GETTYSBURG, Pa., (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining reported to President Eisenhower today on his trip behind the Iron Curtain and how Soviet air power stacks up against American.

In the background were rumblings of congressional controversy over who has air superiority at this point.

Twining, chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force, was one of half a dozen Pentagon and White House officials who drove here from Washington on a dreary, rainy morning. Plans to fly had to be scrapped.

Twining and the others arrived at the Eisenhower farm at 11:33 a.m.

The general is just back from eight days of looking and listening in Russia.

And he had provided an advance hint he was easy to report to his commander in chief that Russia outstrips this country already in number of warplanes and is catching up on quality.

Called into the conference in the den at Eisenhower's country mansion, along with Twining, were Secretary of Defense Wilson; Secretary of the Air Force Quares; the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Arthur W. Radford; Eisenhower's assistant to the President, Wilton B.

Pitt Negro Dies Of Wounds

Local Man Held In Beaufort Jail After Shooting At Griffin's Beach

A Greenville man died enroute to Duke Hospital in Durham last night of a pistol wound around the left eye. The wound was inflicted at Griffin's Beach near Washington, N. C.

Dead is Earl Washington, Negro, of Wade St., Greenville.

Being held in Beaufort County jail without bond as a result of the death is David Walker, also Negro, of Cotanche St., Greenville.

Walker, who had been hunted during the night by Pitt and Beaufort County authorities, gave himself up to the Pitt Sheriff's Department this morning.

Sheriff William Rumley said this morning that Washington was shot with a .32 caliber pistol in a Fourth of July fracas.

He was taken to Tayloe Hospital in Washington, later transferred to Pitt Memorial in Greenville. Doctors here ordered him transferred to Duke and he was said to have died enroute.

Sheriff Rumley said that Walker had left the beach when officers arrived.

A car coming from the beach was stopped on the Pataolus highway by Pitt Deputies Duke Andrews and Jesse Brewer. Occupants under questioning gave some details of the shooting, Andrews said this morning.

Police Step Up Efforts To Trap Baby's Kidnapper

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—A huge police effort was staged today in the heart of Long Island's suburban residential area to trap the kidnaper of 4-week-old Peter Weinberger, son of a well-to-do wholesale druggist.

The kidnaper, who took the baby from a carriage at his home yesterday, demanded $2,000 ransom under threat of death, saying in a note:

"I hate to do this to you but I am in great need."

The deadline was variously reported as 10 a.m. or noon today.

Police kept tight-lipped as to their plans, but it was learned that a package contrived to look as if it contained the money had been put in an empty garage about a block from the Morris Weinberger home.

This apparently was in accord with the kidnaper's instructions.

However, the package did not contain $2,000, but a sheaf of paper slips cut in bill size with actual money on the outside only.

There was a mystifying development at 9:55 a.m. when a man believed to be Weinberger left the fashionable home and placed a brown manila envelope at the base of a tree above 100 feet from the house.

Then the man walked around the block and returned to the house as he had left it, by way of the back door.

Up to 11:45 a.m. the envelope remained untouched under the tree.

Scores of reporters and photographers earlier had been asked to leave the vicinity, but police permitted one reporter, one still photographer and one newsreel man to remain in a secret place.

It was learned that an area of approximately a mile around the Weinberger home had been combed for clues, and then cleared today of all but regular residents. Officers were stationed throughout, in homes and other places where they could watch.

A hundred reports were being checked throughout the New York City metropolitan area of month-old babies being seen under suspicious circumstances.

A bakery truck driver set off a search in the area of Manhattan's 67th street and 1st avenue. He said he saw a man carrying what appeared to be a pink baby blanket, though he could not see whether there was a baby in it. Police could not find the man.

The infant boy was temporarily unattended at the time of his kidnapping.

It had been reported earlier that the well-to-do parents were prepared to comply with the ransom demand.

An effort was made at first to push up the abduction. Neither police nor the family nor neighbors would discuss it. But word leaked out as the hunt spread.

Then, police sources disclosed that the ransom note went substantially like this:

"I hate to do this to you but I am in great need. I am scared stiff. You must put $2,000 in small bills in a garage . . . before 10 o'clock tomorrow or we will kill your baby. We could ask for more but we ask only for what we need."

Commented one policeman: "The work of an amateur and . . . a badly mixed-up person."

Westbury is an old Long Island community, about 25 miles east of Times Square.

At one time its residents were chiefly those who worked on the big estates still found in neighboring Old Westbury. To the south of the town is Roosevelt Raceway, famed harness racing track.

Since World War II Westbury, like so many other suburbs, has grown swiftly, and the new homes are substantial.

Weinberger, a wholesale druggist, probably paid $35,000 or more for his eight-room brick ranch house, set on a half-acre of ground.

The sky was overcast when Mrs. Weinberger put Peter out for a midafternoon airing on the back patio. She tucked him into his carriage, then went back into the house to talk to her maid.

Not more than 15 minutes later she stepped out again to see how he was faring.

He was gone. In his place in his carriage was the ransom note. Secretly the heartstricken parents notified Nassau County police. Shortly detectives were swarming through the neighborhood, asking questions about possible strangers.

Traffic Deaths Pass Estimate To Total 131

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's Fourth of July traffic deaths passed the pre-holiday estimate of 130 in tabulations today and appeared headed for even higher marks.

The nation also had one death attributed to a fireworks accident—the same as in 1955. This death occurred in Wyoming.

With scattered reports of fatalities still trickling in, the traffic toll for the thirty hour period starting at 6 p.m., local time, Tuesday and ending last midnight was 131. There also were 72 drownings and 39 deaths from miscellaneous causes for an overall total of 242.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, compared the toll with the 128 deaths in the recent two-plane air disaster in the Grand Canyon, saying:

"We can only hope the nation is half as excited and horrified over this catastrophe as it was over the single more dramatic accident, and that there is equal determination to see that such a needless holiday toll can never happen again."

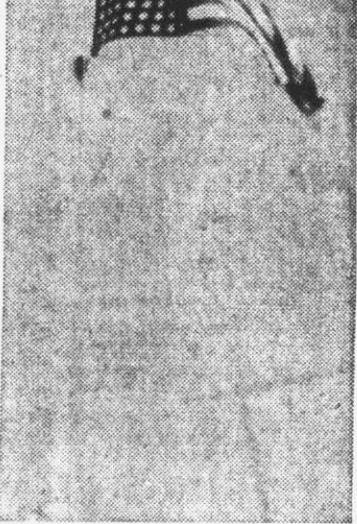

Bad as it was it would have been even worse if police agencies in general across the country had not gone all out to hold it down."

The number of traffic fatalities as well as the overall total was far greater than that reported on Memorial Day (109 and 174) and compared with a normal traffic toll of 80 for a Wednesday in early July.

The National Safety Council, which before the holiday had said 130 persons might be killed in automobile accidents, said indications were the final toll may approach 150.

The council had hoped that by rigid enforcement and driver caution the death toll could be held to 80.

Mediators Talk With Striking Steel Workers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—With the five-day-old steel strike about to cut more sharply into the nation's business after a holiday lull, federal mediators undertake today to pinpoint disputed issues and revive contract negotiations.

Joseph P. Finnegan, chief of the Federal Mediation Service, and two aides slated a late-morning session with David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelworkers, and an afternoon conference with basic steel industry representatives.

Finnegan termed the meetings "exploratory" and for the "purpose of discussing the real differences between the union and the industry representatives."

Tomorrow the government intends to clamp a temporary freeze on selected steel items now stockpiled in warehouse to assure that defense producers will have enough supplies to continue work for as long as possible.

Once defense needs are satisfied, the government plans to lift the freeze, possibly within two weeks.

Meanwhile, Detroit Steel Corp. became the third nonstriking firm in two days to boost prices in anticipation of added labor costs. Major mill products were boosted $7 to $16 a ton.

Detroit Steel, whose contract with the USW runs until July 30, operates plants at Detroit, Portsmouth, Ohio, and New Haven, Conn., with a total employment of 4,500.

Price boosts of $8 to $9 a ton previously were announced by Copperweld Steel Co. and Alan Wood Steel Co. near Philadelphia.

McDonald and management negotiators haven't met since talks broke off in New York last Saturday, triggering the walkout of 650,000 USW members against 90 per cent of the country's basic steel producers.

Jersey Cop Helps Deliver Own Son

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—There were no fireworks but plenty of excitement around the home of Patrolman Chester Paterek for July 4. He got an emergency call at the Second District headquarters and rushed home to help his wife alone deliver a 7 pound 15 ounce boy named Christopher. Mother and son are doing fine at East Orange General Hospital.

Barden To Oppose House School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Barden (D-NC), chairman of the House Education Committee, said today "I'm washing my hands" of the 1½-billion-dollar school construction bill, but agreed to call it up for final consideration in the House.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted today to knock out the controversial antisegregation amendment to the school aid bill. It did so in a vote providing for distribution of federal funds on the basis of income tax collections.

Barden told newsmen after a huddle with House leaders that he was stepping aside as floor manager of the bitterly disputed measure when the House meets to complete action on the measure.

He said he could not support it "in its present form, which includes an antisegregation section voted into the bill Tuesday."

By stepping out as manager of the bill, Barden created an almost unprecedented situation of a committee chairman abandoning legislation midway in debate.

Three Die After Warning Ignored

FOX LAKE, Ill. (AP)—A speeding passenger train rammed into a crowd watching a Fourth of July fireworks display last night from a railroad track. Three people were killed and five injured.

An estimated 80 to 100 lined the track. Several others were on a nearby trestle when the three-coach Milwaukee Road train neared this northern Illinois resort community.

Some 500 others were in the fenced-in American Legion field in Riverside Island, scene of the fireworks display sponsored by the Legion. The first bomb in the display was exploded—shortly after 9 p.m.—when the holiday special, bound for Chicago from nearby Walworth, Ill., approached.

Firemen and legionnaires had warned the group on the track and trestle that a train was due. They urged the crowd to leave the tracks and watch the fireworks display in the Legion field.

About 15 minutes earlier a freight train had passed and the group left the track and trestle, only to return.

Fireman Jim Tutz said he saw the passenger train approaching and didn't believe any one was in danger.

"After the train had passed," Tutz said, "I saw seven bodies strewn along the track."

"There was a stunned silence after the accident. There was no panic."

Killed were Mrs. Lillian Pavelchik, 33, and her son Gary, 7, Round Lake, Ill., and Carl Strand, 42, Waukonda, Ill.

Police said witnesses reported Mrs. Pavelchik, who was pregnant, had pushed another son, about 10, off the track before it struck the group. Her husband was parking his car nearby and was to join the family on the track.

Policeman Mel Platenka, 29, said the noise of the crowd and the fireworks apparently had drowned out the passenger train whistle to many as it headed into the station, about a half mile from the Legion field.

