Court Martial Of Drill Sergeant Opened Today, Several N. C. Officials Regard School Proposals 'Best Offered'

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—The general court-martial of S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon opened here today with the defense making a bid to sever for later trial all charges relating to drinking.

McKeon, a former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass., is charged with manslaughter in the April 8 drowning of six Marine recruits under his command.

It is an effort to comply with the decision. It looks like the best plan that has been proposed by any state. I certainly go along in endorsing it."

State Auditor Henry Bridges: "I think it is a workable solution. The whole thing is based on tolerance and I believe that if everybody will exert every effort to make it work, I believe it will."

Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw said he had carefully studied the proposed bills and that "in my opinion these measures are the best yet devised by any state to preserve our public school system and at the same time within the limitations of the law prevent the necessity of a child attending a school of mixed races against the wishes of his parent or guardian."

Scott-Timberlake Vows Said

Miss Jo Ann Timberlake became the bride of Walter Glenn Scott Jr. in a candlelight ceremony at four o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. James Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Timberlake and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sr., all of this city.

The Rev. J. Malloy Owen III, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring rites, spoken before a background of white gladioli, emerald fern and cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra. Pews were marked with ties of nylon tulle, and the family pews were distinguished with ties and white carnations.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Janet Watson, organist, and Miss Kay McCosley of New Bern, soloist. Miss McCosley sang "At Dawning," "I Love Thee," and as a benediction "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin. The fitted lace bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline accented with flower motifs outlined in iridescent sequins, and the long sleeves tapered to calla points over the hands. The bouffant skirt, which extended into a chapel train, was embroidered with applied flowers and featured front and back panels of lace on which the sequin motifs were repeated.

Her two-tiered veil of silk illusion was attached to a queen's crown of seed pearls and iridescent on matching lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Lilly Faye was maid of honor and Mrs. Jesse Jordan, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Florence Scott, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Barbara Cozart, Miss Nancy Howell, Miss Marjorie Manning and Mrs. Virginius Haymes.

Their waltz-length dresses of white lace over taffeta were princess style fashioned with portrait neckline and full gathered skirt. Their headpieces were tiaras of matching lace. They wore three-quarter lace mitts and carried cascade bouquets of Better Times roses entwined with ivy.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Perry, Miss Roselyn Waters, Miss Patsy Baker, Miss Ann Stokes, Miss Linda Whitehurst, Miss Barbara Corbett and Miss Laura Taylor. They wore waltz-length gowns in pastel shades and wristlet corsages of white carnations.

Mr. Scott served as best man for his son. Ushers were Harry White Scott, the bridegroom's brother; Charles Stewart Allen and Douglas Earl Allen, cousins of the bride; Sidney Elinu Briley Jr., Joshua Vann Carroll of Farmville and Joseph Tatum Pearson Jr. of New Bern.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Timberlake chose an afternoon dress of pink lace, matching hat and white accessories. Mrs. Scott was attired in blue lace and chiffon with pink accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at the Red Oak Clubhouse. For the occasion the reception room was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli in tall baskets, with magnolias banked in the windows.

Mrs. William Garvin of Norfolk, Va. and Leon L. Moore Jr. greeted guests and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fountain Jr. introduced them to the receiving line composed of the bride couple, their parents and the bridal attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Allen Jr. directed guests to the refreshment table which was covered with white organdy over green and featured decorative wedding bells and traceries of ivy. The centerpiece of white stock and baby's breath was flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapered ties with fern and ribbon. White mums and ivy surrounded the punch bowl.

Miss Ethel Beman of Wilson served punch and Mrs. Jasper Jones served bridal cakes. Guests served themselves to assorted nuts and mints. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Lyman Briley, Mrs. H. L. Roberts and the honorary bridesmaids.

Mrs. Vance Arnold, pianist, provided music for the occasion. Mrs. Jonathan Overton presided at the register and goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Owens of Tarboro.

For traveling the bride changed to a white linen dress with navy duster. With these she used white accessories and her corsage was the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After their wedding trip to the western part of the state, the couple will be at home at 2728 Bard Avenue, Ordinance ark, St. Albans, W. Va. where Mr. Scott is associated as an engineer with Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company.

Mrs. Scott is a graduate of Greenville High School and attended Meredith College. Prior to her marriage she was employed by the advertising department of radio station WGTC.

The bridegroom also graduated from Greenville High School and received his engineering degree in June from North Carolina State College where he was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi and Theta Tau honorary fraternities and Arnold Air Society.

Following the Scott-Timberlake wedding rehearsal Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glenn Scott Sr. entertained the wedding party, families and out-of-town guests at a cake cutting at their home on West Fourth Street.

Guests were fourth by the hosts. Throughout the home were arrangements of summer flowers. In the dining-room the buffet laid an arrangement of white gladioli flanked by silver candelabra with white tapered ties with fern. The dining table was covered with green organdy over white satin and appointed with silver epergnes holding white tapered spun with white pom pon chrysanthemums and fern.

From one end of the table Mrs. John W. Timberlake, mother of the bride-elect, poured punch. The wedding cake, iced in white and green and surrounded by white chrysanthemums and fern, was used as the centerpiece. After the bride- and bridegroom-elect had cut the first slice and members of the wedding party pulled the favors, cake was served by Mrs. John

"EASTERN CAROLINA'S SHOPPING CENTER"

Designers Capture Casual Look

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—If you're looking for a new fashion trend, visit the college girls.

This is a policy that has been followed for some years by St. Louis dress manufacturers, who in consequence have built up the St. Louis industry as a center of junior fashions. Working closely with students at Washington University's School of Costume Design, manufacturers keep in constant touch with campus fads and fancies and turn out the kind of clothes young people like to wear.

This year the casual look is having a boom around the campus, and the year's work of student designers shows a strong tendency toward lounging pajamas and dormitory outfits.

Typical of the general trend are three outfits designed by students for casual evenings at home or around the dormitory.

Joyce Verderber of St. Louis designed and made a simple but flattering pajama ensemble of striped and plain cotton, topped by a sleeveless mandarin coat.

Bob Yarbrough, Washington U. senior, designed a striking lounge outfit consisting of pajamas in striped cotton with a flared coat trimmed with cape collar and pieced fluting of white pique.

Liane John of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. teamed a cotton suede jacket with skinny pants of dark cotton and a blouse in bold stripes.

Many of the students in the costume design classes go directly from college to jobs in the garment industry, keeping the young viewpoint in St. Louis junior fashions.

Auxiliary tables were covered with white cutwork cloths and centered with silver candelholders banked by pink flowers. Bridal bridge tallies were used.

High score prize was awarded to Mrs. Reid Perkins and low to Mrs. David J. Whichard.

Various Causes For Retardation

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE M.D. AP Newsfeatures

A "retarded" child is one who develops slowly, and who cannot be expected to reach the same degree of maturity as a normal person. Their term does not signify a single disease—there are many types of retardation—nor does it signify how slow the development will be, nor what level of maturity finally will be reached.

There are many causes of retardation.

A few types do seem to be hereditary—they run in families; but the vast majority result from something that happened to the child before or during birth or soon thereafter. Sometimes doctors can give a name to a type of retardation but very seldom can they answer the question all parents want to know: "Why did his happen?"

Even though the question of the cause cannot be answered if it is useful to classify the retardation into its type. Because doctors have had much experience with the various types, they can make a few predictions of what symptoms are likely to develop in various types of retardation.

A mongoloid child is almost always sweet tempered and docile. A cretin is likely to be apathetic. Some kinds of brain-injured children are aggressive.

The type of retardation, however, tells us nothing of the degree. In any type we find children who are almost normal and others who are quite helpless. In planning for the future of any child we are more interested in how near normal he will be than in the name of his condition.

Retarded children are classified into three levels of development.

1. The marginal independent. Such a child develops too slowly to profit by the ordinary school program. He can, however, learn many skills in special classes. His learning rate is about 1/2 to 3/4 that of the normal child. By the time he is 16 he can have completed the schoolwork of the second to fourth grades. He can learn to do unskilled work and in a protected environment can support himself as an adult.

2. The semi-dependent retarded child is not able to profit from even special classes in the schools. His rate of development is from 1/4 to 1/2 the normal. He eventually will learn to dress himself, take care of his toilet needs, feed himself and get along in the family. He may do simple chores under direction. His speech will be quite limited. He will require some care and supervision and full economic support all his life.

3. The total dependent retarded child will not learn to take care of his own physical needs. He will need help in feeding, dressing and toileting all his life. His development is less than 1/4 that of normal.

The National Association for Retarded Children estimates that there are 25 children in every 1,000 who are marginal independents, 4 out of 1,000 who are semi-dependent and 1 out of 1,000 who is a total dependent.

It is important for parents to determine the degree of retardation of their child. A recent book can help them, not only in this important respect, but in many of the other problems that arise in the care of a retarded child. This book is "You and Your Retarded Child" by Kirk Karnes and Kirk.

Some 6,000 Retailers Visit Southern Furniture Exposition

HIGH POINT, N. C.—Some 6,000 home furnishing retailers have shopped the merchandise at the Summer Southern Furniture Exposition Building in High Point.

This 10-day market, July 9-19, has almost 400 manufacturers of home furnishings showing more new merchandise in the 12 acres of air conditioned display space in the 14-story building than ever before, according to Leo J. Heer, manager of the building.

The building is closed to consumers, but actually a lot of the new merchandise may be seen now in furniture and department stores across the nation, because merchants sampled many of the new offerings in spring pre-market showings. Buyers at the summer market are returning to make quantity purchases in preparation for Fall business.

