Constitution Is Still A Refuge For 11 Accused As Communists

Public Probe At Charlotte Indicates Reds Organized in North Carolina

CHARLOTTE (AP) — What are some results of a public probe into Communism in North Carolina?

A few more names have been linked with what the House Committee on Un-American Activities calls the Communist conspiracy.

A federal law barring Communist lawyers from representing committee witnesses may be introduced in Congress.

Another informer - for-the-FBI within the Communist Party has made himself known.

A few jobs have been lost, and others may be in jeopardy.

Eleven accused Communists have demonstrated that you can take refuge in various amendments to the Constitution and refuse to answer questions about all but the most innocuous subjects—and take your chances on being cited for contempt of Congress.

And, in the opinion of the committee chairman, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa), North Carolinians have been put on notice that the Communists in their midst have been well organized and active.

Walter made it clear that he hopes three days of hearings by a subcommittee concluded yesterday, will have the effect of alerting the area to what he calls the menace of Communism.

Walter also disclosed that he will recommend legislation which would require lawyers to get committee approval before they could represent witnesses at similar hearings.

Rhoda Laks of New York City advised most of the 11 defiant witnesses before the subcommittee Monday and Tuesday.

"It is ridiculous," Walter said afterward, "for Communists to come up here and advise witnesses who are about to break and tell us something."

He said he felt that several of the witnesses might have talked "if somebody hadn't been sitting right there telling them what to do."

Also representing the accused Communists was James D. Gilliland of Warrenton, N.C. Walter apparently was referring only to Miss Laks when he said he was "not disturbed because the Communist Party saw fit to protect itself by sending someone here from outside this community."

The only surprise witness, Odis Reavis of Winston-Salem, turned up yesterday. He had been identified earlier by Charles B. Childs of High Point and Chapel Hill as a Communist party member. Reavis in turn identified Childs as a member. Both men had been in the party with the knowledge and consent of the FBI, and each had reported to the FBI on the other.

The other witnesses had been identified previously as Communists, most of them at the trial last April of Junius Scales. Scales was chairman of the Carolinas party district for several years Both Childs and Reavis testified that he was their superior in the party.

John Myers was fired from the Campbell Junior College faculty after receiving a subpoena. Bill Evans told the committee he was fired from his job at a furniture firm in Hillsboro "thanks to you gentlemen." Joseph Franklin Blake resigned as a teacher at Winvah Junior High in Georgetown, S.C. saying he did not want to embarrass the school and the community.

President S. J. Wright of Bluefield, W.Va., State College said he would take some action in the case of Nat Bond of Durham, hired by the college last year as an English teacher Verizat said he would wait until he had a record of all testimony by and about Bond.

Among those not mentioned previously as Communists were Charles and Minion Coburn, Willie Helms, Harvey Cox and George Johnson. Reavis said all were members in the High Point-Thomasville area in 1949.

Senate Conducts 12-Hour Sessions On Farm Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders ordered another 12-hour Senate session today on the controversial farm bill with tempers of some lawmakers already above the boiling point.

Pending was one of the hottest controversies of the omnibus election year bill—a decision on the method of determining parity, which is the price level fixed by law as fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Crops are supported at a percentage of parity, so its level determines government price supports on wheat, corn and other major crops.

A new formula for computing parity became effective this year. It raised the level for some crops and lowered it for others—among them corn and wheat.

But the Senate Agriculture Committee wrote a "duel parity" provision into the bill. This would allow farmers to use either the old or the new parity system—whichever was higher—in determining the level of price supports.

It could mean more than 10 cents a bushel on the wheat crop of nearly a billion bushels and somewhat less per bushel on the corn crop that sometimes is above three billion bushels.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), chief spokesman for the administration's farm proposals, teamed up with Senatords Anderson (D-NM), Holland (D-Fla) and Williams (R-Del) in an effort to beat this and retain only the new parity formula.

"I'm not optimistic," Aiken said in an interview. "I don't think the opposition is smart in trying to get a veto, but they think they are."

Aiken, during one of several torrid verbal exchanges yesterday, cautioned that the Senate was loading the farm measure with provisions that President Eisenhower would have to veto.

Sen. Young (R-ND), who has been bucking the administration's flexible price supports, said in a separate interview:

"The administration does not have the votes to knock out dual parity and is looking for a compromise."

He said this might be a proposal by Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kan) which would provide a wheat support price this year of about $1.91 a bushel instead of the $1.81 already announced by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

"That would be attractive in an election year," Young commented.

Aiken and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) figured in one of the sharpest exchanges during the long debate yesterday.

It flared when Humphrey tried to write into the bill provisions of a separate measure already passed by the Senate but deadlocked in a conference with the House.

Humphrey's proposal called for an extra 60 million dollars for the free milk program for schools and other agencies in the next 27 months, and an extra 12 millions in the same period for elimination of brucellosis, a livestock disease that causes undulant fever.

The Senate unanimously adopted the addition, but not before Aiken protested it as an effort to load the bill down with favorable provisions that would make a veto highly unpopular.

He contended it also would weaken the Senate stand in a Senate-House conference after both houses have passed the farm legislation.

"I've seen a great deal of low-grade politics since I've been a member of this body but I have never seen anything lower than this," the usually calm senator said with emotion.

Humphrey fired back that he resented these comments, and contended Aiken had violated Senate rules in attributing such motives to senators.

Aiken later eliminated part of his exchange with Humphrey from the permanent record.

British Tighten Lid On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British authorities pressed their clampdown on strife-torn Cyprus today as a general strike protesting the ouster of Archbishop Makarios went into its fourth day.

The British, striving to put a tight lid on the smoldering island, arrested a close friend of Makarios. Abbot Chryssostomos, head of the wealthy Kykkos Monastery, was whisked off to an unknown destination.

Makarios, leader of the Cypriot movement for union with Greece, began his religious career at Kykkos. The monastery financed his education here and abroad.

Scattered violence sputtered again across the island. Gunmen wounded two policemen in Nicosia the island capital where a British police sergeant was killed 24 hours earlier. Two other policemen were shot at, but their assailant missed. He was nabbed.

The new violence came on the heels of Prime Minister Eden's pledge to restore order in Cyprus before making concessions to the islanders.

Eden was bolstered by a 317-252 vote of confidence in the House of Commons last night after making clear his government intended to keep control over the Mediterranean island colony which is Britain's last bastion in the Middle East.

British troops and police sealed off with barbed wire a block of downtown Nicosia where the police sergeant was killed yesterday. The British made a thorough search for "a secret hideout for arms and possible terrorists" in the region, where nine British servicemen have been killed by backers of the union-with-Greece movement since last August.

In Lanarca a 7-year-old Greek Cypriot who with other children was stoning military vehicles was shot and killed.

Pakhna village, which refused to pay a collective fine of $1,680 for attacking the local police station, was put under curfew until the fine was paid.

The general strike paralyzed the island's business. Only a few Turkish shops remained open There appeared to be a further stiffening of the Greek-Cypriot determination to continue the walkout which has caused heavy losses for merchants, laborers and clerks.

Sawyer Files For Governor's Race

RALEIGH (AP) — Former State Sen. Tom Sawyer filed for the governship yesterday and declared he would do everything in his power to maintain segregated public schools.

Sawyer, the first person to file against Gov. Luther Hodges, said he considered Hodges "lukewarm" on maintaining segregation.

"There is only one issue in this campaign," he told newsmen at the State Board of Education, "and that is whether our public schools shall become integrated or remain segregated."

TOM SAWYER

Sawyer, 38-year-old sales representative for a Charlotte radio station, has lived in Belmont for the past two years.

He was a state senator in 1951 while living in Durham where he operated Station WSSB. During the 1951 session he introduced a bill calling for a state bonus for war veterans. The bill was killed.

He said yesterday he would not bring the bonus issue into the campaign because "I think I have pretty well established myself as a friend of the veteran."

Sawyer gave Elections Board Secretary Raymond Maxwell $150 to run as a Democratic candidate for the governorship.

He said he understands the report of the governor's Advisory Committee on Education, which is expected to be released soon, "will be an integration report—one calling for gradualism."

He stated, "To say that one should not be forced to attend an integrated school against one's choice is but to let the bars down, and once let down, all the forces on earth cannot put them back up again."

Sawyer asserted the position of governor "should not go by default without the people being given the opportunity to express their choice." He declared many people have "told me they don't know" where Hodges stands on the issue.

He said "leadership should be exacted" from the governor's office and "the responsibility cannot be evaded by asserting that it is one for local autonomy or the individual county school boards." He added that where the choice has been left to local board, "integration has crept in."

Sawyer, a 1938 graduate of Duke University, is a native of Topoco in Graham County and World War II veteran. In 1952 he ran unsuccessfully against U.S. Rep. Carl Durham of the Sixth Congressional District.

Clifton Blue May Oppose Deane

ABERDEEN, N.C. (AP) — Veteran state legislator and newspaper publisher H Clifton Blue has given notice that he might run for Congress against Eight District Rep. C. B. Deane of Rockingham

With the filing deadline noon tomorrow, Blue disclosed yesterday a "number of people have been calling me about "running against Deane.

"I haven't made any move at all," Blue said in reply to queries "I just don't know whether I'll run."

Blue, who will be 46 in August, is publisher of "The Sandhill Citizen". He has served five terms in the General Assembly and in the 1955 session was co-chairman of the House Conservation Committee.

Smith Candidate For Constable

Stuart Smith today announced as a candidate for constable in the Democratic primary May 27.

Smith has been living in Greenville about a year He is assistant manager of Drum's Hatchery and he lives in Meadowbrook.

Smith ran for constable in Ayden township in 1954 and came in first in a field of seven candidates However, he moved to Greenville before he took office.

Prospects Brighten For Nixon

Presidential Statement Interpreted As Foreshadowing Renomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's statement that "I would be happy to be on any ticket" with Vice President Nixon was interpreted by senators of both parties today as foreshadowing Nixon's renomination.

"That ought to end any rumors the President might have another running mate," Sen. Mundt (R-SD) told an interviewer. He said the Republicans are now in a position to push ahead with their campaign "while the Democrats don't even know who their head man will be."

Eisenhower made the statement, and accompanied it with fresh praise for Nixon, in commenting at his news conference yesterday on the New Hampshire primary in which more than 22,000 Republican voters wrote in Nixon's name for GOP vice presidential candidate.

Eisenhower said the vote indicated "lots of people" in New Hampshire "agree with what I have told you about Dick Nixon."

Nixon didn't commit himself on running again, although friends said there is no doubt of his availability. He issued a statement saying:

"There could be no greater reward for a man in public life than to have the President speak so generously as he has of my work on several occasions during the past three years. All I can say is that I shall try to continue day by day to do the best job I can in behalf of the Eisenhower administration."

In another statement, Nixon said "no one could have been more surprised than I was" at the size of the write-in vote for him in New Hampshire.

Sen. Schoeppel of Kansas, new chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee said, "I am glad to see the President make that statement because many of us on Capitol Hill feel the same way about it. ... The New Hampshire write-in demonstrates Nixon's popularity with the people."

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California and Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said Eisenhower's statement appeared to be an endorsement of Nixon for renomination.

Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, heading from Grand Rapids, Mich., for a Chicago appearance today, says he will not seek the Republican nomination for vice president. At a news conference last night he said it was unlikely the Republican party would nominate him as a candidate for vice president and added:

"I do not intend to seek the nomination."

Child Killed By Laxative Pills

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A 4-year-old girl died last night of poisoning said by authorities at Pottstown Hospital to have resulted from swallowing half the contents of a bottle of laxative pills.

The girl, Patricia Dudley, was given the pills a week before by an aunt, Rose Mars, 8, while the two children were playing at the Mars' home. Authorities said the girls thought the bottle contained candy pills.

The dead girl had been treated at the hospital and discharged Tuesday. Yesterday she had a convulsion and was readmitted.

POISONING PUZZLE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—More than 40 Hillsborough County Jail inmates were stricken ill last night and the diagnosis on 15 hospitalized was acute food poisoning. None of the inmates was listed in serious condition Sheriff Ed Blackburn Jr. expressed puzzlement. He said he and some deputies ate the same fare—spaghetti for lunch and potato salad and bologna for supper —and felt no ill effects.

Smiling Malenkov Arrives In London

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Ex-Premier Georgi M. Malenkov arrived in the western world for the first time in his life today and, smiling broadly, said he had come seeking knowledge.

Heading a group of Soviet electrical experts for a three-week tour of Britain, Malenkov said after stepping from his plane at London airport:

"We've arrived to acquire knowledge—knowledge of the system of public power supply and of the operation of public power stations."

"Do you speak English?" he was asked by a reporter.

Now a deputy premier and minister of power stations, Malenkov looked at Soviet Ambassador Jakok Malik for an interpretation.

Malik repeated the question in Russian.

A smile broke across Malenkov's pudgy face.

"Unfortunately not," he replied.

Malik said "maybe when he leaves he will speak English."

Scotland Yard threw a cordon around the airfield to prevent any demonstrations by refugees from Communist satellite states.

Malenkov's visit is a foretaste of next month's tour of Britian by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, who arrive April 18 as guests of Prime Minister Eden.

The three-week itinerary will give Malenkov a wider picture of British life than he would get from inside the power plants.

He will go to Windsor Castle and look over the royal apartments. He will spend Easter at Brighton a south coast resort. And with countless thousands of British race fans he will watch the March 24 Grand National Steeplechase, the world's toughest horse race.

But to keep him safe from possible demonstrations the exact details of the tour are being kept secret. Scotland Yard has planned a protective net so tough that even the Communist Daily Worker protested today the tour looks like an "elaborate security exercise."

Long-Time N. C. Publisher Dies

RALEIGH (AP) — John A. Park, 70, former editor and publisher of the Raleigh Times for 44 years, died early today at his home here.

He had been in declining health for seven months prior to sale of the Times to the News & Observer last June.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Park, former president of the North Carolina Press Assn. and the Southern Newspaper Publishers Assn., was born in Raleigh on November 19, 1885.

He attended Raleigh public schools and was graduated at 19 from North Carolina State College with the class of 1905. Following graduation, he went to Europe as a cowpuncher aboard a cattleboat with the late Gov. O. Max Gardner and Sen. Robert R. Reynolds.

Park worked for a while as a bank teller and was Raleigh's first automobile dealer. He owned one of the earliest cars in North Carolina. In 1908, he drove the first car to the Tar Heel coast. Park and his auto created quite a stir at Morehead City, where he was arrested for driving on the boardwalk. He later drove in one of the first auto races at the old fairgrounds at Raleigh.

In 1911, Park bought the Raleigh Times, which was then in the hands of receivers. He later owned newspapers at Fayetteville, New Bern and Greenville as well as Turner's Almanac at Raleigh.

Public Hearing On Major Street Plan Slated At City Hall Tonight

Zoning Of Annexed Areas, Bond Issue Proposals Also To Be Taken Up

A public hearing on the City Council's proposed major street plan is to be held tonight in City Hall at 8 p. m.

The up-in-the-air street plan which provides for a system of four-lane boulevards around the outer edges of the city, plus designated right-of-way for other streets, has traveled a rocky road so far.

Numbers of citizens have complained to the Planning Board where the plan was originally conceived and to councilmen that the proposed plan would make their property useless. This has been true along W. Third St. and E. First St. both of which were designated as 100-foot rights-of-way.

Planners nave also found that 60-foot right-of-way proposed for Boyd Ave. would create problems.

A number of the affected property owners are expected to be represented at tonight's council meeting.

A public hearing is also slated tonight on the zoning of recently annexed areas.

Councilmen are scheduled to discuss a proposed parking lot in the Dickinson Ave-Pitt St. area. Owners of the property have offered to lease the lot to the city for a parking area.

Also on the agenda for tonight is the long-stalled bond issue proposals which would provide funds for various capital improvement projects.

The council will be asked to approve directional traffic signs for installation at the intersection of Boyd and Dickinson Avenues to facilitate the movement of traffic.

Other business to come before the council:

Report on a complaint concerning a sidewalk on N. Pitt St.; traffic signs and regulations on Tenth St.; drainage at ESSO station on E. Fifth st.; site for U. S. Army Reserve Corps armory; re-numbering of houses on streets in city; Grand Jury inspection of City Hall, police station and jail; report of city manager on pay plan for city employees.

Report on tax maps; re-appointment of city employees; adoption of new plumbing ordinances; appointment of new member to Recreation Commission; and appointment of chairman and vice-chairman of Board of Adjustments of Zoning Ordinances.

Council Will Get Fluoridation Recommendation

Greenville's City Council tonight will hear a recommendation that information on proposed fluoridation of the city's water supply be passed on to the State Board of Health for their further studies in regards to their approving the installation and adoption of a fluoridation program for Greenville.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam said early this afternoon he will present the recommendation to the Council tonight following the disposition of other items on the agenda for the meeting.

Bloxam said the information on fluoridation of the city's water supply was turned over to him by Health Director Dr. Walter C. Humbert this afternoon, but it was too late to include in the agenda for tonight's meeting. For that reason the matter will be presented after other business already on the agenda has been considered by city officials.