Entire Family Dies In Crash

WALTERBORO, S.C. (AP)—An automobile crashed into a bridge abutment over Great Swamp Creek near here yesterday and took the lives of an entire North Carolina family of four.

Killed in the crash on U.S. Highway 17-A a mile south of here were Luke Richmond Hadnot Sr., 42; his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Pryor Hadnot, 42; and their sons, Luke Richmond Hadnot Jr., 14, and John William Hadnot, 3½, all of Greensboro, N.C.

The family was returning to Greensboro after visiting Mrs. Hadnot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pryor, of Savannah, Ga. All wore beach clothes and the absence of proper identification papers hampered police in establishing their identity.

The State Highway Patrol said Luke Hadnot Jr. was thought to have been driving the car. The police report said the car struck the bridge abutment squarely, driving the engine back into the front seat and the steering wheel through the top of the car.

The Hadnot's dog, Spot, also was killed.

The elder Hadnot was president of the Greensboro Piping and Equipment Co., and Mrs. Hadnot was secretary.

GREENE MILL RUN—This is meandering Greene Mill Run which passes through the southeastern section of the city and drains a good portion of the city streets. A quiet, slow-moving stream now it becomes a flood hazard during wet weather. Voters will be able to approve or disapprove $16,000 for work on the stream in the bond election next Tuesday. Funds To Clear Mill Run Included In Bond Issue

(Third of a series on improvements planned with the $275,000 in bond issue on which the people of Greenville will vote July 10.)

One portion of the bond issue on which Greenville people will vote next Tuesday will provide $16,000 for cleaning and re-working Greene Mill Run.

This controversial item has been under consideration some time by city authorities. Originally plans were to carry out extensive improvements on the stream and the cost would have run around $30,000.

The modified plans were proposed in the bond issue, however. Of the $16,000, some $13,000 would be used for removing ob-

Flouridated Water At Stake In City Referendum Tuesday

A city-wide referendum Tuesday will determine whether Greenville will have a flouridated water supply.

Although the straw vote in no way legally binds the City Council in its action on flouridation, it is expected the Council will defer to the wishes of the people as expressed in the referendum.

The vote is being taken at the same time local citizens will vote on a $275,000 bond issue for city capital improvements.

When flouridation of the city's water was first recommended by Health Director Walter C. Humbert some four months ago, the issue stirred up quite a controversy, as evidenced by public reaction in letters both pro and con to Dr. Humbert and to the Reflector.

Endorsement

Since that time, however, flouridation as recommended by Dr. Humbert, has been endorsed by the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society, the Pitt County Board of Health, Greenville Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Woman's Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, Elmhurst Neighborhood Club, Rotary Club, Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Exchange Club, Cosmos Boats Club, the Moose and 76 members of the East Carolina College faculty in petition form.

The measure, which recommends one part fluoride to a million parts of water for the prevention of dental cavities in children, was unanimously endorsed by the county medical organization.

Council Vote

After an active campaign by both proponents and opponents of the plan, the issue finally came up for a vote by the City Council in April. Upon the recommendation of City Manager Leonard P. Bloxam, the body decided by a three to one vote to call a special referendum to determine the public opinion. One Council member abstained.

In recommending flouridation of Greenville's water supply, Dr. Humbert said he has "realized for some time the children of Greenville are being denied a preventive measure that children in other North Carolina cities and all over the United States are getting."

He declared that studies and experiments in more than 30 cities show that the right amount of fluoride in water supplies reduces tooth decay in children by "not less than 50 per cent, and in some cases as high as 80 per cent."

Arguments

In answering opponents of the plan, the health director and other local medical men have reiterated that flouridation is safe; it is not a poison, it is not harmful to the internal organs and bones; it is not "mass medication" or socialized medicine; and the addition of the chemical to the water can be adequately controlled.

At present some 21 North Carolina cities have flouridated water supplies, and applications for flouridation have been approved for two other towns.

On the state level the measure has been endorsed by the N. C. Medical Society, the N. C. Dental Society, the Board of Health and the state Parent-Teacher Association.

Nationally, flouridation has been approved by the American Medical Association, American Dental Association, U. S. Public Health Service, American Academy of Pediatrics, National Research Council, American Hospital Association, and the National Congress of PTA.

Shower Fetes Recent Bride

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Edward Ashley Roberson, a recent bride, was complimented at a floating shower June 28 when Mrs. Alton Corey and Mrs. Emory Bennett of Wilmington entertained in her honor at the home of Mrs. Corey.

The entire house was thrown en suite for the occasion. Candlelight was used and mixed summer flowers were arranged throughout the house.

Mrs. H. L. Roberson greeted guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line composed of Mrs. Corey, Mrs. Bennett, the honor guest, Mrs. Walter Roberson and Mrs. Lester Roebuck.

Mrs. Earl Coburn directed guests to the gift room which was presided over by Mrs. Alton Johnson and Mrs. Elbert Perry.

Mrs. Thomas Roberson presided over the guest book and invited the guests into the dining room where bridal cakes, ices, mints and nuts were served by Mrs. Gene Taylor and Mrs. Wilbur Ray Matthews. Those assisting with the refreshments were: Mesdames Nathan Roberson, W. W. Taylor Sr., Tom Purvis and D. A. Roberson.

The dining table was centered with an arrangement of feverfew, shasta daisies, petunias and lilies. Goodbyes were said by Mrs. Ferd Taylor.

Christian Church Plans Dedication, Dinner Sunday

As a part of the morning service Sunday, July 8, the recently erected educational annex will be dedicated at the Eighth Street Christian Church. The morning worship begins at 10:45 and closes at 11:30 with appropriate dedicatory exercises on the lawn of the church.

Families of the church and Sunday School are requested to bring the family dinner and it will all be spread together under the direction of a committee of women headed by Mrs. J. R. Carrington.

In addition to the dedication ceremony there will be recognitions given to those who have shared so far in the development of this building project. After the dedication the building will be opened for inspection and observation.

Roy G. Smith, builder and contractor, will turn the keys over to the chairman of the house and grounds committee, N. O. Van-Nortwick.

Glamour Tips For Mermaids

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

What makes a bathing beauty? And how do you stack up in that category?

The first rule is to be happily with a rounded bosom, judging by photographs that are popular with the male. You do not have to be a featherweight. Big-boned girls may look handsome in their bathing suits too. The important point is shapeliness. Flat-chested girls can look chic by wearing a suit with a built-in bra arrangement, so if they have no disfiguring bulges otherwise, they may still fall in that shapely category.

All eyes focus on your legs and thighs when you are in a playsuit, so you must put that exposed area in as smooth a shape as your face. Defuzz your legs and don't forget the area behind the knees—hard to reach, but important to the sleek leg. Leg beauty goes to the toes, especially if you are the barefoot type. Repair corns and bunions. The residue of a corn might be neatly patched by covering the area with a neat piece of adhesive tape and then covering it over with some foundation cream and powder.

Clear skin is important to your outdoor play glamor too. Small pimples and other face blemishes should disappear like magic if you eat properly. Sometimes faddish diets are responsible for that as well as other beauty problems.

The cosmetics that are especially made for covering up these blemishes might be used to conceal them as they heal. Body blemishes such as tiny pimples that appear on the chest and back must be obliterated for glamor's sake.

A bath brush is helpful in reaching the back area. Cover the brush with suds and scrub that area carefully. Pat it with witch hazel or ask someone else to help you pat it on to help blot away oiliness that sometimes causes those little bumps. Use the same method of smoothing off little chest blemishes. Do this frequently and watch your skin begin to glow.

Arms need special treatment and often are neglected by would-be bathing beauties. Smooth oil over your arms before going to bed and rub your regular hand lotion up the arms in the morning to get an all-over smooth look. Defuzz the entire area too, if it is needed.

If you are rehearsing for the bathing beauty look be sure you do not neglect your hair and face, all part of the glamor picture. Casual hairdo and light makeup are all that you'll need to complete the picture. Avoid fussy coiffures, and try to avoid overplaying your makeup when outdoors.

Women of the Church Hold Regular Meet

FOUNTAIN—Women of Fountain Presbyterian Church met for their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening in the church with 16 members present.

Mrs. Dennis Mercer, program chairman, opened the devotion with a timely prayer. For her scripture she used a few verses from several books in the Bible.

She concluded by interviewing Mesdames Philip M. Cory, J. L. Dozier, Hardy Johnson and C. L. Owens on Christian Family Life.

Mrs. Philip Cory, who was a delegate to the Conference at Peace, gave a talk about her work and experiences while at the conference.

WSCS Honors Mrs. Jenkins

ROBERSONVILLE—A life membership certificate was presented Mrs. W. R. Jenkins by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Robersonville Methodist Church in a ceremony held at her home June 26.

Mrs. Jenkins, one of the two living charter members of the Robersonville Missionary Society, is the seventh person to receive this award.

The other recipients are Mrs. Kate Tripp of Stokes, the only living charter member of the Robersonville Methodist Church, Mrs. Emily Moore, Mrs. E. K. Adkins, Mrs. Lucy Jenkins, the late Mrs. Fannie Ellison Pope and the late Mr. William H. Adkins.

Mrs. Robert Adkins in her presentation address lauded Mrs. Jenkins for her "many years of faithful and untiring cooperation."

The honoree was also presented a corsage of sweetheart roses and the society emblem.

Refreshments were served by society members following the presentation.

Explanation Due In Six-Year-Old's Traffic Accident

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Kenneth Fletstra has been ordered to report details of his accident to the secretary of state's office or face loss of his driver's license.

Kenneth is surprised at the order. He is 6 years old.

He was in an accident last month. He was bicycling and struck a truck parked across a sidewalk at a gasoline station.

His parents reported the mishap to police when they took the boy to a hospital for first aid. Police also were investigating an injury resulting from an automobile accident.

Kenneth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletstra, believe the two reports became mixed up, resulting in the letter from the secretary of state. They plan to explain.

Tax Increase Justified By Services

Pitt County taxpayers again will feel the higher cost of local government this year as the county's tax rate goes up another five cents to a rate of $1 per hundred valuation.

Actually the new $1 rate amounts to an increase of seven cents rather than five cents because the Hospital levy which was five cents last year has been reduced to three cents this year, leaving two cents of last year's total levy of 95 to go into other county funds.

The two-cent reduction in the hospital levy was taken up by expenditures of other departments, and an additional five cent net increase over last year's county-wide tax rate needed to make ends meet.

Like federal and state government, local government has not been spared in the rising cost of operations, affording more services for an increasing population.

The Reflector is reluctant to see the county's tax rate go up again. On the other hand, we would be more reluctant to see the calibre of services the county offers its citizens deteriorate through lack of funds to keep services at their present level.

