a state convention.

More than 2,500 of the party faithful gathered here Saturday to hear Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland. They picked four at-large delegates to the national convention, named Kyle Hayes of North Wilkesboro as the GOP candidate for governor and unanimously adopted an eight-point platform.

Ninety-Six Lawmakers On Record Denouncing Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Southern senators held open today the possibility of a third party movement if the Democratic National Convention should commit the party firmly in favor of school integration.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC), who led the Democratic States Rights party which captured four Dixie states in 1948, said he knows no third party movement at this time.

"But I have enlisted with the South Carolina Democratic party and if any dispute arises with the national party organization, I will be with the South Carolina Democratic party," he said.

Another Southern senator predicted Dixie delegates will walk out of the convention if it endorses the use of force to bring about school integration.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) voiced the opinion that what happens in the way of any third party move "will depend on what happens at the convention, what kind of a platform it writes and what candidate it nominates."

Reveal Margaret Truman Engaged

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman today announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to Clifton Daniel Jr., assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times.

MARGARET TRUMAN

Germany, and the Soviet Union. Last year he became assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times.

Daniel's father, a Zebulon drugist, is a former president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Assn.

Miss Truman and Daniel returned to New York by train this morning from a weekend at the home of Daniel's parents in Zebulon, N.C. Daniel was with her. The couple refused to comment on their plans.

Mr. Truman, who made the announcement for himself and Mrs. Truman at a press conference, said the wedding will be held in Independence in April.

Asked by a newsman when he and Mrs. Truman first received word from their daughter about the engagement, Truman said:

"That is something you will have to talk to them about."

Both Miss Truman and Daniel spent the weekend at Zebulon, N.C., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr.

During the visit, the elder Daniel said his son and Miss Truman had been friends for years but he added, "Whether there's anyone to it than that I couldn't say."

Miss Truman has spent most of her time in New York, where she is engaged in radio and television work.

The 32-year-old Miss Truman, a coloratura soprano has made a series of concert tours in the past six years.

She made her debut on television with the Ed Sullivan Show in 1950. That same year she signed a radio and TV contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

Daniel, 43, was graduated in 1933 from the University of North Carolina. His first newspaper work was on the Daily Bulletin at Dunn, N.C., in 1933. He moved then to the News and Observer, Raleigh, N.C., from 1934 to 1937.

He joined the New York Times in 1944, serving as a correspondent in London, the Middle East,

Act To Develop 4-Year College

LOUISBURG, N. C. (AP)—Positive action has been taken to make a reality of a sentiment to convert Louisa Junior College into a four-year college.

The two-year co-educational institution, which has operated every year since its 1787 founding except during the Civil War period, is believed to be the oldest junior college in the nation.

At a mass meeting yesterday, the local bar association named a committee to appear before Methodist Bishop Paul N. Garber at Durham tomorrow to plead the four-year cause — and to keep the institution here.

A motorcade is expected to accompany the committee on its journey to Durham.

Dr. Cecil W. Robbins, president of the college, told the meeting it was his impression that Tar Heel Methodists feel the need for a four-year Methodist college in eastern North Carolina.

It is understood delegations from Rocky Mount, Fayetteville, Wilmington and Lumberton also will appear before Bishop Garber tomorrow. These four communities recently lost out in their bid to land the new four-year, consolidated Presbyterian college which was awarded to Laurinburg.

Seven Homes Are Swept By Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fanned by roaring, gale force winds, flames swept through seven expensive homes of suburban Tujunga early today and razed along a half-mile through brush and scrub timber.

Families in nearby homes were evacuated. More than 100 firemen, leaning into the teeth of 70 to 85 m. p. h. winds, fought the swiftly moving flames.

Small explosions punctuated the roaring and crackling as the modern homes were consumed. At least two homes were unroofed by the wind.

past 50 years, advocated the state provide equal educational facilities for all the school children of our state.

The eight-point platform promised:

1. Adoption of an "honest and fair election law" applying to primaries and general elections alike; repeal of the absentee ballot law, except for servicemen and incapacitated voters.

2. Realignment of congressional and state senatorial districts "on a fair and equitable basis; removal of the judiciary from partisan politics."

3. Provision for two-party representation on all state commissions, boards and bureaus, including the State Highway Commission.

4. Expansion of the "inadequate highway system."

Car Overtakes Sunday Killing Winterville Man

An afternoon of boating ended in tragedy yesterday when a 1955 sedan overturned on the Whichard's Beach Road near Washington, killing a Winterville youth and injuring three Greenville youths.

Charles Glenn Smith, 22, the driver, was crushed to death beneath the overturned car. The brother, a Winterville youth and injuring three Greenville youths.

Charles Glenn Smith, 22, the driver, was crushed to death beneath the overturned car. The brother, a Winterville youth and injuring three Greenville youths.

State Highway Patrolman C. F. Patton said the car, which was towing a small motor boat on a trailer, went out of control on a curve three and seven-tenths miles southeast of Washington.

Patton said also that the vehicle appeared to have been traveling at a high rate of speed. The accident occurred about 5:15 p.m.

The vehicle skidded 350 feet out of control before it came to a halt. Patton said he believed that the driver began to swerve causing Smith to lose control on a slight curve.

The three Stokes youths were thrown clear. Marvin and Leo suffered lacerations and bruises and Ben a broken arm.

The road on which the accident occurred has been tabbed the "Bloody Boulevard" because of the numerous serious accidents taking place on it.

Whitfield Seeks Lt. Governorship

RALEIGH (AP)—Stating he is firmly against public school integration, veteran Pender County legislator J. Vivian Whitfield announced his candidacy for the lieutenant-governorship yesterday.

"I am firmly opposed to integration in public schools," Whitfield said in a statement, "and I shall favor any legal means for avoiding integration."

Whitfield served in the State Senate in 1953 and in the House four prior terms.

He declared, "One of the reasons I have decided to make this race is the failure of the candidates who have announced to take any definite stand on the segregation question."

Whitfield, who is 61, is a farmer-businessman and is chairman of the State Stream Sanitation Committee.

He is the seventh person to announce for the lieutenant governorship.

On Saturday, political unknown Stuart Patrick, 45, of Farmville, announced he will file for the office this coming Friday.

Woman's Husband To Be Charged With Her Murder Hold Trio In Bloody Slaying

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor
A Negro farm woman was brutally beaten and then shot to death at her rural home near Garnersville some time during the weekend.

BLOODY CHAIR—Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson looks over a bloody broken chair found in the woods about 100 yards from the house in which Mrs. Ella Carter, Negro, is believed to have been killed Saturday night.

The man Andrews had caught turned out to be a white man. The officers established that he had no connection with the case.

The officers found blood all over the living room of the dwelling. However, the occupants denied any knowledge of the woman's whereabouts.

Members of the sheriff's department looked up the trio in County Jail and began a search of nearby woods with the assistance of neighbors.

The search lasted most of last night. It was not until this morning that four Negro men, Frank Brock, Zack Taylor, Levi Gardner and Leslie Koonce, found the body of the missing woman about 3-4 mile from the house.

Her nude body was sprawled, face up, in a thicket.

Later in the morning officers found a broken chair about 100 yards from the house. There was a considerable amount of blood on the collapsed chair and officers theorized that it may have been the weapon with which Mrs. Carter was so brutally beaten.

Officers also found portions of the woman's bloody underclothing in the woods behind the home. In addition they found cloth matching cloth on the body in another part of the woods and burned clothing in the fireplace of the dwelling.

Sheriff Tyson said the three jailed persons would make no statement concerning the crime except to say that they had not seen Carter's wife since Saturday and did not know where she was.

A neighbor reported that Mrs. Carter came to her house about 11 o'clock Saturday morning and again about 7 o'clock Saturday night. That was the last time she is known to have been seen alive.

The sheriff's department confiscated a .12 gauge shotgun found in the dwelling and a pair of bloody khaki trousers. Three .12 gauge shotgun shells were found in the pockets of the trousers.

Coroner Rouse said an inquest into the slaying is to be held, although the exact date has not yet been set.

Punishment For Student Rioters

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—University of Alabama trustees today expelled one student, suspended three others and approved lesser punishment for 21 more in disciplinary action arising from student rioting against Autherine Lucy, the school's first Negro student.

Leonard Wilson, 20-year-old Selma, Ala., sophomore was expelled.

Lucy was expelled from classes after rioting Feb. 6. She was expelled Feb. 29 after unproved charges that university officials were in conspiracy with the mob.

Wilson, who addressed student demonstrations the nights of Feb. 3 and 4, was called from class today and told of his expulsion.

A statement from the trustees said Wilson was thrown out because of his part in student rioting and also because of "unwarranted and outrageous public attacks" on Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, university president, and other school officials.

Wilson called for a general house-cleaning at the university in an address before a White Citizens' Council rally in Birmingham last Tuesday.

The trustees also announced that three students under investigation in the student rioting had been withdrawn from school and would not be readmitted unless they were cleared of charges against them.

Wilson's name was the only one given in a statement by John A. Caddell, Decatur, Ala., trustee.

"FRUITFUL" PROBE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said today he thinks a special eight-member committee will make a "fruitful" investigation of lobbying and improper influence.

The high tribunal issued an order overturning a Florida Supreme Court decision that permits a delay in the admission of Virgil D. Hawkins to the law school of the all-white University of Florida.

Hawkins is a 48-year-old Negro of Davutona Beach, Fla.

The Florida Supreme Court had appointed a commissioner to take testimony on the question as to when Hawkins could be admitted without creating "public mischief."

The highest tribunal's order today said:

"He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates."

DEATH HOUSE?—The brused body of Mrs. Ella Carter was found about 3-4 mile from this farm home this morning. A considerable amount of blood was found inside the three room house. Her husband, Malachi, is to be charged with murder as a result of the woman's death. Pointing in the front door of the dwelling is Deputy Sheriff Duke Andrews. (Reflector Staff Photos).

French Assembly Almost Certain To OK Bid Emergency Powers Sought

PARIS (AP)—The National Assembly appeared certain to grant Premier Guy Mollet broad emergency powers today to restore order in revolt-ravaged Algeria.

Mollet, returning from weekend talks with Prime Minister Eden in London on the Mediterranean crises, scheduled an important noon speech before the Foreign Press Assn. of Paris. He planned to go to the Assembly immediately after.

The gravity of the Algerian situation was pointed up by Arab outbreaks across a widespread area of the North African territory over the weekend. French authorities counted nearly 200 rebels killed. Street fighting even spilled into a suburb of Algiers, which rarely has been hit by nationalist violence.

Assembly approval of Mollet's bid for emergency powers was expected to bring within hours a series of decrees aimed at restoring order in Algeria.

The authorization requested by the government would give Robert Lacoste, resident Cabinet minister for Algeria, power to take "all exceptional measures required by circumstances to re-establish order, protect persons and property and safeguard the territory."

Lacoste's first moves were expected to include:

1. Proclamation of a state of siege in many areas.

GHS Chorus, Band Receive High Ratings

Greenville High School's mixed chorus and band received ratings of "superior" and "excellent," respectively, in a district contest Friday and Saturday at East Carolina College.

The girls glee club was rated "superior," while the boys chorus was graded "excellent."

The local groups were in competition with choruses and bands from all over eastern North Carolina. They are now eligible to compete in the state contests in April.

The Greenville High band was the only one which played "grade five" music, which is "next to the highest music written for band." Other bands played grade four, three and two music.

Judges for the band contest were Edmund Durham and Don Hayes of the East Carolina College faculty, and Hans Piltz from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Choral judges were Mrs. Alice Wood of Raleigh, Mrs. Peggy Barkdale of Wilmington and Mrs. Sarah Holroyd of Woman's College.

Miss Ona Shindler directs the high school choruses, and James Rodgers is band director.