Dr. Humbert said he did not plan to appear before the Council tonight concerning the fluoridation proposal. He added that information on the proposal together with endorsements from various local organizations had ben turned over to Bloxam. Dr. Humbert said he anticipated the Council calling a public hearing on the matter at a later date at which the proposal would be discussed.

Medical, Dental Spokesmen Question Fluoride Toothpastes

Opinions criticizing effectiveness of the new toothpastes containing fluoride in reducing tooth decay were voiced today by three local dentists and Pitt County Health Director Walter C Humbert.

The statements were issued in answer to opponents of fluoridation of the city's water supply who have suggested that the program is "mass medication" and that persons wishing to reduce tooth decay by use of fluoride can buy the new toothpastes with that ingredient now on the market.

Speaking out with Dr Humbert against the toothpastes were Dr F E Lansche, dentist member of the county Board of Health, Dr. M. B Massey and Dr M W Aldridge

Paste "Ineffective"

All agreed that toothpaste containing fluoride is doubtless "ineffective in reducing tooth decay since the paste doesn't stay on the teeth long enough to do any good."

Dr Lansche pointed out that the paste would have to be applied for "at least a half-hour" to produce any effect.

Dr Massey said he had received no official reports on the latest toothpastes with fluoride. "but I imagine they will be just like other toothpastes advertising special ingredients The principle is good but it is doubtful they accomplish any more than ordinary salt and soda."

Drs Lansche Aldridge and Humbert termed the advertisements claiming that the fluoride-toothpastes reduce tooth decay "just another gimmick to help sell the paste."

Dr Humbert pointed out that "a good basic toothpaste is a cleanser for the teeth and any other substance put in the toothpaste is just another gadget by which a particular company hopes to sell more toothpaste than his competitors."

Dentists Don't Approve

Dr Aldridge stated dentists have not recommended the toothpastes with "fluoristan" . . . "for the same reasons we have not gone overboard in recommending toothpastes with chlorophyll, ammonia or gardol."

"In fact," he continued, "this new fluoride-paste compound, to the best of my knowledge, has not been authoritatively approved. However, it would be easy for any testing agency to come up with some favorable results since the individuals being tested will be very diligent about brushing their teeth, while prior to that time they would be like most of the rest of us—not so diligent as we should be in brushing our teeth."

Dr Humbert elaborated on "some public health reasons for putting fluoride in the city water supply."

He said the application of a fluoride paste by a dentist is "a long procedure, expensive and can affect only a very few."

Pills Not Practical

"Giving fluoride pills can produce the desired effect," he stated; "if a child gets one pill every day from the time he is three years old until he is about 12. In theory this is very good, but in practice it hasn't worked out. People forget to give the pills to their children, and sometimes the children forget to take them Therefore, they don't get a uniform dose."

The health director further pointed out that medical and public health authorities feel the use of fluoride pills "can be a very dangerous practice, since a small child is very apt to get hold of the bottle and take a large quantity of pills at one time This could be very serious.

"However addition of one part fluoride to a million parts of drinking water is a safe, practical preventive method for all economic classes By this means the great mass of underprivileged children can be protected.

Ten-Year Studies

"Extensive ten-year studies at Newburgh, N Y. by noted dental and health authorities working with the Commission of Chronic Illness have shown that persons would have to consume five gallons of water containing one part fluoride per million parts of water to get 20 milligrams of fluoride into the body. By estimation, researchers have figured a person would have to drink 300 gallons of water at one time to get a lethal dose of fluoride. This, of course, is a physical impossibility."

Dr Humbert said results of the study, which are published in the March issue of the American Journal of Public Health and the Journal of the American Dental Association, further show "there is no indication of any notable biological disadvantage from the use of fluoride in drinking water with respect to the bones, heart disease kidney disease cancer, thyroid disease and arthritis. Fluoride is readily excreted by the kidneys with no damage to those organs."

Hoover Urges More Top Govm't Jobs Be On Appointive Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Hoover urged today the earmarking of 2,000 more top government policy jobs for political appointment, together with better "pay, security and prestige" for federal workers generally.

He declared that inadequate budget and bookkeeping practices have cost Congress its "control of the national purse" and are now costing the taxpayers four billion dollars a year of needless spending.

Civil service reforms are equally urgent to prevent "government talent from being constantly grabbed by business," Hoover said in a speech prepared for a conference called by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to rally support for adoption of the year-old recommendations of his commission on federal reorganization.

Hoover said the 25 per cent turnover of government personnel—representing the loss and replacement of 500,000 workers annually —"would bankrupt any private enterprise twice a year."

"Promotion and pay fail to produce or hold top executive talent," he said, "and there are not enough policy-making positions today subject to party choice to carry out the mandates of the electorate."

He added: "Do not get scared that we are proposing a spoils system. We wish merely to change less than one tenth of 1 per cent of the total number."

The President, Hoover said, should have perhaps 2,000 additional jobs subject to his appointment, and nonpolitical career workers "should not be required to make policy or to defend administration policy."

Urging adoption of the commission's pay and promotion reforms, Hoover said:

"If our top military officers had been chosen on the civil service basis of promotion, the deadwood at the top would have lost us two world wars.

"The present salaries and fringe benefits in our top civil service are below those in top military service. And worse still, they are far below those in private enterprise."

FOUNTAIN—The Fountain Woman's Club met with Mrs. F. D. Turnage on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. G. E. Trevathan presided in the absence of Mrs. R. A. Fountain, the president. After a report from the standing committee, Mrs. Turnage, chairman of education, presented Miss LaRue McKinney, Librarian of the Farmville Library, who reviewed the book "The Search For Bridey Murphy," by Morey Bernstein.

From the appointed tea table Mrs. Trevathan assisted the hostess in serving punch, cookies and nuts to Miss McKinney and Mrs. Robert Teel from Farmville and the 13 club members.

Recent Bride

Mrs. James Randolph Worsley, Jr. who before her marriage on February 11 was the former Miss Cornelia Cheston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele Cheston of Bluebell, Pennsylvania. Mr. Worsley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Worsley of Greenville.

The King's Daughters Continue Series Of Bible Studies

Meeting at the home of Mrs. V. P. Scoville on Tuesday night, March 13th, the Patient Circle of The King's Daughters was led in its devotional and the second in the series of Bible studies by Mrs. E. W. Harvey.

The president, Mrs. C. A. Bowen, opened the meeting with the Prayer of the Order. She then presented Mrs. E. W. Harvey, who based her remarks on the 91st Psalm, "Today, many of our worries and anxieties over the temporal things of life are caused by our lack of faith and trust in God," said the speaker.

The president quickly dispatched routine business and called for committee reports. The Social Service committee had furnished food, clothing, and fuel for the indigent; had sent cards and flowers to the bereaved and made many visits to those in the hospital. The chairman of the Silver Cross magazine reported two new subscriptions to the Silver Cross and urged others to subscribe to the official organ of the Order.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. B. Smith, read a letter from Jake Hadley, supervisor of the local Ground Observer Corps, outlining the schedule of days for which the various clubs and civic organizations were to be responsible. The Executive Committee made the schedule trying to equalize the responsibilities of the local citizens. Mrs. Clara Shackell reported that The King's Daughters had operated the Observation Center one hundred percent on their first scheduled day—Sunday, March 4. She stressed the need of more volunteers in attempting to set up a schedule of observers for Sunday, March 18.

During the social hour, Mrs. Scoville and her assisting hostesses, Mrs W. S. Galloway, Mrs. L. O. Gross, Mrs. Alice Keel, Mrs. W. G. Ward, Mrs. Katherine Adams and Mrs W. L. Best, served an attractive sweet course, carrying out the St. Patrick motif.

J. Leroy Wheatley Succumbs In Florida

J. Leroy Wheatley, 58, died near St. Augustine, Florida, at two o'clock Wednesday morning following an apparent heart attack. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Wheatley was a native of Philadelphia and had lived in North Carolina since 1919. He had been a resident of Greenville for the past five years, where he was associated with the Proctor Hotel.

Surviving are two sisters, Misses Maggie Wheatley of Sharptown, Md., and Mary Wheatley of Delmar, Del.; and a brother, Ollie Wheatley of Salisbury, Maryland; and several nieces and nephews.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
March 15, 1926

The board of trustees of East Carolina Teachers College held its regular quarterly meeting yesterday at the college. The main things taken up and discussed at this meeting were the building program and the salary schedule. The building committee made a report which was tentatively adopted pending further study by the committee. The committee on institution policies and salaries made a tentative report and at the same time requested time for further study for a final report at the June meeting.

Little Miss Janice McGowan underwent an operation for appendicitis in Pitt Community Hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Stokes Gives Highlights Of Trip To Florida

Mrs. Clark Stokes was hostess to members of the Delphian Book Club at her home on Woodland Dr. Tuesday afternoon, March 13.

After a dessert course and coffee the president, Mrs. Herbret W. Lee, presided over a short business meeting at which time an outline for next year's program was discussed.

Mrs. Stokes then gave her program on a recent trip that she, Mr. Stokes and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dail made to Florida. Mrs. Stokes mentioned historic places that they stopped en route. Most interesting of all was her description of Sea Island, Georgia.

The couples visited some of the lovely homes on Palm Beach, toured Miami nightclubs and scenic spots, then traveled through the Everglades on to Lake Wales. They found a very quaint place to stay at the Chalet Suzanne, outside of Lake Wales. From here they visited the Cypress Gardens and saw the "Passion Play."

Mrs. Stokes added spice to her program by giving the historic background t some of the places they visited.

The club members expressed appreciation for the hospitality of Mrs. C. H. Edwards Sr., club advisor, for entertaining club members and their husbands at her home Tuesday evening, February 28. Mrs. Edwards greeted couples at 6:30 p.m. and invited them into the dining room where fruit punch and a variety of delicious hors d'oeuvres were served. The group enjoyed an evening of singing, piano solos and conversation.

Dr. Pingel Attending Session At Durham

Dr Martha Pingel, faculty member of the department of English at East Carolina College, will attend a meeting of the Southern Society for the Philosophy of Religion in Durham March 15-17. Delegates from colleges and universities throughout the South will be present for a three-day program, which will be presented at the Washington-Duke Hotel in Durham.

Dr. Pingel will participate by giving a report on a study of teacher education and religion as it is now being carried out at East Carolina.

Sidewalk Show Planned For Community Arts Festival

Pitt County Girl Scout Council Reports On Planned Activities

The Pitt County Girl Scout Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, March 12, at the Rotary Club with 13 members present.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, Executive Secretary, reported on the annual cookie sale and on Girl Scout Week, both of which are now in progress. She stated that 7,000 boxes of cookies had been ordered and that all but 20 cartons were already sold.

Mrs. Proctor announced that the white Scouts of Greenville would celebrate their birthday with a party at the Moose Lodge on Friday afternoon, March 16, from 4:00 until 5:30 and that the Negro Scouts would hold their birthday party on the same afternoon at South Greenville School. Every Brownie and Scout in the city is invited to attend one of these parties.

Farmville held a similar celebration on Sunday, March 11, at their Little House, and the Brownies and Scouts of Fountain will have a tea during the week. Every troop in the county will observe the birthday of Juliette Low, the founder of Scouting in America, in some manner.

Mrs. Charles A. White, president, said that it gave her pleasure to announce during Girl Scout Week the organization of four new Brownie troops and one new Scout troop in Ayden, a new Scout troop in Falkland and a new troop at St. Raphael's School in Greenville.

The secertary, Mrs. J. H. Thomas, read a letter from the Coastal Carolina Council inviting members of the Pitt County Council to attend a luncheon at Camp Lejeune on March 23rd in honor of Lady Baden-Powell, wife of the founder of the Scout movement. Lady Baden-Powell was herself largely responsible for the founding of the world-wide organization of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts and has been active in the organization for almost thirty years.

Mr. L. M. Buchanan, treasurer of the Camp Committee, reported that the five pre-fabricated houses purchased from the government last fall had been transported to and erected at Camp Hardee. He expressed appreciation to Pickles Tobacco Company and Greenville Tobacco Company for the use of their trucks in this operation. The new buildings must be painted, steps and gutters must be added and both the Counselors' Cabin and the Recreation Hall must be wired. The committee is sure that they will be ready when camp opens in June.

It was announced that the camp folders were at the printers and would be ready for distribution next week.

Mrs. White stated that a group of Boy Scouts had asked to use Camp Hardee on May 4 and 5 for a training course. After some discussion the Council voted to allow the Boy Scouts to use the campsite for that purpose.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

A sidewalk show is again being planned as part of the annual Community Arts Festival scheduled for the first week in May, Mrs. Michael Luskin has announced.

Mrs. Luskin is heading a committee in charge of the show, which will be held on the lawn of Sheppard Memorial Library May 3. The show is sponsored by the Woman's Club.

Mrs. R. V. Keel will be in charge of registration and volunteer workers; Mrs. T. Y Walker and Mrs. J. H. Behr will handle the exhibits; and Mrs. J. C. Galloway, Jr., will be in charge of refreshments.

Local and out-of-town artists are invited to exhibit their work at the sidewalk show. Mrs. Luskin said each artist may exhibit as many of his works as he wishes, and pictures in any media will be accepted. "However, they must be original," she stated, "since the purpose of the show is to encourage and stimulate originality and creativeness in the arts."

Mrs. Luskin said sculpture, mobiles and any other creative art "feasible for display" is acceptable.

Persons wishing to exhibit works should contact Mrs. Luskin or a member of her committee.

No fee is charged the exhibitors or the viewing public.

Barbecue Supper

The Bell Arthur Christian Church will sponsor a barbecue supper on Wednesday, March 21, from 5 until 8 o'clock. Admission is $1 for adults, children under 10, fifty cents. Proceeds will go for rebuilding the church piano.

Bingo Party Is Planned By HD

FOUNTAIN—The Fountain Home Demonstration Club launched plans for a bingo party when it met in the home of Mrs. Carlton Gardner Thursday afternoon, March 8.

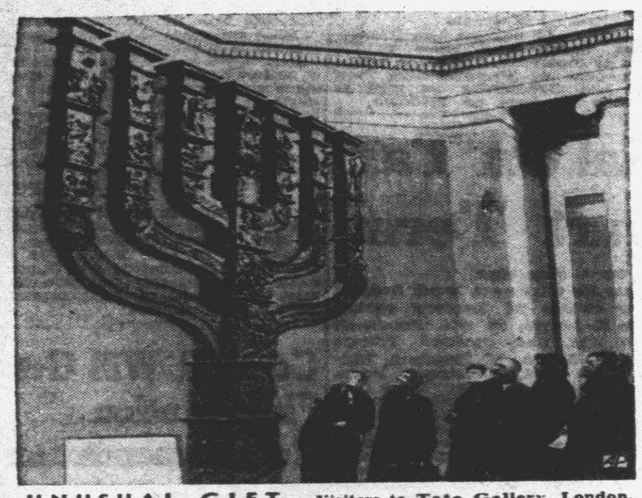

Mrs. Alton Moore presided. Mrs. C. E Case gave a garden report. Mrs. Albert Bell gave a citizenship report. Mrs. Johnnie Gardner gave a brief talk on health. There were 21 book reports given. Those reporting were Mrs. Carlton Gardner, Mrs. C. E. Case, Mrs. Sim Weisner, and Mrs. Albert Bell.

Mrs. Carlton Gardner, clothing leader, gave a demonstration on the well dressed woman at low cost. Mrs. Ben Gardner Jr. led in a few minutes of recreation.

There were 14 members and three visitors present. The visitors were Mrs. L. R. Bell, Mrs. Julius Killebrew and Mrs. M. Dilda.

The hostess served angel food cake, blocked ice cream and coffee.

There is enough ice on Greenland to give every person on earth a two-ton chunk every minute for a ys the National Georgraphic Society.

Linda Whichard Plans Gay Weekend

By ANNETTE JACKSON
Reflector Staff Writer

Unlike the Maid of Cotton, pretty Linda Whichard won't need twenty-two suitcases for her big weekend in April.

But a glance into her wardrobe would convince the Maid, herself, that Linda will be most appropriately dressed for the frenzied social whirl of which she will be a part.

The setting will be Wilmington; the time, April 5-8; the occasion, that city's annual Azalea Festival.

Elected by the student body of Greenville High School, Linda will represent her hometown in the Princess Court along with nine other high school students from North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia. The queen of the festival will be Polly Bergen.

"Our Maid" will be seen wearing a beige, metallic faille party dress cut very low in the back and with this, black patent accessories. Then there's a sleek black linen sheath dress and matching duster planned for white accessories.

A wide-brimmed hat will be worn with her printed silk frock featuring a full pleated skirt and long torso. For the more formal occasions, a red cocktail dress and black strapless evening gown have been carefully selected. But, of course, for THE occasion, the Coronation Ball, she'll wear the white net formal pictured above with its strapless top and billowy, tiered skirt banded in lace.

Linda will leave for Wilmington by car April 5. Her mother, Mrs. Linwood Whichard, will accompany her. Reservations for the young princesses have been made at the Cape Fear Hotel with all their expenses paid. Linda says, "We'll be chaperoned every minute and escorts will be provided when needed."

For this 5' 3" blonde, contest-winning is something new. Asked how she feels about it, she says with that winning dimple appearing at just the right moment, "I'm, I'm very thrilled!"