Then too, there are additional expenditures in this year's county budget over the above normal operation expenses which we would be reluctant to see the county pass by. Included in these are such items as $14,556 for the county's participation in the joint airport; $7,500 for the new armory in Farmville.

On the basis of the new tax valuation for the county—which is $1,930,000 higher than it was a year ago—Pitt County may expect to receive approximately $6,300 for each cent of its tax rate. The five cent increase in the tax levy would mean a net to the county of approximately $31,000 during the new fiscal year. The almost $2 million increase in property valuation at $1 per hundred would add almost $20,000 to the county coffers bringing the total increase in tax revenue to approximately $50,000 for the year.

At the outset of this new budget period the county had on hand $9,000 less in surplus than was the case at the beginning of the fiscal year a year ago. Add to that the appropriation for the joint airport and it amounts to slightly more than $31,000. The other $19,000 in additional revenues will go to balance budgets of the various county departments which have been given nominal increases in appropriations for the new fiscal year.

Although the tax increase is not happy tidings for the people of the county, it is readily seen that little could be done to avoid the increase if regular services of county departments were to be maintained and some of the needed capital outlay items were to be taken care of during this year.

In the face of the rising cost of operating the county government, and the five cent tax increase which has been levied, conditions certainly behoove the Commissioners and other county officials to keep a tight rein on expenditures during the new fiscal year to make sure that taxpayers get a full dollar value for each of the new tax dollars which will pour into the county treasury.

Training School Is Badly Overcrowded

By LYNN NISBET HOFFMAN — Morrison Training School for delinquent Negro boys is in the northeast corner of Richmond county located on 761 acres of perhaps the poorest land in the sandhills, carried on budget books at about $6 per acre. The buildings are valued for insurance purposes at slightly under a million dollars. One of the five units in the correctional-training system, this school has maximum capacity of 250 boys, ranging from 9 to 16 years, with a 14-15 average. Most of the boys are received on commitment from juvenile courts, a few from superior courts, and average stay is about 17 months.

The dormitories are overcrowded, which raises a serious problem in discipline. The kitchen and cafeteria are inadequate for the present population, and there is need to care for more boys. (Current waiting list of about 20, and some boys roaming the streets who ought to be here, says Supt. Paul Brown.) Requests include two dormitories at $100,000 each; expansion and renovation of the food department at $90,000 and equipment at $10,000; a staff house at $10,000; additions to the dairy barn at $5,000 and a garage to house machinery at $30,000—total $318,000 for permanent improvements.

This sandy land is thirsty. Someone described it as sandhills to which Joe Eagles and Lonnie Edwards, big-time farmers on the budget commission, suggested "there ain't much loam—it's all sand." The request for $6,500 for an irrigation system got tentative approval. Given sufficient nitrogen and a steady water supply the presently unproductive acres can be converted into fine pastures and fertile fields, say the budgeters.

Supt. Brown's comment that few boys attempted to escape except those who wanted to stay longer and ran off so the escape demerits would prolong their stay, raised the question of whether the boys are being treated too well. Maybe not worked hard enough.

SAMARCORD — The State Home and Industrial School for Girls (which has a postoffice address of Eagle Springs but is better known as SamarCORD) is located on 430 acres near the Montgomery county line about 15 miles northwest of Pinehurst. The land is valued on budget books at about $10 per acre and the buildings at a little over $1 million.

One of the five units in the correctional-training system the school has a population of 170-175 and operates on an appropriation of $160,000 for the current year. Most of the buildings here are new (five years or less) or completely remodeled, replacing outmoded structures. Main need is for expansion to meet increasing demands of commitments by juvenile and superior courts. To relieve some over-crowding now caused by those committed later the school was to two dormitories of 25 capacity each at a cost of $200,000; a multiple purpose recreation building with swimming pool at $200,000, and two staff houses at $10,000 each—a total of $420,000 for permanent improvements.

They were not much concerned with the fact that headquarters of the anti-tuberculosis war have been transferred to Chapel Hill, and perhaps even less about plans to convert the superintendent's home into staff personnel apartments. Fact is, they didn't pay much attention to requests for air-conditioning quarters where experimental guinea pigs and other little animals are kept.

They definitely were concerned and alarmed about reports that fuel storage capacity affords less than ten days supply of coal and that recurring breakdowns in power circuits often left hospital and operating rooms "in the dark." The SamarCORD is asking $175,200 for permanent improvements and $119,400 for renovations and repairs.

Considerable part of both phases hinges on whether or not natural gas will be available in a few months to substitute for coal at competitive cost. Natural gas is coming to the area, but there remains question of how it can be adapted to relieve conditions at the sanatorium in fuel and power emergencies. Consensus was that an institution in which the people of North Carolina have a $10 million capital investment and are yearly maintaining operation bill of a million and a half dollars, where human lives are at stake as well as money values, should fully explore all angles before making contracts or providing self-owned fuel and power facilities.

Coastal Plain Getting Big Share Of Industry

Statistics on North Carolina's industrial expansion for the first half of 1956 are indeed heartening—particularly for the eastern part of the state which accounted for 30 per cent of the industrial growth during the period.

Traditionally agricultural, North Carolina's Coastal Plain region is well on its way to a balance between industry and agriculture which it has long needed. The growth of industry in the area will mean more year-round payrolls which will provide an important supplement to the agricultural economy.

During the first six months of this year, according to the Department of Conservation and Development, new plants and expansion of existing plants increased the job potential in the state by 6,104 workers. The expansion program during the first half of the year represents a potential payroll of almost $17 million annually.

With 30 per cent of this expansion taking place in the Coastal Plain it means that some 1,800 new jobs will be available in this part of the state in new and expanded industrial plants. If these jobs represent a proportionate percentage of the potential payroll it will mean some five million dollars added to payrolls in the Coastal Plain.

In a section which has precious little manufacturing industry that addition during the first half of 1956 means a great deal.

While the total outlay for industrial expansion, the number of potential jobs created by the expansion and the potential payroll for the jobs was less in the first half of 1956 than in the corresponding period of last year, the figures show that North Carolina is still forging ahead with its industrial development. The first half of last year saw outlays which created 8,280 new jobs representing an annual payroll of over $23 million.

Percentage-wise for the first half of the year, the statistics show that the Coastal Plain came closer to getting its share of the state's industrial growth than has been the case in past years. While the Coastal Plain was the site for only half the industrial expansion from January through June of 1956 enjoyed by the Piedmont area, the fact that it attracted 30 per cent of the state's total industrial expansion is indeed encouraging.

It is evident that the industrial development being carried on by individual communities of the East are beginning to pay dividends. It is also suggestive that manufacturing concerns are beginning to recognize the advantages offered new industry by North Carolina's Coastal Plain.

The statistics on the first half of this year should spur the East to greater industrial efforts in its own behalf during the remainder of 1956.

Public Forum

To all understanding and God loving people:

We are writing this message to you in behalf of the Talmadge T. Mitchell family. Our trials and tribulations are heavy, today but out of this tragedy we have found true happiness and courage to face the future because in these dark hours we have been convinced beyond all measures that the kindness, love, and faith that you have shown in us are much stronger than the forces of evil which surround us. We know God has heard our prayers one and all, because He has said "For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midst of them." You have shown us that, you believe in God's mercy and we know that without your prayers our burdens would not have been lifted and it would have been impossible to carry on.

For this we shall forever be grateful and we ask God to bestow His blessings upon each of you. This we know. He will do for He is a Just God.

We feel that we would do a grave injustice to both the county and city police forces and their associates, if we did not mention the fact that we have men in these positions who are truly humanitarians at heart. It was their duty to investigate, to hold in custody and perhaps to assist in the prosecution. However, they carried out their duties without forgetting that we are human. We firmly believe that if all people would perform their duties, however drastic always remembering that we are dealing with elements also that humans who have erred need perhaps more consideration of kindness than others if they are to be restored to their proper places in our society. We ask you, is it possible to treat a human less than a human and remain a human yourself? Special mention must also be made of the staff and associates of Pitt County Memorial Hospital, and Dr. Steven Bartlett, their professional efficiency and spiritual guidance was given when it was most needed. We write this because we think we should be proud of this knowledge.

Our trials and tribulations are still many and only God's love and grace in His own time will free us of these burdens. For this reason we are asking each of you to continue to pray for patience, guidance and strength for us to endure. Pray with us if it's God's will also that God will give us the same merciful kindness that He gave the Apostle Paul, as we also are desirous of living and doing only those things that God would have us do, forever.

No Longer An Eye For An Eye

Do you believe in capital punishment? A guy by the name of Caryl Chessman doesn't. Chessman is the convicted kidnaper-killer who has been facing the death rap on San Quentin's Death Row since 1948, and, of course, he has good reason to think it should be abolished—his life. He very objectively gives you other reasons, too.

Says Chessman, for the statistic minded person, "In three or four states in the union, capital punishment has been abolished, almost too late, and rectified. Even today, people say, 'an eye for an eye.' That may have been fine and dandy centuries before Christ in Hammurabi's time, but that was then and this is the Christian Era. Times change and so must forms of justice, but in some ways it little has.

One of the Ten Commandments says, "Thou Shalt Not Kill." There are no clauses written under it in small print that says, "Not unless such-and-such court says it's okay for a state's employ to pull an electric switch that snuffs out a person's life, or that a cyanide tablet be dropped into a small can underneath a gas chamber seat that kills within minutes."

I personally hope that Caryl Chessman, who has faced the death rap for 8 years, beats it. Or, for that matter, anyone who is facing the same penalty. Of course, I don't think these people should go free again to menace society. Between freedom and death lies yet another and better answer, and that is life imprisonment without parole eligibility. Taking this course would mean a greater drainage on the taxpayers' pockets, but look at some of the things your tax money is going for, anyway. Oh, well, that's still another argument.

Birthday For 'Pretzel Town'

By HAL BOYLE
LITITZ, Pa. (AP)—Independence Day holds a special significance for Lititz, known across the nation as "The Pretzel Town."

The community, deep in the Pennsylvania Dutch country where the first commercial pretzel in America was baked in 1861, is celebrating its 300th birthday.

Lititz, now a thriving agricultural and industrial center of more than 6,000 population, has had an unusual history. In its way it capsulates the story of America.

It was founded in 1756 as a Moravian community, and for 99

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
WHAT OF THE FUTURE? Nothing in the history of the past 200 years has surpassed in significance the establishing and developing of the nations which now occupy North America. Western European civilization moved into an almost empty continent 400 years ago. What does the future hold for the free democracies on this continent?

We can be sure that it holds material development which will surpass in grandeur anything we can even remotely imagine. Life in the United States and Canada a hundred years from now will probably surpass our present standards of mechanization and comfort as our present standards surpass those of a century ago.

But what about the inner, throbbing life of the nations themselves? Will we, or will we not survive that inner decadence which has wrecked so many previous civilizations?