Smith-Keeter Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Rose Keeter and Mr. Robert Carroll Smith was solemnized Saturday afternoon, March 10, at 2:30 o'clock in the Methodist Parsonage in Grimsland, N. C. The Rev. J. J. Grimes officiated in the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a light blue wool suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was a purple-throated orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a trip to Florida. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home on the Farmville Highway near Greenville.

The following attended the wedding: Mr. and Mrs. German Keeter, Miss Evonne Keeter, Mr. Allen Keeter, Mrs. Julia Porter, Mrs. Thaddeus (Doc) Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Goodson Jr., Miss Ann Keeter, Mrs. James Corey, Mr. W. C. Averette, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Grimes.

Miss Rose Keeter, a bride of Saturday, March 10, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower Monday evening by Miss Sandra Porter and her mother, Mrs. Lerman Porter, at their home near Greenville. Upon arrival, Miss Keeter was presented a corsage of white pom-poms. Arrangements of early spring flowers were used in the home. Miss Porter directed the guests in playing several interesting and entertaining games, after which refreshments consisting of chicken salad sandwiches, salted nuts, mints and drinks were served. Miss Keeter was the recipient of many pretty and useful gifts.

Miss Hooper Made Honorary Member Of Breakfast Club

Members of the Greenville Credit Women's Breakfast Club have completed their Dixie Council Project, "How To Become a Better Reader," under the supervision of Miss Emma Hooper, English instructor at East Carolina College. Miss Hooper was made an honorary member of the club Saturday and was presented a membership pin by Mrs. Callie Rue Williams, vice president.

At the regular club meeting Saturday morning each member received a written report on the results of the two tests taken with personal notes on their progress and special needs. The course was designed to aid adults to increase their reading rates, improve their comprehension and build their vocabularies. Miss Hooper reported that all of the members made gains in two or more respects. These increases will aid members to do their jobs better and are the foundation for continued improvement. She stressed the joy of reading and urged everyone to spend at least 15 minutes each day reading aloud with families and friends.

There was no competition among members as this was a self-help course but a prize was offered for the two members making not the highest grade but the most increase in their reading speed and comprehension as shown by results of two tests. Mrs. Margaret Arthur of Folger Buick Company and Mrs. Virginia Brady of Cold Storage, Inc. were presented silver book marks by Mrs. Dorothy Copeland as they showed most improvement. Mrs. Arthur also received the highest score in the group on the final test.

Mrs. Mildred Hardee, co-chairman of hostess committee, announced that the club would celebrate its seventh birthday at a dinner meeting to be held Wednesday night, March 21, at 7:15 at Respass-James. Bosses are to be guests of members for this occasion. Mr. J. T. Marston Jr., executive vice-president of State Bank & Trust Company, will be guest speaker. The club voted to assist with the Annual City Newcomers Party to be held in April.

Drs. Murray, Bartlett, Collaborate On Article

Dr. Paul Murray, of the Social Studies Department at East Carolina College and Dr. Stephen Russell Bartlett, Jr., local physician, have collaborated on an article for a recent issue of the North Carolina Historical Review.

The article is based on letters written by Bartlett's grandfather, Stephen Chauker Bartlett, a physician in the Union Army during the Civil War.

A brief sketch of Bartlett's life precedes the letters. The latter were written while Bartlett was stationed in or near Wilmington during the final days of the war.

The opening letter, addressed to his parents, is a brief one describing his duties and containing a bit of speculation about the future.

Later, as a surgeon aboard the U.S. steamer "Lenape," Bartlett took part in action against Confederate forces near Ft. Fisher and the Cape Fear River.

His letters present a rarely-seen picture of the life of a naval medical officer during the latter stages of the war.

He speaks of the Confederates with no animosity and includes in his observations comments on the daily life in federal occupied Wilmington.

After his discharge from service, Bartlett returned to his native Connecticut where he practiced medicine until his death in 1879 at the age of 39.

Women In The Church

Women in the Church

According to Miss Gertrude M. Byler, Methodist missionary in Hiroaki, Japan, three young women from that church and city will be graduated from the United Church Seminary in March, two as ordained ministers, and the other as an evangelist. Two of these are graduates of Hiroaki Gakulin, 80-year-old Methodist college in that city and are second generation Christians. One is an orphan who lost her family and her home in the bombing of Aomori. She was brought up in the Town Orphanage in Hiroaki; but proving to be a child of unusual ability, she was given a church scholarship. Upon graduation she will marry a young Japanese minister and join him in his parish work.

"The church can no longer depend on people 'volunteering to be leaders,'" Mrs. Doris C. Demaree, of Franklin, Indiana, an officer of the Indiana Council of Churches, said recently in Cincinnati, Ohio. "It must go after them. It should follow the pattern of enlistment and training used by Jesus. He developed followers. From among those who showed leadership qualities, He chose those to whom He gave additional leadership training. . . . We need to reevaluate and greatly strengthen our work with youth and adults. Somehow we are not developing fully committed Christians, those who not only know they believe, but who are willing to live what they believe."

of Chinese descent, was ordained by Bishop Raymond L. Archer, of Singapore, as the first woman ordained minister in all Malaya. Miss Ming has been serving for a number of years as an "effective supply pastor" in churches of the Malaya Chinese Annual Conference.

Rev. Ruth S. Bast, of Binger, Oklahoma, was elected president of the American Association of Women Ministers at its recent annual assembly. She succeeds Rev. Clara Wood, Berkeley, California. According to the latest census reports, 6,777 women now serve as ministers in the United States, about 4.1 per cent of all ministers in the nation. Of those serving as pastors of local churches, approximately 10 per cent are in communions affiliated with the National Council of Churches.

X-Ray Survey Is Begun At College

A chest x-ray survey of all students and faculty at East Carolina College was begun on the college campus today and will continue until 2 p.m. Thursday.

On Friday a survey will be made in the Grimesland township.

X-rays are being made by a mobile unit from the N. C. Department of Public Health. The survey is sponsored by the state health department, the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, Pitt County Medical Society and the local health department.

X-ray survey of students in all high schools in Greenville and throughout the county is being conducted at the health department.

Health Director Walter C. Humbert said plans call for surveys of the high schools and college each year, and one or more townships by the mobile unit.

Just Misplaced

NEW YORK (AP)—Clerks resume searching today for a one million-dollar U.S. Treasury note somebody "misplaced" in the vaults of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

More than 100 employees worked overtime during the weekend in a hunt for the missing note. When they went home late yesterday, they had rummaged through about half of 4,500 file drawers in the bank's basement.

The note, first missed last Wednesday, is not negotiable.

"The note will almost certainly be found," the bank said in a statement, "but even if it never were, the bank's insurance fully covers a loss of this kind."

"Meanwhile, the hunt goes on."

Fluoridation Proposal Soon At Hand

Within a few days now Greenville's City Council will officially receive the hotly debated proposal that Greenville fluoridate its water supply. At the Council meeting Thursday night the Council is expected to take some action—although it may not be final—on the matter.

The Reflector has voiced its support of the proposal and we stand by our conviction that the measure will provide great benefits to the people of the city in years to come. We feel it would be in the best interest of the people of the city for the Council to make its official decision as early as possible in order that the program may become a reality at the earliest possible date. At the same time we realize the responsibility placed upon members of the Council in conjunction with this undertaking. In all probability the Council will at least have a public hearing on the matter before making a definite decision. In addition to satisfying themselves that the proposal will be beneficial to the city, the Council probably will want to make its own evaluation of public sentiment toward the proposal before making its final decision.

While the Council should take what time it seems necessary to consider the proposal, it should likewise endeavor to render its decision without undue delay. After the Council has rendered its decision, it will still take time for the matter to be considered by State health officials and if approval is forthcoming from the state level, still additional time to make necessary preparations for beginning the program.

At best, it will take several months even now before the fluoridation program becomes a reality in Greenville. Should the Council drag its feet or delay unduly in rendering a decision, it could be more than a year before the program becomes a reality in Greenville.

In short, The Reflector urges the Council to take prompt, though not hasty, action on the proposal.

A Common Ground For Courts In Safety Task

As diligently as they may try to influence driving habits through severe penalties on violators of traffic regulations, a handful of lower court judges in North Carolina cannot do the job alone.

If the courts are to give effective assistance to law enforcement there must be a consistent, concerted effort by the court at all levels to impose sufficiently stiff penalties to impress guilty parties of the seriousness of their offenses.

Little is to be gained if a lower court imposes stiff though justified sentences and a Superior Court to which the case is appealed is much more lenient in dealing with the defendant.

Each case must be decided on its own merits and circumstances. Each jurist whose duty it is to impose sentences on guilty parties will weigh the evidence and circumstances in his own mind and seek by his sentence to reflect his own interpretation of the seriousness of the offense within the latitude prescribed by law. It cannot be expected that all lower court and Superior Court judges in the state, hearing the same case, identical evidence and reaching an identical conclusion of the guilt or innocence of the accused, would normally impose identical sentences in a traffic violation case. Each would pronounce a sentence based on his own evaluation of the case.

Yet, there does seem to us a common ground upon which the jurists could agree on a fundamental attitude toward sentences in flagrant cases of traffic violation.

There is little to be gained in the interest of public safety if short jail sentences imposed by recorder court judges in traffic cases are to be replaced by fines or more lenient punishment when the cases are appealed to a higher court.

The Reflector commends Judge Whedbee for specifying a short jail term as part of the sentence in serious traffic violation cases. We are confident that such an attitude on the part of the local court will have an important positive influence on safer driving at least so far as the city is concerned.

Abusing Eastland Was For Local Consumption

We cannot help feeling that the verbal fireworks which erupted over the appointment of Sen. Eastland of Mississippi to the chairman of Senate Judiciary Committee was a display put on by a few politicians for home consumption.

It is often that politicians are vehement in their vocal support of issues popular within their own communities. This vocal display, however, does not follow through with action.

In elaborating the appointment of Sen. Eastland to the important chairmanship, Sen. Lehman and Sen. Morse charged that Sen. Eastland had refused to call hearings of a civil rights subcommittee of which he was chairman. Subsequently it was pointed out that Sen. Eastland had held no hearings in his subcommittee simply because no hearings on bills were requested.

It is also somewhat ironical that Sen. Eastland would not have been in a position to ascend to the chairmanship of the important committee had not Sen. Morse—formerly a Republican and more lately and independently—voted with the Democrats in the organization of the Senate.

There is no basis for supposing that civil rights legislation will fare worse in the Senate Judiciary Committee with Sen. Eastland in the chairman's seat than similar bills have fared at the hands of the House Judiciary Committee of which Rep. Emanuel Celler is chairman. Although Rep. Celler of Brooklyn is a vocal advocate of supposedly suppressed minorities, not one of the seven bills in this field which have been referred to his committee have reached the floor of the House. One of the bills was tabled and the others were voted down in committee.

Cautious Approach To Education Issues

By LYNN NISBET

SOFT-STEPPING—The State Board of Higher Education is stepping softly and feeling its way in approaching problems with which it may be required to deal. There have been a number of meetings, but the one on Friday was the first since the board was really activated. Director J. Harris Furks and Asst. Director Paul Reid reported for duty on March 1, and offices were established in the Education Building.

Before the session began Chairman Hiden Ramsey told newsmen that all business of the board would be conducted in public and no votes would be secret; but that after the formal session the board members wanted to put their feet on the table, let down their hair and talk over some things with the executive staff.

On two major items there was distinct doubt about just how far the board should go officially in recommending policies to institutional trustees. Should it "recommendation" be only a mere suggestion or should it imply tax support? In the instance the buck was passed to the Governor, with full knowledge that Governor Hodges is entirely willing to carry the ball.

CONFERENCE—That was the calling of a conference of all institutions of higher education in the state, tax-supported or related or privately operated, for the purpose of correlating efforts to meet the common need for local facilities for education above high school level.

The Governor was requested to call the conference at Salem College in Winston-Salem for April 18-19, and to deliver the keynote address on the opening day. President Graney had invited the meeting for the 55th anniversary of the educational conference at which Governor Charles B. Aycock made his historic education speech in 1901.