And chances are she'll be tired, too, when the teas, luncheons, tours, parades, parties and balls on the program schedule are over.

At the local high school, Linda is associate editor of "Green Lights," typist on the "Tau" yearbook staff, active in the glee club, class prophet, and was recently elected best looking in the senior class.

Her plans for next year include an undetermined course of study at East Carolina College.

News From Red Oak

All winter long, Red Oak Community has been like an ant hill, with no signs of life to the passer-by, but full of activity deep down in the earth.

Due to the hurricane weather last summer and fall, and to the unusually cold weather this winter there has not been too much outside activity. But, just the same, we have not forgotten that we entered the Pitt County Progress Program last May and we have been doing many things with that in mind.

Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr., overall chairman, met with Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. F. L. Allen Sr., Mrs. Clyde Bright, Mrs. W. S. May and Mr. and Mrs. B L. Tyson and together they made plans for the next few weeks. The week of March 18th has been set aside as "clean-up" week and they hope every home, white and colored, will clean their premises of all trash, cans, broken glass and rubbish.

We have already had our "rat campaign," but it is still all right to put out poison for the rats we failed to get the first time.

We hope every member of Red Oak Sunday School will be present next Sunday morning. Let's try to build up our Sunday School attendance.

We have recently lost two of our older church members, Mrs. Fannie Gardner and Mr. H. C. Smith. Our sympathy is extended to both families.

Lakewood Pines Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. Richard P. Heller was elected president of the Lakewood Pines Garden Club when the club held their regular meeting on Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. N. C. Pierce, on Pineview Drive. Other officers for the new year are Mrs. William Wright, vice-president and program chairman, Mrs. Richard Culbertson, secretary, and Mrs. Norwin Pierce, treasurer.

Mrs. Raymond Lowe presided over the meeting, which was the annual business meeting. After the election of officers Mrs. Wright, chairman of the "Spring Garden Fair," reviewed the progress of this affair. It is to be held on Friday, April 13, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. in Lakewood Pines. All proceeds will be used for Garden Club projects, the only one of which the club now has is helping with the beautification of grounds at the new Elmhurst School.

Mrs. Heller reported on the garden study course on Horticulture which she and Mrs. Pierce attended in Rocky Mount on March 5. The course covered landscape design, foundation planting and planting the perennial border.

Members commented on the striking flower arrangements fixed by Mesdames John Barnhill and Tom Marshall. One was a hogarth using beautiful pink camellias from Mrs. Barnhill's garden. Others were of yellow and white daffodils and red camellias.

The hostess served assorted sandwiches and cakes, and coffee. Mrs. Joseph Waltz will have the next meeting at her home on April 10.

Demonstration Given Mt. Pleasant Club

MT. PLEASANT—A demonstration entitled "Well Dressed at Small Cost" was presented by Mrs. R. H. Barnes and Mrs. C. H. Hagan at a meeting of the Mt. Pleasant Home Demonstration Club.

"It isn't always the most expensive wardrobe that is best; it is the one which is planned best," the club women were told.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Kenneth Hathaway on gardening and freezing and from Mrs. Barnes on the heart.

The hostess, Mrs. F. A. McLawhorn, served refreshments of cake, nuts and iced drinks.

Patricia Harrison Dies In Duke Hospital

Patricia Ann Harrison, two and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Harrison of Beargrass, died in Duke Hospital in Durham Wednesday afternoon after six weeks of illness.

Funeral services will be held at Rehoboth Holiness Church at Beargrass at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and burial will be in the Mobley cemetery near Beargrass. The body will remain at the home and will be carried to the church one hour prior to the time of services.

Surviving are the parents; seven sisters, Betty, Jean, Susie, Lizzie, Fannie, Lana and Janice Harrison and two brothers, Vernon and James Harrison, all of the home; and the maternal grandfather, G. H. Martin of Robersonville.

HONORARY PAGE

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—John S. Webb, 80-year-old janitor of the Kentucky House of Representatives, has been made an honorary page. He was a member of the House from Lincoln County in 1916 and is one of only three members of that assembly now living.

Drama Club Will Participate In Goldsboro Event

The East Carolina Playhouse has announced that it will present "The Valiant," a tragedy by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass, as its contribution to the annual Eastern Regional Drama Festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association in Goldsboro, March 24.

William C. Dixon Jr. of Kinston is director of the play; and Dr. Joseph A. Withey of the college department of English, faculty advisor.

Alvis B. Carr of Rocky Mount heads the cast of "The Valiant" in the role of a young man in his last hour before being executed for murder. He recently received commendation for his interpretation of the leading character in the Playhouse production of Sidney Kingley's "Detective Story."

Others in the cast of "The Valiant" are Margaret Starnes of Raleigh; David A. Evans of Norfolk, Va.; and Thomas Hull of Durham.

Thomas J. Barnett, Jr., of Raleigh is serving as technical director of the production. His assistants are Adrian D. Herring of Towson, Md.; Barbara Harrell of Raleigh, Nora Lee Willis of Phillis, Va.; Janice Trent of Reidsville; and Joyce Fuqua Barnett of Raleigh.

Shower Honors March Bride-Elect

Honoring Miss Eunice Little of Ballards community, who will be married to J. B. Benton on March 25, Mrs. McGee Smith, Mrs. George Pittman and Mrs. John Mewbern entertained at a miscellaneous shower in the staff house at the State Hospital in Goldsboro on Friday evening. The house was beautifully decorated throughout with spring flowers.

The honored guest was presented a corsage of camellias and received many lovely and useful gifts.

Following the presentation of the gifts, the hostesses served ice cream, bridal cakes, mints, nuts and coffee from a lovely decorated table.

ECC Alumni To Hold Spring Breakfast In Asheville, March 23

Alumni of East Carolina College are now completing plans for their annual spring breakfast, held annually during the state convention of the North Carolina Education Association. The alumni event will take place this year Friday, March 23, at 7:45 a.m. in the Pine Room of the S and W Cafeteria in Asheville.

Alumni Secretary James W. Butler is in charge of arrangements for the meeting. "The breakfast has become increasingly popular each year," he stated here this week, "and the 1956 get-together promises to be the best ever."

Baxter Ridenhour of Durham, president of the East Carolina College Alumni Association, will welcome those attending the breakfast, and Mr. Butler will act as chairman of the program. Dr. Ed J. Carter, director of field services at the college, and Wendell W. Smiley, college librarian, will extend greetings from East Carolina.

Represents Chapter At Oklahoma Meet

Lou Whitley Mayo, of Greenville, is representing the East Carolina College chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity, at the Twentieth Biennial Convocation of the organization March 15-17 at Oklahoma A and M College in Stillwater.

Miss Mayo, a senior at East Carolina, is president of the Eta Chi Chapter of the fraternity on the campus.

Fountain PTA Hears Panel Discussion

FOUNTAIN—The Fountain Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting in the school auditorium Thursday night.

The meeting was opened by Rev. Philip M. Cory giving the devotional.

Mrs. Carter G. Smith presided.

The program was a panel discussion of questions of great interest to parents of the P.T.A.

Mrs. Ruth Walston's eighth grade room won the attendance prize.

Cooperation Of Agencies Essential

The recent Beaufort County rift between local law enforcement officers and the State Paroles board is another indication of the need of closer coordination between those whose duty it is to apprehend law violators and those whose duty it is to determine how much leniency should be allowed after the court sentence has been given.

Examples of disagreement between officers and the paroles board are not rare by any means. Some of these conflicts have made the headlines. A far larger number of the disagreements have gone unnoticed by the public.

In the case of this latest Beaufort County incident Sheriff Bonner William Rumley has asserted his protest over parolling a prisoner to Beaufort County was ignored by Dr. Clarence H. Patrick, chairman of the Board of Paroles. Rumley further asserted he was told it was "none of my business" when he protested the parole of a prisoner from another county to Beaufort.

Dr. Patrick, in reply to the charge declared it had never told Sheriff Rumley it was "none of his business"; but added, "They don't know anything about this parolee. They just didn't want an outside parolee coming into their county."

For the moment we are more interested in the relationship between the Board of Paroles and local law enforcement officers than in the question of who is right and who is wrong in this particular case.

When it comes to the release of prisoners on parole, certainly opinions or protests of law enforcement agencies involved in the case should be considered by the Board of Paroles. Even if the prisoner is to be released to live in a different county from the one in which he was sentenced, the opinion of local law enforcement officers who in the future will have to watch parolee should be consulted.

Law enforcement officers are charged with the responsibility of preventing crime as well as apprehending individuals who are guilty of committing crimes. If this two-fold function is to be filled, it is vital that close cooperation between the State Board of Paroles and local law enforcement agencies be maintained. Without cooperation from the State Board of Paroles, local law enforcement agencies will find the prevention aspect of their responsibility much more difficult to uphold.

It would not be amiss for the governor to determine through a thorough investigation the exact degree of cooperation or lack thereof between this state agency and local law enforcement agencies.

Communist Activities In N. C. Prove Shocker

Communist activities in North Carolina have been jolted by the three-day hearing by a subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Many people of North Carolina likewise have been jolted by the unveiling of Red activities in the state which was brought about by the hearings.

While a number of uncooperative witnesses declined to relate any association with the Communist Party, the fact that they chose to hide behind constitutional amendments rather than answer questions is to us indicative of their association with party activities.

In thousands of communities throughout the nation people read of Communist activities in other places, but feel always that those activities are far removed. Few realize that similar activities could be carried on in their own communities. Residents of High Point, Greensboro, Thomasville, Durham, Winston Salem and other Piedmont cities probably were surprised at the Communist activities in their respective communities which were brought out at the hearings by undercover agents for the FBI.

The outcome of the hearings should put the people of every community in North Carolina on their guard for such un-American activities by the party dedicated to the overthrow of the government. Most citizens think that such things cannot happen in their own fine communities. Obviously they can and do happen.

Every possible measure must be taken to thwart communist activities within the individual communities of North Carolina, and to expose party members.

Electric Rate Decrease Is No Minor Reduction

Even though the electric rate reduction adopted by the Greenville Utilities Commission is small so far as the individual customer is concerned, in the face of rising costs and trend of increased rates on the part of private power companies, the reduction by the municipally owned company is indicative of an effort to maintain rates in line with those of larger private customers.

The reduction in rate for the first two domestic consumption categories will amount to a maximum savings of 70 cents per month for individual customers who use more than 200 killowatt hours of current monthly. Some customers may consider the individual savings of approximately $8.40 annually insignificant.

Yet, when one considers that approximately 75 per cent of the 11,277 domestic electric customers served by Greenville Utilities will receive this maximum savings, it becomes evident that the total reduction in electric bills among domestic consumers in the area will be approximately $71,000. That by no means can be considered a minor savings on the part of the domestic customers as a whole.

Neither can is be considered a minor decrease in utilities revenue in the face of constantly rising costs of production and distribution.

There are few electric companies which have made a downward revision of their rates for smaller domestic customers during the past 10 years. The Reflector congratulates Greenville Utilities on this power at the lowest possible rate in keeping with good business practices.

We trust the Utilities Commission will continue to study constantly its rate structure not only in category of domestic customers, but likewise as those rates relate to commercial and industrial customers.

Ballots With Some English On The Ball

By LYNN NISBET

RICOCHET — The law provides that when a North Carolina voter casts his ballot for a President and Vice President of the United States the vote shall be counted for the slate of presidential electors affiliated with the party to which the candidate belonged.

That is the only statutory provision permitting a vote for one person to be counted for another. Actually this year a great many voters may feel like they are voting for someone other than the name marked on the ballot. Experience of the past few months has emphasized the feeling that choices for Vice President and Lieutenant Governor may well be the people who will fill the top offices...

This might be called "richochet voting" or "putting english on the ballot."

SENATOR — Lately there has developed talk to the effect that a vote for Lieutenant Governor might even become a vote for United States Senator. The reasoning goes like this!

Governor Hodges has his eyes on the Senate. He is expected to seek election after his next term as Governor. But, if anything should happen to either of the incumbent Senators before 1961, Governor Hodges might follow the example of chief executives in many other states, resign as Governor and accept appointment to the Senate at hands of his successor—the man who will be named Lieutenant Governor this year.

It is further pointed out that the mortality rate among Tarheel Senators has been very heavy. Seven men have occupied one seat in less than ten years and three of them died in office—Bailey, Broughton and Smith.

Only Governor of North Carolina who resigned to go to the Senate was Zebulon B. Vance in 1879.

BAILEY — Failure of Harold Cooley to the sign the Southern manifesto protesting the Supreme Court segregation ruling may have provided the final push to get James H. Pou Bailey in the race against him. The Raleigh lawyer almost ran for congress four years ago, but decided on another term in the State senate. He toyed with the lieutenant governorship idea last fall. He said early this week he would "probably file for congress on Friday morning." The books close at noon Friday.

Son of the late U.S. Senator Josiah William Bailey, grandson of the late James H. Pou, nationally famed trial lawyer, and son-in-law of Edwin Pate, Laurinburg diversified business executive, and related to the late Edwin W. Pou who served this district for many years in Congress, the prospective candidate adds family prestige to his two-terms experience in the General Assembly as qualifications for the job he seeks.

He will be going up against a real toughie in the person of Harold Cooley, who succeeded Ed Pou in Congress in 1934 and is dean of the North Carolina delegation. As chairman of the very powerful committee on agriculture Cooley is a national figure. In his capacity as chairman or ranking member on that committee he has exerted tremendous influence upon all national farm legislation for the past decade.

The fact is, his national strength is to considerable degree the cause of relative weakness in his own district. His constituents have complained that he was so busy looking farmers in the middle west he did not have time for political considerations in his home bailiwick. It has been suggested the reason he did not sign the manifesto was because he did not want to jeopardize Northern and Western votes for his pending farm bill. A practical ward-heeler quipped that the "westerners can vote for his farm bill, but they can't vote for him in the primary."

CONTESTS — Two other Tarheel Representatives declined to sign the manifesto—Thurmond Chatham in the fifth district and Charles B. Deane in the eighth. Both gave out statements explaining their position.

Chatham already has strong opposition in the person of Ralph J. Scott of Stokes. Deane is not likely to have real trouble, but there will be little surprise if somebody from the south end of his district files against him.

If Pou Bailey gets into the fourth district fracas it will mean at least five major races for Congress. Rep Woodrow Jones is stepping down in the eleventh and a battle is on between Ralph Gardner of Cleveland and Basil Whitener of Gaston for that seat, with chance that Hugh Wells of Cleveland may make a run-off necessary.

Alton Lennon of New Nanover, former U.S. Senator, is giving Rep. Ertel Carlyle of Robeson a run for the seventh district place. And in the sixth dstrict Ralph H. Scott of Alamance is furnishing the stiffest opposition that Rep. Carl Durham of Orange has faced in 18 years.

Contests may develop in other districts before the lists close Friday. As of now, betting odds favor all incumbents to hold their seats—including Charles Raper Jonas in the tenth, where the real race will be in November rather than in May. The wide-open 11th district race is regarded an even bet between Gardner and Whitener.

But—the outs who want in will not concede advantage to incumbents. The campaign hasn't really gotten underway. Experienced observers understand fully that minor issues and personalities may prove more influential in vote-getting than widely publicized major issues.

In any event the real shooting will begin when the targets are set up on Raymond Maxwell's books at the State Board of Elections office Friday.

Election By Television

(Greensboro Daily News)

Television is full of tricks. A talented script writer, a skilled make-up artist, a good lighting man, a clever cameraman can sometimes make a political candidate look better than he really is.

The prospect of a national election decided principally by a television campagin from the front porch of a farmhouse at Gettysburg is not altogether satisfying. It calls to mind a certain famous but not entirely convincing television performance by Mr. Richard Nixon, plus dog and wife.

This whole idea of election by shrewd television appearances planned by Madison Avenue advertising experts has also appalled two spinners of fiction recently. In THE GOLDEN KAZOO ex-ad man John Schneider assumes that television won the campaigns of 1952 and 1956, so he projects his story into 1960, when "no major political party would be so abysmally stupid as to attempt a sales campaign on its own, with out professional merchandizing knowhow." On the premise that the same TV techniques that sell soap can sell Presidents, he has his Republican Party select a candidate with a handsome "silverwave" of hair and a smooth manner, plus a wife who is coached to "let slip" the untrue announcement that hse is going to have a baby. "Baby" gets papa elected—over TV.

In THE LAST HURRAH Edwin O'Connor tells the deft and amusing story of an American politican very like Boston's James M. Curley, running once more for mayor at the age of 72 but defeated by a younger politician, a nonnentity who appeals to the voters over television, particularly by having a portrait of the Pope prominently displayed in his living room and a little daughter who turns her chubby bottom to the cameras.

Campaigning by television certainly requires less exertion on the part of the candidates. But how true a picture will it give the viewing public? Perhaps there are still a lot of voters who would willingly paraphrase once more Joyce Kilmer's "Trees" to make it read:

"I think that I shall never see
My vote decided on TV."

Political Savvy Starts Early

So much politics in the air. While of late there has been a strong touch of sodium fluoride on The Reflector's editorial page, at the same time the teletype has been turning air in the newsroom blue with political clamor.