Three elements make the North American democracies great, and these three elements must continue if our greatness is to continue. The first element is free government. The second is an abundance of natural resources. The third is the moral character of the people.

A failure of any one of these three factors can spell defeat. And towering above the material requirements of greatness are the spiritual and intellectual. Without these we plunge into ruin.

New Challenge For Cheaper Air Travel

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON. — A new challenge confronts Congress and the Civil Aeronautics Board as a result of their joint victory in forcing a reduction to $425 for a round-trip flight to London from New York with proportionate cuts possible on domestic routes after CAB's current investigation.

Cheapening air travel will result in a manifold increase in the number of Americans using this swift and comfortable method of transportation to far-away lands. It will make a CAB license to fly far more valuable than it has ever been in the history of commercial aviation.

Despite tremendous postwar advances in this field, the age of inexpensive air travel for millions more of Americans has not yet dawned. Forthcoming decisions by CAB will determine how soon that day shall arrive, with its opportunities for pleasure and education for customers now earth-bound.

SOME AIR LINES APPLY FOR NEW ROUTES. As a result of these bright prospects, existing lines have already petitioned cab for rights to new routes, or for extension of their present licensed flights. Other firms now operating on a temporary franchise, notably Trans American, have asked for permanent schedules. Trans American says it can cut foreign and domestic rates far below present costs, or $300 to London for a round-trip.

Congress has indicated clearly that it favors competition rather than monopoly. It has rejected the plea for a "single instrument" system demanded by Pan American World Airways a few years ago. It has charged that CAB has fostered monopoly by its failure to award franchises to certain capable nonscheduled carriers.

It has required CAB for the first time, to make a study of domestic fares on the assumption that they yield excessive profits. It demands a termination of all subsidy payments.

PAN AM WANTS MORE RUNS. Pan American has been prompt to see and to take advantage of the bright prospects and rich profits inherent in low-cost air travel. This giant of the skies has flooded CAB with applications for new domestic and foreign runs, precipitating politico-economic quarrels that will embarrass the Eisenhower Administration.

Pan American conducts an expensive, and efficient lobby at Washington and elsewhere. Its sideline activities have frequently been condemned on Capitol Hill, especially as it receives the fattest subsidy from Uncle Sam. Its principal rivals, Trans World Airlines and Northwest Orient Airlines, draw no subsidy from Treasury.

RESENT OVERSEAS CARRIER'S DEMAND. Pan American has offended New England and Southern interests, on and off Capitol Hill, by demanding the right to inaugurate its first domestic flight between New York and Miami. It has operated exclusively on overseas routes.

This profitable area was originally served by National Airlines and "Eddie" Rickenbacker's Eastern Airlines, which employs Thomas E. Dewey as counsel. Recently, CAB granted a license to Delta Airlines for this route over the protest of every New England Congressional delegation, which favors Northeast Airlines. Opposing Pan Am experts insist that its entry will throw all the competitors back on subsidy by dividing the traffic.

Pan Am also seeks the right to fly the Great Circle route to the Orient, which is now served by Northwest. Pan Am now has an exclusive route to the Orient via Honolulu. CAB has Holidays To Fall On Mondays?

By ELMER ROESSNER
There is a bill in Congress calling for the celebration of all national holidays on the nearest Monday to the anniversary date. Because of the pile-up of other legislation, there is little likelihood that action will be taken on the proposal this year.

But experiences this July 4 may offer some good arguments for it.

There are two chief reasons for Monday observance of patriotic days. One is business; the other is humanitarian.

A HISTORIC BACKGROUND
Some people object vigorously to the idea that business considerations should influence the observance of a patriotic holiday. This, they contend, is a day for recharging our patriotic fervor, a day to honor those who fought for freedom, not a day to make money.

That's a beautiful sentiment. It would be appropriate if we spent the day in solemn meditation, and if Independence Day was entirely dissociated from trade and commerce.

But it isn't. One of the charges against the King of Great Britain in the Declaration of Independence is that he gave "his Assent" to "Acts of" presented Legislation. For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world: For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent." The capital letters are Thomas Jefferson's.

You'll also recall the Revolution was preceded by the Boston Tea Party, a violent protest against a tax on an article in commerce, and that the War of 1812 was largely caused by Britain's interference without trade.

We are a mercantile nation and need not be ashamed of it. SPLIT WEEKS SPLIT TRADE.
Holidays falling in the middle of the week hits sales hard. Sales in many lines this week will be much more than one-sixth off. Many shoppers either stayed home or went vacationing Monday and Tuesday, or will do so for the rest of the week.

Travel, resort and catering businesses, which usually zoom over the Fourth, will do something less than expected because many won't be able to go very far with only a single day off.

Beyond business, the midweek holiday creates much personal inconvenience. If the day had been celebrated Monday, many persons could have enjoyed a three-day week end. Being celebrated today, they had only a regular week end and not much time to do what they'd like today.

Indeed, in many offices and plants across the country people are working today. They've made deals with their employers, often with union approval, to work today and take next Friday or Monday off.

ADDED TRAFFIC HAZARDS
The humanitarian consideration is the heightened traffic dangers of one-day holidays. On three-day weekends, motorists have a considerable choice of starting and returning times. Over a one-day holiday, they have much less. Many left on trips Tuesday night and more left yesterday morning. But almost everybody is trying to try to squeeze as much vacation as possible out of the single day and return trips will generally be put off as long as possible.

IRRADIATED FOODS FACE ECONOMIC OPPOSITION
Authorities agree that the preservation of foods by atomic radiation is coming fast and that soon simple, air-tight containers, possibly of plastic, will be replacing canning and freezing.

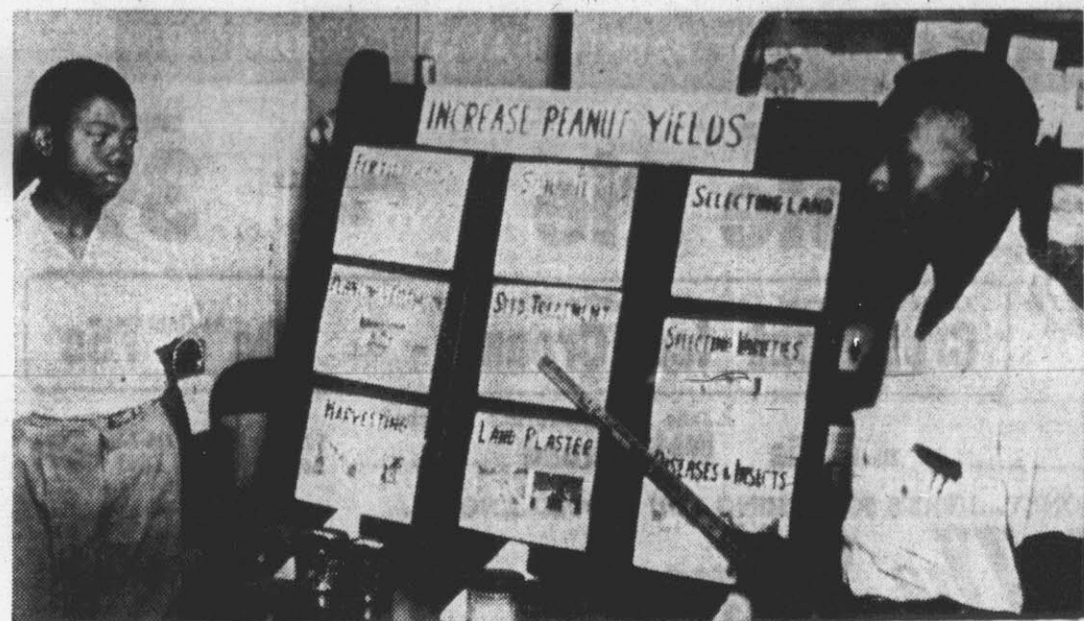

But it won't come without great opposition.

A case in point: The British Atomic Research Establishment at Harwell has successfully treated milk by radioactivity. Milk so treated will not lose its flavor and can be kept in good condition without an air-tight container, for 10 days.

Now British labor is grumbling. Irradiated milk would reduce the necessity of deliveries to once a week, throwing hundreds of men out of work. And the dairy industry is alarmed because irradiation would permit foreign milk to compete with the home product.

So there will be a jolly good row before any British babies dine on A-purified milk.

Pitt Negro 4-H Members Won Honors At Event

WON STATE CHAMPIONSHIP—Franklin Knight and Bobby Hardy of Bethel won the state 4-H Club championship on increasing peanut yields with their demonstration. The team received a $50 cash award. (Photos by Staff Photographer).

PITT COUNTY 4-HRS WIN STATE AWARDS—Linwood Leary of Grimesland (left, above) won gold medal for forestry project. Betty Perkins of Bethel, $25 saving bond for health. Bobby Hardy of Bethel, pen and pencil set for leadership. Shirley Fields of Farmville, $50 savings bond for clothing and Ernestine Sugg of Ayden, $50 saving bond for food preparation. Ehriley Fields of Bethel and Ernestine Sugg of Ayden were not present when photo was taken.

During 4-H Club Week (June 25-30) five Pitt county Negro boys and girls won state prizes for outstanding achievements.

Assistant Farm Agent Warren G. Barnes and Assistant Home Agent Miss Helen Inell Grimsley said the contestants received special recognition.

Pitt County 4-H girls and boys receiving state awards were:

Clothing award: Shirley Fields, Farmville Senior 4-H Club, $50 Saving Bond.

Health: Betty P. Perkins, Bethel Senior 4-H Club, $25 Saving Bond.

Food Preparation: Ernestine Suggs, Ayden Senior 4-H Club, $50 Saving Bond.

Leadership: Bobby Hardy, Bethel 4-H Club, pen and pencil set.

Forestry: Linwood Leary, Grimesland 4-H Club, gold medal.

Each of the state winners receiving certificates of recognition for their achievements.

During "4-H Club Week" Bobby Hardy and Franklin Knight of the Bethel 4-H Club were declared state winners with a peanut demonstration, titled, "Increased Peanut Yields."

The Pitt county team won first place in competition with a peanut team from Sampson County, Southeastern District.

As a result of winning first place in the state, Hardy and Knight were awarded $50.

This is the second year in succession that a team from the Bethel 4-H Club has won state championship with team demonstrations. Also during "4-H Club Week" Bobby Hardy from the Bethel 4-H Club was elected vice-president of the State 4-H Club Council.

All 4-H Club members attending "4-H Club Week" participated in the following classes: Every day courtesies, junior 4-H leadership and record keeping, better grooming and 4-H music appreciation. All of the classes proved to be very fitting and educational for these young 4-H members, officials stated.

Other activities were Lecture and Film on Touring Russia by Dr. W. E. Reed, dean of the School of Agriculture at A. & T. College; addresses delivered by Dr. Willia B. Player, president of Bennett College, Greensboro, and by Mr. P. H. Stone, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C.