According to Mr. Heer, exposition building manager, the outstanding market developed in the grading up, both in style and quality of construction. "Modern decorating tastes are resulting in high style for everyone in today's home furnishings," says Mr. Heer.

No single design predominates the summer market. There is a continuing use of clean, simple

Sewing Classes To Resume Tuesday

Sewing Classes, to resume Tuesday night in the Home Economics Department of Greenville High School, are open to anyone who desires individual instruction, either as a beginner or as an intermediate.

There will be eight informal classes, any or all of which may be attended, according to the individual problem. Beginning July 17 at 7:30 p.m., they will be on each Tuesday and Thursday night until August 9.

It is expected that some will make simple dresses while others will make curtains. The new bloused back styles are quite easy to fit, according to Mrs. Rebecca M. Smith, teacher.

lines in modern groups, and the modification of traditional designs to fit today's modern homes.

French and Italian Provincial designs continue to be popular and there is more of the Scandinavian and Oriental influences.

Strictly American styles—modern, contemporary and Colonial—are still among the favorites, according to Mr. Heer. Color in wood finishes tend toward light, mellow tones, to compliment modern home decorating schemes. In upholstered fabrics, the favorites are shades of blue brown, with white still remaining popular.

New construction features are present not only in structural assembly, but also in such functional details as magnetic door catches, metal drawer guides and hidden casters.

Choose Main Furnishings For Long Use

Setting up housekeeping in a small apartment may not be the realization of a bride's dream, but it can prove to be a "blessing in disguise."

In larger quarters, a young homemaker is often tempted to furnish too many rooms too quickly—with not-so-pleasing results. In a compact apartment, she can experiment. She can test pet theories, learn how to live with (and care for) furniture and fabrics, even make her first decorating errors—all on a less costly basis.

Here, she can learn the wisdom of starting with a few quality items and building around them. Temporary needs (such as end tables, lamps, and small rugs) may be filled with inexpensive things for the time being. But furniture that can later be moved to a finer home (such as beds, sofas, and lounge chairs) deserve to be the best the couple can afford.

A well-designed sofa bed, for instance, is "investment furniture." Available in a wide array of attractive styles, geared to function smoothly, and built to last, it's perfect for a den-guest room at a later date. As for the present, this two-in-one item conserves both space and money by doubling as a smart lounge by day and a comfortable bed at night.

We'll Know What Vote Is About

Governor Hodges' proposed safety valve legislation for dealing with the school situation in North Carolina has now been presented to the people of the state in a manner in which the voter can understand what they are voting on in September.

The five proposed legislative steps made public Saturday provide the machinery to carry out recommendations of the governor's Advisory Committee on Education. So far as we have been able to determine, the legislation to be presented before the special session of the General Assembly covers no basic principle which has not previously been discussed throughout the state. At the same time, the proposals cover all the vital items which need attention in order for the state to preserve its public school system in the face of integration problems brought about by Supreme Court decisions.

Adverse criticism of Gov. Hodges' handling of this matter notwithstanding, North Carolina's chief executive is to be commended for the manner in which the legislative proposals have been presented to members of the General Assembly and the people of the state. There is every reason to believe that members of the 1956 special session of the legislature will be the best informed group of lawmakers on specific legislation in the history of the state. From early indications it is likewise evident that the voters of North Carolina—when they go to the polls in September—will more clearly understand the proposed constitutional amendments than in any previous referendum on such matters.

The course which Gov. Hodges and his associates have charted for North Carolina in the face of one of the most serious situations in its history is, in our opinion, a wise course. It provides a method by which the state's public school system may be preserved. It likewise provides a means whereby integration of the races, although it threatens the public schools of the state, cannot disrupt the entire system of public education in North Carolina.

Although it is not perfect, the plan for preserving the school system appears to be a workable one that will provide maximum protection for the public schools

'No Donation Weeks' Is Bell - Ringer For Sure

With every week of the year designated as "Something Or Other" week, and many of the weeks having several designations, we have long since been firmly opposed to the designation of any more weeks in the year.

But the other day we found our adamant view of the matter shaken. The town of Andrews, South Carolina has come up with a week that really should be recognized and observed throughout the nation.

Andrews has officially adopted a "No Donation Week."

Citizens of the community were called on to "desist from solicitations" for the seven days.

In proclaiming the week, the mayor of Andrews asserted:

"Private citizens of Andrews have been solicited, entreated, cajoled, and coerced into making contributions and donations without surcease since the time of the founding of our fair city and citizens desire seven days' respite."

What community doesn't find itself in the same situation as Andrews? What individual or business has seen a whole week come and go without being called on for a contribution to one thing or another. Most weeks bring a number of such calls.

What a relief it would be to have just one week in which donations were not requested! It would be a relief to those who are called on for donations and likewise those who are asked to make the solicitations.

From the action of the South Carolina town, we take it that Andrews, like Greenville, doesn't have a United Fund.

In Such Cases, Time Becomes A Big Factor

The measure approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee which would allow the FBI to enter a kidnapping case in 24 hours rather than waiting the seven days now required under law, should be given approval by Congress.

In kidnapping cases, time is of utmost importance in protecting and preserving the life of the victim. Particularly is this true in cases where the victim is a child.

In the baffling Weinberger case which is still under investigation, the FBI had to wait seven days before entering the case officially. Whether its earlier entrance into the case could have altered the situation no one will ever know. Nevertheless, the full force of FBI facilities being thrown into a case at the earliest possible moment may mean the difference between life and death for the victim. It likewise may mean the apprehension of the kidnapers before their trail cools with the passing of a week.

of North Carolina. It is one which is based on choice rather than force. It is one which is based on cooperation between the white and Negro citizens of the state. It is one which, in our opinion, will provide a solution to the school problem for the people of North Carolina without adversely affecting the public schools of the state.

The proposals may be altered slightly as the General Assembly enacts them into law, but basically it behooves the members of the special session to follow the recommendations of state leaders who have spent months working on the problem unless they have a more practical solution to this difficult problem which faces the state and its public schools.

Up To Date With New Cut-Rate Ticket Plan

Bargain hunters with parking tickets can have a heyday in Greenville as a result of action taken last week by the City Council. It will take a little hustling, though.

The Council has made a ruling whereby parking violators will be charged only 50 cents instead of the regular $1 if payment of the ticket is made within 12 hours after the violation. After the 12-hour limit, all tickets return to their regular price of $1.

We doubt the new regulation will make any difference in the amount of money the city collects from parking violations or the number of tickets which are paid for. It's been our observation that those who are going to pay their tickets will pay the $1 just as readily as 50 cents. And those who throw the tickets away aren't going to pay them anyway.

In any event, the city is keeping up with the times by offering cut-rate parking tickets.

Camp Butner Story Termed 'Fantastic'

By LYNN NISBET
BUTNER—The story of Butner is fantastic. It partakes of adventure and romance and constitutes an important chapter in the history of North Carolina's progress in the war against mental diseases. When John Umstead got a tip in the latter part of 1946 that the military camp at Butner was to be deactivated, he immediately began negotiations to acquire the hospital for the State of North Carolina.

Reducing the story to bare essentials for purpose of this item, the negotiations resulted in the State of North Carolina acquiring the hospital buildings, an excellent water system, a lot of warehouses and some 14,000 acres of land for a total price of less than $2 million. A good deal of land has been sold, along with many of the buildings which were moved, and other buildings are being leased for commercial purposes.

The hospital board of control has spent some $8 million in appropriations renovating and remodeling and hospital and coming houses for attendants, in addition to hundreds of thousands more dollars received for the sale of land and material. Result is that in addition to a "youth center" prison camp and a special facility for treating alcoholics, the State has here one of its most modern mental hospitals. The unit houses some 1800 mental patients, and buildings are nearing completion for a mental defectives training school to accommodate 600 to 700.

The hospital board is presently seeking $10 million to complete the modernization of the entire plant, which will provide facilities for some 3,000 mental patients and 1200 mental defectives. Approximately half the amount is needed now, the rest over a period of five to ten years.

The presentation of needs here was similar to those heard already by the advisory budget commission at Goldsboro, Raleigh and Caswell.

POLICY—There was perhaps more elaboration on overall hospital board policy. It was reported that accelerated efforts to collect the cost of treatment from patients and their families are resulting in substantially increased receipts. The several hospitals last year collected about three quarters of a million dollars, as compared with less than $100,000 a few years ago. Dr. J. W. Murdoch, general superintendent, made the point that payment of all or part of the cost is good psycho-therapy. A relatively new source of revenue is the cooperation among State and Federal agencies with respect to having old age and veterans benefits diverted to the hospital.

The permanent improvements planned will save the State money in the long run, said Chairman John Umstead, by reducing maintenance and operating costs. A lot of the construction work on houses has been done by force account from materials on the property. Umstead insisted that this did not "cost the State anything." Budgeteers reminded that the property—timber and old buildings—belonged to the State and their use did cost the taxpayers the market value.

BLIND—Also on the Butner property some distance from the hospital is the N. C. Rehabilitation center for the blind. Members of the budget group were surprised at the scope of activities here. The plant was established in 1947 as an expansion of the center previously operated at Greenville by the State Commission for the Blind, at a cost of $600,000. It has an operating budget of $95,000 a year, of which $39,000 comes from legislative appropriations. The balance is from Federal and individual payments, donations from private sources—mainly the Lions Clubs.