People get the political "bug" in their early years. And political savvy shows up in remarkable places, too.

For instance there was a case (long ago) when a distinct "minority" won a key election in the seventh grade by virtue of a strategem that dazzled an onlooking teacher.

There was that unhappy circumstance in which girls outnumbered boys; and when girl was pitted against boy in any sort of class election. . .well, there was practically no contest. Rivalry was strictly undercover, you understand; and there was a secret ballot, but it usually worked out that the girl candidate received exactly the number of votes as there were members of the "weaker" sex in the class.

Then came a day when this seventh grade was suggested into holding an election during a free period. Politicking was unnecessary because the lines had been drawn ever since the youngsters went through the motions of electing officers some years before. It was strictly boys vs. girls; with the boys pretty cool toward the whole idea, and anyway "what's the use?".

To save time, a mere plurality was all that was required to name a winner; and the voting went pretty much as expected. A girl won on the "party line" vote in the race for secretary; a quiet lad with a halo and notorious repute for honesty was elected treasurer as a courteous gesture by the girls who forgot candidate for vice president. They. canlidate for vice president. They, as well as the boys, were saving their best prospects for the coveted presidency.

From somewhere came inspiration followed by behind-the-scenes note-passing and whispers among the boys. Both sides promptly nominated their most promising candidates, and then. . .a boy arose to nominate another girl with considerable popularity. Another boy arose to nominate still another girl. . .and somehow the name of a fourth girl found its way on the "ticket". Comprehension was dawning in the eyes of the teacher who was chairing the farce and she closed nominations before it got out of hand.

Teachers are supposed to be most impartial at such times, but I strongly suspect there was a hidden smile in her when the tally showed ranks of the girls split in four pieces while the boys elected their one candidate.

Parents just never suspect the traces of genius that float around in Junior's brain.

Paint Can Solve The Problem

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Typewriter tattle:

Some bosses complain that girls waste time gossiping together in the powder room.

Interior designer Lee Kelly of Chicago has a solution to break up these feminine powwows: Paint the powder room a pure bright red.

"Red is a stimulating color that induces restlessness," he says. "In a small room it can give occupants a feeling of claustrophobia. They'll have an urge to get out."

Kelly has a theory that a few buckets of paint can go a long way in improving office efficiency. He believes color can even be used to cut down on clock-watching.

"The sight of green—tinted flesh makes most people highly uncomfortable," he says. "So all the boss has to do is put a green-tinted picture of himself in the center of the clock."

Kelly has a remedy for stockroom romancing, too. Paint the stockroom dark blue or dark gretn. They inhibit romance. Magenta, on the other hand, has the opposite effect. A stock room painted that color might even bring out the cupid in the boss himself.

What about using colors to make the employer more likable to the hired hands? This can be done too.

"Executives ought to consider their personalities more in planning their own offices," holds Kelly. "If he's an excitable type, cool colors such as light green-blues are what he needs. If he's inclined to be moody, he needs warmer hues, such as orange-yelow, brown or ivory."

What about the boss who, whenever you ask him for a raise, always sees red — and leaves you feeling pretty blue?

Psychology has scored on another front. The police in Oklahoma City have chipped in and wired their headquarters for piped-in music.

It is believed to be the first police station to do this.

Unfortunately for the prisoners, they don't get to call the tune. The rhythms aren't filtered into the cellblock areas.

However, Chief Roy Bergman plans to bring the music into the Traffic Ticket Citation Bureau, so irate motorists can pay their fines to the lilting strains of the latest waltzes.

Onward and upward with the ladies note: Women today are buying one third of all sports equipment in America, as compared with only a tenth nine years ago.

"Women now buy half of all tennis balls and racquets and 65 per cent of the ice skates," said Irving Manges of Chicago,

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

SATISFACTORY VOYAGE

Doubt may be a spiritual disease or it may be the first step in the enriching of one's life to heavenly proportions.

Undergirding the whole of Christian life is belief. Many modern Christians try to make light of belief. They claim that it is not what a man believes that counts but what he is and does—forgetting that everything we do is the result of either a correct or an incorrect belief. Every life is dominated by its philosophy. We may not be conscious of this philosophy but it dominates us none-the-less. Every cell in our bodies may cry out that certain things are of infinite value to us, although we have never put that sentiment into words. But the sentiment expresses itself in appetites, passions, and acts.

There is no such thing among men as perfection of belief. As St. Paul said, "We know in part." Yet all that is necessary for us to know for the salvation of our souls we can know, and most of us do know. What we need to do is to exercise that knowledge.

Belief apart from faith is like a ship without an anchor. Faith without belief is like a ship without a rudder. Sound theology without unselfish purpose is like a beautifully equipped ship without a propeller. Anchor, rudder and propeller are all needed for a satisfactory voyage.

Taxes And Strange Tie-Ups

By ELMER ROESSNER

Taxes, no less than politics, make some of the darndest bed-fellows you can imagine.

Such as Sidney Margolius, a director of Consumers' Union and one of the most prolific writers in the American labor press, and James Stillman Rockefeller, president of the First National City Bank of New York.

The bed, in this case, is the bank's March monthly letter, one of the most perceptive commentaries on current economic conditions.

The letter gives added currency to a new word in business, "taxmanship," a word coined, incidentally, by Mr. Margolius. In fact, it quotes an article by that unreconstructed liberal in Harper's" a year ago entitled, "The Art of Taxmanship or How to Save Money Without Going to Jail." The excerpt:

A NATIONAL PASTIME

"In these days of soaring taxes, the strategy of tax avoidance—or taxmanship—has become a new national pastime, second only to baseball in general interest and to none in excitement because more people can play and all of them play for keeps.

"To provide for the growing enthusiasm for the game, a sizable new industry—tax experting, the science of 'minimizing'—has sprung up with a literature and code all its own. J.K. Lasser's tax guide alone has sold more than 13,000,000 copies in its 18 years as the taxpayer's vade mecum, and this year its sales are running 100 per cent ahead of last.

"There are also seven other annual guides and Commerce Clearing House—one of the big professional tax services which ran its presses on three shifts during 1954—is currently building a huge new plant to keep up with the national hunger for tax tips. There is even a Tax Book Club for deduction aficionados and a monthly magazine, Taxes."

HOW TO TAXMANIZE

In introducing Mr. Margolius's quotes, Mr. Rockefeller's letter said, "Do-it-yourself projects give benefits free of income tax. And there is no tax on the time devoted to filling out the income tax return and studying ways and means of easing the tax burden. 'Taxmanship' is the generic name that has been given to the art of finding items that do not have to be shared with Uncle Sam or that can be subtracted from otherwise taxable income in order to reduce the tax due or to qualify for a refund of tax withheld."

The letter concluded, "The taxmanship movement has a simple foundation. Congress has been remiss in getting tax rates down to tolerable levels. So the enterprising citizen is driven to do it himself.

"Gratifying as it is to observe still another manifestation of the resourcefulness of the American people, there are some less satisfactory aspects to the movement. The income tax rates set the rewards for evasion so high that the basic honesty of the people is sorely tested. Mr. T. Coleman Andrews, Mr. Russell C. Harrington's predecessor as Internal Revenue Commissioner, said on a radio program a month ago that the present progression of personal income tax rates is 'the greatest potential that anyone has ever thought of for making out of us a nation of liars and cheats.'

"It would be well for Congress to give heed to trends that undermine the moral base of our civilization."

Opinions In Brief

South Dakota is a debt free state. In addition, after paying about $10 million in veterans' bonuses it recently was able to reduce taxes.

The Lennox, South Dakota, Independent says, "While the nation and virtually all other states have expanded their public debts, South Dakota has been reducing its obligations. An extra tax, such as the sales tax to pay the bonus, nearly always is retained. But not in South Dakota."

Officials of the other states should "go to school" in South Dakota and learn how this splendid achievement was made possible. (Industrial News Review)

Eisenhower Announcement Rallied GOP

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has scored several major legislative and political victories as a result of his announcement that he will run for a second term, his health permitting. Republicans have rallied around him to present a united front, even though many differed with him on the particular questions involved in Capitol Hill controversies.

The majority in the House for the Upper Colorado River Project was far greater than the Martin-Halleck leadership had expected. Before the count, they figured that it might have a narrow escape because of the California opposition. In their opinion, Ike's affirmative decision meant at least 40 votes for the White House proposal.

UNEXPECTED SUCCESS — Similarly, the Senate turned out a larger majority for the farm bill with Eisenhower-Benson flexible supports than had been anticipated. Until the last minute, such a Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, who led the opposition as Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, thought he had enough votes to repudiate the White House on this major political issue.

Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland had estimated that he would be lucky, if he squeezed through with two or three votes for the bill. Otherwise, the GOP would not have begged the ailing Senator Eugene Millikin of Colorado to show up in a wheel chair.

As evidence of both Parties' concern over this 1956 issue, every Senator turned out for the first time since the supper chamber overrode F.D.R.'s veto of the explosive Bonus Bill.

ALL GOP EGGS IN IKE'S BASKET Several other developments indicate that the GOP is only too happy to place all its political and Presidential eggs in Ike's basket. And Democrats on Capitol Hill seem to feel that shrewd calculator as Senator it is a losing battle to fight the man in the White House. They cannot admit it publicly but their corridor conversations reflects tremendous apathy among Democrats in House and Senate.

There will be no attempt, for instance, to override the President's veto of the natural gas bill for the simple reason that even Republican members, who favor the basic principles of the measure, will not line up against Ike. The attempted use of oil money for the measure gives them a reasonable excuse for inaction, as it provided the basis for White House disapproval.

HIGHLY TECHNICAL SUBJECT Although the Senate has approved Senator Stuart Symington's demand for an investigation of our alleged inferiority to Russia in heavy and far-ranging bombers and in ballistic missiles, nobody is too excited about the Missourian's charges.

In the first place, it is a highly technical subject and a confused problem because of our admitted ignorance of the Soviet's strength in this field. Secondly, such is the popular and Congressional trust in President Eisenhower's military background and experience that few think him willing to let our defenses lag.

IF PRESIDENT HAD REFUSED TO RUN AGAIN This situation at the eastern end of Pennsylvania Avenue shows what a horrible fix the GOP would have been in, if Eisenhower had refused to run again, and had so stated publicly.

Instead of the calm and confidence on Capitol Hill and within the Republican organization generally, there would now be a running and bitter warfare on the Congressional front.

Despite Ike's warning to the contrary, the GOP look upon him as the Democrats regarded F.D.R. He is the "indispensable man."

Saxton Jabs Out Upset Over Basilio To Regain Crown

Hue And Cry For Rematch Sounds From All Sides

CHICAGO (AP) — Cruel-jabbing Johnny Saxton again held the world welterweight title today, but a hue and cry thundered for a rematch with dethroned and hopping mad Carmen Basilio. It may come in June.

Saxton won a unanimous 15-round decision over Basilio in a nationally televised scrap at the Chicago Stadium last night which left most of 11,373 paid patrons and a host of video fans hollering that Carmen was short-changed.

Basilio bleated that the title was "stole" from him.

The International Boxing Club said no rematch had been contracted, but admitted that one now was "definitely possible."

Seldom has a title match here stirred so much controversy, although there was no doubt in the minds of the three officials that the busy, ever-moving Saxton had won.

Basilio snarled that the deck is stacked against him in Chicago after three defeats in as many starts here.

The referee, Frank Gilmer, called it for Saxton 144-142, while Judge Ed Hintz voted for Johnny 145-138 and Judge James McManus, 147-140. The AP had Saxton ahead 145-142.

On the other hand, a ringside poll showed a 13-7 preference for Basilio among the experts covering the fight. Basilio's majority came entirely from Eastern writers, while Saxton's backing was all Mid-western.

Unquestionably, Basilio forced the pace but the sledgehammer attack that won him the 148-pound crown from Tony DeMarco last June 10 and flattened DeMarco again in a Nov. 30 rematch was missing.

"They don't score double hooks here," growled Basilio.

On the other hand, Saxton was an effective, if retreating sharpshooter. Using a stiff left jab with authority all the way, he smashed a nick over Basilio's right eye and had the champ's nose bleeding in the fourth.

Basilio's left eye was almost swollen shut by the 15th round after which Saxton walked to his corner, disdainful of Basilio's effort to slap his back and apparently knowing he had recaptured the 147-pound title.

"I won the fight," protested Basilio. "Hold and run, hold and run, that's all he did."

Saxton first won the welter crown with an equally-disputed 15-round decision over then champion Kid Gavilan at Philadelphia Oct. 20, 1954. He lost it in his first defense to DeMarco on a 14th-round TKo at Boston last April 1.

The principals split 30-30 on a net gate of $83,008 and radio-tv receipts of $60,000.

Saxton weighed 146 3-4 against 146 for Basilio.

Amateur Athletics Policies At Stake

NEW YORK (AP) — The fourth round of the legal skirmish between Lieut. Wes Santee of the Marines and the Amateur Athletic Union comes up in the New York State Supreme Court today with the whole structure of amateur athletics in this country hinging on the outcome.

The Kansas miler, considered America's No. 1 hope for the 1500-meter title in this year's Olympic games at Melbourne, seeks a permanent writ against the enforcement of the lifetime suspension handed him by the AAU.

The 23-year-old runner was suspended Feb. 19 for having received excessive expenses for a number of meets in which he competed last year. Twice he has succeeded in obtaining temporary stays in the Supreme Court. And in an appellate division hearing he managed to block an AAU move to vacate the injunction.

As the result of the temporary injunctions, Santee ran in the Knights of Columbus meet in New York March 3 and again last Saturday in the Milwaukee Journal Games, although his scheduled opponents shied away from facing him for fear of jeopardizing their Olympic eligibility. Santee said he plans to run at Cleveland Friday night and in Chicago March 24 if the result of today's trial is favorable to him.

Charles P. Grimes, Santee's attorney, said Santee is ready to testify and that he'll petition for a permanent injunction against the ban that would eliminate Wes as a candidate for the U.S. Olympic team.

The AAU contends Santee's action is a "challenge to the integrity of the United States in amateur sports and would severely damage the U.S. before all the nations of the world at the Olympic Games."

Podres Receives Induction Order

NEW YORK (AP)—With the quickness of reflex action, World Series hero Johnny Podres has been ordered to report for military service next Monday in a selective service move within 24 hours of a blast at draft boards by Ted Williams.

The induction order was released yesterday, taking Podres, who southpawed the Brooklyn Dodgers to the world championship last fall, by surprise.

"I guess this is it," he said at the Brooks' Vero Beach, Fla., training camp. "I'll fly home (Witherbee, N.Y.) and spend a few days with my family before I go.

"I thought I had at least 30 days."

Podres originally had been ordered to report for induction today by his Ticonderoga, N.Y., draft board. But it was expected he would receive a month's grace when he obtained a transfer to a New York City board.

Tuesday, Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger who twice served as a Marine pilot, swung from the heels, declaring Podres was called up because "he got famous by beating the Yankees in the World Series."

Williams blamed Podres' call on "gutless politicians, gutless draft boards and gutless sportswriters."

Podres, 23, had been classified 4-F because of a bad back. He was reclassified 1-A Dec. 27, but may yet be rejected when he takes his induction physical.

Col. William H. Boughton, New York state selective service director, said, "As far as I know, Podres was processed in accordance with selective service regulations and law."

Phog Allen Not Ready To Retire

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, 70, University of Kansas basketball coach 39 years, confided yesterday he would like to put off retirement until next season, saying "such continuation is not without precedent."

He pointed out that he wants to stay on as coach only. Allen explained, "I have not, nor do I now request or expect, any special consideration as to my mandatory retirement as a professor."

Under present law, Allen could be exempted from mandatory retirement provisions as a professor only by special legislative enactment.

Allen told a press conference that he expects "a truly great team" next season.

"It would be the thrill of my life to end a long coaching career with a truly great team," Allen said.

This season's Kansas team wound up fourth in the Big Seven Conference with a 6-6 record. Its overall record was 14-9. As Allen put it, "This season was very disappointing."

But the presence of Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, 7-foot center from Philadelphia, and several other outstanding varsity prospects from this year's freshman holds "unparallelled" promise, he predicted.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U.S. figure skating championships took on major scope today as graceful Tenley Albright began her defense of the senior ladies' singles crown in school figures.

Her chief opposition to a fifth straight title was pretty, 16-year-old Carol Heiss, the New York girl who upset Miss Albright for the world title in Germany this winter.

Miss Albright, 20, of Boston, had defeated Miss Heiss for the Olympics title just a short time before the world matches. The scoring was close in each case.

Hayes Alan Jenkins, Colorado Springs, Colo., Olympic and worlds titleholder, begins his defense of the U.S. senior men's singles title in the school figures tomorrow. Jenkins' greatest rivals are Ronnie Robertson, Paramount, Calif.; and younger brother David Jenkins, who finished 2-3 to win in the Olympics and world competition.

The champion, entering Harvard law school in September, says he will retire from competition when he doffs his skates Saturday.