TESTS—The board also approved the policy by the trustees of the Consolidated University for aptitude tests or entrance examinations for applicants for enrollment in freshman classes, and commended the idea for favorable consideration by the state. Other tax supported colleges. That was in line with suggestion of Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, that a common test be given and students allowed to select the institution they wanted to attend. Dr. Carlisle Campbell, president of Meredith, has suggested participation of non-tax colleges in the test program. For this year the examinations will be conducted by the University and findings will not be controlling. It is contemplated that next year and thereafter no applicants who fall in the lower quarter in ratings will be accepted by tax supported colleges.

SCREENING—This is recognized as a delicate issue. When the UNC trustees adopted the plan change was made that it was intended to prevent acceptance of Negroes in the tax colleges. It was not surprising that the issue bobbed up in the board meeting.

W. J. Kennedy, top executive of the biggest all-Negro insurance company in the world and sole representative of the world on the nine-member board, raised the point that this represents a departure from usual practice and wondered if it could be justified. Chairman Ramsey and Director Furks explained that most years more than 3000 applicants had to be turned down or lack of space in the colleges, that a larger number may have to be turned away this fall.

SATISFIED—"That explanation," said Kennedy, "is the question." In the life insurance business we sure do screen the applicants—and a lot of them don't get it.

Information at hand indicated that all the colleges are satisfied with the program outlined and possibly be being conducted the tests at strategic centers throughout the state—and to pull the bill of costs by transfer of already appropriated funds. Full adaptation of the test program for all colleges (including the individual student pay, state revision in distributing expenses.

Most reasonable suggestion is that the individual student pay, the cost by having the relatively small amount added to the tuition bill at whatever institution the student teaches. Tight and loose of establishment of a more or less independent cooperative board of accreditation.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHAT'S THE PULPIT FOR?

One of the functions of the Church is to give moral support to the individual student. Many people today complain about the fact that they receive very little moral support from their church. Although every body has a tremendous admiration for the clergymen of all faiths, it must be denied that much of the preaching we hear today does not touch the problems which ordinary people confront.

Too many sermons being preached on the necessity for more equitable social conditions, rights of minorities, proper distribution of money and property, world peace. All these are magnificent ideals. But they are the fruits of religion, not religion itself. Furthermore people are struggling with other problems of the individual student pay, a sense of guilt being chief among these. Ministers need to reveal to those spiritual powers by which they can be comforted in the midst of their sorrows. They need to explain what the Bible teaches about right and wrong and how people sorely tempted to do evil may find help. Above all, the truth about the forgiving love of God, the Christ needs to be set forth to those who bear the heavy burden of their guilt.

Let us have more religion from the pulpit and less sociology, psychiatry, and political economy. The pulpit exists for the purpose of presenting to the needy hearts of men and women the redemptive facts of religious faith.

Ride Or Eat?

(Greensboro Daily News)

Never doubt that a Southerner likes his food. Whether it's fried chicken, Brunswick stew, ham, hush puppies or popovers, whether it's ambrosia, syllabub or pecan pie, the Southerner likes to sit at his table and be served.

But now comes the disillusioning discovery that when he digs down into his pockets to pay up, he prefers automobiles to food. The Census Bureau, indefatigable producer of irrefutable facts, says that in seven Southeastern states 27 per cent of every dollar spent in the retail market goes for automobile supplies, only 23 cents for groceries.

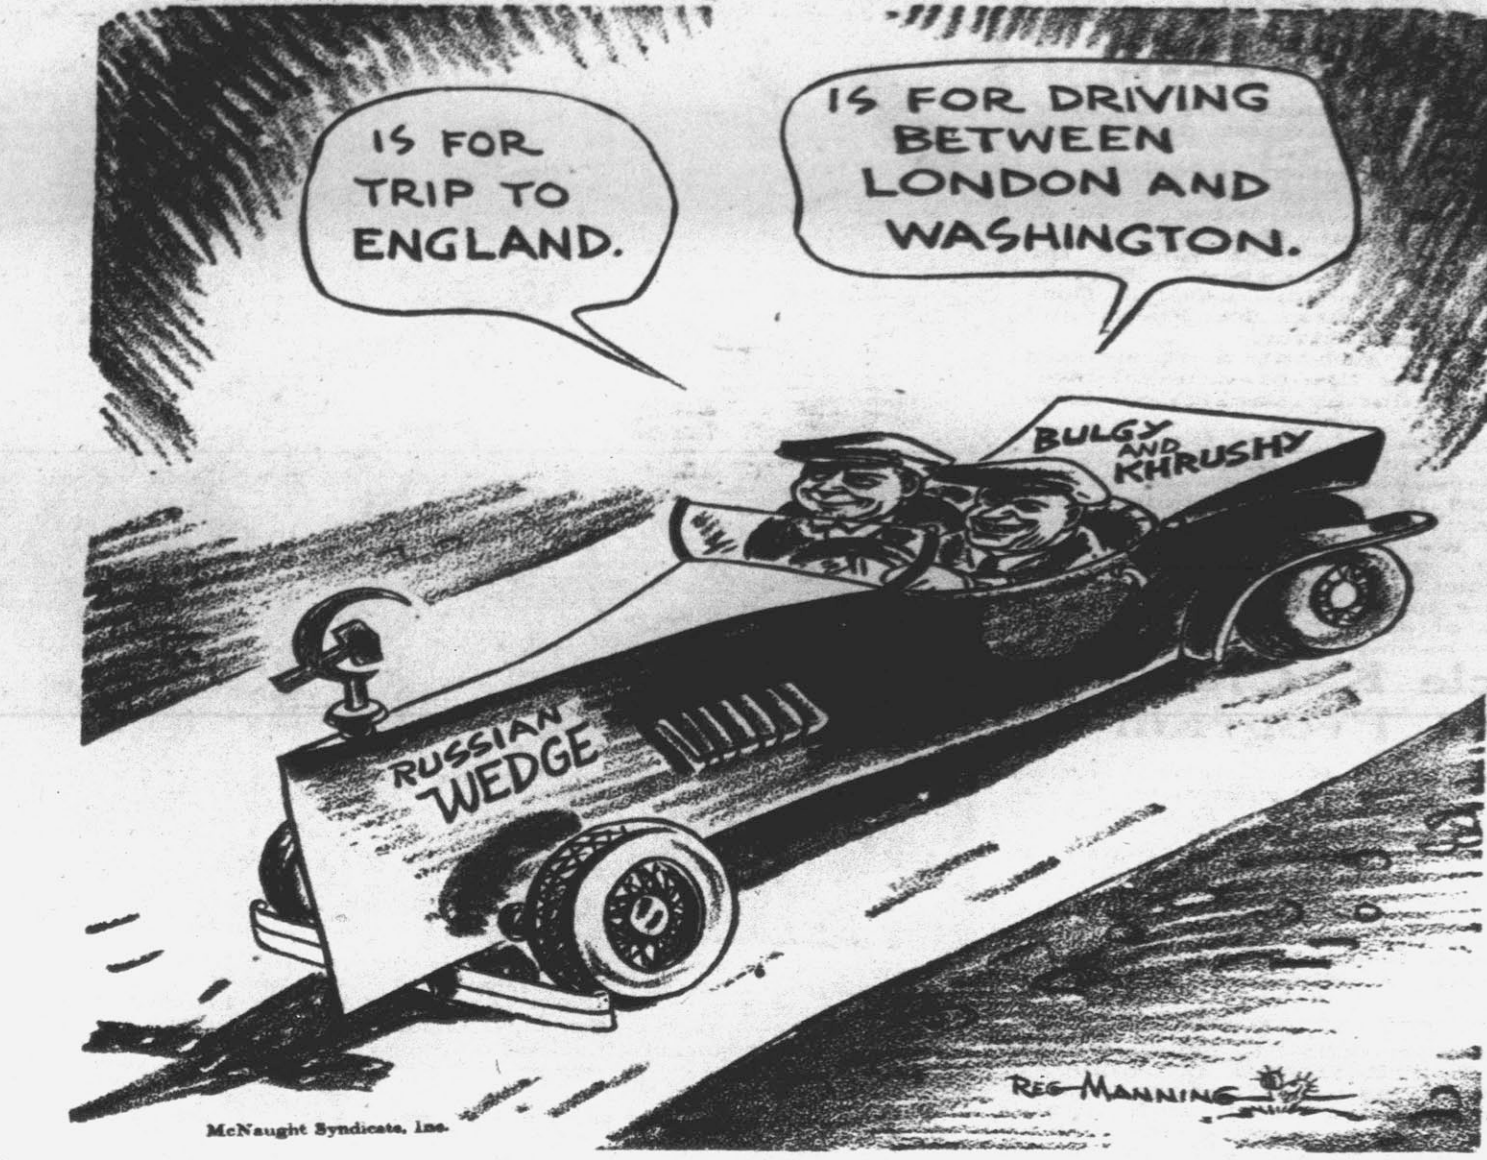

The figures for North Carolina and South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee show that in 1954

Southern shoppers spent $4,628,800,000 for automobiles, auto accessories and filling station products, while they spent a measly $4,120,846,000 in food stores.

The only conclusion to draw is that the Southerners must agree with Bill Folk, who said in the Southern cooking chapter of his book, Southern Accent, that in the South "the word meat is hard to find, you always get the other kind."

However, the loose spenders who put the Southerners in hard-earned cash into joy rides might be reminded that their choice is dangerous. If you invest your money in high-powered cars and high-octane gas, you are all too likely to crash off a bridge or into another car. If you confine your luxury spending to food, there's always bicarbonate of soda

Coming Months Will Bring ...

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here is a roundup of some of the things consumers and businessmen can expect in coming months:

More basket party sales. A Rutherford, N.J., gift and china shop invited shoppers to a clearing sale on gift baskets because prices were so low the store could not afford to wrap purchases. Retailers and other retailers are sure to imitate the sale.

Frozen chops, chemical engines. The National Association of Retail Grocers has been researching ideas for circular stores and sending out circulars to members. The same size and shoppers can see 30 per cent more merchandise.

FRESH MEAT BY MAIL. A Chicago meat supplier is now offering 151 cuts of fresh meat by mail to 30 states.

HEAVY SALES DRIVES A-COMING. Auto push sales right after new models appear are insulated packages said to keep fresh until delivery. If response is good, other suppliers will get into the act.

MONTE CARLO HEATS. Almost every advertising agency and publicist many is sitting up nights trying to figure ways to tie clients in with the Graceland Kelly-Prince in Monte Carlo. Rainier wedding People will be offered Monaco cocktails, eggs au Mont Carlo, Rainier sand wiches and Casino fashions. There will be so much of it that by May some of us will wish Miss Kelly had stayed home and married.

CHEMICAL ENGINES. The gasoline auto engine is, of course, a chemical engine in that power comes from chemical reaction. Now French, Russian and American engineers are working on a chemical engine in that power comes from chemical reaction. Powerful chemical reactions may be harnessed, it was disclosed at the recent convention of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

significant to auto manufacturers but... sales in spring are even more important and all manufacturers are turning on the advertising steam. American Motors is offering insurance policies like to have the legend changed.

More color TV hoop-la. Whether the electronics industry sells 500,000 or only 250,000 color receivers depends on promotional efforts, so you can expect a sharp May-June promotion, a lull during the summer and then an all-out campaign from Labor Day to Christmas. The industry would like to have the legend changed: Santa does not come down the chimney; he steps out of the color set!

A barbecue whoop-de-do. Barbecue and accessory sales reached $70,000,000 last year and Ralph Olwang, general manager of the Kamkap Manufacturing Company, has told the industry it can top $90,000,000 this year if consumers and advertisers have enough. Manufacturers are urging food freezers to bring out special for outdoor grillings this summer.

The Ten Most Boring Types

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I set out to find the 10 most boring types of people in America.