Purpose of the institution is to teach people how to live without sight. Major effort is expended on adults who have lost their vision, and who are in need of help not from morale building and technical training viewpoints.

DURHAM—North Carolina College at Durham, sometimes called the Negro University, like other Negro educational institutions visited by the advisory budget commission, has lost enrollment during the past year. Chief drop was in out-of-state students and the increased tuition fees are held responsible. Out of state tuition here is $500, same as at Chapel Hill and State College, and $100 more than at A&T.

President Elder protested the discrimination, but admitted that it is too late for a correction to have much effect on 1956-57 enrollment. He asked instead that adjustment be made in the board bill of students, since the custodial fund shows a balance and room rent cannot be reduced.

Despite the drop in attendance, Dr. Elder is optimistic about the future. He fully expects the current 1450 enrollment to go up to 2000 in a few years. To that end he asked for a new girls dormitory, at estimated cost ranging from $881,500 to $1,386,465. Also for a student union building to cost $642,534.

The college plant here is perhaps the newest and best in the whole state. Operation and maintenance allocations have been too low to adequately maintain the buildings. The budget commission approved transfer of some left over funds in building accounts for improvements on the swimming pool.

Advantage of closing out the law school, which has only 19 students, since law students are being admitted at Chapel Hill was discussed informally without decision as to what course might be recommended.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
LAST WORDS
Recently two men in Utah were executed for murder. Because of legal delays, they had spent a long while in prison, with time to think. A few hours before the end, they issued a statement, part of which reads as follows:

"In youth we were denied parental care, affection, and guidance. Religious training would have pointed us in the right direction, but we were not taken to Sunday school or to church services.

As a nation, we are traditionally generous to our children. Every year thousands of parents who did not go to college make sacrifices to send their children there. Boys who two generations ago would have been milking the family cows now drive to high school in their own cars.

But money cannot buy the most important things which parents can do for their children. All children, rich or poor, need a strong and constant sense of their parents' love to give them the deep-seated security which will help them grow into happy, well-adjusted citizens. All children need the most and best religious instruction available, both at home and in the church, Sunday school, or synagogue.

These are basic requirements for a good childhood. Fortunately, they do not depend on wealth or position. Every parent in our country can provide them for his children at no cost save his own effort and devotion.

President Elder protested the discrimination, but admitted that it is too late for a correction to have much effect on 1956-57 enrollment. He asked instead that adjustment be made in the board bill of students, since the custodial fund shows a balance and room rent cannot be reduced.

Latin America Tourist Boom

By ELMER ROESSNER

For 30 years travel authorities have been predicting a boom in South-of-the-Border auto travel.

Look for a start this winter. Backbone of expectations is the Pan American Highway, from the U.S. border to the Panama Canal. The trouble so far has been the gaps in that backbone that no chiropractor could cure.

The highway ran from the border, after a fashion, to Guatemala. There the former Communist regime sabotaged the project. This year that link will be completed, and a continuous highway will run from the border through Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The last leg, through Panama, is far from completion.

You can count on Latin Americans to whom up the opening of the road. Already an initial caravan is being planned. Autoists from Canada and the United States are being invited to assemble in Mexico City November 8, and to roll southward en masse on November 10. All the way along the spine will be fiestas, cantinas, guides, dancing girls and "assistance of a personal nature." If this doesn't get Latin-American tourism rolling, nothing will.

That persons over 65 spend an average of $102 a year for medical services, compared to $65 for the general population.

That language difficulties aren't just a problem with people—birds have them, too. An American crow, for example, doesn't understand some of the cries of a French Crow.

Success On The Market

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Many people are disturbed over the way the stock market has acted during the past few weeks. In short, the Industrial Averages from a high of 521 to a low 469. Those, however, who have read this column during the past months are not surprised.

PEOPLE ARE TOO SELFISH

Losses in the stock market are due primarily to selfishness. This applies to even the "conservative investor," so called. He tries to get a higher rate of return than his investment deserves, or else he tries to avoid paying income taxes by burying second-grade revenue bonds issued by "authorities" of turnpikes or of small communities, mostly in the South. Unless the investor supplies something along with his money, he is headed for trouble.

This is not a criticism of small towns and cities. I much prefer "full obligation" bonds of such small communities to the bonds of big cities. These latter usually both suffer from poor government and also would be vulnerable in case of World War III. "Bigness" is no more a good measure of a community's credit than of a man's character. There also are good revenue bonds; but I like to buy them after the electric, gas, or water plant has been installed, or after the pike has been built.

WE CAN'T CHEAT NATURAL LAWS

Statistics show that the nation is increasing its wealth only about 3 1/2 per cent a year. In order for an investor to get safely more than 4 per cent he must render some real service. In addition, let me add that the small cities are growing more healthily than the big cities. I have noticed that most of the sensible graduates from college this June have insisted upon taking jobs in smaller cities. Such places are having the soundest growth, are the best in which to bring up a family, and should be the safest in case of World War III.

The Bible tells us that the fruits we get out of life equal only what we put into it. Surely, in the long run, we reap only what we sow. Action and Reaction applies not only to mechanics, chemistry, and all the physical sciences, but to character building as well. All natural laws apply to successful investing as well as to successful living. Money can temporarily be secured through begging, stealing, or speculating; but usually such money is lost, or the so-called owner does of a heart attack. Very seldom does such money do the children and grandchildren much good.

TOO MUCH EDUCATION?
I believe in Education; we probably cannot get too much of the right kind. This especially applies to Atomic Engineering and Business Administration. Education as it is passed out today by High Schools and Colleges will never help the graduate to build up an estate and keep it. The honest and successful way to create a fortune is by rendering service. To do so requires that you and I store up cash during these boom times so as to help the nation when it again "goes through the wringer." But should we expect a college professor who has not done successful investing for himself to teach it to others?

Those of us who will then have the case to buy, build, and invest, during the next period of depression, will render great service. For this service we will be richly rewarded. The savings which we are holding today to invest then should be multiplied two or three times in a short period. If educators would give more attention to character building and economic laws, and arouse in sufficient students a desire for service, I forecast that unemployment could be eliminated and we would have a much happier world.

Friends Voice Grievances Against U. S.

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Sharp criticism of American foreign policy was expressed at the recent London Conference of member nations of the so-called British Commonwealth. According to diplomatic reports, almost every statesman present voiced grievances against our attitude on worldwide controversies. Strangely, they regard us as too blustery and belligerent, especially Secretary Dulles and Congress.

No decisions of major import are ever reached at these periodical meetings, which are conducted in utter secrecy. Thus, they provide a unique opportunity for a frank and sometimes bitter discussion of the state of the universe, which they found to be extremely sad and disturbed.

CAUSE FOR CONCERN
In view of the general dissent from Washington's overseas program, it is a miracle that relations between the United States and the Commonwealth remain as stable and harmonious as they are. It is due only to the fact that any open collision or crack-up would be fatal to the democracies. But the pronounced disagreement and restlessness are cause for concern.

Every member, including treaty Allies and such neutrals as India and Ceylon, criticized us for our continued suspicion of Russia and Chinese Communists. Prime Minister Nehru insisted that both regimes will cooperate peacefully with the West, if given a chance. All expressed a desire to open new avenues of trade and communications with the Reds. Nehru scoffed at the idea that the Kremlin wants or contemplates war.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER TO CHIANG KAI-SHEK
In his message to the Congress of last year, President Truman, in referring to the Chinese Communists, said they were "circled" by the Conference halls. They purported to say that, like was veering toward a "less rigid" attitude toward Peiping. These rumors are understood to have persuaded Ike to send his recent letter to Chiang Kai-shek, assuring him of our continued support.

Our NATO policy was another subject of acrimonious debate. Nehru, of course, opposes it completely as dividing the world into "two hostile forces." He referred cuttingly to the action of Congress in reducing foreign economic aid appropriations while boosting the military budget.

The British would like to withdraw 20,000 troops from Europe, and reduce their enlistment period of 18 months, thereby relieving the drain on the Exchequer. They contend that increasing reliance on tactical atomic weapons permits such a shift. But Washington cautions against weakening the European defense force.

The British chided us for not giving them greater support in the Cyprus controversy: In view of our generous aid to Turkey, which is represented at Washington by Thomas E. Dewey, they thought that Dulles could have—and should have—persuaded Ankara to accept the now abortive compromise for eventual self-determination, with provisions protecting the Turkish minority on the Mediterranean Island.

EDEN'S REASONS FOR STRICT CYPRUS ATTITUDE Eden defended his harsh behavior toward the Greek Cypriotes. Without Middle East oil, he warned in grave tones, Britain would be done for economically and militarily. And the West would stand in great peril, if Russia gained access to this strategic area, he added.

Many spokesmen blamed the U.S. for the Middle East turmoil that has already given the Communists a foothold there. They held Truman's favoritism toward Israel responsible for antagonizing the Arabs, and Ike's brusque handling of Nasser as the reason for the Egyptian dictator's tie-up with Czechoslovakia and Moscow.

The Commonwealth members could not settle their own disputes, Nehru made so much of on the Kashmir squabble in talks with the Pakistan opposition. Nor did Nehru derive an satisfaction when he complained of South Africa's discrimination against Indian minorities.

In short, it was an extremely democratic proceeding, in contrast to Soviet concoctions, in that there was utter freedom from self-criticism. But at this particular moment, as Washington views it, that kind of freedom can be an expensive luxury, especially when Uncle Sam is the main target.