The week's program came to a conclusion with a State-wide Dress Revue. Talent program and a candlelight ceremony.

3-Year-Old Girl Badly Injured By Performing Lion

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Little Beatrice Ann Harris was reported out of danger and recovering today from head injuries suffered in the jaws of a performing lion.

Beatrice Ann, 3, underwent brain surgery yesterday at Blodgett Memorial Hospital. Later she was removed from the critical list and was described as in good condition.

The lion seized her head in his jaws Tuesday night when she went too close to the animal, which was chained in a back yard. Her father, Gerald Harris, freed her by forcing his knee and arm between the lion's jaws.

George DeNio, who uses the lion and a lion cub in a night club act, said the lion might have believed it was playing with a toy when it seized the girl. DeNio said the lion, a 270-pounder, is tame and has not caused trouble before. He said he had warned the girl and her father against going close to the lion.

On orders of Muskegon County authorities, both the lion and the cub are being kept in their traveling cages.

ENCHANTED HARBOR

By DOROTHY WORLEY

SYNOPSIS

Priscilla Paige is bored with her job in a New York office, yet doesn't want to get married. An opportunity to escape presents itself in a trip to Apalachicola, Florida, to settle the estate left unexpectedly to her by a great-aunt. Priscilla's friend—older, wiser Rita Lambert—drives with her to claim the mysterious mansion, Lookout House, which is rumored haunted and has a secret passage. They decide to keep the purpose of their visit to themselves because three strange men seem curiously interested. They are Bill Duval, who says he is a writer; Red Gallagher, a fisherman; and Luis Alvarez, a wealthy yachtsman.

CHAPTER 7

Priscilla got out of bed, went to the window, and sat down in a low chair. Rita was sleeping soundly.

Priscilla thought, A week ago I couldn't have imagined sitting here at a hotel window at midnight in a little town in Florida, looking out into a still, bright night. It's so beautiful, so quiet. And it's lonely looking out there. Most of the town was dark. A few lights were winking on boats in the harbor. A car came down the street turned across the bridge.

Then, looking down Market Street, she saw a man strolling along on the sidewalk, the tip of his cigarette gleaming like a firefly. He stopped when he came to the spot where Rita had parked the car, walked around it and looked inside. In the bright moonlight, Priscilla recognized him. It was Bill Duval. Her heart did a cartwheel. Had he really followed them tonight? If so, why? She did not agree with Rita that it was just normal male curiosity. He must be looking for someone. She watched him get into the red Buick and drive away, turning his car across the bridge. Where was he going so late?

Her attention was attracted by another car coming slowly down the street, its dimmers on. It drew up behind their car, the bright lights came on suddenly and were off just as suddenly as the car backed a little, and went on down the street, also turning across the bridge. She had seen that car at Maud's tonight. She couldn't tell from her second-story window but the man driving looked like Luis Alvarez.

The street was deserted again in the night, white night. But sleep was further away than ever. She thought of waking Rita, but Rita as sleeping so soundly. Following an impulse, she slipped off her pajamas, got into pedal-pushers and a shirt, and stepped into sandals. She took the car keys from the dresser. The latch was on and Rita would be safely locked in. She dropped the door key into a pocket and looked at her watch. Twelve-thirty. She slipped quietly from the room, tingling with excitement, thinking, I'll just ride around awhile. Nothing can happen to me. The night is too beautiful for sleep.

The lobby was deserted, but a light still burned there. She got into the car, drove down the quiet street, then turned into a residential street where houses were shrouded in shadows from the tall trees, or stood apart in a wash of moonlight.

Deciding that she would drive over the bridge, she turned back toward the business district.

She drove slowly, her eyes scanning the expanse of bright water. Lights were winking out there on boats, on a lighthouse against the horizon. When she reached the end of the causeway, she saw that lights still burned in Maud's Tavern and several cars were parked there. She had a crazy impulse to go in and get a Coke or a cup of coffee. But when she pulled off the road and saw the long black convertible parked there, a man sitting in it, she changed her mind. I can't go in alone at this time of night, she thought. I guess I'm feeling a little too carefree, too adventurous. She turned around and drove back across the bridge. Regardless of the beautiful night, she had better try to get some sleep. When another car drove slowly by, it turned the corner and stopped on the front side of the hotel. The red Buick again. She went hurriedly up the steps and across the rambling porch to the side entrance. She was almost to the stairway when Bill Duval came in the front door. She hurried up the one flight of stairs, feeling that the man was following her. But a swift glance back proved her wrong.

When she came in and closed the door, Rita switched on the bedside light and blinked her eyes.

"What on earth are you doing, Priscilla? Where have you been? What time is it?"

"A little after one. I didn't go far, just a few blocks. It was senseless, of course, but I couldn't sleep." For some reason, she didn't tell Rita that she had driven across the bridge, nor did she mention seeing Bill Duval. "I'm sorry I woke you."

"You didn't—at least I don't think you did. Why didn't you let me know you were going? I would have gone along. Heavens, that moon's bright. Better come to bed. We'll go adventuring tomorrow." She turned her face away from the window and was almost immediately asleep.

Priscilla and Rita just made it to Mr. Todd's office by ten the next morning. Both had overslept and had had time only for a cup of coffee.

Rita told Mr. Todd they had their car and would follow him. They drove through the quiet, dreary streets, past galleried houses, old-fashioned and unimpressive, where little shrimp boats rocked in the swells.

Rita turned into Bay Avenue. They could see sparkling water where little shrimp boats rocked in the swells.

"Rita," Priscilla said contentedly, "regardless of whether I get much out of the old house, I'm glad I came down here. I still have that feeling of unreality, and yet I'm exhilarated and happy. I feel wonderful!"

"Well, I wouldn't say that I feel wonderful," Rita said. "I slept only in snatches. I suppose the strangeness was partly responsible and then there seemed to be a bird chorus about dawn. And I could do with some breakfast. I wish we had all this business behind us and were on our way toward Miami."

Priscilla said nothing for a moment, then, "I like it here, Rita. I can't explain. There seems to be no hurry about anything—as if time were standing still. It's almost like a ghost town. And I keep thinking about the town in connection with the past, and the day life that went on here and at Port St. Joe. Did you ever read 'The Wrath and the Wind'?"

"Yes, I did. And I remember that Port St. Joe was St. Joseph in those days."

"And the hurricane—or the tide or something—wiped the town completely out. And I think of what the people went through in carpet-bagger days when all their property was confiscated. Why Aunt Rachel was here then I do wish I might have known her. Oh, Mr. Todd is stopping. Heavens! Is that the place?" Her voice was completely awed.

Steel Strike Could Be Widespread Setback

By SAM DAWSON
FONTANA, Calif. (AP)—Which will hurt businessmen and consumers worse: Stoppage in the flow of steel in the present strike or the chance that a new onset of creeping inflation may be the aftermath?

Unemployment could spread across the nation from a shortage in the supply of steel if the strike is a long one. The cost of living is already headed for a new record high, pushed on by the belated effects of the Korean War inflation. Some fear that another wage-price hike could add to the inflationary forces.

At this West Coast steel making center the question is academic at the moment. Kaiser Steel's contract with the United Steel Workers of America at its plant here—now being increased to a 1½-million tons a year capacity—has two more months to run.

Even so, Kaiser officials are warily watching for signs of a sympathy strike that could close this integrated plant with its three blast furnaces, nine open hearth furnaces and nine rolling mills. They fully expect that the strike which has idled 90 per cent of the nation's steel making capacity will end with higher wages and higher steel prices.

They foresee that, as in the past their management-labor talks, now just starting, will end in a new contract along the lines finally to be worked out by the big companies of the east—especially U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic. Western mills of Big Steel and Bethlehem are strike-idled.

Many steel officials say a price hike is due anyway to meet expansion needs. The long term effects of a wage-price hike on the general public can be explained this way: Mother doesn't send junior to the store for a pound of steel, and won't care much at first what's its price. But in time father will buy a new car, the family will get new kitchen gadgets or replace an old toaster.

If father is a manufacturer who uses steel, and the majority do in one form or another, he'll feel quickly the effect of any price hike on the total costs of his operation.

Many makers of capital goods—where steel accounts for from one-fifth to three-fourths of total manufacturing costs—should be able to pass along higher steel prices. They also may add in some of their own higher operating costs when setting their new prices this fall. Demand for their products—construction equipment, railroad cars, oil field pipe, mining machinery—is high and supplies tight. Many makers of consumer goods—farm machinery, autos, home appliances—would like to pass on all or part of higher steel prices if they can.

But often their markets are soft and their stocks high. The consumer might balk. In the present highly competitive market, some one—manufacturer or dealer—may have to absorb some or most of any steel price hike.

Baby Hippo Is Dead Of Neglect

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Zoo's 82-pound baby hippopotamus, which was born June 15, was found dead in its enclosure Monday.

The unnamed little hippo died of neglect, Supt. Clarence Smith said.

Maude didn't like her youngster from the start, and began banging it about almost from the minute it was born.

She wouldn't feed it, so the infant hippo was given milk in a bottle. It wasn't enough.

Traffic Fine For 10-Year-Old

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—It will be six years before John Gallagher is 16 and he can get his first driver's license, but already he is paying his first traffic fine.

John's mother, Mrs. Emil H. Gallagher, was lifting a baby from their car so she asked John to put a nickel in the meter.

He forgot.

So John showed up in court to pay the one dollar fine given his mother. The money will come out of his weekly allowance.

County, Federal Employees Told To Conserve On Electrical Services

County and federal employees in the Old Hospital building got the word this week that they've got to start cutting out their lights and air conditioning units when their offices are vacant—if they want to keep either one or both of the services.

Pitt County Commissioners this week instructed County Auditor Reginald Gray to inform the employees who use the building that conservation of electrical services is a "must." Their action came after hearing a report from electrician Charles Horne, Jr., who had inspected the wiring in the Old Hospital and in the Court House.

The Commissioners also agreed to promise the Greenville Utilities Commission that they would have some needed rewiring done in the Court House within the next six months if the Commission would lend the county a bigger transformer until December. The bigger transformer is needed to handle the additional load placed on the Court House facilities by installation of 15 air conditioning machines and normal increase in work done in the Court House.

Under present circumstances,

Horne told the Commissioners, the present transformer in the Court House basement just isn't big enough to do all the work that is expected of it. The air conditioning units have not been connected although they have been in place for two weeks and Horne backed away from speculating just what might happen if they were connected with the present transformer. Some new wiring is going to have to be installed to handle the air conditioning units but that work can't be done until the new transformer is put in.

The situation in the Old Hospital is just as bad. Horne told the commissioners that wiring needed over the years has been done in a piece-meal fashion. Every time a new wire was hooked up, a new box was put in the basement of the building and the "electrical room" in the building is getting crowded. He suggested centralization of the system to "clean up" the present conglomeration and relieve the danger of overloading.