You may be more sophisticated than I am, but I really was surprised to discover how many people are bored by the things they feel they honestly love. I never had thought that love and boredom could partner. They do.

My research poll was made among men only. The odd thing about it is how in pride to the ineradicable gallantry of the male sex—that no man raised the possibility that a woman, as such, could possibly be boring.

Anger him, yes! Confuse him, certainly! Bore him? Never! Some might question, if I were running a best dog-race poll of who are the 10 most common types of borer in America, why did I ask the opinion of women.

Frankly, as a fellow who feels he knows more about women than they do about themselves, I thought it would be a waste of time. I knew the answer. Obviously, to a woman, the 10 most boring people she knew would be the last 10 people who did what she wanted.

Well, now we get down to facts. The facts are, neighbor and friend, that thee and I at times, high as our regard for each other is, do frankly bore each other in those moments of living when we dwell on the underside of ecstasy.

Every thoughtful person has his own ideas about our most common American bores, but here are the 10 that resulted from my quick survey.

1. The hobbyists. A new sports car from Germany, a fresh stamp from Abyssinia, a rosy rocket that might reach the moon, three mistakes that if Robert E. Lee hadn't made would have changed the course of the Civil War, and how to make a candied small sweet as well as look ornamental.

2. The hobbyists who married for the first time, had a baby, for the first time, or who just bought a new car, new house, a hand saw, a new lawn mower, or anything quite like this ever happened before in the history of the world.

3. One who has acquired and brags about a disease so new that he looks for a doctor, a family medical book you inherited from the old folks.

4. Gourmets. The trouble with gourmets is that, when they invite you out to dinner, they ways insist they knew the best thing on the menu and you must show your knowledge, too, even though it consists of pickled rabbit's foot.

5. All sports fans, and particularly New York Yankee fans. One must include here all those who praise the benefits of fresh air but rob you of them by breathing more than their share of the atmosphere.

6. All people who don't recognize that diet is an ugly, four-letter word. One way I keep my own weight down is going to the funerals of people who took drugs to get slim enough to fit into their old trousers.

7. People who have raised their own children—and the results are visible—and still tell you

Forecasts Are Being Realized

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Last December there were published in this newspaper Fifty Forecasts by me for 1956. The first stated: "President Eisenhower will be re-nominated and re-elected in 1956." The last likely the Fifty Forecasts stated, "I now see no depression ahead for 1956, but, of course, stock prices will not grow to the extent there must be a sad readjustment some day." The remaining forty-eight forecasts, which I have brought up to date in view of the events of the last three months, are as follows:

1. The President will be re-elected of much speedier making, entertainment, and detail work.
2. Competition will be very severe.
3. Higher wages may be expected.
4. Increased advertising appropriations will be seen.
5. Recent policies of the money managers will be shifted to more "ease."
6. Liberal credits to the purchasers of houses, automobiles, televisions, etc., will continue to be a strong support to business.
7. Great sums will continue to be spent on research and new plant expansion.
8. The baby boom will roll merrily on, resulting in more schools.
9. Predicted declines will come in auto and residential building, but largely be offset by expenditures for roads, sewers, and schools.
10. Retail business will be handicapped in some cities by the parking nuisance.
11. No appreciable price improvement in city business property likely.
12. Building costs will continue high.
13. Speculative builders will have to watch their step more closely.
14. The limiting of rents will be practically abolished.
15. Owners of apartment buildings will find their profit margins squeezed harder.
16. Commercial farms need not suffer.
17. Owners of small scattered farms will suffer.
18. Farms will become "close-in" and shopping centers.
19. Those who have been holding out for speculative profits might well consider selling.
20. Russia will keep out of war with us during 1956.
21. There will be one or more small wars during 1956.
22. The "cold war" now existing between Russia and the United States will continue.
23. The threat of the hydrogen bomb and guided missile will be the center of most political fights.
24. International factor for diplomatic dealings will be slightly "New Dealish."
25. The Republicans will turn off with the Democratic nomination.
26. Some taxes will be reduced.
27. The farm problem will be the center of most political fights.
28. The cost of living will increase.
29. More or less slightly.
30. There will be no further inflation during 1956.
31. Expanding farm subsidies will be a major problem.
32. Wheat and corn prices will also depend upon shifting weather and foreign conditions.
33. Processed and frozen foods will advance only slightly, if any.
34. There will be more leisure time during 1956.
35. School teachers will be paid more.

Remaking The Politico-Economic Map

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower-McCarthy policy on development of national resources threatens to remake the politico-economic map, although their efforts in this far-flung field are not so spectacular as F.D.R.'s adventures in the Tennessee Valley and the New West. It may also remove the 40-year-old issue of public versus private power from American politics.

Roosevelt opened the two neglected valleys in Tennessee and Washington-Oregon to industry and agriculture by providing the cheapest electricity in the nation with his public power projects. They brought scores of factories and provided thousands of jobs, transforming both sections into prosperous and productive areas.

F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman had hoped to create a vast public power empire along the same lines, partly subsidized by Federal funds. But hostile Congresses, dominated by a conservative, bipartisan coalition, checked this expansion. They denied funds for Federal development of power on a nationwide scale.

REWARDING PROJECTS Besides providing hydroelectricity at low rates, F.D.R. also reaped Democratic votes from hydro and irrigation projects. He converted historic GOP strongholds, especially in the Northwest and mountain states, into solid Democratic territory. With the South and Border States, they gave the Roosevelt-T Truman organization a hand-picked 200 electoral votes, with 266 necessary to elect.

Eisenhower approves the great public power systems built before he became President. But he disliked the threat of their extension to private enterprise, and he decreed against their expansion all across and up and down the country.

EISENHOWER'S MOVES With Capitol Hill support, Eisenhower opposed appropriations for TVA dams, insisting that private firms supply needs and additional power. The ill-starred Dixon-Yates deal failed, but it forced Memphis to build its own steam plant. The Ohio Valley Electric Corp. (O.V.E.C.) was sold to the Idaho Power Company instead of including it in the Grand Coulee-Bonneville System.

Future dams in the Northwest may also be turned over to private interests. Both Congress and the Budget Bureau may require the public power enterprises to set up a more realistic system of figuring profits, taxes and losses, which may force them to increase their rates.

ECONOMIC CHANGES HELP ILL The lower costs of steam-generators and electric in areas nearer to markets and the fact that facilities have made hydroelectricity less attractive to many great industries.

Bonneville power, for instance, sells for 2.2 mills per kilowatt hour. But coal-operated plants in the Ohio Valley can provide electricity for 4 mills per kilowatt hour. With cheaper water transportation and proximity to consuming centers in the Middle West and East, the 4-mill rate is economically preferable to the public power charge in the remote Northwest.

Two great industries, for these reasons, have passed up the chance to locate in the Middle West. They are the Olin-Matheson Chemical Company and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Company. Kaiser was a Roosevelt friend and once a keen New Dealer on public power. Other industries are expected to locate their plants alongside Middle West coal mines.

ANOTHER PROJECT'S EFFECT The type Colorado River Project, an Eisenhower proposal, will also alter the politico-economic map. It will furnish power and irrigation for new industries and food producers in Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona. The area is rich in minerals and has many undeveloped resources.

These shifts may have a twofold political effect, singly, and economics are so intertwined. The public power issue may no longer be such a Democratic asset in the Northwest and if industry heads into the West, benefiting from the Upper Colorado improvement, they may feel gratitude to the Republicans. Democrats have been inclined toward the West through a minimum of legislation but radical change in attitude and administrative action, Ike has revised the F.D.R. legacy on public power, the greatest domestic reform of his achievements. And the public power issue may go to the west of old-fashioned tariffs and prohibition.

At Least One Texan Is Fed Up

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—There's at least one person in Texas who doesn't think it is tops.
 The Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce received this letter from a woman in Midland: "Virginia seems the ideal choice to me. I am sick of Texas wind, dust, rawness and monotony. Please send me information on your city."

School Menu

Greenville school menus for the coming week, as announced by the Supervisor of City School Cafeterias, are as follows:
 Monday—vegetable soup, crackers, pimiento cheese and peanut butter sandwich, apple cobbler and milk.
 Tuesday—hot dog in roll with chili, green peas and carrots, slaw, rice pudding and milk.
 Wednesday—orange juice, steamed pinto beans, buttered cabbage, creamed potatoes, cheese biscuits, butter, ice cream and milk.
 Thursday—smothered hamburgers with brown gravy, steamed rice, string beans, homemade roll, butter, cookie and milk.
 Friday—salmon salad, buttered corn, sliced beets, corn bread, butter, sliced peaches, milk.

Interest In Probing Idea Of Reincarnation Through Hypnosis Now Runs High

(Editor's Note: Can hypnosis carry a patient back to another life in another era? The question is in many minds, due largely to a book which has rocketed to the top of most best-seller lists. What do psychiatrists and other researchers say? Here is the result of an AP survey of several outstanding figures in the field.)

By WATSON SIMS
 NEW YORK (AP)—A veteran news reporter in Olympia, Wash., was amazed several days ago by a state trooper's "dramatic experiments in hypnotism."
 "I saw him purportedly take three different persons back to a period in time before they were born," the reporter said.
 "All responded as other persons in a life previous to the one they are now living. They gave their names, described their homes, told of their marriages and their children. Some even described their deaths."

Across the nation, many other reporters have recently found similar experiments to write about or even take part in.

One writer appeared on a television network while supposedly in the state of a 17th century German leather worker.
 In Shawnee, Okla., a youth left a suicide note saying he wanted to investigate the theory of reincarnation in person.

And in California, a hostess, taking note of the times, sent out party invitations which instructed: "Come as you were."

Why such a sweeping revival of interest in hypnotism and reincarnation?

The answer seems to lie in an amateur hypnotist's book which suggests that one can be used to prove the other.

The author, Morey Bernstein, placed a Colorado housewife under hypnosis and told her to go back in memory "until, oddly enough, you find yourself in some other scene, in some other place, in some other time."
 The statements she subsequently made, says Bernstein, indicate that the woman lived in Ireland 200 years ago as Bridey—or Bridget—Murphy.

Published only a few weeks ago "The Search For Bridey Murphy" is now in its 8th printing (145,000 copies) and demand is far outrunning supply. It has been serialized by 42 newspapers and purchased for a movie.

By way of by-products, the book has stimulated activity by other amateur hypnotists and has deeply disturbed clergymen and psychologists.
 Clergymen object on the ground

object on two counts:

1. They maintain that no information has been gained in this manner which could possibly support reincarnation, the theory of an earlier life.
2. They say that actual mental or physical harm could be caused to subjects who lend themselves to experiments by amateur hypnotists.

"Hard scientific evidence says that hypnosis is an explosive thing to play with," says the American Psychological Assn., an organization of 15,000 psychologists and research psychiatrists.
 "Psychological research on the subject has not yet told us enough about it so that it can be used except with great care."

Seeking to check the scientific background for taking a subject back in time, The Associated Press queried five outstanding authorities who have engaged in research in hypnosis. They were unanimous and emphatic in denying that such experiments could shed new light on reincarnation. On these mechanics they were in agreement:

When a subject under hypnosis is told to go back and relieve his past—scientists call it regression—he will comply to the best of his ability, drawing on all the resources at his command. These resources may include the memory of past experiences. Knowledge he has gained from other sources—and fabrication.

"It is important to note that there are two kinds of regression," said Dr. Louis R. Wolberg, director of the post graduate center of psychiatry and associate professor of clinical psychiatry at New York Medical Center.

"One is true regression, in which a good subject is able to relieve parts of his natural existence which he can no longer consciously recall. The other, by far the most common, form is nothing more than hypnotic role playing."

Experimenters at Yale University School of Medicine took another tack; they projected into the "future" five subjects who previously had been taken back into the past and received equally convincing performances in either direction.

"The stories they gave were quite plausible in view of each subject's background," commented Dr. Richard Newman, professor of clinical psychiatry.