'Flood' Following Fire Has Tied Up New York Subway

NEW YORK (AP)—A jam-up of thousands of riders threatens during the rush hours today because sections of two subway lines were knocked out by a weekend fire in an abandoned department store.

Floods of water that cascaded into the East Side IRT line and the BMT line. Both link Brooklyn with Manhattan and serve a large area of Manhattan.

The stubborn fire, meanwhile, smoldered into a third day in the ruins of the old block-square building in lower Manhattan.

The toll of firemen treated for smoke poisoning, cuts and burns mounted to 187. Twenty were hospitalized.

Officials said a spark from an acetylene torch may have started the blaze Friday. Wreckers had recently begun demolishing the ornate stone and iron structure.

The fire apparently smoldered in the basement until late Saturday afternoon. Then flames suddenly shot up an air well in the center of the five-story building and spread to the roof.

The five-alarm fire roared out again on the flooded sections of the two lines.

The Wanamaker building occupied the block between Broadway and 4th Avenue from Wanamaker Place to 10th Street. It was erected in 1862 as the city's first with a cast-iron skeleton and facade.

The store closed its doors for the last time Dec. 18, 1954, after 58 years in business. The management said the location was no longer profitable.

The flood halted service between Brooklyn Bridge and the 23rd Street station in Manhattan.

Last night water covered tracks in the 8th Street station of the BMT line, stopping service between Times Square and Canal Street in Manhattan.

Pumpers worked through the night to clear the BMT station. But there was no official word when trains would be running

Whistling Has Lady Promoter

RICHLAND, Kan. (AP)—This eastern Kansas village may have the whistlingest small fry in the country, thanks to Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark Gray, former treasurer of the United States.

Mrs. Gray, treasurer in the Truman administration, is Richland's First Lady, only banker and announced opponent of gloom and long faces.

She likes the cheery sound of whistling. A while back she decided there wasn't enough of it, especially among the younger set.

So now every Saturday afternoon, when farm folks come to town for shopping and chit-chat, you can see a flock of youngsters strutting importantly up and down main street whistling their heads off.

A judge is posted along the route, and the two best whistlers get a silver dollar each from Mrs. Gray. The triumph also entitles them to compete for the grand championship at the Richland fair in August.

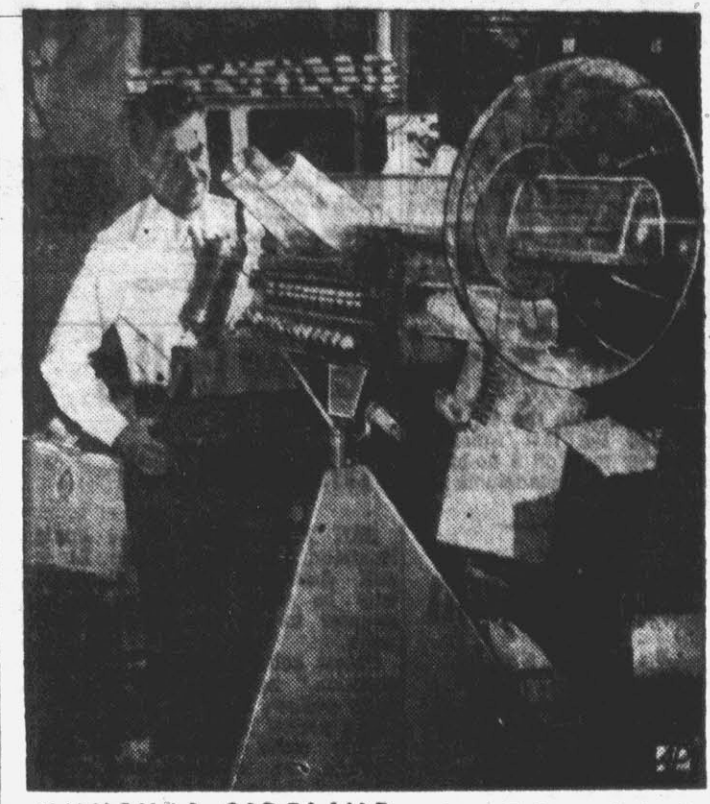

A different judge is named secretly each week.

"If the kids knew, who he was," Mrs. Gray explained, "they'd whistle him dead."

Once a grizzled old-timer in his 70s, warbling like a meadowlark, horned in on the kids. Reluctantly, Mrs. Gray ruled him out.

Practicing goes on sporadically all week.

"I just love to hear the sound of whistling," Mrs. Gray said. "Why be gloomy when you can be cheerful?"

Marilyn Says Role Of Lady MacBeth Wanted

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Marilyn Monroe, who is about to costar with one of Britain's foremost Shakespearean actors, says she would like to portray Lady Macbeth — "some time."

Asked if Britain's chill nights had changed her views about sleeping in Chanel No. 5 and nothing else, Marilyn pondered a moment.

"Let's say that now that I'm in England I like sleeping in just Yardley's Lavender," she smilingly replied.

Marilyn's new husband, playwright Arthur Miller, who was present, was asked, "How do you see Miss Monroe?"

"Through two eyes," he said, adding, "She's the most unique person I ever met."

Eight nationally distributed morning papers ran 22 pictures of the blonde star today. The only holdout was the ultraconservative Times of London. Even the Communist Daily Worker front-paged her picture.

"I hate to say this," she added, shifting slightly in her form-fitting black dress, "because when I said I wanted to play Grushenka in Dostoevsky's Brothers Karamazov, people laughed."

"Please get me right," she said, "I don't mean I'd like to play her right now, but sometime."

Won $20,000, Is Back At Her Job

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP)—The winner of a record $20,887.20 on a $2 horse racing bet was going to work as usual today as manager of a women's dress shop, unless she has changed her mind.

Mrs. Virginia Peace, Gray-haired widow from San Diego, Calif., said that was her plan as she collected yesterday.

She had picked five of six winners in the fifth through tenth races and won the entire Caliente Sunday 5-10 pool, less the track's 10 per cent.

Track officials said the previous high payoff for $2 at North American tracks was $12,734.80 paid to a daily-double winner at Caliente July 4, 1954.

Four-Way Shift Of Ambassadors

WASHINGTON (AP)—A four-way shift of U.S. ambassadors in the Middle East reportedly will be submitted to the Senate for confirmation this week.

Egypt and Greece are the major countries involved. These are the changes for which President Eisenhower is expected to submit formal nominations.

George V. Allen, now assistant secretary of state for Middle East-African affairs and former ambassador to India and Yugoslavia, to become ambassador to Greece.

Career diplomat Raymond Hare formerly assigned to Iraq and now in the State Department here, to be ambassador to Egypt.

Ambassador Henry Byroade, now in Egypt, to be shifted to a similar post in South Africa.

Ambassador Cavendish Cannon, now in Greece, to become the first ambassador to Morocco.

Although there are periodic shifts in foreign assignments, transfer of both Allen and Byroade, himself a former assistant secretary, caused some surprise. No reason was given for the proposed shifts.

Some sources suggested that the change in Egypt may be a result of what is considered an increasingly pro-Russian policy of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government.

Life Spared By Short Circuit

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Seven-year-old William Daniel Enger climbed into a fenced substation of the San Diego Gas & Electric Co. and touched a copper bar.

It carried 4,000 volts. The contact caused a short circuit which automatically cut the current, sparing the boy's life.

His shirt and some of his trousers were burned away. He was in critical condition at the Naval Hospital.

Electricity to the area was disrupted for half an hour.

'Emergency' Salk Shots Program

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A statewide emergency has been declared in North Carolina to get more people to take Salk anti-polio shots.

Mass free clinics are planned, starting next Monday.

The North Carolina Medical Society's polio vaccine committee said that North Carolina ranks next to last among the states in the number of eligible persons immunized against polio.

Dr. Donald Koonce of Wilmington, president of the society, said 1,935,000 North Carolinians are eligible to receive the shots and only one third of that number have done so.

Miss Vermont Is Mink Rancher

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Miss Vermont is surrounded by mink, live ones, in her normal daily life but she doesn't have too high a regard for the valuable animals.

She is Dolores Weltack, 21, Westminister, Vt., a contestant in the Miss Universe contest.

There are 500 mink on the Weltack family ranch and Miss Weltack says:

"Mink can be unpleasant little beasts, inclined to eat their own young. My job is to water them five times a day and grind up the horse meat; they thrive on horse meat."

"I don't have a mink coat. We sell all the fur."

Yankees, Milwaukee Take Twin Weekend Victories

Bombers Are Now 10 1/2 Games Ahead Of Fold

WHITEY FORD . . . he and Bauer were responsible

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press
How about a split season in the American League with the New York Yankees 10 1/2 games out front?

With the exception of Boston and Baltimore, the rest of the league has taken off in a southerly direction while the Yanks pile it on. Chicago dropped to third place and Cleveland struggled back into second only because the White Sox have dropped eight straight.

Casey Stengel's runaway Yanks shaded Chicago twice Sunday afternoon 2-1 behind Whitey Ford and 6-5 in 10 innings on Hank Bauer's two-run pinch single. Cleveland clubbed Boston 10-7 in the first game with Sam Mele driving in four runs but the Red Sox got even 3-1 in the second as Dave Sisler and Ike Delock teamed up with a two-hitter.

Baltimore stormed past Detroit into fifth place by bumping the Tigers twice 7-2 and 6-3 on complete game jobs by Ray Moore and Hal Brown. Kansas City split two at Washington, winning the first 8-0 on a six-hitter by Wally Burnette, but losing the second 7-3 when the Senators clubbed Bobby Shantz in a six-run rally.