The proposed work in the Court House calls for a new underground line from the corner of Third and Washington streets. A new panel would also have to be installed in the basement of the Court House to go along with a bigger transformer. The proposed work would be adequate for existing needs of the Court House and jail, plus any new county offices which might be opened on the Court House Square.

Legitimate Theater Is A 'Hit' In Los Angeles

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Who says Los Angeles is a bun show town?

After a winter that saw most of the local legit theaters dark, live shows are popping all over town. What's more, audiences are just as lively. They're out to prove that Angelenos will support a live theater.

Backbone of the spring and summer season is the Civic Light Opera at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Business is booming. A first-class revival of the classic "Rosalinda" and a so-so Broadway hit, "Silk Stockings," have drawn over $60,000 weekly. That's more money than musicals earn in New York.

Monday night saw the opening of another smash, "Damn Yankees," with Bobby Clark as an added asset. "The Girl Friend" comes in next.

Victor Borge did sell-out business at the outdoor Greek Theater, drawing a staggering $85,000 with his one-man show. Now Harry Belafonte is pulling in the crowds, and he'll be followed by the Ballet Russe, "The Red Mill" and "Student Prince."

The new but often vacant Huntington Hartford Theater has finally found a hit with "Anastasia" and will doubtless do well with Melvyn Douglas in "Inherit the Wind." The town's veteran legit house, the Biltmore, lights up again tomorrow night with the Broadway company of "Witness for the Prosecution" for an unusual four and a half week run.

It appears that Los Angeles will support the legit—in the summertime, at least.

Icelandic Vote Raises Big Concern In NATO

By CARL HARTMAN
PARIS (AP)—Election gains by Icelandic parties anxious to mothball the U.S. air base there are causing concern in this North Atlantic Alliance headquarters. But hope persists that the Americans will stay.

Under the present agreement, the U.S. force need not move out until Feb. 1, 1958. A lot of things can happen before then.

What supporters of NATO hope will take place is a revision of the agreements between Iceland and the United States that will permit the base to be maintained and give Iceland some advantages at the same time.

One such compromise might be the replacement of some U.S. military personnel by civilian Icelanders.

This would serve two purposes: 1. It would ease a source of tension by reducing the number of Americans—more than 4,000 stationed among only 160,000 Icelanders.

2. It would give some Icelanders permanent employment instead of the temporary jobs they now get in connection with maintaining the base.

The big base located at Keflavik is manned by a battalion of U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force men. With several auxiliary stations, it serves as a listening post for the early warning radar system guarding the Western hemisphere.

Some alliance officials are keenly conscious of the fact Iceland joined NATO without contributing either troops or bases.

When the Korean War broke out, Iceland agreed to the NATO installations.

Now that East-West relations seem brighter, however, Icelanders are less ready to endure the inconveniences of the bases. They feel if their allies want to keep the base, Iceland should get compensation.

NATO sources, on the other hand, feel that Iceland should contribute something to the alliance—if not men or money, at least bases.

Since the election, leading Icelanders have been reported as saying they have no intention of backing out of the alliance. Just what they intend to do will only be seen after a new Cabinet is formed. Since no one party has a majority now, the Cabinet must be a coalition and much will depend on which party swings the most weight.

Truman Denies He's Plotting With Harriman

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says he and New York Gov. Averell Harriman are not "plotting" to keep Adlai E. Stevenson from getting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Truman also says he will not try to boss the national convention, does not want to be the keynote speaker and is not seeking to influence the choice of a key-note favorable to Harriman in his bid for the presidential nomination.

Truman scoffed at the "plot" idea yesterday during his customary early morning stroll as newsmen asked him about published reports.

Truman, who has said repeatedly that he is neutral in the contest for the presidential nomination, said in reply to questions about the reported "plot":

"That's the first I've heard of it. Plots are outside my ken. The convention is wide open. It wouldn't be fair for me to try to run the Democratic convention, because I have no desire to be a political boss."

The ex-President added that "any man qualified has a chance" for the nomination.

Concerning the nomination bids by Harriman and Stevenson, he said:

"They are the most talked about men. They're both perfectly capable of making a good president. I like them both."

July 4 Figures Display Scrambled National Race

Yanks Still Hold Slim Lead In American Loop

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Tagging the July 4 leaders as the probable winners in the major league pennant races is a game of chance at best. This year it's a game of blind man's-bluff.

Milwaukee and Cincinnati, each having to battle back to salvage a split, and Brooklyn are so close you could cover them with a Bikini bathing suit after yesterday's National League double-headers.

And while the New York Yankees still boast a 3½-game edge in the American League, Mickey Mantle's on the bench with an injured knee. Who's going to bet on the Yanks without Mantle?

Great pitching and heavy swatting won for the three NL leaders. Milwaukee dropped the opener to St. Louis 6-4 on errors, then bounced back 6-1 as Bob Buhl spun a three-hitter to retain the Braves' 5½-percentage-point lead.

Chicago's Cubs edged runner up Cincinnati 5-4, but then were bopped by back-to-back home runs by Ted Kluszewski, who had three for the day, and All-Star Frank Robinson in the 4-3 nightcap as unbeaten Brooks Lawrence won his 11th.

And Brooklyn backed up Don Newcombe's 10th victory with 15 hits for a 15-2 runaway in the opener against New York, then eased up as rookie Don Drysdale and reliever Clem Labine came within two outs of a shutout in the 6-1 afterpiece. That hoisted the Brooks within a half-game of first.

It also dropped the Giants into the cellar.

A six-run first inning gave Pittsburgh the second game 8-4 after Philadelphia won the opener 4-2.

The Yankees broke even by belting the Red Sox 9-4 after losing 7-6 in 11 innings. Second-place Chicago split with Kansas City, winning 5-2 as Billy Pierce claimed his 13th victory, then losing 3-2.

Third-place Cleveland swept two from Detroit 6-4 and 3-1. Washington beat Baltimore 10-8, then lost 7-4 in a rain-shortened, six-inning nightcap.

Ken Boyer rapped his 20th home run for the Cards, but it was five unearned runs in the seventh that won the opener for St. Louis and Murry Dickson. Gene Conley lost it. Buhl and Lindy McDaniel were in a scoreless duel until the Braves scored three in the seventh of the nightcap and then Hank Aaron socked a three-run homer in the eighth. Card Manager Fred Hutchinson, just back from a three-day suspension, was chased for the fifth time this season in a nightcap dispute.

The Cubs scored two in the ninth getting the winner on Dee Fondy's sacrifice fly, to beat the Redlegs and Art Fowler. Esie Banks hit his 21st homer and Walt Moryn his sixth for the Cubs. In the sixth inning of the second game, Ted Kluszewski walloped his 20th and Robinson followed with his 19th. Big Klu hit a two-run homer in the first inning of both games. Jim King homered twice for all the Cub runs off Lawrence.

Newk, who hadn't worked since June 21, had a two-hit shutout for seven innings, then left for a pinch-hitter in the ninth. Roy Campanella and Duke Snider each homered. The Brooks got three in the first inning of the finale, then added two on Carl Furillo's third-inning double.

The Phils got all their first-game runs on a pair of homers and a single by Elmer Valo and a home run by Marv Blalock when he hit stru-yl.

ingout elcfa, aOKZ's RORS AND his provided the Bucs' big first against Stu Miller in the nightcap. Elroy Face won it.

Mantle pulled some ligaments throwing to the plate after fielding Jim Piersall's bust-up single in the 11th inning of the opener. The injury wasn't considered serious, but the Mick's hurts have a habit of getting worse before they get better.

Ted Williams homered for the Bostonians and Billy Martin slugged one for the Yanks, who scored four in the ninth only to have the Red Sox tie it with one in the last of the ninth.

Bill Skowron hit a two-run homer and Don Larsen smacked a solo shot in the nightcap. Larsen won with relief help. Piersall had 6-for-10 for the day.

Pierce struck out eight for his eighth straight victory while the White Sox scored three in the first off Jack McMahon. The As got three off Gerry Staley in the first to win the nightcap for Alex Keller, with relief help from Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz.

Al Smith had five hits and two walks for the Indians, stretching his hitting streak to 17 games, and produced a two-run triple in the ninth to win the opener for Herb Score. Vic Wertz smacked his 18th homer with two on to break a 1-all tie. Early Wynn spun a four-hitter in the nightcap, with Smith again batting in two runs.

Washington had an 8-0 lead after four innings, but barely got home safe in the opener. Baltimore scored four in the sixth to win the nightcap, which Senator owner Calvin Griffith protested. Umpire Ed Hurley, permitting play in a sixth-inning drizzle, called it in the seventh although the Nats contended the rain hadn't increased. Hurley cited thunder and lightning.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS
By The Associated Press
PITCHING: Bob Buhl, Braves, turned back the Cardinals on three hits 3-1, with the lone run unearned, to retain Milwaukee's first place edge after St. Louis won opener 6-4.

Al Smith, Indians, reached base safely seven times with five hits and two walks and stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 17, delivering a winning two-run triple in the ninth inning of the opener and bringing two runs home in the nightcap as Tribe beat Tigers twice 6-4, 3-1.

Twin Wins In Little Loop

TAR HEEL LEAGUE
Exchange	W 3 L 2
Moose	3 2
Pepsi-Cola	3 3
Elks	1 3
NORTH STATE LEAGUE
Lions	W 5 L 1
Kiwanis	2 2
V.F.W.	2 3
Jaycees	1 4

In a Fourth of July double-header at Elm Street Park, the loop-leading Lions moved nearer to the second-half championship by downing the V.F.W., 2-1, in the North State circle, while Pepsi-Cola pulled a startling 7-4 upset win over the Exchange Club in the other league.

Continuing their trek to the North State title, the Lions, behind the six-hit pitching of their top moundsman Alan McArthur, barely edged the V.F.W. McArthur hurled close ball, striking out 10 batters and walked three.

Opposing pitcher Jody Blalock turned in a fine performance both at the plate and on the hill. He held the winning team to only two hits and struck out 12, walking only one. His hurling was statistically better than McArthur's, but the latter had the stronger team at his back. Blalock also punched out three of his crew's six hits to take top batting honors for both squads.

The Lions scored twice in the first inning and were never behind in the contest. The V.F.W. cracked in a run in the fourth but were unable to bring in more.

Pepsi-Cola Comes Through
With the Cannon-Collins battery going full blast for the Pepsi-Cola team, the Exchange club, after stamping to an easy first-half championship in the Tar Heel loop, never had a chance yesterday.

Cannon allowed only five base hits, fanned two, walked four and left four on the bases.

Boyd, who is credited with the loss, gave up eight safeties, struck out seven men, walked four and left six Pepsi boys stranded.