NEW GRAND SLAMMERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Of the 30 grand slam home runs hit in the National League during 1955, 11 were belted by players for the first time in their careers. They were: Ernie Banks, Gene Baker, Don Zimmer, Bob Thurman, Smoky Burgess, Del Crandall, Johnny Logan, Willie Mays, Stan Lopata, George Freese and Gene Freese.

North-South Qualifiers At Pinehurst Begin Match Play

By KEN ALYTA

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Having fought the No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club with scant success yesterday, the 32 championship qualifiers turned to personal combat today as match play began in the 54th North and South Women's Amateur golf tournament.

Only two of the 65 qualifying round participants were able to master women's par of 37-37—74 for the 6,000-yard layout.

Barbara McIntire, 21-year-old Rollins College sophomore from Toledo, Ohio, staged one of the greatest finishes the old course has ever seen in taking the medal by a stroke with a 38-34—72, two under par.

Barbara, playing in her fourth North and South birdied four of the last seven holes to shade Canadian champion Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ontario, by one shot.

Marlene, a Rollins senior who was 22 last week, had posted a 35-38—73, only to have Barbara come home 10 minutes later with the winning score. The last three holes told the story. Barbara played them in 4, 3 and 4, one under par, against 6, 4 and 6 for Marlene who was five under leaving the 16th tee.

Barbara's feat was remarkable in view of the wind that swept the course after morning showers and fog gave way to a bright sun.

Today she faced Carolinas champion Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C. Marge who qualified with 83, 11 shots higher than Barbara, could be troublesome. She was medalist in two winter circuit tournaments. A couple of years ago she was Southern amateur runner-up.

That was the top match of the upper half of the draw. The winner will play tomorrow against the victor in the match between Betty Long, Roxboro, N.C., and Jane Nelson of Indianapolis, last year's national amateur runnerup.

Still in the upper half, Polly Riley, the little Fort Worth, Texas, veteran and Curtis Cup team player faced a worthy foe in Mary Patton Janssen, Charlottesville, Va. Polly, in her first North and South, was third qualifier at 75.

Miss Stewart headed the lower half, meeting Sally Carroll, a Wheeling, W.Va., youngster who came home with 84 in the medal round.

The lower half also included such strong players as the defending champion, Margaret (Wiffi) Smith of St. Clair, Mich.; Barbara Romack former national amateur champion from Sacramento, Calif. Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, all Curtis Cup team members, and Joanne Goodwin, Pymouth, Mass.

Miss Smith, a 77 qualifier, met Mrs. Maurice Glick, clever Baltimore veteran; Miss Romack engaged Mrs. Frank Cush of Washington, D.C.; Miss Downey played Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Philadelphia and Miss Goodwin took on Ann Rutherford of Carlisle Pa.

Ayden Baseballers Hard Hit By Graduation Loss

Ayden's defending Coastal Conference baseball team began its drills late last week, and Coach Stuart Tripp stated today that "Because of the weather, we haven't had a chance to really accomplish much."

The Tornadoes, who swept to the league championship with an 8-2 record last season, were hit hard by graduation. "We lost five of our best boys," Tripp commented, "and only four lettermen will be back." A large turnout of newcomers has given the coach some hint of enthusiasm, however.

"Our pitchers will be with us again," Tripp continued. "We'll have Lindy Dunn and Tommy Edwards alternating on the mound and at the shortstop position." Catcher Ike Baldree and rightfielder Latham Dennis are the other two veterans.

Of the 25 boys who showed up for the squad's early drills, many have shown promise, according to the mentor. "Dan Bateman, a sophomore, has looked good and seems to be one of our best new boys." The team is a young one, indicating a bright future for the Ayden club. "Only two of our entire team are seniors," Tripp said. "Latham and first baseman Glenn Bowen will be playing their final season."

Contentnea First

Drills thus far, have been limited because of cold and damp weather, and Coach Tripp was unable to predict much about his present crop of baseballers. The four days of actual outdoor practice that have taken place, have been filled with fundamental exercises such as batting fielding and elementary trials.

"Our first scheduled contest will be a conference game with Contentnea on March 28," the Tornado instructor said. "We have a lot of work to do before that date."

He concluded with this statement: "We should have a fairly good defensive club, but we don't know much yet about our hitting. We lost most of our top batters last year.

Bragan Pushing Mound Staff

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) —Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates continued to intensify his work with pitchers today.

The hurling, thus far, has been anything but up to Bragan's expectations. In the past two days, 18 runs have been scored on the Pirates and they now own a 2-3 exhibition record.

In yesterday's 8-5 loss to the New York Yankees' "B" team, Pirate pitcher Bob Friend, who led the National League in earned runs last season, gave up four runs and seven hits in five innings.

Greenberg Plans Use Stopclock To Speed Game

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Hank Greenberg came up with another gimmick today in an effort to speed up baseball games.

The general manager of the Cleveland Indians said he would use the football stopclock on the center field score board at Municipal Stadium in Cleveland to "time" the pitchers.

A pitcher must make his delivery within 20 seconds after he steps on the rubber if the bases are empty, according to the baseball rules.

"The purpose of the stopclock will be to make pitchers conscious of the time they consume," Greenberg said. "Spectators will be able to determine, too, when a pitcher takes more than the required time."

Earlier in the week, Greenberg disclosed plans to put $100 in a players' kitty every time the Tribe wins a game in less than two hours.

Youngster Sets New AAU Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank Brunnell 16 - year - old Frankford High School swimming star, set a new national AAU record for a 20-yard pool last night in the 100-yard butterfly.

Brunnell, holder of two national interscholastic records, swam the distance in 58.4 seconds to eclipse the national mark of 58.5 set in June, 1954, by Phil Drake of the Chapel Hill, N.C., Swim Club at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Dr. Cary Warms Up At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Cary Middlecoff is becoming, at 35, one of the old men of golf. But "Old Doc" still figured as the man to beat in the $12,500 St. Petersburg Open which started today.

The former Memphis dentist, now using Dallas as his golfing address, warmed up for defense of his title with several fine rounds. He never went above 68 and had one 64 over the 6,489-yard Lakewood Country Club course, where par is 72.

Jack Burke Jr. and Jimmy Demaret, both registering out of Kimesha Lake, N.Y., were among top threats to Middlecoff's bid for a repeat victory. Both are two-time winners here. Burke set the Lakewood course record with 266 in 1952. That was 22 under par. Demaret has been scoring better this winter than in a long time, winning the Thunderbird and finishing second to Shelley Mayfield at Baton Rouge.

The field also includes Pete Cooper, who won here in 1949; U.S. Open winners Jack Fleck and Ed Furgol; Ted Kroll, only pro other than Middlecoff who has won two tournaments this winter; and such tour regulars as Doug Ford, Bo Wininger, Chick Harbert, Al Besselink, Bob Toski, Don Fairfiell, Dow Finsterwald, Frank Stanahan and George Bayer. Mike Souchak was a last minute withdrawal.

Second Homer By Fielder Bruton

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Billy Bruton, speedy Braves center fielder, smacked his second home run of the spring season and raised his average to .333 yesterday as Milwaukee beat Kansas City, 5-2.

"This time I'm finally starting to come around. I've been meeting the ball better and getting more wood on it," Bruton explained. He finished last season with a .275 average.

Ashburn Hitting In Every Game

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Richie Ashburn, the National League batting champion, has gone to the plate for the Philadelphia Phillies this year in his same old style.

Ashburn, one of eight players with the Phillies continuously since their 1950 pennant year, has knocked out a hit in all five Phillies' Grapefruit League games this spring.

The Hard Way . . . . . by Pap'

More than any other major league sport, big time basketball is dominated by college-trained athletes. Rarely indeed, does one find a player in the National Basketball Assn. who has not been developed in the collegiate ranks. Joe Graboski, of the Philadelphia Warriors, is an exception. Connie Simmons is another. But that's about all that comes to mind readily.

Graboski stepped into pro basketball immediately after graduating from Tuley high school in Chicago at the age of eighteen. For three years, "Grabbo" played professional basketball, two with the old Chicago Stags and one year with Kansas City and Louisville of the now defunct National Professional Basketball League. With little more than size to recommend him, he was only a fair player until he joined the Indianapolis Olympians and came under the influence of Coach Herm Schaefer.

Schaefer realized that Graboski had a great potential and set out to develop the six-foot-eight youngster. It was Schaefer who taught Joe the tricks of the trade and moulded him into one of the star performers in the NBA. He did the job so well that Graboski quickly blossomed out as the big man of the Olympians, leading his teammates in scoring and doing a magnificent job of rebounding.

When the Olympians were disbanded, Graboski was picked up by the Warriors and quickly became a standout with the star-studded Philadelphia team. Joe's rugged rebounding and sharp shooting have helped the Warriors dominate the Eastern division of the NBA this year.

Phants Gird For Test Against Rocky Mount

With the exhibition contest against Rocky Mount nearing, Greenville high school's baseball team is preparing with physical exercise and strategy. Coach Boley Farley has formed an unofficial squad that may well be the one that meets the Black Birds, on March 21.

Farley's infield, reportedly stronger this season than it has been in many years, is composed of four veterans. Mike Riddick is the choice at the first base position, while brother Ike has secured the shortstop post. Second base seems to be the property of letterman Tommy Key Norris and Walker Lee Allen is the current third sacker.

Angus Duff, a junior with experience and plate power, holds down the catching spot. The rest of the battery is promising, though only one pitcher has returned from last year's squad. Righthander Hudson Miller is the only hurler on the team who has tried his stuff against high school competition, however, Farley is depending on several newcomers such as Charles Staton and Murrell Bynum. Charles Rumley, who lettered as an infielder last season, will also join the pitching ranks during the coming campaign.

The Phantom outfield has found many eager candidates for starting positions, but, thus far, the veterans have the upper hand. Leftfield is being occupied at present by Donald "Dynamite" Patrick; Joe Wingate has displayed fine play at centerfield, and Charles Smith is the leftfielder.

Drills at the Greenie camp have been mainly of a fundamental nature during the early weeks of practice. Coach Farley has had his boys work on getting in good physical shape for an expected tough season. As always during the initial weeks, the lineup is not definitely set and probably won't be until the first contest takes place.

Runnels Clinches Outfield Position

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Manager Chuck Dressen says Pete Runnels has clinchtd a spot in the Washington Senators outfield.

Runnels, a second baseman last season, was in left field yesterday as the Senators defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 10-6. He got one hit in three trips, and scored two runs.

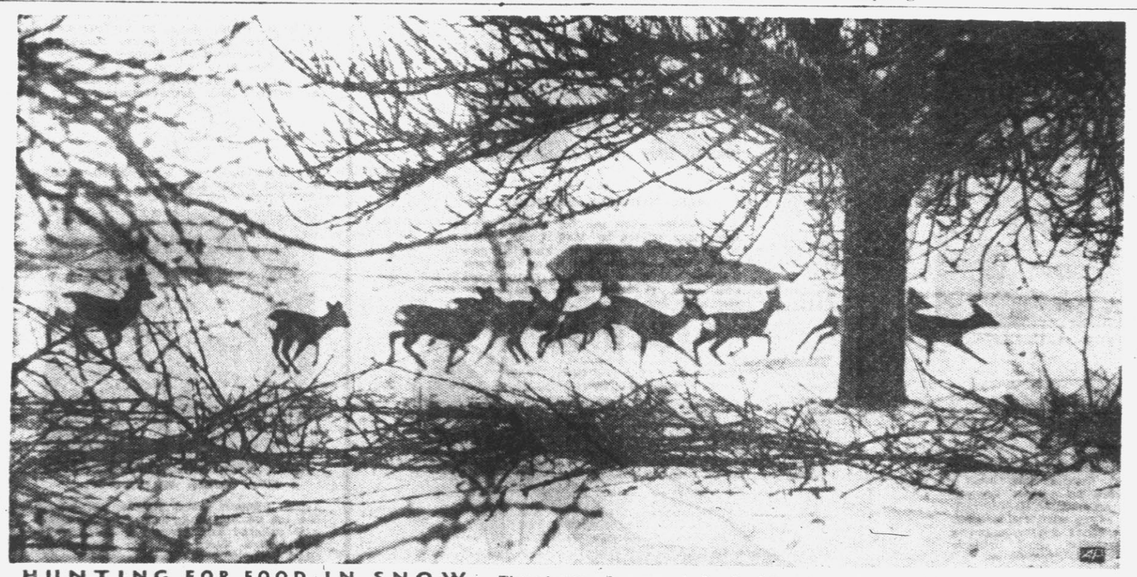

CUBS TRY COLLEGE STAR

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Eaddy, third baseman getting a trial with the Cubs this spring, is a former University of Michigan star athlete. He was selected for the All-Conference diamond squad four years in a row and made the All-Conference basketball team his senior year. After graduating last June he played for Burlington in the 3-I League, batting .304 in 32 games.

Grifton Sophomore Group Gives Party

By DAWN SMITH
Grifton High School

Friday night a big party was given at the high school gym by several members of the sophomore class. The attending group of about 85 were members of Grifton, Ayden, Contentnea and Winterville high schools.

Dancing was enjoyed by everyone throughout the evening. Music was provided by record player and the latest popular recordings.

Refreshments of punch, mints, potato chips and cheese crackers were served to the group.

Chaperones were Mrs. Robert Mewborne, Mrs. George Suggs, Mrs. Tom Gower and Mrs. Johnnie Smith.

Elizabeth Lawton had as her overnight guest Friday, Esther Hill Coward.

Frances Davis, Wilma Patrick and Sallie Mewborn were guests of Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Coffman and children for the weekend in Durham.

The other morning when I walked into the library, I thought we had a new girl in GHS—I looked again and it was really Lynda Koon, who has a new "kat" hair-do.

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Denver Sasser, Marguerite Medborne, Frances Davis, Elizabeth Lawton, and Wilma Patrick went on a bicycle excursion. They visited Phyllis Dudley who has been very ill. Fortunately Phyllis is back at school now, feeling much better.

Monday morning a pair of worthy students from GHS were chosen "Citizens of the Month." They were Floyd Smith, who is a junior and Martha Hart, a freshman. Congratulations to both of you!

The senior class has begun their "source theme." They are at present studying the writing procedure of the theme and are deciding what their individual topics will be.

Marguerite Mewborne, Lou Raye Mewborne and Butch Sullivan of Greenville were Kinston visitors Sunday. Butch visited relatives here over the weekend.

Saturday night Dawn Smith entertained at a birthday dance at the St. Johns Church clubhouse.

DAWN

The clubhouse was decorated with red and white crepe paper and blue lights. Flower arrangements of red quince and yellow daffodils put the finishing touches to the refreshment table and piano. Music was provided for by way of record player and latest slow, swing and bop recordings by famous artists.

The party began at 7:30 with the group dancing. Later the entire group did some novelty marching and dancing together. After more dancing, refreshments were served.

Later gifts were opened.

Those attending from communities other than Grifton were Ayden: Carol Faye Harper, Pattie McKay, Lindy Dunn, Bobby Johnson, Ham Lang, Joyce Jollie, Jim Simons, Mack Allen, Bobby Burney, Sonny Smith, Lorenzo Allen and Delano Wilson. Greenville: Jerry Ballard, James Earl Coward and Butch Sullivan. Winterville: Peggy Craft.

The chaperones were Mrs. J. Haywood, Mrs. Robert Mewborne, Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. W. L. Johnson.

The senior class has selected their play, a three act comedy, "Bolts and Nuts." Practice will begin in the very near future.

Registration for children who expect to enter Grifton school next fall was held Friday morning at 9 a.m. in the assembly room.

After immediate registration by the parents, Principal Bright welcomed the group.

Mrs. Nobles, Pitt County nurse, gave a few pointers on necessary food for growing youngsters. A film concerning children was shown to those attending.

Miss Annie Lee Jones, supervisor for Pitt County schools, gave a short talk.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments of orange juice and cookies were served by Mrs. Don Casey and members of her home economics class.

The seventh grade of Grifton High school journeyed to historical Virginia recently. The group of 30 students were accompanied by Mrs. June Carson of the school faculty, Mrs. Charles Butcher, Mrs. Lester Garris, Mrs. Richard Nelson and Mrs. Peggy Carson.

The group left Grifton about 6:15 a.m. and made its first stop at the Mariner's Museum in Norfolk. From there they went to Jamestown, where they viewed the ruins of the old buildings and grounds.

They went to Williamsburg, where they saw the old stockades, the royal palace and other colonial sites.

Yorktown was the next on the list. There they saw the monument which was erected in commemoration of the Battle of Yorktown.

The group returned to Grifton about midnight. Principal E. B. Bright was on hand to greet them on their return.

Revival Preacher

Reverend Henry C. Ruark, pastor of the Laurinburg Methodist Church, will be the preacher conducting the weeks revival services to be held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church each evening at eight P. M. starting Sunday night March 3. Reverend Ruark is a Duke University graduate and did his graduate work at Yale Divinity School.

Prior to being in Laurinburg Reverend Ruark held pastorate in the Methodist Churches at Tarboro, Red Springs, Weldon, and Chapel Hill. In making the annoucement Reverend W. M. Howard, pastor of Jarvis Memorial, stated that the revival preacher is quite well known for his clear and forceful preaching.

Congregational singing will be a feature of the revival with Reverend Robert W. McKenzie, associate pastor of Jarvis Memorial, leading the singing.