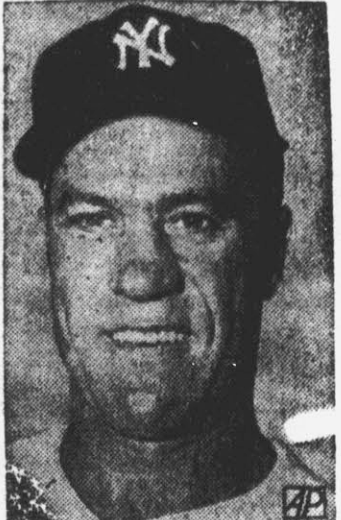

The National League-leading Milwaukee Braves used walks and Pittsburgh errors to take a pair 3-2 and 4-1 while Cincinnati went into extra innings twice to beat New York 4-3 in 10 innings on Bob Thurman's pinch single and 4-3 in 11 innings on Rocky Bridges' single.

Two homers by Carl Furillo, one with the bases loaded, helped Brooklyn to a 10-8 victory over Chicago in a rowdy game that turned into a beanball contest in the sixth inning. Manager Walter Alston of the Brooks yanked pitcher Don Newcombe, fearing a 10-day suspension for his ace for umpire Ed Hurley thought the White Sox were applying pine tar to the ball thrown by Pitcher Dick Donovan in the second game. He couldn't find any evidence after examining the gloves of catcher Les Moss, shortstop Luis Aparicio and third baseman Hatfield.

Mele drove in four with a double, single and sacrifice fly for Cleveland in the first game at Boston but nobody could do much with Red Sox pitching in the second. When Sisler weakened in the ninth and walked two, Delock struck out Al Rosen and Bob Lemon and got Hal Naragon on a fly ball. Smith's single and Rosen's double were the only Tribe hits.

Baltimore's pitching got fine support from Tito Francona who hit a homer in each game. Moore helped himself with two singles and a double in the first and Francona's grand slam boosted his total to six runs batted in for the day. Ned Garver and Virgil Trucks were the Tiger losers.

Burnette's debut was most encouraging to pitcher-poor Kansas throwing at a batter. Newcombe had been hit by a pitch and told Alston, "If they throw at me, I'll throw at them."

Stan Musial surged into the National batting lead at 327 with seven hits in nine at bats, including three doubles, a triple and homer as St. Louis split with Philadelphia. Musial and Al Dark drove in seven runs in the Cards' 9-1 opening romp. The Phils snapped St. Louis' four-game winning streak in the second 7-5 despite a two-run rally in the ninth.

Ford pitched a brilliant game for New York to beat Pierce, retiring the last 15 men he faced. Andy Carey's two-run single in the second was enough for Ford's 11th victory.

Fred Hatfield hit two homers for the White Sox in the second, one to break a 4-4 tie in the 10th, but the Yanks rallied in the bottom half on three walks and Bauer's clutch single for Johnny Kucks' 13th win.

City Joe DeMaestri and Gus Zernial led a 13-hit attack. Lou Berberet's three-run homer was the big blow for Washington in the fourth inning of the second game.

In the National, the eighth base on balls by Pirate pitching forced in the winning run in the eighth inning for Milwaukee's first game victory. Joe Adcock's 17th homer and his eighth in the last nine games made it easier for Bob Trowbridge and winner Taylor Phillips in the second.

Cincy wore down the Giants twice, taking the rainspattered opener on Thurman's pinch single. Reliever Buster Freeman won his second decision of the day when Bridges singled home Ted Kluszewski in the 11th. Willie Mays' 15th homer with a man on had tied it in the eighth.

Between the bean balls at Wrigley Field, Furillo hit two homers and Gene Baker clouted a grand slammer as the Brooks snapped a five-game losing streak. Newcombe was the winner although the relievers were hard pressed to hold off the Cubs.

Crippled Johnson Is World's Best

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Rafter Johnson, slightly crippled, is still the best all-around athlete in the United States and probably the world.

Given four months to get ready for the Olympics, the UCLA giant is capable of making the world decathlon target of 8,000 points a goal as obsolete as the four-minute mile and seven-foot high jump.

He showed the potential in Olympic tryouts and the AAU national decathlon at Wabash College Friday and Saturday, falling off a record pace only after he bruised a left knee nerve in his high jump.

The 20-year-old, 200-pounder failed to equal his 1955 world record of 7,983 points, scoring 7,754. He injured a nerve in his left knee Friday in the high jump.

The injury cut down his performance in the 200-yard event, from 12 feet 8 1/2 inches and in the 1500-meter run from 5:01.5 to 5:12.4.

He ran the 100-meters before he was hurt in 10.6 seconds, only one-tenth off his mark in the record decathlon.

The muscular Negro boy was disappointed but he shrugged off his injury.

"I always bang my knees in the high jump," he said. "I'll be back." Milt Campbell of the Navy, runner-up to Bob Mathias in the 1952

Parnell Still In Clouds Over His No-Hitter

BOSTON (AP) — Southpaw Mel Parnell, the Boston Red Sox' left-handed ace, beset by injuries the past two seasons, still was "up in the clouds" today after hurling the first no-hitter in three years in the American League.

"It's the greatest thing that ever has happened to me and I'm still trying to settle down," Parnell said with a grin yesterday after the Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians split a double-header.

Parnell, who is 34, said he was unable to sleep the entire night after becoming the first pitcher to toss a no-hitter in Fenway Park since Ted Lyons turned the trick for Chicago Aug. 21, 1926.

"I couldn't sleep anyway," Parnell said. "Then all those telegrams and phone calls from friends and fans started pouring in. I still haven't opened up most of the telegrams, but I appreciate every one of them. It's the biggest thrill of my life. I'm still up in the clouds."

Parnell, who suffered a cracked wrist when hit by a pitch at bat in 1954, was hobbled by an injured knee last season and had to have his name placed on the disabled list this year because of a severe ankle sprain, halted the Chicago White Sox without a hit Saturday in pitching a 4-0 victory.

The no-hitter was the first by a Red Sox pitcher since Sept. 7, 1923, when Howard Ehmke blanked the Philadelphia A's, 4-0. Bobo Holloman, then with the St. Louis Browns, was the last American League hurler to pitch a no-hitter. He shut out the Philadelphia A's on May 6, 1953.

Beverly Hanson Playing Better Than She Has

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Beverly Hanson, the Apple Valley, Calif., par-buster, yesterday, teaming with Mrs. Kathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla., finished a four-day sweep through the Hot Springs Women's Four-Ball Tournament.

"I'm playing better than I have for a long time," Miss Hanson said as she and Mrs. Cornelius wound up the 72-hole grind with a 276, a whopping 20 strokes under women's par and a competitive record for the rolling Cascades course.

The victory gave the Hanson-Cornelius team $1,450 top money in the $6,500 tourney. Miss Hanson's share moved her into sixth place among the money winners on the tour of the Ladies' Professional Golf Assn. with earnings of $5,871.

Miss Hanson and Mrs. Cornelius had a four-stroke edge over the runners-up, Mrs. Marlene Bauer Haggie of Asheville, N.C., and Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Haggie, leading money-winner on the LPGA tour with $10,526, and Miss Wright, had yesterday's best round, a 68, but their 280 for the 72-hole distance wasn't nearly good enough for anything better than $1,000 second place money.

A final round 70 took third place for Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Gloria Pecht of Whittier, Calif., at 280. They earned $900. National Open Champion Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Marilyn Smith of Bloomfield Township, Mich., were fourth at 288, earning $700.

Yellow Golfer Wins Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Junie Buxbaum, national Public Links golf champion finally disclosed why he wore the same yellow sweater in all his matches last week.

"Most golfers have a little superstition," he said. "Mine is the color yellow. I try to wear something yellow whenever I play."

This could account for fact Junie's cap, sweater and socks were of the same color when he turned back Navy C.P.O. Bill Scarborough of Jacksonville, Fla., in the Publix 36-hole finals Saturday 2 and 2.

Buxbaum is the same fellow who said he had no worries playing his semifinal match Friday the 13th. And the cracking point in his battle with Scarborough came on hole No. 18 of the second round when he sank a 25-foot putt for a par and Bill went one-over by missing a short putt after he had been in better position to the green and appeared in position to cut Junie's margin.

The end came three holes later when Scarborough hooked his drive down a steep bank along Lake Merced, which borders the par 36-36-72 Harding Park course.

During the match the lead changed hands three times although Buxbaum, 37-year-old former professional and now a Memphis businessman, held the advantage most of the time.

Babe Is Feeling A Bit Better

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Babe Zaharias continued to show improvement today from an operation designed to remove the pain accompanying cancer. She was able to admire some new dresses and start talking about getting out on a golf course again.

The famous woman athlete, who has been fighting the disease since 1953, "is doing better than anticipated," said a report from John Sealy Hospital. She was reported quite cheerful and yesterday had her first solid food since the operation Friday. She got milk toast and chocolate.

George Zaharias, her husband, said he was greatly encouraged at her progress and was hopeful of some "good news" within 10 days. George bought her some new dresses and that buoyed her spirits enough that she talked about getting new golf equipment and visiting a golf course.

Mrs. Zaharias had no pain from the shoulders down. The operation, which was to sever spinal sensory nerves, was on her neck. Only the site of the operation was causing her pain. This is the way of all operations, said Zaharias.