A medical student, for example, was told it is an afternoon in October, 1963. He immediately reported himself busy with an emergency operation, even describing the patient's abdominal cavity.

"We believe that each of our subjects, to please the hypnotist, fantasized a future as actually here and now," reported Dr. Robert Rubenstein and Jay Katz, both instructors in clinical psychiatry at Yale.

LINCOLN

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

If this changes your former preferences . . . you're in good company!

We'd like to make a prediction about you. Without reservation, we prophesy that you will revise your fine car standards upward after even a brief personal meeting with Lincoln for 1956.

The reason for our confidence? Simply this: the pleased people we've watched in our showrooms—and the names we've been writing on our waiting lists—ever since this completely new fine car made its debut.

We're certain that you—like these others who really know fine cars—will recognize at once the dramatic whole newness of Lincoln design. In its long, clean sweep of line. In the breathtaking daring of its low silhouette, a scant five feet high.

And we further forecast this: when you turn the key, your interest will turn to admiration. For you will feel the swift obedient thrust of the new 285-hp Lincoln engine as it is served up with silken smoothness by Lincoln's incomparable Turbo-Drive transmission. You will know the gentle firmness of Lincoln's ball-joint suspension system.

And all this, surrounded by the matchless luxury of Lincoln interiors . . . encircled by the protection of Lincoln safety advances . . . pampered by the automatic ease of Lincoln power assists.

We suggest you put our prediction to the test this very week—with a Lincoln safety-flex steering wheel in your hands and a long road before you. Why not make it today?

Midgets Lose In Consolation Tilt

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Writer

In the consolation match of the Eastern North Carolina Invitational Midget Basketball Tournament, held in Goldsboro Saturday night, Wilson edged the Greenville All-Stars, 46-40.

The win placed the Wilson cagers in the tourney's third spot and dropped Greenville to fourth. Clinton trounced Jacksonville in the final match for the Invitational Tournament championship, to fill out the evening card.

Greenville opened the preliminary contest in sharp order, racking up 15 points and doing a fine defensive job on the Wilson Midgets. Ernie Duff led the locals in rebounds, while Jack Whitley pumped in six markers to pace the scoring. The Baby Tornadoes threw in only 14 points and were behind by one as the period ended.

Half-time Advantage

Billy Neal James joined forces with Duff in the second stanza of play to score all the Greenville points and push their lead to 23-19 at the half. James, a pint-sized hustler, took high-scoring honors for the Greenville with 12 tallies and was a constant threat to the Wilson crew all night.

Third period action marked the downfall of the locals. Wilson's Boykin began a hot streak that blasted out 10 Tornado points, while the Green team was held to three. Boykin scored all but two Wilson points in the third quarter and seemed unable to miss. His point barrage came on three field goals from out deep and two free throws. Wilson took the lead, 29-26.

Final Green Effort

Whitley, Duff, James, Sonny Hodges and Kroghie Andresen put forth a final offensive effort to regain the Greenville lead, but the Tornadoes were determined not to be outdone. Andresen came through with five points to aid James' six markers in that period, but, though they were hitting at a hot clip, Wilson was even hotter.

Boykin dropped in five points, while teammates Talton, Tilley, and Stallings also collected baskets. The Blue Midgets pumped in a total of 47 points to outscore the Greenville 14, and, ultimately, to win the game. The final margin was a six-point 46-40 triumph.

Too Small For The Majors

Holy Cross, N. C. State Face Tests

NEW YORK (AP)—Holy Cross, the national champion in 1947, and North Carolina State, still looking for a title in its fifth try, take their first-round tests tonight in a Madison Square Garden double-header that opens Eastern regional play in the NCAA Basketball Tournament.

Holy Cross, with All America Heinsohn needing only 13 points for a Crusader career scoring record, meets Temple to get the eight-team, two-night card underway (7:30 p.m., EST). Then N.C. State, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press poll, faces Canisius.

Tomorrow night, it's Connecticut, Manhattan and West Virginia-Dartmouth. The four winners go on to Philadelphia this weekend to determine one of the Eastern semifinals at Evanston, Ill., on March 22.

Holy Cross has run up a 22-4 record under Coach Roy Leenig, in his first collegiate season after an exceptional six-year prep record at Jersey City, N.J.

Heinsohn, a 6-7, 220-pound senior center, already has claimed Holy Cross records for one-season scoring.

ing (714) and three-year scoring (1,763). He is just short of Bob Cousy's career mark of 1,775 set in four seasons.

Temple (23-2) was the surprise of the East, shocking Kentucky 73-61 early in the season and then waiting into the NCAA as the Middle Atlantic Conference representative. Two backcourt snipers, 5-11 Hal Lear and 6-1 sophomore Guy Rodgers, comprise a two-man gang for the Owls.

N.C. State won the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament even though 6-8 Ron Shavlik broke a wrist in the final regular season game. State wound up with a 24-3 record.

The Wolfpack, with Coach Ev Case gaining three straight ACC crowns, is 6-5 in NCAA play, finishing third nationally in 1950. Their last shot was in 1954. NCAA probation kept them on the sidelines last season.

Canisius (17-6) has come into its own as an Eastern power in the past two seasons. John McCarthy is the sparkplug, holding the school career mark with 1,125 points. The Griffins, who tumbled Williams and Villanova in last year's regional play before losing to LaSalle, won 10 of their last 11 games—including a 71-60 decision over Holy Cross—for an "at large" berth.

Rigney Pleased By Knuckleballer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants is mightily pleased the way knuckleballer Roy Leece is rounding into shape.

The veteran relief pitcher hurled the last three innings in the Giants' 11-5 triumph over Cleveland yesterday, allowing just one hit and giving up one walk.

Wilhelm has asked Rigney for plenty of pre-season work and the Giants' freshman manager said he intends to see that Hoyt's wishes are fulfilled.

Elonites To Play In Opening Round

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Elon College, the Carolinas District 26 representative, plays Pittsburgh College of Kansas here tomorrow at 10 p.m. (EST) in a first-round game of the NAIA Basketball Tournament.

The week-long 32-team tournament opened today. The National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) is composed of the nation's smaller colleges and universities.

STAR FOR UNC

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Coach Jim Tatam said today he had been informed that Don Coker, 205-pound Reidville high school star, will enter the Shrine Bowl high school football game which will enter the University of North Carolina next fall.

Coker also won letters in basketball and baseball.

Basilio Favored By 9-5 Against Saxton

By The Associated Press

Welterweight Champion Carmen Basilio is a 9-5 favorite to beat off ex-Champ Johnny Saxton's challenge in a 15-round title bout in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The 28-year-old ex-Marine from Chittanooga, N.Y., unbeaten in his last 35 fights, is making his second defense of crown, he won from chunky Tony DeMarco.

Basilio copped the title on a 12th-round technical knockout of DeMarco last June 10, and stopped him again in the 12th round in the return championship contest Nov. 30.

Saxton, who won the title from Kid Gavilan, lost it to DeMarco on a 14th-round TKO in Boston last April 1. He stepped aside twice (for a good chunk of cash) to permit the Basilio-DeMarco money-makers.

The 25-year-old New Yorker, now ranked as the No. 2 contender behind DeMarco, has won four straight since blowing the tide. In his last effort on Nov. 9, he looked sharp in outpointing middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Basilio, a favorite of the television fans for his stirring scraps, will be seen again by video viewers. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (ABC-TV, radio, 10 p.m., EST) coast to coast.

A couple of young welterweights who figure to be banging at the champion's portals soon collide at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night. They are Isaac (Kid) Logart, 22-year-old Cuban already ranked third behind Saxton, and Gasper (Indian) Ortega, a free-swinging 20-year-old prospect from Mexicali, Mexico. Winner of four straight, Logart has a 41-5 record. Ortega's record is 32-5.

The 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (NBC-TV, radio, 10 p.m., EST) nationally.

New York middleweights Hardy Smallwood and Ray Drake clash in a return bout at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight (DuMont-TV, 10 p.m., EST). They fought a sizzling draw on Feb. 13. Drake's record is 21-6-1. Smallwood's 16-4-2.

Duke Has Depth At Quarterback

DURHAM (AP)—Duke's football team apparently will have depth at quarterback this season—something the Blue Devils lacked last year.

A White team overwhelmed a Blue team 35-0 here Saturday in an intrasquad game that ended spring drills.

Head Coach Bill Murray said of the game: "We can be fairly sure of our first 22 boys. But there the certainty stops. They're so evenly matched we don't know who we'll put on our starting club."

Sonny Jurgensen, the 1955 starting quarterback, missed the game because of a leg infection. Bob Brodhead took his place, playing a major role in the White victory. Pryor Millner, a rising sophomore, quarterbacked the Blues with good results.

Brodhead scored twice, once on an 82-yard run, and passed 23 yards to halfback Bernie Blaney for another.

George Dutow, a halfback, also scored twice. He galloped 87 yards for one and took a pass from Coy Clayton for the other. Blaney also kicked five extra points.

Brodhead completed seven of 10 passes and gained 93 yards rushing.

Diving Champion Becomes Mother

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Olympic Diving Champion Pat McCormick became a mother yesterday but announced she will start training in six weeks for the forthcoming Olympic Games.

Mrs. McCormick, 25, and her husband, Glenn, named the 7-pound 3 ounce boy Timothy Paul McCormick, an air line pilot, took off on a flight to Denver just a few hours after the youngster was born.

Mrs. McCormick won two gold medals in diving during the 1952 Olympics.

Exhibition Game Drubbings Point To Brooklyn As Shoo-In For NL Crown

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

It looks as if the Brooklyn Dodgers are a shoo-in to repeat as champions of the National League.

Few clubs looked worse during the 1955 exhibition season, when the Dodgers won only 13 of their 27 games. But in the regular season they went on to capture the pennant.

Will it be the same story this year? The first two exhibition games would indicate so.

Saturday, the world champions bowed to the Boston Red Sox 8-3 and yesterday took a 17-5 thumping from the same club. The youthful Sox, who collected 17 hits to go with seven Brooklyn errors, did most of their damage off rookie pitchers yesterday. Only Ed Roebuck, veteran relief hurler, was effective.

The Red Sox's big blow was Ted Lepcio's grand slam home run off rookie Ralph Marullo in a five-run fourth inning.

Mickey Mantle came through with a three-run homer off rookie right-hander Bob Mabe with two out in the eighth to give the New York Yankees a 4-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hank Aaron hit two homers over the 433-foot center field barrier at Bradenton, Fla., and Billy Bruton connected with one in leading the Milwaukee Braves to their second straight over the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2. All three came off Jack Meyer, of whom the Phils expect big things this season.

Willie Mays, Johnny Antonelli and Ray Kat got into the home run act as the New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 8-5 for their second straight over the Tribe. Rookie Carroll Hardy and Dick Brown homered for the Indians.

Vernon Law hit a bases-loaded homer and pitched three innings of hitless ball in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 11-1 romp over the Kansas City Athletics. Gene Freese also homered for the Buccs.

Wait Moryn, obtained from Brooklyn by the Cubs in a winter trade, and Monte Irvin, ex-Giant homered for Chicago but seven Baltimore errors were the big factors in a 13-5 walloping of the Orioles.

The Detroit Tigers made use of 10 bases on balls in edging the Washington Senators 5-4. Two homers were hit in this game—by Jim Lemon of Washington and Ben Downs of Detroit.

A pinch sacrifice fly by Bob Nieman gave the Chicago White Sox the run they needed in the 10th to defeat Cincinnati 6-5.

Santee Plans To Run In Cleveland

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Miller Wes Santee, facing trial Thursday in his battle against professionalism charges by the Amateur Athletic Union, plans to run in Cleveland's Amateurs of Columbus Games.

"My plans are to run in Cleveland, no matter how my trial comes out," the former Kansas State star declared Saturday night after winning his section of the Journal feature mile in 4:10.5.