Children Regard It As Reasonable

GRANTS, N. M. (AP)—Fifth grade students here see no reason why the first atomic-powered cruiser shouldn't be named the USS Grants.

They built and sent to the Navy Dept. a model of a cruiser—along with 10 pages of reasons why it should be given the uranium town's name. The model was mounted on a chunk of uranium ore.

The youngsters were turned down on an earlier request that an atomic submarine be given the name. The Navy said submarines were named for deep sea fish.

"Grants supplied the uranium," said the kids. The town is on the edge of the uranium-loaded Colorado Plateau.

Red Cross Funds Drive In Pitt Begins To Roll

The Pitt County Red Cross chapter reports the 1956 fund drive getting under way in many sections of the county, with results not yet complete in a few divisions which began their solicitation early.

Chairman Dan R. Saieed announced that 14 team captains had been named to conduct the solicitation in the downtown business district of Greenville, but no reports have indicated the extent of the completion of the drive which began in this division March 7.

Names of the workers who are captains of the business district division announced by Chairman Saieed are: Robert Russ, Herbert Lee, Sidney Carraway, James C. Lanier, Jr., Roy Hardee, Henry Bell, John Ray Hardy, J. B. Jackson, Troy Riddle, Frank Diener, Jr., Clarence Johnson, Phil Moore, Nick Simonowich, and C. E. Williams.

"The final success of the campaign will hinge on securing more contributions and larger contributions from more people in the chapter's territory," one chapter official was quoted as saying.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, chapter chairman, pointed to recent newspaper headlines on major disasters that underscored increased Red Cross needs:

In Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia, the Red Cross was helping victims of mid-week tornadoes;

Flood victims in Pennsylvania and New York turned to the Red Cross for disaster relief;

Rehabilitation work continued on the West Coast in a grim follow-up to Christmas floods;

More help was needed in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee after mid-February tornadoes.

Dr. Jenkins said 1955 was the worst disaster year in Red Cross history. More than 27½ million dollars already has been spent and the fiscal year is not yet over.

"Funds to do this job for our neighbors come from the American people through the Red Cross," he said, "and these funds are almost exhausted. We cannot 'take for granted' that this disaster relief service, or any other Red Cross service that we have come to expect, will just go on."

"We are counting on the fine people of this community to do their part to be sure the funds will be raised."

Predicts Moon Trip In 10 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There may be a real man in the moon within 10 years, says a noted astrophysicist.

Space travel to the moon on free fuel is possible, in the opinion of Dr. Fritz Zwicky, if 10 million dollars is made available for research and for construction of a rocket ship.

The California Institute of Technology professor told a news conference yesterday that such a ship could travel indefinitely on power collected as it rushes along far above the earth.

Fragments of molecules could be scooped up by the ship while speeding through space, Dr. Zwicky said. These fragments could be held inert by extreme cold and then heated to release tremendous energy.

King Kong Again Will Thrill Kids

NEW YORK (AP)—The other night I tuned in the TV set and there was my old pal King Kong, he of the flaming eyes and monstrous apelike breed. It gave me quite a turn.

There was a somewhat younger Bruce Cabot running around in puttees, and my old flame, Fay Wray, whom Kong coveted. I stuck right with it to that climactic scene, you remember, where Kong climbs the Empire State Building and those old World War I biplane Curtiss Hawks come slanting with that ah-ah-ah-ack of machine guns

It all took me back to 1933 before Hollywood ever had heard of television and "King Kong" stalked the neighborhood movie houses, fascinating or horrifying us adolescents according to our natures. Personally I caught it at a movie house known as the Royal on a dark and rainy Saturday night—ALONE.

Cursed by either cowardice or an overly active imagination, I made my way uneasily home through silent, rain-swept streets. The folks were out. I turned on a lot of lights and the radio and I was pretty brave for a while there until I heard the car in the driveway. Then I was ashamed of myself—and haven't mentioned it till now.

To be honest about it, I didn't just happen to tune the set to "King Kong." I heard people talking about it. The grassroots comment I heard on the reshowing of the old movie took two turns.

First, many oldsters were interested that youngsters who weren't alive to see Kong in his original movie tour are just as excited by him as the oldsters were when THEY were young. It was quite heart-warming to some to find that kids are still kids after all—despite the warped notions of some adults that they're an entirely different breed these days.

I also heard one or two adults express the view that "King Kong" just ain't fittin' fun for young 'uns.

At first I was inclined to agree with him. And then I remembered my own experience with Kong and thought what a sanctimonious attitude to strike in my old age. True, Kong had frightened me. But not enough to send me into a decline or ever put me in the hands of a psychiatrist.

In a way an old movie like 'King Kong" probably does more good than harm. It gives us oldsters the pleasure of that old nostalgia. And it gives youngsters the pleasure of something brand new.

Building Halted By Nesting Bird

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An expectant mother killdeer, a species of the American plover, has fouled up construction in a 45-home tract.

For three weeks she has been guarding four eggs in the nest she fashioned of concrete scraps on the lot where one of the houses is supposed to go.

Lloyd Palmer, assistant superintendent, has bypassed this section of the tract, waiting for the bird to hatch her eggs, and has built all around it. Ma Kildeer shows no indication of leaving for some time.

"We've got to get going," Palmer said. "Maybe we can turn the nest over to poultry people for

Kefauver Raps Minnesota DFL

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) lashed out last night at Minnesota's Democratic-Farmer-Labor party for its endorsement of Adlai Stevenson in the state's presidential primary Tuerday.

"Outside of those in Minnesota, I've done more for the DFL cause than anyone else," Kefauver told an audience of about 700 here. "I came to Minnesota in 1952 on behalf of the DFL candidates.

"But when they gathered and selected the other candidate (Stevenson), I wasn't given a hearing or an invitation."

It was the first time he had assailed the DFL in his campaign swing through Minnesota. It was believed inspired by the fact that Ray Hemenway, state DFL chairman, Tuesday ruled against a joint appearance by Kefauver and Stevenson at a celebration in Moorhead Saturday afternoon.

Hemenway said it would give the "impression that they are debating one another," whereas, he added, regardless of the primary outcome, both "are working for a Democratic victory in November."

Kefauver said, "Those who want to keep me out are not thinking in terms of the welfare of the people . . . . What kind of government would we have if only one candidate was selected for the people to vote on?"

In an earlier talk at Brainerd, Kefauver told about 100 that he thought heads of government agriculture agencies should believe in the farmers and not be "people like secretary of Agriculture Benson, who apparently is serving Wall Street bankers." The remark after he had spoken of Benson's raising interest rates on farm loans.

Story Book Ball At GHS Friday Night

By ROSEMARY EAGLES
Greenville High School

Beautiful dolls in billowing evening gowns and handsome guys in tinner jackets will make grand appearance at The Story Book Ball Friday night, March 16.

The sophomore class has changed the name of the dance (it was formerly called The Coronation Ball) but everyone is excited over the big event.

Alvin Chessom and "The Dreamers" from East Carolina College will play for the dance. The sophomores have such entertainers as Ann Peaden and her ukelale and Jeannette Moye lined up for the floor show.

ROSEMARY

The crowning of Becky Basnight and Pete West as Mr. and Miss Newsprint and a hypnosis act by Gus Manos of East Carolina College highlighted the Newsprint Prom Friday night. Sarah Ewell and Jack Stokes were runners-up in the contest.

The floor show opened with Sylvia Satterthwaite, co-editor of GREEN LIGHTS, spotlighting the presidents and leaders of all high school organizations. Ronita Respess, also co-editor, introduced Gus who used Ruth Young, a GHS sophomore, and Gene Lusk, an ECC freshman, as subjects.

The prom was actually a fashion show. Margaret Moye looked especially stylish in a scooped neck princess dress of black lace over pink.

Frances Moseley and Frances Clark were dressed alike in full navy blue dresses with large white polka dots. Susie Pope appeared in a fashionable black velvet sheath.

The Senior High Fellowship Council of the First Presbyterian Church went to their campsite on Bogue Sound for the weekend. Jesse Powell, Mary Ann Bryant, Wesley Topping, Dot Davis, Pat Beatty, Teddy Fountain, Ronald Rosevere, Margaret Moye, and Sylvia Satterthwaite and their advisers made program plans as well as had fun.

Gene Davenport, Joanne Eagles, Betty Derrick, Joanne Parks, Iona Jones, and Naomi Gibbs attended Queen's Court at Campbell College over the weekend. They were among 300 members of the Baptist Girl's Auxiliary who had passed off their requirements for queen in their "forward steps." The girls attended a banquet Saturday night.

Ann Hamric, Charles Hollingsworth, Lois Ann Webb, and Dick Berryman took off for Atlantic Beach Sunday. They spent the afternoon getting a good sun tan for the Ball.

Both girls said, "It certainly seemed good being down there again."

Barbara Conway, Mickie Sumrell, and Annette Dunn were also Atlantic Beach visitors Sunday. The girls had fun just walking down the beach and going down to Fort Macon.

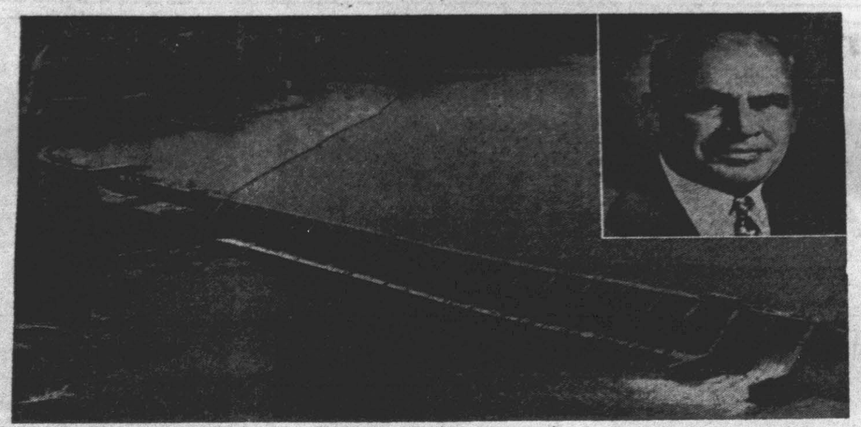

Gayle Clapp headed for Raleigh early Sunday afternoon. She saw her sister Carolyn who is teaching school there. Then Gayle visited Nan Howard, a former GHS student who is a senior at Needham Broughton High.

They enjoyed catching up on old news and discussing the forecoming Junior-Senior dances and the Azalea Festival houseparties at Wrightsville Beach.

Tuesday morning, March 13, Frances Smith, Beth Murray, Nancy Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Goodman boarded a train in Rocky Mount bound for New York City. The girls, all members of Mrs. Goodman's journalism class, will attend sessions of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University this week. They also plan to see several Broadway plays and tour parts of the big city.

Sally Beard packed her bags and headed for Winston-Salem the weekend of March 2 to visit her grandmother. While there she visited several friends at Salem College and toured the new Wake Forest College. Sally plans to enter Wake Forest next fall. Saturday Sally and her father went to Johnston City, Tenn.

Last Friday night Ann Rooke, Patsy Flanagan, Dorning Jenkins and Kathryn Johnson attended the Anniversary Ball at ECC.

Czech Reds Are Pushing Attack Against Religion

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Communist rulers of Czechoslovakia have stepped up their attacks against religion, according to Czech newspapers and the reports of refugees reaching Vienna. The prime target is the Roman Catholic Church.

The latest drive concentrates on pressuring members of the Czech armed forces who still belong to churches to drop their membership and quit attending services.

At the same time the government and press are waging intensified campaigns against juvenile delinquency—including teenage drunkenness and prostitution. But they are not asking the churches to help.

Denouncing religion and church attendance, the Czechoslovak youth paper Mlada Fronta declared that "religion soon will be legally ended as something that is superfluous and detrimental to our thinking."

The Ostrava newspaper Nova Svoboda said, "Atheistic propaganda must be carried out consistently and systematically on the largest possible scale." It called on all teachers, cultural and political workers to join the drive to explain the "harmful character" of religion.

Recent refugees interviewed by Westerners say Catholic soldiers are commanded to attend lectures attacking their church and to pledge to drop their membership.

At the same time there are renewed reports of secret arrests of more priests in Czechoslovakia. Many are reported sent to labor camps.

The growing problem of juvenile delinquency is attacked by numerous Czechoslovak papers, including the Communist party organ Rude Pravo and the trade unions paper Prace.

"It is a sad and tragic picture," said Prace, relating conditions in Prague, the capital.

Prague police are waging a stiff campaign against prostitution and venereal disease, Prace adds, and prostitutes are punished with fines.

"But what is a fine to prostitutes? They laugh about it," complains Prace. "And what is being done about youth from the provinces who wander about Prague? When asked what they want in the capital they refuse to answer. They subsist on the leavings in snack bars and they sleep in the railway stations."

Conveyor Belt Is Proposed City

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A series of conveyor belts carrying six - passenger cars some 15 feet above street level is proposed as a solution to this city's downtown congestion. A move belt would carry cars at 15 miles an hour between stations and would slow to 1½ miles an hour at each station, where passengers could alight on a sidewalk moving at the same speed. Cars would leave a station every three seconds, moving as many as 14,000 persons an hour, say proposer's of the idea.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

Edmund Snead, Negro, of 602 Allen Alley, was found guilty of breaking, entering and larceny in police court here yesterday and sentenced to 12 months on the roads.

Perry Barrett, Negro, of Bonner's Lane, paid costs on charges of no operator's license and following too close. The judgment provided also that he not drive for six months unless he makes restitution for damage done in an accident.

Ruby S. Hammon, of 1114 Chestnut Street, failed to appear for trial on a charge of no operator's license. An instanter capias was issued for her arrest.

John T. Davis, of Route 5, was found not guilty of careless and reckless driving. George L. Bell, of Charlotte, paid five dollars for failing to stop at a stop sign.

T. M. Joyner, of 412 Arbor Street was sentenced to six months, suspended on payment of costs. He was found guilty of assault. The judgment provides also that he is not to visit the residence nor the place of his wife's employment.

Perry King, of 613 Dickinson Avenue, was found not guilty of being drunk. Don Melton, of 1208 E. Third Street, paid costs for failure to yield the right of way.

Ben Woten, Negro, of 1305 Mill Street, was found guilty of hit and run, no operator's license and fictitious receipt. He was sentenced to six months, suspended on payment of a five dollar medical bill and $50, costs deducted. He is not to drive for 30 days.

Levi Green, Negro, of Allen Alley, was sentenced to 30 days, suspended on payment of $30, costs deducted. He was found guilty of public drunkenness.

Russell Whitfield, of 523 Greene Street, was sentenced to 30 days, suspended on payment of costs. He was found guilty of assault. The judgment provides also that he remain of good behavior for two years.

Twenty Mishaps Investigated By SHP In Month

Twenty accidents which resulted in four injuries were investigated by Pitt County Highway Patrolmen last month.

No one was killed.

Damage stemming from these accidents was estimated at $5,545. Citations also were issued in 446 instances last month by county patrolmen.

By comparison, February, 1955, saw 27 accidents occurring on rural Pitt Highways with nine persons being injured. No fatalities were reported.

Only 180 arrests were made that month.

SAID IN ARREARS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bandleader Ray Anthony's ex-wife Bee Keating has made a demand for $4,700 against him, claiming he is in arrears on support payments under a settlement they reached Jan. 10, 1955. Anthony is now married to film actress Mamie Van Doren.

Business Signs Show Confidence Going Up Again

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business confidence has caught its second breath. This showed up first in the stock market. Prices of some leading shares have climbed, boosting the averages to new peaks.

Now industrial leaders, who tended a little to the cautious side a month ago, are talking big again about sales hopes for the rest of the year. And they are expanding their earlier notions of how much building to do for the future.

Construction contracts let so far this year are running far ahead of those in the same month a year ago. The actual building will be done some months hence.

F. W. Dodge Corp., building statisticians, report nonresidential building contracts 17 per cent ahead of last year, with public works contracts ahead by 64 per cent and public utility contracts up 84 per cent.

The Dodge economist, Dr. George Cline Smith, stresses the strength of business investment, which shows up in the industrial, commercial and utility figures as indicating "a high degree of confidence that today's record levels of production and sales are not a peak but merely a step toward higher levels ahead."

The Dodge reports deal with contracts recently let. But each day seems to bring new announcements of big expansion plans for this year and next, not yet at the contract stage.

The fact that the big industrial companies are raising their sights on expansion has led many firms in the building material fields to launch building programs of their own.

United States Gypsum, National Gypsum, Johns-Manville are among those expanding. The cement industry is building up its capacity. So is the metals industry. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem have recently announced plans to raise their capacity. Reynolds Metals is expanding its aluminum production, that metal now finding wide use in building.

With the boom in nonresidential building has come slowly rising costs of some building materials. The construction industry is on notice that further price rises are likely. In some regions, also, the demand for building labor has firmed wage scales and by summer some of these scales are due to rise.