Intentional Beanings To Draw Suspensions

CHICAGO (AP) — The National League's 10-day suspension rule against a pitcher intentionally throwing at a batter makes a manager think twice when he has his ace hurler on the mound, bent on gaining revenge by dusting off a batter.

That's why Don Newcombe was yanked yesterday by Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston.

Newcombe, fired up after being hit by a pitched ball, was all set to "get one more" Chicago Cub batter when Alston made his seventh-inning pitching change.

The game, won by Brooklyn, 10-8, was a rowdy contest from the outset. "Each side had a few cases of throwing at each other," said Alston.

The throwing started in the early innings and the Cubs were angered when Newcombe sent Gene Baker sprawling twice after Baker had hit a third-inning grand-slam homer to put Chicago ahead, 1-1.

Jim Hughes, formerly of the Dodgers, hit Newcombe with a pitched ball in the sixth, and Newk apparently was all set to get even.

However, all four umpires called out Alston and Cub Manager Stan Hack and warned that an-

Tigers Will Probably Go To Big Syndicate

By DAVE DILES
DETROIT (AP) — The biggest money deal in baseball history will be consummated today with the sale of the Detroit Tigers and Briggs Stadium.

Only a radical change of heart by the six-man Board of Directors could keep a 211-man syndicate headed by Michigan radio executives Fred Knorr and John Petzer from gaining control of the franchise.

The five-million-dollar transaction will swing control of the Tigers away from the Briggs family for the first time in more than 20 years.

Four syndicates — including the Knorr-Petzer group — remain officially in the running. But insiders say only the combine headed by Bill Veck has even an outside chance of upsetting the radio executives.

Each of the four groups bid at least five million dollars. Veck, Baltimore brewer Jerold Hoffberger and New York broker John Hillson supplied nearly all the money for their syndicate's offer of $4 million dollars.

Knorr and Petzer are the big money men in the group whose bid may run as high as $5 1/2 million. It first was reported at an even five million, but one report is that over a period of several years it may run half a million higher.

Others in their party include crown Bing Crosby; Kenyon Brown, New York and Hollywood businessman; and R. F. Woolworth, New York investor and member of the dime store family.

Five of the Tiger directors, headed by Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., are members of the Briggs family. Their choice must be approved by trustees of the estate of the late Walter O. Briggs, and by the American League and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

Because it is not an auction sale, the club does not have to go to the highest bidder.

Two other bids of at least five million dollars are those by syndicates headed by Toronto sportsman Jack Kent Cooke and Hollywood movie producer Bob Goldstein.

Margaret Mitchell's novel, "Gone With the Wind," has sold more than 8 million copies in more than a quarter of their income for food.

Bethea-Slade To Be Feature Bout

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press
Wayne Bethea, recent conqueror of ex-Champ Ezzard Charles, and Jimmy Slade, the man who holds the jinx on hurricane Tommy Jackson, box the 10-round feature match tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Bethea upset highly-regarded Harold Carter of Linden, N.J., in a semifinal at St. Nick's a year ago. He moved into the main event class after that victory and has been successful.

Bethea, 24, will have about 15 pounds on Slade, 29-year-old fellow New Yorker, who is known in the trade as a "spoiler." Slade made the Hurricane look like an amateur while beating him twice. However, he found Floyd Patterson too tough and lost twice to him.

Bethea and Slade will perform on TV (Dumont) in some sections.

Tony Anthony and Tony Johnson, two New York light-heavies, meet in the Friday show (NBC radio-TV) at Madison Square Garden, the first time either man has topped a garden card.

Young Anthony, a former Golden Glove whiz, has won 26 of 30 with 20 knockouts but has been stopped four times.

Johnson's only 1956 start was a 10-round defeat by John L. Sullivan, making his record 23-7-8.

The International Boxing Club finally came up with a complete sub main event for the Wednesday show at Chicago Stadium (ABC-radio-TV) where middleweights Holly Mims of Washington and Spider Webb of Chicago will box.

A scheduled match between Willie Pastrano of New Orleans and Johnny Holman of Chicago and two ranking heavies, was knocked out when Holman developed an infected cyst on his left eyelid. After Archie McBride of Trenton, N. J. was subdued, Pastrano suffered a back injury in training.

American families spend about a quarter of their income for food.

Clothing Merchant To Retire July 23

IF I HAD A PENNY—If Ed Batchelor, above, had a penny for every time he'd picked up a pair of pants or a suit of clothes to show a customer he'd be rich. Batchelor has been in the men's furnishings business on Evans Street since the first day of 1917. He plans to sell his store in the near future and retire.

"Forty years ago on January 1, 1917, my brother Roy and I opened this men's furnishings store here in Greenville," reflected Ed Batchelor, "and since that time it has been a continuous business, and I hope it is around for many more years, although it will shortly be under new ownership."

Batchelor, who has been sole owner since his brother's death in 1928, said that he is selling out and retiring primarily because of his advanced age.

"The store as it stands presents a nice opportunity for the young man buying it," said Batchelor, "because the business is already established — not only locally, but over Eastern North Carolina."

The bulk of men's clothes carried by Batchelor Brothers is for the middle-aged and older man, although they do have in stock apparel for the young men. "If the fellow who takes over has fresh ideas for young men's clothes, he may expand the business even more," stated Batchelor.

For thirty-four of the forty years the mercantile store has occupied the same locality — 309 Evans Street, adjacent to the Hotel Proctor. From 1932 to 1938, Batchelor Brothers was located next to the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company.

In the earlier days, the Batchelor boys were active in all civic activities and are charter members of the Kiwanis and Greenville Golf and Country Clubs. Batchelor married the former Miss Marion Lytle, who is a native of Michigan, and who, at one time, taught at East Carolina College. They have three children and five grandchildren.

Crosby's Twins Just Plain GI's

SCHWENFURT, Germany (AP) — Bing Crosby's twin sons are just another pair of GI's to most residents of Schweinfurt.

"But people recognize me as a Crosby sometimes," Dennis Crosby says. "Must be the bald head."

Dennis like his crooner dad, is thinning out a bit on top. Dennis has been a mail clerk at the U.S. Army Base here since last July. Twin brother Philip—the boys turn 22 this month—arrived last February. They are attached to the 24th Medical Detachment of the 10th Infantry Division.

Their dad writes about twice a month, and, said Dennis, "they're very long letters."

Despite the musical successes of their father and older brother, Gary, the Crosby twins profess to have no musical talent. "I do play a mean phonograph," Dennis quipped.

Before entering the service, both boys were studying animal husbandry at Washington State College. They hope to get back to their Elko, Nev., ranch with its 5,000 head of hereford as soon as they finish their military tour.

Crank Call Kept Plane Grounded

ELKO, Nev. (AP)—What appeared to be a crank call grounded a United Air Lines DC6 with 63 persons aboard for three hours here last night before the plane continued its flight to Chicago.

A man called United's office in San Francisco, where the plane had just taken off.

"Oh my God," he said. "My wife is aboard. There's dynamite aboard." Then he hung up.

UAL messaged Capt. J. W. Nelson, who jettisoned gasoline and made an emergency landing at Elko's landing strip.

The passengers, including 18 members of San Francisco's municipal ballet troupe en route to their first tour of the Atlantic Seaboard, were hastily taken off with their luggage.

The plane was moved to a remote part of the field and thoroughly searched.

Passengers went through their own luggage with police, airline officials and express company officials looking on.

Nothing was found. The plane took off for Chicago three hours later.

"It must have been a crank," said a UAL spokesman in San Francisco. "It couldn't have been anything else, since nothing was found."

"But we couldn't know that," he said, expressed regret for the delay and inconvenience.

"We weren't taking any chances."

Woman Doctor Calmly Delivers Her Own Baby

NEW YORK (AP)—A young woman doctor calmly delivered her own baby on the front seat of her car yesterday while her jittery husband was driving her to a hospital.

Asked if she had been concerned about delivering the baby unassisted in such cramped quarters, Dr. Helen Stein, 25, said:

"Gosh, no. Women today make too much of giving birth. The natural way is the best. This was by far my easiest delivery. And my other two boys, Erin, 2, and Marvin, 1, were born in the hospital."

Mrs. Stein, an intern at Long Island College Hospital in Brooklyn, had gone on a jolting ambulance ride earlier on an emergency maternity case.

She helped deliver the woman's baby and then went home. A short while later she told her husband Martin she thought her own time had come.

'Voice In The Wilderness' Wonders What's Wrong With Drama On Radio

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP)—There comes a letter from a reader who requests anonymity:

"I'd like to speak about us radio listeners. My question is: Why do people who provide programs for radio think that all we listeners want from our sets is music, news, the weather and the correct time?"

"With the exception of the Mutual network, which still gives us a fairly balanced diet of talk, drama (including melodrama) and the aforementioned, it seems to me that about the only choice I find on my dial mornings while doing housework is which singer I elect to hear and which disc jockey annoys me least."

"Now I hear that an NBC network show called 'Weekday' is going to be junked in favor of a two-hour band stint in the mornings. I wasn't the most ardent 'Weekday' fan in the world because it was such a jumbled up show, but I can't imagine what kind of thinking went into a decision to transfer to orchestras."

"They say a survey shows that's

It started Saturday night when members of the North Coast Restaurant and Tavern Owners Assn. picketed places which had signed contracts with Locals 220 and 318 of the Bartenders, Waiters and

ENCHANTED HARBOR

By DOROTHY WORLEY

CHAPTER 16

"Miss Lambert didn't mind your going on a call with me this morning, Priscilla?" asked Dick.