The Pepsi-Cola nine broke away with a quick run in the first inning and held it for two full frames. In the third stanza, the favored Exchange pumped in two scores, but Pepsi-Cola came back with five more to give them a 7-2 lead. Both teams scored again in the next inning, two for the Pepsi outfit and one for the Exchange.

The final score rested at 7-4.

Collins, catcher for the triumphant team, walloped two hits to pace both squads, along with Billy James, who achieved the same for the losers.

Whitley, Harper and Van Dyke punched out doubles.

Carawan came into the contest for the Exchange club in the final inning but his mound work never figured in the outcome.

MAJOR LEAGUE ATTENDANCE
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Major league baseball attendance yesterday showed an increase of 76 over July 4 of last year largely because National League fans turned out in greater numbers.

The four National League double-headers drew 116,463 fans compared to 103,316 last year for an increase of 13,147. The American League turnstiles clicked on 94,007 times for a decrease of 13,071 over last year when the total attendance was 107,078.

The total attendance yesterday was 210,470. A year ago it was 210,394. The largest crowd was 44,839 for the Brooklyn at New York twin bill.

One-third of Canada's population lives in Ontario.

Mantle Suffers Knee Injury

BOSTON (AP)—For the third time in less than a year, Mickey Mantle's right leg has become baseball's No. 1 medical problem.

The slugging New York Yankee outfielder, who currently is ahead of Babe Ruth's seasonal 60 home run record, suffered a "possible tear" of the ligaments of his right knee yesterday in the first game of a double-header with the Boston Red Sox.

How long will the injury keep Mantle out of the Yankee lineup?

"I'd guess two or three days, anyway," said New York trainer Gus Mauch. "We have to wait a day to see if the leg puffs up."

"Mickey will be okay," said Yankee Manager Casey Stengel. "He'll be able to play in a couple of days. I don't think it's too bad."

"I can't run on it," said Mantle, "but it doesn't hurt too much. I was ready for pinch hitting in the second game."

Mantle suffered the injury in the 11th inning of the first game as he fielded a hit by Boston's Jimmy Piersall and threw the ball to the plate. The throw was late and Billy Goodman scored the run that beat the Yanks 7-6.

"I did it (the injury) just as I bent down to field the ball," Mantle said. "I don't know how. I just bent over to get the ball and I felt the twist."

O'Connor Walks Off With International Race Title

By DEL BOOTH
DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — The International Raceway boasted a new speed record today for its annual Pee Dee 200 big car race, thanks to the steady driving of both the field and winner Pat O'Connor.

It was the 27-year-old North Vernon, Ind., speedster's first national championship race victory in eight years of trying.

O'Connor's victory was good for $3,750 plus manufacturers' prizes and 400 points toward the national championship. His speed of 124.833 miles an hour in his Sumar Special was almost 2 miles an hour better than the old record set by the late Manuel Ayulo in 1954.

National midget car champion, Jack Turner, of Seattle, Wash., was second and collected $2,250 of the $15,000 purse, which had not added money due to a slim crowd of 8,500 despite sunny weather. Third was Johnny Boyd of Fresno, Calif. He won $1,500.

This year's Indianapolis winner, Pat Flaherty, finished fifth for $900 and 200 more points for a national championship leading point total of 1,400. Just ahead of him in the race was George Amick of Los Angeles, taking home $875 for fourth.

The caution flag was out for but six laps altogether and those late in the race — a spin on the third turn by Eddie Sachs of Greensboro, N.C.; and again for a spin involving Dick Rathmann of Trenton, N.J. and Rodger Ward of Los Angeles. None of the drivers was hurt but the cars were unable to continue.

Gene Force of Richmond, Ind., made the only tire stop, and that on the seventh lap. The 95 degree temperatures and hot 1 1/2 mile paved track bothered none of the others. Andy Linden of Manhattan Beach, Calif., and Gene Hartley of Indianapolis, made the only other pit stops.

Al Keller of West Palm Beach, Fla., relieved Hartley on his stop a third of the way through and Bob Veith of Oakland, Calif., relieved Linden in the 146 lap grind. Linden previously had stopped for a mechanical check.

A broken drive shaft sent Billy Garrett of Burbank, Calif., to the sidelines a fourth of the way through the race. Keller brought Hartley's car permanently into the pits two-thirds of the way through.

All of the 10 leading cars finished the 200 miles, so close were the leaders. O'Connor lapped all but the second, third and fourth place finishers, then held things at that point. Eighteen of the 23 starters finished.

Other finishers in the top 10 in order and their prize money: Ed Elisian, Oakland, $750; Elmer George, Indianapolis, $600; Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., $562; Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa., $525; and Don Freeland, Ingelwood, Calif., $487.

Freeland picked up 60 points for a season total of 900 to remain in second place behind Flaherty in the national championship race. Linden, who started on the pole with a new record qualifying speed of 133.039 run Monday, finished 13th.

REJECTED FISH

READING, PA. (AP) — A Japanese manufacturer offered the city of Reading a fish for its Mt. Penn pagoda but Councilman Harold E. Guldin thought it wise to reject the offer. "It may create quite a few problems," he declared. The fish, a tile ornament, weighed two tons.

Seixas Falls In Wimbledon Title

By STERLING SLAPPEY
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Australia's second best tennis player Ken Rosewall has defeated America's best player, Vic Seixas, nine times in 10 matches.

That gives you an idea just how dark America's hopes are for bringing home the Davis Cup because Rosewall and Seixas are mostly likely to meet next in the Davis Cup challenge round in Adelaide between Dec. 26 and 28.

Their 10th meeting was late yesterday afternoon on the center court of the 70th Wimbledon championships. Their match was a semi-final Rosewall pulled out the victory with a comeback as fine as any seen here this year. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 6-8, 6-3, 7-5 in a long rain interrupted match.

At the finish Seixas showed a fit of temper, probably in utter disgust with himself. He threw down his racquet, refused to thank the officials, and would not go to the net to congratulate Rosewall and finally was consoled — by Rosewall.

Comments heard after the match ranged from "grotesque behavior" to "bad show."

After the final point, American Davis Cup Captain Talbert would not get into the predicting business on Davis Cup matters.

"I've said all during Wimbledon," Talbert declared, "that the two players most likely to play for America in the Davis Cup challenge round — if we are good enough to get that far — are Seixas and Ham Richardson.

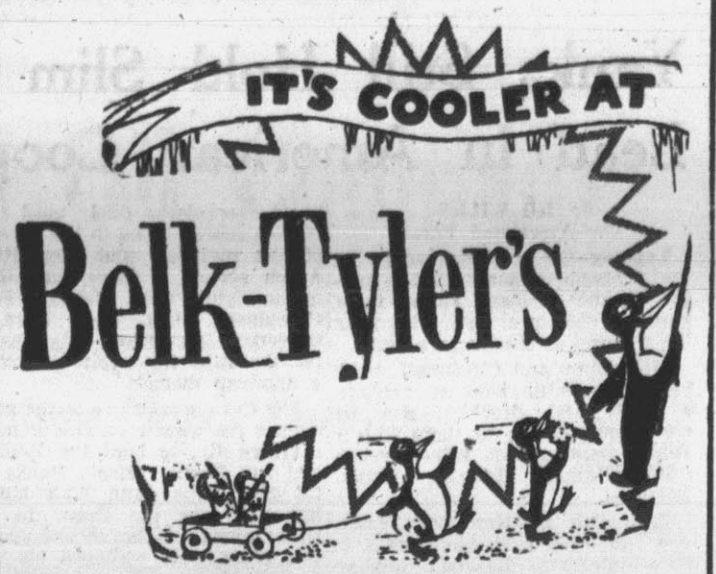

"Seixas is still one of the two despite his defeat today.

"Who else are we to pick? This isn't exactly a vintage year in American tennis. Tony Trabert is a professional and the leaves us with Ham, Seixas and four youngsters who are coming along but who have not arrived quite yet.

"One of the youngsters is Allen Morris of Atlanta. But he is not so young. He is 24. He got to the semi-finals here and that was fine but Allen has a lot to learn.

"Another youngster is Sammy Giammalva of Houston. He is 20 and a very good doubles player. Then there are Barry MacKay of Dayton, who is 19, and Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn. He is 18.

College View Moves Into First With Pony Triumph

League Now Deadlocked With Two Top Teams

PONY LEAGUE		W	L
Home Builders		3	1
College View		3	1
State Bank		2	2
Guaranty Bank		0	4

College View's Pony League baseballers jumped into a first-place tie with the Home Builders in the second half play Wednesday night, by dropping the leaders 9-7 at Guy Smith Stadium.

Home Builders won the first half crown and were unchallenged for the second half honors until the College View Crew's emergence as a threat, Wednesday night.

Benton hurled for the winner, chalking up 10 strikeouts, walking two and giving up eight hits. Robin Wilfing was credited with the loss. He allowed seven hits, fanned 15, and walked five.

In usual form, the Home Builders coasted for two innings, then erupted with five tremendous runs in the third frame to completely unsettle the College View underdogs. However, behind the hitting of Whitley, Stancill and Hodges, the College View came through with four of their own runs in the following inning. They added three more in the sixth and two in the seventh to wrap up the win, while allowing Home Builders to collect only two more.

Whitley, Stancill and Wade collected doubles for the winners to pace the team at the plate. Merrill Bynum clouted two two-baggers and Wright and Felton added one each to lead the losers.

Blair's Record Official After Search For Tape

NEEDHAM, Mass. (U. S. Olympic effect) Cliff Blair of the New York AC has bettered the world's hammer throw record under comic opera conditions.

The Boston University graduate threw the 16-pound ball and chain 216 feet, 4 1/4 inches yesterday to better the accepted world mark of 211-0 1/2, set by Mikhail Krivosov of Russia and the pending mark of 216-0 1/2, also set by Krivosov.

The throw first was measured at 216-3 1/2 with three 100-foot tapes. But records can earn official recognition only if measured by a single tape.

While darkness gathered and AAU officials Al Hart and Phil Claxton stood guard, a hurried call was sent out for a 300-foot tape. One finally was located at Harvard Stadium in Cambridge, 10 miles away.

Ralph Colson, another AAU official, drove to Cambridge, picked up the tape and hustled back for the measurement.

So, at 10:45 p.m., by the light of automobile headlights and with a band concert and fireworks going on all around them — the three AAU men officially measured Blair's throw at 216-4 1/4.

Briggs Pitches A Perfect No-Hitter

Service Battery	1	2	.333
Graniteers	1	2	.333

Perfect Game By Briggs

Charlie Briggs of Carolina Dairy pitched a perfect game against Service Battery, while Leonard Johnson spun a three-hit shutout for Southern Bread over the Graniteers Tuesday night at Guy Smith Stadium. Briggs, in chalking up his first win of the season, completely dominated the Service Battery team, walking none and striking out one, and allowing no one to reach first base. It was the first perfect game in over two years in the league.