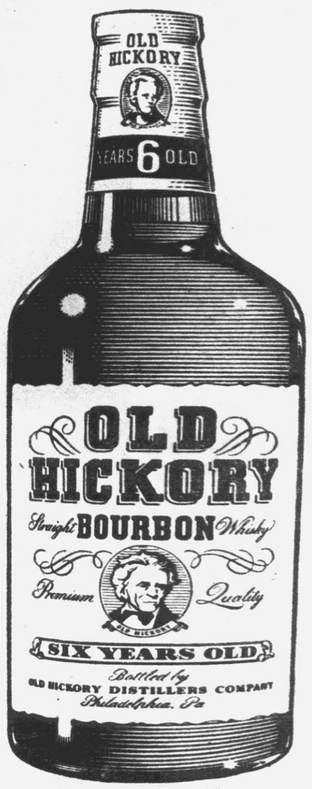

Weekend Once 'Holy Sabbath'

HAGERSTOWN, Md. AP)—Dr. Vernon Richardson in a sermon at St. Paul's Methodist Church here, summed up a sign of the times: "Our great grandparents called it the Holy Sabbath. Our grandparents called it the Sabbath. Our father and mother called it Sunday. We call it the weekend."

TAKES OFF LIKE YOU'RE WEARING SPURS
Come try it — and you're in BUICK'S THRILL-A-MINUTE CLUB

THE THRILLS begin in the first sixty seconds—and from then on they come in clusters.

Right off, you feel the stepped-up getaway in Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—a blazing new take-off even before you switch the pitch.

Because now—right in the topmost inch of pedal travel—right where you do most of your driving—right in the fuel-saving economy range—you're moving with a solid new "take-hold" getaway that's brisk and blessedly smooth.

Then you double the thrill.

For when you want to pass—or climb—or get out of a tight spot fast—you floor the pedal and switch the pitch. That brings you an absolutely smooth burst of full-power go-ahead on the split second—and it's the nearest thing to soaring flight yet.

It's a double-barreled package of excitement—and it's teamed with the most powerful V8 engine in Buick history—a 322-cubic-inch engine with no less than 9.5 to 1 compression in every CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

All that would seem like thrill enough—but you'll find you've hardly scratched the surface.

You'll find yourself glowing all over from the sweet and level buoyancy of Buick's great new ride.

You'll feel a serene satisfaction from the way this trim beauty handles and corners and tracks to the road with the truest sense of direction yet.

And certainly you'll have to feel the good feeling that's yours just from bossing this big and brawny and beautifully sculptured automobile that's like a thing alive, and impeccably obedient.

We'd like you to know and feel all this firsthand—just by trying out a new Buick. That's all you do to join Buick's Thrill-A-Minute Club.

Why not become a member in good sitting today? And when you do, we have some big-thrill news on prices, too.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Five Agricultural Projects For '56 Approved By C-of-C Board At Meet

Five agricultural projects for 1956 were approved by the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors in their regular session.

The projects, recommended by the Agricultural committee, include co-sponsorship of the Pitt County Fat Stock Show and Sale April 19, and sponsorship of a recognition barbecue dinner for Junior Purebred Livestock Show exhibitors and their dads in October.

Plans also call for appropriating funds for prizes for the Negro 4-H swine and poultry chain projects, Inc. in co-sponsoring the Pitt County Progress Program.

In addition, the organization will work with county agricultural authorities in developing a program for use of excess acreage resulting from cut of tobacco and corn allotment.

Other business included endorsement of the proposed water fluoridation program, a report from the Industrial committee, discussion of the annual Newcomers Party, and plans for participation of a television program.

The board referred to its Transportation and Communications committee a proposal to change the night telegraph service from teletype to telephone. Recommendation concerning approval of this proposal will be made to the board following study by the committee.

Report of the Industrial committee showed that group has provided railroads and the Department of Conservation and Development with revised brochures and and economic data to be used in efforts to locate industry here.

It was decided that the Newcomers Party will be held during the week of April 23. Definite date will be set when an auditorium is secured. The party is held each year by the Chamber and other sponsoring organizations to welcome new families to Greenville and to give them the opportunity to meet each other and the older citizens.

The Public Relations committee accepted an invitation to appear on the East Carolina College television program Sunday, April 1, over WNCT, when the city of Greenville will be saluted.

Directors approved the voluntary program of mechanical auto inspection to get underway soon.

TVA Could Become Factor Against GOP In Tennessee

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

NASHVILLE, Tenn., (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower carried Tennessee over Adlai Stevenson in 1952 by the slim margin of 2,437 votes out of 892,000.

Gov. Frank Clement says he couldn't have done this except for "a promise three days before the election that he would preserve and protect the Tennessee Valley Authority and operate it more efficiently."

"He has not kept that promise," Clement said in an interview. Clement says he and other Democratic speakers will make this the prime issue of the campaign and expect to defeat Eisenhower in the state next November.

But Guy L. Smith of Knoxville, the Republican state chairman, Tennessee has grown steadily and he looks for a 50,000-vote margin for him this year.

Smith scoffed at the suggestion that the Democrats can beat Eisenhower in Tennessee on the TVA issue.

"The average Tennessean has sense enough to see that nothing has been done to injure TVA," Smith continued. "President Eisenhower has shown every disposition to protect and preserve it."

The extent to which voters react on that issue could be a major factor in how Tennessee goes this year.

Most of the political reporters who cover the state from the capital city say the Democrats will have the advantage this year.

The electricity furnished by TVA lights the homes, runs the factories and does many of the farm chores all over the state.

The rates are low and few would have them go up. Many think any change in TVA's operations might have that effect.

Gov. Clement, the state's Democratic senators, Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore, and other officials fought bitterly when the Eisenhower administration signed the Dixon-Yates contract. Since canceled, the contract would have had private industry build a steam plant in West Memphis, Ark., to supply TVA with power replacing electricity furnished an Atomic Energy Commission project.

"Tennessee believes in public power and what it can do for the people," Clement said. "And the people who fear what the administration will do on the public power front in the years ahead are well organized."

GOP Chairman Smith said the Dixon-Yates contract issue "has been settled." He said he is convinced that "thousands more Democrats will join the Eisenhower swing in November because they approve the way he has conducted his administration."

There is tension in Tennessee over the race issue, but you notice it less in East and middle Tennessee than you do down in the Southwest around Memphis.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans have any desire to make school integration a campaign issue lest it disturb the comparative calm in many of the counties.

While Kefauver has been running for president, Clement frequently has been mentioned for vice president. Clement enjoys the warm friendship of Adlai Stevenson, with whom Kefauver is contesting for the presidential nomination.

But Clement rejected suggestions that he seek to go to the national convention with a "favorite son" endorsement for the presidency.

He called instead for a delegation "unbound, unpledged and unpressured," and said he thought Kefauver should be allowed to pursue his campaign in other states "unshackled and unembarrassed."

Although Kefauver won his last renomination to the Senate in 1954 by a margin of nearly a quarter of a million votes, he is a controversial figure in Tennessee. Some of his statements on the national level in his pursuit of the presidency irk many Tennesseans.

But his supporters say that everything that could be said about him in 1956 was said by his opponent, former Rep. Pat Sutton, during the 1954 primary. They say he would carry the state for the presidency if he gets the nomination.

Political ties are sometimes many-sided in Nashville, and it's hard to get the man in the street to be quoted by name. There was the cab driver, for instance, who said he will vote democratic because of his union and other connections.

"But I'd rather bet that Ike carries Tennessee than he don't," he said. "People think he's got spunk to run again after a heart attack."

A newspaperman who said use of his name would be embarrassing to him said he was strong for Eisenhower "but he's not going to carry Tennessee on account of TVA and Dixon-Yates."

The Republicans say privately that Eisenhower will pick up an additional 25,000 Negro votes because of the integration ruling.

Dulles In Brief Philippines Stop

MANILA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles arrived here today for an overnight stop in the Philippines en route home from the SEATO conference in Karachi.

Dulles was to confer with President Ramon Magsaysay later today and to attend a state dinner tonight.

In a statement at the airport, the secretary paid tribute to Magsaysay for drafting the Pacific Charter adopted in Manila when the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization was formed in September 1954.

Dulles said the charter had "become a moving force toward further achievement for Asia of the independence of which the Philippine Republic is so ardent a champion."

The pact provided the right of self-determination for Asian peoples. It was also aimed at repelling any aggression against the soil of the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Dulles, who will stop next at Formosa, came here from Saigon conferences with President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam.

Reliable sources said the secretary was convinced after his talk that there will be no renewal of war in Indochina evn if elections to unite North and South Viet Nam are not held in July.

Time Wasted In His Jail Stay

DALLAS (AP)—When a local man was arrested on a drunk driving charge, he told his lawyer he felt he would be convicted and wanted to spend some time in jail to credit against his sentence. The lawyer arranged cancellation of bond and the man went to jail to await trial. But this week, after he had amassed five weeks of jail time, the grand jury no - billed him on the charge.

Austria was freed in 1955 from 17 years of foreign occupation, first by the Germans and then by the four Allied powers.

Allergies Of 8-Year-Old Include Nearly Everything

TULSA, Okla (AP)—Life is full of temptations for 8-year-old Rickie Reynolds, whose allergies range from A to Z.

Like most youngsters, he has cravings for chocolates, fruits and pet animals but he can't have them. When he fudges and eats something he shouldn't he develops a headache, an itch, a wheeze, a cough or a runaway nose.

"Rickie is allergic to just about everything God put on this good earth," said his mother Mrs. Pierce James Reynolds.

He can't stand feathers or hair so his pets are a pair of goldfish.

A robust third-grader, Rickie has to weigh his playing against the consequences. When he runs and breathes faster he inhales dust and pollen which set off reactions. The lad is unable to swim in pools treated with chlorine.

Mrs. Reynolds said his allergies change from time to time and as a result he was given 87 test injections last year to discover whether he had developed any new ones.

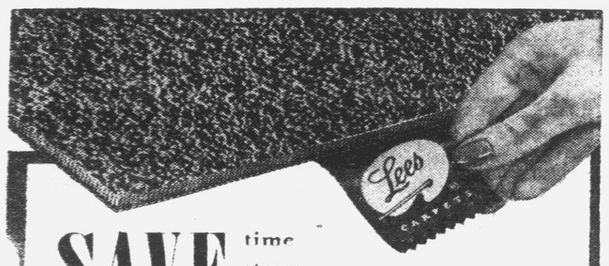

His body apparently builds up immunity to certain drugs and often new medicines are substituted, she said.

Every day Rickie is dosed with pills, ointments and a vitamin capsule to counteract his multitude of allergies.

He washes with special soap which costs 40 cents a cake. He gets two inoculations every Saturday.

Fresh milk, pillows, starch in his trousers, one type of sulfa drug, flannel clothes and rugs are a few of the things taboo with Rickie.

Trio Wanted By FBI For Robbery Of Bank

Shortly after 8:30 a.m. on April 6, 1955 an employee of the Chase Manhattan Bank, Woodside Branch, Queens, New York, was abducted by three armed men while enroute to work at the bank.

These men, after forcing the bank employee to accompany them then used him to gain access to the bank premises. Heavily armed with guns, including a machine gun, the three quickly cowed the employees of the bank and locked them in the vault. The bandits made good their escape with over $312,000 cash.

Mexican Tourist Class Ignored

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican tourists are protesting that they have a hard time getting anything to eat in Acapulco unless they read English.

They complain to Mexican tourist officials that all menus of top hotels are in English. Further, they say employes give better service to Americans because they expect biggest tips from them.

Acapulco, on Mexico's Pacific coast, is a favorite winter resort usually packed with Americans.

Helicopter Helps Flower Nursery

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Another use for a helicopter: After a rain, Gene Masterson, commercial flower grower, had one hover over a field of 24,000 blooms ready to be picked for market.

The vibration shook the rain drops off the delicate petals, which Masterson said would have rotted if packed wet. He figured it would have taken several men a full day to shake the rain off the flowers. The helicopter did it in two hours.

The chronically ill occupy three of every four U.S. hospital beds.

Take notice that a pleading seeking relief against you and each of you has been filed in the above entitled special proceeding. The nature of the relief being sought is as follows:

To sell at public auction for partition real estate located at 138 W. Seventh Street, Greenville, North Carolina, owned by the heirs of Martha E. Wilson, deceased.

You are required to make defense to such pleading not later than the 3rd day of April, 1956, and upon your failure to do so, the petitioners seeking service against you will apply to the Court for the relief sought.

This the 22nd day of February, 1956.

The car says GO and the price won't stop you!

High-Powered Hardtop...

WITH A LOW-LOW PRICE TAG!

This big, sleek '56 Catalina packs the most power, the most GO per dollar of any hardtop in America!

It's all alone up there, literally in a class by itself! And it takes only minutes to prove it . . . just slip behind the wheel, head for the open road and watch this glistening beauty translate that statement into blazing action!

Even at cruising speed you're using only a fraction of its tremendous potential. But should an emergency arise, that extra power is waiting for your signal . . . and the slightest pressure touches it off!

Quick as a thought, 227* horses respond, whisking you to safety in a silken rush that leaves the emergency far behind . . . and with it all of your old ideas about performance!

Here's America's best hardtop buy, by far, for this gorgeous Pontiac 860 Catalina costs less than many of the low-priced cars. Come on in and see it. If you love hardtops (and who doesn't?) here's your car!

'56 STRATO-STREAK PONTIAC

One government expert estimates that although U.S. farm income has dropped 25 per cent in the last few years, the reduction in the number of farmers in the same period has been such that the reduction of average individual income has been only 9 per cent.

Sound Of Spring At Ayden High School

By JEANNETTE WORTHINGTON
AYDEN HIGH SCHOOL

"Batter Up!" "Ball 1!" "Strike!" "Look at him run!" "Whoopie, a homer!" "You're out!" . . . are the expressions you'll hear now at the ole AHS ballfield. Spring is almost here, and the teenage male's fancy at Ayden High has turned to that sport all America loves—baseball. Coach Stuart Tripp and the members of his baseball team began practice last week.

Saturday the members of the Ayden High School chorus and their director, Mrs. Rosa Jones Little, motored to East Carolina College for the district contest. Our chorus competed with choruses from all over Eastern North Carolina, and received an "excellent" rating.

Rehearsals for the Junior play, "Room No. 13," are in full swing now, and to add to the fun and enjoyment, our mothers have been serving refreshments at each practice.

The Tri-Hi-Y held its regular meeting at Bonnie Rutledge's home. The members of the newly organized Grifton Chapter were guests. After a short business period at which a committee—Mary Ellen Everette and Jessie McLawhorn—was appointed to keep a scrapbook, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Beta Club at the regular meeting last week made final plans for the district convention to be held in Bethel, March 23. The Ayden Club is sponsoring Brownie Harrington for district president. The following committees were appointed to help with the campaign: campaign, Jeannette Worthington; theme, Anne Yorke; signs, Brenda Davis, Sonny Smith, Carl Nobles; favors, Carol Lynn Johnson, Betty Craft, Bonnie Rutledge; signs, Suzanne Taylor; program, Connie Dunn, Jeri Jolly, Mary Alice Hart.

JEANETTE

Twelve students from our business department and their instructor, Mrs. Paul Clark, entered the Pitt County Typing Contest at East Carolina College last week. They brought back both banners for beginners and second year students.

The following first year students entered the contest: Jo Anne Edwards, Tommy Edwards, Tommy Manning, Barbara Worthington, Sandra McLawhorn, Janette Loftin, Brenda Davis, Jessie McLawhorn, and Carl Nobles.

The second year students who went were Ann Long, Joyce McLawhorn and Nelson Thomas.

Jo Anne Edwards was awarded first place in the county and Janette Loftin placed third in the county for the first year typing group.

Joyce McLawhorn won second place in the second year typing group in the county.

The following first year students were chosen to enter the District Typing Contest to be held at East Carolina College on March 20: Jo Anne Edwards, Tommy Manning, Sandra McLawhorn, Janette Loftin and Brenda Davis.

Ann Long and Joyce McLawhorn were chosen for this contest from the second year group.

Leslie Stocks, a sophomore and one of the Tornado starting five basketball palyers, was named Citizen of the Week last Wednesday during chapel period. Congratulations, Leslie!

Soon it will be Science Day at East Carolina and the physics class at Ayden High is planning to take some real good projects to this meeting. Some of the students are planning to make miniature hydraulic rams, turbines and other projects that interest them.

Nelson Thomas won first prize in an essay contest in the Ayden High School. Farmer's Cooperative Exchange sponsored the contest. In the county finals his essay won a second place prize of five dollars. Nelson also received a medal.

Melvin and Milton Worthington of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., are spending the spring holidays with their parents at Peaceful Acres.

Hal Edwards Jr. of Asbury College is also home for the spring holidays.

There are about 950 grizzly bears in the United States.

Child Psychology Books No Guide

DETROIT (AP)—Notice to parents who read books on child psychology:

Throw away the books and relax; you're taking your role as a parent too seriously.

This advice comes from Dr. Harry Bakwin, president of the American Academy of Pediatrics and author of several textbooks on child psychology.

"Parents shouldn't go around blaming themselves for every deviation in behavior or misbehavior," he says. "This has become a theme song that is having serious consequences on their children."