"Why should she? Besides, she wasn't there. She went to breakfast with Bill Duval and hadn't got back. She left a note for me, then I left her one. I told her you had suggested that she go along with us and I was sorry she couldn't."

"Diplomatic of me to ask, wasn't it?" The young doctor smiled. "And of course she would have been just as diplomatic and refused. I'd rather have just you."

The top of the doctor's conversation was down and the sun felt good as the car sped along the highway. Priscilla was completely relaxed. This is exactly how one should feel on vacation, she was thinking. Here on a lonely road on a lovely morning with a devastating man I've just met. She put her head back against the seat, adjusted her dark glasses.

"This is my first trip South," she said, "and I find myself wishing I could stay longer."

"Why can't you?"

"Well," Priscilla's voice trailed off. Then she said vaguely, "We came to stay only a short while."

Out of a brief silence, Dr. Devereaux said, "How long have you known your friend?"

Some quality in his voice caused Priscilla to glance at him curiously. "Rita? About three years. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, I don't know. Just curious, I suppose." Dick's hand left the steering wheel, smoothed back his hair. This prying business was distasteful to him. He added, "There's quite a difference in your ages for you to be pals."

And you think there's some reason for our association, Priscilla thought. She started to say that they worked for the same firm, but remembering that they had decided to tell nothing about themselves, she said, instead, "I just like Rita. She likes me. Incidentally, you and Bill Duval aren't the same age, either, and you're friends."

"That's right," Dick admitted. "I'm getting off on the wrong foot, he thought. I don't know how to pry."

"Did you know that Bill Duval was going to ask her to breakfast this morning? Or did it just happen?"

"I didn't know. I must have just happened, as you say."

Priscilla was conscious of his hesitation. What goes on in this strange little town? "Now, I'm going to ask you something, is Bill Duval what he appears to be?"

Dick Devereaux glanced at her quickly, turned his eyes back to the road. "Bill is an adventurer of sorts. He's been doing a lot of loafing, a lot of fishing, and a little writing." He didn't like himself for his evasion.

"And what else?" Priscilla asked smoothly.

"Just what do you mean—what else?"

"I'm not sure that I like him," Priscilla said candidly. "He's a bit on the inquisitive side. And I don't like that way he has of seeming to watch everyone. Not just us, but his eyes follow people around."

They came to a country store, and the doctor stopped the car.

Outside the store, a tall young man, wearing a wide-brimmed hat, looked up from the paper he was reading, folded it, and strolled over to the car.

"Why, it's Pete!" Priscilla said. "Hello!" Pete said lazily, shoving the broad hat farther back on his head. "Aren't you rushing things a little, Dick?"

"As much as I can," Dick grinned. He turned to Priscilla. "Pete's envious. He has a way of horning in on my dates."

"Oh, yeah." Some of the lassness dropped from Pete's voice.

"Horning in isn't done only by me. I was here a long time before you came, remember?"

Priscilla thought, He's thinking about the Pomeroy girl. She remembered that Bill Duval had said she and Pete grew up together, while Dr. Devereaux was a newcomer to Apalachicola. She said lightly to break the slight tension in the air, "I'm still here, you know."

Both men laughed, a little self-consciously. "Turnabout's fair play," Pete said. "I have a hunch Doc is tied up tonight. How's for going stepping with me?"

"What is this? A scheme to make Peggy jealous?"

"She may have been jealous last night, seeing Doc with you. But as far as I'm concerned, she doesn't give a hoot. Is it a date?"

"This really is a strange sort of town. Must be a lack of girls. I've been here a couple of days and here I'm dating the most attractive men in town."

Pete bowed from the waist. "That's easy to answer. You look in a mirror occasionally, don't you? By the way, I understand there's to be a big party on board the Silver Song. That guy's getting friendly all of a sudden."

Priscilla looked at Pete, then at Dick, sensing that this intrusion of Luis Alvarez into the conversation was deliberate.

Dick was looking at Pete keenly. Had the reference to Alvarez also enticed Pete's help? And was that why he was asking Priscilla for a date?

"Speaking of Alvarez," Pete said, "I heard he was trying to buy Lookout House."

"How did you know that?" Priscilla asked.

"Peggy heard it somewhere. Says he's offered a great deal more than it's worth. And that so far, the owner hasn't agreed to sell, even at the fancy price. You'd think anybody would be glad to get rid of it."

"Do you know to whom it belongs?" Priscilla asked, watching him closely.

"Some relative of the old lady that lived there. I was flabbergasted when I heard that Alvarez wanted to buy it. Weren't you surprised, Dick?"

"He had several rather strange notions, it seems. Remember there was talk at first of his building over on the Island? In fact, he did start a place over there and then abandoned the project. Now he's looking for a hotel site."

"And what possible use could a millionaire yachtman have for a hotel in Apalachicola?" Pete asked skeptically. "The plot thickens. I sure lives things up to have interesting strangers around."

"Including me?" asked Priscilla.

"You especially," Pete said, meeting her eyes.

"Tell her about it tonight," Dick said good-naturedly. "I've got to shove off."

"O.K. See you and Peggy around somewhere tonight."

"Maybe," Dick retorted.

As Dick started the car, Pete said to Priscilla, "See you about eight."

When they had driven on, Priscilla said, "I like Pete. He's so natural." She was thinking, It's obvious they're both in love with Peggy. I'm just someone they can use to make her jealous. Oh well, what difference does it make? They're both nice and I'm having a good time. She put her sunglasses on, slid down in the seat again, and said lazily, "Tell me about Apalachicola... I like hearing about it."

Canines Devise Cooling System

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—A group of canine residents of Shawnee have solved the problem of how to escape the 100-degree weather.

Poundmaster Troy Clay says the pups have been crawling into the city's storm sewers where they open into creek beds at the edge of the city. Clay said a humane society member called asking him to pick the dogs up, but decided the pups were smarter than humans.

"They just want a cool place to sleep on these hot days," he said. "Besides, there's enough dogs on top of the ground without me going underground to pick them up."

Harsh Realities Catch Up With Storybook Love

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The storybook romance of a California disc jockey and the Egyptian girl he wooed and won by mail has been clouded by the harsh realities of life, he says.

The mother of Carroll Pederson Jr., 26, told newsmen that he is nearly penniless after a long bout with illness in Cairo.

He and his bride, Laurence, 23, want to return to the United States, said Mrs. Carroll Pederson Sr., but they can't afford it.

Pederson wrote that he and his wife are still celebrities in Egypt as a result of their romance by mail and their wedding in a cathedral overlooking the Nile.

"But here am I, almost as famous as a king, with $29 in my pocket," he said in his letter to his mother, who called him a "penniless celebrity."

Yes. But the idea goes all the way back to Michael Angelo.

Southwest Sees Another Year Of Big Boom

DALLAS (AP)—In the Southwest they are confident that another record year for business and industry is all but in the bag.

The agricultural situation isn't that pleasant. Even the industrialists have their fingers crossed about the region's No. 1 problem: The water supply. A prolonged steel strike would hurt. But the strong points in the Southwest's economy outweigh the soft ones right now.

Dr. W. H. Irons, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, says:

"There has been a steady growth of industry as a whole in the district all year. Incomes are up and so is employment. Bank deposits have set a record for mid-year. Retail trade is higher than a year ago. Unemployment is down."

"The increasing importance of oil, chemicals, aircraft, and light industry in the Texas economy overshadows the agricultural weakness."

A Midland publisher to the west of here, James N. Allison, bears this out. That once mainly farming and ranching area has been hurt by drought. But so prosperous are the oilmen that bank deposits continue to rise and the area as a whole, he says, is thriving.

Business activity in nearby Fort Worth continues strong, too, after its estimated spurt of 15 per cent last year. In the first half of 1956, department store sales there were six per cent higher than last year. In June the gain was 12 per cent.

In both cases this was the biggest gain for any city in the 11th federal reserve district.

Fred F. Florence, president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas and president of the American Bankers Assn., looks for a big fourth quarter for Dallas and Texas generally.

"There's an excellent chance we'll top last year's records in trade and industrial production," he says. "The drought hurts. And the steel strike could slow us down. But our industrial diversification since the war, especially in light industries around here, is paying off. And defense orders keep aircraft and electronics factories in Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and other cities busy."

The new highway program is going to give a big boost to our economy and the effect will be felt more quickly than most people expect."

HIS OWN PUNISHMENT

MEMPHIS (AP)—A middle-aged Little League baseball coach here dealt his punishment for players arriving late for practice.

The coach himself was late the other day. Somewhat sheepishly he stepped from his car and, without a word, began running.

A principal industry of French Somaliland, largely a desert country, is salt works. Waters from the Gulf of Aden are flooded over arid desert sands and allowed to dry to leave a harvest of salt.

Southwest Sees Another Year Of Big Boom

DALLAS (AP)—In the Southwest they are confident that another record year for business and industry is all but in the bag.

The agricultural situation isn't that pleasant. Even the industrialists have their fingers crossed about the region's No. 1 problem: The water supply. A prolonged steel strike would hurt. But the strong points in the Southwest's economy outweigh the soft ones right now.

Dr. W. H. Irons, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, says:

"There has been a steady growth of industry as a whole in the district all year. Incomes are up and so is employment. Bank deposits have set a record for mid-year. Retail trade is higher than a year ago. Unemployment is down."

"The increasing importance of oil, chemicals, aircraft, and light industry in the Texas economy overshadows the agricultural weakness."