The 24-year-old Marine lieutenant is under a lifetime suspension by the AAU, which ruled he accepted excessive expense money in meets last year. He blocked enforcement of the suspension by securing an injunction that was twice upheld over the appeals of the AAU.

"If my suspension sticks," he said, "we have plans. We hope to move through normal channels. I am not at liberty to divulge what those plans are." The trial on the injunction proceedings will be held by the New York Supreme Court.

Saturday night Santee defeated easily Ed Kirk of the Air Force, who was second, and Bill Taylor, a Marine stationed with him at Quantico, Va.

The second section of the Journal mile was won by Billy Tidwell of Emporia Kansas State Teachers College against a five-man field in 4:10.9.

Other events saw Abe Woodson of Illinois take the world, American and meet record of 8.1 in the 60-yard high hurdles. Three new meet records were written, two of them by Pittsburgh entrants.

Arnie Sewell covered the 1,000 in 2:10, and the two-mile relay team, anchored by Sewell, claimed a 7:35.2 mark.

Ma Whitfield ran the 600 in 1:12.6.

Conditioning For GHS Baseballers

Still in the unpolished stage of development, Greenville high school's baseball candidates are spending most of their practice sessions in an attempt to get into physical shape before their encounter with Rocky Mount on March 21.

Coach Boley Farley has begun instruction on the fundamentals of the diamond sport and has had his boys running several different rudiment exercises.

At the present time, a first team has not yet been chosen, and Farley is surveying the entire squad of 29 boys in search of a regular line. Returning from last year's 500 ball club are 12 lettermen, which gives the coach a head start in forming the No. 1 team.

The Phantoms went through the motions of casual batting drill several days last week and mound candidates limbered up their arms. Outfielders performed fly-snagging duties during the warmer days of the first week and the infielders went through the paces around the diamond.

Coach Farley expects to get the practice sessions into full swing beginning this week and has stated that he should have a tentative starting team selected within next several days.

Eastern Schools Sweep Tourney

DURHAM (AP)—High schools of the Eastern Division made a clean sweep of the North Carolina Negro High School Athletic Assn. Tournament here Saturday.

Williston of Wilmington defeated Dudley High Greensboro 69-57 in the finals of the Class AAA play. Nash County of Nashville captured the Class AA crown with a 58-40 win over Union County High of Roper. Academy Heights of Pinebluff won the Class A division, defeating Rosenwald of Catawba County 59-42.

Titleholders' Crown Is Earned The Hard Way

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Little Louise Suggs earned her third Titleholders crown the hard way, by whipping hay fever, a seldom displayed temper and 44 of the nation's best women golfers.

The Sea Island, Ga., professional pocketed $900 yesterday after edging 38-year-old Patty Berg, the defending champion from St. Annis, Ill., by one stroke in the 72-hole tournament. Miss Berg collected $675.

Each covered the final 18 holes on the hilly 6,270-yard Augusta Country Club course in 74 strokes, 1 under women's par. Miss Suggs had a 78-75-74-302 card. Miss Berg shot a 79-77-73-74—303.

My biggest problem on the final round was controlling my temper," said Miss Suggs, who was suffering with hay fever both Saturday and yesterday. "I was hitting well, but the ball was taking bad bounces at the start and I was boiling."

Blorde Betsy Rawls, twice National Open champion, went into the final round leading Miss Suggs by two strokes.

The 27-year-old Miss Rawls covered the front side in 38 but she blew to a 42 on the second hole. Her 80 was the poorest round of the tournament for the Spartanburg, S.C., lass.

Miss Rawls and young Mickey Wright, tall sophomore pro from San Diego, Calif., who had a 73 on the last 18 holes, finished in a tie for third at 306. Each got $495 in prize money.

Betty Janeson, San Antonio, scrambled for a 78, a 309 total and sixth place prize money of $406. Next came Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., and Beverly Hanson, Apple Valley, Calif. Their 311 totals were worth $337.50 to each.

Kinston Cagers Again Capture AA Championship

ENKA, N.C. (AP)—Kinston held the North Carolina Class AA basketball championship today after a 74-62 victory over Sanford here Saturday.

Poo Rochelle sparked the Red Devil attack with 24 points, highest scoring total during the tournament. Sanford kept pace with the fast-breaking Kinston tactics until the final stages of the game when Sanford lost its shooting eye.

Mount Airy dropped Clinton 67-61 for third place while Hendersonville stopped Myers Park of Charlotte 53-51 in the consolation game for fifth.

An all-tournament team selected included Rochelle; Johnny Monroe of Sanford; Marshall Happer of Kinston; Edwin Payne of Granite Falls; and Johnny Morris of Roxboro. The second team had Jack Crutchfield of Sanford; Burton Tommons of Mount Airy; Harry Jones of Myers Park; Don Heilig of Hendersonville and Ken Norman of Mount Airy.

The GOLDEN WITCH

By ZOLA ROSS

CHAPTER THIRTY
In the days that followed, Seattle, the Klondike, the Spanish War, faded from the consciousness of everyone in the Cox boardinghouse. Meg Beaumont, who had voluntarily surrendered the stage for so long, was now back in the running and, like all comebacks, hers had its rough spots.

She returned her smile. "You're not very sensible, I take it." "No. But I'm strong." He looked at her and believed her.

with her. Seattle was a good town. Michael was right. A town built on the water could never be meek. As they rounded a corner Meg was conscious of a hum like the swarm of bees. Why, she'd never seen such a mob of people in all her life! Men, women, children jammed together as far as she could see. Extending at least four blocks, maybe farther, was a line of waiting miners. Meg gaped at them. Every single man had gold! At that moment, the Klondike stopped being a jubilee dream and became real to Meg. Had Kemp visualized this? Was this the thing that had sent him to his death?

Meg and Jenny panicked themselves into the bystanders. By craning her neck, Meg saw into the assay office itself. It looked like a bank. Behind wire cages, tellers accepted pokes, sacks of gold. Suddenly the crowd shifted. Meg caught a glimpse of a man in a top hat. Presently even the men in line looked up the street. They murmured and drew back. A path opened for a huge dray. "What is it?" Meg demanded.

Plent of people, freshly informed, told her. The Roanoke was just in from Alaska. "They claim there's over a million dollars in gold aboard her!" Meg, watching the four horses on the dray, was dizzy. A million dollars! It made a hat shop seem very small and puny. "Meg!" She hadn't heard Jason's voice in months but it plunged through her. She wanted to turn away from it. Before she could move, he was beside her. "Meg, you're looking fine."

"You—you're looking fine too, Jason." "Just marking time till you come back to the Ten Eyck store," Jason said. "Have you—have you heard of Michael, You'll go back to being the most hunted-up lawyer in town. I'll—pick up my own strings." When Michael maintained his silence, Ryerson did not press him.

hat shop. It was a small sop to fortune. If she could only discover more ways to make money! She watched the long line of miners. In a city that fed on the riches of the Klondike, there just had to be some way to make money without—all right, face it—without marrying it!

Tomorrow morning they would be back in Seattle. Michael Dark, standing beside the rail, looked into the darkness and was soothed by the familiarity of Sound waters. It erased the scars of the eighteen months he had been away. "Eighteen months! Incredible that this was November 1899, that he hadn't seen Seattle since May 1898. The child born to Meg Beaumont was eighteen months old and Meg was still a widow. Or was she? Michael had had few Seattle letters lately. He had written none at all. Seattle, the people he knew there, had been blurred by war into another life, another time.

Clyde Ryerson joined him at the rail, a fine aroma of bourbon wafting from him. He looked blade-sharp, coldly withdrawn. The man Michael had solidiered with was turning into the stranger of pre-war days. "You need a drink, Michael."

"Not now, Clyde." "Going back to unfinished business tough? You may be right." Ryerson's light words carried a weight Michael disliked. Was Ryerson too not sure a man could take up reins dropped so long ago? But it was not like Ryerson to be unsure of anything. From Frisco to the Philippines, Ryerson had maintained a touch of mastery with everything from good liquors to bad women. And had been, Michael thought in amusement, seldom without either. "Water seeks its own level, Michael. You'll go back to being the most hunted-up lawyer in town. I'll—pick up my own strings."

Presently he lighted a cigar and strolled off. Michael looking after him thought about the war they'd had. He thought of Ryerson that night when Captain Fortson ordered them for a reconnoiter around bridge. The night was thick with heat and odors—the smells of dung and sweat and gunfire and death.

The three men slogged heavily through mud that sucked at them, and Michael knew a closeness to them he had felt for no other reason and it was an embarrassment, a knot in his stomach. "Abruptly Captain Fortson, a little ahead of Michael and Ryerson, stopped. There was a small noise, like the gurgle of a leaky faucet, and he pitched forward. As Michael and Ryerson fell flat, they brushed his body. There was more gunfire, and then answers from the lines behind them.

—these—who won't burn bridges!" Ryerson yelled, and an enemy gun found him by his shout and he went down. Michael, his right upper arm torn wide open, dragged him back to their trenches. Captain Fortson died at four o'clock the next morning. An hour later, his men had mopped up the rebel ambush. Michael and Ryerson were patched up enough to be in the last big battle at Morong. The battle that came pretty close to mass murder. When they got into the rebel trenches, they found dead lying five and six deep, and the heart had gone out of the rebel push. Like the Spaniards, the rebels had had enough.

Michael was thinking about going below when Ryerson again joined him. "Think Seattle's going to turn out in a bust for us, Michael?" He jerked his mind to the present. Knowing his people, he knew they would. There would be bands and speeches and fine words sprayed out like the mosquitoes which had filled the air about Pasig Bridge.

"The carpet," he said with conviction, "will be mighty red." Ryerson granted. "Bags of wind." "No. They mean it." He looked up at the stars and their coldness struck into him. "It will be hard going back."

Meetings Hear Dr. Jorgensen

Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, director of the department of health and physical education at East Carolina College, has recently participated as speaker in educational meetings held in this section of the state.

Speaking on "Alcoholism and Related Problems," Dr. Jorgensen addressed faculty members and administrative officers of the Richlands High School. His talk dealt with the causes and treatment of alcoholism and placed emphasis on the roles of the school and of parents in meeting this problem. For the past several summers Dr. Jorgensen has conducted at East Carolina a workshop on the subject of Alcoholism. At a recent health education workshop and conference at the Pitt Training School, Grimsland, Dr. Jorgensen discussed the topic "Responsible Parenthood."

Recreational visits to U. S. National Forests totaled less than 19 million in 1946 and more than 40 million during 1954.

Lucama Student Is Named Editor

James M. Ferrell of Lucama will serve during the spring quarter as editor of the "East Carolinian," weekly student newspaper of East Carolina College. With Joyce L. Smith of Selma as co-editor, Ferrell has headed the editorial staff of the paper since last September.

Miss Smith, a senior majoring in primary education at the college, resigned her position on the "East Carolinian" at the beginning of the spring term because of her duties as a student teacher.

Janice F. Raby of Norfolk, Va., has been appointed by Mr. Ferrell as assistant editor of the newspaper for the quarter. She has previously been a reporter, feature writer, and managing editor of the "East Carolinian."

Auto Thief Tried Take Police Car

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police fire squadmen William Voorhis

and Ted Hatzro were on hand to make a dramatic capture of a suspected auto thief last night. The officers were talking with two other policemen when they saw a car across the street being driven off. Three gunshots and one collision later Tony R. Payne, 23, Toledo, was in custody. The stolen car was an unmarked cruiser assigned to Voorhis and Hatzro.

Opportunity In His Own Family

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fireman Martin Horback, 37, has been waiting several years to go on one of those emergency calls where he could apply what he'd been taught about delivering a baby. He got the chance before dawn yesterday — right in his own home.

When his wife Irene, 28, decided it was too late for a doctor or ambulance, Horback went into action. Result: a nine-pound girl. The Horbacks have three other children.