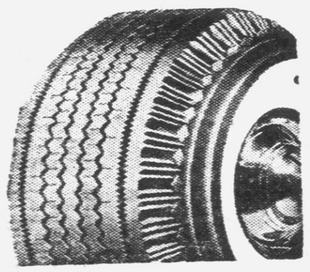

Parents, says Dr. Bakwin, should not depend on books on child psychology. But they should behave naturally and easily in their relations with youngsters and be able to call upon their sense of humor when the occasion fits.

"Psychiatrists have created a tremendous anxiety in parents," he continues. "The child who sucks his thumb is no more abnormal than the child who later chews gum or the adult who smokes."

Problems among adolescent children, he said, "are really the parents' failure to understand what goes on in that period."

"There is a place for the psychiatrist, of course, in the handling of severe emotional disorders and equally in the study of these," Dr. Bakwin declares. "But we shouldn't be so apt to place a serious interpretation on everything that happens."

California's population increased 2,666,000 from April 1950 to the end of 1955.

OFFICIAL IN HOSPITAL

DENVER (AP)—William Davis of Washington, D.C., Civil Aeronautics Administration safety director, is recovering at St. Joseph's Hospital after an emergency operation. He was hospitalized yesterday after an ulcer attack. Davis and other top CAA officials are here for a two-day meeting.

Paroled Forger Made A Mistake

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—A convicted forger, put on probation in Federal Court, made a mistake when he tried to pay for a steak dinner with a check. The mistake Police Chief B. J. Riley said, was signing the name of Bion W. Hall, federal probation officer, to the check. Police, called to the cafe by the cashier, gave Gordon M. Crawford permission to finish his steak before they took him to jail.

Injunction Was Late In Arriving

CHICAGO (AP)—A woman who obtained an injunction Friday to prohibit her husband from adding to her claimed total of 1,151 beatings in 12 years of marriage was back in court yesterday with two black eyes.

"He beat her twice more before the injunction could be served," explained the attorney for Mrs. Phyllis Valentino, 41. "That brings the total beatings he has given her in their 12 years of marriage to 1,153—assuming she has not overlooked any."

Judge Harry G. Hershenson then issued a new order—that Peter Valentino, also 41, leave the house and pay $40 a week for support of his wife and two daughters.

Peron Challenges Rival To Duel

PANAMA (AP) — Juan D. Peron, ousted president of Argentina, has challenged his successor, provisional President Pedro Aramburu, to a duel. Reporters were shown a copy of a registered letter addressed to Aramburu suggesting the duel be held on the Argentine frontier. Peron said he had read news dispatches in which Aramburu described him as a "coward" and suggested meeting on a field of honor "if you have doubts as to my personal valor."

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

Meg sat in Matilda's parlor and waited for Kemp to come to her. She felt cold and numb, sick and a little dazed. What could she say to Kemp? What did a woman say to a husband so lately resurrected from a grave of his own digging? A grave over two years old.

She found herself wishing that her faint had lasted for the three days since she saw Kemp. How awkward it had been to recover consciousness, to lie limply while the buzz of conversation mounted. It was Gretchen who put the blunt question in everyone's mind.

"But where you been since that avalanche was supposed to have killed you?"

"I was ill," he said, "for a long time."

Jason went away then. His voice was controlled but she felt the violence and anger in him. Michael felt it too. Meg sensed his considering inspection of Kemp and of her, read his thoughts a duplicate of her own. Men weren't ill for two years. If Kemp had been dug out of that snow and ice by a native, perhaps, even then he could have reached Meg eventually with a message. He did not look as if he had ever been ill. He looked healthy and vital—and dangerous. He had run away! Meg did not know when this knowledge reached her but it was a deep conviction. Kemp had run away; now, for reasons of his own, he had run back.

She watched him with the children. Honora Jane, of course, had never seen him, but Johnny, excited by the turmoil of the house, was easily persuaded that he remembered "Papa." Meg watched helplessly. The same charm with which Kemp had captured her almost five years ago was still in excellent working order.

Even now, three days later, she was amazed at her immunity to that charm, surprised that she had shut him away from her as definitely as she had done that first night when he followed her up the stairs.

At her door, she had halted. She looked up at him. "Matilda will let you have the room on the third floor, Kemp."

Kemp had not protested. Perversely, she resented his easy smile, his gay good night to the children.

Meg got to her feet and paced restlessly through the prim parlor. Three days! Because he made no effort to establish himself as a husband, Meg herself was driven to an overture.

"I'm not going to work today, Jenny." She made the announcement at the breakfast table. "Kemp and I have matters to—discuss."

And now the time was here. Without seeming to, Kemp had avoided her during the morning, had waited for afternoon until everyone else had left the house. The stairs creaked loudly and presently Kemp stood in the doorway, looking at her.

"You're very pretty Meg." He was impersonal, as if she were a lump of material he was evaluating. "Maybe not as beguiling, darling. Running hat shops and selling lots hasn't increased your allure."

"Darling" grated on her. Her throat filled with resentment. "Do you think you can desert me for years and then come back to pick me up like a—like a discarded pair of pants!"

Kemp threw back his head and laughed. "Darling, I wouldn't dream of comparing you to a pair of pants—worn or new! But yes, I expected to come back to my wife. You hadn't married. Or was I wrong? Did you intend to marry the very prosperous—and obviously willing—Jason Ten Eyck?"

She watched Kemp, trying to decipher his expression and suddenly she knew that Kemp no longer loved her yet intended to stay married to her. He wasn't the man she had married. Then he'd been a drifter but warm and eager to please, gentle. Now he wanted something.

Her spirits lifted. You could bargain with a man who wanted something and she had never been a bad trader. She wanted her freedom; Kemp wanted something she didn't understand.

"What happened on the pass?" She heard her voice with astonishment.

Kemp abandoned his lounging pose in the door. He came into the parlor, sat down, clipped and lighted a cigar.

"The Swede was afraid to go back to Skagway. He gave me money, promised me a partnership if I went. I had a lot of money. Some of it was to buy supplies from your friend, Ten Eyck. I made one trip. On the second trip, I missed an avalanche by minutes."

"You weren't caught in it?"

He smiled. "Not me. The boys ahead were. I heard them—but not for long."

"You—didn't try to help them?"

He shrugged. "No. I waited. I was waiting for help from the other direction. When it was slow in coming, I got to thinking about all that money I had. Money that belonged to the Swede. If I'd been a few minutes earlier along the trail, all that money would be buried under the snow and ice. I thought a little longer and I wondered what would happen if I just—disappeared."

He paused. Meg, watching him, believed he told the truth. Kemp couldn't plan a disappearance but he could grab opportunity when it suddenly appeared.

"How did you manage it? Why weren't you found? Why didn't they wonder?"

"When they didn't find my body, you mean?" He was dispassionate. "You don't know how much snow and ice comes down in an avalanche, my girl. I went away. I took refuge in an Indian village. I . . . stayed there quite a spell."

She tried to picture him in a filthy native hut. Yes, he would have managed. He had probably found a woman. Women always wnnt out of their way for Kemp. Indian or white, it would make

As if he read her thought, he said casually, "She was right pretty for a native."

Meg felt neither surprise not outrage. "And then?"

"Oh, I floated around. There are a lot of camps." He was vague. "And then I landed in Nome. Staked a claim or two. They didn't pan out. Then I heard that my wife was getting rich on Seattle real estate. I took the next boat down."

Meg writhed. Briefly, she wished she could still see him with the eyes of love. For she had loved him. He had been life and color and excitement to her. Perhaps it was a lack in her that she had grown away from that childish need for it. He was a wonderful lover. Why couldn't that be enough?

She had been silent too long and perhaps, Meg thought later, her memories of the man she had married crept into her expression, softening it, giving Kemp encouragement. He got to his feet, with the catlike grace with which he made movement lovelier than you imagined so that it caught at you with surprise. His arms came around her with remembered sureness. Time moved backward. She was twenty again, and Kemp was coaxing her into life as he wheedled music from his fiddle. She felt again the old yielding, the rush of warmth that left her lulled yet eager. His kisses grew in intensity and blotted out everything but Kemp and her own treacherous senses.

An Authority Stopped Fussing

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Two motorists who jumped out of their cars after an intersection collision and started a loud argument were quickly cut down to size by a School Safety patrolman.

The patrol boy left a score of youngsters at the curb, marched out into the street and confronted the angry motorists: "Say, you guys, cut out the cussing and get the heck out of here. I've got to get these kids to school before they're tardy."

They got!

Auto accidents took 38,500 U.S. lives in 1955.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market forged ahead in record high territory today with metal, chemical and oil issues standout performers in the early afternoon.

There also was a definite show of strength in motors, aircrafts, and rails. Key stocks scored gains of 1 to 3 points. There were scattered losses of fractions.

Volume was running at a pace of over 3,000,000 shares for the day. Transactions totaled 3,140,000 shares yesterday when the market climbed to a new peak.

There again was a good amount of bullish news to help bolster confidence in the near-term business outlook. More companies announced record profits and huge expansion programs. And the Department of Commerce predicted that business outlays for plant expansion this year will be the greatest in history, with a total of 35 billion dollars.

Aluminium Co. of America was a feature running up around 3 points after announcing that plans were "well advanced" for the construction of a new smelting plant. The company also reported record earnings for 1955.

Ahead over two points were Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Burroughs Corp. was up a point or so after it was announced that stockholders of Electro-Date Corp., Pasadena, Calif., will be asked to approve the exchange of stock between the two companies. Under the plan, one share of Burroughs Common would be issued for each two shares of outstanding Electro-Data stock.

In the metals and coppers group, Phelps Dodge, Magma Copper, and Kaiser Aluminum moved ahead a point or more. Other companies in this category generally made similar gains. Deliveries of refined copper to fabricators in February were the highest since November, despite the short month, the Copper Institute reports.

Other gainers included Bethlehem, Chrysler Ford, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Monsanto, Shell, Santa Fe, and U.S. Gypsum.

Lower were Johns-Manville, General Electric, Southern Pacific and Studebaker-Packard.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .80 cents at $188.50. The average rose $1.50 yesterday to $187.70, the fourth new high reached in five sessions.

Easter Tag Day Set Mar. 31

PLAN FOR TAG DAY—Shown above making plans for Easter Lily Tag Day which will be held March 31, the Saturday immediately preceding Easter Sunday, are, left to right, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, executive director of the Pitt County Girl Scout Council and a director for the Pitt Society for Crippled Children and Adults; Dr. Walter C. Humbert, county health director; Mrs. Morris Brody, a society director; and Mrs. Frank Diener, Jr., representing the Jaycettes, society co-sponsor. The Jaycettes will be in charge of tag day solicitations and will cover the business districts, while the Girl Scouts will solicit in the residential areas. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haymes).

Saturday, March 31, will be Easter Lily Tag Day in Pitt County.

The white lily lapel tags will be sold throughout the county to raise funds for support of the Pitt County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Appeal letters containing Easter Seals were mailed to 5,000 Pitt residents March 10, when the campaign began.

Greenville Jaycettes, co-sponsors with the Lions Club of the society, will be in charge of tag day in Greenville. Pitt County Girl Scouts will sell the tags in the residential areas of the communities and the Jaycettes will solicit the business sections.

Both Girl Scouts and Jaycettes will be identified by chest banners. They will solicit in pairs and the Girl Scouts will be in uniform.

Donors will receive a white lily lapel pin and a paper stating they have contributed.

Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Pitt health director, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor and Mrs. Morris Brody, members of the society's board of directors, are serving as co-chairmen for tag day. Mrs. Frank Diener Jr. is Jaycette chairman.

The general campaign, which will continue through April 10, is being directed by James L. Page, a member of the society's board of directors. The Lions Club is in charge of the mailing of Easter Seals.

Page has pointed out that this is the only time during the year the society makes a public appeal for funds. He said there will be no general solicitation except for the mailing campaign and the sale of the Easter Lily lapel tags.

Majority of funds contributed will remain in Pitt County to support the monthly orthopedic clinic at the health department and to pay for x-rays, braces, appliances, orthopedic shoes and any other special services required by physicians for the medically indigent.

Mental Health Clinic's Work Told To Society

Pitt County's new Mental Health Clinic treated 14 cases during the first part of February, Dr. Joseph Franzoni, the clinic's director reported to the Pitt County Mental Health Society last night.

Dr. Franzoni said that the patients had ranged from alcoholics to school children referred to the clinic by teachers.

The director said that persons from five to 25 should be accompanied by their parents. However, individuals in all age groups are treated by the recently organized clinic.

The psychiatrist described the procedure for admitting persons to the clinic and he noted that individuals do not necessarily have to be referred by a doctor. Persons who request treatment on their own will be accepted.

Dr Franzoni commented on the number of persons who are driving long distances from all over the eastern portion of the state for psychiatric treatment.

Dr. Lucian L Abati, the clinic's psychologist, explained the intelligence testing program carried on by the clinic. He emphasized the need for teachers to send complete records on children referred to the clinic.

A short business session of the County Mental Health Association was held prior to the reports. President Charles D. Cobb presided.

It was pointed out that a psychiatric social worker is still needed for the clinic but all other personnel has been hired.

Cobb noted that the local association is in a unique position because the 550 members of the local chapter more than doubled the total membership of the state organization when the county chapter joined the North Carolina Mental Health Association recently.

Short Circuits Bring Firemen

A short circuit in a washing machine motor brought firemen to 1107 Evans St. yesterday morning.

The house is occupied by Reba Satterfield. Damage was minor.

Yesterday afternoon the fire fighters were called to Boyd Ave. when wiring short circuited in a truck.

Shortly after 7 p.m. last night fire broke out in a bathroom of a house at 109 N. Greene St. The house was owned by Mabel Maye.

Firemen were called back at 8:45 p.m. when the blaze rekindled.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK

Rev. Worth C. Grant will speak at the Memorial Baptist Church at 7:30 this evening. He has served as a Missionary in Japan since World War II. Before becoming a foreign missionary, Mr. Grant was pastor of the Baptist Church in Weldon, N.C. The public is cordially invited to hear this speaker.

Purebred Breeders of livestock cooperating in this effort are Mr. Perry McLawhorn, Mr. W. L. Stocks, Mr. R. H. McLawhorn, and Webb's Dairy of Carolina Dairy Inc.

Judges for the contest were from N. C. State College, Raleigh.

The winning team will participate in the state finals in Greensboro during the month of June.

Approve Sum To Deliver Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved spending $235,000 to carry out contracts for delivery of power from the John M. Kerr Dam on the Roanoke River.

The money, one item in a supplemental appropriations bill sent to the House today, would be for use by the Southeastern Power Administration (SPA) before June 30. SPA markets power produced at federal dams in the southeastern section of the country.

Two contracts for transmission of Kerr power are involved—one with the Virginia Electric Power Co. (VEPCO) and a recently negotiated pact with Carolina Power & Light Co. (CP&L).

In testmony before the committee, SPA officials said the two transmission contracts will require $683,000 during the six months ending June 30 while only $448,000 is on hand—a shortage of $235,000.

Charles W. Leavy, SPA administrator, said in reference to the new CP&L contract that "power sales contracts have been executed with 14 preferred customers."

He said the two contracts—under which the utilities agree to deliver power to municipalities, cooperatives and other preferred customers and also buy some of the federal power themselves—will take care of the entire output of the Kerr Dam.

The CP&L contract broke a long stalemate which had kept some North Carolina cooperatives from buying federal power. The cooperatives had no lines to the dam while CP&L did.

The health director stated the study also revealed that with the use of modern machinery and techniques, "it is absolutely impossible to get an overdose of fluoride in the drinking water at any time."

(Conclusion of Reports)

The published reports conclude, he said, that "After a comprehensive analysis of ten years of experience with fluorides in water at Newburgh, N. Y., it is thoroughly demonstrated that fluoridation is very effective in reducing dental caries and that it is safe and that it is the only practical public health procedure."

The studies referred to by Dr. Humbert were made by Dr. David B. Ast, director of the Bureau of Dental Health, N. Y. State Department of Health; Dr. Edward R. Schlesinger, pediatrician and associate director, Division of Medical Services, N. Y. Department of Health; and Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, commissioner of health, N. Y. Health Department.

Working with these men on the study was a committee from the Commission of Chronic Illness, which studies diseases of old age, composed of Dr. Kenneth F. Maxey, professor of epidermology, Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene; Dr. Edward J. Stieglitz, internist of Washington, D. C.; and Dr. Nathan Shock, chief of Gerontology (diseases of old age) Section, National Institute of Health, Washington, D. C.

president of one of the nation's largest chains of sporting goods stores. "They also buy 25 per cent of the golf equipment sold, 35 per cent of the bowling equipment, 30 per cent of the fishing tackle, 15 per cent of the hunting gear.

"One thing we have learned is that many women go fishing alone. Hence the new demand for a lighter outboard motor they can handle by themselves.

"So far there hasn't been any calls for pink shotguns, and I hope there never will be. But many wives now are better at picking out sports equipment than their husbands."

Mages believes the new feminine interest in sports is an aftermath of World War II and the Korean combat.

"Women became weary of these enforced separations," he said. "They no longer are willing to have their men go off fishing and hunting trips without them. They want to share in all their activities.

"Some men may resent this, but most of them don't seem to."