A Midland publisher to the west of here, James N. Allison, bears this out. That once mainly farming and ranching area has been hurt by drought. But so prosperous are the oilmen that bank deposits continue to rise and the area as a whole, he says, is thriving.

Broken Ankle Upset Schedule

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Comedian Danny Thomas planned to start filming today for the return of his television show to the air in September but a broken ankle has upset his schedule.

A spokesman said Thomas, 42, was playing basketball in his yard with a group of college boys who were visiting his daughter, Margaret, 18, a freshman at the University of Southern California, when the mishap occurred.

He was treated at home, hospitalized long enough yesterday for X-rays and application of a cast, then returned home.

HOLE IN ONE HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Paul Runyan, former PGA champion and now resident golf pro at La Jolla, Calif., showed the home folks that he hasn't forgotten where he learned the game. Returning to the course where he caddied nearly 40 years ago, Runyan dunked a hole-in-one on a practice round for the $15,000 Hot Springs Open tournament.

Hard To Pick Out Good From Bad CLINTON — In Western movies it's usually easy to tell the "good guy" from the "bad guy." The good one wears white and the bad one black. But Sampson County Assistant Agent J. W. Hoover says it isn't that easy in the insect world. Recently a farmer told Hoover that some strange insects were eating up a neighbor's cotton. Said the insect was "mighty ugly." Hoover investigated and discovered that the "ugly" bugs were lady bugs. And they were actually eating aphids that were sucking the life out of the cotton.

$200 PER WEEK CAN YOU QUALIFY? We are not kidding about the above earnings, nor do we want you to take our word for it. You are more than welcome to talk with our salesmen who are making this amount of money right now. Go out with them for a day and watch while they put commissions of $50 or more in their own pockets. If this doesn't convince you, nothing will. I will hire three salesmen this week. These men will have the following qualifications: (1) Ability and willingness to work hard. (2) Preferably between the ages of 21 and 45. (3) Own a late model car. (4) Willingness to learn. Those selected will be trained thoroughly in the basic fundamentals of salesmanship. Qualified prospects are furnished daily. Accumulative bonus is paid semi-annually. Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Oils, steels and rails boosted the stock market a shade higher early this afternoon. But copper edged off after an earlier rise. Aircrafts and chemicals were mixed.

Leaders in the rise advanced from fractions to around a point. Losses were small.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were up around a point as the steel strike entered its 16th day. Republic Steel rose a major fraction.

Gulf Oil, an exceptional gainer, paced the oil division with a rise of around 3 points. Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texas Co. and Royal Dutch all gained around a point or better. Sinclair was up fractionally.

The rails stepped forward as a group although their gains were held to fractions generally. Union Pacific, however, was up around a point.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line advanced around 3 points.

Fractional gains and losses posted the copper division which was up in early trading today. These issues were higher last week as the industry's price, production and labor picture looked brighter.

Among aircrafts, Boeing and Douglas were off fractionally while United was steady.

Du Pont and Union Carbide tilted to the downside. Allied Chemical and American Cyanamid were slightly ahead.

Motors were mainly steady. Miscellaneous manufacturing and radio-televisions were mixed.

Eastman Kodak resumed last week's advance, adding around a point. Eastern Airlines dipped about a point.

Rubbers, after a firm start, turned mixed following Goodrich's labor settlement and the prospect of negotiations for other producers. Goodrich dropped around a point. Goodyear advanced about the same.

Caterpillar rounded out a full point's advance. Johns - Manville gained fractionally.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $188.20 with industrials up 60 cents, the rails up 60 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Grifton's Mayor Installs Board

GRIFTON — Mayor W. H. Gower installed Grifton's new Town Commissioners at a meeting last week.

The commissioners include Jim Rooley, Brown Hodges, Bill Mahler, incumbents who were elected, Wilbur Murphy and Don Casey, new members of the board. New town clerk is Mrs. Floyd Harris.

The mayor also made the following departmental appointments: Wilbur Murphy, health and sanitation; Bill Mahler, police and purchasing agent for his department; Don Casey, cemetery and parks; Brown Hodges, streets and mayor pro tem; Jim Rooley, water and lights and purchasing agent for this department.

The commissioners ordered notification that Grifton can not appropriate funds for an airport in this section. It was pointed out the town did not have money for the project, although the Commissioners agreed the airport would be an asset to this area.

In other business, Marvin Tyndall of New Bern was granted permission to operate a taxi in Grifton and salary changes were made for two town employees. The commissioners voted to pay Solicitor James Brooks a regular salary of $25 a week and to increase Policeman Herb Adams salary from $200 to $240.

It was decided to change the meeting date from the first Tuesday in each month to the second Monday night.

Exchange Club Hears Report

Pitt County Health Director Dr. Walter Humbert has advised the Greenville Exchange Club that 1,149 city and county school children were given hearing tests during the past school year with the Audiometer which was presented to the schools by the Exchange group.

President Jack Wallace head a letter from Dr. Humbert, who said that 62 of the children tested were given second tests at the Health Department. Ten of the 62 tested a second time were referred to specialists.

The program for the Friday evening meeting of the club featured a showing of the film "Clean Waters." The film brought out the necessity of clean, clear water of the existence of wildlife as well as the hatching of fish eggs and life of fingerlings. Clean water is also an artery of transportation, is necessary to attract industrial enterprises to a community, and natural water is frequently a source of drinking water.

The picture also delved into the problem created by polluting streams with dumped refuse. In these cases, property values decrease, diseases start, recreation is thwarted—all at a cost of more than $22 millions a year. That pollution can be avoided only by means of scientific sewerage disposal was shown by pictures of modern sewerage disposal plant equipment. These plants insure clean water for industrial users as well as communities. In 1900 there were only 60 such plants in operation, in 1910 there were 300, and today there are 6,000 plants in operation. These facilities are not keeping up with today's expansion and the film pointed out that today another 6,000 are needed.

A. B. Goodson was a guest at the meeting.

The ball game will begin at 5:00 pm and the supper will be served at 6:30.

Dr. M. W. Aldridge, club president, pointed out that arrangements have been made for feeding those attending, so that it will not be necessary for wives of the members to bring any food.

'Patriots' Of Pitt Endorse School Recommendations

At a meeting Thursday night, the Pitt County branch of the Patriots of North Carolina, Inc., unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Society Urged Help Legion Post Growth

One of the largest Promenades ever held by the Pitt County Veterans 1198 of La Societe des Voleurs Hommes et Huit Chevaux (4048) was presided over by Chief de Gare J. Herbert Waldrop Friday night.

Volunteer business was discussed following a talk by Commander L. W. Gaylord, of Greenville Post No. 39 of the American Legion. Gaylord called attention to the cardinal purpose of La Societe, to help the American Legion and its programs to succeed. "The Greenville Post, No. 39, has had a steady decrease in membership over the past years. At one time the local Post had over six hundred members, at the present time we have only a "struggling" 250-300. The potential is here in Greenville. Veterans are willing to be long and to join, they only need to be asked. That is the part of the job that needs assistance from you Voyagers," he said.

"At no time in the history of this County has there been greater need for a strong organized group of Veterans. The American Legion is the largest solid organized group today.

"Two million eight hundred thousand veterans of World War I, World War II, and Korea are united in the American Legion. But there are twenty-two million veterans, so you can see that on a National scale as well as locally we have a large job to do."

"Our pledge to the memory of our departed comrades, and to serve the widows and orphans of these men, can only be kept by keeping alive the organization that is best equipped to fight for their protection. I know that each and every Voyager will do his part," Gaylord declared.

"An overwhelming majority of the white people of this community and state oppose the compulsory integration of their children with the children of the Negro race and oppose those who would create conditions in education or the church which tend to amalgamate the white and Negro races. "This opposition arises from the wisely divergent natures of the white and Negro races for which the Heavenly Father alone is responsible. We refer, in part, to the failure of the Negro race from the beginning of time to make any significant contribution to human progress and conclude that amalgamation with the Negro will seriously, and perhaps fatally weaken the community and sectional leadership of the South and ultimately weaken the leadership of the nation.

"Our opposition is also grounded on a conviction that we have a constitutional right under the Tenth Amendment to so govern our affairs as to maintain our racial identity and it is our duty regardless of the foreign policy of the moment to transmit to our posterity that degree of racial purity that our ancestors preserved and we firmly maintain without rancor or bitterness that integration is not in the best interest of the white race of any section of this nation, a nation that white leadership created; and it is not necessarily advantageous to the Negro race; but if universally desired by Negroes—it is not something that they have a right to demand of us either as citizens or as Christians.

"Negroes of character do not need integration and others do not deserve it and would dilute and destroy in our posterity those qualities of mind and character that are responsible for the creation of our government, our economy and our position of world leadership.

"We observe that in those sections of the country from which the demands for integration emanate in the shrillest tones, there exists the largest concentrations of private schools in the world and without criticizing unduly the half-baked idealism of our opponents, we conclude that private schools are not a serious threat to a public school system.

"In our considered opinion the organization of private schools, if they become necessary, will save the public schools from destruction in a storm of controversy and will supplement the public schools and stimulate them to attain higher standards of scholarship and to do so more economically."

Flag And Pole Offered Center

Pitt County's new health center is getting a flag, flag pole, and marker—all compliments of Woodmen of the World.

The Woodmen offered the flag and pole to the County this morning and it was accepted, "with thanks," by the Commissioners. Dr. Walter Humbert, County Health Officer, presented Charles Forbes, local representative of the Woodmen of the World Insurance Company, who explained that his company made the offer without any strings attached.