Rambler · Hudson · Nash · Metropolitan

Here's the Big Difference That Makes It Possible

REVOLUTIONARY "SINGLE UNIT" CONSTRUCTION, PIONEERED BY AMERICAN MOTORS, MAKES RAMBLER, HUDSON, NASH AND METROPOLITAN THE STRONGEST, SAFEST, BEST ALL-AROUND CARS ON THE ROAD

PRIMITIVE CARRIAGES WERE BUILT WITH FLAT WOODEN-BEAM FRAMES, AXLES AND WHEELS WERE BELOW. A FLOOR OR BOX WAS PUT ON TOP. THE BUSBY, WAGON AND "HORSELESS CARRIAGE" USED SIMILAR FLAT FRAMES AND ATTACHED BODIES

EVEN TODAY, MOST CARS HAVE SEPARATE FLAT FRAMES WITH SEPARATE BODIES BOLTED TO THEM

ONLY AMERICAN MOTORS BUILDS CARS ON THE "SINGLE UNIT" PRINCIPLE. BODY AND FRAME ARE WELDED INTO A TOUGH, SUPER-STRONG "SINGLE UNIT". RESULT: PERFORMANCE AT LESS COST...GREATER COMFORT...MORE INSIDE ROOM...EASIER PARKING...SUPERIOR HANDLING AND CORNERING...ELIMINATION OF BODY SQUEAKS AND RATTLES...DOUBLE SAFETY...TOP RESALE VALUE

Bennett Cerf Interviews George Romney

Noted publisher, columnist and television personality gets inside story of revolutionary advances in car construction from the President of American Motors.

CERF: Mr. Romney, why do you offer a total of $25,000 insurance with your new cars?

ROMNEY: It backs our claim that "single unit" construction makes the strongest, safest, most modern cars.

CERF: Is there really that much difference between the way you and other manufacturers make cars?

ROMNEY: All the difference between yesterday's railway coach and today's streamliner. Other cars still use a principle old as the oxcart: A flat frame bolted under a separate body. In our cars, frame and body are welded as a "single unit". It's the biggest stride since the all-steel body.

CERF: And this makes a safer car?

ROMNEY: Twice as safe. Instead of a flat frame underfoot, our frame is a steel, box-girder enclosure as big as the car. It gives you "wrap-around" protection in front, rear, sides and top.

CERF: That sounds like real protection.

ROMNEY: That's not all. Flat frames other use are stiff, so they transmit collision force throughout the car. Our big steel box-girders up front absorb most of the impact. They take the brunt of the punishment instead of passengers.

CERF: What about performance?

ROMNEY: That's a real plus. "Single unit" construction gives a better power-weight ratio. It's stronger and safer, but eliminates useless weight and bulk. Our cars have set many racing records.

CERF: And economy?

ROMNEY: They're tops. Rambler holds the gas mileage record in Mobilgas Economy Runs again, because our "hard-muscled" single unit avoids dead weight.

CERF: I like room and comfort.

ROMNEY: Nash and Hudson have more room inside than any high-priced car. Rambler equals medium-priced big cars. As for ride, the greater strength of our "single unit" lets us use larger springs, and superior front suspension.

CERF: Isn't resale value important?

ROMNEY: You bet. Rambler has top resale value in the low price field. In addition to other advantages, welded single unit cars last longer, make better used cars.

CERF: If all you say is true, why don't the Big Three make cars your way?

ROMNEY: You see, mere "advanced" can be a handicap in advanced automobile engineering. One of the biggest of the "Big 3" was years behind others in adopting the all-steel body. The bigger you are, the more factories you have—the more it costs to change.

CERF: I can understand that.

ROMNEY: Beginning in 1940, we spent over $50,000,000 to develop the "single unit" car. Today, it will cost the biggest companies billions to re-tool for our method.

CERF: Do you think they will follow you?

ROMNEY: No doubt about it. Our major competitors will probably make the change gradually—piece-meal—or one model at a time. Frankly, we will be happy to see our "single unit" construction adopted, because it will mean better, safer cars on American highways.

CERF: Well, I'm about ready for another car. I'm going down to look at American Motors cars.

ROMNEY: All I ask anyone to do is see and drive our modern "single unit" cars at a Nash or Hudson dealer's. The rest is up to you.

Business Boom Weighs Heavily For Eisenhower In Connecticut Politics

By REELMAN MORIN
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A soaring graph of business activity, not President Eisenhower's campaign, appears to be the overriding political factor in Connecticut today.

For many people, present high levels of employment and income in the state more than balance any uncertainties arising from Eisenhower's heart attack. The man on the street seems prepared to let Eisenhower judge his own capabilities. Meanwhile, everybody likes prosperity.

As Joseph Paine, a Danbury machine designer, put it: "We've had four good years. I go on the theory Ike will last another four, so I'm for the same ticket."

Or Joseph Krays, Thompsonville factory safety supervisor and a Democrat:

"I voted for Ike in '52, and what I do this year depends on who the Democrats nominate. I think he's been good for us."

Samplings of opinion you get today may wholly change before November's election day.

But these reactors look significant now:

1. Democrats talk more about shrinking Eisenhower's 1952 Connecticut margin—130,000— and capturing a seat in the U.S. Senate than on carrying the state for their presidential candidate.

2. Republicans are so confident that they are beginning to can each other against apathy and overconfidence.

Connecticut is a good place to watch both parties because it fits no particular political mold.

It is strongly oriented toward New York, yet it also feels the pull of New England. It is one of the nation's great workshops, yet politicians say it is basically Republican.

But it has a Democratic governor, personable Abraham Ribicoff, who seems more popular today than when he was elected, and a GOP House.

In short, voters tend to be independent, tough-minded. They are ingrained with the town meeting tradition.

Here is what they have been saying to this reporter on major aspects of the coming election:

Eisenhower plus prosperity seems to Republican mean a sure victory in the fall with at least as great a majority as he had in 1952, maybe bigger. They don't believe his illness will be a drawback.

Said John F. Sweeney, a Rockville advertising man:

"I think he'll live longer than if he hadn't had that attack. Anyway, businessmen here were certainly pleased with his announcement."

The Democratic city clerk of Rockville, E. Fenton Burke, said, however:

"His illness is going to cost him votes. Yes, the prosperity angle is important, but even so, a lot of independent votes will come to us—not to the Republican vice president."

Mostly, however, Democrats say they hope to cut down Eisenhower's margin, perhaps by half. If so, they say, they have a good chance of electing Rep. Thomas Dodd to the Senate seat now held by Prescott Bush.

As for the Democratic presidential candidate, the situation in Connecticut is best described as "fluid." Adlai Stevenson has his admirers here, but Sen. Estes Kefauver, in 1952, Stevenson was unable to carry a single county.

Fairly recently, Gov. Ribicoff declared his support for Stevenson.

Now the question of Republican candidate for vice president—of more than usual interest this year.

So far as Connecticut is concerned, it seems to be Richard M. Nixon. You get that not only from GOP party heads but from the man on the street.

State Chairman Clarence Baldwin, to be sure, said he would not take a position on the question at this time. But he added, "I have a great deal of respect for Nixon's ability and I think he has been an outstanding vice president."

The mayor of Rockville, Herman Olson, said, "I personally feel Nixon's done a good job, and most people in this town think so too. He hasn't been sitting on his hands."

Some nonprofessionals agreed. William Clinkard, bus driver, is 21, and about to cast his first vote. In his view, "Nixon done a good job. He took over when and where it was needed."

Retail Concerns See Shortage Of Young Prospects

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Retailing concerns complain it's hard today to find young men and women to train for executive jobs in the stores of tomorrow.

The need for them grows. In addition to the normal replacement of aging executives, each year there are more retail outlets to be staffed. Merchandising groups now are making an active try to entice recruits.

In the battle to snag promising college students for future executives, retailing has been losing out to other industries. Tempting starting pay in other lines—especially in engineering—attracts youths who feel their first five years or so in merchandising might be bleak by comparison.

Retailers also are now training bright newcomers for future executive jobs.

For example, the National Assn. of Food Chains, of Washington, has helped Michigan State University at East Lansing set up a course for training in food distribution. The association says it underwrites the teaching and other expenses of the course. The first class of 13 enrolled in 1950. It has grown quickly, and 200 are expected next September.

A choice of three courses is offered. One leads to a bachelor's degree; another is for graduate students; and a third is a one-year course which experienced food store executives can take to brush up on new ideas in their trade.

John A. Logan, president of the association, points up the need for executives in the food chain field. He says 1,800 new supermarkets opened last year, and 2,600 more are on the drawing boards. Food chains have 22,000 supermarkets and food stores around the land to be staffed.

How long does it take for a recruit to advance? Many of the food chains, Logan says, have training programs of one to three years. Newcomers are moved from department to department to be readied for a trained reserve for the management of supermarkets yet to come.

The way to the top takes longer. By tradition promotion is from within. In the upper executive brackets of the chains, officials average 22 years with the same company. And presidents have a history with their firms averaging 29 years.

Caesarian Birth Will Be On TV

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An actual birth by Caesarian section will be shown on film next Monday on NBC's television program "Medic." An unidentified mother and father gave permission for the filming of the operation, which lasted about five minutes, and it will be shown from beginning to end, NBC said. The parents will watch the show. It's the first Caesarian to be shown on TV, NBC said.

Mitzi Lost 35 Lbs. To Start New Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mitzi Gaynor offers proof of how losing weight can change your life. Dropping 35 pounds brought her a whole new career.

Three years ago, she was a curvy 150 pounds.

"It was right after I had my appendix out," she recalled. "I figured I had to build myself up, so I ate like a fool. I told myself bread was good for the blood, butter was good for the skin, potatoes would fill my stomach and so forth."

"It was all baby fat and muscle. Since I was a dancer, the exercise burned the fat into muscle. I was simply too big. My waist was always small—even at its heaviest it was no more than 22 inches—so that made the rest of me look even bigger."

Being a career-minded doll, she figured this wasn't good.

"I was in sort of a rut at 20th Century-Fox," she admitted.

"When I left there, I was 22, but I was still playing little-girl roles. I wanted to grow up. But you can't play mature roles if you still look like a little girl. You've got to be able to wear glamorous clothes, which I couldn't."

"My trouble was that when I gained weight you could see it around my temples. That made my eyes seem smaller and gave my face a round look."

One day she decided to do something about it. She started on a diet, dropped a pound a day for the first 10 days. Then, she said, she could only eliminate a single pound in the next two weeks.

It was then that she decided that weight control is not a passing fancy but a way of life. "You just have to decide that you are going to eat sensibly all the time," she said. "The main element is self-control. If you don't have that, you can't lose weight."

Her methods are diet, massage and exercise. Besides skipping starches, sugar, sauces, etc., she undergoes a two-hour dance session every day except Sunday. Afterwards she has a deep massage, which she said helps break down fatty tissues and improve muscle tone.

Mitzi is now down to an elegant 114 pounds and never allows herself to rise above 118.

New British Jet Claims Record

LONDON (AP)—Britain claims her dart-like new jet fighter, the Fairey Delta 2, has captured the world speed record with a mark of 1,132 miles an hour.

The Royal Aero Club said the single-jet plane known to airmen as the "Droop Snoot" struck this average in two runs over a nine-mile course in southern England. It recaptured the record from the United States, test pilot Peter Twiss was at the controls.

Col. Horace H. Hanes of the U.S. Air Force set the previous record last August when he flew a P100C Super Saber at just over 822 miles an hour. Another U.S. plane, the Bell X1A, has flown at 1,650 miles per hour but not under record conditions.

Young Vandals Caught In Act

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two boys, 8 and 10 years old, who frankly admitted they had an urge to "tear up something" were caught in the act.

They spent several hours vandalizing the Louisville Builders Supply Co.

Among their capers, investigators found, was driving two trucks and crashing them head-on.

Delinquency and other charges were booked against them.