The Dairy team collected 7 runs on 6 hits, taking advantage of 4 errors made by Service Battery, and playing errorless ball themselves. Charlie Moyer led the Milkmen at the plate with 3 for 4, including a home run. Johnny Foell collected a triple in three trips. The win boosted the Dairy's record to 3 wins and no losses to place them two full games ahead in the race for the pennant of the second half of the season.

Southern Bread, in winning their first game of the second half, collected 10 hits off Graniteer pitcher Dan Gordon. Johnson, pitching rapidly and well, allowed only three singles, in a game which lasted only 55 minutes. One of the hits was of the scratch variety. It caromed off a light wire back of second base and fell between the second baseman and shortstop. The other two hits, a bunt and a solid smash single to left in the seventh, completed the offensive efforts of the Graniteers. Johnson struck out one and issued no free trips to first.

Harold O'Kelley was the leading slicer for the Southern Bread team. He garnered a single, a double, and a home run in four efforts. Harold Ingram and McRay collected two hits apiece, and Tommy Davis, Johnson, and Earl Tripp got one each. McClanahan, with two, and Dixie Hobgood, with one, were the hitters for the Graniteers. The win boosted Johnson's record to 6 and 5 for the season. It was Gordon's third straight loss and his fifth of the season. He has won none.

Score by innings:

Carolina Dairy 210 040-7 6 0

Service Battery 000 000-0 0 0

Winner: Briggs. Loser: Ellington.

Southern Bread 101 000 2-4 10 2

Graniteers 000 000-0 0 3-2

Winner: Johnson. Loser: Gordon.

Souchak Does Well Despite England's Rough Weather

HOYLAK, England. (U. S. — Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., playing under incredible bad weather conditions, shot his second round of 74 in the British Open golf championship today for a 36-hole total of 148.

Souchak started the round six strokes off the lead, held by Dennis Smalldon of Wales with an opening round of 68 yesterday. The second round began on the 6,950, par 36-71 Hoylake course in a driving rain with gusts of wind near gale force.

Today's weather gave promise of much higher scoring than yesterday, when six of the 96 qualifiers bettered Hoylake's difficult par and five others equalled it.

Souchak, with a 38-36-74 score that included two birdies and 11 pars, stands a good chance of qualifying for the final 36 holes tomorrow and possibly of gaining on the leaders.

After today's play, the field will be cut to a maximum of 50 low scorers who will play the last 36 holes for the title tomorrow.

In his bid to overhaul the leaders, the powerful former Duke University football player actually was level fours at the 15th green after going out three over par. He took fives on the 16th and 18th — a par and a bogey.

The fierce wind whipped rain into the faces of the early starters all the way around the course. The weather was so bad that there was some possibility of having the day's play washed out if the conditions continue. That almost never happens in Britain, where they are used to playing golf in miserable weather on seaside courses.

Souchak missed a five-foot putt on the ninth green and took his fourth bogey of the round. Then at the 10th he began a remarkable streak of golf. He would have had a birdie there if his putt from across the green had rolled an inch farther.

write, "What would the dear Savior think of such actions?" But human nature was still human nature even in those days, and the diaries of the church committee note many lapses from grace. Here are a few entries:

"Oct. 22, 1779. It was an unbrotherly stroke of business for Heinrich Rauch to charge two poor brethren 18 pounds for their trusses, which he made in half a day."

"Nov. 7, 1783. In our opinion Claus Collin charges too much for the coffins he makes; therefore it will be well to confer with him the matter."

"Nov. 1809. Members... must see to it, as much as possible that the smoking of cigars by children and youths is stopped, about which parents and masters were recently spoken with."

Modern youngsters, who start "going steady" in their teens, would have found the early regulations unbelievably strict.

There was no such thing as courtship. Single men and women were quartered in separate buildings. Marriage wasn't by choice; it was by lot.

When a man expressed a desire to marry, the elders decided which girls were eligible. The name of each was written on a piece of paper and inserted in a goose quill. The bridegroom then reached in and selected a goose quill at random. The girl whose name it contained became his bride.

This custom died out after 1818 when John Beck, the village schoolmaster, stoutly insisted on the right to pick his own bride—and did.

Some oldtimers still insist that, by and large, the marriage by lot system didn't work out too badly.

"Marriage is a lottery any way you try it," one said, smiling. "And in the old days there weren't many divorces."

Midget Mother Of First Child

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 3-foot-7 woman and her 4-foot-7 husband are parents of a 4-pound, 7-ounce daughter.

The parents are Mrs. Trinidad Milano, 35-year-old housewife who weighs 88 pounds, and Joseph James Milano, 35, a machine shop worker. They are former circus performers.

Mrs. Milano gave birth Tuesday, through a Caesarean section, to Mary Ann. Doctors expect the infant to grow to normal stature.

"This is the happiest thing that has ever happened to us," Milano said. "We have wanted a child for eight years. We will try to give her the best."

Pitt Commissioners Call For Bids On New Cars For County Employees

J.T.S. BROWN'S SON CO. EARLY TIMES, KY.

If bids from automobile dealers are 'right,' members of the Sheriff's department, the tax department, the dog wardens and the county health officer will be able to park their private cars during working hours in the future.

The Pitt County Commissioners have called for bids on five cars for the sheriff, two for the tax department, one for the health officer, and two half-ton pick-up trucks for the dog wardens. The bids will be opened on July 16 at a special meeting of the commissioners.

The proposal to buy the cars for county employees has been kicking around for several months. Last month, the commissioners heard a report from one of their members, Robert Little, and County Auditor Reginald Gray which stated that the plan would work out financially if certain conditions were met.

Little and Gray recommended that if the vehicles are purchased the county hire a mechanic to wash, grease and maintain the vehicles; that the county buy its oil, gas, greases, tires, parts, and other items through the Board of Education at state contract prices; and that the county have its own dispensing facilities for the products to be used by the vehicles. The commissioners have already advertised for sealed bids on the vehicles.

The move to provide the county employees with county-owned cars and trucks is aimed at saving money. In the first nine months of the fiscal year which ended June 30, the Sheriff and his deputies were paid $5,262.63 for travel, the dog warden and his assistant collected $1,845.48; and the health officer was reimbursed $489.11. They were paid for using their own vehicles in an official capacity.

Army-Cut Seen As Propaganda

BONN, Germany (AP)—Communist East Germany's announced cut in its projected army — from 120,000 to 90,000 men—looks like a propaganda maneuver to the West German government.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's regime, refusing to be swayed by the soft Red words, transferred 9,500 trained frontier guards to the army it plans to swell to 500,000 for the Atlantic Alliance.

The transfer brought the West German army to 32,500 with 84,000 the target for the end of this year.

The Communist cabinet also announced it would not introduce conscription but would depend on volunteers for its "People's National Army." West German officials said the Red gesture obviously was intended to influence the West German Parliament, which itself votes on conscription this week.

The Western officials also speculated that the East German move was part of the Soviet bloc's show of disarmament — and that the East Germans probably could not find 120,000 volunteer soldiers.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market nudged higher early this afternoon with steel and aircraft leading the way.

Pivotal issues posted gains of fractions to around 2 points. There was a scattering of fractional losses.

Trading was fairly active. The market was mixed from the start. As steel extended their earlier gains and aircraft stepped ahead other divisions also showed a firmer tone.

The start of mediation talks in the five-day-old steel strike and conviction that a general rise in steel prices would follow a settlement underlay market feeling.

The steel continued their rise of Tuesday. Youngstown Sheet & Tube advanced around 2 points. Bethlehem was up more than 2 points. U. S. Steel and Republic Steel gained fractions.

Soaring went ahead around 2 points.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) — Hog markets were steady to mostly 25 lower today. Tops of 16.00 to 16.50 at Bethel; 15.25 to 16.50 at Rocky Mount; 15.75 to 16.25 at Kinston, Tarboro, Enfield, Benson and New Bern; 16.25 at Castle Hayne and Wingate; 16.00 at Lumberton, Rich Square, Murfreesboro, Goldsboro and Tabor City; 15.75 at Smithfield, Nahunta, Farmville, Beaufort, Dunn, Bailey, Newton Grove, Blackmons Crossroads, Whiteville, Clarkton and Kenly.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) — North Carolina fryers and broilers; market steady; farm prices 21, f.o.b. plant 20 1/4 to 20 1/2; Raleigh eggs steady, A large 42; Asheville eggs steady, A large 43 to 45.

Two Accidents On Highway 43

Two accidents occurred last evening on the New Bern highway, South 43.

At five o'clock, five miles south of the city, Louis A. Mills, 54, Rt. 2, Greenville, allegedly made a left turn into the path of a 1955 model car belonging to Mrs. Heber Forbes and being driven by Coy L. Forbes, 64, 216 W. 2nd St. Mrs. Forbes was taken to the hospital. At the time of this writing, Dr. Fred Irons, her physician, could not be reached for a statement concerning her condition.

Mills was charged with failing to yield the right of way. One mile outside of Greenville, last night at 10:15, Harold C. Nowland, 32, 12764 John St., Wyandotte, Michigan, was charged by patrolman Jim Boykin with following too closely when he ran into the rear of a car driven by Dalton E. Adams, 38, Rt. 2, Greenville.

Patrolman Boykin stated "both cars were headed south on 43 when they came up behind a car that was making a left turn. The car driven by Adams slowed down to avoid hitting the car turning off the highway. Nowland's car then struck the car driven by Adams."

Man Arrested For Interfering

Clifton E. Jones, 27, Negro, 804 Vanderbilt Lane, was arrested yesterday and charged with interfering with a municipal officer, and disorderly conduct.

The municipal officer was fireman Lyman Nethercutt who lives at 16 Vance Street. This is his story of what happened: "We arrived at the scene of the fire (South Pitt Street) and proceeded to locate and put out the fire. After extinguishing the fire the roll was called for volunteer fireman at which time Jones drove up and stopped about 30 feet from the front of the fire truck. Seeing that his car blocked the street so traffic couldn't move I asked him if he'd please move it. I know you can't print what Jones said, but he sure did cuss me out, asking me who I thought I was and when he got ready to move he would pull out in the street and not down to the front of the truck so traffic could get through."

"I told him if that was the way he wanted it then I'd call the police and see if they couldn't move him. Then he told me what he thought of both me and the police, all the while using obscene language. Finally, he pulled off and I got his license number. I went down to the police department and signed a warrant for his arrest. I understand the police picked him up and booked him in pretty short order."

The students are Gladys Cobb of Farmville, Robert P. Moore of Ayden and William L. Owens of Fountain.

A total of 51 students were named to the Dean's List for which a student must make a B-plus average.

Three Pitt County students have been named to the Dean's List at Atlantic Christian College on the basis of grades made during the spring semester at the college which closed June 1.