Four Little Quads Starting Out With Good Health

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The nation's littlest celebrities, the Shaia quadruplets, have started their third day of life with surprisingly good health but no names and terribly empty stomachs. The quads—all girls—were born Saturday to Mrs. Richard Shaia, 32, wife of a Richmond restaurant owner.

Physicians at St. Luke's Hospital said today, "They're looking better all the time."

Born more than a month premature, the quads weighed a total of only 16 pounds 3/4 ounces. They were placed in two double incubators.

"Everything is going particularly well," said Dr. Carolyn McCue, the pediatrician who watched over the tiny babies constantly. The identical quads get their first nourishment today—a sugar and water mixture. Barring adverse reactions, regular formula feeding will begin.

As to names, Papa Shaia planned to confer with Mama Shaia before deciding. Shaia, 30, and Mrs. Shaia have five other children, 2 to 9.

"We've gotta talk it over. These are very special kids," remarked Shaia. "They ought to have very special names."

The attending physician, Dr. William Hughes Evans, said the quadruplet births were "perfectly normal" and that the mother came through her ordeal "very nicely." The babies were delivered in 14 minutes.

ice starts to Los Angeles. Transportation superintendent William Farell said the uniformed hostesses would assist children and elderly persons, give schedule information and point out interesting spots along the route.

The city council is expected to study Farell's proposal.

Minor Surgery For Bing Crosby

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Minor surgery on an eyelid isn't expected to slow up Bing Crosby at all.

The singer underwent the surgery Saturday for removal of a small growth, a member of his family said. He is expected to resume normal activities this week, the spokesman added.

School textbooks to carry one pupil from start of school through high school would fill an 18-foot shelf.

Nothing Missing As Trap Worked

DALLAS (AP)—Glen Robert James rigged up a shotgun linked to the back door of his shoe shop and loaded the gun with blanks.

Yesterday he found the door open, the gun discharged and widely spaced footprints heading away from the shop. Nothing was missing but the would-be burglar.

'56 DODGE Coronet it's your King Size Buy!

Luxurious new '56 DODGE CORONET is bigger by far than other medium-priced cars! Bigger in size, comfort, performance, style! Yet it is priced right down with the lowest-priced cars. A big Dodge Coronet V-8 Lancer hardtop costs only 95 cents a week more than "hardtops" in the small-car field!

Size it up with others in the medium price field		Price it against small cars in the "low price field"
Car "B"	Dodge is 6.9 inches longer	Car "C"	Dodge is 14.5 inches longer
Car "M"	Dodge is 5.6 inches longer	Car "F"	Dodge is 13.5 inches longer
Car "O"	Dodge is 7.7 inches longer
Car "P"	Dodge is 6.4 inches longer

Yet Dodge costs only $4.11 a month more (less than 95 cents a week!)*

More legroom front and rear. More hiproom front and rear. Wider doors! Greater steering wheel clearance! More rear deck space! New '56 Dodge is bigger inside and out! Looks bigger! Rides bigger! Bigger!

Why settle for a small car, when a new '56 Dodge Coronet brings you so much more for so little more? Here's big-car ride and roomness, big-car luxury and looks in a full line of King Size Coronets, priced right down with the small car!

*Comparing price of Dodge Coronet V-8 Lancer against average price of same body style of the "low price 3." Price difference based on 24-month financing after 75 down payment.

Push-button driving and record-breaking performance!

At a touch of your finger, you command the greatest performing car on the road today—bar none! The new '56 Dodge shattered every record in the book—including world records held by expensive foreign models—in its sensational 14-day official run on the Bonneville Salt Flats. The '56 Dodge V-8 holds more performance records than all other American cars combined.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market advanced today, but by early afternoon there were a lot of small minus signs dotting the list.

Activity was pronounced and hit a pace of around three million shares for the day. That compares with 3,430,000 shares Friday when the market set a record high price average.

Gains today were not outstanding. A few key stocks added more than a point, but most fractional losses flocked the list.

Trading was fast and in large blocks as the market opened. That appeared to be a carryover of buying enthusiasm worked up in Friday's market. Prices were at their best at the start, and then they eased down slightly as trading progressed.

Railroads were just about the best of the leading groups both in price appreciation and activity. Oils were active and higher. Steels were active and steady.

Motors were narrowly mixed. Also mixed were the chemicals, coppers, rubbers, and utilities. The radio-televisions were quietly higher along with the aircrafts.

American - Hawaiian Steamship was up between 3 and 4 points in price appreciation and activity. Oils were active and higher. Steels were active and steady.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 30 cents at $185.70. Friday's market produced a rise for the day of $2, the third best showing of the year. The average closed at an historic high of $185.40.

RALEIGH — (NCDA)—Hog markets were steady to 25 higher today. Tops of 12.25 to 13.00 at Rocky Mount; 12.25 to 12.75 at Tarboro; Enfield; 11.75 to 13.00 at New Bern; 12.00 to 12.50 at Kinston; Beulaville; 12.50 at Hillsboro; 11.75 to 12.25 at Benson; 12.00 at Lumberton, Clinton, Fayetteville, Rich Square, Castle Hayne, Rocky Point, Mount Olive, Mount Gilead, Salable cattle 22,000; calves 400; steers slow, barely steady to 50 lower than last week's high close, but fully steady compared with last Wednesday; heifers fairly active, steady to 25 lower than last week's high close but steady to 25 higher than last Wednesday; other classes steady to strong; load prime 1,133 lb steers 25.00; a few loads prime steers up to 1,350 lb 22.50-24.00; bulk choice steers 18.00-20.50; load lots high choice and mixed choice and prime 21.00-22.00; good steers 16.00-17.50; some utility to low commercial Holstein steers 12.75-13.50; a few loads mixed choice and prime heifers 19.25-20.00; most good to high choice heifers 15.50-19.00; utility and commercial cows 11.00-13.00; most canners and cutters 10.00-11.75; utility and commercial bulls 14.00-15.50; vealers 26.00 down; three loads choice 600 lb yearling stock steers 19.50.

Super-Carrier To Bolster Fleet In Mediterranean

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
ABOARD USS FORRESTAL, GUANTANAMO, CUBA — The United States will send this super aircraft carrier, the most powerful vessel of its fleet, to bolster American naval forces in the Mediterranean next January.

This was disclosed by ship officers today as newsmen arrived to witness the first public demonstration of the 70,000-ton carrier's jet plane operations.

At anchor at Guantanamo last night were no less than 27 warships. Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, took note of this in telling Navy personnel here: "The vast changes in weapons systems which are occurring in the Navy today are indicated by the presence in Guantanamo right now of four of the Navy's newest ships—the Boston, world's first guided missile cruiser; the Forrestal, newest, largest and most modern aircraft carrier; the Northampton, newest and finest command and communications ship; and the new Sherman, the first of the new class of destroyer."

In addition to the fighting ships named by Burke, who came to Guantanamo from the Joint Chiefs of Staff conference in Puerto Rico, vessels here also include the 27,000-ton carrier Anetam; 3 45,000-ton battleships—the New Jersey, Iowa and Wisconsin; 2 heavy Moines 15 destroyers and 2 submarines.

Capt. Roy L. Johnson, native of Big Bend, La., and skipper of the Forrestal, said that after this new flattop has finished her shakedown cruise she is due to go into the yard about May 3 for changes found desirable.

Postshakedown changes should be completed by November, the captain said. This will mean that the Forrestal will be able to conduct brief trials and go to sea in the Mediterranean by January.

This carrier's present complement is about 80 planes.

R. E. Joyner Is Added To Force

Raymond E. Joyner, 24, a native of Pitt County, was sworn today as a city police officer. He will go to work at four p. m. today.

Elks, whose brother, R. B. Elks, remains with the department, was described by Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs as "an excellent officer."

Joyner, who formerly was employed with a furniture company in Washington, lives at 1523 Broad Street.

Funeral Tuesday For Charles Glenn Smith

Charles Glenn Smith, 22, of Winterville was instantly killed at 5:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon when his car overturned on the Whichard's Beach road near Washington. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. E. G. Cole, pastor of the Winterville Baptist Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Smith, son of Mrs. Emma Whichard Smith of Winterville and the late Lyman S. Smith, spent nearly all his life in Pitt County. He served in the U. S. Air Force from June 7, 1951 to May 25, 1955, and was currently attending Winterville High School. He was a member of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion.

Surviving are his mother, a brother, Lyman Samuel Smith Jr. of the home, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Lee Smith of Winterville.

Conference Set For Wright Auditorium

By WYATT BROWN
Wright Auditorium on East Carolina College campus will be used for all sessions of 1956 North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Church that will meet in Greenville June 25th through the 28th. It was decided yesterday at a special meeting of the Steering Committee in charge of conference entertainment.

In view of the fact the sanctuary of Jarvis Memorial had difficulty in affording seats for those attending the last session held in Greenville when the delegates numbered only 650, it was voted that the 950 delegates plus other interested persons would be impossible.

Chairman of the Steering Committee, Luther Moore, said he had secured facilities at East Carolina College after a meeting with Dr. J. D. Messick, ECC president. The seating capacity of Wright Auditorium will enable everyone interested to attend all sessions. It is contemplated that delegates will use main floor and guests the balcony.

Chairman Luther Moore also announced that cooperation from St. James Methodist Church will be greatly increased by representatives of St. James having been put on all important committees in connection with entertaining the conference. Mr. Moore said it was gratifying to

Closed City Is Open To Group

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Protestant churchmen visiting the Soviet Union today received an invitation to tour Tallin, capital of Estonia, which has been barred to all foreigners since World War II.

Tallin surprisingly was included in the itinerary proposed for the delegation by Metropolitan Nikolaev, secretary of the Russian Church in the first formal conference he held with the Americans.

Of course we can all recognize somebody we know in the foregoing list, including ourselves. But I have 26 other types of bores and would like to return to the subject.

You may know even more. Please tell me. Who is your favorite bore—and why? But, please, let's keep it friendly!

Hit-Run Driver Arrested After Fast Police Work

Quick police work resulted Saturday night in the arrest of a 29-year-old Negro on charges of drunk driving and hit and run.

John Arthur Roberts, 29, Negro, of 1305 Mill Street, was arrested shortly after the 7:35 p.m. accident on Dickinson Avenue near Cross Street.

Roberts, arresting officers J. W. Jenkins and W. R. Elks charge, was the driver of a car which struck a vehicle operated by Fletcher E. Bryant, 41, of 1208 Charles Street. Bryant suffered a bruised forehead and a cut arm.

Roberts apparently fled the scene. Moments later, Ben Wooten, 40, Negro, of 1305 Mill Street and the owner of the car Roberts was driving, appeared and told officers he was the driver of the car at the time the accident occurred.

Police disproved Wooten's tale, however, and he subsequently led them to where Roberts was staying. Earlier Saturday a three car collision at Ninth and Evans Streets did property damage estimated at $725. Officer R. B. Elks cited Don Melton, 46, of 1208 E. Third Street with failure to yield the right of way.

Edward E. Mayo Is Elected To Honor Society

Edward Earl Mayo of Greenville Route 4 has been elected to membership in the N. C. State College chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic society.

Dr. Ivan D. Jones, chapter secretary, announced the election of 38 top-ranking students at the college as new members of the society, which at America's major technological colleges and universities is equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa in the liberal arts colleges.

The current list of new members is composed of 18 seniors and 23 juniors. Mayo is a senior.

Old World War I Shell Kills Boys

LONGWY, France (AP)—A World War I mustard gas shell has caused the deaths of two boys and felled doctors, nurses and an ambulance driver of the Longwy Hospital.

Four schoolboys found the shell yesterday on the outskirts of this town near the Belgian border. Scene of heavy fighting 40 years ago. When they tried to dismantle it, the shell exploded.

Farmers summoned an ambulance to take the boys to the hospital. Two of them died on the operating table. Two are near death from their wounds.

At nightfall, members of the hospital staff began collapsing. They had been contaminated by the gas.
